Pool to open

School is out and Towle Park swimming pool is set to open Saturday.

Problems with some pipes that caused the cancellation of "Splash Day" have been corrected, and the pool will open for operation at 1:30 p.m.

Pool hours this year are from 1:30 until 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, with family night set for Saturday from 6:30 until 8 p.m.

The pool is closed on Monday for routine maintenance and cleaning.

Admission prices are $1.50 for ages 17 and under, and $2 for those 18 and over.

On family night, the entire family can swim for $4.

Monthly swim memberships are $25 per person and family memberships are $50 for two people, plus $15 for each additional family member.

The pool's concession stand will be open during regular operating hours, said Harrison.

Aqua aerobics will begin Tuesday and continue until July 29. The cost for the class is $40 and the class will meet from 5:30-6:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Swimming classes also start Tuesday with classes for beginners, advanced, intermediate and adult beginner classes slated.

Cost is $25 per person for eight classes of 55 minutes each. Classes will meet Tuesday through Friday for two weeks.

Harrison said the pool is available for private parties with prices starting at $30 per hour for groups up to 30 people.

All financial institutions will be closed as will city and county offices.

However, the city landfill will be open Saturday and Monday.

Scurry County library will observe the holiday, closing Saturday through Monday, reopening for normal hours on Tuesday.

HERE I GO — The 1998-1999 school year is just a memory as classes dismissed for the summer on Thursday. West Elementary students enjoyed playdays earlier this week. Briana Rose, who just completed kindergarten, took her turn bouncing on the ball which was the first part of the obstacle course.

Sexual assault nets 15 years

A 39-year-old Snyder man was sentenced to serve 15 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice following a guilty plea entered Monday in 132nd District Court.

George Gonzalez Garcia of 1405 31st Street pleaded guilty to a July 19 charge of aggravated sexual assault of a child under 14 years of age.

The 15-year prison term was handed down by District Judge Ernie Armstrong.

In other district court action, Elidia Mary Guerrero, 41, of 406 31st Street pleaded guilty to possession of a controlled substance, cocaine.

Guerrero was sentenced to serve two years in a state jail facility, probated for three years. She was fined $750 and given the opportunity for deferred adjudication.

CLOSE CALL — This 1997 Chevrolet pickup was upended in a two-vehicle accident around 1:48 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of 37th Street and Denison Ave. The driver of the pickup, Lyndell Lee, and his passenger, Brandon McGuire, were transported by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Hospital where they were both treated and released. DPS is gearing up for holiday rush

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 27 people could die in traffic crashes during the Memorial Day weekend.

Last year, 24 people lost their lives on Texas roadways during the 1998 weekend. Three of those were pedestrians, and one was a bicyclist.

"The numbers last year play like a broken record," said DPS director Col. Dudley M. Thomas. "Fifty-four percent of those who died perished in alcohol-related wrecks and half of those killed were not wearing safety belts."

DPS troopers will be out in force watching for drunk drivers, speeders, aggressive drivers and seat belt violators.

"Unfortunately, there are some drivers who just won't play by the rules and end up putting all our lives and property at risk," said Thomas. "We want people to have a long, safe summer holiday season."

The 78-hour Operation Motorcide period begins 6 p.m. today, and runs thorugh midnight Monday.

The DPS will release fatality figures at 3 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday. A final report will be issued Tuesday by the DPS.

Veteran organizations to mark Memorial Day

Scurry County Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Post 8231 and the American Legion Post 181 are planning several events to honor veterans this Memorial Day weekend.

A flag raising ceremony is set for 9:15 a.m. Saturday at the American Legion Post 181, plus additional ceremonies are planned at Snyder Cemetery at 9:30 a.m. and at Hillside Memorial Gardens at 9:45 a.m.

A flag raising ceremony will be held at the courthouse at 10 a.m. Flags will be raised and lowered to half mast. The VFW is asking all Snyder and Scurry County to do the same in honor of the deceased.

During the Saturday ceremonies, special note will be made that this is the 100th year of the VFW.

Jodi Ascol, daughter of Rhonda and Jimmy Elam, and a fourth grader at East Elementary, is the 1999 Poppy Girl.

Poppies, a major source of revenue to aid local veterans, will be on sale Saturday at IGA.

The American Legion is also planning a flag retirement at 7 p.m. June 14. American Legion members are asking that anyone with a torn flag to bring it to the American Legion Post 181. The flags will need to be be there on or before the 14th.

