West Team Wins In Pony Express Ride

The West team sped the pouch 31 miles in 58 minutes to win the Pony Express ride contest Saturday as one of the highlights of the Eighth Annual Spring Roundup of the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs. Closing events of the Roundup are on tap for today. Activities begin at 8 a. m. with a church service in the arena. Immediately following the church service, trophies will be presented to winners in the various games and contests which have been moving at a rapid clip for two full days. Some 600 contestants had registered and hundreds more were on hand as spectators. The Roundup will close with an association meeting at 1 p. m. today at the pavilion. A downtown parade Saturday afternoon agreed to give all Snyderites a view of the various organizations represented at the Roundup. The procession of posses, mounted patrols and riding clubs entered the main business district from the west, down Twentieth Street, circled the square and returned down Twentieth Street. The Pony Express ride matched teams from the East and West with Anson as the dividing line for team membership. James Eddy Wall delivered the

Eichman Soon To Face Witnesses

JERUSALEM (AP)—The hour-long trial of Adolf Eichmann to confront prosecution witnesses who knew him personally as Nazi Germany's No. 1 Jew-hunter during the Hitler era. Among the first witnesses due to take the stand after the trial resumes Monday will be Dr. Benno Cohn, who met Eichmann at a Berlin Zionist meeting in 1938 which ended in a near riot. Cohn, 66, now a lawyer in Tel Aviv, will describe in detail that meeting at which Eichmann is reported to have been kicked in the stomach during the disturbance. Cohn identified Eichmann shortly after the former chief of the

Fidel's Victory Report Set Today, Cubans Say

Role Of Ike Is Confused

By LEWIS GULICK WASHINGTON (AP)—A confused picture emerged from official sources Saturday night as to any role former President Dwight D. Eisenhower may have played in shaping U.S. policy on the ill-fated Cuban invasion. One authoritative source, at a background briefing for a group of newsmen, said both Eisenhower and his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, encouraged President Kennedy to go through with the plan. The White House promptly issued a formal denial that Eisenhower and Kennedy ever had discussed the matter. Assistant presidential press secretary Andrew Hatcher issued a statement saying: "The White House stated that any report of an Eisenhower-Kennedy discussion of the Cuban refugee invasion plans prior to the inauguration was totally and completely untrue." The source of the original account had said Eisenhower spoke about the plan during the transition period shortly before Kennedy's administration took over. This name not used, also said that Nixon strongly urged Kennedy to go through with the plan. He emphasized, however, that Kennedy made the final decision and accepts full responsibility. This official also said: 1. U.S. intelligence was faulty on two major counts—the quality of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's armed might and the likelihood of hoped-for uprisings among the Cuban populace.

British Say Laos Truce Stage Set

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the Soviet Union have settled all the political terms of an agreement for a truce in Laos by next week, British officials reported Saturday night. London and Moscow, harrasing last-minute snags, will appeal jointly on Monday or Tuesday to warring Laotian factions to lay down their arms within 24 or 48 hours, informants said. The cease-fire appeal, they reported, will be the first step toward a final peace settlement intended to unify, neutralize and guarantee independence of the strategic Southeast Asian kingdom. During protracted negotiations, the informants said, the Soviet Union accepted a key demand submitted by the British with U.S. endorsement: That a 14-nation conference on Laos begin only after the cease-fire is verified by an international commission made up of India, Canada and Poland. Final agreement has been delayed only because the Soviet Union has not yet accepted a slightly revised timetable for the peace-making program, officials said. But British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts expects to receive the go-ahead from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko or one of his deputies in Moscow Monday. This would be the signal for issuance of a cease-fire call. A truce would end nearly seven years of sporadic fighting and fighting in Laos, once part of the French Indochina empire.

