THREE ARE INJURED IN CAR CRASHES

ACCIDENTS ON ROAD TOWARD RISING STAR

Three persons of the same family were in a hospital here today as a result of two different crashes on the Cisco-Rising Star highway south of Cisco.

Those in the hospital were Delma Fay Richardson, 9; Dueth Mae Richardson, 10; and J. M. Richardson, 30.

The first accident was blamed as the cause of the second. It was understood today, due to the fact that the second occurred when the Richardson family started to visit Delma Fay in the hospital here.

Delma Fay was injured when a car truck her as she was standing beside a school bus on the Rising Star highway. She was immediately brought to Graham's sanitarium, where attendants reported today that she had suffered a fractured right leg and possible internal injuries. The accident was said to have occurred about 4 p. m.

The other two were injured about 6:30, when the car in which they were riding crashed into a bridge about five miles south of Cisco.

To Visit Girl
Seven persons, Amos Turner, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Richardson and their two children had started to the hospital here to visit the injured girl.

Mart Agnew, who was driving behind their car and was first to reach the wreck, said that they told him that the headlights of another car blinded them and they pulled to the side of the road. Before they had regained the pavement they struck a bridge.

Passersby came to the assistance of the party and aided them to reach the hospital in Cisco. Green's ambulance brought a part of the group to Cisco.

Dueth Mae Richardson was said to have suffered an injury to the right arm and J. M. Richardson a fractured pelvis.

The car, owned and driven by Turner, was demolished.

The Richardson are said to live at the Turner Service station on the highway.

Lost Flier Found Unhurt on Ranch

CHEYENNE, Nov. 21 — Frank Kurtz, young Los Angeles flier missing since Tuesday, was located unhurt at a ranch 30 miles north of here today.

His plane was forced down by high winds within a short time after he took off from Cheyenne en route to Oakland.

Texas League Gets New Higher Rating

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 21 — The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today gave the Texas League a-1 ranking, a new class outranked only by the three major leagues, Pacific Coast League, and American Association.

AWAIT NEWS FROM JAPAN'S PUPPET STATE

TOKIO, Nov. 21 — News from Northern China was anxiously awaited today after an apparent diplomatic victory by Chinese leaders against the high command of the Japanese army in Asia.

It was indicated the autonomous state which the Japanese planned to cut off from Northern China may be reduced to two instead of five provinces.

Forty-eight hours ago it seemed certain an autonomous state, nominally in relations with China proper but actually under Japanese control would be formed from the five northern provinces. The declaration of autonomy was expected yesterday.

Turkey Throwing to Begin at 2 p. m. Saturday

STREET WILL BE CLOSED AS SAFETY PLAN

The Cisco trades day event will start promptly at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the first turkey of a flock given by Cisco merchants is released at the Magnolia Service station at Third Street and D avenue.

Twenty-five firms this morning had announced that they would give turkeys in the event which will bring the first of the pre-holiday big crowds to the city.

Three judges will decide who captures each turkey, so that there will be no ill-will or damaging of the birds. The turkeys will simply be thrown into the air and the persons who capture them will become the owners. There will be nothing to buy, strings attached to the ownership of the turkeys. All that will be required of each person is that he capture one of the birds.

Street Closed
D avenue will be closed to moving traffic, one block at a time. The block in which the event is taking place. As soon as the crowd moves on, the block will again be opened and the next one closed, so that there will be no danger from moving automobiles.

Police Chief M. L. Perdue and his staff of city officers have offered to cooperate in every way possible. They will have charge of traffic detouring during the time the various blocks are closed, which will be only a few minutes for each block.

The trades day event is sponsored by the Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Roundup, with the view of bringing to Cisco a large crowd of people to see the special values in pre-holiday merchandising that the local merchants have to offer and take advantage of them.

Turkey Donors
The 25 firms which have announced that they will give turkeys Saturday are:

Waldo Harris Magnolia Service station, Carl Baird Laguna Service station, Ray Hale's Exide Battery station, Carroll Motor company, A. G. Motor company, Home Furniture company, Lee's Super Service station, The Boston Store, Collins Hardware company, Dean Drug company, Moore Drug company, Altman's Style Shop, John H. Garner's Department store, The Man's Store, J. C. Penny company, The Leach Store, Palace Theater, Norvell and Miller grocery, Clark's Texaco Service station, Ed Huestis Magnolia Service station, Nance Motor company, Cisco Lumber and Supply company, Cisco Daily News and Coca Cola, company, and City Drug company.

Roosevelt Leaves For Warm Springs

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL ENROUTE TO WARM SPRINGS, Nov. 21 — President Roosevelt returned to Dixie today to run the affairs for government for the next three weeks from his home deep in the Georgia hills.

Mr. Roosevelt took with him a mass of unfinished administration work he hopes to finish at Warm Springs.

Included were budgets figures he plans to scan in discussions with federal fiscal experts.

Bankers Elect New Deal foe

An outspoken enemy of the New Deal, Orval W. Adams of Salt Lake City, above, automatically will become president of the American Bankers Association in 1937. He was elected second vice president at the bankers convention in New Orleans, after stirring a bitter debate by advocating a boycott on federal bonds.

DAILY NEWS 100 PER CENT IN RED CROSS

The Cisco Daily News today joined the ranks of Cisco firms with 100 per cent Red Cross membership.

The nine employees in the business, editorial and mechanical departments this morning were on the list of Ciscoans contributing to the 1935 roll call campaign.

