TWELVE HURT IN BURK BLAST

TRADE BOOSTER DRIVE STARTED WITH BIG FUND

Merchants Begin Campaign to Get $40,000 for Extending Territory by Subscribing $12,000.

Expect to Swing $5,000,000 Additional Business Here by Advertising Advantages of This City.

Subscription of more than $12,000 toward the projected $40,000 total to be expended during the next year in the trade extension campaign to be carried on by local merchants in the Wichita Falls trade territory, through which it is expected that $5,000,000 additional retail business now going to other Texas cities will be attracted here, was the size of the starter obtained at a meeting of more than 100 business men at dinner at the Kemp hotel Thursday night.

It is expected by those in charge of the budget for the campaign that the remaining amount will be obtained within a very short time—time sufficient to see the others on the assessment list prepared by the budget committee.

Unqualified endorsement of the movement, and entire confidence in its success were expressed by the speakers. The trade advantages of Wichita Falls and the opportunities in her trade territory were thoroughly analyzed, and it was shown where Wichita Falls could compete on a cold business basis with any other large city in the state, both on the quantity and variety of merchandise offered and on its sale price to the consumer. It was stressed by the men who spoke that Wichita Falls merchants were planning to make a success of the movement on this basis solely—on superior values offered prospective buyers.

Appland Sunday Amusements.

Sentiment in favor of clean and wholesome Sunday amusements was developed at the meeting, Bert Bean leading off by declaring that it was up to Wichita Falls to provide such diversions in place of what he termed Wichita Falls' single Sunday diversion now—"sitting around hotel lobbies."

Mr. Bean's declaration drew applause from the business men in attendance. His position was supported in brief talks by D. L. Tipton and Louis Pink.

Mr. Tipton called attention to the reported intention of certain members of the legislature to introduce a new Sunday law which would close everything tight on Sunday, including shows, baseball games, drug stores and all other places usually open on Sunday. Measures to be taken in opposition to such an intention were

KELL OFFERED USE OF TRACKS OF W.F.R. & F.W.

Judge Barwise Agrees to Use of Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth Line Into Breckenridge.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 6.—In the hearing of the Texas railroad commission today upon the application of the Wichita Falls & Southern Railroad company for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for extending their road from Newcastle, Young county, to Breckenridge, Stephens county, Judge Barwise, representing the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad, submitted an offer to enter into an agreement with the applicant for trackage rights between Jimkern and Breckenridge.

The extension of the road, proposed by Frank Kell of the Wichita Falls and his associates, who sought the application, would parallel the Ranger road from Jimkern to Breckenridge, and the offer today by Judge Barwise is taken to mean that the bulk of the opposition to granting the certificate has been removed. Four railroads operating in West Texas originally submitted proposals to the extension of the road.

In making the offer Judge Barwise said that a just charge would be made for using the tracks between the two points and that his road would expect a similar agreement for using the Kell road tracks into the South Bend territory. Mr. Kell accepted the offer, saying that he thought the plan could be worked out satisfactorily.

The commission closed the hearing late this afternoon and notified the parties concerned that they would have two weeks in which to file briefs concerning the case.

HERE'S DOROTHY'S HUBBY

DOROTHY GISH AND HER HUSBAND, JAMES M. RENNIE, PHOTOGRAPHED JUST AFTER THEIR SECRET WEDDING

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—It was a promise made several years ago when both stars were just emerging from childhood that made Dorothy Gish and Constance Talmadge give filmdom a new sensation by figuring in double wedding that was performed in Greenwich, Conn., recently.

Miss Gish's new husband is James Rennie, now playing in "Spanish Love" and seen as her leading man in her latest picture, "Flying Pat." Miss Talmadge's choice for a life partner is John Tialaglu, a member of firm of tobacco importers with offices in Liberty street. Before his marriage Tialaglu lived at the St. Regis.

Both Miss Gish and Miss Talmadge have been reported engaged on several occasions, but both young women were emphatic in their denials. They have announced many times that they intended to remain single. But something has changed their minds. They are still firm in the statement that they intend to go right on making pictures.

The marriages were announced by Mrs. Margaret Talmadge and Mrs. Mary Gish, mothers of the brides, both of whom were surprised at the sudden weddings. But the families of all concerned were quick to give their blessings and express their approval of the matches.

Deserted Husband Files Charge Of Grand Larceny Against Man Whom He Claims Stole His Wife

By Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 6.—A warrant charging grand larceny against Pierre Paul Arthur, Highland Park, Ill., chemist, who had been reported missing since Jan. 1, was issued today by Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessey after Phillip Franzen, a University of Wisconsin employe, had made a statement to the police declaring that Arthur had "stolen his wife at the point of a pistol" and forced him to furnish $100, for a "honeymoon," which Arthur and Mrs. Franzen were quoted as saying they were going to take Franzen said his wife left their baby with him.

Franzen's statement told of a love quadrangle covering three continents and contained charges of double bigamy, gun play, and infidelity. Arthur, his wife in Highland Park, Franzen, and his wife, who, he says left his home with Arthur after telling him that she had married Arthur 13 years ago in Australia, were the characters in the story told the police.

"I came home last Tuesday night," said Franzen, according to the police," and my wife, Charlotte, met me in the hall. She smiled and asked me if I had had a good time. Before I could answer, Arthur came out of a living room and with a gun in his hand forced me to go into the living room. There he told me that he had married Charlotte 13 years ago in Australia. Two years later they were separated, Arthur told me, and ever since he had been looking for her. He said he had journeyed through Australia, Europe and the United States and that now that he had found her he did not intend to lose her.

"He told me he had changed his name to Arthur and that his real name was Pierre Paul De Voy. In Highland Park, he said, he had a wife and baby.

"Then he forced me to sign a paper in which I waived all claims against Charlotte De Voy, her chattels or her estate. She signed a paper waiving similar claims against me.

"Arthur, or De Voy, made me write a check for $100, which Charlotte went out and cashed, while Arthur remained in the room with the pistol pointed at me. He said it would pay for their honeymoon.

"They left then, and as my wife went out she turned and said: 'You can keep the brat; I don't want him,' referring to our child."

Arthur was known as the "Spanish Grandee" in Highland Park, where it was said that he was the descendant of Spanish nobility.

O'CALLAGHAN PAROLED BY SEC. WILSON

Lord Mayor of Cork Is Ordered Released Pending Final Disposition of Case by Immigration Officials.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Conflict between the department of state and labor were foreshadowed today over final decision as to the admission of Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who was apprehended by immigration authorities upon his arrival at Newport News from Ireland as a stowaway without a passport.

Action of Secretary Wilson today in paroling O'Callaghan on his own recognizance, it was indicated, has been taken without consultation with the state department.

Even should O'Callaghan now be deported, it was held at the state department, that before that could be brought about there would be nothing to prevent his coming to Washington and accomplishing his announced mission to the United States of testifying before the commission of the committee of one hundred investigating Irish conditions.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, it is understood, has virtually decided to sustain the appeal of O'Callaghan to the department of labor from the decision of the board of inquiry at Newport News excluding the lord mayor.

Before taking action on O'Callaghan's appeal, however, it would be the usual custom of the department of labor in the case of an alien arriving in the United States without a passport to defer decision until it had been ascertained whether the department of state was willing to waive passport restrictions commonly imposed upon the entrance to the United States of aliens.

On account of the friction which is said to have developed between the departments of state and labor, over the admissability of aliens without passports, it was understood today that Secretary Wilson probably would sustain the appeal of O'Callaghan without any reference of the case to the department of state.

Acting on the impression that the case already had been referred to the state department, acting Secretary Davis of the state department today took the matter under advisement and indicated that the policy of the department probably would be against waiving passport restrictions in O'Callaghan's favor. Secretary Davis said the lord mayor could be scarcely considered a political refugee, when a fellow official of the so-called Irish government, Eamonn De Valera, was reported to have returned to Ireland, and he stated further that to waive passport restrictions in the case would serve only to nullify the passport law.

NOBLE CASINGHEAD GAS CREW CAUGHT IN RUSH OF TONGUES OF FLAME

With the admission to the Wichita General hospital Thursday morning of J. W. Smith, the story of an explosion at the C. F. Noble Oil and Refining company's casinghead gasoline plant in the Burkburnett field last Wednesday night, and the injury of 12 employes, one probably fatally, became known here. The men were burned in varying degrees of seriousness.

The injured:

W. Harrell, probably fatally, Burkburnett hospital.
O. C. Dudley.
J. C. Ingram.
J. C. Ray.
Fred S. Houcke.
Forrest Glidewell.
H. W. Cotner.
T. H. Moore.
Lois Wilson.
Lewis H. Smith.
W. E. Nichols.
J. W. Smith.

Property Damage Heavy.

Considerable property damage resulted from the fire and explosion which occurred in a building containing 12 compressors used to force casinghead gas from the wells of the northwest field to the casinghead plant of the company at Burkburnett.

Harrell and the other employes were taken immediately after the explosion to the hospital at Burkburnett, with the exception of J. W. Smith, who was brought to the General hospital of this city. Harrell was badly burned about the face, hands and chest. He is reported to be in a critical condition Thursday night. Other employes, whose burns were confined to the head and hands were improving rapidly.

The exact cause of the explosion is unknown, according to J. M. Duncan of the local office, in charge of all the Noble interests in this section of the state. According to reports to Mr. Duncan, a valve was broken on one of the main lines, running into the booster station. The leak caused the gas to saturate the entire building, which is about 125 feet long by 120 feet wide and of galvanized iron construction.

Cause Not Known.

Three or four employes were repairing the valve and others were standing in the building when the explosion occurred. Just what set off the casing head gas in the building is not known, Mr. Duncan stated. So far as was learned none of the employes were smoking and there was no fire of any kind near the building.

The safety type of building probably saved the lives of several men, Mr. Duncan said. If it had been of brick construction the force of the explosion would have been confined and much greater, he said ,and would have had more serious consequences. The building, being of galvanized iron, blew out without a high pressure being generated. Although the building was completely wrecked the 10 compressors were not damaged. All 10 were again placed in operation within 24 hours.

Superintendent Gives Aid.