The American Legion Auxiliary meets the second Monday of every month. New officers will be elected June 14 and installed July 12. All members are urged to attend.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Another school year is history, but take notice. It may be a hot summer, but it won't be a long one.

School cranks up again in early August, so those summer plans with the kids need to be firmed up soon.

But some things don't change, like answers on final exams. Thanks to Danny Andrews, in the Plainview Daily Herald, here are some actual test answers:

—The future of "I give" is I take."

—The parts of speech are lungs and air.

—The inhabitants of Moscow are called Mosquitoes.

—A census taker is a man who goes from house to house increasing the population.

H2O is hot water and CO2 is cold water.

—A virgin forest is a forest where the hand of man has never set foot.

—The general direction of the Alps is up.

—A city purifies its water supply by filtering the water, then forcing it through an aviator.

—Most of the houses in France are made of plaster of Paris.

—One of the main causes of dust is janitors.

—A scout obeys all to whom obedience is due and respects all duly constipated authorities.

—One by-product of raising cattle is calves.

—To prevent head colds, use an agonizer to spray into the nose until it drips into the throat.

—The four seasons are salt, pepper, mustard and vinegar.

—The climate is hottest next to the Creator.

—Oliver Cromwell had a large red nose, but under it were deeply religious feelings.

—The word trousers is an uncommon noun because it is singular at the top and plural at the bottom.

—Syntax is all the money collected at the church from sinners.

—In the spring, the salmon swim upstream to spoon.

—Iron was discovered because someone smelt it.

Have a fun, but brief summer vacation.

Experts: Mars is pear-shaped

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new laser-produced map of the red planet shows that Mars is a land of extremes, with the highest, lowest and smoothest land forms found in the solar system.

A three-dimensional map of Mars, drawn from measurements taken by the Mars Global Surveyor program, also shows the planet to be pear-shaped, with towering volcanic mountains in the south, and a smooth lowland in the north.

There's about 19 to 20 miles difference between the highest and the lowest points on Mars, about 1½ times the range of elevation seen on Earth, said David Smith, a NASA scientist and the lead author of a study appearing today in the journal Science..

Smith said that an asteroid or other space rock smashed into Mars billions of years ago and blasted out a crater deeper than Mount Everest is high.

On the other extreme is a volcanic mountain, called Olympus Mons, that soars almost 17 miles above the average elevation of Mars, making it the highest volcano in the solar system.

In the northern hemisphere, there is a huge basin that dips down to about six miles below the average elevation of Mars.

Maria Zuber, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a co-author of the mapping project, said the basin "is consistent with the formation of a past ocean."

Whether or not Mars ever had enough water to fill such a basin is still unconfirmed. she said.

Too many area codes added

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telephone regulators want to slow down the creation of new area codes and spare phone users from continually having to learn new dialing patterns.

The Federal Communications Commission responded to the proliferation of new area codes in recent years by asking for public guidance Thursday on ways to conserve the pool of phone numbers.

Industry officials and others will have three months to comment on several commission proposals. Adoption of at least some of the proposals could come early next year.

"This item's long overdue," said Commissioner Gloria Tristani. "We're in a crisis with numbers."

FCC Chairman Bill Kennard said the need to change area codes imposes real costs to business and residential customers.

"Consumers have to go through the trouble of alerting friends and relatives to the changes, and businesses have to spend money notifying their customers," he said. "If we take responsible action now, we can avoid confronting a catastrophe in the future."

Growing demand for cellular phones, pagers and second lines for modems and fax machines is often blamed. But more at fault is the way numbers are assigned, in blocks of 10,000, which leaves many numbers unused.

For example, Pennsylvania goes from four area codes in 1994 to nine on June 5. California is projected to have at least 39 by 2001, three times the 13 it had early 1997.

Maine is considering a second area code, even though the 7.92 million number combinations available ought to be enough for every man, woman and child in the state to have a modem line, a fax machine line, a pager and two cell phones, as well as a regular phone.

The United States now has about 215 area codes, almost double the 119 in service in 1991. Industry officials project the need for 30 new codes a year unless changes are made.

The relief options outlined by the commission would not stop new area codes in the works but could prevent or delay the need for others in the future. Officials said the commission was likely to adopt more than one conservation mechanism.

Under the existing block system, created in the days of the telephone monopoly, competing local carriers acquire a block of 10,000 numbers for every billing region they wish to serve. An area code may cover dozens or hundreds of such regions.

If a carrier has only 100 customers in a given region, the remaining 9,900 numbers of the block are tied up.