Krush Yells Gangsterism

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The government-controlled Cuban radio said Saturday Prime Minister Fidel Castro will appear on nationwide television and radio broadcasts Sunday to tell how his regime smashed the rebel invasion. As far as is known Castro has not appeared publicly since the Cuban invaders struck last Monday. The announcement by the Cuban radio came as officials in Washington began a thorough review of mistakes leading to the failure of the invasion and the United States and the Soviet Union exchanged statements on Cuba. Soviet Premier Khrushchev blamed the United States for the attack on Castro and called it "gangsterism." A U.S. statement denounced Khrushchev's new message. The Cuban radio said Prime Minister Castro was personally directing a mop-up of flip invaders who landed on Cuba's south coast last weekend. The semi-official newspaper Revolution published a picture of Castro atop a tank and said he directed fire that blew a rebel munitions ship out of the water. A Cuban exile reported Ernesto Guevara, Castro's leftist economic czar, had attempted suicide and was in critical condition in a hospital. The anti-Castro radio, Swan, relating the report, charged Castro to produce Guevara. Castro-unheard in person for days — was awaited in Havana to deliver a victory speech. Police turned the Cuban capital into a city of fear. Hunting down Castro's political opponents and carting them off to jail en masse. A British diplomat reported by telephone that most people in Havana kept to their homes and streets were virtually deserted. The rebels were still reported active in Cuba but only on the scale of guerrilla warfare that has been going on for months. The radio station on Swan Island in the Caribbean—which has connections with U.S. intelligence—urged the guerrillas not to give up the fight against Castro's Communist-backed regime and said help was on the way. It addressed its appeal to two rebel battalions but did not say where they were operating. President Kennedy met with his top security advisers and then went to Camp David, Md., to discuss the Cuban situation with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It was under Eisenhower that Cuban exiles in the United States—widely believed to have been aided by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency—began organizing for the assault. Kennedy sought the support of Eisenhower and other leaders of the Republican party in a continuing campaign against Castro. Eisenhower called on all Americans to support the President — "the man who has to carry the responsibility for our foreign affairs." Kennedy declined to reply to Khrushchev's latest note on Cuba but said he approved a State Department statement denouncing it as "a distortion of the basic concepts of the rights of man."

French Say Rightists In Control Of Oran

By GEORGE MACARTHUR PARIS (AP)—The French government said Saturday night the right-wing military junta which seized Algiers in a bloodless coup earlier in the day has extended its control to western Algeria by taking over the city of Oran. The coup prompted President Charles de Gaulle to assume extraordinary police powers and call a Cabinet session which proclaimed a state of emergency in France. A government announcement said detachments of French Foreign Legion paratroopers supported by the mass of European settlers in Oran, 100,000, over in the early hours of the Saturday takeover. The announcement said a Gen. de Pouilly, Oran commandant, remained loyal to De Gaulle and moved his command post to the city of Tlemcen. The sudden strike by the junta split the 500,000-man French army in Algeria into rival groups. Communications with the vast French territory across the Mediterranean were cut off and the only word from Algeria came from broadcasts over radio Algiers in the name of "Challe." The predatory coup established Challe's control of Algiers without bloodshed or obvious opposition. But most of Algeria—outside of Algiers and Oran—apparently remained loyal to De Gaulle, supporting his plans to start negotiations with nationalists rebels for an end to the near-seventy-year-old Algerian war. Radio Algiers had announced earlier that the junta had excluded control to Oran with the backing of the garrison there. The Algiers radio said younger officers had forced Gen. Pouilly to bow to the "imperatives" of the army. The general was sent off to his "official residence" in Tlemcen against the Algerian Nationalists. Algerian radio said: According to the broadcast mentioned in Marseille, the action against the Pouilly was in effect a mutiny by the younger officers. The government announcement said the government announcement

Castro Not Taking Calls

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro's "hot" taking any phone calls this weekend. Not from Americans, anyway. Associated Press reporter Francis Sullivan tried to get a personal basis Saturday. He got Havana and a lot of chatter but no Castro. The woman operating 2386-44 and 2386-45, who said she would tell the name of the party listed—did a lot of checking around and after about 15 minutes reported: "Fidel Castro is a son of Havana. Call back on Monday." Pressed to try to learn where he might be reached and call him there, she said that there is no place that he can be reached. A similar effort to get President Oswald Dortch met with the same result, except that some male functionary angrily snapped: "Hagane el favor el corral. Ja communication." The one in favor of cutting the communication. The calls didn't cost a thing because they were person to person and the parties couldn't be reached.