An effort is being made to secure as many 100 per cent Red Cross firms as possible by the workers who began the campaign yesterday and are continuing it today. It was pointed out that in order to have a 100 per cent membership each member of a firm must contribute at least $1.

Work of the Red Cross in the World War and in peacetime disasters and emergencies was stressed along with the need for more funds. The Daily News employees include ex-service men.

Mrs. J. E. Spencer, city roll call chairman, today said that an accurate first check upon the number of memberships obtained could probably be obtained this afternoon.

HOW THEY STAND

Below find the active candidates in the Opportunity Club and their relative standing up to the time of going to press on Thursday, Nov. 21st. At no time will the extra credits be published.

NATIONS ACT SPEEDILY TO CHOKE ITALY

The military situation in Ethiopia remained quiet today but the "war" on the European front gathered speed.

The League moved officially to tighten the throttling of Italy by depriving her of oil, coal, iron, and steel to paralyze war industries.

Augusto de Basconcelos of Portugal, chairman of the League "general staff" committee of 18 key nations convoked the committee for a meeting on Nov. 20 to decide on extension of the embargo.

Look To Neutrals
The feeling in League circles, right or wrong, was that the sympathetic attitude of the United States and other neutrals promised some chance of making the embargo effective.

The committee of 18 experts on means of applying sanctions will meet Nov. 27 to prepare for the meeting of the larger committee.

Mussolini showed his determination to fight it out today when he decided to release from military duty 100,000 of the men he has mobilized in Italy. They will be employed to bolster agriculture and industry in an effort to offset the effect of sanctions. In event of trouble they can be called to military service in 24 hours.

Moves Against Britain
Another significant development was expressed by the London News Chronicle that Italy is trying up British funds in that country and suspending payment. It seems the logical move on Mussolini's part in retaliation for Britain's leadership in sanctions but probably will enrage Britain.

The Italian armies in Ethiopia are more or less marking time. Haile Selassie visited his troops in the eastern central region and urged them to resist the invaders to the last man.

New Violence In Strike Is Feared

BARBETON, Ohio, Nov. 21 — Striking workers surrounded the riot damaged plant of the Ohio Insulation company today and renewal of hand to hand fighting with company guards was feared. Rioting had been almost constant for 24 hours. An unknown number of strikers, workers, and guards, had been injured by blows or tear gas.

Wholesalers May Purchase Liquor

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 — Texas liquor wholesalers dealers may purchase liquor from distillers in other states, transport it to Texas, and place it in bonded warehouses without payment of tax until the liquor is removed.

Attorney General William McCraw today advised the state liquor control board.

Highway 187 Here Gets Appropriation

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 — Official projects announced by the highway department and appropriations authorized include:

Eastland county, $1,211, for maintenance of Highway 187 northeast of Cisco.

Johnson county, $10,296, for reflowing the Brazos river bridge on Highway 134.

Rev. Cole Addresses Cisco Rotary Club

Rev. W. H. Cole, new pastor of the First Methodist church, addressed members of the Rotary club at the regular weekly luncheon today on the subject of "The Moral Decay of Capitalism."

A letter has been introduced by Dr. J. Stuart Pearce, who was program chairman for the day.

Making Plans For Lions' Finances

Finance Chairman J. A. Bearman of the Cisco Lions club today was working on plans for disposing of the Electrolux refrigerator presented by the Community Natural Gas company to the organization.

The funds derived from the disposal of the Electrolux will be used to help finance the District 2-E convention of Lions clubs here next spring. It has been announced.

A letter has been dispatched to company officials at Dallas, thanking them for the gift and expressing the appreciation of Cisco Lions. Appreciation was expressed yesterday to Manager H. L. Dyer and other officials at the Lions club meeting yesterday.

INFLATION OF CREDIT TOPIC FOR COUNCIL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 — Members of the federal advisory council discussed today with the federal reserve board the question of mounting excess bank reserves which may be preparing the way for a violent credit inflation.

It was not learned whether any recommendation to cope with the situation were made by the council, which comprises representatives from each of the federal reserve districts.

With excess bank reserves of about $3,000,000,000 it was seen that the base had been laid for credit inflation of $30,000,000,000 by this factor alone.

This was believed the principal problem now facing reserve board governors and it was understood that all the council's time was devoted to the excess reserve situation.

Chicago Man IS SOUGHT IN POISON CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21 — Police today sought a man in Chicago for questioning in the distribution of "packaged death" — two pound sacks of poisoned baking soda which have cost three lives and made 21 other residents of San Francisco ill.

While eight new cases of arsenic poisoning came to the attention of health authorities, efforts were made to locate a man identified as Howard Kading and said to be in the Illinois city.

Kading formerly was employed by the Mamie Salvage company where damaged packages of a nationally advertised brand of bicarbonate of soda were broken open and their contents dumped into barrels and sold at a cut price sale.

Less Cotton Ginned Than in Last Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 — The census bureau today reported 8,437,000 running bales of cotton of the 1935 gross were ginned up to Nov. 14 as compared with 8,635,000 running bales in the same period last year.

Cotton ginning by states up to Nov. 14 has compared with the same period in 1934 included, Texas, 2,961,927, and 2,140,177, the latter being the 1935 figure.

Administration Asks Processors Be Made to 'Pay First, Litigate Later'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 — The administration asked the supreme court today to compel processors of farm products contesting processing taxes to "pay first and litigate later."

A brief filed in the rice millers test case made the request at the same time that attorneys for farmers and processing interests sought to intervene in tests of the New Deal farm program.