In connection with the explosion employes said that record-breaking time was established between the scene of the explosion and the casinghead gasoline plant of the company at Burkburnett by Superintendent Hanning, in charge of the plant. Notified by wire of the explosion, he is said to have made the trip from the plant to the scene of the explosion, a distance of four and a half miles in eight minutes. Mr. Hanning aided in giving first aid treatment to the injured and drove several of the men to the hospital at Burkburnett.

The wounded men were difficult to identify in the smoke, ruins and confusion which prevailed. Too weak to talk, many of them had to be identified by residents of the oil field territory adjacent, who came to the plant and the hospital at Burkburnett to find out if any of their relatives were among the injured.

PENROSE WILL HELP FORDNEY TARIFF BILL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Supporters of the Fordney emergency tariff measure were given encouragement today by the announcement of Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee that he would use his influence to obtain passage of the bill. The Pennsylvania senator, in a formal statement, issued after his committee opened hearings on the measure, assured his republican colleagues that he would join them in pushing the legislation at this session, but declared for modification of the rates carried by the bill as it passed the house.

While the senate committee was holding its initial hearings and while senators were attempting to assess the effect of Senator Penrose's statement, the house ways and means committee heard more than 20 witnesses on revision of the present Underwood tariff act. The house committee took up Schedule A, and the witness discussed from technical standpoints questions of higher import duties on chemicals, paints and oils, which come under the first division of the Underwood law.

TEXAS TO GET 3 ADDITIONAL CONGRESSMAN

Bill Will Be Offered in House Increasing Membership From 435 to 483 Under Reapportionment.

Another Measure to Be Submitted Would Limit Representative Membership to 400.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 6.—The membership of the house of representatives would be increased to 483 under a bill which will be reported tomorrow by Chairman Siegel of the census committee to fix the reapportionment for the next ten years under the 1920 census. The bill would mean an increase of 48 over the present membership of 435. No state would lose any representation.

At the same time Representative Siegel will introduce a constitutional amendment to limit the size of future houses to 400 members.

Adoption of the reapportionment measure would result in an increase in the total vote of the electoral college to 579, making 289 necessary for the election of a president and vice president of the United States. The present vote is 531, making 266 necessary for a choice.

California would make the largest gain of new members, five, under the bill, bringing her total to 16. Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania would gain four each. Illinois and Texas three, Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina two each, while Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, Mingon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virnesota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin would gain one each.

No action was taken by the committee on the demands of Representative Tinkham, (rep.), Massachusetts, for the application of the fourteenth amendment and reduction of representation to those states in which occur alleged disfranchisements, on account of suffrage questions, principally literacy tests and poll tax requirements.

The basis of representation is fixed in the committee's bill at one member for each 218,979 inhabitants as compared to 211,873 at present.

Members of the committee were said to have been practically unanimous in support of the bill after an effort to fix the membership at 460 had failed.

COOLIDGE IS SUCCEEDED BY GOVERNOR COX

By Associated Press

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Calvin Coolidge, was a plain citizen tonight for the first time in years. As such he went to the family fireside at Northampton for a husband's and father's rest from the affairs of state before going to the national capitol in March as vice-president.

The transition from governor to ordinary citizen was accomplished simply. In an informal proceeding the retiring governor handed to Channing H. Cox, his successor, the ponderous key of the executive chamber, the butler bible and the arrowhead and flint that signify the duty of keeping faith with the state's vanishing Indian charges. Then he took his hat and without official escort left the executive chambers by a side door while in the main entry the inaugural procession of Governor Cox began to form. Citizen Coolidge found a group of friends awaiting him below and with them he walked out of the state house, while the band blared a hail to the new chief.

After a luncheon in town with a few friends, the vice president-elect set out for home. At the station he had to edge the way for Mrs. Coolidge through a crowd and then seek a seat. The retiring governor and his wife went to Northamption as the ordinary citizens that the day's events made him, riding in a day coach, the man reading a newspaper and the woman knitting something that looked like a sock in its first stages.

West Texas Oil Sets Big Prices On School Land

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Jan. 6.—The annual school sale at Austin, Colonel B. F. George of Burkburnett has written friends here, is attracting comparatively big bids on West Texas stuff on account of oil prospects. The prices range from $2 to $51 per acre. Colonel George write that he bid on 12 sections and obtained only three.

He declared that B. F. Johnson of Wichita Falls, legislator-elect from this district, would be "boomed" for speaker of the Texas house of representatives when it convenes in its 37th session. Reports from Wichita Falls say that Mr. Johnson is not an aspirant for the position.

Colonel George declared that he had obtained the consent of the state agricultural department to grade a sample of each bale of cotton ginned in Burkburnett.

Colonel George's opinion as to the probable results of this action he worded as follows:

"Our cotton growers will then ship direct to Galveston and get 14, instead of 7 cents. Freight is only 88 cents per hundred pounds. We will contract with the cotton mills at Waxahatchie and Bonham to turn some of our 7-cent cotton into overall goods worth $1.50 per pound. There are 1,000,000 bales of cotton in the field in Texas. We will make it possible and profitable to pick it."

Oil Company Pays 300 Per Cent in Stock, Suit Shows

It developed Thursday in the case of L. G. Simonds vs. A. P. Ryman, trustee for the Pioneer Oil company in the Eighty-ninth district court, that the capital stock of the company had been increased from $75,000 to a half million and that a 300 per cent stock dividend had been paid. The evidence showed that after payment of the $225,000 dividends $200,000 in treasury stock yet remained in the treasury.

The suit of Mr. Simonds asks that a receiver be appointed until another suit filed against the company can be settled.

RELIEF MONEY IS NOT WANTED FROM POOR FOLK

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Money for relief of European children is wanted only from American communities where children are well provided with the necessities of life. Herbert Hoover declared today in answering objections raised by city officials at a meeting to organize the local campaign in behalf of the European relief council.

"Charity begins at home," said Mr. Hoover after Bird S. Coler, commissioner of the department of public welfare said he was "not sure" that he should appeal for European children while New York institutions caring for unfortunate youngsters "were on the verge of bankruptcy."

Mr. Hoover said it was "a disgrace if any child in New York is in want." He pointed out that this city is the richest in the world and has an 18-months supply of foodstuffs in storage. A suggestion by Mr. Coler that part of the money raised here be donated to local charities was not approved by Mr. Hoover.

After the meeting it was announced that the campaign for funds will be started soon with Mayor Hylan acting as chairman of the local committee.

The executive committee of the University Club decided at a meeting in the Wichita State Bank Thursday to reduce the club dues to $1.50 per month. or $4.50 per quarter. The dues were $15 per quarter, effective at once. The meeting place for the weekly luncheons will be held at the Kemp hotel every Tuesday at 12:10 p. m., it was announced.

The offer of W. S. Curlee and B. F. Johnson of a 20-acre tract in Indian Heights, valued at $35,000, as a site for a junior college was formally accepted along with the proviso that $100,000 be subscribed to for college buildings A campaign will be inaugurated to get the money.

In a statement as to the club's purposes the committee declared that it aimed to:

"Make Wichita Falls a better place to live; to show the state and county what a city can do for itself; to help the needy and ambitious boy or girl get an education; to foster and promote athletics in the schools; to obtain a junior college here where boys and girls from 14 to 20 years of age may obtain the first two years' of college training; to promote better feeling and acquaintance among its members in a social way."

passed up to the legislative committee of the association.

C. W. Reid's Program.

The idea that one of the best ways for the attraction of trade lies indirectly through the providing of attractions with which to draw people to the city was brought out by C. W. Reid, who favored, among other things, the construction of a civic auditorium of sufficient size to accommodate conventions, and at which convetnions could be held practically all of the time, as well as superior operatic and theatrical attractions, as one of the best means for the attraction of this retail trade.

Mr. Reid also gave his hearty endorsement to the proposal for the construction of a junior college here.

Later on he brought out the fact that there is a real need here for the construction of a new seven or eight-story office building, and told of a number of corporations which wanted to locate offices in Wichita Falls but had not been able to secure sufficient office accommodations.

Banks Press Fort Worth.

The fact that Wichita Falls banks already have extended their business throughout a radius of 100 miles, and were steadily overcoming the comparatively slight lead now held by the Fort Worth banks in deposits and resources also was mentioned by Mr. Reid.

That the Wichita Falls merchants, in putting on this campaign, are not out after the trade which legitimately belongs to the merchants in the surrounding cities was brought out early in the meeting by Burton Stayton, president of the Retail Merchants' association, who presided. The business which the Wichita Falls merchants were after, he declared, is that which is now going to other of the larger cities of Texas, which have, in most cases, not as much to offer as Wichita Falls.

W. W. Anderson Speaks.

Four principle lines of activity in the spreading of the attractiveness of Wichita Falls as a retail trading point were outlined by W. W. Anderson, chairman of the "Looking Forward" committee of the association, who was called on by Mr. Stayton to outline the "meat" of the proposition.

They are:

1. A campaign in the news papers, spreading the friendly relations of the Wichita Falls merchants to the people of the towns in her trade territory; to emphasize that Wichita Falls does not want the trade that rightfully belongs to the merchants of their community, but wants that which ordinarily goes to other large cities.
2. To work up a list of the institutions of each town and issue a special newspaper edition giving it publicity and see that each resident is furnished with a copy of the paper.
3. To mail booklets and other literature to all individuals, whose addresses can be obtained from telephone directories and other sources.
4. To make at least two trade trips out of Wichita Falls between now and next Fall.

Wichita Asks No Favors.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that in a city like Wichita Falls the bringing of trade to the merchants means the bringing of prosperity to the entire city, in that it builds up bank deposits, improves credit nad puts money where everyone can have a chance at it.

"Wichita Falls pays commercial tribute to no city, she is a new market place, a new metropolis and a trading center that begs no favors in comparison with any of the older markets," Hubert Harrison, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce told the meeting. Mr. Harrison declared that the Chamber of Commerce, which was working for the city as a whole, felt that a concerted advertising campaign, such as planned by the merchants was the greatest hope of the present, and guaranteed his unqualified support.

