WOLF CREEK LAKE IS PANHANDLE'S BEAUTY SPOT

Wolf Creek Lake Is Panhandle's Beauty Spot

Photographers and engineers who are familiar with all the lakes in the Panhandle lake program say that the Wolf Creek Lake and spillway is the most beautiful of the six lakes now under construction in the high plains area. It is located in the Ochiltree State Park on beautiful and historic Wolf Creek 18 miles southwest of Perryton, with natural scenic surroundings that make it the most attractive of all Panhandle lakes. Above is a view of the incomplete dam and spillway. The lake bed has been filled twice this spring but the water had to be released on account of the dam not being complete.

Two Youths Injured

Motorcycle Strikes Car Sunday Evening Sending Two Youths To The Hospital

Two youths were severely injured Sunday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding was hit by an automobile driven by G. D. Pole about 14 miles south of this city. The accident occurred about 8:30 o'clock. The motorcycle and car were both headed south and met a car. The motorcycle had slowed down to make a turn. Pole was blinded by lights of the approaching car and did not see them, crashing into motorcycle causing much damage to it and to the youths, who were brought to the Perryton hospital.

Leroy Jamison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jamison, suffered severe bruises and several deep cuts. He will remain in the hospital for a few days.

Irvin Huguely of Gray, Okla., received a broken shoulder bone and lacerations. He was released from the hospital Wednesday.

Forty Eight Tons of Poison Bait Has Been Distributed

A total of 48 tons of dry poison material has been distributed from the grasshopper poison mixing plant to date. This is about three-fourths of the amount that was distributed during the entire season of 1938.

Spendly results are being reported from the use of the poison.

J. S. Slaughter and Harold Kershaw of the Twichell community each reported a 90 to 95 per cent kill on the first application two weeks ago. James Hardy of the McMillen Community was the first to put out poison this season and reported the hoppers practically disappeared after the first application a month ago.

J. W. Richardson of Ochiltree was doubtful about the results of the poison until he checked and found the hoppers had disappeared from the poisoned spots while they were

One Day Meet

Ochiltree County Represented At AAA Meeting in Amarillo On Wednesday, June 7

Four county men attended an AAA meeting in Amarillo Wednesday to discuss 1939 wheat loans, 1940 allotments and crop insurance. Those attending were County Agent E. W. Thomas, Crop Insurance Supervisor Earl Waide, and County Committeemen L. R. Conner and W. M. Deek.

As a result of this meeting farmers are assured of knowing before harvest how much wheat they will be permitted to sow under the 1940 Farm Program. The figures will be released earlier this year than ever before according to indications.

Next week's Herald will carry an account of the meeting and the basis from which Ochiltree County's wheat loans will be figured.

City Council Meets

Appoint Board of Equalization And Report Installation Of Water Pump

At the regular meeting of the Perryton City Council Tuesday evening of this week, the Board of Equalization for this year was appointed. Members of this board are John Richardson, W. E. McMillen and Sibley Jones.

Mayor C. E. Forbes also reports that a new pump was installed last week at the water well. This pump, which replaces an old one, has a capacity of about 300 gallons of water a minute. This will enable the city to pump, if necessary, 550 gallons of water per minute, and should be able to furnish ample water for the city.

RAIN COVERS HALF COUNTY

WESTERN PART OF OCHILTREE COUNTY RECEIVED FROM ONE-HALF TO ONE INCH JUNE 1

The first of June favored the west half of Ochiltree county with a rain varying from one-half to an inch of moisture. In Perryton the government gauge kept by Jack Allen recorded .88 of an inch. North of Farnsworth and Lord has received abnormal moisture in comparison with that recorded for May for several years and indications point to bumper wheat crops in that vicinity.

While the rainfall for the month of May, 1938 was somewhat higher than 1939, being 3.44 of an inch as compared with 2.07 for May, 1939, the moisture received in the county this Spring was distributed more evenly through the early months.

May's rainfall was received as follows:

May 4	32
May 12	52
May 15	52
May 17	04
May 17	05
May 25	95

POST OFFICE RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE IN '39

A comparison of the postal receipts of the Perryton post office for the first five months of 1939 against those of the same period of 1938 show an increase of $328.32, or a gain of approximately six per cent. The receipts for the first five months of 1939 to date totaled $5,689.50. For the same period of 1938 the receipts showed a total of $5,361.18. According to Postmaster Coffee, the first three months of 1939 showed an increase, but April and May remained practically the same as last year. Most of the post offices of the Panhandle have shown a decrease in receipts for 1939 over 1938.

Farmers are urged to poison margins of fields and pastures next to fields at the earliest possible date for the reason that the hoppers may be expected to move into growing fields in the very near future.

PARENTS INSTRUCTED TO MAKE SCHOOL TRANSFERS BY AUG. 1

Transfers to the Perryton school for the 1939-1940 session of school must be made in the office of County Superintendent, Dave Shanks, before August 1, stated Supt. R. A. Burgess today. Transfers must be made by the parent appearing personally in the County Superintendent's office and signing the request for transfer.

All children, who, at the time the school census was taken in March, resided in some other district in Ochiltree County, and who, this coming year, plan to attend the Perryton schools, should transfer. This should be done whether the student is in the grades or in high school. This transfer is necessary regardless of whether the student has moved into the Perryton district since the census was taken or still lives in some rural district. Although the child's grade is taught in his home district, a transfer is required if the child plans to attend the Perryton

In districts where the child's grade is not taught, a transfer will entitle the child to attend Perryton school the entire year without cost to the parent. If the child lives in a district where his grade is taught, then the parent must pay to Perryton the difference between the amount of money the child can transfer (that is $26.00) and the year's tuition total. For grades 1 to 7 inclusive, this total is $45.00; for grades 8 to 11 this total is $67.50. The difference which a non-resident parent would have to pay (in case the child's grade is taught in his home district) would, therefore, be $19.00 for a child in grades 1-7, or $41.50 for a child in grades 8-11. Where the child's grade is not taught in his home district, the state and the local district are liable for the child's tuition in the Perryton Schools.

Transfers must be made before August 1.

PERRYTON MEN INTERVIEW THE BROTHERS AT OREGON PRISON FOR TWO DAYS IN CONE CASE

Tennisons Claim They Killed the Cone Children Upon the Promise of Their Father To Pay $1,000.00

TO MAKE REPORT TO GRAND JURY

After being questioned for two days, Claude and Elmer Tennison, serving 18 year sentences in the Oregon State penitentiary for bank robbery, still maintained that they murdered the two Cone children, and buried their bodies on Wolf Creek, later shooting their father, Gene Cone.

In an effort to clear up the seven-year mystery of the disappearance of J. M. Cone Jr., 16, and Vernon Cone, 6, and the fatal shooting of their father, J. M. (Gene) Cone, the Ochiltree County Grand Jury of the April term of district Court recommended that the county pay the expense to five men to go to Oregon and interview the Tennisons. The finding of the bones of a child on Wolf Creek in February this year put greater credulity to confessions made by the two brothers in 1936.

Going to Salem, Oregon, and conducting the quizzing were: W. L. McConnell, district attorney, Oscar Flowers, county attorney, Del Tallaferro, deputy sheriff, and J. H. Callahan. They questioned the Tennisons on Saturday, May 27, and Monday, May 29, returning to Perryton Friday night, June 2.

All testimony and information taken Saturday was transcribed and signed by the Tennisons, but the questioning Monday was not in writing, according to Mr. Flowers. The information received by these four men will be presented to the Grand Jury of Ochiltree County at the November term, and further action in the case will depend upon the action of the Grand Jury.

