Demands On Jail Standards Cause Crisis

As of last Wednesday morning, color the county commissioners red about government red tape. Specifically as Judge John Wendell said, "Standards set by the government are going to eat up the small counties." Judge Wendell made his remark in reference to Sheriff Bob Hewes' report on the Aransas County jail situation and the recommendations made by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

The commission has set up standards for all jails in the state and the Aransas County jail was listed with 56 deficiencies. All but 11 of these have been corrected.

A three year variance has been given on the number of single cells and a one year extension on various safety factors and situations, but the crunch is coming from the fact that the jail does not have full-time custodians on the premises.

Sheriff Hewes put it to the council that the commission is requiring someone on the premises 24 hours a day. The next inspection by the commission will come in December and the situation with the custodian will have to be solved by that time, according to Sheriff Hewes.

SeaFair III Huge Success

Here's one for Ripley's "Believe It or Not" - At approximately 9:00 p.m. last Sunday night, Parade Marshal for SeaFair, Bob Lawler, was already thinking about next year's parade and someone exclaimed, "Hold on, Bob. Let's get this one under our belts first."

With just some minor odds and ends to tie up, SeaFair III passed into history for the Rockport-Fulton area late Sunday night with a lot of people very tired but very happy that the third annual event had been so successful.

It was a good feeling combination of carny, a lot of blarney, good food and a good weekend.

The parade started on time with Aransas County and Rockport's finest in uniform helping with the traffic situation which was handled smoothly. Sheriff Bob Hewes and Police Chief James Craigmile both were on hand to help start the procession.

Starting precisely at 11:00 a.m. the marchers moved on the SeaFair grounds without incident and the good times started.

Saturday afternoon was hot and muggy but the enthusiasm was high. All booths were well attended and nearly everyone was courteous and polite.

The street dance Saturday night was marred by a shooting incident and the lack of places [Continued on page 2]

Pirates Go After Four

By Bob Crawford

Friday night, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates will travel to Flour Bluff to take on the Hornets in a District 15-AAA contest. The Pirates will be seeking to capture their fourth win and to keep the Hornets out of the win column.

The Pirates will go into the contest after a hold-over win over Sinton last week. The Pirate offense clicked in the first half for the first time in a while to let the Pirates build up a 14-0 lead at halftime. After that, the defense was tested often, but only let down once, as Sinton could manage but one score. The Pirates now have a record of three wins and one loss.

The Hornets are winless as they enter this week's contest, but they do have an impressive 20-20 tie with Bishop, one of the current leaders in District 30-AA.

The Bluff has been on a rebuilding kick for some time, and at any minute expect to break out of the doldrums.

The Hornets have shown a passing attack, and the Pirates have shown themselves vulnerable to the pass, such as the 30-yard scoring play by Sinton [Continued on page 2]

TWELVE MEMBERS OF THE ROCKPORT-FULTON High School choir were selected to join the All-District choir at the Texas Music Educators Region XIV meeting last week. ## City Looks At Special Permits

A rather routine agenda for the Rockport City Council led to several problems the city fathers had not anticipated in their meeting Monday night at City Hall.

In several items of business left over from the previous meeting, namely special use permits, Councilman Norvell Jackson objected that each of the special use permits had the wording in the ordinances that the permit was transferable. Jackson noted, "That's not the way we passed the motion originally and we have always said that a special permit was not transferable." A discussion followed regarding the special use permit if the holder of the permit wanted to sell his property and building. After discussion, it was the consensus of the Council members that if a special permit holder sold the property or building, the new owner would have to appear and apply for his own permit.

Councilman Jerry Shaw pointed out that situations such as this just pointed to the inadequacy of the B-1 and B-2 zoning laws. "And anyway," he said, "probably within 60 days or so, the new zoning standards will be in effect." In final action on the problem, the Council decided to delete the words, "said permit is transferable." The action applied to special permits given to James E. Allen, Roy Hinton and Floyd Bienek.

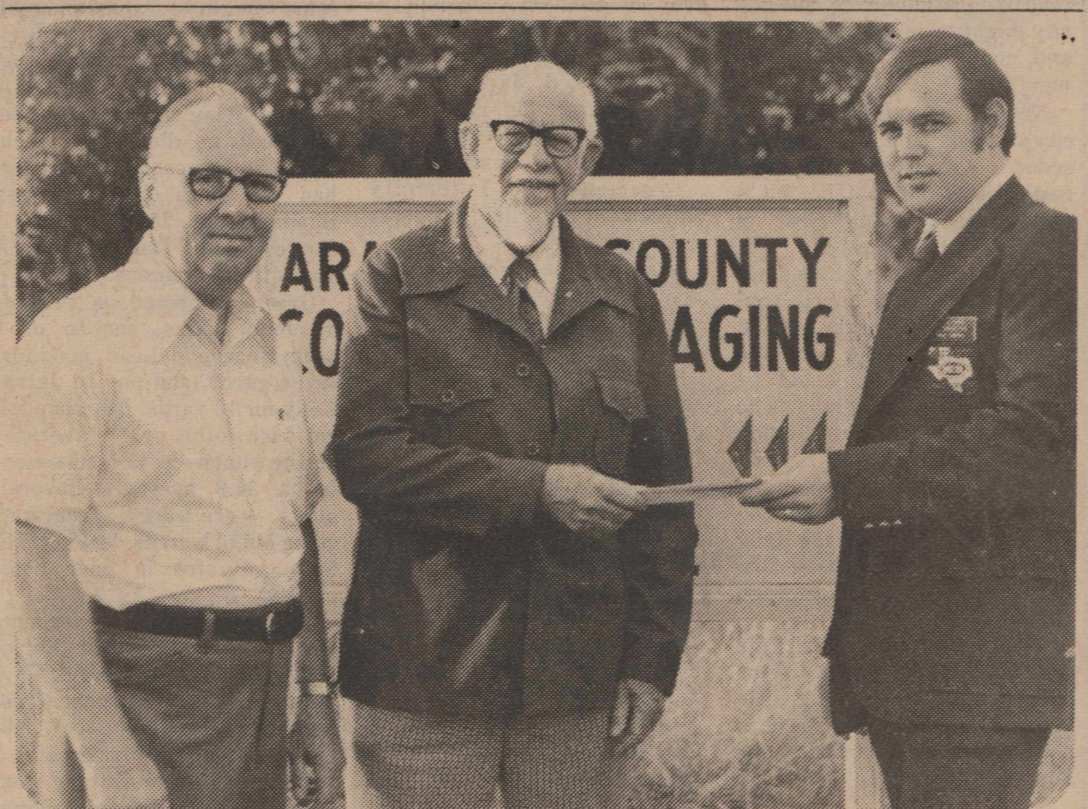

The second matter to cause a good deal of discussion came when James Newberry, representing Circle Fence Co., asked the Council for a uniform policy on the fencing of easements. Newberry said that some [Continued on page 2]

Assessed Values Up For ACISD

School board members heard the good news Monday night that the total assessed valuations for the Aransas County Independent School District were up nearly four million dollars over last year's tally.

The Board of Equalization report showed a total assessed valuation of $133 million as compared to $129 million for last year. The assessed valuation is based on a ratio of 55 percent. The annual audit report as submitted by the firm of McCarty, Milliken and Green was accepted. The auditors reported that all financial book-keeping matters were in excellent condition, according to School Superintendent Joe Randow.

Council On Aging Gets New Office

When John L. Leslie (Uncle John) became Chairman of the Board of the Council on Aging in 1977, it was his aim and goal not only to render the best service possible to the senior citizens of Aransas County but also to establish a Senior Citizen's Headquarters in downtown Rockport, where an enlarged senior citizen program could be carried out.

This dream came true this past week. The officers signed a lease for 1250 square feet of floor space from Chester Johnson and work started to prepare it for their use.

This would not have been possible had it not been for a generous gift from the local H.E.B. store through its manager, Gary James, and the employees. Leslie said, "You've made my dream come true."

Rockport's Concern Center, manned by volunteers and under the supervision of A.A.R.P., will continue its work serving all ages and will maintain its same telephone number, 729-7722, and will be located in the new center.

In 1975, a group of interested citizens, nearly all members of the A.A.R.P., organized "The Aransas County Council on Aging" functioning under a grant from the Coastal Bend Council of Governments and working through the county government.

Mr. Neil Gage was employed as director and William McNickle was the first chairman of the board of directors.

The office was set up in the rear of the building operated by the Concern Center. Its object was "to render service in every way possible, to any senior citizen in Aransas County needing help and counseling," said Leslie.

ACHVI Changes Name

As of Sept. 19, the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc. was no more and the name was no longer in use. According to Dr. Michael Shellenbeger, president of the organization, the new name will be the Aransas County Medical Services, Inc.

The disclosure came last Wednesday night at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the organization. "The name has actually been a misnomer for some time and we felt our organization was involved with more than a hospital," Shellenbeger said.

"Since we are going to have a medical facility in Aransas County and not a hospital, and we do supervise the ambulance service, we thought a change in name that better described our organization would be proper," he continued.

