

HANDCUFFS TWO OFFICERS TO CHURCH SINK

Heavily Armed Man Grabs Three Hostages

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — A heavily armed man seized three persons as hostages today, officials said, after he had captured two police officers, handcuffed them to a church sink and fled.

Police and highway patrolmen searched two counties in eastern Ohio.

Police in Brooklyn Heights, a Cleveland suburb, and the Highway Patrol post here said the man was 42 and of the Cleveland area.

VERY DANGEROUS

They said he was armed with a .45 pistol and two revolvers taken from police hostages and was considered very dangerous.

The patrol said the man abducted the three hostages and fled with them in their car after abandoning the cruiser of Highway Patrolman R. E. Klaes, 29, near Augusta in Carroll County. Officials tentatively identified the hostages as Joseph Platt, 24, and Nurissa Platt, 17, both from near Minerva, and Connie Elliott, 30, for whom no address was known.

The patrol said the man abducted Brooklyn Heights Sgt. Ronald Baracz, 34, early Thursday. Baracz said the man drove him to Edinburg, Pa., Thursday before returning to Ohio.

HIDDEN KEY

Klaes and another highway patrolman, W. R. Lodwick, were in a restaurant at Minerva today when a man entered, asking for help in obtaining a tow truck, the patrol said. Klaes was taken captive at gunpoint as he left to go to his cruiser.

While Lodwick followed at a distance in his own cruiser, the man took Klaes in Klaes' cruiser to a church near Minerva, where Baracz was found handcuffed to a sink, patrolmen said. Klaes was also handcuffed to the sink, but freed himself and Baracz with a hidden handcuff key.

Baracz's abandoned cruiser had been found Thursday on a street in Brooklyn Heights, touching off an all-day search by 200 police and sheriff's deputies, aided by dogs and helicopters.

Farm Bill Sets Limit On Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has on his desk today a favored $3.5 billion farm bill which sets for the first time a limit on the subsidies paid major growers for not producing.

The measure passed the Senate 48 to 35 Thursday after a lengthy and stormy fight in which opponents said the bill would cost farmers billions of dollars in income.

OPPORTUNITY

The bill, which lays down federal policy on farm subsidy and farm support programs over the next three years, won praise from Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

"It will give farmers an opportunity to take greater advantage of shifts in market demands from commodity to commodity by moving away from fixed crop acreages toward greater leeway in crop plantings," he said.

The bill limits subsidies to $55,000 on each crop of wheat, cotton, corn and other feed grain lands held from production. Senate opponents sought a $20,000 limit. There was no limit under past laws.

During the House-Senate conference meetings House members refused to budge from administration-backed provisions of the measure. Three senators walked out of the session and refused to sign the conference report, among them Sen. Stuart Symington.

The Missouri Democrat Thursday ridiculed the conference-reported bill as "both unfair and inadequate and ... a bill which is certain to lower farm income."

"Farmers especially resent these incredible efforts by Secretary of Agriculture Hardin to junk the parity concept in connection with price supports and loans," he said.

DISTURBED

Symington was disturbed over House conference members' refusal to go along with Senate language setting price supports for corn at $1.35 per bushel or 75 per cent of parity—whichever was higher.

Instead, the conference dropped the figure to 70 per cent for two years and gave the secretary the authority to lower it to 68 per cent in 1973.

Southern opponents, including Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., predicted disaster for cotton farmers. He said the bill would encourage overproduction and an eventual order from the Agriculture Department to drastically reduce the amount of acreage in production.

The old law allows cotton farmers to produce on 16.3 million acres of land. The new bill reduces that figure to 11.3 million acres.

Other provisions of the bill include extension of both the Food for Peace and wool support programs.

Nab Ball, Chain Murder Suspect

HOUSTON (AP) — Aureliano S. Silva, 20, a painter's helper, was in jail today after being charged with the bludgeoning death of Mrs. June Bleason.

Silva was charged Thursday with murder and bond was denied. Police said Silva signed a statement.

Mrs. Gleason, 36, a real estate saleswoman, was killed by repeated blows to the head by a mace, a spiked ball connected to a wooden handle by a chain.

Silva said a few hours after signing the statement that sheriff's deputies forced him to sign.

"They told me if I didn't sign, they'd beat me up," he said.

Harris County chief deputy Lloyd Frazier said a polygraph examination showed that Silva had knowledge of the murder.

NO BRA BRINGS SUSPENSION — This is the outfit worn by Sherry Platt, 17, when she was suspended from high school in Kent, Wash., for three days for refusing to wear a brassiere. Miss Platt says she plans to take the matter up with ACLU. "I don't go to school to show off clothes," she said. "I go to learn."

MANY HOMELESS Patsy Closes Airport At Manila

MANILA (AP) — Damage left by Typhoon Patsy closed the Manila airport today, caused postponement of two major international conferences and may affect the visit of Pope Paul VI next week.

Roman Catholic Church officials held an emergency meeting to determine if the typhoon damage would alter plans for the Pope's visit, beginning next Friday.

Part of the roof of the University of Santo Tomas, where the Pope will preside over a religious conference, was ripped off. Triumphant arches were blown down. But authorities indicated they want the Pope's three-day visit to go ahead as scheduled.

While Typhoon Patsy had blown out to sea, the control tower at Manila airport was knocked out by power failure. One flight was suspended.

The most powerful typhoon of the century to hit Manila, Patsy slashed Manila and Luzon Island Thursday, killed at least 42 persons, injured hundreds and left thousands homeless.

Damage estimates ranged upward to $80 million. Besides wrecked buildings and homes, and damaged airports, crop damage was severe along a 250-mile stretch of Luzon.

Shooting Pact To Avoid 'War'

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Police say two young Marines destined for Vietnam shot each other in a "double shooting pact" to avoid war duty. The plan went awry. One of them died.

Lt. Robert Haddix, head of the homicide department, says the incident took place in an isolated spot at the edge of this coastal city which abuts Camp Pendleton Marine Base.

Pvt. Eldridge C. Chappell, 20, of New York City, fired two shots that wounded Pvt. Jerome Quinn, 23, of Los Angeles, in the thigh, officers said.

Chappell then handed the .22-caliber pistol to Quinn who also fired twice, Haddix said.

One shot went into the chest and caused Chappell's death, he added.

After the shootings, Quinn drove to a nearby home where he asked for help. When police arrived he took officers to Chappell's body.

Quinn underwent emergency surgery at Oceanside and was later booked for investigation of murder, Oceanside Police Lt. Ernest Michael said.

Quota-Setting Trade Bill Passed In House

Senate Approval Will Not Be Easy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quota-setting trade bill that would throw up Congress's most formidable new barriers against foreign goods since 1930 has passed the House, but Senate approval is in doubt.

Opponents said the controversial bill to limit textile and shoe imports would touch off a world trade war. Backers said it would protect threatened U.S. industries and jobs.

It passed the House 215 to 165 Thursday night with trade lobbyists filling the galleries.

Nixon administration efforts to cut the bill back to the President's request for textile quotas only—plus a tax incentive to boost U.S. exports—didn't even come to a vote.

HUGE PACKAGE

But administration supporters said Nixon will make no decision on whether to veto the bill until he sees how it comes out of Congress.

Senate opponents led by Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., have hinted they will filibuster if necessary to prevent a similar trade package from even being considered there.

Opponents concentrated their attack during two days of debate, on predictions the quotas would bring trade-war retaliation from the countries affected—particularly Japan and the European Common Market—and would drive up U.S. prices by protecting American goods from cheaper foreign competitors.

But Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., the bill's floor manager, said the mandatory quotas would reverse a decline in U.S. textile and shoe industry jobs and force foreign competitors to negotiate voluntary import curbs.

"The Japanese would rather have the textile market they can get in the United States than retaliate," he said.

Meanwhile Thursday in London, European businessmen voiced growing opposition to the bill.

OIL LID

The bill's textile and shoe quotas are the first since the Smoot-Hawley Act of 1930, which brought broad restrictions against foreign goods. The new bill would cut imports next year to 1967-69 levels, which trade sources say in some cases would amount to a one-third decrease.

The textile and shoe import quotas could be increased 5 per cent each year after that until 1976 when the quotas expire.

The bill also would set tariff-rate quotas on mink fur skins and clycine, a chemical used in drugs and some foods, and establish a formula under which U.S. industries could force quotas or tariffs against other foreign products by proving imports are so high that they injure the American markets.

It would perpetuate the oil quotas now imposed by administrative, not congressional authority, and thus prevent the president from shifting to a less restrictive tariff system against foreign oil.

The bill's tax break for U.S. exporters, favored by Nixon, would permit them to set up Domestic International Sales Corporations (DISCs) on which profits would be tax-free if put back into more export operations.

ACQUITTED — Mrs. Louise Thoresen is reunited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Banich, of Chicago, Ill., early today. They had just heard an eight-man, four-woman jury acquit the 34-year-old Mrs. Thoresen of all charges in the June 10 shooting death of her eccentric, gun-collecting husband, William E. Thoresen III.

She's Found Innocent Of Killing 'Madman'

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Louise Thoresen was acquitted today of murder charges in the death of her millionaire gun collector husband, William Thoresen III.

The eight-man, four-woman jury returned their verdict just 11 hours after they got the case from Judge Joseph J. Joy.

The judge convened court at 3:45 a.m. when the jury reached a verdict, and the court clerk read it aloud.

NOT FREE

Mrs. Thoresen was joyfully embraced by her parents in the courtroom. The 34-year-old defendant was not set free, however, since she is being held on a New York warrant involving a gun charge.

But Mrs. Thoresen was expected to be released later today.

day. She was found innocent after a 13-day trial.

Mrs. Thoresen's husband, son of a Chicago steel executive, was shot to death in the couple's Fresno home last June 10.

In his summation, Deputy Dist. Atty. Frank Wells showed the jury color photos of the bullet-riddled back of the victim. The holes were close together. Wells commented:

"That, ladies and gentlemen, is known as a good group. To get that kind of group you have to aim, and that takes time."

Kenneth DeVaney, one of Mrs. Thoresen's lawyers, talked to the jury while beating the floor with a riding crop he said Thoresen used to beat his 34-year-old wife. Said DeVaney:

"Either Louise Thoresen is guilty of murder in the first degree or she is not guilty. We say she is not guilty."

Thoresen, said DeVaney, "was a madman, a sick man, a depraved man."

The prosecution had argued throughout the trial that Mrs. Thoresen killed her husband for the rest of her husband's estate and the love for another man, and that she ended Thoresen's life while he slept.

LIKE AN ANIMAL
The defense contended Thoresen committed repeated attacks on his wife, and toward the end became "like an animal that gives warning before it strikes" and had so warned his wife before he was killed.

Defense lawyer James Shepard told why his client killed her husband:

"She was standing there by the bed with two broken ribs and a punctured ear drum" from a beating administered earlier.

"She could hardly raise her left arm ... I don't know what you would have done but I have my own thought in the matter."

WILL HANG WORDS 'RIGHT AROUND ADMINISTRATION'S NECK'

Senate Demos Pushing Passage Of Consumer Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats pushing passage of a major consumer bill the White House opposes say they will hang the words of President Nixon's consumer adviser "right around the administration's neck."

A chief Democratic strategist referred Thursday to statements of Virginia H. Knauer who once gave "wholehearted" support to the so-called consumer class action measure.

But he denied that Democrats are pushing the bill for purely political reasons even though prospects for House approval in the dwindling days of the 91st Congress are uncertain.

ALL-OUT EFFORT

Although Mrs. Knauer once supported the measure, administration forces are readying an all-out effort to weaken it if they can't prevent it from coming to the floor altogether.

The bill provides the Federal Trade Commission with broad new powers to battle fraudulent practices.

It also permits defrauded consumers who suffered as little as a $10 loss to band together and bring class action suits to recover damages. Under current law the minimum is $10,000.

Backers of the bill say it would revolutionize consumer protection, bringing legal redress for the first time within the grasp of millions now unable to afford it.

MAY JAM COURTS

Opponents claim it would clog the federal courts, enrich law firms and lead to harassment of legitimate businesses.

The proposal is scheduled for debate next week unless Republicans can head it off as they managed to do once this week.

Although Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania included the bill in his list of 22 must measures in the current lame duck congressional session, GOP senators scrambled to block debate after Democratic leaders unexpectedly called it up.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the assistant Democratic leader, emphasized the priority listing when he proposed to call up the measure.

"The President, so I understand," said Kennedy, "has indicated strong support for this measure, so bringing this matter up now is consistent with trying to expedite the President's priorities."

CLASS ACTION

"I think there is some mistake there," said Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, ranking Republican on the Commerce Committee.