GLEN TARBOX CAR DAMAGED BY TRUCK SUNDAY

On Sunday afternoon, a large vegetable truck ran into the back of Glen Tarbox's car, mashing the trunk and causing some damage to the body. Mr. Tarbox and Everett Phebus were driving slowly north on Main street when the truck, loaded with green tomatoes, overtook them and rammed into the back of the car. The truck, owned by Carl Cole of Donna, Texas, had been loaded at Edinburg and was on its way to Goodland, Kansas. Mr. Cole's driver was driving when the truck hit the Tarbox car. To guarantee payment of the damage on the Tarbox car, a check was deposited for the sum of $95.00.

World Cotton Conference Offers
U. S. Chance to Increase Exports

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—New hope for the American cotton-grower is held out by the pending world cotton conference, invitations to which have just been sent out by the State Department.Strictly speaking, what is coming is a preliminary conference of government experts from the different cotton-exporting countries, called to study the problem of summoning a full-dress cotton conference a little later on.But, since these invitations were not sent out until after the State Department had spent a couple of months sounding out the cotton-exporting nations on the feasibility of a general conference, the eventual calling of such a meeting is taken for granted.The idea back of the whole plan is to work out some sort of percentage allotments so that each cotton-exporting nation could be assured of a certain annual share of the world cotton market.In the past, for instance, America's share of the export market ran pretty regularly around 7,000,000 bales a year.
During the last few years, however, this figure has fallen off at an alarming rate, dropping to 3,500,000 bales for the past year —the lowest figure since sometime in the 1880's.Meanwhile, however, the world use of cotton has been increasing, so that America's decline is really sharper than the figures themselves show.There are various reasons for America's loss of this market.One is the fact that a number of nations which formerly bought heavily of American cotton have ceased to do so, either because they now raise their own—like Russia—or becauseexchange difficulties and tariff regulations make such purchases impossible, as in the case of Germany.Another is the fact that new nations have entered the cotton-exporting competition. The outstanding case, of course, is Brazil. Barely a decade ago, Brazil was exporting only a few thousand bales of cotton a year.
Now her exports run well over a million bales annually, and are still rising. There have been increased exports from India, Egypt and British Uganda, too, while the Argentine has begun to come into the picture more as an exporter.Still another reason is the American cotton loan program.
In effect, this has put American cotton slightly above the world market price. The difference may not be great, but it has been just great enough to encourage use of foreign supplies by the big importing nations. It may have meant dollars-in-the-pocket for the American grower on the domestic market, but it has cost him money overseas.So now the cotton-exporting nations are preparing to hold a conference to see if some mutual agreement cannot fix the percentages of the market which each nation is to have. The new export subsidy provision in the pending agricultural bill is America's ace in the hole, in this conference.Secretary Wallace hopes that, by judicious use of the export subsidy, America can demonstrate to the other nations that if there is to be real "cut throat" competition for the world cotton market, no nation can compete with America.Rather than enter such competition, he believes, they will be willing to make some agreement for dividing the market peacefully.

with all thy soul, and with all thy

INEXCUSABLE DESTRUCTION

We all know that government has gone heavily into the electric business, using as its chief competitive weapons tax-freedom and public subsidies, at the expense of the private electric industry, which now faces gradual, ruthless destruction if this socialistic program continues. Not so well known is the tragic fact that, in some instances at least, these government projects are destroying natural resources which can never be replaced.Writing in Field and Stream, J.
N. Darling, President of the National Wildlife Federation, recently said: "If, within the next five years, several thousands families of commercial fishermen along the south Atlantic Coast suddenly find their business gone and their fishing waters barren . . . they may justly blame the present Federal 'spending program' and would have a perfect right to demand permanent 'emergency relief'."A $31,000,000 hydro-electric project is now being started on the headwaters of the Santee and Cooper rivers which will turn 500 square miles of the most perfect and prolific spawning grounds of aquatic food species into a barren waste as unproductive as the Kansas dust bowl. This magnificent distribution of nature, intended for man's permanent benefit, is one of the last great reproducing areas left intact on the Atlantic seaboard.Nor is fishing the only thing to be given the needle by the Santee-Cooper project. Second on the list isone of the last great stands of virgin cypress timber in the country.The cypress will die; another of the few remaining natural monuments in these United States will be relegated to the ash heap.
Perhaps this destruction of irreplaceable resources could be partially justified if the government hydro project filled a public need.
But, as Mr. Darling also observes,
"The Santee-Cooper project will serve no social or economic purpose.
There are already in existence in that section of South Carolina so many power plants that they sucspoil our dwindling natural heritage,

U. S. C. Rates Huge Edge in National Collegiate Meet

Loring Day . . . Trojan favored in vault.

BY IRVING DIX

There's no question about it. Loring Day of Southern California is the National Collegiate champion in the vault, and he is an impossible task.

Dean Cromwell's defending champion should have things pretty much their own way, despite the fact that the cream of the nation's collegiate talent will be gathered for the carnival. The Trojan have too much talent in practically every event. The team title may be conceded but there'll be plenty of spirited competition for individual crowns.

Leading the parade in the 100 are Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford, Herb West of Columbia, Myron Ryan of Northwestern, Mozelle Herber of Tulane and Wilbur Brown of Michigan State. Big events in the 220 are Bob Lewis of Ohio State, Ken Clapp of Brown and Frank Ohl of Pittsburgh. Leading contenders in the 440 are Michigan's Warren Breidenbach, Harold Cagle of Oklahoma State, Erwin Miller and Howard Upson of Southern California and Harley Howells of Ohio State. John Woodruff of Pittsburgh won't defend the 880 crown. The Pittsburgh Negro passed up the nationals for the Princeton Invitational. Lou Zamperini of Southern California, Ed Wilson of Wisconsin and Ed Dale will carry on.

T. C. U. Commencement Figures

Dean Frederick D. Kershner of the College of Religion of Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., will deliver the commencement address for the 1939 at Texas Christian University Monday evening, June 5. Dean Kershner was president of T. C. U. from 1911 to 1915. Baccalaureate speaker will be Rev. Perry E. Cresham, pastor of the University Christian Church, Fort Worth, a 1931 graduate of Bible College of the Bible, T. C. U. News, Dallas, is president of the class of '39.

Townsend Plan Dead

Large Majority Vote in Congress Killed the Townsend Plan For $200 Pensions

Washington, June 1—The House today in a record roll call vote defeated by a large majority the Townsend plan for payment of $200 monthly pensions to the aged.

The House undertook the record vote after refusing to recommit the measure to the House ways and means committee for reconsideration.

The House roll call was frankly undertaken by opponents of the Townsend movement to embarrass congressmen who accepted Townsend aid and Townsend votes in their election campaigns, many of them in the belief that the measure would not be brought before Congress for action.

Many members complained that their colleagues were trying to "put them on the spot." Sponsors of the Townsend movement, including Rep. Joe Hendricks, D. Fla., who introduced the complex measure in the House, admitted that the bill was doomed to defeat even before final debate and voting commenced.

The ways and means committee brought the bill to the House floor by reporting it without recommendation. Hendricks described the measure, which included a complicated transactions tax to provide funds to pay the pensions, as representing "Townsend's exact wishes."

He read to members a letter by Townsend warning that a vote to recommit the measure was a vote against the plan. The letter was greeted by an outburst of boos from congressmen.

The motion to recommit the bill was made by Rep. Allen Treadway, R. Mass., ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee. He asked that his committee be instructed to reconsider the bill and report a measure "in its judgment constitutional" and providing "a just and equitable pension on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Speaker William B. Bankhead declared the motion lost on a voice vote and Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D. N. C., of the ways and means committee immediately called for the record vote on the bill itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gibson of Borger spent the week-end in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ernestine Hohmann, Waks. They returned Tuesday morning and moved from Borger to Plainview to make their home.

Proved - Approved - Improved

For years the HARVESTER has definitely proved its superiority in every way. In 1935, considered the toughest harvest in more than 20 years, it was the biggest seller of all combines. In heavy crops, down grain, light stands, and practically every kind of crop, the HARVESTER did a superior job of getting, threshing, separating, and cleaning all the crop, and at a lower cost. One-third gallon of fuel, or less, per acre in the 12-foot HARVESTER is common. HARVESTER owners can use speeds to meet the needs of crops and conditions to always assure the fastest, cleanest, low-cost harvesting.

