Armed Robbery Suspect Surrenders

By Nanalee Nichols

A twenty-four year old Talco area man, Ronnie Stephen Clements, was arrested Saturday at 5:45 p.m. and charged with the Wednesday morning armed robbery of the Deport Shamrock Station, is a suspect in the armed robbery of Francis Food Store and the Enloe State Bank.

The Francis Food Store robbery was expected to go before the Grand Jury on Wednesday, December 5 and charges of aggravated bank robbery were filed in Eighth Judicial District Court on Tuesday, December 4 by the District Attorney's office for the Friday night armed robbery of the Enloe State Bank.

The apparent end to what appeared to be a crime spree came when Clements surrendered to Lamar County Deputy B.J. McCoy and Texas Ranger Eddie Almond in Bogata on Saturday. The suspect's father of Blossom, called the Lamar County Sheriff's Office and said his son would give himself up, but didn't want a lot of police cars converging on him. Law officers then went to Bogata and arrested Ronnie Clements.

The first armed robbery occurred on Thursday, when a small, thin man in a ski mask and armed with a rifle or shotgun entered Francis Food Store and demanded the money.

Just after this paper's release last Wednesday, November 28, the Shamrock Station west of Deport on Highway 271, and operated by Edith Mitchell, was held up in almost the same fashion. Mrs. Mitchell identified a black Chevrolet Luv pickup fleeing the scene, and a small black pickup was seen at the Francis Food Store robbery scene.

Mrs. Mitchell said, too, that the suspect was small, thin and wearing a ski mask and armed with what she thought was a shotgun.

On November 30 at around 7 p.m. the Enloe State Bank, located in Delta County, was held up, and again the black Chevrolet Luv pickup was identified.

Delta County law officers pursued the bank robbery suspect, and more law officers picked up the trail, with roadblocks being set up all over the area around Cunningham.

The driver of the black truck made a "U" turn and attempted to flee back west, but law officers shot the tires on the vehicle out.

The suspect then fled through a pasture and into some woods on foot. Reportedly around $9,000 was found scattered in the cab of the truck, plus a weapon.

The search for the robber went on until 2 a.m. Saturday morning, but dogs apparently lost the trail and could not pick it up again.

Law enforcement officers worked on the case all day Saturday, and then the call to the Sheriff's Department from the suspect's father was received.

The truck has been impounded by Lamar County Sheriff's deputies, and bond was set at $50,000 by Justice of the Peace Chester Oakes.

Flies.....perhaps a less than "couth" subject, but one that is definitely timely.

With cold weather and hard frosts already here, one would think that the pesky, domestic beastie known as the common housefly would have departed for a few months...but not so.

In the afternoons when things warm up, the little aerial aggravationists swarm in record numbers.

At our house site there is a three inch hole in a door where a doorknob has not yet been placed. And as the temperature drops outside and stays warm inside, one can sit back and look at a stream of flies droning in like they had been assigned the place for an operations base.

Other folks inform me that it is the same way at their homes.

The irritating, unsanitary little insects make a holding pattern outside the door, circling patiently until the door opens...then, with a precision that most pilots would envy, they make a perfect dive and land inside a warm, comfy house.

Of course, many of them meet a drastic end. Fly swatting, while not too graceful an exercise, does require skill, cunning and speed. In fact, it might not be a bad choice if the Olympics ever want to add another sport to their repertoire.

Poisons, swatting, sticky papers and screens do limit the population...but it certainly doesn't eliminate it! Nothing seems to keep the infamous fly from his appointed duties!

Duties? What duties does a fly have? Well, ti seems to me that they have been specifically appointed to do several things. Drown themselves in any form of food, hide under ice cubes in glasses...swarm around a table, even if there isn't anything more than a salt shaker on it..land on noses and eyebrows..it's quite a long list.

They are, perhaps, put here as a challenge to mankind. A symbol of nature over the human spirit! Because, the sad fact is, that no matter how fast the door is opened and closed, no matter how much bug spray is saturated into the air, nor how many people are dedicated to squashing the housefly...he remains. And remains, and remains!!

OLD PHOTO—Motorcycle races at Talco on Sunday, June 9, admission $.25, starting at 2:30 p.m. Plenty of parking space. That was an advertisement run in the Talco Times in 1938. Puluxy Motorcycle Club was the name of the races and spectators were promised a professional race and assured that they would suffer no harm from dust since the track was well oiled. Sponsors guaranteed their moneys' worth. A trophy and cash prize was awarded to the winner. E.W. Smith, who learned to ride the cycles in World War I, was the club's president.