In other business, the Board passed a series of resolutions giving the Steering Committee more leeway in doing their job with the upcoming fund drive and actual building of the medical facility. "We felt it would be better if the Committee had some basic power of its own and would not have to come to the board everytime they needed something," Shellenbeger explained.

The steering committee has been charged with the responsibility of organizing and conducting the fund drive to match the grant from the Sid Richardson Foundation.

They will also determine the type of facility to be built and the type of equipment needed by the holding clinic. This will include working with the architect to be chosen and working with the contractors involved in the building of the facility.

With the name change, the organization has designated to itself five specific objectives:

- to attract two additional family practice physicians to the community;
- provide an emergency medical treatment facility for use by all local physicians in evaluating and stabilizing the condition of patients with medical emergencies;
- provide diagnostic equipment needed by local physicians which cannot be supported on the basis of their individual practices, but can be justified on the basis of their collective practices;
- provide an electronic nerve [Continued on page 2]

The firm has provided the service for both the county and the school district for the past two years.

Monthly Payment Draws EMT Fire

Acting as a private citizen, EMT Ralph Gonzales appeared before the County Commissioners last week to question the validity of the $200 a month stipend Marshall Funeral Home receives from the county. Gonzales reviewed several instances that Marshall's has refused to take service calls in certain areas of the county. "For instance," Gonzales related, "we took a patient to Lyman-Roberts and that patient was accepted there and we left. Shortly thereafter, the hospital personnel decided that the patient was in need of the care at Corpus Christi and they wanted him transported there. Marshall's was called and refused to go and we had to turn around and make another trip to transport the person on into Corpus."

Gonzales further explained,

SeaFair

The minor cold front that blew in in the early morning hours brought a cloud cover for Sunday that encouraged more people to get out to the grounds. Several committee chairmen commented on the very good job done by the security team when the rain and wind started.

Sunday's crowd was somewhat heavier than that of Saturday.

Local clubs and organizations did a professional job of planning and executing to make the success of SeaFair. The crowd was estimated at 25,000 people for the two days.

Many winter visitors stated that they had come on down to be in Rockport for SeaFair and many visitors came from as far away as Houston, San Antonio and Abilene for the event.

center for communication between local physicians, mobile intensive care unit staff and medical specialists in Corpus Christi; provide a facility for continuing training of mobile intensive care unit staff, both paid and volunteer.

Several board members noted that there were those in the community who had said that the organization had been slow in coming to grips with the problem of medical service in the area.

Shellenbeger pointed out, "A lot of things have been done that a lot of people don't know about but have benefited from and we have accomplished a lot when the size and limitations of the community are considered."

At the business meeting, the board also approved the treasurer's report, the ambulance service expenditures and approved the purchase of shrimp for SeaFair.

"The point I want to make is that we are volunteers and we lose time from work. If it is an emergency, that's what we are here for, but if Marshall's is going to receive county money, they should help."

Several of the commissioners voiced questions as to what Marshall's receives the monthly money for and it was decided to ask Charles Marshall, owner of the Marshall Funeral Home, to appear before the commissioners in order to set guidelines on the use of the county funds.

Jail Standards

at the meeting will both be expensive. One possibility will be a full time live-in custodian or to hire four people on a shift pattern.

In regards to the live-in choice, Sheriff Hewes said, "I don't believe we can get someone to live in for the salary we can offer."

The other choice, a four-person shift arrangement will cost the county something in the vicinity of $40,000 a year. "And," pointed out Judge Wendell, "this county does not have that much to spend."

County Commissioner Ray Owens said it might be more economical to work out another arrangement with another county to house local prisoners.

Sheriff Hewes doubted that that approach would be helpful because the money involved would be the same if not more.

Still on the subject of money, Sheriff Hewes also recommended that a new law enforcement building be constructed and the present office space in the jail be used for quartering the jail custodians.

In regards to the new building, Judge Wendell noted that space is already a problem for the county. The commissioners have been working toward the possibility of building a new library and moving the law enforcement home owners would enclose the easement with a fence since the easement was their property while other owners were reluctant to do so, knowing that the city might have to service lines and connections in the easement area.

Newberry noted that the city's needs and laws superseded development plans and restrictions and that he felt a uniform policy would clear up confusion on the matter.

Mayor Walter S. Falk suggested and the Council concurred that Newberry should prepare an article on the matter and that it would be given to James Anderson, who is preparing the new zoning plan for the city.

J.P. Barnard appeared before the Council to get permission for a Motor Home Rally to be held on Navigation District property Nov. 30 through Dec. 4.

After ascertaining that the rally would cause few problems with traffic or parking, the permit was granted. Barnard said he expects about 50 motor homes to attend the meeting.

Judge John Wendell noted that Aransas County still does not have an ambulance service. "We have an emergency service but we do not have an ambulance service for those times that are not emergencies," he said.

Gonzales made a further point that the staff at Marshall's has refused on more than one occasion to carry patients on a normal transport basis and that he, as a private citizen, would like to have the matter clarified.

offices to the library section of the courthouse because as Judge Wendell said, "There's not enough office space as it is now."

In fact, as Judge Wendell pointed out, to meet all the requirements of governmental agencies, the needs of office space and all the other problems involved, "We had better get ready to spend a wad of money and I don't think we can float a bond issue and the tax rate for the year has already been set."

These monetary demands may be for openers as several commissioners pointed out. The population of the county is growing and the demands on county services will also increase.

If the county jail doesn't meet the standards, the Jail Commission could either close the jail or file suit against the county commissioners or both. Owens was quick to point out that if this particular set of standards is met, there are no guarantees that the next commission won't require a whole new set of rules and won't look at things differently from this one.

Sheriff Hewes suggested getting Guy Van Cleve to the next meeting to discuss the problem. Van Cleve is head of the commission. Van Cleve will meet with the court on Oct. 19.

Councilman Shaw cautioned the group about parking in the sand and pointed out that approximately 25 vehicles had to be removed from the sand over the SeaFair weekend.

In other business, the Council took the following actions:

—authorized Mayor Falk to let a contract on razing the property of Mrs. Ninfa Pena, the contract not to exceed $995;

—accepted an Indemnity Agreement regarding property in Harbor Oaks;

—asked the Planning and Zoning Commission to recommend members as the need arises;

—approved Bob Eschberger's request for extension of his driveway on his property at 1405 Broadway;

—tabled a matter pertaining to Corpus Christi Street improvement project;

—agreed to participate in a rodent control program with the Aransas County Commissioners and the Wildlife Damage Control department of Texas A&M University and —set a policy regarding city officials attending conferences and workshops.

BY VOLLIE WILLIAMS

The RFHS Pirates got back on the right track last Friday night by defeating the Sinton Pirates, 14-6. This marks the first Pirate victory over Sinton in six years.

The first half belonged to the "Green" Pirates, as they scored two times and gained about 150 yards, and the third quarter belonged to the "Maroon" Pirates (Sinton), as they picked up several first downs and threatened to score.

Early in the fourth quarter, they did score, completing four passes in the drive. Strong Pirate defense bent a little here and there, but didn't break! The ball game ended with the RF Pirates inside the Sinton 10-yard line.

The RF Pirate defense did another outstanding job again this week.

In the third quarter, the Sinton Pirates were threatening our goal line but the strong defense held them out for four downs, inside our five-yard line.

On several other occasions, the Pirate defense held on fourth and short yardage situations, giving the offense good field position.

The Pirate defense was, once again, led by junior linebacker, Joe Brooks. Brooks had 13 unassisted tackles and nine assisted tackles for an outstanding 22 tackles, for the second week.

Senior linebacker, Bill Adams, was second in the defensive department with 15 tackles. Senior noseguard, Reggie Morgan, was next with 13 tackles. Bruce Barre, senior defensive end, captured two Sinton fumbles and was in on 10 tackles.

We were quite proud of our first quarter drive that was good for 87 yards and a touchdown. Darryl Green, senior quarterback, scored from the one-yard line on both of the Pirate touchdowns.

Along the way, on the first 86 yards, however, FB Algie Simmons, TB Charlie Edler, and TB Hollis Durham picked up some mighty valuable real estate on the road to paydirt. Edler gained 99 yards in the first half.

After being shaken up in the first half, he didn't see much action in the second half. Edler had 104 yards on 17 carries; Simmons had 56 yards in 12 carries; Hollis Durham had 27 yards in four carries.

Green connected on two of his four passes—one to pro-back, Charlie McLead, good for seven yards, and one to Jerry Kelly for 13 yards. Bill Shendel got back to his yearly average on the punts—he booted seven for a 34.9 average. Several punts were very accurate, going out of bounds, leaving the Sinton Pirates in poor field position.

We saw a lot of excellent blocking in the line—Sam Solis, senior tackle, and junior Kenny Matlock repeatedly opened the Sinton defense for the ball carriers to pick up good gains.

One the other side of the Pirate line, Center Gary Heasley, Guard Bruce Barre, Tackle Newlin Parker and Tight end Paul Harris provided good blocking on the line of scrimmage and down field.