Mr. Harrison urged the merchants to bring the building of colleges and amusement houses into their plans This is not philanthropy, but bread and butter," he said. "For these things will bring people to the city, who will then stay over for their buying.

Says Investment Will Pay

Mr. Harrison closed urging the merchants to realize that the money expended in this campaign would be an investment that would bring far greater results in dollars and cents than the usual investments made by them.

Others endorsing the movement in brief talks included Marvin Smith, Orville Bullington, Saul Lebenson and R. E. T. Bohart.

Like the other speakers, Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that the money subscribed in the movement would net big returns on the investment. He brought on the important bearing that the better train service on the Fort Worth and Denver for which local commercial organizations are striving, will have on thhe campaign.

Mr. Bullington, Mr. Lebenson and Mr. Bohart, in expressing their endorsement, pledged the support of the institutions with which they are coning, will have on the campaign.

Dues From $5 to $100.

The size of the subscription ranged from $100 per month for the larger department stores down to $5 per month for the smaller businesses which do not so directly benefit through the campaign which is planned.

Commencing the work of the University club in their campaign to bring a Junior College to the city, G. W. Reid, vice president of the City National Bank, asked the merchants to lend their efforts to building institutions that will attract visitors. He pointed out that in addition to the trade that students would bring, parents and relatives would come in to visit students and then naturally stay over for trading.

Mr. Reid said that he could vouch for the rest of the banking fraternity that this movement would receive their unqualified support.

The speaker declared that Wichita Falls banks had come through the period of financial strain in a healthy condition, and that in some instances increases in deposits were noted.

UNCLE SAM GIVES COMMUNISTS XMAS GIFTS: THEIR TICKETS BACK TO EUROPEAN SHORES

Some of the departing Communists "walking the (gang) plank" at Ellis Island.

Uncle Sam's holiday greetings to twenty-three Communists who were known to be leaders in spreading the doctrine of Lenine in the U. S. consisted of transportation back to the lands from whence they came. Strange to say, these undesirables who talked so loudly of the injustice done the poor man in this country were quite loath to leave for other shores—even though the voyage will take them nearer Lenine and the Communist haven.

Hun Music Heard While Cox Takes Seat as Governor

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Strains of German music were borne on the same breezes that stirred the battle flags of the Yankee division at the inauguration of Governor Channing H. Cox at the state house today.

City National Deposits Are About $14,500,000

Deposits in the City National Bank of Commerce are approximately fourteen and a half million, it is pointed out by C. W. Reid, president, in correcting an error in the listing of deposits on the call of December 29. The exact figurees are $14,476,799.01 instad of $14,214,100.00 as given in published accounts.

This represents, he points out, an increase of approximately a quarter of a million over the last call, and makes the deposits of the City National Bank of Commerce almost as much as deposits in all other Wichita Falls banks combined.

Ex-Service Man Faces Trial for Typist's Death

MISS IRENE MUNRO.

LEWES, Sussex, Jan. 6.—All England is following with intense interest the trial here of two ex-service men, Thomas Gray and Alfred Field, charged with the murder of a pretty 18-year-old typist, Miss Irene Munro.

Although the case is low and sordid even for a murder, the public interest is exceptionally strong because of the youth and beauty of the victim, the imperturbable self-assurance of the two prisoners, and the presence of the famous barrister, Sir Edward Marshall, who is defending one of the accused.

This is the third big murder case Sir Edward has defended the past year. In the two previous cases, when things at the beginning looked exceedingly bad for his clients, he won a verdict of "not guilty."

Miss Munro was murdered last August while on her holiday at Eastbourne, presumably on the 19th of the month. The next day a little boy, kicking his way along the beach, stumbled over a human foot half buried in the sand, which led to the discovery of the body.

At the coroner's inquest several witnesses testified that they had seen the two accused men with Miss Munro not many hours before her death.

Cabinet Places Not Decided on By Sen. Harding

By Associated Press.

MARION, O., Jan. 6.—Conclusive information about the cabinet preferences of President-elect Harding still is lacking and as the days go by without definite development, the number of those mentioned for appointment in speculation here is increasing rather than narrowing.

Two weeks ago there were many indications that the announcement of at least two selections was imminent. Those who had talked with Mr. Harding generally agreed that Charles Evans Hughes of New York was uppermost in his mind for secretary of state and that Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, had the inside track for secretary of treasury. There was equal unanimity in the prediction that these selections and possibly that of Henry Wallace of Iowa for secretary of agriculture would be known very early in the new year.

The fisheries of the sea of Galilee, once prosperous, are now almost entirely neglected.

Smugglers on Border Employ Barrage Cover

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 6.—Shielded by barrage fire from smugglers on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, an aged Mexican woman carried a sackful of tequila across the river early today and deposited the liquor on the American side. Just as she laid down her burden immigration officers from El Paso began to return the fire of the smugglers, according to a detailed report made by Chief Immigration Officer C. A. Perkins.

A woman, Gertrude Montalva of Juarez, was seriously wounded, perhaps fatally, by cross fire. A sack full of liquor was confiscated.

Immigration officers announced that a number of cases recently have come under their notice of men sending women and children with liquor across the river.

Jones groaned miserably.

"You got off lightly," he said. "You don't know what it is like being married to a woman who has been a school teacher. She didn't say much, but she made me sit up till I had written out 'I must be home every night by 10 o'clock' 100 times on the slate."

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years of age and engaged to a boy 19 years old. My parents object to my going with him.

I have a step-father and he isn't the least bit good to me, and I can not see anything else to do but marry.

The boy has proved that he loves me and he is awfully nice to me. He gave his best sweetheart up for me when I came home from college.

Please tell me what to do.

A. J.V. F.

Do not marry now. The times are too hard and you would get a wrong start. It will be better to put up with unkindness from your step-father than to marry when you could not get along from want of money. There are very few young men of 19 who could possibly support a wife with prices so high.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a fellow who most girls consider radical, but I do abhore rouge, lipsticks and eyebrow pencils, and not a few girls nowadays use them.

I admire a quiet girl, one who goes out but once or twice a week, and one who considers herself too good for a few common persons. Also, I generally pick the blonds, although I have no particular reason why.

Another thing I dislike to see is a young girl running to every dance that comes along; nothing seems to lower a girl so quickly.

I know one girl in particular whom I admire greatly, but who is too young to receive my attentions. I don't mind waiting, however, and when it comes time I hope to have a clean record to show her.

Please criticize me as much as you see necessary and I will be more than thankful.

JUST PLAIN BILL.

You certainly have a critical nature. I would advise you to look for the qualities you do like and spend less time thinking about imperfections and failings. It is a fine thing to be an idealist, but you are apt to be disappointed as you go through life. It is a very fine thing to look for the soul back of the painted face.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping steady company with a certain fellow for two years and over. He has gone with other girls while he was going with me. Do you think he would have gone with anyone else if he cared for me.

We have been promised several times and for some reason broken it. He has gone to another town to work and drives 65 miles to see me once a week on Saturday and goes back on Sunday.

About nine months ago he got me a very fine diamond ring, and the last time he was back he got me a ruby. Do you think he cares for me?

A JOLLY KID.

"Yes, I should say that the young man cares for you. My understanding of 'steady company,' however, is that neither party should go with anyone else.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and am considered very pretty. I am not allowed to go with boys or associate with them, as my girl friend does. I have not many girl friends and very seldom go out.

My mother says that when I wear my dresses longer I can have company and go out with other girls.

Please tell me how long I should wear my dresses. I am considered very tall. LONESOME.

It is difficult to advise you about the length of your skirts without seeing you. I should say that eight or ten inches from the floor would be a good length for a tall girl of 16.

Sausage and Apples—Core fair sized apples smooth (any good baking apple will do). Grimes Golden, Northern Spy or Greenings are all good. Fill the opening with sausage—country sausage, if procurable—put in just enough water to form a rich juice, enough brown, or, better still, maple sugar to sweeten to taste. Bake until tender. Odd, but delicious.

Sour Milk Pancakes—Two cups sour milk, two scant teaspoons of salt, two scant teaspoons of sugar, two scant teaspoons of soda. (Take a teaspoon of each to every cup of sour milk.) Take flour enough to make a thin batter.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING.

One egg, one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon wet mustard, one teaspoon butter, one teaspoon flour dissolved in one-half cup water, one cup vinegar.

Beat well and boil till smooth and thick, stirring all the time while boiling. Beat till it becomes chilled.

DISHWASHING HELPS.

To remove the discoloration on the tips of spoons or other dishes made by eggs yolks, use a little table salt applied with a soft cloth; then wash in hot suds, dry and polish with old wiping towel.

To cleanse vinegar cruets and other glassware on which unsightly deposits have accumulated, fill the bottle with a half-dozen buckshot or small pebbles and warm water, to which is added a pinch of baking soda and a sprinkle of washing powder. Shake vigorously. If the deposit is very thick leave over night. Then rinse thoroughly with clean, hot water.

If there is good hot water in the faucet, try this way of rinsing the dishes: Stack the dishes upright in the drying pan and pour on a liberal supply of hot water. The dishes will dry themselves. If you have a section of rubber tubing, attach to the faucet and spray through the tubing.

The drainboard should always be at the left of the sink, and high Have stocking surface to the right. Wash dishes of same size together. The dishpan should conform to the size and shape of the sink. Sitting down to work makes the strain less.

To clean a tea or coffee pot that has a rim of deposit inside fill the pot with warm water to which one-half teaspoonful of washing powder is added. Let stand until the next meal; pour off, rinse in clear, hot water and lay with top off in the air and sun.

Never place the dishes or utensils which have contained custard, gelatin, egg or starchy food directly into hot water; always scrape thoroughly first and rinse in cold water; then wash in hot water.

One of the important uses of dish washing is to sterilize the dishes so they will be perfectly sanitary before the next meal. It can be done only if the water is hot enough, and also if it contains some natural sanitary cleansing agent, like a good soap or washing powder.

The miller at the old windmill of a village in Buckinghamshire found such difficulty in getting his sails to work through want of wind that he was continually behind with his work. The delay annoyed the farmers, who decided to call a meeting to consider the advisability of getting up another windmill.