MARCHING ALONG, even though it was cold and damp, the Rivercrest Rebel Marching Band added spice, sound and fun to the Talco Christmas Parade. (Staff Photo)

Community Service
We're neighbors and hometowners and that means a lot. It means we know the community from way back — and the businesses and the people in it.
Our future, like your own, is right here. No big city bank pulls the strings, or can siphon off deposits and earnings to some central headquarters — we're home-owned.
When you make deposits here, we have that much more to lend out in our area for business expansion, consumer purchases, etc. And that means more jobs, more sales and a brighter economy. When you borrow, the products and services bought with your loan help to build a healthy volume of local trade, and that's a help to local employment, too.
Think about it. Doesn't it make good sense to use your community independent bank for all your financial needs? Check our list of services below. We are here to serve you every way we can.

Jett-Stewart Exchange Vows

Genie Stewart of Lake Palestine became the bride of Ed Jett, also of Lake Palestine in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, September 15.

Officiant for the wedding was the Honorable Rev. George Folmar of Holiday Hills Baptist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harville of Cuthand, is a graduate of Bogata High School and is the original owner of C.M. Stewart Concrete Companies in Mesquite.

The bridegroom, resides in Lake Palestine and is currently employed as a conductor for the Missouri Pacific Railroad in Palestine.

Miss Stewart wore a long ivory Belgium lace dress with a high satin bodice and tailored sleeves buttoned together by dainty white pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of blue roses, carnations and Frescia that was accented with baby's breath. A coronet of seed pearls enveloped her Victorian hat, with the lace bow falling to the floor. She was given in marriage by her brother, A.W. Harville from Hurst.

Mr. Jett wore a western cut camel suit with matching shirt and a blue and white tie. The boutonniere on his suit was creamy white rosebuds.

Matron of Honor was Elaine Beard of Bogata, sister of the bride. Best man was Charlie Jett of Lake Palestine, brother of the groom.

Jeremy Jett, son of the groom was the ringbearer. He carried the wedding band that was given to the bride.

Flower girls, Kristopher and Kody Stewart, Amy and D'Anna Stewart, grandchildren of the bride, presented the bridegroom with his wedding band.

Others presiding over the ceremony were the children of Genie, the bride, Roger and Sandy Stewart, Warren and Betty Stewart and Mark and Kim Stewart, all of Mesquite.

Also presiding was Mildred McGranaghan, the groom's sister of Tyler.

The motif for the wedding was western style and Ed and Genie exchanged their vows in front of their newly constructed log cabin house, where the newlyweds were feted at a reception for 150 people.

Leaving in their matching Jordache jeans and white western shirts monogrammed with their initials, the couple drove off in their Southwind mobile home on an extended honeymoon to Freeport for deep sea fishing.

Upon returning, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jett will reside at 10 Edgewater Shores on Lake Palestine.

Cattlemen Should Be Aware Of New Vaccination Requirement

Livestock producers in the Class C Area of Texas should be making plans now to have their 1985 calf crop vaccinated in order to comply with a new vaccination regulation for brucellosis.

The regulation applies to heifers born after January 1, 1985, changing ownership within the Class C Area of Texas. State funds are available for vaccinations. Contact your veterinarian or area Texas Animal Health Commission office for details.

The regulation requires that heifers born after Jan. 1, 1985 between four and 12 months of age which are acquired and used for breeding, grazing, dairying or confinement in a nonquarantined feedlot must be vaccinated or be subject to these restrictions: heifers born after Jan. 1, 1985, which are over 12 months of age and are unvaccinated can only legally change ownership after being spayed, or moved to a livestock market and S branded prior to sale, or consigned direct to slaughter, quarantined feedlot or quarantined pasture.

The regulation applies to 113 counties in the Class C area of Texas including Cass, Camp, Delta, Fannin, Franklin, Lamar, and Red River.

Tips On Pecan Freshness

By Mary Lou Williamson

By purchasing a new crop of Texas pecans right after harvest, it's possible to preserve their freshness through proper stage. Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a Food and Nutrition Specialist with Texas A&M University has researched suggestions for maintaining a fresh pecan flavor by using correct storage methods for maximum flavor and nutrient retention, pecans should be stored in a cool dry place. The fat in pecans can become rancid very quickly if they are not properly stored.

Pecans in the shell will keep at room temperature for about six months without becoming rancid. Shelled pecans become rancid quickly when stored at room temeprature. In the refrigerator they will keep for six months to a year and in the freezer even longer. Frozen nuts defrost quickly and only need to be removed from the freezer a few minutes before using.

Nutmeats can pick up odors from other foods very easily. To guard against off flavors, store shelled pecans in tightly sealed containers, such as plastic food storage containers or cans with tight fiitting covers.