Your Birthday

Saturday, May 29, 1999

Some rather mysterious conditions could aid in your acquiring a number of things in the year ahead that you've been wanting on for a long time. Life has a way of evening things out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If something occurs today over which you have no control to hamper your involvement with your pals, bide your time until everything returns to normal or you may prolong the impediment. Gemini, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper. P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It could be one of those days when your personal desires might have to take a back seat to those of your family. It may seem that everyone has better reasons for their needs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you can't appreciate the people in your life for what they are, look for other associates instead of trying to make everyone over into your own image. It won't work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take care not to allow yourself to be unduly influenced by an acquaintance hawking a speculative venture today. If the deal is so good, let him or her do it alone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although you might prefer partners in getting something done, bringing one in on a matter you can handle better alone would be mistake. It might saddle you with dead weight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The possibility of achieving success when doing things in a hit-or-miss fashion are nil and you know it. If you hope to attain your objectives today, apply the proper preparation and effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This might not be the best day for you to invest in anything large in scope because conditions are a trifle tricky and you could get caught smack in the middle of the snafu.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you feel overpowered or outmaneuvered in the outside world today, don't take things out on those you love just because you know they'll forgive you. It's not fair.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're picking the wrong day to take on an individual in a debate you know you're ill equipped to handle. You'll have to win the argument some other way.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of trying to keep up with the Joneses today, be who you are, do what you can and spend only what you can afford. This includes associations with friends or family.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Should someone or something come between you and a hard, sought after goal today, the worst thing you could do is lose your temper. Instead, use your charm instead to recapture your position.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Before you start swinging a hammer today, know where you're going to drive in those nails, or you could inadvertently hit your own thumb. Have a methodical plan before you attack a job.

School shootings provide mom with license to spy on teens

DEAR ABBY: Now, after the recent school shootings, I have a genuine reason to write to you to tell you just how much I disagreed with you every time you said a child's room and belongings are their private business, and parents should respect this so-called "privacy" and not snoop. Bull!

Now I no longer feel guilty for all the times I secretly "invaded" my kids' privacy by reading their diaries and going through their backpacks and purses, dresser drawers and closets, and even eavesdropping on their phone conversations. If the kids don't have anything to hide, they shouldn't need to worry. Call me a snoopy mom, but I know what my kids are up to, what their plans are and who they plan to do it with, and I no longer feel guilty whatsoever, thank you, ma'am!

SNOOPY MOM, EDNA, TEXAS

DEAR SNOOPY MOM: Interest, or concern, is not spying. Until children reach legal age, parents are responsible for their health, education and growth. If children are overly secretive about what's going on in their lives, of course their parents will pry. If parents have a legitimate reason to question their child's honesty, it's only common sense to check. But nosiness is not a legitimate reason, especially if teens have proven by their actions that they can be trusted.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 46-year-old woman who married a 41-year-old man in January of this year. It's my second marriage and his first.

He hasn't told me he loves me since the day we were married. When I share my needs with him, he doesn't respond in a reassuring way. He usually gets hurt or mad, and ignores me as if he's the injured party. Among other issues, here's the clincher: He has not told his parents or other family members that we are married. We both told my parents about the engagement and that we were being married in a private ceremony. (My parents didn't really understand that part.)

His excuse for not telling his parents is that he wants to make sure our marriage works, plus he doesn't want to hear any negative feedback. However, his mother has introduced me to others as her "future daughter-in-law." Also, he wanted a "private and confidential" marriage. I went along with it because he promised me we would have a church wedding and a honeymoon in about a year. Recently he has started saying he no longer wants another ceremony, claiming, "We're married and it's a done deal."

I feel our wedding vows of "love, honor and cherish" are all a big lie. I feel he's dishonoring me by not telling his parents. He's leading them to believe we're living together in sin. He is also talking about his first love when he was 17, and a recent crush that a 20-year-old young woman at work has on him. He wants to buy her a card and a rose for her birthday. I thought that was a gift for someone with romantic intentions.

It hasn't even been six months, and already our marriage is a disaster. I know the first year is difficult, but this is just too much. I'm so hurt. I'm torn between honoring my marriage vows and calling it quits. What should I do?

HURT AND CONFUSED, FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CALIF.

DEAR HURT AND CONFUSED: It takes two people working together to build a successful marriage. Offer your husband the option of sharing the news of your nuptials with his family and of seeking marriage counseling immediately. If he gives you an argument, lose this loser.

Small business pushing meal and health deductions in tax package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greater deductions for health insurance and business meals highlight a five-year, $30 billion Republican tax relief package aimed at small businesses.

