It is not so much a want of money as it is a want of confidence.

Every member of congress is on hand with a panacea of his own for the financial ills afflicting the country.

SENATOR IMBODEN in an interview with Palestine last week declared that he was out of politics for all eternity.

THE outlook for cotton is gloomy. One-third of the mills in New England have closed down and others are running on short time.

If free-coinage will settle the troubles, then let us have free-coinage. If free-coinage will not do it, then why should we want it.

If silver can be maintained at a parity with gold, then give us free-coinage. If not, then what will it be worth? Not more than so much bullion.

THE amount of money in circulation has been increased seventeen million dollars during the last three months. Notwithstanding, times are hard and money tight.

If the volume of currency were so great that bank-notes were as plentiful as forest leaves, no honest man could get one unless he made or had something to give as an equivalent therefor.

If all those people who are dining in the cars of a suffering public their patent schemes for settling the financial question would only admit that they didn't know anything about it they would simply do all that they are capable of doing.

THERE are those who would not be satisfied even with the free-coinage of silver. Nothing short of a general divide and a free distribution of all the world's wealth would please them. And such a division would have to be made every year.

EVERY statesman at big or small calibre has a theory as to the cause of the troubles prevailing. The best diagnosis of the case is that Tom Walker's partner seems to have broken loose somewhere down in "Jawgy" and is prowling over the land.

SENATOR IMBODEN states the case very clearly and concisely when he says that the great cause of existing troubles is to be found in excessive taxation rather than in the currency question. The people are taxed to death and don't know it or rather will not admit it.

WE are honest enough to admit that we do not know what would be best for the country, free coinage or limited coinage of silver. Those who don't know any more about it than we do would do well to make the same admission. That is about all they can do in the direction of solving it.

FARMER SHAW wants to know too much. He is satisfied with Charles Culberson's views on silver, tariff and income-tax. But he goes farther. Before he is willing to commit himself to a support of Culberson for governor, he wants to know how Culberson stands on the question of admitting the Clark supporters to the primaries next year.

THE following is from the copper producers' association asking free-coinage of copper and that congress pass a law providing for a parity between copper and gold. Where will all this financial talk wind-up? Will the nickel-miners come in next and then the iron producers and demand that there metals too be coined free and without limit and be made a legal tender?

To the people of the United States: The producers of copper appeal to you for a just recognition of the metal which they represent and ask your aid in having a bill passed at the coming session of congress which will re-establish copper as a currency metal, maintaining it on a parity with gold and silver, and providing for the free coinage of this metal at the ratio of 450 to 1.

Copper is the true metal of the people and has been used for money for over 2000 years.

A POPULIST CARD.

A Threatened Severance of Business Relations With the East.

Chicago, Aug.—Important action was taken today on the silver question by the executive committee of the people's party. The committee adopted the somewhat remarkable plan of campaign outlined by President Fiske of the Pan American bi-metallic system. The following is the text of the resolution adopted by the committee: "In view of the fact that President Fiske of the Pan American bi-metallic association is now effecting arrangements to hold a great international bi-metallic conference in this country, as well as being the Colorado representative of the Trans-Missouri commercial congress, we, the executive committee of the people's party, hereby endorse and approve the sentiments contained in Fiske's articles and believe the industrial legion together with all other industrial and economic organizations will provide the organized machinery for carrying out the plans proposed. (Signed.) E. Taubeneck, chairman; J. H. Turner, secretary; M. C. Rankin, treasurer; Ignatius Donnelly, Minnesota; J. H. Davis, Texas; M. O. Strickler, Nebraska; G. F. Gaither, Alabama; Geo. F. Washburn, chairman Eastern division National committee people's party; Paul Vandervoort, commander in chief of the Industrial legion.

President Fiske's letter, addressed to the president of the New York board of trade and transportation, says in part: We of the West feel as much interest and pride in the prosperity of one section of the Union as another. Were we to view it from a selfish standpoint we would not favor the protection of your industries, but we all belong to a common country. We are willing to pay for your protection, but you must consent to the restoration of the money of the constitution and remove the enormous tax you compel the Western farmer and Southern planter to pay, or else the West and South will take measures to protect themselves.

We will build up money, railroad, commercial and manufacturing centers at such ports as Mobile, New Orleans, Galveston, St. Louis, Chicago and San Francisco, withdrawing our trade and money reserves absolutely from the East. However much we are disinclined to this course you will force us to take the step above indicated, as we can not put weapons in your hands to be used against us. Unless you stop the senseless clamor to reduce this country to a gold standard, which would mean reducing the people to feudal slavery, a combination will at once be formed with the West and South to withdraw all business relations from the East. If you desire our friendship, our good will, our business and our wealth, extend to us the hand of fellowship and show yourselves friendly.

