BARNS FALL AS TORNADO TWISTS THRU TILLMAN

Wind Smashes Windows And Carries Away Flocks Of Chickens

SEVERE HAIL STORM

Granfield People Flee To Cellars; Davidson Locality Hit Hard

Special Dispatch to Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., May 29.—For the second time within a week a miniature tornado swept over Tillman county Monday afternoon, wrecking barns and small outbuildings, and terrorizing the inhabitants, without doing material damage. The high wind and electrical display brought with it hail which injured crops in a part of the county and was later followed by a half inch rain.

The hail was more severe in the southwestern part of the county about Davidson.

The wind blew windows out of the home of W. A. Grafham in that locality, tore up hay frames and destroyed a smoke house. On the Lowrey farm a farm building was destroyed together with a large number of chickens.

Hail Takes Toll.

The extent of the daamge to wheat is regarded as light, though in some spots the hail took heavy toll.

This storm, coming as it does after a storm cloud which developed into a twister near Grandfield Wednesday last, caused much uneasiness and many residents of this place took to their storm cellars as a precautionary measure.

OKLAHOMA CITY RECOVERING FROM FLOOD

Associated Press Dispatch

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29.—Oklahoma City was emerging today from the most disastrous flood in the history of the city. A drop of 14 inches in the swollen North Canadian river, and an absence of heavy rains upstream indicated that the crest of the flood had passed last night, according to officials of the United States weather bureau here.

A fall of nine feet was reported at El Reno, 25 miles west of here.

EIGHT HOUSES DOWN

Associated Press Dispatch

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Texas, May 29.—A windstorm early today blew down eight houses and wrecked many others in the county 14 miles north of here, near Posey. The inmates, hearing the approaching storm, took refuge in storm cellars. No lives were lost. The path of the storm was 800 yards wide, travelling north.

COMPLETE DISASTER

Associated Press Dispatch

M'LEAN, Texas, May 29.—One of the most complete destructions that H. M. Baker, disaster director of the American Red Cross, has seen in work was wrought in the recent tornado which swept through here and out of the Panhandle into Oklahoma, according to Mr. Baker, when it hit the Hinton home.

The entire home and foundation were wiped away and barns, orchards and windmills destroyed. Spokes were pulled out of wagon wheels and pieces of property were scattered over at least two sections.

GIRL IS SOUGHT

International News Dispatch

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 29.—Police here today were seeking to locate Miss Ruth Wilson, 19, who disappeared last night from her home, leaving a note stating that she was leaving home, and efforts to find her would be useless.

According to her mother, the girl may have headed for Louisville, Ky., where the family formerly lived, to resurrect an old romance which she had there.

Poincare Wins Out And Gets Money to Continue Ruhr War

Associated Press Dispatch

PARIS, May 29.—Any doubt as to the solidity of Premier Poincare's position were set at rest tonight when the chamber of deputies, by a majority of 438, expressed confidence in him and his government and voted the money needed to carry out his policy in the Ruhr.

Only the extreme left voted against the premier. His other critics did not even resort to the common practice of abstaining, but added their vote to the premier's triumphant majority.

Sick Babe Cries for Help

REPORTERS hustling about town, looking in at the little houses down along the river, see many things.

Good reporters have good eyes—and a heart and a soul.

Read what one of these saw here in Wichita Falls yesterday:

A BABY lied uncovered on a bare floor of a rickety shanty along the river. Flies buzzed around the infant as it figited, striking at the insects with its little fists, whining a tired, nervous, pitiful wail of anguish.

I knocked again at the doorsill, seeing no one but the suffering babe in the house.

Both doors, front and rear, were open. In answer to my rapping, a woman—rather young—stuck her head in the back door. She held a garment in her hand, wringing it as she called my mission.

"I'm very busy," she told me. "I've got to get this washing out by 5 o'clock."

I walked through the house, hesitating a moment to shoo flies away from the infant on the floor.

"YOUR baby is ill," I told the woman.

"Yes. He was a healthy child—if I could keep milk for him. You see, the price of ice and milk comes high to one like me . . ."

"But your husband?"

"Yes. He left me six months ago. But I don't bother. I will make a living for me and my baby—if . . ."

"If your babe doesn't get sick and . . ."

"Like my other one."

"Oh, you have another, and where is it?"

"It is dead."

BABIES need milk—cold milk—in the summer time.

This little mother, although aided by charities, has already lost one child—unable to support it properly. Charities help, but charities cannot do all.

Last year The Record News opened its columns to the first annual MILK AND ICE FUND for the suffering babes of Wichita Falls. The money was turned directly over to United Charities. After several hundred dollars had been contributed, the fund was stopped. No more money was asked. No more was needed. United Charities said yesterday the fund served throughout the summer, because of the generosity of the ice companies in cutting the price of ice when delivered to the needy families with children.

Today the MILK AND ICE FUND again is inaugurated.

Its mission is to provide milk and nourishment for babies such as the one pictured above.

Address all communications to THE RECORD NEWS ICE AND MILK FUND.

THESE funds collected by THE RECORD NEWS are to be turned directly over to "Pa" and "Ma" Burdick of the Salvation Army who, in constant touch with those like the destitute mother pictured above, will make prompt and ample provision for their needs.

"There are dozens of cases in the city right now, just as bad as that of the little mother on the river," "Ma" Burdick said yesterday, "and this fund cannot be started too soon."

Clara, Girl Slayer and Jail-Breaker Returns To Win Her Freedom

"I Didn't Have to Come Back," Hammer-Hurling Murderess Declares, as She Steps from Boat at New Orleans

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—Clara Phillips, Los Angeles girl, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, declared here today that she was innocent of the crime and that she was returning to California of her own free will to prove it. Peggy Caffee, alleged witness to the killing, was the actual slayer, she stated. This charge she had made previously.

"I am going back to California on my own accord," she said, "to fight for my name and honor and freedom in the right way. I am innocent of the crime and when all comes out I will be vindicated."

Has Never Told Her Story.

Mrs. Phillips declared that her conviction resulted from her failure to tell the details of her story at her trial, she having maintained silence upon advice of her counsel. As a result, she said, only one side of the affair was told, that of the prosecution.

She declared herself the victim of a virtual "frame up" and in stating that she would prove her innocence added that she had enough evidence to send to jail certain people who conspired to convict her. This evidence, she added, she would not disclose until she had consulted her counsel in Los Angeles, nor would she name any of the alleged conspirators.

The girl refused to discuss the details of her escape, even when asked if she had slid down a rope from the prison or had come down "hand-over-hand." Her interrogators could obtain little from her that had not been brought out before. She was careful in her replies and time and time again she refused to reply.

In Los Angeles Five Weeks.

She said she remained in concealment in the outskirts of Los Angeles five weeks after her escape and that during that time she went into the business district on numerous occasions, disguised only by a pair of shell-rimmed spectacles. She refused to reply when asked how long it was after her escape before she ventured upon the streets.

During her ten days stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Hackelmuller, 300 Sycamore street, in this city, she went shopping, visited theaters, cafes and points of interest in and about New Orleans without fear. Mrs. Phillips posed as Mrs. Jesse Carson here and Mr. Hackelmuller, a prominent real estate operator, had no idea of her identity when he rented an apartment, she said.

She added that Carsen, now in jail in Honduras and suspected of having engaged in a revolutionary plot, was in New Orleans at the same time.

Carsen Aided in Escape.

Carsen assisted her in her escape,

Clara Rejected Offer to Become High Honduran's Mistress, She Tells Writer

Hammer Killer Declares She Sacrificed Freedom To Save Her Honor

International News Dispatch

ABOARD S. S. COPAN, EN ROUTE NEW ORLEANS FROM PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, May 29.—Looking out over the low lands of Louisiana for the first time since her sensational escape from California prison several months ago, Clara Phillips, notorious California "hammer murderess" today broke down and told how she had sacrificed her freedom for her honor.

"I know people won't believe" she sobbed, "but I am returning to a grim prison life because I thought more of my honor than my freedom."

Woman Has No Chance.

"No there's no need of going into details. You know, a woman has no chance when the entire world is pointing scornful fingers toward her and crying 'see the hammer murderess!' 'see the tiger woman!' Oh, it's awful.

"Well it was simply this. A high Honduran official offered me my complete freedom and safety from American officials if I would consent to become the mistress of his palatial mansion. Although his offer burned me deeply, I suppose nothing other could be expected for a woman who is known the world over as a murderess.

"Even after I boarded the Copan the Honduran sent a special envoy of guards out to see me and ask if I would not reconsider my decision before it was entirely too late. But I would rather be in a prison cell of America with my honor than in Honduras with my freedom and the other.

"One word would have set me free from the dingy bars of prison but it would have cost my self-respect."

Looking enviously at the smooth waters of the Mississippi which were peacefully gliding beneath the boat, she said:

"And to think I am so young. It would not be bad if I had only a few years to face all of this notorious publicity but then I am still young. Regardless of where I go people will ever know me and tell their friends of the 'hammer murderess.' That awful name! The tiger woman! why did they ever apply them to me?"

"I HOPE IT ISN'T LEGISLATURE," SAYS NEFF ON PHONE CALL

Associated Press Dispatch

DENTON, May 29.—Governor Neff discussed Texas' resources and possibilities for manufacturing, especially cotton mills, in a commencement address at the College of Industrial Arts here today. Later he attended a luncheon at the Kiwanis club where he spoke of the prison system of the state. When he was called to the telephone, the governor remarked: "I hope it isn't the legislature calling."

Change In Content Of Cotton Seed Opposed

Associated Press Dispatch

GALVESTON, May 29.—Proposed changes in the regulations of the Texas Cotton Seed Crushers association to reduce the protein content of cotton seed meal from 43 percent to 36 per cent to comply with the standards of the interstate association met with opposition at the convention of the state organization here today.

Another proposed change about which there was much discussion related to the phrase "free from water and sellings" as applied to cotton seed oil. S. J. Cassels of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers association, urged the adjustment of minor differences between the two bodies.

WOMAN, GRAY IN YEARS, TELLS OF FAITH IN STOCK

She Was Sure Company With Name of Lee Was Above Suspicion

FORTUNE EXPECTED

Added To Her Investment Upon "Wishes Of The General" She Says

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 29.—Testifying their faith in the venture had been inspired by representations that it was managed by a descendant of the famous Lee family of Virginia and of American history, two government witnessed in the "oil fraud" cases, of the General Lee interests today told from the witness stand how they had invested their funds in the defendant companies, expecting to be richly repaid but for which they received nothing. The witnesses were Miss Alice Kane of Roxbury, Mass., and N. J. Cary of Utica, Ill.