I am proud to announce that we received only two flags in this ball game for 20 yards. It is such a good feeling! I thought it was one of the most well controlled ball games I have seen in several years.

The "Defensive Player of the Week" honor must go to our two linebackers, Joe Brooks and Bill Adams, who made a total of 37 tackles, or 22 percent of all the tackles, between them. The "Offensive Player of the Week" honor is also shared by two Pirates—Senior TB Charlie Edler and Senior Tackle Sam Solis.

There were many times that Solis blocked two defensive players, breaking the ball carrier, usually Edler, to good gains.

When the whole football team executes so well, to a victory, it is very difficult to pick out individuals for honors. This was a TEAM victory and the happiness is shared by all of us.

The Pirates travel to Flour Bluff next Friday night, for the first of two out of town trips in

Reyna Free On Bond In Shooting

Collins Lee Herron, 23, of Rockport, sustained injuries to his lower left arm when he was shot by Jose Reyna, 21, also of Rockport, at the SeaFair street dance Saturday night.

City Police officers investigating the incident reported that the two men had earlier been involved in a dispute on the fair grounds and that Reyna had lacerations on his head when officers arrested him later at his home. Reyna was taken to Lyman-Roberts Hospital for treatment.

Herron was transferred by private car to Memorial Hospital in Corpus Christi and was kept for observation of his wounds. He was released from the hospital Sunday.

County attorney James Anderson charged Reyna with attempted murder.

Bond was set for Reyna at $15,000. This was later reduced to $5,000 and Reyna was freed pending trial.

HOT WATER VAPORIZER DANGER
A family bought a hot water vaporizer advertised as tipproof, foolproof and safe. They placed it on a stool, plugged it in and waited for the steam to rise. While it was steaming, their 3-year-old daughter caught herself in its electric cord. The vaporizer tipped and spilled scalding water onto the child. She will bear the scars all her life. The problem is that most hot water vaporizers bring the water temperature up to 212 degrees. Water will scald at 145 degrees and produce third-degree burns at 180. Following studies in this area, Underwriters' Laboratories, watchdog of electrical product safety, revised its standards so that effective July 1972, the water temperature was reduced to 130 degrees maximum. For what it's worth, medical authorities say that cool-mist vaporizers which do not rely on hot water, are quite as effective and safer than hot ones.

Efficient heating with the heat pump.

Recent research shows that in the South Texas area served by Central Power and Light Company, the electric heat pump delivers about 2½ units of heat for each unit of electrical energy needed to run it.

What makes the heat pump so efficient? A heat pump is based on the principle that all air contains heat from the sun. Even when the weather is cold and cloudy, the heat pump removes heat from the outside air and pumps it into your house. In the summer it reverses the process and becomes an air conditioner, moving heat from the inside to the outside. You get the desired temperature indoors year around.

And because it uses energy so efficiently, the heat pump has the lowest operating cost of any type of electric heating equipment. If you are considering a new heating and air conditioning system, you should know that the heat pump is an important device for using energy efficiently.

AUSTIN - Citing the need to defeat Republican John Tower, Texas Democratic Party Chairman, Calvin R. Guest, announced the beginning of a grass-roots Dollars for Democrats drive. Guest said that the drive is designed to raise a lot of small contributions from a lot of Democrats.

"Our number one priority is defeating John Tower and replacing him with someone who will represent the majority of the people of Texas," said Guest, "to do this we Democrats have to really begin working on voter registration, campaign workshops, and party recruitment programs."

Guest said that the State Party will telephone over 50,000 Democrats throughout the State over the next six weeks and ask them to contribute to the drive.

When it comes to giving—some people stop at NOTHING—I hope this is not true in Rockport. As I write this, the scoreboard in front of the Chamber of Commerce shows $7,000—almost one-half of the goal. THAT'S GOOD—but have you made your pledge?

SEAFAIR
By the time you read this it will be all over—Sunday P.M. after spending three hours there, it looked pretty—all colored tents and a good crowd. It just could not help being a success.

A noticeable LACK of Rockport-sponsored floats was noticed in the parade. What's the matter? Thanks, Corpus Christi, for filling in the blank spaces.

Did you listen to Channel 6 at 6:00 p.m. Friday when Chuck Machen, the announcer, told of all the big events starting on Saturday—everything but the Rockport SeaFair? Write him and give him a hard time. That's the only way we are going to get our fair share of TV news.

POST OFFICE
Welcome to Rockport, Mr. J.W. Thompson, acting Postmaster pro tem for the next few months! Politics is busy selecting a permanent P.M. for us. He came from a station in Corpus Christi, is very friendly and a likeable man. He promised me he would do all he could to improve service here. He stressed, however, that he would do this when "Money is available."

It appears that system seems to be broken—insofar as Rockport service is concerned. "My prediction is—look for the usual poor service—over-crowding, breaking of traffic rules hunting for a parking space, etc."

This will all come when our "bread and butter" tourists start arriving. It's predicted to be another cold winter up there so we can look for a big crop of them.

FULTON ROAD TRAFFIC
Someone has gone all out and installed two noteworthy traffic signs. One big yellow one located where Fulton Road leaves Highway 35—which is supposed to tell you that the road splits at this point. How many of you know that? I think a lot of good white stripes at that point would do more good. I also note one 40 m.p.h. sign at this point. We need at least 25 more of them from that point on.

Next, almost on the approach to the Harbor Oaks bridge is another big yellow sign with black lines and a wiggly car saying "slick when wet." My un-engineering mind tells me that this sign would do a lot more good if it were moved back 150 ft. so that you could see it before you start over the bridge. It is now too close.

At this same bridge, you will remember that two or three cars have missed this turn and rolled over there. The reason—first, too much speed—second, no posts with reflectors or railings. All there is about a foot high ridge of topping which is hard to see. Why not take a gallon of white paint and give this little ridge a good dose? At night, it is impossible to see.

In fact, anyone leaving Highway 35, going down the Fulton Beach Road, after DARK takes his life in his hands. They could even use a lot of those reflector buttons on its many curves—like they have used on the back road to Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi. In fact, there is no real reason for this road not being widened and paved all the way to the Copano Bridge—it's our most scenic and important road—and still the most dangerous.

SUPER IDEAS
Have been requested by several people to make this suggestion to someone. I don't know who. The idea is, why don't some of our famous Garden Club members get hold of our County Courthouse yard and make it a showplace of flowers? We have a very pretty courthouse and it needs to sit in a bed of flowers. I'll bet my friend, Judge John Wendell, could squeeze out a few dollars helping this cause. What club will volunteer to start this?

The other day, while visiting around town, someone made this wise comment. "Why don't our elected city and county officers ever come around and visit us, except at election time?" Good question. They sure could learn a lot by listening.

Child Center To Hold Open House AT CCSU

Parents, teachers, and child care providers are invited to attend an informal open house of the Corpus Christi State University Child Development Center from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 13, 1977.

Developed under a grant from the Child Development Program of the Texas Department of Human Resources, the CCSU Child Development Center is designed to serve South Texas' parents, teachers, and child care providers as an educational resource center for materials and information relating to the development of the young child.

The Center provides an opportunity to examine and review currently available teaching aids, and also offers a variety of ideas for do-it-yourself materials.
The Center is located in Corpus Christi Hall, 2nd floor.

Dr. Jane Wilhour, a Rockport resident, is director of the Child Development Center on the CCSU campus.

Faye Barrera

Lois and Bill Stouder returned last week from an extended visit with friends in Dent, Minn., very near the North Dakota border. Lois reports the weather was very pleasant. The temperatures never exceeded 70 degrees except for about four separate days when the temperature could have almost reached 90.

Otherwise, she reported, some of the days could have been described as chilly. The Stouderings left as fall arrived. As a matter of fact, leaves began turning and falling in August, signifying an early fall for that region, according to the Stouderings.

Ottertail County, host county for the visitors, is a great dairy and farming area and claims 1,000 lakes. Since there were no weather problems, there was a continuous growth of many varieties of vegetables. The Stouderings took advantage of this by canning, which they considered part of their entertainment. They also fished from the many lakes. The fishing was no better than in South Texas, they said, but could only be described as "different."

The Stouderings described that the rolling plains provided a perfect setting for the host-stains to rove and graze. There was no shortage of food for the cattle, either, as the alfalfa season yielded three "cuttings," or crops, as we would say.

Now for some very interesting news for those of us who grieve about the high cost of our utilities. According to Lois, one citizen, by keeping a record, reported her electricity bill for five months totalled $45. It seems that the electricity rate had recently been increased and irate citizens were speaking more than disparaging words. For the same five months last year the bill was $39.

On their way back, the Stouderings stopped at St. Joseph, Mo., and picked fresh apples.

Mrs. Elsie Rieu, of Desert Hot Springs, Calif., is a guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Elslager. She plans to be here a month.

Mothers Are People Too

Do you know what limbo is? Limbo is a neutral state, supposedly on the borderland of hell, the abode of those who are sinless, yet are denied the reward of heaven.

Limbo is living in the same house, community, city, state, country and world with a twelve year old daughter, who is almost thirteen.