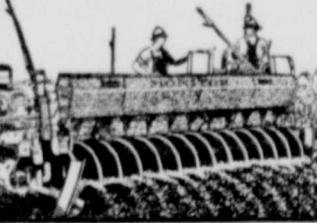

Now the famous 12-foot HARVESTER with its angle steel M-M bridge-trussed frame offers many new improvements. Notice the HIGH-UP PLATFORM for two-man operation. It's easily handled by one man as well by simply changing position of the tiller wheel.

Big features include the famous AUGER CONVEYOR—2 NON-WINDING BEATERS—RASP TYPE CYLINDER—ONE PIECE WELDED CONCAVE AND GRATE—ALL STEEL FULL LENGTH ROTARY STRAW RACKS—PATENTED SELF-LEVELING CLEANING SHOE—LARGE ADJUSTABLE CHAFFER AND SIEVE AREA—ANTI-CLOG STRAW SPEADER—SCREEN JACKS TO KEEP HEADER ALWAYS AT NORMAL HEIGHT WHILE CUTTING "HIGH" OR "DOWN" CROPS. SIMPLE PICKUP ATTACHMENT AVAILABLE.

MOLINE WHEATLAND DISC PLOWS

The GREAT LAND AND MONEY SAVERS

PLOWING AND SEEDING, IN ONE OPERATION

Cut your plowing costs in half with the original M-M big disc Wheatland plow—because of its wide cut and light draft in comparison with any moldboard plow. The Moline does a better job of plowing, from 3 to 9 inches deep. It scours well and is remarkably free from clogging with its big 26-inch discs, spaced 10 inches apart. The plowing job compares favorably with a moldboard plowed field that has been nicely harrowed.

Prepares an ideal seed bed for small grain—BECAUSE it mixes trash and stubble with the soil in such a way that there are no air pockets, and there is good capillary action between subsoil and seed bed.

The Moline Wheatland disc plow is strong, sturdy and rigid, built entirely of strong steel bar angles and castings. Farmers say it "can't wear out or give." Other important points also make it the outstanding plow of its kind on the market today.

Come in and get free literature and complete facts. Let us show you how it cuts your plowing bill. The Moline Wheatland is also ideal for summer fallowing . . . gets the weeds and moves all the ground.

World Cotton Conference Offers U. S. Chance to Increase Exports

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—New hope for the American cotton-grower is held out by the pending world cotton conference, invitations to which have just been sent out by the State Department.

Strictly speaking, what is coming is a preliminary conference of government experts from the different cotton-exporting countries, called to study the problem of summoning a full-dress cotton conference a little later on.

But, since these invitations were not sent out until after the State Department had spent a couple of months sounding out the cotton-exporting nations on the feasibility of a general conference, the eventual calling of such a meeting is taken for granted.

The idea back of the whole plan is to work out some sort of percentage allotments so that each cotton-exporting nation could be assured of a certain annual share of the world cotton market.

In the past, for instance, America's share of the export market ran pretty regularly around 7,000,000 bales a year. During the last few years, however, this figure has fallen off at an alarming rate, dropping to 3,500,000 bales for the past year—the lowest figure since sometime in the 1880's.

Meanwhile, however, the world use of cotton has been increasing, so that America's decline is really sharper than the figures themselves show.

There are various reasons for America's loss of this market. One is the fact that a number of nations which formerly bought heavily of American cotton have ceased to do so, either because they now raise their own—like Russia—or because exchange difficulties and tariff regulations make such purchases impossible, as in the case of Germany.

Another is the fact that new nations have entered the cotton-exporting competition. The outstanding case, of course, is Brazil. Barely a decade ago, Brazil was exporting only a few thousand bales of cotton a year. Now her exports run well over a million bales annually, and are still rising. There have been increased exports from India, Egypt and British Uganda, too, while the Argentine has begun to come into the picture more as an exporter.

Still another reason is the American cotton loan program. In effect, this has put American cotton slightly above the world market price. The difference may not be great, but it has been just great enough to encourage use of foreign supplies by the big importing nations. It may have meant dollars-in-the-pocket for the American grower on the domestic market, but it has cost him money overseas.

So now the cotton-exporting nations are preparing to hold a conference to see if some mutual agreement cannot fix the percentages of the market which each nation is to have. The new export subsidy provision in the pending agricultural bill is America's ace in the hole, in this conference.

Secretary Wallace hopes that, by judicious use of the export subsidy, America can demonstrate to the other nations that there is to be real "cut-throat" competition for the world cotton market, no nation can compete with America.

Rather than enter such competition, he believes, they will be willing to make some agreement for dividing the market peacefully.

INEXCUSABLE DESTRUCTION

We all know that government has gone heavily into the electric business, using as its chief competitive weapons tax-freedom and public subsidies, at the expense of the private electric industry, which now faces gradual, ruthless destruction if this socialistic program continues. Not so well known is the tragic fact that, in some instances at least, these government projects are destroying natural resources which can never be replaced.

Writing in Field and Stream, J. N. Darling, President of the National Wildlife Federation, recently said: "If, within the next five years, several thousands families of commercial fishermen along the south Atlantic Coast suddenly find their business gone and their fishing waters barren . . . they may justly blame the present Federal 'spending program' and would have a perfect right to demand permanent 'emergency relief'."

"A $51,000,000 hydro-electric project is now being started on the headwaters of the Santee and Cooper rivers which will turn 500 square miles of the most perfect and prolific spawning grounds of aquatic food species into a barren waste as unproductive as the Kansas dust bowl. This magnificent contribution of nature, intended for man's permanent benefit, is one of the last great reproducing areas left intact on the Atlantic seaboard . . .

"Nor is fishing the only thing to be given the needle by the Santee-Cooper project. Second on the list is one of the last great stands of virgin cypress timber in the country . . . The cypress will die; another of the few remaining natural monuments in these United States will be relegated to the ash heap."

Perhaps this destruction of irreplaceable resources could be partially justified if the government hydro project filled a public need. But, as Mr. Darling also observes, "The Santee-Cooper project will serve no social or economic purpose. There are already in existence in that section of South Carolina so many power plants that they succeed in marketing only half-time production from their generators, and that at the lowest kilowatt rate in the country."

Thus does politics needlessly deplete our dwindling natural heritage, as well as existing private business. Going are the nesting grounds of wildfowl and animals, going the breeding waters of fish, going the stands of superb timber. And in their place will be left great electric plants, paid for at tremendous cost to taxpayers of today and tomorrow, and serving little purpose save political ambition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thomas went to Amarillo Sunday to take their daughter, Peggy Jane, and Mary Kathryn Allen, who entered the Kiwanis Scout camp for two weeks stay.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Karber of the Gray, Okla., community on Tuesday morning, June 6.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 11.

