FIGHT OVER GIRL FATAL AT SEYMOUR

Davis Discards Kid Gloves In Starting His Fight For Election

DEMO NOMINEE GIVEN OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION

Pledges He Will Keep Up Battle Until Election Day.

WALSH IN MESSAGE

Thousands Crowd Native Town of Democratic Standard Bearer.

By The Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12. Here in native hills, John W. Davis today launched his fight as democratic candidate for president of the United States, a fight which he told the leaders of his party when they met in a reorganization session would be one waged "without kid gloves."

Before thousands of his fellow townsmen and countrymen gathered in Goff Palaza the candidate defined what he regarded as the chief issues in the campaign.

Real Battle Begins

The ceremonies marked the real beginning of the battle for the presidency, Mr. Davis being the first of the candidates to receive formal notification of his nomination. The message was delivered to him by Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, the permanent chairman of the New York national convention.

The delivery of his acceptance address marked the culmination of a day of intense activity for the candidate. For several hours he received incoming delegations who visited his old homestead on Lee avenue; attended a meeting of the democratic national committee; was the honor guest at a dinner tendered that committee and the notification committee at the Waldo hotel and later reviewed a parade.

Has Busy Day

Leaving his home before noon Mr. Davis first went to the Elks club for the purpose of presenting to the national committee the name of Clem L. Shaver of Fairmont as its chairman. From the club he proceeded to the hotel nearby where he promised members of the democratic national committee that he would go out on the firing line tonight to remain until election day, to tell the truth and to stand on that.

Throughout the day Clarksburg was a milling mass of humanity. To the thousands who had been gathering here since the candidate's home coming on Saturday were added many other thousands, brought in from far and nearby special trains and automobiles.

Thousands Crowd Town

Each organized delegation was met by a band and many brought their own musicians to lead them in their marches to the Davis home and about the city. Meantime the highways entering the city were filled with almost unbroken lines of motor cars whose progress from the state borders to the designated arking places in the city was guided by state and city police.

Except for street cars and officially designated automobiles all regular traffic in the town had been stopped and the authorities had little difficulty in taking care of the incoming machines.

With its population tripled almost over night Clarksburg hotels and restaurants were taxed far beyond their capacity, but scores of temporary stands lining the streets furnished food for thousands who could not be cared for in the regular establishments.

BULLINGTON IS HONORED BY G.O.P

Wichita Falls Man Will Deliver Keynote Speech At Meet.

By the Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 11—Through intense heat in a small inside room in the chamber of commerce building the Texas republican state executive committee heard six contests in solving chairmen or delegations in that number of counties today and left the details of organization of the state convention which starts tomorrow to subcommittees. The subcommittees were in session tonight and will report to the entire committee at 9 o'clock in the morning, an hour before the convention is expected to start.

Bullington Honored.

Early this evening the committee on organization was in session and members refused to indicate who may be recommended in its report for temporary and permanent chairmen fo the convention. Reports coming from the committee room indicated, however, that Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls may be the final choice for temporary chairman and Charles Boynton of Waco vice-chairman of the executive committee. These two officers will deliver the keynote addresses of the convention proper.

The subcommittee on organization was composed of Col. W. E. Talbot of Dallas, chairman; C. G. Fraus, LaGrange; Charles Nelson, Clifton; Joe Ringsbery, Fort Worth, and Allen Meyer, Bryan.

All Chairmen White.

All recognized county republican chairmen now are white men in Texas. The stat executive committee today refused to recognize the claims of Chauncey Williamson, negro of Washington county, to the chairmanship and accepted the credentials of Paul Fricks as the duly elected chairman. Williamson was said by committeeman members to be the last of the negro county chairmen, having held that place six years. Fricks alleged that the convention at which Williamson was chosen was held at an hour other than prescribed by the statute, and Williamson admitted that was the case. The committee then declared Fricks was the duly elected chairman.

Government Making Survey For Line From Nocona Field To Take Gas To Helium Plant Located At Ft. Worth

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Aug. 11.—A preliminary survey has been started by the United States government for the construction of a gas line about forty miles south of here. This line, when finished, will carry the Nocona gas to the government helium plant at Fort Worth, where its helium content will be extracted for lighter-than-air aircraft.

Government analysis of gas found in this field some time ago showed a high content of helium, and the texture of the gas such that it was especially suited to the government's requirements for helium extraction in their plant at Fort Worth. The Nocona and Petrolle fields are said to be the only fields in the world where helium is found with the possible exception of the Amarillo field.

It is said that construction of the line will begin soon after the preliminary survey is finished.

GLAND THEORY UNDER ATTACK BY ATTORNEY

Alienist Admits Boys Might Have Fooled Him With Lies.

ADMITS THEORY NEW

State Due To Begin Rebuttal Of Testimony This Afternoon.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Theories of the phantasy life and functional disorder of the endocrine glands built up by the defense through its fourth alienist, Dr. H. S. Hulbert of Chicago, in its plan for mitigation of punishment of Richard Loeb and Nathan J. Leopold, Jr., for kidnaping and slaying young Robert Franks, was attacked vigorously today in the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly.

May Have Been Fooled

Battering away at the mass of written and oral testimony developed by the defense in its claim that the youths were influenced by childish phantasies which continued to sway them as they developed into manhood—Loeb dreaming of committing the perfect crime and Leopold blindly following because of a "king-slave" dream that had persisted for years—Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, forced from Dr. Hulbert the admission that it was possible the youths had been rehearsed by attorneys and doctors interested in building their defense.

Hammering relentlessly, the prosecutor also gained the admission that the effect of the endocrine glands on forming and fixing mentality is as yet a seriously debated question.

Admits Boys Lied

The young mental pathologist admitted his conclusions that both Loeb and Leopold were "mentally sick" were based chiefly on statements made to him by Loeb and Leopold, and that he knew the two had lied to him in some instances.

He admitted there were gaps in his report which if filled in with information withheld might have influenced his to conclusions different from those he has cited.

Wanted to Slay Girl

That Leopold favored kidnaping and attacking a young girl before killing her, rather than following Loeb's plan of selecting a male child as their victim also was brought out by Mr. Crowe on cross-examination. Dr. Hulbert said that Leopold had told him his preference of a girl victim was influenced by a phantasy in which he had visioned German soldiers attacking French girls.

Dr. Hulbert joined the three alienists who had preceded him in stating that Leopold, while intellectually powerful, was of an emotional age of below 12 years.

"It is possible," Dr. Hulbert replied when the prosecutor asked him if Leopold had not been "posing" throughout the various jail examinations while portraying himself as unemotional and the ready subject of phantasies.

Dr. Hulbert added, however, that Leopold's jail posing only magnified his defects and that he had seen readily through the dissembling.

Has No X-Ray Pictures

The mental pathologist said that a physical examination would not indicate a man was mentally sick, nor that he harbored criminalistic tendencies. Therefore, he said, he was unable to point out on various X-ray plates "one physical defect in either defendant which accounts for this crime," as demanded by Mr. Crowe.

Dr. Hulbert was being cross-examined on the report of pathology of Leopold when court adjourned until tomorrow. He had been on the witness stand two full court days and the greater part of a third. It was indicated that he would be dismissed from the witness stand before noon tomorrow and Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, said that the defense would rest before adjournment.

The state has a list of approximately 50 rebuttal witnesses, including four alienists.

U. S. Warship Is Ordered Rushed To Revolt Scene

Recent Revolution In Latin Country Brings Measures of Precaution.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The cruiser Galveston, on patrol duty in southern waters, has been ordered to Ceiba, Honduras, her commander being directed to confer with the American consul there.

Announcement of the sending of the warship was made at the navy department with no other explanation than that the commander was to get in touch with the consul. The movement, however, comes after the outbreak recently of a new revolution in Honduras and was generally taken to be in connection with that development.

It was assumed that in sending the Galveston to Ceiba where there are extensive American interests and a considerable American population, the government was merely taking a precautionary step to have a means of protection available should the outbreak spread to that port.

Recent reports from the north coast of Honduras which have reached the Washington government have indicated the possibility of strikes and other labor disturbances in the region of Ceiba. So far as known here this condition is not directly connected with either the Fonseca revolution or the Ferrera revolt.

Northwest Texas Prepares to Gather Great Cotton Crop This Fall

BIG YIELD DUE OVER DISTRICT

Good Price Expected To Add To Present Prosperity From Grain.

Special to The Record News.

On the eve of opening of expected arrival of the first bale of 1924 cotton in Northwest Texas, farmers throughout this section are predicting, in most cases, a large yield which will compare favorably with amounts raised in the past. Although some sections report lack of rain and ravages of the grasshoppers have cut the crop materially, this section as a whole is expected to reap prosperity from the fields soon to be fleecy white.

Coming on top of a number small grain crop, returns from which have already boosted bank deposits millions of dollars, the indicated large yield of cotton is expected to turn loose even more ready cash among Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma farmers with a resultant betterment of business in general.

As a whole, Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma report an increased acreage of cotton following high prices prevailing last year, and the yield per acre is expected to be large.

Following is a report of the conditions of the crop gathered in this section by Record News correspondents at the points named:

ALTUS PREPARES FOR GOOD BUSINESS.

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 11.—Sixty-five thousand bales of cotton for this county this year is the average estimate made by cotton buyers here today. Many of them added that present crop prospects indicated a bumper crop for the county, and that they would not be surprised if the county produced 100,000 bales if favorable weather continued until well into the fall. All of them seem to think that prices will range between 20 and 25 cents throughout the entire marketing season.

Jackson county citizens are overwhelmed with their prospects for a most prosperous fall, and merchants are stocking up heavily in anticipation of the "boom" which is expected.

HASKELL COUNTY COTTON CROP IN NEED OF RAIN.

RULE, Aug. 11.—What at one time was one of the most promising cotton crops that Haskell county had ever seen is now in the balance, pending a general rain. Lice are thick on most of the late cotton, and are doing some damage. The dry weather is causing the heavy laden cotton to shed. If it does not rain within the next fifteen days the cotton crop in Haskell county will be as light as it was last year, although it is estimated that Rule will gin over 2,000 bales this fall even if it does not rain any more.

YOUNG CO. COTTON PROSPECTS GOOD.

GRAHAM, Texas, Aug. 11.—Cotton prospects are good but rain is needed, and unless it rains soon the ginning season will open in this section within a few days. Graham has two gins, the Anderson Gin company and the Farmers' Gin, which was bought by J. L. Dashner. The two gins have been gone over and the entire plants of both put in first class condition, and some new machinery installed. The merchants are buying large stocks of merchandise in anticipation of a good cotton crop and a good price, and the ginners, cotton buyers and merchants are all confident that this will be one of the most prosperous seasons Young county has experienced. Grain was fine, feed crops are fair and cotton prospects are good if it rains soon.