Rep. Jim Talent, R-Mo., chairman of the House Small Business Committee, said supporters will seek to include the package in the larger 10-year, $778 billion tax cut Republicans intend to put together this summer.

"This is one-fifth of the tax cut in the budget," Talent told reporters Thursday. "We don't think that's asking too much."

The measure would make health insurance costs fully deductible for the self-employed next year, instead of 2003 as envisioned in current law. It would also increase the meal tax deduction from 50 percent to 80 percent by 2008, but only for smaller businesses.

The most costly item, at $15 billion over five years, would lower from 39.4 percent to 34 percent the top individual income tax rate for partnerships, including closely held ones known as S corporations, and certain other small businesses.

The bill would also eliminate a surtax included in employee payroll taxes in 1976 to help the government pay back loans for its unemployment accounts. Even though the loans were repaid in 1987, the surtax remains in place.

Small businesses, an important constituency for the GOP, employee six of 10 American workers, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. An estimated 16 million businesses employ 20 workers or less.

"We need to do everything we can to help small businesses get started and prosper, and get the federal government out of their way," said Rep. Jim DeMint, R-S.C.

At the time of her husband's first presidential election, Eleanor Roosevelt was the editor of Babies magazine.

Pill maker may appeal order to run new ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly three years after the maker of Doan's back pain pills stopped running certain ads under pressure from the Federal Trade Commission, the agency wants the company to take action to erase lingering misbeliefs that the product is better than other pain relievers.

In a 4-0 decision Thursday, the commission ordered Novartis Consumer Health, maker of Doan's, to carry the following message for one year on its packaging and advertising for Doan's: "Although Doan's is an effective pain reliever, there is no evidence that Doan's is more effective than other pain relievers for back pain."

Novartis says it may appeal the decision to a federal court.

The FTC filed its initial complaint in 1996, alleging that the advertising for Doan's was deceptive and made unsubstantiated claims that the product was better than other over-the-counter back pain relievers.

The company ceased such advertising in May 1996, but the commission ruled that such misbeliefs about the product persist.

Novartis spokeswoman Kate King said the company strongly disagrees with the FTC's findings that Doan's advertising ever claimed the pill is better than other products.

LINE DRIVE — Ira junior Jenson Gainer slaps the ball Thursday evening during the opener of the Bulldogs' area playoff series with Ranger. Ira, which fell 13-3, will try to fight off elimination when the series resumes Saturday at 2 p.m. at Hunter Field in Abilene. (SDN Staff Photo)

Experienced Ranger squad takes opener from Ira, 13-3

By Eric Drennan
Sports Editor

ABILENE — With two freshmen and only one senior in their starting nine, the Ira Bulldogs are gaining much-needed playoff experience.

On the other side, the Ranger Bulldogs already have the experience. And it showed Thursday night.

Ira committed seven errors and handed out six walks to drop the opener of its area playoff series with Ranger, 13-3, at Hunter Field. The series will continue Saturday at 2 p.m., with Ira looking to stave off elimination.

"We're better than we showed today," said Ira coach Bubba Edwards. "The kids know we're not out of it yet. We still have a life. We just made too many errors, and when you make a mistake at this level, it'll hurt you."

Ira trailed just 3-1 entering the bottom of the fifth, before the miscues caught up with the Bulldogs.

Four errors, three walks, a hit batter and a wild pitch netted six runs for Ranger, which didn't have a hit in the inning. All six runs were unearned.

"We're young, and they have the experience. That's for sure," Edwards remarked. "We start two freshmen in the middle, and they've never experienced anything like this before. We made contact at the plate. The difference tonight was we made some errors and they made the plays."

Ira posted two runs in the sixth, when Richard Wilkins slapped a single down the right-field line to score Seth Sterling and Jenson Gainer.

But in the bottom of the frame, Ranger got three hits and two walks off reliever Perry Jamison to scratch out four runs and end the game on the 10-run rule. Jamison had come to the mound to start the sixth, in relief of starter Jerek Brown.

Brown, Ira's ace left-hander, gave up just two hits, while walking three and striking out five. Only two of Ranger's nine runs off Brown were earned.

Ranger jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first, before putting two more runs on the board in the fourth.

Ira trimmed the deficit to 3-1 in the top of the fifth when Wilkins, after reaching first on an error, went to third on a Terry Jamison single, then scored on a botched cutoff throw.

Ira was able to make contact at the plate against Ranger starter Jose Martinez. The Bulldogs struck out just four times on the night, but found it difficult to reach base against Ranger's stellar infield. Ranger infielders committed just two errors on the night, and were credited with 13 put outs.