Miss Kane, a gray-haired woman of 89 years, was the second witness in the case. She followed John S. Swenson, postoffice inspector, who worked up the case against the three defendants, "General" Robert E. Lee, Charles G. Scherwin and H. H. Schwartz.

Believed In Name

Miss Kane said she had first heard of the General Lee interest through circulars sent her through the United States mails.

"I was sure that anything backed by a man, who was a descendant of so illustrious a family as the Lees must be all right," she said.

The General's Wish

She said she invested $20 in the No. 1 company, $200 in the No. 2 company and $500 in the third company, the latter known as "General Lee Development interests." Then she later turned over to the alleged representatives of the company securities and stocks which she valued at $4,000, she testified and for which she received 3,000 shares in the Lee interests companies. Miss Kane said she did this only after a "man named Gibson and another man" called on her in Roxbury and told her, it "was the General's wish that she take out more stock."

One Invests $11,000.

The other witness, who said he invested in the Lee interests companies, was N. J. Cary of Utica, Ill. In all he "invested around $11,000" in these companies, he testified.

Mr. Swenson's testimony during the morning was mostly about his investigation and his conversation with three defendants. He testified that the defendant Lee had told him in November, 1922, that he had nothing to do with the management of the company, but merely allowed Scherwin and Schwars to use his name in furtherance of their alleged fraudulent schemes. For this he received $12.50 per week, according to Swenson's testimony.

W. P. McClean jr., of the defense counsel, in stating the defense case early today, said that the defense proposes to prove that the defendant Lee "is related to and is a member of the great Lee family" and that he is versed in geology and has discovered oil wells in the past and the present." The government in the indictment alleges that he is not the "miracle geologist," as the literature holds him up to be, and that he is not a descendant of General Robert E. Lee.

Small Town Man And Dabbler Says He Will Buy Fleet

Associated Press Dispatch

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., May 29. The report from Washington that one of Silver Creek's business men, with a modest plant employing about 25 men, had made a bid of one billion dollars for the shipping board's merchant fleet set this village agog today. John W. Slack, the bidder, had been regarded as a substantial business man, with a profitable industry but no one here could understand how he expected to swing so stupendous a deal.

Mr. Slack was reticent about his plan.

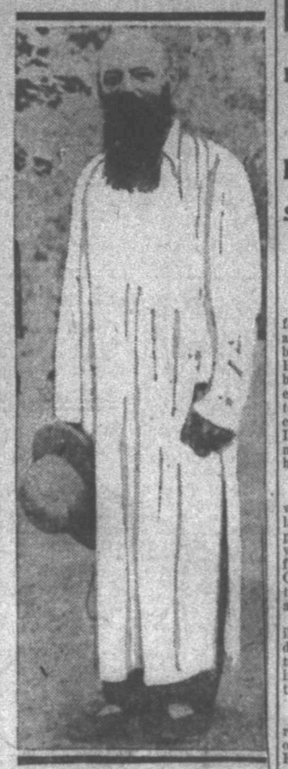

Mr. Slack is president of the Columbia Postal Supply company which makes leases to postmasters stamp-cancelling machines and sells adding machines on the side. He has two small plants here. He also does a job printing business and issues a little monthly paper in connection with his business.

80 PRISONERS PUSHED OVER CLIFF, HE SAYS

REV. WILLIAM LENFERS

This is the man, who, according to last night's Associated Press dispatches to The Record News, brings back from the Chinese bandit camp the report that 80 prisoners have been hurled over a mountain cliff. Father Lenfers has been making daily pilgrimages to the bandit camp and lending succor to the American and other captives.

GERALDINE SUED AS SLANDERER

And Actress Who Filed Suit Receives Threats Of Death

International News Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 29.—Threats of death have been made against Miss Stella Larrimore, actress, who has announced she will sue Geraldine Farrar, the opera star, for $1,000,000 for slander in naming her as a corespondent in the Farrar-Tellegen divorce suit, Miss Larrimore said this evening.

The threats were contained in dozens of letters she has received, the young actress said. The letters were anonymous, she said.

"Your body will be found floating in the Hudson if you persist in taking action to clear your name."

Miss Geraldine Farrar had named Miss Larrimore in her suit for divorce against Lou Tellegen, the actor.

Miss Larrimore's announcement followed Miss Farrar's withdrawal in court yesterday of the charges she preferred against Miss Larrmore in connection with the divorce suit.

Miss Larrimore said she was "not satisfied with the action withdraking the charges, rather than giving her an opportunity of proving their falsity in court."

MOTHER HOLDING CHILD IN ARMS LEAPS TO DEATH

Feet Of Victims Bound Before They Are Shoved Off Mountain

BANDITS IN MASSACRE

Shortage Of Food Brings Horrible Death To Many Captives

Associated Press Dispatch

SHANGHAI, May 29.—Shortage of food in the bandit stronghold at Paotzuku before the kidnapping of a number of foreigners from the Shanghai-Peking Express, May 6, caused the brigands to throw 80 Chinese prisoners to death from one of the mountain cliffs, according to advice received today from Father William Lenfers, aged German priest, who has made several trips to the outlaws' headquarters.

Feet Are Tied.

Information from Father Lenfers, which came in a letter from the prelate at Linchieng, declared that the prisoners' feet were bound, and each was labeled with his name and identification before being hurled to death. One of the prisoners, a woman, was thrown over with her child in her arms.

Later the bandits notified the families of the massacred captives of their deaths and relatives were permitted to remove the bodies, identification being facilitated by the tags attached to the corpses.

Pail Bearers On Cliff.

"One Christian Chinese, who already had paid $1,800 for the release of his son took delivery of the corpse" Father Lenfers wrote, adding "many pall bearers still are climbing the mountain.

"The way to maintain peace here is to enlist the bandits and keep them in this territory for years as police forces, since they alone are familiar with the inaccessible mountani fastnesses and trails. If they are withdrawn lesser bandits will band together and cause a similar situation in the future."

Troops Still Fighting.

Father Lenfers denies that troops were in league with the outlaws. He declares that the soldiers have been beseiging the brigands for months near Paotzuku, resulting in acute shortage of water and food at Paotzuku. The raid on the train at Suchow, the priest says, was in the nature of a diversion to force the troops to withdraw from Paotzuku.

$6,000,000 Error In Appropriation Charged By Solon

AUSTIN, May 29.—Governor Neff will be requested to return the departmental appropriation bill passed by the last session under a concurrent resolution introduced in the house today by Representative Pope of Nueces. Pope claims the appropriation bill carries more than $11,000,000, in stead of $5,000,000 as intended, because of the form of the committee report on the measure.

The resolution states that both houses adopted the conference committee report making allowance for each department and also passed the bill which makes separate allowances for each department. No action was taken on the resolution.

Women Swing Leg to and Fro to Gain Ease When They Meet King and Queen

International News Dispatch

LONDON, May 29.—"The average American debutante is not so beautiful as the average English girl, but the natural suppleness and grace of the American girl enables her to show to a better advantage at court functions than her English sister."

This statement was made to International News Service today by Miss Marguerite Vacani, official dancing instructor at the English court.

Miss Vacani has spent strenuous and patient hours for many days teaching English and American women the essential parts of court etiquette in preparation for the presentation to King George and Queen Mary.

"The American women were eager to learn and most anxious to do everything correctly," continued Miss Vacani. "They were more interested in the details than the English women. They were more painstaking in practicing the most important things. A correct curtsey looks easy

Jay-Walkers and Uninformed Autoists Are Warned By Police

DRIVER OF CAR IN ACCIDENT MUST REPORT TO HEADQUARTERS LAW FRAMED BY CHIEF HODGINS ORDERS

Read These Proposed Regulations That You May Guide Yourself Accordingly and Stay Away from Police and Fine Costs

THE OBJECT: To secure the standardization of traffic rules throughout the city, in so far as they can be standardized, and to give rules of common courtesy for all to observe.

THE TEST: Is the ability of drivers and pedestrians to become acquainted with and observe the rules, uphold the law and lend their co-operation with the local government. A law once learned is not easily forgotten by those who intend to abide by it. The test is not complete unless the law is enforced.

THE RESULT: Will be that careful drivers will be made from the incompetent ones, and accidents will be reduced to a minimum.

Above, in condensed form, are the reasons given by Chief of Police George H. Hodgins for a complete redrafting of the city ordinance regulating traffic in Wichita Falls, a resume of which appears in this morning's RECORD NEWS.

The rulings are not final. Next Monday night they are to be presented to the city council by the chief, who is to ask that they be incorporated in an ordinance to be passed with the emergency clause, making them effective immediately. Any suggestions that the commissioners may make as to alterations or changes will be gladly received by the chief. He believes, however, that most of them will have the complete approval of the council and that they will be adopted without opposition.

Some Old Ones Retained.

Not all of the new rules, of course, are total strangers to the motoring public of the city. Some of them have been copied verbatim from the ordinance now being used; others have been extracted, changed somewhat, and then reinserted; still others are entirely new.

Whatever may be the disposition made ultimately, Chief Hodgins has drafted them with a sincere belief that they are necessary to the welfare of the public and in an earnest effort to clarify the much muddled traffic problem here at present.

The chief believes that every person who steps outside his home or place of business has a need for a careful understanding of traffic rules as much as do those who operate any kind of a vehicle. He also believes that when a person knows the rules, and observes them, he aids in decreasing the number of accidents because he is awake to the dangers of speeding, jay walking, cutting corners and the absentmindedness of the other fellow.

When the rules are finally adopted, they will be printed in book form and made available for the public.

READ THESE RULES AND HELP SAFETY DRIVE

Printed below are the new traffic regulations as drawn up by Chief of Police George H. Hodgins. Not all of the provisions of the new ordinance are reproduced simply because they have been in effect before and are well known to the motoring public of the city. The essential features of the ordinance are incorporated below, however, and are presented by the Record News in an effort to assist the police department in efficiently regulating street traffic.

10-Year-Old Drowns

Special Dispatch to Record News

TEMPLE, May 29 — Eustace Thompson, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Thompson, while bathing in a pond on the Betty farm, just outside the city limits, Saturday afternoon, ventured into deep water and was drowned before his small brother and another little playmate, who were with him, could procure help. None of the boys could swim.

Some few remember the good old days when the only way to rob a bank was to get a job as cashier.

THE RAKE-OFF

"Who bids?"

The auctioneer held up a child's rocking horse, battered and stained. It had belonged to some little member of the man's family, whose household property was being sold under the hammer.