The rice case brief was filed at noon, the deadline set by the court. The tribunal has indicated it will decide Monday whether processors may sue to restrain the collection

M'DONALD IS QUIZZED UPON HOUSE STAND

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 — House attorneys began a vigorous cross examination today of J. E. McDonald, agriculture commissioner against whom impeachment charges of negligence and official misconduct are being heard.

McDonald was questioned on four charges during his first hour on the stand. They considered the use of a truck owned by his brother, A. E. McDonald, Waxahachie, to haul state-owned jacks and stallions; acceptance of two mares as a gift from a Kansas breeder; and use of special racing funds.

The commissioner said he made no personal investigation to learn if his brother's truck had been transferred officially to Jim Tate, department employe, but said it was the only truck he knew of specially equipped for the work.

Negro Vet Flies Ethiopian Banner

ATLANTIC CITY, N. C., Nov. 21 — The red, yellow, and green flag of Ethiopia floats between the banners of the United States and Japan over the home of R. C. Hammond.

"The unofficial consulate of Haile Selassie, emperor of the Ethiopians," is the title which Hammond, commander of Camp Lynch Post, Colored Spanish-American War Veterans, has given to his home.

"I am trying to make the colored people of Atlantic City conscious of the gallant fight their brothers are making against Il Duce," he explained.

He posts daily bulletins on a board in front of the house, giving the latest details of the East African war.

Foreign Trade Is Highest Since '31

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 — American foreign trade in October was the heaviest since March, 1931, the department of commerce reported today.

Despite American warnings against trade with Italy, total American exports in October rose to $221,215,000, the highest since March, 1931, when they were $225,809,000. October imports were $189,240,000, the highest since March, 1931, when they were $210,202,000.

Seasonal increase in foreign sales of agricultural products largely accounted for the gain in October exports.

Women Superior In Bidding at Bridge

READING, Pa., Nov. 21 — Women may spend every afternoon playing bridge but men are better players as a class in the opinion of Oswald Jacoby, of New York.

The noted authority on the game said that women are better bidders, however. He came here to take part in the state championship tournament.

ANTI-BRITISH FEELINGS SPREAD AMONG EGYPTIANS

CAIRO, Nov. 21 — Rioting spread in Cairo late today during a general strike against British rule and police fired on the mob.

During the morning police fired with buckshot into a mob in the center of the city, wounding one man. This afternoon the shooting was renewed when demonstrators breaking windows were dispersed. A boy was wounded in the abdomen.

The strike had spread through the bazaars, which were almost deserted. Two of the largest department stores in the center of the city were closed. Others had iron shutters half lowered, ready for an emergency. The strike was on in Port Said and Alexandria, although no violence was reported.

The Coming Gambling Raids

Orders to raid all discovered gambling establishments have been given to state rangers by L. G. Phares, chief of the Texas department of safety. Rangers are to raid all gambling establishments and arrest both patrons and operators. The cleanup apparently will take form in a hurry, now that it is started, and probably will go on for a while, until a number of prominent persons have been arrested.

On the surface, the order looks good. There are few people in the state who would object to such an order. Most of the voters of Texas are opposed to gambling. But there is something about the order that catches the attention of the person who stops to ponder it. Why issue such an order now?

The law on gambling stands and has been standing for some time. The rangers and the safety department know that it is on the statute books. Why have they not been conducting the raids already instead of getting a lot of publicity on raid orders?

Doubtless the rangers will carry out the orders. But now the "big shots" will lie low for a while until the first effect of the "hot news" concerning the orders has blown over. By that time there will not be so much interest in seizing gambling equipment and herding its users off to jail.

What has been said does not mean that this paper is upholding the gamblers. Far from it. But it does mean that it looks with disfavor upon the system that warns the lawbreaker that he is about to be raided for breaking the law and then, after he has had time to get his evidence out of sight, making the raid.

Make the raids, certainly. But why all the fuss over them? Certainly it is not in the interest of the law that the gamblers are warned that they will be raided.

First of the Holiday Crowds

The Cisco merchants are looking to their best holiday season since the depression started.

Already they are beginning to lay in their holiday stock—winter clothing, more of it than usual, gifts, a few more luxuries. They are optimistic over this winter's spending ability of the people in this area.

Larger crowds will be coming to the city for the holiday shopping that will begin in a few days. The merchants, quickly falling in line behind the Daily News and American and Roundup, are arranging to bring the first big crowd to town on Saturday of this week, by inaugurating a trades day, with a large number of turkeys given away absolutely free to the persons who can catch them as they are released.

At the same time, they will be showing unusual values in fall and winter merchandise and holiday specials. The people will have an opportunity to get better acquainted with what they can buy and its unusual value when they come to town Saturday to take part in the trades day event.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

an unsuccessful Republican office-seeker and had come to be known as anti-New Deal. Or to point out that the "power trust" and its lawyer, John W. Davis, were confident of victory in Judge Coleman's court while government lawyers were confident of defeat.

Both sides were right. The "power trust" was able to pick the "battleground." Government lawyers probably would have brought the test—if they could have—in New York, where there are some Democratic district judges.

What the holding companies most wanted was an adverse decision which would give them psychological aid in refusing to register with the SEC on Dec. 1, when the law goes into effect. Their next test will be before District Judge Nields at Wilmington, former G. O. P. officeholder who ruled against the government in the Welton case.

