More Yanks Land On Biak

Other Troops Pressing On; Japs Broaden Out In China

A RESURGENCE of Allied advances against by-passed Japanese in the southern Pacific was reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur a few hours after amphibious Japanese troops swept across Tungting lake in a growing central China offensive.

Reinforcements poured onto Biak island in the Schouten group where American infantrymen were halted temporarily by fixed enemy defenses. Two hundred miles eastward on New Guinea's coast, infantry patrols ran the number of Japanese dead in the Wakde-Sarmi sector up to 1,453.

Far to the southeast, Australian, pressing upon Alexishafen, closed tighter a vise on thousands of isolated Japanese. The Aussies advanced to Guru, midway between Alexishafen and the enemy strongpoint at Hansa Bay.

Bougainville Landing

On the long quiet Solomons front Allied amphibious troops made another landing on Bougainville island seven miles southeast of Torokina river in a sudden expansion of their Empress Augusta bay beachhead.

The Japanese amphibious action on the continent carried them into the heart of central China's rice bowl and and threatened the stronghold of Changsha from a third side.

The operation by-passed Changteh, scene of the bloodiest fighting in last fall's rice bowl battle. It represented a 35-mile advance for the western column of the massive three-pronged drive southward. It brought the three spearheads on an even line along a 100 mile front. Lesser gains were made by the main central force and the eastern flank.

Chinese Civilians Flee

Chinese women and children fled from Changsha yesterday before the threat of advancing Japanese armies which are taking control of more territory in central China than they are losing to the Allies in Southeast Asia and New Guinea.

However, American and Chinese infantrymen, slogging through the muddy Mogaung valley in North Burma, wiped out the Japanese garrison at Malakawang. They took over that enemy strong point preparatory to pushing on down the valley to the

ISLANDS BATTERED

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Guam, Wake, Truk and Ponape Islands, now in Japanese hands, have been bombed by United States planes, the Navy reported tonight.

The attack on Guam was made by Army planes on May 28. In the assault on Truk atoll on May 30, one fire was caused which was visible for 125 miles.

The Army also made the attack on Wake Island.

Enemy positions in the Marshalls were bombed May 30 and given a severe strafing by Navy and Marine planes. Anti-aircraft opposition in the various raids ranged from intense to meager.

Reds Lash Back, Kill 800 Nazis

18 Tanks And 15 Planes Destroyed

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, June 2—The Red Army, launching successful counter-attacks yesterday against the German drive north of Iasi in the Moldavian province of Romania, killed 800 Nazi soldiers and knocked out 18 tanks, Moscow announced early today as the battle went into its fourth day.

The broadcast Russian communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, indicated that the action was on a smaller scale than in the two previous days, saying that 18 German tanks and 15 planes were destroyed during the day.

Contrasting Reports

This contrasted with what the communique called "precise data" of the fighting May 30 and 31, in which 148 Germans tanks were declared disabled or destroyed and 197 planes shot down.

Berlin itself told in the German high command communique of "tough enemy resistance and fierce counter thrusts." A German propaganda broadcast also acknowledged that Soviet resistance had "stiffened considerably and said the Red Army was counter-attacking at some points to regain lost territory."

Fierce Nazi Blows

Russian dispatches from the front emphasized the ferocity of the Nazi attempts to throw back the Red Army from positions which might be used for the expected offensive toward the Danube and Ploesti oil fields.

Russian military commentators said that even through the fighting was violent, it was difficult to fit the action into any large strategic pattern, one adding that, in view of the enemy's losses, "the object of the attacks is difficult to surmise."

The Moscow communique stated there were no essential changes on other sectors of the front.

Navy Plans To Care For Invasion Injured

A UNITED STATES NAVAL BASE HOSPITAL IN ENGLAND, June 1. (AP)—Bluejackets wounded in the invasion of Europe will be returned here to the most modern medical facilities and some of the best surgical skill of the United States.

Staff members of this 1,000 bed hospital have spent tedious hours rehearing the necessities of speedy and effective treatment of patients. The staff consists of 45 doctors, 12 hospital corps officers, 100 Navy nurses and 400 hospital corpsmen, besides 185 maintenance men.

The hospital contains more than 100 wards and laboratories. The operating rooms can accommodate six patients at once. There is a splinter-proof surgery room deep in the building, as well as two others in outside structures. This practically guarantees that at least one or more of the rooms can be used even if bombs destroy the others.

The capacity of the institution can be expanded quickly to 1,500 beds.

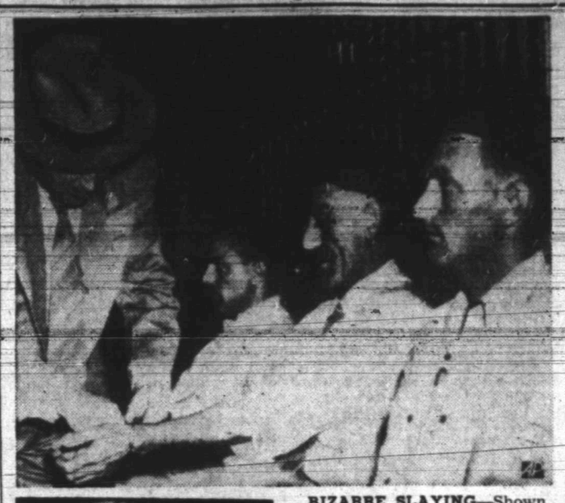

This hospital, taken over from the British, has been completely re-equipped under the direction of Capt. J. G. Brown, Philadelphia.

Patient In Hospital Reports $7,000 Loss

TULSA, June 1. (AP) — C. B. Laure, 77, a patient at a local hospital complained to police today that he had been robbed of $7,000 in currency while asleep last night. Laure said he had concealed the money in a piece of cloth wrapped around his leg and that it was gone when he awoke this morning.

Detectives Paul Livingston and Bob Cleveland said two nurses were being questioned and that all but $1,015 of the money had been recovered.

Fighting Heart Of 'Unconquered' Vet Is Stilled By Death

SHREVEPORT, June 1. (AP) — Death stilled today the fighting heart of Gen. O. R. Gellette, 99, reputedly last surviving commissioned officer of the Confederate Army, who during his life refused oath of allegiance to the United States because he considered the war between the states unfinished.

"We never lost," the white-mustached veteran explained. "The North outnumbered us. We whipped the hell out of those damned Yankees. I don't care what the books say."

Death came to him quietly today as he sat in the American Legion service office of Caddo parish courthouse. A heart attack was blamed.

Active to the end, Gellette in his 90's danced, ate sirloin steaks, drank beer and roared rebel sentiments. Enlisting as a private in the Second Mississippi regiment April 30, 1861, he rose to become a brigadier general at conclusion of the war. He served on the staff of Gen. Stonewall Jackson, and when Jackson was mortally wounded by a Confederate sentry at Chancellorsville, it was Gellette who helped carry him away.

He was a native of Iuka, Miss., and fought in 14 major battles including Gettysburg and Antietam without suffering serious wounds before being captured by Federal troops in North Carolina in April, 1865.

Attack Fatal To San Angelo Girl

SAN ANGELO, June 1. (AP) — Peggy Arnold, 20-year-old employe of the San Angelo Telephone company, died at a local hospital this afternoon from injuries received May 27 when she was attacked by a negro identified as a Peoria, Ill., soldier.

The public relations office at the San Angelo Army Air field said that new charges were being prepared and would be flown to Brig. Gen. Walter F. Kraus, commanding general at Randolph field, San Antonio, tomorrow. Information in the case was gathered by military authorities for the consideration of General Kraus and his associates, the announcement from the field said.

Was Waiting For Bus

Miss Arnold was attacked by a negro as she waited on a street corner for a bus Saturday night. She never regained consciousness.

District Attorney Robert Hughes said tonight that the 51st district grand jury, convening here Monday, would be asked to indict the negro for murder. Hughes had previously filed a charge of assault with intent to murder Miss Arnold against a negro soldier, identified by City and Military police as Sylvester Davis, 25, Peoria, Ill., and stationed at the San Angelo Army Air field.

Hughes said that he had made a formal demand to military authorities for custody of the negro.

Marine Charged With Killing El Paso Man

EL PASO, June 1. (AP) — Ray Brunisma, 18-year-old U. S. Marine, today was charged with murder in connection with the death of Deputy Sheriff Joe Cresap, 68.

Cresap died today as the result of head injuries received when he was bludgeoned by a man whom he had picked up on the highway near El Paso last night for investigation of personal papers.

Officers said the youth was arrested by deputy sheriffs today near El Paso when he came in from the desert for water.

Officers quoted Brunisma as saying he had been in the Marines three years and that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerka Brunisma, lived at Beaumont, Texas.

Gallup Poll Shows Public Ired By Strikes

Even Unionists Agree That Law Should Bar Stoppages

By GEORGE GALLUP, DIRECTOR
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 1 — With "wildcat" strikes in war industries showing a marked increase during recent weeks, a large majority of the American people—and of the members of labor unions—think there is need for legislation to stop all strikes in wartime.

GALLUP

The Connally-Smith act, passed over President Roosevelt's veto last year, makes it unlawful, after a plant has been seized by the government for any person to "coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with or encourage" any other person to strike. But the act does not make striking itself illegal.

To determine what the public thinks about the existing situation, the Institute put the following issue to a cross-section of the country, including a full compliment of labor union members.

"Do you think there is a need for a law to prevent strikes in war industries?"

YES	70%
NO	15
NO OPINION	15

Pair Break From Santa Fe Prison

SANTA FE, N. M., June 1. (AP) —Two dangerous life-term convicts who scaled the state prison wall under gunfire, apparently had evaded officers today, 24 hours after their break for freedom.

The pair, James Ernest Ray, 27, serving life for a murder conviction, and Robert McEachern, 23, under a life term as a habitual criminal, stacked sideboards from a brick truck in the yard, to scale the 22-foot wall late Wednesday, Warden John B. McManus reported.

Then armed with knives, the pair took a 1940 sedan from a taxi driver and drove off toward Santa Fe.

State Police Chief Frank Young reported that all roads had been blocked and officers alerted throughout New Mexico and in neighboring states.

Both fugitives were described as "dangerous" by officers. McEachern, before his conviction in New Mexico, escaped from the Texas prison farm where he had been serving a life sentence for murder.

POLICE NOT SURPRISED AT "THAT GUY" McEACHERN

Lubbock officers took news of the escape of Robert McEachern from the New Mexico state penitentiary with little evidence of surprise. "It's just what you can always expect of that guy," one observed.

"Slippery Bob," who grew up around Lubbock, just about lives up to his boast that no prison can hold him. He has broken several times from the Texas prison system and numerous jails, including Lubbock county's cooler.

When at liberty he steals cars one after another, and guns them over the country in the manner of Floyd, Hamilton and Barrow.

Extremely Dangerous

He is extremely dangerous, officials admit. Recently when at liberty in this section he figured in several burglaries and armed robberies, stole several automobiles and drove thousands of miles—popping up here and there to steal gasoline and guns and ammunition then being sighted next day hundreds of miles away.

Returned here recently after an arrest in New Mexico ended his latest break, colored motion pictures were taken of him and placed in the files of the Texas prison system.

He is under sentences totaling more than 400 years.

Air Assaults Reduced By Bad Weather

Heavy Formations Hit Three Bases

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 1.—Strong formations of medium bombers and fighters struck out across the English channel toward the French invasion coast late this afternoon after a heavy RAF night assault on three strategic French transportation centers.

The daylight raiders roared out in the direction of Boulogne and Dieppe, but the Ninth Tactical Air force announced only that Marauders, escorted by Thunderbolts, attacked military objectives "in northern France."

On Reduced Scale

Operations of the British Second Tactical Air force were on a reduced scale, but a number of offensive patrols were flown by fighters and in one a German plane was shot down by long-range Mustangs off the German island of Borkum.

RAF night raiders apparently maintained the offensive. Long after dusk the Berlin radio warned that "nuisance raiders are approaching western Germany.

Murky weather over the channel held the Allied daylight forces land-bound during the early part of the day but cleared in time for a series of flights against the Nazis' already well-battered tactical targets.

Battle Not Ended

The RAF opened the month of June with an attack which made it clear that the "battle of the railroads" had not ended. A strong force of about 500 night bombers dropped probably more than 2,200 tons of bombs on freight yards in Trappes, Tergnier and Saumur, centers vital to the Germans for routing supplies to their coastal armies.

Unspecified military objectives along the French coast also were hit in the nigt's operations, during which the RAF lost eight planes.

The British airmen spread out over a 200-mile front of interior France to hit the rail centers, rated as three of the biggest being used for supplying the German invasion front.

In another night operation, the Allied Mediterranean air forces sent out Liberators which bombed the railroad tow tracks alongside the Danube river's iron gate canal on the Romanian-Yugoslav border.

Unified Fight On Disease Is Urged

EL PASO, June 1. (AP)—Resolutions asking that a uniform method of suppressing prostitution be put into effect by Mexico along the United States border and recommending adoption of a proposal to take over abandoned Army bases for tuberculosis sanitariums were adopted today by the United States — Mexican Border Public Health association.

Dr. Federico Ortiz, Chihuahua, Mexico, health officer, was named president, replacing Dr. L. H. Howard, Tucson, Ariz. Dr. Ortiz, elected last year, will preside at the meeting next year.

Other Officers Named

V. M. Ehlers, Texas state sanitary engineer, was elected president-elect; Victor Ocampo Ilonzo, sanitation officer, Sonora, Mexico, second vice president; and A Baz Dresch, Juarez, officer in charge of maternity and child health.

Copies of the resolution on adoption of the plan submitted by Dr. George W. Cox, Texas health officer, to take over the Army bases for Tuberculosis hospitals are to be sent congressmen of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Other resolutions adopted asked appointment of a three-member committee to install a more uniform and accurate system of reporting typhus cases and an education program on the treatment of typhus and rodent control; establishment of uniform certification procedure by Mexico and the United States to expedite movement of food from Mexico; assignment by Pan-American sanitary bureau of at least one sanitation engineer to the El Paso office.

Marauder Completes Its 100th Mission

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—The Marauder bomber "Flak Bait" completed its 100th mission in the European theater today when a fleet of medium bombers attacked military targets in northern France.

The plane, piloted by Lt. Horace Rodgers of Marshall, Texas, is the third medium bomber to pass the century mark in operations.

LYNCHING REPORTED

STOCKHOLM, June 1. (AP)—A Berlin dispatch to the Stockholm Aftonbladet today reported three more alleged cases of American airmen being lynched by German civilians, two near Bremen, but there was no confirmation. The German press continued its "hate campaign" against Allied airmen, terming them "air huns, air bandits, and pleasure murderers."

Nazi Line Below Rome Pierced In Spectacular Blow

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, June 1—American troops in a spectacular, danger-fraught night time advance have pierced the Germans' powerful defense line before Rome, encircling the enemy stronghold of Velletri and capturing a towering ridge of the Alban hills from which they could see the dome of St. Peter's.

Without specific detail, a field dispatch filed at 8:25 p. m. said "American troops fighting in the Velletri sector of the Alban hills have made new gains tonight."

The original penetration was Wednesday night.

Troops Pressing On

A later dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Daniel De Luce with the Fifth Army said tonight that Velletri is "practically surrounded" and that the Fifth Army forces are pressing toward other objectives closer to Rome on Highway 7.

