ROOM IN TEXAS FOR EMPIRE OF FIFTY MILLIONS

President-Elect Declares the Resources of Longhorn of Incalculable Scope.

Proposes Policy of Peace With Mexico and Safety for Americans.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 11.—Facing a border crowd in which were many citizens of Mexico and several officials of the Mexican government, President-elect Harding proposed here today a policy directed toward peace and friendship but demanding always full protection of American nationality and of American citizens wherever they may go.

The address, which was his first prepared public utterance since his election to the presidency, was delivered from a stand on the Fort Brown parade grounds, within a few hundred yards of the international bridge. The cavalry sabers of the Fort Brown garrison rattled about him, but in a place of honor on his right was also a part of the Mexican garrison of Matamoras, paying a visit of compliment and courtesy to the next American president.

Speaking of Texas, Mr. Harding said:

"We are only in the morn of national life. Who dares to prophesy, in quaffing the cup of optimism, what the future has in store? One needs only to see this magic valley, where the possibilities are not yet touched, to see how prophecy falls short. Texas is ample for an empire of fifty millions. Ships of modern commerce ought to enliven Laguna Madre lake where primitive craft marked activities of many years ago. Texas alone is incalculable. Agriculture, transportation, factories, commerce—all are growing in the gleam of the Lone Star, and adding to the strength of our common country. We have only to go on, independent and free, untrammeled and unmortgaged, to write the supreme fulfillment."

In the course of his address devoted jointly to the significance of the Armistice Day anniversary and to the country's foreign relations, he did not mention Mexico by name nor did he refer directly to the League of Nations.

"We crave fraternity," he said, "we wish amicable relations everywhere, we offer peace and choose to promote it, but we demand our freedom and our own America. I believe an America eminent on the seas, respected in every avenue of trade, will be safer at home and greater in influence throughout the world. I like to think of an America whose citizens are ever seeking the greater development and enlarged resources and widened influence of the republic, and I like to think of a government which protects its citizens wherever they go on a lawful mission, anywhere under the shining sun."

Praises Development Efforts

Mr. Harding also suggested that the nation learn a lesson of preparedness from the experience of the world war, and spoke toward the development of adequate port facilities at the mouth of the Rio Grande, declaring his vacation visit to Point Isabel had brought a new realization of the economic possibilities of the state.

Although primarily an Armistice Day celebration, the program of addresses and the parade which preceded it, were also planned as a welcome to the president-elect, and as a boost for the Rio Grande deep waterways movement. The crowd came by thousands from many of the Rio Grande valley cities and from across the border. And there were in the day's events many elements to emphasize both national unity and international friendship.

In the parade, which included an elaborate pageant representing historical epochs and demonstrating productive possibilities of the valley, Mexican Consul Vasquez of Brownsville, and American Consul Wilson of Matamoros rode together, each carrying the flag of his nation. Many other Mexican flags were in the procession and the military band of the Matamoros garrison had a place just behind the Fourth cavalry squadron

Jugo-Slavia and Italy Will Give Fiume Self-Rule

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Italian embassay communicated today to the state department a dispatch from its government, saying that Italy and Jugo-Slavia had reached an agreement on the Adriatic question.

At the embassy it was stated that the boundary line agreed upon was virtually that proposed in the minimum Italian demands.

The new line, as explained, runs through the Julian Alps and down the Dalmatian coast well to the eastward of the original line proposed by President Wilson. Under the agreement, as explained at the embassy, Fiume becomes an independent state.

TIN HENRY JARS FIREMEN DINNER

Twenty Veterans of War Leave Banquet for Annoying Blaze.

Fords are now as unpopular with the fire department as they have been for some time with local policemen. The universal car, which causes the "laws" more universal trouble than all other cars put together, broke up a perfectly good Armistice day celebration for the fire department Thursday evening.

The occasion was that of Chief McClure's annual Armistice day banquet for the boys of the fire department.

For the only time in the year all stations in the city were deserted. The banquet was held at the cafeteria on Seventh street, as close to the main station as it was possible to get. The day had augured well for a quiet evening. No stations had registered a call for 24 hours.

The 23 members of the department attended. Incidentally 20 of the 23 saw service during the late war. Hence the Armistice day celebration by their chief.

The fire eaters had waded through the turkey and immediate accessories and were coming strong toward the end of the feed, which was to be featured by cake, cream, coffee and smokes. The heavy end of the evening feed was still to come.

At this point comes the sad interruption. The boys heard the familiar call in the adjoining station. The boys left. Others present in the cafe vouch for the statement. Some, not acquainted with the occasion, decided that a bomb must have been discovered in the building, and decided to leave, also. The boys were out first, however, and before most of the guests realized what had happened the fire trucks were thundering down the street.

Chief McClure, leaving his hat in the cafe, led the procession.

The signal indicated that the fire was at the corner of Mill and Galveston streets. The boys were in a humor for a real fire.

As they neared the corner they beheld the spectacle of a burning Henry. One of the 5,000,000 now in use had chosen the coldest day of the year on the eve of the firemen's banquet to get hot. Judged by the fire, it was hot all over. A little activity with water and chemicals and the fire was over.

So was the banquet.

BABE'S FUNERAL WAITS; MOTHER FIGHTS TO LIVE

Ceremonies Delayed Four Months While Parent Lays on Sick Bed.

Mrs. A. A. Gaynor Wins in Struggle to Be Able to Again See Body.

After fighting against a stubborn rheumatic trouble for months for strength enough to attend the funeral of her 18-month-old baby, Mrs. A. A. Gaynor Thursday afternoon realized her wish. She was a pale-faced mourner at a quite, solemn little ceremony from the Church of the Sacred Heart.

The child died July 4, Independence day. At that time the mother was in the Methodist hospital where she was critically ill. Until Wednesday she has been waging an uphill battle at the institution for recovery of her strength. In the meantime the body of the child has been waiting at the Hines Undertaking chapel.

None called to see the body until two weeks ago, when the mother was enabled through a fleeting day of improvement to visit the body for a few minutes. That was the first time that she had seen the child since it's death.

The father, who has been working in Breckenridge, arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday to attend the funeral.

During Mrs. Gaynor's illness, before the death of the boy, her child was in the care of its grandmother, Mrs. Mary L. Shepherd. Through the months the parents and grandmother have waited and watched the mother's struggle for health and sufficient strength for the final honoring of the little one. Funeral services were arranged immediately following Mrs. Gaynor's recovery. The little body was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery. The family make their home at 503 Scott avenue.

FATE OF MISSING PLANE IN DOUBT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 11.—Despite reports that a seaplane, from the Great Lakes naval training station, missing in Lake Michigan since Wednesday afternoon had been sighted 15 miles off Manitowoc, Wis. nothing definite as to the fate of the craft and its crew of three men had been learned here up to tonight.

The men on board the missing plane were Lieut. Harry E. Barr of Lake Forest, Ill., the commander; Ensign M. Clark, Peoria, Ill., and Gunner's Mate John Ceasar of Holywood, Ill.

Robert Miller, acting head of the Milwaukee coast guard crew who made public the receipt of the radio message saying the disabled craft had been sighted, expressed the opinion tonight that if the crew was still on board, all probably were dead.

MAYOR FELL IN LIME RING TRAP

Hylan Admits Being Fooled Into $15,000,000 Contract Blunder.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Under severe questioning by the committee's counsel, Mayor John F. Hylan, on the witness stand before the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust," today admitted he had been made a victim of John T. Hettrick's "labor union game in the interests of the limestone rings."

Hotly resenting imputations that any "personal interest" had caused him to submit to the requests of Hettrick, alleged promoter of the contractors' clearing house for bidding, Mayor Hylan said he had been "fooled" into sending suggestions made by Hettrick to the building committee of the board of education that resulted in contracts involving

COURT ANSWERS SKELETON'S CRY

Rufe King Found Guilty of Murder Bones of Dead Men "Talked."

By Associated Press.

LYNDON, Kan., Nov. 11.—Rufe King, on trial here charged with the murder of John Woody, who disappeared while in King's employ at Maple Hill, Kan., in 1909 was convicted by a jury late today of murder in the first degree. King had been on trial here the last 24 days. He was arrested more than a year ago in Colorado after bones had been dug up on the premises at Maple Hill, where he had conducted a livery stable. Two other charges of murder in connection with the finding of the bones are pending against King.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes. Besides Woody, King was charged with the murder of Reuben Gutshall, a young farmer, who disappeared in March, 1913, and W. F. Ringer, a jewelry peddler, who disappeared in December, 1906.

The skeletons dug up on the King property and declared by the state to have been those of Woody and Gutshall and Ringer, were introduced at the trial, although the charge on which King was convicted today was that of killing Woody.

The state also endeavored to prove at this trial that robbery was the motive for the alleged killing of the three men.

The defense introduced witnesses who claimed to have seen Woody alive after the date, the prosecution charged, King had killed him and buried the body.

SAYS AMERICA FAILS IN CARE OF MAIMED VET

Legion Commander Declares Hospital Facilities for Injured Soldiers Poor.

France and Britain Bury Unknown Heroes Where Glorious Dead Lie.

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—A call to the nation to remember its wounded of the world war, "20,000 of whom still live, maimed in mind or body, and to a great extent, forgotten," was sounded today by F. W. Galbraith of Cincinnati, national commander of the American Legion, who came here for Armistice day exercises. He asserted that hospital facilities for the wounded veterans were "entirely inadequate," adding, "if there is adequate treatement being given these broken boys at any hospital, I have yet to see it."

The army and navy hospitals are capable, the legion commander said, but added that nearly all the wounded veterans have been removed from these institutions. Public health hospitals were giving the best treatment possible with their facilities, he continued, but the number of men at these institutions were comparatively few.

"The wounded men are being transferred to other places, anywhere to get them under cover and out of the way, and their treatment falls far short of what is their need and their due," the legion head declared.

"The people of the United States had acclaimed them as heroes when they returned and the men of the American Legion who claim them as comrades in arms should join hands to remedy the conditions that exist."

FRANCE BURIES UNKNOWN VET IN TOMB OF HONOR

PARIS, Nov. 11.—An unknown soldier, the symbol of France's victory in the war, was laid in his final resting place beneath the Arc de Triomphe today in apotheosis of glory accompanied by expressions of the gratitude of two millions of his countrymen and allies. Never in the history of France has a king or emperor been afforded such honors as those rendered the unknown soldier. The body of Napoleon returning from St. Helena did not stir the French to such a depth of emotion as did this obscure, nameless man.

Not a cheer was heard and not a tear was shed, the five-year war having long since dried up the wells of Paris' tears. The silence was respectfully oppressive. The day broke dull with a heavy fog hanging like a pall over the city. The most impressive ceremony was at the Pantheon where all the prominent men of political and judicial Paris had assembled. Three marshals of France, all the generals prominent in the war and the whole diplomatic corps with the exception of the German ambassador, listened to President Millerand's speech.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Great Britain's today impressively honored her war heroes by according a field marshal's funeral to an unknown British warrior, who was buried in Westminister Abbey, and unveiling a permanent cenotaph in Whitehall to "the glorious dead." Aside from members of the roial family who included Queen Mary, Queen Mother Alexander and Queen Maud of Norway, and a few officials, the only witnesses to either ceremony were persons who lost relatives in the great war.

During the brief services in the nave of the abbey, the king stood at the foot of the grave, the royal ladies and princes ranging themselves on either side. Of all the witnesses that packed Whitehall or crowded the abbey a little band of appriximately 100 women in the abbey received the most reverent attention. They had been selected for the seats of honor bcause each had lost her husband and all of her sons.

After the 100 had been seated, the next to be considered were those mothers who lost their only son, or all their sons and then came women who lost their husbands only.

Pirates Rob Ship Carrying Stores To British Army

By Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 11.—While a steamer carrying army stores was proceeding between Cork and Queenstown yesterday morning she was ordered to stop opposite Black Rock castel by men in boats, says a Central News dispatch from Cork. When the captain disregarded the order, a shot was fired at the vessel, which then stopped. Armed men boarded the steamer and seized goods valued at $1,050.

When the boat arrived in Cork the affair was reported to the police, who searched the district and recovered a portion of the goods. Rifles, shotguns and ammunition, which were concealed in a boathouse near Black Rock castle, also were discovered, it is said.

CLEAR HUSBAND IN MURDER CASE

Texan Testifies Shot That Killed Wife Was Fired at Male Intruder.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—John W. Stephens of Mart, Tex., who shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Tessie Kelly Stephens in a cafe here June 24 last and then shot himself, was acquitted on a charge of murder in the first degree by a jury in circuit court here tonight.

The jury was out a little more than an hour. Stephens took the stand this afternoon and reiterated his previous statement that the killing was accidental.