"We were hitting the ball. Not real hard at times, but we were hitting it," Edwards stated. "Ranger just made the plays. Usually if you put the bat on the ball enough times, the other team will make some mistakes. But tonight, Ranger didn't."

Ira falls to 10-6 on the season, while Ranger improves to 19-7.

An Ira victory at 2 p.m. Saturday would extend the series, with the third game scheduled to start 30 minutes later.

Seven Texas colleges ready to open NCAA regional tourneys

By The Associated Press

The Lone Star State is well represented in the expanded NCAA Division I Regional tournaments with seven teams in the mix, all playing on Texas soil.

But to advance to the super regionals, the second step to the College World Series, Texas teams will have to beat up on each other a little bit. The regional round begins Friday.

Rice, the top-ranked team according to two publications and the Western Athletic Conference champions, will be in Lubbock taking on a field that includes dangerous but slumping Texas Tech, which lost both the Big 12 tournament games it played.

Rice (52-11) opens against lightly regarded Wisconsin-Milwaukee (30-27). Tech (40-15) plays Rutgers (37-19).

Though many Owls weren't thrilled to be seeded eighth nationally by the NCAA's Ratings Percentage Index, some will at least be glad to see Dan Law Field, where Rice has won two of its biggest games.

"We did well there our freshman year (in 1996), winning the final Southwest Conference Tournament," Rice first baseman Jake Baker said. "Then we won the regional there in 1997 and ended up going to the College World Series my sophomore year. I'm not superstitious at all, but I am excited about going back there."

The most Texas-laden regional is the one hosted by Conference USA regular-season champion Houston. Also playing there are Texas, Southwest Texas State and Southwestern Louisiana.

Houston (38-22) starts against pitching-poor Southwest Texas (27-30), which made postseason only by winning the Southland Conference tournament. USL (38-22) gets hot-and-cold Texas (35-24) in the other opener.

UH coach Rayner Noble was pleasantly surprised his Cougars are a top seed.

"I had thought that if we had won the conference tournament championship we would have gotten one," said Noble, whose team lost to Tulane in the C-USA championship game. "But I think the fact that Tulane and we are No. 1 seeds proves that our conference is up-and-coming."

Experienced Baylor is the lone Texas team at the Waco regional, but the Bears host a talented group of teams from outside the state.

Baylor (46-13) begins with Eastern Illinois (32-21), while Minnesota (44-16) takes on Arizona (33-21) in the other initial matchup.

Stiff competition also awaits Texas A&M at its regional in College Station.

Monmouth (26-22) travels down from New Jersey to battle A&M (46-14). Long Beach State (33-23) and Mississippi (33-26) round out the field.

Aggies coach Mark Johnson will throw Chance Caple at Monmouth, saving ace Casey Fossum for the decidedly tougher second game against either Long Beach or Ole Miss.

"Chance is going to have to win a game for us to win the tournament, so why not the first one?" Johnson said. "If he is on, then we'll be fine."

Wild pitches cost Astros in 4-3 defeat

HOUSTON (AP) — Two wild pitches and a ninth-inning sacrifice fly by Henry Blanco scored the go-ahead run as the Colorado Rockies avoided a sweep and snapped Houston's four-game winning streak with a 4-3 victory Thursday.

Chris Petersen reached on a force play in the ninth, then moved around to third base on a pair of wild pitches by Trever Miller (0-1). Blanco drove in Petersen with a long fly to left field.

Jerry Dipoto (1-2) pitched two innings for the victory. Dave Veres pitched a perfect ninth for his fifth save.

The Astros were trailing 2-1 in the third when Bobby Jones walked Derek Bell with two out and Richard Hidalgo followed with his seventh homer of the season, equaling his homer output from last year.

Jones went six innings, allowed four hits and three earned runs. He struck out seven and walked five.

Alcohol-related arrests result in several jailed

Activity was relatively quiet for local law enforement personnel for much of Thursday, but several alcohol-related arrests late Thursday picked up the pace.

DPS troopers arrested two people on alcohol-related charges at 11:57 p.m. north of Dunn on Highway 208. Taken into custody were a 55-year-old male and a 26-year-old male. Both were charged with public intoxication.

At 12:08 a.m., officers arrested a 17-year-old male in the 4400 block of Avenue U for minor consuming alcohol.

At 12:34 this morning, local officers arrested a 29-year-old male for public intoxication. He was taken into custody in the 1300 block of 26th Street.

