LUB MEETING COMES TO END WITH ELECTION

Mrs. Carl G. Goodman of Abernathy Elected President of First District of Texas Federation.

Convention Adopts Resolutions Asking Governor to Submit Legislation for Movie Censorship.

Mrs. Carl G. Goodman of Abernathy, Hale county, was elected president of the first district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, on Wednesday morning, receiving a majority of six votes over Mrs. W. E. Davis of Childress, the other candidate for president.

The result of the election was announced on the opening of the afternoon session, Wednesday, at 2:30 o'clock, and naturally in point of interest the most important event of the day. Mrs. Goodman is believed to be the youngest district federation president in the state.

Mrs. Walter S. Robertson of this city was honored with election to the second vice presidency, getting a majority in the nomination.

Mrs. J. Frank Potts was elected first vice president. Mrs. Potts is from Hereford and served the past two years as district chairman of public health.

Mrs. Goodman was the district chairman of home demonstration and was the Panhandle candidate. She represents the younger generation of club women and particularly the club women of the small town or rural district, since her marriage she has been living at Abernathy.

Local club women who remembered her as a debutante visitor and social favorite in Wichita Falls a short time ago, found that her vivacity and enthusiasm had been transferred from social activities to club work.

Meet at Haskell Next.

Haskell was unanimously selected as the meeting place for 1922. The invitation of this city was presented by Mrs. J. U. Fields, who is state chairman of civics. This invitation was seconded by the five other delegates from Haskell and backed up by telegrams from the mayor of Haskell and from various other organizations.

Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner of Claude, known as "Our Little Brown Wren" by the First District, delivered the message of the day Wednesday afternoon, in the closing session and brought the crowning appeal in the "Americanization" plea which has been stressed throughout the meeting.

"Make a place for your boys to stay," she pleaded, at the conclusion of her talk. "That's the big thing, making Americans out of our American born boys and girls."

Americanization

Mrs. Warner began by telling of a banquet she attended in San Antonio, during the state federation meeting there last November.

"While we were eating," she said, "we were entertained with sweet music in the next room, band music, I knew it was, though I hardly know band music from pipe organ music, and it was beautiful, wonderful music. And when the performers went out we saw they were forty Mexican boys, none of them over 16 years of age, we were told.

"They were teaching these little Mexican boys to play American music. And I wished that out in Armstrong county there was some one to teach my boy, and other Armstrong county boys to play American music.

"We were taken to one of the community houses that have been recently built in San Antonio, where Mexicans are being taught American ways.

"We were shown a wonderful kitchen, with gas stove, fireless cooker, electrical appliances, and all other modern inventions to make kitchen work easy. This was the American kitchen where they were teaching Mexican girls to cook and work the American way. And I wished that my husband might be brought to such a place, and that he

PLAINSMEN GATHER HERE FOR ROUND-UP

Cowboys, Cowgirls and Indians Make Camp for Third Annual Rodeo in Baseball Park, Beginning Today.

City Pavements Resound Under Thumping of High Heeled and Spur-Decked Boots and Wild Yells.

With hundreds of cowboys, cowgirls, prominent ranchmen present and a half holiday declared by the mayor of Wichita Falls, the third annual Wichita Falls Round-Up will start Thursday morning with a parade through the downtown streets.

Stock, of the vicious, mean, sullen and enormous quality is in hand for the occasion, as are men who know these brutes of the plains and mountains and say they can tame them, during the three-day program

Round-Up characters may be seen on every street corner, according to Fog Horn Clancy, general factotum and the thump of high heeled boots against tiled floors is but the ordinary sound at the better hostelries of the city.

Says They're Here.

"They're here boy" said Fog Horn. "All of them; we're got the greatest, grandest and peachiest bunch of rodeo men in the whole United States. Tom Burnett went out of his way to offer big prizes and the Chamber of Commerce helped, even me and you did a little, but tell the folks when you write home that this is one sure enough outfit and is going to make all other attractions of the kidd held before in Texas, look weak. That's me, Fog Horn, a speaking.

"We've got em.

"And darn your wild Irish soul"—but the man he was talking to happened to be low Dutch—"everybody knows the gang is here and look out tomorrow."

Mayor Cline Wednesday issued a statement which declared the Round-Up a benefit to the community and advised all and sundry—who ever they — — to grab a seat and hike t ball park.

Parade Opens Program.

The parade—it starts from the ball park at 11 o'clock and will take this order:

Four mounted police with Rene Hafley, bugler.

Mayor Cline, Lucille and Tom on horseback.

Strickland and Canutt carrying America and Round-Up flags.

Round-Up band on eight horse wagon.

Tom Burnett's Pierce-Arrow decorated and other autos.

Virgil Keel and class horses.

Cowgirls on horseback.

Chief of fire department and all fire trucks.

Indians horseback, must have war paint.

Chuck wagon.

Jim Marlow and all cowboys, single file.

Carnival band on six horse float wagon.

Red sublette, Little Joe and Frank McKinley.

"Uncle Charley" Here.

Colonel Charles Goodnight, of Texas fame, showed up around headquarters Wednesday qand is looking well. He is Tom Burnett's guest while here and this is the first time that he has been in Wichita Falls in many years. Though, the years are beginning to show on this "grand old man of the ranges," according to Tom Burnett, he's hearty and hale and is looking forward to a deuce of a good time. He'll be in the parade Mr. Burnett says and this alone should draw a crowd, for he's "everything a real rancher is" acording to Burnett.

Lloyd Saunders, one of Bill Hart's "movie actors" is due in Thursday morning and Pawnee Bill is also to show up Thursday. Miss Vera Sisson, leading lady with J. Warren Kerrigan and Bettie Lavoy of the Fox Sunshine comedies, will be here, as will Smiling Billey Corthay, of a well known film house.

Pathe, Anko-Motion Picture Company, Fox Film Corporation and the Texas Film Company of Dallas, will have cameras on the ground through-

PARAGUAY PROTESTS BOLIVIAN TROOPS ON HER BORDERS

By Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 27.—Paraguay has protested to Bolivia against the erection of forts and garrisons of troops near the territory known as Paraguayan Chaco, the boundaries of which have long been a subject of dispute.

Paraguay alleges a violation of the status quo agreed upon pending a settlement of the dispute and views the accumulation of troops, which it charges has been effected, as unfriendly.

The Bolivian charge d'Affaires denies in a statement that any threat toward Bolivia is intended. He claims the forts in question are 150 miles from the disputed zone and that the small number of troops stationed in them is intended solely for police duty.

WALL ST. BOMBING SUSPECT HELD ON SLACKER CHARGE

TITO LIGI

While New York and federal officials are tracing the movements of Tito Ligi the day of the Wall street bombing outrage, he is being held in Scranton, Pa., on a charge of willfully violating the selective service act during the war. So far witnesses brought from New York to Scranton have failed to identify him as being at the scene of the explosion.

MAN ADMITS ARSON PLAN TO POLICE

Burns Buildings in Movement to Provide Employment for Idle.

DAVENPORT, Iowa, April 27.—In the arrest of Tolbert Olsen, in connection with the burning of the Burtis Opera House and four other places Monday night, the police said today they were convinced they had in custody either an irresponsible crank or a most dangerous criminal.

Olsen admits the firing of all the Davenport places and says it is part of a nationwide movement engineered in Chicago, according to the police. He says twelve men left Chicago Sunday night, seven bound for Davenport, and five for Clinton, Iowa. He did not explain why the Clinton fires did not occur as scheduled but asserts that but for his arrest four other big plants would have been fired here last night, the police declared.

Olsen, the police assert, said his coplotters were members of an organization which has for its object the providing of work for all idle workmen.

"Laborers would be given work in clearing up the ruins and skilled help would be employed in rebuilding," the prisoner is quoted. "It would make a tremendous demand for labor and prevent employers from reducing wages."

Olsen said the organization to which he belonged was the World War Veterans.

NOT A MEMBER OF W. W. V.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Tolbert Olsen, held in Davenport, Iowa, on a charge of setting fire to several buildings, is not a member of the World War veterans as he claims, and that organization has no knowledge of him or of his activities, C. T. Jennings, secretary treasurer said today when shown dispatches concerning Olsen's arrest.

"The World War Veterans' organization has nothing to do with incendiaries or with radicals of that type" said Mr. Jennings.

GREEKS STOP OFFENSIVE IN TURKISH WAR

Both Sides Marking Time Awaiting Fresh Supplies, Hoping to Present Unbroken Front to Enemy.

Athens Government Conscripting Every Available Soldier, Including Former American Troopers.

By Associated Press.

ATHENS, April 27.—The much discussed renewal of the Greek offensive against the Turkish nationalists has again been postponed and the present activities on the front are being confined to sporadic encounters in the southern sector, yielding indecisive results.

Both sides are apparently marking time, the Greeks awaiting fresh troops and supplies in order to present an unbroken front to the enemy and the Turks are anticipating further forces from Cilicia.

Premier Gounaris, M. Theotokis, minister of war, General Dousmainis and Colonel Stratigos, chief of the headquarters staff, left for Smyrna today for the purpose of investigating the Anatolian situation at first hand, looking into the needs of the army and the condition of the civilian population. They were accompanied by ex-Admiral Mark Kerr, of the British navy who it is asserted is making the trip in a commercial capacity only.

The question of calling out additional classes of reserves still remains undecided. The government, however, is conscripting every available soldier, these including, according to some of the conscript Greeks who claim American citizenship and service in the American army in France.

Parliament last night voted a bill covering a loan from the National bank of 550,000,000 drachmas.

The drachma is falling in value and at present is worth only six cents in American money, as against its normal value of 19.3 cents. Prices consequently are rising, including the price of flour.

SHARP ENCOUNTER AT SINN FEIN FUNERAL

By Associated Press

BELFAST, April 27.—A funeral unique in the history of Belfast, was held here this morning when Patrick and Daniel Duffin, brothers who were shot and killed Saturday, were buried. Sinn Fein honors were paid from Falls Road to King street, where the military assumed control.

The two motor hearses containing the bodies were preceded by armored cars bristling with guns. Excitement engendered by the passing of the funeral cortege culminated in a sharp encounter in which a young man was critically wounded.

The shot was fired from an armored car. The other persons were admitted to hospitals.

HUN COUNTER PROPOSALS SUBMITTED TO HARDING UNACCEPTABLE TO FRANCE

Government Officials Characterize Hun Reparation Plea as "A Step Backward."

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 27.—The German counter-proposals on reparations, as transmitted to President Harding at Washington are absolutely unacceptable and the French ambassador to the United States, M. Jusserand, has been notified to this effect.

The proposals are characterized by government officials as "a step backward" and are declared to give no promise of a satisfactory settlement. All eyes are now turned on Washington where the counter-proposals are under advisement, but no new facts had developed here up to midnight to change the situation as it concerns the attitude of France.

The general feeling is that occupation of the Ruhr region of Germany is unavoidable, but it is believed in some circles barely possible that in some way the Berlin government may be made to understand through Washington the gravity of the situation and the essential fact that no proposals can be considered by the French government unless based on the Paris conditions.

U. S. Not Advised.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The American government tonight still was without official information as to the attitude of the allied powers with respect to Germany's counter-proposals on reparations. Consequently a reply to the communication received from Berlin yesterday has not been prepared.

The views of the allied governments are expected to be transmitted through their ambassadors here, with whom Secretary Hughes conferred yesterday. None of the envoys called at the state department today, but an Associated Press dispatch from Paris this evening announced that instructions had gone forward to Ambassador Jusserand to inform the United States that the German propositions were unacceptable to France. It was assumed that M. Jusserand would make this known officially to Mr. Hughes tomorrow.

Not Pleasing to Belgium.

Dispatches from Brussels indicated that in Belgium the German offer was also regarded as unsatisfactory. There was no word as to views of the other interested powers. It was understood,, however, that officials did not necessarily regard as significant the action of Great Britain in requesting its representatives in Berlin to inquire informally regarding the new German offer with a view to making clear the term of years over which the payments would run.

Administration officers continued today their policy of silence with regard to the whole reparations questions. It was understood, however, that an element of the situation which they have under consideration is an intimation from some of the allied governments that the mere transmission of the German offer by the United States would involve the American government in some measure of responsibility.

It is believed that the state department is not ready to accept this view of responsibility on its part, provided its efforts are confined to a mere transmission of the communication without endorsement of any kind.

As only three days remain before the date is set by the French government for beginning of its move into additional German territory, it is expected that a reply to the German communication will not be long delayed.

PRESIDENT TO REVIEW BIG FLEET

Boards Mayflower First Time for Trip to Hampto Roads.

RICKARD SUED BY ASSOCIATE IN TEXAS OIL

Plaintiff Alleges He Has Share in Several Enterprises and Wants Full Accounting.

Man of Big Deals Denies Having Business Relations With Bringer of Suit Except in Rickard-Texas Co.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Tex Rickard, sporting promoter today was made defendant in a suit filed by Frank C. Armstrong, who alleges he has been associated with Rickard in a business way and who demands an accounting of several enterprises in which he maintains he had a share. The amount of Mr. Armstrong's claim is not set forth.

Mr. Rickard tonight declared he had had no dealings with Armstrong, other than that the latter had interest with him in the Rickard-Texas Oil Company. "He has no claim against me," said Rickard.

Among the deals in which Armstrong claims he was connected with the promoter are the Johnson-Jeffries fight in 1910, the Rickard-Texas Oil company, the leasing of the Madison Square Garden, the Willard-Moran boxing match and the South American land, cattle, packing and concessions enterprise.

Armstrong alleges that between June, 1910 and July 1920, he was associated with Rickard and declares he had consulted with and aided Rickard in many of his business ventures.

CLUB MEETING COMES TO END WITH ELECTION

might be educated to give me an American kitchen.

We were taken into a dining room, a model dining room, where they taught Mexican girls to set a perfect table and serve a perfect meal.

And how I wished that there was a correct dining room somewhere in Armstrong county, where I could go, just once in a while and have a perfect meal, perfectly served.