GLOVES FOR PANSY: A baby kangaroo, named Pansy, of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo shows off the new party gloves that zoo attendants hope will prevent her from scratching herself in the eye. Agile Gunman Of 53 Nabbed After $35,000 Bank Holdup

By B. F. KELLUM ALAMO, Tex. (AP)—An agile, death-threatening gunman of 53 cut a hole in the First State Bank roof, dropped through, patiently tied up the employes as they arrived for work and escaped with $35,000 Saturday. Officers arrested him shortly thereafter. Sheriff E. E. Vickers identified the arrested man as Jesse Bobo of Fort Worth and said he admitted the robbery. A bag stuffed with cash was found in Bobo's motel room. Vickers said Bobo orally admitted the robbery but declined to say why. Bobo was questioned by three FBI agents headed by Harold Cozzetta, acting in charge at McAllen. The sheriff said Bobo made no resistance when deputies H. Sanchez and R. G. Perez and state highway patrolman S. M. Moxley arrested him at the motel. Vickers said Bobo told him he came to the Lower Rio Grande

Curfew Set For Kindu

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—United Nations and Congolese forces imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew on Kindu tonight in a bid to check a fresh wave of antiwhite agitation in the town. The situation is tense and threatens to erupt, a U.N. spokesman said. Balaba agitators infiltrating into Kindu from neighboring north Katanga were blamed for the new wave of trouble. The spokesman said they were calling political meetings and demanding that local schools be closed so that students could attend. Kindu lies in the western part of Congo Province, scene of much antiwhite savagery after the death of former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba. Nominally loyal to the rebel Stanleyville regime of leftist Antoine Gizenga, it is governed from the provincial capital, Bukavu. A U.N. spokesman described the political situation there as most confused.

Blakley's McLennan County manager, Frank Trey Jr. of Waco, said delegations are expected from all parts of the state. Blakley will speak.

INDIFFERENCE HINDERS SEARCH FOR TRUTH By Father Edward Chrisman When Christ stood before Pilate and said: "Every one who is of the truth hears my voice..."

Many People Search For Truth

Many people search for truth in a haphazard sort of way, but they soon tire and "join up" in a church because it offers at least some sort of answer. Their friends belong, there is good "fellowship," it is good business, it offers a "salvation package," all wrapped up, and many other things. But any and all of these reasons should not prevent us from driving until we have the full measure of God's truth.

New Service Due From Bank Sign

What time is it? How hot (or cold) is it? These are two questions that fall into the "most frequently asked" category, and they are going to be answered continuously at the West Texas State Bank within a few days.

The bank is in the process of installing a Double "TT" Time and Temperature sign in front of its building at the corner of Avenue S and Twenty-sixth Street. Work on the sign, which also has involved a completely new "face" for the bank building, has been underway for several weeks and now is near the last stages of completion.

Complex and Delicate Mechanism

Every 24-hour period the unit gives 7,200 readings. Time accuracy to the minute is assured through the use of self-correcting synchronous motors within the unit. Temperature accuracy is within a degree as sustained through electronic measurement of the temperature.

Workmen are nearing completion of a project at the West Texas State Bank, which will present a new main entrance, plus a Double "TT" Time and Temperature sign on the front of the building. The sign will alternately flash the current time and temperature 12 times per minute.

POSSES, RIDING CLUBS ON PARADE

COCHRAN COUNTY SHERIFF'S POSSE heads east along the north side of the square during the big downtown parade staged Saturday as a feature of the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs' Eighth Spring Roundup.

FAST HANDOFF—Lester Hill and Gerald Lawrence of the Stonewall County Sheriff's Posse exchange the Pony Express pouch. They rode for the winning West team in the race from Roby To Snyder.

ADDED ATTRACTION—This burro and cart, with small cargo was one of the extras in the downtown parade Saturday, as riders here for the Eighth Annual Spring Roundup at the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs paraded through the Snyder business district.

RIDERS FROM HALE COUNTY make the turn on the northeast corner of the square during the parade, which saw hundreds of horses and riders in a mammoth procession through the Snyder business district.