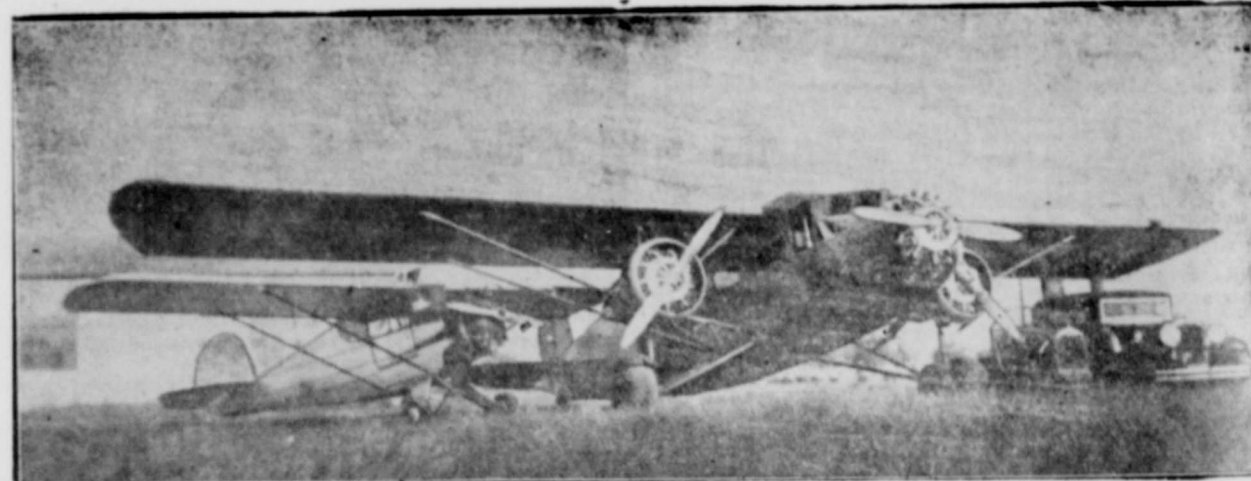

The Golden Text is: "Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgements are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast" (Psalms 36:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Deuteronomy 6:4,5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Having no other gods, turning to no other but the one perfect Mind to guide him, man is the likeness of God, pure and eternal, having that Mind which was also in Christ" (page 467).

Sheriff J. S. Talley, W. W. McLarty and Johnny Crouse returned Sunday from Hot Springs, N. M., where they had been for the past two weeks.

There's no question about it. Loring Day of Southern California is the National Collegiate track and field meet in Los Angeles, June 16-17, is an impressive task.

Cromwell's defending champion should have things much their own way, despite the fact that the cream of the nation's collegiate talent will be gathered for the carnival. The Trojans have too much talent to be out of the running in practically every event. They should score team title may be considered but there'll be plenty of competition for individual crowns.

PARADE in the 100 yard race will be a close one. Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford, West of Columbia, Myron of Northwestern, Mozelle of Tuskegee and Wilbur of Michigan State. Big crowd in the 220 are Bob Lewis of Ohio State, Ken Clapp of Ohio State and Frank Ohl of Pittsburgh.

Leading contenders in the 440 are Michigan's Warren Breidenbach, Harold Cagle of Oklahoma State, Erwin Miller and Howard Upson of Southern California and Harley Howells of Ohio State.

John Woodruff of Pittsburgh won't defend the 880 crown. The Michigan Negro passed up the title for the Princeton Invitational.

Lou Zamperini of Southern Cal. Bodeau of Purdue, Ed of Wisconsin and Ed Dale of Ohio State.

Townsend Plan Dead

Large Majority Vote in Congress Killed the Townsend Plan For $206 Pensions

Washington, June 1.—The House today in a record roll call vote defeated by a large majority the Townsend plan for payment of $200 monthly pensions to the aged. The House undertook the record vote after refusing to recommit the measure to the House ways and means committee for reconsideration.

The House roll call was frankly undertaken by opponents of the Townsend movement to embarrass congressmen who accepted Townsend aid and Townsend votes in their election campaigns, many of them in the belief that the measure would not be brought before Congress for action.

Many members complained that their colleagues were trying to "put them on the spot." Sponsors of the Townsend movement, including Rep. Joe Hendricks, D. Fla., who introduced the complex measure in the House, admitted that the bill was doomed to defeat even before final debate and voting commenced.

The ways and means committee brought the bill to the House floor by reporting it without recommendation. Hendricks described the measure, which included a complicated transactions tax to provide funds to pay the pensions, as representing "Townsend's exact wishes."

He read to members a letter by Townsend warning that a vote to recommit the measure was a vote against the plan. The letter was greeted by an outburst of boos from congressmen.

The motion to recommit the bill was made by Rep. Allen Treadway, R. Mass., ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee. He asked that his committee be instructed to reconsider the bill and report a measure "in its judgment constitutional" and providing "a just and equitable pension on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Speaker William B. Bankhead declared the motion lost on a voice vote and Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D. N. C., of the ways and means committee immediately called for the record vote on the bill itself.

Proved - Approved - Improved

For years the HARVESTER has definitely proved its superiority in every way. In 1935, considered the toughest harvest in more than 20 years, it was the biggest seller of all combines. In heavy crops-down grain, light stands, and practically every kind of crop, the HARVESTER did a superior job of getting, threshing, separating, and cleaning all the crop, and at a lower cost. One-third gallon of fuel, or less, per acre in the 12-foot HARVESTER is common. HARVESTER owners can use speeds to meet the needs of crops and conditions to always assure the fastest, cleanest, low-cost harvesting.

Now the famous 12-foot HARVESTER with its angle steel M-M frame-truss offers many new improvements. Notice the HIGH-UP PLATFORM for two-man operation. It's easily handled by one man as well by simply changing position of the tiller wheel.

BIG FEATURES INCLUDE THE FAMOUS AUGER CONVEYOR—2 NON-WINDING BEATERS—RASP TYPE CYLINDER—ONE PIECE WELDED CONCAVE AND GRATE—ALL STEEL FULL LENGTH ROTARY STRAW RACKS—PATENTED SELF-LEVELING CLEANING SHOE—LARGE ADJUSTABLE CHAFFER AND SIEVE AREA—ANTI-CLOG STRAW SPREADER—SCREW JACKS TO KEEP HEADERS ALWAYS AT NORMAL HEIGHT WHETHER CUTTING "UP" OR "DOWN" CROPS. SIMPLE PICKUP ATTACHMENT AVAILABLE.

The GREAT LAND AND MONEY SAVERS

PLOWING AND SEEDING, IN ONE OPERATION

Cut your plowing costs in half with the original M-M big disc Wheatland plow—because of its wide cut and light draft in comparison with any moldboard plow. The Moline does a better job of plowing, from 3 to 9 inches deep. It scours well and is remarkably free from clogging with its big 26-inch discs, spaced 10 inches apart. The plowing job compares favorably with a moldboard plowed field that has been nicely harrowed.

Prepares an ideal seed bed for small grain—BECAUSE it mixes trash and stubble with the soil in such a way that there are no air pockets, and there is good capillary action between subsoil and seed bed.

The Moline Wheatland disc plow is strong, sturdy and rigid, built entirely of strong steel bar angles and castings. Farmers say it "can't wear out or give." Other important points also make it the outstanding plow of its kind on the market today.

"East Side of Heaven" at Ellis Sunday and Monday

Headed by Bing Crosby and Joan Blondell, one of the most capable casts ever found in a single picture was assembled for Universal's "East Side of Heaven," which is coming to the Ellis Theatre on Sunday and Monday, June 11-12.

Bing and Joan are co-starred in this film which features hit songs, romance and comedy against a strong human background. And they are surrounded by a galaxy of players who already are knocking at Hollywood's carefully guarded portals leading to stardom.

Mischa Auer, often referred to as the mad Russian tops the supporting cast. "Sandy," 10-month-old baby of a Los Angeles milk-man, does such a surprising job that studio executives already have the parents' signatures on a long term contract.

Irene Hervey, who portrays Sandy's mother, is one of the film colony's most rapidly ascending young actresses. C. Aubrey Smith is a veteran of many extraordinary films. Jerome Cowan gives further proof of why Hollywood won't let him go back to Broadway.

Others in the cast include J. Farrell MacDonald, Mary Carr, Robert Kent, Douglas Wood, Arthur Hoyt, Jackie Gerlich, Jack Powell, Russell Hicks, Dorothy Christy and Edward Earle.

The picture was directed by David Butler, a film pilot with some of Hollywood's best-remembered hits to his credit.

Allow No Seaplanes

SCS Prohibits Seaplanes on Lakes in Panhandle Because Of Various Dangers

Seaplanes will not be allowed on Buffalo Lake, or other Panhandle lakes, H. H. Fennell, head of the Soil Conservation Service here, announced on June 1.