He testified he was sitting at a table with Mrs. Stephens, when an unidentified man entered and tried to get her to leave with him. Stephens said he protested and the man attempted to shoot him. The stranger's revolver missed fire, however, Stephens stated, and it was then he shot, the witness explained.

When the smoke lifted, Stephens asserted, he discovered Mrs. Stephens had been shot.

There were no eye-witnesses to the shooting and the police were never able to locate the other man. The wife in a fit of jealousy.

Stephens, a switchman, is 32 years old. Mrs. Stephens was 22 and formerly lived in Norman, Ark.

OFFICIALS RULE AGAINST SALES OF HOPS, MALT

None but Confectioner or Baker May Buy Ingredients for Joy Spirits.

Other Articles not Classed Without Pale of Dry Law's Sweeping Power.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Home brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban today, when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to others than bakers and confectioners. Great secrecy surrounded the prohibition bureau's action, but it was ascertained that such instructions had been issued.

Details of the order were lacking. The only admission made by prohibition officials in the absence of Commissioner Kramer was that the Volstead act had been construed to mean that the sale of malt and hops as component parts of homemade beer were without the pale of the law, and their sale must stop. Enforcement officials throughout the country have been notified of the government's determination, but they have not been supplied with the technical language of the decision.

The construction law which resulted in the new order was made nearly two months ago. At that time officials having it in charge started a document through the regular procedure from which is emerges as a treasury decision. But it has not yet been approved by Secretary Houston. Further than to admit existence of the proposed treasury ruling, officials declined to discuss it.

Denial was made to the report that the bureau had considered or had included in the order other articles used in home brewing. Officials likewise denied that provision was to be made for the licensing of even the bakers and confectioners, apparently the only persons who will be able to purchase hops and malt.

There were persistent rumors at both the prohibition and internal revenue headquarters that scores of complaints had come from the manufacturers of cereal beverages, containing less than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol, against the tremendous growth of brewing as a home industry. On this phase of the situation officials also refused comment.

It was understood, however, that the beverage manufacturers' complaint had been based on a steady and rapid decrease in their sales, which they charged to the growth of home brewing. They were understood to have protested to the internal revenue bureau that enforcement agents were enforcing the alcohol restrictions on them, while the home brewer, with the aid of hops and malt, has been able to produce a beverage approximating old-fashioned beer.

Officials anticipated that the ban on malt and hops sales would bring a wave of litigation as to the government's right.

IRISH HOME RULE IN THIRD READING

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(Home rule) —The home rule bill passed to its third reading in the house of commons here today amid a rather tame debate and without noteworthy incident. The liberal and labor members who have boycotted it through most of its stages as a sign of their conviction of its hopelessness as a settlement of the Irish problem, were again absent today. The final stage was reached in a small and rather listless gathering of members of the house.

CHICAGO CENSOR INDICTS MOVIES ON 11 COUNTS SEX AND VAMP FILMS HIT

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—T. D. Hurley, chairman of the censorship commission of Chicago, told the National League of Compulsory Education in session here today that motion pictures should be indicted on eleven counts. Among the charges he made against them are:

They interfere with school work.

The moral effect is injurious.

The view of life which the movies presents is false.

The sex and vampire films are shown to children.

Children lose respect for authority after seeing some films.

Children from 7 years up are precocious on the sex question.

There is a noticeable disregard for marriage relations in the films and they have a bad effect on modesty and purity.

Children become dissatisfied with their homes.

The eye strain is severe, nerves are affected and there is decreased vitality and dullest mentality.

The effect on the rising generation as a whole is bad.

The average attendance of children of school age is from two to three times a week, he said.

which acted as the president-elect's escort.

General Lopez, military governor of the Matamoros district, was one of those on the speakers' stand.

Before Mr. Harding's turn on the program, there were addresses by C. L. Jessup, vice-president of the Brownsville Chamber of Commerce, who spoke for the waterways movement and Del S. Perkins, commander and spokesman of the local American Legion post. By special request of the president-elect, the Matamoros military band, stationed near him, played "Mexico Allegerio" just before he began speaking.

Text of Speech

The text of Senator Harding's speech follows in part:

"November the Eleventh has an abiding significance to all America and the world. For America it sealed our capacity to defend our national rights and stamped our effectiveness in aiding to preserve the established order of world civilization; for the world it marked a new order for humanity, and for all time it warns ambition and madness for power that one man's or one people's domination of the world was never designed by God, and will never be tolerated by mankind.

"The day is especially interesting to our own country because without American participation it might have been a later and different date if indeed there had been an Armistice Day at all. We do not claim to have won the war, but we helped mightily, and recorded undying glory to American arms, and gave the world a new understanding of the American spirit and a new measure of merican resources.

"Whatever the world may have thought of us before, however incorrectly we may have been appraised, the world has come to know that selfishness is not a trait of our national character, that commercialism does not engross us, that neutrality was conceived in fairness—not in fear—and that when our national rights are threatened and our nationals are sacrificed, America is resolved to defend and ever will. More, we gave to humanity an example of unselfishness which it only half appraised before misunderstandings led to confusion.

Unbound by Alliance

"We helped to win the war, unaided and unmortgaged. We fought with the allied powers but we were only an associated power and were never committed, if fully aware of them, to the compacts of the alliance.

"History will record it correctly, no matter how much beautiful sentiment has beclouded our purposes in the world war. We did not fight to make the world safe for democracy, though we were its best exemplars. Nor did we fight for humanity's sake, no matter how such a cause impelled. Democracy was threatened, and humanity was dying long before American indignation called for the republic's defense. But we fought for the one supreme cause which inspires men to offer all for country and the flag, and we fought as becomes a free America and dropped the sword, and stifled greed, when the victory for defense was won.

"We proved anew that here is free and ample America which does not ask but freely gives. We were American in name before the world war made us American in fact, not a collection of peoples, but one people, with one purpose, one confidence, one pride, one aspiration, and one flag.

"We learned a lesson, too, of transcending importance. Righteousness and unfailing justice are not in themselves a guaranty of national security. We must ever be strong in peace foremost in industry, eminent in agriculture, ample in transportation. Better transportation on land, and an adequate merchant marine would have speeded our participation, and shortened the conflict. I believe an America eminent on the high seas, respected in every avenue of trade, will be safer at home and greater in influence throughout the world.

Texas "Incalculable"

"I like to think of an America whose citizens are ever seeking the greater development and enlarged resources and widened influence of the republic, and I like to think of a government which protects its citizens wherever they go on a lawful mission, anywhere under the shining sun.

"All the way from my home in Ohio to this furthermost port on the gulf I have seen among the people who came to give us kindly greetings scores of stalwart, virile, young Americans who served their country, so gallantly and effectively at home and overseas. One must have cause for renewed pride in the character of these men, in their readiness and capacity to serve, in the calm certitude of their manhood, in their new baptism of Americanism. These soldiers of the republic, like their fathers, believed in an America of civil and human and religious liberty; they believed in an America of American ideals. They believed in merica first, for it is in America that their hopes and inspirations center.

"We choose no aloofness, we shirk no obligation, we forsake no friends. But we built in nationality, and we do not mean to surrender it."

BREAKS HIS ENGAGEMENT BUT TAKES LICENSE TO WED SISTER OF HIS EX-FIANCEE

By MARGERY REX

International News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK—Ritzville is certainly a stylish sounding name for a rural community in the state of Washington, but it holds no allure for Miss Katherine Rupy, of No. 226 Cooper avenue, Glendale, Long Island, who declines to become the bride of the young farmer, John Burfind, who claims the high-sounding village as home.

Though Miss Katherine is very pleasant to look at, John is one of those who say "what care I how fair she be if she be not fair to me."

John may be a farmer, but he does not lack the speed and resourcefulness that are supposed to belong to the city dweller exclusively. John up and got engaged to Katherine's sister, Anna, older than her by a year and not scornful of farm life.

The first license—to marry Miss Katherine Rupy—was taken out on October 13, and fifteen days sufficed for the second courtship, which resulted in another license for Anna being drawn up recently.

"You see," exclaimed John, a tall, rugged-looking young fellow in corduroy trousers and a khaki shirt, "Katherin is not quite ready to marry yet. She doesn't know her mind, and I think every girl has a right to be real sure before she turns over her whole life, you might say, to a fellow.

Denies He's Fickle

"Katherine has a good position, getting along fine. She feels she wants to stay here in the east with her mother a while.

"No one could say I jumped from one girl to the other.

"When I got in the army and was stationed near here I met up with the two Rupy girls—Katherine first—and used to take them both out to places. I like them both, too. Well, finally Katherine and I got engaged and she thought it over and decided against marrying me. She wasn't sure, and then I turned naturally to Anna. I have always, since the beginning, been the best of friends with the whole family, and everybody seems satisfied, no hard feelings, so why should people think it's strange?"

For some time Burfind has been visiting the Rupy home. Beside him, as motherly as though her daughter's fiance were her own son, stood Mrs. Rupy, who hopes people don't think it queer changing around engagements like that.

Mother Philosophical

"If Katherine thinks she's too young to marry yet and wants to be free a while longer, I say that's her affair. Isn't it? And if Anna is happy with John and wants to go way out to Washington with him that's her business, too, and why should anyone object? All I got to say is I feel sorry for her going out to a strange country (a true Easterner's viewpoint), but if she's willing I wouldn't stop her," the mother of the girls declared.

I could not help wondering what feelings exist between the two sisters, who have shared the affections of the same man. Would Katherine ever regret refusing the fine, upstanding young farmer who has won her sister? Does Anna feel resentment at her sister for not recognizing the merits which characterize Burfind? Does she feel she is second choice or a more mature choice? And what is Anna's secret opinion of her sister, who refused the man with whom Anna is brave enough to cast her lot in far-off Washington? How unique the position of the mother to watch the lives of her two children bound by interest in the same man, since we assume Katherine must have liked John somewhat to get herself engaged to him.

Some of these questions were put to Burfind and to the mother. They answered with smiles.

Was 13 Her Jinx?

After a minute—"Katherine is doing what she wants to do," said John, "and I believe everyone has that right. She is happy, and so are Anna and I. Mother here wants us all to arrange things as we see best. There are no misunderstandings anywhere. I know what you want me to say, the kind of things about love and so on, but I must disappoint you. "That can't be talked about," concluded the young farmer from the state of Washington.

Anna and Katherine were away at work when the writer called but—"Come back this evening and see for yourself how satisfied we all are if you think we're a problem or anything like that" laughed the fiance in khaki putting his brawny arm about the plump smiling mther-in-law-to-be.

The unusual courtship of Burfind and the Rupy girls came to light recently when after taking out a license on October 13 to marry Miss Katherine Rupy, Burfind returned to the marriage license bureau and requested another license made out to marry Miss Anna, saying that a misunderstanding had broken off the first engagement.

Burfind is well-to-do and served two years in the navy during the war. The wedding will take olace in St. Adelbert's church on November 14.

"I am going to marry a young woman I love and who will make the kind of a wife I want," says Burfind

Could thirteen have been "unlucky" for Katherine?

MAYOR FELL IN LIME RING TRAP

$15,000,000 worth of work going to stone contractors instead of terra cotta interests.

These suggestions, contained in a letter to the board of education "explaining" the advantages of limestone over terra cotta, Mayor Hylan said, were based solely on information contained in a memorandum drafted for him by Hettrick, whom, he said, he did not know. This letter, Mr. Untermeyer branded as "pure fabrication and a pack of lies."

While the mayor was on the stand he was continuously in a clash with Samuel Untermeyer of the committee's counsel. It was a battle of wits, which brought demonstrations from the large crowd of spectators who jammed the hearing chamber and filled the lobby of the city hall. Several times Senator Lockwood, chairman of the committee, threatened to clear the room if the noisy demonstrations continued.

Mr. Untermeyer declared that "labor leader followers" had "quite a clique" present to applaud favorable remarks by the witness.

Senator Abram Kaplan also opposed Mr. Untermeyer's method of examination of the mayor, declaring that the committee's counsel was "indulging in too many side remarks that have nothing to do with this investigation, largely for the benefit of the gallery."

BANKER THOUGHT JAILED IN VAULT FACING CHARGES

OTTAWA, Ills., Nov. 11.—Bruised and battered, Francis J. Carey, 21-year-old teller of the National City Bank of Ottawa, who disappeared last night after the reported robbery of the institution, tonight was in the custody of county authorities after giving himself up late today. Carey, tired and footsore, walked into a farmhouse about four miles south of Utica, Illinois. After telephoning to the president of the bank he awaited until the arrival of the sheriff and was brought back to Ottawa. He denied participation in the robbery.

Carey was being questioned tonight by Sheriff C. S. Ayers, who brought the young man back, President Charles P. Taylor of the bank, and other bank officials, in an effort to determine if his disappearance had any connection with the robbery.