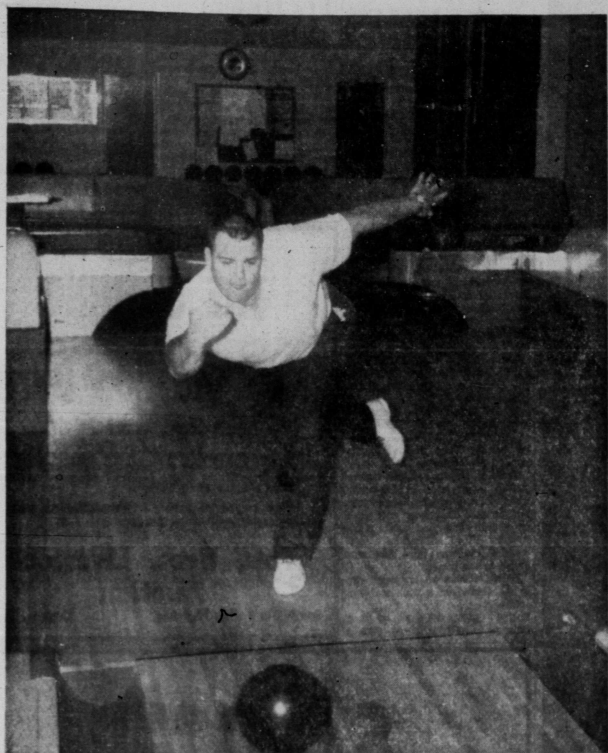

FISHER COUNTY SHERIFF'S POSSE proceeds around the square during the Saturday afternoon parade. The downtown parade was the first of two feature events that brought Roundup activities into the heart of town. Shortly after the parade ended, the Pony Express ride was launched from Roby and ended at the Scurry County Courthouse.

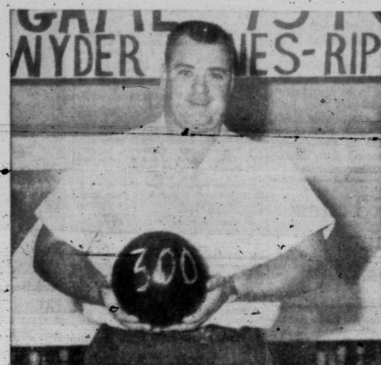

A HAZARDOUS COURSE—Brick pavement provides a hazardous course for horses as evidenced by the "spill" taken by an unidentified rider in the parade here Saturday afternoon.

Regional Crown Annexed By Bengals

Relay Teams Both Qualify

By Jerry Jackson
News Sports Editor

ODESSA — Snyder's talent-studded Tigers scored a smashing victory in the regional track meet as held here yesterday, as they outmaneuvered a strong field of contenders to snatch the crown up for the second year running.

The meet was rife with underdog and humid but windless skies, and as might be expected the record books took a beating from it all. No less than seven class 3A standards went tumbling with one being marked up by Snyder's Bobby Brown in the pole vault with his spring of 12'4".

The favored Andrews Mustangs split their britches and drew a blank in the 440-yard relay event which eventually served to knock them out of title contention, with a dropped baton on the initial hand-off shattering their hopes in the event. The relays-conscious Ponies went on to cop a first place in the mile relay, however, but it served as small consolation following the practically unbelievable 440 flub.

Andrews' fabbed Ted Nelson nabbed a large chunk of glory for his teammates in setting a new national schoolboy record in the 440-yard dash, as he churned to a 46.5 second finish to undercut the old mark of 46.8 as held by David Mills of Lakewood (Ohio) High School, which had been set in 1958.

In addition to the 440 dash and pole vault record performances, new class 3A means were also established in the high jump, 440-yard relay, 800-yard run, broad jump, and shot put.

Tiger speedster Jesse Crawford romped to a pair of first places during the day's runnings, copping first in the 100-yard dash and low hurdles. Those two performances and Brown's pole vault effort represented the only two first places gained by the Bengals; however, both relay teams qualified for state with their second place finishes, while John Weaver nabbed a second in the 220-yard dash and Brown a comparable finish in the broad jump to both earn berths in the state meet of May 6-7 in Austin.