She has discovered B-O-Y-S. Oh, I know they've been around all the time, but she has just now really discovered that they too occupy the same planet as she does.

Heretofore, they were to hit, ignore and scream about.

Now understand, brothers still fall in this category. Brothers are just a little better than snakes at this point.

The boys she has discovered are those at school, church and around the block. Remember Jimmy Smith? The one she hit with the baseball bat? Not only did he survive that, but suddenly, he has brown eyes and the cutest little dimple in his cheek.

She has failed to notice the pimples on his face and dirt under his fingernails.

Only mothers discover things like that and if you mention them, all you'll get is THAT look and some things a "Mother, you just don't understand!" It's amazing how many things I now don't understand.

Revlon and Seventeen magazine have replaced Holly Hobby and Saturday morning cartoons.

The little girl I use to force into the bathtub is in danger of pruned skin by age fifteen.

Her use of the bathroom has forced her father into—well, there's enough violence in print already. We need not go into that.

However, I am the one in limbo. If I treat her like she's still my baby girl, I get THAT look. If I try to treat her as a young lady, I just don't understand.

What I don't understand amounts to a whole lot. I don't understand why she doesn't want me to pick her up at the show. I don't understand why she needs a new tennis outfit. I don't understand why she has to wear eyeshadow in the seventh grade. I don't understand why she has to answer the phone first.

I don't understand what's keeping me from knocking that kid's block off.

A friend(?) told me that this will last until the day she says, "I do." At that rate, it may be a while. She is currently grounded. She said that I didn't understand one time too many. She was right. I didn't understand.

Parade Contest Winners Revealed

Wanting to get the best seats in the house, people lined the streets of Rockport an hour in advance of the parade that opened the two-day event, according to Bob Lawler, parade marshal. Starting on time and proceeding without a hitch, the procession made its way from South Live Oak, down Market Street, turned onto Austin and marched to the SeaFair grounds.

The Corpus Christi JayCee's softball float received the judge's award designation as the best in the parade.

In the general float category, Lillian's Danceland was judged best overall and the Buccaneer Commission received first place. Second prize went to the Rockport Garden Club and third was given to the Rockport Chamber of Commerce.

Best overall in the vehicle category was the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Casterline Fish Company took first place with the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department coming in second. Third went to Ousley Bugatti.

A minor upset occurred in the marching category. The Rockport-Fulton Junior High Band took the best overall honors, outstripping the upperclassmen, the Rockport-Fulton High School Band which garnered first place. Second was won by the South Texas Twirling Academy and the Girl Scouts came in third.

In the riding category, first place went to the Sparkling City Motorcycle Club while the Hinojosa Horses came in second. The Aransas County Riding Association took third.

A special appreciation plaque went to the Boy Scouts. Ribbons were awarded the Fulton Fire Department and the Aransas County Medical Corps.

Allison Meyer won first place in the girl's division of the decorated bicycle contest. Second place went to Cris Ann Gillis and Kim Meyer won third.

In the boy's division, Donald Cletcher took first place honors, and Manuel Tilves placed second while Norm Spears came in third.

Patti and Murray McMillan and Cam and Virginia Leonard organized the category for the bicycles.

Lawler is already planning the parade next year and

Sectional Leaders Announced

The Rockport-Fulton Fighting Pirate Band members have been hard at work to prepare for the halftime shows each Friday night.

The sectional leaders for the 1977-78 year include Janet Schnep, flute; Nancy Duggan, clarinet; Mollie Davis, alto saxophone; Wynne Armstrong, French horn; Gary Billings, drums; Larry Billings, tenor and bari-saxophone; Scott Mize, baritone; Otho Evans, trombone; Benny Flores, trumpet; Ed Mullins, bass clarinet and Charles Winters, tuba.

The band this year has a new way of rewarding its hardest workers.

Each month Band Director Peter Cheaney and Drum Major Mike Vermillion decide who is the most outstanding worker in each grade.

merchants and organizations may enter by getting in touch with him.

'No-Spot' 'Blossom' Win Award

With a floral artist as an owner, "Blossom" won the award for the best decorated crab in the Third International Crab Race, held in conjunction with the SeaFair activities, Oct. 8 and 9. "Blossom's" owner is Gayna Harrell, owner of the "A" Blossom Shop.

First place in the speed contest was "No Spot," entered by B and I Cleaners and Laundry. The crab was trained by Iris Pendley.

"Moonshell," entered by the Moonshell Gallery, placed second and "Snoopy," owned and entered by the Del Camino Motel, was third.

Judges for the event were Reese Rozzell and Bob Lawler.

Testing Done By Heart Association

Approximately 946 people walked away from the SeaFair activities knowing their blood pressure level. The Aransas County division of the American Heart Association conducted screenings at the two day event, Oct. 8 and 9.

In the group, there were individual 90 years of age and two people from London, England.

Mrs. Eldora Olbrich, local Task Force chairperson, said "The success of this undertaking is due to the hard work of the nurses and volunteers who participated."

Hypertension, or high blood pressure, cannot be detected without the blood pressure readings.

Choke Canyon Dam Project Has Approval

According to Congressman John Young, the Secretary of the Interior has withdrawn all objections to the Corps of Engineers issuing a 404 permit for the construction of the Choke Canyon Dam on the Nueces River.

The project is to be located about ten miles north of George West in Live Oak County. It is of significance to the Rockport area because the local fresh water supply will eventually come from the dam.

According to L.D. Nuckles, local Texas Parks and Wildlife official, the fresh water source is now Lake Corpus Christi. The Choke Canyon Dam would further ensure a fresh water source. Also Mr. Nuckles said that the project will provide a recreational spot for the area.

However, Col. Harvey D. Hodges, deputy district engineer from Fort Worth, has said he will call for hearings on the subject. Hodges outlined a provision in permit procedures that allows him to do so if the subject is a controversial one as this particular project has proven to be.

A running fight had been staged between the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, which wanted to build the dam in the first place, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which had pressed for what they termed "proper environmental protection" for the dam site.

Congressman Young said, "This is great news for Corpus Christi and the South Texas area that is dependent on the Nueces River for a dependable water supply."

Young added that the total cost of the project will be around $23 million and said that such construction would be beneficial to the economy of the area.

Texas Income Places Third in Nation

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that figures compiled by the U.S. Commerce Department show that per capita personal income in Texas has shot upwards 52 percent in the past five years.

The increase was the largest recorded among the large industrial states and the third largest in the nation, Bullock said. Per capita personal income in the U.S. as a whole grew by 42 percent during the period.

The income statistics, compiled by the U.S. Commerce Department's Bureau of Economic Analysis, are analyzed in the September issue of the Comptroller's monthly financial report, "Fiscal Notes."

Only two states, Alaska and Wyoming, registered larger percentage increases in per capita personal income between 1972 and 1976. Alaska registered at 96 percent increase and Wyoming recorded at 57 percent increase.

In dollar figures, the per capita personal income in Texas grew from $4,102 in 1972 to $6,243 in 1976; Illinois, with a per capita personal income of $7,432 in 1976, was at the top of the list nationally.

Despite Texas' big increase, the state still ranks below the other major states in personal income. The state now ranks 26th in the nation, moving up from 32nd place in 1972.

The Comptroller's monthly report also shows that the state collected $622.8 million in revenues during July, bringing the year-to-date total to $6.55 billion. Expenditures for July totaled $561.9 million.

Well Permit Sought By Houston Firm

Getty Oil Co., from the main Houston office, has filed a permit with the Army Corps of Engineers to erect and maintain structures for drilling oil wells in Aransas Bay, approximately nine miles northeast of Rockport.

The wells would be for producing oil and gas and the company reports that no dredging would be performed in the area.

Manager At Local Store

The new manager for the Prescription Center, 115 N. Austin, is Jerry Smolik.

Smolik has been with the store for several weeks and is becoming acquainted with Rockport and area residents.

A graduate of the University of Texas with a degree in pharmacology, Smolik comes originally from Karnes City.

His wife, Pat, is also a graduate from the Austin university and is employed with the Prescription Center in Aransas Pass.

Green, Edler, Durham Lead Pirates Past Sinton

By Bob Crawford
ROCKPORT - Excitement prevailed last Friday night in Pirate Stadium as the Rockport-Fulton Pirates scored two first-half touchdowns and then held on for all they were worth to allow the Sinton Pirates only one score to take a 14-6 victory.

After nearly a month of having an offense which was lying dormant, Rockport-Fulton's Green Machine controlled the ball with near-perfect execution in the first half of the ball game.

Late in the first period, the Sinton punter, Russell Gibson, an All-State punting star, put the Pirates of Rockport deep in their own end of the field at the 13-yard line.

It was at that point where the Pirates began blasting away at the Sinton defense for large chunks of yardage. Halfback Charlie Edler slashed his way for 40 yards in four running attempts; quarterback Darryl Green fired a pass to Jerry Kelly for 13 yards; and Edler's back-up man, Hollis Durham, made the most impressive run of the night with an 18-yard burst to the Sinton one-yard line.