Kenneth Dixon, Associated Press field correspondent who accompanied the Yanks in a moonlit "sneak" onto 3,000-foot heights behind the Nazis' main defenses, said in a delayed dispatch:

"All day long soldiers have been delousing these heights, cleaning out snipers, machine-gunners and fluid enemy patrols which already are frantically trying to fight their way out of the trap. Already hundreds of prisoners have been taken and it looks from here like encircled Velletri is soon due to fall to Fifth Army troops."

Hint Town Abandonment

The German radio indicated today that Velletri already had been abandoned, but there was no official Allied confirmation.

The bitterly-resisting garrison of Velletri was caught between the doughboy raiders holding Monte Artemisio, two miles north and northwest of the town, and the main Allied striking force fighting its way into the tottering bastion from the south and east.

Between Velletri and Valmontone, another principal bulwark of the enemy's defense wall before the Eternal City, American troops had plunged almost two miles up the volcanic slopes and seized a point on Mount Peschio ridge, highest feature of the Alban hills. Both Yank spearheads were within 15 miles of Rome's ancient city wall.

Nazi Puppet Takes Over In Bulgaria

Pro-Axis Bagrianov Named Premier As Nazis Clamp Same Hold As In Hungary

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—Bulgaria apparently has been taken over by the Germans through a puppet regime in the same manner that they assumed control of Hungary last March.

A Transocean dispatch broadcast tonight by the Berlin radio announced the formation of a new Sofia government headed by Ivan Bagrianov, 53-year-old former minister of agriculture and one-time adjutant of the late King Boris, as premier and foreign minister.

Bagrianov, one of the most pro-Axis of Bulgaria's politicians, visited both Germany and Italy as minister of agriculture in 1941 and returned with a proposal that the Bulgar farm economy be placed completely under state control, as in Germany.

Rejection by Bogdan Philov's cabinet of his ideas of reform along Fascist lines led to his resignation Feb. 4, 1941, and he had since been out of the government.

The Transocean announcement lifted a silence which had cloaked Bulgaria since the resignation of Premier Dobri Bojilov's cabinet under pressure from Berlin to increase its war contribution and from Moscow to get out of the conflict or suffer the consequences.

Troops Pour In

Since Bojilov's fall last week, neutral reports have said the Germans poured troops into the country and took over command of the Bulgarian Army to integrate it into defense against the anticipated new Russian offensive. Dissident Army leaders were reported to have fled.

A Hungarian news agency broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors said that various decrees "concerning the organization of industrial production" were prepared and "shopping hours were fixed for Jews" by Premier Doeme Sztojay's Hungarian cabinet Thursday.

Farmer's Vow At Election Of FDR Finally Broken

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., June 1. (AP)—In 1932, Jesse James Struble, 58, a farmer living near Sumner, Ill., vowed he would neither shave nor cut his hair during President Roosevelt's entire administration.

Yesterday, however, Struble's horse kicked him in the face and attendants at the Gibson general hospital in Princeton, Ind., where he was taken for treatment insisted that the hair and beard be cut off.

Today Struble, suffering from bruises and a fractured jawbone, said although he had wanted to see his "vow" through, he was much cooler without the 12-year growth of hair and that he was glad to be rid of it.

Never in the county's history has it been legally wet.

General No Different To Other Dads

Tears Flow As Grave Of Son Lost On Namur Is Decorated

By MALCOLM R. JOHNSON
United Press Staff Writer

HEADQUARTERS, Fourth Marine Air Wing, Somewhere in the Marshalls, May 30. (Correct) —Tears welled from the eyes of a graying, dignified American general as he stopped before a white cross in the Marine cemetery on Namur island.

The inscription on the cross read:

"Capt. James L. Denig, USMC. Killed in action."

The grave was that of the officer's son. And the officer, Brig. Gen. Robert L. Denig, cried like any other American father who had lost his boy as he hung Hawaiian leis on the white cross.

In his grief, the general looked over the row upon row of white crosses in the cemetery. Nearby was the grave of Pfc. Stephen Hopkins, bashful son of Harry Hopkins. He had come ashore on Namur island Feb. 1, about the same time as Captain Denig. And he too, was killed in the first 24 hours of the ferocious assault.

"There's no distinction here," the general said. "Buried on either side of my son are Marine privates. A lieutenant colonel is buried nearby.

The lieutenant colonel was redheaded, jovial A. J. Dyess of Augusta, Ga., who died while leading a charge into a Japanase machine gun nest.

Denig's son was killed when a Japanese sniper jumped atop his tank during an assault through

Slav King Seeks New Government

LONDON, June 1. (AP) — King Peter of Yugoslavia staked his crown on a postwar plebiscite in appealing to his people today for unity while within the conutry Marshal Tito ordered his independent Partisan forces to strike at they enemy on the eve of the big Allied blow at Germany.

In a last-minute effort to heal the factional cleavage inside Yugoslavia, the young monarch is sending the veteran Dr. Iva Subasic, whom he commissioned to form a new government, to Bari, Italy, to meet representatives of Tito and Gen. Draja Mihailovic, commander of Yugoslav armies in the government headed by Dr. Bozidar puric.

Neither Leader Mentioned

Peter's appeal today mentioned neither Tito nor Mihailovic. Nominally the latt i still is commander of the Yugoslav Army, but Britain and Russia have flatly announced they recognized Tito as the chief military leader.

The 20-year-old Peter said Subasic would not name his new government until he had met all resistance elements.

(In Washington the Yugoslav embassy said it has received a message from London stating that the government of Puric had not yet submitted its resignation nor been relieved of its functions and that Yugoslav political leaders were conferring on the present situation.)

Transportation Crippled In Three Cities By Walkouts

(By The Associated Press)

Strikes crippled transportation in three cities yesterday.

Several hundred thousand residents of St. Louis were forced to travel by private automobiles, trucks and bicycles or on foot in the wake of a surprise walkout of 2,500 AFL bus and streetcar operators. The action was unauthorized, and Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann reported a union chief agreed to notify the men to return to their jobs.

Two hundred employes of the East St. Louis (Ill.) bus lines also left their posts.

Idle At Tampa, Fla.

Approximately 175 conductors, shopmen, and linemen stayed away from work in Tampa, Fla., demanding a signed contract. All but nine of the 100 street cars were out of service, but extra bus runs handled most of the normal trolley load.

The last major strike in war-busy Detroit was terminated when 1,900 workers who engaged in a nine-day strike at Parke, Davis and company, producer of medical supplies, voted to resume their tasks after hearing appeals of CIO union leaders.

The lumber and logging industry in the Pacific Northwest went back into partial production, although it was indicated a minority of about 15,000 men still were away from their jobs.

At Danville, Va., 2,500 textile workers were idle. A small percentage of them were out at the Riverside division of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills, where white spinners engaged in a wildcat strike to display opposition to employment of negro operatives. The others stood by at various textile plants because the supply of yarn was exhausted.

Strikes Unapproved

Approximately 200 office workers at the McCloskey and company shipyard in Tampa, Fla., left in an unauthorized walkout.

Strikes termed unapproved by CIO union executives continued at the American Seel and Wire company in Worcester, Mass., where 3,600 were affected, and at the American Car and Foundry works in Berwick Pa., where 1,000 were off duty.

AFL union officials representing employes of the Pennsylvania Greyhound Bus lines decided against a system-wide strike which would have disrupted service east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers. The union leaders also advised striking members of the Baltimore-Washington local to resume work.

Alfalfa Bill Opposes Change In His Books

TISHOMINGO, Okla., June 1. (U.P.) — Former Gov. William H. Murray said today he would destroy the manuscript of his history of Oklahoma if it is not published before he dies.

"I will tear it up before I will let it be revised," the 74-year-old, nearly blind former chief executive asserted.

He expressed doubt that the history, in three volumes, could be published unless the state purchased copies for school libraries. The set of three books would have to sell for $15, "and I don't think enough individuals would buy them to pay for the printing," he said.

Drama-Packed Fort Ringgold Abandoned By War Department

DALLAS, June 1. (AP)—Historic Fort Ringgold, which was established in 1848 on the Rio Grande river border between Mexico and Texas, has been declared a surplus installation by the War department, the Eighth Service command said today.

The fort, which is at Rio Grande City, Tex., is being transferred to the Southwestern Corps of Army Engineers for disposal, which could take one of several forms, such as a lease or sale, the command's public relations office explained.

Fort Ringgold, approximately 320 acres, was established Oct. 26, 1848, at what was Davis landing on the river, by Capt. J. H. LaMotte and was called Ringgold barracks.

Troops were withdrawn March 3, 1859, but the post was reoccupied in 1865 after the Civil war.

The installation was named in honor of Brevet Major David Ringgold, of the 4th U. S. artillery, who died of wounds received at Palo Alto May 8, 1846.

General Robert E. Lee, as an officer in the U. S. Army, spent some time there in 1856-60.

Present commander of the post is Maj. Marshal S. McDougal, who succeeded Lt. Col. Roy E. Keeling. Col. Keeling arrived in April as successor to Col. Ernest John, who commanded the post for two years.

Savings Are Pushed To Record Figure

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — War incomes have boosted savings in this country to the staggering total of $128,000,000,000 compared with peak pre-war savings of $10,000,000,000, a Commerce department official testified today.

But despite its enormous size, he told the House special postwar planning committee, this backlog of spending power is insufficient to maintain the national economy long without a healthy current income.

The witness, A. E. Taylor, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said that of the total $95,000,000,000 has been accumulated by individuals, largely in such liquid assets form as bank savings and war bonds.

He estimated the savings of non-financial corporations at slightly over $29,000,000,000.

Climbing Dysentery Rate Brings Warning

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP) — Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer today urged Texans to protect food from contamination and to follow strict sanitary measures to forestall a possible outbreak of dysentery in epidemic proportions.

These measures were advised since dysentery cases, for the week ending May 20, were four times higher than the seven-year median.

Excessive Rainfall Damages Crops And Delays Field Work

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP) — Excessive rainfall damaged some Texas crops and delayed field work in the eastern half of the state but conditions were more favorable elsewhere in the week ended May 29, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

General rains relieved drouth conditions in the low rolling plains, the south half of the high plains and the Rio Grande plains. Supplies of irrigation water were replenished in the lower Rio Grande valley.

Wheat prospects were further improved in the principal producing counties of northwest Texas by the timely week-end rains.

Corn did not make good progress through much of the state. Excessive rains retarded growth and resulted in damage and loss in lowlands through the central and eastern parts of the state. Rains the latter part of the week saved or improved many fields in extreme South Texas.

Conditions were mostly unfavorable for cotton due to continued rain and cool weather. Planting was further delayed in south central, central and eastern areas, and the planted portion was getting grassy. Moisture conditions improved in dry areas of northwest Texas. Early cotton in South Texas ranged from half grown bolls in the valley to the blooming stage in the coastal bend. Flea hoppers were causing some damage in the early counties.

Mid-season and late commercial vegetable crops were delayed by additional rains in many areas that were already too wet.

East Texas tomatoes, potatoes and mid-season cantaloupes and watermelons were affected.

Livestock were in generally good condition, and range feed and pasturage continued to improve over much of the state. The principal exception was the dry Pecos-El Paso area which received only scattered rains during the week and was very short on range and other feed supplies.

Hearing Is Set For Soldier Who Claims Illegal Induction

DALLAS, June 1. (AP)—Assistant U. S. District Attorney Clyde Hood said today a habeas corpus hearing had been set for June 28 in the case of a Camp Barkeley (Abilene) soldier who contends he was inducted illegally into the Army.

The plaintiff, George M. Mayborn, 22, member of a religious sect, in a petition to federal court, said he was held in a Camp Barkeley guardhouse. He contended his induction was illegal because he did not take the oath of allegiance and because he was falsely classified by his draft board in Oregon.

The hearing will be before Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson. Brig. Gen. Roy C. Heflebower, commanding officer of the Army service forces training center at Barkeley, is to show cause why the plaintiff must remain in the Army.

Archbishop Suggests Religion In Schools

DENVER, June 1. (U.P.) — The fact that religion is not and cannot be taught in the public schools of the nation is a major cause of juvenile delinquency and irreligion among youth.

That was the opinion today of the Most Rev. Edwin V. Byrne, archbishop of Santa Fe, N. M., who spoke in Denver last night at graduation exercises of Loretto Heights college.

The archbishop, who is one of the Catholic church's youngest high prelates, suggested that after-school periods be set aside in public schools throughout the nation for the purpose of instructing students in religion. He added that the plan had been successfully attempted in several states.

Thre major reasons were advanced by Archbishop Byrne as the reason for the nation's lack of religious belief. The first, he said, is lack of religious instruction in schools; next is irreligious literature, and finally, motion pictures which spread irreligion and immoral examples.

Before being given his present position last year, Archbishop Byrne was bishop of Puerto Rico. Before then, he was secretary to the Catholic vicar of the Philippines for several years.

Airborne Troops To Play Deciding Role In War, Officer Declares

SEDALIA ARMY AIR FIELD, Mo., June 1. (AP)—Col. Jerome B. McCauley, 39, Texan and commandant of the troop carrier command's Sedalia Army Air field, says "airborne troops will play the deciding role in winning the war."

The public relations office of his command quotes him as saying "airborne troops carry the necessary elements of surprise and mobility for victory. Our troops are receiving specialized training and in addition are hardened for combat on the ground."

McCauley is the son of Rev. J. H. McCauley, Denton. His wife is the former Catherine N. Georges of San Antonio.

A soldier since 1923, McCauley worked up from the ranks from private to colonel. He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross and has seen service in American and European-African-Middle Eastern theaters.

Cotton Still "King" Of Texas Crops—Cox

AUSTIN, June 1. (U.P.)—Cotton still is "King" of crops in Texas in the view of Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas economist, but he advised farmers to round out their activities with supplementary enterprises.

These enterprises, he said, should be the type best suited for the particular locality and economic conditions to round out the farm program.

Cotton was kept on the crop pedestal as "Texas' most productive and surest major crop." Because of its high value of both lind and seed, Cox said it had the production value of two ordinary crops in a farming system.

"Mechanical harvesting of cotton," Cox said, "now seems assured and will greatly enhance the value of cotton in farming systems in Texas."

Most Meats To Continue On Unrationed Lists For June

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — All meats now ration-free will continue so during the period through July 1, the Office of Price administration said today in announcing these principal changes, effective Sunday, in the point values on other commodities:

Canned carrots, orange juice, grapefruit juice and blended orange and grapefruit juice are added to the long list of point-free processed foods.

Cheese Products Reduced

All varieties of cheese and cheese products are reduced two points a pound to a new value of 10 points.

The ration cost of canned evaporated and condensed milk is halved, dropping from one point for a pound to a half point.

The only increases ordered are for pineapple juice, up three points to 15 for a No. 2 can, and grape juice, boosted four points to 10 for a pint container.

Butter stays at 12 points a pound and margarine at two points.

Choice beef steaks and roasts continue to be the only meat cuts requiring ration stamps. Values are unchanged with one exception: chuck steaks and roasts are cut two points a pound. Flank steak remains point-free.

More Plentiful Supply

Beef, veal, lamb, mutton and variety meats will be in more plentiful supply in the new period. Pork, while still coming to market in amounts exceeding demand, will fall slightly in volume.