Utilities, testing the TVA, carefully chose to file suit in Birmingham before the late Justice Grubb, a Republican appointee. They won. But when the case came before the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, which happens to be made up preponderantly of Democrats, TVA won a reversal.

When holding companies refuse to register with SEC Dec. 1, the government will start injunction suits to restrain them from operating in violation of the law, and holding companies presumably will sue to enjoin the SEC from enforcing the law.

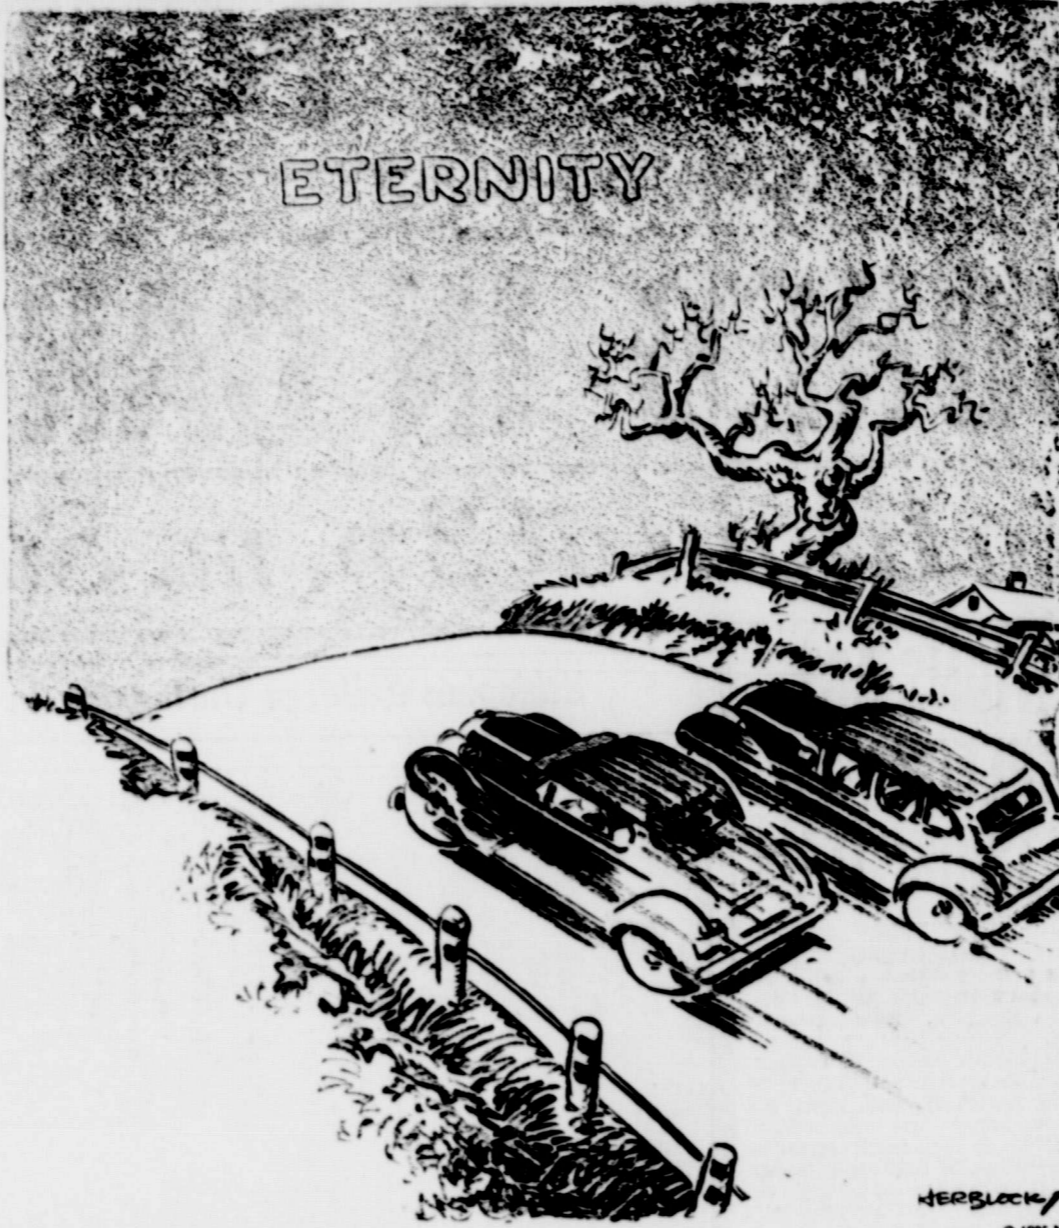

Each side will dash to its favorite district judges. And nothing will count as to the act's constitutionality until the supreme court finally rules. (Its decision is hard to guess.) Which probably will be before summer—very likely on the Baltimore case.

But you needn't think Roosevelt has done any better by the judiciary. His district judge selections almost invariably have been made on recommendation of senior senators from the states involved, with approval of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, who gets much advice from that prince of lobbyists and good fellows, ex-National Committeeman J. Bruce Kremer.

It's no reflection on Judge Coleman to point out that he was

The Race Is On

OUT OUR WAY

Theater Groups In Soviet Are Growing

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—Thousands of dramatic and musical amateur circles exist in the Soviet, with most of them under guidance of professional theatres.

The dramatic circle of the Caoutchouc Plant directed by actors of the Vakhtangov Theatre is one of the most outstanding. A number of productions of this circle are on the level with those of ordinary professional theatres. Sometimes the circles gradually grow into professional theatres. Such as the origin of the Moscow and Leningrad Theatres and of three regional theatres in Moscow.