OLNEY EXPECTS BIG COTTON RECEIPTS.

OLNEY, Texas, Aug. 11.—Estimates of the cotton crop for the Olney section, based on comparative figures, indicate that the receipts at the local yard this fall should run between 8,000 and 9,000 bales. Much depends however on the weather conditions, as the crop is this area is greatly in need of rain. The crop has fruited well, but the recent hot, dry weather has caused considerable shedding, especially the early planted cotton. Blooms are appearing on the top of the crop which shows that growth has stopped and unless rain is had soon the bolls now forming will be undersized.

Estimates based on last year's crop indicate that there is approximately 35,000 acres of cotton in Olney's trade territory. Loss caused by grasshoppers and acreage abandoned for other reasons will reduce this total to about 32,000 acres.

WILBARGER CROP IS ESTIMATED AT 40,000.

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 11.—Wilbarger county cotton crop will be upwards of 40,000 bales is freely predicted by buyers and farmers alike as the estimate for this year's crop. About a third more acreage than last year when the county had 27,000 ginned and the best season for the growing plant, since cotton has been produced here are what the bumper crop is estimated by.

Scores of farmers already have a half bale to the acre and unless hail or insects make inroads the crop is assured.

With a good price, which is being predicted and the splendid yield, the county will be in the best condition financially in its history.

Gin companies are making extensive repairs now and several gins will be ginning cotton here by the last of the month. Speckled full grown bolls are hanging on the plant now ready to pop open and a new bale of cotton will be on display at the Wilbarger County Fair, September 3 to 6.

[illegible] IN HISTORY IN COLLINGSWORTH CROP.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Aug. 11.—Collingsworth's cotton crop promises to be the largest the county has ever raised. There are thousands of acres of cotton in Wellington's trade territory that promises to yield a bale or more per acre. As a whole the crop is in better condition than ever before in the history of the county, and [illegible]

SORT OF A "FORD STARTER," AS IT WERE, YOU KNOW

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 11.—Admittedly H. C. Newsome and Miss Jessie Emenhiser got a lowly start in life as Mr. and Mrs. Newsome for they were wed while sitting in the front seat of a Ford car in front of the residence of Rev. Frank G. Davis shortly afternoon Saturday.

This didn't seem to worry them though, for they wore Packard smiles as they drove away from the parsonage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Emenhiser of near Hollister and the groom also is of this county.

the yield will be materially increased. The county has between 80,000 and 90,000 acres in cotton and conservative estimates place the yield around 40,000 bales.

CHILDRESS COUNTY HAS 20,000 BALES DUE.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Aug. 11.—County Agent L. T. Hunter estimates the cotton crop for Childress county for 1924 at around 20,000 bales. About 50,000 acres were planted in cotton and much of this acreage will produce half a bale to the acre. The grasshoppers destroyed some of the early cotton, but this has been replanted, and the young cotton is doing well.

The earliest cotton is over knee high, and is furiting well. It is thought that the cotton will be a little later than normal this year.

Childress county is well prepared to take care of the crop with her many gins and big compress.

TILLMAN EXPECTS RECORD COTTON CROP.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 11.—With cotton acreage increased in the county and with weather that has been almost ideal, the 1924 cotton crop in Tillman county promises to be one of the best ever raised and to exceed last year's 40,000 bales, which set the record for Oklahoma counties.

Grasshoppers have done quite a bit of damage to cotton in the eastern section of the county, around Hollister, Loveland and Grandfield. In the Manitou region there has been some damage and toward Chattanooga they were felt, but the main cotton sections of Tillman county, Tipton and Davidson, have hardly felt the insects. No boll worms or weevils have appeared on the cotton plants. The plants are full of blooms and squares and in some of the earlier varieties there are signs that some will soon open. The first bale marketed in the county in 1923 was from the Grandfield region the latter part of August.

Conservative estimates on the crop around Tipton and Davidson and Frederick are from a quarter to a half bale to the acre. This uniformly good condition of the crop extends from Frederick as far up the northwestern branch of the Katy as Wellington, Texas. Jackson county cotton is in fine shape, Harmon county will raise a better crop than last year and the river counties in Texas are sure to have lots of the fleecy.

Coming on top of an average of 20 bushels to the acre wheat, Tillman county, and Southwestern Oklahoma is in line for one of the most prosperous falls in its history.

NOCONA EXPECTS 25 PER CENT INCREASE.

NOCONA, Texas, Aug. 11.—Something like 15 per cent more acreage of cotton was planted this year than last, on an average, while some planted twice as much.

Cotton condition at this time is considered much better than for years. Under present conditions and considering amount of increase in acreage, a fair estimate would put the yield at least 25 per cent more than last year. A good rain in a few days may make an increase to 33 1-3 per cent.

A better price is expected at opening of market, than last season. Most farmers and cotton dealers are well pleased with the outlook.

Cotton picking will very likely begin in 10 or 15 days in this section.

Some over 3,800 bales were weighed in the Nocona yard last season, and if conditions continue favorable, it is estimated between 5,000 and 6,000 bales will be weighed this season.

CLAY COUNTY WILL HAVE GOOD CROP.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Aug. 11.—Clay county has an average increase in cotton acreage of about fifteen per cent this year, but this is somewhat offset by the grasshopper menace which has proved damaging in several localities.

Farmers generally, and those in close touch with the cotton situation here, declare this year's crop will greatly exceed last year's yield of 16,000 bales in the county, and predict that the staple will bring a good price.

The county's corn crop is practically a complete failure, but the recent wheat and oat harvest is reported as the best in many years.

BURK EXPECTS FIRST BALE SEPTEMBER 1.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Aug. 11.—The cotton crop prospects which promised to be the largest of many years, have been cut by the grasshopper raid and dry weather thirty per cent, and will be much less if rain does not come in abundance in the next ten days, according to statement from buyers in this section today.

The yield is usually about 1,200 bales, and is raised chiefly on the farms west of the city along the Red River; and much from across the river.

The first cotton is expected here not earlier than September 1.

FULL VOTE OUT THIS NOVEMBER

Klan Issue to Bring Out Heavy Strength at Polls, Belief

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS. Record News Staff.

WASHINGTON, D. S., Aug. 11.—Coming apparently from independent sources, but backed by the republican national committee a nation-wide movement is on to bring out the full vote of the country this November.

Republicans are backing the plan on the theory that the country is naturally republican and that the larger the vote the greater will be the republican majority. The G. O. P. knowing that President Coolidge has none of the colorful qualities of a Roosevelt to shake the party out of its apathy is willing to lend encouragement to any movement to bring out the vote.

Klan Aids Vote.

Aid of the full vote movement is being lent by the ku klux klan. The ku klux klan organization north of the Mason and Dixon line is overwhelmingly republican. They are especially incensed at John W. Davis, the democratic nominee, just now because Davis has appointed Thomas J. Spellacy, Connecticut, a Catholic, as manager of the eastern Davis headquarters.

Democratic leaders say that the Spellacy appointment was made solely on the grounds of merit. He knows the conditions in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire where a big drive is to be made for Davis.

Normally Demos.

Normally about 90 per cent of the Catholics in these states are democrats. They form the very backbone of the party there. It has never before been considered strange that a man who has supported the democratic party loyally and has shown exceptional ability as leader should be chosen for a position of responsibility, whatever may have been his religion. But Spellacy's appointment has raised a storm in klan circles.

The first effort of the klan to get out a full vote has begun in Maryland. Just over the District of Columbia line at Marlboro this week a klan lecturer, a republican from Detroit, began his campaign. He told a crowd which gathered in a cornfield there that the ku kulx klan intended to see to it that there is a full vote out this fall.

G. O. P. Counts on Klan.

Republican leaders believe that they will get the klan vote north of the Mason and Dixon line, almost to a man. They rely on the fact that not a man who spoke on the klan plank at New York had a good word to say for the klan, and that not a man at Cleveland was permitted to say a word against the klan. The only man who attempted it, National Committeeman R. B. Creager, Texas, was properly squelched by party leaders.

Montague Hail Storm Destroyed Much Cotton

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Aug. 11.—The recent hail storm which struck about four miles northwest of here almost completely beat the cotton to pieces, as shown by a sample stalk which was on exhibition here last week. A few rather large bolls were left on the stalk, but stalk was literally trimmed of everything else. The storm extended over four or five farms, it is understood, and the cotton completely wiped out.

BAPTIST REVIVAL AT NOCONA CONTINUES

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Aug. 11.—The Baptist revival meeting which has been in progress all last week here, will very likely extend over at least a part of this week.

A large crowd has been in attendance. Rev. S. F. Ross, local minister, has been assisted by a visiting preacher in the meeting.

More than eighty-five per cent of the United States' corn crop is fed to livestock and somewhat less than ten per cent is used for human food. The hog is the largest consumer of corn, forty per cent being fed to swine on farms. Horses and cattle are next in order.

PIMPLES CAUSE FOLKS TO SHRINK FROM ATTENTION

Whenever you go out, you can't help but pity the many folks you see trying to have a good time, but are so shrinking and backward about coming near others where pimply, blotchy and eczemic skin can be seen.

You almost feel like going up to them and telling them that they ought to begin using Black and White Ointment, and Soap, which so many thousands of happy people are depending on to keep their skin clear, smooth and good to look at.

Black and White Ointment, and Soap, are selling at the phenomenal rate of more than two million packages a year, and the fact that they are as economically priced is largely responsible for this record. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

Trying to Sew Up a Wasteful Man's Pocketbook—The Modern Spinister's Lot—The Young Girl Who Mistakes Hero-Worship for Love.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been engaged for four years to a man who is all that a girl could desire, so far as being generous and good natured and good appearing. He is a good spender and enjoys acting Santa Claus to his own family and to me, and life would not mean much to me without him.

But he is absolutely without a cent and has the most unreasonable ideas about saving money. He doesn't believe that anybody ever got anything just by working and saving. At times I convince him that saving isn't a bad idea, and he lets me take so much of his money each week until I have about a hundred or two and then he shirks of a scheme to make a million and away goes all the money I have saved. He either buys foolishly on the stock market or he borrows it to lend, and I never get it back. Just as soon as he sees that he has saved a few dollars he just burns up until he spends it and it is gone.

Now, can you tell me what I can do to make this young man see sense? He says I take life too seriously, that I ought to be glad and smile if I have my health. We are supremely happy and never have an argument until I begin to wonder what we are going to do when we get married.