"I think it is erroneous to suggest that the President is pressing for the passage of this particular bill in its present form," he said. "Although the President wants a class action bill, he would prefer no bill at all to the class action bill in its present form."

The administration did not always think that way.

"We wholeheartedly support the principle of consumer class actions set out in this proposed bill," Mrs. Knauer told a Judiciary subcommittee in July, 1969.

Trustees At Uvalde Deny Discrimination Findings

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — The Uvalde school board has made public a lengthy denial of a government report that found the school discriminates against Mexican-Americans.

The denial, released Thursday in the Uvalde Leader-News, was in response to a report issued by the regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Dallas.

The school board contends in the denial, sent to HEW, that it was victimized by prejudiced HEW investigators who were "sent at the request of influence outside our community strictly for the purpose of 'developing a case' against our district."

The HEW report, disclosed Sunday after Uvalde residents received a copy of it, said the school district was in "probable non-compliance" with the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It listed nearly 50 instances of alleged violations of anti-discrimination provisions.

In its reply to HEW, printed in the Uvalde paper, the board maintained that the federal claims were "biased, prejudiced and in many instances totally untrue."

HEW's investigation followed a Mexican-American school boycott last spring by more than 400 pupils demanding reforms such as bilingual education.

The school board said the Justice Department and the Texas Education Agency checked the district but "apparently found no violations of any kind."

STRIKE ISSUES

HEW investigators made "prejudiced decisions," the trustees said. "We definitely feel that they were not only prejudiced, but unobjective, assumptive and influenced by the small dissident group of militant radicals who created our school problems to start with."

The Leader-News also carried the school board's refusal of a request from religious leaders based in San Antonio, who asked last week for a hearing on the issues raised in last spring's strike. The boycotters returned to school this fall at the religious leaders' behest.

The board said it has held three hearings already and noted a Mexican-American parents group has filed two suits, seeking more than $500,000 in damages, against the school district.

The trustees said the controversy will be decided in court.

They also said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., has offered to probe any charges filed against the district by HEW and that they plan to ask the senator's office to investigate the HEW allegations.

UNABLE TO HIRE

"Until we hear a report from his office we will take no action on anything different from the program and practice we have followed in our school system for many years... providing the best school system possible" for all pupils and personnel, the board said.

HEW said it appeared race, color or national origin was a factor in faculty employment here. The school board denied this, saying it hires "almost every qualified Mexican-American applicant."

TATE DEFENSE RESTS, OOPS! UNRESTS

Women Ready To Confess

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorney Paul Fitzgerald, leader of the four-lawyer defense team of the Sharon Tate murder trial, today said he wanted to testify—only to encounter a refusal by his lawyers to question them.

The next move today seemed to be up to the judge.

"I may watch someone commit suicide, but I won't help them," said one attorney after the defense dropped a bombshell Thursday by resting its case without calling a single witness.

Miss Atkins, modishly attired in a royal blue pants suit, took the stand briefly but was balked when her attorney refused to question her about the case. The two other women's lawyers said they would refuse also.

GO TO JAIL

"We can go to jail for contempt of court or we can be relieved as attorneys in this case," said Fitzgerald after a conference in the judge's chambers. "He's considering both."

Miss Atkins' attorney, Dave Shinn, refused to ask a series of 60 questions which she had prepared, saying, "I feel these questions will incriminate her. I have a duty toward my client. I absolutely refuse to help incriminate a client on the stand."

Superior Court Judge Charles Older several times ordered Shinn to question his client but the lawyer would not budge.

Fitzgerald said that during a conference in the judge's chambers the judge himself, or Manson, be allowed to pose questions, but Older vetoed both suggestions.

Data Bank Hassle With Rights Twist

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed computerized federal data bank with a civil libertarian twist has ignited a bureaucratic power struggle among the Justice Department's crime fighters.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is sponsoring Project Search, an experimental program designed to give states a source of up-to-date individual criminal records.

FBI NIX

But it is running into opposition from within the FBI, which operates its own National Crime Information Center.

The winner will be determined by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's decision whether LEAA or the FBI will get the money to operate such a program in the next fiscal year.

The first indication of FBI displeasure came in a letter commenting on recommendations of the Project Search Security and Privacy Committee.

The committee recommended, among other things, that any individual should be able to see what Search's computers say about him.

Jerome J. Daunt of the FBI's information center, wrote to O. J. Hawkins, Project Search chairman, that the privacy committee report "has been reviewed and has been found to be very objectionable."

PRIVACY

In 16 numbered paragraphs, Daunt outlined the bureau's objections to the report. Many centered on the committee's concern with individual privacy and what it thought should or shouldn't be included in such a data bank.

Wrote Daunt: "Rights to individual privacy should be considered always in the context of their reasonableness. There can be no absolute right to individual privacy in a society. The project group should be concerned only with what the courts have said up to this point, not what some committee members would expect them to say in the future."

MATTER OF LAW

As for letting individuals see what their search file contains, Daunt said, "It is very questionable as to whether Project Search has the authority to suggest that a citizen has the right to inspect and challenge the contents of Project Search files. This is a matter of law within the states."

The FBI's information center provides state law enforcement officials with little background information. It is primarily geared to telling authorities if a person is wanted. Additional information must be asked for separately. The center is separate from the FBI's vast file system which includes criminal intelligence data.

Cotton Harvest In Good Shape

The cotton harvest in the Big Spring area is about 60 per cent completed and should be completely harvested if the weather holds, Paul Gross, county agent, said this morning.

Gross said that the good weather and an early frost will allow the crop to be harvested about a month earlier than usual. Cotton prices are better than last year and there is a good demand for the cotton, he said.

Gross noted that the average acre is harvesting about a half-bale of cotton. He said also that Howard County's harvest is expected to bring in about 35,000 bales.

Impassioned Plea Voiced By Mitchell's Attorney

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — "God forgive that a jury would find me (meaning any individual) guilty and destroy my life and future on the evidence presented here," S. Sgt. David Mitchell's lawyer told Mitchell's court-martial panel today.

"This (the military) is his life. This is his love," Ossie Brown shouted in an impassioned plea to the seven-officer jury trying Mitchell on a charge of assault with intent to murder 30 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

HE'S DISGUSTED

Arguments to the jury by both sides led off today's session, preparatory to the judge's instructions to the jury and turning the case over to the seven officers.

Brown said he was "thoroughly disgusted with the whole massacre" claim. He said the claim was an attempt "by some element of this country to undermine and destroy the military in this country."

After all of the news coverage of the alleged massacre, Brown said he was "aghast and appalled when only three witnesses took the stand" for the prosecution.

He attacked the testimony of prosecution witnesses on the grounds they failed to remember the simplest things but inevitably remembered seeing Sgt. Mitchell shoot.

CRAZY MAN

Capt. Michael Swan, the prosecutor, said Mitchell's testimony in his own defense was "inherently incredible."

Swan said Mitchell testified that "while he was sitting there in perimeter and recrossing the ditch three times, he did not see anybody shot. Nobody. He did not see anybody." The civilians reportedly shot were in the ditch.

"It is inherently incredible that he could have been where he said he was and his testimony be true," Swan declared. Swan emphasized the testimony of prosecution witness Charles Sledge of Sardinia, Miss.

He said Sledge testified he saw 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. and Sgt. Mitchell "fire into the people with their M16 rifles with short bursts of automatic fire. Mr. Sledge testified the people were falling and screaming... he (Sledge) was nine to 10 feet from Sgt. Mitchell and the people were at most six feet from the accused in the ditch."

The defense completed its case Thursday morning with the tearful testimony of the defendant, who said he neither shot at anybody nor saw anybody else shoot at Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968, the day his company swept through My Lai.

The defense called 21 witnesses in two and a half days, several of whom said they witnessed shooting at a drainage ditch outside My Lai but did not see Mitchell shoot.

DIDN'T WITNESS

The Army accuses Mitchell, 30, from St. Francisville, La., of assault with intent to murder. It charges the 10-year veteran fired his M16 rifle at 30 unarmed men, women and children who had been pushed into the ditch.

The Army rested its case Oct. 20 after calling three witnesses, two of whom said they saw Mitchell fire into the ditch. The other witness said he saw Mitchell standing beside the ditch with a rifle to his shoulder and pointing down into the ditch but he could not swear he saw him fire.

None of the Army's witnesses said he saw bullets from Mitchell's rifle hit anybody.

The much-delayed trial began Sept. 15. At the jury's request, testimony of the Army's witnesses about activities around the ditch was read Thursday afternoon. It took an hour and half to read the testimony, including the cross-examination.

DEAR ABBY: I am 42 and am keeping steady company with a 40-year-old musician who is separated from his wife. I was widowed two years ago, and nearly lost my mind from loneliness, and I must say I took my mind off my sorrow.

A month ago, Joey's landlady put him out for nonpayment of rent so I let him bring his stuff to my place. He needs one room for just his guitar and sheet music. Well, he hasn't worked since he moved in with me and he isn't even looking. He plays fair guitar and says he "composes" music. He has trunks of it, and to my knowledge he hasn't sold a song in his life.

Meanwhile, I am feeding him and the grocery bill is something else. He says he loves me and will get a divorce if I will pay for it. I do love him when the sun goes down, but I don't know what to do. Am I crazy?

DEAR GLADYS: Crazy? No. Crazy people don't ask if they're crazy — they think everybody else is. Did Joey perchance write that song, "I Love Gladys Cuz Everything Is Grats?"

It's all right to love a man when the sun goes down, but when the sun comes up, you've got to pay your bills. There are worse things in life than loneliness, and if you don't get rid of Joey, you'll find out what they are.

DEAR ABBY: I'm hooked on your column. It's the first thing I turn to in the newspaper, but I never thought I'd be writing for advice. It's about my husband, whom I love madly. Is it possible for a happily married man (at least he says he is) to have such affection for a buddy that they have to talk to each other on the phone three or four times a night, at any hour? No business ties or dealings whatsoever. They are just good friends. And several times a week they run to meet each other for "coffee," if it's only for 15 minutes.

His buddy's wife and I wonder with disbelief over these two guys. They are so straight it isn't even funny, or else we're naive, that's why we need an experienced opinion. I have had a close friendship with a girl friend for 15 years and if we talk twice a week, it's sufficient. Should I worry?

DEAR PUZZLED: No, I have seen such affection between two men, and it's beautiful.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with a husband who will not wait to walk across the street with his wife and family? He will use any pretext in order to dash across the street ahead of me. (I am considered attractive.)

Our sons, now in their teens, have never seen their father escort me across the street. And when they were small, I was left to manage the children and parcels by myself.

I have told him how I feel about this Abby, but he considers it unimportant. I am concerned about the example being set for our sons. Am I being overly sensitive?

DEAR CANADIAN: No. It's the "little things" that make the "big" difference. Your husband is obviously very impatient, inconsiderate and downright mean if he is aware of how you feel about this and makes no effort to change. If he is merely thoughtless and preoccupied, gently "remind" him.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Sixth Confirmed Case This Month

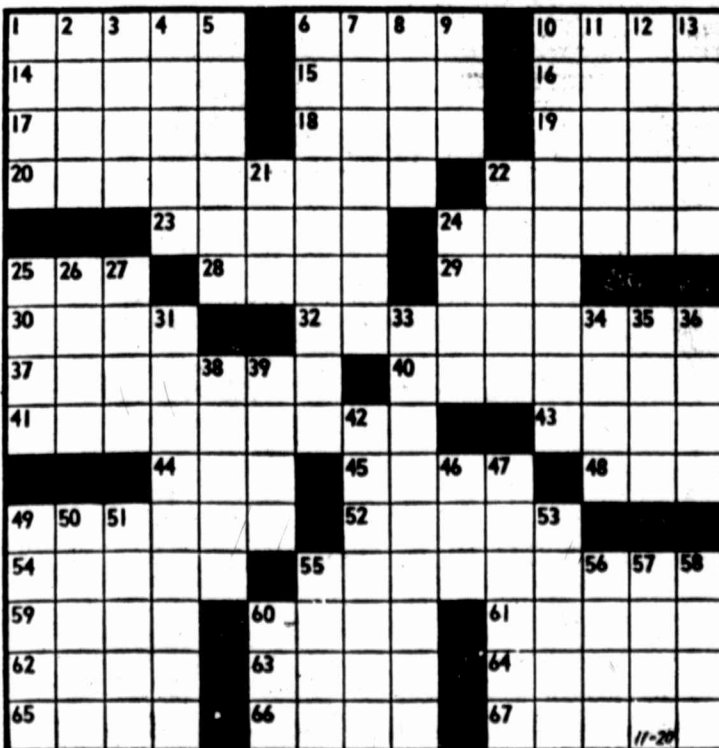

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A girl, 15, was confirmed as a diphtheria victim Thursday, bringing to three the number of cases currently under treatment.