He was utterly ruined. He had given up everything in the world to his creditors — house, furniture, horses, stock of goods and lands. He stood among the crowd watching the sale that was scattering his household goods and his heirlooms among a hundred strange hands.

On his arm leaned a woman heavily veiled.

"Who bids?"

The auctioneer held the rocking-horse high that it might be seen. Childish hands had torn away the scanty mane; the bridle was twisted and worn by tender little fingers. The crowd was still.

The woman under the heavy veil sobbed and stretched out her hands.

"No, no, no!" she cried.

The man was white with emotion. The little form that once so merrily rode the old rocking-horse had drifted away into the world years ago. This was the only relic left of his happy infancy.

The auctioneer, with a queer moisture in his eyes, handed the rocking horse to the man without a word. He seized it with eager hands, and he and the veiled woman hurried away.

The crowd murmured with sympathy.

The man and the woman went into an empty room and set the rocking-horse down. He took out his knife, ripped open the front of the horse and took out a roll of bills. He counted them and said: "It's a cold day when I fail without a stake-off. Eight thousand five hundred dollars, but that auctioneer came very near busting up the game."

BODY OF W. A. KING BURIED AT DECATUR

Special Dispatch to Record News

DECATUR, May 29. — W. A. (Uncle Bill) King, one of the earliest settlers of Wise county, died at the home of his son, Gus King, in Henrietta Sunday night at 7:30. The remains were brought to Decatur this morning and interred in the Sand Hill cemetery this afternoon. The funeral services were conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, near the spot where Mr. King built his first home in 1860. The services were attended by a large concourse of citizens.

Mr. King was 94 years of age. He was born in Prestiss county, Mississippi. He moved to Lamar county, Texas in 1849, later locating in the Sand Hill community in Wise county in 1860. For many years he was one of the moving spirits of this section, and was prominent in the development of this section. He served for some time in the frontier ranger service. "Uncle Bill," as he has long been known by his many friends, helped to organize the First Methodist church in the county at Sand Hill, and assisted in inaugurating the annual camp meeting at that place over 50 years ago, and he has been present at these occasions every year since that time. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. J. W. Young, Decatur; Mrs. M. J. Jarrell, Fort Worth; Gus King, Henrietta.

WOMAN HELD FOR FORGERY

Mrs. Myrtle Bowman Hayes.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Mrs. Myrtle Hayes, a trimly dressed attractive little woman, recently demurely pleaded "not guilty" of forging the name of Charles M. Schwab to one of 17 notes totaling $325,000.

Schwab is perhaps the foremost steel manufacturer of the country. Mrs. Hayes, who has been living in New York at the Hotel Lorraine is vaguely described as a "Boston business woman." She had known Schwab for 22 of her confessed 47 years.

Before testifying before the grand jury, which promptly indicted Mrs. Hayes for second degree forgery (maximum penalty 10 years) Schwab smilingly spoke of her as "a very clever business woman."

"No Personal Profit."

Subsequent investigation and a check-up by Acting District Attorney, Harold Hastings, disclosed a daring in swindling design and execution that may rank the perpetrator with Cassie Chadwick, whose death 15 years ago came after she had floated through 25 years of double-dealing to a pinnacle of wealth and power; or with the notorious French swindler, Mme. Humbert, whose mythical fortune in a locked safe, tied up in supposed litigation, obtained her the means to support a dazzling life in Paris.

Mrs. Hayes and her attorney, George Gordon Battle, protested that she had not personally profited one penny by her alleged forgeries.

Striking Parallels.

The following striking parallels between the operations of Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Chadwick became evident:

Cassie Chadwick obtained huge loans from bankers and shrewd business men on the strength of a note for $5,000,000 bearing the forged signature of "Andrew Carnegie."

Myrtle Hayes got at least $325,000 in cash to finance a corporation known as Chatham, Inc. (which is constructing the Hotel Chatham in Boston) by displaying a forged agreement signed by 'Charles M. Schwab,' in which the former protege of Andrew Carnegie agreed to back the company up to $1,000,000.'

Cassie Chadwick locked away in a Cleveland bank a "deed of trust" signed "Andrew Carnegie" conveying to her $11,000,000 in railroad securities and obtained incredible loans, even from canny bank presidents.

Myrtle Hayes last December strolled into the office of William C. Toby, wealthy builder and president of the Standard Concrete Steel company, and persuaded this responsible business man that Charles M. Schwab was her backer and that Toby would be perfectly safe in issuing and standing security for any loans she could obtain through notes of the hotel company in Boston in which she was interested.

"$100,000 Covers It."

This far, according to Assistant District Attorney Hastings, 17 of these fraudulent notes have been traced with a total loss to discounters of $325,000. Mrs. Hayes, however, laughingly assured Mr. Hastings:

"I think your estimate is wrong. I think $100,000 will cover the entire amount."

BILL ENGROSSED

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, May 29.—The Patman refined petroleum gross production tax bill and Bonham bill, reducing the reclamation appropriation to $288,000 were passed to engrossment in the house late today. The vote on the Patman bill was 63 to 40 and on the Bonham bill 79 to 29.

Efforts to suspend the rules and pass both measures failed.

Culp Bill Printed

The Culp telephone tax bill was engrossed in the senate this afternoon by a vote of 11 to 10. As engrossed the bill carried an amendment levying a 3 per cent tax on service charge collections. This is the first revenue measure to be passed to third reading in the senate this session.

Cable Bill Passes

The Cable bill prescribing methods for remitting taxes to the state treasurer also was passed to third reading.

An amendment by Thomas to increase the minimum gross receipts telephone tax from 1 to 1½ per cent was defeated. The Culp bill increases slightly present telephone taxes.

The Stroder-Dodd resolution condemning the teaching of evolution in public schools was referred to committee without debate.

The senate stood at ease most of the afternoon to permit the joint ways and means committee to work on a program for the present session.

as making a simple bow to the king and queen, but in reality, it is very difficult."

Miss Vacani disclosed that many of 24 Americans whom Mrs. Post Wheeler will present to court spent hours walking in front of mirrors with a heavy book balanced on the top of the head, swing the right leg forward and backward and then the left leg in the same way to learn to walk "regally." Such exercise teaches one to be gracefully erect.

Most of the women spent many hours swinging a foot in line with the shoulders and bringing it down to the floor with the knees bent outward in order to make a "soft curtsey" instead of a stiff bow. It is strenuous exercise preparing for court and a good way to reduce also.

sawing the bars of her cell after climbing over the roof of the jail to gain access to the window, but that was as much as she would tell about the break-away.

Mrs. Phillips declared she was not in communication with her husband all the time after she had made her escape, and left the impression that he knew nothing concerning it. Her sister, Miss Etta May Jackson, joined her in Mexico City and went with Carsen and Mrs. Phillips to Honduras. She returned today and when Mrs. Phillips was taken to the prison accompanied her.

When Mrs. Phillips left Los Angeles she went to St. Louis and came here from the Missouri City. She had set Vera Cruz, Mexico, as her goal and, upon reaching there after the short stay here while waiting for a steamer she and Carsen went to Mexico City. There, she said, Carsen because of his drinking and other escapades began to attract attention to them and they decided to move further south, finally landing in Honduras.

Waives Extradition.

Mrs. Phillips waived extradition to the United States and exhibited a carbon copy of the waiver witnessed by the American consul. The Honduras supreme court had issued a decree ordering her release but she refused to take advantage of it, saying she had determined to return to California to prove her innocence.

Mrs. Phillips and her guard will leave tomorrow at noon aboard the Southern Pacific Sunset limited and will arrive in Los Angeles Friday night.

RUM BOAT MOUNTS SIX POUND GUN

International News Dispatch

NORFOLK, Va., May 29.—The steam yacht Istar, so-called "flag ship of the rum-runners," has a mounted gun aft, it was charged today by federal authorities here, and because of her British registry the matter has been referred to the state department at Washington.

Officers of the coast guard cutter Mascoutin said they saw a mounted gun partly covered with a tarpaulin, and described it as either a six-pounder or a three-inch rifle. Seagoing yachts are permitted, under international law, to carry guns for saluting, but they are rarely more than one-pounders.

YOUNG VETS TYPIFY SPIRIT OF '61

Thinning ranks of "Boys in Blue," above. Below, Sergt. Harry J. Adams, World war hero, who typifies younger generation honored on Memorial day, and aged hero of '61 and youthful hero of World war honoring fallen comrades together.

Each Memorial day finds the depleted ranks of the boys of '61 growing thinner and thinner. Age has laid a firmer hand on the scattered few heroes of the Civil war who still survive. But as their numbers grow less the younger heroes of the World war become more enshrined in the hearts of the country and homage is paid to them along with the Boys in Blue and Gray. So today the nation pays tribute to both generations—honors the living and the dead of the wars of long ago and that one fresh in our memory. Graves of all heroes are decorated impartially.

OIL TAX—

$1,000,000, and reduction of $600,000 reclamation appropriation to $300,000.

Darwin Refuses to Sign.

The agreement was signed by Senators Wood, Clark, Davis, and Ridgeway and Representatives Satterwhite, Quaid, Bell and Wallace. Senator Darwin, fifth senate committee member, declined to sign the report and Representative Dinkle, fifth house committeeman, was not present.

Adjustment proposed in the committee's report will practically equalize appropriations and revenues according to members. The reductions of school appropriations will still permit a minimum per capita allotment of $13, it was stated. The report will be taken up in both houses tomorrow morning and on its adoption hinges the action of Governor Neff on appropriation bills.

3 Million Dollar Revenue.

The Patman bill places a tax of one-half of one per cent on coal oil, fuel oil, naptha, bendine, gasoline, and other mineral oils refined from crude petroleum. It is estimated that measure will bring $3,000,000 to the state if finally enacted. The bill was debated most of the afternoon. An amendment by Culp to remove coal oil and naptha from the bill was defeated as was one by Quinn to reduce the tax.

The Bonham bill has been before the house since yesterday. The Melson amendment which would have repealed entirely the $600,000 reclamation appropriation was defeated. The name of the late Lee J. Rountree staunch supporter of the reclamation program was mentioned frequently during the debate.

The house was under calk most of the afternoon, a bare quorum being maintained. On motion of Representative Baldwin, the absent members were wired to return to Austin immediately.

A resolution by Purl, et al providing for ceremonies in the house tomorrow, Memorial Day, was adopted, and John C. Townes jr., American Legion state commander, was invited to speak.

AMERICA QUITS AS SILVER BUYER

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Announcement was made by the treasury department tonight of a suspension of silver purchases, under the Pittman act, until it can be determined definitely whether the estimates of offers, already accepted, exceed the 200,000,000 ounces which the law authorized the government to buy.