Cases are many, where talented amateur actors are sent to theatrical schools for further study. To discover talents among young players, the trade unions regularly organize art competitions and olympiads. Music, dancing and singing schools have been opened in most of the parks of culture and rest. The central park of culture and rest in Moscow runs an amateur circus and a dancing school which trained a number of talented actors, some of whom performed at the London International Folk Dance Festival.

DESDEMONA

By MRS. W. C. BEDFORD

On Tuesday, Nov. 5th, the Twenty-One Study club met at the club house for the annual Bible Day program. As guests for the day the members of the Gorman Excelsior club were present and also Mrs. C. O. Bragg of Desdemona. The house had been beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and vines with red berries and bowls of cut flowers. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Clarence Ragland, David Parks, Charles Lee and Preston Sparks. The leader of the program was Mrs. W. H. Davis. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mattie Henry, who welcomed the guests in a short and well worded message after which the leader took charge. Roll call responses were Bible verses about trees and flowers. All present joined in singing "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and Mrs. Davis read the 21st chapter of I Kings in which the account of Naboth's vineyard or "Garden of Grapes" is told. Then followed the main program. An address on "Garden of the Bible" written by Mrs. E. B. Willis, creation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Willis now makes her home with her daughter at Fayetteville, Ark., but formerly lived at Asheville, N. C. where her husband, a noted Presbyterian minister was ill for many months before his death and during that time Mrs. Willis wrote the address and delivered it before Garden Clubs in Asheville and nearby towns as a means of helping out their income. Mrs. C. W. Malby, Desdemona's most gifted reader, gave the address—a 45-minute one, entirely from memory and with splendid expression which held her audience tense with interest. In the address the writer of it considered first the "Garden of Eden" and gave the picture of it as given in John Milton's wonderful epic, "Paradise Lost." Coming down the ages the author described "The Garden of Grapes" and draws a parallel between Jezebel and Shakespeare's Lady Macbeth. The hanging gardens of Babylon, the Garden of Love as described in Solomon's Song, the Garden of the Prophets, the Garden of Gethsemane and as a climax the Garden of Resurrection were each described in beautiful language and with classical literature woven in with the Biblical accounts in such a way as to make the address a masterpiece of literature. At the close of the address Mrs. W. E. Barron and Mrs. Preston Sparks sang very sweetly "In the Garden". Miss Edith Creighton was accompanist. At the close of the program the hostesses served delicious refreshments in two courses, the first, turkey salad on lettuce, olives, brown bread, stuffed celery and coffee. Favors were small turkeys and paper napkins were of Thanksgiving design. Those present from Gorman were Mrs. M. O. D. Brogdon, Carl Sprangberry, M. Stales, Ellen Oldham, Luther Allen, W. I. Dixon and J. E. Foster, and the following of Desdemona: Miss Edith Creighton, Miss S. E. Snodgrass, Preston Sparks, A. C. Robert, C. O. Bragg, W. C. Bedford, John Mendenhall, Mattie Henry, Tom Nabers, C. W. Malby, Roy Ashburn, W. E. Barron, W. H. Davis, Heeter, C. A. Skipping and C. E. Ragland. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moore drove up to Cisco on business Thursday. Miss Della Walls spent the weekend at her home at DeLeon. Mitch Bailey and Wiley Powers drove over to Gorman Monday for Trades Day. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heeter visited relatives at Graham and Breckenridge a few days last week. Mrs. Henry Gentry and Mrs. Howard Williams drove over to Gorman on business Monday afternoon. Style McEntire came home from Breckenridge Saturday a shte casing pulling crew that he works with will work here for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Powers and son, Jack spent the week-end at Cheaney with their relatives, Rankin Browning and family. Born—Saturday, November 16th, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gee, a girl, Walter May and Newt Abernathy in dress Monday. Earl Abernathy drove down to DeLeon Monday. THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

The world-wide myth of man-eating trees is believed to have been originated by Carle Liche, a Polish doctor and world traveler, who, in 1878, wrote a fanciful tale of such trees, carnivorous trees, that reach out and outwine their tendrils about man and beast, have been reported from every corner of the world, but no one ever has seen one.

CHAPTER I

A SLENDER girl with a charming, eager face and rich chestnut hair took her traveling case from a taxi driver and stood holding it until the rattle of the cab died down the quiet street. She thought, looking up at the big, weather-beaten old building in front of her, that it looked very weary, almost as though it were ready to give up.

There was nothing familiar about it. Nothing even faintly resembling the house of which she had dreamed since she was a child.

She had asked the cab driver, puzzled, "You're sure this is the Cameron home? Mrs. Willard P. Cameron, you know?"

"Yes, miss. I know the place well."

And so Dana Westbrook had climbed out. And now she stood staring up at the old house supported by immense Corinthian columns that had once been white and now were only a dirty gray.

Soberly, she picked up her light case and opened the old iron gate, sagging dejectedly on rusty hinges. And then up the long, brick walk from which many bricks were conspicuously missing.

A moment later she pulled down the ancient bronze bell. A hollow peal, which she knew must be resounding hideously within, greeted her.

The door was opened. Very little at first, as though by a cautious hand. And then wider, permitting the face of an old lady to peep through. She had gray hair, drawn back neatly, and blue eyes that held a hint of surprise in them.

IMPETUOUSLY, Dana put down her traveling case. There was a joyous note in her voice: "You're Grandmother Cameron, aren't you?"