The girl was the sixth confirmed case this month. Three children have died during the city's epidemic, including one this month, and 137 cases have been recorded for the year, health officials said.

Free diphtheria shots continue to be offered at immunization clinics.

memo to advertisers

With two seemingly equal advertising opportunities available, how would you decide which was to carry your sales messages?

We have a suggestion—take a few minutes to find out just how seemingly equal they really are.

Ask questions—how big is their circulation audience? Where do readers live? How much do they pay? And others.

Then ask for proof!

Ask to see a copy of their latest report from the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Equal opportunities? Be ABC-sure!

A LOVELIER YOU Slather Oil, Lotion On Heat-Dried Skin

By MARY SUE MILLER

A mature lovely writes: Although the winter has scarcely begun, I think I will dry up and blow away. My arms and legs are already crinkled with dryness. It happens every winter when the furnace heat comes on. The condition grows more severe as I grow older. I use bath oil and body lotion. What else can I do?

The Answer: With maturity the body complexion tends toward increasing dryness with a flaky, wrinkled appearance. The first line of defense is indeed a good bath oil and body lotion. But to hold the line, there's need for reinforcements.

The cleanser used in the bath is one such. Superlative beauty bars and gentle liquid or gel washes come recommended. A weekly oil soak further aids the cause. For the purpose use a lanolin-rich skin lotion. Simply slather it on and wait 15 minutes before tussling off any excess.

Diet plays a role, too. Wouldn't you know! Most needed are vitamin A and the Bs. Just try a large, raw carrot-a-day. Its 5,000 units of vitamin A work wonders.

In addition, keep your home cooler and keep the air humidified. Also lower the temperature of your bath water. Heat is as hard on the skin as icy wind. A dermatologist's prescription oil would "cool it" for sure.

PTA Discusses Report From Austin Seminar

The Learning Disabilities PTA disability. Thursday evening heard reports from a recent seminar in Austin.

Meeting at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, the PTA unit received a report from Mrs. Jack Burnett on suggestions for parents helping in the home with children with learning disabilities. She said that love was stressed over and over. She also touched on new teaching techniques, and reported that special education will be broadened to encompass the especially gifted children as well as those with disabilities.

Studies also have indicated that there is a connection in many instances between behavioral deviations and disabilities. Nearly half of children in trouble were found to have possessed some learning

Children Need Inside Play Area

Children need the privacy of their own room, but they also need active indoor play space. In many homes, it's hard to provide both but here's a plan that often works.

Instead of wasting space on hallways, design the bedrooms to open directly off a central activity room. With play space provided by the activity room, bedrooms can be a minimum 8x10 feet.

A single bed set, lengthwise against one inside wall will take three feet of the room's width. Opposite, a storage wall with closet, built-in dresser and desk will use another two feet, leaving three feet for walking space between.

Permanent Press

Use both warm water and cold for rinsing permanent press garments. Permanent press and wrinkle-resistant garments require automatic dryer drying for best results. But be sure you remove them from the dryer immediately so wrinkles won't set in.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

There is a child's toy made of steel, which resembles a large flexible spring and handles like magic. But it has a better use than as a toy... it's a great tranquilizer.

My boss has kept one on his desk for years — right in front of the visitor's chair.

Surprising how often a nervous visitor, salesman or employee will pick it up. Helps them pass the time, too, when it is necessary for my boss to take a telephone call. Try it, you "executives."

Secretary
I tried it, and you are right. Works like the old "worry beads," sometimes called conversation beads. But, with this new discovery, I'm hanging up my beads. Heloise

Dear Heloise:
My mother is a great cook and is always coming up with new ideas. This is an especially good one.

Take leftover baked potatoes, cut them in small chunks and fry them. Add cottage cheese, salt, pepper and chives. It's a great treat from my great mom. Vicki Noble

Dear Heloise:
When serving punch for a party, here's a time and money saver that really works.

After mixing your punch, put it in large-mouthed containers (I use plastic ones), and place them in your freezer about three to four hours before time to serve. Stir occasionally to keep ice all through the punch.

When you are ready to serve your punch, it will be slushy and delicious. No need to weaken it by adding ice. Mrs. W.C.C.

Dear Heloise:
Sticking diaper pins into a bar of soap keeps the points sharp, but the soap will crumble and make a real mess.

I took that crumbled soap and packed it into a pill bottle, made sure it was chopped very fine, and added a few drops of water.

Now when I change a diaper I stick the pins into the handy little bottle (placed out of reach of the baby), and the pins work beautifully.

When the soap crumbs start to dry out I just add a few drops of water, and it's fine again. Mother of Two

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:

I'm going to invent a tiny tape recorder that will automatically play back to me every five minutes, and tell me exactly what I'm supposed to be doing. Mr. R. Monroe

When you do, sir, you'll make a zillion!

May I be the first to place an order for one? Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those who do not have an air-conditioned house, I have a suggestion.

When it's time to relax after my housework, I bring my sun lounge in the living room. It is covered with plastic webbing, so the air can circulate under me.

I stretch out in front of the TV for that "hour of power," so I'll be ready to start dinner and get on with the day. Relaxed

Local Delegation Backs Road Improvement Request

Big Spring joined with a number of other West Texas cities Thursday in urging the Texas Highway Department to improve SH 163 in Val Verde County.

Delegations from Ozona and Big Lake as well as Del Rio and Val Verde County backed the request, and there were letters of support from Stanton, Midland, Odessa and Plainview. C. R. (Buzz) Pusard, president of the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, told the commission that the road originally had been built as a wagon road and "hasn't been changed much" except for surfacing.

The commission estimated that upgrading the road to state standards would cost $5,250,000, but Pusard said "we are not

'Hairy' Bandits Haul $3,900 From Bank

GORMAN, Tex. (AP) — Two robbers in false beards and mustaches took $3,900 at pistol point Thursday from employees of the First National Bank here in West Central Texas.

They escaped in a white late model car, and witnesses said there may have been a third person in the auto.

Charles Duran, chairman of the bank board, said the bandits missed more than $3,000 because tellers keep only part of their money in cash drawers, leaving the rest in boxes underneath.

The robbers entered just two minutes before the bank was due to close at 2 p.m., sacked up their loot and departed in about 10 minutes.

"It seemed like an eternity," Duran said.

A bank customer, A. D. Pittman, collapsed on the floor during the stickup. He was treated by a doctor and pronounced in satisfactory condition shortly after the gunmen fled.

Garbed in dark business suits and hats, one of the bandits was described as a stocky 200-pounder and the other as small and slightly built—possibly a woman. The smaller one didn't utter a sound in the bank, employees said.

A car similar to that in which the robbers fled was found about three miles north of Gorman. Officers said it had been reported stolen at Lubbock.

Winds Flail Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Texas weather coasted into a pleasant autumn fall today.

Stout winds which flailed most sections Thursday as a rather weak cold front swept across the state had subsided by this morning.

Skies were generally clear. About the only blot on the picture was patchy fog which lowered visibility to less than one-half mile around Brownsville and McAllen early in the day.

It was chilly over much of West and North Texas near dawn. The mercury dipped to 21 degrees at Marfa, 24 at Dalhart, 27 at Junction, 28 at Lubbock and Wink, 30 at Amarillo, 31 at San Angelo and 32 at Wichita Falls.

At the same hour the readings were 57 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi, and 58 at Galveston. Fair and warmer weather was forecast for all sections until an arctic front, already pushing into the Texas Panhandle Sunday. The chill is expected to spread into other sections by Monday.

Flaming Crash Kills One Trucker

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — A trucker hauling liquid sulphur burned to death and a second driver suffered severe injuries in a highway crash involving three vehicles Thursday night.

It took nearly two hours to extinguish flames leaping around a trailer loaded with the sulphur and a semi-truck carrying mail. A pickup truck also figured in the collision 1/2 mile west of here on U.S. 67.

Authorities still were unable to identify the dead man hours later. They reported he was burned beyond recognition and they were not able to determine the ownership of the badly charred truck.

Bobby Green, 32, of Memphis, Tenn., at the wheel of the mail truck, suffered burns over 45 per cent of his body and was taken to Texarkana Wadley Hospital in critical condition. Attendants said they expected to move him to the burns center at Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio.

Injuries which apparently were not serious were received by two occupants of the pickup—Robert Vickers, 47, and his son Mickey, 19, of Hooks, Tex.

Sulphur flowed in a blazing stream for about 300 yards down the road after the crash at the intersection of U.S. 67 at Kings Highway near Nash, Tex.

"The whole side of the highway was a wall of fire," said state patrolman Jerry Kirkpatrick.

Three overhead telephone cables were severed by the flames, interrupting service for a time to about 550 customers.

Damage Suit Filed Against Local Store

A Big Spring woman has filed suit on behalf of her 13-year-old daughter against Cook's Department Store in 118th District Court. Mrs. Lillie Wise is asking $35,000 in damages.

The suit results from an incident that allegedly occurred on Aug. 23. Mrs. Wise reportedly had taken her daughter, Velma Marie, and some of her other children to Cook's to purchase some clothing. While there, Velma Marie was fitted for some undergarments which were then purchased, and the family prepared to leave the store, according to the petition.

At this point, Mrs. Wise alleges that a store employee approached Velma Marie and her mother, and accused the girl of stealing an undergarment by wearing it out of the store. Mrs. Wise alleges that the clerk told the girl to open her blouse, which the girl allegedly did while standing in the entranceway to the store.

Mrs. Wise alleges in her suit that the girl was wrongly accused, the garment being her own, and that the search resulted in great personal embarrassment to the girl.

Doctor Speaks To Church Group

Dr. Henry K. Butler, of the Malone-Hogan Clinic, was the guest speaker Wednesday night at a congregational meeting at the East Fourth Baptist Church. Dr. Butler represented the American Cancer Society and showed a film describing medical quackery and its serious consequences for persons involved.

The film is one of many made available to churches, schools, civic and fraternal organizations at no charge from the American Cancer Society. Program chairman who wish their groups to see one of the films should contact Mrs. Ben A. Boadle, public education chairman for the Howard County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Boadle said the films have been prepared for different age levels, and all adult presentations will have a medical speaker unless otherwise requested.

His father, Earl L. Holden, returned Tuesday afternoon from Galveston, and both parents are to leave Nov. 25th for a Thanksgiving visit to Galveston.

Mrs. Holden said that although the doctors have estimated a prolonged recovery period of about two months Holden is again able to use his left hand and is able to watch television, indicating that the burns on his face did not damage his vision.

She said Holden is given daily water therapy treatments, a painful treatment process that involves soaking in a bath while dead skin is removed. The process must be continued until the tissue layers underneath the skin surface are ready for skin grafting.

Holden is to receive skin grafts on his right arm above and below the elbow, and other burned areas are expected to heal normally.

Official Canvass Reverses Count On State Amendment

AUSTIN (AP) — Democrat Lloyd Bentsen defeated Republican George Bush by 155,334 votes in the Nov. 3 general election, the official canvass of the returns showed today.

Gov. Preston Smith and Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. certified the results of all but the governor's and lieutenant governor's races. The legislature will canvass those returns in January.

Randall Wood, head of the secretary of state's election division, said the uncertified count in the governor's race showed Smith defeating Republican Paul Eggers 1,232,506 votes to 1,073,831.

"That makes me a pretty good predictor—I said 2.25 million to 2.5 million total turnout," Smith said.

Smith poked a needle at the defeated Republicans.

"I got a letter wanting us to sponsor an appreciation dinner for Nixon and Agnew," he said. "Seriously, and the writer was a responsible man."

"I wrote him and told him our time was all taken."

Many Democratic politicians think the visits to Texas by President Nixon and Vice President Spiro Agnew before the election helped defeat GOP candidates by arousing interest to the polls.

The canvass reversed the unofficial count on one constitutional amendment: Unofficial results showed the amendment restructuring the State Building Commission passed by a little more than 1,000 votes. The canvass showed it failed by 6,337 votes.

Wood said the discrepancy was due to a "mistake in their totals" at the Texas Election Bureau, the unofficial vote counting agency.

The liquor by the drink amendment passed by 979,868 votes to 914,481.

Burned Policeman Doing Fine, Skin Graft Planned

Leo E. Holden, the Big Spring policeman burned Oct. 30 when a can of gasoline ignited, is reported to be doing well and responding to treatment at the John Sealy Hospital Burns Center in Galveston.

