Financial Writers Paid To 'Ballyhoo' Stocks, Is Testimony Of LaGuardia

'Big Shots' Of Screen In Battle

Dietrich, Von Sternberg And Cagney May Quit Films

HOLLYWOOD, April 26. (AP)—A possibility that three of the first names of Hollywood, Dietrich, Von Sternberg and Cagney, may be eliminated from the screen arose today in a battle of contracts between the celebrities and two of the major producers, Paramount and Warner Bros.-First National sudios.

Deadlocks grew between the studios and the screen personalities over questions of salary and the rights of actor and director to interfere with story material.

Well-informed film authorities pointed out if neither side relented, the conclusion would be reached that the trio had broken their contracts, making them ineligible for the screen until the contracts had expired.

No studio will employ any one who has broken his contract until the term of employment specified in it has run its course.

The contract of James Cagney, who is at odds with Warner Bros. over a demand for a $2,400 increase weekly in salary, has several years to run.

Marlene Dietrich, blonde German star, is under contract to Paramount to make three more pictures and the contract of Josef von Sternberg, her director, who walked out of the studio when it refused his adaptation of her new picture, "Blonde Venus," does not expire until next December.

B. P. Schulberg, managing director, said Richard Wallace had been substituted as director for Von Sternberg in "Blonde Venus," and that Miss Dietrich would be expected to accept his assignment.

Married Women Fight For Right to Jobs

DETROIT, April 26. (US)—The fight of married women to hold jobs was the principal issue at the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters here today.

Leaders of the league are prepared to battle discrimination against married women workers.

Said Mrs. William P. Hobby, Houston attorney:

"If women are to be discharged because of the married status, it will discourage marriage and put a premium on immorality."

Said Mrs. Joseph J. Davis of Waterbury, Conn.:

"Did it ever occur to any one to discharge the husband?"

Two days were required to call the roll of 200 witnesses and select a jury from a special venire of 108. W. R. Jennings, former Wink peace officer, had been sentenced to 25 years by a jury at Pecos in a companion case.

CHECKS SHOWN AS EVIDENCE OF PAY-OFFS

Fiery Republican Appears As 'Mystery Witness' In Market Query

$286,279 SPENT

Congressman Relates How 'Bulling Up' Stocks Was Performed

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, April 26. (US)—Evidence designed to show that certain New York newspaper men were paid $286,279 to "ballyhoo" stocks for Wall street pools was presented by Representative Fiorello LaGuardia, Republican, of New York, to the state banking and currency committee today.

Armed with documents obtained from A. Newton Plummer, former Wall street publicity man, LaGuardia exhibited several canceled checks which he said purchased favorable stories in financial and daily papers.

Writers Named

The witness named several writers, some of them prominent, as endorsers of these checks and added that other correspondents, desiring to remain anonymous, got theirs in cash through a pay-off man.

An expectant gathering filled the room as LaGuardia appeared as the "mystery witness" promised yesterday by Chairman Norbeck. A trunkful of documents, borne by two attendants, was carried into the room while LaGuardia stalked grimly behind.

The edge was somewhat taken off the revelations by the fact that Plummer, source of the documents, is now under indictment in New York in connection with some forged securities. The exact nature of the indictment was not revealed.

Charges Fees "Split"

LaGuardia's contention was that the evidence proved the newspaper men were working hand in glove with big market operators and brokers on the exchange in "bulling up" stocks and then unloading them upon the public.

He named eight "polos" in which he said Plummer was engaged as "publicity man" for the pool and split his fees with the news writers. These alleged pools were on the following stocks:

Savage Arms (two pols); Pure Oil; Superior Oil; Simms Petroleum; Consolidated Laundries; Maxwell Motors; Indian Motorcycles.

Checks Shown

Nineteen checks were introduced into evidence in all. LaGuardia named some of the purported recipients, and the newspapers they were said to be with then, as follows:

J. F. Lowther, New York Herald Tribune; William J. Gomber, Finan-

Father Asks Probe of Dallas Child's Death

DALLAS, April 26. (AP)—An investigation into the death of Helen Smith, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Smith of Dallas, from a bullet wound inflicted accidentally Friday, was begun today by J. H. Stephenson, superintendent of Parkland hospital, upon request of the child's father.

The girl was shot through the left arm and the abdomen when a pistol was discharged while she was taking some clothes from a bureau drawer. She was rushed to the hospital where, her father claimed, attendants dressed the wound in the arm and sent her home without discovering the abdominal wound.

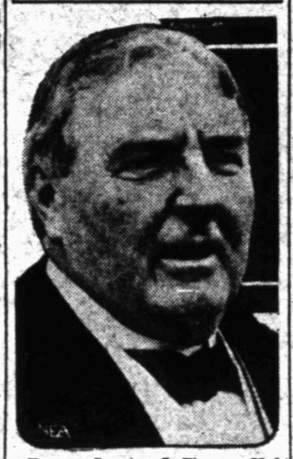
A count of the ballots cast by the chamber members showed Weatherford received the largest number of votes to be the convention site, members of the committee in charge, said.

Wins Applause



Former Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama talked for five hours on the floor of the United States senate yesterday, pleading for the unseating of his successor, John H. Bankhead. A burst of applause at the conclusion of Heflin's speech led president pro tempore to order the galleries cleared, a rare occurrence.

HEFLIN TALKS ALL AFTERNOON

Ex-Senator Applauded In Plea for Seat

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—A burst of applause so loud and prolonged that the galleries were ordered cleared, swept through the senate today as picturesque J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama concluded a fervid plea for the unseating of his successor as senator, John H. Bankhead.

On his old familiar tilting ground, the frock coated Heflin held forth for five hours and 10 minutes before crowds that packed the galleries and formed long lines outside the doors.

Applause Unusual

As unusual as the action of the senate in granting a non-member the privilege of the floor was the explosion of handclapping that broke from the galleries as Heflin, in ringing tones, concluded:

"I am fighting to smash the worst political machine outside of Tammany, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Senators, take my case. Be just and fair to me and to the people I represent. I was elected by an overwhelming majority."

Upon their return to the compartment, she said, they found a man in the uniform of an Italian officer in the compartment. He left the train at the next station.

Allred Ouster Suit To Resume May 23

AUSTIN, April 26. (UP)—District Judge J. D. Moore has set May 23 for resumption of trial of the $17,850,000 penalty suit brought by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred against major oil companies in 98th district court here.

Defendant companies were to have presented exceptions to General Allred's petition on May 2. The new date was announced today.

Hearing of testimony of R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company, and other Texas company officials is to begin May 9 before George Shelley, Austin attorney named as commissioner to take preliminary testimony.

MARTIAL LAW LOOMING AGAIN FOR OKLAHOMA

Court Dissolves Order To Restrain Wilcox From Running Oil

IMPERILS PRORATION

Drastic Action Necessary To Control Field, Says Cicero Murray

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 26. (UP)—Possibility that the huge Oklahoma City oil field will be placed under martial law once more to curtail its production of crude petroleum was being considered tonight by Gov. William H. Murray.

Rumors that troops would be ordered into the field to enforce state proration laws persisted after District Judge R. P. Hill had dissolved an order restraining the Wilcox Oil and Gas company from producing and running oil in the city field. The decision was adverse to the request of the state corporation commission.

"I want to think this matter over," the governor said after conferring with his cousin, Cicero Murray, and Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett. "When I do anything, you'll know about it."

Proration in Danger

"Something drastic must be done, or the entire Oklahoma proration schedule will tumble," said Cicero Murray. He was appointed a lieutenant colonel when Governor Murray declared martial law over the state's flush oil fields last Aug. 4 to curb production and force the price of crude oil to $1 the barrel.

Judge Hill ruled that the commission had power to enforce its own orders.

Atty. Gen. J. Berry King had ordered the injunction suit filed against the Wilcox organization, charging the concern violated state proration orders by overproducing oil from its 10 wells in the city field.

Cessation Ordered

The commission ordered, on April 7, that the company stop running crude oil through its pipe lines.

"This court feels that it has no power in this case," said Judge Hill's ruling. "The restraining order is therefore dissolved and the original injunction petition dismissed."

Judge Hill cited the constitutional provision and amendment, giving the corporation commission power to enforce its ruling.

The state will appeal the ruling to the supreme court, said Attorney John Jarman of the corporation commission's legal staff.

Georgia Representative Seeks Seat in Senate

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The office of Representative Charles R. Crisp today made known that the distinguished Georgia legislator had announced as candidate for the senate.

He will become a candidate to succeed the late Senator William J. Harris. The vacancy created by the recent death of Senator Harris has been filled temporarily by the appointment of John S. Cohen of Atlanta, editor of the Atlanta Journal.

Cohen was appointed by Gov. Richard B. Russell, who also has announced for the senate.

Judge crisp is dean of the Georgia delegation in congress.

Wild Jungle Boars Tree Explorer in Venezuela

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—E. R. Blake, scientist, knows how it feels to be treed in the jungle by a herd of infuriated wild boars.

And he declared today the fact that the boars gnawed at the trunk of his refuge for three hours added nothing to his comfort during the experience.

Blake related his adventure on his arrival today on the liner Munorieans from a one-man scientific expedition into the Venezuelan jungle for the Field museum of Chicago. He is an instructor in biology at the University of Pittsburgh.

Prince of Wales Gets Royal Toes Stepped On

NEWCASTLE, England, April 26. (AP)—The Prince of Wales' toes were stepped on today, presumably on the theory that "a toe for a toe" is proper stiquette.

The prince was visiting at a nursery school near Gateshead, and as the children crowded about him, he stepped on the foot of a lad named Patrick.

"Oh, I'm so sorry, Patrick," said the prince, "now you can tread on mine."

And very solemnly the lad walked on the royal toes.

HUGO, Okla., April 26. (UP)—A confessed murderer, Nathan Rightsell, who admitted shooting and killing J. V. Buchanon, special railroad officer, was sentenced today to death in the electric chair by Judge George T. Arnett, of Idabel. July 1 was set as the execution date.

Roosevelt Will Dine With Herb

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Only a single seat will separate the leading Republican and Democratic presidential contenders when they break bread together at the White House next Thursday night.

This seating arrangement for President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt of New York was tentatively agreed upon today by those who juggle the delicate questions of precedent and rank at White House social functions. The occasion is the president's dinner to members of the governors' conference, now meeting in Richmond, Va.

Here is the way the problem was worked out:

John Gartland Pollard, Democratic governor of Virginia, rates the seat of honor at Mrs. Herbert Hoover's right as host to the governors' conference.

Norman S. Case, Republican governor of Rhode Island, as chairman of the conference's executive committee, has the second honor seat at Mrs. Hoover's left.

Case of Rhode Island, will sit at President Hoover's right hand.

Governor Roosevelt of New York, who ranks third in the list of male guests by virtue of his membership on the conference's executive committee, would sit next to the Virginia hostess or Mrs. Case on the president's right.

Young Father Sentenced For Daughter's Death

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 26. (AP)—Trial of Joseph Coutley, 19-year-old father accused of slapping and causing the death of his infant daughter, Joan, ended abruptly today when Coutley pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter.

Municipal Judge George A. Shaughnessy sentenced him to serve five to 10 years in Green Bay reformatory.

Efforts of Courtley's wife, Evelyn, to spare him from prison were unavailing. She testified the youthful father loved his little daughter and had been kind to her until March 30, when, exasperated by a protracted crying spell, he slapped her so violently she was fatally injured.

SENATORS AND STERLING TALK OVER POLITICS

Mysterious Conference At Capitol Office Stirs Speculation

TOPIC WITHHELD

Guesses Made That Plans Made for Re-Election And Convention

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—"Mysterious" conferences in Gov. R. S. Sterling's executive office today participated in by the governor and State Senators Walter Woodward of Coleman and Walter Woodul of Houston stirred political speculation at the capitol.

Some believed the meetings were to discuss probable plans of the governor and his attitude toward a second term, while others guessed the session topic was the state Democratic presidential convention to be held in Houston on May 24.

Moody Participated

Former Gov. Dan Moody participated in one of the confabs. Senator Woodward said "Texas political conditions generally" were discussed. Senator Woodul said there was no significance to the conferences.

Governor Sterling never has said publicly he would stand for re-election, but he has plainly left the impression when the matter was broached that it should be assumed he would ask for the traditional second term.

Political gossipers, however, have speculated that the governor's extensive private business affairs might so shape themselves that he would feel constrained to quit public office at the end of his term and devote full time to his personal fortune.

Plans Likely Made

It was likely that plans for organizing the state presidential convention, less than a month off, were talked about. The movement to push the nomination at Chicago of Speaker John N. Garner of Texas for the presidency, headed by Senator Woodul, picked for that place by a state-wide convention, has the responsibility of gathering the convention reins in hand.

Leaders in the movement and the leaders include Governor Sterling, who was early to publicly commend the Texan as an outstanding Democrat deserving of the presidential nomination, must work out a program of organizing the Houston convention and placing as temporary and permanent chairmen men friendly to the Garner movement and the Sterling administration as well.

Injured Dancer Takes First Step in 7 Years

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (US)—Surprise and joy reigned today in the heart of Ruby Adams, estranged wife of John (Coffee Dan) Davis, for she has taken her first step in seven years.

Crippled when her back was broken by a falling sandbag in a theater where the former dance star was appearing seven years ago, Miss Adams has been confined to a wheel chair since.