Carey declared he knew nothing of the money taken from the bank, but refused to talk further.

County officials expressed the opinion that several men assisted in robbing the bank and that they pummeled Carey when it was found that a large part of the money said to have been taken had been lost.

Bank officials said tonight that all but $4,997 had been recovered. The sum of $40,000 was found in a shoe box near the bank when one of the robbers was surprised by a citizen.

It was at first thought that Carey had been locked in the vault of the bank by the robbers, and last night efforts were made to open the vault door. Finally the door was melted off with blow torches and entrance was gained to the enclosure to find it empty. A search was begun at once for Carey.

John M. Martin, Stern Champ of Law, Runs Astray

Among the entries on the police court docket for Thursday's "business" appears the name of John Martin, written there by the desk sergeant at the instigation of Day Motorcycle Patrolman Bobo, who told police officials that he caught the alleged offender in the act of breaking Wichita Falls speed laws to such an extent as a well fed Ford motor would allow.

Now Martin is an assistant county attorney, having acquired the name among court attaches and members of the local bar of "Hard Boiled John" for his tenacity and perseverance in securing a maximum number of criminal convictions for the county during his service in the administration of County Attorney John Davenport, and, being a portion of the law, as it were, the fact that he was taken into its toils for an offense would naturally seem more or less superfluous to the hard thinking public.

But that identical thing came to pass.

As Martin is a lover of hunting, as a sport, it was apparent that he had taken advantage of the Armistice Day holiday and sought recreation among the wild ducks and geese, as he was conspicuous by his absence from his office in the courthouse when an attempt was made to get a statement from him relative to his little difference with the police.

Now John is consoling with Judge W. N. Bonner, city commissioner, who also has a speedy motor car.

AMERICAN SOLDIER DEAD LIE IN MEXICAN CEMETERY

By LOUIS P. KIRBY

International News Staff Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY.—The American flag flies over a piece of land almost in the heart of Mexico City. It is the property of the United States and is described by some as "American territory." In other days, before the Mexicans learned that they could beard Uncle Sam with impunity, the ground was held sacred. Mexican policemen would not even pursue rogues within the enclosure when they fled from sanctuary.

What they would do now would probably be a very different story.

The piece of ground is the old American cemetery. It was deeded to the United States by President Juarez. Mexico's firmest friend of America about sixty years ago. At first it was the burying ground to which all Americans who died here were taken. Now it is a military cemetery in which are buried the soldiers who fell in Mexico in the war of 1847 and Americans who followed the flag in other wars. Only soldiers may be buried there now.

About twenty years ago it was found that the numerous cemeteries in Mexico City were a source of danger to the public health. Every church—and there are many churches in the crowded sections—had its burial ground, and passers in the busy streets could frequently see burials, even in the congested sections of the city. It was decided to put an end to burials within the city limits and establish cemeteries further out in the country. A new American cemetery was laid out along with the other new cemeteries, but the old cemetery was left as it is.

It was proposed that the graves be moved to the new cemetery and that the grounds which are beautiful, with many majestic trees, be used as the site of a building for the American embassy. This idea did not meet with favor at Washington and the subject has been dropped for nearly twenty years.

The old British cemetery adjoins the old American cemetery. It has been left untouched. This, it is said, is because the American government would not move the bodies resting in the park owned by the United States. The British would not move if the Americans would not.

Monument to Dead

The most interesting thing in the old American cemetery is the monument to the American soldiers who fell in the fighting during the advance through the Valley of Mexico, preceding the capture by the United States troops of the Mexican capital. The bodies of the soldiers had been buried near where they fell, but were moved to the cemetery when it was opened. The monument is an unpretentious stone shaft, somewhat resembling an obelisk in form and surmounted by an urn.

Keepers, usually old soldiers, have watched over the graves for sixty years.

An American who lost his son in one of the greatest battles in France during the World War, on visiting the cemetery, said: "There could be no better guardian of our soldier dead than the American government."

Was Cortez's Estate

The land embraced by the old cemetery was once part of the country estate of Cortez, the Spanish conqueror of Mexico. When Montezuma fell Cortez became master of Mexico. He was pleased with the palace of an Aztec nobleman on the banks of the Rio Consulado and moved in with very little ceremony. He occupied the house until he moved to another palace on the great estate granted to him by the Spanish King.

It is told that when the American flag was raised over the cemetery the Mexicans treated the ground with profound respect, as sacred to the great brother nation. Many rogues fled there when hard pressed by the police, and, because the policemen hesitated to invade the park, managed to get time to dodge away.

About fifteen years ago an American swindler accused of fraud ran into the cemetery to escape arrest. The police pursuaded him to the gate and stopped there. But they placed sentries around the fence so that he could not get out.

Capture Swindler There

Then there was debate as to what should be done to reach the criminal and put him in jail. It was suggested that he be extradited, but this idea was not received with favor because extradition would take too long a time.

Finally the American ambassador was appealed to. He issued instructions that the swindler should receive no food from the keeper of the cemetery and that the man should be forbidden to enter the keeper's house.

Starvation and fear of the discomforts of sleeping among the graves soon caused the swindler to surrender.

A satirical American, after listening to the story of the swindler, remarked: "An American rogue had a more dignified position in Mexico in those days than an honest man does now."

FORGAN CALLS FOR PRE-WAR REGIME AGAIN

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Getting conditions back to a pre-war status, it is the concensus of opinion of witnesses before the senate committee on reconstruction, is the only way to solve the building and housing problems which cofront the county, it was testified to today by James B. Forgan, chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank, told the committee that readjustment of building costs would make more money available for building and Henry K. Holman, an architect, suggested prevention of coercion in strikes and lockouts and the creation of a bureau of buildings as remedies.

Mr. Forgan said it was not desirable for banks to offer preferential rates on mortgage loans at present and declared that as soon as building costs were adjusted "so that there is a reasonable prospect of profit," the building business will be revived and there would be no difficulty in finding money to take care of it.

"The income tax," said Mr. Forgan "especially the excess profits tax, has made it necessary for large investors to obtain unusually high rates of interest and has placed another obstruction in the way of floating mortgage loans."

George E. Taylor, a mortgage broker and Harrison B. Riley, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, also advocated revision of the income tax laws.

Presenting the conclusions of a conference of Chicago architects, Henry K. Holzman gave the committee their opinion of existing hindrances and the corresponding remedies for building.

As remedies, Mr. Holzman recommended prohibition of force or coercion in strikes and lockouts and protection of the right of every citizen to enter an apprenticeship in any field he choose. A government bureau of buildings at Washington, "leading to the democratization of building material associations and the prohibition of artificial fixing of prices and output," was also suggested.

I. C. C. TO ALLOW STATE BODY SAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The interstate commerce commission has no disposition to interfere with state regulatory bodies in administration of local traffic problems, Chairman Clark of the federal body said today at the conference of the National Association of Railway and Utility commissioners.

Replying to a question from Chairman Lewis of the Indiana commission, Mr. Clark said that if a state body promulgated a rule governing instrastate distribution of cars and no complaint came to the federal board, "certainly we would not interfere with it."

Withdrawal of car privileges for transporting coal for public utilities was due to abuses of the orders, Mr. Clark said. Some of the utilities, he asserted, had under this privilege added coal to their storage and others had even diverted cars for other purposes.

ANTI-STRIKERS OF GERMANY TO OBSERVE BIRTH

By FRANK E. MASON

International News Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN — Germany's patriotic strike-breaking association "Die Technische Nothlife," or technical emergency help, this month celebrates the first anniversary of its organization.

It was Die Technische Nothilfe which kept the waterworks and gas works running during the Kapp revolution. This organization numbers about 100,000 enlisted volunteers, who from patriotic motives offer to serve as strikebreakers in any emergency where technical services are required to maintain the functioning of some plant necessary to the life of the community, such as the gas, water or electric light works.

The majority of the volunteers are young men, many of whom are students. They are frequently more willing than competent, as was demonstrated during the Kapp putsch, when the students burned out some of the boilers they were serving at the gas works and lamed the very machinery they were so intent on keeping i norder. Over-curious young strikebreakers in the electric light works are alleged to have taken a fancy to taking some of the intricate control apparatus and switchboards to pieces to examine their insides and lacked the knowledge to put them together again.

Despite their frequent youth and folly the Technische Nothilfe is all that stands between the large city and absolute chaos in times of revolution and general strike. The Technische Nothilfe are the heroes of the hour when they straighten out the mess resulting from the shutting off of water for several days with the consequent stoppage of sewerage.

During the first year of their organization the strikebreakers were called in 385 cases, which included mines, mills, sugar factories, hospital works and even grave digging. They were used in 58 electrical power plants, 44 gas works and 19 railroad yards.

The midde class over all of Europe are awakening to the club in the hands of labor in the shape of the general strike, and steps are being taken to insure that the industries absolutely necessary to maintain life, such as the water and gas works, cannot be shut down upon the caprice of some labor group.

An organization similar to the Technische Nothilfe has been established in Sweden. L'Union civique in France is enrolling volunteers to serve in the public utilities in crises. Needless to say the bolshevik and communistic agitators are the bitterest enemies of the volunteers, when they consider more detrimental to their cause than the idle dreamers of reaction and monarchy.

OLD MAN GIVES GUN TO POLICE TO SHUN HARM

Walking into the city detective office at the police station late Wednesday night, Louis Wilson, 70 years old, handed a revolver to City Detectives Bullard and Johnson and said:

"Lock me up before I kill somebody."

Wilson was scantily clad and apparently in need of food. Inquiry by the city detectives failed to bring out any further information, Wilson explaining that he wanted to be locked up for the night and that he might explain in the morning. He was taken before Police Chief Huff and searched and a note was found.

The note, which, police believe, was written by Wilson, said:

"I have no friends, no money and am tired of living."

Wilson had 6 cents in his pocket. Inquiry developed the fact that the old man was a wanderer who had only been in the city a short time. Police believe that he wrote the note when in a pessimistic mood and surrendered to the police to prevent himself from carrying out his intentions.

The deplorable condition of the old man caused Chief Huff to have him taken to a restaurant and fed. Later the situation became known to Manager Bascam of the Denver hotel, who offered to give the man food and lodging. Mr. Bascam told the police that he will furnish a permanent home for Wilson, who apparently has no friends or relatives to whom the police can appeal.

POPOCATEPELT AWAKES AFTER FOUR CENTURIES

(By International News Service

MEXICO CITY.—There is controversy here as to whether there has been an eruption of the volcano Popocatepetl.

When smoke was seen issuing apparently from the crater of the volcano by observers in the nearby town, there was a panic and alarming reports were sent out. Then came the statement that the smoke was not from the crater but from fires near the summit of the mountain.

Immediately after the report that the volcano was in action after being inactive for four hundred years, several parties of scientists started out to investigate what was going on at the top of Popocatepetl.

Pable Waltz and Francisco Fernandez, two authorities on matters relating to volcanoes, have reported that the smoke actually issued form the crater of Popocatepetl. Mr. Waltz was of the opinion that this did not indicate a serious subterranean disturbance. While Mr. Fernandez thought that there was a possibility that the erupion might assume greater force and become a source of danger to dwellers in the surrounding district.

Others who assert that they visited the crater insist that smoke was caused by fires and not by an eruption.

The volcano helped Cortez in his conquest of Mexico. Just before he landed with his small band of adventurers there was an eruption of Popocatepetl. The superstitious Aztecs accepted this as a warning that some great disaster was coming upon them. They were in this excited desponding frame of mind when the ships bearing Cortez and his band appeared. The Spaniards were at first looked upon as immortal beings who had come from the home of the Gods. Before the Azecs discovered that they were merely human beings greedly for gold, the conquerers had gained a footing in Mexico and were able to fasten the yoke of Spain upon the inhabitants.

SAYS U. S. WILL GET BERTH IN NATION LEAGUE

Asserting his assurance that the United States will some day take her place among a parliament of nations, similar to the one which nations will take in at Geneva on November 15, Judge P. A. Martin delivered an Armistice Day address to Rotarians at their weekly luncheon Thursday which bespoke a high confidence in the ultimate end of international polities.

Forecasting day when wars will be no more, Judge Martin included November 11, 1918 in three days proclaimed epochmaking to the human race; the day of Christ's birth and the day of the signing of the American Declaration of Independence being placed in the same class.

The club's observation of Armistice Day included an informal musical entertainment. Mrs. Gambell, Miss Adele Marcus, and Mrs. Lewis were on the program which was brought to a close with chorus singing by the members.

In an address of appreciation, President I. H. Roberts thanked members of the Civic League and officials of the First Christian church for the luncheons which have been served the club during the past several months. The meeting Thursday was the occasion of the last luncheon to be served Rotarians at the church. The luncheon next week will be served in the dining room of the Kemp Hotel.