His father, Earl L. Holden, returned Tuesday afternoon from Galveston, and both parents are to leave Nov. 25th for a Thanksgiving visit to Galveston.

Mrs. Holden said that although the doctors have estimated a prolonged recovery period of about two months Holden is again able to use his left hand and is able to watch television, indicating that the burns on his face did not damage his vision.

She said Holden is given daily water therapy treatments, a painful treatment process that involves soaking in a bath while dead skin is removed. The process must be continued until the tissue layers underneath the skin surface are ready for skin grafting.

Holden is to receive skin grafts on his right arm above and below the elbow, and other burned areas are expected to heal normally.

PRIZE WINNER SAYS: Cure For Common Cold Simple As Vitamin C

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Linus Pauling, the scientist who won two Nobel prizes, says an effective cure for the common cold is as simple as a walk to the corner store.

Vitamin C can do the job, but people have not been making proper use of it, he said Thursday.

If they did, there would be no more colds, he said at a news conference to discuss his book, "Vitamin C and the Common Cold," scheduled for publication Dec. 7.

Pauling offered the following prescription for cold sufferers: Take about one-half level teaspoon of the powder form of ascorbic acid — vitamin C — each day until the cold disappears.

When a person first catches a cold, he said, taking about one gram of ascorbic acid each hour will chase the discomfort away.

Pauling said continued suffering with colds "is explained by the fact that in the past, the medical student has been taught little about vitamins and nutrition."

"Fortunately, physicians are now beginning to recognize the value of the vitamins," he added.

Pauling said enough vitamin C for a year's worth of cold protection can be bought for about $5 a person.

It is now available at most grocery and drug stores, he said.

Pauling, a scientist also known as an antiwar crusader, said Americans spend about $500 million a year on "cold remedies which do not prevent colds."

"They may decrease somewhat the misery of the cold, but they also do harm because of their toxicity and side effects," he said.

Pauling, who has received Nobel prizes for chemistry and for peace efforts, said he has been using vitamin C to ward off colds with excellent results for five years.

In Your Attendance

Everyone loves a bargain — whether it's Mother in the local supermarket, or Dad laying in a supply of shotgun shells for the hunting season or Junior buying his candy bars at three for a dime. And what fun it is to tell our friends of the lucky purchase — even if, in the final accounting, the results are somewhat dubious!

But think of the many bargains about which we have no doubt — really big, genuine bargains . . . like the beautiful color of leaves on an autumn day or the aroma of roast turkey that's in the kitchen stove at this very minute. And, since it's Thanksgiving, it is only appropriate that we should mention the tremendous bargain of our heritage and freedom.

When you come to think of it, we are always getting more than we are giving. We are on the receiving end. The biggest part of our life — the overwhelming part of our life — what is given to us.

Let us then become conscious of our moment-by-moment dependence on God, the awareness of life as a gift. For what is religion but receiving, seeing, believing, praising and thanking God?

Three Local Churches Schedule Special 'Pioneer' Observances

Food, Costumes, Music Featured in Services

The days of calico skirts, high-button shoes and overalls will be revived Sunday by the congregations of three local churches. Airport, East Fourth and Crestview Baptist churches are sponsoring services with an old-time flavor.

Airport Baptist Church is observing Thanksgiving Day with an all-day service which will reflect the ways of the pioneers. The Rev. J. F. Fields Sr., an 80-year-old retired minister, will bring the closing message at 4 p.m. Sunday. A dinner will be served at the church after the morning service, and four string bands will play old-time gospel songs starting at 2 p.m.

All the members of the congregation and the Rev. A. F. Thomas, pastor, will be dressed in the height of pioneer fashions. Members of the congregation have concocted a fanciful mule out of sheets, harness and oil drums which has been set up in the church to add to the pioneer spirit.

"APPRECIATION DAY" In honor of Thanksgiving, East Fourth Baptist Church is also sponsoring an all-day service Sunday, which has been designated "Church Appreciation Day."

After the morning service, a covered dish dinner will be served to the pioneer-dressed congregation on the church grounds. Music provided by the choir, other church members and special groups from neighboring churches will begin at 1:30 p.m. after the luncheon is finished.

According to the Rev. Dale Cain, pastor, the public is invited to the special service. Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m., morning worship begins at 11 a.m., lunch will be served at noon, followed by the music program, and Training Union begins at 6 p.m. with evening service at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome, even without an old-time garb.

"HALLELUJAH SUNDAY" "Hallelujah Sunday" will be celebrated this Sunday at Crestview Baptist Church. The congregation will get into the spirit of the day by dressing as their grandparents and great-grandparents once did.

Special offerings and old-fashioned gospel music will be featured. In honor of Thanksgiving Day, a turkey dinner will be served at the church. The turkey will be furnished and each family will bring whatever trimmings it prefers to go with the meat.

Following the dinner will be singing and fellowship. The youth of the church will present a special program.

The Rev. Pat Bullock, pastor, said that everyone is invited to attend the special activities whether they wear old-fashioned clothes or not.

CRESTVIEW 'OLD SETTLERS' — Modeling the pioneer costumes they will wear to Sunday's special service are Marva Daniels, left; Nancy Bullock, center; and Edna Holland.

Black Membership Reaches 3 Million

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — The membership of independent black churches in South Africa has reached three million — more than a quarter of the total African population.

This figure comes from: the Rev. C. F. Beyers Naude, director of the Christian Institute of Southern Africa and adviser to the African Independent Churches Association, whose churches split away from white denominations.

White House Diary

The White House and LBJ Ranch

I was up early, the way it was when I was a child and it was the day to go to the County Fair and I didn't want to miss a thing. I had coffee at 7, a small private smile for the big canopied bed that I would not sleep in again, and for the courteous deferential White House butler who brought me the tray. I'm glad I had spent a lot of Saturday afternoon saying good-bye and thank you, because there would not be time to do it today.

After a while it was time to put on my elegant mink hat — what an indulgence... how often will I wear it at Stone-wall? — take up my muff, tell Lyndon I was ready and to come as soon as he could, and go down to the Red Room.

For me, in any time of crisis all the real emotions — the leave-takings or whatever-it-is — have already been lived through in a previous, quieter time. By now I was sort of anesthetized — in armor — and still I had the feeling of "going to the Fair" and wanting to absorb and take in everything, remember it, but not feel it.

BIG, BLACK CAR

The big black car rolled up and out stepped the President-elect, growing momentarily more impressive, somehow, and then Pat in a smashing rosy-outfit, belted, with lapels and a fur hat. Tricia was wearing a powder blue coat with touches of fur. She's tiny and very feminine. And there was Julie, taller, darker, and more vivacious, with David, lanky and smiling that famous Eisenhower smile.

We stopped on the Portico for pictures and then the funny business that so often happens about who should go in the door first happened, until I took Pat's arm firmly and said, "Shall we go in?"

Then we were all in the Red Room, the crowd enlarging to include Sen. Dirksen, Speaker McCormack, the vice president-elect and Mrs. Spiro Agnew and their son, who had been in Vietnam, along with his wife, the Agnew's two daughters, Sen. Mansfield, Gerald Ford, Sen. Jordan, and Carl Albert, and Lynda and Luci who gravitated at once to the young Nixons.

I noticed Luci and Tricia in animated conversation in a corner and Lynda asking David if he really did leave all those notes under the rugs. I was asking John Marriott, the inauguration chairman, how he was managing with his thousands of friends who must suddenly have come from the far reaches of the United States, each demanding a suite with a large living room.

TIME TO GO

I remember Leonard Marks saying, "It's time to get into the cars." And Pat and I and Speaker McCormack went out together and took our places in a car. Lyndon and Mr. Nixon were in the lead car and in between were the Secret Service and somewhere behind Lynda and Luci and Leonard.

While everybody was getting in, I looked up at the facade of the White House and there, glued to one of the windows, were the faces of John Fickland and Jerman, and another butler — was it Johnny? ... And on the steps smiling and blowing kisses were many members of our staff. That was my last view as I drove away from the White House.

We took our seats in the front row and then turned our heads to watch the next entrance onto the stage of this great quadrennial American pageant. Try as I did to soak everything up, this time truly the last time. He looked very tall and handsome and impressive, and very relaxed too, I thought. Mrs. Nixon came in alone — her bright rose-red dress a dramatic success. And finally, the country's new President.

BRIEF CEREMONY

For all the preparation that had gone into it, it was a brief ceremony — only about 45 minutes, I believe. And how to describe it? It was low-keyed, restrained, grave, it seemed to me. Perhaps the times set the mood. None of the youthful ebullience, the poetic brilliance of the Kennedy Inauguration, nor the robust, roaring Jacksonian quality of ours.

Then we were in the big black car — Lyndon and I, and Lynda and Luci — driving with a motorcycle escort away from the Capitol and down the streets, now more filled with people, on toward the Cliffords' Clark and Marry — foreseeing the situation of an outgoing President — had arranged a farewell luncheon before we left for Texas.

It was a quiet flight down. One of the first things I saw in the plane was a big bunch of yellow roses with a card from the Nixons. What a thoughtful thing to do! And I saluted their efficiency, too, knowing something of the demands on them and their staff today.

ARRIVING HOME

About 5:30 we arrived at Bergstrom. Here 5,000 people were packed along the fence — and a receiving party stood at the foot of the steps of the plane. The Longhorn Band was there in bright orange and they played "Auff Wieder" and "Flourishes."

"The Eyes of Texas." There was a big sign above the Base Operations that said: "Welcome Home, Mr. President and Family." Lyndon made a brief speech ending with the hope that the country would be understanding with Nixon. And at the very last, "Whether we are Democrats or Republicans, Texans or New Yorkers, we love our country, or we ought to love it."

And then once more, he took to the fence, with the wind blowing him in the face, grabbing for hands with both of his, and finally picking up Lyn and taking him along the fence while Lynda with Lucinda in her arms and I followed, smiling and waving.

With a last good-bye to an airport fence and also good-bye to Luci and Lyn who were going to their own house, Lyndon and Lynda and Lucinda and I got on the Jetstar and headed for the Ranch. I looked over my shoulder and there was a silver crescent of a new moon, bright and clear and full of promise.

LAST RECEPTION

But there was still one more reception committee. We got to the Ranch just as dark was falling. There around the hangar were about 500 local folks, some who had known Lyndon all his life and his father before him. Lyndon invited everybody into the hangar and made them a rather long and glowing talk about how glad he was to be home.

We went into the house then. The fire was burning on the raised hearth in the living room, flickering on the familiar pictures and old books and the big comfortable chairs.

The luggage was piled up out by the kitchen door — a mountain. It would be some time before we got to the bottom of that stack. After a while Lynda went out to dig around in it, looking for something she needed for the baby. She came back in, lugging two suitcases, looking a little harassed and deserted. I smiled at her.

A little past 9 I went to bed, with a line of poetry reeling through my mind. I think it's from "India's Love Lyrics." "I seek to celebrate my glad release, the Tents of Silence and the Camp of Peace." And yet it's not quite the right exit line for me because I have loved almost every day of these five years.

This concludes The Herald's publication of "A White House Diary."

Reveals Search, Destroy Mission

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Leo M. Maroney, a mortar platoon sergeant during the assault on My Lai, says Capt. Ernest Medina ordered a group of his men to destroy crops and buildings at the Vietnamese village.

The 38-year-old sergeant's testimony Thursday in the third day of the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., was the first suggestion of a search and destroy mission.

HIS ORDERS

Maroney said his orders were specifically for the destruction of crops and buildings. Defense counsel for Calley, charged with the murder of 102 unarmed Vietnamese civilians, are expected to argue that any massacre at My Lai was the result of orders from the lieutenant's superior officers.

Medina, commander of Company C, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry of the Americal Division, was Calley's superior officer during the assault March 16, 1968.

BODIES ON TRAIL

Under cross-examination by George W. Latimer, Calley's civilian attorney, Maroney said he saw one Vietnamese killed "but I don't know who killed him."

Maroney also corroborated the testimony of several other witnesses who said they saw about 15 or 20 Vietnamese bodies lying on a trail near the village.

Earlier, John Paul, a former radio man for Medina, testified that he saw the captain pump two bullets into a Vietnamese woman because he thought she had a grenade.

Sober Women

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Although a circuit court has ruled that women may drink at a bar, the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board says it will enforce the statutory prohibition against the practice until a final ruling by the Court of Appeals Kentucky's highest court, later this year.

Furr's Stocks New Detergent

A totally new phosphate-free laundry detergent is being introduced by Furr's it was announced today by Roy K. Furr, vice president. He said the new product, available under the Topco label will make an important contribution to present efforts here to curb the threatened pollution of water supplies.