Green followed that play by faking the ball into the middle and then keeping, and went into the endzone untouched to put Rockport-Fulton out front by 6-0. Kelly kicked the point after and the Pirates led 7-0 with 49 seconds remaining in the first period.

With time becoming short in the second quarter, Sinton had the ball and had begun to move. Rockport-Fulton linebacker Joe Brooks, the game's leading tackler with 22, blitzed through the Sinton offensive line and cracked the ball carrier, stripping him of the ball, and Rockport's Bruce Barre recovered to set Rockport-Fulton toward the Sinton goal line once again at the Sinton 38.

Edler and Algie Simmons chewed up 37 yards in only five plays before Green did a repeat performance on the one-yard line, going into pay dirt once again. Kelly successfully kicked the point after, and with only 27 seconds remaining in the first half, Rockport-Fulton had the lead 14-0.

Time after time in the third period, the Sinton team tried to penetrate the Rockport defense for a score but all attempts were turned back. Sinton blocked a punt to get the ball on the Rockport 20-yard line. The Pirates of Sinton blasted away at the Pirate defense until they had a third-and-one at the Rockport one-yard line. On the following play, the Sinton quarterback bobbled the snap from center, and by the time he recovered his fumble, he had lost a yard. On fourth down Sinton tried to skirt the right end, but Brooks and Brent Glover were in the right place at the right time and stopped the Sinton runner cold, turning the ball over to Rockport on their own one.

Rockport punter Bill Schendel had to kick from his own endzone, but lofted a fine punt out to the Rockport 32. Sinton pushed the ball toward the Rockport goal again, but a timely fumble recovered by Barre, for his second of the night, took the pressure off the Rockport-Fulton team.

Sinton moved 60 yards in the fourth period to threaten again, but the Pirate defense held, taking the ball over on their own 27. After punting out of trouble, Rockport set themselves to meet another Sinton attempt to score. Only this time, the Sinton team found the break they had been looking for, and passed 30 yards for a TD over the Pirate defense since they could not run through it. The extra points attempt was no good, so Rockport-Fulton still led with 3:33 remaining.

Sinton received the ball one more time, but Rockport's Darryl Green pulled in an interception to seal off any Sinton hopes. Rockport had the ball and attempted a field goal three plays later. Pirate kicker Jerry Kelly was blasted as he followed through on his kick which was no good, and Sinton was given a penalty. As time ran out, Rockport was on the Sinton five-yard line.

Charlie Edler ran with authority in the game, gaining 104 yards in 17 tries.

Some fine line blocking was provided by Gary Heasley at center, Bruce Barre and Kenny Matlock at guards, Sammy Solis, Newlin Parker and Reggie Morgan at tackles, and Paul Harris, Jerry Kelly and Keith Barrett at ends.

The Pirate defense was again the stingy unit it has been throughout all of the games played this year. The group has now allowed 34 points in four games and most of those points have come as results of offensive turnovers.

Friday night, linebackers Brooks and Bill Adams led the Pirates with 22 and 15 tackles, respectively. Also making at least 10 hits on defense were Glover (14), Morgan (13), and Barre (10).

This week the Pirates will encounter an unpredictable team in the Flour Bluff Hornets in Flour Bluff. The Pirates will be trying to move their season's record to 4-1.

Drawing first blood, but then failing to score again was the plight of the Rockport-Fulton Junior Varsity last week in Sinton where they lost by a 35-6 score.

Halfback James Stevens provided most of the fireworks for the Pirates in their opening drive for a score, ripping off one run in the march for 43 yards.

Quarterback Jimmy Garrison plunged over from the one-yard line to put the RF Pirates on top 6-0, and when the Pirates missed on the extra points attempt, the score held.

Later in the first period, the Sinton team began to move the ball and scored on a 15-yard run, knotting the score at 6-6. In the second period, however, the Sinton team posted two touchdowns, adding a kick after one, and two points after the other, pushing them out to a 21-6 lead at the half.

The Pirates made a few threats, but the offensive show was mostly provided by the Sinton eleven. Sinton added a score in each of the last two periods, eventually reaching their total of 35 points.

Donald Nava led the Pirate defense with 18 tackles, 12 of which were individual tackles. Making at least eight tackles on defense were Garrison, David Smith, Larry Sammons and Craig Woodman. Ronald Allen captured a Sinton fumble for the only Sinton turnover.

This week the Pirates will be at home to host the Flour Bluff Hornets following the Freshmen game Thursday.

The Scene From Austin And Wharf

SPONSORED BY THE VICTORIA ADVOCATE AND Victoria College, United Feature columnist Jack Anderson addressed a large Victoria audience last Wednesday.

In the evening he was honored at a reception and dinner at the Victoria Country Club. We were fortunate to be at the gathering, among some two dozen guests, mostly newspaper men and women, nearly all old friends or at least old acquaintances.

Jack Anderson? Controversial, muckracker with a mission? Without his being our favorite syndicated columnist, we've agreed with him—and always wondered. How does he get his information, how does he get away with a lot of it?

We anticipated a harsh, abrasive, sort of Mr. Know-It-All character. Sorry, he is none of that. His voice remains at an almost consistent level, yet he does not drone.

A RECEPTION IS NOT THE BEST PLACE TO FIND conversation with anyone. Everyone is on their feet, balancing cocktail glasses, exchanging small talk. Conversations are interrupted, newcomers step in to join the on-going one. It was about that way last Wednesday evening. Except that everyone else, like ourselves, had hard questions to ask a man about whom they were more than slightly curious.

DINNER WAS A DIFFERENT MATTER AND, incidentally, dinner was without the buzz of half a dozen conversations. Most of us were anxious to hear Anderson's replies to questions he was asked. We almost said fired at him. We were exuding our best Texas manners because we had a certain amount of admiration for a man who frankly opposes the Texas point of view on regulation of gas.

The subject occupied a sizable portion of our time. Anderson made no attempt to lecture anyone. Instead he answered questions on any subject in a straightforward manner. Here, however, we're not going to discuss gas at any length. Rather naively perhaps, we noted what we all know: people in the east resent Texans, don't like our attitude toward deregulation of gas. In turn, Texans aren't in the throes of a love affair with the east. Because of the government, don't we pay more for gas we produce from our own soil than they?

Replied Anderson: "The government can't control prices in a state where the gas is produced. Your recourse is to your own legislature." Touche!

THERE WAS DISCUSSION ON THE SUBJECT OF welfare and Crystal City. Rather quietly, Anderson said he had been raised in the Mormon Church. There, he said, the church takes care of its poor jobless. It finds jobs for the able and if they refuse to work they don't eat. By the same token it takes care of its elderly, sick and crippled. There is no such thing as an unemployed person refusing work because he doesn't like the pay, the job category, or for the reason that it is more profitable to accept government handouts than to work. Perhaps we should turn the entire welfare program over to the Mormons. Should a circumstance of that sort come to a vote there'd be an "Aye" from this corner.

ANDERSON IS A FIRM AND VOCAL OPPONENT OF bureaucracy, and there again we give him Brownie points. On that subject he held forth at length. "The bureaucracy tends to operate on the theory that any unwanted directive will go away if they study it long enough."

ACKNOWLEDGING QUESTIONS REGARDING HIS operational methods, he waxed enthusiastic. For his column he has a staff of 11 and there is consistently a waiting list of some 200 applicants.

"My people work harder and are perhaps less well paid than most Washington correspondents who look upon themselves as the cream of world journalism. While they sit on their hands, my people work."

The columnist looked a bit perplexed when he was asked if any of his people come from "this part of the country." Clearly, regionalism, race, sex, have nothing to do with his employment policies. Then he noted, as though he were thinking about it for the first time, that Les Whitten, his chief assistant, comes from Mississippi—and he remembered that his secretary is a Georgian.

He brightened at the mention of his secretary, a woman he admires immensely and is "frightened of at times." About her he recounted several amusing stories.

"GOOD MORNING AMERICA" IS RATHER THE LEAST our favorite news programs but we watched it the next morning because Anderson appears regularly. He wears a sort of cloak and dagger visage, eyes half closed. It is not the Anderson we met and we suspect the appearance affected there, and if affected it is, is it by direction of some ABC program director. Who knows? —a.h.a.b.

Good Neighbor Club Sets Future Goals

The Good Neighbor Club had its October meeting at the home of its president, Dorothy Leslie, on Wednesday, October 5. There were 16 present including one new member, Mrs. Bennie Long, and a visitor, Mrs. Thelma Jenschke.

The group agreed that for their project they would help the elderly people, especially through the Council on Aging.

The door prize was won by Ozella Schleider. Secret pal gifts were distributed. Fannie Atwood and Ozella Schleider assisted as hostesses and fixed the coffee, iced tea and place settings.

It was decided that the next meeting would be a Thanksgiving celebration and turkey would be bought by the club.

Hostesses will be Lucille Little, Bennie Long, Verna

Copano Cove

Jerry and Roger Larimore

Birthdays: Bonnie Force, Rev. Barton, Charlie White, Chris Borkholm.

Anniversary: Edward and Kitty Bernal.