Mrs. T. B. Smock responded for the Civic League members who have assisted in the luncheons, expressing for them the pleasure the work has brought.

John Bradley, speaking for the Retail Merchants' Association, asked Rotarians to support local enterprise by limiting their buying to Wichita Falls business houses.

DELANO PRODUCES MORE THAN MILLION BARRELS FROM OIL WELLS IN DISPUTED DISTRICT

Between April 1 and September 30, 1020, more than one million barrels of oil, selling for $3,069,212, were taken from wells in the Red River litigation area, according to reports filed in the supreme court by Receiver Frederick A. Delano. Acting upon the court's orders of June 7, 1920, the receiver returned a total of 115 wells to thrifty operators, the report shows

Forty wells belonging to 33 operators, remain in charge of the receiver. Seven of this number, west of the Grandfield bridge, on the margin of the flood plain and along the south edge of the sand bed, are operated by Mr. Delano under terms of contracts made directly with the owners. The other wells are in the Big Bend area east of the Grandfield bridge.

On September 13, production in the area involved in the receiver's activities during the preceeding six months reached 1,061,842 barrels compilations quoted in the report show.

Production Being Exhausted

Predictions that three-fourts of the production would be exhausted within one year are attached to figures indicating a steady decline in the production of the older part of the field. The production given by months shows 184,289 barrels in April; 157,274 in May, 206,978 in June; 200,951 in July; 173,205 in August 139,142 during the first 13 days in September.

Wells recently completed in the section west of the Grandfield bridge account for the increases in the production figures for this district, the receiver explains.

The receiver's financial statement shows gross cash proceeds of $3,873,388.93, credited to the general receivership account. Of this amount $3,069,212.82 is listed under total receipts by the receiver between April 1 and September 25 as proceeds of oil from the receivership territory.

Receipts listed as 'from other sources" total $18,360.01.

The grand total of cash proceeds of oil from wells in the receivership territory April 1, 1920 to September 25, 1920 was reported at $3,885,128.92 Of the gross total, $785,916.10 is the total receipts of properties turned back under the order of June 7 of which the receiver has received $147,378.02 (i. e. 3-16) and the operating claimants have received $638,538.08, (i. e. 13-16).

One eighth reserved for royalties, $481,903.

One sixteenth reserved for general receivership expenses; that is, administration expenses not chargeable to direct operations, $204,951.

Thirteen-sixteenths of the proceeds of those wells on patented lands of the flood plane which has been or is being paid to operating claimants, $1,408,928.

Thirteen-sixteenths of the proceeds from the above wells on patented lands of the flood plane since they were turned back to the operating claimants, $638,538.

Thirteen-sixteenths of the proceeds of the river bed wells which has been drawn upon to repay the cost of drilling productive wells and the cost of operating or drilling new wells in the river bed area, $1,084.

Certificates Protect Royalty

The report shows the holding of $6000 of United States treasury certificates to protect the royalty reserved for the ultimate owner or his assigns. The receiver intends to keep more than enough to cover this amount always so invested.

In an effort to settle promptly all just claims against him, the receiver had met eleven claims, totaling $2,044 at the time of his report. Five claims had been denied as without merit and thirteen were pending.

Insurance policies held by the receiver include $510,000 for fire, a similar amount for tornado and liability insurance for employees, according to the statement filed.

Advises Shift in Channel

Deflection of the stream, first to one side and then to the other for the development of the entire region without favor to individual claims or interests was given as the most "economical and intelligent' system of development for the district in Delano's report.

Assumming this method can not be adopted, the only course open to the receiver is the plan now being pursued, which is to make each well in the river bed area a separate unit, which requires driving through the sand into the hard pan below, not less than 80 piles twenty to twenty-five feet in length" the report continues.

Completion of fourteen wells and the drilling of one other were reported under "developments." Eight of the completions, producing an average of 1200 barrels daily, are in the river bed area; four are on the narrow margin of the flood plain with a production of 500 barrels and three were dry holes.

Development plans of the receiver were interfered with by weather conditions, his statement continues, fifty nine derricks having been destroyed by wind storms and the course of the river altered by high water.

An average of four wells completed each month, to be placed so as to establish the limits of the field with a minimum number of dry holes in the development plan for the future is indicated in the receivers report.

Announces Future Practice.

Among the conclusions which the receiver arrives at as a result of his investigation are the following, which bear on future practice:

"Pumping with oil-fed boilers is ruinously expensive and must be stopped.

"Pumping with gas engines supplied with dry gas (raw casing head from which the gasoline has been taken) is preferred, and 'raw casing head' gas is the next best method.

"Swabbing wells in this field where rock pressures are light and employment of a high vacuum is a costly and objectionable expedient, and is only justifiable in meeting extreme competitive conditions."

Mr. Delano explains that more oil from individual wells may be gotten quicker by this method, but that it is at the expense of ultimate production and this expense is so great that it should be discarded. He says the government experts condemn it because it tends to injure surrounding territory and shorten the life of the field by bringing in salt water.

Object Lesson Prevented.

He says that if he had not been ordered by the court on June 7 to turn certain of the properties back to claimants on April 1 that much more could have been accomplished in economies of operation. He declares that if the receiver had been able to give an object lesson in co-operative methods to many of the 60 small associations in the area east of Grandfield bridge that "many of them would have survived, but they were otherwise minded."

In a specially prepared Sunday story, The Record News will go into the receiver's report in more detail than space provides today.

Webster Never Signed the Roll

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON.—Daniel Webster, one of the most active lawyers before the bar of the United States Supreme Court, never signed the membership roll of the court.

The absence of Webster's name from the roll of America's greatest lawyers was commented on today by Frederick W. Lehmann, former solicitor-General of the United States.

"Maybe the court officials of that day were afraid to tell Webster it was a requirement of the court to sign the roll," suggested a court clerk.

"I expect," commented Lehmann, "that the court listening to Webster decided he was entitled to practice before it whether or not he had signed the roll."

Associate Justice John H. Clarke, a member of the Supreme Court, never practiced before the Supreme Court as a lawyer, and his name is not on the rolls as having been admitted to the bar of the court. The same is true of former Associate Justice David Davis, who, after the Hayes-Tilden contest for the presidency, left the Supreme Court to serve as United States Senator from Illionis. But as Senator Davis he appeared several times before the Supreme Court.

This led Mat Carpenter, one of the most brilliant lawyers of his day, to remark to Senator Davis: "It is a wonder you would not qualify yourself to practice before the Supreme Court by being admitted to the bar of the court."

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is one of the few prominent men not a lawyer to deliver a speech before the United States Supreme Court in session.

SEEK COTTON MILL FOR WICHITA FALLS

Considering the probability that the increase in interstate freight rates will ultimately result in the establishment of branch factories in various cities of the country by many large cotton concerns, the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce has started action by communicating with several houses in an endeavor to place Wichita Falls as a location for a cotton mill in the manufacture of finished bolt cotton goods.

It was pointed out that there are at present nine cotton mills in actual operation in the state and it is believed that Wichita Falls is a logical center for such an industry.

A Word of Thanks

First of all we want to thank those who have made it possible for us to do the greatest volume of business ever done by any retail grocery concern in the city of Wichita Falls during a like period of time. Two thousand residents of this city have come with us on the shareholder basis and are today reaping their reward in a tremendous saving effected in their purchases of

GROCERIES, MEATS, VEGETABLES AND FRUITS

This business has succeeded and will continue to succeed because it is dedicated to a worthy principle —namely, the marketing of food products at the lowest possible cost and giving the people the benefit of the tremendous purchasing power of our great resources.

Those who have come in with us should feel proud that they have made possible the establishment of a concern which will immediately bring the prices of food products down to a reasonable basis. They are not only benefiting themselves but the public at large.

The affairs of this company are under the personal direction of a Board of Directors made up of citizens of Wichita Falls. It is not an "outside" institution in any sense of the word. We offer as reference any bank or banker in the city. They are all fully advised as to our plan of operation and we count among our shareholders men from every bank in the city.

The original issue of stock which we offered for sale has been exhausted. In addition we have a waiting list of those who still want to purchase stock. If at any time and for any reason the present stockholders should want to dispose of the stock which they now hold, we stand ready to place their holdings with those who are seeking to buy.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of this institution it was decided to incorporate, and a full report of the action taken will be made through the press.

The Cashier of this company is under a $35,000 bond, which bond was executed and signed by a local bonding agency, absolutely guaranteeing the shareholders against any possible loss.

Although it is the primary object of this store to market food products as cheaply as possible, in order to do so we are not going to handle any "cheap" goods. A careful inspection of our stock will prove to you that we carry the very highest class line of groceriess that it is possible to buy. You will quickly recognize the quality of the following nationally-known lines: Heinz's 57 Varieties, Del Monte, Folger's Coffees and Spices, National Biscuit Co.'s Products, Armour's and Swift's Products, Bell of Wichita Flour, as well as the leading brands of our local wholesale houses.

Boxing Revival Here Withers With Sudden Arrival of Old Boreas

CROWD SMALL, HAT GETS $24 FOR 2 BOXERS

Manager Jack Barnes of the recently organized Sportsmen's Athletic club was greeted Thursday night with varied and sundry cold blasts—some from the immediate direction of the North Pole and some from the vicinity of the club rooms.

As a result, about 150 followers of the boxing game were rewarded with a very tame exhibition and plenty of cold weather.

Red Sheehan and Kleck, lightweights, boxed four slow rounds and the meeting adjourned.

The attendance was too small to make up the amount of the club's guarantee to the boys in the main go. So after a conference lasting for more than an hour it was decided to give back the membership fees. Then, after another lengthy conference, it was agreed to take up a collection and the principals were to give an exhibition bout.

Manager R. W. Watts for Kleck was far from happy over the size of the free-will offering. It amounted to $24.70, which was split two ways to help defray the traveling and hotel expenses for the principals and their managers.

Luckily for Kleck, he has to go only as far as Fort Worth, with Red Sheehan and Dickey Williams, the donation is a brief starter on the long trail to the Windy city up in Illinois where their hats customarily hang.

Kleck and Sheehan are due a few kind words for their willingness to put on an exhibition for what it is probably the smallest amount ever paid principals in a main go. While no damage was done on either side, they at least put out $24 worth of beating when you consider the scale for skilled labor today.

Members of the Wichita Falls Gun Club celebrated Armistice Day Thursday with a program of two events of 25 each in singles and one event of 12 pairs of doubles. Due to the high wind the scores were not rolled up as expected.

J. L. Nabb and A. G. Deatherage tied for high gun with a score of 45. Joe Pate was runner up with a score of 44. Daniel and J. G. Killgore tied for third place both making a score of 42. The score of the singles is as follows:

DOVE OF PEACE REIGNING, MAJOR LEAGUES MEET

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—With a dove of peace perched on their shoulders, the warring clubs of the American and National leagues left here tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow they will meet in conference to decide for peace in the major leagues.

Predictions were made on every hand that the eleven club owners of the newly organized National league and the five clubs "loyal" to President Ban Johnson of the American league will agree to end hostilities. While no official announcement has been made, every member of the two major leagues has gone on record as being in favor of a reorganization in baseball, of the appointment of a new board of control, and the selection of Federal Judge Landis of Chicago as the chairman with a salary of $50,000 a year.

When the 16 club owners go into session tomorrow they will meet for the purpose of ironing out their differences. Past grievances will be forgotten and no reflection will be cast on any of the major league officials, present or absent.

Neither President Johnson nor President Heydler of the National league will be in attendance. Neither will there be any lawyers or other outsiders. "Only the 16 club owners will take part in the discussion.

Minors' "Hands Off."

Out of the peace negotiations it was expected that the Lasker plan for baseball reorganization will be greatly modified and altered to meet new situations. The minor leagues have decided upon a "hands off" policy in regard to endorsement of the plan, but they will insist upon equal representation with the major leagues on the new governing body.

After the minor leaguers agreed upon the selection of a committee of six to meet with the major leagues in developing the plan of baseball reorganization and selecting Buffalo, N. Y., for the 1921 convention city, the annual convention was closed. The committee selected to meet with the majors probably will not go into conference with them until after the threatened major league war is settled. It is considered likely that the joint meeting of the three organizations probably will not be held until February.

The minor leaguers unanimously voted to place President M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., on an annual salary of $5,000 and have him devote his full time to league affairs. Sexton has served the minors for 20 years without compensation. The salary of John H. Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., secretary and treasurer of the association, was raised from $5,000 to $7,500. The funds to meet these salaries will be raised by appropriating 2 per cent of the purchase price of all players sold.

Arbitrators Chosen.