"And they showed us a perfect living room. I don't know much about balancing of colors, didn't study interior decorating when we went to school, and color harmony and balancing are things that I don't know much about. We'll have one in the family, however, that can tell us pretty soon, she's learning. But I know that living room was beautiful and restful. And I wished that we had a perfect living room in Armstrong county, where we could go and be rested, put our feet on a perfect rug once in a while, let our eyes rest on beautiful softly tinted walls and look at beautiful pictures.

"They are teaching Mexican girls how to furnish beautiful living rooms at the least cost, those good people of San Antonio. But out here in the Plains country we haven't anything of the sort.

Nothing for Americans.

"And when I went into the boys' room, I almost cried. There were fishes, books, games and everything that would interest a boy.

"We have no such room in Armstrong county, to interest the boys, to give them a place to go. They are teaching the Mexican boys down in San Antonio how to be Americans, and up here in north Texas, we are doing nothing for Texas boys to help make them good Americans.

"Oh, how I just wish for somebody with an oil well or a gold mine, to make it possible for us to have some of these things up here for Texas born American boys and girls.

"I used to think I would be perfectly satisfied if I could see a restroom in every county in the district. But now I want a community house in every county, a model, perfect house for all the people, where they can enjoy themselves and learn.

"And particularly do I want a place for the boys. We must do something for our boys, and do it, now. Let's put an Americanization center in every county."

Mrs. Warner spoke of the farm bureau, which promises to play a very important part in the farming industry, and which already has a place for the women on the management.

Earlier in the afternoon Mrs. Warner gave the report of her work as chairman of the Rural Life committee. Sixty-nine county rest rooms have been established, two community houses built, nine county libraries opened, eleven county marketing systems put into operation, forty-five different rat campaigns have been conducted, cleanup campaigns have been inaugurated throughout the districts.

Women School Superintendents.

Six women county superintendents of school are holding office in the district, Mrs. Warner Reported. Only five or six of all the rural schools in the district have reported a course in public school music, and only fifteen serve hot lunches, she added. These are items that are to be worked on in the near future. Fifteen of the rural schools have arrangements for transporting the pupils.

Mrs. Warner gave especial mention to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the Amarillo Tribune for making possible much of this work through defraying a part of the expenses. Mrs. Warner is a special staff writer of both these papers.

Health and Economics.

A detailed account of the work that has been accomplished in Erath county featured the report of the department of home economics, made by Mrs. George Saigling of Plainview, chairman.

Erath county this report showed, has eight girls' canning and poultry clubs, four schools equipped with kitchens to serve hot lunches, has held three all-day meetings for home economics courses, and is undertaking still more community work among the women and girls.

Mrs. Maggie Barry, the national chairman on home demonstration, in commenting on this report, brought out the fact that the county women's club idea has been adopted by the general federation as the best means of reaching all the rural women.

Miss Gleason, director of home economics for the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, spoke briefly of the college's home economics course and also invited the district to make any request of service from the college that they see fit, assuring them that they would always find assistance.

Another featured address was that of Mrs. R. P. Robbins, on the state board of health, and state chairman of health, who spoke Wednesday morning. Mrs. Robbins discussed "Health Legislation," including in her talk suggestions for the manner in which the women undertake actively public health work in their cities or communities. Mrs. Robbins took occasion during her talk to pay a compliment to Mrs. T. B. Smock of Wichita Falls, former city pure food inspector, and still the local representative of the state board of health.

Citizenship Day.

A request for a wide observance of Citizenship Day, either on May 20 or July 4, was made by Mrs. J. U. Reids, the chairman of the state of this observance.

Mrs. W. E. Bivins, of Wichita Falls, on "The Construction Spirit" featured Wednesday afternoon, especially inspirational. Mrs. Bivins emphasized the value of [illegible] a woman to keep her musical studies, or her literary interests after marriage and household duties have partially taken her away from the girlhood ambitions and plans. This talk was quite inspirational in nature.

Other chairmen reports made Wednesday include the good roads made by Mrs. Henry Allen of Weatherford; music by Mrs. Walter S. Robertson of Wichita Falls; art, Mrs. W. S. Douglas of Hamlin; library extension, Mrs. Donaldson of Stephenville; civics, Mrs. Asa Brickhouse of Goree; fire prevention, Mrs. B. F. Whittaker of Haskell.

Reports from the individual clubs were finished up Wdnesday morning. Mrs. Bentley Bacon, the delegate from the Civic League of Wichita Falls received a compliment from the chair, Mrs. Henry stating that not only was the report a splendid one, but that it was given more clearly, and intelligibly than any report throughout the meeting. The Pierian Club of Stamford, Miss Lilas Penick, delegate; Mothers Club, Wellington, Mrs. C. B. Bonner, delegate; Women's Culture Club of Post, Mrs. J. B. Slaughter, delegate; Twentieh Catury Club, Weatherford, Mrs. Lee Bradley; Domestic Science Club, Wellington, Mrs. R. L. Scott, delegate; the Panhandle Pen Women's Club, Mrs. George Saigling, delegate, were reported during the morning session by out-of-town delegates.

Wichita Falls Clubs

Wichita Falls clubs reported were: Standard club, Mrs. T. P. Kelm, New Century Club, Mrs. R. C. Smith; Unity Club, Mrs. E. B. Gorseline, Delphian, Mrs. J. C. Berney; Travel Club, Mrs. D. J. Carithers; Musicians Club, Mrs. F. R. Collard.

The Wichita Falls Federation, Mrs. W. M. Priddy delegate, had the distinction of the largest membership of any organization in the district.

Under the class of city and county federations reports were given from the following: Federated Clubs of Amarillo; Hale County Federation, Hale Center; Armstrong County Federation, Claude; City Federation, Mineral Wells; City Federation, Fort Worth; Tarrant County Federation, Fort Worth; Parker County Federation, Weatherford.

The final report of the chairman on credentials, Mrs. Walter Keith of Stamford, showed a total of 161 in attendance, including 71 delegates, 30 officers and 60 visitors.

A Wichita Falls high school domestic art student, Pauline Hall, won the first prize offered by Mrs. W. L. Wheat of Memphis, chairman of Thrift, for the most attractive, inexpensive dress. Mrs. W. R. Potter, the state chairman of Thrift won the second prize, and the third went to Mrs. Cummings of Anson, for a suit made out of an old suit belonging to her husband.

Music for Wednesday consisted of pipe organ numbers in the morning by Mrs. R. E. Etrange and in the afternoon by Miss Ila Cook, both of Wichita Falls.

In the afternoon Miss Ines Rudy of Bowie, sang a selection from "Aida," with Mrs. F. R. Collard of this city playing her accompaniment.

Developments In Whisky Case Expected Soon

With the arrival here Wednesday of A. A. Turner, head of prohibition enforcement for the northern federal district, with Assistant C. A. Handley, definite developments in connection with the recovery of 1,400 quarts of liquor in a vacant house here last week are expected within a few days. No definite announcement was made Wednesday as to the status of the investigation at this time, but it is expected that arrests will be made before the end of the week.

According to persistent rumors from official sources sensational disclosures are expected in connection with the raid.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Handley were in conference a large part of Wednesday with local federal officers, who have had charge of the case. Other officers are known to have been questioned in connection with the investigation.

Following the recent announcement here that Deputy United States Marshall Allen would be relieved of that part of his duties which required him to handle prohibition enforcement cases, Mr. Turner said Wednesday that two officers would be sent here the coming month to take charge of the prohibition enforcement for this immediate section.

The appointment is in line with the recent announced policy of the government in facing the prohibition act.

As has been believed from the first by local federal officers the 1,400 quarts of liquor confiscated are not the Sunnybrook brand as was indicated by the labels. The liquor is the average grade handled by bootleggers, and the labels are faked.

COMMITTEE ON BUILDING MEETS

Preceding the meeting of the building committee of the city and county hospital to be held in the City National Bank of Commerce building Thursday morning, the city commissioners will meet in office of Judge William N. Bonner and discuss wage and personnel matters, a commissioner said Wednesday.

After this session the city council will meet with the hospital board, doctors, architects and inspect the provisional plans of the architects. It is thought an inspection of the present county-city hospital will be made.

The Brooklyn Bridge, which was begun in January 1870, was opened May 24, 1883, cost $25,000,577.

FEDERATION MEETING CLOSES WITH "BLUE BONNET" LUNCHEON

Mrs. J. A. Kemp.

Toastmistress at Bluebonnet luncheon, Tuesday at Kemp Hotel, for First District Federation of Texas Women's clubs.

The "blue bonnet" luncheon given at the Kemp hotel Tuesday afternoon was a fitting culmination to what has been unanimously termed the "biggest and best meeting of the first district," and was a triumph of perfection in every phase. It was particularly fitting that for this crowning event of the federation meeting, Mrs. J. A. Kemp, who occupies the same first place among the women of the city that her esteemed husband does among the men, should be toastmistress. That she should do this despite a recent accident, which though not serious, was painful in results, was accounted by the visiting and local women a great honor to the federation. A charter member of the Unity club, the oldest women's club in the city, and also a charter member and one of the first presidents of the Civic league, and at all times an active factor in progress and betterment of civic and church affairs, Mrs. Kemp, those in charge of the luncheon arrangements felt, was the most representative of the spirit of progressive women, as evidenced by the federation, in the city of Wichita Falls.

A spirit of humor prevailed through the program, and in the light vein Mrs. Kemp was just as much at home as in serious mood. Her side remarks as each speaker was introduced formed a considerable part of the program.

The blue bonnet, the state flower, and also the federation flower, formed the motif for the decorations. The speakers table was arranged in the form of a capital T, and Mrs. Kemp's cover faced a centerpiece of blue bonnets and white roses forming the club emblem, a "lone star" inside a circle, signifying the union of the club women around the entire state. A large painting of a blue bonnet field, with the state capitol building in the back ground, the work of Janet Downie, Texas artist, was on the speaker's table and smaller pictures of the same scene centered the other tables. The programs were enclosed in hand painted folders, the decoration with blue bonnets.

Mrs. Kemp took occasion during the luncheon to pay a special tribute to Mrs. George Rotan of Waco, the first president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, who was responsible for the blue bonnet's selection as the club flower. Mrs. Rotan stood and was the toast of the luncheon, as two hundred club women raised their glasses high and drank—ice water.

The program was opened with a "coronation," when Mrs. C. H. Hartsook was crowned "queen of the blue bonnets" by Mrs. Luther Hoffman. A real blue bonnet of blue gingham, was placed on Mrs. Hartsook's head and she was also presented with one of the Downie blue bonnet water colors. This honor, a total surprise to Mrs. Hartsook, came as an appreciation of her services as general chairman of the arrangements for the federation meeting. The "queen," by the way, retained her "crown" not only for the luncheon, but throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Kemp in introducing the speakers, remarked that the club husbands have been very much interested in the federation, and that, judging from the reception last night some of the visitors were considerably interested in some of the husbands. One club woman, she remarked, by way of parenthesis, called Mr. Kemp on the telephone late Tuesday night.

Mrs. W. R. Potter was the first speaker, "The Purpose of Club Husbands."

Incorporating in her toast a very clever parody, "The Club Husband's Creed," Mrs. Potter after a sparkling little talk came to the conclusion that club husbands were useful on occasions, "I would advise every club woman to have at least one hanging around," she said.

Introduced by Mrs. Kemp as the president of the Civic League "which regulated everything in the city, from how, where and when to spit to the mayor and city councilmen," Mrs. Smock responded to the toast "Can a Republican Be Democratic?" Mrs. Smock also kept to the humorous vein in her talk.

Mrs. Florence G. Floore, the state president responded to her toast, "Of All Dead Words of Tongue or Pen,

"The Deadest Are These,
"Here's How, Say When."

Taking her cue from the versification of the subject she responded in rhyme, playing some pretty compliments to Wichita Falls, and to the club women, and ended with the invitation to all to meet her in November at Fort Worth.

Mrs. Mary L. Wright, of Fort Worth, state chairman of Good Roads, had for her subject "How to Use a Chaperone at a Convention" and being called upon for humor, rose to say nice things about Wichita Falls.

The district president, Mrs. Mark Henry accepted the pun upon her name, in her subject assigned, "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death," and after modestly disclaiming any pretensions to being funny, told several jokes, and fulfilled the mission prescribed by the program.

In introducing Ivan Murchison, as the only man permitted at the luncheon, Mrs. Kemp stated that this was because he was a real Texan, as well as a good singer. He sang "Drop Me a Line," and with his usual graciousness, responded to the repeated encore demands.

For the success of the luncheon honors are due the hostess chairman, Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, Mrs. Luther Hoffman, who painted the booklet covers, which formed exceptionally attractive souvenirs, and Mrs. Martin Rowe, W. M. Priddy, W. Newton Maer and W. L. Parker, the assistant hostesses. Mrs. C. B. Hartsook, who arranged the toast subjects, and the toastmistress and those who took part.

The luncheon, the menu comprising five courses, was served under personal direction of H. J. Foerster, of the management.

The luncheon followed a delightful noon concert, given at the Palace theater, with Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff as hostess-chairman. "The Inside of the Cup" a feature picture was shown the club women with the compliments of H. S. Ford, the local manager of the Dye, Ford and Rogers Enterprises, and the use of the theater was also the management's compliment. The Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra and individual local artists contributed a most excellent program.

Little Misses Ona Belle Britain and Katherine Smith, daughters of Judge and Mrs. A. H. Britain and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith, presented all the concert guests with little handmade boutonnieres, crepe paper flowers with "breathdrop" centers, made by members of the hostess committee, which included Mrs. W. J. Donald, who acted as chairman until Mrs. Huff's return, Mesdames M. M. Walker, Marvin Smith, J. C. Mytinger and C. F. Spencer.