Her will unbroken, the once agile dancer has been undergoing a rigid course of training in the hope that she will be able to walk again.

"I know I'll walk now," she declared triumphantly after taking her first step. "It's only a matter of time until I'm dancing again."

Blizzard Sweeps Down On Middle West States

CHICAGO, April 26. (US)—Flurries of snow and dashes of rain and sleet brought reminders of winter over the Middle West today.

In Chicago the temperature was down to near freezing and snow sifted through the air at intervals. No snow remained on the ground here.

Snow whitened the ground in portions of Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. Temperatures were below freezing over much of the Northwest.

Snow is not unusual in Chicago at this season. The latest snow of record was that of June 2, 1910, though snow fell here on May 2 in 1929.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

After hearing that sad story told by the shorts in Washington there is nothing to do but give 'em a government subsidy.

The senate has become a health resort. Financiers crawl in on crutches and dash out in wheel chairs.

We haven't heard so many complaints and symptoms since the Wickersham clinic stuffed the archieves with second guesses.

You can hardly blame Tom Heflin for wanting his seat back. After all, what did Tom do? He refused to support Al Smith. And the 1928 election showed that was a popular crime.

There's a lot of fun down in the senate for a man like Heflin. They gave him the muffled drum roll for a thing Al is now doing to Roosevelt.

There is so much blame to be shared down there you would think they would require Heflin in case of a tie. They drummed Tom out and he wants to get in again without the music.

Even if Tom did make a few hundred mistakes everybody is entitled to two chances.

Dr. Castner Leads Search For Escaped Trio

Three young men patients of the Wichita Falls State hospital were reported missing by hospital authorities shortly after 11 o'clock Tuesday night and Dr. Charles W. Castner, superintendent, was leading in a search at midnight, attendants at the hospital said.

"The patients were not violent cases but they might get tought," the report to police said. Hospital authorities could not be reached for a statement shortly after the patients were missed.

The three men "just walked off," a report to city police said.

Capone Lays Down Terms to Kidnapers

NEW YORK, April 26. (US)—The New York Daily Mirror, in a copyrighted article tonight, says Al Capone has laid down the following terms to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby:

1. The whereabouts of the baby must be made known within 48 hours. You don't have to bring it back. I'll send for it.

2. My messengers will carry $150,000, of my own money, unmarked and unexposed. Of this $100,000 is for ransom; the additional $50,000 for the redemption of the "hot money" ransom paid by Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon.

3. You will be given 24 hours to make a getaway before the baby is actually turned over to its parents.

4. Your identities, or connection with the case, will never be disclosed, no matter what circumstances may arise.

From his prison cell in Chicago Sunday night Capone told Universal Service that he had not discussed the Lindbergh kidnaping with anybody since he was interviewed by Arthur Brisbane a few days after the abduction.

IMPORTANT CONTESTS

J. J. Davis Easy Victor In Senate Race Against Smedley Butler

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Democrats named 113 delegates to the national nominating convention today in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Alaska. The Republicans selected 128 in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, South Carolina and Alaska.

Returns from 307 of 1,685 precincts in Massachusetts gave the Smith-pledged delegates at large a three and a half to one lead over the slate backing Governor Roosevelt. Smith candidates also were leading in six of seven district delegate contests.

In 488 districts out of 8,181 in Pennsylvania, including 325 in Philadelphia, Smith was leading Roosevelt for the presidential preference vote by 6,749 to 5,223.

President Hoover was assured of 31 of the 34 Republican delegates in Massachusetts and practically all of the 75 from Pennsylvania.

Six delegates pledged to Roosevelt were named in an Alaskan primary to bring his pledged and claimed delegate strength to 273 with 770 needed to win the nomination.

President Hoover, whose renomination is generally conceded, picked up 19 more delegates during the day outside of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts—13 in Arkansas with two more assured for him there May 2; four in South Carolina, and two in Alaska.

SMITH PILES UP BAY STATE LEAD

BOSTON, April 26. (AP)—Candidates pledged to Alfred E. Smith, seeking election in the Massachusetts presidential primary as delegates at large to the Democratic national convention, forged far ahead of a slate pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York in early returns tonight.

With more than one in 10 of the state's election precincts reported, all outside of the city of Boston, the Smith candidates ran more than three to one ahead of their Roosevelt rivals.

In two of Massachusetts' 15 congressional districts, the Smith-pledged district delegates had piled up substantial leads over Roosevelt candidates. In the 15th district, the Roosevelt delegates led their Smith opponents.

Average Vote

Returns from 216 election precincts out of 1,685 in the state gave an average vote for the 12 Roosevelt-pledged candidates for delegates at large of 1,994 as compared with an average vote of 6,454 for each of the Smith-pledged slate. These returns included 78 cities and towns scattered through the state, but none of the city of Boston.

A light vote was cast, despite whirlwind campaign finishes by both sides. James M. Curley, mayor of Boston, championing the cause of Roosevelt in this state, one of the two in the north to go for Smith in 1928, was opposed by the regular Democratic organization led by Gov. Joseph B. Ely, Senators David I. Walsh and Marcus A. Coolidge, and John F. Fitzgerald, a former mayor of Boston.

Son Aids Roosevelt

Curley, aided by James A. Roosevelt, son of the New York governor and now a resident of Massachusetts, carried the fight to the smaller cities and towns during several weeks of campaigning. The Smith forces made little effort to fight back, until the week before the balloting, when the campaign leaders took the stump in Smith's behalf.

Curley, who himself had been a Smith supporter in 1928, argued that the voters should work toward the nomination of a candidate "who can be elected."

Thirty-six convention votes were involved in the Democratic pri-

Defense And Prosecution Make Pleas To Polyglot Jury In Honolulu Case

HONOLULU, April 26. (AP)—Prosecution and defense vied for the sympathy of the racially mixed jury in legal arguments today as the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue and two navy enlisted men for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai entered its concluding phase.

Barry S. Ulrich, associate prosecutor, hinted in his argument the territory had won an important point in the instructions to the jury regarding the insanity plea set up in behalf of Massie.

Ulrich said Judge Charles S. Davis would instruct that for the defense to show Massie was insane the moment he fired the shot which killed Kahahawai would not be sufficient to clear him, and that for the insanity plea to be considered, the defense must have shown the naval officer was mentally deranged through every step of the tragedy.

Although Judge Davis will not deliver his instructions until after the closing arguments, he did not challenge Ulrich's statement, nor did the defense do so. In its testimony the defense set up the claim that Massie was insane only from the time Kahahawai admitted attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the accused officer, until Massie was arrested less than two hours later.

Fighting for sympathy for the accused quartet, George S. Leisure, associate of Clarence Darrow in the defense, attacked Ulrich's statement that the political future of Hawaii was involved in the forthcoming verdict. Leisure argued Ulrich was taking a rather selfish view in asking the jury consider the fate of the territory rather than that of the defendants.

Nudist Lands In Jail At Fort Worth

Officer Objects To Au Naturel Attire

By W. W. COPELAND

FORT WORTH, April 26. (UP)—R. Clark, 40-year-old Los Angeles sunbather and writer, dropped his plans today to become a theological student here. He announced his decision from city jail, where he was held by police after he was found, nude, writing a story in a city park.

"It would be too embarrassing to go to school here," said the deeply tanned, husky Clark, who is six feet two inches tall in the altogether. "I rode here on a motorcycle from Los Angeles to study theology and write short stories. Had I been taking a sunbath there, nothing would have been thought about it.

"Everybody there does it all the time and think nothing about it. In fact, they have schools there for sun bathing. However, I didn't know I was in a city park. I thought I was in the country. I didn't know there was any law anywhere against sun bathing."

The park in which Clark was arrested is in the heart of a residential district and adjacent to one of Fort Worth's busiest streets.

Ed Maxon, assistant city park superintendent, summoned by a shocked motorist, found Clark lying in a clump of bushes. He had a scratch pad before him and a pencil in his hand. His clothes were piled several feet away.

"What are you doing?" asked the

LAGUARDIA IN MARKET QUERY

Inquisitors Hear Charges Of Buying Publicity

cial America; Richard Edmondson, Wall Street Journal; Charles T. Murphy, New York Evening Mail (now defunct); W. F. Walmsley, New York Times; William White, New York Evening Post.

Many of the checks were made out to "cash" with one of the above names as endorser.

LaGuardia added that in many instances the editors of the newspapers were unacquainted with the payments made their staff members.

Huge Sum Cited

Basing his statements on Plummer's assertion, LaGuardia said the former publicity man paid out $286,279. He added that $171,000 of this would be accounted for, presumably by the appearance of either Plummer or the "pay-off" man as a witness, while the other $114,000 would go unrevealed because the recipients are either dead or out of work.

The checks available actually show payments of about $10,000 and those introduced this morning totaled even less than that.

The largest sums went to the pay-off man, in one case totaling $5,400 which LaGuardia said represented a payment of $800 each for nine men.

LaGuardia read a letter purporting to show that Plummer, and presumably the news writers, were allowed to buy stock in the pool as an added incentive to profit.

Accused Whitney

During his testimony the New York representative charged Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, with making a "misstatement" when he told the committee that brokers never engaged in ballyhooing stock.

He mentioned Chase Securities corporation, an affiliate of Chase National bank, Boesel & Co., Jackson Bros., Hansell & Co., and other leading brokerage houses as connected with the sale of the stocks in question. There was no direct evidence, however, that they participated in the pools.

The "pay-off" for Plummer went unidentified by LaGuardia, who said there were many reasons "including physical" why his identity should remain a secret.

Committee Gets Documents

The documents were turned over to the "steering committee," four members of the full committee directing the probe, who ordered them photostated. Chairman Norbeck said it will be decided later whether to call Plummer.

LaGuardia said the committee should recall Matthew C. Brush and Percy A. Rockefeller, who revealed themselves as big short operators last week, and Charles Hayden, of Hayden Stone & Co., with a demand for the records of their stock transactions for the last five years. He hinted at big developments if this were done.

Most of the pools in which Plummer was described as engaged as publicity man occurred during the boom days of 1924 and 1925. The notable exception was the one formed in 1930 to boost the stock of Indian Motors.

Charged Unloading

LaGuardia said that when the motorcycle company was formed in 1913 there were only 100 shares of stock issued. He charged Hansell & Co. with conceiving the plan of getting hold of the company, increasing the number of shares enormously, organizing a pool to boost the price, and then unloading the stock upon the public.

The stock was listed on the "big board" in December of 1929 with 40,000 shares at $5 par. The witnesses said that the list of company directors included Norman T. Boles, Roy G. Lane, William I. Tracy, Charles E. Mitchell of the National City bank, and Harry G. Dodge.

To help put over the selling campaign, he said representatives of the firm went to England and bought the American rights to an air motor designed by Louis Coatalen. The high-pressure operations of the "pool," La Guardia said, lasted from January to June of 1930, during which the stock was whirled up from 5 to 17 and then allowed to descend again to its par value price.

Publicity Appeared

During this "boom" period, the representative charged that some of the publicity put out by Plummer appeared verbatim in one or two papers. The share turn-over during this hectic trading period rose to 171,800 on March 8, four times the amount of outstanding stock.

La Guardia said that the air motor has never yet been placed upon the market to his knowledge. He added that Coatalen came to this country, sold out his stocks, and returned home "very much disgusted."

He exhibited a night letter sent out by Hansell & Co. to prospective customers, urging them to buy in a hurry while the stock was going up. He added that he thought Harry Content, prominent broker, was identified with Hansell in this stock movement.

Pay-Off Amounts Named

The first pool mentioned by La Guardia was in Savage Arms, taking place in July, 1924. He said the canceled checks of Plummer showed payments of $50 to J. F. Lowther, then on the Herald-Tribune; $140.50 to William Gomber of Financial America; another $50 to Lowther; and three checks of $1,000, $300, and $600 which the witness said went to the "pay-off" man for distribution to a number of writers. The brokers for that stock he said were Boesel & Co., and Jakson Brothers.

On the second Savage Arms pool he listed $800 to the "pay-off" man; $268 to Richard Edmondson of the Wall Street Journal; $184 to Charles T. Murphy of the defunct Evening Mail; $209 to William Gomber; $200 to W. F. Walmsley, then of the New York Times.

On the Pure Oil pool, which La Guardia said operated in January of 1929, there were listed $400 cash on Jan. 9; $600 cash on Jan. 18; $800 cash on Jan. 25. These were among those listed for the pay-off man.

Made to "Cash"

The following amounts listed for the same pool La Guardia said indicated to him that the writers were being paid their profits in stock participation: Edmondson, $468; Lowther, $100; Lowther, 184; William White, New York Evening Post, $184; Murphy, $184; Gomber $284.

There were checks for $1,000 each made out to cash exhibited in connection with the Superior Oil pool and Simms Petroleum pool, while the $5,400 cash check was connected with the Maxwell Motors pool.

VALLEY BOARD PLANS TOURS

Reports of Committees Show Progress

Definite progress in colonization of the irrigated valley and in plans for establishment of a cheese plant in Wichita Falls was reported at the regular meeting of the Valley Development association board Tuesday afternoon at the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce offices in the Hamilton building.

Plans also were launched Tuesday for conducted tours of farmers and business men through the valley to open in the near future. Chairman Dillard Anderson of the colonization committee named Darrold Kahn, G. A. Remington, G. C. McGown and C. H. McDowell as a subcommittee on arrangements for the tours.