The following league officials were chosen as members of the national board of arbitration:

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association; J. Cal Ewing of the Pacific Coast league, and David L. Fultz, president of the International league, as representatives of the class AA leagues; A. R. Tearney, president of the Three I and Western leagues; Dan O'Neill, president of the Eastern league, and John D. Martin, president of the Southern assocaiation, representing class A leagues; Robert Brown of the Pacific International league; George H. Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario league, and E. W. Dickerson, president of the Central league, representing the class B leagues; N. P. Corish of the South Atlantic league, representing class C leagues, and W. R. Rose, president of the Florida State league, as representative of the class D leagues.

Nearly 100 cases involving disputes between clubs over the ownership of players and territorial rights remain for settlement before the board of arbitration, which probably will be in session until the end of the week.

WICHITA ELEVEN BEATS BURK HI HERE 13 TO 0

The Burkburnett High school football team met defeat at the hands of the local pigskin tossers yesterday afternoon on the junior high grounds, by the score of 13-0. Burkburnett showed a marked increase of knowledge of the game since their last visit here, when they were overwhelmed by the locals, 56-0, and Coach Cantwell's charges had to fight for every inch they got.

A. Chewning at quarter and True Cauble at left half were largely responsible for the victory of the locals. Time and again they would make long gains, skirting the ends and through the line.

Fumbles and penalties were frequent on both sides, but it was the best game seen on the local lot this season.

The refereeing of Harry Viner, Missouri university star, was by far the best seen on the local field this season. He handled the game in big league style and drew the praise of coaches, players and spectators.

Captain Wilson won the toss-up and chose to receive the kick-off. Smith kicked to A. Chewning, who fumbled, but recovered the ball. After a series of line bucks, the ball went over, Burkburnett playing a good defensive game. True Cauble furnished the only thrill of this quarter, when he got away for a 25-yard run. At the close of the first quarter the ball was in mid-field. Score, 0-0.

At the beginning of the second quarter Cauble and Wilson carried the ball to within one yard of the goal, by an end run and an off-tackle play. Kenley carried the ball over on the next play, and Walker kicked goal. On the next kick-off Chewning received, and returned the ball 12 yards before being downed. End runs and line bucks put the ball on the Burkburnett seven-yard line. Then True Cauble, by a clever end run, scored the local's second touchdown of the game. Walker missed goal. This ended the scoring for the day, and the two teams battled in midfield the rest of the game.

The play of the Burkburnett team showed impovement in every department over that of its initial game here early in the season. The backfield showed teamwork that was lacking in the first game. Green and Simpson, halfbacks, and Smith, at full, made gains through the Wichita Falls' defense, lacking, however, the consistent punch necessary to go over their opponents' goal. Captain Majors for the visitors handled his team in good style.

The line-up:

| Wichita Falls. | Burkburnett. |
|---|---|
| Keevil, l. e. | J. Ellis, l. e. |
| Waggoner, l. t. | Bost, l. t. |
| Walker, l. g. | Richey, l. g. |
| Haney, c. | Gibson, c. |
| Harper, r. g. | Norton, r. g. |

The session with the latter will be on the subject of the latest evidence on how the city manager plan works. City managers from all over the United States will be present to take part in the discussion.

The committee appointed last year at the Cleveland meeting to draft a model state constitution will make a report calling for a single house legislature, with the governor the only other elected official. The governor is to have sole power of appointment and removal of heads of departments and to have a seat in the legislature, with power to introduce bills, but no power to vote.

CALOMEL HORROR TOLD BY DODSON

You Don't Need to Sicken, Gripe, or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your health bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—Adv.

FAGGART CASE BRINGS CHARGE AGAINST DODSON

A complaint charging perjury was filed Thursday before Justice R. V. Gwinn against Frank Dodson by County Attorney John Davenport in connection with statements alleged to have been made by Dodson Wednesday while on the witness stand in the trial of W. F. Faggart in Seventy-eighth district court.

It is charged that Dodson made assertions when examined by the prosecution which differed from statements which he is said to have made to the county attorney the day after his arrest on a charge of operating a gambling house in Kemp City.

At that time, according to county authorities, Dodson said that he paid rent to Faggart on the building which he was using, or words to that effect, and that during the trial he reiterated the statement and said that he had had no dealings with Faggart in connection with his activities. Faggart said that he sold the building to a man named Brown two weeks before the raid on the place which resulted in the arrest of Dodson.

Dodson is now out on bond, pending appeal of his case. He was recently convicted in Seventy-eighth district court and sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary, charged with operating a gambling house in Kemp City in which Marvin W. Caples and William S. Toney of this city were slain while assisting authorities in a raid on the place.

Faggart, who was tried on a charge of permitting gambling to proceed on his premises, was found not guilty by a jury late Wednesday.

ROAD HONORS ITS FALLEN WAR HEROES

(By International News Service.)

MONTREAL, Quebec.—In honor of 11,062 employes who fought in France 1,100 of whom were killed in battle or died of wounds, the Canadian Pacific Railway will erect a statue of bronze in its stations at Montreal and Winnipeg. The statue is by Couer de Leon MacCarthy, a Montreal sculptor and represents a dead soldier borne to heaven by a laurel-wreathed angel.

Memorial bronze tablets also will be placed in a score of the company's stations throughout Canada and in London, Liverpool and the Orient bearing this inscription:

"This tablet commemorates those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who at the call of King and country left all that was dear to them, endured hardship, faced danger and finally passed out of sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after see to it that their names be not forgotten."

Rubbed into the skin for rheumatism, neuralgia, contracted muscles, sprains or lameness, Ballard's Snow Liniment goes right through the flesh to the bone, easing pain and removing the cause. It is a powerful pain relief. Three sizes, 30c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by your druggist.—Adv.

SO WEAK LIFE A MISERY

Florida Lady Would Have Aching Pains in Side, Back and Shoulders—Took Cardui and Soon Noted Great Improvement

Odessa, Fla.—"About two years ago," writes Mrs. J. D. Powell, of this place, "I took several bottles of Cardui as a tonic, for I was rundown in health. In fact, I could hardly do anything at all; could only drag around and couldn't do any work.

"Life was miserable to me, and I knew I must have some relief, as I was so very weak. I would suffer from aching pains in my right side, back and shoulders. I would have such terrible nervous spells, which would come on me and I would fall down wherever I was standing . . .

"My friends recommended that I try Cardui . . . I began using it and soon saw and felt a great improvement . . . My appetite became good . . . I could rest well at night, and I got so I could do all my housework in a short time. . . . I praise Cardui to all my friends."

If you suffer from ailments peculiar to women, it would be well for you to give Cardui a trial. For more than forty years it has proven beneficial to thousands of suffering women, and what it has done for others, it should do for you.

Take Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, today. Your druggist keeps it.—Adv

VERNON TO GET WAREHOUSE FOR FARM PRODUCTS

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 11.—A bonded warehouse for cotton and other agricultural products is to be built in Vernon at once, $9,000 having been raised by a committee headed by two directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The warehouse is to be built on the unit plan following suggestions of the American Cotton Association for a south-wide system of storing cotton.

Interest in the situation was created by the Chamber of Commerce who sent a representative to the cotton conference in Dallas several weeks ago. Meetings at Vernon and at various places in Wilbarger county were held by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of hearing speakers from the American Cotton Association.

The directors of the local Chamber of Commerce called a meeting which resulted in the reduction of cotton ginning ten cents a bale. It is calculated that this action will save Wilbarger country farmers $30,000.

Republicans Gain

Long belated official returns on the election in Wilbarger county, though yet incomplete, indicate that the democrats lost in total votes this year compared with their vote in the last presidential election and that the republicans gained more than two hundred per cent. These returns are based on final official findings on eleven out of seventeen voting precincts in Wilbarger county.

The republicans carried three precincts in Wilbarger county, the Lockett, Highland and Haney boxes. The Highland box did not reveal a single vote for any official on the county ticket.

The election returns for 1916 show that the democrats of Wilbarger county polled 1,242 votes for presidential electors compared to 99 for the republicans. Figures thus far available indicate that the democrats in 1920 polled 977 votes against 308 republican, the loss being approximately 200.

In the votes cast for governor in 1916, the democrats received 1228 votes and the republicans 58; socialists 116. Figures this year show democrats 1,051; republicans 349, socialists 53; American party 58 votes, and Black-Tan republicans one vote.

Votes cast for representative from thirteenth congressional district in 1916 give democrats 1,233 votes; republicans, 52; socialists, 113. This year the figures thus far stand: Democrats 953 and republicans 227.

The three amendments to the constitution of Texas carried in Wilbarger county in the eleven precincts thsu reported. The school amendment carried by a majority of 526.

It will be probably next week before the full vote is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardon Judd have returned from Colorado Springs. The couple recently were married at Albany. Mr. Judd is a prominent attorney of Vernon and the bride was formerly Miss Sallie Matthews living at Albany.

The musicians of Vernon met last night at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and took steps to organize a brass band. O. L. Ellis is at the head of the project.

The Frisco changed the running time of their passenger trains Sunday. Train No. 622 now leaves for Clinton, Okla., at 8 o'clock a. m. No. 621 arrives at Vernon from Clinton at 8 p. m. There will be no change in the Vernon-Oklahoma City trains.

Arrangements have been finally made between Henry Irslinger of Wichita Falls and Sailor Joe Wood to meet at the Vernon Opera House Friday evening, Nov. 12. Irslinger is said to claim the middleweight championship of the premier honors in the United States navy.

A Ford car belonging to the Neil P. Anderson Cotton company and driven by Rufus Vandiver, their representative at Vernon, was stolen Tuesday night at Wichita Falls while Vandiver was visiting that city with a party of friends.

GIRL SWAIN GIVEN PROBLEM TO SOLVE

A young girl, unsophisticated and with a joyous sort of innocence, is would puzzle one much more versed in affairs of the heart than she, in "The Vice of Fools," and Alice Joyce special Vitagraph production, which will be seen at the Olympic theater today and Saturday.

As Marion Rogers, daughter of a wealthy financier, Miss Joyce reaches a dividing of the ways in her own eixstence—a point from which she must either proceed blindly with Fate, or at which she might conspire with that cynic to bring happiness into the lives of her dearest and best friends. The situation is skillfully and delicately handled in the unfolding of the story, but, even then, it was a topic of considerable discussion in the stiudo while the various scenes were being filmed.

Should a young girl who loves a man, who loves her in return, sit idly by while another seeks to win that man by means beyond the power of the girl to curb? Should an infatuation started in that manner be ignored by the girl, or should she take steps to protect herself and her happiness, as well as that of the man, from an affair the rosiness of which would soon turn dead? The picture gives one solution.

Bread Loaf Size Increased Again 10 Per Ct. in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—A ten percent increase in the size of loaves of bread, the second such increase in two weeks without an accompanying increase in price, was announced today by twelve of the leading bakeries here. The increase, according to a statement accompanying the announcement is a move on the part of the bakers to keep step with the general trend 'in prices and the expectation of the public."

This move, the statement said, was in spite of the fact that labor costs tend upward and that lower priced flour is not yet available.

We hope that take-down committee will get busy promptly and make quick work with those condidates' pictures that fill the landscape.—Columbus Dispatch.

CROWDS ENJOY HOLIDAY WITH SPORTS, SHOWS

With bright, brisk weather prevailing through the day, holiday crowds celebrated with out-of-door festivities Thursday. Except for an aimless, restless crowd in and out of movie theaters, Wichitans gave the day to sport.

Formal activities included a football game between the Wichita Falls and Burkburnett High school teams, and the annual Armistice day shoot of the Wichita Gun club. Youngsters improvised numerous gridiron contests on every available corner lot. School playgrounds were crowded.

Hardware stores have been meeting a rush for shotgun shells since the coming of colder weather. Armed sportsmen in khaki were after ducks in all-day hunts during the holiday.

The automobile took its inevitable large part in the celebrations, the closing of stores and banks apparently not diminishing the traffic on downtown streets.

Although the town was quiet all day, the atmosphere of holiday exuberance was noticeable.

GRAIN ARGUMENTS HEARD AT FT. WORTH

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11.—The effort of Texas grain men to secure changes in rules governing the grades and specifications of the product, when shipped to Northern and Eastern markets, was begun here today before a special board from the United States department of agriculture. The hearing will be continued tomorrow in Amarillo and then in Enid and Oklahoma City.

BURNING SHIP SUNK TO EXTINGUISH FIRE

By Associated Press.

Many a Pretty Face Spoiled by Pimples

Not only are these pimples and splotches disfiguring, but they lead to serious skin diseases that spread and cause the most discomforting irritation and pain. Sometimes they foretell Eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other annoyances that burn like flames of fire, and make you feel that your skin is ablaze.