Officers arrested two 22-year-old males at 2:16 this morning in the 2600 block of 30th Street. One person was charged with misdemeanor driving while intoxicated, while the other was charged with public intoxication.

Earlier in the day, officers arrested two females — ages 26 and 28 — for disorderly conduct. The two were taken into custody at 2:20 p.m. at the Park Village Apartments.

In other activity Thursday, Ken Minyard reported a theft of service from Western Rent-to-Own. An offense report was filed at 9 a.m.

A report for a runaway was submitted at 7:24 p.m. in reference to a 16-year-old female running away from home. The girl's parents reported she returned home at 8:50 p.m.

Officers also filed an offense report for a cat scratch, and investigated reports of water balloons being thrown from vehicles on College Avenue.

FBI and state police asked to investigate dragging incident

KINGSTREE, S.C (AP) — Two white men are charged with dragging a black man beside their pickup truck for a quarter-mile, and federal authorities have been asked to examine whether it was a bias crime.

Still, investigators and even the victim's family are not sure the incident early Wednesday — which did not result in serious injuries — was racially motivated.

"We have no indication at this point that it is," said Williamsburg County Sheriff Kelvin Washington, who asked the FBI and State Law Enforcement Division to look into whether the victim's civil rights were violated. "There is a possibility that it may be drug related."

Eric W. Jones, 38, of Gastonia, N.C., and Arthur Marshall, 34, of Georgetown were to be formally charged today with assault and battery with intent to kill. Marshall also was charged with possession of a stolen vehicle.

Authorities said Charone Green was grabbed and dragged when he approached a pickup truck that had slowed in front of his cousin's house on a rural road in the Bloomingvale community, about 90 miles east of Columbia.

Green, 23, told investigators he was standing at the end of a driveway when two men pulled up in a red pickup truck and told him to come over. He said the passenger grabbed his arm and the truck drove off, Chief Deputy Dwight Williams said.

A cousin who witnessed it said Green broke free when the truck hit a culvert.

Green's grandmother, Mary Green, said last June's dragging death of a black man in Texas was the first thing that popped in her mind she heard what happened. One man has been convicted of murder and sentenced to death in that case, while trials are pending for two more.

But she said she wasn't sure the attack on her grandson was similarly motivated.

"I can't say whether it's a racial thing or not," she said.

Investigators were unsure who was driving the truck that was reported stolen from Lexington County, near Columbia.

THE PRIEST WHO KILLED!

PHINEHAS, THE PRIEST, WHO WAS THE GRANDSON OF THE HIGH PRIEST, AARON, WAS SO ANGERED WHEN HE SAW ZIMRI, A PRINCE OF ISRAEL, TAKE A MIDIANITISH WOMAN INTO HIS TENT FOR LICENTIOUS PURPOSES THAT HE TOOK UP A JAVELIN AND WENT AFTER THEM INTO THE TENT AND THRUST THEM THROUGH! THIS, ACCORDING TO MOSES, PUT A STOP TO THE PLAGUE THAT THE LORD HAD PLACED ON ISRAEL FOR "COMMITTING WHOREDOM WITH THE DAUGHTERS OF MOAB." AN EVERLASTING PRIESTHOOD WAS PROMISED TO HIM FOR THIS DEED! (NUM. 25:1-18)

China...

Partisan furor over bipartisan report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bipartisanship that accompanied this week's release of a House report on alleged nuclear espionage by China was short-lived.

Just days later, Democrats and Republicans are accusing each other of playing politics with the issue.

Votes on measures to increase security substantially at Department of Energy weapons laboratories and to tighten export controls prompted divisive debate and were then put off until after a 10-day Memorial Day recess in both the House and Senate.

Senate Democrats used delaying tactics late Thursday to stall a GOP-sponsored measure that would reorganize the Energy Department after the proposal drew a veto threat from the Clinton administration. The proposal would create a new assistant secretary for defense programs who would report directly to the president and Congress.

Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., postponed action on that measure to prevent it from further delaying completion of a $288.8 billion Defense Department spending bill for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

The measure, approved 92-3, would provide $8.3 billion more than President Clinton requested for a variety of Pentagon programs for next year, including a 4.8 percent across-the-board military pay raise next Jan. 1.

While the bill would provide some measures to beef up security at weapons labs and to intensify congressional oversight, Lott told reporters that Democrats had "basically shut down" the Senate over the more far-reaching reform proposals.

"We're not going to get real security until we have a whole other arrangement at DOE," Lott said. "It's not about fixing blame. It's about fixing the problem."

But Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., who led the Democratic delaying tactics, said, "This is the wrong time for this amendment. This is not the time for debate on reorganization the Department of Energy."

Meanwhile, efforts to debate the China espionage issue in the House never got off the ground.

The bills are H.R. 1401 and S 1059.

NATO insists it's winning; can Milosevic still hold on?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Wald was reviewing yet another F-16 fighter jet's video tape of yet another 2,000-pound NATO bomb turning yet another Serb army barracks into yet another fireball in Kosovo — yet more evidence, he claimed, that NATO is winning and Slobodan Milosevic is losing.

"You've got to wonder how much more he can take," mused the Air Force major general in what sounded like a hint of frustration.

Indeed, after more than nine weeks of bombing, what more can NATO do, short of a ground war, to break the Yugoslav leader?

Milosevic's indictment by a United Nations tribunal for atrocities in Kosovo might make Milosevic even less likely to capitulate, retired Marine Corps Lt. Gen. Bernard Trainor said Thursday. That, in turn, raises the likelihood that NATO will have to go beyond airstrikes alone, he said.

If NATO cannot break Milosevic's will to resist, what then? At some point, many argue, the cumulative damage from bombing Serbia end to end will virtually paralyze Serb military and police forces in Kosovo. They will lose the ability to fight effectively either the Kosovo Liberation Army or a NATO-led international force that might enter Kosovo to return refugees to their homes.

Britain is making a case to its NATO partners — without complete success, so far — that when this point is reached, a NATO-led force on Kosovo's perimeter could move in and finish off the Serb military without resorting to full-scale warfare. They say it could be done by summer's end, in order to get the hundreds of thousands of displaced ethnic Albanians back into their villages before the onset of winter.

Trainor, who co-authored "The Generals' War," on the 1991 Gulf War, called the British approach "clever and very doable," although the NATO force should assume the Serbs would not just roll over.

U.S. intelligence officials claim Milosevic's military advisers have told him they could hold out against a NATO-led ground force for months by using guerrilla tactics of hit-and-run attacks in Kosovo.

Milosevic is spending much of his time in bunkers supplied with food, water and electricity, according to American intelligence reports that say he has lost touch with the reality of conditions facing the Serb population.

Wald, too, wonders if Milosevic's military commanders are giving him the full picture of the bomb damage, but he doubts it would make much difference even if they did tell him how badly Serbia is being pummeled.

"He's a lot more willing to sacrifice his people and capabilities," Wald said. "So once again, it's hard to judge his will, but it certainly isn't hard to judge how much of his capability is being destroyed."

For now, the Clinton administration still hopes Milosevic will cave — either agree to NATO's demands or simply to give up and pull his troops out of the southern Serbian province, allowing the refugees to return under the protection of a peacekeeping force.

In pursuit of that aim, NATO warplanes are accelerating the pace of attacks and taking the war closer to Milosevic.

Pentagon: Bombing destroys Serb air defense, helps KLA

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than nine weeks of NATO bombing has destroyed large chunks of the Serbian military while strengthening and emboldening a rebel militia on the ground in Kosovo, the top intelligence officer for the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff said.

The Kosovo Liberation Army has tripled in size from about 5,000 guerrilla troops at the start of the air campaign in March to between 15,000 and 17,000 now, Rear Adm. Thomas Wilson said Thursday.

While far fewer than the estimated 40,000 Serb army and police troops in Kosovo, the KLA is effective at attacking Serb forces essentially pinned down by the NATO bombing, Wilson said.

NATO insists the ethnic Albanian KLA is not a partner in the fight against Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic and his Serb forces in Kosovo.

But Wilson said NATO wants to help take out Serb tanks, armored personnel carriers and artillery because the equipment represents a major advantage that Serb forces now have over the KLA.

"So we believe that it's important to continue to destroy that equipment and also to try to make it immobile and keep them kind of out of the fight, because it tends to level the playing field between the KLA and the army," Wilson said at a briefing for reporters at the Pentagon.

Wilson also gave a detailed assessment of the damage inflicted so far on Serb forces, including a 35 percent reduction in broadcast capability of Serb television and radio.

Wilson said the Serb air defense forces have lost about half of their more sophisticated surface-to-air missiles, the Soviet-designed SA-3s and SA-6s.

School shooting victims' kin disagree on blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two parents who share grief over their children's murders at the hands of classmates disagree on whether the shooters, guns or lawmakers themselves are to blame for their tragedies.

The April 20 murder of Columbine High School student Rachel Joy Scott, 17, should be blamed solely on Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold, her father says.