"Goodness me, no!" The old lady's voice rose in protest. Then, "Why, you must be Dana. Come in, my dear. And where is your grandmother? She went to meet you."

"I don't know. You see I hadn't the faintest idea what my grandmother looked like. No one seemed to be looking for me, and so I got a cab and came out."

"Yes, of course," said the old lady, her eyes darting anxiously from Dana to the door. "I'm afraid, though, your grandmother won't like it. You see, in our family we always meet trains. And it is rather a reflection on us that you should come home for the first time in twenty-odd years in a cab." "For the first time," Dana corrected her, her eyes dancing in amusement.

"Yes, yes. But you are so like your mother—" Suddenly she placed her arms around the young girl, strained her close, and gave her a quick birdlike peck on each cheek. Kisses that were somehow not without warmth.

"You're Aunt Ellen!" Dana exclaimed. "I should have known, because you are exactly as my mother described you to me—only—"

"Only older." The shy blue eyes smiled understandingly.

"It doesn't matter if you're sweet," Dana said quickly. "Thank you, child. There, I hear your grandmother's car."

Dana heard it, too. It was evidently old, just as everything else around here was. The automobile was making a great deal of noise as it came up the drive.

DANA'S heart was suddenly beating much faster. She thought of something her mother had said to her which she had never forgotten. "Most people have been frightened by your grandmother, for she is rather a stern person, Dana. But I was never really frightened until—the last. Because I knew she loved me very much."

Dana had puzzled over the words "until the last." It was not until she herself was almost grown that she had learned what her mother meant.

It was this knowledge and the realization that she was now about to face the stern old lady that caused the blood to mount swiftly to Dana's face and her heart to beat wildly. In that moment she wished unhappily that she had kept the ocean between herself and this queer old house.

There were hard, firm steps outside. Her aunt rushed to the door. "Sarah!" began a harsh voice. "Sarah's busy. Tuesday's wash day, you know, Agatha." Aunt Ellen said apologetically. "I opened the door for—for Dana—" Her voice broke in excitement. Dana had risen. She walked courageously toward the newcomer, none of her uncertainty and unhappiness showing in her eyes.

The old lady who had entered her big, gloomy room had almost white hair, aquiline features and dark eyes that burned in a thin ace. She stared down at Dana fiercely, terribly.

"I'm very glad you've come," she said, but made no move forward. "The child has come a long way and is very tired." Aunt Ellen said in a gentle, troubled tone.

"Yes, yes," muttered the old lady. She must want to go to her room."

GRANDMOTHER CAMERON sank into a chair, heavily, her brooding eyes fixed on a familiar pattern of the rug. She said, without lifting her eyes, "You are welcome here. We hope you will be happy. You must excuse me for not accompanying you to your room, but I, too, am very tired."

"It isn't necessary," Dana said through stiff lips. "If you'll only tell me where to go."

"Ellen, call Sarah!" Her sister flew to pull a long rope that was concealed behind the faded draperies between the hall and living room. She pulled it twice in her agitation.

An old colored woman answered the summons, grumbling as she came: "Yes'm, I'm coming. Miss Ellen. Fas' as ever my laigs can ca'y me."

She stopped at the sight of Dana. "Fo' de lawd," she whispered, her face gray. "Fo' de lawd!"

"Sarah!" the harsh tones of Grandmother Cameron recalled her. "This is Miss Dana. You have prepared her room?"

"Oh, yes'm." Knotted black hands released the apron corner they had been clutching. Sarah lifted Dana's traveling bag and started up the stairs.

The girl followed, conscious of pitying blue eyes and burning dark ones watching her as she went up the wide, walnut stairs.

The old colored woman led the way down a long hall on the upper floor. The walk seemed endless. And then, suddenly, a door was flung wide.

Sarah whispered: "Go on in, honey child. You're the spit 'n' image of yore pore young ma' who slep' in this room. It ain't never been opened till today since the night she run away with Marse Dana, lovin' him so and misserble married to Marse John. I dunno what come over yore grandma, 'lovin' it to be open for you. Mebbe she's gettin' soft in her old age."

"Thank you, Sarah," Dana said, a lump in her throat. The door closed. She could hear the old servant shuffling down the hall.

Tour Will Promote Creative Dancing

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—The American dance stepped out of its swaddling clothes when Martha Graham, brilliant creative artist and teacher, announced the first transcontinental tour ever undertaken by a modern American dancer.

A pioneer in the dance since her first recitals a decade ago Miss Graham will sweep beyond the borders of the conventional dance spheres to untried territory serene in her belief that the dance speaks a tongue as universal as music.

Miss Graham's technique is her own, her dances are her own based on "the American rhythm" — the scenes and incidents peculiar to this country.

A slim, strong woman with a thin face set off by thick black hair Miss Graham is a prolific artist. Last season she gave more recitals in New York City than any other dancer and this again the fact that foreign artists usually are generously subsidized while domestic talent is forced to struggle through on its own.

"This transcontinental tour is a source of great satisfaction to me," said Herbert Brodsky, press representative for the American Ballet and Miss Graham. "It indicates the great advance the modern dance has made in recent years—an advance that culminates in Miss Graham's swing around the nation."

Miss Graham will set out on her tour early in March stopping on her westward journey at Cleveland, Chicago and Boise, Ida. On the west coast she will dance at Seattle, Vancouver, Portland, Ore., Eugene, Ore., San Jose, Cal., San Francisco, Cal., Stanford, Cal., Carmel, Cal., Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and Pasadena. On the return trip several dates in Texas will be filled.