Weaver's second was behind the fast-stepping Nelson, who stepped off a 20.5 clocking. Weaver, with a 21.3 still managed to set a school record which had previously been 21.5 which he had set himself in the district meet of two weeks ago.

The final tabulation showed Snyder to be on top with its total of 97 points, while Andrews finished strong to nab second with 82. Dumas was in third, only one point behind the Mustangs, with its total of 81.

Hermleigh's District 16B Cardinals qualified Wallace Wall in the 100-yard dash and also the high jump for the state meet, while Joe Paty gained a ticket to Austin with his second in the discus throw and the Card 440-yard relay team its nod with a comparable finish.

Jra's David Cagle also earned the right to take the Austin jinx, as he was a second place finisher in the high hurdles.

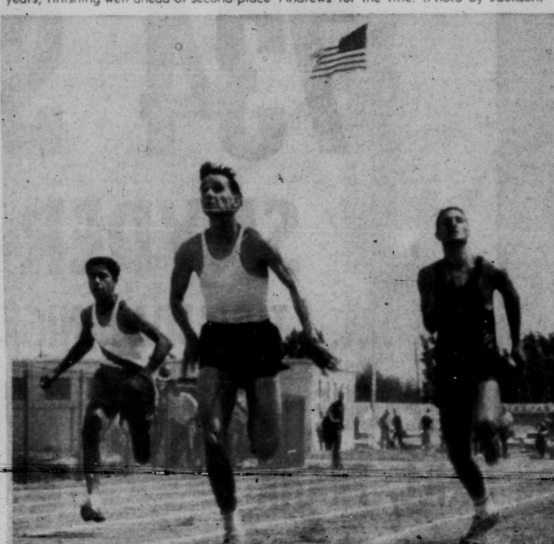

Hermleigh made a valiant effort of it, but was nosed out of the championship slot by Grandfalls, which marked up 99 points to the Cards, 94.

Texas Teams Dominate Kansas Meet

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Bittering baton teams from Texas, topped by North Texas State's 9:5.3 in the university distance medley, dominated the 36th running of the Kansas Relays Saturday.

Texas Southern of Houston set two of the four records in the college division, lowering the 440 relay to 41 and the 880 relay to 1:24. The foursome of Homer Jones, Barney Allen, Charles Frazier and Lester Milburn ran both events.

Howard Payne won its sixth consecutive two-mile college relay in record time of 7:32, and Emporia (Kan.) State set a new standard of 9:12.2 in the college mile relay.

Baylor won the university 440 relay in 40.8 and the 880 relay in 1:25.1. Bill Kemp anchored both relay teams.

Houston University won the university mile relay in 3:10, and East Texas State the college distance medley in 10:09.3.

John Cooper anchored North Texas home in the distance medley with a 4:07.1 mile.

Richard Bohmer ran the 440 leg in 48.7. John Spencer the half-mile in 1:53.6 and Richard Menchaca the three-quarters in 2:39.8.

North Texas beat Missouri by record and broke the relay's record of 9:50.2, set by Oklahoma in 1958.

George Monahan coached golf and freshmen basketball at the University of Wyoehing. He started in Puke basketball teams in 1950-52.

Green's Home Run Wins For Red Sox

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Fumpee Green's leadoff homer in the 11th broke up a wild, six-homer game Saturday and gave the Boston Red Sox a 7-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The game got woolly in a ninth inning which produced five Boston runs as Pete Runnels and Gary Geiger each belted two-run homers for a 6-4 Red Sox lead, and White Sox rookie J. C. Martin slammed a two-run homer to tie it at 6-6.

Boston's explosive ninth nullified a 4-1 Chicago lead built on Serm Lollar's three-run homer in the fourth and Al Smith's solo homer in the sixth.

The winner was Ted Wills, fourth Red Sox pitcher, who entered the game in the ninth. The loser was Turk Lown, third White Sox hurler, who started the 10th.

Chicago starter Frank Baumann appeared headed for his second victory against one defeat on a four-hitter until the ninth. Then he was shelved from the mound by Runnels' two-run homer, Green's double and Rip Renick's single, scoring Green.