The point increase for pineapple juice and grape juice reflects short supply and too rapid movement into consumption. Slow movement, on the other hand, brought the addition of carrots to the list of point-free canned vegetables. Carrots go to a zero rating from three points for a No. 2 can.

Citrus Juices Plentiful

In making citrus juices available without ration stamps, OPA said the supply this season was larger than had been expected and that the new pack was about a month ahead of schedule.

Current values, eliminated beginning Sunday, are three points for a No. 2 can of orange juice, one point for a No. 2 can of grapefruit juice, and three points for a No. 2 can of blended orange and grapefruit juice.

Drafting Of Some Women Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — Drafting of single, unemployed women between 20 and 35 into the armed forces was proposed in legislation introduced today by Rep. Celler (D.-NY).

With 590,000 single women in the country between 20 and 35 who are neither employed nor seeking work," Celler said in an accompanying statement, "no reason whatsoever exists why the women's branches of the armed services must go begging for recruits."

Dr. Pettey Re-Elected Head Of Optometrists

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP)—Dr. W. A. Pettey of Lubbock was re-elected president of the Texas Optometric association, inc., at a concluding convention session here.

Dr. O. R. Young of Texarkana was elected as a new member of the board of directors and Dr. R. F. Pray, jr., of Beaumont was re-elected to the directorate.

FRANCO DENOUNCED

MOSCOW, June 1. (U.P.) — The Soviet Army organ Red Star denounced Gen. Francisco Franco of Spain today, charging that his "courtship of the Allies" was a perfidious maneuver which "cannot save him, because the Spanish people will have the final word."

Death Rates In U.S. Still Low

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Death rates in the United States, while up slightly as a result of the war, still are below those for any year prior to the 1930s and last year were about 33 per cent under those of 1900, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

Greatest improvement since the turn of the century, the institute said, was in younger groups although chances of living longer were better for all ages.

Death rates per thousand population, estimated from life insurance company mortality experience, were:

	1943	1900
Under 15	4.95	20.1
15 to 24	2.6	5.9
25 to 34	2.9	8.2
35 to 44	4.5	10.2
45 to 54	8.9	15.0

Before the war, Bulgaria supplied 15 per cent of Germany's chromium imports.

More War Bonds Are Redeemed In May

WASHINGTON, June 1. (U.P.)—More war bonds were redeemed in May than in any month since they were first offered for sale, the Treasury statement showed today.

For the month through May 30, $713,807,992 of series E bonds were sold and $271,714,318 were cashed in or 38 per cent of sales for the period. May 31 redemptions, when reported, probably will make the month total about $280,000,000.

Previously monthly record for redemptions was in March when tax payments caused many people to turn in their bonds and $268,000,000 were redeemed.

Former Commander At Hood Given DSM

CAMP HOOD, June 1. (U.P.) — Development of the Camp Hood tank destroyer center as its commander during the days of its spectacular development today had earned the Distinguished Service Medal for Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, Camp Hood authorities disclosed.

The award of the DSM, as well as that of the Legion of Merit for the Texas general's service in connection with the G-3 division of the War department general staff, was made somewhere in the Pacific where Bruce commands an infantry division.

Records Reveal No Labor Surplus Here

Lubbock is no longer listed with the War Manpower commission as having a surplus of labor, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington Thursday.

This action was attributed, at the chamber of commerce, to a recent campaign which urged those in need of labor of any kind to report their needs to the U. S. Employment services offices here This was advised so that the monthly reports of the employment would show the labor needed in the community.

Officials of the agency had said that the failure of many employers to report their needs resulted in monthly reports indicating a labor surplus in Lubbock. This, in turn, it was explained, caused representatives of out-of-town industries to come here to attempt to recruit labor.

Settle, Kuykendall Speak For Kiwanis

J. Doyle Settle, district rationing executive of the Office of Price administration, and G. P. Kuykendall, were speakers at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club Thursday noon in the Lubbock hotel.

Settle reported on the passenger and truck tire situation as well as the gasoline situation as it exists today.

Kuykendall spoke on the program instituted last week for the eradication of Johnson grass in Lubbock county. A resolution was read and adopted to the effect that the club would cooperate in the county-wide program.

Julius Johnson introduced both speakers. Presiding at the luncheon was T. E. Buckner, club president.

GREENERY — Wilted lettuce sounded soggy, but after we learned to prepare it at a friend's suggestion, we liked it. Here's how:

Chop up some fried crisp bacon, remove from its grease, pour 1-4 cup vinegar, tablespoon of sugar, salt and pepper into the bacon grease, put bacon back into mixture and stir all together. Pour while hot over shredded lettuce.

SHREWD ADVICE

THERE are 115 girls registered in the division of commerce at Texas Technological college this summer and along with their courses on shorthand, typing and accounting they will be given sound counsel by Dean J. O. Ellsworth. You see Dean Ellsworth recognizes the need for trained secretaries in the business world; he also knows that the majority of those young women will not follow a business career after graduation, indeed if at all. So the students are urged to take courses in home economics to fit themselves for a career of being wives and mothers.

• • •

The future of our country is doomed if young women don't choose a career of marriage based upon the very principles on which our nation was founded, Dean Ellsworth maintains.

• • •

IN EXPRESSING this idea at a dinner meeting of the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club recently, the genial dean brought fire. One of the points brought out in his lecture was that women formed the club and carried on its projects purely as secondary choice in their lives.

He suggested to the members that their club was meeting an emergency caused by war breaking up so many homes. Naturally, (and he praised them for their ambitions to help in their country's crisis) women have come to the front in the business world.

But the Tech dean thinks women should put thoughts of establishing a home ahead of any other dreams. And that's what those Tech students will be told during their summer classes.

"If they would freely express themselves I believe that 99 women out of 100 would prefer a home to a business career," Dean Ellsworth said Thursday afternoon when we were discussing it. "To my mind men can accomplish most of the successes that women have accomplished in business but there is one thing that no man can do and that is to make a home. That is truly a feminine task and I bow in humility to the woman who sees this and puts her heart and soul into it."

• • •

WELL, what's wrong with that statement? It seems like sound philosophy to the Woman's Angle. Looking around the town and beginning with our office, we could think of few women who would hesitate if offered the choice between a job and an opportunity to keep house for a solid American when peace returns. Those who gave up their jobs and went back to housekeeping after the help question became so desperate seem to have no regrets.

It seems to boil down to this: If women can successfully maintain both homes and careers, power to them. If not, keep the home as your main interest and let the men run the jobs.

DEL RIO, June 1. (AP)—One minute of each day, from 11 to 11:01 a. m. has been set aside here for prayer for the success and protection of our armed forces.

Mayor Frank Walton issued a proclamation to that effect, for the duration of the war.

Long Trip Through Pacific No Cook's Tour, Says Photog

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP) — Home with his wife and daughter today, Associated Press Pulitzer Prize-Winning Photographer Frank Filan was ready to concede his 30,000-mile jaunt through the Pacific war theater was no cook's tour.

His narrowest escape in that 30,000 miles, he related, came during the landing at Parry island, when a Marine 30 feet ahead of him stepped on a land mine.

"He just disappeared," said Filan.

But the trip had its hilarious moments, too, among them the disenthronement of the king and queen of Majure island by a Navy captain. After stripping the couple of authority invested by the Japs, the captain restored their throne with the blessings of the United States government, and passed out stars for the king to pin on his policemen, Filan recounted.

Filan won the Pulitzer prize for a photo taken on Tarawa in the Gilberts, showing a Jap pillbox around which were strewn the bodies of enemy dead. He also accompanied landings in the Marshalls.

It took 100,000 slaves 30 years to build the great pyramid of Giza.

X-Ray Diagnosis Of Tuberculosis Made On 35-Millimeter Film

EL PASO, June 1. (AP)—Use of the 35-millimeter film in X-ray diagnosis of tuberculosis has brought this method within reach of many institutions which heretofore found use of a larger film too expensive, Dr. Herman E. Pilleboe, senior surgeon in charge of the tuberculosis control section of the United States Public Health service, said today.

Dr. Pilleboe spoke at the final session of the three-day United States-Mexican border public health service conference, which held alternate meetings at El Paso and Juarez, Mexico.

Heavy Rains "Make" Lower Texas Crops

McALLEN, Tex., June 1. (AP) — The largest cotton crop lower Rio Grande valley farmers have planted in years is "made," growers said today, as the result of the heaviest rains the lower Texas border has received since last fall.

The downpours, early in the week, ranged from one and two inches at some points to six at others and will be sufficient to see the cotton crop to maturity without further irrigation, grower reports indicated.

The crop has been making excellent progress in spite of a fairly heavy infestation of boll weevils, pink bollworms and flea hoppers. It totals about 285,000 acres, according to present estimates.

FSA And School Lunch Program Get Approval

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — The House voted today in favor of continuing the federal school lunch program and the Farm Security administration for one year.

Over Three Million Yanks In Uniform Outside U. S.

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The "period of decisive action," against the Axis powers is at hand, Secretary of War Stimson asserted today, with nearly half the Army's total strength in action against the enemy or poised in combat zones for new offensives.

Disclosing the 3,657,000 soldiers are now deployed outside continental United States, Stimson told a news conference the overseas strength of air and service forces is virtually at its peak, while the movement of ground troops—more than half of which already are overseas—is increasing at a rate which will lift the overseas deployment total to more than 5,000,000 men by the year's end.

Mostly Against Germany

Indicating that the greater part of this huge force is concentrated against Germany, Stimson said developments will make it necessary to shift portions of the overseas strength from one part of the world to another as the Allied grand strategy unfolds.

Minutely detailed plans of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff have governed the troop movements, he said, beginning with the decision on the size of the Army—7,700,000 men—and the order of its use to implement the strategic decisions of the Allies.

"It was essential," the secretary explained, "that Army Service forces and Army Air forces should be given priority on shipping in the early stages of the war, when the problems were stabilizing our lines and striking outer defenses of the enemy."

Established Bases

It was essential also, he said, to establish the bases from which the ground troops would launch the culminating campaigns—"these bases have now been established, and shipping is available to transport the ground forces."

The size of the troop deployment task "baffles the imagination," Stimson said. The present overseas strength of the Army exceeds the peak World war overseas force by 1,571,000, and is only 400,000 short of the entire strength of the Army in November, 1918.

The air forces, he said, have nearly half their total of 2,357,000 men and more than half of their 34,000 combat planes already overseas, forming "the world's most formidable aerial striking force in point of size and fire power."

Stimson also disclosed that American Army casualties in Italy through May 27 were 9,686 killed, 36,910 wounded and 8,554 missing.

It Was Merry Month Of May For Sheepmen

FORT WORTH, June 1. (AP)—The month of May was a merry, merry one for the sheepmen of Texas as clearing skies enabled heavy movement of sheep and lambs to be resumed to Fort Worth. Final market day of the month saw 36,000 sheep and lambs arrive, a total which boosted arrivals for the month to 603,220 sheep and lambs. The extraordinary run funnelled more than $4,644,794 into pockets of sheep raisers in the 27 marketing days during the period, an average of $172,029 per day.

Salesmen estimated the average sheep during the month brought the growers $7.70, ranging in kind from culls to choice spring lambs. However, more than 80 per cent of the receipts during the month were yearling lambs.

Transportation men and salesmen at the market estimate large numbers of the yearling lambs will continue to flow into the market for two weeks or longer.

Recent rains over the sheep sections of the state have left ranges in ideal condition.

Farm Bureau Has 7-Point Program

CHICAGO, June 1. (U.P.)—The board of directors of the American Farm Bureau federation today adopted a seven-point program designed to alleviate feed and livestock difficulties which farmers and livestock men have experienced in recent months.

The program:

1. A ceiling price of corn of not less than parity price on the farm.

Revision Of Classifications

2. Revision of the price classification of cattle to bring about a fairer relationship between finished cattle and the lower grades.

3. A congressional investigation, if necessary, to correct abuses of practices of purchasers of cattle for slaughter.

4. A long range study of marketing problems with a view to finding new methods of regulation which will give farmers full value for their livestock and a fair share of the consumer's dollar.

Meeting Is Proposed

5. A meeting within a month by producers and feeders for discussion of mutual problems.

6. Government permission to utilize feed in national parks and monuments for cattle and sheep should the feed situation warrant such action.

7. A meeting of swine producers, to be held after the spring pig survey has been released, to consider hog price floors and ceilings.

King Takes Scurry County Agent Post

Raymond L. King, who has been assistant county agricultural agent here tince March 1, 1944, has been transferred to Scurry county as county agent, effective June 1, according to an announcement from the office of County Judge G. V. Pardue.

King, a graduate of Floydada High school and Texas Technological college, was vocational agriculture teacher in the Littlefield schools prior to coming to Lubbock. He left for Snyder Thursday morning. His wife and baby daughter will remain here for the time being, he said.

K. J. Edwards, district agricultural agent, said Thursday morning that a replacement here had not been made, but added that several applicants for the position had been interviewed and an appointment could be expected within a short time.

Praising the work of King with 4-H club boys of the county, Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county agent, said "the fact that he is being promoted after serving only three months in the extension service is evidence that his work here was highly satisfactory."

Group To Recommend Independence Of REA

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—A Senate subcommittee's six-months inquiry into the affairs of the Rural Electrification administration came to an end today with Acting Chairman Shipstead (R-Minn) declaring the group would recommend that the agency be divorced from the department of agriculture and given independent status.

Shipstead said subcommittee members were agreed that the REA should have independent rank "so everyone would know who was boss—who was running the show."

The agency was made a bureau of the agriculture department by the reorganization act of 1939. Originally it was independent.

ENCAMPMENTS SCHEDULED

HOUSTON, June 1 (AP)—The 30th annual encampment of the department of Texas United Spanish War veterans and the 19th annual encampment of Woman's auxiliary United Spanish War veterans will be held here Tuesday through Thursday.

"The Tyrants' War" Is Name Suggested By Semi-Invalid

WASHINGTON, June 1. (U.P.)—J. N. Snyder, who spends most of his time in his Murfreeboro, Tenn., home, reading and listening to the radio because he is a semi-invalid, was identified by the White House today as the author of "The Tyrants' War," the name for the present conflict favored by President Roosevelt.

The story began more than a year ago when the President quarreled with the idea of calling this "The Second World War" and asked for suggestions for a more accurate, descriptive title.

Letters poured into the White House by the thousands and at one stage the President tentatively chose "The War Of Survival." Recently, however, Snyder wrote Mr. Roosevelt his suggestion, which the chief executive said at his press conference yesterday came very close to being the best yet.

Snyder said he found that 90 per cent of the time world leaders, when they referred to the war, used one of these expressions: tyrant-tyranny, Agressor-aggression or opressor-opression.

The famous LVT boats used in the South Pacific are actually tanks that can swim, and are equipped with revolving turret and a 37-mm. cannon that can fire from any position.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Spence Ties Major Record As Senators Blast Browns

* * *

Cardinals Win Over Boston, Even Series

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns were walloped by the Washington Senators today, 11 to 5, but came up happy in defeat because they took over first place in the American League by two percentage points from the New York Yankees.

The slumping world champions slipped out of a tie for the lead by losing again to the Detroit Tigers.

Stan Spence tied a major league record by pounding out six hits in six times at bat, one a home run.

Every member of the team participated in the 20-hit assault, with Jake Powell hammering out a triple and three singles for runner-up honors to Spence.

Mark Christman and Mike Kreevich belted home runs for the Browns, who collected a total of 13 hits off Wilfrid Lefebvre but couldn't offset the ineffectiveness of their own pitching.