Uninvited, the miller also attended the meeting, and in the midst of the discussion rose and said: "Ye want to get up another windmill, do ye? Well, it takes all the wind in the parish to keep my old mill agoin', so you'll have to fish elsewhere for yer wind, that's sartin!"

This novel argument gave matters the turn, and to this day the miller has had no opposition.

UNUSUAL MODES FOR NORTHERN OR SOUTHERN WINTER WEAR

Here are three dainty costumes which will please the young woman of today whether she expects to spend the next few months at home in the north or playing in the balmy south. The white costume at the left is more suitable for the southern sojourn. The skirt is of a white, heavy woolen material and with it is worn a blouse made of a fine white woven silk. The blouse is made somewhat after the fashion of a sweater. It is trimmed with black cuffs and a wide, fringed black sash. A white ratine hat embroidered in black wool stitching completes the costume.

The other two costumes are good for almost any clime or occasion. Both are particularly smart for afternoon. Navy duvet de laine fashions the one in the center. The main feature of this simple little frock, aside from the bell sleeves and hip trimming, is the application of the gray bands and buttons which are used as contrast on the darker material.

Satin is the material which makes the fetching quaker gray costume at the right. The frock is simply made, but the striking features are the krimmer fur around the neck, the huge fur cuffs, and the fur buttons to hold up the hem. A veil reaching to the ground is worn on the pretty satin toque, which is also gray.

Gray slippers and hose complete the gray study.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

BY EDITH MORIARTY

Sara Bard Field.

When the first convention of women voters ever held in this country met in San Francisco in 1915, it delegated a slender, brown-haired woman to carry a monster suffrage petition across the country to Washington.

When the first convention of women voters since the victory of national suffrage is held at Washington next month the same little woman will represent the millions of enfranchised women in presenting to the capitol the first suffrage memorial statue. Her name is Sara Bard Field, and in spite of a frail constitution, the cares of a family and the carrying on of her own profession of writing, she has managed to accomplish suffrage agitation in most of the western cities, where she is known as one of the most persuasive orators on the western coast.

She will make, it is predicted, a thrilling ceremony of the presentation of the suffrage memorial statue to the capitol, the first national recognition of the great work done by those three great women, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Field, like Miss Anthony, Mrs. Mott and their successor, Alice Paul, comes of Quaker stock. Her family lived in Detroit, where the father was a successful business man. Sara herself lived there until the age of eighteen, when, to the great joy of her deeply religious father, she married a young foreign missionary, who took her to Burma. There her first child was born, and there the young mother suffered so from the climate that she had to be brought home. After they had settled in Portland, Ore., such were the family finances that Mrs. Field found it necessary to earn money herself, and she began to write.

Probably writing came naturally to her, for she is a cousin of the poet, Eugene Field, and other members of her family have literary tendencies. At any rate, she has since done work, usually in the form of imaginative and poetic essays, which has attracted wide attention. Her first assignment, however, was a newspaper job; she was sent to cover the McNamara case in San Francisco, when that was filling the papers.

MY SHEPHERD:

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.—Psalm 23: 1 and 6.

UP TO WICHITA FALLS.

W. S. Curlee and B. F. Johnson have taken a public-spirited lead in putting before Wichita Falls a square-cut issue as to whether or not this city wants a junior college. They have announced the conditional donation of a 35-acre tract in Indian Heights, which is an excellent location for such a school.

The proviso attached is that the citizens subscribe or obtain in some fashion at least $100,000 for buildings for school purposes.

The University club, which sponsored the call for a Junior college here, accepted the offer and announced that it would start a campaign to raise the money at once.

One hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money just now. But it can be obtained. Wichita Falls' public-spirited business men can put over anything that they want bad enough. The oil and refined products market here was threatened by announcement of curtailment of pipe line purchases. The banks agreed to guarantee a two million-dollar marketing fund to handle the sale of seventy-five million dollars of oil and refined.

That's merely a recent instance.

There is no doubt that Wichita Falls needs a junior college. Dr. Ira Landreth, noted Chautauqua lecturer, speaking here Tuesday, added his testimony to former calls for a Junior college. Dr. Landreth said that 120 miles is too far for many boys and girls here to travel to go to school. It means that many of them have to forego higher education until the opportunity is provided here.

A Junior college is good advertising for a city. Another point that supporters of the movement cite with significance is its indirect relation on the possible location here later of a big state college.

It is a practical certainty that another state college will be built sooner or later. Texas is too big and growing too fast to continue long with only her present state institutions of higher learning.

It is just as certain that it should be located in West Texas, which is the fastest growing section of the United States today. It is growing with a rapidity which southern and east Texas can not compare.

So eventually the issue will come to be one of what town in West Texas will get a new state college. If Wichita Falls has a junior college, which serves to feed the higher institutions, has made good with it, attracted advertising through this school, it can step into the race with a big advantage at the outset.

RECORD LAUDS WICHITANS.

Texas has 25,000,000 acres of overflow lands. These lands are the richest under the southern sun. This reminds an exchange that 2,648,000 acres are now being irrigated by water from government projects. During 1919 the value of crops grown on lands within government reclamation projects was $25,000,000 greater than the total of $25,000,000 expended on all projects up to the close of the last fiscal year. Messrs. J. A. Kemp, Frank Kell and their associates in irrigation projects are building as wise men build. HEARTHS.

Playgoers nightly turn to glance at each other: "There's a good deal in it, you know," when Lady Utterwood declares to her fellow guests at Heartbreak House that what England needs is "stables"—the old, healthy vigor of the daybreak gallop. Nobody has told us so simply what the matter is with the United States. Who knows but that we need wood fires?

They have always been the symbols of home and hospitality, of ancestry and estate, or comfort and sociability. People once were devoted to their own backlogs. It took a hearthfire to make a home of a manor or a cot. As short a space ago as Colonel Carter's day coal was merely "one of the features of the place, suh," and an evening before the radiator would have been considered both dismal and barbarous.

Who can imagine feeling tender towards a furnace? The emotions it rouses are seditious, nomadic, even profane. We cannot go down to our cellars on the first of the year and wreathe the furnace and throw in with ceremony a new shovelful of coal. The bourgeois Latrobe heater had at least its splendid squares of isinglass, and you could contrive much affection for it. But furnaces and radiators that thump and snort may be undermining society. The home now has no center. Hearth-worship has changed to the Black Mass of the cellar. We have no reverence for our fires, nor for their grim priest, the janitor.

There should be wood fires again, the poetry of heat. Every one knows that there is no substitute for the mysterious cracklings, the bubblings of prisoned sap, and the vague, astringent fragrances of the forest that they bring. "Wood smoke!"—the romance of age after age of campfires hangs about the name. What glamour enfolds the furnace?—New York Evening Post. (Ind.)

Editorial Digest

BACK TO JUNGLE LAW

From the editorial viewpoint, evidently, the way to stop a crime wave is to stop it. The policy adopted by Chicago's new police commissioner—"Don't arrest, shoot!"—strikes most commentators as a more reasonable approach to the problem than either "grand stand play" or the simple method of ridding one community of criminals by passing them on to the neighbors. Judges come in for their share of the criticism, as well, and there is a general demand in the press for convictions and sentences that will inspire a wholesome respect for law and courts.

All admit, says the Rocky Mountain News (Denver, Ind.), that the present orgy of crime is largely the result of "the European saturnalia," and "war's madness cannot be shaken off so easily as it can be taken on. Lawlessness cannot be subdued through the signing of an armistice." To cure this "disease" the Springfield (Mass.) Republican (Ind.) feels that "it must be attacked at the source"; and in the opinion of this paper, the tactics followed by city officials are resulting merely in "spreading the pest." The method of expelling undesirables "is a good deal like that adopted by a good many western towns in dealing with the I. W. W., and it is not likely to be more successful. It is easy to understand the temptation of a community to get rid of a hard problem by passing it along," but "driving loafers into vagabondage is very far from transforming them into desirable citizens." Moreover, in the opinion of the Topeka Capital (Rep.) "the police care nothing what becomes of the criminals so long as they quit operating in a particular bailiwick," and in this system of "passing along the criminals" there is no inducement to them "to change their practices, either in the way of a genuine organized scheme of punishing crime and preventing it, or by the more difficult and idealistic process of guidance and direction into good citizenship."

There is in the present crisis however, much less interest in the Capital's suggestion of "direction into good citizenship" than in the "genuine punishment of crime." The Boston Transcript (Ind. Rep.) expresses the attitude of most of the press when it suggests that "the question may well be asked whether an essential weakness and flabbiness in the administration of justice is not in a considerable degree responsible for the present 'wave of crime'. The fear of the law, as the Albany Times Union (Ind.) sees it, "is the only weapon with which society can protect itself in this emergency, and it must be vigorously used." America is now "paying the penalty far too great leniency" toward the criminal class, the Louisville Courier Journal (Dem.) believes and it offers this proof:

"In this country we convict and execute less than two of 100 cold-blooded murderers arraigned. We send to prisons, which we term in some state 'reformatories' men guilty of crime for which they should be hanged. We coddle them in prison, and under laws owing to their existence to exaggerated sentiment for the criminal, we turn them out so soon that they are encouraged to continue their criminal careers."

Commenting on the statement of Judge Rosalsky, of New York that in his opinion "every man convicted of robbery should be senteaced to prison for life, because a highwayman is a potential murderer," the Boston Herald (Ind. Rep.) says he "shows a real grasp of the situation," and the Indianapolis Star (Ind. Rep.) believes there is much to support his position. Such man "are entitled to no mercy, and when they are made to realize that none will be extended them they will take fewer chances and the number of crimes will be greatly diminished." The proposal appears to the Bangor (Me.) Commercial (Ind.) "a drastic one, yet there is no question but in recent years, because of light sentences, the parole system, and steadily increasing pardons the criminal does not fear punishment as formerly."

Urges Creation Of New Banking Bureau in State

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 6.—That the banking and insurance departments of the state should be under separate heads, with salaries of $10,000, is advocated by Commissioner of Insurance and Banking J. T. McMillin, in his annual report to the governor. He also urges increase in bank examiners' salaries, with $3,000 minimum and $5,000 maximum per annum.