Gerry Staley whipped the next batter but was tagged for a two-run homer by Geiger, which put Boston ahead 6-4.

In the bottom of the ninth, the third Boston pitcher, Mike Fornieles, walked the leadoff Chicago batter. Then rookie Martin stroked his homer to tie it 6-6.

The Sox almost had the victory staved away later in the ninth when Nellie Fox, who banged four hits, singled to center with men on second and first. But pinch runner Floyd Robinson cartwheeled rounding third and was nailed at the plate.

Boston scored an unearned run in the second on a walk and two errors.

Many bowlers practice "spot" bowling instead of watching the pins themselves and trying to hit that target 60 feet away, they pick a closer target that's on the same line, a spot on the lane. This trick is easy to pick-up. Choose a spot that seems right for your strike angle and roll toward it. Being closer, that spot is easier to hit than a distant target.

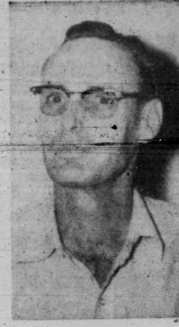

Watch what happens. If your ball hits the head pin too far to the right, try a new "spot" a little to the left. Keep trying until you find the spot that sends your ball into the strike pocket. Then just keep bowling for that same spot on each strike throw.

The more you try it, the easier it gets. . . . and the more fun it becomes! That's the story of bowling. Even if you've never tried it before, start watching on TV. It's easy to get in on bowling enjoyment at

Message Cloaked In Allegory

STRANGER AT KILL - KNOCK
By Leonard Wibberley.

The "stranger" said that people "look for me" in some shining form, forgetting that when I was thinking among them it was as the son of a carpenter from a village as small as this one. They have forgotten that I was a man and being man may appear among them as one of themselves.

So this gentle stranger, with the scars of driven spikes on his hands and feet, came to Killknock on an errand. It was because a seaman named Tom Joyce once had done a dreadful act in a great storm.

The village was on the Atlantic coast of Ireland, just into a mountain where a huge stone signified the ancient sea god Manannan. The people of the village possessed the true blessing of the Irish, to be "halfway between this world and some other world," where they could "listen to the one with one ear and to the other with a sharper inner ear."

The district physician, Dr. McEwan, who happened to be a Protestant and an Orangeman, could see that. But Father Dimmock, an impatient young priest, thought the villagers were sorely afflicted with ancient Celtic superstitions. His Bishop was more understanding.

Tom Joyce's fate comes to fruition, and you will perceive that the stranger and Manannan both played their parts. But the stranger's stay in the village also touched the lives of Caitlin, who need a child, and of Mairin, who became that child, and with a child's vision knew the stranger.

In the past, the author has written some deliciously humorous things such as "The Mouse That Roared." More recently, he has turned his gift of insight to deeper thoughts where humor is a soft accompaniment to that song of the "sharper inner ear" which makes music for the soul.

This is a beautiful and brilliant story, blessed with the simplicity of truth and faith. If you have a heart, it will reach out to you, and give you the comfort of the seas and mountains, and it will open your eyes to the gentle stranger, and you will see with the eyes of a child.

Acacia Club Hears Law Program

Mrs. Arthur Blanchard, guest speaker, presented an interesting program on "Modern Political Philosophy" for the Acacia Study Club Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Blanchard chose as her references "The Law and the Profits" and "Parkinson's Law" by the English writer, C. Northcote Parkinson. In part she said:

Parkinson's two laws are that work expands to fill the time available for its completion, and that expenditure rises to meet income both in government and in private enterprise. In government the expenditure often exceeds the income. Government spending can not be curbed by committees, by the press, or by the taxpayer. The only solution is to tell the bureau how much they can spend rather than ask for estimates. Increased expenditures must not bring constantly increasing taxes, for excessive taxation brings about national collapse more readily than war. Excessive taxation discourages private enterprise and brings about spiritual decline and a decline in freedom and sense of purpose.

The federation topic was given by Mrs. Ben Moore who talked on "Flowers for the White House." Mrs. J. Mark McLaughlin conducted the business session. Hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. Jay Huckabee who served refreshments to the members and guest, Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Maurice Kingsbery, Mrs. Badger Robertson and Mrs. Ray Devers.