Some moisture in pecans makes them easier to shell and increases the number of perfect halves. Nuts just harvested may have enough moisture. If they have been stored for some time, soak the pecans in cold water overnight or cover with water and bring to a boil. Drain and crack. Pecans treated in one of these ways may need to dry slightly to restore crispness.

High in energy because of their high fat content, pecans also furnish calcium, phosphorus, iron, potassium and magnesium. They are a good source of B vitamins like thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. Do not forget to try Dr. Cooksey's storage suggestions for pecans.

Here's A Pig Tale!

By Wm. C. Barnard

Old Scrub was a sow pig. She was a potbellied little runt that had always been pushed to the end of the show line by her more healthy brothers and sisters, and she usually got her part last, if at all. Because of her dim prospect for survival, Uncle George gave her to me. I took her home and put her on a diet of buttermilk and kitchen scraps. She soon got on her feet and grew into a fat and sassy shoat.

That year my Dad and some of the nearby neighbors all planted patches of sorghum cain to make syrup. When the cain was ready, a syrup maker moved his mill and pan on to our place and set up business near the stock pond so that he would have wash water.

The mill consisted of three cast iron rollers in an iron frame, set up in a vertical position on top of four large posts. A long pole, about seven inches in diameter at the butt was bolted to an iron plate at the top of the shaft of the largest roller. A mule was hitched to the other end of the pole, and as he traveled round and round, cain was fed in between the rollers and the juice mashed out run into a barrel as the cain passed through. The copper pan was about four feet wide by ten feet long by six inches deep and was placed on two brice walls about eighteen inches high. The pan was divided by partitions some six inches apart and with gated openings at alternate ends. The whole assembly formed a furnace with one end open to receive fire wood as needed, and the other end ended in a smokestack.

The raw juice was taken from the barrel and poured in one end of the pan and slowly chased to the other, cooking along the way. During the cooking process foam and scum would form on top of the boiling juice. The foam would be skimmed off from time to time, with a perforated skimming scoop, and dumped in the skimming hole which was dug in the ground a few feet from the furnace.

As the cooking process was completed, the finished syrup would be drawn off from a spigot at the end of the pan and run through a cloth strainer into buckets.

After a few days, the skimming hole contents fermented and was about as potent as some of the home brew that was made in those days.

One Sunday, while the mill was shut down, and the skimming hole slop was at its best, Old Scrub and her associates in the barn yard made a hole in the fence and got out. The cain juice and fermenting skimming hole muck smelled good to them so they headed in that direction. When we found them, they were all covered with soured grime and were staggering around loop-legged drunk.

Old Scrub got over her intoxication and grew into a fair sized hog. One day, Osie went out to the barn and Old Scrub was real busy running all over the place, gathering corn shucks and other trash and piling it in a corner of one of the mule stalls.

When Osie saw Dad he asked what was going on with Old Scrub. He told Dad that the hog was cleaning up the barn lot and piling the trash in the barn.

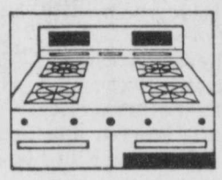

Dad said, "Maybe it's going to turn cold and she is making a warm bed."

The next morning, Osie went to the barn, and Old Scrub was stretched out in her shuck bed, and six little pigs were all lined up at the milk bar.

Natural Gas...

It's nature's most perfect fuel, but it can become hazardous if it leaks or flows freely into a confined space.

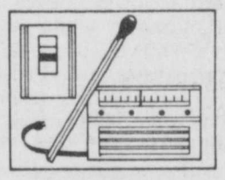

If you smell gas, and the odor is light and hard to trace:

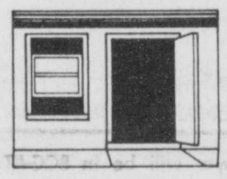

Check all pilot lights to see if they are burning. Check your range to see that all burners are turned off.

If odor is persistent, or you can detect gas escaping:

1. Do not strike a match, operate light switches, or use electrical or battery operated equipment.

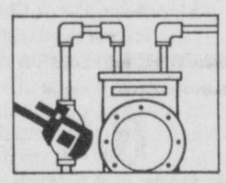

2. Ventilate your home by opening doors and windows at top and bottom, if possible.

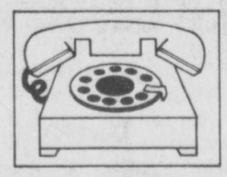

3. Evacuate all persons from your home.

4. Turn off gas valve at the meter.

5. Use a telephone outside your home and call your Arkla Gas office for assistance.

After gas leak has been located and repaired, allow only Arkla Gas or other qualified personnel to turn your gas back on and relight pilot lights.

Natural gas has a better safety record than any other form of energy. Please help us keep it that way.