He also recommends that savings depositors hereafter be protected by the depositors' guaranty fund, instead of "non-interest-bearing and unsecured deposits," and that all state banks be required to adopt the guaranty fund plan for protection of its depositors.

Sheriff to "Vag" Loafers in Fight Upon Highjacker

The sheriff's department recently has gone to work to "vag" idlers out of town. Deputies declare that by so doing, they will give considerable protection against highjackers. They believe that most of the highwaymen come from the ranks of the loafers.

In the last twenty-four hours, 25 vagrants have been arrested and fined. Two of them, on whom guns were found, will work out sentences on the county roads.

The turkey was to have been
A Sunday dinner for his family.
He was spied by a member of
A humane society and arrested
For carrying the turkey
By the legs because
Ie was cruelty to carry the bird
Upside down. He was sent to jail
And had to stay there all
The day and his family
Went without the dinner.
We wonder if it would not
Have been more cruel to carry
The turkey by the neck, and
We wonder if we are not

Needs of Mexican Industries Set Forth in Compilation by Foreign Commerce Department

BY BASOM N. TIMMONS
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — Texas manufacturing, jobbing and shipping interests which have recently been investigating the Mexican market with a view of opening up trade will find much valuable information from compilations made by the Commercial Intelligence section of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The compilation was made in an effort to give practical aid to American Manufacturers and exporters in developing trade in Mexico. Commercial attaches and trade commissioners, with the co-operation of the consular service, has collected a large fund of information concerning Mexican houses.

This information has been tabulated by the commercial intelligence section and is now available in the so-called "starred-lists" in which an effort is made to indicate the relative importance. This indication is not based on existing credit standing, but is made to show the relative size of the firm, taking into consideration the geographical location, the kind of goods handled, and the nature of the firm's business, whether wholesale or retail, etc.

Mexico is Synosure.

For the full credit report in the usually accepted meaning of the term it will always be necessary for the American business men to obtain detailed information through the usual commercial channels, the bureau points out.

Mexico beating back to peace is in the eye of all American exporters, the bureau says. Especially is there much interest manifested by Texas interests, exporters. The bureau says that the lists will be invaluable to the firm which is about to enter into business relations with firms in Mexico or which is contemplating sending representatives because they serve as a lead in picking out desirable firms to be approached to handle a particular line. The lists may be obtained from the Bureau or its district and co-operative offices.

Things Mexico Needs.

Here are some of the things Mexico is now buying:

Agricultural implements and machinery, belting, bicycles, motor cycles and accessories, books, boots and shoes; cash registers, adding and calculating machines; cement and building materials; chemicals, dyes and extracts; china and earthenware; men and women's clothing; cotton, drugs, dry goods; electrical apparatus and supplies; electric light and power plants; flour and flour mills; furniture, glassware, grain, groceries, hardware, household utensils, jewelry, leather and leather goods; lumber, machinery, millinery; motion picture films and apparatus; motor cars and accessories; musical instruments; vegetables and edible oils; optical goods, paint, varnish, paper and paper goods, photographic supplies, plumbing supplies, printers' and bookbinders' machinery and supplies; railway material, rubber goods, seeds, silk goods, soap, sporting goods, stationary, tobacco, toilet articles, toys, typewriters, hides, skins and rubber.

Mexico is looked upon as a particularly good field for the expanding commerce of Texas. Recently an entire train load of merchandise was shipped from Fort Worth to Mexico. Trade excursions from Houston and San Antonio have recently visited Mexico.

ROTARY TO PUT ON SHOW AGAIN AT EARLY DATE

The Rotarians are to put on another show in the near future, it was decided at their luncheon Thursday—a show which, it is hoped, will repeat the success of their first and last some two years ago. That one was a success because all those who took part say it was—they are agreed on this one point, although apparently violently disagreed on every other point connected with that effort.

Dan Folan, who directed the other show, is to be approached in connection with the staging. There seems to be some doubt, however, whether Jack Barnard is to be trusted with the ordering of the costumes or not—Bill Bundy, who had to be "driven" down into the rompers at the last show, advises against this.

The principle discussion of the details of the show seemed to center around Bert Bean, Albert Myles, Frank Johnson, Tom Smock, Harry Bray and others, who are declared to have been the life of the last show—they admit it themselves.

The educational work of Bessie Jones, ward of the local Rotary club, for the next four years, or until she gets her sheepskin, was underwritten by the members at this luncheon. She is to go to school where she pleases, it was decided, although some of the members contended that it would be better that she should go to the State university, which is supported by public taxation and tuition furnished free, than for tuition to be paid at a private institution—it being argued that the amount for the tuition could go toward meeting expenses of an additional student.

B. Frank Johnson, newly elected legislative representative, was granted a 90-day leave to attend the coming session of that body.

W. P. Blair Wants To Run Road Jobs Near Burkburnett

W. P. Blair, an oil worker living near Burkburnett, wants to be appointed road overseer with authority to call out men to do road work on the highways north, west and east of Burk. Judge Jones will refer the matter to the county commissioners court.

Mr. Blair says the roads in his district are so bad that he wants authority to go ahead with the work whether or not he gets any salary as overseer. Residents who have been here a certain length of time, Judge Jones said, must pay a road tax or work several days out of the year on the roads.

Oil men have been the principal contributors to building the roads. Judge Jones said that there were three or four hundred teamsters at Burk who use the roads and do little work on them. Mr. Blair replied that the teamsters were willing to work if all of their crowd were called for the same duty.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

Asks Advice From Law and Connects Self With Charge

W. E. Schmidt had no more trouble on his hands than a petty vagrancy fine, probably $15, when police officers started him to jail. Then they found a gun on him. That was a mere matter of probably $100 and costs, if conviction resulted.

But Schmidt was curious and stepped into a "jackpot."

"What do you reckon I'd better do about that highjacking," he asked Detectives Bullard and Buford, they reported, when the officers started to the courthouse Thursday with the prisoner.

That was news to the officers. They advised that he tell the county attorney the "details." Schmidt was charged with carrying a pistol pending further investigation into his own statement that he and an Indian known as Nolte held up and robbed two men of $16.65 at the Indiana street traffic bridge Monday night.

Nolte is also in jail. The sheriff is seeking the men reported held up.

Reorganization Of Mexican Oil Bureau Started

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6.—The reorganization of the government department which handles petroleum matters, predicted for several days, was partly effected today with the appointment of Rafael Alcerreca as chief of the department and J. The appointments were recorded this morning by El Monitor, the semi-official organ.

Jap Families In Harlingen Ordered Out

By Associated Press.

HARLINGEN, Texas, Jan. 6.—Two families of Japanese, who arrived here last night from the West, intending to settle on farming lands, were met at the railroad station and informed by a committee of citizens that their presence was undesirable in Harlingen and told that they could remain over night, but were expected to leave Thursday. The committee did not make any threats.

The party consisted of two men, two women and four children.

This is the second demonstration against Japanese here during the week. Another Japanese family stopped here early in the week and was told to move on.

Considerable anti-Japanese sentiment has developed in Rio Grande valley towns during the past two months, since committees representing various American legion posts of the state have been advocating legislation to prohibit Japanese and Chinese from settling in the Rio Grande valley.

Gun Club to Consider Election Of Officers and Sunny South Shoot Entries at Meet Today

The Wichita Falls Gun club will consider election of officers for the coming year and probable entries in the Sunny South handicap shoot to be held in Houston February 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, inclusive, when it meets Friday afternoon for its regular weekly shoot. The shoot is scheduled to start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Announcements as to prizes and added money at the Sunny South handicap will be made. Officers issued a special plea that the entire membership attend today.

Some nifty scores were hung up at last week's shoot, when J. L. Nabb copped a pair of leather hunting boots with a straight out run of 98 in a 100. Paul Adams was second high gun with a score of 96, and A. G. Deatheridge third with 94.

The crack shots of the club will attempt to smash Secretary Nabb's record today and send him to a seat back of the firing line.

Current gossip in intercollegiate circles have it that Princeton university is going to draw one of the athletic prizes of the year. Allison Hubert of the Missouri Military academy, who has won his place on the all-scholastic teams of the Missouri valley by his wonderful play at tackle, and who is said to be the hardest hitting ball player turned out in a long time, is the man. Hubert is cast in heroic mold. He is over six feet in height and weighs more than 180 pounds.

Bobby Jones, third sacker of the Detroit Tigers, is just one of the Jungleers who is thoroughly pleased with the change in management decided upon by the club authorities. Bobby has returned to his home on the Pacific coast, where he told the boys all about major league baseball. He declared that a mistake had been made, when the Detroit club turned Babe Pinelli adrift, for the Italian, while no demon with the ash, was a fast and fancy fielder. Likewise Jones declared that the Tigers last year dropped far below the grade of ball they might have played.

"Cobb is popular with all the men on the club," said Jones, "and he will undoubtedly guide the Detroit team through to the heights."

Baseball fans in New Orleans will be treated to many good attractions next spring. The Brooklyns, champions of the National league, will go through thtir spring training stunts there, and several games will be played with the Yankees. In addition to the series in which the Brooklyn pitchers will try to baffle Babe Ruth, there will be contests between the Giants and Pelicans. These will be played after the Brooklyns have departed northward. The New Orleans club will also play exhibition games with the Brooklyns, Louisville and Kansas City clubs.

As a result of the victory scored by the American tennis team in the Davis cup matches, there will probably be many contests in which players of international fame will compete, played in courts in this country next summer. The annual meeting of the United States Tennis association will be held in New York February 5, and af the gathering of officials it is expected that feature tournaments for next summer will be awarded as follows:

1921 Davis Cup Challenge Round —West Side club, Forest Hills, N. Y.

1921 National Singles Championship—Philadelphia.

1921 Doubles Championship—West Side club, Forest Hills, N. Y.

Challenges for the 1921 Davis cup contests must be received by the nation holding the cup not later than March 1. It is expected that the next tourney will see five or six nations entered. Some of the preliminary matches will be played abroad and the winning players will accompany the American champions to this country. The Americans will defend the cup on the courts at Forest Hills, N. Y., as was the case six years ago. That year Brookes and Wilding took the cup from this country.