"AGIN REDEMPTION."

When Robert Tombs returned to Washington City from his somewhat prolonged but self-imposed exile, he found himself one pleasant afternoon sauntering by the White House and concluded to leave his card with the president. General Grant was then at the head of affairs, and promptly sent for the famous fire-eater to come up. Their interview was exceedingly friendly. Tombs, warned by his cordial reception, prefaced it by the jocular remark that he made it a rule, in traveling through a foreign country, first to pay his respects "to the commandant."

Among other things that passed was some reference to the prevailing financial troubles (it was about the time of the panic of 1873), when Tombs told Grant a story, which the general afterward related. "During the hard times which succeeded the old Bank of the United States," quoth Tombs, "a typical Georgia farmer came into my office one morning, and says he: 'Robert, the folks down our way want more money, and they've got to have it.' And says I: 'How in the — are they going to get it?' 'Well,' says he, 'stomp it!' 'Well,' says I, 'suppose we stomp it, how are we going to redeem it?' 'That's just what I was coming to Robert,' says he. 'You see the boys down our way air agin redemption.'"

The story was apropos, and amused the president. It is not without a certain relevancy now, because the greater number of those who are clamoring for cheap money and plenty of it care very little how it is to be reached or redeemed, so that it is issued by the government. Their idea is to have Uncle Sam "stomp" it, leaving the consequences to take care of themselves. The world abounds with plans for making plenty of money cheap and easy.—Courier.

The happiest people in all the land are our Third Party friends. They enjoy the dissensions and schisms of the democrats and republicans. They don't know what they want themselves and if they did, they wouldn't know how to go about to get it. Just now, though, they are having lots of fun all to themselves and care not a rush if Halifax and Yuba Day or the North Pole and the Equator swap places, just so the old parties are "busted" and buried.

HON. W. Q. REEVES, judge of this district, lies dangerously ill at his home in Palestine. His many friends in this county will grieve to hear of this, and indulge the hope that he may soon be restored to health.

Congress met Monday. The President sent in his message Tuesday. He recommends the prompt repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman act and declares in favor of bi-metalism.

THE money question is a big one, so big in fact that the number of those that understand it is small.

A CARD.

We very cheerfully give space for the following protest as we do not desire to do any one an injustice. As Mr. Cooper repudiates the intimation that he had turned evangelist, we are glad of an opportunity to set him right. In justice to ourselves, however, we must say that we were acting under an honest misapprehension in saying what we did. The clipping which we republished was printed at the suggestion of one of Mr. Cooper's best friends in Crockett and the editor in his conversation with this friend of Mr. Cooper's was led to believe that he had become an evangelist. This was his impression also.

FORT WORTH, TEX., Aug. 3 1893. EN. COURIER—I thank you for publishing the clipping from the Gazette relative to the series of addresses I am delivering here, but I must be allowed to protest against the idea of you doing away with the heading given the clipping by the Gazette, and substituting a heading of your own, in which you declare that "a former Crockettite has become an evangelist." Now I have not become an evangelist and I respectfully insist that there is nothing in the clipping that warrants you in so stating.

What is known here as the Bethel Mission, a religious institution, has engaged for the summer months certain gentlemen as speakers, one for each night in the week. Sunday night happened to fall to me, as one of those speakers, and I have been, and am engaged in delivering once a week a series of open air addresses, or lectures based on the Bible, which will cease with the coming of the winter.

There are gentlemen over the country who would hesitate, and justly so, to place their business into the hands of an attorney-at-law, if it was stated that such attorney had become an evangelist. Will you oblige me by publishing this by way of correction? Respectfully, L. N. COOPER.

LOVELADY.

ED. COURIER—Plenty of rain has fallen in our midst of late, and crop prospects are good. Some fear too much rain and the cotton worm, but let's not cross the bridge until we get to it.