At the request of several Panhandle aviation enthusiasts, Mr. Fennell had written his headquarters in Washington to get a ruling on the request.

He said today that the SCS decided to refuse the request for two reasons: danger of disturbing migratory wild fowl on the lake, and danger of injury to boatsmen on the lake from the planes as they came in to land.

In the letter to Mr. Fennell, the Washington office stated its regret at having to refuse use of the Panhandle lakes for this type of recreational flying, but that it was believed better to turn down the request in the interests of the public in general.

"The Champ" Returns

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in Return Engagement At Ellis Theatre Saturday

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper as a team! Such is the unique combination heading the cast of "The Champ," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of life on the Mexican border, which will be presented at the Ellis Theatre on Saturday, June 10.

Beery plays a broken-down fight champion, and the hero of "Shipyard" is seen as his son in a poignant heart-interest tale in which much comedy and a few thrills are intermingled. King Vidor directed the production, from an original story by Frances Marion.

Life on the Mexican border is vividly shown, many of the scenes in the picture having been filmed on Mexican locales, through courtesy of the Lower California government. The "inside" of the "fight racket," the Caliente races, actually filmed at the Mexican track, the great gambling halls of the "American Monte Carlo" and other striking intimate details give unique interest to the picture, most of this having never before been shown on the screen.

Among the dramatic highlights are the race, the sensational prize fight in which Beery essays his "comeback," the dramatic sacrifice for the sake of the boy, and the battle with the Mexican police.

A notable cast appears, including Irene Rich, Rosco Ates, Edward Brophy, Hale Hamilton, Jesse Scott and Marcia Mae Jones.

Prison Life Drama

Walter Pidgeon and Rita Johnson Star in M-G-M's "6,000 Enemies" at Ellis

A compelling drama of prison life expertly enacted by Walter Pidgeon, Rita Johnson, Paul Kelly and Nat Pendleton among others will bring to the screen of the Ellis Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 13-14, an exceptional entertainment feature. The picture is "6,000 Enemies," and not since the memorable "Big House" has the screen offered so thrilling and powerful a story as that unfolded in the current offering.

The story is that of a young district attorney whose two-fisted prosecution of the underworld leads him to being framed into a prison term himself on a trumped up charge of bribery. Facing six thousand enemies, he fights his way into their respect and eventually falls in love with a girl prisoner, played by Rita Johnson, whom he has convicted but who convinces him that she, too, was framed.

"6,000 Enemies" is vigorous entertainment, with prison breaks, fights, murder and riots all having an important part in the story. George B. Seitz, who directed all of the "Hardy" series, veers from his home-bound background to two-fisted entertainment with equally outstanding results.

"East Side of Heaven" at Ellis Sunday and Monday

Headed by Bing Crosby and Joan Blondell, one of the most capable casts ever found in a single picture was assembled for Universal's "East Side of Heaven," which is coming to the Ellis Theatre on Sunday and Monday, June 11-12.

Bing and Joan are co-starred in this film which features hit songs, romance and comedy against a strong human background. And they are surrounded by a galaxy of players who already are knocking at Hollywood's carefully guarded portals leading to stardom.

Mischa Auer, often referred to as the mad Russian tops the supporting cast, "Sandy," 10-month-old baby of a Los Angeles milk-man, does such a surprising job that studio executives already have the parents' signatures on a long term contract.

Irene Hervey, who portrays Sandy's mother, is one of the film colony's most rapidly ascending young actresses. C. Aubrey Smith is a veteran of many extraordinary films. Jerome Cowan gives further proof of why Hollywood won't let him go back to Broadway.

Others in the cast include J. Farrell MacDonald, Mary Carr, Robert Kent, Douglas Wood, Arthur Hoyt, Jackie Gerlich, Jack Powell, Russell Hicks, Dorothy Christy and Edward Earle.

The picture was directed by David Butler, a film pilot with some of Hollywood's best-remembered hits to his credit.

Allow No Seaplanes

SCS Prohibits Seaplanes on Lakes In Panhandle Because Of Various Dangers

Seaplanes will not be allowed on Buffalo Lake, or other Panhandle lakes, H. H. Fennell, head of the Soil Conservation Service here, announced on June 1.

At the request of several Panhandle aviation enthusiasts, Mr. Fennell had written his headquarters in Washington to get a ruling on the request.

He said today that the SCS decided to refuse the request for two reasons: danger of disturbing migratory wild fowl on the lake, and danger of injury to boaters on the lake from the planes as they came in to land.

In the letter to Mr. Fennell, the Washington office stated its regrets at having to refuse use of the Panhandle lakes for this type of recreational flying, but that it was believed better to turn down the request in the interests of the public in general.

"The Champ" Returns

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper In Return Engagement At Ellis Theatre Saturday

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper as a team! Such is the unique combination heading the cast of "The Champ," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of life on the Mexican border, which will be presented at the Ellis Theatre on Saturday, June 10.

Beery plays a broken-down fight champion, and the hero of "Skippy" is seen as his son in a poignant heart-interest tale in which much comedy and a few thrills are intermingled. King Vidor directed the production, from an original story by Frances Marion.

Life on the Mexican border is vividly shown, many of the scenes in the picture having been filmed on Mexican locales, through courtesy of the Lower California government. The "inside" of the "fight racket," the Caliente races, actually filmed at the Mexican track, the great gambling halls of the "American Monte Carlo" and other striking intimate details give unique interest to the picture, most of this having never before been shown on the screen.

Among the dramatic highlights are the race, the sensational prize fight in which Beery essays his "comeback," the dramatic sacrifice for the sake of the boy, and the battle with the Mexican police.

A notable cast appears, including Irene Rich, Roscoe Ates, Edward Brophy, Hale Hamilton, Jesse Scott and Marcia Mae Jones.

"Tell No Tales"

Douglas and Platt Co-Star In Thrilling Newspaper Yarn Of Elusive Ransom Bill

Striking a keynote of distinct originality, "Tell No Tales," featuring Melvyn Douglas at the Ellis Theatre, Thursday and Friday, June 8-9, proves to be dramatic entertainment of the highest order, replete with breathless and suspenseful action.

It's one of the most unusual dramas ever to reach the screen. Five separate stories with five separate sets of characters are told, each intensely dramatic in itself, and all building to a high climax of action and drama.

The picture reveals the efforts of Melvyn Douglas, as a doggedly determined reporter, to bring to justice a group of criminals guilty of a murder and kidnapping. A hundred-dollar note, part of the ransom money, falls into his hands by accident. Step by step he traces the bill back to its original source. In breath-taking sequences, with death ever at his shoulder, Douglas pursues his relentless course through the highways and byways of a great city until the final nerve-shattering climax.

Ever a master of the dramatic form, Douglas turns in one of his most moving and convincing performances in the role of the reporter. Louise Platt is the engaging love interest, with Gene Lockhart, Douglas Dumbrille, Florence George, Hal-Elwell Hobbes, Zeffie Tilbury, Harlan Briggs, Sara Haden, Herbert Cavanaugh, Oscar O'Shea and others of the large cast giving superb support in a picture expertly directed by Leslie Fenton.

Knob Goes Dry

Beer Voted Out in the Northeast Part of Hutchinson County Saturday, May 27

Citizens of the northeast quarter of Hutchinson County, comprising the communities of Holt and part of Plemons voted Beer out of their precinct, Saturday May 27, by a vote of fifty to nine.

"Homer's Place," commonly called the Knob was the only place affected by the vote, and it had been previously closed by officials for some infringement of the law.

Interested citizens of Spearman and Hansford County sent circular letters to patrons of the commissioners' precinct urging them to vote dry.

It was estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the Knob's business was from Hansford County—The Spearman Reporter.