Jon Santos is out of his body cast now. He is on crutches now. He is doing very well and he is no longer staying with us. But even though our five children are all in school, our house is still not empty in the day time.

We have a set of twins living with us. The twins are Jack and Dale. They are Jerry Larimore's twin brother's twins. Their father, Jack Sowers from Houston, has asked us to take care of them for a while. Jerry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Sowers, brought the twins here from Houston Sunday.

George and Kay Snapp traveled to Palacios Sunday to attend the funeral of George's sister. We were very sorry to hear the news.

Lynn and Ann Larimore are really enjoying the twirling lessons they are taking. Helen Chittenden had a tooth pulled, ouch. Hugh Odell is down working on his boat.

The Copano Cove Fire Department will have a special meeting on Oct. 17. This will be a very important meeting. We urge everyone in the community to attend. A constitution will be voted on. The constitution will probably be almost a carbon copy of the Fulton and Rockport fire department constitutions. Also permanent officers will be elected. So far we have only had temporary officers and committees. After the elections we can then proceed to incorporate as a non-profit organization.

Incorporation is necessary to avoid possible legal problems that could come up. The truck is almost operational now. Mr. Gould is investigating the purchase of a pump. With the pump, the truck will be operational.

Mr. Owens donated an emergency light for the truck. His help is greatly appreciated. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at Pouze's pier on Monday, Oct. 17. Don't forget.

Another one of our fine families out here are the Allens. Ray and Mary were married Aug. 15, 1970 in Corpus Christi. Ray was in the Air Force, so that meant Mary was going to get to travel. Around two weeks after they were married, they were sent to San Angelo where they spent three months. Then it was back to Corpus Christi. From Corpus Christi they were sent to Germany where they spent 19 months. In Germany they had their first child, Karen, who is now six years old and is a first grader at Live Oak School. Karen says she likes singing most of all.

After the Allen left Germany, they went to England where their son, Tommy, who is now four, was born.

After getting out of the service, they moved out here and are building their home. They now have another daughter, Dianne. Allen works part-time at the post office. When not working, he works on his house. He enjoys fishing. Now we know where to get some really big, fresh fish, right, Ray? Mary enjoys sewing and is very good at it.

Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allen, live right next door to their son. The children are really getting to know their grandparents. Mary's parents, the Greens, lived out here before moving to Rockport. Ray and Mary are fine people who always have a nice smile for everyone. They live on Parks street. We're glad to know them.

A cat may have nine lives but, when you're on the highway, remember you're not a cat.

Rebel Yells, Good Smells Mark The Gumbo Cookoff

Without a doubt the best thing about SeaFair '77 was the smell of the entire location and most of the good aromas came from the direction of the Gumbo Cookoff, supervised this year by Ed and Sis Harper.

Dr. and Mrs. S.M. Parker of San Benito took the grand prize award with a concoction called "South Padre Shellfish Gumbo," which featured oysters, crabs, shrimp and sausage.

Coming in second place were Joe Lister and Iris Jenkins, Rockport, with their "Poppa Joe's Cajun Gumbo" and third place went to Gloria J. Murphy of Rockport with a recipe called "The Friendship House Gumbo."

Lister and Mrs. Jenkins also garnered the originality award while Estelle Stair won the showmanship prize with her "Palatable Palette Gumbo."

Winning first place at Saturday's competition was George M. Colvin of Houston with his personal recipe for "Colvin's Cajun Concoction."

Second place winner Saturday was Mark Watson and Tom Martin from San Antonio. Their gumbo was titled "Gotcha."

The 1976 winner, Blanche Stastny from Kemah, Texas, placed third with her "Special Gumbo for Rockport SeaFair." Winning the originality prize for the first day was Donald Lippert from Corpus Christi with his "Lip's Lip Lickin' Gumbo." The first day showmanship award went to James Durrett and William Holt, Houston, with their "Crittter Seafood Gumbo."

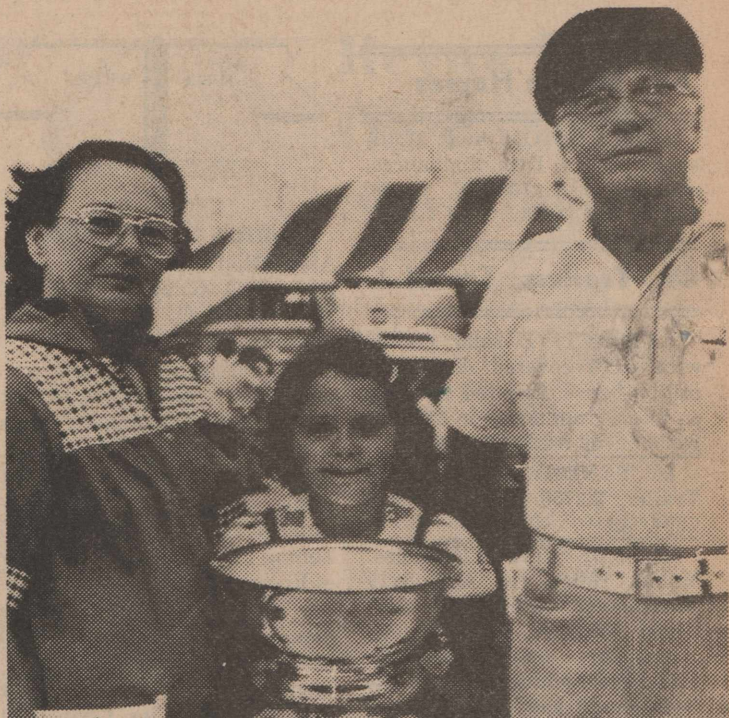

Judges for the event were Jerry Wilson, foods editor for the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Lenny Krupp from New Orleans and Herbert Ulbricht Jr., the 1975 winner from Missouri City, Texas.

Other entrants included Jerry Iles, Rockport, "Coon Ass Gumbo;" Sybil Alsop, Austin, "Sibbie's Shell Ridge Sauce;" Judy Farrar, Houston, "C'Est Tout Terrifique;" Mary Beth Caspary and Kathryn

Pieton, Rockport, "Queenie's Gumbo;" General Woods, Marvin Thibodeaux and Grif Fontenot, Irving, "Rebel Yell SeaFair Gumbo" and Don Gollott, Houston, "Shrimp Boat Gumbo."

Also Don Ridge and Larry Smith, Corpus Christi, "Okie-Coonie Creations;" Margaret Sagstetter, Houston, "Seafare Superlative;" Ruby Mitchell, Aransas Pass, "Red and Hot Seafood Gumbo;" Jim Luigi and

Sam Pantuso, Rockport, "Paisano Gumbo;" Martha and Steve Richardson, Rockport, "Seafare Gumbo Supreme III;" Daniel L. Satterbo, Rockport, "Coon Ass Kassel" and Bobbie Frost, Corpus Christi, "Tramp Steamer Gumbo."

Thomas Photos On Display At Bank

Eleven photographs, in color, illustrating local scenes and done by W.K. Thoma, Rockport artist, are on display in the lobby of First National Bank.

This display is the largest in a series of mini-art shows arranged under direction of Gladys Gibson, chairman of the bank's continuing committee on art. The display will be in the bank's art alcove through October.

Most of Thomas' photographs are seascapes which feature either sunrise or sunset effects. Born in Alabama, Thomas is a retired Arco Steel Co. executive from Houston. He and his wife have lived in Rockport since his retirement eight years ago. Mrs. Thomas is president of the Rockport Garden Club.

Thomas is no stranger to Rockport, having hunted and fished in this area for the past 25 years.

Try Alaska For Change Of Scenery

Did you ever want to get away from it all? Just go somewhere with no television, no newspapers, no problems from the outside world? Well, the place may be utopia, but Harriet and Fremont Johnson and their two children, Paul and Heather, may have come very close when they accepted positions with the Alaska school system several years ago.

Their original assignment was on the south coast of Alaska, almost to where the Aleutian chain starts. They were the only teachers and the only Anglos in Perryville, a village of Eskimo fishermen and their families.

There were no stores, no theaters, just a school and a church. The only connection with the outside world was the weekly mail plane and a coastal freighter that made unscheduled trips on the average of once a month.

Later the couple was transferred to Tok, another small village, located on the Alcan Highway, near the Alaskan-Canadian border.

Conditions were somewhat better there. There were stores in Tok, several other Anglo families lived there, and the town did have visitors and tourists, thanks to the major highway.

The Johnsons, who now live in Aransas Pass, have recounted their experiences in a book, "Da-Ne-Ha," which means in the Alaskan dialect, "Come In To Alaska."

Mrs. Johnson, on her return,

He is a self-taught photographer and is a member of Texas Professional Photographer's Association. He has won awards with his photographs in annual exhibits sponsored by this association as well as those of similar associations in neighboring states and Mexico. His work also has been shown in Helga's Art Gallery and the gallery formerly operated by the Rockport Art Association.

Thomas uses a hasselblad model 500 GM camera made in Sweden for all of his work. He uses Carl Zeiss lenses made in Germany.