The announcement means that the government has practically concluded another phase of its war-time financing through the replacement of almost all of the silver loaned to Great Britain in 1918 to stave off a threatened rebellion in India.

It means, also, officials believe, that the treasury will be out of the silver market as a buyer, except for immaterial amounts, for several years.

Who fought a losing fight,
And slept among the fields they love
With Southern sunshine bright.

For the dead in olive drab
Who died across the sea
The poppies that in Flanders fields
Are blooming gloriously;
For lo in every scarlet flower
That flickers in the gale,
Brimmed with the blood of sacrifice
Behold a holy grail.

Today, May 30, is a day of memories.

At Arlington, national cemetery, Washington, President Harding and his staff will decorate the last resting place of those of our country's dead who repose in silent sleep.

The bugle's clarion notes will sound "taps."

At Antietam, Bull Run, Gettysburg, Vicksburg, Petersburg, Chickamaugua and wherever on American soil men have made the great sacrifice in a cause—whether right or wrong—graves will be decorated.

The wailing notes of the bugle—"taps."

In far off China where American brave were sacrificed that christianity might live in a benighted land, heroes will be remembered.

'Tis far away blare of the bugle and the mournful—"taps."

In Siberia 'mid glaciers and desolation a faithful few will honor American dead—dead that tyranny die and democracy live.

The clarion notes of the bugle—"taps."

At Chickamaugua in 1898 when hundreds of the country's young men were stricken with fever.

The plantive wail of the bugle—"taps."

At the scene of the Battle of the Marne, in Belleau woods, in Flanders field, where poppies blow, loving hands will strew flowers over the graves of our departed.

The blessing of the bugle—"taps"
In all lands today where rest our brave
The insistent notes of the bugle—"taps."

DEBS AND TAFT

Eugene V. Debs is to be the presidential nominee of the socialist party next year. Debs is not an American citizen. His citizenship was not restored when he was released from the Atlanta penitentiary. His tongue has not lost its stinger. His latest is that Chief Justice William Howard Taft is on the payroll of the steel corporation. Debs is an irresponsible. He is as mad as a March hare. Chief Justice Taft receives $10,000 annuity from the Carnegie fund. No sane man has ever questioned the personal integrity, the high moral courage or the loyal Americanism of the chief justice. He is ever for the constitution and the law.

CANADA

According to the Royal Bank of Canada, a survey of conditions in that country discloses that the dominion is not enjoying any such prosperity as has been enjoyed in the United States. Canada is largely dependent on agriculture and prices of agricultural products has been unusually low. Wherever this is the case, business is stagnant and trade is dull. Civilization begins and ends with the plow and when the ploughman is in the dumps, financially speaking, all classes and conditions of men are depressed.

Official Washington says the attempt of the shipping board to dispose of its fleet by auction is doomed to failure. Few real bids are offered and hope of ending government operation is fading. This will call for the revival of the ship subsidy bill. In the golden age of America, ships of commerce and ships of passage covered the seven seas of the world. It appears that the Americans have forgotten how to sail ships. And yet America has more than half the gold of the world, all the raw matreials of the world and more than a third of the wealth of the world, is the greatest manufacturing nation of the world, and its politicians admit without argument most of the wisdom of the world.

General Leonard Wood has squared himself. He says no information of any kind has reached him that any member of the American congress has received money from the Phillippino independence fund. General Leonard Wood is not the owner of a sloppy tongue. When he talks, he strives to talk facts.

FOR THOSE WHO SHARE NO SORROW THERE IS STILL THE UNPAID DEBT OF GRATITUDE

The BLOOD SHIP

By NORMAN SPRINGER

THE ACTION TO THIS POINT.

Captain John Shreve, a commander of sailing ships, tells the story. It is the tale of a voyage, his first as an able seaman in the clipper ship The Golden Bough. Shreve, just to sea mankind, becomes a lodger at the Knitting Swede's "King of the Crimps," at San Francisco. He notes one lodger of quite, austere manner with a scar on his face. Young Shreve defeats the Swede's runner and wins his girl, but determines to go back to sea. He and the man of the scar determine to sign for a voyage in the Golden Bough, in spite of the ship reputation for cruelty.

"He Owned Her Body and Soul."

II.

We signed articles without farther ado for a voyage to Hong Kong and beyond.

The shipping commissioner made the usual pretense of reading the articles. Then he squinted up at us.

"What's yer John Henry's?" says he.

My big shipmate mused a moment. He stroked the scar on his forehead—a habit he had when thinking. He smiled.

"My name is Newman," he made answer. "It is a good name."

Toward evening I was as sailors say, "half seas over."

So, when the opportunity offered, I slipped away from the crowd unobserved and went rolling along East street.

Upon a corner I came upon a fellow who was spitting blood into the gutter. He was the horriest-looking wretch I had ever seen, the gaunt ruin of a man and I carried him back to the Swede's boarding house with me.

My companion's complaining whine filled the hall and the big man who signed himself Newman looked out at us.

"Hello, Beasley," he said, in a very quiet voice and approached us. Then this man of mine threw a fit indeed! I never saw such fright in a man's face.

But Newman made no move to strike him. He looked down at him and after a moment he said, "Surprised? Eh? But no more surprised than I."

The poor wreck got some sound out of his mouth like "How—how"—several times repeated.

"And I wanted to meet you more than I can tell," went on Newman. "I want to talk to you—about"—The other got his tongue to working in a half-coherent fashion. "Oh, my God, not me!—you! Not me—oh, my God, not me!—him—he made me—it was"—

Well, I felt out of, so to speak. The feeling made me a little resentful. After all, this bum was my bum!

"Look here, the man's sick," I said to Newman. Don't look at him like that—he'll die. You've half scared him to death already."

Oh, no; he'll not die—yet," said Newman. "He's just a little bit surprised. But he's glad to see me—aren't you, Beasley? Stop that nonsense and get up!"

The command was instantly obeyed.

"For God's sake, get me a drink!" Beasley begged.

I was glad to seize the cue.

But when I returned with the liquor Newman had taken his prize into his own room. I knocked on the door. Newman opened, and I handed him the bottle.

"Thank you, he needs a pick-me-up," he said, as he took the bottle. "And now—you'll excuse, us lad."

It wasn't a question, that last; it was a statement. Little he cared if I excused him or not! He shut the door in my face and I heard the key turn in the lock.

The carousing gang down stairs was distasteful to me. I went into my own room next door and lay down upon the bed. I rather relished the thought of a nap.

But I discovered that I was likely to be cheated of even the nap by my neighbors. Newman's deep voice was a mere rumble, a menacing rumble, with the words undistinguishable, but the beggar's disagreeable whine carried through the partitions so distinctly I could not help overhearing nearly every word he said.

The burden of his speech was to the effect that somebody referred to as "he" was to bame. Aye, trust a rat of that calibre to set up that wail!

"'I didn't want to, but he made me! I had to look out for myself, hadn't I? He had this paper of mine—he knew they were forgeries—I had to do what he said. But, My God, I didn't, know what he was planning—I swear I didn't!"

Newman's rumble broke in, and then the reedy voice continued, "But he was wild when he came home and found you and Mary so thick and everybody just waiting for the announcement that it was a match. Why, he had the whole thing planned the very day he arrived. I know he had, because he came to the tavern and told me I was to drop hints here and there that you and Beulah Twigg had been seen together in Boston. I didn't want to, but I had to obey him. Why those checks—he could have put me in prison.

"Well it was the talk of the town, You and Beulah Twigg together in Boston; you and Beulah together at sea; you know what a story they would make of it in a little town like Freeport! Mary must have heard the gossip about you.

"But it didn't seem to have any effect. The two of you was as thick as ever. We were laying bets in the tavern that you would be married before you went to sea again. He didn't like that—the talk about your wedding. But he wasn't beaten yet; Oh, he was a slick devil!

"He came to me one day and said, 'Beasley, give me the key to the Old Place—and keep your mouth shut and stay away from there.'

"Now you begin to understand? The Old Place—that abandoned tumble-down old house all alone out there on the cliffs. It belonged to my father. I had a key because we young bloods used the place for card-playing, and high jinks.

"I gave him the key. He went off to Boston—business trip—he said.

"He brought Beulah Twigg back with him from Boston. He owned her body and soul, too. When folks wondered where she had run off to, I could have told them. I knew how he'd played with her, on the quiet, while he sparked Mary in the open—last time he was home. You were home then, also. Remember you left a day ahead of him, to join your ship in New York? Well—Beulah left the same day. Just disappeared.

"And poor old Twigg couldn't understand it. You remember the old fool? Beulah was all the family he had, and after she skipped out he got to drinking. They found him one morning at the bottom of the cliffs, not a hundred yards from the spot where they afterwards found her.

"But I knew what had become of Beulah. I guessed right. Didn't I know his ways with the girls? You know there weren't many women who could stand out against him. Mary could, and did—that's why she was so wild against you. But little Beulah—she threw herself at him! And when she ran away, it was to join him in Philadelphia, and go sailing with him to South America.

"Now you know how he turned the trick on you, don't you?

"Well, he came to me the next day after he got back from Boston. 'I ask a favor of you,' he said, to me. Yes—asking favors, when he knew I must do what he said. Just a short note. I know you are handy with the pen,' he said.

"What could I do? I had to look out for myself. He gave me a page from an old letter as a sample of the handwriting. It was Mary Raintree's writing; oh, I knew it well. I had it perfect in a few minutes. The note I wrote for him was a mere line: 'Meet me at Beasley's Old Place at three,' with her initial signed. That was all.

"That wasn't the only note he had written. He made Beulah write one, too, addressed to Mary, and asking her to come to the Old Place, and be secret about it. Ah, now you understand?

"Poor little Beulah had to do what he said, too.

"Mary came, as he knew she would. Didn't she have the kindest heart in the country? And there he was, with Beulah, with his eyes on her, and his soft, sly words making her lie seem more true. I heard it all. I was upstairs.

"Well, Mary did just what he expected her to do. She promised to help Beulah; she told Beulah she would make you make amends. Then she rushed out of the house and met you coming along the cliff road—coming along all spruced up, and the look about you of one going to meet a lady. Just as he planned.

"What more could Mary ask in the way of evidence than of the sight of you in that place at that time? Of course, she was convinced, completely convinced!

"And she behaved just as though he knew she would behave—she denounced you and ran off home. And you behaved just as he knew you would behave. You packed off to join your ship.

"Next morning you were gone and—they picked up little Beulah at the bottom of the cliffs. And you gone in haste, without a word.