Prison Life Drama

Walter Pidgeon and Rita Johnson Star in M-G-M's "6,000 Enemies" at Ellis

A compelling drama of prison life expertly enacted by Walter Pidgeon, Rita Johnson, Paul Kelly and Nat Pendleton among others will bring to the screen of the Ellis Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 13-14, an exceptional entertainment feature. The picture is "6,000 Enemies," and not since the memorable "Big House" has the screen offered so thrilling and powerful a story as that unfolded in the current offering.

The story is that of a young district attorney whose two-fold prosecution of the underworld leads him to being framed into a prison term himself on a trumped up charge of bribery. Facing six thousand enemies, he fights his way into their respect and eventually falls in love with a girl prisoner, played by Rita Johnson, whom he has convicted but who convinces him that she, too, was framed.

"6,000 Enemies" is vigorous entertainment, with prison breaks, fights, murder and riots all having an important part in the story. George B. Seitz, who directed all of the "Hardy Family" series, veers from his home-spun background to two-listed entertainment with equally outstanding results.

CHEVROLET GAS MILEAGE TEST

PERRYTON MOTOR CO. TO GIVE VALUABLE PRIZES IN MET-ERED MILEAGE ECONOMY CONTEST

Proof that the 1939 Chevrolet's dominant sales leadership is based on outstanding economy, as well as on lively performance, is being offered to residents of Perryton and vicinity by the Perryton Motor Co., Chevrolet dealers, through a Metered Mileage Economy Test being held for seven days, starting Saturday, June 10 and closing on Saturday, June 17.

And just to make matters more interesting, and obtain a more sweeping and thorough trial of the car's thrift, the special observance will take the form of a contest, which the public is invited to enter without charge and without obligation. The announcement was made this week by A. J. Kelly, manager of the Perryton Motor Co., who added that a worthwhile list of prizes would be offered for the highest mileage obtained.

The test is open to every qualified driver 18 years old or older. Mr. Kelly said. A simple scientific device consisting mainly of a glass container holding just one pint, has been devised to enable the driver to watch the gasoline consumed as he drives. The container is mounted above the hood, right in the line of vision, and is connected with the engine by a tube with a shut-off valve. Results are said to be accurate within a very narrow margin.

In use, the container is filled with a measured pint of fuel. Before its valve is turned on, the regular gasoline feed to the engine is turned off, and the engine is run until it stops, indicating that fuel in the carburetor and feed line is exhausted. Then the valve leading to the Mileage Meter is opened, the engine is started, and the test is under way.

Mileage on the odometer is noted carefully when the car is started, and again when exhausted of its gasoline causes the engine to stop. The two mileages are subtracted, and the difference multiplied by eight, which shows gasoline consumption in miles per gallon.

"The test has shown amazing results," said Mr. Kelly. "It has proved to hundreds of people that in the new Chevrolet they can enjoy fast getaway, peak power on hills, and marked economy as well. Actually of course, this comes about as a result of perfectly natural laws. The six-cylinder valve-in-head engine is the explanation, for it gets more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other type, which means that it uses less fuel to cover a given distance."

"A factor in the high mileage obtained, undoubtedly is the ease and speed with which the power is controlled by the driver. The new vacuum gearshift with steering column control substitutes the flick of a finger for the old convention gearshifting 'reach,' and the tip-toe clutch, exclusive to Chevrolet in its field, further reduces the work of driving."

Prizes, Mr. Kelly said, will include choice of genuine Chevrolet accessories to be given each day to the person obtaining the highest mileage. To the person who makes the highest mileage during the 7-day contest, $5.00 worth of accessories of their choice will be awarded.

Miss Charlene McLarty will leave Saturday to return to Memphis, Tenn., where she is enrolled for nursing training at the Baptist Memorial Hospital. She has been enjoying a ten day stay with her mother, Mrs. C. E. McLarty and other relatives.

PAMPA TOP O' TEXAS FIESTA

PAMPA JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS SPONSORING THE EIGHTH ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Pampa, June 7.—Hat racks in Pampa today are being increased in number to hold the thousands of hats of Pampa's friends and neighbors who have been invited to attend Pampa's big annual party, the Top O' Texas Fiesta, to be held this year on June 13-14.

In addition to the regular features the program of this year's celebration will have a world motion picture premiere in true Hollywood fashion, with George (Windy) Hayes of Hopalong Cassidy western films, Mary Hart, 18 year-old western film star, and Walter Matlack, agent for Gene Autry and Smiley Burnett in attendance.

The premiere will be held at 8:30 o'clock on the night of June 14 in front of the LaNora theatre, with 150,000-watt lighting effects, a radio introduction of celebrities, impression of foot and handprints of the motion picture stars in concrete, and a world premiere of one of three films.

Title of the picture to be shown has not been announced.

Motion picture stars coming here will ride in the scintillating fiesta parades, make personal appearances on the stage of the theatre where the premiere is held, and be present at the old timers and modern dances.

In the parade will be 30 cowgirls carrying American flags, a living drama of "Top O' Texas Under Six Flags" presented in a glittering pageant of costumed characters afloat and on floats, entrants in the Soap Box Derby to be held here in August, hundreds of cowboys, and a score of bands from over the Top O' Texas.

Rodeo performances will be held at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon and at 8:30 o'clock each evening at Recreation park, east of Pampa. Attending to the rating of the cowhands derby is the fact that the fiesta rodeo is now a part of the Southwest Rodeo association and points scored by contestants here count in national championship standing.

A junior calf riding contest; Tim-horn Hank Keenan, rodeo clown; Cecil Cornish and his "high school horse" and trained Brahma bull; are special rodeo attractions. Stock for the rodeo will be furnished by Lynn Beutler, who for the fifth time is bringing his prize rodeo horses, steers, and calves to Pampa.

A baseball game on each day of the fiesta, the oldtimers barbecue, fiddlers contest, dance contest, exhibits, are other parts of the celebration program.

The Top O' Texas Fiesta is sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. This year's fiesta will be the eighth celebration.

Mrs. W. A. Askew came in Sunday from Amarillo for a week's visit with her sisters, Mrs. C. E. Forbes and Miss Neita Westbrook.

EDDIE CANTOR MAKES APPEAL TO DRIVERS OF MOTOR CARS

Austin, Texas—At the Award Dinner of the National Safety Council, held in Washington, D. C. on April 13th, Eddie Cantor, star of stage, screen and radio, made a dramatic appeal to drivers of motor vehicles. The magazine "Public Safety" has reproduced the article in the May issue, and it carries the message home so well, we are passing it on to you, by permission of "Public Safety."

AND THEY WON'T COME BACK!

In the homes of thousands of you folks tonight there's a little boy or girl you've just kissed and tucked away in bed—the most precious thing in the world to you—your baby.

Tomorrow night at least ten of those little children won't be there!—won't be there for you to scrub their faces, and kiss them good night—won't be there ever again. They'll start out for school tomorrow, or for the corner grocery, or for the other side of the street—and they won't come back.

They won't come back because some driver like you and me—someone who would rather die than harm a helpless little kid—has killed them.

They won't come back because a person like you or me—someone with youngsters of his own, someone who ought to know better—forgot to be careful—forgot that when we are driving a car, we must not take chances!

They won't come back because you and I have refused to accept the responsibilities of our day and age. We have refused to take on the obligation of protecting those little kids.

How are we going to feel when we see that small form in front of us—a flying little figure that popped out from nowhere—when we hear the screech of the brakes—and feel a thump—and hurry back to find out that in the twinkling of an eye, we have killed somebody's baby. Is it going to make us feel any better to say, "But it wasn't my fault! I didn't see him until it was too late!"

It is going to make our grief less terrible to say: "He ran out from behind a parked car! I couldn't help it!" My dear friends, we can help it! We've got to help it!

If we can find, in this country of ours, brains brilliant enough to design automobiles that can go a mile-and-a-half a minute, then we certainly can find enough common sense to teach us not to drive like maniacs!

We have no right—any of us—to expect those little children to share with us the responsibility of protecting their lives.

Of course we teach them safety. The National Safety Council and the school teachers and the safety patrols are doing a grand job of instilling the principles of safety into every boy and girl.