It is probable that Tilden and Johnston will defend the laurels at Wimbledon, England, before they return home. They may also take part in the championship tournaments that will be held in France.

One of the foreign stars who may invade this country fo the championship matches next summer is Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French girl the holder of all world's women championships.

Britain Accused of Emulating Policy of Germans in Refusing To Permit Development of Oil

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Great Britain was accused of emulating the "Hun" in pursuing her post-war policy by Senator Phelan (democrat), California, speaking in the senate today, after Senator McKellar, Tennessee(had advocated cutting off the British supply of American oil unless Americans were accorded equal rights with British subjects in the purchase and development of world oil supplies.

The California senator added to his accusations the charge that Great Britain at the same moment she was appealing for American aid during the war, declaring her "back was to the wall," was buying up oil lands in other countries. With this charge Senator Phelan coupled another, to the effect that Great Britain had obtained $4,000,000 in loans from the United States and had used her own money in an endeavor to acquire a monopoly of the world oil supply.

Senator McKellar previously had declared that Great Britain was putting forward claims of inability to pay interest on American war loans and was buying up the world oil resources. England, while buying up these oil resources, Mr. McKellar said, was using American oil and saving her own supplies for the future.

The United States, Senator McKellar declared, has the power "to bring England to terms" by refusing permission for the obtaining of oil from America, and in that connection he urged immediate action on his bill proposing reciprocity as regards oil with those nations which do not discriminate against American citizens, and retailiation against those nations that do.

"We ask for nothing but what is right," Senator McKellar asserted. "We simply desire that our citizens shall be treated by Great Britain in the way that we treat hers. We want them to enjoy the same privileges in our country that we want in theirs."

Senator Phelan turned the debate from the oil question to the Japanese land question by declaring that the Japanese were buying oil from British companies in California for $1.60 a barrel while Californians were being charged $2.40 a barrel. Further acquisition of California oil lands by British interests, Mr. Phelan said, would be stopped through enactment by the legislature of that state of a general anti-alien land ownership bill, which, he said, would at the same time meet the Japanese land problem.

Information was said by Senator Phelan to have come to him from "underground sources" that there recently had been a conference of British and Japanese representatives, at which the Japanese were advised against accepting the proposed general anti-alien land bill as a settlement of the present controversy over land legislation.

"The fight is on, and California proposes to retaliate," said Senator Phelan.

Oh tell us, where do the coal-men go?
Do they fly straight up? Do they sink below?
Now why do we ask? Don't we know full well
That the coal-men go to the hottest —?

And tell us, where do the icemen go?
Why, that's a cinch—even children know
That the icemen gather in a group
In the hot cage next to the coal men's coop!

And tell us next, where the landlords go?
SAY—when old Satan gives a show,
On a redhot griddle the landlords dance,
In the latest fashion of jazz and prance!

And tell us, last, where the umpires go?
They've a special spot in the vale of woe—
As soon as an ump is known by name,
They fix the fires for the hottest flame!

Many a sanctimonious soul goes around with a face that would wake Satan up from a nightmare; with a habitual grouch sticking out of every feature; with his ingrown, ingrained hatred for all humanity revealed in every line and movement—and then wonders why people don't fall in line for his brand of reformation!

Burke Signs to Coach Red Sox

Breach Widens Between Ohio And Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 6.—The break in Big Ten football relations between Wisconsin and Ohio State universities became more acute today with a statement from Coach John R. Richards of Wisconsin, intimating that he would resign if Ohio State ever again is put on the Wisconsin football schedule.

Thinly veiled charges of unsportsmanlike tactics at the Wisconsin-Ohio game last fall, constitute the main reasons for Richards' declaration.

"Football is only worthwhile as an intercollegiate sport when mutual regard and sportsmanship prevail," said Richard's statement. "There has often been discernible in the middle west, a disposition of the part of institutions just arriving athleticsally, to consider athletics a standard of excellence in the whole gamut of university duties.

"They indulge in a species of self-adulation and lose sight of many things essential. Visiting coaches are treated to insulting remarks, visiting players are subjected to abuse from the students; the visiting team is hedged in on the sidelines by a crowd wearing sideline badges while vacant seats exist in the stands: the officials are instructed and brow beaten; the local press likes to ridicule the members of visiting teams and wax facetious about their nationality—all of which is perhaps a phase that most conference universities have long since passed. Wisconsin saw all this at Ohio last fall.

"Football is a fine game, but it is only a game. Wisconsin so regards it and keeps it subordinate to required university work and will allow its team no foolish notions or national aspirations or coast jaunts—and we could have had the latter."

A fellow whose appearance warranted the belief that he had quarreled with soap and water some years ago applied for a position as porter at a large hotel where help was badly needed. The manager looked at him doubtfully. Finally he handed him some money.

"Go and have a bath," he told him. "Then come back and perhaps I'll be able to take you on."

The fellow started for the door.

"And, oh, by the way," the manager called after him, "if there's any change left, take another bath!"

Wilson has been under a physician's care five of the seven months he has held the title, Killiles said.

Kentucky Trotters Will Hold Meeting

By Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 6.—The Lexington grand circuit meeting will be held October 3 to 18, it was announced tonight following an annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association. The Kentucky futurity for foals of 1921 will be for a purse of $21,000 and entries will close April 1, it was decided.

E. A. Tipton of Lexington was re-elected president and J. W. Williams, Lexington, secretary.

General Oil Co. Hearing Begun

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 6.—With the opening here today of a hearing in bankruptcy proceedings against the General Oil Company, $20,000,000 trust company, Judge J. C. Hutcheson in federal court, denounced attorneys for the parties opposing the proceedings because they obtained an injunction last week from Judge J. D. Harvey in the Eightieth district court which Hutcheson claimed muzzled" S. E. J. Cox and associates from asserting in federal court that he represent the company.

Cox and associates, who organized the company, favor the bankruptcy proceedings and are opposed by M. McDonald, receiver of the company, appointed by Judge Harvey.

After a hurried telephone conversation, attorneys opposing the bankruptcy told Judge Hutcheson that Judge Harvey said he did not understand that he was interfering with operations in federal court and would immediately enter an order placing his interpretation on his injunction.

The hearing then proceeded and the attorneys Judge Hutcheson "raked over the coals" won a preliminary victory. Over the protest of the counsel for the creditors petitioning for the bankruptcy, Judge Hutcheson held that John C. Williams, an attorney for the General Oil company by virtue of contract signed prior to the "break" betweeen him and Cox.

The court granted the application of Williams for authority to file an answer and to fight the bankruptcy in the name of the General Oil company. Opposing counsel had contended that failure of Williams to have filed an answer within the time prescribed by law should result in a default judgment in favor bankruptcy.

A hearing was begun this afternoon on the question of the company's solvency.

President Obregon, who cannot be present on account of ill health, has named a delegation to attend the inauguration as the official representatives of Mexico and the governor of Chihuahua will be represented by proxy.

A special train has been secured from Laredo to Austin for the inauguration of Mr. Neff on which the Mexican governors and others from that county will travel, accompanied by members of the Laredo chamber of commerce.

PACKERS' USE OF ICED CARS IS PROTESTED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Use by the big packers of refrigerator cars for shipment of commodities other than perishables was argued today before the interstate commerce commission, representatives of other shippers and wholesale grocers asking issuance of an order prohibiting the practice, and attorneys for the packers requesting continuance of present regulations.

Such use of refrigerator cars, combined with lower rates and priority in service, Clifford Thorne of Chicago, representing the wholesale grocers and Western shippers, contended, would ultimately bring about a situation where a small number of men—the directing heads of the packing companies—could at will force living costs up or down through stifling all competition in the wholesale grocery business.

Attorneys for the packers countered Mr. Thorne's argument by pointing out that under a decree issued by the District of Columbia supreme court, with the companies' consent, the packers soon would cease to deal in many articles handled by wholesale grocers. The contention also was made that since beef in shipment must be suspended from the roof of cars, much space was available for transportation of other than perishable goods.

Amusements

OLYMPIC

Mildred Harris Chaplin's latest First National starring vehicle, "Old Dad," from Eleanor Hallowell Abbott's widely read story, will be the attraction at the Olympic theater next week, opening an engagement of two days today. Playing opposite Mrs. Chaplin in the most important role of his career is George Stewart, brother of Anita Stewart. Other well known players in the cast are John Sainpolis, who has the title role of "Old Dad," Myrtle Stedman, Irving Cummings, Hazel Howell, Edwin Brown, Loyola O'Connor, Bess Mitchell and Tula Bell.

In this production, Mildred Harris as Daphne Bretton, has the role of a young girl who has missed one of life's greatest treasures—mother love—and who is left to the care of a preoccupied father, blinded to all else but the pursuit of the dollar. Lacking the influence of a devoted mother, she develops into a capricious young woman whose disregard for certain of society's conventions at a fashionable boarding school make her very much misunderstood.

How sardines on one hand and Paris gowns on the other may break up two perfectly fine homes, is made plain in "So Long Letty," the Al Christie screen production which is released by Robertson-Cole as a super-special and opens at the Empress theater today for a run of two days.

One newlywed husband is fed sardines when he longs for a real home cooked meal. Another is fed home cooked meals when he is strong for the "high spots" and the Paris gowns. It's a queer combination and would have ended in the divorce courts had not the wives of the two slipped over a real lesson on the dissatisfied husbands.

The new Robertson-Cole release has just the proper cast to put "So Long Letty" over in a manner to delight picture lovers. Included are T. Roy Barnes, Grace Darmond, Colleen Moore and Walter Hiers. Also, there are a number of bathing lassies who are very, very, shapely.

PLAZA

"The Midnight Riders," Richard Kipling's new production, is an elaborate screen version of the story of that name by Alvin J. Neitz, which is laid in Wyoming and deals with the sheep raisers of Paradise Valley.

"The Midnight Riders" will be at the Plaza theater today and is said to be an unusual combination of rapidly moving melodrama and beautiful romance in settings that abound in magnificent views of Wyoming's valleys, with sheep covering hill and dale as far as the eye can reach.