"We have been asking for a product like this for some time now, and our new Topco phosphate-free laundry detergent cleans and brightens clothes as effectively as the major low-suds detergents now in general use, but it substitutes a different chemical builder system," Furr said. "Laboratory tests indicate that the phosphates in laundry detergents are a significant source of water pollution. We believe this is the first pollution-free product of its kind to be found on grocery store shelves here in Big Spring."

Phosphates are accused of being a problem because when combined with the carbon and nitrogen which are discharged mainly from industrial sources into a water, produce a compound that is the source of a serious difficulty. Without phosphate, efforts of the other two elements are neutralized.

A Devotion For Today . . .

As an eagle that stirreth up her nest, that fluttereth over her young, he spread abroad his wings, he took them, he bare them on his pinions. (Deuteronomy 32:11, AV)

PRAYER: Our Father, sustain us when we are faced with the inevitable. May we remind ourselves that trouble is sure to come, but that Thy strength is more than adequate to keep us from falling. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Review Of Teacher Tenure

College and university administrators have been advised to give careful review to standards for granting tenure to professors.

The advice is contained in the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, recently published.

Other recommendations are to decentralize "huge" schools to make them less "dehumanizing" and to install a system whereby students would formally evaluate their professors.

Where student evaluations have been done the "tough" professors — those who take their work seriously and insist that students do likewise — tend to get better ratings than easy-going professors. Taking one's work seriously and being merely tedious and boring aren't the same thing, of course.

Review of tenure standards, however, is the sensitive issue. Surveys indicate warm support is available for the review though it can be assumed that there will be highly-vocal opposition. Criticism of current tenure standards is that too much emphasis is placed upon research and publication of learned articles, and not enough on good teaching.

The commission (chaired by William Scranton) found what had been recommended earlier by the American Council on Education last spring. It, too, thought tenure standards were due for overhaul.

Inevitably, the colleges and universities will be challenged policies and patterns that seem to foster frustrations on campuses. A survey of administrators showed general ignorance of the Scranton commission findings. It may be that administrators assume they know the problems well enough and are lobbying in their own way to get desirable changes made.

The complaint that students were not getting the benefits of reputedly-great teachers is an old one. The postwar boom in research money tended to divert professors into research and away from the classroom. Research is a teaching opportunity but grantsmanship can get in the way of scholarship. The minimum requirement for tenure should be a no-penalty-for-teaching competence clause.

Modernization Of The Navy

Moving to stem the tide of dropping re-enlistments, the chief of naval operations has wiped out a number of trivial but irritating regulations.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt's actions have shaken up the old salts, but the jolts will be worth it if more good men stay in the Navy as career sailors. Like the other branches of service, the Navy invests time and money training many specialists, only to lose them at the end of their first hitch.

The admiral has declared that neat sideburns, mustaches and beards will not be a professional hindrance for Navy men. He has extended liberty time, made more liberty possible, permitted motorcycles on base, allowed "hard rock" music clubs for junior officers, reduced waiting in line, permitted beer and liquor in barracks, and ruled out unnecessary ship-painting.

These orders are aimed at treating officers and men as adults. It is unlikely discipline will be impaired. Good discipline should stem from respect, not fear of punishment.

The Growing Drug Problem

WASHINGTON — "Overlooking the obvious" is an old saying, but it may be applied to what is going on now in America. For the most obvious of the causes of unrest, violence and disruption of human society — namely, the use of dope — has gotten only superficial attention. That's why an occasional outburst of alarm by the government itself is worthy of notice.

THE CUSTOMS Bureau, for example, has just announced that during the third quarter of this year it seized more than double the amount of illicit drugs it did in the corresponding July-through-September period a year ago. The assistant secretary of the treasury for enforcement and operations, Eugene T. Rossides, says that much of the seized barbiturates and stimulants "was manufactured in the United States and shipped out of the country with little regard for the character of the recipient, and thereafter diverted into illicit channels for smuggling back into the United States."

BUT WHAT is even more

Billy Graham

My fiancée is sort of an agnostic. When I quote Scriptures to him, he says: "How can you believe what mere men have written on parchments?" He says that all this stuff about God and religion is just a delusion. What can I say to him that will convince him there is a God, and that the Bible is the Word of God?

M.J.T.

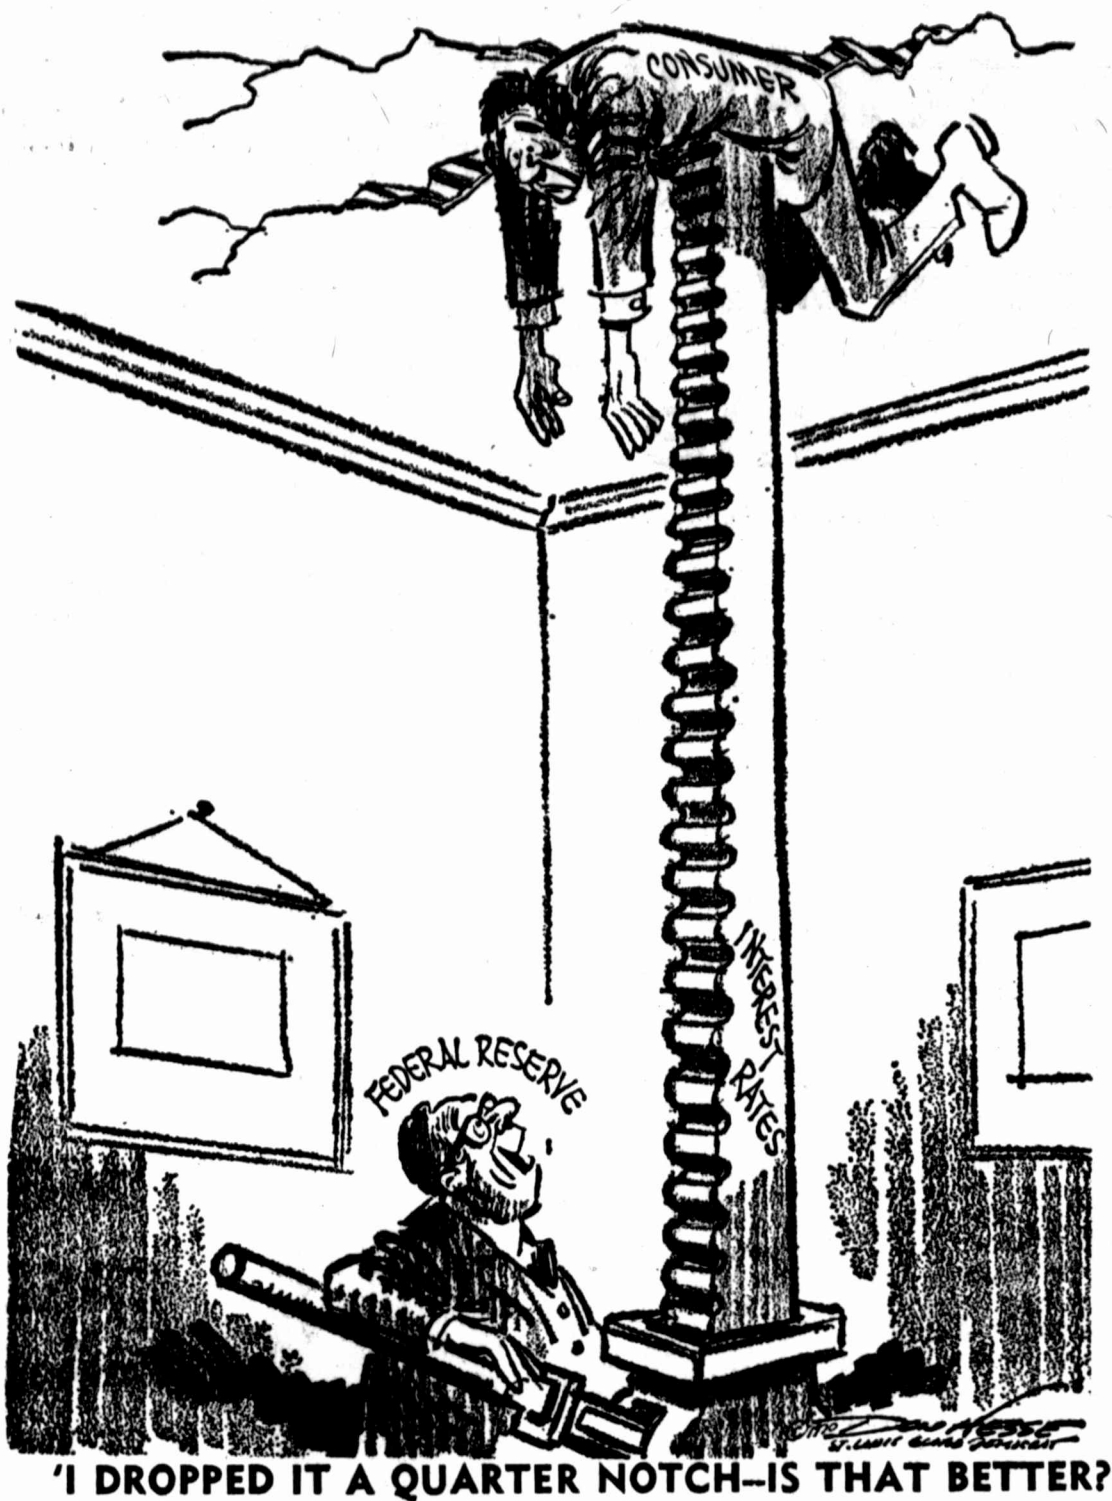

Does your fiancée reject everything that is written on paper such as all history, mathematical formulae, and the various laws of nature? Nearly all the knowledge we have is reduced to writing. Why does he have such an aversion to the Bible which has outlasted all other writings of mankind? I can tell you the reason. The Bible says: "Because they received not the love of the truth . . . God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie; that they all might be damned who believed not the truth." (II Thess. 2:11, 12)

Your fiancée has rejected the truth, (which is his prerogative), and with it has come a delusion in which the lie, the deception of Satan seems more logical than the truth of God. There is probably little chance that you will ever change him. As a believing Christian, you should terminate this association, for he will make every effort to change you, and if he does your marriage is doomed. This may seem a harsh judgment, but it is not my own. The Bible says, "Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers, for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness, and what communion hath light with darkness?" (2 Cor. 6:14.) You are too young to start a reform school.

Haack Wrote His Speech

NEW YORK (AP) — "I wrote this speech myself, nine drafts of it. I wanted to be very precise. This wasn't a product of the public relations department. It was pure Haack."

It was also the most startling and certainly one of the most important speeches ever addressed to members of the New York Stock Exchange, of which Robert Haack, at the discretion of its Board of Governors, rules as president.

"I knew it would offend some members," said Haack, an articulate man who ordinarily speaks without notes, "but I felt very strongly. Conceivably, he said, it could lead to me being fired."

Haack's speech, which he said had been fermenting in his mind for three months, was delivered Tuesday night to incredulous members of the Economic Club of New York.

Since then it has been termed courageous by many who tend to be younger and more flexible than others identified as being members of the "establishment," some of whom felt it was simply outrageous.

What had Haack done? All this:

—Delivered his "personal opinion" that the exchange considered abandoning fixed commission rates on large transactions and substitute negotiated rates, a stand contrary to the widely publicized position of the exchange governors.

—Suggested that "inept management" of some members is fostered by fixed minimum commissions, which remove a great deal of the competitive edge from the industry.

—Stated that the securities industry, "more than any other industry in America, engages in mazes of blatant gimmickry," and deplored the "intrigues and machinations of some of our members and some of their customers."

—Challenged the exchange bureaucracy—"It should not be tolerated"—and suggested a restructuring of the Board of Governors and exchange election procedures.

Why did Haack do it? Even those who oppose his position are likely to agree he spoke out of the deepest conviction. As he put it: "I made it because of a genuine concern for the survival of this exchange as the premier market place."

It was obvious he was frustrated by the divisiveness within the exchange that prevented effective action on issues that, to his mind, were little less than matters of survival or decay.

He has worked long, tedious hours over an endless maze of problems that, because of complexity, bureaucracy and regulation, seldom permit direct forward action and, in fact, even logical action.

He declined to say directly why he had, for the moment, forsaken the internal battle to bring the issues to public attention, but there is some indication he felt the shock would enliven dialogue, good members into refining their thoughts, and thereby to clear the way for action.

School Of Hard Knocks

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no finer fun than playing the game of "remember when." The more we can match each other's memories the more warmly akin we feel. You can play the game pretty well yourself if you can look and remember when.

Every girl dreamed of meeting the man she'd marry by having him save her from being mugged by a runaway horse. The school of hard knocks had more pupils than any other school in town.