And the boys and girls are doing their part. But, after all, they're kids! They get excited—they forget! No power has ever been discovered or ever will be discovered to make a pair of flying little feet stop at the curb when a baseball is rolling across the street and a guy is tearing around the bases for a home run!

No, Sir. No, ma'am—it's up to us—us grown-ups—to do the most of the thinking in this traffic problem. It's part of our jobs as adults to take over the responsibility of saving human lives in the streets. For we are killing off the citizens of tomorrow with the carelessness of today.

We've got to get into the habit of expecting to see a child come popping out of nowhere into the path of our car—just as we expect daylight, or darkness. And don't give me that old argument about how much liability insurance you carry. No insurance company in the world has a policy which guarantees peace of mind to a careless driver who kills a helpless child!

In Washington tonight the National Safety Council is presenting awards to states and cities which have proved that traffic accidents can be stopped; that lives can be saved; that this slaughter on the highway doesn't have to go on. At this award dinner are governors and mayors and senators and some of the biggest, business and professional men in the country. These are busy, important people. But they weren't too big or too busy or too important to drop whatever they were doing and go to this dinner to learn more about how to save human lives in traffic.

My hat's off to them. If busy people like these can give their time to safety, you and I can, too.

Remember, these kids are our kids—yours and mine. They're the most precious things we've got. Let's keep them! Let's do our part! Let's remember that the green light means "Go"—not "Go like the devil." Let's remember that when we "step on it," we may be stepping on every hope and dream and prayer that some mother had for her little boy or girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Shearer, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Shearer and Miss Kathryn Shearer were dinner guests Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Brulhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Toler and daughter, Sidney Lynn, returned Thursday from Anthony, Kans., where they were called by the death of Mr. Toler's sister.

MISSOURI AVE. CLUB

Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Reporter

"Children like home better if they have certain privileges and rights and if their friends are respected by other members of the family," stated Mrs. A. W. Henry, president of the Missouri Avenue Home Demonstration club at the meeting in the home of Mrs. H. J. Wilson.

A mother may say, we didn't say Mary shouldn't go with the boys but we did not encourage the boys to come to our home as we felt they were not good enough for our daughter; if Mary begins to date as soon as she gets to college and goes so much she fails in her work or is sent home for bad conduct, who is responsible? These thoughts were brought out by Mrs. Henry in her talk on "Uniting the Apron Strings."

A very interesting report of the district meeting at Lubbock was brought by Mrs. C. O. Roach, a delegate to the meeting. Mrs. Roach received the nomination for district vice chairman, the election to be in the fall.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Fountain Roach of Colorado Springs, Miss. Dora Wolff, Mrs. Fred Huston, Mrs. L. E. King, Mrs. E. W. Witt, Mrs. A. W. Henry, Mrs. J. S. Slaughter, Mrs. Earl McGarragh, Mrs. C. O. Roach and the hostess.

"A convenient place for everything and everything in a convenient place," stated Mrs. Hazel Martin, county home demonstration agent, at the meeting of the Ochiltree Home Demonstration Club which met in the home of Mrs. Kiri Williams Friday, June 2 at 2 o'clock. "Cans of various sizes may be enameled to harmonize with the kitchen. These may be labeled with another color of enamel. The staple groceries may be stored in these on a convenient shelf," further remarked Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. J. H. Callihan, Reporter

"Arrange kitchen storage so it is convenient," suggested Mrs. Hazel Martin, county demonstrator, to members of the Wolf Creek Home Demonstration club which met June 1 in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Elley.

A ventilated pantry is a fine place for storing vegetables and canned goods. It is inexpensive to make and provides a storage place that is a constant temperature—cool in the summer and warm in the winter.

Mrs. Elley was selected kitchen demonstrator for the club. Refreshments were served to Mrs. Wm. Pearson, Mrs. Walter Daniels, Mrs. Bill McLanahan, Mrs. Sam Handly, Mrs. J. H. Callihan, Mrs. Martin and the hostess.

Dispelling The Fog

By CHARLES MICHELSON
Director of Publicity, Democratic National Committee

It is marvelous to note the consistency with which the Republicans win elections a year or so before the election. Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican National Committee has gone star-gazing and recently announced that the high vote cast by the Republicans in recent mayoralty and Senatorial contests in Illinois unerringly pointed to a swing in the Middle West and the Far West to the G. O. P. side—incidentally, the Democratic candidates in both contests were elected by satisfactory majorities—but the Republican Chairman adduced a proof of his triumphal prophecy: the Gallup poll.

Well, just about three years ago Chairman Hamilton, after analyzing the situation in the Middle West, the Far West and in New York, forecasted the election of Governor Alfred M. Landon, of Kansas, as President by more than 300 electoral votes, with the probability that it would amount to more than 350. And he quoted as a corroborative basis for that prophecy, "the Literary Digest poll, which never has been wrong."

At the same time, he said "We are conservative in presenting that four or five million Democrats will vote for Governor Landon this year." Just about then the booming voice of Senator Vandenberg told the people that a wide split "in Democratic ranks extending to high officials would bring Republican victory in the Presidential race."

We had similar assurances of the inevitability of Governor Landon from Henry P. Fletcher, of the O. O. P. cheer leader, Bertrand H. Small, of the O. O. P. House leader, and innumerable others, all of whom harped on the rift in the Democratic party as something that could not be healed, and which would lead up to the election of the Governor of Kansas. In fact, one distinguished writer on political subjects enthusiastically exclaimed that the Republicans could beat Franklin D. Roosevelt with a Chinaman. My favorite columnist, the always consistent Frank Kent, in 1936, devoted columns to the spoken and unspoken opposition of eminent Democrats to their candidate and told how they would "privately contribute to the Republican campaign fund and vote for the Republican nominee."

And here he is again, in 1939, jubiling over the prospect of a Republican President and telling us "clearly the Democratic split cannot be closed. It isn't that kind of a split. It is much too wide and fundamental."

Recalling 1936

Of course, more than a year in advance of the conventions which will select the candidates these 1939 G. O. P. oracles are practically saying that any Republican can beat any Democrat. As one of them points out, the Democratic progressives will not vote for a conservative, and the conservative Democrats will not vote for a liberal, and the logic goes on: "Neither faction will be satisfied with a compromise candidate." All of these things are political absurdities. Party splits a year before the candidates are named seem ponderous and terrific—and nineteen times out of twenty they disappear when the political bugles blow.

All the authorities quoted above were sure in 1936 that the friends of Alfred Emanuel Smith would follow him en masse out of the old party ranks, just as right now they are insisting that the men who oppose various of the Roosevelt policies in and out of Congress will lead their cohorts into the Republican fold. It would be a safe bet that the Democratic United States Senators who are cited by some of the commentators as illustrating the hostility to the New Deal policies will all vote the Democratic ticket next year, and most of them will be on the hustings making speeches for the nominee, whoever he may be. If an uncertain number of Democrats desert their party because a progressive is named for the Presidency, you may be equally sure that a correspondingly larger number of liberal Republicans will come over to the Democratic side. Naturally, they would have more faith in Democratic liberalism than in Republican protestations of liberalism. It is probably equally true that if it were the other way about, the result would be pretty much the same. Voters naturally vote for policies rather than individuals and prefer their own party's brand of economic thought to an imitation of the same thing on the other side.

It is only when such a split as was created by Theodore Roosevelt a quarter of a century ago, when he, the most popular Republican figure, went out and formed a new party, that they amount to anything in national elections.

Independents Decide

Local elections have undoubtedly been swayed quite frequently because of a split in the ranks, but it is the rarest phenomenon when a national election goes one way or the other because members of the party, however prominent, quarrel with each other or with the principles of a majority of their party. It has been shown definitely that men to whom large numbers of people are personally devoted, cannot transfer or deliver those votes to anybody else. We all remember that in the 1924 election as the elder La Follette, the outstanding progressive of his time, became an independent candidate, the Republicans were filled with forebodings lest his large following would desert them. Yet, in the ensuing election Calvin Coolidge won with 382 electoral votes.