The story gets its name from a secret society, the members of which venture forth only at night, and, closely masked and heavily armed, take the law into their own hands without regard to the rights of property owners and spread terror throughout the country. Thrills and suspense abound while a beautiful romance is cleverly woven into the unusual plot, keeping the one woman in the cast, popular Carolyne Wagner, prominently in the foreground.

MAJESTIC

"He's cast for the Swede sea captain," said the casting manager.

"Nothing doing. He's got an Irish mug," flatly stated the director, bringing an end to the argument, but not to the episode. Then it was that Nick Cogley, old time character player, who had been selected to play the sea captain in "Guile of Women," featuring Will Rogers and produced by Goldwyn, which comes to the Majestic theater today and tomorrow, took matters into his own hands and went down to the docks where the ships come in, to take a look at the captains by names of Ollie Olsen, Jans Jensen and Svens Svenson. "Huh! They don't look so different from me," he concluded, and walked aboard one of the lately docketed Scandinavian tramps.

Hardly had he set foot on board when the captain of the ship came charging down upon him. "Hello there!" that dignitary greeted the actor, "When did you make port, Peterson?"

Needless to say Nick plays the Swede captain in "Guile of Women."

SCHOOL GIRLS SEND STONE FROM CANAL ZONE TO MARK GRAVE OF ROOSEVELT

Miss Helen and Harriet Hertz, twin daughters of Max Hertz, moving a boulder which is to be sent from the canal zone to Oyster Bay.

In token of the love and esteem in which Theodore Roosevelt is held by folk of the canal zone at Panama, the school children of the zone have picked out and sent to this country a boulder to be placed near his grave at Oyster Bay. The boulder is shown being moved from its position on the spot where Roosevelt, when president of the United States, delivered an address in the Culebra cut in November, 1906. It will be set up with an appropriate inscription and has just arrived in New York. The girls in the picture are the daughters of Max Hertz, formerly of New York, but now inspector at the canal zone. He has been there for about sixteen years and the girls were born in the zone.

BANKS RELIEVE SCHOOLS' NEED AND BAR DRIVE

The banks have come to the aid of the schools and there won't be any $100,000 citizens' donation fund subscribed now to tidy the local educational system over its financial emergency. This announcement was made Thursday by W. M. Priddy, member of the citizens committee which had volunteered to collect the fund. The Record News asked Mr. Priddy, at the request of a number of its readers, how the announced campaign was progressing.

The stringent financial situation, coupled with the way out which developed on the passage of the constitutional amendment allowing the schools to raise the tax limit in their respective communities beyond the old fifty-cent maximum led to the decision to forego the campaign.

The banks advanced the money. Increases in salary of the teachers was made possible. Some of the warrants held by the banks have already been taken up with the recent collection of taxes.

The next legislature is expected to draft a bill to make possible increasing the tax rate and the school board here will then make provisions necessary to cover the financial situation permanently.

Police Seek Car Owner and Hold Occupant in Jail

Police officials Thursday night were trying to find the owner of a new Ford Sedan, which they believe was stolen in this city or a neighboring town within the last few days. In connection with the recovery of the machine John Adams is being held at the city jail for investigation.

Adams was arrested Thursday by City Detectives Bullard and Burford, when he came to get the Ford, which was parked in the uptown district. Adams, the police say, was unable to give a satisfactory explanation of his ownership of the automobile. He produced a bill of sale showing that the automobile had been sold to him by Mrs. Charles Sedgwick of Fort Worth. He was unable to tell where Mrs. Sedgwick lived in Fort Worth, and made several varying statements as to the manner in which he came into the possession of the machine, the officers aver.

The engine number of the machine is 4,197,724, but, according to the police, it is evident that the numbers have been changed. On the bill of sale he gave his residence as Cisco, but was unable to tell where his home was in that city. Later he said he had been in Cisco only one day.

Adams, who is about 30 years old, retained his composure through two hours of questioning by Police Chief Huff and Detective Chief Boyd, laughingly answering all queries.

DAILY FINANCIAL, OIL AND MARKET NEWS

GRAIN COTTON

COTTON SHOWS ADVANCE THEN DROPS LOWER

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.—While the cotton market stood at small to moderate advances during the greater part of the session today, there were periods of easiness, the most pronounced of which followed reports of a bank failure in London and failure of a spot cotton house in Liverpool. it was more of a two-sided market than usual of late and while fairly strong gains were made toward the close, the close itself showed net advances on the day of but 12 to 23 points.

After mid-session traders on the long side became aggressive and more or less outside buying came in which soon absorbed the supply of floating contracts. On the close, March was at 34.37, much realizing coming from recent buyers in the last few minutes of the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The better feeling encountered by reports of improving trade conditions was evident in the action of the cotton market again today. Early advances were followed by reactions but the market firmed up again, reaching the best prices of the movement in the late trading.

The market opened barely steady at an advance of 2 to 20 points and reacted to about last night's closing quotation right after the call, under realizing and southern selling. Liverpool was an active buyer here, however, while there was a distinct broadening of commission house demand, and the market soon turned firmer. Stop orders were uncovered on this advance and after their execution the market eased off under realizing.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The market for coffee futures was quiet today and fluctuations rather irregular, an opening decline being followed by rallies. First prices were 5 to 11 points lower, owing to reports of unsettled conditions in Brizilian markets. There was no great pressure of offerings, however, and prices later rallied on covering, which was probably inspired by the better tone of sterling exchange and the improved tone reported in stocks and cotton.

Spot coffee was reported in better demand at 6⅝c to 6⅝c for Rio 7s, and 8¾c to 9½c for Santos 4s.

SUGAR PRICES STEADY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The raw sugar market was steady today, with sales late in the afternoon of 18,000 bags of Cubas at 4½c c. i. f., and 4,100 Porto Ricos afloat at 5.52 c. i. f., and 15,000 old crop Cubas, prompt loading at 4.30 f. o. b., all equal to 5.52 for centrifugal.

The demand for refined sugar continues of moderate proportions and prices are unchanged at 7.90 to 8.00 for fine granulated. Sugar futures were easier under liquidation and trade selling, and closing prices were 10 to 14 points net lower, although business was comparatively light.

Closing bids: January, 4.50; March, 4.57; May, 4.72; July, 4.85.

Oil Operators to Fight Tax Valuations Deemed Excessive

Between 75 and 100 oil men, using the Wichita County Oil Producers and Refiners association as a connecting link to consolidate their protests, expect to fight in the courts through a friendly suit against the county commissioners collection of taxes which they regard as based on excessive renditions.

W. M. Priddy, director of the oil association, told County Judge Jones the situation Thursday. Mr. Priddy himself has no claim to make. The oil association as such has no claim to file. But the oil operators asked Mr. Priddy as an officer of the association to cooperate with them.

The oil operators, Mr. Priddy said, allege that former County Tax Assessor Ragsdale set valuations too high. They assert that in some cases they signed renditions made out by the assessor under the mistaken belief that they were compelled by the law to do so.

A man does not have to sign any rendition. He may go on the unrendered list. If he does not give a rendition the county tax equalization board may render his property and then suit can be brought to collect.

County Judge Jones and the county commissioners court took the position in at least some cases which have already been acted on, that the renditions alleged to have been made by the county tax assessor were excessive.

County Attorney Davenport suggested that the best method for the oil operators to pursue would be to file suits in equity asking for reduction of assessments.

The operators may go delinquent in payment of taxes and fight the tax suits that will ensue on the part of the county. They may also enjoin the collection of the full amounts asked and seek to obtain judgments for smaller amounts. But in this case the delinquent penalties may be attached.

It was alleged that as high as 50 per cent valuations were placed on oil property of most uncertain value. They declare that in some cases this property has since tested dry and slumped hundreds of thousands of dollars in value.

County Judge Jones believes that most counties in the state are using not more than 25 per cent as a valuation basis.

Eight Per Cent Dividends Are Cut by Swift

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Surplus earnings of previous years made possible eight percent dividends, amounting to $12,000,000, although sales fell off during the year 1920, according to the annual statement of Swift and company, announced at a meeting of shareholders here today. During the year, $5,170,382.45 was added to the company's surplus and an increase of $6,000,000 in real estate and improvements was shown.

"Our sales during the past year were over $1,100,000,000," Louis F. Swift, president of the company told the shareholders. "This represents a reduction from the previous year, but this was to be expected because of the fall in values and the smaller volume of livestock produced."

"The present cost price of livestock is such that meat prices should be attractive to consumers," Mr. Swift said.

"The market price of wool, hides and all other by-products are on a basis that should move them into trade channels promptly. These are among the factors that cause me to believe that our business for the coming year will be prosperous."

TARIFF BILL NEWS SENDS WHEAT HIGH

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Belief that an emergency tariff on grain was certain, led to a quick jump today in the value of wheat. Prices closed buoyant with March 1.73 to 1.74 and May 1.67 1-4 to 1.67½. Corn finished at 7-8 to 1⅛c advance, oats unchanged to quarter cent up and provisions at a rise of 15 to 30 cents.

At first, the wheat market showed considerable depression as a result of the failure of the British American Continental Bank in London. Declines, however, were checked by the fact that sterling exchange was up, notwithstanding the bank failure. Sudden news that Senator Penrose had announced an intention to support the enactment of an emergency tariff measure brought a wild rush to the bull side, shorts especially taking it for granted that the success of the bill had been practically assured, including a substantial duty likely to shut out Canadian wheat largely, if not altogether from the United States.

Hops Postmaster For Not Calling For His Letters

Postmaster Howard is wondering if the federal government should make it a requirement of postal clerks that they be accomplished linguists, as well as expert in their own line of work.

Recently Mr. Howard received a letter, asking why he did not call for his own mail. He visited the advertised list, posted in the corridors of the building, and found a letter addressed "Administrador de Carios."

Mr. Howard is accustomed to receiving such letters, but the clerk who first handled it was not, and the missive found its way to the general delivery window. Again it found a clerk not versed in "Espanol," and, after due time, was advertised.

STOCKS MOVE TOWARD HIGH PRICE LEVEL

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Trading on the stock exchange today was lively and broad and price movements were mainly toward higher levels. Selling to incur profits caused occasional reaction, but a strong tone prevailed among favorite issues at the close.