Pensive Seeks Turf Triple Crown Honors

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Pensive, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, will be the favorite to complete the turf's triple crown in the $50,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday but at least five other three-year-olds intend to give Warren Wright's chestnut an argument.

Chief among the quintet who'll attempt to match strides with the son of Hyperion in the 76th running of the mile and one half classic is George D. Widener's combination of Platter and Who Goes There.

Neither Pensive nor Platter has faced the barrier since the Preakness.

While the two favorites were morning workouts, Who Goes There, aptly named son of Challenger 2nd and After Dark, jumped into the picture by scoring an easy triumph in the Withers mile. A shift in rides is expected to place Johnny Longden, contract rider for Widener, on Who Goes There and Eddie Arcaro on Platter. Conn McCreary again will ride Pensive.

William Ziegler, jr.'s, Bounding Home, Crispin Oglebay's Boy Knight and Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Free Lance are expected to complete the field.

If Pensive comes through he'll be the seventh horse to win the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

Skipper Shows Results By Toil

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP)—Ulysses (Tony) Lupien, jr., who prepared at Harvard for a baseball career, is doing post-graduate work under Professor Freddy Fitzsimmons — and it looks as though he'll get better than a passing grade.

That is, if Fat Freddy's arm holds out.

"I pitched 45 minutes to Lupien," the Phillies manager confessed today when sports writers noticed the elbow of his pitching arm badly swollen. "That's too long for me."

The end—getting Tony out of the habit of popping flies when he should be clouting base hits—appeared to be justifying the means, however.

Lupien, whose batting average skidded from .290 on May 20 to .250 or thereabouts in the past week, hit one for two yesterday and two for four today. He expressed confidence that his bat would behave properly in the future.

The former Boston Red Sox infielder went to Fitzsimmons for coaching after a new low of three consecutive pop-ups Memorial day.

"I had a good chance to watch him because I was pitching," Freddy explained. "The first thing I noticed was that he was dropping his left shoulder. When his shoulder goes down, his bat does down. That's why he was hitting under the ball. Now he is swinging perfectly and hitting the fence often. Watch him from now on. I think he'll do better."

If the Phillies are going to get out of seventh place, he'd better.

Baseball Season Opens For Junior Teams Here Monday

David Coursey's Sears and Roebuck nine and Bill Cope's Hemphill Wells will launch the National League race, while the A.B.C. and J.C.C. nines open the American League pennant scramble, Monday evening at Chapman Field and Texas Tech, respectively.

This starting assignment was announced Thursday night after a meeting at the American Legion Hall where schedules were adopted for the two leagues, and it was agreed to call the older boys league the National League and the younger boys the American League.

Play Twice A Week

The National League will play on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The American League will play on each of those days with two games played on Friday. This schedule will afford each team two games per week, and will schedule a game for both league fields each afternoon during the week except Saturday and Sunday.

It was also agreed at the meeting that a team could start the game with eight players if all their team were not on hand at starting time. The games are scheduled to start at 6:15 p. m. and will be forfeited if a team is not ready to play at 6:30. All games will be seven innings with four complete innings constituting a game if called before completed.

Opening Schedule

The complete schedule for the National League for next week will be:

Sears and Roebuck vs Hemphill-Wells on Monday; West Texas Gas vs. Montgomery Ward on Tuesday; Sears and Roebuck vs. West Texas Gas on Wednesday; Hemphill-Wells vs Montgomery Ward on Thursday. All games will be played at Chapman Field.

The American League schedule for next week will be:

JCC vs ABC on Monday; Rotary vs Kiwanis on Tuesday; Optimist vs Lions on Wednesday; ABC vs Rotary on Thursday; JCC and Lions on Friday, and Kiwanis vs Optimist on Friday. All will play at Tech field, except the Friday Kiwanis-Optimist game which will be played on Chapman field.

The American League schedule will run through July 7 for the first half of the season while the National League first half will close on July 13.

All-Star games will be scheduled at the end of the first half races, but no final plans on these games have been adopted.

H. J. McCabe was named as Umpire in Chief for the league, and will see that umpires are on hand for all games. Burton Adams and Dutch Cleavinger were named as umpires Thursday night, and will have full control of the games once they have started.

Umpires are being paid and equipment furnished by the City Recreation Department, plus the gift of catching equipment given to the two leagues by Sam Rosenthal, president of the Lubbock Hubbers club of the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Physical Ed Tutors Get Draft Deferment

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP) — R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Interscholastic league, said today 200 male physical training teachers in 141 Texas high schools who faced possible induction will be deferred under a selective service ruling.

The men are those in the 30-37 years bracket, with dependents. The league recently polled member schools to determine the number in this bracket.

An inquiry to selective service headquarters with evidence indicating the nature of their duties brought from selective service headquarters a reply that memorandum 115 provides for placing or continuing in 2-A classification men between the ages of 30 and 37 if they have dependents.

Kidd said:

"Schools asking for further deferment of physical training teachers in this category should call this directive to the attention of local draft boards."

More than 400 of the schools replying to league questionnaries said they had no physical training teachers in this category which Kidd interpreted as an indication that the manpower shortage in physical training teachers is acute.

Crozier Tech Beats Highland Park, 6-5

DALLAS, June 1. (AP)—Crozier Technical High school (Dallas) Wolves tonight defeated the Highland Park nine, 6 to 5, in the state high school baseball tournament.

Another game scheduled between Austin and Nocona High schools was not played.

Adamson High (Dallas) meets the St. Thomas (Houston) nine at 7 p. m. tomorrow to continue the high school championship series.

Wildhorse Set For Big Series

NEW YORK, May 31. (U.P.)—It is a little early to sound an October storm warning but if any American league pennant aspirants are listening, they are going to have to contend with the indomitable dirty-necked Pepper Martin, the old "Wild Hoss of the Osage" in the next World Series. He says so himself.

There was fire in the eyes of the 40-year-old St. Louis Cardinal outfielder when he banged a hammy fist on the dugout wall and said there was nothing in the world he would rather do than run wild on the bases as he did in that historic 1931 World Series against the Philadelphia Athletics when he practically beat them single-handedly.

Wants Big Thrill

"There isn't any thrill in baseball to compare with the next one," he said, going on to emphasize that he believed the greatest in his high speed career would come with the Cardinals, provided they get in the World Series this fall.

"I'm still the fastest runner on the club and boy would I like to get in there and bust loose in the World Series like I did that year," he said.

Reflecting the confidence of that old "Gas-House Gang" which made him its cheer leader, Martin indicated little doubt that the Cardinals would annex the pennant.

Away for two seasons as a minor league manager at Cardinal farm clubs in Sacramento and Rochester, Martin came back to the parent team this spring because of the manpower pinch and is likely to be the team's regular center fielder when Stan Musial and Danny Litwhiler exchange their Cardinal flannels for Navy blues.

In spite of the fact that he is surrounded by youngsters, Manager Billy Southworth still regards the "Pepper Pot" as his number one base runner and it isn't at all unusual to see the "creaking quadrogenarian" go in as a pinch runner for a kid from 15 to 20 years his junior.

Sundown Oilers Seek To Book Ball Games

The Sundown Oilers, one of the better semi-pro baseball outfits in this area have organized for the season, and are seeking games for Sunday afternoons, R. E. Horne, manager of the team announced this week.

Those interested in scheduling games with the Oilers should contact Horne at Box 296 at Sundown.

The team lists a number of holdovers from last year's nine and should have as strong a club as the one that played a number of close games with Lubbock Army Air Field and other strong teams of the South Plains area.

SPAAF Plans Sports Program For Season

An intensified program of recreation during off duty hours has been planned for civilian workers and military personnel at South Plains Army Air Field, with emphasis being placed on sports and games, Lieut. Bernard A. Stock, athletic officer at the field, announced Thursday afternoon.

Play periods in the SPAAF recreation hall have been aside during at least five afternoons and evenings each week for civilian workers at the field and wives of officers and enlisted men.

On Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, all civilian workers at the field will have access to the recreation hall for any activities in which they may want to participate. On Monday afternoons at 5 o'clock, all feminine civilian personnel may use the recreation hall, and on Tuesday afternoons at the same time all male civilian employees may use the building.

Two days have been set aside for wives of officers and enlisted men. Enlisted men's wives may use the SPAAF recreation hall on Wednesday nights, and officers' wives may use the building on Thursday nights.

Archer-Larkin Tops Garden Fight Slate

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Freddie Archer and Tippy Larkin, a pair of New Jersey welterweights, are scheduled to clash tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden's 10-round headliner, but Promoter Mike Jacobs won't breathe easily until they're actually in training with a pistol.

Uncle Mike had Willie Pep and Juan Zurita booked for June 16 in the Garden, only to have it blasted away when Zurita, Mexico's NBA lightweight king, accidentally shot himself in the hand while cleaning a rifle. When Jacobs learned that Larkin had a rifle at his Greenwood lake training quarters this week he sent telephone and telegraph messages as well as a personal envoy to persuade the Jersey scraper to "put that gun down" until after the fight.

A Place For Sound Judgment

IF Berlin reports are true that mobs of German civilians have been permitted to lynch American airmen, then—terrible though it would be—just one course would seem to be open to the Allied high command.

It must retaliate in kind upon the enemy civilian populations. It would be deplorable, of course, if warfare should degenerate to such further depths of horror. But if the protection of American airmen shot down over enemy territory should demand this form of reprisal, there is nothing else to do. Civilians who would murder a helpless prisoner, entitled to protection under every standard of international law and civilized behavior, are due neither mercy nor sympathy.

However, it is to be assumed that the Allied high command will confirm the reported lynchings beyond the question of reasonable doubt before they decide the nature of the reprisals to be ordered for the enemy. It could be that the reports are untrue. It might be, if such outrages have occurred, that the real criminals are Hitler henchmen posing as civilians. It is conceivable that the Nazi arch-fiends are trying, deliberately, to bait the Allies into the indiscriminate bombing of German civilians. The Nazi leaders might reason that the fury aroused among Germans by such bombings would re-cement with hate the disintegrating unity and morale of their masses on the eve of a final desperate effort to avert unconditional defeat.

Thus, it might be, even if the lynchings have occurred, that the Allied high command would be playing into the hands of the Nazi master minds if they should allow themselves now to be provoked into indiscriminate bombings. It might be that some other form of reprisal more time-taking might be preferable on the grounds that it would mean an earlier victory than would be possible if Germany resistance should be strengthened by increased hate and fury.

The decision in a matter of this kind, if the reports are true, naturally must be one for the Allied high command to make. If the decision should be for immediate indiscriminate bombings, it will be satisfying to the spirit of vengeance. It will be justice. But if the high command should decide upon some more moderate course, the assumption must be that it is one dictated by the belief that it is the course which will hasten victory.

Such a course would not mean that any criminals will escape full penalties for their crimes. It would mean only that their day of retribution might be delayed awhile.

Kimmel Ready For Trial

REGARDLESS of the reasons for the delays in the attempts to fix, officially, the responsibility for the surprise at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, the blame cannot be placed upon Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, the naval commander there on that fateful day.

Admiral Kimmel was cleared of responsibility for the delays by the disclosure the other day that he has made repeated demands over a period of nearly a year for a "free, open and public" court martial "at the earliest practicable date" on charges of having shared with Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Army commander, the blame for negligence which enabled the Japs to inflict the worst disaster ever suffered by American armed forces.

It is entirely possible, of course, that the national welfare demands further delays of these trials. It might be that immediate trials would reveal information which still would be useful to the enemy. It might be that hearings now would cause controversy and dissention of a kind desirable to avoid at this time.

If this be the case, the preferences of Admiral Kimmel and/or General Short are not to be considered at all. Even if delay works the gravest sort of injustice upon them, the national welfare still comes first—a statement which they doubtless would be the first to endorse.

However, for whatever it may signify, the fact speaks for itself that Admiral Kimmel, at least, is on record as having expressed eagerness for an "open and public" trial at the earliest practicable moment. The presumption is that General Short is of the same mind. Others, then, are responsible for the delays.

This does not mean, necessarily, that those "others" are fearful as to what immediate trials would disclose. It would be unfair to charge now that they have insisted upon delays because they are afraid. But, whatever the reason—political, or otherwise—for the delays, Armiral Kimmel certainly does not evidence fear as to what the findings of a "free, open and public" court martial would be.

"Nobody is infallible," declares Joe Goebbels, thereby accidently telling the truth and shaming Hitler.

JUDO
XXIX

IN not more than twenty minutes, Courtright had the bribing thoroughly done. She had bought the soldier. For a cash payment, he promised to let Norma, Link and herself go past. She gave him a small part of the money, taking it from her stocking.

"Sa!" said the soldier, well pleased. He even followed her a few paces back toward the inn, and said, "O daiji ni asobase," urging her to take care of herself. She must have overpaid him.

Courtright reached the inn. Outside the door, she pulled off her slippers. She went inside in her bare feet, so that she could be more silent.

Hardly was she through the door when a flashlight beam pounced upon her.

"Having trouble sleeping?" Azaraski asked.

"Oh, it's you!" Courtright struggled to control herself. "You scared me."

It seemed to her that her words actually whistled with fear.

Azaraski came closer. He kept the flashlight pointed at her face. The glare blinded her, blinded her so that she could distinguish nothing.

"You should not walk about outdoors," Azaraski said. "The guards, you know."

"I just stepped outside." Her terror was growing, because he kept the light in her eyes, and because she knew his voice was strange and hoarse. "I was having trouble sleeping," she said.

"Me, also," Azaraski agreed.

* * *

COURTRIGHT'S eyes became used to the light. She could make out Azaraski's face, illuminated from below by the backglow of the flashlight, his eyes dark splotches with hard depths. Horror lighting, she remembered that the photographers called such lighting from below.

"Where are Norma and Link?" she asked, fighting to remain casual.

"Asleep, I imagine."

"Poor kids. I suppose they are sleeping like logs." She was not doing good at the job of acting calm. Fear was making her voice rise.

"No doubt."

"Well," she said, "I think I will try to finish out my night's sleep."

"A good idea," Azaraski said. He extinguished the flashlight.

Instantly Courtright found Azaraski's hands on her throat. The Jap's dumbness, with horrible Judo expertness, crushed her windpipe and blocked off any loud vocal sounds.

Azaraski said, in Japanese which rage made almost unintelligible, "I followed you and heard you bribe the cow's son of a sentry. I will attend to the sentry later."

Then he began the silent and straining business of killing her by choking, and the loudest sound was the scuffing of her feet on the floor mat.

Lincoln Belt, standing by in the darkness, then realized what was happening. He leaped to help, and was fortunate enough to first get hold of Azaraski's hands. The Jap must have been blind and deaf with rage, for apparently at first he thought the hands pulling at his wrists were Courtright's hands.

Link changed his tactics, and hit Azaraski on the throat. Hit the man's windpipe with his fist, as hard as he could. Such a blow would, for the moment, paralyze the Jap's vocal cords and prevent him calling loudly for help.

* * *

AZARASKI released Courtright, who collapsed. Link got hold of Azaraski. The darkness in the room seemed as black as darkness could ever get. Their struggling feet kicked the flashlight, which rolled across the floor making a dull hopping noise on the mat.

"N o r m a! Flashlight!" Link gasped.