"They said she jumped—desertion, despair. The gossip—and you running away to sea.

"And I—my flesh would creep when I looked at him. I was certain she—didn't jump. I tell you he was a devil. There wasn't anything he wouldn't do. He wanted to get rid of me—and he did. He showed those checks that I had signed—and I had to go, I had to go far and in a hurry. After all I had done for him, that's the way he had treated me!"

I dropped off to sleep. First thing I knew, the Knitting Swede was shaking me awake. "Yump out of it, Yackie," says he. "We go aboard."

I went down stairs. There was Newman, with his dunnage, waiting.

"You are sure the lady sails, Swede?" he said.

"Ja, I have it vrom Swope himself," the crimp replied.

When we alighted at Meigg's Wharf not a sailor or runner was in sight. It was unusual for the Swede to go down to the dock with a couple of men; but now, he was going to fasten his lordly hands upon a pair of oars and row us out to our vessel!

He lay back manfully, grunting with every stroke.

When we were a few hundred yards from the ship he produced a bottle. "Here, yoongstar, you take a yolt!" he commanded passing me the bottle.

I thought he was just bolstering up my courage, and swallowed a great gulp.

I passed the bottle to Newman; he accepted it, but I noticed he did not drink.

The Swede lifted up his voice and hailed the ship. Immediately, the most magnificient fore-top-sail-yard-aboy voice I had ever heard bellowed a reply, "Ahoy, the boat. What d'ye want?"

"Aye ban Swede Olson with two hands for you! Heave over da Yacob's ladder, Mistar Lynch!"

O moment later the three of us were standing on the clipper main deck. Mister Second Mate Lynch was a handsome, muscular chap, with not so much of the "bucko" in his bearing as his reputation led one to expect. His voice rumbled. "Oh, Fitz, come here."

A moment later a man stood by Lynch's side. Here was a true bucko, a human gorilla, with a battered face, and brutal, pitiless mouth—the dreaded Fitzgibbon, "chief kicker" of the Golden Bough.

Mister "Fitz" regarded us with a sneering smile. "Huh, stewed to the gills! What did you dope 'em with, Swede?" he said. "Lord, what a cargo he's got aboard!"

This last referred to Newman. I was staring at him myself with stupid surprise.

For Newman was drunk, riproaring drunk.

Now mind, he had been cold sober a few moments before when I handed him the Swede's bottle, and I was quite certain that he had not touched that bottle to his lips. Suddenly he brandished the bottle and commenced to howl, "Blow the Man Down," in a raucous voice.

"Stop that!" commanded Lynch, shortly. "You'll wake up the lady!"

We dumped our bags upon the floor of the forecastle. I felt another shock of surprise.

Newman was sober again.

RECALLS THE GREAT PANIC.

An echo of the great panic that began in the fall of 1893 appears in the newspapers of 30 years ago this week, the failure of the Columbia National bank of Chicago and its chain of 20 banks in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Those were the day's that tired men's souls as many a grayhead now can tell you.

IRRIGATION

By A. M. M'PHERSON
Kahn Bldg., 8th and Indiana
Consulting Engineer

Will This Be a Good Country For Bees When We Get Irrigation?

When we have irrigation there will be plants in bloom for seven or eight months of the year. Flowers are what the bees have to have to make honey; and, outside of a few months in the spring, they are not plentiful here.

Bee keeping in Wichita county is not much of an industry at present, but with the coming of irrigation there will be thousands of acres in such crops as alfalfa, sweet clover, and other similar plants which will afford plenty of bee pasture at all times during the growing season.

Alfalfa and sweet clover honey has a distinctive flavor and color and often commands an extra price.

Keeping bees for profit is not as simple as it might seem because bees are subject to many diseases, but much has been written and published on the subject of bees so if you are interested you can soon inform yourself.

There are many varieties of bees and attention should be given to the variety in starting an apiary. The breed can be rapidly improved by buying selected queens.

As a side line on the irrigated farm bees are often quite profitable providing the farmer or some member of the family has studied bees and will give them some attention.

Under irrigation here there will be plenty of flowers during the growing season and there is no reason why bee keeping should not be a money making side line for those who like the business.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

PITY POOR MEXICO

In Mexico, where every street
Once rang with savage strife;
Where everybody used to eat
Frijoles with a knife;
Where wearers of laundered shirt
Were looked on with a frown,
And more than likely to get hurt
If caught around a town;
Where it was the prevailing fad
To knife each strange arrival,
The papers tell us they have had
A cultural revival.

The peon has been taught to read,
And in his casa lurks,
Devouring with an avid greed
The poet Browning's works.
The bandit with the beetling brow
No more on need avoid—
He only talks of Ibsen now
Or Chesterton or Freud.
The senorita, dusky peach,
No longer is entrancing—
She's bobbed her hair and she can teach
The world asthetic dancing.

No longer fierce Hidalgos lay
Each other by the heels.
The thing they think about today
Are national ideals.
About the patios recline
The great Sastellian swells,
Discussing Shaw and Gertrude Stein
And hissing H. G. Wells.
Alas! One can but fear the worst;
From every indication
Too much prosperity has cursed
A first class fighting nation!

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

SWITCHING OFF

In the workroom of an electrical engineer, a "loud speaker" is delivering a radio program, from one distributing station, another "loud speaker" brings in a weather report from the government, a third is announcing the result of a ball game, a fouth is reporting a speech of an aspirant for election to some office in a hall, perhaps 20 miles away.

The result is distracting. It is impossi- sense out of the jumble.

But it is quite possible, to a trained listener, to pick out one particular message and following it, switching out, in the brain, and not on the switchboard, all the others which pass the ears unheard.

Thus a telegraph operator, in a room in which fifty sounders are at work, can listen to the one whose message he is writing down, disregarding all others.

The switch in the brain, which is not mechanical, is just as practicable as the device of copper on the radio set.

And in the world of conflicting sounds and conflicting messages, it is necessary to learn when and how to use it.

The man who has acquired the art of concentration is able to devote his mind to the task on hand, no matter what is going on around him.

The writer has seen reporters, sitting calmly amid the sound and fury of a national convention, and writing or dictating stories that were not immediately concerned with the proceedings at hand.

There was every temptation to listen, for what was happening was interesting, even if not important, but certain reporters chief duty at the early session of a national convention is to write not what is happening but what is likely to happen. And detachment was necessary in order to get the messages into an office a thousand miles away in order to be printed in the next edition.

We cannot do everything that we are interested in, or listen to everything that is going on around us. Somewhere amid the hurly-burly is the mental path that we must follow.

And the mental switch that shuts our eyes to other paths and our ears to other sounds must be used with firmness if we are to find the right message, and pick the right course.

That switch is in every brain, but only long training can teach its use. When that is once learned, the business of making the most of our powers by concentrating them on the one important thing becomes comparatively easy.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

GEMINI

Today is one of extremely good omen for all business of a productive nature, but one on which no changes should be made in private life. Be cautious of travel.

A child born today will be generous and trustworthy and will lead a life of adventure and travel.

This is a day of importance on the horoscope calender and if it is your birthday you will rise to a very high position either socially or in a business way. You have a mind that is fitted to govern and the mental capacity for a wide knowledge of affairs. You have a good gift of expression and seemingly broadness of opinion but with slight traces of selfishness. This is largely counterbalanced by your natural dignity and conscientiousness.

Your nature is one of self-reliance, you keep your own counsel, you work and play alone and you hold yourself responsible for your victories and defeats. You are wholly self-sufficient; in fact so much that it is at times very difficult for you to understand the view point of others; and if at the same time, they do not sympathize with yours, you think it is their loss. These are the qualities that will put you at the top of the ladder, and those that will keep you there are your utter disregard for public opinion and the courage of your convictions.

You are fond of going about in society but at the same time impatient with people who have nothing to contribute to your own intellectual interests. You will think them stupid and they will think you a parlor "bolshevik." In spite of this you will have a large number of close friends who will admire you immensely and there will be countless people who will criticise you openly but will secretly envy you.

Women of this date will have numerous male admirers but few opportunities to marry. Men, as a rule, are in awe of this type of woman and seldom choose them as marriage partners. They prefer the submissive kind whom they can dominate. However, about the age of 30, you will marry your intellectual equal and will be unbelievably happy.

Well known people born on this date are: Gustav Schwab, merchant; Frederick Grant, soldier and son of President Grant; Edward L. Burlingame, journalist.

HERE ARE SOME SUMMER FINERIES

By ELOISE

Here are a few summer fineries which may be added to the wardrobe after such necessities as the tailored suit, the top coat, the sports clothes and the simple all-occasion frock has been purchased. These luxuries will round out a wardrobe making it complete for every occasion on the summer calendar. In the center is shown the pleated skirt which leads all else in fashion's fancy this season. Here it is made of tan crepe de chine and worn with a short side tied blouse or jacket of brown matelasse. The collar is edged with a soft band of "vatka" squirrel. This type of costume is smart for afternoon affairs and street wear.

For evening we have the petaled gown of soft pastel shades in chiffon shown at the right. With it is worn a cape which reflects the popularity of ribbon. It is a soft rippling wrap of gray ribbon which shades from delicate light gray tones to a deeper gray at the hem. A standing collar is studded with ribbon rosettes. The hat is gray horsehair of the finest quality with silver lace forming a delicate trimming. The entire outfit is youthful and girlish, and quite suitable for the most formal of summer fetes.

At the left is shown the Spanish comb for evening wear, which is being worn quite as much for summer coiffures as it was for winter toilettes. A large jewel studded design is worn here, and it is placed at the side in the more American fashion rather than erect at the back as the Spanish woman wears her hair ornaments. The matron may wear the comb, but the young girl should leave her hair unadorned or wear a silver or flowered bandeau.

If one's vacation is to be spent at a fashionable resort and is to last any length of time, such fineries as these will surely be wanted.

Viola Dana lay in a sunny hospital room recently, recovering from an operation for appendicitis. She had admired the armloads of lovely flowers that filled her room; she had read; she had written letters, but the hours dragged by so heavily and it seemed years between her friends' visits. She lay there thinking of the crowd over at the studio, and then a mischievous little twinkle flashed in her eyes, and tossing back her bobbed hair she grabbed a pencil and dramatically wrote:

"At last reports the patient, Viola Dana, was sinking rapidly. She was reading '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.'" This was dispatched in all haste to the Metro studio. An hour later followed another bulletin:

"All hope is given up for Viola Dana, the beautiful victim of the popular malady, appendicitis. She has refused to read letters from adoring movie fans, or autograph photographers, or confer with the publicity man."