The concert program follows:

"March Slav" ..... Tschaikowski
Overture: "Orpheus" .... Offenbach
Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra
Ernest Katz, Conducting
Voice, "Love, Here Is My Heart," ..... Mr. Ivan Murchison
Mrs. O. J. McKnight, accompanist

Miss Elvia Allman, accompanist

SPRING TIME OF YEAR WEEDS GROW

Warm days and spring rains not only lend encouragement to the spring gardener, who is at this time of the year most occupied with efforts to raise his own table products, but it is then that weeds take root and begin to render unsightly all uncared for spots, said Dr. A. H. Douglas Wednesday, in discussing problems facing his department at this period of the year.

In this connection Dr. Douglas asked that property owners be notified that at all places where weeds are not cut by June 1, they will be cut by the city and the labor charges added to the taxes for collection.

THRIFT BANKS ARE FORMED BY SCHOOLS

The second school government Thrift bankers association organized in the eleventh federal reserve district, formed in the city schools Wednesday afternoon.

The association's membership is of two classes, active and honorary. The active or voting embers are the student-officers, directors and stockholders of the school government thrift banks in the city schools. The honorary members are the superintendent, principal, teacher, thrift advisor or bank examiner, who constitute the arrangement committee.

Ebon Keith, president of the high school government thrift bank, acted as chairman of the arrangement committee and made a very inspirational inaugural address to the representatives of the thrift bank in the lower schools who were present. He then appointed Joe Yowell, president of the junior high school government thrift bank as temporary president, and John B. McMahon temporary secretary.

The temporary president appointed the following committees and requested the teacher bank examiners to retire with the committees and act in an advisory way.

Teacher advisors — Mrs. Cook, Travis school; Miss Bishop, junior high; Miss Lewis, Alamo school; Miss Wisdom, San Jacinto school; Miss Watson, Austin school; Mrs. Dankein, Travis White Fannin school.

Committee on credentials—Norman Adams, chairman; Alberta Sellers, Marie Anderson, Connie Crawford and Frederick Ridenowr.

Committee on rules—Horace Thornton, chairman; Clifton Craig, Edna Preckel and Billie Hood.

Committee on nomination of officers—Homer Andrews, chairman; Irene Parks, Lewie Cawley, John B. McMahan and Lula Teethers.

Committee on order of business and program—Helen Hallon, chairman; Cecil Cannon, Charles Marlow, E. Gilham and Marguerite Gerhart.

While the committees were completing their report, words of greeting and encouragement were extended by Mrs. J. R. Hyatt, who is on the patriotic education committee of Texas Chapter Daughters of American Revolution; Mrs. T. L. Wheat of Memphis, district thrift chairman, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Goodman of Abernathy, Texas, the newly elected president of the first district of the Federation of Women's clubs.

The following permanent officers of the school government thrift bankers association were elected: President, Joe Yowell; vice president, president of each city school government thrift bank; secretary, Sam Bashara; treasurer, Horace Thornton; press reporter, Marguerite Case.

SOLDIER BURIED IN BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, April 25.—The funeral of John H. Riddle, whose body was sent to Burkburnett from Fort Bayard, took place from the family home on College street Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. T. J. Furness, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Deceased was 23 years of age, an ex-soldier who was under government care in the tuberculosis hospital at Fort Bayard, N. M. He is survived by a wife of this city.

WHEN PRESIDENT AND JOHN TALKED ABOUT "SWIMMIN'"

President Harding and John Wackerman after the president had purchased swimmin' hole tickets from John at the White House.

Every boy in the country hopes some day to talk to a president—while waiting to become one. So every lad in the country today envies Johnny Wackerman of Washington. For Johnny not only met the president, but talked with him about things dear to every lad's heart, such as going swimming. Wackerman called at the White House at President Harding's request so that the president might buy some tickets to aid Washington boys in getting a new swimming pool.

A PENALTY

It is to be hoped sincerely that the impending special session of the legislature will take definite steps for the redistricting of the State.

If these steps are taken, followed by prompt execution of them, it will be possible to avoid much hard feeling and an almost certain division of the State of Texas.

Few people realize, apparently, that there has been no real redistricting of the State since 1890. There was a make believe effort in this line in 1900, but nothing whatever has been done since.

In 1890 Wichita Falls had only a few hundred inhabitants. It is now a city of 40,000 population, and yet its representation, in both houses of the State legislature, is based on its 1890 population.

This situation in itself would be bad enough, but when it is realized that West Texas property owners are paying a highly disproportionate share of the State's taxes, the question becomes one of real moment.

We are under-represented and over-taxed. Our revolutionary fathers termed a somewhat similar situation tyranny. Their resentment brought forth a new nation. What has been done can be done.

If East Texans, who have more than their share of State representation and who pay less than their share of the State's taxes and at the same time derive nearly all its benefits, are interested in plain justice, then here is a cause for their immediate consideration and hurried action.

Now that the penalty for being a West Texan has been made clear to all Texans, we shall soon know whether these injustices have been permitted to exist through ignorance or arrogance.

We can overlook the former.

We shall combat the latter.

The State treasury is in need of more money for the especial benefit of East Texas schools. Governor Neff has stated that he is considering asking the coming special session of the legislature to place a still higher tax on petroleum production.

West Texas produces something like two-thirds of the petroleum of the State.

EMBARRASSING SUPPORT.

Why are certain business interests so unalterably committed to the principle of the sales tax? It is the answer to this question that troubles many members of congress who are as yet undecided as to the course federal tax changes should take. Too earnest advocacy on the part of supporters threatens to become the most serious handicap such a measure will have to overcome before favorable action may be expected from congress.

There is talk in Washington of a "pernicious lobby" and of "barrels of money" to put the sales tax across. A congressional investigation has been asked in order to disclose the sources from which campaign funds have been obtained. This tends to create a cloud of suspicion over the tax that until recently was most favorably regarded.

If it can be shown in the course of the congressional debates and public hearings that a carefully framed sales tax measure promises a better distribution of the public burdens than the taxes now in force and at the same time a solution for the administrative problem with which the treasury has lately struggled, wide public support can doubtless be enlisted for it. If on the other hand the charges of the opponents of the measure can be sustained, that the tax looks to a redistribution of the taxing burden in such a way as to fall more heavily on the lower incomes the country will hardly accept it.

Thus far in the sales tax discussion there has been too much discussion of theory.

LABOR'S INFLUENCE.

The influence of the American Federation of Labor on industrial conditions in Great Britain, and eventually in other countries of Europe, may be traced in the refusal of the railway men and transport workers to join the British coal miners in precipitating a general strike.

When the executive council of the American Federation of Labor met in Washington a few weeks ago, it adopted a resolution withdrawing from participation in the international union movement as long as radical labor of the European countries continued to subscribe to the communistic ideals. American labor stood first for law and government.

The withdrawal of the railway men and transport workers from the plans for a general strike gave the radicals in the miners' ranks, those who were pressing for nationalization of the mines, their first real setback. Nationalization was the first important step towards communism in Great Britain—an experiment which would probably have been disastrous there as in other countries.

Great Britain is experiencing the problem of dealing with a class of citizens who would avoid the economic penalization involved in the process of deflation. The miners would seek to maintain themselves on a basis that could not be enjoyed by other classes of industrial workers, and they would do this by forcing the government to take over the mines and continue war-time operation methods.

The action of the American Federation of Labor, in its refusal to continue relations with radical labor elements of Europe, seems at last to have aroused thoughtful labor leaders of Great Britain to the fact that they were heading toward a very dangerous condition—such a condition that always follows attempts of any class of citizens to coerce the government, instead of seeking constitutional channels for securing their demands. British labor can not prosper apart from the sympathy of the great bodies of American workers and that sympathy will not be given to radicalism of the communistic type.—Canton News. (Dem.)

PUTTING THE AMERICAN HOUSE IN ORDER.

Although most of the President's message to Congress was devoted to a discussion of domestic affairs, and he himself has emphasized the necessity of putting the American house in order, nevertheless editorial comment is confined very largely to foreign affairs. This may or may not be an index of the relative importance to the press of external and internal policies. In explanation of its observation that "most of the newspaper comment upon President Harding's address has been directed to that part dealing with international affairs and the problems of peace," the Philadelphia North American (Prog.) points out that there is not "a single suggestion in reference to domestic issues which is likely to provoke any serious controversy," even though "these matters more intimately concern the people, individually and collectively."

Lack of controversy, however, is accounted for by the Pittsburgh Gazette Times (Rep.) in the "popular concurrence" which it confidently assumes will be accorded the President "in his domestic policies, which look to the restoration of integrity in American government and business," and even the Brooklyn Eagle (Ind. Dem.) agrees that "the country will not quarrel with Harding's domestic policies." It is precisely because "the President's admirable exposition of our domestic questions fully respond to the temper and purpose of the nation," according to the Springfield Union (Rep.), that "it may be passed with little comment other than approval."

It is quite true that for the most part editorial opinion on that phase of the address is distinctly favorable, irrespective of party. The Roanoke Times (Dem.) feels that Mr. Harding shows that "he now has a comprehensive and fairly accurate idea of the country's problems and the legislation needed to cope with them." To the Minneapolis Journal (Ind. Rep.) his treatment of internal affairs is "the counsel of prudence and common sense" which the St. Louis Post Dispatch (Ind.) admits "is, in the main, excellent," and, adds the Jersey City Journal (Ind.) "will receive very general approval."

Disagreement arises, however, over the extent to which the President's discussion comprises a definite program. The Newark News (Ind.) finds it "singularly free from exhortation to do or not to do specific things," and the New Orleans Times Picayune (Ind. Dem.) agrees that "he does not undertake a definite program." On the other hand the message has proved to the Cleveland News (Rep.) that the President is "a master hand at program making," while the Butte Miner (Dem.) sees it as "a clearly defined course" which "is sure to have almost immediate good effect in the stabilizing of conditions." Rather than failing to advance a concrete plan, the Houston Post (Dem.) feels that the President has merely "refrained from placing himself in the category of overlord, telling Congress what to do and how to do it." Instead he has outlined the matters on which legislation is needed and left it "where the responsibility belongs,—with Congress." Thus, "with that practical wisdom which is the essence of real statesmanship" the Kansas City Journal (Rep.) believes he has presented a program which is "not the dictatorial demands of a President issuing his orders to Congress, but sound conclusions . . . . submitted to Congress as the recommendations of its executive colleague."

IGNORANT ESSAYS

By J. P. McEVOY

EULOGIES VS. MYLOGIES

It is customary for people who would say it with bricks, while you are alive to say it with flowers after you have been tipped over. And, doubtless they mean well enough, but too often the spirit is willing while the meter is weak. I embalmed (oh, happy word) this idea once in faultless verse which purled along somewhat in this fashion:

Just inside the outside portal,
Called (by some) the Golden Gate,
Stood the spirit of a mortal
Who had just arrived of late,
And he voiced a ghoulish chortel
That was cluttered up with hate:

"I am waiting for a geezer,"
Were the words he said to me;
"I shall land upon his beezer
Very hard and fluently,
For the In Memoriam wheeze, or Rather verse, he wrote, i. e.:

"In Loving Memory of my Friend, Alexander Blubbits.
He has died and went to heaven.
His friends, in their sorrow, weep;
Why did you leave us, Alexander?
When do you suppose we will ever meet?
You are gone but not forgotten,
In my memory you remain;
Every time I think of you
It gives me a pain.'"

I was about to say that the above was a typical eulogy, but that isn't so. It is much broader in spirit and deeper in meaning than the average eulogy. Which is one of the reasons why we all hate to die: we know that the question, "O Grave, where is thy Victory; Oh Death, where is thy Sting," is not entirely rhetorical. The Sting is the bum eulogy which some friend will write for us.

Now, I propose to rob Death of one of its terrors. Instead of looking forward with dread to eulogies, let us inaugurate the policy of having mylogies. In other words, prepare your own eulogies in advance; write them with care or have an expert write them; polish them off neatly and then file them away with your best pose, where the widow can find them easily when the reporters come around.

In short, everyone should read proof of his own eulogy and epitaph. Who could improve on Piron's sarcastic epitaph, which he wrote himself: (We translate roughly):

"Here lies Piron, who was nothing, not even a Member of the Academy."

And Stevenson's exquisite:

Under the wide and starry sky
Dig my grave and let me lie.
Glad did I live and gladly die
And I lay me down with a will;
These be the words you grave for me.
And the hunter home from the hill,
Here he lies where he longed to be;
Home is the sailor, home from the sea.

To sum: A eulogy is what other people write for you, a mylogy is what you write for yourself. Eventually, why not now? Roll your own.

The United States Army code was invented by General A. J. Myer. By it communications can be transmitted fifteen to twenty miles, as far as one can see another with the telescope.

An unidentified man in Frisco who shot and killed himself on a lumber pile after calling a small crowd to witness his death, left a recipe for "mule brandy" which the coroner's office made public.

The recipe contains the following items:

"Seven spools of barbed wire, ten pounds of chewing tobacco, one sack of tule roots, one can of blasting powder, five gallons of river water. Mix all together and cool for nine days and nights. Set on ice and cool while you dig your grave. Then take one drink and go for the hole. You will not need a covering."

DINNER STORIES

William Jennings Bryan tells this story of the most attentive auditor he ever acquired in all his experience of public speaking.

He was delivering an address up Minnesota way and soon noticed a man right down in front who was concentrating attention upon him in a most unusual way. The speech went on and on, but this fixed concentration never varied. It fascinated the speaker, gratified him. He spoke right to this man, acquitted himself rather better than usual because of his attentive inspiration.

When the address was over he came down from the platform, and shook this man by the hand, thanking him for his evident appreciation and told him what a help it had been to him.

"I would like to ask," he said, "if it is not too personal, just what quality it was in my performance that held you so unwaveringly to it?"

"Well," said the stranger, "I have heard a great many speeches. I always go to all the speakings that are held 'round here. But you are the first man I ever heard speak whose back teeth I could see all the time."

AHOY, THERE--JAGGED ROCKS AHEAD!

NOSING 'ROUND WASHINGTON

BY ROBERT CORTES HOLLIDAY — Author of "Walking-Stick Papers," "Broome Street Straws," "Men and Books and Cities,"

It is pleasant to see in what esteem the National Press club holds those two eminent journalists, Eugene Field and Napoleon Bonaparte, whose portraits hang framed side by side on one of its walls. Napoleon, however, is held in such very great regard as a newspaper man that another and larger picture of him hangs in another room.