Mr. Anderson reported that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griminger have been located on one 40-acre tract in the lower irrigated valley, east of the Martin place. This family is now preparing the land for cultivation.

J. H. Allison discussed a proposition of the Kraft cheese interests and offers of other merchants to purchase butter fat in connection with operation of a proposed cheese plant.

In connection with the colonization program in the irrigated valley Mr. Anderson said other 40-acre tracts are being located and commitments secured from land owners in the plan to establish a colony of home owners.

Wichita Woman Injured In Crash

Mrs. C. D. Winters, 2303 Yale, sustained a painful cut on her right arm and numerous lacerations about her body about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in what was described as a hit-and-run crash.

Mrs. Winters was thrown through the windshield of her coupe when she drove on the pavement at the intersection of Holliday road and the old Archer City road and her car was struck by an automobile. A spectator took Mrs. Winters to her mother's home and she was later admitted to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital for treatment. Her condition was described as serious Tuesday night. She also was suffering from nervous shock, attendants said. Her mothed is Mrs. G. B. Hall, 1923 Ninth.

Mrs. Winters was en route to take her husband home from work, Mr. Winters is a dispatcher with the Wichita Falls and Southern railway. Police had not been notified of the accident Tuesday night.

'Supreme Choice' Subject of Sermon

"Life's Supreme Choice" was the subject of Dr. W. W. Chancellor Tuesday night at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church. Dr. Chancellor said in part:

"There are only a very few things we can choose in life. We cannot choose our ancestors; we cannot choose our fathers and mothers; we cannot choose the day in which we live; we cannot alter the very substance of our bodies. After all is said and done some of us may feel that life has cheated us. There is one thing you can decide for yourself, and you are the only one who can decide this—you can choose to be saved.

"Moses made his first great decision when he was 40 years of age. Most people 40 years of age who have not already been saved will die in their sins and go to hell. And yet, they are the only ones who can decide what they will do with Jesus Christ."

This is the second week of the revival meeting at the Lamar Avenue church with Dr. Chancellor, pastor of the First Baptist church of Mineral Wells, doing the preaching at 10 o'clock each morning and 7:45 o'clock each evening. Services will continue through next Sunday.

mary in Massachusetts, 12 delegates at large being elected with a half vote each, and 30 district delegates, two from each of the 15 districts, with a full vote each.

Little interest was aroused by the Republican primary in which all of the four delegates at large candidates similarly pledged. President Hoover was assured of the election of 31 of the state's 34 convention votes.

BOTH CANDIDATES CLAIM PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Pennsylvania backers of Alfred E. Smith and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt made identical claims tonight on the basis of scattering early returns from today's state-wide presidential primary.

The Roosevelt managers pointed to the fact that the first returns from the rural counties showed Roosevelt leading by a wide margin, and repeated their prediction that they would elect delegates covering 65 of Pennsylvania's 76 convention votes.

The Smith managers were equally insistent that returns from the anthracite coal regions, and particularly in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties, indicated that Smith was running well ahead.

Democratic voters in Pennsylvania voted both for 16 delegates at large to the national convention, each of whom will cast one-half vote at the convention, and at the same time cast ballots indicating preference for Smith or Roosevelt or Garner, or whoever they wish.

The outcome of this preferential balloting is not binding upon the delegates at large, and its major value is psychological and as an indication of popular feeling.

Several of the candidates for delegate at large in today's election had no contest. Both Smith and Roosevelt leaders agreed upon them.

John B. Collins, Democratic state chairman, and Sedwick Kistler, Democratic national committeemen, are among the delegates at large candidates who ran on a pro-Smith platform.

Early returns in Philadelphia showed that the Democrats in this city expressed preference for Smith.

U. S. Senator James J. Davis apparently had won an easy victory over Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, retired, in the fight for the Republican senatorial nomination. Early returns indicated that Davis' majority may reach his manager's predictions—250,000.

Another candidate polled 14 votes.

'Fathers and Daughters' Banquet At Forum Proves Impressive Event

Mothers of girls in the high school and Junior college were merely maids in waiting Tuesday night when the first of what will become an annual custom was observed in the "Fathers and Daughters banquet" at the Forum clubhouse. Dark suits of the fathers made a pretty background for the prettily dressed girls, more than 200 being seated. Prominent citizens "dated" girls whose fathers were unable to come.

Miss Ellen Newby was an original and unusually clever toastmistress. She presented Miss Mary C. Boone who gave the invocation and Miss Francys Marye Krauss who welcomed the fathers in original manner. The gifts that fathers had given to daughters were stressed first as perspective; the girls being taught to see molehills as molehills and mountains as mountains and to expect the best. Miss Krauss said that though some appreciated the sound of a horn honking outside, there was nothing so highly appreciated as the presence of fathers at the "dads and sweethearts banquet."

Dr. Stevenson Responds

The pretty toast given to fathers by Miss Alice Marrs was closed with verse and Dr. C. W. Stevenson gave the response, saying that it went without saying that if fathers present had daughters old enough to be there, they were reared in the horse and buggy age when a girl did not go with a boy until she was 16. In a humorous comparison of that day and the present era, Dr. Stevenson expressed his high regards for the girl of today. "Though they must go through a period of transition," he said; "though they must be restless and resent what they call authority, it is perfectly natural." "An ancient wise man said," Dr. Stevenson concluded, "that the thought of youth flamed forth like a meteor in the heavens, and that of age was like the stars by which mariners were guided. The boys look up to you," he stated "and you must be leaders in what is worth while. All that we can ask of you is to carry on the ideals untarnished that have been handed down to you."

Misses Ruth Lucile Crouch and Ruth Lucile Snyder, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Crouch, preceded the toasts with two lovely violin numbers and music was furnished by the high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan.

Following Dr. Stevenson's talk, a sketch "Fathers at Home" was a laughable take-off on a number of prominent fathers and daughters with Miss Iris Dean Lane and Miss Nellie Ruth Smith taking the parts in dramatic style. Miss Margaret Bone was next on the program with two lovely songs, "May Morning" and "Daddy's Sweetheart," and Miss Billie Leslie Stimson concluded the program with a touching tribute to the fathers of 85 girls in the school who had passed on.

Pretty Decorations

The pretty young toastmistress called attention to the bluebonnet folders covering the programs on the table, made by the art department of the high school under the direction of Miss Ima Pendergrass. Bowls of bluebonnets and pink roses were placed at close intervals on the long tables and sprays of bluebonnets from Mrs. T. R. Boone's home were plate favors. The stage was beautiful with baskets and bowls of iria, bluebonnets and roses.

Miss Jessie Warren was given a prize as seller of the greatest number of tickets.

The "fathers and daughters" banquet is a follow up of the "mothers and sons" evening featured earlier in the year and is an innovation in the regime of Mrs. Harry ten Brink, president of the high school P.-T. A. which will become an annual affair.

Mrs. T. R. Boone was general chairman of arrangements. Mesdames Walter Cline, W. C. Krauss and Marvin Smith assisted with the decorations; Mesdames Albert Owen and Harry ten Brink with tickets, and Mrs. R. M. Tittle was in charge of registration. Mothers of the P.-T. A. assisted in serving.

Cut Worms Near End Of 'Season,' Says Farm Agent

Cut worms, annual visitors to Wichita county, have held destructive sway in gardens and flower beds during the past two weeks, but should disappear within the next few days, according to G. C. McGown, county farm agent.

According to Mr. McGown, the epidemic of little soft-bodied pests has been no worse this spring than it normally is. But more flower and garden plants have been susceptible to destruction, perhaps, because a comparative lack of moisture prior to last Saturday's rain had retarded their growth.

During the day, the cut worm usually remains under the cover of a protecting clod of dirt, reserving his ravages upon growing vegetables for the night. Moving on the surface level, he fells many a shoot only for the small portion which he consumes in bringing it down.

Onions again have proven one of the cut worm's favorite viands this spring, and the damage to this vegetable has been very heavy.

With the passing of early spring, however, the cut worm epidemic passes, Mr. McGown predicted that a few more days will mark the end of their "season."

astonished Maxon. The sparse brush clump was in full view of the surrounding neighborhood.

"What am I doing?" rejoined Clark. "I'm just getting warm and getting the benefit of the earth and the sun. I climbed into the bushes to get in contact with cool Mother Earth. It is inspiring. I am writing a story and this furnished inspiration. I have come here to work for the last 10 days."

"Well, to jail for you," Maxon decided. "If you want to be a nudist you had better try Germany, where there are colonies of them."

Clark was living with five students at Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary. He said he got the idea of sun bathing six years ago from a physical culture magazine which taught him the relation of the sun with the earth was the best health producer.

Applause Given J. Tom Heflin

tators. Only rarely in the history of the senate has this been done.

In a characteristic address, the husky-voiced, dramatic Heflin asserted and reiterated with accompanying blows of his fist that he had been "robbed" in the 1930 election.

So interested was the senate that it relaxed its previous ruling that he be heard for no more than two hours and let him talk on throughout the afternoon. The unusual privilege of addressing the senate, although not a member, was granted him yesterday by a 33 to 31 vote.

Turns Back to Demos

It was to the Republican side of the chamber that "Old Tom" addressed himself, speaking much of the time with back turned to his erstwhile Democratic colleagues.

A familiar Heflin phrase, "My God, senators, think of that!"—accompanied by a crack of fist on palm—rang out again and again as he plunged on in a fluent castigation of the Democratic executive committee of Alabama which barred him from the primary in 1930 because he refused to support Al Smith for president in 1928.

"They put me on the spot," Heflin shouted as he arraigned the Democratic "machine" and charged that in the election in which he ran as an independent, ballots were bought, stolen, and burned and coercion and intimidation were practiced.

TWO HELD FOR OHIO BLAST

Dynamite Stolen From Site Of Capital Seized

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Dynamite, identified as stolen from the state office building construction job in Columbus, Ohio, today linked two men under arrest since Thursday with an explosion which took 10 lives.

A representative of the contractor in charge of the tunnel work on the unfinished marble building identified explosives found in a stolen car operated by Edward Wallace, 30, an ex-convict, and Frank Wilson, 22, the police said.

Fight Return

Both prisoners said they would plead guilty in federal court here to interstate transportation of a stolen car rather than return to Columbus for questioning about the blast which wrecked the interior of the nearly finished building 10 days ago.

The two extradition warrants, charging automobile theft, were signed by George White, governor of Ohio.

The men said they attended a baseball game the day of the blast and knew nothing about it.

Wallace, a native of Texas, was convicted here Feb. 24, 1921, of impersonating a federal prohibition agent and served a term of one year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary. Thomas F. Luver, Chicago representative of the S. A. Healy Construction company of Detroit, which was building the tunnel on which the dynamite was used, said Wallace and Wilson were dismissed by his company prior to completion of the job.

Tools Identified

Luver identified the tools and explosives by numbers on them registered with the company. His company completed a sewer for the city of Columbus under the building about a year ago, he said. The men worked for the company about two years but watchers found them taking materials and they were dismissed.

State's Attorney Taylor said the men "trembled like leaves" at the prospect of being returned to Columbus.

The extradition requisitions from Governor White were honored yesterday by Lieut. Gov. Reed Sterling of Illinois.

"I don't know any gangsters," Miss Norton said. "Mr. Rothstein did not permit me to meet his associates." Police lieutenants and a gangster squad inspector were present. Although Miss Norton's escort said it was a social call, Chief Quinn said, "I never saw her before." But he didn't say why she was quizzed.

Forgotten German War Veteran Returns Home From Devil's Island

BERLIN, April 26. (AP)—Paul Schwartz, a German army veteran, who was forgotten for 12 years during which he was a French prisoner of war at Devil's island, came back to Germany today onte more to enjoy freedom.

His case was a hodgepodge of conflicting law. Born in Corsica of German parents, he was taken to Alsace-Lorraine by his family when still an infant, and when the war started he joined the German army, doing service until the armistice.

In 1919 Schwartz went to Kiel to join his mother, who had moved there after his father died. Kiel was in French hands then and, because Schwartz had no traveling papers, he was arrested.

When it was discovered that he was a native of Corsica, the French charged him with high treason, for Corsica is French and the French law claims as citizens all children of the second generation born on national territory.

Schwartz was court martialed and sent to Devil's island. For years he was forgotten. Then some one told the foreign office about him, and the French commuted his sentence.

BOWERS TALKS TO STUDENTS

1928 Keynoter Advocates Governmental Change

LEXINGTON, Va., April 26. (AP)—Claude G. Bowers, keynoter of the 1928 Democratic convention, today told Washington and Lee university students about to open their sixth quadrennial mock convention, "we want and must have a complete reversal of government point of view."

Mr. Bowers was given an ovation by the student body after he had compared Hamilton and Jefferson, asserting they were more than men, being "figures representing elmental principles battling in the flesh." He described Hamilton as representative of autocracy, centralization and privilege and Jefferson as the exponent of democracy.

Jeffersonian principles were traced by the New York newspaper man as flowering into the Wilson administration while Hamiltonian principles were said to have led to the recent Republican era "bounded on one side by corruption and on the other by panic."

The party now in power, he said, "furnished the orchestra for the dance of madness in the stock market."

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Twenty-nine states were credited by the war against depression campaign today with adding 13,371 employed persons to the list it hopes will total a million. The total jobs found for persons formerly unemployed was given as 622,627.