In the four years he has been active in photography, he estimates he has taken more than 500 pictures of which he has had 75 or 80 enlarged for framing.

returned to the teaching profession, and Johnson went into the printing business.

August Catch High For Shrimpers

By Orman H. Farley
 Shrimp landings in Texas for August totaled 11.6 million pounds valued at $25.6 million. This was the second highest monthly volume on record—surpassed only by July, 1976, and was a new monthly volume record.

Aransas Pass area, nearly 3 million pounds of headless shrimp were recorded.
 Trawlers worked waters from south of Morgan City, Louisiana, to Tampa, Mexico.

Good to excellent catches were reported from all major ports.
 Vessels made long trips into adjacent waters until late August when the entire fleet were confined to port by the storm that hit Mexico some 150 miles south of Port Isabel, Texas.

Marriage Licenses

The following marriage license applications were received at the Aransas County Courthouse during the month of September:

Joseph Edward Richards and Joyce Chandler Decker.
 Allan Ark-Poy Eng and Mary Karr Kising.
 Michael LeRoy Sutherland and Julie Anne Boyd.
 Larry Bruce Spears and Evelyn LaVern Allen.
 Jimmy Allen Stallings and Dorothy Marie Kovar.
 Jed Ancei Brundrett and Carol Jean Bonham.
 Johnnie Lee Spaulding and Wilma Jean Murray.
 William H. Bishop and Debra Ann Casey.
 Willie Earl Martin and Fannie Dee Sheard.
 Ray Edward Alsobrooks and Maella Nell Rowland.
 Charles Edward Simmons III and Olga Jean Miller.
 Leroy Bateman III and Sherri Sue Jennings.
 Henry Edward Baugh and Gertrude Mills.
 James Oliver Jordan and Linda Sue Rodgers.
 Clifton Ben Hunkel and Wanda Elizabeth Mills.
 Cosme Castillo Ramirez Jr. and Mary Lucille Pena.
 John Edward Whelan and Glynda Dianne Hailey.
 Domingo Segovia Jr. and Amelia Tello Lamas.
 Armando Garza Marrogium and Janie Tello Lamas.
 Douglas Gene Bynum and Elaine Rowena Hughes.
 Robert Lane Hamby and Terry Lynn Raby.
 Joseph Anthony Bruney and Lori Gwenn Brown.

Finfish landings were very poor in August. Seafood markets and restaurants had difficulty in obtaining needed supplies. Hot, dry weather accounted for much of the scarcity of good fish.
 One major storm affected fishing operations in August. The offshore fleets were restricted to port for about five days and the bay fleet for three. Damage from the storm was restricted to isolated flooding from high tides.
 Twelve new large vessels entered the shrimp fishery in August. One was lost at sea.
 Fuel supplies were adequate at about 37 cents per gallon in volume buying.

All major Gulf areas had a good population of mixed sized young of the year browns indicating good catch potential throughout the rest of the year.
 White shrimp catches from all major bays were fair to good in August. The regulated season opened on August 15 and will close in December to regular commercial units.
 Blue crab landings of 1.3

Silver Tea To Aid Battered Children

Mrs. Winnie Light, president of the Sinton Business and Professional Women's Club, has extended an area-wide invitation to all church and civic groups to lend support to a fund raising effort which will benefit victims of child abuse and neglect in San Patricio and Aransas Counties.

The B & PW Club will sponsor a Silver Tea on November 12 at the E. Murie Smith Junior High School in Sinton from 3 until 5 p.m.

This is the second annual Silver Tea sponsored in Sinton to raise funds that provide emergency care for children taken into protective custody. Previous drives were held in Aransas Pass. Mrs. Light, who is also the San Patricio County District Clerk, said she is in the position to see some of the children who benefit directly from the proceeds of the emergency fund.

Supported by private donations, the emergency fund for child abuse victims, is used strictly for the needs of young children. There are no operating expenses or administrative costs.

Specifically, purchases that are made from the emergency fund are for items essential to child care, such as diapers, bottles, underwear, medicated soaps, and clothing.

Children in the two-county area who are aided by the fund drive range in age from newborn up to the 12 year old. National statistics indicate that fifty percent of all battered and abused children are 6 years of age or younger.

These helpless children have been exposed to some of the most unpleasant home situations and family relationships that are imaginable. Just as the number of confirmed cases of abuse nationwide has doubled and tripled, the public has been more aware and concerned about the plight of the abused child. A few of the more tragic cases become sensational headlines in the news media.

Public sympathy is immediate, even if temporary.

According to Mrs. Light and her women's group, community concern for children in danger will not be temporary. She has asked that any individual, church or civic groups who are interested in this worthwhile project contact her or a member of the San Patricio County Child Welfare Board.

Aransas County Has Few Cases Of Abuse

From an emergency point of view, Aransas County doesn't have a great deal of child abuse that comes to the public eye according to Bill Aston, paramedic for the Aransas County Ambulance Service.

"Mainly what we see is abuse from the view that children, in some instances, are not receiving good or proper medical attention," Aston said. He went on to say that the amount he does see is totally unnecessary because help is available.

"When I say totally unnecessary," Aston explained, "I mean that there is help if the parents want to get it."

In further explanation, Aston recounted an instance this past year when a child died in Aransas County. "We had made this call and arrived to find a little girl, maybe six months old. She was already dehydrated and had lost three or four pounds, which doesn't sound like much but is a lot to a baby. We did all we could, the doctors did all they could, but she died. The cause of death was actually lack of medical care when she first got sick."

We often see cases where a child is sick and the diet is mashed beans and milk. That's not going to cut it when a child is sick," he continued.

In regards to specific child abuse, Aston explained that most of these cases go to the doctor or hospital by private car, though he did say, "I've seen a few cases where I've had suspicions when a kid says he fell through a window and I think he was pushed through a window. However, I can't prove anything," he added.

The cases that Aston does remember in his career as an emergency worker prove one thing to him. "Namely," he said, "the parents who abuse are emotionally unstable themselves. The wife sits home all day with a crying infant and the family is often poor and she just can't cope."

"The sad thing is," he pointed out, "an abusing parent will raise a child who will abuse his own children. We need to stop the vicious circle somewhere."

Mouth Cancer Hard To Spot

"Any sore present in the mouth that lasts for over two weeks—whether it is painful or not should be looked at by a physician or dentist," says Dr. Samuel Dreizen, professor of oncology at The University of Texas Dental Branch in Houston.

Dr. Dreizen, who is both a physician and dentist, explains that oral cancers can first appear in a variety of ways such as a red, white or smooth spot or as an ulcer or eroded area.

The American Cancer Society offers the following tips for preventing cancer of the mouth:

- * Report any lump, scaly area or discolored spot on the lips or in the mouth which lasts longer than two weeks to your physician or dentist.

- * Keep a clean mouth by brushing your teeth regularly.
- * Avoid repeat use of excessively hot foods or drinks that irritate living tissue.

- * Don't smoke. Heavy smoking along with drinking are known contributors to increased occurrences of oral cancer.

- * Avoid prolonged exposure to strong sunlight which can lead to lip cancer. The lower lip is especially vulnerable to the harmful effects of the sun's ultraviolet rays, so wear a protective ointment while in the sun.

- * Have any denture or tooth that irritates surrounding tissue corrected by your dentist.

- * Eat a balanced diet to promote healthy membrane and tissue growth in the mouth.

"If a person has a symptom he or she should go to any doctor (physician or dentist) who can do a biopsy and get a histopathologic readout (cellular report)," says Dr. Dreizen.

The biopsy is a small sample of the suspicious tissue which is analyzed by a pathologist under a microscope to determine if cancerous cells are present.

Because the mouth is so easily accessible for daily examination while brushing your teeth, there is no excuse for the many cancers of the mouth that are not brought to a doctor's attention until they are well-advanced and the chances of successful treatment are slim, he says.

Found at a small, localized stage, many cancers of the mouth can be cured by surgery and radiation with little complication, he adds.

Do you have further questions? Call your local unit of the American Cancer Society or call M.D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Institute's Cancer Information Service, 1-800-392-2040 toll-free in Texas, 729-2372 in the Rockport area.

AMERICA'S First Line of Defense

The Problem of Getting Started

Ours was one of those families. They all went to church but me, the breadwinner!

Sure, the others invited me. They coaxed me. Sometimes they almost pushed me.

But, let's face it: I figured I wasn't the church-going type. And I resented being urged. After all, it's a free country!

It is a free country. THAT is what got me started. We live in a land where men can believe in God and worship Him according to their conscience. People who believed and worshipped made this country what it is. And millions are still trying to keep it that way.

So one Sunday morning I asked myself: Just which side are you on?

From that practical beginning I have gone on to find strength and happiness with my family in the church we attend every Sunday.

My problem was getting started. Maybe it's yours!

Try Gumbo At Home

With another SeaFair now just a pleasant memory, many Rockport and area residents might be thinking of trying at home some of the dishes featured at SeaFair.

Gumbo, for instance, was a great favorite for all the visitors to the event.

Gumbo may well be an original American creation though it certainly has many similarities to Hungarian goulash and French bouillabaisse.