The newspaper army had shifted to the business office of the White House. As we entered Secretary Weeks was departing. He pressed through the throng of reporters clustered about him. "Nothing to say," was apparently what he was saying, "We are referred to Warren," said one of the men. "Looks like we really were going to see him," said another. The president had not yet given an interview to the press men. So we took seats among the rows of figures ranged around the walls.

While waiting we were given an audience, so to say, by Laddie, the White House Airedale. Curly haired breed. "How old is he," we asked the small colored boy whose office includes charge of him. "A year," he said. The dog stands well, and holds his stump of a tail straight aloft, correctly enough. But there is altogether too much black on him, we observed; covers his breast and flanks, instead of being merely a "saddle" on his back. "Yes, everybody says it," answered the boy.

Secretary Hughes was seen coming down the corridor on his way out. The newspaper men pressed forward, forming a narrow lane through which he walked, very erect, smiling broadly, bowing to right and left, and continually moving his black derby hat up and down before him. "Gets a great reception, don't he?" said one reporter, glowing with a sort of jovial pride at Mr. Hughes.

"You'll have to see the boss." Mr. Hughes repeated a number of times as he came along, and turning slightly made one last very good-natured bow as he moved out through the door.

"Are they all here?" called out Mr. Christian: then marshaled us through his office and into the large, circular and very handsome office of the president.

While we awaited him he could be seen, through a doorway, talking, on a porch-like structure opening out along the back of the building. He was very leisurely in manner. I think my first outstanding impression of my glimpse of him was that he was a very handsome man, most beautifully dressed in a dark blue serge sack suit, very sharply pressed.

He came in, moving slowly, stood close behind his desk, and said, "Well, gentlemen, what is there that I can tell you?" He spoke very quietly and deliberately. The cabinet he said had discussed problems relating to the "hangover" (as he put it) of the war, in particular the trade situation of the world. He mentioned that he did not desire to be quoted directly. He had not been "annoyed," but he had been "distressed," he said, by having been quoted not long ago. The top button of his coat was buttoned. His cuffs were stiffly starched. He inclined his head a good part of the time to one side. Sometimes half closed his eyelids. Then would open them very wide, and make an outward gesture with his hands, accompanied by something like a shrug of the shoulders. Close up I was struck by the bushyness of his eyebrows. He wore a single ring, mounting a rather large light stone. No pin to his tie. He swung backward and forward on his feet. Put on shell-rimmed nose glasses to read. Sometimes pursed his lips slowly. As he talked, absently rolled a small piece of paper he had picked up from his desk into the shape of a cigarette. His talk had a slightly oratorical roll. He was exceedingly patient and exceedingly courteous. His general atmosphere was one of deep kindness. In conclusion he said, "Glad to see you again."

"That's pretty nice," was the comment of one of the newspaper men as we emerged from his presence.

As we moved away through the grounds my friend dilated on a somewhat whimsical idea of his. This was to this effect: In motion picture plays (my friend insisted) kings were always much more kingly in appearance and manner than any modern king would be likely to be. But (he declared) it would be very difficult for a motion picture concern to get hold of any actor to play the part who would look so much like an American as President Harding.

We stopped in to look at the east room, now again open. A character who had evidently not been born in any of the capitals of Europe was admiring the place vastly. He looked with especial approval at the enormous chandeliers, those great showers, or regular storms, of glass. "Pretty hard to beat," was his patriotic comment.

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement. A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did."—Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3455 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

OLYMPIC.

"The Kid," Associated First National's six reels of joy, is to be the attraction at the Olympic theater, beginning today. It is more Charlie Chaplin than has ever been put into one picture before, for, in addition to being six full reels in length, the story was written by the comedian himself. He directed it himself and plays the leading role.

Jackie Coogan, one of the greatest finds ever made in the search for boys with real acting ability, plays the title role. His work was so plensing to the comedian that before the production was over he was universally known among the film colony on the coast where the picture was made as "Charlie, Junior," a name which Chaplin gave him himself.

Edna Purviance, whose beauty and general acting ability made her such a splendid leading lady for Chaplin in previous productions, has the leading feminine role.

Cleanest, Classiest, Hardest Working Girls Here for Annual Round-Up, Beginning Today

With the Women of Today

Miss Emily Kneubuhl.

We women who have finally got the vote are certainly trying hard to learn what to do with it. The men have no cause for complaint on that score. Everywhere there are classes which aim to teach one how to vote and why and what for. There is going to be a school at Chatauqua, N. Y., this year for "national citizenship," and so those women who have been too busy to learn all about citizenship during the fall campaigns and the past winter may spend their summer vacation in that pleasant pastime.

Miss Emily Kneubuhl of Minneapolis, Minn., has been selected to head the national citizenship school at Chautauqua. She is one of the first organizers of the National League of Women Citizens and she conducted St. Paul's first school for women voters. These schools have since been conducted in every part on the stage; the Princess Troubetsbe said of the women, at least they are making a serious effort to be intelligent citizens — something the country needs.

EVEN THE NOBILITY WORKS.

In New York they have the Countess Biardi, known professionally as Frances Carson, and the Baroness de Wardner Hollub, known professionally as Hattie Lorraine, back on the stage; the Princess Troubetkoy, formerly Amelia Rives, writing plays; the Princess Golitsine, formerly Frances Stevens, painting pictures; the Countess Martinprey, formerly of Kentucky, editing her memoirs, and the Princess Cantacuzene, nee Grant, writing articles.

WOMAN AMONG LEPERS.

Miss Mary Reed, an American missionary, has been working among the lepers at Chandeg, India, in the Himalaya mountains, for thirty years. She herself has become a victim of leprosy.

EXHIBITORS AT PARIS SALON.

Among the exhibitors of art at the Paris Salon this year are a number of Americans, including Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Leslie Cotton, Miss Florence Est, Mrs. Clarke Davis and Mrs. Lee Robins.

"The cleanest, classiest and hardest working girls in the game are here for the Round-up," says Fog Horn Clancy Tuesday. In speaking of the aggregation of talent feminine assembled for the event which opens Thursday, he added:

"For a man to compare these women with the ordinary show girl, is to show he don't know where he is at. Most of them have been reared on ranches, know horses and know horsemen.

"They're not ashamed to ride like a human ought to across horses backs, in boots and in a real saddle, but they're real fellows, let's go up and meet some of them.

A certain did and this is what he found:

Lucile Mulhall Burnett, champion roper among the women and wife of Tom Burnett, widely known and wealthy, and who is distinctly the peer of the pretty girls with the Round-Up. She's defending her title as the best woman roper in the world at the coming Round-Up. So far as as is learned there are no contestors.

Then there's Ruth Roach, who everyone of the boys say is the prettiest thing that ever threw a leg over a cayuse who does trick and bronc riding and who tends her own "string." She's the girl who didn't like the way a farrier was shoeing her favorite and took the job into her own hands and did "it right."

Bea Kirnan, a trick rider and also a buster, is here, with her is her famous "Rubic" horse given her by the president of the Argentine republic when she was on a tour of that country not long ago. The horse is a huge sorrell and is said to be one of the neatest steppers in the country, but Bea, according to Fog Horn Clency, is too foolish about the animal, even going to the trouble of washing his teeth with a hand size tooth brush when he recently developed sore gums.

One cavity in the teeth of this horse is filled with gold.

Maud Tarr, well known woman rider of the "wild and untamed," is also here for the Round-Up. She hails from Pawhuska, Okla., and has some reputation among the outfit in her part of the country.

But here's a good one, Florence King, a trick, Roman and bronc rider hit the town with her string of high steppers and went into camp immediately. No sooner did she land than she was swamped by vets, for this is the girl who knows more about the anatomy of a horse than most of the skilled, college veterinarians dare to hope to.

She's one of the cleanest cut, devilish and bewiching women riders in the game, it is said at headquarters, and is a horsewoman of no ill reputa. With her she has a string that will be a credit to the Round-Up "and she's the little lady to ride 'em," says Clancy.

Fox Hastings nor Mable Strickling were found around the stamping grounds, though both are declared to be finished riders and beautiful women.

Rene Hafley is here and that's "nuff sed" as the old speiler before the moving picture show used to say when he announced the leap of the heroine over a "precipitious," accompanied by music from the parlor grand orchestra.

"But there's another, not a buster, like I told you 'bout," said Fog Horn. "Her name's Lucile Green. She works for an insurance company right here in Wichita Falls and she says," and the little lady confirmed it with a nod, "that if the man who attempts to bull-dog a full grown buffalo fails, she's willing to try out a yearling bison calf on the same terms."

"Some scout, ain't she, boy," said Clancy.

"Betcher," said the hangerons.

Will the middle west in another decade be as famous for its dancers as it now is for its corn, wheat and cotton? Apparently this has been a middle westerner's year in New York, and certainly more than half the dancers who have burst into fame along Broadway this season are from the interior states. In the attractions of Charles Dillingham, the four "discoveries" of the year are American girls, born and to some extent trained west of the Alleghenies.

The premiere danseuse in "Good Times," now playing at the great New York Hippodrome, is Mlle Natalie on the stage. But offstage she is Natalie DaMond of Buffalo, the eastern borderland of the middle west. Miss Miriam Miller, who also has sprung into view this season as a Hippodrome principal, is less than two years away from Cincinnati, her birthplace, while Miss Elizabeth Coyle, another of the group of six principal dancers in the big Hippodrome production, was graduated two years ago from Ward Belmont college, at Nashville, Tenn.

Appearing in support of Fred Stone, who is in "Tip Top" at a New York theater, is Miss Anna Ludmila, a native of Chicago. Miss Ludmila learned ballet dancing in Chicago and made her debut with the Chicago Opera company, as the most promising American pupil of Pavley and Oukrainsky. She became premiere with the Chicago organization, and this season made her first appearance in musical comedy, where she contributes a group of classical dances. "Tip Top" began its New York season last October, is still playing, and is regarded as the outstanding success of Stone's long carer as a comedian.

THE HONEYMOON.

Three months before our story opens Cherry Lawrence had met Edward Randell at a dance, at which she had been one of the guests of honor. Cherry was at that time designer in chief for a famous millinery establishment in Chicago, and very much feted as the best little trick in that particular shop. Her independent career, fortunately for all concerned, had been too brief to cause one golden hair on Miss Cherry's head to urn, ever so little, and her meeting with Edward finished worldly aspirations, as far as she was concerned, finally and forever.

Edward's wooing had been short and ardent. Six weeks after meeitng Cherry he had proposed, been accepted and the wedding day been set for two weeks later.

Cherry had designed hats up to three days before their marriage, and then with many smiles and a few tears at the thought of leaving some of her true friends behind, she had bid an adieu to the old show-room in Chicago, and been whirled away on the arm of her adoring husband to realms unknown.

The young honeymooners had wandered happily up and down the Yellowstone valley, forgetting time and space in their new-found happiness in each other. And Cherry acknowledged to her husband that she had never dreamed is possible that she could be so wonderfully happy. Edward, in turn, confessed to the same feeling, and together they had climbed and explored the heights of delight and lingered lovingly among the kindly mountains that sheltered their romance.

At the end of a month Edward was called back to his home, for his business in Wellsburg demanded his attention immediately. Arm in arm, the young couple had read the letter telling of the need for his return to a world of facts and files, in other words the hardware business of which Mr. Edward Randell was the head could not get on longer without his presence.

Young Mrs. Randell had shed some burning tears of regret at the news and in her heart had rebelled at the fate which inserted itself so ruthlessly between herself and her honeymoon. She wanted to remain in the glory of the snow-capped mountains forever and ever. She wished, above all things, to keep the Edward that she knew so well, even as he was now. For life was so sure and beautiful here in their wild, mountain fastness. What it might be later, far off in Wellsburg, was something that the Fates alone were sure of.

It was a very sad Cherry who packed the two bags for their departure, and the night before leaving "Honeymoon Hill," as they had fondly named their perch in the mountains, she sobbed out all her doubts and dread of the new life in her husband's arms.

The distracted Edward did his best to soothe her alarms, and assured her that life in Wellsburg would be a wonderful one, if only she would make up her mind to accept his people, and try to be happy with them.

So once more contented, Cherry had followed her husband to the train the next morning, and together they had bidden a silent farewell to the gladness that had been theirs beneath unshed tears, and going back to their compartment, vowed once more to do everything in their power, to make their future life a happy one.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.

Orange and Prune Salad.—Three oranges, 16 cooked prunes, one small head lettuce, six walnut meats. Cut oranges and prunes in slices and mix with four teaspoons mayonnaise. Line salad bowl with lettuce, add oranges and prunes and put mayonnaise over the top. Press the whole nut meats into mayonnaise and serve cold.

Baked Kidney Beans.—2 pounds beans. Soak overnight. Boil in one-half teaspoon soda water about thirty minutes or until soft. Drain and put in baking pan with alternate layers of bacon (or one slice of bacon will do in each layer). Pour over tomato sauce and bake three hours.

DAINTY SANDWICHES FOR OUTINGS.

Pimento and Cheese.—One can of pimentoes, one-half pound cheese, three medium sour or dill pickles, two or three hard boiled eggs. Put this through food grinder, then salt and pepper to taste. Makes about one quart.

Raisin Paste.—Put the following ingredients through the food chopper: Two cups raisins (seeded), one-half cup nut meats or one-half cup peanut butter. Mix well with one teaspoon brown sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons of lemon juice, one-half cup orange juice. Pack into jelly glasses; will keep long time.

Raisin Cheese.—Spread thin slices of bread with unsalted butter, on one side spread a layer of ground raisins. On the other side a layer of cheese or cottage cheese.

Raisin Apples.—Chop fine raisins nuts, apples, mix with salad dressing. Put between slices of buttered bread.

Put ham and raisins through chopper. Use same way.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

To clean a vessel after dyeing clothes fill with clean water and add a handful of oatmeal. Boil for some time.