Norma found the flashlight by the sound it had made when rolling. She pointed the beam at the floor, which blinded no one, but gave light.

Azaraski tried to yell, made only a violent hissing noise. He squared off in a Judo stance, grabbed at Link, and Link demonstrated that they taught Judo to American soldiers, too. Azaraski went down. Link hit Azaraski's jaw several times with his fist. He was in a mood to finish off the Jap, but he did not have the strength to do it with his fists.

"See how Courtright is, Norma," Link said.

He took the flashlight and went searching for the innkeeper. The wrinkled old innkeeper was sleeping like a rock on his hard pallet. He was in the far end of the inn, and hadn't heard the fight.

Link debated whether to attack the innkeeper. But Link's arms and hands were trembling, his legs were weak. He had been on starvation rations in prison so long that he distrusted his ability to even knock the sleeping old man unconscious. Link left the innkeeper asleep.

Courtright was sitting up, with Norma's assistance. Courtright had both hands pressed to her neck.

"She is not hurt badly," Norma whispered.

Courtright tried to speak, but at first could only make a labored rasping noise. Then she said, "I bribed the sentry."

"Sentry!" Link exclaimed. "You bribed him? The one on the road?"

"Yes, on the road," Courtright told him hoarsely.

"We'll take Azaraski's car," Link said. "Come on. Here Courtright, put your arm around my neck."

They left the inn. Link half-carried Courtright. It was still very dark, and they were not heard. They found the car. He put the two women in the back. He got the motor started. The car already was headed for the narrow road.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN THE little town of Harper, Iowa, they just had a most interesting kind of celebration.

In St. Elizabeth's church they had a special celebration for nine couples who have been married more than 63 years.

Two widows who celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries before their husbands died several years ago also were guests.

Harper, Iowa, is listed in my latest atlas as a town of 212 people. But 530 persons from all over the parish attended the ceremonies and 200 of them were relatives of the 20 people honored.

That sort of thing makes you think, doesn't it?

* * *

We read so much these days about the degeneration of family life.

We read about divorces and about people getting married five or six times and about children having their parents arrested and about juvenile delinquency.

But don't be discouraged about that.

Always remember one thing:

Newspapers don't print the commonplace. They print the unusual. They print the news.

If divorce were the common thing about marriage, the newspapers wouldn't pay any attention to it. If the matrimonial exploits of a Tommy Manville were the average American way, you wouldn't read about them in the papers.

* * *

SO, DON'T ever think that anything you read in the papers needs to worry you.

I shall be much more concerned about juvenile delinquency when the papers stop writing about it.

I shall consider marriage a failure only when the newspapers stop printing divorce stories.

I think marriage is a success. All around me I see married couples who are perfectly satisfied with their original choice, who would marry each other right over again if they were free.

Don't forget this: Everybody isn't a great success in business, as a cook, a singer, a pianist.

But everybody can be a success within his limitations.

Everybody can't be a great lover, an Apollo or a Dorothy Lamour.

But if you are willing to take life as it is meted out to you, if you make the best of what you are, then your marriage is a success and you, too, some day will celebrate 63 years of reasonable happiness and contentment.

What has Harper, Iowa, got that you haven't got?

The National Whirligig
The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A BRAND-NEW, streamlined and appealing edition of the old age pensions bill sponsored by Dr. Francis E. Townsend is creeping toward congressional enactment in secrecy and silence.

Capitol Hill parliamentary leaders and reporters have been so engrossed with more important business that they have neglected this problem from start to finish.

The bill, which, in its new form, packs a definite catch for returning soldiers, for aged men and women now in war work and for the conservative feminine bloc, has been shelved in the House Ways and Means committee by presidential order. But the withheld proposal is headed for a floor decision and it seems sure to pass both chambers.

The signatures of 218 House members are required to drag the measure from the reactionary W. and M. committee and thereby bring it to debate and vote. As of today, around 190 Congressmen have affixed their names to the petition.

Thus it will take only 28 more suitors of the old folks to bring the measure before the House, which is almost certain to pass it in this campaign year. Chances of favorable action are even brighter in the Senate.

Both bodies, including Democrats and Republicans seeking re-election, will be only too happy to support the scheme and leave it to FDR to veto it after they have quit for the summer. Naturally, White House lobbyists are exerting heavy pressure to prevent this popular measure from being dumped in the Rooseveltian lap on the eve of a presidential contest.

* * *

DEPRESSION: The Townsendites have refurbished their panacea to make it attractive to employers, workers, elderly men and women in industry and to the 12,000,000 lads who will be seeking jobs after the inevitable conquest of Berlin and Tokyo. They have engaged smart lobbyists and publicists in the capital, and are set to blitzkrieg the Congress within the next few years.

The new plan, roughly, provides for a 3 per cent tax on all gross business. It is calculated that this levy will produce from three to six billion dollars a year. Estimates vary.

The financial gratuities to the old folks would have to be spent within 30 days—as the original project provides. That is almost the only hangover feature from the proposition which provoked so much ridicule when it was introduced in the House during the late depression.

* * *

JOBS: Here is the good gray doctor's innovation and wartime appeal—a consideration which has impelled many once hostile House and Senate members to seek his permission to be photographed with him and to have the pictures reproduced in Townsend's Weekly.

The snapshots do not appear in lay newspapers, of course, but they show up in Dr. T's political literature. They draw votes everywhere.

It is figured that at least 12,000,000 men and women beyond the three-score age limit are now employed in factories, on the farms and in the service trades.

These people will probably carry on after the armistice unless given an incentive for retirement. They will continue to hold jobs that would otherwise fall to fighters back from overseas.

The new argument is obvious. Give papa and mamma and grandpa and grandma a decent quittance compensation a la Townsend and they will be content to relinquish their positions to the soldier boys. Strange as it may seem, this thesis has won over many congressional conservatives.

* * *

LABOR: Democratic and Republican members of House and Senate discover belatedly that they may face defeat because of their success in locating new industries in their states and districts. The danger, naturally, threatens conservatives more than it does liberals.

When the Army and Navy were handing out contracts and providing funds for the construction of new factories, every congressman fought for recognition. It was a feather in his hat, he thought, if he could inform his constituents that he had obtained an aluminum, airplane, tank or shipbuilding plant that would keep them employed and well paid.

What was not foreseen, especially by the anti-Roosevelt reactionaries, was that these new industries would bring in thousands of hands from other states—employes who regard the man in the White House, as AFL President William Green said in 1940, as "the greatest friend labor ever had in the Presidency."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THERE are many misconceptions, intensified by exaggerated propaganda, about the role played by European patriots and the assistance they can give in the invasion.

But the public will be let down, in the opinion of high ranking officers, if it pins hopes on rebellions breaking out as soon as the Anglo-Americans land.

From a staff realistic point of view, the activities of the underground have only minor military value, although now that General Eisenhower has assigned to local groups the task of advance scouting, their usefulness will be increased.

It would be extremely unfair, however, to overlook the services of heroic men and women in keeping alight the spirit of resistance in the hearts of the people.

* * *

AMBUSHES: A factual analysis may help clarify the picture:

Only two guerrilla organizations have accomplished much, the Russian and the Yugoslav. French Maquis, Greek, Polish and Italian bands are commencing to show results.

Soviet outfits in many instances had the advantage of preliminary training even before their homelands were captured. They have an abundance of forests in which to hide and flat fields on which supply planes can land. Knowledge that his own soldiers are advancing to the rescue gives each irregular fighter high degree of morale.

Tito's men rendezvous in mountains that permit secret concentration and swift forays. They acquired an enormous windfall in guns, clothes and food left by the disintegrating Italian forces after Mussolini fell. Now they are within easy reach of Allied munitions in Italy.

The Polish Ministry of the Interior says there are 250,000 guerrillas, organized into army and police divisions, operating within the borders of its country. These grandiose figures are not accepted as accurate by Washington or London, although it is known that effective sabotage has been done by brave Poles.

Factions both hostile and friendly toward the Soviet Union nullify the chance for united effort. Bickerings have also hampered Greek partisan cooperation.

* * *

TREASON: The public in southern Italy was too war-weary and apathetic to be of much aid.

It is not pleasant to report that our Intelligence found the population so honeycombed with local Fascists and paid Axis agents that American truck drivers were ordered not to give pedestrians a lift. Details about military movements, unguarded spilled by our talkative operators, were relayed to the enemy.

In northern Italy hatred burns for both Nazis and Fascism. Our planes drop weapons, ammunition and money for the resisters. Disruptive strikes already handicap the Germans. Plans are completed for systematized guerilla maneuvers as soon as General Alexander's men reach the North. Labor unions, intellectuals and clerical groups are joined in a common front against the Axis.

Although the Czech government-in-exile in London radioed a summons to arms, the people in the isolated republic have not responded, so far as we know. Memories of the massacres that followed the assassination of Heydrick are too vivid for the Czechs to risk mass movements until they are sure of outside assistance. But sabotage flourishes.

Only last week five heroes were charged with high treason and shot because they burned a barn filled with grain earmarked for the Reichswehr.

Democats Left Convention Sites In Unseemly Mess

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, June 1.—Should some of the housewives back home have viewed the Texas Senate chamber the morning after the State Democratic convention they might have suffered a mild case of hysteria.

The $7,000 carpet was blanketed by a mass of paper, burned match stems and cigaret and cigar butts, making it look as if a whirlwind had picked up a trash pile and dumped the debris over the chamber.

Of course, the taxpayers' dollars bought the carpet, but as one morning-after observer commented: "There were several million John Q. Publics who were not delegates to the stormy session."

Signs of "No Smoking" were prominently displayed. However, on one occasion when Senate Secretary Bob Barker asked that an announcement be made about the prohibition, the speaker did so with a lighted cigaret protruding from between his fingers.

* * *

NO MONEY LOST!

There were innumerable cigars which never had been lighted, but had been given a good chewing and later stomped. For a hobo with "sniping" agility, it would have been a heaven.

Adding to the rubbish were grease-stained paper sacks, some of them containing half-eaten sandwiches. Crumpled literature of every sort was galore. Unique in the trash was a discarded corn plaster some attendant must have removed for comfort.

Prominent by its absence was any lost money, which porters hopefully looked for as they swept, then cross-swept and finally vacuumed the carpet. If the waste paper went to the salvage drive—the project certainly was materially aided.

* * *

THE BOLTING pro-Roosevelt faction did not materially damage the House of Representatives fixtures and carpet. However, some cigarets and cigars were crushed out inside the desks, while others were stomped on the carpet. Noticeable in the Roosevelt faction was the presence of youths and girls under the 21-year-old voting age.

Literature discarded was equally as prevalent in the larger House chamber, which required the same manner of cleaning as did the Senate.

* * *

Allred Didn't Bolt

Former Govs. Dan Moody and James V. Allred, recent rivals in the campaign for election of United States senator, had another battle for temporary chairmanship of the Senate convention. They were candidates of opposing factions.

Allred ran ahead of Moody in the senatorial election, though both were beaten by O'Daniel. In the convention race, Moody beat Allred about nine to seven.

This lead to some speculation about what might have been if the nomination of U. S. senator had been by convention instead of by popular election. It was recalled that O'Daniel was booed at the state convention when he became governor and left the platform without completing his speech.

Allred did not go to the House chamber with the bolters, remaining in the original convention. Twice, Moody, as temporary chairman, asked Allred privately if he would address the assembly, but he refused.

* * *

MANY long-time political associations were split by the Allred-Moody contest. Former Sen. Paul Page of Bastrop was compelled to vote against Moody to whom he is a close friend.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, former Secretary of State by appointment of Moody, was with the other faction in which also was the daughter of former Governors Ferguson.

Mrs. McCallum had refused to certify the name of Mrs. Ferguson as a candidate for governor in 1932 until the State Supreme court issued a mandamus.

The split also pitted members of one family against each other in opposing factions and eventually in opposing conventions.

Former Sen. Roy Sanderford of Belton was permanent and "singing" chairman of the "uninstructed". convention. Ghent Sanderford, his uncle, was in the pro-Roosevelt gathering. Ghent was secretary to former Gov. Ma Ferguson.

"I can't sing like Roy," Ghent lamented. Few people can. Without accompaniment Roy sang "Wagon Wheels" and "Without a Song" by convention request. He also lead in mass singing of "America."

* * *

Organ Music Appropriate

Other music of the convention unintentionally had its amusing side. When Roosevelt extremists started their bolt march from the original convention, the organist played: "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The playing of "The End of a Perfect Day" pealed out after the faction had left the hall, and that number was followed by "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Indian Love Call" and "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen."

When Pat M. Neff—whose address was thought by many the most outstanding of the convention—was called to the rostrum by Moody the organ played "That Good Old Baylor Line."

The greatest act of Neff's administration as governor was the appointment of Moody as Travis county district attorney, Moody said in introducing Neff.

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S
20% PIG RATION

Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of tests, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chicks get when given to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 3-5 weeks of age on up.

MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, liver minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

Fight Under Way On Mosquitoes In Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 30. (Delayed) (AP) — With the malaria season coming up in Italy, the air force and the surgeon general's office are conducting a spirited offensive against the anopheles mosquito.

Using equipment similar to that used for "crop dusting," A-20 and PT-17 planes of the Mediterranean air transport command have been strafing operations against the mosquito breeding grounds of southern Italy.

The operations are directed by Lt. Robert H. Dyer, Corpus Christi, Texas, who like his assistants, Lts. Norman G. Bedgood, Tyler, Texas, and Arthur R. Montgomery, Fayetteville, Ark., flew dusting planes in crop protection work before the war.

STOCKS HOLD STEADY

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—The stock market's climb to an average 5-year peak inspired considerable profit-cashing today after a fast extension of Wednesday's advance in the forenoon.

Gains of fractions to a point were plentiful at the opening with low-priced motors appearing in sizable blocks. Prices began to waver here and there after midday and top marks were reduced or eliminated at the close although weakness was a rarity and the list, as a whole, displayed relatively steady tone.

Investment sentiment still was buoyed by good war news, political hopes and business prospects but there was a tendency to trim commitments on the idea a technical correction might be near. Strength of securities in London was a cheering factor.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .1 of a point at 53.3. The market was broad, 926 issues appearing. Of these, 349 were up, 329 down and 248 unchanged.

Park and Tilford came back ⅞ after its 10-point drop of the preceding session. Gamewell was up 3¼ points. Union Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern (when issued) added a point each. Improved were Willys-Overland, Radio Corp., Great Northern, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Philip Morris, Owens-Illinois, Manati Sugar, West Indies Sugar, Johns-Manville, General Electric and American Can.

Steels were all even and small losses were posted for Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Laclede Gas preferred and Pepsi-Cola. Certain-Teed preferred was off 1⅞.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 45 cents a bale lower today after making gains as high as 45 cents in early trading.

Profit-taking and hedging contributed to the reversal after early firmness stemming from aggressive mill buying and commission house demand. Part of the buying was attributed to covering operations by shippers in anticipation of probable awards for cotton for shipment to Spain.

War In Pacific

Mandalay-Myitkyina railway. Allies to the east were reported "making satisfactory progress" in closing in from three sides on Myitkyina, main Nipponese base in North Burma.

Chinese forces drove through mountainous southwest China to within 20 air miles of Tengchung, main Japanese base in Yunnan province, protecting the Burma road — prize of both the North Burma and Yunnan fighting.

Native troops captured one village from the invaders in eastern India, where Japanese were reported digging in to weather the monsoons.