The day's figures for southwestern states with state totals for the entire campaign include:

Legion Auxiliary Hostess In Bicentennial Program

Members of the D. A. R. and U. D. C. chapters and of the auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans were guests Tuesday afternoon in the legion room of the Memorial auditorium at a beautiful bicentennial program arranged by Mrs. J. L. Elkin, chairman. Mrs. J. B. McDowell, president of the auxiliary was mistress of ceremonies and officers of the auxiliary, who were hostesses, were in lovely colonial costume.

Each person on the program also wore the pretty colonial frock, making a dainty picture against the background of the old colonial living room that was featured as a setting.

Numbers introduced by Mrs. Elkin were as follows: Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, bicentennial chairman of the first district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, made an inspiring talk on "Washington's Boyhood, Manhood and Military Career." Mrs. Johnson said "A cynic once said that we go through life with only one true friend, our mother." She emphasized the fact that this was not the case with George Washington who had not only the affection of his mother, but the devotion of the majority of the people who crossed his path. She gave a masterly talk on Washington's life from boyhood until he reached the presidency.

A group of charming original negro dialect readings were given by Mrs. Ann Barker; Miss Loraine Mathis with the violin and Mrs. J. C. Mathis at the piano, created for these numbers an exquisite background of soft music.

Mrs. J. L. Elkin, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, sang "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "Forgotten," the beautiful old melodies holding the audience in rapt attention. Miss Loraine Mathis played a group of southern airs, accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Smith. "The Social Life of Washington," given by Mrs. C. R. Cowles, was intensely interesting and "The Story of Washington's Romance," given by Mrs. George Truitt, was as fascinatingly told as any current love affair.

In the social hour, when dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses to approximately 175 guests, Mrs. Grover C. Johnson called attention to the fact that Mount Vernon, was saved for the country through the action of a southern girl, Ann Pamela Cunningham.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We had an awful dream last night; the characters that we saw in a recent screen mystery hovered over us; foremost among them were Nero with his violin and Rip Van Winkle, with his beard touching the ground. "Phew," we murmured under our breath; "think of the germs!" We lay awake to ponder on many things until, with our mind quiet, we could doze again.

In spite of a quasi-cynical young gentleman who continually greets us with a "Well, how are the little birds and flowers today?" we can tell the world there's a cardinal at the home of a bird lover on Ninth street and that, should you wish surcease from a moment of unrest, just cross the railroad into Country Club estates and hear the startlingly quick sweet call of the field larks.

Fresh in our memory at this time, however, are many things that happened in the recent district Federation of Women's Clubs convening in Wichita Falls. That time, for instance, when women unfamiliar with the heavy curtains at the Forum clubhouse, endeavored to draw them in a hurry, and concluded by hitch-hiking them together, in jerky little movements.

That of club women from little distant towns who came so prettily garbed in their "Sunday go to meetings" and prepared with a beautiful report of club activities. Then the session, conducted in a most business like manner, limited reports to three minutes and often the pretty delegates had to be seated without concluding reports.

Of a charming woman loved by the members of the entire district, whose heart is in her home town and who rejoiced at all the honors won there. Once when a Wichita Falls resident was awarded a poetry prize, she rose to remark, "She is a Henrietta girl."

Of a report made by the general federation director, who stressed the fact that the general federation took the part of a mother to the more than 14,000 federated clubs in the United States, and the remark made by an irrepressible sitting beside us, "Think of a mother with 14,000 children."

A remark made by Mrs. Stanley Moss of Fort Worth, who said "age is a desertion of all the ideals of youth," which made us grip our ideals with a firmer hand. Ideals, even when they are battered and bruised, are a saving grace and even an angel with one wing feather gone is better than no angel at all.

The clamor that rose between talks at federation luncheons and dinners. We never attended a man's luncheon and wondered if they, too, must so express themselves. It brought an idea to us. The thousands of tongues the Master heard "babble on" must have made the name of that deserted spot that is known to history as Babylon. (We apologize to one Mississippian who is clever at puns).

Then talkers; the public schools, colleges and universities do a grave injustice to America by not stressing the importance of commas, semicolons and periods. Nothing wears on us quite so much as voices like Lord Tennyson's "Brook," which, though we have used it before, we must refer to again; they "go on and on forever."

Our Children

"A Mean Child"

"What is one to do with a mean child? I hate to say it but it is the truth. My 3-year-old boy is as mean as he can be to his sister. It seems to be in him. She is a gentle child and never bothers him but the minute she seems happy he is down on her with something. Yesterday when she was playing nicely in her crib he lifted his book and whanged her on the head. Now what do you think of a boy mean enough to do that?"

I don't think he is mean. You see to be mean he had to think a mean thought. He had to think something like this: "She is having a good time. I'll attend to that in a jiffy. I'll make her cry. I'll hurt her and she will feel bad and she will cry. That will please me." That would be meanness because it has in it a purpose and a will to hurt. That is not what the little 3 year old had.

Of course I don't know him. I have known many 3-year-old children and I have learned that they do not willingly, purposely hurt other children and enjoy their pain. What they do is done without plan. It is done on impulse. I think the impulse rises out of a desire to be active. To do something that releases a lot of energy even if it is thumping somebody on the head.

This impulse to strike or pound is characteristic of this age and condition of child. He gathers more energy than his activity uses up. He has to find some way to discharge it. This is the first way that offers itself. The child cries and that interests him. He has no notion of the pain he inflicts. No—that's not the idea that he likes. It is the dramatics of the situation—the child's actions, tears, protests, and mother's indignation and expression of it that he likes. It allows him to forget himself and the bothersome demand that he loose his energy. He isn't cruel. He is in need of exercise.

Three-year-old children, especially boys, do not have enough hard exercise to keep them in health. They generate tremendous energy and unless they find a harmless way of discharging it they find some other way. This gathering and discharging of energy is one of the processes of growth and it must be recognized in the schedule of his day.

Give him a stout basket ball to kick about. Give him something to pound. Let him pound with might and main. A wooden mallet and a tree stump, that's the thing. He would like a dishpan better than a stump or block but in mercy to the neighbors we hold him to the wooden things. Here he takes out that impulse to thump, to release energy through arms and back and legs. That will save little sister and preserve his reputation from the imputation of meanness.

Only a child who is essentially ill is in the habit of hurting other children. Give the 3-year-old the right kind of activity and he won't annoy you that way any more.

Austin Mothers Discuss Safety At Club Meet

In a talk on "The Home Accident Problem," given in the lesson on safety at Crockett School Parent-Education meeting Tuesday morning, Mrs. C. A. Vaught surprised her audience when she stated that almost as many accidents occur in the home as those caused by automobile. She gave a summary of accident facts for 1931.

"The House in Which We Live," was a subject discussed by Mrs. J. B. King who said that cleanliness and good order are two requisites to reduce accident hazards. Mrs. E. H. Jackson read a paper "Outguessing the Child," stressing the fact that children are led into the path of danger through curiosity, instinct to imitate and activity.

"Electricity and Gas, Their Use and Abuse," was ably discussed by Mrs. George Henderson who stated that they are common home servants and their use means convenience; their improper use may mean danger for life and prosperity. The National Safety Council in Chicago, furnished material for the papers.

Talk on Tuberculosis

Miss Mary Quinn, executive secretary of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association, discussed "Tuberculosis," stating that history showed that the disease started as early as 1,600 years B. C. She said that it is not inherited, but is a germ disease and urged that pasteurized milk be used as one preventive. Symptoms of tuberculosis were mentioned and parents warned to call a doctor when they developed. "Tuberculosis," Miss Quinn said, "is the chief cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45." Education is doing much to prevent it and open air schools and hospitals, with public health nurses and free clinics have been established in many cities of the United States.

Mrs. J. R. Kolb presented Mrs. E. H. Ames, chairman, with a gift in behalf of the members, stressing their appreciation of what she had done for the club during the year. Mrs. Ames announced that the next lesson would be a health program in charge of Mrs. E. H. Jackson. Mesdames A. G. Beard and L. D. Whitecotton were enrolled as new members.

The session was opened with the Lord's prayer in unison and members adjourned included Mesdames J. R. Kolb, C. R. Neal, J. T. Watson, E. H. Ames, R. L. Underwood, L. D. Whitecotton, A. G. Beard, C. A. Vaught, J. B. King, E. H. Jackson, G. T. Henderson, O. F. Bagwell, O. D. Scott, Martin Smith and Ray Keith.

Tea Serving And Pouring Outlined By Emily Post

A question from one of my readers is: "I want to serve an informal afternoon tea in honor of a friend who is coming to visit us. Please tell me how the tea table is set and the tea should be made and poured. Should places be set at the table as in tea rooms? Club sandwiches are hard to make. If it is necessary to have them, how should they be eaten?"

Answer—There is never more than one tea table. If you are expecting less than a dozen guests, you sit at a table in your living room and pour the tea yourself. The tea tray is placed on a low, medium sized table, which has first been covered with a tea-cloth. The tray should be good sized. On it a hot water kettle with a lamp under it, a tea-pot, tea cannister, a pitcher of cream, a bowl of sugar, and a small glass plate with slices of lemon neatly arranged on it. The most important item of the tea service is boiling water and plenty of it. The least amount of water not actually bubbling as it is poured over the tea leaves turns the flavor to hay!

Nothing is easier than tea making. Rinse the pot with boiling water. Put in a rounded teaspoonfull of tea leaves to a cup, pour on a small quantity of actually boiling water. Let it stand about 30 seconds, pour on addftional boiling water, and pour at once for those who like it "weak" or let it stand a minute or two for those who like it strong. After it has stood, but not for too long a time, the tea can be made drinkably weak by pouring only a little into each cup and adding boiling water.

When offering a cup, you ask, "How do you like your tea?" Guest answers "Strong with lemon and one lump" or "weak, please, no sugar but quite a lot of cream." You pour accordingly, sugar in cup first, then tea, then water, then slice a lemon, or else little or much cream.

Club sandwiches are not suitable at all for tea. They are much too substantial and clumsy to eat. Tea sandwiches should be very thin.

WHY BLAME STOCKINGS—

when you may be at fault?

Save ELASTICITY* and stockings will wear

DON'T BLAME STOCKINGS for those costly runs—actually you may be at fault.

When your stockings are new they are elastic. Made to give under strain. Stretch and spring right back again.

But if you rub the delicate fibres with cake soap so they lose their precious elasticity, they become lifeless, brittle. They break under strain. Then you get those runs!

Why take chances? Lux offers you the sure way to preserve the elasticity that makes stockings WEAR.

*The Lux way to save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear

Wash this 2-minute way
1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't rub with cake soap
It ruins elasticity. With Lux there's no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which robs silk of its life, weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali.

Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

De Valera Bill Called Repudiation of Pact

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas told the house of commons today that President Eamon de Valera's bill to abolish the oath of allegiance amounted to rpudiation by the Irish Free State of the settlement of 1921, under which the Dublin government accepted dominion status on the British Empire.

The bill will meet its first real test in the Free State parliament tomorrow, when it comes up on second reading. The party of former President William T. Cosgrave has filed notice of its opposition. Whether the measure is adopted depends on the attitude of the Labor members who hold the balance of power.

Mr. Thomas explained that he was bringing up the question again because he had examined the text of the De Valera bill.

This text, he said, showed the measure was designed not only to remove the oath to the crown now required of Irish officials, but also to repeal a section of the Free State constitution which provides that the Irish treaty shall have the force of law and that any constitutional amendment in variance with the treaty shall be inoperative.

"The text of the bill," Mr. Thomas said, "confirms the view expressed in my note to Mr. De Valera on April 19, that the issue he has raised is nothing less than repudiation of the settlement of 1921."

Henry Ford Tells Hoover Of Plan To Combine Farming And Industry

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—A gray-haired and quiet-spoken automobile manufacturer, Henry Ford of Detroit, outlined to President Hoover today his newest plan for saving factory workers about $500 a year through combining farming and industry.

Ford's visit to the White House came as a surprise. Even he himself appeared startled when suddenly surrounded by a group of newspaper men as he was leaving the executive mansion.

The manufacturer explained he had spoken to Mr. Hoover of an experiment in progress on his Dearborn farm. Its details, he said, could not be fully explained at this time.

Ford intimated his plan centered upon having big factories place their workers within reach of open country upon which they could conduct small scale, scientific farming.

It was his belief, he asserted, that with a small piece of farm land, perhaps part of a community plot, a worker could raise sufficient foodstuffs to supply many of the needs of his family table while still retaining a factory job. He indicated he would make a more detailed statement of his plan shortly.

The manufacturer seemed shy under the barrage of questions shot at him from all sides. He was clearly grateful when a companion who had remained in the background, stepped up to whisper in his ear "Mr. Ford your car is waiting."

"I'll be out as soon as I can get there," he replied.

He explained, smiling, that with Mrs. Ford, a garden enthusiast, he was going to motor through Virginia to "look over some flower gardens" during the exhibitions there this week. He was headed, he said, for Richmond.

Asked if he had discussed the economic situation with the president, Ford said he had reiterated his idea that "if people who quit business to go into gambling several years ago would quit that and go back to producing something, they could sell all they produce."

County Attorney Marvin Hall was conducting a court of inquiry today, seeking persons who donated to the estate fund.