"There are people behind those instruments of death," Darrell Scott told the House Judiciary subcommittee on crime during a hearing Thursday. "I do believe Eric and Dylan bear primary responsibility for my daughter's death, not the guns themselves."

But Byrl Phillips-Taylor of Richmond, Va., blamed an AK-47 for her son's 1989 death at the hands of a "classmate with a grudge."

"The easy availability of guns got my baby killed," Phillips-Taylor told the panel, urging lawmakers to pass the mandatory background checks for gun show transactions and other new firearms restrictions voted by the Senate last week.

"The Senate has demonstrated that it cares about keeping guns away from children," she said. "And that may be the turning point that every mother like me has been waiting for."

House Republican leaders this week said they support the concept of the gun restrictions passed by the Senate, but they rejected demands from Democrats to rubber-stamp the measures this week.

Water balloon is factor in wreck

Two Snyder High School students were treated and relesed at Cogdell Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon following a two-vehicle accident around 1:48 p.m. at the intersection of 37th Street and Denison Ave.

Lyndell Lee, 16, of 4905 El Paso, and Brandon McGuire, 15 of 4105 Midland, were transported by Snyder EMS to the hospital for treatment of their injuries.

Lee was the driver of a 1977 pickup that was in collision with a 1997 Chevrolet pickup driven by Dana Miller of 3406 44th St.

Neither Miller, or two young passengers in her vehicle were injured. Passengers were Kaley Cantrell, four years old, and Tanner Miller, two years old.

The police report indicated both drivers were distracted by water balloons thrown from another vehicle.

Lawmakers approve electric deregulation bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' $20 billion-a-year utility market faces a sweeping overhaul under an industry deregulation bill that supporters say will reduce electric bills.

The legislation was approved by the state Senate Thursday and sent to Gov. George W. Bush, who plans to sign the bill into law joining Texas with 20 other states that also have moved to deregulate the industry.

"I believe it's going to reduce rates and increase competition and I know it's going to be good for clean air," Bush said.

Bill supporters say the measure will mean lower rates and better reliability for consumers who could shop for their utility providers. The Senate approved the bill on a voice vote.

Under the legislation, electric rates would be frozen at their current level until Jan. 1, 2002. They would then be lowered by 6 percent.

Senate sponsor David Sibley, R-Waco, predicted consumers' could see their electric bills cut by as much as 10 percent in the next few years.

"The Legislature has taken a huge step by voting to open up the electric market to competition for the first time," Sibley said. "This is the end of the era of captive consumers in this state."

Bill supporters expect utility companies to be enticed into moving to Texas to offer lower prices and new technology, including devices that tell consumers when they are wasting electricity.

"This bill represents a great step forward for the people of Texas," said TXU spokesman Chris Schein. "It will bring the advantage of competition to customers."

The bill was criticized by some consumer groups who have questioned whether consumers want to move toward deregulation and whether the bill provides enough consumer protections.

Opponents had pointed to other examples of deregulation where states saw power companies ignore residential consumers in favor of commercial customers.

Janee Briesemeister, senior policy analyst for Consumers Union, said the bill improved significantly as it made its way through the legislative process. She noted measures to provide discounts for low-income customers and to ensure utility companies target residential and corporate consumers alike for future savings.

The electric deregulation bill is SB7.

Bill on campaign finance killed by Texas Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — A campaign finance bill was described as an effort to shine more light on the election process, but state senators shot it down because they said they were in the dark about what it would do.

The bill's demise — which came when Senate opponents prevented it from being voted on by a Wednesday midnight deadline — drew criticism Thursday as a missed opportunity for Texans to get a better idea of who is paying for campaigns.

Both Democratic and Republican senators who opposed the bill said they didn't have time to study it and didn't want to vote on such an important issue when a Senate committee didn't even hear public testimony about it.

"We take a lot of pride in being a deliberative body. Are we deliberative if we pass out a bill that we don't even know what's in it?" asked Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco. "I don't care what anybody writes about me. This isn't right."

The bill's boosters said lawmakers made time for what they wanted to do.

"They had plenty of time to pass corporate tax breaks and go see 'Star Wars,' but they don't have time for open government. It's an unbelievable argument, and one the voters won't buy," said Craig McDonald of Texans for Public Justice, which studies and reports on campaign funding issues.

Fred Lewis, a lawyer for Public Citizen, said since Texas has no contribution limits, disclosure is crucial.

The campaign finance bill is HB4.

The electronic filing fill is HB2611.