And the next hour:

"Viola Dana's condition seems a little improved. She spent an hour reading Chinese laundry checks, and wrote a letter giving the laundryman Yangste-Kiang for having ripped a jade sport blouse. She watched the screening of her latest picture, "Her Fatal Millions" on a bed sheet, and laughed herself well. Bulletins to be continued after her next operation."

Boo Hoo! "They all flop sooner or later!" Wallace Beery, our adorable "King Richard," is engaged to Fritzie Ridgeway.

Little old "Freckles" Barry is making a new picture, "The Printer's Devil"—and, believe me, he's got some job. "Freckles" is the chief engineer, janitor, reporter, assistant editor and printer's devil on the Briggsville Gazette—wherever that is!

MARION DAVIES LASHED TO GET REALISM—

Marion Davies would not allow a double to be used for her recently during the filming of the Cosmopolitan production, "Little Old New York." Instead, she was tied to a whipping post and beaten with a heavy lash by Louis Wolheim, of "Hairy Ape" fame. Of course, Wolheim tried to temper realism with mercy, but realism must come first, and the white shoulders that have been painted by some of the world's most famous artists bore welts and scars for many weeks. "I'll admit I was terrified when I heard that big lash whistling through the air and knew it was going to cut into my bare shoulders. The first time it hit me I couldn't keep from screaming just a little, and the shock made me fairly sick, but after the first time it wasn't so bad, and I just set my teeth and hung on, determined to bear it."

VON STROHEIM FINDS THE YOUNGEST ACTOR—

Who is the youngest actor on the screen?

Erich von Stroheim says it is the week-old baby who appears in his production, "Greed," a screen adaptation of "McTeague," the novel written by Frank Norris. The director ordered:

"Get the youngest and homeliest baby you can find in San Francisco."

Production men searched maternity wards of the city's hospitals and found a little chap who answered requirements. His highness, in care of a nurse, was conducted in high state to the set on a pillow, and an hour later returned to the ward with his small nose elevated at quite an aristocratic angle. "Homeliest baby you can find" means nothing to his young life; he suffers all the publicity for the good of his career!

It was announced that at next weeks meeting a discussion on a recent supreme court decision divesting municipalities of their power to regulate zoning in the city limits would be had. Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, will lead the discussion, it was announced.

Suits Cleaned and Pressed $1

Imagine the difference that an ounce or two of dirt will make in the color of a suit or dress. That is the average amount taken from each garment we handle by our improved method of dry cleaning

This dirt cannot be removed by brushing because it is firmly embedded in the cloth. Here it not only hides the original color of the fabric, but the gritty parts of it cut the threads and materially shorten the life of the garment.

Regular dry cleaning more than pays for itself by keeping clothes free from this injurious matter and so gives them longer life, and keeps you better dressed besides

Locals Take Third Game Straight From Crabs

BATTLE ROYAL ENDS IN A WIN FOR SPUDDERS; FLASHY PLAYS FEATURE LAST GAME OF SERIES

Bischoff Gets Three Hits In as Many Times At Bat—Tanner and White Send Horsehide For Trip Over Fence.

It might be called bringing home the bacon, but to Spudder fans it looked even better than that, when the Salmite boys won the third straight game from the Sand Crabs yesterday by the gratifying score of 9 to 4. There's no use talking, the locals are headed straight for the top and once they get there, it's all off. The other teams, as far as the pennant is concerned, might as well quit playing.

The Crabs were real nice yesterday, and, although Connally struck out six men, he made up for it by letting eight of the Spudder boys go to first without even working.

The contest started out as a real battle royal, neither team being able to make any headway in the first stanza of the game. Bittle knocked a long fly midway between left and center field, which, due to Coombs' fast work, availed him nothing. Distel and Ostergard each grounded to Meine and both were easy outs. The Spudders, however, were unable to get past second. Bescher got a clean single to left, Coombs sacrificed and Tanner and Cotter swinging at Meine's curves.

The locals came back in the second and chalked up one tally, White coming in for the first run on Bischoff's long single to center. From there on the trips around the field were common occurrences for the Spudder batsmen.

The visitors were unable to bring home any runs until the fourth inning. Distel got a double to the center field fence and scored on Ostergard's single to center. The Spudders, however, lost no ground in the last half of the inning, Berger walking and coming in on Bischoff's triple to right.

The fifth verse looked like bad news for the locals, but fast and brilliant plays on the part of the Spudders at the critical period sent Crabs back to the field without being able to bring in any tallies. Munson started the fireworks with a double to right. Kearns reached first, but Munson was held at second. Wendell forced Munson at third and Connolly grounded to Tanner, who touched third, forcing Kearns and then got Connolly at first for a double play.

The locals had little difficulty in holding the visitors at a safe distance until the ninth inning when the Crabs got to Meine for three runs. Westerail singled to right. Munson walked. Kearns singled to center, filling the bases. Wendell singled to center, scoring Westerail. Brown, batting for Connolly, singled to right, scoring Munson. Bittle hit into a double play, Tanner to White to Cotter, Kearns scoring. Distel grounded to White and another series was history.

Bischoff starred for the Spudders, getting three hits in as many times at bat.

Second Baseman Connolly and Manager Pat Newman of the visitors came to blows in the ninth and Connolly was removed from the park, cause unknown.

Tanner and White each contributed their bit toward entertaining the fans and helping send the Crabs down the ladder, by sending the horsehide for a nice long trip over left field fence.

JOB FOR ANOTHER COLUMBUS

An adventurous Californian, who wishes to take a five-hour view of the world beyond, offers to permit surgeons to stop the action of his heart, with the stipulation that five hours after it ceases to beat, that adrenalin be injected into his veins to restore life. I am going to take careful note of everything on the other side," he says....If he does he will have to do it in eight minutes. After eight or 10 minutes at most, it will take more than adrenalin to bring him back here. When the destructive processes which follow death have been at work for more than that length of time, adrenalin is powerless. However, it may be that some day mankind will send some Christopher Columbus across the Styx to come back and tell us of that new world beyond in which we are so greatly interested and about which we know nothing.

23 Starters In 500-Mile Auto Race At Indianapolis Today, Including Three German and Five French Cars

Associated Press Dispatch

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. May 29.—The list of certain starters in tomorrow's 500 mile automobile race here was increased to 23 men when a French car, driven by Raoul Riganti, qualified by turning ten miles in 6:18.72, an average speed of 95.3 miles an hour.

Three other machines, built by a local manufacturer, will take their qualifying trial at 4:30 a. m. tomorrow, according to official announcement. They must average 80 miles or better to earn the right to start.

The general public was not admitted to the race course today. Drivers, mechanicians and pitmen, however, made a busy day of it in final minute inspection of various units of their speed creation. A meting was held in the late afternoon by the drivers and officers of the A. A. A. at which various rules and technical questions were discussed.

Speculation tonight as to the merits of the new machines which have a piston displacement of not more than 122 cubic inches, about two-thirds the size of the smallest motor built for passenger cars in the United States. The automobiles are of the one-seater type and are munch lighter than any other racing automobile ever entered in the races here. The majority of the American card have eight cylinders.

Three German cars and five French machines also are entered. They are heavier than the American speedsters, and while they have not shown as much speed, give every indication of being sturdy and enduring. The drivers of all the machines—American, French and German,—for the most part, are veteran race drivers.

Automobiles began lining up around the speedway fence as early as noon today, and before darkness parking space was at a premium. Tourists arrived steadily from all directions during the day, the automobiles bearing license plates of states as far east as Maine, and far west as California.

The race drivers will compete for prizes totalling approximately $85,000, it was announced today. The speedway divides $50,000 among the first ten to finish. In addition the citizens' lap prize fund amounts to more than $10,000, and automobile and accessory firms give monetary prizes annually, amounting to nearly $25,000. A portion of the lap fund is given to the driver leading each of the two hundred laps necessary to complete the race.

The race will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning as usual. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker will be the starter.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

In case of doubt as to whether to use a midiron or a brassie, which should be used?

Answered by
LAURIE AYTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—National Open, Metropolitan Open, Western Open and sectional tournaments. Is famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

The midiron should be used because the loft of the midiron blade gives the player more confidence in making the shot and a chap can't play his best shot without confidence. There must always be a smooth lie if the brassie is used, whereas the midiron may be used for rougher lies. The brassie will give the longer distance if the ball has a smooth lie.

Pirate Catcher New Addition To Local Club

Clarence Jonnard, for many years a catcher in the big leagues, has been acquired by the Spudders and is expected to join the local club Wednesday, according to manager Walter Salm. Jonnard, as is Carlson, has been playing with the Pirates for several years and it is generally believed that he will add considerable strength to the fast climbing Spudder team.

The acquisition of Jonnard necessitates the release of one of the present catchers, but Manager Salm has not yet announced which one it will be.

Jonnard has played with the White Sox and the Pirates and has traveled up and down the ladder. He is considered a great receiver and an all around good man despite the fact that he has never been a heavy batter.

Benny Leonard Puts Mitchell To Sleep In Tenth Round and Fans Then Stage Free Battle

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 29.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, knocked out Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee in the last round of a scheduled 10-round contest here tonight.

Leonard floored the challenger with a right swing, and Mitchell was counted out while on one knee in the center of the ring.

The fight ended in a riot which started when Richie Mitchell, brother of the Milwaukee challenger, flew into Referee Davy Miller, hitting him a right and left to the head. Richie Mitchell claimed Leonard hit Pinkey while the Milwaukee boxer was resting on one knee, while Referee Miller was counting over him.

Ring Swarmed

In less than 30 seconds the ring was swarming with frantic spectators, and 30 or 40 fist fights resulted before the police could clear the ring with their clubs.

In the height of the ringside excitement, Ritchie Mitchell was thrown out of the ring by the police, who also grabbed Billy Mitchell, brother-manager of the Miwaukee boxer. There were so many fist fights in the ring and around the ringside that the police could not restore order before 10 minutes had elapsed.

Leonard outboxed and outslugged Mitchell throughout the contest, with the exception of the eighth and ninth rounds.

Start Is Slow.

In the first round Leonard and Mitchell feinted for at least 30 seconds before the champion led with a left hook to the chin, Mitchell boxing defensively, decling to lead. Leonard connected solidly with a left and right to the chin.

Mitchell remained on the defensive in the second, forcing Leonard to do all the leading, but neither landed effectively.

In the third Leonard reached Mitchell with a right hand punch to the chin and received two solid rights to the chin in return.

Benny Gets Going.

Leonard shook Mitchell up with a jolting right to the chin in the fourth and Mitchell returned it only to receive a left and right to the head. Leonard ripped into Mitchell's body in an attempt to draw his guard out.