L. S. McG.

Answer:

I suppose your fate is that of many another woman, that of trying to sew up a wasteful man's pocket. And attempting to stop the holes in a sieve is not a more difficult task. It is a job that will require all of the patience, self-control and tact that you can summon to your aid, for nothing is more aggravating to a thrifty, ambitious woman than to see her husband throw away in foolishness the money that should be the foundation of their fortune and that should provide them against the horrors of a dependent old age.

A few days ago I was called on to help the wife of just such a man as you describe your fiance to be. He was a fine fellow, and for twenty years he had held a splendid position, getting a salary that should have made his family rich. But he was a good spender. He never counted the cost of anything he desired, and when he died he left his wife the furniture in a rented apartment, a second-hand automobile and $200 in the bank. That was all.

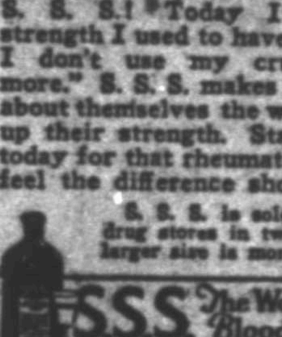

A fortune had slipped through his fingers—spent on taxies, on theatres, on restaurants, on treating and lending to the parasites that hung upon him. All gone for nothing. Wasted.

There is nothing more certain than that every fortune is founded on thrift, and that if you do not save up something in your youth you will be poor in your old age. Also that if you have nothing laid up you can tage no advantage of opportunity when it knocks at your door, for opportunity is like a gypsy sibyl. You must cross her palm with gold before she will tell you which way your fortune lies. Also it is true that it does not make any difference how much you make—it is how much you save that counts. A million made and spent is as utterly gone as a lost dollar.

All of these platitudes your fiance knows. Perhaps he will listen to you; perhaps not. If you cannot convince him of the virtue of saving, be one of the gold-diggers yourself and get everything out of him that you can and salt it away privately. Then you will have something to take care of him with when the inevitable crash comes.

Average Daily Output Per Well In Texas For 1923 Was 19.3 Barrels

CALIFORNIA 1ST IN PRODUCTION

Department of Interior Report Estimates 732,407,000 Barrels In 1923.

By BASCOM M. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—Texas in 1923 produced a total of 131,025,000 barrels of crude oil compared with 118,684,000 barrels produced in 1922, according to the figures of the department of interior as given out today after rechecking and correcting their figures given out each month.

During 1923 California led all states in production with 262,876,000 barrels as compared with 138,468,000 barrels in 1922. This was the year of the peak production in California, several big pools being discovered.

Oklahoma was second in 1923 with 160,929,000 barrels, bettering its 1922 rank of 149,571,000 barrels. Texas was third with the figures given above, while Wyoming ranked fourth with a production of 44,785,000, compared with 26,715 barrels in 1922.

Arkansas came fifth with 36,610,000 barrels against 12,712 in 1922.

Kansas sixth with 28,250,000 barrels against 31,766,000 barrels in 1922.

Louisiana came seventh with 24,919,000 against 33,376,000 barrels in 1922. Thus Kansas and Louisiana were the only two of the leading producing states to show a decrease.

For the entire nation the 1923 production was 732,407,000 barrels, compared with 557,531,000 barrels in 1922.

Texas Averaging 19.3 Barrels

Texas on December 31, 1923, the report shows, had 18,250 oil wells producing each an average of 19.3 barrels of oil a day. Of these wells 2,270 were in the coastal fields with an average production of 32.1 barrels. The rest of the state contained 15,980 wells producing on an average 17.4 barrels of oil per day.

There were 290,100 oil wells in the entire nation, daily average production being 6.6 barrels. Pennsylvania continued to lead in the number of wells, havnig 74,000 averaging less than three-tenths of a barrel per well. Oklahoma came second with 37,500 wells, averaging 6.9 barrels per well.

Wells in other states number: Ohio 29,950; West Virginia 20,100; Illinois 16,664; Kansas 17,750; New York 14,660; California 9,396; Kentucky 11,700; Wyoming 2,800; Arkansas 1,970; Indiana 2,300; Louisiana 3,630; Montana 290; Colorado 60.

California Average 74.9

California wells lead with the high average production of 74.9 barrels per well per day, and other averages were: Wyoming 59.7; Arkansas 46; Colorado 3.6; Illinois 1.3; Indiana 1.1; Kansas 4.2; Kentucky 1.7; Montana 15.6; Louisiana 15.8; New York three-tenths; Ohio one-half, and West Virginia, eight-tenths.

The Texas roduction by months in 1923, was:

January	9,121,000
February	7,865,000
March	8,806,000
April	8,571,000
May	9,190,000
June	9,268,000
July	10,815,000
August	11,850,000
September	13,072,000
October	15,821,000
November	15,759,000
December	10,891,000

January of 1923 was the biggest month for oil production in the Gulf Coast region with 3,005,000 barrels. November was the biggest month for the area in Texas outside the Gulf Coast with 13,504,000 barrels.

Mexican Improves

From Mexico in 1923 this country imported 79,854,000 barrels of crude oil, compared wih 126,195,000 in 1922, and from countries other than Mexico 2,661,000 barrels, compared with 1,113,000 in 1920, or total imports in 1923 of 82,015,000 barrels compared with 127,308,000 in 1922.

Exports of crude oil amounted to 17,295,000 barrels in 1923 as against 10,168,000 in 1922. The excess of the nation's imports of crude over exports in 1923 was 64,680. In 1922 our excess of crude imports over crude exports was 117,145,000. Canada continued to be our principal customer for crude oil, taking 8,825,000 barrels in the year.

The biggest stock of petroleum held at any time in 1923 was 334,774,000 on December 31.

OIL EXPORTS NOW SECOND

Figures given in the accompanying summary of the 1923 report of the industries of the nation by the department of the interior show the industry to have risen to the new dignity of second greatest industry in the country in the matter of exports.

The value of oil petroleum exported from this country during 1923 was only exceeded by the value of cotton exports, raw and manufactured.

This growth is all of comparatively recent date, having occurred for the most part during the last five years.

NO CUTS MADE HERE YESTERDAY

Texas Company Follows Humble Lead For Mexia, Powell and Currie Oil.

Further cuts in the price of crude oil in this district failed to materialize yesterday. It was freely predicted Saturday and Sunday following the Humble Oil and Refining company's reduction of their flat rate on Wichita-Archer crude to $1.35 that yesterday would see the Texas company and the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the other large buyers follow suit.

The Prairie's schedule, posted July 28, naming 33 degrees gravity and above at $1.50, was not changed. The Texas company posted new bulletins, following the Humble lead in cutting Mexia, Dowell, and Currie, naming those crudes at $1.35 a barrel, a reduction of fifteen cents, but posted no new prices on Wichita-Archer crude.

The Gulf company's prices were unchanged as were those of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

The Texas company cut in central Texas was made effective at 7 a. m. yesterday morning.

Prices in this district at the close of business yesterday afternoon were posted as follows:

The Texas Company, Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, Prairie Oil and Gas Company, and Gulf Refining Company:

Below 30 degrees gravity	$1.10
30-32.9 deg. grav.	1.25
33 deg. grav. and above	1.50

Humble Oil and Refining Company:

Wichita-Archer crude	$1.35

Magnolia Petroleum Company:

Below 28 degrees grav.	$ .90
28-30.9 deg. grav.	1.00
31-32.9 deg. grav.	1.06
33 deg. grav. and above	1.25

Casing Set On Second Stine Test, Clay Co.

Casing has been set and bailing commenced in the No. 1, Stine of the Cumley-Callendar combination, Clay county. Depth of the casing seat, steel line measurement, is given at 1,174 feet in line with the sand encountered a few inches lower.

Bailing is showing some oil. Sand has been drilled into to a depth of 1,780 feet, and bailing today should probably show the well for what it is.

The other two wells are shut down at about 1,600 feet waiting for water. Globe Drilling company is building a mile and a half water line to their well and should complete it last night in order to get started this morning.

STOCKS RESUME UPWARD TREND

Oil Trading Listless After Standard Omits Dividends.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Steady accumulation of the high grade railroad shares, eleven of which established new high prices for the year, was the outstanding feature of today's stock market. Although several points of heaviness developed in other sections of the list, the market appeared to have resumed its upward trend, bullish demonstrations being successfully conducted in a number of specialties, particularly the baking issues.

Reports that the allied and German experts on reparations had come to an agreement on the Dawes program had a bullish effect on sentiment and was directly responsible for the strength of the foreign exchange, demand sterling moved up to 3 3-4 cents to a new 1924 high at $4.75 3-4. Trade news was mixed in character but largely favorable. A better demand was noted for steel, pig iron, zinc and copper with indications of a stiffening price tendency.

Brokers reported a good investment demand for the dividend paying rail shares with increased buying for Dutch and British account. Merger rumors also contributed to the strength of these issues, Jersey Central being the outstanding features with an extreme gain of 14 3-4 points over Saturday's final quotation.

Standard industrials showed little change on the day. U. S. Steel fluctuated within a range of one point, closing 1-4 higher at 107 3-4.

Baking issues made quick response to reports of high earnings, General Baking soaring 13 1-2 points to 130 1-2, a new peak price, on reports that the company had purchased a year's supply of wheat at the summer's low price.

Trading in oil shares was rather listless, as a result of the omission of dividends by two Standard Oil units and another cut in gulf-coast crude prices.

Sugar responded to predictions of higher commodity prices.

Refined Markets Are Stronger

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 11.—Refiners of the mid-continent district are no longer making concessions to move their gasoline and products as has been the case here for the few weeks past. The market is steady and firm, with a positive tendency to advance, even in the face of a well-founded apprehension that crude prices may weaken. Inquiry shows some refiners sold up for the next fortnight on contracts while the spot market is slow. The Oklahoma and Kansas refiners feel decidedly better and are developing a new spirit of optimism, while those or north Texas, who were feeling good when Oklahoma-Kansas manufacturers were down in the mouth are now not so self assured.

Kerosene and other distillated continue firm, with fuel oil a bit slow.

In three days recently the Chesnut and Smith corporations purchased 226 cars of natural gasoline, thereby materially benefiting that product. Grade C is very scarce and stronger, but Grades A and B are still offered at old prices.

Refiners here report an inquiry out for wax for September delivery.