If you didn't swim, you sank. The only really big problem youth had to face was acne.

The rich had all the ice they wanted all the year round, but the poor got most of theirs in winter.

In the newspaper cartoons an Englishman was a fellow who wore a top hat, a monocle and spats, and went around murmuring "Bah Jove."

It made you feel mysterious to eat in a Chinese restaurant, and it was almost a ritual requirement to say to somebody afterward, "you know, at the time it filled me up completely but an hour later I felt I hadn't eaten a thing."

A guy in the 1920's who wore sideburns and flapping pants was called a "cake eater." The girl he escorted wore rolled hose, short skirts and a studied look of vacuity, and was known as a "flapper."

Only the local filling station had the courage to give away free calendars with a nude girl on the cover.

After you found a steady job, you were expected to stay with it for the rest of your life. The general theory was that you should begin by sweeping out the place and end up running it.

Young ladies wore big-brimmed hats in summer to protect their pale complexion from the sun's ravages. A tanned face made a girl feel rather common.

Anybody who dwelt outside hearing distance of a street car was known to vaudeville wits as a "hayseed," a "rube," or a "local yokel."

You could buy a hand-wound phonograph for what it costs you today to have a color television set repaired.

Most Americans lived by the courageous, give it another try philosophy once expressed by the late Mike Todd: "I've often been broke, but I've never been poor."

Those were the days—remember?

Why Pupils Of The Eyes Dilate

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What makes the pupils of your eyes dilate at times? Would this be serious? I have a grown son and also a 6-year-old grandson and I notice that at times their pupils get large. They both seem to be on the nervous side.—Mrs. H.P.

Several things can cause the pupils to enlarge or contract. Basically, the pupil changes size to regulate the amount of light entering the eye. In very bright light, the pupil will squeeze down to very small size. In dim light, the pupil enlarges to admit more light.

That's why, when we go into a dim room from a bright sunlit day outdoors, at first we can't see much. Then we become accustomed to the dim light, and can see very well. Why? The pupils have enlarged to suit the illumination.

Absolute size of the pupils can vary considerably from one individual to another, but all change according to brightness. One-sided dilation or constriction can be due to a defect in the nerve control of the pupil — not a very common occurrence. Report such a condition to an ophthalmologist.

And drugs can affect pupil size, in both directions. Narcotics (morphine, heroin) cause a small pupil. Belladonna and others cause a large, also marijuana. Older folks using "drops" for glaucoma will have small, contracted pupils.

I doubt, Mrs. P., that in your case you have anything to worry about.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Am enclosing 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "How to Control Emphysema." My husband has it. Would this condition make him frigid? — Mrs. J.M.

No, but it can have a considerable bearing on sexual vigor, which may amount to somewhat the same thing so far as you are concerned. The disease deprives him of abundant oxygen. Advance emphysema can, therefore, sap his physical energy. Sheer fatigue can dull or destroy the sexual urge.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read in your column about carbon dioxide now being used to fade birthmarks. Can the regular doctor use it, or do you buy it at a drug store?

My daughter, 13, has a large dark brown mark on her leg. The children at school tease her so much that she wears long stockings all the time, even in hot weather.

The mark has never been sore or given any trouble except that it does get larger and more noticeable.—Mrs. B.

The carbon dioxide treatment is for a specialist (dermatologist or a plastic surgeon) to handle. And with the others teasing her so much, I'd see a specialist about having the mark treated.

What concerns me even more is that the spot is getting larger, so for that reason alone I would have a doctor see it. He may or may not decide that the carbon dioxide is best. Some other type of treatment may be preferable.

Does the younger generation realize that wrinkles are groovy, too?

MY CHUNKY uncle, Chester Ladd, philosophizes: "Time is merely a bind on people who use it as an excuse. What is the use of living if living is no use?"

Three hippies — two of them apparently males — were trying to hitchhike near Coahoma a couple of days ago. One held up a sign: "Fair and Warner." They want to follow the sun just like the rich do. Winter's coming.

You may think it's a little early but I'll bet I can come as close as anyone in the guessing game.

Rose Bowl—Michigan will win the Big Ten Conference in a showdown with Ohio State but the Buckeyes will lose to Stanford in the oldest post-season classic. That's because the Big Ten has a no-repeat rule.

Cotton Bowl — Arkansas, after banging Texas for the Southwest Conference championship, will claw LSU.

Sugar Bowl—Tennessee Vols will gun down the Air Force in a defensive duel.

Gator Bowl—Auburn will whip Ole Miss.

Liberty Bowl—Alabama will waltz by Colorado.

Peach Bowl—Arizona State will zip by Penn State.

Sun Bowl—Georgia Tech will wreck Texas Tech.

Nixon More Active In Wage-Price Mess?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's action in launching a major investigation into the increase in crude oil prices by Gulf and Atlantic Richfield was significant to administration insiders because it seemed to indicate the President at last was disillusioned with the bad advice of his top counselors on how to handle the economy.

This advice has been bad, beyond doubt. Spurning both wage and price controls and jawboning, White House economists led by Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, sold Nixon on the proposition that a laissez-faire approach would reap benefits from both business and labor.

THAT IS TO SAY, the advisers' premise was that business and labor leaders would be so grateful for a governmental policy of non-interference they would take the path of anti-inflation moderation. It hasn't worked, as the inflationary General Motors strike settlement so starkly revealed.

Nixon should have followed his own instincts. More than six months ago, those instincts told him his non-interference policy wasn't working and that some tough jawboning was in order. But McCracken and Co. persuaded him to stay his hand.

EVEN NOW, with that oil price investigation under way, there is no assurance that the White House will seek to influence private price and wage decisions. Official spokesmen keep emphasizing that oil is a special case because the government partly regulates its supply through import controls. But the chances are fair to good that the President will assume a more activist role in the wage-price mess.

IT ALSO may be significant that the President reached 'way back for a means of justifying the investigation. This would be the provision of the oil import proclamation of 1952 — never before used — which says: "In the event prices of crude oil or derivatives should be increased . . . surveillance shall include a determination as to whether such increase or increases are necessary to accomplish the national security objectives . . ."

ON THIS ONE, Nixon obviously was determined to do something. Unlike President Johnson, he was not yet prepared to check price increases (as LBJ did in the steel and aluminum industries, by public denunciation or private pressure. But administration insiders see his action in the oil case as a warning that jawboning could be next on the program.

The President may be acting in a too-little-too-late fashion, but the blame is not his alone. His attempt to cope with inflation by restricting government spending and curbing the money supply has had a constructive effect on inflation, but his policies have been sabotaged time and again by wage settlements.

THE GM PACT will cost about $2 billion, and that cost will come out of the public's pocket in the form of higher prices for automobiles. This will lead to further demands for wage increases — in steel, for example — from workers who now don't have the extra money to buy costlier cars. And so on infinitum — unless Richard Nixon, who was not born yesterday, tells his advisers to get lost and starts punching.

No More Secret Votes In The House

WASHINGTON — For the amorphous, anomalous, paradoxical institution, the House of Representatives, it's a whole new ball game. A reform adopted with comparatively little notice at the time puts the 435 members under the gun.

The convenient dodge, the secret vote, is no more. With 20 members sufficient to call for a record vote, major issues will no longer be blurred over. The folks back home will be able to know how their Congressmen voted, which will be something quite new and different.

THOSE LONG familiar with the workings of the House see this as bringing a radical change. Because they didn't have to bother determining how they would vote on the gut issues, incumbent Congressmen could devote their time to doing favors for their constituents, the thousand and one little chores adding up to votes at the next election.

An organization within the Democratic majority in the House bearing the innocuous title of the Democratic Study Group, had a lot to do with adoption of this reform. The DSG directed an intensive campaign to 2,500 newspapers, radio and television stations across the country aimed at the secrecy that let House members conceal how they stood on fundamental issues.

THE STUDY GROUP played an important part in the recent election campaign, with an estimated $75,000 to dispense to DSG candidates. The money was not as important as the zeal and the organizing ability of the staff and group leaders. The gain of nine House seats, as against the pessimistic estimate of a loss for the Democrats of 10 to 11 seats, reflects DSG's drive.

WITH THE ancient of days

Speaker John W. McCormack, gone, change is certain to come. His successor, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, vows he will be a positive leader rather than a mere broker of compromises as was McCormack. With the help of the reform abolishing secrecy he may even be able to move a bit on the seniority system and blast some of the committees where the autocrats from south of the Mason and Dixon Line have so long ruled.

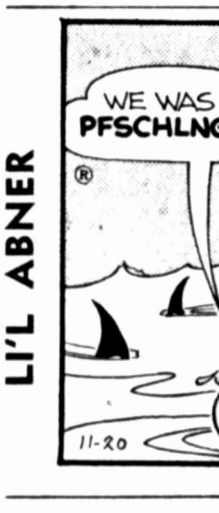

TO THE OLD timers, those dug in from the vantage point of safe constituencies sending them back every two years with clockwork regularity, this has a foolish visionary sound. The Nixon White House has made no secret of the minimum condition for ideological control. That is 180 Republicans united with from 65 to 70 Southern Democrats adding up to a majority. With the loss of nine seats, that will be the Republican total in the 92nd Congress.

This close margin means that conservatives and Southerners wanting to hold the ideological line will have to be on the floor far more consistently than in the past. As one cynical observer puts it: "There are going to be a lot fewer members seeking health in the gymnasium while they do some intellectual exercises on how to vote on military spending, the poverty program, aid to education."

THE DSG RATES its strength as 175 Democrats. To that total on many crucial votes can be added perhaps 30 Republicans. This is a minority but it is a powerful minority that will increasingly make itself felt. New forces are at work sparked by younger men with knowledge and insight about the system and how it functions. No revolution, it may well be a steady evolution toward a House of Representatives responsive to the needs and desires of the nation.

Royals Nip Knicks; Pistons Tip Suns

By The Associated Press just to beat anyone.

The Cincinnati Royals added to their winning streak after the Pistons, suffering through a six-game losing streak after the New York Knicks while winning 12 of their first 13 games, came from behind to nip the Detroit Pistons 112-110 in Detroit Thursday night in a National Basketball Association game.

DOES THE ROYAL FLIP FOR FRAZIER — Cincinnati Royals' Tom Van Arsdale really falls for move by New York Knicks' Walt Frazier, with the ball, during a game in New York Thursday night. Moving in on Frazier, who was attempting to score in the first period, is Royals' Charlie Paulk (15). Referees called Van Arsdale with a foul. Royals won, 106-98.

The Phoenix Suns 112-110 in Detroit Thursday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Royals, trounced twice earlier by the Knicks, blew a 21-point lead before staving off the Knicks 106-98 in New York as the world champions played without injured Willis Reed, Cazzie Russell and Dave DeBusschere.

SEATTLE WINS

In the only other NBA game, Seattle beat Los Angeles 111-110. In the American Basketball Association, Utah crushed Texas 130-115 and the Floridians nudged Memphis 108-103 in the only games.

Reed missed his second game with a sore knee and DeBusschere left in the first quarter when he aggravated a bad ankle. Russell is out with a broken wrist. The Knicks fell behind 62-45 at the half.

However, they came out with 6-foot-7 Dave Stallworth playing center, 6-5 Bill Bradley and three guards for the third quarter and staged a furious rally, finally pulling even at 96 and then 98 as Stallworth had 21 points and 19 rebounds.

However, Nate Archibald, a 22-point scorer with teammate Tom Van Arsdale—Walt Frazier had 28 for New York—hit a basket with 1:47 left and two free throws 16 seconds later and the Royals scored the last eight points.

During those final minutes, Royals' Coach Bob Cousy suffered a dizzy spell, but stayed on the bench for the end of the game. He was examined later and pronounced fit, although he was to have a more intensive check-up today.

BLOWS LEAD

The Pistons blew a 14-point lead in the second quarter but still led by five with 3:20 to go before Phoenix stormed into the lead 110-108. However, Bob Lanier scored for Detroit with 30 seconds left and then passed to Steve Mix for a driving layup with four seconds to go for the winning basket.

Jimmy Walker had 23 points for Detroit and Clem Haskins 24 for Phoenix.

Los Angeles rookie Jim McMillan missed two of three foul shots in the waning seconds enabling Seattle to outlast the Lakers. Garfield Heard had scored the field goal that put the Sonics ahead 111-108 with a minute left.

Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles was game-high scorer with 32 points while Don Kojis topped Seattle with 26.

Donnie Freeman scored 22 of his 24 points in the first half as Utah ran off to a 69-48 lead and was never threatened, winning for the 13th time in 16 games. Glen Combs had 30 for the Texans, now 2-12.