Leonard was ahead and boxing nicely in the fifth. He tried for a left and right to the chin, but Mitchell backed out of danger, continuing his defensive battle.

Mitchell boxed cautiously in the sixth waiting to nail Leonard with the right hand. Leonard outscored his foe in body punching in this round.

Champ on Ropes.

Leonard started the seventh, landing a left to the chin and Mitchell forced him into the ropes for an exciting rally, but did no damage.

Mitchell opened up the eighth and traded light lefts with the champion. Leonard missed in his attempts to hook lefts to the body.

Mitchell had Leonard backing away and in danger in the ninth round as a result of landing four right smashes to the chin.

In the tenth Leonard came out of his corner and backed Mitchell into the ropes. When they reached the center of the ring, Leonard ripped over a right to the chin, flooring Mitchell. He attempted to get up and drew a leg under him, resting on his right knee. Leonard attempted to punch him, but Referee Miller waved him away and counted the challenger out in the center of the ring.

In the opening bout of eight rounds, Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., had a shade the better of Frankie Garcia, of Memphis, Tenn., at 126 pounds.

Johnny "Pee Wee" Kaiser, a St. Louis 122 pounder, outboxed Charlie Glazer of Chicago in the second eight-round bout, Kaiser, after being nearly knocked to his knees in the first round, and boxing on even terms in the second, warmed up to his task, and outscored the Chicagoan.

Hurley Wins.

Lew Hurley, a New York bantam, scored a technical knockout over Harold Smith, of Chicago, in the fifth round for a scheduled eight-round bout. A right swing to Smith's ear ruptured a blood vessel, causing a steady flow of blood, and the referee stopped the contest. Smith, previous to the fifth, had the best of his foe. They boxed at 118 pounds.

Joe Burman, of Chicago, knocked out Patsy Flannigan, of St. Louis, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Flannigan was floored with a left and right to the chin, staggered to his feet at the count of five, came up and then went down again without being hit. Referee Benny Yanger waived Flannigan to his corner and awarded the bout to Burman. They weighed in at 120 pounds.

Promoter Arrested.

Just before the Leonard-Mitchell bout, James Mullen, promoter of tonight's program was arrested by Captain Russell of the stockyard precinct station on the charge of violating the anti-prize fight law. Mullen had bondsmen in the ring and was not taken to a police station.

Mullen's bond of $5,000 was signed by bondsmen and approved by Judge Barasa, a former candidate for mayor in the ring. The arrest was made to test the state law prohibiting boxing.

BOX TICKETS MUST BE SHOWN AT PARK

Owing to the large number of complaints from owners of season boxes at the ball park that unauthorized praties are using their boxes, the management has been forced to issue an order that tickets, or an order permitting the use of a certain box, must be shown before anyone will be admitted to boxes.

On various occasions owners of box tickets have gone to the park only to find unauthorized parties occupying their seats.

The order, according to the management, will go into effect immediately.

STOCKS DRIFT IN DULL DAY

Heavy Buying Orders Follow Crucible Steel Dividend Forecast

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 29.—Pre-holiday dullness characterized today's stock market. Price movements were irregular in reflection of speculative inaction over the next definite market trend.

Professional interest was confined to about a dozen individual stocks. Reports of an easy resumption of dividends on Crucible steel brought heavy buying orders into that stock, which was run up to 73 and then eased off to 72, where it was up 3 on the day. American Locomotive touched a new top at 143 1-2 and then slipped back to 141 on profit taking.

Sales of copper metal at 15 cents a pound or 2 1-2 cents below the year's high, brought some selling into the metal shares, most of the coppers showing slight fractional losses at the close. American Smelting, however, closed nearly 2 points higher and National Lead showed a net gain of 5 1-2 points. American Can and California Petroleum also showed marked activity, the former closing unchanged on the day and the latter gaining 5-8 of a point.

Operations for the rise were continued with moderate success in the railroad shares, although there was a few heavy spots. St. Louis and Southwestern common and preferred, Rock Island six per cent preferred, Reading second preferred and Western Pacific preferred advanced 1 to 2 points, the turn over in some cases being very small.

Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent, but advanced to 5 before the close. Time money and commercial paper continued on a five per cent basis.

Trading in foreign exchanges was quiet and irregular. Demand sterling eased off 1-4 cent to $4.62 and French francs dropped 3 points to 6.60 cents. Argentine paper pesos declined to 25 cents, another newslow.

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 29.—Demand for useful cattle was up to expectations Tuesday, prices holding to a good steady level. The trade was featured by the sale of two cars of choice feed steers at $9.00. Common and medium cattle met with the usual poor inquiry. Receipts were estimated at 3,500 head of cattle and 1,000 calves.

In the sheep division receipts were close to 2,000 head. The market was about steady. Fairly good wethers sold at $6.

WHEAT CLOSES RATHER SHAKY

Prices Drop From Three-Fourths To Two And Quarter Lower

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 29.—Persistent liquidating sales on the part of holders of contracts which for delivery of wheat this month had a decided bearish effect today on the wheat market as a whole. Prices ansettl 1, ⅝ to 2 1-4c net lower, with July $1.12 7-8 to $1.13, and September $1.11 7-8 to $1.12. Corn finished unchanged to 1-4@3-8c up, oats a shade to 1-4@3-8c down and provisions at the same as yesterday's finish to 7c higher.

Except that in the early trading wheat responded temporarily to some pre-holiday covering by shorts, the market was without support. Speculative demand appeared to have been reduced nearly to the vanishing point, owing to more or less bearish sentiment engendered by government regulative measures.

Removal of hedges here against shipping sales gave comparative strength to the corn market, oats chiefly followed wheat and averaged lower.

Although at first easier in line with hog values, provisions rallied later, helped by the action of the corn market.

INVENTOR DIES

W. S. BARNICKEL.

Williams S. Barnickel, inventor of the chemical process of treating oil emulsions, known as the Tret-O-Lite process, which is used in more than 75 percent of oil plants handling cut oil, died May 19.

Barnickel was at one time a chemist and spent several years in attempts to find methods of breaking up emulsions of the oil and water, which are known as cut oil, before he was successful. It was he who first became interested in saving the enormous amount of crude oil being wasted by failure to handle the cut oil, and it was he who perfected the method that now saves millions of dollars annually.

It was not known for many years that "cut oil," "roily oil" and "tank bottoms" were emulsions of water with the oil until the inventor, through long chemical experiments discovered the fact and perfected methods of mixing chemicals with the emulsion, breaking it up and allowing the water and oil to separate by gravity.

Barnickel died at the St. John's Hospital, at St. Louis, May 19, following an operation. He was 45 years of age at his death, and was one of the best known authorities on crude oil development in the southwest.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 29.—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today. Fresh business was probably restricted by uncertainty as to weather conditions or the action of Liverpool over the holidays and the greater part of the trading was attributed to the closing out of old commitments. On the whole, this seemed to be pretty well divided between covering shorts, and realizing, and after selling off from 24.95 to 24.68, October closed at 24.82, compared with 24.79 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady, net 11 points higher to 2 points lower, July being relatively firm.

The market opened steady at an advance of 9 to 17 point. July sold up to 27.45 and December to 24.45 during the first few minutes, but there was a good deal of realizing for over the holiday, and July sagged off to 27.25 or within a point of yesterday's closing quotations, while later months showed net losses of 3 to 14 points, during the afternoon, December selling at 24.20. Complaints of further rains in the South and prospects for a continuance of showery or unsettled weather over the holidays, had a sustaining influence, however, and the close was some 10 to 14 points up from the lowest on covering. The markets at both New Orleans and New York will be closed tomorrow, while Liverpool will remain open for business.

Exports today 1,951 bales, making 4,429,523 so far this season. Port receipts 5,378. United States port stocks 390,632.

MANY LOCATIONS BEING MADE IN ARCHER-WICHITA

Several interesting locations in Wichita county and the Archer county pools made yesterday were:

Barclay and Meadows will drill their No. 14 well in the Hirschl pool.

Durrick is already being erected on block 835, a tract that already has several producers, and the well will be started at once.

No. 4 well of the King Petroleum company is being spudded in on the McCool-Munden-Cole land, Wichita county. No. 1 on the same tract is a producer.

Hunter and Darr have made location for No. 1 on the Ferguson tract in Archer county, section 1 of the Southern Pacific railroad survey.

Location on the Feoguson tract in Archer county has been made for No. 6 of A. T. Sibley on section 2, S. P. R. R. survey.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 29.—Drilling of the Loofburrow test No. 1 on the Graybill farm, three miles east of Frederick, will start Thursday according to contractors. The machinery has been placed and the derrick is up. The rain Monday night insures sufficient water for drilling operations. Mr. Loofburrow said Tuesday that he expected to complete the test within three weeks, using double tour.

WELLS PLUGGED

Wells plugged and abandoned

The Gulf Production company's No. 1 Ramsey, on section 3 the Chilson tract, and its No. 8, on the Jennings tract, section 12, H. T. & B. railroad survey.

No. 7 of E. H. Pigg, on Foster land, section 835, Dennison survey, in Wichita county.

No. 2 of the Buffalo Producing and Refining company, on the Hastie-Daniel tract, in Wichita county.

Navy Gas Up

NEW YORK, May 29.—Mid-continent refiners have advanced the price of new navy gasoline half cent a gallon, making the new price 12½ cents for the 56-58 grade and 13 cents for the 58-60 grade. SUN READY TO BRING WELL IN

Rich Core Taken Out Of Kovar No. 1, Casing Set And Hole Bailed

MEGARGEL, May 29.—The Kovar No. 1 of the Sun company should be brought in this week as the best well in the Swastika field, three and three-quarter miles east of here. A very rich core was taken two days ago after casing had been set and the hole bailed. The location is in the southeast corner of block 2,438 T. E. & L. survey an dis one-half mile northwest of the discovery well.

The Eagle Creek Oil company got the sand at a depth of 1,348 feet on location 300 yards east of the discovery well.

The American Refining company will install cable tools before bringing in its Richardson No. 1, 300 yards north of the discovery well. While it appears it will be an excellent well, it will not be as big as the Kovar.

None of the wells now on the sand have defined the limits of the field nor the trend of production. The Richardson No. 1-B got a sand at 1,405 feet which can be productive. It is drilling below 1,700 feet.

Morrison No. 1 of Charles Featherstone, four miles southeast of Megargel, is below 1,200 feet. Johnson No. 1 of Producers Petroleum company (Rodgers and O'Donohue of Wichita Falls), three miles north of here and Sorelle No. 1 of Batchelder and King, two miles northwest of Megargel, are below 1,000 feet. Portwood No. 1 of Bob Waggoner, Marchman and Hale in Baylor county, four miles southwest of Megargel, has spudded in.