UNITED CENTRAL GETS 100-BARREL WELL IN NO. 10

The United Central is placing their No. 10, McCarty, in the northwest corner of their 30-acre McCarty lease on the pump today, with the expectation of making a 100-barrel well from sand encountered at 1,685 feet. A Star rig was moved on to drill the well in yesterday, it showing for that amount after the sand had been penetrated a few feet.

The company's No. 11, offsetting to the west the newly completed No. 2, McCarty of the Hammon-Lee-Bullington group is drilling past 1,495 feet in hard rock, while the No. 12, to the south, west offset to the Hammon-Lee-Bullington's No. 3, McCarty, is rigging up.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons In Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

You have started—but do you know where you are going?

The engineer who puts his hand to the throttle to start the train knows exactly where he is going and how long it will take him to get there. There may be emergencies causing delays, but he knows exactly what to do in such cases and has plans for making up lost time.

Have you an equally definite plan for your financial career?

Aanalyze your abilities and your business opportunities to answer these questions:

1. Have you a reasonable chance to go up in your present place?
2. Would it be better to go into business for yourself?
3. Have you built up an invested reserve that you can use if an opportunity to go into business should be discovered?
4. Are you regularly investing a portion of your year's earnings in some conservative investment entirely apart from your routine work?

This last question is more important for it assures you maximum protection in case of a business slump.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—The cotton market was nervous and erratic today with fairly wide fluctuations in price but less active trading than has been the rule of late. At the start the market showed an advancing tendency mainly because of the fact that there has been no rain in Texas over Sunday and also because of the greater number of reports of deterioration in that state. October traded up to 26.87 and December to 26.90, or 31 points above the previous close. Later in the morning the market eased off on indications that rains in the west and an official forecast for showers in that section. October eased off to 26.29 and December to 26.35, or 57 to 58 points down from the earlier highs. A later rally on high temperatures and reports of deterioration in Texas led to the recovery of most of the decline and the close showed net gains for the day on the active trading months of three to four points.

The official temperature records for Sunday showed that 27 stations in Texas experienced maximum temperatures of 100 to 108 degrees and 17 stations in Oklahoma reported 100 to 106 degrees. The government pars for the report of August 16 call for an increase of 19.4 pounds per acre, hence it will take a material deterioration to hold the crop indicated down to the last figures of 12,351,000 bales.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

A CONSTANT PRAYER:—Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord; let thy loving kindness and thy truth continually preserve me.—Psalm 40:11.

PRAYER:—Lord, we claim Thy promise, "He that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him about."

REED ON THE WARPATH.

Senator James A. Reed is on the warpath again. No, not on the warpath but raging on a bed of sickness and denouncing all measures and men who do not appeal to him. His latest broadside was fired at the pacifists. He has no time for them. He would blot them out.

This time military defense day won his powerful favor and he hurled his bolts at John W. Davis, Chas. W. Bryan and men of all parties and all stations who believe in a program of peace, and in the turning of the sword into the plow share. Reed would have a navy that would sweep the seven seas. He would have an army that would strike terror in the hearts of all the peoples of all the nations of the world.

He would be ready for any warlike emergency. He would be on guard against an army of invasion. He would have Uncle Sam the big policeman of the universe. He would have all the tribes of men, alien or otherwise, understand that Uncle Sam is a fighting sun of a gun ready to declare war at the drop of a hat.

Senator Reed has been a very sick man since early June. He has the "rheumatiz" and a man who has the "rheumatiz" in its proper form should not be held responsible for all his utterances.

Senator Reed in his time has fought all reforms, he has opposed all innovations, he has denounced the leaders in all parties including his own, he has been a terror in debate, a tragedy in the court room, a merciless gadfly on the stump and yet the voters of Missouri, regardless of party, point to him as the greatest orator and the most courageous fighter that the nation has known since the days of Thomas H. Benton.

When James A. Reed dies and enters the gate of Paradise he will pick a quarrel with St. Peter. Hurl defiance in the direction of St. Paul, question the architecture of the pearly gate and demand an early introduction to Michael of the Flaming Sword. There is only one James A. Reed. He was born in Ohio, the stepmother of presidents and at an early age made a bee-line to Missouri where he has been raising hell ever since.

DIRT FARMER CUTTEN.

Arthur W. Cutter of Chicago is the most successful dirt farmer under the shining sun. He has eight hundred acres of land not many miles from Chicago, he is a grain raiser and his thoroughbred horses and cattle and hogs are prize winners at all the fairs.

Dirst Farmer Cutten made a big killing on July corn and cleaned up five million dollars. Cutten cornered corn and he made the other dealers look like pikers. He is a very modest man and his advice is that people who do not know the market should keep out of it.

Incidentally, this dirt farmer who is opposed to gambling engineered the greatest coupe in the history of the Chicago Board of Trade and this is how he won five million dollars on the deal.

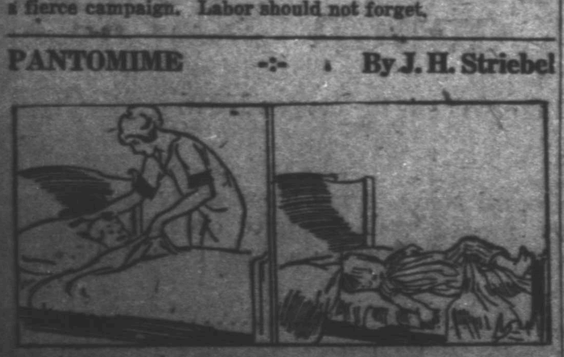

He is not hunting government relief. He does not favor government price fixing. He hates the word "gambling". He would not have his son go near the pit. He doesn't care who is elected president in November. He has laid aside enough to keep the wolf from the door and is of the opinion that it is experience and not pluck that makes a man a winner in high peak Board of Trade transactions.

Now a million suckers will invade the market and the shearing of the sheep will net golden fleece for the gamblers of America.

SAMUEL GOMPERS.

Samuel Gompers in his old age finds himself flying a third party kite. He has advised all members of organized labor to follow the flag of La Follette and Bryan Wheeler. He has read John W. Davis out of the camp of the friends of labor and branded General Charles G. Dawes as a labor hater of the most approved type. John W. Dawes as a member of congress voted for every sane labor measure offered and in every official position to which he has been called he has done honor to himself, the land of his birth and the party he is leading today in a fierce campaign. Labor should not forget.

PANTOMIME —:— By J. H. Striebel

GETTING EXCITING. By Albert T. Reid.

Their Name Was Legion

Bart talked—of the experience of the afternoon—and of the queerness of the events which had followed. Tarko cocked his head and nodded with evident glee. "What do you suppose is in the wind?" he questioned.

"I don't know. But I believe we'd better work in double harness until midnight, anyway. 'Bull' Frannison threatened me this afternoon—I'm sure of that. I'm sure, too, that he passed the word not to start any trouble if I came around again. But why—"

"Don't know. Certainly looks funny!"

Bart hurried to the house of Tom Jordan, only to receive there the news that Frannison neither had presented himself, nor sent any plea of political messenger. Here, the mayor followed the younger man to the door and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"I told you when you took this job that there wouldn't be any interference" was his parting announcement. "I meant it. "I'll help, Bart, but I won't hinder. Go to it—and if you get away with it, Lor' bless you!"

A quiet evening followed, spent with Tarko.

Eleven o'clock came and went. Then midnight. The crowd had begun to thin—an hour or so more and the street would be deserted by all save a few. Bart turned to his deputy.

"It looks like we were wrong," came his conclusion. "If you think you can handle things all right now, I'll turn in."

"Sure." But Tarko squinted down the street. "Nothing doing around here a-tall. I'll trot down to the coop and see how our chicken is."

"You're right. That's when the test will come. In the meantime, if you need me, send some one to my room in the hotel—217."

"Sure." They parted, Tarko to stroll once more down the street before going to the little jail, Bart to turn toward his hotel. In his room, tired after his long first day in his new job, wondering a bit as to what the next 24 hours would bring, Bart drew a chair to the window and sat there for a half-hour or so, merely resting before going to bed. Then suddenly he straightened.

From the distance had come the faint sound of voices—raised in anger. Higher, more strident they become. Then—a shot! with two more following in quick succession! It was enough for Bart Rogers. A leap and he had made the door, to race down the narrow hallway to the stairs and with a few bounds gain the steps. There was no need to stop for a sense of direction—he had recognized the location immediately. The jail!

Bart suddenly saw Bud Tarko.

"Tarko!" he called. "Tarko—what's happened?"

The man reeled in his direction, his long form doubled in pain. Closer—then Bart could see that his face was streaked with flood, that his clothing was tattered, that his holster was hanging loose and empty. A bound, Bart had reached him, and catching him under the arms, straightened him, just as the man sagged downward.

"They got me!" came through thick, bruised lips. "Got me from behind. Just as I was turning into the jail. I—I fought the best I knew how but I couldn't keep going. Then some one hit me from behind and I went out. They must have carried me away from the jail—when I got my senses back, one of 'em was standing over me, down by the station. Then somebody yelled to him and he ran. After that—look!"

The reeling form of Bud Tarko broke from the grasp of his supporter, and lured drunkenly, an unsteady hand pointing toward the little city hall and jail. But Bart had little need of the gesture. The hitherto dark little city hall suddenly had become light, with a menacing brightness. The windows were gleaming. Smoke had begun to swirl about the building; from within there glowed the swift licking flames which Bart Rogers knew only too well spelled but one thing—Incendiarism!

CHAPTER XV
Sheriff Graham

There was no need for questions. "Bull" Frannison and his henchmen slightly had waited until the right and proper moment for the carrying out of their schemes—then forced them through to a conclusion. Frannison suddenly drove up.

"Kiss little frame-up you've pulled ain't it?" he sneered. "But it doesn't go! Understand that? It doesn't go!"

"Frame-up?" Bart Rogers almost spat the words at him. "You're a fine one to be talking frame-ups! What about this man—"

"Yes! What about him?" Bull Frannison shook a fist in the face of the reeling Bud Tarko. "It's a darned good thing he set that jail on fire or—"

"Listen to that lyin' sonvangun!" Bud mumbled it through thick, bruised lips. Frannison went on:

"Think we're not wise to you, eh? Well, whenever you can shoot innocent men and think you can get away with it—you're mistaken. Look here, sheriff, or marshal, or whatever your name is, if you want to find the man who beat up your deputy, here we are right here. See if you're the gameness to come out in the open and admit that you tried to frame up on a bunch of decent, respectable show people tonight, that you had this deputy of yours open up the jail and let out a prisoner, and then deliberately shot an innocent man, to make it appear that—"

"Where do you get that stuff?" The accusation had given Bud Tarko sudden strength. "While you're lyin,' you're tellin' a good one, ain't you? You—"

"Here!" A man rose in the automobile, and in the glare of the flames, Bart saw the narrow featured gambler he had arrested that afternoon. "Bull" waved a hand.