U. S. Sixth Army troops who fell back earlier in the week on Biak island, off northwest New Guinea, in the face of a Japanese ambush and tank attacks, turned to wiping out sniper nests and consolidating their positions preparatory to resuming their advance.

Chinese field dispatches reported that with the Japanese 40 miles from Changsha, the town had been evacuated by unnecessary civilians, shops closed and newspapers suspended. Changsha is the principal obstacle in the Japanese march down the Hankow-Canton railway, bisecting southern China. American air bases would be cut off by a successful enemy campaign there.

American airmen were active over all Oriental warfronts. They ruled the air over Honan province, where motorized Japanese columns controlled the land. Over the Pacific, United States bombers wound up May with the 11th strike of the month against the Kurile islands, hitting Shumushu, northernmost of this chain leading from the Aleutians to Japan.

the enemy lines, and dropped his grenades inside. Captain Denig was pulled out, and, under a cross-fire of Japanese machine guns, was taken to a shell hole. He died there.

The general was asked if his visit to his son's grave was in observance of Memorial day.

"I'd forgotten today's Memorial day," he said. "I decorated the grave yesterday. I guess I should have waited. But I suppose it doesn't make much difference."

The leis had been iced in Honolulu and still were fresh and fragrant when the general placed them on the cross.

Denig, a veteran of the first World war and now director of public relations for the Marine corps in Washington, stopped at Namur during an inspection tour of Central Pacific bases. While on the island he received a mirror taken from the telescope of his son's tank.

"I'll have it made up so my wife can carry it in her handbag," he said.

fore the members of Local 6 of the Longshoremen's Union in San Francisco, largest unit in the labor organization controlled by Harry Bridges, adopted a resolution denouncing wartime strikes as "treason against the nation." Late last week R. J. Thomas, head of the Auto Workers Union, declaring that "public opinion has become inflamed against our union," also criticized wartime work stoppages.

Spread Of Rabies Blamed On Foxes

JACKSON, Miss., June 1. (AP) — Dr. E. L. Brashier, head of the state livestock and sanitary board, said today that a rabies eradication program would be inaugurated this week in Leaksville. He said he had received reports of a widespread outbreak of the disease, believed to be spread by foxes.

A bounty of from $2 to $3 is offered for each head of a rabid fox, the director announced.

State Representative George E. Smith of Greene county, said that many "people are afraid to get out at night," due to the risk of being bitten by a fox, or small dogs, cats or even livestock which has been bitten by the foxes.

Luke James of Richton told officials that a rabid wildcat invaded the farm yard of George Mennin, a neighbor, whipped Mennin's dog, and turned on Mennin, biting him on the leg, before Mennin could kill him with a stick.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 1 (AP)—Profit taking and the pressure of crop forecasts reporting good to excellent prospects for all small grains affected wheat futures today and prices at the close were fractionally below the day's best levels. Wheat closed ⅜ to 1 ⅜ higher than yesterday, July $1.63 ¼. Oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, July 77 ⅜. Rye was unchanged to ½ higher, July $1.12 ½-1.13. Barley was ⅛ to 2 ¼ higher, July $1.22.

"Heavily Armed Men" Were Dallas Officers

DALLAS, June 1. (UP) — Two Dallas policemen found the shoe on the other foot.

Riding a street car home after hours, Officers P. W. England and H. H. Stidham got off at an intersection where three squad cars and a sergeant's car had stopped. They stepped back on the car at the rear door as they saw another officer enter the front of the tram.

Asking what the trouble was, the third officer said they were investigating a report of two "heavily armed men" on the street car.

Then it dawned on England and Stidham that they were the cause of all the commotion.

Mexico Streamlines Its Beloved Siesta

MEXICO CITY, June 1. (AP) — This capital's famous "siesta" time gave way today to the more modern quick lunch period.

A presidential decree went into effect setting office hours from 9 to 5 for stores, with half an hour for workers to eat.

Previously, stores were open from 9 to 1 and from 3 to 7, giving employes time to go home for lunch. Few of them, however, had time for the nap, which is the literal meaning of "siesta."

A shortage of tires and gasoline for buses was given as the reason for the decree, which reduces the average worker's two round trips between office and home to one.

Government employes will work from 8 to 2:30 or 3 p. m., with half an hour around 11 o'clock for coffee. Bank hours are 9 to 1, half an hour less than previously. Firms which work three shifts are not affected.

Sculptor Of Statute Still Short $10,000

HOUSTON, June 1. (AP)—Twenty years ago Sculptor Enrico Cerracchio was commissioned by the state, Houston and a citizens committee to do a bronze statute of Sam Houston mounted on a horse.

The imposing statute of the Texas warrior still stands at the entrance to Hermann Park—and Cerracchio still is $10,000 short of the $75,000 pledged.

The sculptor of Italian descent received full payment of $25,000 from the state and $10,000 from the city but public subscriptions fell $10,000 short of meeting the agreed price.

Since that time Cerracchio has appeared regularly before each succeeding city administration, seeking the assistance of the council in settling the 20-year-old debt.

A council committee appointed by Mayor Massey to investigate the claim suggested that the mayor name a committee to help Cerracchoi collect the $10,000 through voluntary public subscription.

NIMBLE-FINGERED THIEF

HOUSTON, June 1. (UP)—Police are accustomed to nimble-fingered thievery, but one particular thief appeared today to have surpassed most of his colleagues in mastery of the "art."

This thief, police said, stole $53 from the pocket of Mrs. Maude Mason's dressing gown and escaped without arousing her. Mrs. Mason was sleeping in the gown.

Many Overcome By Escaping Gas

NEW YORK, June 1 —Escaping chlorine gas felled approximately 400 persons at a busy intersection in Brooklyn today.

Most of those overcome were removed to hospitals, at least 127 in serious condition. No fatalities were reported.

The gas, leaking from a tank being transported in a truck to a Brooklyn pier, spread about two blocks in every direction. Men, women and high school students on their way home began to caugh, vomit, staggering and then fall flat, creating a scene resembling pictures from the war.

Gas Heavier Than Air

The gas, heavier than air, descended through ventilators into the subway, forcing scores of persons to flee to the street where they, too, toppled over.

Subway traffic on four lines was halted for 46 minutes.

The bureau of operations at New York police headquarters said the tanks were intended for shipment to Cartagena, Colombia.

Inspector Joseph Barbuto of the fire department bureau of combustion said he had obtained summonses against the truck owner, Lester J. Denner, and the driver, charging them with failure to have a permit to transport chlorine through the streets.

All Ambulances Busy

All available ambulances in Brooklyn responded to the police alarm and more than 20 physicians gave emergency treatment to the scores affected and unable to leave the spot.

As th truck approached the intersection of Myrtle avenue on Flatbush avenue extension, the tank rolled from the rear of the vehicle, slid across the pavement and shattered against the stone curbing.

Supplementing the first aid given by ambulance surgeons were five police emergency squads. The Beekman hospital disaster unit and numerous fire rescue squads.

Several hundred American infantrymen crawled and scrambled in ghostlike stealth up almost perpendicular slopes through the German lines, and at dawn they were dug in in commanding positions.

Allied troops tonight were reported moving steadily through the breach in the Nazi wall, consolidating their positions despite violent opposition from enemy flame-throwers, artillery and tanks.

Lucas Identified As Former Anzio Chief

WASHINGTON, June 1. (UP) — Maj. Gen. John P. Lucas was identified today by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson as the former commander at the Anzio beachhead. Stimson told his press conference that Lucas now is in the United States, and has been given a new and unannounced command. He made the statement in response to an inquiry whether "the original commander of the Anzio beachhead had proceeded to cautiously in his operations."

Stimson said he "did not care in any event to comment on any, alleged controversy."

Lucas, a native of Kerneysville, W. Va., was deputy commander of the Fourth Army at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., before he was put in charge of the drive at Anzio. His successor was Maj. Gen. Lucien Truscott, who was in command there from mid-February until Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark arrived in May to take personal command of the new drive.

25 More Years Added To Texan's Life Term

Maneuver Endangers Nazis' Last Lines South Of Rome

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The last Nazi defense line south of Rome showed signs of early crumbling as infiltrating American troops caught their first distant daylight glimpses of the Eternal City. Vivid eye-witness press accounts of the bold maneuver that placed them in the rear of enemy lines left little doubt that the Valatri - Lanuvio sector of the punctured German 25-mile front from Valmontone to the sea must soon fall.

SIMPSON

Its collapse would do more than expose Rome to Allied investment or occupation. It would unhinge the whole German position across the Italian peninsula. Skillfully as the Nazi commanders appear to have pulled most of their troops out of the Lepini hills south of the Sacco between convenrging jaws of the Allied-set trap, the bulk of the German Tenth Army is still in grave danger.

Indicated Nazi success in withdrawing from the Lepini hills for the final phase of the retreat up the Sacco without loss of more than rear guard elements may have lessened Allied chances of dealing a crushing blow to the foe; but it has not wholly relieved the German situation. It means that Lieut. General Clark, Fifth Army commander, now is able to concentrate the whole strength of his Allied force for quick exploitation of a break in the Valmontone-to-the-sea line at any point.

Still Critical Key

Valmontone still seems the critical key not to the investment or capture of Rome; but to Allied hopes of smashing a major portion of the Nazi Army in Italy in the field before it can escape northward up the peninsula. Cut off from the north and pinned against the huge bulk of the all but trackless Simoruini ridge that separates the Sacco valley from the upper Liri, German forces falling back up the Sacco could still be trapped. The very silence of Allied headquarters as to the immediate situation on the Valmontone flank of the northern front may be significant of events in the making.

City Pool Popular On Opening Day

More than 500 Lubbock citizens —mostly juveniles with a sprinkling of soldiers— were on hand Thursday to take their first plunge of the year as the city swimming pool at Mackenzie park was opened for the season.

As the gates at the pool swung open at 9 o'clock Thursday morning 82 youngsters were waiting to usher in the swimming season.

Skies were cloudy and the water was cold, but that made no difference. The youngsters hit the pool with a splash. To 12-year-old Dennis Duncan, resident of Hub Homes, felt the distinction of being the first to get into the water.

Week-day hours of the pool during the summer will be 9 a. m. until 9:30 p. m. On Sundays, the pool will open at 1 p. m.

Personally We Don't Care For Experience

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The Navy, in a booklet titled "Shark Sense," tells its aviators who are downed in the ocean how to protect themselves from sharks.

By the time the person so doing is out of breath "the shark may lose his viciousness," the booklet says hopefully.

Time Extension Approved In Pearl Harbor Investigations

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Senate Judiciary committee today approved a resolution calling for an immediate Army-Navy investigation into the "facts surrounding the catastrophe" at Pearl Harbor and extending the time in which court martial proceedings may be inaugurated against responsible military leaders.

The clause calling for the investigation was written into the resolution during a session at which Army spokesmen agreed to undertake such an immediate inquiry, acting committee Chairman Carl A. Hatch, (D., N. M.), told reporters. The Navy previously had done so.

Seeks Time Extension

The resolution seeks to extend until June 7, 1945, the time in which court martial proceedings could be instituted against Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short who were, respectively, Navy and Army commanders at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack.

The statute of limitations originally expired in the Kimmel-Short case last Dec. 7, but Congress enacted legislation designed to extend the time until June 7, 1944. The pending measure would extend it another year.

It was approved in the face of disclosure yesterday that Attorney General Francis Biddle had held that last December's extension was enacted after the limitations statute had expired and that it was impossible for Congress to extend it. Biddle held that the question of whether Kimmel and Short can be tried now hinges on the validity of waivers they signed agreeing to stand trial at any time. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today reaffirmed his belief in the legality of these waivers.

Connally Opposed Resolution

Sen. Tom Connally, (D., Tex.), was the only member of the judiciary committee to oppose the resolution. He contended that the immediate investigation requirement implied that the Army and Navy had been derelict in not pressing charges against Short and Kimmel—a condition which Connally said was not true.

Hatch said the committee will seek Senate approval of the resolution on Monday. A somewhat different companion measure has passed the House.

Sen. Homer Ferguson, (R., Mich.), author of a resolution which would have required institution of court martial proceedings within three months, said he was satisfied that the resolution adopted by the committe would achieve his objective—"to bring out the facts and get them on record so that they will not be lost before a trial can be held."

"Discretion" Of Service Heads

However, Hatch and Sen. A. B. Chandler, (D., Ky.), said that "as a matter of practical fact," the court martials would be held only "in the discretion" of the service heads.

"And in their discretion that won't be until after the war," Chandler said.

Hatch said the Navy had started a new investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack on March 7. He apparently referred to an inquiry being conducted by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, retired, commander of the Asiatic fleet at the time of the attack, who was ordered by the late Secretary of Navy Frank Knox to gather evidence concerning the entire affair. Hart recently returned to this country from a series of conferences with naval officers in various parts of the Pacific.

Court Of Inquiry Suggested

The investigation provided for in the resolution appeared to be much the same as the "court of inquiry" which had been suggested informally by some authorities within recent days.

The "court of inquiry" approached had been proposed to some congressmen as an alternative to immediate trials.

The "court of inquiry" idea envisioned a specially-created board of committee empowered to visit all parts of the world to take testimony from high ranking officers whose evidence would be considered essential to courts martial but who now are even more essentially employed in directing the war effort.

Garden Workers Need "Pickup"

From now on, with Victory gardens underway and more out-of-door activity for the whole family, there will be more need for a daily energy "lift." A pleasant and satisfying pick-up between meals is a mid-morning or tea-time snack of graham crackers, the sweet wartime energy food. They are easily digested and their delicately sweet flavor makes them the perfect accompaniment for milk, or, for variety, a molasses milk shake or orange nog.

Crunchy and fine-flavored, these grahams make a fine supper dessert, too—just the thing to set off a dish of new rhubarb or other spring fruit.

Molasses Milk Shake

4 tablespoons molasses
4 cups milk.

Blend molasses and milk and serve cold.

Orange Nog

2 cups milk
2 cups of orange juice
2 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar, pinch of salt

Beat all ingredients thoroughly with egg beater. May be chilled or served at room temperature. Serves 4.

Spring Rhubarb

4 cups fresh rhubarb (cut in 1-inch pieces)
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Pinch of salt
Dash of nutmeg
½ cup water
¼ cup orange juice

Place rhubarb in lightly buttered baking dish. Add flour to sugar and mix. Add remaining ingredients and pour over rhubarb. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 degree F.) 30 minutes or until tender. Serve warm or chilled with graham crackers. Serves 6.

COOKING HINTS

Chop cold, left-over pork with small onion. Add bread crumbs. Season well and fill scooped out tomatoes. Bake.

To prevent scratching, use a soft cleaning powder free from grit when cleaning the enameled portions of a stove.

Sheer cotton garments, unless they have a permanent finish, look better if given a light starching.

KITCHEN KORNER

Rub flypaper stains with benzine applied on a soft cloth.

Never clean enameled utensils with harsh cleansing powder or sharp instruments.

Garlic cooked in the kettle with green beans gives them a new flavor.

For an interesting new flavor in spice cake add ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind.

Use laundry bleaches carefully as too much may cause holes.

To prevent carrot waste, scrape carefully with knife or an apple corer.

When pan frying, reduce the heat at the first sign of smoking grease.

Try making individual pies or tarts instead of full sized pies that may not be eaten up.