If you are afflicted with this form of skin disease do not expect to be cured by lotions, ointments, salves and other local remedies, as they can not possibly reach the source of the trouble, which is in the blood. THE VICTORY OF GOOD VALUE

Dodge Brothers' great works are operating at full capacity every day.

It is good to be able to say to you that Dodge Brothers' implicit faith in the good will that grows out of good value is being vindicated by everything that is going on in their plants today.

You know well that Dodge Brothers dedicated themselves, from the very first, to the production of a car which should rise superior to all external conditions, and be, in effect, and in fact, a law unto itself.

They were supremely satisfied, to begin with, that good motor cars supplied a great and a permanent human need.

They were sure that no matter what happened, there would always be an inexhaustible market for the particular kind of a car they hoped and planned to build.

They were convinced that they could produce a car so sound in value, so saving, and so satisfactory to the individual owner, that no outside influence could shake its hold upon the public.

The simple facts, as they exist at this moment, are so inspiring that we are prompted to share them with everyone who shares with Dodge Brothers their faith in sound business principles.

Dodge Brothers are more strongly and soundly entrenched in the good will of the public at this moment than ever in their history.

Every good result which John and Horace Dodge counted upon when they committed themselves to the principles of building good will by building good value, has come to pass.

Their certainty that people will always discover a meritorious product, set it apart, prefer it and reward it, is continuing to come true with each and every succeeding business day.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car is in demand because Dodge Brothers Motor Car meets a definite economic need and satisfies a human craving for honest and substantial value.

Its market will continue to grow and the production continue to increase to meet that market, as long as merit continues to be the determining factor in motor cars and in all other manufactured products.

Excursion to the Rio Grande Valley

We will run our next excursion to the Valley on Sunday, November 21st, and return Friday, November 26th.

If interested in seeing this wonderful valley, where they grow three crops a year on the same ground, and where the flowers bloom in winter the same as in the month of May we will be glad to meet you and talk the matter over.

We go in pullman cars and serve your meals on the train. We go by way of Galveston and spend most of the day Monday on the beach and give you a boat ride on the gulf; will arrive in the Rio Grande Valley Tuesday morning. There the party will take autos for inspection of the entire country.

You will be shown the rigbest farm lands in the world; lands that produce oranges, grape fruits and every other variety of citrus fruit, one to two bales of cotton per acre, 100 to 125 bushels of corn to the acre, 200 to 500 bushels of potatoes per acre, $1,000 to $1,500 an acre in tomatoes, cabbage, onions, etc.

This rich alluvial land is made to produce these tremendous crops by irrigation from the Rio Grande river and semi-tropical climate, a climate that excels southern California, cooler in summer and warmer in winter. We will spend three days in looking this valley over.

We will give a very low rate for the round trip. If interested, see me before the above date.

A. PERKINS.
Room 12, City National Bank, Cor. Eighth and Scott. Phone 3248.

COTTON MARKET ENDS 10 TO 24 POINTS HIGHER

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—Small to moderate gains were made by cotton today, the market being at a net advance the greater part of the time, and closing at net gains on the session of 10 to 24 points. Covering of the short interest furnished a good part of the demand. The usual run of bearish news concerning world financial and commercial conditions was heard and it caused several recessions during the day.

The tone steadied at the close as the result of a larg edemand from covering shorts.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Business in the cotton market was less active today and fluctuations irregular. Prospects for freezing weather in the western belt and higher Liverpool tables caused an advance early, but after selling at 19.02, January contracts broke to 18.50. The general list closed barely steady, net unchanged to 15 points higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 26 to 33 points, with active months selling 34 to 43 points net higher during the earlier trading on covering and Liverpool buying.

The decline in the afternoon was checked by renewed covering and rallies later were promoted by the absence of Southern hedge pressure. Last prices were off from the best under scattered realizing and local pressure.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—New low records for the season were established in the local raw sugar market today, when Cubas sold at 6 cents, cost and freight, equal to 7.02 for centrifugal.

The decline was followed by a half cent reduction in refined prices by one of the leading refiners to the basis of 10 cents for fine graulated, a ne wlow record price for the season. Other refiners were unchanged at 10.50.

Sugar futures also sold into new low ground with all positions below the 6-cent level.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—After opening at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 4 points, the market for coffee futures sold about 4 to 6 points net lower during the early trading. Prices later rallied on bullish crop advices from Santos. Closing bids: December, 7.08; January, 7.31. Spot coffee, quiet; Rio 7s, 7⅛@7½c; Santos 4s, 10¾@11½c.

SAYS CLOTHING STORES RUNNING WITHOUT PROFIT

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. — Retail clothiers are doing business today at a substantial loss, their sales being made with little margin for overhead and none for profit, Mark W. Cresap, secretary and treasurer of a large clothing manufacturing company, declared today.

Wholesalers are cutting prices on between seasons goods and selling at a loss rather than close their plants, Mr. Cresap said, explaining the recent announcement of a 33 1-3 per cent reduction in prices by an Eastern manufacturer.

Two thousand $45.75 suits reported offered for sale at $16.50 at the meeting of the United National Clothiers here this week probably were sold by a wholesaler who found it necessary to sacrifice the stock to raise immediate cash, Mr. Cresap suggested.

REPORT PUBLIC INCREASES USE OF Y. W. SERVICE

Featured by the report of the Employment Department the November meeting of the executive board of the Young Women's Christian Association held Thursday morning in the board room at the Y. W. C. A. was marked by excellence of the reports of the various departments and committees. The growing interest in the association and use of all its departments by the girls and women of the city, and the general public also, was brought out in practically every report made.

The report of the employment and rooms registry, of which Miss Josephine Mann is secretary and Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, committee chairman, showed the employers of girls and women increasing to large degree their use of the employment service, and a similarly enlargement of the scope of service among the girls and women who desire employment. All branches of employment, clerical and highly skilled as well as domestic and industrial, is covered in the Y. W. C. A. service, which is free to both employer and employed. A discussion of the further enlargement of the scoope of this department followed the report.

The cafeteria report, presented by Mrs. Charles Pogenpohl, chairman, showed a similarly gratifying growth in the use of the cafeteria, especially for purposes of sociability, a number of clubs and organizations now using the cafeteria for luncheons and teas. A vote of appreciation was extended to Mrs. W. H. Worthington, cafeteria director, for her work.

The board decided that service of only one meal on Thanksgiving Day, would be most practical. A special Thanksgiving menu will be arranged for the noonday meal, and an afternoon holiday will be given to the cafeteria staff, and the secretaries.

Satisfactory progress on the Christmas sale, which will start on November 15, was reported by Miss DuBose, general secretary. A number of articles for the sale have already been donated, and other articles are listed for commission sales. The co-operation of all board members in securing articles of fancy work to be listed for this sale, was urged.

Other routine reports showed all committees meeting in regular monthly session before the board meeting, and finishing up all business. The report from Charlotte Kemp Hall, made by Mrs. C. J. Coyne, director, the treasurers and the headquarters report all showed a very gratifying financial condition.

A two week's Christmas leave was voted the general secretary. Miss DuBose. Other business attended to included the purchase of minor equipment for the building.

The board members present were: Mrs. W. W. Silk, president; Miss Pauline Richolt, secretary. Mesdames C. W. Beavers, Charles Pogenpohl, C. J. Coyne, C. W. Snider, E. S. Goodner, J. A. Richolt and John W. Naylor.

The Y. W. staff present: Miss Margaret DuBose, general secretary; Mrs. W. H. Worthington, Mrs. W. O. Davidson, Misses Josephine Mann and Helen Hood.

BRITISH BUYERS OUT, PRICE OF WHEAT BREAKS

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. — Sharp breaks in the price of wheat took place today, owing largely to apparent stoppage of buying for Great Britain and to bearish views of general business conditions. The market closed nervous, 5½c to 7½c lower, with December $1.80¼ to $1.80¾ and March $1.74 to $1.74¼. Corn lost 2½c to 3⅝c and oats 1c to 2⅝c. In provisions the outcome varied from 7c decline to 45c advance.

Feedstuffs reflected the action of wheat and declined rapidly, both corn and oats dropping to the lowest level yetthis season.

Eastern demand for lard offset to some extent in the provision market the depressing effect of the downward swing of grain and hogs.

GEORGE WALSH IS EMPRESS FEATURE

George Walsh, starring in the William Fox production, "The Plunger" which tells a vivid and romantic story of Wall Street, will be the attraction at the Empress theater for two days beginning today. The picture, from an original story by Thomas F. Fallon, was made under the direction of Dell Henderson. It has a most capable supporting cast and is lavish in production, Virginia Valli, often described as the girl with the perfect profile, plays opposite the star.

"The Plunger" concerns the adventures of "Take a Chance" Schuyler, an erstwhile office boy turned millionaire stock broker. It is said that his career as pictured in this production is typical of several cases well known on the stock exchange. His battle to win Alice Houghton, daughter of a veteran fellow broker who has been made a financial pauper by the clever manipulation of the stock market by a rejected suitor, is the theme of the story.

A Michigan man was poisoned by drinking some horse medicine which he mistook for whiskey. Lucky somebody's good horse didn't get the dangerous stuff.—Kansas City Star.

ANOTHER SHARP DROP IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE RATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The foreign exchange market as expressed in terms of the American dollar was again extremely nervous today, denoting in greater measures the paramount position of this country as the world's sole "cerdit or nation."

Heavy offerings of grain and cotton bills caused the British or sterling rate, to fall to 3.35 1-4 for demand bills as against the pre-war quotation of $4.85 5-8. Today's low was 4½ cents under the recent best but considerably over the low record of last February when sterling fell to 3.18.

New minimum rates were made by French, Belgian, Italian, Spanish and Greek exchange, further demoralization was reported in all the central and South American markets and American dollar rose sharply in Canada.

Exchange of the Scandinavian countries also was heavy and in some instances declined to quote prices of bills to several new eastern European war-created nations.

Private advices from London were to the effect that no immediate relief from existing exchange conditions in England and France is probable. The same reports attributed the weakness of French arates to heavy purchases of American cotton.

ATLANTANS SUBSCRIBE.

By Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11.—Announcement was made today that four Atlanta banks had subscribed for a total of $228,000 of the stock of the Federal Foreign Finance corporation, organized at New Orleans last week with a capital of $12,000,000. The subscriptions represented 3 per cent of the capital stock of the banks, in accordance with the plan agreed upon at the New Orleans meeting.

SUGAR REACHES A NEW LOW RECORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The weakness in raw sugar brought about a further decline of a half cent a pound in granulated by the Federal Sugar Refining company to the basis of 10 cents, representing a new low record price for the season.

IRRIGATION IS MAKING DEMAND FOR FARM LAND

J. L. Jackson, Jr., L. E. Cowling and other real estate men here report a considerable increase in demand for farm properties which will be subject to irrigation when the proposed irrigation project is completed.

They are small speculative buyers for the most part. Tracts of 160 acres are most popular.

J. L. Jackson's office reported that this constituted the principal demand in farm property now. There is no doubt in the minds of financiers that this property will leap in value when it is irrigated. The variations of increase will be large. They will hinge not only on the irrigation feature, but on distance from the local market, fertility, whether or not the land is in the sandy belt or more preferred soil.

The government lends money on farms up to fifty per cent of its appraised value. Farm loan committees, which get action quicker, lend only to one-third of the appraised value.

The strained financial situation is providing the sellers. For the most part the owners who are not hard pressed for cash are holding it for speculative purposes. Those who sell are trying to raise as large an amount of cash down as possible.

$150,000 RAISED.

By Associated Press

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 11.—Merchants here today raised a pool of $150,000 to be loaned to farmers on cotton.

BEARS INVADE SPECULATIVES; RAILS, STEADY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Numerous speculative issues were subjected to further bearish aggressions in the stock market today but leaders of the railway and industrial classes offered resistance to professional pressure.

Selling of motors, shippings, equipments, sugars and several of the utilities at gross declines of 3 to almost 10 points was coincident with reports of financial needs and other conditions of an unfavorable nature.

Trading was light in comparison with recent active sessions. Sales amounted to 800,000 shares.

Bonds were comparatively dull and irregular with no special features in any particular division.

Total sales, par value, $13,850,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

HARDING'S VICTORY.

Rarely has an election campaign been so colorless. It was an election day without a struggle on real issues, an election without a soul. All knew in advance that Harding was to be the victor. And all knew that the result would not foreshadow the road America is to travel.

Harding's victory is the victory of a party. As a personality, Harding is too colorless. It has been said many times that Wilson is one thing and the democratic party another. This difference will not exist between the republican party and Harding. He has no ideas of his own. Not a personality, but the political bosses of the republicans are to have the power.

On the question of internal life, the republicans are just as blind and programless as the democrats. The attitude of both parties towards labor is the same.