"How about this? Who turned you loose?"

"That fellow there."

"You mean this deputy?"

"Yeh." Then, just as I was coming out, he happened to see Rocky Jamison here, passing the jail on the way home, and he deliberately pulled out his gun and shot him. I jumped on him about that time, and then you fellows came along. He set the place on fire, too."

Gasping, goggle-eyed, the elongated Bud Tarko reeled forward, his bloody fists clenched, his arms churning belligerently.

"I can whip the dirty pup that started that lie!"

HOW IT STARTED

"SWINGING 'ROUND THE CIRCLE."

This is an expression that is very popularly used with reference to a national tour made by a political candidate—usually for the presidency or vice-presidency of the United States, or by the man in office to defend his program or policy.

And it is so that "swinging 'round the circle" had its origin, being first used by Andrew Johnson who on the death of Lincoln became seventeenth president of the United States, and who on his reconstruction tour is reported to have said "We are swinging 'round the circle."

Despite Boy's Fine Record

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 4.—During the war the youngest soldier in the Italian army was Francisco Lavicenic, who driven from home by the Austrians when the Italians overran the border in 1915, became a volunteer in the Italian regiment of Guides at 12 years of age, and had risen to be a sergeant major when he was 15. Lavicenic took part in over a dozen big actions and was awarded the silver medal for valor for his bravery on the Piave.

All this, however, has availed the young hero nothing, and as all his achievements occurred before he was 16 years of age, he has been called under arms again to do his ordinary military service. The boy veteran is now stationed at Ferrara, and a public subscription has been opened to give him a gold medal in memory of his citizen experiences.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE.

LEO.

Today's aspects are, during the forenoon, rather adverse, and counsel more than ordinary care, both with regard to health and probably accident. Vigilance is recommended. In business or domestic duties, only work of a routine nature should be attempted. In the afternoon, conditions are distinctly favorable, and warrant expressiveness and change, provided, however, this does not lead to risks of a radical character or ventures into the unknown.

A child born today will be subject to all the ordinary ailments of infancy but, with wholesome surroundings and proper nutrition, will survive all these threatening troubles and attain a healthy childhood. Its character will be rather weak; its disposition querulous; its mentality above the average. This child will absorb information very readily, and will be a painstaking student. It will not shine in either a business or domestic capacity, nor in any occupation where the duties are of the humdrum variety. It will display, at an early age, some artistic tendency, and this should be developed, once it is discovered, to the nth degree.

If today is your birthday, you have every reason to be satisfied with your lot in life, and with your prospects. Your whole existence, however, is embittered by extreme jealousy, and this proves you to endure much time on useless repining, and in conjecturing a thousand ills which will, possibly, never come to pass.

If a woman, your jealousy causes you to look with suspicion on the most trivial acts of either your sweetheart or your husband. You make life unbearable for him, and miserable for yourself; you take the sweetness out of a mutual relationship which, under other conditions, would radiate happiness and provoke contentment. Your fears and suspicions are, in all probability, groundless, but a distorted vision never can see things in their true light.

If a man, your jealousy extends itself to your friends, or your associates in business. You can never see another attain success without feeling jealous of his good fortune. "Something attempted, something done" by another creates within you a feeling of bitterness instead of one of rejoicing.

Jealousy is wasted energy: it is unnecessary when the feeling is engendered by conditions that are imaginary; it is futile as a remedy for conditions when they are not imaginary and really exist.

Irrigation

By A. M. McPHERSON

WATER

The Weight of Water, Its and Steam

Engineers generally take the weight of water as being approximately 62.5 lbs. As a matter of fact water varies in weight according to its temperature.

At 32 degrees Fahrenheit or just at freezing water weighs 62.418 lbs per cubic foot. Water is heaviest at a temperature of about 39 degrees Fahrenheit or seven degrees above its freezing point at sea level water weighs only 59.76 lbs. per cubic foot.

In the form of ice, water is considerably lighter than in its liquid form. A cubic foot of ice weighs 57.50 lbs., or about 5 lbs less per cubic foot than in its liquid form.

It is a fortunate thing that ice is slightly lighter than water and that it will float. If ice sank it would mean that the lakes and oceans would freeze from the bottom and in the course of time would become solid. The ice would not melt in the summer and as a consequence our whole climate would change and this would soon become a frozen world.

Steam, or the gaseous form of water, varies in weight according to temperature and the pressure it is under. Under ordinary atmospheric pressure at sea level and at the same temperature as boiling water one cubic foot of steam weighs less than four-hundredths of a pound.

While we all think of water as something fluid and easily handled and not at all hard or difficult to procure, it is, as a matter of fact, when confined highly incompressible. It is so incompressible that at the depth of a mile in the sea, where the pressure is measured in tons to the square inch, a cubic foot of water only weighs about half a pound more than at the surface.

Mrs. Harding to Help Replace Boat Of Alaska Church Mission

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Aug.—Mrs. Florence King Harding, widow of President Harding, and Mrs. John Grier Hibben, wife of the president of Princeton university, have guaranteed $20,000 to build and equip a power boat for church work in southeastern Alaska, it is announced here by Dr. S. Hall Young, superintendent of Presbyterian missions in Alaska.

The ship will cost $40,000, and Dr. Young will raise the rest of the amount. His first mission vessel was destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Hibben became interested in this church work when she was in Alaska with President Harding shortly before his death last year. Mrs. Hibben visited Alaska in 1922.

Automobilist Chokes Wildcat Snared With Wire

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Aug.—Victor Douglas, a miner, was driving with a companion in an automobile near here recently when a wildcat crossed the road in front of them and climbed to a ledge on the cliff above the road. Douglas snared the beast with a long stick and baling wire.

The enraged cat sprang, but Douglas dodged and was able to keep it from closing in on him by whirling it around him at the end of the wire. Finally Douglas began to grow dizzy, and giving the wire a final swing, he hurled it against the cliff and dashed for his car. But the lobcat did not move. The men found it had been choked to death.

Through A Woman's Eyes

LIVING IN BACK ROOMS

"A rear apartment—dark back rooms? Certainly not. I'd rather sacrifice the hardwood or some other convenience and live on the outside with plenty of air and light!"

"Air and light!"

That is the most important requirement of the place we live in. None of us, if we could help it, would choose to live in back rooms, to say nothing of deliberately closing all the windows and pulling down the blinds.

Yet that is not unlike what many of us do every day with the place in which live the real "we"—our innermost selves.

For every time we turn from enlightenment, everytime we refuse to entertain any but our own ideas or will not broaden out, we are shutting the windows of the mind.

When we withhold sympathy and understanding, when we stand pat for hardness rather than human kindness, when we are indifferent to the viewpoint of the "other fellow" we are closing tight the shutters of the heart and encasing ourselves in an airtight compartment that is going to be mighty lonely.

When we are interested only in the material, turning our eyes from higher purposes and what is beautiful and exalting in life we are slamming shut the door of the soul.

Openmindedness, a humble desire to learn to understand to rise to the higher possibilities of existence unselfishness and the urge to give these are the oxygen and the sunbeams which purify the atmosphere which ventilates and nourish the mind, the heart, the soul. To live without them is like shutting out light and air like confining oneself to suffocating darkness that is far blacker than existence in any of the world's back rooms.

More Truth Than Poetry

TO A SPIDER

I know that worlds of good you do
By seining predatory flies.
And Mr. Fabre has taught me too,
That you are keen and brave and wise.
But when upon your prey you browse,
Or for the same you lie in wait,
Despite your virtues, you arouse
My ardent hate.

Though you assisted Robert Bruce,
By knowing no such word as "fail,"
To toil away till he broke loose
From durance in a dreadful jail,
And though in many pious books,
We're taught your patient ways to prize,
There's something in your wolfish looks
That I despise.

You could not weave that silken skein
And shape it with such lofty art,
If you had not a wondrous brain,
And high ambition in your heart.
I should admire you when I see
You rocking in your silver swing,
And yet to me you'll always be
An evil thing.

Like some reformers that I know,
You are devoid of all appeal,
Because about your work you go
With too much stern and savage zeal
I ought to hail them with acclaim
And nobly strive to emulate them,
As Bruce did you, but just the same
I hate them!

The Disconnection of Sleep

The art of going to sleep is the art of disconnection.

Being awake is being alive to our surroundings and susceptible to them. Whenever these surroundings are of such a nature as to require our attention we cannot sleep. When we can leave our environment and become lost in vagaries, then only can we acquire sleepfulness.

Sleep is a bath of the soul which it needs every so often and without which the nerves become frayed. Probably there is no other question that interests so many people as the question of going to sleep. Those who can drop to sleep at any moment, as was said of Napoleon, are rare indeed. Most of us need conductive surroundings.

Surroundings which are conducive are those which enable us to leave them and wander off into the field of dreams.

It will be found by most people that surroundings become negligible only when they are customary, when we have become so habituated to them that they no longer require our attention.

There are some who can sleep amid the noise of the city because those noises are usual and everything takes place as expected. They cannot go to sleep apart from these noises because they have become insensible the part of their subconsciousness, and are necessary to forgetfulness.

There are others who cannot sleep except under conditions of quiet such as are found in the country or far away from bustling tram cars or houses.

As many people will be found in the one class as in the other. The ability to go to sleep depends upon one's ability to disconnect himself from what is actually taking place around him.

Many have been awakened by the sudden stopping of the clock. The cause is that they have accustomed themselves to the ticking of the timepiece and its silence, being unusual, recalls their attention to it. Thus it will be found that they can sleep with the clock ticking by them but cannot sleep without it.

Thus it will be seen that the sudden cessation of noise acts as quickly to call us awake as the sudden beginning of noise and it all depends on that to which we have accustomed ourselves.

Whatever else sleep is it seems to be the vanishing of the mind into the distance and one cannot merge into dreamland unless the present has retreated and he is enabled thus to let it go.

The question of going to sleep is an important one. Those in the full tide of health will probably require no assistance while those afflicted with nervousness need every hint that they can get.

A sound sleep leaves us refreshed and equipped for the day but a sleepless night is wearing to the nerves.

Trout in California Streams Threatened

By The Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug.—The prolonged drought in California has made water in the mountain streams so low that trout are threatened with extinction and efforts are being made to sustain their life, according to the state fish and game commission.