We turned out a regular Daniel Boone hunting expedition from Lovelady this morning. Frank Clark, late of River Side who is now a citizen and business man of our town, was in charge as it seems of the expedition, which was headed for the Wiser bottom a few miles south of Calhoun's Ferry on Trinity river. Capt. Clark has some reputation as a hunter, and was on tap at early dawn this morning mounted on the hurricane deck of his "cretur," gun and horn in hand ready for march. The expedition amounts in round numbers to eight charter members, one Elder Glover joint, one negro and 5 dogs. The first baggage wagon left town under a multitude of cheers but we did not fail to notice a pair of barber-pole breeches sitting in the gable end of the wagon. We think they were on a man from Midway, don't know. The captain while crossing the railroad looked more unto a pioneer gold digger, then a genuine cable screw, extension ribbed, patent fore-end, deer hunter of modern date. Then last but not least pulled out the rear end of the baggage train propelled by a pair of bull-acc-vine mules, loaded to the guayulaves with pots, blankets, ropes, cooking utensils, shot gun, "squedi" vabo calculations" etc., using about one $75 negro for a capstone. We cheered them long and loud. We expect a bountiful crop from this expedition toward the shank of this week and will try and report when the net proceeds are received.

There was another run-away team in town Monday. It went tearing through the main streets to the imminent danger of children and ladies. Several came very near being maimed or killed. This thing is getting to be too common and something should be done about it.

We will sell to close out, our $2.75 hand sewed, square toed, patent leather tip oxford ties for $1.90; our $2.00 ones for $1.50; our $1.75 ones for $1.25. This is a wonderful bargain—at Bill McConnell's.

All parts of Houston county have been blessed with splendid rains, causing a vast improvement in the prospect for cotton and insuring a good crop of goobers, peas and potatoes. The cotton outlook has been improved fully twenty-five per cent thereby.

Those farmers that we have talked to favor the fruit and vegetable growers' association and express a purpose to plant more fruit trees. Plant fruit trees and plant extensively. Don't be afraid to do so. A canning factory would be in operation here to day if we had enough fruit to work on.

The remains of Henry Porter were interred in the city cemetery on Friday last. It is thought by those who were present at the time of the unfortunate accident that he broke his neck in the leap to save young Herod. He was a young man of fine character, energetic and industrious and gave promise of making a very useful and valuable citizen. His death is universally regretted and all sympathize with the family in their loss.

The Reunion at Trinity was a grand success. The crowd from Crockett numbered nearly three hundred and all speak in the highest terms of the generous, hospitable treatment accorded them by the good people at Trinity. The supply of good things to eat was bounteous and everything that our Trinity neighbors could do to make the stay of visiting friends pleasant was done. The Trinity people, according to accounts, are easily first in the rare art of managing a barbecue and entertaining strangers within their gates.

Reply to Letter of "A Boy."

I am very much gratified to know that at least one boy in our county is desirous of learning something about insects. A side from the value of such studies, they are a constant source of admiration and delight. Every day reveals something new and beautiful to the student of nature, and every day the mind expands and the interest increases.

I regret that want of space in the columns of THE COURIER, prevents the publication of any articles at the present time.

If the boys will call at my office, however, I will show them how to capture, mount, and preserve the different kinds of insects, and I will also give them some information to guide their studies.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

The Commissioners' Court met in special session Monday for the purpose of dividing the county into school districts. There were more people in town on that day than we have seen here for some time. They were all interested in knowing how the lines were going to fall and just how the work of division would affect their schools particularly. Among those present we noted the following: W. J. Garner, Dr. T. M. Sherman, H. W. Payne, John Collier, Jno. Bean, N. F. Sadler, B. F. Pridgen, Jno. A. Davis, T. J. Cook, D. F. Brown, J. E. Hollingworth, A. H. Graham, R. B. English, Joe Rhoden, Jas. Best, C. C. O'Neil, Henry Rice, Jno. Hague, F. A. Harvey, J. Gentry, W. W. Gainey, E. R. Cook, T. J. Hall, J. K. Chandler, D. W. Martin, Geo. Whitley, J. A. Hill, C. A. Turner, E. H. Calloway, W. W. Wille, A. Adams, W. D. Gimon.

Allen Newton is taking steps to organize a lodge of Knights of Pythias here. The lodge will be organized by 1st of September.

A CRITICAL OPERATION.

Quite a skillful, though critical surgical operation was performed on Sunday last on Dr. Berry of Daly by Dr. J. Webb Douglas of Palestine assisted by Surgeons J. L. & W. C. Lipscomb, S. T. Beasley, J. B. Smith, J. S. Woollers and Lewis Meriwether. Dr. Berry has been suffering for some time from calculi in the bladder and the operation was for the purpose of removing same. Though skillfully done, the operation was attended with no little danger to the patient on account of his age and the diseased condition of the organ operated on. A stone the size of a walnut was removed from the bladder. The patient at this writing, while not out of danger, is doing well.

We will sell all red slippers Ladies', Misses' and Children's below cost. These goods must go for some price. At Bill McConnell's.

The Commissioner's Court concluded their labors on Wednesday. They divided the county into forty-three school districts. The trustees will be appointed next week.