If curling irons are heated in boiling water they produce a prettier wave and do not break the hair so much.

To remove old wallpaper, take a dust mop, wet with hot water, and rub over the wall; it is a much quicker way than using a cloth.

To improve doughnuts, take from hot fat and drip a few minutes. Then plunge swiftly into boiling water (must be always boiling). This will make them light and spongy.

To clean wallpaper, enclose wheat bran in a bag of close flannel. Rub paper with this; shake occasionally so as to keep surface clean. May be attached to pole and used high. Improves smoked paper greatly.

The sediment in water bottles or crusts can be easily removed by rinsing thoroughly with a little hydrochloric acid, followed by clear water or ammonia water.

MUSKOGEE MAN SAYS CHANGE IS WONDERFUL

Train Dispatcher States Since Taking Tanlac He Eats, Sleeps and Feels Better Than in Two Years

"I eat better, sleep better and feel better than I have in two years and Tanlac gets the credit for building me up," said R. H. Budd, well-known train-dispatcher for the M. K. & T. railroad, residing at 524½ West Okmulgee street, Muskogee, Okla., recently.

"About two years ago I commenced going down hill, and then a year ago I was in such a low state of health that I had an operation. After this it seemed that I just could not get my normal weight and strength back. What little I ate bloated me all up with gas, keeping me uncomfortable for hours and did me very little, if any, good. The bloating caused my heart to flutter frightfully and my nerves were so shattered I couldn't get the sleep I needed. I felt weak, sluggish and tired all the time.

"But when I started on Tanlac I began to straighten right up. I'm not troubled with indigestion any more, have gained several pounds in weight and am built up in strength and vitality until I hardly feel like the same man. Tanlac has done fine work for me and I'm glad to tell others about it. My friends who noticed how pale and weak I looked before taking Tanlac, can look at me now and see the way it has put color in my face and built me up."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarlton Drug Co., in Burkburnett by West End Drug Co., and by all leading druggists.

MEMORY LOST WHEN GERMAN SHELL STRIKES

Suffering the complete loss of her memory in 1914, when a German shell dropped through the roof of her home in Antwerp, Belgium, in which she was nursing injured soldiers, of every nationality, Mrs. Camille Verlinde, wife of a veterinary surgeon in the Belgian army and sister of Police Captain Ehlers, is rapidly regaining her memory, according to a letter received this week by Captain Ehlers from a niece, one of the daughters of Mrs. Berlinde.

Captain Ehlers said that his sister, like many others of the Belgian women, had converted her home into a temporary hospital for soldiers and being already overworked and with her nerves strained to the breaking point, was completely overcome by shell shock, when the shell crashed through her home.

The niece said that her mother was now rapidly improving and that physicians are expecting a complete recovery at an early date.

China has only 6,000 miles of railroad, while her natural resources warrant construction of more than 30,000 miles.

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, April 27.—Before the largest opening day crowd of the 1921 season, 6,155 fans passing through the turnstiles, the visiting Spudders under the leadership of Walter Salm, annexed the first of the series with the Gassers by a 4 to 1 score, here this afternoon. "Slats" Ledbetter proved easy for the visiting batters, every man on the team getting a hit with the exception of Works. Rothfuss and Kitchens garnered two apiece. Kroh hurled the full game for the Spudders and was in danger only once. He struck out the last two men to face him in the ninth inning. Kroh would have had a shut out had he not uncorked a wild pitch in the sixth inning allowing Jackson to score the Gassers' only run.

Score in First.

The Spudders started the scoring in the first inning, Rothfuss getting on when Ewoldt fumbled his hard hit grounder, going to second on Tanner's sacrifice bunt and scoring when McDonald hit safely to right field. Ewoldt made up for his error by getting the first Gasser hit, a double, in the Shreveport half of the frame, but was unable to get any further than second base.

Salm's outfit scored twice in the second frame. McElwee opened the inning with a single, went to second on Works sacrifice bunt and scored on Kitchen's single to center. Kroh surprised the fans by doubling center. Kroh surprised the fans by doubling to center, sending Kitchens home. Kroh was working pretty and the Gassers went out in order in their half.

Two visitors got on the bags in the third but failed to tally. Ledbetter tightened up and from then on until the ninth, allowing but a hit an inning. Floyd Kroh was also going along nicely, being touched now and then for a hit, but was never in trouble.

Score in Last.

A double by Kitchens, a sacrifice by Kroh and two singles in succession by Rothfuss and Tanner brought the Spudders' final tally in the ninth. Henry hit his third double in the Gassers' half, but Kroh was equal to the occasion, striking out Vann, who batted for Ledbetter, and fanning Storey, for the last two outs.

The game was played slowly and started later than the usual time. The Spudders were not able to come from Fort Worth here on account of the washouts along the road and were forced to make a detour through Texarkana, arriving here but two hours before the game was scheduled to start. The visitors were tired from their long ride and failed to show it when they got on the ball field.

The usual opening ceremonies before the game were gone through, Ford making an address of welcoration, followed by Manager Salm and Manager Salm shaking hands before the grandstand and the ball play began. No one knew the ump of the umpire and up until the time of writing no one knows it for continued questions as to the ability of the arbitrater brought no reply but the person performing has made a good job of it and there were few disputes.

The Gassers and Spudders will play the second game of the series tomorrow.

"ALABAMA SPECIAL" IS PLUNGING THROUGH AMERICAN LEAGUE WITH TRIS' INDIANS

Two young lads who were classmates at Alabama University last winter, and a couple of years before that, are now plunging through the American league with the world's champion Indians at a pace that is making them the talk of the big show. Fans have called them the "Alabama special," because of their friendship and their teamwork.

Sewell, you'll recall, was playing at the university last year when Xen Scott, Cleveland newspaper man and grid coach, tipped him off to Manager Speaker.

In the heat of the pennant drive Ray Chapman was killed. Harry Lunte, utility infielder, and Joe Evans, ex-fielder turned into an outfielder by Speaker, were given the job by the fans. For whom else did Speaker have? But Speaker showed his worth as a manager by playing to a hunch that Sewell could fill the bill. The youngster stepped into the gap and, despite moments of wildness in fielding, won popularity and a permanent pace on the team over night. His coolness under the conditions and his hitting ability made him a strong member of the team.

This spring Riggs Stephenson, Sewell's classmate, was recommended to the Indian pilot by Scott, who is football coach at Alabama. Speaker gave the lad a trial at Dallas and exacted a promise from him to rejoin the team after the college year ends in June. Stevie returned to college. Then Bill Wambsganss, regular second sacker, and Lunte were injured before the team arrived home to start the season. Speaker sent a hurry-up call to Alabama University and asking the college officials and Stevie to help him out.

Stephenson arranged to play with the Tribe until May 1, returning at that time to complete his college course. But there's no chance of him getting away now—unless he crawls out his bedroom window at night. For he leads the team in hitting and is playing second with the best keystone suckers in the league.

WITH VAN

Although not official, Shreveport has virtually won the yearly attendance cup again by packing in 6,165 paid admissions yesterday afternoon. Everybody paid from the bat boy to the mayor and according to reports, the Gasser City had a few score more than Galveston-packed in, their opening day.

Rothfuss and Clark are still running a merry race for batting honors both now having collected 20 hits apiece with Rothfuss being at bat two times more than Dapny. Clark leads in the number of total bases, however, having four doubles, one triple and three home-runs to his credit while "Froggy" has mostly singles being able to get only two extra base wallops, a double and a home-run

Devereux Milburn, captain of the American polo team which will meet Great Britain for the international cup at Hurlingham early in June, has sailed to join the other members of the squad who are now practicing in England.

Milburn is rated the greatest back ever developed in this country and one of the greatest of all time. He is the last active member of that famous "Big Four" which did so much to keep America in the forefront of polo for several years.

He was the last of the American squad to sail. Those now in England include, J. Watson Webb, Louis E. Stoddard, C. C. Rumsey, Thomas Hitchcock Jr., Earl W. Hopping and Robert E. Strawbridge.

President Ban Johnson of the American league has received hundreds of letters expressing hearty cooperation with his suggestion to have organized baseball hold a "party" throughout the United States and Canada on National Hospital day, May 12, for disabled war veterans from neighboring hospitals.

President Hickey of the American association and President Tearney of the Three-Eyes and Western leagues, according to Ban, were the first minor league executives to write that they would put this suggestion into effect. Doak Roberts hasn't said what he is going to do, yet.

Floyd Kroh lost himself a shutout at Shreveport yesterday when he uncorked two wild pitches allowing Jackson to score, after the latter had walked. The run was a gift pure and simple and the veteran flinger had no one to blame but himself for allowing the counter.

LANSING, Mich., April 27.—A bill making it a crime to corrupt any one engaged in competitive athletics was passed by the Michigan state senate today.

BROOKLYN, April 27.—Geo. Kelly, first baseman of the Giants, made his fifth home run of the season in the game with the Brooklyn Nationals here today, tying "Babe" Ruth's record.

Polo Teams in Dispute Again Over Referees

The local polo club and the challenging cowboy polo team has fallen out again over the proposed series of games for the polo championship of Texas, the first of which will be called at 3:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. The selection of a referee that can handle the game seems to be the bone of contention this time and although the Polo club has offered the names of three competent arbitraters, namely Captain Furse of Fort Worth, Major Pennell of Fort Sill and Jim Minnick of Ford City, none of the three appeal to the cowboy outfit.

Team Practicing.

Both teams have been practising faithfully for the first of three contests, the cowboys at the Round-Up grounds and the Polo club at Call field. Neither team will practice Saturday but will rest until the whistle blows, opening the contest Sunday afternoon.

The cowboy lineup has been selected but the Polo club team is still in doubt. Warren Jennings, president of the club and one of its star players, is out of the game with a bruised shoulder, Cecil Wilfong is away on a business trip, H. D. Hemphill is in Graham and the only remaining member of the team, Captain Dr. John Fletcher, is at loss at present time as to whom will make up the four next Sunday.

It might be said that the club has numerous good players and there will be little doubt they can put a real team on the field when time comes to start play.

LOS ANGELES TO BID FOR 1924 OLYMPIC MEET

NEW YORK, April 27.—The international Olympic committee will meet at Luzerne, Switzerland, on June 2, to take up the important matter of awarding the 1924 Olympic games.

The United States, France and Italy are the chief bidders for the big games three years hence and the decision of the committee will be awaited with great interest on this side of the pond.

Bob Weaver, president of the A. A. U., will go to Switzerland with an alluring offer on behalf of Los Angeles. The California City, aided in its campaign to land the games by the supporters of athletics throughout the Golden State, is prepared to hang a tempting offer in front of the eyes of foreign teams, making it possible for them to compete in the United States with traveling expenses assured them.

America Favored.

The Swedish, Norwegian and Finnish Olympic authorities are known to be strongly in favor of sending teams to this country in 1924 and President Weaver will go abroad counting on their support and the influence it is bound to have on the committeemen from other countries. The English and Belgians, it is believed, would look favorably on an award of the next Olympiad to the United States.

There will be a stumbling block in Weaver's path, however, according to reports from the other side. Baron Pierre de Coubertin, known as the "grand old man of athletics in Europe," will tender his resignation as president of the international committee at the coming session, and as he steps down and out will make a strong appeal for France as the guest of the 1924 Olympics.

France Bids High.

Paris was to have had the Olympics some years back and, along with Rome, stands at the head of the list as a site for the next games if the custom of rotating them is followed out. The fact that the request of Baron de Coubertin on behalf of France will be his last to the international committee is expected to carry much weight, though whether or not friendly feeling for the Baron and for France will overbalance the offer of Los Angeles remains to be seen. Much may depend on the way such nations as Spain, Czecho-Slovakia, South Africa, Brazil and others may be led to swing their votes, though with the United States, the Scandanavian countries and England coming Olympiad, the Los Angeles chance of acceptance.

There will be keener competition and greater interest in the next Olympic games. All of the European nations that were represented at Antwerp last summer have been busy with plans for the next big meeting ever since the games in Belgium came to a close. Athletics of all sorts are being encouraged on a larger scale than at any previous time and teams of greater strength in both numbers and ability will represent the various nations three years from now.

Ford Bested By Old Dobbin

For the first time in local records a Ford has been bested by its ancient rival, the horse.

A runaway team collided with a John Henry in front of the courthouse Wednesday. When the smoke and dust had cleared, a specimen of the universal car was on its back with a smashed top and one horse was standing with its feet in the vitals of the Henry.

Spectators were unable to tell exactly how it happened other than that the car was in the way of the runaway team and that the final scene presented resembled the last act of a "Her Name Was Maud" funny picture.

The car belonged to J. D. Metcalfe, county surveyor. The team belonged to G. W. Allard, 2515 Fillmore. Both the Ford and the team were driverless at the time the accident occurred.

With the Pugs

Johnny Dundee's victory over Rocky Mountain Kansas at Milwaukee Tuesday night, gave the boy who was touted as a lightweight championship contender, a severe setback. The stage was set to have Kansas meet Leonard in New York for the title, in the event that Rocky could hurdle the Scotch-Wop, but there is little doubt now, that Rickard won't be able to "see" the contest. Rocky has been wading through the 133 pounders and the defeat by Dundee is his first in many months.

Carpentier has ideals above the ordinary, if what he is reported to have said during the last year may be taken as meant in good faith. The Frenchman's latest chirp runs something like this: "I have been asked why I didn't run out of the match with Dempsey when the promoters were wrangling and I answered that if I should have declined, I would have regretted the chance of being the heavyweight champion of the world. I would feel that I had the opportunity to become the title holder and that I might have had a chance to win. I would have regretted it all the rest of my life. He'll regret he took the chance, no doubt.

Strangler Ed Lewis threatens to retire from the mat. The big grappling champion stated recently that when he meets Stanislaws Zbyszko in New York on May 6 it will be his final appearance, whether he retains or loses the championship. The bout is for the title. The Pole has been thrown only once in his career and that feat was accomplished by Frank Gotch, the heavyweight champion.