The advance derived much of its impetus from further accumulation of coppers, motors, steels, equipment and shipping issues, together with many miscellaneous shares which suffered severely in the December liquidation, but now are in demand because of seemingly improved trade conditions.

Other propelling factors were furnished by the day's news, which strengthened the growing conviction that further downward revision of commodity prices is exerting a more beneficial effect in many lines of business.

Foreign exchange opened strong, but soon cancelled the greater part of yesterday's surprising advance, especially British bills. Cables reported the suspension of an international bank in the British metropolis and the failure of a Liverpool cotton firm.

Sales, 952,000 shares.

There was a good inquiry for liberty bonds, most of which closed at gains. Total sales, par value, $18,075,000.

Revenue Men Start Capital Stock Work

Capital stock tax work will be taken up at the local internal revenue office during the next four or five days, according to Henry Wampler, revenue division chief at Wichita Falls.

Deputy L. Shields of the Wichita Falls division who recently finished a special course of instruction in this work at Collector Scott Reed's office at Dallas, will be in charge of the capital stock tax work.

Ralph had been spending the afternoor with a little boy in the neighborhood.

"Did you have a nice time?" asked his mother on his return.

"Not very," replied Ralph. "His mother kept hanging around all the time."

BELIEVED TEST PROVES PARKER TO NORTHWEST

The No. 1 test of the McPoe Petroleum company and George Billingsley on the Munden tract of Block 10 of the Temple and White field was drilling in late Thursday evening. This test, which is three-quarters of a mile northwest of the producing wells of the Tillicum and Cline company leases, struck sand Tuesday at a depth of 1,288 feet. It was drilled one foot in the sand at that time and samples of the sand indicate that the shallow production found in that section will be extended to the northwest provided the sand found has sufficient depth.

The Cline, Rowe et al. test in the southwest corner of Block 12 struck the sand Thursday morning and casing was being set Thursday afternoon. The completion of this well will be watched with special interest, as it is only a short distance northeast of the Anderson et al. test, which recently failed to show oil in commercial quantities at the 1,300-foot depth. The test will probably be drilled in before the end of the week.

Casing was also being set Thursday at the Banosky and Barkley test in Block 18. The casing is being set a short distance above the expected pay sand depth. One report from the field Thursday stated that the test of Prince et al. in Block 37 to the northeast of the producing area of the field, has struck the sand at 1,300 feet.

Prohibition Law Charge Is Filed Against Barnett

C. N. Barnett was charged before United States Commissioner Lantz Thursday with having violated the federal prohibition laws by selling corn whiskey. He is in the Burkburnett hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the leg., Deputy Sheriff McCormick shot him late Wednesday night, when he attempted to escape arrest. Barnett had struck Texas Ranger Gonzaullas over the head with a bottle and knocked him out temporarily.

The shooting took place during a raid by Deputy Sheriffs McCormick and Weaver, Ranger Gonzaullas and County Attorney John Davenport. Gamblers whom they were seeking had been "tipped off" and closed.

A spectacular bit of heroism is contained in the recital of a bit of sideplay, engaged in after Barnett hit Gonzaullas on the head. One of the neighbors, hearing the excitement, came to the window, it is said, and aimed a gun at one of the deputies. The other members of the raiding party saw the attempt and both were ready to shoot, when the man's wife ran to the window and grabbed her husband's arm. The man, a cafe owner, told the officers he heard the excitement and thought the place was being held up. H was not arrested.

Investigation of a tank on an upstairs porch, said to contain water for a shower bath, disclosed the liquor. As Ranger Gonzaullas stooped over to secure the liquor, two quart jars of corn whiskey, Barnett hit him on the head with the bottle and dropped the electric light he was holding, then ran downstairs and attempted to escape.

The flash from the light globe as it smashed on the floor led the other members of the party to believe that Gonzaullas had been shot. Several shots were taken at the flying Barnett, but he did not stop until hit in the leg.

Dorothy's Diary

Jan. 7.—I wish mother wouldn't worry so! Now she's fretting because it costs so much more to live here in the city than it did back home.

When she mentioned the matter tonight. I couldn't help smiling. "Want ads," I said, and broke out laughing, for it seemed that no matter what we had wanted since coming to Wichita Falls, we had found that an ad in the Record News had helped us out.

"What are you talking about?" asked mother.

"Just this," I answered. You are worrying about the cost of living. Why not advertise one of our spare rooms for rent and we can make $250 a year or more extra. That will help, won't it, dear?"

This time I remembered that the Record News would take ads over the telephone, so I phoned in an ad to be placed under the heading of "Rooms for Rent."

URGES WICHITA TO HEED CALL FROM CHILDREN

"Wichita Falls people have just not waked up to the fact that they are buying lives in contributing to this movement," Jack Culbertson told the Rotarians at their luncheon Thursday in discussing the weak showing Wichita county has made toward raising her quota for the relief of the children in the war-devastated portions of Europe, who are faced with death by starvation unless outside aid to carry them over until the next harvest is provided by outside sources.

Wichita county's contribution so far is so pitifully small that he was "ashamed to announce the figures," Mr. Culbertson said, particularly in connection with the passing of the $80,000 mark by the people of Houston, about four times the size of Wichita Falls, while Wichita county was falling down on her $25,000 quota.

"Wichita Falls and Wichita county cannot afford to fall down on this call, aside from the humanitarian side of the matter," he told the Rotarians. He told his hearers that he saw before him a considerable number who had not even answered his letters carrying this appeal, and others who had contributed amounts they would be ashamed to see opposite their names in print.

That the campaign was developing another side of the picture he showed by telling of two letters received in the course of the campaign. One was a letter from a poor woman, with a dollar bill attached. It said that the amount inclosed was all that she could afford to give, but expressed the hope that others more fortunately situated would contribute enough to make out the quota. In the same mail, he told of receiving another letter with a check for $300 from a man who had a wife and three children, lived in a rented house, and had already contributed $280 toward this fund.

"Money at a time like this will buy what it never bought before—it will buy a child's life," the letter said in simple explanation of the gift.

Belief that Wichita Falls and Wichita county will sustain the reputation that they have always earned in meeting calls for the sake of humanity was expressed by Mr. Culbertson in closing. He said that realization of the fact that they have 2,500 starving children on their hands is the one thing necessary to bring about this result.

To Seek $10,000 Here in Jewish War Relief Name

A campaign to raise $10,000, which has been set as the Wichita Falls quota for the Jewish war relief fund, will be launched either this month or early in February, according to plans made public Thursday by Dr. David Goldberg, rabbi of Temple Israel. The campaign is to be launched simultaneously in all the cities of Texas, according to plans of the meeting of state managers recently held in Dallas.

At the present time $35,000,000 has been raised for destitute Jews in countries devastated by the world war. Because of the expense that Jews of Wichita Falls bore in erection of a new church, no quota was assigned here during the last campaign.

The state board of managers include J. K. Hexter, Dr. David Lefkowitz and other prominent Jewish philanthropists.

Dr. Goldberg, who returned Wednesday from a conference of the state board of managers, expects to announce a campaign committee at an early date.

Soldier "Lunger" Working Out Fine For Carrying Gun

Working on the county farm is a young ex-soldier, a "lunger," as the officers refer to him. And he proved a valuable asset as a mechanic.

The former soldier told the judge that he was guilty. He did not know why he carried the pistol; insisted he had no special purpose in so doing. He was willing to do any work he could.

A few days ago two pieces of complicated machinery on the county farm got out of order. The soldier repaired them and saved the county a big bill.

Ex-Wichitan Made Bentonville Mayor

A former Wichitan, M. A.—better known as "Bill"—Bundy has attained to high estate in his newly adopted town it became known at the Rotarian luncheon Thursday, for "Bill" was recently elected mayor of Bentonville, Ark., to fill an unexpired term, President I. H. Roberts informed the members in introducing him.

Mr. Bundy expressed appreciation of the old-time ties which he found to still exist between his former fellow Rotarians and himself, and expressed the belief that the honor which had been conferred on him was due to the reputation which had traveled with him to his new home—of being a willing horse whenever called upon in public work. The appreciation with which he spoke was evidenced by his invitation, individually and collectively, to the Rotarians to visit him at his apple "ranch," where, it is rumored, prospects for the apple jack crop are particularly fine.

TEXAS COMPANY TAX CHECKS RUN $89,000

Nearly $400,000 of taxes have been collected so far.

BID OF $20,500 ON INCINERATOR WINS CONTRACT

The contract for the construction of the city incinerator was let Thursday to the Superior Incinerator company of Dallas. The bid of $20,500 which was accepted, was $3,000 less than that submitted by another company for a different type of incinerator.

The contract was let by Sanitary Commissioner McDowell, City Engineer Montgomery and City Sanitary Officer Douglas who were recently authorized by the council to close a contract for the construction of the incinerator.

It was announced that a site for the incinerator had been purchased on the east side of the city. The site consists of one-half block, three blocks east of the Travis school. The price of the property, which was purchased by the city independently of the $25,000 bond issue authorizing the construction of the incinerator, was not announced.

The type of incinerator to be constructed is known as the double unit with capacity for handling 40 tons of sewerage daily. In addition to disposing of the city sewerage, the plant will serve as a lifting staton for one of the main sewer lines which now empties into the Wichita river near the river bridge. Under the present plans, plant will serve as lifting station for this line. The other line empties into the river two or three miles further down the river.

The incinerator which, under the terms of the contract, is to be completed in 60 days, is the same type that is being used in several other Texas cities including Houston, Galveston and Fort Worth. The latter city recently let a contract for the construction of four of these double unit types. This city can erect additional units as needed.

The construction of the incinerator is a turn key propositon. Under the terms of the contract, the city pays out no money on the construction of the incinerator until the incinterator is completed and demonstrated to the satisfaction of city officials. One of the provisions of the contract provides that the incinerator must be odorless while in operation.

The construction of the incinerator was provided for by one of the bond issues voted on in October. The bond issue was for $25,000. The city has a garbage dump four miles east of the city which for several months has been considered a health menace to this city. Recently, it has been found impossible to satisfactorily care for the garbage and other refuse that is being brought to the dump.