COLT HARP.

The protracted meeting of Rev. S. M. Tenney, commencing at this place on the night of 24 ult. closed on Sunday 30. He labored with great zeal in the discharge of his duties while here and displayed fine judgment in the selection of his discourses, one in particular, which was taken from Math. 16 and 26. His handling of the subject would have done credit to older heads than his. To impress the services on the congregation, Miss S. E. Allen was asked to sing Gospel Hymn No. 312. She rose up in the congregation with a grace becoming the occasion. The audience was held spellbound by the melody of the hymn. Mr. Tenney's labors here, it is hoped, will be like bread upon the water, gathered up many days hence. Two accessions to the church.

W. H. Denny is happy over the appearance of another stranger at his house in the person of a little girl.

A full Commissioners' Court was in session this week, Messrs. Davis, Craddock, Murchison and Newman all being present.

The Lovelady school district and also one or two districts on Nevil's Prairie as well as the Grapeland and Porter Springs will likely order elections for the purpose of levying a local tax to supplement the state and county funds for school purposes. By so doing they can have good schools for nine months in the year and besides it will enable them to build and furnish good houses.

"THE BUCKSKIN BREECHERS" are the best Jeans Pants made. Every pair is warranted. Ask your dealer to show them to you.

COTTON WORMS.

Just as the farmers emerge in part from the disastrous consequences of the drought they run upon another calamity in the form of worms. Cotton worms are reported in several parts of the county, Nevel's Prairie, Porter's Springs, Tyler Prairie and other parts. Our advice is to do them with poison. We understand they are already doing that at Weldon. Merchants should see to it that a supply of poison is kept on hand as it is only a question of a few weeks when every one will need it.

GRAPELAND.

I was talking with an old lady a few days ago, whose wrinkles marked the passage of many summers and whose calm countenance bespoke a soul at peace with the world, conscious of a life of rectitude, and as she threw back her spectacles, laid down her knitting, and lit her pipe she said:

"What's all this talker about hard times, the Sherman Bill, Free all-over, bank failures and such like? Why, laws saves alive, man, we women during the war while the men were off fighting, done a long ways better then the men are doing these days. Why we had no money at all then, that was worth anything. Some made brooms, some made hats, some tanned leather and made shoes, some made plow stocks and wagons. We had rye and potatoe coffee and Sorghum lasses, raised our own meat, spun our own thread, made our cloths, we traded and trafficked among one another and got along so well you see we did not need the money the men need to day to buy all these things from the north with." This old lady put me to thinking and I thought and thought and thought.

We have had fine rains throughout this whole section. Everybody is in a better humor but we fear it is too late to help the cotton much.

Dr. F. C. Woodard took a flying trip to Delta county this week on business.

Mr. John Horn is laying the lumber on the ground just above the new hotel, to build a business house.

Mr. B. F. Harrison is erecting a fine residence in North Grapeland. Mr. G. M. Hollingsworth is having his residence painted which adds much to its look.

Mr. Sam Hodges' wife died a few days ago at his residence 7 miles from town.

Mr. Vieno, of Galveston, has been appointed night operator here vice Mr. Webster resigned.

Mr. Valentine our former agent who is now at Crockett, paid us a short visit one night this week. Come often Val, you have a host of friends here who are glad to see you.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes! Shoes!

There is probably no item of family expenditure that causes more annoyance and vexation than the selection of shoes. Everybody knows how vexatious it is to buy a shoe, apparently good in every respect, and to find it to be a complete fraud.

The market is flooded with worthless goods, and the art of imitation has been brought to perfection.

To avoid disappointment buy your shoes from merchants who take a pride in giving you what you ask for, and who can explain to you the difference between the genuine and the imitation.

We have devoted 20 years to the study of Shoes, and if people will be guided by us in buying, we will insure them against disappointment.

Our stock is complete in all lines and we invite an inspection. Our prices are as low as the lowest.

Dots From the Fashion Bazar.

Mrs. Beasley of the firm of Beasley & Long left August 2nd to visit Philadelphia, New York, and Chicago to purchase a fall and winter stock of goods. She expects to be away a month and on her return will be able to give the ladies something new in the way of stylish dress goods and hats. While Mrs. Beasley is away the junior partner will sell goods very cheap. If you will call at the Bazar you will be surprised at the great bargains that you can get; and don't all come at once as the junior is a little nervous and you might scare him. We want to make room for the coming stock and will sell at very close figures. So come right along and make your selves happy and us also. Don't forget your purse and leave it at home when you call as you will be sure to regret it when you see what great bargains you can get at the Bazar.