Lewis has always wanted to retire as champion of his class. He was perfectly willing to meet the best mat men in the world, and he did not hesitate in accepting the great foreigner as his last opponent. He is willing to take his risk of retiring without his crown.

The Prince of Wales and Lord Lonsdale, head of the National Sporting club of London, have been invited, it was announced, to attend the Dempsey-Carpentier fight as guests of Tex Rickard, promoter.

RESURFACING OF OHIO IS BEGUN

A surface treatment, consisting of an application of tar to be followed by a coating of crushed stone, was begun Wednesday on Ohio between Eighth and Eleventh streets.

All city streets on which wooden paving blocks have been used, will be treated, according to Julian Montgomery, city engineer, who is supervising the work.

J. Q. A. Holloway of Dallas, representative of the Barrett company of Dallas, is in the city to assist in directing the work.

THE SPORTING LIFE

THE RUBAIYAT OF LUCK.

You have a race-horse—one of speed and fire,
A matchless marvel, never known to tire—
He's leading in the Derby by six lengths—
Then stumbles just as he draws near the wire!

You go out Hunting, and you spot some Deer—
With Indian stealth you trail them and draw near—
You sight full on the leader of the bunch—
A stick cracks—one long leap—they disappear!

You go to War—and just before the Fight
You get disabled by a Packmule's Bite—
And while you're out of it your Buddy gets Medals and cheers, and all the Calcium Light!

Luck rides us gently—or with spurs.
We buck
Against the rider, and, with bulldog Pluck
We try to shake him off—but what's the use?
There's nothing to It All but Luck, Luck, Luck!

What's in a name? Babe Adams is almost the oldest of big leaguers, and Babe Ruth is about the largest and heaviest.

Noted sporting authority says that "Harry Greb is a hard hitter." This will be interesting news to the public and to everybody Greb has ever boxed. Harry can hit them lots of times, but could he break a pane of glass unless somebody first cracked it with a hammer?

IN THE CELLAR

Gas-meters.
The drinkables.
The Athletics.
The Quakers.

There are a great many players on the payrolls who are great pitchers, only the opposing batsmen refuse to believe it.

There is really but one difference between a wonderful catch and a lucky stab. If a home player gets the ball, it's a wonderful catch, and if a visitor makes the same play its luck or a fluke.

The late Silk O'Loughlin was a wonderful man—for an umpire. He ran for office now and then, and was elected, showing that even an umpire can be forgiven by the public. At that, however, Silk played politics in his home town, and not on the American League circuit. The squarest umpire that ever lived would find it hard to be elected dog-catcher if the fans had to do the voting.

They always have a spring series in St. Louis, and thereby prove the astuteness of the Brown and Cardinal management. Great droves of fish turn out, the two clubs get a barrel of coin—and thus have something to live on when the inevitable time arrives for the fans to find out that neither team is worth going out to see.

Vodevil Bill Has Comedy And Dancing

The week's bill which opened Wednesday at the Wichita theater comprises comedy, humor, music, dancing and everything that goes to make up an attractive and enjoyable show. There was not a minute that the interest lagged and the intoxicating (not intoxicated) pep of the actors was imparted to the capacity house.

Wayne Beeman and Alma Grace in "You'd Be Surprised," started off the show at high speed. Wayne plays a French harp and a stringed instrument at the same time, accompanied by his fair side kick—the effect being a whole jazz orchestra. Both are also clever and agile on skates, Wayne especially performing some difficult stunts.

Jean Boydell presents several eccentric song and dance acts that for pure foolishness and dizziness have seldom seen an equal on any stage.

One of the most enjoyable playlets from the standpoint of catchy lines and original plots that have been here this season is "Oh," played by Homer B. Mason, Marguerite Keeler and Walter S. Howe. Many unusual turns are taken in the plot which culminates in the cure for Bolshevism that is guaranteed to be more effective than deportation. Porter Emerson Browne, the famous short story writer and playwright, is responsible for the story.

Johnny Burke in "Drafted" gives a version of the rookies' trouble that was enjoyed, not only by ex-service men (they could appreciate several cracks that others missed) but by everybody. The skin tight regulation "issue" uniform and the high pitched voice of the monologist brought tears of laughter.

"Step Lively," with Mildred Rogers and four active young men, gives a dance cycle which is out of the ordinary and featured by real "big time" dancing. Miss Rogers in her version of some popular conceptions is refreshing and entertaining.

A "foot-ton" of energy means so much energy as suffices to raise one ton one foot.

A township consists of thirty-six sections, each a mile square (640 acres).

It is rumored that the ribbon sweater will be in vogue this summer.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Alice Lake and Her Father Having a Morning Chat.

A lot has been said and written of the "mothers" of our movie stars. Mrs. Talmadge, known familiarly as Peg, has been heralded often as the real reason for the success of the Talmadges. Mrs. Charlotte Smith, known as Mrs. Pickford, has also become famous through her talented children, and Mrs. Harris's mother, and Mrs. Flugrath, Chirley Mason and Edna Flugrath, are also known to motion picture fans.

Fathers, however, have been somewhat overlooked and so it is anunusual pleasure to have this photograph of Alice Lake and her father reach our desk. They are the best of chums in spite of the fact that there is a generation between.. Alice's daddy takes great pride in the success of his daughter, but he asserts that he had nothing whatever to do with it.

It is likely that Mary Pickford may pay Gotham a visit in the next week or two, the purpose of her journey having to do with the Wilkinning case, which was instituted against the young star a year or more ago to collect an agent's fee alleged to be due from Miss Pickford.

The case was decided in the star's favor at the time, but the plaintiff appealed and the case is scheduled for a new hearing early next month.

Forced to Take a Rest.

Word comes from California that Juanita Hansen, who has been in a sanitarium for the past few weeks suffering from a nervous breakdown, will not be able to resume work for some time.

Marguerite to Marry.

Marguerite de la Motte, who has been appearing in films with Douglas Fairbanks ('member we showed you a picture of her recently), is engaged to be married to Mitchell Lyson, one of the art directors of the Lasky studio. The objection raised by Miss de la Motte's guardian has failed to make any difference in the plans of the young couple.

Charles Ray's Next.

"The Barnstormer," by Richard Andre, will be Charles Ray's next production for First National. Al Ray will assit the star in directing. The players are George Nichols, Blanche Rose, Lionel Belmore, Florence Oberle, Charlotte Pierce, Lincoln Plummer, Wilfred Lucas, Philip Dunham, Gus Leonard and Burt Offord.

GIVES BIRTH TO EIGHTEENTH BABE AT AGE OF 44

IRONWOOD, Mich., April 27.—When a physician went to a home today in response to a call he found John Mattson, pondering over a list of names. Mattson was looking for a name of the 18th baby in the family. It was a girl. Fifteen of the children are living. The mother is 44 and the father 46.

SAY HANGING WOULD ENDANGER TITLE TO COURT HOUSE

BENTON, Ill., April 27.—Dame Rumor, the cause of millions of sorrows, the destroyer of truth, the wrecker of homes, the instigator of trouble and the guilty mistress of innumerable wrongdoings, has appeared in a new role.

Cloaked as the protector of a sacred record belonging singularly to Franklin County, Ill., the lady of gossip appeared on the scene to warn against the hanging of John Savant, under death sentence for the murder of Fritz Heick at Valier, February 17, last.

If you hang this man, said Miss Rumor, the ground on which your courthouse sets and which was deeded to the county in September, 1839, will, under the terms of the agreement, revert to the heirs of those granting the property.

Much ado was caused. Dust was removed from the shelves, records were delved into and the instrument in question was produced.

It was found that our lady of idle talk was misinformed. The land on which the courthouse is built and other property in the city, consisting of twenty-one acres, were deeded to Franklin County, September 18, 1839 by John and Elizabeth Twing and Walter and Sarah Akin, with no such stipulated strings attached thereto.

Counsel for Savant, the convicted man, have motioned for a new trial and a hearing will be given the motion this month. If the rehearing is denied and the Governor and Supreme Court do not intercede in the behalf of Savant, Franklin County will relinquish its distinguished record and the official hanging of a man will be registered in the archives of this little mining community.

"FOG HORN" BELLOWS PLAINS' SONG AND BUDDIES CLAIM IT WILL COME TO LIGHT ERE LONG

Fog Horn Clancy, publicity agent for the Round-Up wasn't watching what he was doing a few days ago and was caught singing:

"They call her La Belle Marie, but her real name is McNalley."

What Clancy had reference to isn't apparent on the surface, but it'll come to light, it'll come to light, according to one of his associates.

But that Fog Horn was working and had the dope on the keenest bunch of tail twisting, ear teething, shoulder spurring riders in the United States was the assertion of an office associate, and that they are all here in Wichita Falls waiting for the Round-Up to commence Thursday was another of this man's assertions.

Headliners Are Here

Kinan and Stroud, Oklahoma Curley, Montana Jack, Slim Casey, Frank McCormick and Chester Byers, are the head liners.

Anyone who is familiar with contests of these kinds realize the merits of these men and not to know them is to render one unfamiliar with the "game" as it is played. All are champion of their kind and all are in Wichita Falls for the Round-Up.

Others are shooting for their records and new champions may be made but these men stand head and shoulders above the contestants here, according to men at Round-Up headquarters.

Bad Horses Here.

For instance, there's California Frank, whose real name is C. F. Hafley, proprietor of a "hoss" ranch near Montrose, Colo., and who brought a string of the worst "hosses" he had to Wichita Falls and who has been on the ground for several days. He can be seen around headquarters.

Kaiser, an eight year old, 1,100 pound outlaw is his event in principis to the bronc riding events. He has thrown everyone in his section of the United States, but has been ridden by pulling leather, hitching spurs in cinches and grappling around the neck. His grading is 95.

Montana Jack Ray, fancy roper, reared in Montana and Oklahoma from a "kid" is here and will enter roping events. He was formerly with the 101 Ranch and Buffalo Bill's show.

Bull Doggers of Renown

Shorty Kelso, holder of the world's record for bull-dogging a steer is on the ground and was seen at headquarters Tuesday afternoon. Nine and two-fifths seconds was the record set by Kelso at the Fort Worth Rodeo November 27.

Two days before this, Slim Caskey, a Wichita Falls boy set a new record by making it in 12 seconds, and in the next day reduced his own record by making it in 10 4-5 seconds.

Talking to Slim Tuesday, he said that he knew he'd try hard to win his title back, and wasn't right sure that he didn't already possess it as there is some technicality involved in awarding Kelso the championship.

"Tell him he's been to a match when he meets me this week," said Slim.

From Sawdust King

Two of the sawdust ring are with the Round-Up attraction and the fact that they'll be on the ground is sufficient to attract a crowd in itself, according to constant round-up attendants.

One is Little Joe Hetser with his famous little high school horse and the other is Red Sublette, steer riding clown, who carries with him, five mules, two roosters and a goose. These peregrinate during the entire time and they're "some lads" according to Fog Horn.

"Tiny" For Newsies

Tiny, a beautiful little Shetland, with a meek face but with a wicked pitch, is in Mrs. Lucile Mulhall Burnett's stables. This little beauty is as mild as milk until someone his size tries to ride him, Clancy says, but them, watch out, for he's been trained to buck from infancy and knows a few fancy steps.

"There's a ten dollar prize hung up for the newsie, that can handle the little fellow," said Clancy.

"Of course they're gotter keep in his size, but he'll give a little weight and beat out in the finals if I ain't mistaken, for Lucile, she done trained him herself."

Napoleon, and Dewey, two snow white, high school horses are in Mrs. Burnett's string at the ball park and so is the famous Eddie C, on which Mrs. Burnett does her roping. Her famous Bud horse is also on the grounds.

McCarty's String Here.

Eddie McCarty of Cheyenne, Wyo., fame is here with his string of back breaking broncs among which is "Coyote." He has fifty of the bad ones culled from the northwest territory and says they'll give a good account of themselves.

The "Coyote" horse is a real piece of rider defying horse flesh, according to owners and is exhibited here with the proviso that only real riders be assigned him. He cost the owner a thousand dollars at the Chicago event last July.

McCarty himself is a rider of no ill repute being one of the kind that'll ride 'em slick, tail em, flank to head or with a surcingle—but, and he says it himself, some are too good for em and he has to grab.

Spring began (astronomically) at the vernal equinox, March 21, when the sun entered "Aries."

FARMERS CALL ON PRESIDENT HARDING TO URGE REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES

President Harding, indicated by arrow, and group of members of National Farmers' union at the White House.

A. C. Davis, secretary of the National Farmers' union, and other members of the union called on President Harding at the White House recently to urge him to aid in obtaining reduction of excessive freight rates on farm products. The union has members in thirty-six states. Every one of these states was represented at the meeting with the president.

Buffalo Calves Will Be Given To This City

Two buffalo calves, donated by the owner of the Goodnight ranch, to local citizens will find their way into the city's hands after they have grown to passable looking, animate objects according to Jerome Stone. He said Tuesday that W. J. McAllister owner of the ranch, had given him and a friend a cow and bull bison aged 9 months, which at present they have on Tom Burnett's ranch.

"As soon as these animals reach maturity, or at least take on the aspects of ferocious, man killing brutes—we're not waiting for the whiskers to grow—we'll offer them to the city as an attraction for some park.

"At present, I'd as soon have a Great Dane pup of four or five years old. They're afectionate all right, but where in the deuce can I park a Buffalo here?"

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1892 I was attacked by muscular and sub-acute rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted, know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them 70 to 80 years old and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my Improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent, simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, $1, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, 1122-G, Durston Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 27.—No further change occurred in the raw sugar market and prices were quoted at 3¾c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 4.98 for centrifugal by the committee with uncontrolled sugars on the same basis. Sales for the day were only 15,000 bags of San Domingoes to a local refiner.

The market for refined was unchanged at 6.75 to 7c for fine granulated.