In external policies the republican party, as the party of industrial capital, cannot escape the roads of imperialism. Harding's victory over Cox means a victory of one group of business men over another group. They may have their own quarrels. But their attitude towards the world of labor is the same. Remembering the composition of the republican party, it can be foretold that Harding's victory means also a victory for Rockefeller.

The strength of the socialist power was shattered by the fact of withdrawal of the most active elements—the communists. On the other side, between the parties of capital and the socialist, a new party of small bourgeoisie — the Farmer-Labor party appeared.

And still New York has cast 10 per cent of its votes for Debs. Great socialist parties of Europe started with less. The elections proved that, despite unfavorable conditions, socialism is a growing power in American life.—Russky Golos (Russian Ind.) New York City.

The people have spoken! With a mighty voice and in a way that does not admit of any doubt the people have declared themselves for a return to American principles, for a return to government by and for the people.

The American people whose healthy political sense has shown itself in every crisis, have come out again for representative instead of personal government. The American people have declared themselves for the sovereignty of the United States in all matters that may touch our future. It refused to consent that foreign countries, foreign diplomats influenced by the instincts of revenge and imperialism, should have a first mortgage on the life and property of our fathers, sons, and brothers, which the League of Nations in its present form might utilize. The American people have condemned and buried Wilsonism and everything connected with it.

The result of the elections is the victory of the principle: America first. It is an emphatic condemnation of the attempt to chain our country to an agreement that would force us eternally to make war for European diplomats. The people have declared themselves against the attempt to force an agreement upon us that has made in Paris, while congress and our rights were ignored, and that would entangle us against the warning of the father of the Republic into alliances with European powers. Against this the American people have made an emphatic protest.—Staatszietung (German, Rep.) New York.

The results of the elections were foreshadowed, but no one could have expected that the country would so sharply rebuke the present administration for its eight years of labor.

We have to take off our hats before this stern sentence of 16 millions of voting American citizens. The administration was not presenting their interests. And it fell. . . . The republicans alone are getting the results of the democratic defeat.

Socialists, farmers, and other elements are on the same zero point as in the former presidential elections. Their influence is negligible. Either the voters were afraid to divide their votes, to make sure the defeat of the present administration, or the other parties did not offer the electorate something substantial. We think both reasons played their part. The opposition lacked strong personalities.

The republican victory is tremendous, but it is an undeserved victory.

For millions of voters it was important to get rid of the present administration. Whatever comes, no more of the dogmatic and personal rule that has characterized the democratic administration.—Novoye Russkoye Slovo (New York, Russian, Ind.)

The election of Warren G. Harding as president of the United States is not surprising to anyone, even to the democrats. It is a long time since we have had a campaign the results of which were so certain long before the elections.

Anyone who was within hearing of public opinion felt that Cox had very little chance, and the surprise is that, in spite of that, there were many millions of people who have voted for him anyway. And still they say that in America everybody likes to vote for the sure winner.

The majority was against Cox, not because Governor James M. Cox is not big enough to become president of the United States, nor because he is personally, for some reason or other, not fit to be in the White House; on the contrary, personally, he is held in high esteem.

A majority was against him because a change in the political tendencies of the country became a necessity. With all the good merits that President Wilson has shown during his eight years' administration he has made too many mistakes for the public to want to continue with the democratic party in power.

Governor Cox would mean a continuation of Wilson's administration with Wilson's foreign and internal policies. That is why Harding was elected. The people wanted a change. It was felt in the air, and Harding's election could have been foreseen.

Now that Harding and Coolidge have been elected president and vice president, respectively, it can be expected that the qustion of the League of Nations, which Cox made the main issue of this campaign, will be raised anew and disposed of in such a manner as to satisfy the many who have voted for the democratic candidate. Harding himself had no doubt that a majority of Americans want some sort of Association of Nations to be organized, which would make it harder to go to war, if not absolutely impossible.

The whole world wants peace, but without the help of such a mighty republic as the United States, such an Association of Nations would be almost impossible to have.

Under such conditions as the present, it is not very easy to be the president of such a country as ours. The newly elected president, therefore, deserves sympathy even from those who have not voted for him. His opponents should therefore unite with his friends and wish that our new president Warren G. Harding, prove himself a fit person for the White House in these hard times.—The Day (Yiddish, Ind.) New York City.

OUTLINES PROGRAM LEAGUE ASSEMBLY WILL TAKE UP AT FIRST SESSION MONDAY

By Associated Press.

The assembly of the League of Nations, which will hold its first meeting at Geneva on Monday next, November 15, is the popular or representative branch of the double body designed to guide the affairs of that organization as created under the treaty of Versailles.

While the representative character of the gathering will be impaired by the absence of the United States, Germany, Austria and Russia, yet, with these exceptions, it will come near to representing the greater part of the civilized world. The session has additional interest as marking the complete organization of the league as provided by the Versailles peace treaty.

Forty-two nations, ranging in importance from the British empire to the republic of Haiti, are expected to send delegates. Of the 45 states mentioned in the covenant, only three will be unrepresented—the United States, Honduras and Ecuador. Fifteen more nations have applied for admission, and the question of granting them access to the session as new members will be one of the first items of business to be considered. Among these applicants are Austria and Bulgaria of the former enemy states and a number of small nations just emerged into statehood.

To Discuss Admitting Berlin.

The question of admitting Germany to membership will also come under discussion, as it is likely to be raised by several of the former European neutrals, and it seems likely that the admission of Mexico may also come before the session. All the states seeking membership will be required to submit to such regulation of their military, naval and aerial armaments as the league may deem necessary, and the league's permanent advisory commission on military, naval and air questions has been at work since August collecting the data which will be needed by the assembly for proper action on this matter.

The acting president of the assembly, M. Hymans of Belgium, will open the first meeting, as the assembly has not yet had a chance to elect a president of its own. This election will be the very first order of business, and will be followed by the election of four vice presidents and the appointment of a committee on credentials.

Enough names of delegates are known to show that the absence of monarchy will not detract from the importance of the gathering, although it may reduce its picturesque quality somewhat. Among the more noted figures may be mentioned Dr. Edouard Benes, foreign minister of Czecho-Slovakia and creater of the "little entente"; M. Paderewski, first prime minister of the new Poland; Hjalmar Branting, prime minister of Sweden until a few weeks ago; President Motta of Switzerland and his predecessor, ex-President Ador, who recently acted as chairman at the international financial conference at Brussels. Many of the non-European states will be represented by diplomats, but it will not be the rule even in their case.

Thus Argentine will send its foreign minister, Senor Pueyrredon, as one of its delegates, while Chile will be represented by Don Antonio Huneeus, former foreign minister, and Don Manuel Rivas Vicuna, deputy and former minister of finance. Each member nation is entitled to three officially accredited delegates, but they may send substitutes and experts as well. Sweden has availed itself of this privilege, and one of its three substitute delegates is a woman, Mrs. Anna Bugge-Wicksell, widely known as an expert on international law.

To Name Committees.

Much of the early work of the session will be devoted to organization, the appointment of committees being one of the most troublesome items. The likelihood is that some 12 or 15 committees will be formed, and that the various items on the agenda will be divided into related groups and distributed among those committees.

Among the duties of the assembly will be the final and formal establishment of a number of permanent subordinate organizations like the court of international justice, the health organization, the commission on communications and transit, and the special tribunal that is to deal with all disputes connected with international communications.

Incidentally certain questions will be considered concerning the relationship between the council and the assembly as well as between those bodies and the various technical organizations created by them.

Other important subjects to come before the assembly will be action on the recommendations of the recent international financial conference at Brussels; formulation of policy and methods for the employment of the league's weapon, the economic boycott, and preparations for concerted action looking toward the suppression of all traffic in women and children. Other questions of equal importance may be broached, as the assembly is absolute master of its own procedure and can vote leave to advance on entirely new proposition at 48 hours' notice.

Subjects to come before the assembly at the instance of individual members-nations are several proposed amendments to the covenant, some of which aim at improving the position of the smaller nations within the league, while one, submitted by Holland, deals with the covenant provision for suppression of the opium traffic in the Far East.

It is, of course, impossible to foretell how long the session will last, but information received from reliable sources indicates three or four weeks.

HOME BREWERS DEALT A DEATH BLOW IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 11.—What may be a death blow to "home brew" was sounded today by J. A. Shearer, federal prohibition director for Ohio, in an announcement that hereafter the sale of malt and hops may be made legitimately only to bakers and confectioners and cannot lawfully be made to others.

The ruling was made following receipt of instructions from J. F. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner at Washington. The ruling will make it impossible for the average citizen to concoct beverages from malt and hops, it being held that this combination produces a mixture containing more than one-half of one percent alcohol.

NEGRO BOY WINNER AT COFFIN EXHIBIT

By Associated Press

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 11.—John T. Armstrong, a negro boy of 16, who has been working so long at a local undertaking establishment that he lost all fear of the dead, won a prize at the recent state fair for a model coffin which the fair judges pronounced the "most useful" article of furniture exhibited in the negro section. The boy attends the high school during the day and has made many models of coffins in the manual training department. Other students tired of the coffins smuttering up the work benches advised him to take one to the fair and exhibit it. He did and won $5 a blue ribbon.

BLUE COAT WONDERS WHEN HE IS 'LAW'

"She loves me, she loves me not," murmured Tom Moore while waiting for his entrance, and picking the leaves of the proverbial prophetic daisy. "What's the idea Tom?" asked Harry Beaumont, who directed Moore in "Officer 666," a Goldwyn picture, which comes to the Majestic theater for two days commencing today.

"It's this officer business, Beaumont. These sudden changes from officer to civilian, back again, etc., get my coat. I simply couldn't remember them, so now I pick a daisy to find out. When she loves me I'm an officer—when she doesn't, then I'm not. Seems to come out right whichever way it works."

"Officer 666" is perhaps the most intricate and cunningly contrived plot in which Tom Moore has been starred. Known for his versatility and quick comprehension in his work, the picture really got "his goat," as Moore says, while Jeanne Calhoun who supportes Moore in the play, went around for more than a week mournfully inquiring, "Tom, when are you the officer and when are you not, and why are you?" Taken in sections, as the plot is worked out in the studio, nothing less than wildest confusion could result. Seen in its entirety, as "Officer 666" is presented to the audience, a more fascinating and absorbing tale of intrigue and scheming cannot be imagined.

JAIL FOR BUILDING HOGS SUGGESTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Jail for building profiteers as one means of lessening the housing shortage was advocated today by Senator Kenyon of Iowa, in discussing the situation with witnesses appearing before the senate housing committee at its first session here. This city is two and one-half years behind in its building program, Building Commissioner Boistron said.

HOW THE GENEROUS PUBLIC DIVIDES ITS MONEY

"OH DADDY" COMES TO WICHITA STAGE

"Oh Daddy," T. H. Willhite's latest musical comedy, who gave to the public so many popular songs, that his name became a household word, will brighten the way to our announcement that "Oh Daddy" will play at the Wichita Theater two nights starting Monday, Nov. 15. It is an assured fact that the performance will satisfy the most exacting desire for a happy blend of scenic display, lavish costuming, with an overwhelming amount of catchy tunes, lots of pretty girls and an extraordinary assortment of clever dancing. "Oh Daddy" is in two acts. The first act is located in an up-to-the-minute drug store. The second act, a large department store in New York city. It has been staged under the personal direction of Billy Koud, the main producer of many of the New York big production, who also is responsible for the artistic dancing of the lovely chorus girls.

The scenery is by that wizard of the brush, Joseph Valentine. The music and ensembles have been arranged by Dave Vining, a combination whose work has shown brilliancy in many Broadway successful productions.

The warning which was unsigned and which was turned over to the department of justice read:

"Do not try to get away with that parade. We spoiled one. We will send all war lovers to hell."

ASKS TEXAS TO CONTROL STOCK IN COTTON PACT

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 11.—Texas should control the All-South Cotton Export Finance Corporation.

This is the opinion of T. J. Caldwell of Fort Worth, chairman for Texas of the campaign to rais the capital for the proposed corporation, and to this end every national and state bank in Texas will be asked to subscribe 3 per cent of its capital and surplus to the capital stock.

The initial capitalization of the corporation, which was decided on at a conference of southern bankers at New Orleans, will be $6,000,000, with the understanding that this will be increased to $12,000,000 as soon as circumstances may warrant. Under the Edge law, national banks are authorized to subscribe to the capital stock of such corporations to the extent of 10 per cent of their capital and surplus, and under the state law, state banks are given the same privilege. Three per cent of the capital and surplus of all the national and state banks in Texas would insure control, even under the higher capitalization. The original capital will be divided into 60,000 shares with a par value of $100 each.