Drab Picture of Livestock Industry Portrayed At Hearing

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (AP)—A drab picture of the livestock industry was sketched today at an Interstate Commerce commission hearing to determine whether the present freight rate should be readjusted.

Charles E. Collins of Kit Carson, Colo., president of the American National Livestock association, testified that livestock prices are lower now than at any time in the last 30 years.

In contrast, he said, transportation costs are the highest in the industry's history.

Dr. O. O. Wolf, Ottawa, Kan., cattle and hog shipper, testified that if rail rates went higher, the business literally will be "thrown into trucks."

Assault to Kill Charges Planned in Gun Battle

ROSWELL, N. M., April 26. (AP)—District Attorney J. G. Osburn said today he will file charges of assault with intent to kill against three men for their alleged participation in a gun fight with officers in which Deputy Sheriff James Williamson of Hagerman was shot.

Two of the men, W. H. Tarrant and Jean Walker, are in jail at Carlsbad and the third, Fred Sutton, is in jail here.

Williamson, whose wound was not critical, was shot when he and other officers attempted to stop several men suspected of robbing the Kemp Lumber company of Elida.

STATESMEN TO MEET FRIDAY

Five Powers' Delegates To Confer at Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 26. (AP)—A meeting of statesmen representing the "big five" in the world disarmament conference—the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany—was arranged today for Friday to seek solution of the existing deadlock.

The conference was made possible after Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, had called Premier Tardieu of France, who is in Paris, and persuaded him to change his mind about remaining away until after the French elections.

Others who will attend will be Chancellor Heinrich Bruening of Germany, Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy, and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain.

This arrangement was made after Secretary Stimson and Mr. MacDonald failed to get M. Tardieu and Chancellor Bruening together today to seek a Franco-German reconciliation.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Reading the text and noting the place and time of delivery of Governor Roosevelt's post-dated Jefferson day speech at St. Paul, several things present themselves for consideration.

One is that Mr. Roosevelt at that time seemed so supremely confident of winning the Democratic nomination at Chicago in June that in reality he made what he regarded as the first speech of his presidential campaign itself.

He was seeking votes in November, Republican votes from disaffected Republican territory, not Democratic delegates at Chicago.

Another point is that Roosevelt's remarks were designed to answer any part of Al Smith's Jefferson day blast at political demagoguery that his friend might have aimed at him or that any one might assume were so aimed.

He elected to define what he had in mind in talking about the "forgotten man at the bottom of the economic pyramid" and to challenge any critic who saw in that restatement an appeal to class prejudice.

Keeping the Peace

Yet Mr. Roosevelt very carefully refrained from a belligerent tone. He quoted Patrick Henry to issue his defi.

The immediate reaction among Washington supporters of Mr. Roosevelt was the prediction, breathed no doubt with great relief, that the Smith-Roosevelt incident precipitated by the former's Jefferson day speech here, was virtually a closed incident.

They assumed that Mr. Smith hardly could read into Roosevelt's St. Paul address a persistence in "demagogic appeal" against which he threatened to shuck coat and vest and fight.

It takes two to make a fight. Roosevelt resorted to argument rather than beligerency in answering Smith and the next move would seem to be up to Smith.

More than that, Roosevelt neatly and gracefully attached Smith by name to the major thesis of his vote appeal in the Northwest, the Democratic backers, both Republicans and Farmer-Laborites, on the platform with him as he talked.

What Smith thinks or may do about it was anybody's guess.

On the face of the record it might appear a bit difficult to press a demagoguery charge against Roosevelt in the light of the St. Paul speech.

With Democratic hopefuls so urgently pleading for harmony, Roosevelt tactics in meeting the Smith threat to his candidacy, if it was that, may appeal to folks not as yet in either's corner.

Republican Cheer

One thing was clear, Republican onlookers were mightily cheered by the Smith speech. They sniffed afar such a row among the Democrats in June over the nomination as would aid their cause.

They said so out loud. The Roosevelt show at St. Paul, at first blush at least, did not seem to contribute to Republican elation.

Iowa Park Council Seeks Water Rate Reduction

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 26.—The retiring city officials of Iowa Park were hosts to Iowa Park volunteer firemen at a barbecue feast Monday evening, celebrating the winning of a case in a kangaroo court held two weeks past when the new city officials took office. Other guests were the new city officials, Rev. Marshall D. Masters and Rev. Cicero B. Fielder, Miss Flora Cobb, former city clerk; Miss Nellie Cowart, city clerk; Miss Lila Grace Cornforth, retail merchants' secretary; Judge Irvin Vogel, Wichita Falls; Joe Taugman; C. F. Johnson, city auditor; John C. Myrphree, city attorney, and Miss Josephine Ellis, assistant city secretary.

During the council meeting, following the entertainment, it was decided to work out a method of reducing the city water rate, and a definite decision on these suggested plans will be determined at the next regular meeting.

Will Detlefs was recommissioned city marshal and John C. Murphree, city attorney.

If Alfalfa Bill Murray lives up to his name, he will top the presidential straw votes by a whole stack.

From the looks of things, historians in Russia and Japan might as well start looking up arguments on which one started the war.

Backward Pupils?

THERE'S an old adage that "experience is the best teacher." Applying that measure to a people's development of economic principles, experience stands in danger of losing some of her reputed pedagogic efficiency. Or are we Americans simply so backward in the rudiments of economics that Dame Experience must hold us over-long in the elementary grades of economic learning?

The acute distress in which the United States has writhed during the past three years is by no means a new experience. Nor is it due to new causes. For almost 200 years the youthful American society has been feasting recurrently on green apples, and as regularly has been wracked with the pains of economic chaos.

As early as 1756-1770—immediately following the seven-year war between England and France for posession of Canada—there was a typical post war boom. Inordinately high prices, high wages—then the terrific reaction. Thousands submerged—and moved westward. Again after the war of 1812 there was a period of tremendous expansion, inflation of values and the subsequent crash. Twenty years, with the advent of steam navigation and expansion of industry in the North, brought the disastrous panic of 1837. Then the Mexican war, and a new boom. But new gold flowing in from California served as an economic antitoxin. A new period of expansion, and in the late fifties a new influx of gold from Colorado in time to prevent the inevitable stagnation.

Then the terrible war between the states, and the ensuing 20 years of economic prostration in the South. Astonishingly rapid development in the North and West were followed again by the crushing reverses of the eighties. A war with Spain completed at the century's turn, and seven years later the country again was in a swale of depression. The unparalleled rise of inflated values and false prosperity which followed the latest war is a recent and bitter memory to this generation.

Experience has not been lacking. As a teacher, she has presented the hard lesson with amazing frequency and regularity. If, according to the respected adage, experience is unsurpassed as a teacher, her pupils in these United States of America may have to admit an embarrassing inaptitude.

Rolph Gives Hope to Mooney

GOV. JAMES ROLPH JR., of California must be a practical politician. He flatly declined to issue a pardon to Tom Mooney. He said the punishment fitted the crime.

Well, the very next day he made the interesting announcement that he had not "closed" the Mooney case; that he was ready to receive and read new evidence and that the way to freedom was open to the famous convict via the parole route. Mooney had refused all along to accept a parole. Now the governor has hinted that an application for a parole may bring about favorable results.

Governor Sterling has a parole policy that is very appealing. There are three former judges of high standing members of the Texas parole board. They pass on all applications for parole or pardon or commutation. All three are men who ranked high as lawyers and jurists before they were called to the service of the state to deal with the issue of clemency that should be shown convicts with clear and clean records of service behind the bars. They send the results of their investigations to the office of the governor. If they recommend a parole, the paroie is granted by the governor. And why not? It pays to temper justice with mercy where the individual record of a ward of the state indicates that there has been atonement and repentance and a sincere desire to lead a life within the pale of the law, if granted the boon of beginning anew the daily grind of free existence.

Lindy— ALegend

THAT was an interesting little story from Minneapolis the other day, telling how Colonel Lindbergh has replaced such a famous character as Jack of the beanstalk legend in the hearts of modern children.

University of Minnesota scientists, as you may remember, made the test. Out of 100 kindergarten children, they found that 90 knew who Lindbergh was and what he had done—and only 58 knew about the famous Jack.

There probably is some sort of moral behind all of this, but what completeness with which the famous aviator has taken possession of the hearts of American youth. The man has already become a legend; and the legend is apt to last for a great many years.
it may be is hard to discover. It certainly does testify, though, to the

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

(During illness of Mr. Winchell this column is being conducted by Paul Yawitz)

Portrait of Another Young Fella Talking to Himself!

It takes a lot of nerve to write this column....I wish I didn't have to do it ....Perhaps it would be wise to devote it to the criticism which I am certain to receive as time rolls on ....To tell you exactly what I am going to do would be both naive and dangerous; to tell you what I am going to try to do is probably no safer....There will be the dawn-fighters of the night spots to warn me: "You're a nice guy, Yawitz, so why go digging under people's skins?....There's too much unrest in New York as it is....Look up at the sun, shake the hands of the world and his brother....You'll make a lot of friends and be happy." That'll be one side!

Then there are the pals who will hold me high on their peaked shoulders...."Don't be afraid!" I can hear them urging me. "Tell the whole cock-eyed town what's happening on the inside. Open up! Tear right through the phonies, whether they be Broadway chislers, Wall St. smoothies, or City Hall dandies....Stick by your guns and keep firing! They'll love it"....And there's certain to be one versed in the classics who will be unable to contain himself until he spouts: "Remember what Tennyson said—'He makes no friends who never made a foe.'"

And whether I take heed of Tennyson or of the speakeasy girl who spilled her 12th drink on my evening suit last night and nonchalantly advised me, "Take it easy, fella, there'll be plenty of rain on your face after you're buried," I'm certain to come in for a wide variety of counsel and threats.

One thing is inevitable....When they try to persuade me with quotes from the classics, my suspicions are immediately aroused....And more than likely I'll be inclined to expose in turn the advisers and well-wishers....It's much easier to listen to the spiked blabberings of a drunk than to the soft spoken praises of the back-slapper....I've always found more truth in a speakeasy gal's phrases than in those of any army of climbers....Perhaps that's why I'm going to mingle with the drunks, the playboys and the gay girlies....As well as with the staid dowagers, the luncheon-clubbers. ..And the engineers who feel they are summing up the entire scheme of life when they say that "N. Y. is not reflected by the fluff and lights of Manhattan, but by the serious builders who send Empire State buildings to the clouds and hurl steel bridges across the Hudson."

That's all right with me....Whoever can give me the meat for a good story will hold my ear.... But I am more apt to find vibrating news in the people who ride their lives on emotional waves....the kind of stuff that is lurid, and therefore readable....The kind of news that packs color and punch and makes you reach for tomorrow's paper....The kind of news that first tells the truth that should be told....And spares the weak last.

I started yesterday by saying that I can't afford to be a snob....That snobbery is for those who take themselves too heavily....That, as for me, I'm going to lie in the gutter and get a worm's eye view of the parade....Look at that red-topped Scandoll who 5 years ago had the Wall Streeters in a worse fog than the 1929 panic....They toasted her up and down the Golden Gorge. ...Geo. White paid half his expenses from the paid admissions of her admirers....Then the owner of a torrid Chi, dawn spot lured her away with electric billing on Michigan Bl as the bait....The merry-go-rounder succumbed and for a few months she dizzied Caponeville....The inevitable mob of guys flocked to her, but a two-gun racketeer won out....What he didn't win with charm, he won with threats. ...The romance lasted only until the next B'way import hit the town.

But the kid had been stamped. ...There had been too many guns in her neighborhood for the Gold Coasters to chance a follow up.... No one wanted to play around with an "x-moll"...So, after a few years of struggle, she drifted back to Ballyhoo Boulevard, the street that once had sported a civic gardenia in her honor....But Broadway had heard....It always does....And the flaming red-head's looks were shorn by the playboys until they bobbed in a haggish, hennaed pompadour. ...Hunger got her a job as cigaret girl in a 50th St. joy-joint....It was an elaborate rendezvous and championed by a famous host....There the lass helped her former playmates with their coats and took their tips on ciggy sales.

Some of the dashers, eager to ease their surface conscience, bestowed a cheek-kiss on their former heart-throb....She accepted it gracefully; it meant large tips.... One day the drys staged a secret raid on the place....It was so secret that four news reels had their cameras all set for the onslaught. ...The cigaret girl was again out of work....Her next stop on the way down was a midtown hyphouse, where she hostessed the interlanders who didn't know enough to keep out....There was another raid.

Yesterday I saw her enter a cheap 47th St. hotel....The kind that augurs mystery as you scurry past its step-worn stoop...."It's a little come-down, isn't it, Paul?" she asked....There was no answer to an obvious question...."But I'm happy and don't mind a bit," she went on. "I like the gutter. Every one you meet there has lived....I spent my best years playing with men and women who had everything handed them on a platter....They don't know life at all....To them it's all fancy apartments and loss of perspective....I may sound crazy to you, but I find a real rhythm on the sidewalk....It does something to you that chases all fear away. ..I kinda like it."

But there will be more to this shaft—or perhaps, less—than aggressive pryings into the secrets of the street....It will try to live with the dramatic struggles of Wonder City....where Paradox parades around the clock....where the night begins at one in the morning....where Cause and Effect is painted by color-blind artists...and where wise husbands lock the doors after their wives have been stolen.