To make a savory, flavorful stew, first brown meat thoroughly in fat heated in frying pan.

Kitchen scissors are useful for removing cores and seeds from halved oranges and grapefruit.

To protect the metal in kitchen cutlery, rinse off in cold and then warm water after cutting citrus fruits.

Sausages and sweet potatoes make a tasty dish when baked in layers in a shallow pan with the addition of ½ inch of water.

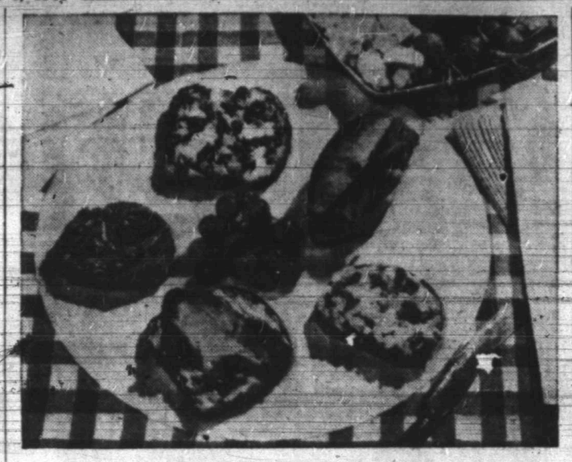

Rinse off orange or lemon reamers and egg beaters as soon as used by soaking in cold water for five minutes and then washing in hot soapy water.

Clean water rims on enameled pans by rubbing gently with vinegar made into a paste with salt, or dip the used half of a lemon into salt and rub over stains until they disappear.

If you've been annoyed with salt shaker top corrosion, try this. Remove tops from the salt shakers and invert them. Pour melted paraffin through them. Enough paraffin will adhere to coat the surface and holes may be opened with a toothpick or needle. This will last for a long time.

To do away with needless stooping and stretching when you reach down to open cupboard doors, rearrange the knobs. Move the knobs on the upper cabinet doors close to the bottom so you will not have to stretch and move those on the lower cabinet doors close to the top to eliminate stooping.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK SANDWICHES—Hard-working Americans need lots of the best food. That's why sure-fire sandwich suggestions, good the clock around, are so important. These five sandwiches, reading clockwise from the top, are made as follows: (1) Minced Tongue: combine 2 cups chopped cooked tongue, ½ cup chopped sweet pickle, dash of mustard, and mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on whole wheat. (2) Baked bean: mix leftover baked beans with crumbled crisp bacon slices. (3) Vegetable: chopped vegetables home-canned in a mustard sauce are unusual and quick. (4) Sliced roast pork: occasional sandwiches of sliced roast pork delight all lunch-box carriers. (5) Liver sausage: soften liver sausage, spread on sandwich, and top with mustard pickles. Good on rye bread.

Keep Plenty Of Bacon Ready For Any-Time-Of-Day Meal

Keep plenty of bacon on hand, for it's the smartest meat purchase you can make. As an any-time-of-day meal, it's quick to fix and good to eat for breakfast, lunch, dinner or snacks.

Another reason for keeping lots of bacon on hand is that it's a concentrated source of food energy and important to the diet of hard-working people. It gives great appetite satisfaction, yet it's highly digestible. For doctors recommend it for babies less than a year old. The protein in bacon is top quality, too, and important to summer diets.

Keep In Cool Part

Since one pound of bacon contains 16 to 20 slices, buy a couple of pounds at a time. Then keep it fresh and sweet in a cool, dark, dry part of the refrigerator. One word of caution. Don't let bacon stand open on the kitchen table, for it loses its keeping qualities and its flavor. Take from the refrigerator only the amount you intend to use.

When buying bacon, remember that while there should be streaks of fat and lean, there should be more fat. That helps give good flavor to bacon. Large families often buy slab bacon—large bacon slabs that weigh 8 to 12 pounds. Families can buy a half piece, as it's usually sold, and slice it any thickness they wish. It's low in cost and dandy for flavoring baked beans or for dicing to flavor fresh vegetables and salads. Bacon squares, often called bacon jowls, are neat little bacon packs weighing about 2 pounds. They're good for "boiling" or baking with beans and in other casseroles.

Cooking Requires Skill

During meat rationing we've learned to cook every piece of meat with care for the fullest, richest flavor available. Though bacon's point free, this doesn't change. Crisp, slightly curled, evenly cooked bacon requires real skill.

Broiling is the most flavorful way to cook bacon. Place strips on a pre-heated broiler rack and broil 2 or 3 minutes to a side, turning only once. If you have only a small quantity of bacon to prepare, use a shallow pan with a wire rack in the bottom for a broiler tray.

Baking Is Easier

Baking bacon is easy when cooking large quantities of bacon at one time. Lay bacon strips on a rack in any shallow pan. Bake on top shelf of oven at 400 degree F. for 15 to 18 minutes, or until desired crispness is reached. No turning is necessary. This bacon needs no draining and browns evenly from end to end without curling.

Most usual method for cooking bacon is pan frying. Place strips in a cold skillet over a low fire. Turn frequently until all parts of bacon are evenly crisp but not brittle. Do not let fat smoke. For extra crispness, drain off the fat as bacon cooks.

Cook Plenty Of It

Since every one likes crisp bacon, cook plenty of it. Any cooked strips that are left over crumble into potato or vegetable salad, wilted greens, cream soups, muffins, creamed or stuffed vegetables, or waffles and griddle cakes.

Afterthought of any bacon discussion is the drippings. Strain bacon drippings into clean, small, covered jars. Mark each jar according to the kind of dripping and the date, and store in a cool place. Keep them covered tightly. Use the oldest drippings first.

Pliny the Elder urged the eating of asparagus as early as 60 A.D.

Rickenbacker Calls For More Patriotism

KANSAS CITY, June 1. (AP)—Men overseas believe there isn't enough patriotism on the home front, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker declares, and in his opinion "there is justification" for their belief.

"Most of us are not awake to our obligations and responsibilities," he told 10,000 persons yesterday at a Memorial day service sponsored by the American War Dads.

"This will be a long war," Rickenbacker said. "When you're asked to buy a bond in the Fifth War loan, remember it's a privilege, and remember, too, that you're going to be asked to buy bonds in the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth war loans."

Rickenbacker maintained that civilians believe, wrongly, that servicemen "are a bunch of kids whose only consolation is a pin-up girl."

"They (the servicemen) are intelligent. They are tough. They know what they want," he said.

Strikes This Year 42 Per Cent Higher

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — The number of strikes in the first four months of 1944 rose more than 42 per cent over the corresponding period of 1943, bureau of labor statistics records showed today.

The bureau reported that strikes beginning in April of this year totalled 435 and involved 155,000 workers, resulting in 580,000 man-days of idleness, or .08 per cent of the available working time.

The April strikes, exceeding those of any of the three previous months, brought the 1944 total to 1,455, compared with 1,024 in the first four months of 1943.

Capital Bus Drivers To Be Prettied Up

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — Commuters expect more glamorous trolley rides now that the Capital Transit company has opened a charm school for 55 women street car and bus operators.

"We don't want any you-hooing on buses and streetcars," said Mrs. Hannah Sherman, school director, "but we want to make the girls feel pretty and important."

Classes will run to hair-styling, skin care, make-up, and clothes.

Add health to breakfast!

Delicious orange juice adds vitamin health to breakfast. Its vitamin C fights fatigue and infection, protects teeth and gums, helps you keep "young" longer.

You may miss vitamin C unless you get enough at breakfast. A 6 to 8 ounce glass of fresh orange juice gives you a day's quota of C with a bonus of other vitamins and minerals.

No wonder orange juice is first on millions of breakfast menus. If you miss out at breakfast, enjoy oranges in cool salads and desserts, or as a lunch-box or between-meal snack.

Hull Says Small Nations Of World Assured Of Protection

WASHINGTON, June 1. (U.P.) — This country's 150 years of devotion to liberty is ample assurance to the world's small nations that they will have their rightful place in any international organization, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today.

Hull appeared disturbed at his news conference over foreign reports that the small nations are fearful that the United States, Russia and Great Britain will dominate the postwar world.

Can't Give Blueprint

In response to a question, Hull discussed the matter warmly and at length.

He said it was not possible at this time to give a blueprint of the relationships between different nations after the war. But he added that there was no occasion to be concerned about any declarations he or President Roosevelt has made. Our past history, he said, made even those declarations promising sovereign equality to nations unnecessary.

History Is Recalled

Hull recalled various times in our history when the United States encouraged many nations—especially those in South America—to aspire to liberty. He added that there was never any doubt about the attitude of this country towards the Philippines.

Back in our early history, Hull said, he preached the same spirit of liberty; that was our philosophy; that was our spirit; and we have proceeded to follow it ever since.

Plans Week's Vacation

The secretary spoke more forcefully and in greater detail than he has on any subject at any news conference in months. At times his voice rose to emphasize special points that he wished to drive home.

Hull concluded his conference by announcing that he plans to take a one-week vacation at Hershey, Pa. It was learned he expects to arrive at Hershey this week-end. Hull said he would spend another week somewhere else at summer's end.

He said he was announcing his vacations in advance to prevent recurrence of rumors, which he said were circulated in some quarters when he spent a recent week-end resting in his apartment, that he was seriously ill.

TO SUPPLY LUNCHES

MEXICO CITY, June 1. (AP) — Owners of hotels and restaurants were competing today for the business of supplying lunches for commercial employes who, beginning June 1, will not have time to go home at midday. On that date a recent presidential order abolishing the traditional siesta becomes effective.

J-ape "Courtesy" Is Revealed In Captured Plans

AUCKLAND, N. Z., June 1. (U.P.) —Admiral William F. Halsey said today that captured Japanese orders revealed over-confident enemy plans for accepting the surrender of the Americans on Guadalcanal and Bougainville in the Solomons.

Halsey, commander in chief of the south Pacific area, made the disclosure at a press conference after his arrival from an inspection tour of his battle zone.

"We captured orders recently showing exactly where Maj. Gen. Oscar Griswold was to surrender on an airfield at Bougainville," Halsey said. "They were very nice orders. They said Griswold was not to be shot until orders were given. Griswold has not been shot and won't be shot."

A similar enemy order taken long ago specified the place on Guadalcanal where the Japanese would accept the surrender of Maj. Gen. Alexander Vandergrift, commander of U. S. forces on the island.

"If the Japs' back is not broken —and it has been broken in this area—their spine has been very severely weakened," Halsey said.

He said the Japanese still have the power to attack, but it would be so costly for them "I would welcome the attempt."

Officer's Polishing Proves Not In Vain

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 1. (AP)—For weeks, 2nd Lt. George M. Ricker of Auburn, N. Y., assigned to San Angelo Army Air field, polished his brass bar; finally the brass wore off, leaving a silver bar.

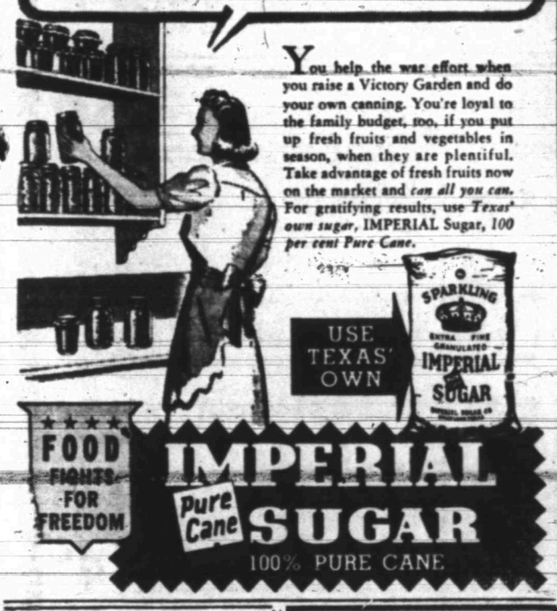

Today he dug it out of a drawer. He had been promoted to first lieutenant.

PIGGLY WIGGLY "A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE"

Casualties, Sorry To Miss Big Drive, Reach Hospital

TEMPLE, June 1 (AP)—Battle-worn and travel-weary and just a little bit sorry they had to leave Italy before the big May offensive got underway, a trainload of battle casualties arrived at McCloskey General hospital today.

There were 64 casualties on the train, most of them Texans and Oklahomans, and the majority representing the National Gurad outfits of the Southwest — the 36th and 45th divisions—although the third and 34th also were well represented.

Arms and Legs Gone

Anzio and Cassino were the names most frequently mentioned as the wounded Southwesterners were unloaded and taken to wards where they will receive treatment for battle wounds. Many returned with arms or legs gone and all with testimony that they had been through some of the toughest batties any army has had to fight.

Sgt. Bonnie Lemons of Wellington, Tex., whose company commander in the 36th division, Capt. Homer M. Spence, is a patient here and was looking for him when he arrived, was wounded near Cassino Dec. 2, just before the drive on Cassino started. He was hit in six places, in the back, stomach, neck and arm.

Hit By Shell Fragments

Private José Martinez of San Benito, also of the 36th, got shrapnel wounds in the head and eye in the attack on the monastery Dec. 23. A Kaufman boy with the first armored division, Pfc. George W. Rogers, was wounded by shell fragments in the arm, back and both legs during an attack on mount Portia, near Cassino, Jan. 5.

His regiment was moving into position for an attack on Mt. Elias, near Cassino, Jan. 27, when Private Earnest E. Carey of Bagwell, Tex., near Clarksville, was wounded. He lost two fingers on his left hand and one on his right. This was the second injury for this 36th division veteran, who also was slightly wounded at Salerno.

Surprised At Offensive

First Sgt. Jefferson B. Adams of Brownwood, with the 36th was hit in the right thigh by shrapnel at Mount Cairo, near Cassino, as his outfit was moving up for an attack on the German position. Adams said he was a little bit surprised when he heard the news of the offensive at Cassino and the capture of that enemy fortress.

Another 36th division officer in the patient convoy was Capt. John S. Palmer of Brownwood, who was wounded in the left hand and arm near Magnano Dec. 6. "I'm glad to be back," said Captain Palmer, "but I'd like to be over there now while they're finishing up the job."

Pfc. Frank Morales, first armored division, son of Santiago M. Morales, New Braunfels, was wounded in the legs by shrapnel fire at Anzio, Jan. 29.

Private James H. Jones, 36th division, Marshall, was wounded near Cassino Jan. 18, when a shell overturned the truck in which he was riding and injured his back.

Patients from North Africa included Private Ewell Singletary of Alto and Private Grover C. Speakman of San Angelo, with the third division.

Organizers' Charter Is Declared Invalid

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP)—A charter issued by the secretary of state to three Austin men for a corporation to organize highway workers today was declared invalid by the attorney general's department.

An opinion to state labor Commissioner John D. Reed said that the charter issued April 5 to Fred D. Doherty, Frank Doherty and Jim S. Fritts for the associated highway construction and maintenance employes was void because the statutory clause under which it was granted does not provide for organizing labor unions.

Clause under which the charter was granted, the opinion said, allows only incorporation of cotton exchanges, chambers of commerce and boards of trade.

Labor unions can incorporate under another statute, the opinion said.

Tests Being Made To Produce Feed From Cotton Burrs

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones has informed Rep. Poage (D-Tex) that laboratory tests are being made to determine the feasibility of using cotton burrs for livestock feed.