The Floridians blew all but six points of a 71-52 lead as Memphis climbed within 104-98 with one minute left before Larry Jones and Mack Calvin cut short the rally. Jones finished with 27 points, one less than teammate Sam Robinson.

Champ Ready For M. Ali

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Frazier stood ready today to fight anybody. The public wants it to be Muhammad Ali.

"I'll fight anybody. Yank says," Frazier said Thursday about 12 hours after his two-round destruction of light-heavyweight champion Bob Foster.

"Man," said the heavyweight champion pointing at a sports writer, "I'll fight you if your name's on the contract."

But the next name on a fight contract, along with Frazier's, most likely will be Ali's. Frazier's manager, Yank Durham, said Wednesday night he'll talk about a fight in about three weeks.

The fight probably will be held in February if Ali beats Oscar Bonavena in New York Dec. 7. The only other block to the fight would be a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to hear the appeal of Ali's conviction for refusing induction into the Army.

"He needs me. I don't need him. He's got to come to me," said Frazier while prowling about his hotel suite while Durham slept in a nearby room.

"Let the old man sleep," said Frazier who always is reluctant to talk about fighting.

But he did have a comment on Ali's performance at a closed circuit telecast in Atlanta of the Frazier-Foster fight. After the fight Ali threw punches at an imaginary opponent and screamed, "I want Joe Frazier."

"That man's crazy," said Frazier. "He's scared. They're always scared when they do a lot of talking. They have to convince themselves they're good. When a man knows he can do the job he doesn't talk about it."

TEXAS A&I GUARD — Danny Clendenin, 6-0, 165-pound junior from Big Spring, is one of three men vying for a starting guard position on the Texas A&I basketball team this season. Clendenin Eyes Starting Berth

KINGSVILLE — The Texas A&I basketball team opened its pre-season drills last month with both starting guard slots up for grabs.

Several weeks have passed since that opening workout date, and still A&I coach Don McDonald isn't for sure who he'll start when the Javelinas open their season Nov. 25 against St. Mary's in the new A&I gymnasium.

Three players are currently battling for the starting slot. These are Don Hagany, 6-0, 165-pound sophomore letterman from Kimberly, Wis.; Danny Clendenin, 6-0, 165-pound sophomore transfer from Big Spring; and Richard Stillman, 5-8, 155-pound junior transfer from Corpus Christi Carroll.

"I've been extremely pleased with the progress being shown by these three men," McDonald says. "We had to have good play from at least two of them, or we would have been in trouble outside. And now we're getting good productions from all three."

Hagany lettered with the Javelinas last season during his freshman campaign. He was the third man at guard, and played in each of the A&I games.

Clendenin transferred to A&I this season from Howard County Junior College, where he was a two-year starter. He helped guide the HCJC team to high finishes in its conference, and last season was named all-tournament in the Odessa Invitational tournament.

Stillman has played the last two years at Weatherford Junior College, where he was

Jayhawks Play Schreiner At 4 Today In Tourney

LEVELLAND — Howard County JC dropped into the consolation round of the annual South Plains College Basketball tournament after yielding to Cochise JC of Douglas, Ariz., in a game here Thursday, 84-80. The contest was decided in overtime.

The tree-top tall Apaches pulled away in the first minute of the overtime when 6-9 Fred Gibbs hit a bucket and the Hawks were never able to catch up.

Howard County returns to action at 4 p.m. today against Schreiner Institute, who came extremely close to upsetting favored South Plains in its final test. Schreiner led by a point with three minutes to play but the Texans rallied to win.

In other first round games, Ranger edged Odessa and NMJC had to hustle to get by Cisco.

Cisco and Odessa tangle in the other consolation round game while NMJC plays Ranger and South Plains vies with Cochise in championship semi-final tests.

HCJC, although giving away a lot of height, actually out-bounded the Apaches, 52-30. Archie Myers missed a shot at the buzzer ending the regulation game that would have swung the issue the Jayhawks way. The delivery didn't have quite enough arch on it.

Bovines Meet Dons Tonight

The schedule for the 1970-71 Big Spring Steers was arranged before coach Ron Plumlee arrived on the scene.

Otherwise, Ron might have sought a softer touch than the club the Longhorns will be facing here tonight — Amarillo Palo Duro. The two teams square off at 8 o'clock.

Palo Duro won the Class AAA state championship the first year it fielded a club and last year finished with a 16-13 mark.

Coach of the Dons is Tom Gilley, who has been a highly successful high school mentor for 17 seasons.

Probably Gilley will go with a lineup consisting of 6-5 Claude Harris, 6-1 Billy McLain, 6-0 Elroy Williams, 5-10 Roy Don Wallace and 5-7 Tim Vachon or 6-0 Dennis Hughes.

Only McLain was a regular on last year's Palo Duro club. The school is in the football playoffs and some of the boys are still playing the game.

The Longhorns also play here Saturday night, opposing a rather perennial toughie, Plainview.

Two juniors, David Carter and Mike Randle, likely will have to carry much of the load for Big Spring, since Randy Wornack is still favoring a bad ankle. Those are the only three lettermen back with the Steers this year.

Richard Billard, Benito Rubio and David Newman are others likely to clock a lot of playing time in the early part of the season.

J.V. units of the two schools clash at 6:15 p.m.

The Steers have been working on the fast break and likely will make use of it a lot in their two games this weekend.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The 1971 Big Spring Steers can set football history by knocking off San Angelo.

Never in the long series of the two schools, which embraces 46 games and extends back to 1920, have the Longhorns been able to handle the Bobcats three times running.

When the teams face each other next year, the Steers will have a two-game string going for them. Perhaps it should be mentioned that the 1970 BSHS seniors were never beaten by San Angelo — when they were sophomores they won a decision from the Angelo sophs.

The series has been sadly out of balance. Big Spring has won only 11 times over the Tabbies while dropping 31 decisions. Ties resulted in the 1930-31-32-33 games.

The two schools didn't tangle on the football field in 1923-1926-1927-1933-1954-1955.

The most recent victory the locals achieved over San Angelo has to rank with the 20-6 success the Longhorns notched in 1963, when Albert Fierro bedazzled the Felines while firing from a shotgun formation.

Big Spring blistered the Cats, 33-0, in 1952 for its most one-sided win. San Angelo has ground the Steers under its heel several times. Its most pronounced win over the locals occurred in 1944, when it prevailed, 53-0.

During the past decade, Big Spring had had only one losing season. That occurred in 1966, when the Steers limped to a 4-6 record.

That year, the locals won four of their first five starts under Herman Smith, then lost their rabbit's foot. They made a run at Odessa in their ninth game that year but finally succumbed, 28-26.

During those ten years, the Longhorns have won 58, lost 41 and played one tie. Oddly enough, they've had three .500 seasons in their last four.

Bill Broadrick, who writes auto racing copy for Union 76 and who grew up where they talk in more clipped accents, has compiled himself a Dixie Dictionary he has found to be an invaluable aid.

He carries it with him when he heads into the South in pursuit of a story. Part of this he shared with me in a recent letter and I pass it on to you:

Auto—(should), as in "I auto go to work, but ahm tared."

Auto—(question) "I ax you this."

Abode—(a piece of wood) "Han me a bode to hit this mule."

Barr—(hatched) "I was barn in Kentucky."

Braid—(the staff of life) "What you eat when U'ins is outa biscuits."

Cad—(to tote) "I cad mah braid across the threshold."

Cheer—(what you sit on) "Pull up a cheer and sit down."

Did—(not alive) "He's did."

Fussed—What comes before second.

Gull—A young female human.

Heaven—A'm heaven some folks in foah dinnaah."

Ice cool—A school for younguns before college.

Lot—(undark) "Jeannie with the lot-brown hair."

Pin—what you keep haws in. A Hawg pin.

Rat cheer—(not there, here) "Lay it rat cheer."

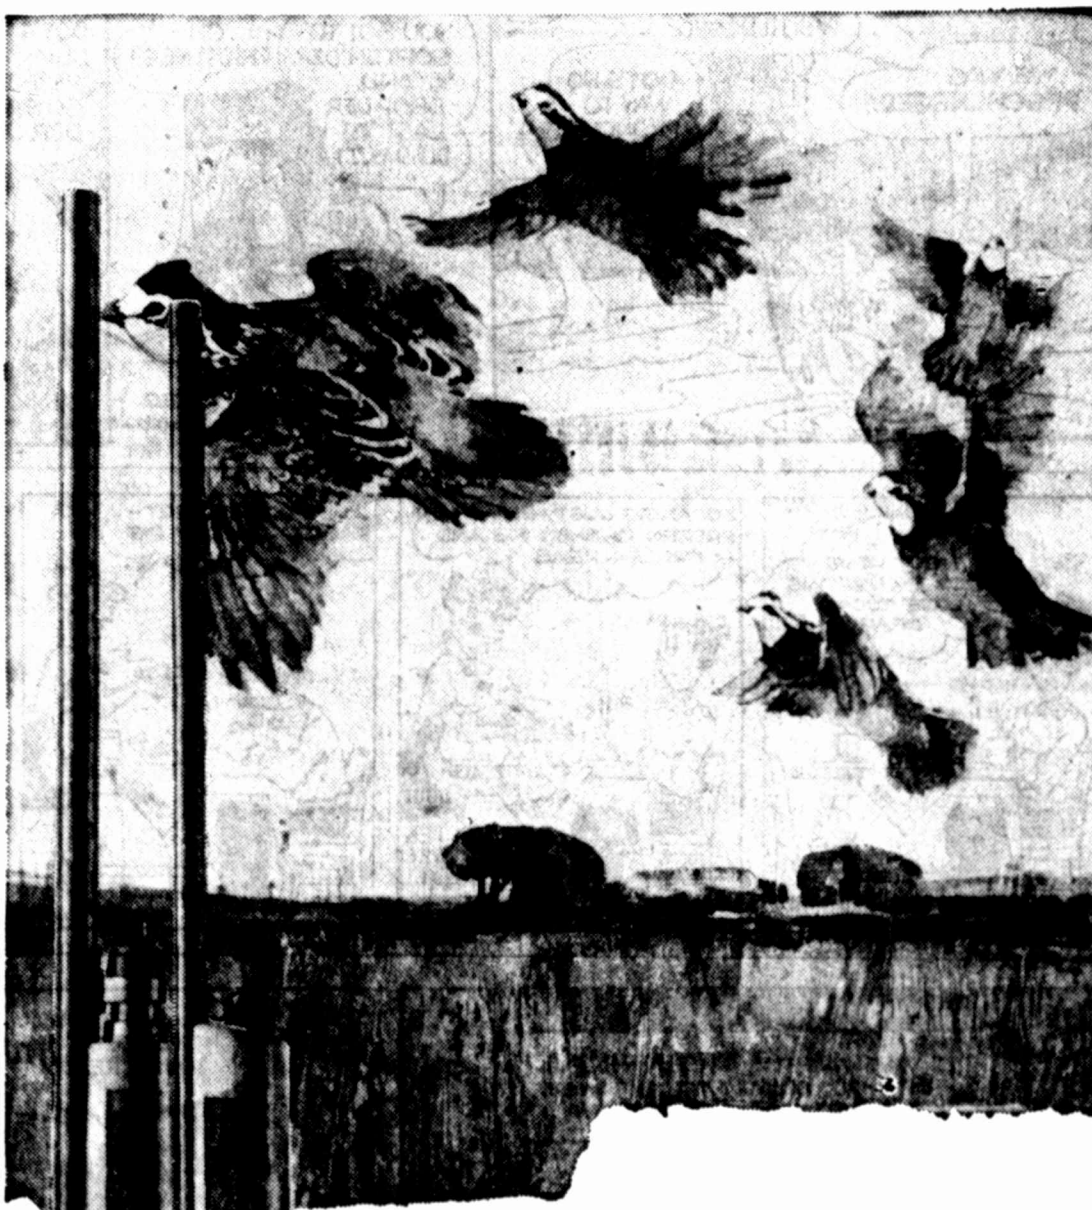

Stow—a place that sells stuff.

Thud—what comes after 2nd as "this is mah thud mint jupe."

Tin-sin-stow—(5 & 10) "Les go to the tin-sin-stow."

A soccer-style kicker for Trinity University in San Antonio, Ken Cooper, recently kicked a double-carom shot in a game.

It hit one upright, bounced off at an angle that carried it parallel to the crossbar, then bounced off the other upright and went on over for a successful conversion.