THE CHURCH OF ETERNAL SILENCE — In the heart of London, facing Hyde park, stands a little brick church called the Chapel of the Ascension. It was conceived by a London lady, who on her travels in Italy found comfort in the paintings which line the walls of the great Italian churches. The walls of the Chapel of the Ascension, a realization of the pious lady's vision, are decorated with paintings, illustrating themes from the gospel. The church is constantly crowded with visitors and tourists, yet silence reigns supreme within. There are no sermons, no hymns, no organ, altar or baptismal font there. No confirmations, baptisms or weddings have ever been held there to distract the mind of those who prefer to worship in silence.

Wanted—Love!
The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of "Broadway Bride"

CHAPTER XXXVII

The night in the little room seemed interminable—waiting in the walled stillness for Laura's return.

When midnight came and Laura had not come, both of the girls undressed and got into bed, pretending to sleep. They made feeble efforts to seem calm.

But each girl was conscious of the restless tossing of the other.

It must have been 2 o'clock when Eve spoke out: "In the morning, if Sam doesn't know anything about Laura, I'll get in touch with the police," she said.

And Lillian knew Eve had not been fooled about her sleeping. No more than she had been about Eve's pretention.

"You mean ask them to look for her?" Lillian asked.

"Yes. Too often in the last six months girls discouraged and rebuffed in their search for employment have waded into the river . . . seems easier than hoping . . ."

Eve sighed as she spoke of hoping.

But at day break they heard tired footsteps trudging up the stairs.

Eve sat up in bed alertly.

"Laura?"

"Yes . . ." came a hoarse whisper.

The door opened and there stood Laura, making her brave effort to smile. Her eyes swollen from sleeplessness and weariness.

Eve reached up and put her arms about her, pulling her down beside her on the bed.

"Lie here, honey," mothered Eve, "you're so tired."

It was one of the few times Lillian saw direct sympathy passed between the two friends. And she understood then more than ever before why they could not afford to word their painful understanding of each other's problem. It only intensified the hurt.

With Eve's arms about Laura, her words of pity, Laura's last ounce of bravery faded . . . flowed in her tears.

"You thought I'd gone to Sam?" Laura sobbed.

"But you didn't? You didn't."

"No . . . no. I am a fool. I should. I should go to Sam. . . ."

It was plain even to Lillian that she said it only to be soothed by Eve.

"No, Laura. No you shouldn't. You're too proud. Much too proud."

Finally, Eve asked: "Where've you been all night?"

"Have you been up all night?" asked Lillian, finally thinking of something to say, which seemed impossible despite the intensity of her interest.

"Yes—up all night," Laura said, indifferently.

She pulled herself full length on the bed, her hat tumbling to the floor, her purse, too, opening as it fell and boldly showing its soiled lining, a crumpled kerchief, odd papers and a compact—no money.

Laura folded her arms over her head, her small fists clenched. She rolled a little from side to side as she talked.

"I've walked so far today," she said, in a toneless voice, "so far. Trying to think . . . decide what I should do. . . ."

Her listeners waited for her to continue. But Laura seemed to forget they waited.

"I know—you got an all-night job, somewhere? Bookkeeping or something?" Lillian put in, her imagination getting a hold.

"I tried hard enough. . . . I was standing in line at an employment agency at about 5 o'clock last night. . . . I guess I was about the 20th in line . . . suddenly the wicket window of the agency slammed closed. . . . 'Closed until 7:30 tomorrow morning,' some one said.

"No worse than we've heard time and again . . . only today it sounded worse . . . because I didn't have a cent. I guess that was why . . . seemed I didn't know what to do then . . . and I started to cry. . . ."

Pause.

"Then an old woman came up to me and patted me on the arm. It was like we've treated other girls, Eve. She said: 'You mustn't give up, dearie. When you've been looking as long as some of us you'll get used to being turned down. . . .'"

Eve and Lillian knew that had made Laura cry more.

"'Do you need money so badly?'" the woman asked. I told her—no. I opened my purse and showed her."

"'Go down to Grand Central station,' she said. 'Sit in the waiting room. If any women come in with babies, to wait between trains, you offer to mind them. Sometimes they're real glad to have help and they often tip well.'".

Laura, who had been a super-secretary, who had worked in Wall street, who had spent long months in studying for her profession, . . . a mother's helper!

"'Sometimes I've made a dollar in a night that way,' the old woman told me . . . and right then a dollar seemed as big as the sun."

Laura's slim, taunt form, with the arms shielding the face from the light, kept up its ceaseless motion, as if she were in agony and could not lie still.

Eve and Lillian looked and listened, a little fearfully. As if they were to be told that their fears for Laura had been more than realized.

"That's where I've been all night . . . watching the gate when the trains came in . . . hoping some woman would come to the waiting room with a baby—but those with children didn't come.

"I was sitting on a bench inside the waiting room until about 2 o'clock when a charwoman began mopping up.

"'Stick your feet up on the seat, baby,' she said, 'whilst I cleans here.' That's the last I remember until an attendant woke me up about an hour later.

"I walked and walked. . . . I never thought Grand Central was so far from here before . . . it seemed hours before I reached the library.

"I remember once a girl told me she sat all night in Bryant park. . . . I went into the park. I saw several men there. I couldn't sit down on one of those cold benches . . . couldn't. . . ."

Eve tried to comfort Laura as her voice broke.

"I said I couldn't, but I was so tired . . . and then a policeman had my arm—"

Lillian and Eve could not suppress a gasp.

"But he was fine . . . he offered to take me to a municipal lodging house—I guess next time I'll go . . . Even then I wondered why I had to be so proud . . . I've nothing to be proud about . . . only . . . I made one last stand against the 'flop house.' I'll see myself there next, I guess . . . in the bread line!"

She turned over and buried her face in the pillow, sobs shaking her body.

The sobbing turned to screams and her arms, which she had held about her head as she talked, jerked down to her body. The roiling became faster, although she tried to compel her body to remain still.

"You're in pain!" Eve cried. "You wouldn't tell us—you—"

Eve began unfastening Laura's coat, loosening her clothes, taking off her hose and her shoes. Lillian ran for a basin of cool water, and then wrung cold towels for her fevered head.

Laura could not keep from screaming.

Mrs. Morris stuck her head in the door. She pushed Eve from the side of the bed and took a good look at Laura.

"Acts like my Mary did when she had appendicitis," she said, "go call a doctor."

"No—no, don't call a doctor!" Laura called, making a desperate effort to sit up.

"You'd better. And be quick," the woman said to the grieved, frightened Eve.

"No—no! Eve—don't . . . please, please. . . ."

Six Days Of Brilliant Ceremonies Mark Marriage Of Indian Ruler

JODHPUR, RAJPUTANA Agency, India, April 26. (AP)—Six days of splendid ceremonials, marking the marriage of the ruler of Jaipur, who is 21 years old and has a permanent salute of 17 guns, and the daughter of the Maharaja of Jodhpur, came to an end tonight.

It was a wedding entirely in keeping with the eminence of the families it linked. They are two of the most ancient houses of India.

The festivities started last Thursday when the bridegroom-to-be, weighted down with diamonds, pearls and rubies, mounted a brilliantly caparisoned elephant and led his wedding procession through his home city of Jaipur.

On Sunday the young ruler arrived in Jodhpur. At the city gates he was met by all the notables of the state. Guns boomed his salute and he was escorted in a procession of elephants gorgeously accoutred to his temporary residence in Ratanda palace. Admiring crowds cheered him as he made his way through the streets.

That afternoon there were gorgeous ceremonials as he proceeded to historic Jodhpur fort, five miles away. He made the journey on an elephant. The entire aristocracy and gentry accompanied him afoot.

The complex marriage ceremony, lasting two hours, was performed in an inner apartment of the fort, to which the ruler was led after he had been received in the main hall by a congregation of the most eminent personages in this part of the world.

There followed numerous festivities which lasted until tonight.

There is no general marginal trading such as in this country.

Composed of little groups of cabins, corrals, and bunk houses, all of which are familiar to the native westerner of the cattle country, they are rustic and unique and afford unequaled opportunities for enjoyment of the outdoors under conditions of freedom and naturalness. The majority of these ranches is in Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

VINCENT HURLS FIVE-HIT GAME AS SPUDDERS WIN, 18 TO 1

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

The Scrapping Steers

Manager Hap Morse has assembled a scrapping club under the banner of the Dallas Steers. We mean that literally. Fistic battles between the Steers and the Spudders were narrowly averted during the series at Dallas last week, and the Herd followed this up by jumping on the Sports over at Shreveport. Langford, Steer left fielder, was accidentally spiked during the Shreveport contest, so he hopped on Catcher Mickey O'Neil. He jumped on O'Neil's back and applied a strangle hold, reports state, and a general intermission had to be called while members of both teams tried to separate the scrappers.

Up to the present moment, which is just before game time Tuesday afternoon, the Spudders and the Steers have not actually come to blows. In the series opener Monday the two teams, in fact, seemed to be joined together by a common cause—the common cause being Mr. Palmer's umpiring behind the bat. Both outfits seemed to devote much more attention to Palmer than they did to each other.

Manager Morse's hustling Steers lost two extra-inning decisions in two days—one to Shreveport in 10 innings, and then Monday to our Spudders in 11 innings. That may prove any number of things, the most obvious one being that the Herd never stops trying.

About Harlan Clift

The shortfielding of Harlan Clift around the second sack position has been far from faultless since he took over Ollie Bejma's job, but the kid has the uncanny knack of pulling a brilliant play just after committing a bobble. The result is, the fan forgets the error entirely and commends the kid for his pluck and for his downright ability.

The kid's ability to swat is almost unbelievable, but even the finest hitters couldn't stay in the lineup if they could do nothing defensively. Their errors afield would obliterate their prowess at the plate.

If Clift has looked fierce on some plays to date, it is not because he is lacking in ability, but mainly because he is overanxious and thoroughly inexperienced. Remember, he is only 18 years old. There are not many 18-year-old novices who could do even half as well as Clift has.

In the first inning of Monday's game, with a Steer on base, Bonura hit a double play ball to Scharein. It was plainly a Scharein-to-Green play, for Scoop had plenty of time to touch second base and nip Bonura at first. He almost failed, however, for what should young Clift do but rush over to second expecting Scharein to toss to him for the first killing. And Scharein, speeding like mad, collided with Clift. It's a wonder both weren't knocked down.

Well, Clift should have stayed out of the way. But are you going to blame a kid for a thing like that, when he showed by his hustle that he was simply so eager to get that ball he couldn't keep still?

And any way, in the succeeding innings of that ball game, Clift came up with one great stop after another, figured in double plays, rushed deep into short right to catch pop-ups, didn't boot but one hard grounder that came his way—and that was a ball that Lin Storti might have booted—and in general simply made a hero of himself. He handled 17 chances perfectly out of 18. That's a good day's work for a major leaguer, much less a kid 18 years old.

All in all, Clift is one of the best infield prospects the Spudders have ever picked up.

His First Trip

Hugo Saunders, local business man who is in his 50's, saw his first baseball game last Sunday. He happened to see a very exciting contest on his first trip to a ball park, for on that day the Cats edged out a 7 to 6 decision over the Spudders, after the latter had staged a six-run rally in the seventh. The game apparently made a convert of Mr. Saunders.

Quanah Player Hurdles Fence in Tipton Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 26.—The most spectacular play ever witnessed in baseball on the Quanah diamond was made Sunday in the game here between Tipton, Okla., and Quanah Gassers, in the second game of the Red River Valley league schedule.

Jimmy Cogdell, Quanah first baseman, running full speed after a foul ball, stumbled as he caught the ball, turned a somersault over the barbed wire fence and landed on his feet on the other side with the ball still in his hand. He was unhurt, but his uniform was badly torn.

HITTERS POUND STEER HURLERS

Home Boys Get 21 Blows; Murray Bounced

Showing almost perfect control, Stormy Fred Vincent pitched a five-hit game against the Dallas Steers at Athletic park yesterday afternoon, while his mates contributed perfect fielding and murderous hitting at the expense of three Dallas chunkers to register their largest margin of victory of the season. The score was 18 to 1 in favor of Hank Severeid's clan. The Spudders went "base-hit crazy," collecting 21 bingles off Murray, Garland and Whitehead, and finally, in the eighth inning, Manager Hap Morse of the Steers himself had to go to the mound to get the third Spudder out, after Whitehead had been slammed for five runs.

Robbed of Shutout

Vincent turned in one of the neatest pitching jobs ever seen at Athletic park, in contrast to the miserable showing of the visiting chunkers; and by rights the stormy one more than deserved a shutout. It was denied him in the eighth inning, however, when singles by Whitehead and Brower, with James' sacrifice sandwiched in between, drove in the lone Dallas tally.

The victory gave Wichita Falls its second consecutive win over the visitors, who close the three-game series here today.

Vincent, walking only two men during the entire game and blazing his high, hard fast one by the Dallas batters at a terrific rate, was seldom in danger, and when trouble threatened a hustling defensive department was right there to back him up.

Murray Blasted Out

Big George Murray, one of the aces of Hap Morse's pitching staff, started off with everything a pitcher needs, but lasted no longer than the last part of the third inning. In the first two frames he was deadly, holding the Spudders to a single hit in each round and receiving noble support from an infield that administered a double play in each frame. But in the third the home boys fell on him for four runs, and he retired from the scene—only to make room for worse brands of pitching.