Trading in sugar futures was less active but the undertone was firmer and after opening one point lower to one point higher, prices rallied on covering and buying credited to New Orleans interests, with closing prices 4 to 13 points net higher. May closed at 3.84; July 4.04; September 4.00; December 3.95, all bid.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

NEW YORK, April 27.—There were sharp rallies in the market for coffee futures here today, which seemed more largely the result of local technical conditions than of any fresh features in the general news or in the advices from Brazil. Notices served against May contracts were estimated at fully 100,000 bags but the liquidation of the near months was quickly absorbed at about the recent late month premiums and after opening 1 to 5 points lower, prices firmed up on covering.

Spot coffee was reported in better demand at 5⅞ to 6 cents for Rio 7s and 8⅝ to 9½c for Santos 4s.

STOCK MARKET UNSTEADY AND REACTIONARY

NEW YORK, April 27.—The uneven and irregular course of today's stock market was influenced by conflicting and confusing developments, such as the United States Steel quarterly report, the Pennsylvania railrond dividend cut and fresh complications in the German indemnity tangle.

Of these the most influential was the showing made by the United Steel corporation, which fully confirmed the general impression of increasing slackness in that industry. Steel common created an extreme of 2 points and most of the so-called independents made gross recessions of 2 to 4 points.

Rails enjoyed a brief upward spurt at midday on news that the interstate commerce commission had ruled in favor of existing intermountain freight rates, but much, if not all of this advatage was forfeited in the final hour on receipt of word that the Pennsylvania dividend had been cut from6 to 4 per cent.

Professional pressure seemed to be directed against a number of the high-priced specialties ,including tobacco, subsidiaries.

Oils, leather and sugars and kindred issues suggested a resumption of short selling of gross declines of 2 to 11 points, a heavy tone ruling at the close. Sales amounted to 800,000 shares.

The money market followed its recent monotonous course, (all demand loans being made at the fixed rate of 6½ per cent, that futures bing fully 1 per cent over outside quotations. Indications of each were seen in time funds, including commercial paper.

All foreign exchange quotations were lower, the French remittance forfeiting all of yesterday's substantial advance and Scandinavian rates, especially Stockholm, breaking sharply.

Liberty bonds contnued to lose ground and Pennsylvania railroad issues were affected by the reduced dividend on the stock. Other changes, domesic and foreign were irregulhr. Total sales, par value, $9,850,000.

WHEAT BULLS OVERLOAD AND PRICES FALL

CHICAGO, April 27.—Wheat bulls overloaded themselves today and although prices averaged higher most of the time, the market broke at the last. The close was heavy 4 3to to 1 1-4c net lower with May 1.25 1-2 to 1.25 3-4 and July 1.04 3-4 to 1.05. Corn lost 3-8 to 5-8 @ 7-4c and oats 3-8 to 5-8 and provisions 5 to 17c.

Predictions of an enlarging demand for all grain helped to start the wheat market upward and bulls showed particular hopefulness that export call would prove to be robust. Expectations of European guying were partly fulfilled later, Greece taking 1,300,000 bushels. Likelihood of frost in Kansas and Nebraska tended also to stimulate bullish confidence. It became known that 400,000 bushes of oats had been sent to storage here, decidedly bearish as to oats. Ensuing eforts to let go of wheat holdings made prices descend rapidly in the final half hour.

Word that some corn arriving at Dutch ports was out of condition had a depressing effect on the corn market as lid the liberal storing of oats together with consequent weakness of the oats market.

Provisions were inclined to sag in the absence of any adequate support.

COTTON SHOWS GAINS DURING DAY'S TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, April 27—While the cotton market stood at net gains during the greater part of the session today there were small declines around the opening and again on the close, last prices were practically the lowest of the day and showing net losses of 8 to 13 points.

May closing at 11.70, An unfavorable interpretation of foreign political news caused a burst of selling in the last few minutes of the day. Early selling was due to poor cables but after declines of 6 to 9 points had been brought about, a new demand sprung up from traders who did not like the tone of weather news from the interior. Declines were recovered and the market sent to net advances which were widened slightly by the week's crop review from the government. The review was considered unfavorable because of the mention of excessive rains in central and western sections of the belt and retarded germination of seed through low temperatures in the eastern section.

After mid-session the market turned very quiet and sagged gradually under scattered selling which became more general toward the close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 27.—An early advance in the cotton market was followed by declines under realizing and hedge selling or local pressure which was probably inspired by a strike by marine engineers and reports of an unsettled feeling in Wall street. July contracts broke from 12.78 to 12.59 and closed at 12.64. The general market closed very steady, net unchanged to 14 points lower.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 7 points and sold about 4 to 9 points net lower right after the call.

Liverpool made a fairly steady showing and prices here soon rallied owing to a continued wet weather map, reports that May liquidation had been pretty well completed, and a private report pointing to a decrease of 1 percent in acreage.

The weekly report of the weather bureau was quite as unfavorable as expectel, while later advices from London indicated better prospects for an early adjustment of the coal dispute, but these features failed to stimulate buying. As a reslit, the market proved sensitive to realize from the sales which increased as prices worked lower, while there was also some selling by spot houses on the late decline to 12.10 for May and 13.22 for October.

Closing prices showed moderate rallies on renewed covering. The action of the stock market and easier ruling of foreign exchange rates seemed to have an unsettling effect on sentiment as to prospects for an agreement on war reparations, which brokers regarded as contributing to the nervousness of the market.

LIVERPOOL SPOT.

LIVERPOOL, April 27.—Cotton spot quiet; prices steady. Good middling 8.72; fully middling 8.17; middling 7.52; low middling 6.47; good ordinary 5.22; ordinary 4.47. Sales 5,000 bales, including 4,600 American. Receipts 100, all American. Futures closed quiet and steady. April 7.88; May 7.95; July 8.23; October 8.49; December 8.62; January 8.66; March 8.76.

The Brooklyn Bridge, which was begun in January 1870, was opened May 24, 1883, cost $25,095,577.

BUYERS ASK REDUCTIONS FOR CATTLE

FORT WORTH, April 27.—In view of the fact that at Chicao and Kansas City, higher prices were paid for cattle today, local salesmen priced their wares at a slight advance. Buyers, however, insisted on further reductions. Liberal receipts were again on hand and there seemed to be no demand. Nothing of importance was sold, but the feeder deals were weak to lower. Calves were 25 to 50c down. Calves were 25 to 50c down. Around 2,500 cattle and 1,000 calves were offered.

A supply of 2,000 hogs sold at an advance of 10 cents. Several cars were good enough to bring $7.60 and most of the run went at $7.40 to $7.50. Pigs remained about steady, but nothing sold above $6.50.

With 5,000 head of sheep on hand, the market displayed its usual indifference but such stuff as found an outlet brought strong prices. Two double decks of choice wethers went to packers at $5.75. Quotations:

44 LEGAL NOTICES

SHERIFF'S SALE.
The State of Texas, County of Wichita. By virtue of a certain execution issued out of the honorable county court of Wichita county on the 31st day of July, 1921, by First National Bank of Wichita Falls against Lee Carter, L. S. Brannan et al. for the sum of Seven Hundred Forty-four and 41-100 ($744.41) Dollars and costs of suit in cause No. 3562 in said court, styled First National Bank of Wichita Falls, Texas versus Lee Carter, L. S. Brannan et al., and placed in my hands for service, I, Fred K. Smith, as sheriff of Wichita county, Texas, did on the 26th day of April, 1921, levy on certain personal property situated in Wichita county, described as follows, to-wit: One rooming house located in Burkburnett, Texas, and known as the "Bell Rooming House," all furniture and fixtures belonging to L. S. Brannan, Lee Carter et al., in said rooming house, which consists of 15 furnished rooms, and levied upon as the property of said Lee Carter, L. S. Brannan et al., and on Saturday the 7th day of May, 1921, at the courthouse door of Wichita county, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m and 4 p. m. I will sell said personal property at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder as the property of said Lee Carter, L. S. Brannan et al., by virtue of said levy and said execution. And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for two consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale in the Record News, a newspaper published in Wichita county. Witness my hand this the 27th day of April, 1921.
FRED K. SMITH, Sheriff Wichita County, Texas.
H. C. DAKAN, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Elizabeth Daly and the heirs of W. S. Daly, deceased, whose names are unknown, to appear at the next regular term of the 30th district court of Wichita county, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof in the city of Wichita Falls on the first Monday in June, 1921, being the 6th day of June, 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 22nd day of March, A. D., 1921, in a cause numbered 10474, wherein Thaddeus S. Powell is plaintiff, and the Smith Bridge Company, Elizabeth Daly and the unknown heirs of W. S. Daly are defendants, the cause of action being alleged as follows: That on or about the first day of February, 1921, the plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises, situated in the county of Wichita and State of Texas, holding and claiming the same in fee title, to-wit: Lots 15, 17, 18 and 19 in Block No. 75, in the City of Wichita Falls, Wichita County, Texas. That on the day and year aforesaid defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withholds from the possession thereof to his damage in the sum of Three Hundred and no hundredths dollars ($300). That the reasonable annual rental value of said land and premises is Three Hundred and no hundredths dollars, ($300.00). Wherefore, plaintiff prays judgment of the court that the defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition and that plaintiff have judgment for the title and possession of said above described land and premises, and that a writ of restitution issue, and for his costs of suit, and for such other and further relief, general and special, in law and equity as he may be justly entitled to. You are hereby further commanded to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week for eight successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in a newspaper published in your county, but if no newspaper is published in said county, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published. Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness, A. F. Kerr, clerk of the district court of Wichita County Texas. Given under my hand and seal of said court in the city of Wichita Falls this 22nd day of March A. D. 1921.
A. F. KERR, Clerk 30th District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
Issued this the 22nd day of March, A. D., 1921.

CENTRAL MARKET PLANS BEING HELD UP FOR TIME BEING

Following a committee meeting of truck farmers, appointed at the gathering last Saturday, J. S. Downing said Wednesday night that the move to establish a central market was still in abeyance and the next steps of such a course would not be reported to the organization until the committee held another meeting Tuesday.

The organization of the truck farmers was started last Saturday when a large crowd gathered at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and entered into an organization having for their aim the establishment of a market for country produce in Wichita Falls.

J. S. Downing, L. B. Bruner, J. W. Mix, Joe Tyson and J. B. Nicholson, the committee, were present Wednesday night.

WICHITA FALLS HAS AFFECTION OF WEST TEXAS

"No place in West Texas has gained more in the estimation and affection of the people of West Texas more than has Wichita Falls," Mrs. Mark Henry of Crowell told members of the Wichita club at their Wednesday noon luncheon. "I am sure that a place with the capable and energetic men and women who are in Wichita Falls is a place of limitless possibilities," she continued. Mrs. Henry then discussed briefly the work of the organization which she represented.

Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Florence C. Floore, state president; Mrs. Paul Donald of Bowie, first vice president, first district; Mrs. Bacon Saunders of Fort Worth, state directir; Mrs. Hunter Gardner of Fort Worth, state director; Mrs. C. D. Reimers of Fort Worth, state director; Mrs. F. C. Barron, president of the local Federation; Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, chairman of the local arrangements committee, were the guests at the luncheon of A. H. Britain, president of the club, and of Mr. Britain.

Corsage bouquets from Mr. Britain were plate favors for the guests.

"After driving over your beautiful streets and seeing your wonderful buildings, I am perfectly ready to offer my services to you to kill Rex Beach, Armond Both and Hearsts magazine of New York for misrepresenting your city—if misrepresentation from such a source really constitutes an injury," Mrs. Floore, who was also among the number to speak, jokingly declared in beginning her talk.

She briefly discussed the women's work, with particular reference to children's welfare, and told how the men's organizations of the state could co-operate with the woman's organizations in making "Texas a better place to live in."

Mrs. Gardner, who is gifted as a dialectician, gave two selections, the first, a version in the negro dialect of "Jinin' de Infantry," responding to an encore with a "Story of Two Loves," in an Italio-English dialect.

Mrs. Saunders declared that the young and carefree look of the women of Wichita Falls, which she had noted at first, had led her to believe the men of the city were really a worry ridden set, protecting their wives from the worries of life, but declared that a glance at the men had convinced her that such was not the case—they looked so well cared for that she was convinced that husband's welfare work formed a part of the program of the local clubs.

The club's dinner dance Friday night was brought to the attention of the club members by C. W. Reid, who also unsuccessfully attempted to convince the visitors that with one or two exceptions the club was a bachelor's organization.

Eighty-Four Postmasters Nominated

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 27.—In connection with the nomination of 84 postmasters by President Harding today, the following statement was issued by the White House:

"During the last session of the congress there were 3,416 nominations of postmasters submitted to the senate which failed of confirmation of this number, 760 were new appointments as the examinations by the civil service commission in accordance with the executive order; 1,637 had previously been appointed as the result of the civil service examinations when the offices were in the fourth class and were reappointed as third class postmasters without any additional examination, 1019 had never at any time submitted to any kind of examination whatsoever.

"There have been sent to the senate today, 84 nominations.

MERCHANDISE SHIPMENTS ON KATY TOTAL 1141

Merchandise car shipments on the Katy railroad for the period of April 1-10 consisted of 1,141 cars, 961 of which were on time giving a record of 96.1 per cent, according to a report from the local office.

This showing is considered very good in railroad circles.

The package car to Duncan, Okla., recently inaugurated by the Katy railroad, is proving very popular. H. G. Smith, general freight agent reports, and business in this line is on the increase.

L. B. Chipley, assistant industrial commissioner of the Katy lines, with headquarters in Dallas was a visitor here Wednesday.

W. L. Alexander, general claim agent of the Katy, of Dalas, visited the local office Wednesday.

ROTARIANS HAVE NAMED OFFICERS

Officers for the coming year have been elected by the Rotary club. Their identity, however, is being kept a dark secret until the annual membership meeting at the Kemp hotel Friday night, which will take the place this week of the usual Thursday luncheon.

The officers were elected at a special meeting of the newly elected board of directors, held during the past week.

Wives and friends of the members will be on hand for the annual membership meeting — the club members striving hard for a record of 100 per cent attendance—a high mark in a club of such large membership.