The Sun company is to make several diamond core tests on the Bell county school land survey, six miles northeast of Megargel. Machinery is expected on the ground this week.

This will be the first test of that kind in this part of the country and the oil men here have expressed much interest in the forthcoming tests. Diamonds usually have come after instead of before the discovery of oil.

Floyd Clifton of Wichita Falls, who was painfully burned about the face last week in a flare-back of live oil in a boiler he was tending in the Swastika field, has sufficiently recovered to apepar on the streets without bandages. Shaving at the present time for him is anything but a pleasure.

DRILLING BEGINS ON FARM NEAR TEMPLE

TEMPLE, May 29.—Drilling will be begun today on the test well of the Amerada Petroleum corporation on the Baber farm south of Temple. They are using what is said to be the best string of cable tools ever seen in this part of the country.

The T. and P. Oil and Gas company test in 34-3-9, six miles east and south of Temple were reported down to 1,800 feet the first of the week and drilling in black gumbo and lime.

Haynes and Art Test Shows Lots Of Oil at 1,438

Showing lots of oil at 1,438 feet after drilling a few feet into the sand, the test of Haynes and Art in section 441, block 12 of the J. H. White land in Archer county looks good for a well, and an extension of the producing area.

The test is located in rank wildcat territory, being six miles southeast of the Panther pool, and if it is completed as a producer will open a vast field for operation. It is one mile south of the Shipley test, the well that found a good showing at 1,470 feet a few weks ago, but which failed to make a producer because of trouble in setting casing.

When picked up the sand showed a large amount of oil and looks good for producing pay. Casing is being rushed to the well and will be set at once, the well probably to be drilled in and completed by the end of the week.

TWO NEW COMPANIES

Two new oil companies that have been given permits to do business in the Wichita Falls and Archer pools are:

R. T. Williams et al., with offices in the City National Bank building.

Hunter and Darr, a partnership, with offices in the First National Bank building.

Oranges Lemons Grape Fruit

From the heart of the world's greatest Orange Empire.

FOUR SPECIALS

Send us $2.00 and we will ship you direct either one of these four specials

ONE CRATE OF ORANGES—Holding from ten to twelve dozen of oranges, according to size.

ONE CRATE OF LEMONS—Holding from twelve to fifteen dozen of lemons, according to size.

ONE CRATE OF GRAPE FRUIT—Holding from three to four dozen of grape fruit, according to size.

ONE COMBINATION CRATE—Holding four dozen oranges, four dozen lemons and one dozen grape fruit.

In no other section of the world, do oranges, lemons and grape fruit reach the high point of perfection of those produced in California. Every condition is ideal for the production of quality fruit. Continual sunshine and clear skies during the growing season develop the very finest flavor and generous sizes.

Remember that we ship direct from "Grove to Consumer," thus assuring absolutely fresh fruit full of health-producing, energizing qualities.

Remember that fruit, with its healthful mineral salts and natural light bulk, supplies just those elements most needed to regulate the body after the long winter diet of heavier foods.

Serve fruit in some form every day. It's easily and economically obtained under our plan. CO-OPERATIVE enables you to serve the very choicest fruits—whenever you want them—at truly economical cost.

Curing Your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes: I have followed with interest your intelligent suggestions on how to cure golf faults and would like to ask for a little help myself. It is almost impossible for me to hit a ball properly with wood clubs. I smother the shot through a wrong movement of the wrists. The left hand does not appear to turn over enough on the back stroke, so that it goes out stiff and straight. I play my irons well, but the ball I drive always has a low flight. If you will explain about how much and when the left hand begins to turn, I think it will help me. Also in bringing the club back, should it be brought back on a straight line? —R. J.

Answer: I rather think that your trouble is due to the fact that you are gripping with both hands too far over toward the right, that is your left hand is probably too much on top of the shaft, and your right too much under. If you are doing this, the tendency will be strong for you to tuck your left elbow into your side as you come down, and for the right wrist to roll over to the left. When the clubhead reaches the ball, the face instead of having a slope backward is actually tilted a little forward beyond, even beyond the perpendicular.

The grip that I recommend has the V's formed by the space between the thumbs and forefingers, pointing toward the right shoulder. But to correct your trouble, you might grip with the back of the left hand almost facing the hole, that is, so that when you look down at your hands, you see only the first two knuckles of the left. You many also find it helpful to use a more upright swing. And on the downswing, practice making an effort to pull from the shoulder with the left arm.

Dont' worry too much about how your wrists turn on the backswing, other than to see that they are pretty well under the shaft at the top. If you grip properly and take the club back right, you needn't stop to worry just how your wrists are working.

In taking the club back, it ought to swing inside the line of play extended on back through the ball, and not outside.

(Jim Barnes will suggest a remedy for your golf faults. Write him, care of the sport editor, enclosing stamped envelope, if you want a personal reply.)

PAPER HARDING READS.

A Marion man returning from a visit to the president relates that the president doesn't have time to read the newspapers, he is so busy. But Harding confessed to the caller, that he takes a copy of his own paper, The Marion Star, to his room at night, looks it all over from top to bottom and from first page to last, and then takes a rule and measures up the advertising.... Something surpassing the love and loyalty of a seaman for his ship, of a soldier for his regiment, or a patriot for his country in time of war and the love of loyalty of a newspaper man to his paper.

Non-Suit Entered In Bank Hearing Here

After some testimony had been taken Tuesday in the case of the First National bank at Hopewell vs. Mrs. W. H. Fowlkes, a non-suit was taken by the plaintiff in the county court at law and proceedings stopped.

The suit was one on a note for $750, held by the bank against the plaintiff. When the case came up for trial, the defendant admitted having signed a note for about $719, but denied that she had signed a renewal which brought the total up to $750. She stated that the signature on the note appeared to be her own, but that she had no recollection of ever having written it.

A. H. Britain of this city is head of the committee, other members being J. M. McFall, J. C. Hunt, C. E. McCutcheon, C. H. Clark, Herbert Griffin of Dundee and J. F. Boyd of Iowa Park.

Mrs. Helen Norris, left, and Mrs. Mildred Vierra, right.

Since she was a little girl Mrs. Helen Norris has been a firm believer in the old adage, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." And Mrs. Mildred Vierra for a long, long time has been sold on the idea that "One good turn deserves another." It was a strange coincidence that both went "shopping" in the San Francisco courthouse. Mrs. Vierra helped Mrs. Norris pick out a plain but substantial marriage annulment. Then Mrs. Norris accompanied her to another court and lended her services in choosing an attractive and neat fitting divorce for Mrs. Vierra.

Fire Laddies Hang Crepe Following Death of Affectionate Mascot Pup

Did you ever own a dog?

Theres' a wonderful story over at fire station No. 3. "Toots," bulldog mascot, is dead. "Toots" was a pal to every man on the crew. Affectionate, loyal and companionable this animal won the hearts of all. Now "Toots" is dead. If you've owned a dog, you know that queer feeling of friendship existing between a human and the dumb animal. This news item, concerning the dog's death, will interest you if you have shared a bit of your time with a pup of some sort at one time or another. Read it.

Sympathetic crepe adorned No. 3 fire station Tuesday after a tragedy that cost the life of "Toots," official station mascot, and in so doing orphaned eight tiny bull dog puppies.

The disaster also added another black mark on the debit side of the false alarm ledger, for the trouble started while the truck was speeding to a false alarm from the 1600 block, Seventh street.

Since she wandered into the station months ago, as homeless and forlorn a looking vagabond cur as ever existed, "Toots" has been the pride of the No. 3 crew. A small leather harness was fashioned for her and night and day she rode the big truck every time it responded to an alarm. Always the first one on, she was hooked to a snap on the running board and thus traveled in regal splendor to the scene of action.

She went through two serious accidents unscratched. Once when the truck collided with another machine here she barely escaped death, and later when it turned bottom side up in a deep ditch, seriously injuring two firemen, she came through without a scratch.

When her family arrived the firemen concluded "Toot's" domestic responsibilities were such as to demand her constant attention at the fire station. For this reason she has been kept chained for the past few days, but Tuesday she was allowed her liberty for a few minutes and in that fateful time the alarm came in.

"Toots" leaped to her accustomed place, but was ordered off. Refusing to be left, she chased the machine for blocks and in crossing Tenth was run down by a passing civilian car.

And, now, the whole fire department is wondering what's to become of teh eight little youngsters who whine for their mother.

GOLF LINKS DRAW CROWDS

Muny Course Crowded Every Day; Pool Soon To Be Ready

City officials are highly elated at the popularity now enjoyed by the municipal golf course and declared Tuesday that it was evident that the new public links would become the center of recreation for Wichita Falls before the summer was over.

The course is crowded every day with golf enthusiasts and heavy demands are being made at all times on the club house facilities. Over 500 people played at one time or another on the links last Sunday, it was estimated by Pat Bunnenberg, city park superintendent.

It was announced Tuesday that the new tennis courts, now being constructed, would be ready for play by Saturday of this week and that the swimming pool will be opened also within the next few days. The courts, three in number, will be equal in speed and playing qualities to any in the state.

The swimming pool is also being repaired and renovated so that it will be the equal of any in the city.

Community Band Opens Its Summer Season With Fine Program Tuesday

A fair-sized and appreciative crowd was on hand at the First Methodist Church, South, Tuesday night for the first summer concert of the Wichita Falls Community band, a musical organization composed of local men who have banded themselves together to give this city a real municipal band. The program rendered drew liberal applause from the crowd.

Included in the selections rendered were compositions from several of the old composers, whose instrumental ensembles have always found favor. The difficult parts were handled with an ease and finish that bespoke long and careful rehearsing.

In an intermission address, J. Z. Steinkoenig, manager of the organization asked for the support and cooperation of the public in making the band the success here that it should be.

The band will entertain at the lake Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

OLYMPIC

A picture that was given a screening before a dozen Wichitans and declared by everyone the greatest the star has ever made.

Norma Talmdage

IN BAYARD VEILLER'S PLAY

"Within the Law"

Supported by Jack Mulhall, Lew Cody and Eileen Percy

Notable because—

The role of Mary Turner is to popular American drama what Juliet is to classical drama—an acting part which gives the true artist tremendous scope.

And we believe you'll say Norma is the greatest Mary Turner of all time.

The fiercest of all passions is the love of a woman scorned.

Come! laugh, cry and thrill over the big scenes