The shrinking of the streams has made the trout an easy prey to anglers and animals and birds have found it no longer difficult to catch them. The number of the various species of trout is estimated to have diminished alarmingly.

GIANTS CUT MAYS' WINNING STREAK

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The New York Giants broke Carl Mays' winning streak of nine straight games, when they defeated Cincinnati here today, 4 to 2. A fumble by Jackson let in Cincinnati's first run but the shortstop redeemed the error with sensational playing later.

Buccaneers Make National League Scramble No Soft Snap For Mugmen

Emil Yde, Ray Kremer, Hazen Cuyler, and Glenn Wright Hold Pittsburgh Up In Race

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, at this writing, present more than a passing threat in the National league. The recent winning streak started by McKechnie's outfit really has endangered the chances of the Giants.

When the western clubs entered the eastern section on their last invasion the Giants possessed a fair lead and their all around play against every team in the circuit had about convinced the National league fans that the race was as good as over.

But the Pirates worried not. They entered Boston. Took four straight games from the Braves. Not a wonderful feat, it is true, against the demoralized bean eaters.

"Bring 'em over here," growled the Giant sluggers. The Pirates were brought. They proceeded to lick the mighty McGrawmen three out of four starts.

Keep on Climbing.

That was that. Then they went over to Brooklyn and shoved themselves into second place and striking distance of the champs by licking the Dodgers. When they engaged in their last game with the Dodgers they had won 11 of the 12 games played in the east.

Three of the men who are playing a big part in the meteoric climb of the Pirates are pitchers Emil Yde and Ray Kremer and outfielder Hazen Cuyler.

Kremer and Yde have stepped into the ranks of the leading pitchers of the league. Cuyler is wielding a bat that has put him up with Rogers Hornsby, Jack Fournier, Zack Wheat and the other slugging demons.

Yde Cost $25,000.

Yde and Kremer were counted on to carry a part of the pitching burden when they were purchased last winter. The Pirates paid Oklahoma City in the Western league $25,000 for Yde's services. The gent whose name starts so late in the alphabet had won 28 and lost but 12 games in the western circuit, ranking second to Ernie Maun, grabbed off by the Giants. He had also won a rep with the bat.

The Cleveland Indians had looked over Emil two years ago and let him go. He's a southpaw with a whale of a fast ball and beautiful control.

Knocked Kremer Deal.

The purchase of Kremer drew some criticism from Pittsburg fans. A year ago last winter Barney Dreyfuss had purchased pitcher Kunz from Sacramento, Pitcher Beahler from Tulsa and second baseman Adams from Portland. He paid about $60,000 for the trio.

Then, last winter, Dreyfuss, gave all three players and a neat wad of $20,000 for Kremer.

The Giants had tried out Ray as far back as 1916 and decided he wouldn't do. They sent him to Rochester, from which city he drifted back to Oakland and had remained there.

Cuyler was the leading batter and outfielder in the Southern league last year.

Of course Glenn Wright, shortstopping beauty, is playing his brilliant part. His praises have been sung repeatedly, however.

RENAULT DRUBS MADDEN EASILY

Irishman Keeps On Feet, But Is Decisively Beaten.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, decisively defeated Bartley Madden, tough New York Irishman, in a 15-round match at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City tonight. The Canadian bested his opponent in every exchange but his blows lacked the steam to knock out Madden, or even to send him to the floor. The Irishman was badly cut about the face at the termination of the contest.

Madden weighed 183 pounds and Renault 201.

The big bowl was filled by 20,000 spectators, with hundreds clamoring at the entrances for admittance.

In a sensational semi-final ten-round slugging match, Larry Estridge, negro middleweight champion, successfully defended his title against Panama Joe Gans. The fight was a thriller from the start, Estridge cutting his opponent about the face by his terrific jabbing. Gans, while beaten, displayed wonderful recuperative powers, swapping punches with his hard-hitting opponent during the latter stages of the bout.

HELEN AND MOLLA WIN THEIR MATCHES IN NATIONAL MEET

By The Associated Press.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Twenty-seven entries, in addition to three of the five players who had drawn byes, advanced to the second round of the national women's singles championship at the West Side Tennis club today. Mrs. Molla B. Mallory of New York, reached the third round through her defeat of Miss Caroma Winn of Mountain Lakes, N. J., in straight sets at 6-1, 6-0. Mrs. Mallory and Miss Winn had drawn byes in the first round.

The match between Miss Helen Wills of Berkely, Calif., winner of the 1923 championship and Olympic title-holder for this year, and Mrs. L. C. Beaupre, of Quebec, drew the largest gallery of spectators.

Miss Wills outplayed her opponent from start to finish, her placements constantly catching the Canadian girl off her guard. The Californian won in straight love sets.

Top O'Morn

BLONDY

Panther Jacob and his undisputed Texas loop champs will drop in at Spud park this afternoon for the first of a pair.

Champs are all ired up probably, and may become a bit boisterous with Tanner's underlings. Felines were stepped on in a Bovine way Sunday and Monday, which no more pleasing an event could have been enacted from a Dallas standpoint, and no more horrible a catastrophe from the Cowtown angle.

Kittens still leading the rest of the rabble with margin to spare, but of course, expect to fatten up on lowly homelings.

However, fandom may witness a pair of exciting tilts at that, because Spuds as a rule look better in company with the Cats than 75 per cent of the remainder of the league.

They've all beat the homelings, even Galveston and San Antonio, but the Panthers and Bears have had the toughest time doing it.

Spudders haven't looked so worse since the return to the lot last week, and may snap to a higher standing on the ladder yet. They're due for at least the tail-end berth in the first division, and no nicer coup could be thought of than using the Cats as the initial stepping stones. Sounds like a pipe dream, but it's possible, anyhow.

No use figuring who Buddy will pitch today. Club rested up yesterday, and he'll probably pick the slabbist who looks best shortly before the game. However, Drake is rated as the first choice.

For a long time Frankie Fink and Wildcat Monte have been looking ahead in regard to that bout of theirs which is scheduled Thursday a week. Both have been eying the other, figuring the shortcomings, and the strong points. And they're working hard in preparation for the tilt.

Fink was not in the best of condition last week when he battled the tough Nick Gundy to a draw in 12 rounds. But in that fight he looked like a small portrait of Benny Leonard; Frankie's a featherweight.

In better condition, Fink will give the slugging Monte plenty to worry about, but Monte just refuses to be worried. He'll probably tear into Fink in the same slashing manner he has shown in each of his recent bouts.

Cummings Adds Western Golf Title To String

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Finishing a week of fine golf with still better golf than she had yet displayed, Edith Cummings of Chicago, added the western women's golf championship to her national title by finding Mariam Burns of Kansas City off her game and defeating her by the wide margin of 12 and 10 at Owentsia today.

The champion played splendid golf and not only won the title, but the gold medal for low qualifying score of 84, and, conceding her two putts that were not holed, she would have had low score for the meet, as she had a total of 81 in the morning round today.

After a night of suffering from ptomaine poisoning Miss Burns was wholly unequal to the task of competing with the wonderful golf played by Miss Cummings, who shot six under par for the morning round and was four under perfect figures for the eight holes played in the afternoon.

The national champion, by playing the first nine this morning five under par, got a lead of four up and by coming home in one under perfect figures increased this to 5 up at the eighth hole. After luncheon the defending champion could not win a hole and barely managed to halve one of the eight played.

NEW INTERURBAN LINE INCORPORATED

By The Associated Press.

VETERAN SHREVEPORT BOXER MAY SHOW DUKEY FLOCK OF KNUCKLES

Tex Ray Of Fort Worth Scheduled For a Return Trip To Wichita Falls Ring

The 12-round battle Thursday night in the legion arena between Duke Trammel, Fort Worth welter, and Frankie Tucker of Shreveport will be the first real test for Trammel, according to Bobby Burns, veteran fighter now in Wichita Falls, who is well acquainted with both battlers, their style of fighting, and the ability of each.

"Don't worry about Frankie!" quoth Burns Monday when some apprehension for the Shreveport boxer was indicated. "Tucker has been in the ring game nearly 12 years now, but he's not worn out, in fact he's still just like a spring chicken," said Burns.

Duke Natural Puncher

"Trammel has the best natural punch I've ever seen in a boxer, but he needs experience. If he gets that punch over on a man he'll flop, no matter who he is. But Trammel will have a hard time landing solidly on Tucker, and he'll probably have his hands more than full in keeping Tucker away.

"I'm taking sides with neither boxer, but I believe that this fight will be the real test for Duke, and the fans should see a fast and hard battle," continued Burns.

Tucker Faster

Both scrappers are in the city and are working out daily. Each declares himself in well nigh perfect condition. Trammel, of course, hopes to merely add one more hapless pugilist to his long string of knockouts, but that doesn't bother Tucker, who has fought some of the best boys in his weight over the country. Duke will outweigh Tucker a bit, but superior speed is expected to make up for that handicap.

Tex Ray Coming

The second attraction of the program will bring together Frankie McFarland of Boston, a fast and hard scrapping featherweight, and Tex Ray of Fort Worth. Ray needs no introduction to local fandom. He has appeared here before, and was a veritable flash at the times. Ray has fought all over the southwest the past several years, and has a good rep behind him.

During the world war, Ray was an army boxing instructor, and taught hundreds of Uncle Sam's men the give and take game. Ray and McFarland are billed for a 10-rounder.

Booger Red Lewis and Sion Key of Vernon are dated for six rounds.

There will be a negro battle royal.

MORAN CONCEDES SIX POUNDS TO BEN

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—Pal Moran of New Orleans, who met Benny Leonard, world lightweight champion, in a ten round bout in the Olympic arena here tonight, conceded about six pounds to the champion, who boxed at catch weights. Moran weighed 133 3-4 at 2 p. m. while Leonard, who did not weigh in, scaled about 140 pounds, his handlers said.

The gate receipts at prices ranging from $2 to $5, probably will reach $50,000, Promoter Nat Hinkle announced. The arena was crowded to its 20,000 capacity.

GIBBONS SUES FOR COIN DUE AFTER BLOOMFIELD GO

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Evening Standard says today that Tommy Gibbons, American victor over Jack Bloomfield in last Saturday's prize fight, has started legal proceedings to attach 7,000 pounds sterling alleged to be due him for the encounter. Gibbons has alread received 3,000 pounds sterling. It is understood that fighters who took part in preliminary bouts Saturday are also taking action to obtain small sums.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

Stubby had just turned over on his back and began pulling at the handkerchief around his neck.