Cisco Loboes to Meet Childress Friday

GAME IS SET FOR CHESLEY FIELD AT 3:30

When the Cisco Loboes trot out on Chesley field tomorrow afternoon to meet the invaders from Childress, they will be trying to prove that their win over Ranger last week was no fluke but the result of long hours spent at work perfecting a light but high-powered scoring machine.

The game has been set tentatively for 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. The Loboes are due to spot their opponents a weight advantage, but other team they have met this season and will not be greatly worried over any such advantage.

The Ciscoans are likely to take to the air and to use wide sweeps around the ends, utilizing the lateral pass attack they worked with such fitness against the Bulldogs last week.

Start Same Team

The Loboes likely will start about the same team as that which played against the Rangers, it has been indicated. If Fred Rylee gets into the game, he probably will take over the left halfback post, with McCannies at the other half and Woods at full. In most of the games so far, Coaches Dexter Shelley and Clyde Van Sickle have been waiting until Cisco is within scoring distance to send in Beasley, speed demon of the Lobo backfield.

Stansbury at quarter will complete the backfield. The line probably will consist of Wagley and Wendt at ends, Burnham and Barnes at tackles, Merritt and Rainbolt at guards, and Ivie at center. There may be some shifting about, however, especially if Ivie's bad leg forces him out of the game, in which case Barnes likely will go to center and Cleveland to tackle.

It will be a sort of homecoming to the Childress men. Coach Joe "Hoot" Gibson formerly was coach of the Eastland Mavericks, and has had much experience with Oil Belt play.

and most extensive wholesale liquor dispensaries in the country. The other half-forgotten Clevelanders who has risen in the commercial world is Johnny Risko, the "Big Fella" and former baker boy who slung fists for a decade, blighted more heavyweight hopes than any boxer prior to Joe Louis and at one time was as close to the heavyweight championship as Louis is now.

Risko attempted to succeed to the heavyweight throne abdicated by Tunney and at one time laid vigorous claim to it. The bludgeon like right arm that a short time ago battered down such noted contemporaries as Jack Sharkey, former champion, Mickey Walker and the recently annihilated Kingfish Levinsky, now is engaged in the non-devastating occupation of pumping gasoline. In addition to real estate holdings and an interest in the rubber industry, Risko owns and operates his own filling station.

If the Mustangs win over Baylor and the Frogs are victors over the Owls, the TCU-SMU game on November 30 is going to be the most colorful ever played in the southwest. It probably will draw the largest crowd ever to see a game in Texas, and the outcome will be carefully watched by pickers of the All-American teams, the Pacific coast boys who write the invitations to the Rose Bowl, and fans all over the nation.

Sports Figures Of Past in Business

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20—Two of the nation's one-time athletic "immortals" today, although living in a state of semi-obscure, are enjoying lucrative returns from business enterprises.

Tristram (Tris) Speaker, former star outfielder of the Cleveland Indians and perhaps the greatest fielder in the history of the game, is executive manager of his own company—Tris Speaker, Inc. Instead of backing up for the high fliers, as in the olden days, he now pushes high-balls on the open market, or rather the wherewithal and ingredients of which they are composed. Speaker, shortly after release, organized one of the largest

Uses Pigeons To Save Wire Tolls

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Nov. 21—Miss Gladys Tucker of Wakefield, a South Hampton, N. H., school teacher, uses homing pigeons to notify her parents of her safe return after a weekend at home.

Miss Tucker has to drive through heavy traffic en route to South Hampton and it worries her parents until they hear from her. She used to telephone or telegraph, but this practice became too expensive.