Gardners Stay Ahead With Beds Of Ground Covers

Reluctant lawn-movers of America unite! Take cover — ground cover.

Ground covers are often called "living mulch." They can help both your landscaping and your pocketbook to do things other than lawn mowing, of a week-end. Beds of ground cover are the nearest thing to the ideal "forest floor" on the restricted home property.

Work-saving cover plants have many advantages. The conserve moisture, cool the soil in summer, warm it in winter and trap quantities of Autumn leaves that need not be raked away. Used in shady areas, ground covers reduce bed maintenance around major shade trees. Best of all, taking care of the ground cover is simple. Occasional "edging," possibly some weeding of the beds, and annual spreading of good fertilizer are all that are needed.

However, ground cover initially does require well-prepared beds, rich in humus. Peat moss or a compost used liberally in the first four to six inches of soil should do the trick and give years of good service.

Some ground covers that help older trees by restoring forest conditions are vinca-minor, pachysandra and ajuga. Vining plants, such as Eonymus coloratus or Bally Ivy, are most satisfactory where only a few large plants are concerned. However, their climbing habits are undesirable in beds of deciduous shrubbery or low evergreens.

Termites are among the eldest of insect species. Well-preserved specimens have been found in fossils 55 million years old.

Home service consultants suggest a dessert that will compensate for a meal of left-overs. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Mix a package of chocolate pudding with 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup margarine, a dash of salt and tea-spoon of vanilla. Beat 4 eggs until light and blend into the batter. Pour into a well-greased 8-inch square pan and sprinkle a cup of chopped pecans over the top. Bake in the 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Serve warm with a garnish of vanilla chocolate ice cream. Serves 6 to 8.

How Do Houses Feel?
If some houses feel as bad as they smell, they are sick indeed. Air laden with smoke and odors is dirty air. It penetrates 10 to 25 feet as well as household furnishings. Such air doesn't linger in homes heated and cooled with fresh air systems. The burner flame is tested and never comes in contact with the fresh, clean air circulated through the home. The clean, fresh, filtered air removes stale household odors.

Ling Goes At Fast Clip To Become A Millionaire At 38

EDITOR'S NOTE—James Ling is a young man who has moved exceedingly fast in a new and fast-moving field. When he was 24, Ling had $3,000. Today, at 38, he's a millionaire, working on a merger to make his electronics company one of the 20 largest in the United States.

By MARSHALL COMERER
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Remember the orphan? He ran away to seek his fortune. Now he's rolling in greenbacks.
Great American tradition, the orphan story.

It also is the story of James Ling, given a twist here and there.
Ling walked a long road at a fast clip to reach the millionaire class at 38.

Along that road he has done such things as sell stock from a booth at a state fair, but his last dime in a cable gamble, and lived in the back of his shop to save money.

Now Ling is president of Ling-Temco Electronics, Inc., which has assets of $80 million, sales of $148 million and an order backlog of $100 million. He recently added to this empire control of Chance Vought, Inc., a Dallas company making fighter planes, missiles and some major space projects, including a space station.
Ling first wanted to be a priest. He was 14 then.
But he felt he was a financial burden to an aunt who had reared him. So he ran away from a Roman Catholic boarding school in Shreveport, La.
He drifted from job to job and city to city. Then the Navy swept him into World War II.
Out of the service in 1947, he bank all his $3,000 into a home electrical wiring business.

From that start, Ling parlayed his holdings into one of the 20 largest electronics firms in the nation.
If physical size means a man is a fighter, Ling has the qualifications. He stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 206. He appears more at ease in a sport shirt and slacks than a business suit.
To a close business associate, "He's a financial wizard with a keen, analytical mind. He's a positive thinker with a lot of common sense. He's no big shot."
His personal income is $135,000 a year, and he lives in a $250,000 rambling, ranch-style home.
Last summer his wife, Dorothy, a vivacious brunette, persuaded him to take his first vacation, a three-week trip to Hawaii.
When Ling started his electrical business, he lived in a room back of his shop.
He had been in business seven months when he won a $4,000 contract to wire an industrial building. His prime need was heavy cable and Ling didn't have the money to buy it.
He found a Dallas aircraft company offering $5,000 in surplus cable on sealed bids. Ling scraped together $500 and bid that, figuring some long shots come in. His bid.