"'Mercy on us! The poor dog is going to have a fit!" cried the grocer. "That handkerchief must be tied too tight. I'll just untie it. I wonder to whom he belongs? I thought I knew every dog for miles around.'

"He stopped down, and then, 'Bless my soul, there is something tied up in this handkerchief! I wonder what it can be?'

"When he found the note and had read it he called to the men in the store and read it to them.

"'Who brought the note?' asked one man.

"'No person brought it. This little dog carried it folded up in his handkerchief that was tied around his neck.' And he lifted me to the counter so all could see me.

"'Who but Noland would have thought of sending word in that way?' laughed another of the men.

"'Let's get a move on and all go to his rescue,' proposed a third.

"This they agreed to do, and soon five farmers were jogging along, ropes, pulleys and chains in the bottom of their wagons to help haul the wrecked car out of the stream.

"I was just about to jump off the counter and follow them when the storekeeper called out: 'Here, little dog, you must be hungry. Stop and eat a bite before you go back. You can easily overtake them.'

"He gave me a big bunch of sausage and a handful of crackers with butter on them, and three or four gingersnaps. I can tell you I blessed that good-hearted man for giving food to me. So few people ever seem to think that animals get hungry and thirsty, or they give them just a little piece of cake—not enough to stay the hunger of a tiny mouse. I licked up every crumb and wished as I did so that I had a pocket in my side so I could take Mr. Noland something to eat.

"'Say, little dog, do you suppose you could carry a sandwich or two back if I tied them on your back instead of around your neck? They would be too heavy to tie around your neck," said the storekeeper.

"I barked and shook my head yes.

"'Well, I declare, I believe this dog can almost talk, as well as understand all that is said to him!'

"Then he made two big sandwiches, one of Swiss cheese and the other of bologna sausage, wrapped them in paper and tied them on my back with string and the handkerchief in which I had brought the note. Then he set a pan of nice cool water on the counter for me to drink. After this he put me on the floor by the door, where he stood watching me until I was out of sight."

(Tomorrow the three chums plan to run away.)

Mothers

AND THEIR CHILDREN

Sending a Child to Dreamland.

One Mother Says:

My little son was a very difficult young man to send off to sleep. I have found that the easiest way to bring on a sleepy condition was to change the time of his bath to the time I set for his bedtime. I make the water quite warm. Then when the child is ready to hop in bed I give him a cup of warm milk. He is off to dreamland almost before his head has dented the pillow.

MANY POINTS WANT SPEAKERS

Amarillo Sends in Call For Ferguson Orator; Other Dates Announced.

Calls for speakers to address Ferguson rallies on points as far away as Amarillo have been received at the local offices of the Ferguson for Governor club. A wire came in Monday afternoon from Amarillo, requesting that a speaker be sent to that place next Saturday afternoon to address a huge Ferguson rally being planned there.

Speakers are to be provided for a number of points in north Texas during the coming week. The list as given out yesterday was as follows:

Aug. 11, Electra at 8 p. m., J. H. Aynesworth.

Aug. 12, Iowa Park, 8 p. m., J. B. Hatchitt.

Aug. 14, Holliday at 3 p. m., J. H. Aynesworth.

Aug. 14, Paducah at 3 p. m., B. Y. Cummings.

Aug. 16, Byers at 3 p. m., James V. Allred Jr.

Aug. 16, Haskell at 3 p. m., C. C. McDonald.

Aug. 16, Munday at 8:30 p. m., C. C. McDonald.

Aug. 18, Archer City at 8 p. m., C. C. McDonald.

J. B. Hatchitt, chairman of the Wichita County County Democratic club, will preside next Friday night at the rally in which M. M. Crane of Dallas appears here as the feature speaker in behalf of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson's candidacy for governor. General Crane is being brought to Wichita Falls under the auspices of the local "Mrs. Miriam Ferguson for Governor" club and the Wichita County Democratic club. He will be introduced by C. C. McDonald, local attorney, who has been taking an active part in Mrs. Ferguson's behalf.

Plans Complete.

Plans have practically been completed for the rally, which probably will be the largest and most extensive of the campaign. A capacity crowd from this city and other near-by points is expected to jam the Moore and Richolt lot at Ninth and Indiana. Visitors from as far away as Childress, Stamford, Graham and Decatur have signified their intention of attending the meeting. The entire lot will be cleared off and seats provided here.

Mrs. Ferguson Not Coming

All hope of bringing Mrs. Ferguson herself here for the rally has been abandoned. Efforts had been made by her local admirers to bring her to this city in connection with General Crane's appearance, but demands from other parts of the state have been too insistent.

It was announced Monday by the Ferguson club leaders that W. F. Jurdon had been named vice-chairman of the organization to assist in the direction of the local campaign.

Old Home Town Stuff

Mrs. John T. Burris, 1418 Eleventh street, has practically recovered from the nervous shock she underwent Saturday afternoon when she was forced to jump from the second story of her burning home. Mrs. Burris was sleeping on the second story of her home on Eleventh street when she was awakened by screams from the street below and upon rushing to the stairs found her house in flames. After her 5 year-old son had jumped to the ground below, Mrs. Burris jumped.

James Grey, three year old son of Mrs. L. C. Grey, of Electra who was brought to the local hospital Sunday afternoon following an accident at his home was carried back to Electra Monday afternoon. While playing on his porch the little fellow lost his balance, fell on the steps, and struck a shoe cleaner attached to the step and crushed his right eye ball. He was rushed to the local hospital where an operation was performed which removed his eye ball.

The Ford coupe stolen Sunday afternoon from a Dallas salesman as it was parked at the local baseball park was recovered by the police department Monday morning. It was found on the edge of town unharmed, apparently having been taken by joy riders.

J. W. Lawson and family, also A. R. Watland and sister, Mary, have returned from Vernon, where they spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Buchanan and family.

Mrs. D. C. Nelson, 1401 Brittain street, who has been visiting relatives near Gatesville and her daughter in Fort Worth for the past several weeks, returned to Wichita Falls Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oma Hughes announce the birth of a baby daughter Monday. Both mother and daughter are reported to be resting well.

A J. C. Penny Company store is soon to be opened at Vernon, which will be managed by Mr. Buchanan, it is announced.

'ON TO LAWTON' KIWANIS THEME

Burt Barr Expresses Regret At Transfer From This City.

The Kiwanis club met yesterday noon for their regular weekly luncheon at the Kemp Hotel dining room. Several details of the "On To Lawton" program were taken up and discussed.

A sing-song led by E. C. Huckabee furnished the musical program.

Walter Caldwell addressed two new members, Jesse Jones and Jean Montgomery in behalf of the club, explaining to them that the purpose of the club was to build and that it was not fulfilling its purpose when it stood still.

In the absence of F. T. Datson, president of the club, who is spending his vacation in Colorado, H. Sanderford, vice-president, was in charge of the meeting.

Burt Barr, Nafsiger Baking company, told the club of his transfer to Memphis, and the regret he felt at leaving Wichita Falls and the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club. Mr. Barr has lately been notified of his appointment to managership of the new Nafsiger bakery to be located there.

Paving Projects Before Council

Continuation of hearings on one project, acceptance of a completed stretch of another, and passage on various readings of several others made up the paving matters brought before the city council Monday night.

The Avenue G project, extending from Monroe to Giddings and which has been under consideration for three months or more, was held over for another week at the request of the paving company which has been awarded the contract. Difficulties with property owners are still being encountered, it is said.

On recommendations of the city engineer, Austin street between Seventh and Eighth was accepted as complete, paving operations there having been finished last week by the L. E. Whitman company.

The Giddings street, Filmore, Taylor and Adams street sidewalk projects were passed on either second or third readings.

HE WINS FIGHT

EBON KEITH

Ebon Keith leaves the General hospital today. Three weeks ago he was brought there after he had lost a right hand in a circle saw in one of the local factories. Today he leaves the hospital handicapped for life, but full of optimism. During the three weeks that Keith has been in the hispital he has been practicing writing with his left hand until at the present time he can write a legible hand.

Keith said last night that he had made no definite arrangements as to his future plans but he was certain that he would continue to go to school. He came to Wichita Falls six years ago, graduated from the local high school with honors and last spring graduated from the Wichita Falls Junior college. During the time that he has been going to school here Keith has been entirely self supporting, and has worked outside of school hours and in the night in order to remain in school.

FINISH CONCRETE WORK ON EIGHTH

Pouring of concrete base on Eighth street between Denver and Fillmore was finished Monday afternoon and laying of brick along the stretch will probably start in a short time. Two blocks of the project at the eastern end have already been completed and opened to traffic.

FORD STOLEN 3 DAYS AGO FOUND

A Ford touring car stolen last Friday from O. A. Moofe of this city was recovered late Monday by the city police department after it is said to have run into another machine on the Henrietta road. It was undamaged and is supposed to have been abandoned by the thieves.

HONOR MEDAL AWARDS ARE UP

B. Creighton, boy scout executive. All boy scouts in this district who have successfully passed merit badge work are asked to be at the meeting tonight and make thier formal application. The general public is also invited to attend the meeting.

The cases of Rudolph Eller, 14, and Glenn Lyon, 13, two members of the Thrift Boy Scout troop will be brought to the attention of the Court of Honor tonight. The boy entered a burning house and brought the baby to safety.

The two boys have been recommended for an honor medal and will appear before the court at the session tonight. If they receive the medals they will be the first two boys in this district to receive the highest token of bravery from the national scout headquarters.

Henrietta Street Is Latest Name

Henrietta street was added to the city's official list of highways Monday night when the city council, acting on a petition presented by residents of Lamar avenue east of the Wichita Valley stracks, changed the name of that section of the road heretofore known as east Lamar to Henrietta street. It will be known by that name hereafter.

THIEVES FOILED BY OFFICE SAFE

A stubborn office safe that refused to yield to the efforts of amateur cracksmen saved considerable money for the Toombs Sash and Door company, 802 Mill street, Sunday night. Thieves entered the office some time during the evening and attempted to break open the door but bungled the job and were frightened away before their task was complete.

Officers declared that the work was plainly that of novices.

"Dad" Parker Puts Another Notch In Gun As He Shoots Younger Negro

"Dad" Parker put another notch in his gun yesterday.

The 82-year-old negro, white haired and with one arm, probably got his sixth victim when he shot and desperately wounded Will Snow, another negro, following an altercation at Snow's home, 1404 Scott avenue. The negro is now in the general hospital with his abdomen pierced by a .38-caliber bullet—a wound which physicians declare fatal.

An operation at 1:30 Monday afternoon, shortly after the shooting, revealed the gravity of the case and last night it was stated that death was only a matter of hours.