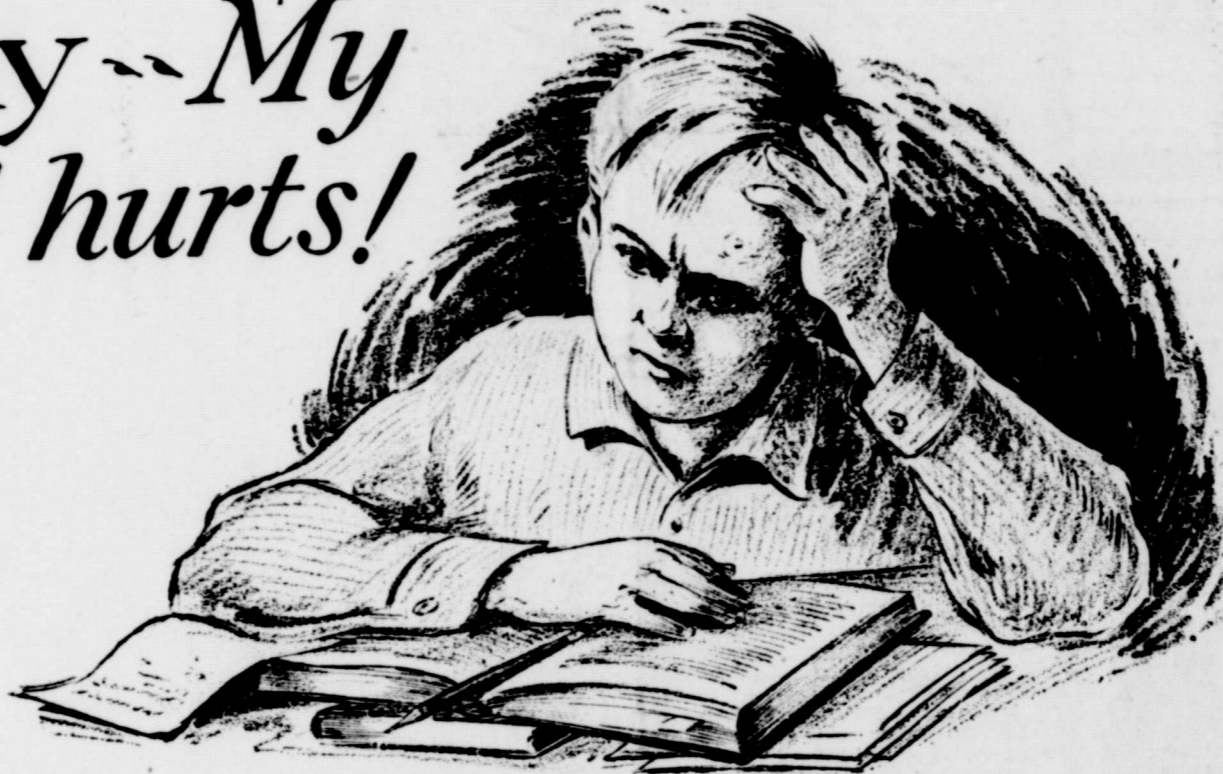

Her father, Martin Tucker, is a breeder of homing pigeons, so she decided to take a few back with her and release them when she reached her destination. Within an hour after their release the birds were back in the coop. This system now notifies her parents of her safe return each week.

Mother, I can't Study - My head hurts!

As a usual thing, he is "such a regular guy." He comes home from school full of pep and energy. Of course you want him that way always. But are you protecting his health and safety during the few short months of winter when he must spend his evenings indoors?

That uncomfortable "stuffy" feeling... dullness... lowered vitality... headache—these are some of nature's ways of complaining against improper heating and insufficient ventilation. These are the warning signals that America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, has found another fertile field in which to attack. For your health's sake and that of your loved ones do not wait for these definite signs of warning that the air indoors has become stale. Keep the air you breathe constantly purified with fresh oxygen through adequate ventilation in every room in the house.

Without oxygen man cannot live. Without oxygen, fuel cannot burn. Therefore, if your family "huddles" in one or two rooms around an open flame heater during cold weather with the doors and windows tightly closed, you are violating all the rules of nature, good health and good heating. Sooner or later the occupants of the room and the burning fuel reduce the oxygen content to the point where the room air becomes stale. Without adequate ventilation and circulation the air indoors may become as foul and unhealthy as that of the tenement slums of large cities, even though your home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood.

A simple and easy method of providing a constant circulation of fresh air is found by opening a window in each room a few inches from the top and bottom. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms when the entire house is adequately heated provide a natural circulation of pure warm air from one room to another. Incidentally, fresh, pure air is easier and more economical to heat than "stale" air.

Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper ventilation of pure air in every room in the house.

Tune in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for vital facts to help you guard your family against the common cold germ.

BIG DAM CHATTER

There is just about one question being asked in sports circles here these days that is: "Who do you think will win, Rice or TCU?" To anyone who might have the lack of foresight to ask a sports writer such a question, the answer is, simply: "You guess."

The Owl-Frog game is drawing more interest than any other Southwestern game has drawn in a long time. The Frogs have their following and the Owls have theirs. Then there is a great flock of fans who prefer neither team but who are intensely interested in football generally and good football in particular.

This third group of fans will be interested in the scrap Saturday because it probably will be one of the best games ever played in the Southwestern conference. Both TCU and Rice have good teams, really great teams, although Rice had a great deal of trouble with the Cadets from A. and M. last week.

The other game that will draw the attention of the state—and the

DRIVE STARTS TO REVITALIZE PACIFIC TRADE

By TEG C. GRONDAHL
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21 —Granting of charter to the United Transpacific-Latin American association under the California non-profit law marked the beginning of a vigorous American movement to revitalize Pacific export and import trade.

One of the first announced aims of the association was to throw its united influence toward an early restoration of international monetary stability.

Leaders said they also planned to seek to devise practical means of modernizing and adjusting present "obsolete" foreign credit machinery to serve adequately present day requirements.

The formation of the association was described by sponsors as the outgrowth of a nationwide non-political movement among business leaders "who believe that the revival of international trade is indispensable to permanent recovery and restored prosperity."

Other States to Aid
The movement was said to be sponsored by governors of 35 states as well as by commercial, industrial and agricultural interests.

Activities of the association will be directed especially to developing sound trade relations and business friendships with Latin America, Australia, Japan, China, Russia, Canada, Mexico, and all countries bordering on the Pacific, officials said.

Gov. Frank P. Merriam, in accepting membership and honorary chairmanship of the Board of Governors, said:

"The promotion of business friendship and better understanding between America and her neighbors bordering the Pacific is in accord with my views."

Seek Tariff Revision
The organization sounded a firm note in announcing its objectives. These objectives included the "use of combined force and influence in support of governmental and other efforts to progressively readjust the international discriminatory tariffs quotas, exchange controls and other restrictive barriers which, by paralyzing and obstructing the normal channels of foreign commerce have contributed largely to the collapse of world trade.

The association will maintain expert business commissioners in foreign countries to develop exports and imports and to initiate mutually advantageous barter transactions designed to liquidate America's surpluses.

Active negotiations for the release and liquidation of existing frozen foreign commercial balances will constitute another important phase of the association's immediate work it was said.