Big Harry Green had a perfect day at bat, bagging three singles and two doubles in five official trips to the plate. In a sixth time at bat he drew a pass to first. Bob Fuss, who clouted the home run that saved the Spudders in the Steer game Monday, was close behind Green with four hits, three singles and a double, in six times up. Badgro of the Spudders and Jones of the visitors hit triples.

Starts Off Right

Vincent had the Steers out in order in the first on rolls to the infield, James grounding to Clift, Brower to Euller, and Loepp to Scharein. Euller made a fine recovery of Brower's grounder. In the last half, James, Steer second baseman, made a spectacular stop of Garms' hard-hit grounder after a sprint to his left, and nailed the runner at first. Scharein followed with a single to center but Fuss hit into a double play, short to first.

With one out in the second Bonura doubled to right, but Jones lifted to Badgro in left and Holman struck out to retire the side. The drama was repeated, with variations, in the home half when with one out Green lined a single past first only to be stranded when Owens hit into a double play, pitcher to second to first.

Murray Bounced Out

In the third Styles and Murray grounded out to Scharein and James rolled out to first, unassisted. In the last half the Spuds knocked Murray out and took a four-run lead. Euller and Clift singled in succession. Attempting to sacrifice, Vincent forced Euller at third, pitcher to third, Clift taking second. Garms forced Vincent at second, short to second, Clift taking third. Scharein scored Clift with a double to center, Garms hauling up at third. Fuss lined a single to left which Langford let go through him, both Garms and Scharein crossing the plate and Fuss stopping at third. Garland replaced Murray on the mound for Dallas and was promptly touched for a single by Badgro which scored Fuss. Badgro then stole second while Garland toyed with the ball, looking in the opposite direction. Green walked, but Owens forced Badgro at third, Holman unassisted, to finally retire the side.

Great Fielding

Brower walked to start the fourth but Loepp hit into a double play, Scharein to Clift to Green. Langford also walked but was forced at second by Bonura, Euller to Clift.

Garland mowed the home town boys down in order in the last half, Euller grounding to short and Clift and Vincent rolling to second.

Great fielding rescued Vincent in the fifth. Garms raced in to take Jones' fly to shallow center, Badgro caught Holman's high fly against the left field fence, and Scharein raced far back into left field to snare Styles' pop fly. In the last half the Spuds sent Garland to the showers and added to their lead. Garms led off with a grounded that bounced over James' head for a single. Scharein rolled out, second to first, Garms taking second. Fuss lined a single to left, scoring Garms, and came home himself when Badgro tripled to center. Green beat out a bunt to the box and Badgro scored. Owens beat out an infield hit to short. Whitehead relieved Garland. Euller reached first on the shortstop's boot to load the sacks. Holman then overthrew first after recovering Clift's hard grounder, and all three runners scored, Green, Owens and Euller. Clift himself stopped at third. Vincent fouled out to the catcher. Garms walked but Scharein grounded out, short to first, retiring the side.

Their Second Hit

With one out in the sixth, the Steers got their second hit of the game when James dropped a Texas leaguer behind short for a single, but Brower struck out and Loepp forced James at second, Clift unassisted. Fuss opened the home half with a single to center. A moment later Whitehead, trying to pick him off first, overthrew the bag and Fuss continued to third. Badgro walked. Green singled to right, scoring Fuss, Badgro taking second. Both Badgro and Green advanced on a wild pitch, and then scored when Owens poked a single between Holman's legs. Euller beat out a bunt toward first, Owens taking second, and Clift walked to load the bases. The Herd finally got somebody out when Vincent fanned. Garms also whiffed and Scharein rolled out to second to save Whitehead further trouble.

Jones Triples

With two out in the seventh, Jones tripled to left, but was stranded when Holman grounded out, Euller to Green. The Spuds were tamed in their half. With one out Badgro walked but was out stealing, pitcher to first to second. Green doubled against the right field wall, but Owens popped to James in short right.

Vincent's hopes for a shut out were spoiled in the eighth, when the Steers pushed over a tally. With one out, Whitehead beat out an easy roller to short, took second on James' sacrifice, and scored on Brower's sharp single to left. Loepp forced Brower at second, short to second to retire the side. The Spuds got busy again in their half. Euller walked. Clift flied to right. Vincent and Garms lined successive singles to left to load the bases. Scharein flied to right and there was no advance. Fuss doubled down the right field foul line, scoring Euller, Vincent and Garms. Green then doubled against the left field fence, scoring Fuss and Badgro. Manager Morse sent Whitehead to the showers and decided to pitch himself. With his first heave he hit Owens, forcing Green to second, but Euller forced Owens at second, short to second, to get his side out.

Vincent set the Herd down in order in the ninth, Langford rolling out to first unassisted, Bonura grounding out, short to first, and Jones striking out.

Rules for Annual Fishing Contest

1—The contest is open to any person, regardless of residence, age or sex.

2—Fish entered in the contest must be legally taken from Lake Wichita, Lake Kemp or Diversion lake. That is, fish caught in violation of state laws will not be considered, nor will fish taken from any water other than those specified herein.

3—The contest opens May 1 and closes at 6 p. m. Monday, May 2. No fish will be weighed in after the closing hour.

4—Fish may be weighed at any of the official stations at the three lakes, or in the lobby of The Times building.

5—Prizes are posted in two divisions, one for the crappie and one for the bass. Contestants may weigh fish in both divisions if they desire. A special prize for the largest carp has been posted by J. W. Lee, secretary of the Izaak Walton league.

6—Prizes will be awarded to the largest fish until all 29 prizes are distributed. The man taking the largest bass will have first choice of all prizes, the person with the second largest bass will have choice of the remaining articles, and so on until all prizes have been distributed. The same system will be followed in the crappie division.

Fish In Annual Contest Show Steady Increase In Weight, Review Reveals

It May Take a Whopper to Win First Prize This Year; 29 Awards Total $150 in Value for Anglers

If history repeats itself this year in the annual opening day fishing contest, it's going to take a bass weighing in the neighborhood of eight pounds to win the first prize in the contest and the title of champion bass angler of all Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

In a like manner, it will take a crappie weighing nearly three pounds to take first honors in that division.

You Can't Be Sure

Of course history isn't sure of repeating in this fishing business, so the angler who catches a bass or crappie of more than average size will be wise to weigh in his fish at one of the convenient official weighing stations. It might capture first honors.

A review of the fishing contest for the last three years shows a striking increase in the size and weight of both crappie and bass entered in the contest.

In 1929, Paul Hines captured first honors in the bass division with a fish weighing five and a half pounds. Clinton Gordon and O. V. Thompson of Burkburnett tied for the crappie honors with fish weighing one pound and seven ounces each.

In 1930, the fish were a little larger. J. W. Van landed a bass weighing five and three-quarters pounds at Lake Kemp to capture first honors in that division, a gain over the previous year of one quarter pound. In the crappie division, Roy Barnes and J. N. Tweedy tied for first honors in the crappie division with fish weighing one pound and seven ounces, a gain of three ounces.

Then came 1931, and the victory of a dusky cane-pole-and-minnow fisherman over the vaunted experts of this section. Jack Johnson of Goree landed a bass weighing seven and three-quarters pounds at Lake Kemp, or two pounds heavier than the prize winner of 1930. R. M. Mahoney of Wichita Falls, while trolling at Lake Kemp, landed a bass weighing five pounds and 10 ounces for second honors.

Big Crappie

L. J. Beauregard of Wichita Falls ran away with the crappie honors, landing a whopper of two pounds and eight ounces at Diversion lake, nearly a pound heavier than the first prize winner of the previous year. J. L. Howe of Burkburnett, who took second prize, landed a crappie weighing two pounds and three ounces to exceed the 1930 prize winner by nine ounces.

While it may take a record breaking fish to win first honors this year, the long list of 29 prizes valued at $150 assures a wide distribution of awards. A three and one-half or four pound bass may capture a valuable prize, just as in the past; and a crappie weighing less than a pound and a half may land in the money. The prize list follows:

YANKS BEAT SENATORS, 6-5

Victory Puts New Yorkers In Second Place

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—The Yankees squeezed out a 6-5 victory today over Washington in a stubborn battle. It was the first clash between these two pennant contenders and the outcome moved the New Yorkers into second place over the reluctant forms of their rivals.

It looked like a typical Yankee onslaught when Babe Ruth and company collected five runs and drove Al Crowder from the box in less than two innings. Thereafter a varied assortment of Washington flingers checked the local siege guns until the eighth inning.

Ruth was conspicuous in saving and then winning the game in this inning. First, with the bases full of Senators and none out, the Babe speared Joe Judge's drive to the right field barrier with a leaping catch. One run scored after the catch and the Senators tied the score subsequently on another outfield fly.

Then Ruth delivered the vital blow, a line single to the right field fence off Fred Marberry, Washington's fourth pitcher. Lyn Lary, who had walked for the fourth time, romped to third on the Ruthian wallop and scored the winning run on Lou Gehrig's infield out. Score:

RED SOX STOMP A'S

PHILADELPHIA, April 26. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, making their first appearance of the season here, displayed total disrespect for the pitching prowess of Lefty Grove today and pounded the Athletics' southpaw ace and his successor, Ed Rommel, for a 10 to 2 victory.

For the first five innings, the Sox couldn't get a hit off Grove, but they made up for the failure in the sixth when they bunched five of their 10 hits for six runs. They made another tally in the eighth off Rommel and three in the ninth when Earl Webb topped off proceedings with a home run with one on base.

Eddie Durham pitched the Red Sox to their third victory in 11 games this season. He gave the 1931 league champions only five hits and blanked them after the first inning. The defeat was Philadelphia's sixth in seven games. Score:

Same Causes of Flatulency

We frequently read of prominent people who die suddenly as a result of heart attack. If the true cause were stated, the news item would probably read: Mr.———, after partaking of a conglomerate mixture of foods, developed a sudden attack of flatulency and the gas pressure against his heart stopped its beating. Had he been able to avoid this gas formation, he probably would have lived many years longer even though his heart was chronically diseased." Flatulency, while not considered a disease, is a symptom which causes much distress and anxiety among patients and may indeed be dangerous in many cases. There is a small amount of gas present in the alimentary tract at all times—it is the excessive amount which causes painful symptoms.

Principal Causes

There are about four principal causes of flatulency: First, many people, without realizing it, swallow large quantities of air; second, through mixtures of alkalies and acids in the stomach and small intestines; third, through the fermentation of starches and sugars in the small intestines and colon; fourth, the use of certain foods which are in themselves gas-forming because of their peculiar composition.

As examples of these four causes let me cite the following:

First—I have examined many patients under the x-ray who, not having any gas in their stomachs, would begin belching. Immediately I could see them swallowing bubbles of air which soon filled their stomachs and caused unpleasant symptoms. This is simply a bad habit and must be corrected.

Second—About an hour after one eats a meal a large amount of hydrochloric acid has formed in the stomach. If at this time you swallow some alkali, such as soda, gas will immediately form the same as if you mix lemon juice and soda in a glass. A similar condition may occur when there is excessive amounts of digestive juices so that a large amount of hydrochloric acid and the alkaline bile become mixed. We know that the body tries to change the digestive fluids to meet the imposed requiremnts. For instance, if an excess of meat is used every day, the gastric juice gradually becomes more acid; if too many carbohydrates are used, the result will be the formation of more bile; if both too much meat and bread are used, there will be an excess of both gastric juice and bile—this will always produce excess intestinal gas.

Third—Many are familiar with the use of starches and sugars for making home brew. A similar condition may occur inside of the body. Starches, especially when cooked in a heavy layer of grease, are not completely digested by the digestive juices and starch fermentation will result, producing a large amount of gas. The combination of sugar and starch is also readily fermentable, and some foods, which are difficult to digest because they contain large amounts of cellulose or protein mixed with starch, will also result in a starch fermentation. Dried beans and peanuts are examples of this because they contain such a mixture of starch and protein. Green corn may cause flatulence in some people because the hard skin around the starch inside is not completely penetrated by the digestive juices and the starch begins to ferment. People with good digestive organs are not liable to this form of flatulence as those in whom the digestive juices are not sufficiently strong.

Fourth—Some people are especially sensitive to certain foods which, because of their chemical composition and structure, produce flatulence. The foods most frequently bringing on this condition in sensitive people are garlic, cabbage, onions, radishes, leeks, chives, peppers and turnips.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Killing T. B. Germs

Question—"Some Cautious Ones" write: "We would like to know if frost will kill tubercular germs. If not, what is the best disinfectant to use around a home where tubercular patients are. We understand that sunshine will kill this kind of germs. Does it need to be extreme heat?"

Answer—Frost does not kill tubercular germs, at least not the spores. No particular disinfectant is needed around a tubercular home except absolute cleanliness, using plenty of warm water and soap. It has been proven that the expired air of a consumptive is not infectious, but the danger of infection lies in the sputum; therefore, all sputum should be put in special receptacles and burned. Sunshine kills tubercular germs but it is not the heat as much as the actinic rays in the sunlight which do this.

Pimples on Back

Question—Miss Dolores B. asks: "Will you please tell me sometime through your health column what causes pimples on the back between the shoulders?

Answer—The back between the shoulders is frequently a site for pimples because of the numerous and large oil glands in that region. Careful scrubbing with soap and warm water twice a day should overcome this condition.

What Is Metabolism

Question—G writes: "I wish you would explain to me just what metabolism is."