The Quail Kit

Quail shooters know that they've got to have a smooth swinging, reliable shotgun that practically points by itself. That's why they're turning to the light, effortless upland guns made by Winchester — the 1400 automatic and the smooth, fast-shucking 1200 slide action. Both of these fine shotguns have lightweight, rust-proof aluminum receivers for a lifetime of trouble free use and both have an exclusive front locking bolt head that meshes steel bolt with steel barrel. They're both built by professional shooters — people who shoot and know what a shooter wants.

And for fine upland shot shells — there you have a happy choice, too.

Take all the power you'll need with either Western Xpert or Winchester Ranger low brass shot shells. The plastic Mark 5 collar protects pellets through the barrel to keep shot round for truer, denser patterns. The unique Sealed-Gas Chamber prevents blowby and patchy patterns. Team either of these fine loads with a 1200 or 1400. They work better together. You'll do better with them.

Chiefs, Redskins And Falcons Given Nod

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Back into the ball game after a week's layoff, body rested, mind alert—and ready to predict that the Western Division race in the National Football Conference will be all but wrapped up Sunday by San Francisco's 49ers.

The 49ers, two games ahead of the Los Angeles Rams, meet the toughest opponent in Detroit, while their West Coast neighbors take on Atlanta. But the 49ers will win, the Rams will lose.

Here are this week's picks, all games Sunday unless otherwise noted:

San Francisco 31, Detroit 17 — The 49ers are rolling behind John Brodie, a rebuilt defense and a four-game winning streak. They have never won a division title. But this is the year. The Lions should be down after losing to Minnesota last week.

SHOWING AGE

Atlanta 24, Los Angeles 21 — Two weeks ago the Rams had to rally to tie the Falcons 10-10 and last week they were blasted by the New York Jets 31-20. The defensive unit is showing signs of its age, and Atlanta should be able to exploit what the Jets showed them.

Minnesota 35, Green Bay 24 — The Vikings only loss in nine games was in an early season meeting with the Packers. But it would be difficult to imagine a club as strong as Minnesota losing to any opponent twice.

Oakland 28, San Diego 27 — George Blanda may not be able to get the Raiders off the hook a fifth week in succession, but it does figure to be Darryl Lamonia's turn to grab a headline in Conference's tough Western Division meeting in the American vision.

Kansas City 31, St. Louis 24 — The Chiefs' offense may be ready to roll under the guidance of Len Dawson, and the defense is strong enough to shut down the Cardinals' ground-oriented attack revolving around MacArthur Lane.

Washington 34, Dallas 24 — Both still in Eastern race behind Cardinals and Giants. Redskins, however, are clicking on offense. The Cowboys just aren't clicking.

Baltimore 28, Miami 21 — The Dolphins should give the Colts more trouble than they did in a 35-0 loss earlier in the season. But the Baltimore defense is made of sterner stuff than Miami's.

OILERS DUE LOSS

Cleveland 42, Houston 21 — The Browns aren't exactly terrors, but then Wally Lemm's quitting the Oilers for some reason. Even Charley Johnson's return at quarterback hasn't braked the sled.

Cincinnati 27, Pittsburgh 14 — How Coach Paul Brown continues to pull off surprises for the Bengals is a constant amazement. But his play calling's been pretty good. It's a good time to stick with him.

Denver 17, New Orleans 10 — The Broncos are slipping, but Floyd Little is No. 1 in the American Conference in rushing and should be able to run for daylight against the Saints.

Chicago 31, Buffalo 14 — The Bills have a hot passing combination in Dennis Shaw to Marlin Briscoe, but are injury-riddled. The Bears gave Green Bay a tussle last week before succumbing. However, all who care to run can compete in the B team meet.

In cross country's unique scoring system, the team scoring the least number of points is declared the winner.

Visiting teams are advised to go directly to the back nine of the golf course rather than to the clubhouse. The course is located south of town straddle US Highway 87, with the back nine on the east side of the highway.

Radio Spielers Oppose Cops In Benefit Tilt

Amateur basketball talent will take to the court at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Howard County Junior College gymnasium when the KBST disc jockeys tangle with a team of Big Spring policemen.

Proceeds from the match (or mismatch) between the Bumbling Basketeers and the Friendly Fuzz will go to the local Heart Association fund.

Starting roster for the Fuzz, according to identifications officer Pete Stone, is up in the air until he finds out who will be off duty Saturday night.

Player-coach Ken Carter is hoping that Winston Wrinkle, Mike Brown, Bill Mack, Mike Hall, and Gary Evans will all be up for KBST.

Admission prices for the contest will be $1 to adults and 50 cents to children.

UTEP Decisions Trinity, 37-16

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — After trailing 14-13 at halftime, the University of Texas at El Paso exploded for 24 points behind the running and passing of Bill Craig for a 37-16 football victory over Trinity University Thursday night.

Craig ran 10 yards for one touchdown and passed for two others. Teammate Robbie Rogers scored on runs of 46 and 11 yards as the Miners rolled to their sixth victory in 10 games.

Trinity's Mike Curry threw touchdown aerials of 43 and 17 yards to Bill Hodge as his squad trimmed its record at 5-5.

Grady's Boys Win, 41-32

GREENWOOD — Grady's boys made a successful debut in district basketball competition here Thursday night, defeating Greenwood 41-32, but the Grady girls lost to the taller Greenwood team, 58-35.

In a girls' pee-wee game, Grady prevailed, 20-10, at which time Katherine Springer hit 11 points for the winners.

The Grady boys have now won their first four games. A 22-point final quarter put them across in their contest. Junior Rangel had 14 points, Billy Howard 13 and Jerry Holloway nine for Grady.

Becky Cranford led the Greenwood girls with 38 points. Jackie Howard had 16 and Joanna Sawyer 13 for Grady.

The Grady feds are now 1-5 on the year. Monday's game with Coahoma has been delayed until Thursday, Dec. 10, coach Skipper Driver has announced.

Girls' game: GREENWOOD (58) — Brooks 20-4; Crawford 14-10-38; Smith 7-2-16. Totals 23-12-58. GRADY (35) — Hogard 5-6-16; Davenport 3-0-6; Sawyer 6-1-13. Totals 14-7-35. Greenwood 58, Grady 35.

Grady JH Opens District Play

GRADY — Grady opened district basketball competition in Greenwood Thursday, with both boys' and girls' teams scheduled.

Coach Skipper Driver will take his clubs to Greenwood Dec. 3-4-5 and Stanton Dec. 17-18-19 for tournaments. In addition, Grady will be the host school in a Jan. 21-22-23 meet.

Grady's schedule: NOVEMBER 19 — at Greenwood; 23 — Coahoma here; 30 — at Stanton. DECEMBER 7 — Forsan here. JANUARY 14 — Greenwood here; 18 — at Coahoma; 25 — Stanton here. FEBRUARY 1 — at Forsan.

Mavs And Toros Open Nov. 30

The Toros venture to Abilene Jan. 8-9 while Goliad competes in the Sweetwater meet Jan. 15-16. In addition, both teams will play in the San Angelo tournament Feb. 5-6.

Bucks, Tigers Seek Revenge

By The Associated Press

All sorts of post-season invitations will be flying through the air Saturday but two of the games highlighting the day's collegiate action could be dubbed "Revenge Bowls."

Ohio State's Woody Hayes wants revenge and so does Louisiana State's Charlie McClendon.

Fourth-ranked Michigan invades Hayes' lair to play No. 5 Ohio State, which wants retribution for that shocking 24-12 loss to the Wolverines a year ago.

For McClendon and his Bengals from the Bayous, a victory over second-ranked Notre Dame would be in the measure of poetic justice. Charlie Mac and his boys spent last New Year's Day at home after the Irish suddenly abandoned their no-bowl policy and went to the Cotton Bowl.

"I'm trying not to make this game any bigger than it is," McClendon says of his clash with Notre Dame, which he calls "the biggest and most talented team we have ever played."

With No. 1 Texas idle this week, Parseghian knows his Irish must hustle against LSU. "They're absolutely amazing on defense," Parseghian proclaims of the Tigers. "No one has scored a touchdown against them on the ground in 11 games."

The Michigan-Ohio State game is one of the afternoon's two nationally televised (ABC) affairs. The Southern California-UCLA battle, which this year doesn't involve much more than the Los Angeles city championship, follows.

Hayes has had his training area sealed off this week and Columbus resembles a top-secret military base. The game between the two unbeaten Big Ten powers is for the conference championship. Ohio State has already clinched a trip to the Rose Bowl, where its Jan. 1 opponent will be Stanford, but Hayes is aching to beat "that other team," the only way he refers to Michigan.

Third-ranked Nebraska, already tabbed for the Orange Bowl, entertains Oklahoma for the Big Eight championship Saturday.

Only a handful of teams could accept bowl bids prior to this Saturday. Nebraska was one and 10th-ranked Air Force, which opted for the Sugar Bowl, was another. Air Force plays Colorado this week.

Sixth-ranked Arkansas invades No. 19 Texas Tech in a game which could have a bearing on the host role in the Cotton Bowl and where Notre Dame goes.

Report Stings State Parks Department

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston management consulting firm has delivered a stinging report of administration of the state Parks and Wildlife Department.

At least $300,000 a year could be saved by reorganizing the department, said Touche Ross & Co. of Houston.

Nineteen key management posts would be eliminated and 15 new ones would be created if the proposed reorganization is put into effect.

The study was requested by the commission, whose chairman, Pearce Johnson, has been openly critical of the department's director, J. R. Singleton.

Keeping state parks and game and fish activities in one agency makes sense because of the "overlapping jurisdictions of the services provided, opportunities for various types of resource sharing and a clear national trend among the states to consolidate parks, game, fish, enforcement, water safety and even other environmental activities related to air, soils, water and forests," the report said.

The management consultants said the department makes poor use of its regional organization, with park people reporting directly to Austin and by-passing regional directors altogether.

Duties and roles of the commission and the executive director are poorly defined, leading to "confusion and inefficiencies," the study said.

The consultants said the department's public relations program is "excellent in many respects" but the department also "suffers from particularly adverse public relations" at times.

As now organized, the agency is headed by an executive director with several assistants and a deputy.

Conversion To IBM Set In December For City

Finance director Charles Smith said today IBM data cards, card storage trays and cabinets, and water billing cards have been ordered in preparation for conversion to the IBM System 3 computer in December.

Programming work on the general ledger part of the new operation is still in the very early stages, but Smith said from now on he will be doing the programming with a minimum of help from IBM.

In effect, Smith will be trying his wings as a programmer to see whether the original cost estimates of the computerization were realistic.

When the commission considered proposals from five companies on the cost of improving the city's data processing methods, a monthly personnel cost of $750 was tacked onto the bid of First Data Processing to cover continuing costs of programming work.

IBM then became the low bidder since future programming is to be done by Smith, who has taken IBM courses, and with the help of IBM experts, has completed water billing and payroll programs.

"So far all our costs have fallen within the estimates," Smith said, adding that the general ledger work will provide a test of his proficiency and an indication of whether future programming cost estimates were correct.

IBM has asked that Smith spend 12 afternoons in Midland working on the general ledger program in what they call a "workshop" arrangement, where he can write his program, have it punched, and try it on the machine with IBM personnel available to answer his questions.

The question on his mind right now is how soon he can work 12 trips to Midland into his schedule.

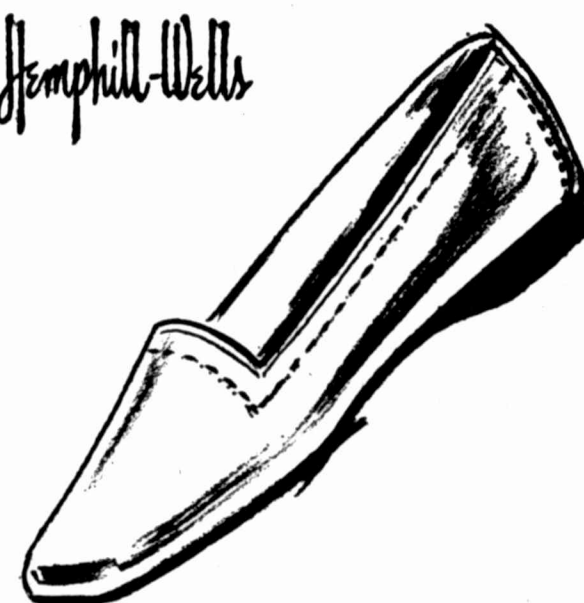

"We are in the middle of an audit, taxes are coming in, and we have a backlog of work from the last 60 days when we had from one to three people sick or in the hospital every day," he said, but added that things are looking up now that everyone is back, working hard, and he has received permission from the city manager to hire extra help to verify names on the petition recently submitted to the city commission calling for a bond referendum.