He and three friends handed out prospectuses from a booth at the state fair of Texas in Dallas. They sold among friends and from door-to-door.
All the stock sold in 90 days and the company netted $730,000 in new capital.
Since 1957, Ling has purchased or merged 13 companies—spread from Anaheim, Calif., to Winchester, Mass.—into Ling-Temco Electronics, Inc., maker of electronic gear for submarines, aircraft, missiles and satellites. It also makes such diverse things as packaged television broadcast stations, a go-cart and a central control system for coin-operated laundries.
Ling's biggest merger effort began last fall when he saw an opportunity to merge his Ling-Temco and Chance Vought into a giant aerospace and electronics company strong enough to win the big private and defense contracts.
Quietly Ling and his company began buying Chance Vought stock.

There were charges of stock raiding, law suits and threats of a proxy fight. But before the law suits went to trial the adversaries agreed on a plan to combine the two companies. Stockholders will vote on the agreement in June.
Termites, which convert wood and other cellulose materials into protein, annually cause more than $250,000,000 damage to structures in the United States.
Bruce-Terminix, world's largest termite control organization, has treated more than 350,000 structures for termites.

He finished the $4,000 contract at a profit and sold the cable left over for $2,000.
Ling was on the road.
He incorporated Ling Electric with 800,000 shares at $2.25. He retained 400,000 shares for his investment. Bankers showed no interest. So Ling obtained government permission to sell the stock himself.

Installment Plan Devised To Sell Gas

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—An installment purchase plan is making additional Texas-Louisiana natural gas available for interstate markets.

Interstate gas pipelines are purchased by producers "in place" for resale on a long-range basis in midwestern and eastern consumer areas.

Two Houston firms have announced four such contract plans involving reserves in excess of 8.2 trillion cubic feet.

Each "in place" purchase has its individual problems and peculiarities but the formula boils down to a transaction in which the owner of gas reserves sells his lease to an interstate line.

The pipeline becomes the owner and producer of the reserves.
The producer or seller escapes federal regulation, but, as one executive said, he has had to sell out in order to do so.

State and federal regulatory problems continue for the pipeline but vary from contract to contract.
"In place" purchases are complicated and difficult to put together but offer several advantages to the pipeline.

Harold Burrow, president of Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. recently outlines these advantages—increased reserves, greater physical flexibility in gas dispatching, unit prices that forestall the effect of inflation, and known prices.

"It may be the only way to get the gas," he said. "In our case, the producer-owners were either extremely reluctant or downright opposed to selling this gas under contract for resale in interstate commerce."

Many conventional pipeline contracts with producers reduce dispatching flexibility because they require the company to take or of gas daily. Direct ownership pay for certain minimum amounts eliminates required minimums and maximums. This simplifies dispatching for a company such as Tennessee, which, at the end of 1960, was obtaining its gas supplies from 201 Texas and 70 Louisiana fields.

"Known price is an advantage, inflation or no inflation," Burrow said. "In 'in place' deals made thus far, both ours and others, it is my opinion the price has been less than the gas could have been sold for under contract."

Tennessee has announced three "in place" projects involving Louisiana offshore gas reserves. The installment purchase details include:
1. MGN area—470 billion cubic feet of reserves, $8,300,000 cash payment when consummated, and approximately $60 million in non-interest bearing notes payable over 16 years.
2. Bastian Bay area—over one trillion cubic feet of reserves, $9,400,000 paid last December, and $150 million in non-interest notes payable over 17 years.

3. Ship Shoal area—533 billion cubic feet of reserves, $18 million down payment when consummated, and $79,300,000 in non-interest notes payable over 16 years.
Humble Oil & Refining Co. last week announced an "in place" arrangement affecting some 6.2 trillion cubic feet of gas from the King Ranch area.

The termite is considered an engineering genius despite the fact that it is blind and virtually brainless.