Tried to Use Hoe

Snow was shot, according to Parker's version of the affair, as he lunged at the aged man with a grubbing hoe. Parker had gone to the Snow home to attempt to collect $5 he claimed Snow had taken from him following a card game Saturday night. Snow, he said, refused to give up the money and seized a hoe when Parker made his demands. The elderly black then drew his gun, fired one shot and started for the court house to give himself up, he declared. He said he didn't shoot again because some white women were near-by and he didn't want to start a disturbance.

The trouble is said to have started Saturday night after a round of cards in which the aces ran unerringly in Parker's hands. He won $5, he said, but after the game was over Snow took it away from him and kicked him out of the house. A warning was given then, Parker declared, and Monday he took up a collection on the streets with which to buy shells for his .38-caliber gun of ancient vintage.

Killed 5 Others

At the court house where he appeared voluntarily, Parker sermonized at some length to Assistant District Attorney Crain. Among other things he confessed having slain five other persons, two negro men, a negro woman and two white men. He said he had served 20 years in a Louisiana penitentiary for one of the latter murders. The others, he said, had failed to bring prosecutions of any kind. A rabid denunciation of "young niggers" of today whom he characterized as "havin' too much learnin' and not enuff respect for white folks," made up a part of his confession.

Formal charges of assault with intent to murder were lodged against the negro and he is now held in the county jail. Murder charges will be filed should Snow die, it was said.

Parker has been a resident of Wichita Falls for 20 years or more, it is said. He has been a familiar figure on the streets to hundreds of Wichitans, especially the older residents who have usually kept him employed about the places. Despite the loss of one arm, suffered in a Louisiana plantation fight years ago, he was fairly handy with tools.

MARMON CHIEF HERE TODAY

G. M. Williams Makes Tour Of Country To Meet Dealers.

G. M. Williams, president of the Nordyke & Marmon company, manufacturers of the Marmon automobile, with headquarters in Indianapolis, will be in Wichita Falls today as the guest of D. L. Fritz, of the local Marmon agency. Mr. Williams, who recently succeeded Walter Marmon as president of the company, left Indianapolis July 24 on a three weeks trip to the Pacific coast and back to obtain first hand views of automobile business conditions and to become acquainted with the Marmon distributors throughout the western part of the United States.

Due to the limited time that he has on his trip, Mr. Williams will not remain in Wichita Falls very long, but will be here long enough to become acquainted with the local Marmon dealers.

THEY BATTLE OVER POLITICS; JAILED

A dozen new cases, chief of which was one involving an altercation between two aged men who were still arguing politics were called up for attention in the city police court Monday morning. Minimum fines were assessed in most of the cases.

The two aged battlers were arrested after a discussion of the merits of the local sheriff's race became too heated.

Traffic violations, drunks and vags made up the balance of the morning's docket.

Throckmorton Co. To Send Exhibit

A message was received Monday by the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association from Levi F. Thomas, of Throckmorton, asking privileges for a Throckmorton county exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair next month. Throckmorton is the second county to send in its application for a county exhibit at the fair this year, Jackson county, of Oklahoma, having sent in their application last week. Throckmorton county did not have an exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair last year.

It is thought that approximately 30 counties will have county exhibits at the local fair this fall. Interest is being shown and inquiries are being made at the fair association concerning the exhibits. In as much as no contracts have as yet been sent out to the different counties, officials of the association are optimistic over the interest being shown.

Levi F. Thomas, of Throckmorton, will have charge of the Throckmorton county exhibit.

Mr. Smith was returning from a vacation in Colorado when the accident took place near Grenville, New Mexico, and for some time there was some hope of recovery, but he died Saturday morning. He was well known in Wichita Falls, having been in the oil business in this city for the last six years.

The pall bearers were W. L. Robertson, H. A. O'Neil, L. O. Brown, Robert Farmer, O. W. Cox and W. R. Worley.

"Dad" Parker Puts Another Notch In Gun As He Shoots Younger Negro

"Dad" Parker put another notch in his gun yesterday.

The 82-year-old negro, white haired and with one arm, probably got his sixth victim when he shot and desperately wounded Will Snow, another negro, following an altercation at Snow's home, 1404 Scott avenue. The negro is now in the general hospital with his abdomen pierced by a .38-caliber bullet—a wound which physicians declare fatal.

An operation at 1:30 Monday afternoon, shortly after the shooting, revealed the gravity of the case and last night it was stated that death was only a matter of hours.

Tried to Use Hoe

Snow was shot, according to Parker's version of the affair, as he lunged at the aged man with a grubbing hoe. Parker had gone to the Snow home to attempt to collect $5 he claimed Snow had taken from him following a card game Saturday night. Snow, he said, refused to give up the money and seized a hoe when Parker made his demands. The elderly black then drew his gun, fired one shot and started for the court house to give himself up, he declared. He said he didn't shoot again because some white women were near-by and he didn't want to start a disturbance.

The trouble is said to have started Saturday night after a round of cards in which the aces ran unerringly in Parker's hands. He won $5, he said, but after the game was over Snow took it away from him and kicked him out of the house. A warning was given then, Parker declared, and Monday he took up a collection on the streets with which to buy shells for his .38-caliber gun of ancient vintage.

Killed 5 Others

At the court house where he appeared voluntarily, Parker sermonized at some length to Assistant District Attorney Crain. Among other things he confessed having slain five other persons, two negro men, a negro woman and two white men. He said he had served 20 years in a Louisiana penitentiary for one of the latter murders. The others, he said, had failed to bring prosecutions of any kind. A rabid denunciation of "young niggers" of today whom he characterized as "havin' too much learnin' and not enuff respect for white folks," made up a part of his confession.

Formal charges of assault with intent to murder were lodged against the negro and he is now held in the county jail. Murder charges will be filed should Snow die, it was said.

Parker has been a resident of Wichita Falls for 20 years or more, it is said. He has been a familiar figure on the streets to hundreds of Wichitans, especially the older residents who have usually kept him employed about the places. Despite the loss of one arm, suffered in a Louisiana plantation fight years ago, he was fairly handy with tools.

MARMON CHIEF HERE TODAY

G. M. Williams Makes Tour Of Country To Meet Dealers.

G. M. Williams, president of the Nordyke & Marmon company, manufacturers of the Marmon automobile, with headquarters in Indianapolis, will be in Wichita Falls today as the guest of D. L. Fritz, of the local Marmon agency. Mr. Williams, who recently succeeded Walter Marmon as president of the company, left Indianapolis July 24 on a three weeks trip to the Pacific coast and back to obtain first hand views of automobile business conditions and to become acquainted with the Marmon distributors throughout the western part of the United States.

Due to the limited time that he has on his trip, Mr. Williams will not remain in Wichita Falls very long, but will be here long enough to become acquainted with the local Marmon dealers.

THEY BATTLE OVER POLITICS; JAILED

A dozen new cases, chief of which was one involving an altercation between two aged men who were still arguing politics were called up for attention in the city police court Monday morning. Minimum fines were assessed in most of the cases.

The two aged battlers were arrested after a discussion of the merits of the local sheriff's race became too heated.

Traffic violations, drunks and vags made up the balance of the morning's docket.

'ON TO LAWTON' KIWANIS THEME

Burt Barr Expresses Regret At Transfer From This City.

The Kiwanis club met yesterday noon for their regular weekly luncheon at the Kemp Hotel dining room. Several details of the "On To Lawton" program were taken up and discussed.

A sing-song led by E. C. Huckabee furnished the musical program.

Walter Caldwell addressed two new members, Jesse Jones and Jean Montgomery in behalf of the club, explaining to them that the purpose of the club was to build and that it was not fulfilling its purpose when it stood still.

In the absence of F. T. Datson, president of the club, who is spending his vacation in Colorado, H. Sanderford, vice-president, was in charge of the meeting.

Burt Barr, Nafziger Baking company, told the club of his transfer to Memphis, and the regret he felt at leaving Wichita Falls and the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club. Mr. Barr has lately been notified of his appointment to managership of the new Nafziger bakery to be located there.

Paving Projects Before Council

Continuation of hearings on one project, acceptance of a completed stretch of another, and passage on various readings of several others made up the paving matters brought before the city council Monday night.

The Avenue G project, extending from Monroe to Giddings and which has been under consideration for three months or more, was held over for another week at the request of the paving company which has been awarded the contract. Difficulties with property owners are still being encountered, it is said.

On recommendations of the city engineer, Austin street between Seventh and Eighth was accepted as complete, paving operations there having been finished last week by the L. E. Whitman company.

The Giddings street, Filmore, Taylor and Adams street sidewalk projects were passed on either second or third readings.

Throckmorton Co. To Send Exhibit

A message was received Monday by the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association from Levi F. Thomas, of Throckmorton, asking privileges for a Throckmorton county exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair next month. Throckmorton is the second county to send in its application for a county exhibit at the fair this year, Jackson county, of Oklahoma, having sent in their application last week. Throckmorton county did not have an exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair last year.

It is thought that approximately 30 counties will have county exhibits at the local fair this fall. Interest is being shown and inquiries are being made at the fair association concerning the exhibits. In as much as no contracts have as yet been sent out to the different counties, officials of the association are optimistic over the interest being shown.

Levi F. Thomas, of Throckmorton, will have charge of the Throckmorton county exhibit.

HE WINS FIGHT

EBON KEITH

Ebon Keith leaves the General hospital today. Three weeks ago he was brought there after he had lost a right hand in a circle saw in one of the local factories. Today he leaves the hospital handicapped for life, but full of optimism. During the three weeks that Keith has been in the hospital he has been practicing writing with his left hand until at the present time he can write a legible hand.

Keith said last night that he had made no definite arrangements as to his future plans but he was certain that he would continue to go to school. He came to Wichita Falls six years ago, graduated from the local high school with honors and last spring graduated from the Wichita Falls Junior college. During the time that he has been going to school here Keith has been entirely self supporting, and has worked outside of school hours and in the night in order to remain in school.

THIEVES FOILED BY OFFICE SAFE

A stubborn office safe that refused to yield to the efforts of amateur cracksmen saved considerable money for the Toombs Sash and Door company, 802 Mill street, Sunday night. Thieves entered the office some time during the evening and attempted to break open the door but bungled the job and were frightened away before their task was complete.

Officers declared that the work was plainly that of novices.

When Banks Are Compared By Business Men

In a great many respects, all banks are alike.

In some respects, they differ, according to the differing vision and energy of the men in charge of them.

We strive sincerely to see to it that the difference is on our side, when men compare banks.