Club Concert Successful on Money Standpoint

Final checking up of account of the Musicians' Club Symphony orchestra shows it to have been a financial as well as musical success, according to Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, chairman of the Symphony orchestra committee.

In this connection Mrs. Mytinger said that while donations had been obtained from local business men for the maintenance of the 1921 orchestra, it is the belief of club members that, with a little effort the orchestra for next year can be made entirely self-supporting.

Out of town musicians who have heard the local orchestra declare it the equal of any and the superior of most symphonies they have heard.

Invitations from several cities for the local orchestra to render programs have been received by Ernest Katz, director, but at the present time no engagements have been announced.

MISS HESTER DENIES KIN TO MRS. MALONE

The positive statement by Miss Cecil Hester, 113 Walnut street, that she was not the sister of Mrs. J. B. Malone, wife of J. B. Malone, alias, Ed S. Rolen, who was arrested Tuesday in connection with the murder of John Whitman on the night of April 8, was the principal development Wednesday in the case which officers conceded has several baffling details which are still unsolved.

Miss Hester, who is employed as a waitress in a local cafe, accompanied Whitman on the night that he was shot down on Second street near the Lake street intersection, as they started to cross the street.

Officers have been working on the theory that she was the sister of Mrs. Malone, and that Whitman was shot by Malone, thinking that he was accompanied by his wife, from whom he had been separated. The mistaken identity has been the only cause advanced by officers for the shooting.

In a statement to a representative of the Record News Wednesday, Miss Hester said that she was not related to Mr. Malone. She said that she and Mrs. Malone had roomed together for two weeks, but that a week previous to the tragedy Mr. Malone had left and gone to Burkburnett, not returning here so far as she knew until after the shooting.

She said that she and John Whitman, one of the proprietors of the Barwise Tailoring company, whom she knew as Jack Dempsey had been going together since January and that they were sweethearts. She declared that he was generally known as Jack Dempsey.

She said that while Mrs. Malone was rooming with her she knew that she and her husband were having some trouble. She related that on one occasion they saw Malone across the street from where they lived apparently watching the house. Dempsey and a second man were with them in the house at that time, she said.

On the night of the shooting she said that she and Whitman watched a fire in that section of the city and that later they came up Second street. She said that they were stopped by three men, one of which she recognized as Officer Butler, who asked them who they were and where they lived.

The officer then told them that they were looking for burglars who had robbed a house a short time before. She added that while they were talking they saw a machine coming and the officers said they thought the occupants were the men they were looking for.

She said that she and Whitman walked quickly up the street and were some distance from the officers when the machine passed them and the fatal shot was fired. In her statement Miss Hester said that the shot was fired from the machine when it was four or five feet from them.

"O Cecil," she declared, was the only remark made by Whitman following the shot. She said that there were two men in the machine but was unable to identify either.

COUNTY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HAS INTERESTING MEET

An interesting paper on "Pigmentosa Retinitis," by Dr. W. L. Rhodes, featured a meeting of the Wichita County Medical society, held Tuesday night at the Kemp hotel.

Plans to make Wichita Falls the center of a new medical district drew chief attention from the physicians, among a number of subjects of local importance brought for discussion.

Members present were: Drs. Atkinson, Collard, Beckman, Daniel, Fletcher, Graham, Glover, Hartsook, Hoover, Kiel, Lee, Lowery, Neal, Barker, McNees, Mackechnie, Parker, Powers, Parnell, Patterson, Rhodes, Stripling, Tyson, Wilson, Walker, West, Swartz.

Out-of-town members present were Drs. J. Frank Clark, and Frank Clark of Iowa Park, Dr. Monroe, Mouser, Ogden and Parmley of Electra, Drs. Martin, Russell Sheppard of Burkburnett.

out the Round-Up but no contract has been awarded these moving picture concerns, acording to Frank McKinney, auditor of the attraction.

Eventful Program.

The official program was still in the hands of the printers Wednesday afternoon but the publicity director of the Round-Up announced these events for Thursday.

Grand entry and parade, introducing champions and special characters, also introducing Colonel Goodnight.

Saddle bull riding, with Kelso, Sophie Williams, Ike Armstrong, Luther Lee, Tommy Douglas, Bill Coffman, Joe Hunt and others is the second event on the program.

Fancy roping with Tommy Kirnan, Bob Calen, Chester Barrows, Montana Jack Gray, Little Joe Hesseger, Leonard Stroud and Fred M. Clancy Jr., are the entries in this event, but the lists are not yet closed and some more are expected to enter according to Round-Up officials.

Bryan Roach, Hugh Strickland, Yakima Canutt, O. R. Williams, Booger Red Jr., Shorto Kelso, Mike Hastings, Angelo Hughes, Leonard Stroud, Jack Brown, Tommy Kirnan, Delbert Bledsoe and some others are to put over the number four of the program, which means that the wild untamed are to be saddle ridden.

Mrs. Burnett's trick pony will attempt to dump newsies and other boys who fancy themselves riders at the fifth stage of the affair Thursday.

High school and gaited horses are the main attraction for event six. W. F. Weeks of Wichita Falls will enter this event, Virgil Keel of Galveston is another entry. Miss Mamie Francis of Ridgeway, Col., has a horse entered and Mrs. Lucile Burnett has a few "steppers" lined up for the event.

Of shoo ling g ss declines of Wild Calves and Indians

Wild Brahma calves are to furnish the target for the swish of rawhide and man ila hemp ropes in the seventh frame and event number eight will be sports and races by the Indians now on the ground.

Apollo, one of the greatest jumping horses on exhibit is due to jump an automobile filled with passengers in the ninth event.

Cowgirl bronc riding is scheduled for the tenth event and judging from the number here this should attract a large sized crowd in itself.

Cowboys and cowgirls in classic boresmanship will furnish the entertainment for the eleventh inning and trick and fancy riders, who are alleged to be able and willing to pull sensational stunts are on the program.

Mrs. Lucile Mulhall Burnett and Senorita Anita DeLong will engage in a steer roping contest in the twelfth number.

An Indian buffalo hunt is the thirteenth attraction.

Wild Brumah steer riding with a bunch of twelve busters attacking them is scheduled for the fourteenth event.

Three-Corner Bulldogging.

Bulldogging, in which "Wichita Falls' own" is scheduled to participate, will be the last event on the afternoon program. Slim Caskey, the local favorite, says he believes he can beat the record he made at the Fort Worth show and there are other men working along similar lines that believe they can shade Slim and get by with it.

There are a great many well known bulldoggers here and they're out for the purses which Burnett has hung up for these events.

"Going to get it myself," and Tom Burnett took on a look of interest, "well, not hardly. I'm getting a little old," and he stretched himself up and belied his assertion, but I'd like to, to be frank with you, I'd like to ride 'em, but I can't now, of course. But stick around, Buddy, you'll see something happen at his bulldogging event."

Night Program

Thursday night's program reads like this:

Quadrille on horseback; Indian dances; Wild steer riding; Miss Mamie Francis in rifle shooting from horseback; Bareback riding; Fancy roping; Bronc riding with saddles; High jumping horse; Trick riding; High school horses; Bull dogging.

Lights in many places have been placed at the ball park and it is believed by men who are in charge of the Round-Up attractions, that these matinees will prove highly entertaining.

According to announcement from Fog Horn Clancy, winners in the bronc contests will not be announced until the judges have had time to compare their score sheets. These events are as rigidly bound by rules as are boxing matches.

BUS LINE FOR ROUND-UP

The Texas Transportation Company will resume the Wichita Falls and Iowa Park Bus Line for the three days of the Round-Up. Leaves the El Dora Hotel on Ninth street at 7 a. m. 10 a. m. and about 5:30 p. m —waiting for the afternoon performance of the Round-Up to be over. Leaves Park Inn at Iowa Park at 8:30 a. m., 11:30 a. m. and about 6:30 p. m. Fare $1.25, including war tax.

Ad Men Told Not to Stop Advertising

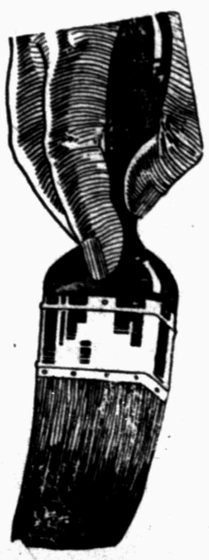

"Put over the big idea, don't stop your advertising until the prospective customer has had opportunity to grasp the fundamental principle you are trying to advertise and don't forget that each advertisement is read by many times the number of people that are listed as subscribers of the medium," J. P. Dewey, secretary of the Mid-Continent Advertising agency of Dallas, in a short talk, told members of the Ad club at their regular weekly luncheon, Wednesday, at the Kemp hotel.

Continued and systematic advertising campaigns, that bring the attention of all to the attractive characteristics of different articles, were stressed by E. S. Goodner of the Goodner Grocery company, in the principle address of the day, as the most powerful instrument for creating a market and producing quick turnovers for the goods on the merchant's shelves.

As illustrations, Mr. Goodner cited the walnut and raisin growers of California, who at different times were facing what appeared to be almost certain bankruptcy for their business, when they began a systematic advertising campaign that reached to every point of the country, until now we all eat them and thus give the growers the market they were seeking.

The attendance prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Goodner, who announced that the Goodner Grocery company will give the prizes at the next regular meeting.

Mrs. M. M. Kavanagh, secretary of the club, announced that the study division has changed their regular meeting night from Thursday to Friday evenings.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

—A whole lot when it comes to honest insurance. The name "Arrow" on a collar, or "Sterling" on silver is as good as a guarantee.

—The name "Hartford" on Insurance means that you get reimbursement promptly and surely.

—It means that you have a policy in a company that has never failed its policy holders. Don't you want this sort of insurance?

Few Days Remain Of Our Unrivalled Dictionary Offer

A word is the symbol of an idea. One may have the most original and forceful ideas—but without words to express them, they are utterly valueless. It might be said that there are no new ideas under the sun. In the earliest recorded writings from the Sanskrit, the Chinese, the Hebrew, the Greek or the Latin tongues, we find the same thought again and again. It is the expression only, that varies. Each age, each nation must evolve its own form of expression, or symbolism in its literary art. The universal mind in this way frees itself by the individual genius which has caught its meaning. Thus words may be said to be the tools of thought. Word study therefore, is one of the most important elements of education. And the dictionary which gives the derivation, the different shades of meaning, the transition in modes of spelling; in short, the history of the word, is the one indispensable workshop for the worker in words. Among all the eras of dictionary making, the present excels. And there is no excuse for anyone not to possess a valuable dictionary. The New Universities Dictionary, now being distributed by this paper, is easily chief among the dictionaries of its class. Our distribution has been wide and far-reaching. We only regret that the time draws near when we can no longer get this wonderful book for our readers, on the terms hitherto prevailing. We hope that those who have not yet gotten it, will avail themselves of the unusual opportunity presented today. The coupon published daily in our columns explains the method of acquiring it.

OFFICERS FIND STOLEN AUTO

With two hand bags containing surgical instruments and other valuable articles left undisturbed, a Buick touring car, belonging to Dr. J. B. Nail, which was stolen Tuesday evening was found Wednesday morning by Motorcycle Officers Peterson and Eyerly.

The automobile was abandoned in an alley between Travis and Austin streets, just at the edge of the Wichita river bank, the officers reported. That it was undoubtedly the work of joy riders, was the expressed belief of Detective Chief Boyd.

Dear Girl:—

I never knew you're a million miles from nowhere when you're one little mile from home, until on a summer night in blinky winky chinky Chinatown, when I dreamed in the gloaming of you, and the voice of the Western wind told me I'm longing for the days that might have been.

Juanita, I've been where the shamrock grows and heard Nora Acushla sing dear old fashioned Irish songs my mother sang to me. I sat wondering, while echoes brought back the old refrain, where is my boy tonight. I wandered to that tumbled down shack in Athlone where Mother Machree sat in the garden uttering a prayer perfect.

I have been underneath Hawaiian skies and heard Hawaiian echoes and those Hawaiian melodies on the old plantation. I danced the kilima waltz and Hawaiian hula medley with my Hula maid, but I left her on the beach at Honolulu in the sweet Hawaiian moonlight, singing aloha oe.

I have also seen the Cuban moon, have been on the Sandwich Isles, and underneath the Japanese moon where Poor Butterfly was so happy. I've been in the land of Yamo Yamo where Alice of old Vincennes played the Neapolitan love song. I've been everywhere from here to Shanghai, and am now where it's always orange day in California. But I'm saving up my means to get to New Orleans. From there I'm off to Philadelphia, where I'll meet Tommy Lad. Then we'll go down by the Ohio and soon go floatin' down to cotton town.

Though now I'm a jolly old rover, I've got the blues for my old Kentcky home. Everything brings memories of home. I'm long'ng to go down the trail to home sweet home, and hear again, Mother's lullaby, for I'm in Heaven when I'm in my mother's arms, and hear her say to me: "Dear little boy of mine, I'm proud to be the mother of a boy like you." E'er long I'll cease singin' the blues, and be homeward bound to Dixie.

Darlin' the flame of love is calling me home. Do you remember when, in the evening by the moonl'ght, we sat in the shadow of the sycamore in an old fashioned town, in the heart of the Kentucky hills, I told you, you were the girl of my dreams? You are still the girl of my heart and I cannot sleep without dreaming of you. I love you truly, and am coming back to the land of my best girl. Today my chain of memories takes me back and I see the lovelight in your eyes. I long to hear you say, "hold me," while a tear, a kiss, a smile, give me your answer. You were just made to order for me and I can't live without you. That's why my heart is calling you.

Lassie O'mine, when June time brings the roses, we'll be in the land of wedd'ng bells, and when the preacher makes you mine, we'll go hand in hand again to our little grey home in the West, down by the brook, where we will find a love nest. Then, to make ours a perfect day, we'll go to NUNN ELECTRIC CO., where they start the Victrola. With the records we get there we'll go wandering home to my isle of golden dreams and let the rest of the world go by.

Good-bye Sweet-heart, good-bye,

TAPS.