Answer—Metabolism is a term used to cover the normal process of constructive and destructive changes in the cells.

Two Jap Detachments Set Out to Take Rebels

MUKDEN, April 26. (INS)—Newly formed Japanese detachments in north Manchuria were sent out today to round up rebel forces endangering the independent Manchurian regime headed by Henry Pu-Yi.

One detachment left Changchun this morning in the direction of Harbin while another peacefully occupied Shiktaohetsu on the eastern extension of the Chinese Eastern railway. Part of the Harbin garrison reached Imienpo and then proceeded toward Wuchimiho, where rebels are reported looting.

Another part of the Harbin garrison was sent to Fang Cheng, recently captured by insurgents after the withdrawal of exhausted Japanese troops. A detachment from Tunglaio is in pursuit of a band of rebels 40 miles distant.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—No material change was effected on fed steers, yearlings, heifers or mixed yearlings and prices were lined up on a generally steady basis with yesterday. Majority of good steers and yearlings moved at $5.00@5.75 with several loads of better grades at $6.00@7.25. Chicago secured 18.25 for strictly choice 1,267-pound beeves. Steady levels prevailed on stockers and feeders with a few sales on replacement steers listed at $4.25@5.85. Arrivals for the two days this week indicate a decrease of around 11,000 as compared with the same period last week.

Steady to 10c lower figures prevailed on hogs with Chicago scoring a top of $4.00 on best light weights.

Lambs were very uneven, some markets noting steady to 25c higher rates while others were steady to 25c lower. Wooled offerings ranged at $5.75@6.00 while clippers made $5.35@6.00. NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Interest in cotton today seemed to center on the first May notices, with an early advance on expectations that they would be promptly stopped, followed by reactions under a continuance of the May liquidation and reselling by early buyers.

July, after selling up to 6.24 early, broke to 6.15, in late trading and closed at 6.16, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 4 to 7 points.

According to trade estimates, notices representing 35,500 bales were issued against May contracts. There were rumors that some of the cotton would be taken up for shipment to Germany but they were not definitely confirmed, and while the trade seemed willing to buy May at about the prevailing differences, the continuance of near month liquidation caused some uncertainty in that respect.

Futures opened steady: May, 6.05; July, 6.22; Oct., 6.45; Dec., 6.62; Jan., 6.72; March, 6.87.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 26. (AP)—Today was notice day for May deliveries and that fact rather dominated cotton price fluctuations. Notices for 40,550 bales were issued here and the New York notices totaled 36,500. As the notices were considered large, May opened 4 points down and soon lost an additional point, but other months lost only 1 point. When it was understood the notices were being stopped, May rallied 7 points and other months 5 to 6 points but all the active positions lost 6 points during the afternoon. The close was steady showing net losses for the day of 4 to 5 points.

Port receipts 18,102, for week 35,620, for season 9,403,461; last season 8,684,764. Receipts 18,6284, for week 35,878, for season 7,251,908, last season 5,812,194. Markets Mark Time While Disclosures Of Washington Stock Query Awaited

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 26. (US)—Interest in stock and bond price movements continued at low ebb today although the share market experienced a modest rally on small volume during the course of the day. Transactions were again considerably below a million shares with attention largely concentrated on Washington disclosures most of the afternoon and on the U. S. Steel dividend meeting after the close.

The improved tone of the list reflected a drying up of selling pressure rather than any great inclination on the part of the speculative element to take a definite buying position at the moment.

Sentiment was helped quite materially by publication of a much more favorable car loadings statement than expected. This showed a gain in freight movement of close to 22,000 cars during the week of April 16, or twice the normal increase for the period.

The rail traffic report tended to bear out expectations of a delayed seasonal business advance extending into the month of May. Comparison with a year ago, however, showed the current total still materially below last year.

SUMMER TERM OPENS MAY 30

Faculty for Schools Named By Fillers

Plans are rapidly being formulated by the Wichita Falls board of education for the 1932 summer session of the public schools, opening May 30. The 1931-32 long session will close May 27. A number of inquiries from distant points have been received regarding Junior college summer courses, Supt. H. D. Fillers said Tuesday.

The summer session is operated without cost to the school system, depending entirely on tuition charges for operation, members of the board pointed out Tuesday. The summer term will offer work in the Junior college, senior and junior high schools and in elementary grades. All classes, with exception of the elementary grades, will be concentrated at the Junior college under direction of Principal A. K. Presson. The elementary grades will be taught at the Alamo building.

The short session staff includes the following instructors: Junior college, Eva Weber, English; B. T. Adams, mathematics; Mamie Raborn, history; R. O. Jonas, education; T. F. Richardson, chemistry; W. A. Mangum (if needed), education and mathematics. Senior high, Elfie Savage, English; W. J. Webb, mathematics; J. C. Mathis, history; Lona Betty Brown, Latin; Agnes Zihlman, Spanish; Elizabeth Brown, biology, Junior high, Annie Laurie Smith, English; Dudley M. Gordon, history; Fannye Vance, mathematics. Elementary, J. T. Rumdell, principal, fifth and sixth grades; and Helen Dubois, second, third and fourth grades.

Charges Filed In Theft Of Auto

John Stewart was bound over to the grand jury by Judge R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace, after a preliminary hearing held Tuesday afternoon on a charge of theft over $50. The defendant was placed under bond of $750 on each of two charges, the other being for burglary at night.

Alleged theft of a secondhand automobile last Saturday night resulted in the charges against Stewart, according to county officers. The car disappeared from its parking place on Pecan street late Saturday afternoon. Sheriff Perry Browning later received information that the stolen car was being kept in a garage behind a vacant house on the Henrietta road.

Deputy Sheriffs Pat Allen, Ben Howle and H. L. White went to the site Saturday night. Deputies Howle and White concealed themselves in the garage. Upon his appearance, the defendant and a 16-year-old boy with him were arrested. The boy was placed in charge of J. A. McDonald, county juvenile officer.

Jack Ballard represented the defendant in Tuesday's hearing. Stewart was held in jail pending perfection of bond.

Last Rites Held for Walter M. Schaefer

Funeral services for Walter M. Schafer, 50, were held from the Merkle Undertaking company chapel at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. H. C. Hoesch, First Evangelical church pastor, officiating, and with Dr. W. D. Bratton, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, assisting. Burial was in Riverside. Mr. Schafer died Sunday night at the family residence, 2415 Ninth.

Survivors are the widow; two children, Miss Florine and Harold Schafer; two sisters, Miss Tillie May Schafer of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Max Renas of Comanche, Okla., and a brother, Fred W. Schafer of Denver, Colo.

Five Wichitans Attend Fort Worth C-C Meet

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT "DOUBLE TOASTED"

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Introduce Many Improvements

Local grocers say that women are delighted with the extra crispness of the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. It is toasted on both top and bottom—not just one side.

The biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that retains the full food value of the whole wheat. This process likewise produces a delightful, tasty flavor and makes the biscuit easier to digest.

Another improvement Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits offer is a new and more convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. And you get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

As evidence of the high food value of the Kellogg biscuit, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies every package. Served with hot or cold milk or cream, these tempting biscuits bring a well-balanced variety of healthful food elements to any meal.

Local stores are featuring the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Ask your grocer about it. You can identify this improved cereal by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Causes And Cure Of Hay Fever Discussed At Shrine Luncheon

A description of determining causes and operation of cures for hay fever, asthma and similar diseases was presented by Dr. William Rosenblatt in an address before the Shrine Luncheon club at the Wichita club Tuesday.

Determination of causes of such maladies by skin tests and treatment of injections of increasing amounts of the matter causing the disease was detailed by the speaker. Entertainment at the luncheon included two violin solos by Alton Bedinghaus, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Crouch.

Noble Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls candidate for governor, made a brief humorous talk. Noble Mauldin, city manager of Munday, was introduced as a guest of the club by Dr. Walter B. Adams, president. Mr. Mauldin is potentate's aide at Munday.

Kiwanis Club First Organization To Make Reservation On C-C Special

Band to Accompany Wichita Delegation to West Texas Convention; 150 Expected to Board Train

The Kiwanis club of Wichita Falls was the first organization to sign an agreement to send a representative to the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention May 12-14, by action of the directors of the club in session Tuesday morning at the Wichita club.

The Kiwanis directors notified the Junior chamber of commerce to reserve one ticket for the club with the representative to be named later.

Open to All

Every citizen of Wichita Falls is invited to take part in the special train to Sweetwater. The occasion is not only a chamber of commerce event but is a community-wide opportunity to advertise the 50th anniversary celebration here, Sept. 26-28, Chairman Horrace Robbins of the "on to Sweetwater special train committee" said following a committee session Tuesday morning at the chamber of commerce offices at the Hamilton building.

W. R. Creamer and Paul Lacy, members of the Junior chamber of commerce committee on inter-city relations and goodwill delegations, were named by Mr. Robbins to select a committee of 25 young business men of Wichita Falls to direct the campaign. This committee will be selected in time for a meeting called at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and the sale of special train tickets will start immediately.

Wichita Falls has always had the largest delegation of any city represented at a convention of the regional chamber since its organization, and every effort will be made to continue that record in 1932. A minimum of 150 Wichitans is desired to make the trip to hold the record.

Importance of securing train tickets early in order to obtain desired locations in the special was stressed by Mr. Robbins. The special train to Sweetwater offers the public and business men of Wichita Falls an opportunity to forget themselves in three days of entertainment, to become better acquainted with each other and to advertise Wichita Falls.

Stops Arranged

Plans for the trip include stops in cities on the route on the return trip to issue general and specific invitations to attend the anniversary party in September. The Los Caballeros band directed by Paul Seeds, the official regional band, will accompany the delegation.

Rates for the trip were announced as $75 for a drawing room; $21 for a lower berth and $16.50 for an upper berth.

The committee in charge includes Mr. Robbins, C. H. Featherston, A. C. Estes, Grover Bullington, B. D. Donnell, P. B. Flynn, W. R. Creamer, Harold Story, Gerald Coffee, Morgan Gillum, Ray Hirschi, Dr. H. T. Wood, and Pat Hardage.

Jubilee Committee To Meet Wednesday

A meeting of the 50th anniversary celebration association subcommittee on registration of pioneers has been called at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the offices of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce at the Hamilton building. T. J. Waggoner Jr., is chairman of the committee.

The members include Mr. Waggoner, Joe Ward, vice chairman; Oral Jones, G. D. Anderson Jr., Bob McFall, Will Daniels, Anderson Kemp, W. T. Harris, Ben Williams, Phy Taylor, Joe Marlow, Joe B. Carrigan and Miss Kate Haynes.

Donnell to Speak at Optimist Luncheon

Leon Horn, recently-installed president of the Optimist club, will assume the gavel before that organization in its weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Wichita club, and B. D. Donnell of the Times Publishing company, will speak.

Mr. Donnell will present a resume of 25 years' experience in newspaper work, it was announced.

Committee appointments will be made by Mr. Horn in inaugurating the new year's work.

BOTTLED IN BARN

Stock of Liquor Labels Uncovered Here During Excavations

A wide variety of "bottled in the barn" liquor labels were uncovered in Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon by workmen at the site of the new football stadium. The labels filled a half-gallon fruit jar which had been buried for several years, according to its appearance at the police station. A supply of lead bottle caps bearing a Montreal, Canada, trade mark was included in the find.

The labels included government inspection stamps, importation blanks, labels of William Penn rye whisky, and two types of dry gin labels. The rye whisky label carried a statement that "this label is genuine only when printed on watermarked paper," but no sign of the watermark was visible.

SCHOOL TAXES DUE APRIL 30

Payments Lag Despite Crisis In Finances

With the final week for payment of school taxes passing, payments are far under what they should be, it was announced by the Wichita Falls board of education Tuesday. No check was available on the amount paid, however. The school taxes will become delinquent after midnight, Saturday, April 30.

Heavy payment of the school tax must be made to meet outstanding indebtedness of the system, including $96,000 for teachers' salaries for the last two months. The schools are facing a serious problem to complete operation for the current term, closing May 27.

In view of the situation the board acted last week to cut the budget for the 1932-33 session $130,000 under the current year's budget. Members of the board Tuesday expressed appreciation for activity of the chamber of commerce, service clubs, ministerial alliance and other groups in placing the matter before the public at all gatherings.

Death Claims Former Resident of Wichita

Mrs. Frank Lee, former resident of Wichita Falls, died at an Oklahoma City hospital Tuesday, according to word received by friends here. Mrs. Lee, before her marriage, was Nancy Joe Seay, daughter of Dr. Joe Seay, Iowa Park road. Funeral services will be held at Bonham, Texas Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

75 Given Work In Man-a-Block Drive

Seventy-five unemployed men of Wichita Falls have been furnished part-time employment through the "man-a-block" plan, sponsored by the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion, H. H. Bailey, in charge of the drive of the legion, said Tuesday.

The next 30 days will be a critical period for many of these 75 men and other unemployed persons. After that period the situation is expected to show a gradual easing up due to an increase in farm work and the approach of the harvest season, Mr. Bailey said.

Every item of extra work is an aid and all work that can be furnished now will help these men through a trying period, it was pointed out. Records of all applicants for work have been thoroughly investigated and they have been found willing and eager to work. Any type of yard, garden, repair or similar employment is desired for these men.

Mr. Bailey will furnish the labor by telephoning 6323, the U. S. department of labor employment service, 1003 Scott.