In addition to carrying out the tests, the WFA also is requesting the War Production board to approve plans for a pilot plant to determine the possibility of processing burrs not only into feed but into fertilizers and pulp products such as fiber boards and paper, Poage said.

Tests by Agriculture department scientists are to be carried on in collaboration with R. B. Pender, Arlington, Tex., who has done research for more than two years to find uses for that part of the cotton plant which now is considered waste. The burr is the heavy outer covering that shields the staple.

Crushed and supplemented with protein feeds, the burr may prove to be equal in food value to cotton seed hulls, long an accepted livestock feed in the South and Southwest, Poage added. While the protein content of the burr probably is negligible, it may have certain nutritive qualities and provide necessary roughage.

Pinkerton Named To Barlow's A&M Post

COLLEGE, STATION, June 1. (AP)—Robert M. Pinkerton today was named acting head of the department of aeronautical engineering at Texas A. and M. college, succeeding Dr. Howard W. Barlow, who was appointed acting dean of the school of engineering Monday by President Gibb Gilchrist.

Pinkerton is a 1928 graduate of Bradley Polytechnic college, Peoria, Ill., and was research physicist in the aeronautical laboratory of Langley Field, Va., 1929-41, except for one year when he did graduate physics study at the University of Virginia. He has been an associate professor of aeronautical engineering at A. & M. since November, 1941, specializing in aerodynamics and war training work.

Nu-Enamel Corp. Now In The Oil Business

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Completion of its first producing oil well was announced today by Nu-Enamel corp., paint and varnish company, which recently changed its charter to permit production and sale of petroleum.

C. L. Lloyd, chairman, said a well had been brought in on a lease in Montague county, Texas, that was capable of producing 2,000 barrels daily although proration restrictions will limit actual output.

Two other wells have been started in the same field, Lloyd said. The company has a lease on 880 acres in Montague county and drilled the first well in cooperation with the owner of adjoining property.

LAAF Starts On War Bond Quota

Although the Fifth War Loan drive for the country as a whole does not start until June 12, Lubbock Army Air field and all other military installations began their concerted efforts Thursday, to meet quotas much larger than in previous war loan drives.

According to Lt. Will Q. Morris, War bond officer, every organization at LAAF had pay tables in operation today at which enlisted men, officers and civilian employees were urged to put a large share of their monthly pay back into war bonds. Figures on the participation for the first day of the drive were not yet available.

In order to meet the field quota of $180,000 all personnel were being asked to double their present allotments either through new bond allotments or through cash purchases. The Fifth War Loan drive, Morris said, will be run according to slightly different rules than those that have governed past drives. This time the quota is set on maturity values rather than on the payment price and all money paid for bonds during the campaign by field personnel and their families will count toward the huge goal.

LAAF presonnel are already putting $34,563.75 into bonds each month which represents a return at maturity of over $46,000. Cash sales during the Fourth War Loan drive were $32,812.50. This same amount, if purchased this time, would mean $43,750 toward the $180,000 goal. Each organization on the field will be assigned a quota and suitable prizes are planned for the organizations that exceed their quota the farthest, and with a War Bond dance or party planned as the final award for everyone who participates in the drive.

The battle cry, as expressed in letters and bulletins going out to all employes and military personnel is "They are putting everything they have into the fight. You can and must put everything you have into bonds." This slogan referring to the offensives now raging in the Pacific, in Asia, in Italy and from Britain, will be kept before every possible investor from now until the drive ends, Lt. Morris said.

The first bonds sold during the drive when bought for cash by Lt. Morris E. Sweeney, flying instructor, who bought five bonds from the LAAF finance office immediately after the books were closed on May business.

Deepest Oil Test Fails To Produce

FORT STOCKTON, Texas, June 1. (AP)—The country's deepest oil test, at 15,279 feet, has failed to produce in the bottom 100 feet after casing gun perforation.

The well is Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 price. The operator plans to test above that section in a zone where an electrical survey indicated better prospects.

The previous record depth on a well was continental test in Kern county, California, which went to 15,004.

Private Recommends His Sergeant In Hunt For New "Valentino" By Hollywood Studio

By JOAN YOUNGER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 1.—Hollywood's search for a new male star to play the role of Rudolph Valentino, matinee idol of the 20's, reached out to Fort Bliss, Tex., today where an Army private recommended his top sergeant.

"He is handsome," the soldier wrote, "and has a pair of eyes that are attractive enough to bring Betty Grable to his command."

Photographs Pour In

Enclosed in the letter was a photograph—one of more than 20,000 which have poured into United Artists office in New York since the "are you a second Valentino?" contest opened April 1.

Many letters come from wives, who coyly insist their husbands are "the great lover of the century" or "a real swooning type—and I should know."

Men who write to suggest themselves are somewhat more modest, qualifying their boasts of star-material with such phrases as "of course, you would have to fix my nose," or "I have no real sex experience but can learn."

Youngsters Seek Role

There are also pleas from young boys who insist Valentino should be shown as he looked in his teens—and add each is the very person to handle the role.

"My teacher said I could act good when I played the role of Old King Cole five years ago in grammar school," one budding actor, age 19, said. A 15-year-old Chicago boy said bashfully that he knew he wasn't the great lover type, but would do his best, and the mother of a 17-year-old lad, also of Chicago, wrote that her son was young but "very slick."

Policeman Seeks Chance

A policeman in Jacksonville, Fla., asked for a chance to be a Valentino the second, and a Japanese girl wrote that her brother—now training to be a minister—"has the same exotic appeal the shiek had."

Wade Magrum, 17-year old thespian of Peace River, Alta., asked that men outside the United States be considered and included with his letter a statement from his neighbors that he was an "amazing" boy. "I am not egotistical," his letter said, "I just think a lot of myself."

Few of the contestants claimed great powers over women, though one freckled-face youngster said he was called a "woman lover on account I have a flock of girls following me, always calling me all names." Another, adding a postscript to his letter, warned the girls that he was married.

The judges—Mary Pickford, Edward Small, Gregory Ratoff, Emund Guilding and Valentino's one-time sweetheart, Pola Negri—will choose four winners who will be given $500 war bonds, trips to Hollywood and screen tests. The contest closes June 15.

Inflationary Spiral In Price Of Homes Is Cited By Official

NEW ORLEANS, June 1. (AP)—John H. Fahey, commissioner of the Federal Home Loan bank, said here today that he had observed a "disturbing national inflationary movement in the price of homes."

In an address prepared for delivery before the National Savings and Loan League at its first annual meeting this afternoon, Fahey said:

"It is difficult to determine accurately the percentage of inflation . . . but, in my judgment, it is from 25 per cent to 30 per cent above safe values. We have numerous cases where sales are being made at 40 per cent to 50 per cent above what were reasonable prices at the beginning of 1941 . . ."

Senate Amendments Refused By House

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The House refused today to accept Senate amendments—one of them reducing the cabaret tax from 30 to 20 per cent—to legislation increasing the federal debt limit and sent its original bill to a House-Senate conference committee.

The House measure raises the limit from $210,000,000,000 to $240,000,000,000, but the Senate, in addition to the cabaret tax rider which would exempt service men and women from paying the levy, sought to boost the figure to $260,000,000,000.

Berlin Expects Raid On Southern France

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—The Berlin radio asserted today that 15 Allied divisions, five of them tank, were concentrated in French North Africa for an attack on southern France.

The official DNB dispatch said the ten infantry and five tank divisions will enter the battle scene in conjunction with Gen. Eisenhower's invasion of the west coast of Europe. The troops were said to include Moroccan and Algerian units.

The report said it was possible that the Allied command would turn the liberated French island of Corsica, which lies within 103 miles of continental France, into a grand style invasion springboard. The Germans speculated that the Italian Riviera might also be an invasion objective.

"Hope" is the state motto of Rhode Island.

PROMOTION HELD UP

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Confirming promotions for 13 high-ranking Army officers, the Senate in effect concurred Wednesday in the action of its military affairs committee in holding up advancement of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., to the permanent rank of major general.

Britain's famed Lawrence of Arabia was rejected for front line service in World War I because of anemia and short stature.

Artillery Evens Up Score As Anzio Gains Revenge

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AEF ON THE ITALIAN FRONT, May 24 (Delayed)—When the Anzio beachhead burst its bounds yesterday, Fifth Army doughboys who slashed out across the blood-red fields of poppies had the same asset on their side which supported the soldiers striking from the south when this offensive began.

It was a terrific preliminary artillery barrage and while that barrage admittedly didn't clear the mine fields and barbed wire entanglements, and didn't keep the Krauts from fighting a bitter defensive battle, it had an awesome effect.

Thousands Cut Loose

Thousands of guns cut loose in a 30-minute barrage and their targets had been carefully, painstakingly picked. That care paid dividends when the doughboys began making contact with the enemy infantrymen.

"They're scared," shouted one wounded soldier being carried back from the front. "They're damned scared. Our guns have been giving them hell just like they've been giving us hell for the past four months."

Other soldiers said the same thing in a grim sort of glee and the faces of the German prisoners who soon began to file back toward the rear in increasing numbers bore out the opinion. Their faces were faces of men who have been through a terrific ordeal, and if you have taken juts a small dose of the artillery medicine they throw in the early of the morhing you understand why — and you don't sneer at their fear.

Guns Out-Ranged

But you know, too, why the doughboys feel the way they do. For four months they've been slaved in on Anzio and for four months—one third of a year—they've been out-gunned by the Germans; that is, their artillery has been outranged, and they've known what it means to be constantly shelled by guns their own artillery couldn't reach.

"I wonder how they like that . . . I wonder how they like that," one veteran infantryman who had been on Anzio since the start kept muttering over and over during the barrage.

He found out how they liked it a few hours later. Lines of prisoners were filing by—and it was only a few days ago that every German captured had to be brought back under careful guard.

But yesterday and today they slumped doggedly along, glad to be alive, content to call it quits . . . Yes, the artillery did plenty of good.

Resourceful Medicos —

Four frontline medicos probably saved the life of a badly wounded soldier on the opening day of the beachhead offensive, by their "first aid" methods.

They were Pvts. Joseph Cavallone of Brooklyn, Daniel Tusher of Rochester, N. Y., and D. M. Bell of Portsmouth, Va., and Pfc. John Bell of Reading, Pa.

When they found the soldier along the front he was bleeding profusely from mortar wounds in the face and neck—and it appeared doubtful he would survive the shock and loss of blood during the half mile trip to the nearest aid station.

So they rigged up a plasma bottle and took turns carrying the litter and feeding him the plasma he needed on the move. Now he is expected to survive.

Otherwise, doctors said, he pr bably wouldn't have lived.

Texas Schools Open Drive To Aid Crippled Children

GONZALES, Texas, June 1. (AP) —Plans were laid here today to raise $1,000,000 for the care of Texas crippled children through a series of concerts by music departments of schools in the state.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, State Supt. L. A. Woods and representatives of the Texas Music Educators association met at the Gonzales Warm Springs foundation to perfect a fund-raising program. The musical series was their answer and Dr. Woods announced that the first such concert will be held on Oct. 23 in observance of the founding of the foundation here.

Concerts thereafter will be planned at the convenience of each community's music educator, it was announced.

Present for the meeting were Raymond T. Bynum of Abilene, TMEA president; Gelald McGuire of Wink, TMEA committeeman; Charles S. Eskridge, chairman of the foundation series; Ross Boothe, president of the foundation; Henry Reese, foundation secretary; Harold Michelson, foundation treasurer; Mrs. H. H. Weinert, state Democratic committeewoman, and Miss Nell Parmley, of the state department of education.

Governor Stevenson agreed to proclaim a foundation concert day. Money from the concerts will be sent by school administrators to Treasurer Michelson and will go directly to aid the polio victims in the institution, which now has a capacity for treatment of 26 children.

TMEA officials, who outlined the musical program, designated days of Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and May day as feature days in the benefit series to be presented throughout Texas.

This was Governor Stevenson's first visit to the foundation since its completion.

Tulsa Dogs Really In The Doghouse

TULSA, June 1. (AP) — Tulsa dogs can expect the worst from now on.

Mrs. Ann Crippen, stenographer in the city legal department, has been busy for two weeks drafting a new city dog ordinance. This morning a neighbor's dog bit her severely on the leg—and did irreparable damage to a new pair of hose.

Tung Is Now Big Dixie War Crop

POPLARVILLE, Miss., June 1. (AP)—Tung, an agricultural baby which started from a flowering chinawood tree in a Florida cemetery less than 35 years ago, has burst its swaddling clothes in the past four years, and stepped forth a million dollar war crop of Southern farmers.

In the first production figures relased since oil from nuts of the tung or Chinawood tree was declared a vital material of war and its entire production channeled into military stockpiles, Marshall Ballard, jr., secretary of the United Tung Growers association, announced output has jumped from 1,160 tons in 1939 to 9,300 tons in 1943. Prices in the same period have blossomed from 15 cents a pound to 39 cents.

Battling To Plug Hole

"Farmers in six Southern states are battling to plug the hole punched in the domestic supply dike by the Japanese," Ballard said. "America formerly imported 175,000,000 pounds of the oil annually, mostly from China's upper Yangtse valley. But now China is cut off from us, our shipping problem is acute, and supplies of tung oil in this country have steadily dwindled during the past four years."

Dr. Charles W. Goodyear of Bogalusa, La., and Buffalo, N. Y., president of a tung company with more than 500,000 producing trees near Bogalusa, says:

146,800 Acres Of Trees

"Plantations in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas have 146,800 acres of trees under cultivation and mills for crushing the oil from the plum-shaped nuts have been set up at 12 locations scattered over the 50-mile deep producing strip running east and west across the deep South."

Mississippi, with 78,200 acres of trees, leads states in production, with Florida now list 28,250 acres; Louisiana 27,900 acres; Georgia 8,100 acres, Alabama 3,800 acres, and Texas 550 acres.

East Texas Induction Center To Be Closed

DALLAS, June 1. (AP) — The Eighth Service command tonight confirmed reports that the East Texas recruiting and induction center at Tyler will be closed on June 30.

The center at Tyler has been in operation for a number of months and handled selective service and recruiting work for a wide East Texas area.

War Vet Gets So Angry His Voice Stages Comeback

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 1. (U.P.) — Marion Mastriani angrily spat out the word "all right, you support the family and I'll stay home" at his younger brother, then realized it was his first utterance since he lost his voice in Tunisia 16 months ago.

Mario, rendered speechless by a bomb concussion, was protesting 16-year-old Tony's threat to quit school and go to work.

Tony gave a whoop of joy and called the rest of the family. Neighbors and friends were called in and Tony's first argument with his brother since he enlisted in 1940 became cause for a big celebration.

"I just got so boiling mad I had to talk, I guess," said Mario.

Fines Assessed In Black Market Case

DALLAS, June 1. (AP)—Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in federal court yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial for W. J. Pollan and W. M. Bishop of Rice, Navarro county, in a case involving black market tires, set aside an 18-month prison sentence previously given the two, and ordered them to pay fines of $750 each.

The case concerns 115 tires stolen from the B. F. Goodrich Tire company here in March and their subsequent sale in Texas and Louisiana. Pollan and Bishop are scheduled to go to trial in Navarro county district court June 5, on charges involving the same tires. Their counsel said a continuance would be asked.

Both Pollan and Bishop were released yesterday after paying their fines.

Judge Davidson was told that all but 11 of the tires had been returned to their owners and that every effort was being made to recover the remainder.