Originally a food found most often in Louisiana, its fame has spread far and wide.

Gumbo may be made with file or with okra as a thickening agent. The file is powdered sassafras leaf, once used predominantly by the Choctaw Indians. Their word for the herb is "rombo" from which the word gumbo comes.

File is never put in until just a minute before serving, whereas okra is cooked with the gumbo.

Never add file while the gumbo is cooking because it makes it stringy and unfit to eat.

Featured below is a favorite recipe from Ed and Sis Harper, coordinators of the SeaFair gumbo cookoff.

"Gumbo Stock"
4 lbs. seafood
3 quarts water
1 onion, chopped
2 ribs celery
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves

Simmer seafood in water with onions, celery and seasonings for two hours, remove from stock, strain stock and reserve. Let seafood cool and cut into small pieces if necessary.

"Gumbo"
1 cup bacon drippings
1 cup flour
3 onions, chopped
4 ribs celery, chopped
1 pkg. frozen okra or 1 lb. fresh cut

2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons Worcestershire
1 teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon pepper

1 small can tomato sauce, 8 oz.
Stock from seafood plus water to make 3 to 4 quarts, heated

In a heavy iron pot brown the flour in bacon fat until flour turns a walnut brown. You must stir constantly to prevent scorching. When browned add the chopped onions, celery and garlic. Cook over medium heat for about five minutes stirring enough not to let it scorch. Add hot stock a little at a time, stirring until it is smooth. Add tomato sauce, okra, Worcestershire, Tabasco, salt and pepper. Add seafood and simmer for at least one or two hours. Serve over rice.

Wild duck may be substituted for a different taste treat.

State of the Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Gov'ts

Inflation has made it almost necessary for some people who have retired to find jobs again. There is a $3,000 limitation on outside income without loss of Social Security, so half-time jobs are frequently the best answer for them.

The COG's Area Agency on Aging contracted with Lillian Leathers to develop such jobs. Herself a senior citizen, she is a former school teacher and she and her husband own and operate a drug store. She has delved into the whole arena of jobs and the older worker and has so many facts and figures that before she is through with most employers they are convinced this is the only way to go.

She finds smaller businesses the most amenable to splitting one full-time job into two half-time jobs or making other adjustments that will enable them to hire a retired person. Often it proves to be an answer to a dilemma for a small business, which needs a person with experience and judgment but can't afford to compete for such a qualified person.

Some employers raise a question of dependability of an older worker. Mrs. Leathers can converge on them with statistics from all directions. Those statistics show that senior citizens have fewer absences from the job because of illness than do younger people. There is no difference in accident rates with older or younger workers. The only point that is made here is that after an accident, older people are much more reluctant to sue than a younger person.

On jobs that require physical strength, Mrs. Leathers finds an older person often knows the ways to handle equipment so that less strength has to be exerted. She talked recently to a 76 year-old man who has worked in the oil fields for 52 years and has no problem handling a job that would be considered too hard for anyone but a youth.

Mrs. Leathers works throughout the 12 counties of the Coastal Bend. It is not part of her contract to find older applicants to fill the jobs she has developed, although in her enthusiasm she often does that too. She coordinates with the Texas Employment Commission. Employers interested in hiring older people and people of retirement age wanting jobs can call the Employment Commission. In the Corpus Christi office which serves the region, Joyce Reed and Ruth Harper have responsibility for senior citizen employment.

Mrs. Leathers would like to see the law changed which limits the amount a Social Security recipient can earn. She thinks the need for change is most urgent with SSI recipients who have benefits other than the monthly payments. They are only allowed to make $780 a year. If they make more, they lose benefits, particularly medical benefits. It takes quite a few months to get back on the rolls if you are dropped. So if you become ill and lose your private employment, you have also lost the means of handling medical expenses. As a result, SSI recipients are usually afraid to run this risk, so they are denied the chance to work.

Backing up her arguments that we need to amend laws and regulations to keep older people in the labor market, she returns to statistics. In 1967, three percent of the population was 60 years or older; in 1977, 10 percent; in 2,000, the projection is 50 percent.

To younger people who ask whether the jobs are being taken away from them, she replies, "No, we are developing jobs that you can fill when, hopefully, you live long enough to need them."

Garcia Retires From U.S. Army

Staff Sergeant Daniel D. Garcia, whose wife, Gloria, lives at 614 Concho St., Rockport, Tex., recently retired from the Army at Ft. Ord, Calif.

S.Sgt. Garcia was last assigned as a personnel records supervisor with the U.S. Army Personnel Control Facility at Ft. Ord, Calif.

He received his high school diploma through the General Educational Development program.

His mother, Mrs. Josephine D. Solis, lives at 403 Fuqua St., Rockport.

TBA Endorses Amendment On Banking Laws

The Texas Bankers Association supports the proposed constitutional amendment on electronic banking, Proposition Six on the November 8 election ballot, because it offers Texas consumers an optional and more convenient method of making purchases, obtaining cash, making deposits, paying bills and conducting other simple banking functions, TBA President Charles L. Childers of Tyler said.

"Electronic banking will not replace bank services now enjoyed by millions of Texans, but will provide convenient banking options for those customers who choose to use them," Childers said. "Customers who so choose may do their banking at multiple locations, 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

The proposed amendment was approved for submission to the people by a vote of 29 to 1 in the Senate and 120 to 5 in the House at the 1977 session of the Texas Legislature.

It authorizes the Legislature to enact laws that would allow banks to install and operate electronic funds transfer (EFT) devices or machines in retail shopping centers, such as department stores and supermarkets, for the convenience of their customers in obtaining cash or purchasing goods and services. Already about half the states have approved the use of this advanced technology.

The advent of electronic banking by the use of off-premises machines does not mean the era of "checkless banking" or the "cashless society" has arrived, the TBA president stated.

"All bank customers can still use checks whenever and however they wish," Childers pointed out, "or they may use a combination of cash, checks and electronic transfers. To repeat, banking by electronic devices or machines is only an optional method of transferring money. Its use depends entirely on an individual's wishes."

Childers denied that electronic banking would invade a customer's privacy, as has been charged.

"To the contrary, confidentiality between a bank and a depositor probably will be better protected," he said. "Legislation to implement the system will insure that the privacy of users will be fully preserved. Banks and their customers—the general public—will insist on that, and the Legislature will listen."

The TBA further believes, very strongly, that inasmuch as their competitors in the financial field, the savings and loan association and credit unions, may use and are using off-premise electronic fund transfer systems, banks should be accorded the same privilege, President Childers said.

Because banks are prohibited from having branches by the Texas Constitution—although their competitors are under no such restriction—it is necessary to amend the Constitution to give banks an equal competitive opportunity, since the Texas attorney general has held that off-premise electronic devices for the transfer of money constitute branches in the legal sense.

The Texas Bankers Association is composed of some 1,330 member banks.

Texas Parks And Wildlife Perform Hurricane Tasks

When Hurricane Anita formed out in the Gulf of Mexico the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TP&WD) mobilized to perform tasks that the public rarely associated with this agency.

South Texas game wardens were alerted to be available with all small outboard-powered boats on their trailers and ready to go. Two wardens from Corpus Christi were dispatched to Brownsville to be on hand to assist civil defense workers in controlling evacuation of the Valley area when and if that became necessary.

Regional law enforcement director Frank Dickerson of Corpus Christi said 10 boats were serviced and ready to go as soon as they were needed, as were the wardens who manned them.

Park operations personnel in Austin alerted regional park directors all over the state to have each park mobilized to assist Civil Defense, Red Cross, Department of Public Safety and any or all agencies that were concerned with the storm. All park facilities such as group shelters, cabins, camping space, trailer hook-up or recreation halls were to be furnished at no cost to people fleeing the storm. They would be allowed to use the facilities until it was safe for them to return to their homes.

Parks with camping reservation policies were instructed to return reservation fees in the event space was not available, either because the park had to be closed or the space was needed for evacuees. Goose Island State Park was closed because of high tides and Bentsen-Rio Grande State Park was shut down by loss of electrical power and the danger of flooding.

Neither park would be closed for any lengthy period according to Homer McCullough, Region 9 parks maintenance supervisor. This was Friday, September 2 and the picture could change if flooding did occur in the Rio Grande Valley. Extensive flooding could cause Bentsen-Rio Grande State Park to be closed for some time.

By Thursday, September 1, Goliad State Park was full to capacity with evacuees and Falcon State Park had approximately 110 people who had fled the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

All these things, of course, were being done as TP&WD facilities along the coast prepared to accept the possible entrance of Anita with a minimum of damage.

At facilities such as the experimental station at Palacios and the Marine Laboratory at Rockport, these preparations are fairly routine. They've done it many times.

At offices such as Rockport, Corpus Christi and Brownsville the buildings are secured as best they can be, then business goes on as usual until it is seen that the storm is going to soon make a landfall in the immediate area.

Hurricane season can be a very busy time for the Parks and Wildlife Department in South Texas. Sleeves stay rolled up and all eyes turn to the Tropics.