Caldwell was one of the original advocates of an independent Texas export finance corporation. But at the New Orleans conference the southern bankers represented that for Texas to remain out of the All-Southern corporation would make it practically impossible to launch it in the near future. The bankers from other states also expressed a willingness to have Texas subscribe to a majority of the stock of the All-Southern corporation and thus control it. The committee of Texas bankers agreed to go into the All-Southern corporation as the proper step in the circumstances. Caldwell now announces that every effort will be made to secure control of the corporation for Texas.

"Texas is the chief cotton-exporting state in the south," said Caldwell, "and the advantages of controlling this corporation are so obvious that they ought to impel all Texas bankers to co-operate to this end."

He made it plain, however, that should Texas fail in obtaining absolute control, the benefits which will accrue to the Texas cotton industry and to Texas bankers through the organization of the corporation will be very great, and that the facilities which it will place at the disposal of the industry are so vitally necessary in the present world situation, that such failure should not have the effect of lessening the enthusiasm of Texas bankers in co-operating with other southern bankers in launching it.

For if the financing of export cotton is left to the big $100,000,000 corporation organized under the auspices of the American Bankers' Association, there is grave danger of the staple receiving too little attention because of other attractive export financing which will be offered the larger corporation. Cotton is the chief product of Texas, and its chief export, and Texas bankers, therefore, should be vitally interested in maintaining a strong export finance corporation the chief concern of which should be cotton.

The launching of the southern corporation, in view of this, should command the enthusiastic support of Texas bankers. But the opportunity to obtain control for Texas is so attractive that every effort should be made to take advantage of it.

Plans to bring the matter to the attention of all bankers in the state are now being made by Caldwell, and announcement of these will be made in the near future. The subscription books of the corporation will close on Dec. 10, so that less than a month remains in which to put the campaign over. Caldwell expresses the utmost confidence that it will be successful and that control of the corporation will be secured to Texas.

Say Tokio Tries To Monopolize Jap Oil Holdings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Monopoly of petroleum production in Japan and its possessions is planned by the Japanese government, according to advices to the department of commerce today from Tokio. Action will be deferred however, until parliament meets in January, the advices stated.

CLAIM WOMEN ABLE TO VOTE FRANCE 'DRY'

(By International News Service.)

PARIS.—France may become as dry as the United States when French women get the vote, Madame Maria Verone, president of the French woman suffrage organization, and well known lawyer, told the International News Service recently.

"Certainly French women are out and out for the prohibition of whisky, brandy, cocktails and all the heavier alcoholic drinks," said Madame Verone. "They might tolerate wines and light beers, but even that is doubtful."

All the suffrage leaders in France are watching closely the manner in which the women of the United States acquit themselves in the presidential balloting, Madame Verone said.

"We believe that giving the presidential vote to women in America has done much toward helping us to obtain our rights here in France," she said. "The chamber of deputies has voted in favor of woman suffrage, and I know of no reason why the senate failed to ratify that action. One of our best known senators had no reply to make except that 'women are made to love and be loved only.' Perhaps the real reason is that many members of the senate know they would lose their jobs if French women were given the ballot. They know very well that women consider them too old and would cast their votes for young and energetic men.

"Here is one instance to prove that we need women in parliament. A few months ago the deputies and senators voted themselves large increases in salary. They also increased the salary of the president of the republic from 1,200,000 francs a year to 2,000,000. At the same time they passed a number of laws to encourage French women to have more children. They decided that women who fed their babies themselves should receive a pension of 15 francs a month (a little more than $1, at the present rate of exchange)! Had there been one woman in parliament, she would have laughed down such a ridiculous proposal."

The day all the women of the world get the ballot war will virtually cease, says Madame Verone.

"This, of course, applies to offensive war," she added. "Should France have to face another defensive war, as in 1914, the women of France will take the same stand they took the last time."

KATY FREIGHT BUSINESS HERE GAINS HEAVILY

In connection with the recent announcement that the local office of the M., K. & T. railroad showed an increase in freight receipts of 143 per cent during the month of October over the same month a year ago and a 16 per cent increase over September, it was also learned Thursday that all Katy lines had handled 5,000 more carloads of freight during the last month than the same month in 1919.

The increased movement was entirely due to increased number of cars loaded at local stations on the M., K. & T. lines, there having been an increase of 12 per cent in local car loading over October of last year.

The bulletin from the office of the chief operating officer shows that from March 1 to September 30 the M., K. & T. lines moved 8 per cent more carloads of freight than was moved in the same period last year and that its local car loading was increased 10 per cent. This record has been made by the Katy lines in the face of the fact that it had fewer cars available to take care of demands for local loading.

During sixteen days in October the percentage of bad order freight cars on the Katy lines was below 4½ per cent. This is in contrast to an average of six per cent for all railroads at the time the railroads were returned to private owners. The co-operation of shippers and receivers of freight in prompt loading and unloading were prime factors in enabling the railroad to take better care of demands according to operating officers.

Freight car accumulations have been generally reduced all over the United States, according to the report. The M., K. & T. lines at the beginning of November were everywhere free from congestion and complaints of delayed movement or of car shortage are infrequent.

MRS. LAURA RARICK, of Peoria, Ill., who says she believes she is the happiest woman on earth since Tanlac so completely restored her health. Regains 50 pounds which she lost during a period of ill health which lasted eleven long years.

"I believe I am the happiest woman in the world, and it is all because of what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. Laura Rarick, 403 Meidroth St., Peoria, Ill., a well-known and highly respected resident of that city.

"I never dreamed that I would ever find anything that would do for me what Tanlac has done," she said. "I was in a wretched state of health and was down in bed so long that I lost 50 pounds in weight, but I have gained back every pound I lost and I now feel as well as I ever did in my life. The indigestion and other troubles that made life a burden for eleven years have entirely disappeared and I am like a new woman.

"My stomach was so disordered that even liquid foods and plain water caused me to have dreadful cramping spells that lasted for hours. My kidneys were disordered and I had pains across my back almost constantly. I had severe headaches nearly every day and became so dizzy I could hardly stand. I was so nervous it was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I tried every conceivable medicine and was treated by specialists, but nothing helped me, and finally I was told I would never be well again.

"But Tanlac has made me a perfectly well woman in every way. I can now eat and sleep like other people and I haven't a pain about me."

"I am glad to give this statement, for I want to do all I can to let the world know about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all drug stores in Wichita Falls.

HONOR HEROES WHO FELL AND THE SURVIVORS

Opened with a two minute silent prayer in memory of those who fell in the conflict, the second anniversary of the allied victory in the world war was observed in a well attended Armistice Day meeting under the auspices of the Pat Carrigan Post, American Legion, held in the lobby of the Kemp Hotel at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Survivors of the war, and their relatives, relatives of the fallen, local business men and men and women prominent in the war work of two years ago participated in the meeting.

"We are met to do honor to those who came back, and to pay tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice," was the keynote of the meeting as expressed by Frank Kell, local business man, who played a prominent part in the mobilization of the economic forces of the country to second American efforts at the front.

Following a tribute to the spirit of patriotism with which the young manhood of the country rallied to the support of the country in her hour of need, Mr. Kell spoke of another test which these same men will be called on to meet in the future, and expressed himself as confident that it will be met with the same patriotic spirit manifested in the conflict with the Teutonic powers.

"While these young men were fighting in a foreign land, an enemy grew up among us at home," and is still with us, and growing," said Mr. Kell. "This is a force which is absolutely opposed to the ideals of our government, or to any government in fact. It is known by various names in this country, principally as the I. W. W. and kindred organizations. It has grown to a present strength of 400,000, and may soon grow to a position where it can attempt the overthrow of our government.

"These returned soldiers will be called on to combat this force, perhaps on the field of battle. When that time comes, I have every confidence that the men who shouldered their arms to combat the enemy of their country in the late war will rally to the support of their flag in the same spirit with which they combatted the enemies of that flag in the late war."

The decisive part played by the Americans in the late war was the subject of a tribute paid by Capt. R. S. Healy, formerly of the Australian expeditionary forces.

"After the last 1917 offensive we were done," he said. "America's entry into the conflict tipped the scales in our favor and made the allied victory possible." Capt. Healy, who entered the war as a private in 1914, and served throughout the war, spoke with the highest praise of the fighting qualities of American troops, some of whom co-operated with the Australians in engagements during 1918.

Appreciation on the part of the American Legion post of this city for the co-operation of the citizens of Wichita Falls in this Armistice Day observance was expressed by E. C. de Montel, adjutant of the Pat Carrigan post.

Alfred D. Allen, manager of the Kemp Hotel, through whose courtesy the meeting was held, informally presided at the meeting. Following the meeting several of the members of the local post, with friends, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen at a luncheon in the private dining room of the hotel, during the course of which Mr. Allen took the opportunity of offering the hotel as a meeting place for the local post of the American Legion.

Among those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Allen were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kell, Judge and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Reese S. Allen, J. B. Hatchitt, Homer Lowrey, D. M. Perkins, E. C. de Montel, J. D. Parnell, C. C. Kirby, Norris Ewing, John W. Naylor, Bentley Bacon and Alfred Burnside.

A Startling Test by One of the Greatest Experts in Modern Cookery

24½ lbs. of potatoes fried in 2 lbs. of Mazola. Only 7 lbs. 14 oz. of potatoes fried in 2 lbs. of lard

THAT Mazola is the better and more economical fat has again been demonstrated. This time by Mrs. A. Louise Andrea, admittedly one of the greatest experts in modern cookery. Mrs. Andrea proved that 2 lbs. of Mazola fried 24½ lbs. of potatoes. While 2 lbs. of lard fried only 7 lbs. 14 oz. of potatoes.

Tested with fish steaks, one inch in thickness, 2 lbs. of Mazola fried 25¾ lbs. while lard fried only 16½ lbs. of fish.

Of doughnuts cut uniformly 2¾ inches in diameter, 2 lbs. of Mazola fried 208, while 2 lbs. of lard fried only 138.

Facts and Figures Prove Remarkable Economy

This proves conclusively that Mazola goes more than three times as far as lard for frying potatoes; almost twice as far for fish; and two-thirds farther than lard in frying doughnuts.

In each test 4 lbs. of Mazola and 4 lbs. of lard were fried down to 2 lbs.

This confirms the experience of seven million housewives who already use Mazola, the Great American Cooking Medium.

No housewife who wants to use the most wholesome, as well as the most economical cooking and salad oil, should fail to order Mazola from her grocer today.

Equal to Butter at Half the Price—Better than Lard

Mazola is a 100% pure vegetable fat. There is no loss of bulk from heating—no loss from evaporation.

It always remains sweet and clean—can be used over and over again. Merely strain it.

Sold by all leading grocers in pint, quart, half-gallon and full gallon cans.

Once you try Mazola for Salads you will prefer it to the finest imported olive oils. The price of Mazola is about half that of olive oil. No customs duty—no ocean freight charges on Mazola.

ELECTRIC PLANT RUNS PHONES TO BURK OIL FIELD

Special telephone connections between Wichita Falls and all parts of the Burkburnett northwest field and nearby sections have been completed by the Wichita Falls Electric Company, making direct and immediate connection with the field from Wichita Falls possible for the first time since the opening of the section.

Heretofore the only telephone connection with any part of the field has been by an indirect route, through Granfield and into a book store in Bridgetown. Bradley's Corner has had no telephone. The Electra company's special line includes Burkburnett and all sections of the field.

The line was established primarily for the service of the company's employees connected with the 500 wells in the northwest field now being operated by electricity. Machinery from all these wells has been installed within the past year, the oil field service being in charge of O. W. Jones.

Predictions that the entire northwest field will be operated by electricity within the next twelve months have been made from operators themselves and from the company offices. Realization of such a prophecy would mean the installation of additional sets of equipment.

The Electric Company plans to extend its service into the Texhoma gas field within the very near future, negotiations for supplying power there being underway at present. The K. M. A. field is also on the list of prospective extensions to the service.

KATY BRANCHES HERE WILL BE TIED TOGETHER

It was authoritatively announced here Thursday, following the visit of C. E. Schaff, receiver for the Katy railroad, and its operating heads, that the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad here and a number of short lines which the Katy has recently acquired will be consolidated very soon.

The reorganization of the Katy is already "well under way." It is expected that present financial and reorganization plans will be rushed to completion.

Mr. Schaff, C. N. Whitehead, chief operating officer of the line, W. L. Whittington, assistant chief operating officer, and Samuel O. Dunn, editor of The Railway Age were in the party of railroad visitors here.

They spent twenty minutes in Wichita Falls in consultation with Frank Kell, owner of a number of short lines.

Whether or not the consolidation of the lines will mean slashing out of a number of offices now in duplicate here in the various lines which the Katy controls.