The fear that La Follette would cut in heavily enough to throw the election into the House of Representatives, which was frequently voiced in those days, was as chimerical as the present-day wishful thinking that disorder among the Democrats will be a deciding factor next year. Party allegiance is a stubborn fact. In almost any election, the candidates, good, bad or indifferent, get the normal vote of their party. The vote that decides elections is the ten million or so of citizens with no strong party affili-

Lake Marvin to be Opened to Public on June 18

The first to be opened to the public was Buffalo Lake on May 25.

Previewing Probabilities of the World of Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S glamor girl may wear gowns of glass and milk, stockings made from coal! It sounds fantastic, but here's the photographic proof. Cobina Wright, socialite songstress recently named "Miss Manhattan," wears a headpiece of a shimmering, spot-proof fabric. And that fabric is manufactured from pure glass.

Around Cobina's neck is a skein of downy yarn which looks like wool. In fact, it feels like wool, wears like wool—and even smells like wool when burned. But the yarn is made from milk.

The hosiery, as sheer and stronger than stockings of today, is a product of coal, air, and water. Already a large factory is planning to produce such stockings on a commercial scale. There are just a few of the modern miracles previewed for the public at the World's Fair in New York City.

You've heard jokes about wooden spectacles. Well, they aren't funny any more—there ARE wooden spectacles. Miss Wright holds a pair. Lenses are made from plastic glass, a non-breakable substance manufactured from wood, with a mixture of coal and air.

In her other hand, Cobina has another synthetic glass "off-spring." A cold-light tube which can pick up light at one end and carry it through to the other without heating the "glass." Tubing like this will probably illuminate homes of the future.

There's a "cold stove" at the exposition, too—an induction coil which can fry an egg without getting at all hot and bothered about it. In fact, you can even put your hand on the stove while the cooking act is going on.

When electricity passes through the coil, it creates a magnetism that changes its course 3200 times a second. This rapidly reversing magnetic flow reaches the frying pan and causes a molecular disturbance which produces heat on the bottom of the pan.

There's a "talking flashlight." A speaker whispers into one end of the instrument, focuses its beam on a loudspeaker many feet away, and the auditorium resounds with his voice.

The whisper is transferred into light by the device and carried over the beam to a photo-electric cell, which reconverts the wave to sound, greatly magnified.

Science's show equals any collection of wonders on the World's Fair carnival midway. Most of the novelties are startling and amazing—but so were the radio and motion pictures not so very many years ago.

Experts believe that the new products will open new doors in industry, rather than creating unemployment. The research business, for instance, is on the upswing. And the more flexible use of raw materials will create an increased market, build more factories.

Wheat Surplus

Need is Seen For Increased Export Of Wheat to Foreign Buyers For 1939

With the growing supplies of wheat to sell, the American wheat farmer is faced with growing competition for export trade and little if any prospect of domestic consumption being stepped up enough to do any good.

Jess Watson, wheat farmer and member of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee with headquarters here, sums up the situation as follows:

Domestic use of wheat has ranged between 620 and 750 million bushels in the last 10 years, despite fairly wide price variations. Of this total, wheat milled for human consumption and commercial feeds has required from 480 to 515 million bushels. Wheat used for seed has required another 80 to 100 million bushels.

Unless new uses are developed, wheat produced in excess of the domestic market must find foreign buyers.

Before the war when world trade in wheat averaged about 650 million bushels annually, American farmers supplied 16 per cent of the world market. In the early '20s the average was up to 31 per cent, but by 1932, wheat grown in the United States made up only 5 per cent of the world trade.

In 1937 the United States again exported 100 million bushels of wheat, or about 20 per cent of the world volume.

The export outlet for U. S. wheat, however, faces growing competition from other exporting countries which also have recovered from a period of short crops. As these countries have piled up surpluses, they have taken steps to obtain as large a share as possible of the curtailed world markets. Such measures have included subsidies to growers, export bounties, currency depreciation, bargaining tariffs, and special agreements.

LIBERAL STORES SET HOURS FOR CLOSING

Five of Liberal's leading grocery stores entered an agreement June 1 revising the hours which the stores will be open. The new hours for the stores will be from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock and from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock in the evenings on Saturdays. The new schedule became effective Monday, June 5.

The Southwest Daily Times of Liberal, June 1, contains the following: "In the past grocery stores here have kept open as long as 15 or 18 hours on Saturdays, and as much as 12 hours on other days. In order to comply with new wage and hour regulations, these hours will have to be shortened. In addition, the long working hours are not fair to the employees of the store, and in order to improve working conditions for their employees, safeguard their health and comply with existing regulations, the grocers have found it necessary to establish this schedule of hours."

Invite FDR to XIT

Ten Year Dalhart Cowboy to Extend Invitation to Roosevelt And LaGuardia

Dalhart, Tex. June 3—(Special)—Completely outfitted as a Western cowboy, Billy Cotton, 10 years old, left Dalhart Sunday, June 4, to present personally to President Roosevelt in Washington, and Mayor LaGuardia in New York, miniature steer hides on which are lettered invitations to the Fourth Annual XIT Reunion in Dalhart August 7-8.

The invitations are on snow white leather, cut to duplicate a steer hide about three and a half feet long and two feet wide. Lettering is black. Each hide is suspended at the top from an Indian arrow shaft, to each end of which is laced by leather thongs a genuine Panhandle flint arrowhead.

The miniature counterpart of a Texas Longhorn steer's head is painted at the top of each invitation. In the lower left hand corner is suspended by two slender leather thongs the Great Seal of the XIT, a tiny facsimile of a cowboy on which is imposed a map of Texas carrying in fine letters this wording: "Where the wind pumps the water, and the cows chop the wood."

Mayor LaGuardia will receive his invitation at his office in the World's Fair grounds at 11 o'clock Friday morning, (June 9).

Miss Leona Enmick of 704 Southwest First street announces that private lessons in piano, accordion, violin and dramatic art will be given in her home.

"Don't TAKE ANY WOODEN NICKELS!"

A WARNING OFTEN HEEDED IN THE OLD DAYS
THAT IS SELDOM NEEDED NOW . . . !

THE U. S. Mint never did coin any wooden nickels. But people used to take 'em just the same.

Grandma ran the chance of getting a "wooden nickel" pushed at her every time she went shopping. She kind of expected it and the store-keeper didn't like to disappoint her. That's why Grandma had to be smart as a buggy whip at bargaining. It was really sort of a game.

Paying money for five yards of muslin and getting four-and-a-half, buying an umbrella with a tiny hole in it or coming away with a jug of vinegar that had been "cut"—that was known as "taking wooden nickels." It was just a polite, countrified way of saying "gettin' cheated." And it happened every day.

YET you can't blame Grandma too much. She wasn't dumb. Poor soul, she just wasn't informed. She didn't always know where to buy. There weren't any ads in the paper to tell her. At least not enough to shake a stick at. And such newspaper advertising as there was, back in the bustle-and-buggy days, didn't say much.

Not that there was any lack of good, honest, dependable merchants in Grandma's time! A lot of them are still in business. But they were often stymied by the lads with the phoney bargains. While the wooden-nickel boys kidded the public into believing they could undersell a decent merchant on honest value, those decent merchants had to sit still and take it. It was tough going; ask any old-timer.

Yet all the while those honest store-keepers had a powerful weapon right at their elbows and didn't know it: printers' ink! For business men in those days had not yet recognized what almost all of them know today: that newspaper advertising is the greatest single safeguard the buying public possesses! They knew—a few of them—that advertising helped business. They didn't know it helped their customers, too. They didn't know this: that an informed public always buys wisely and supports the store that deserves support.

HOW does newspaper advertising help you? How does it guard you from buying inferior, shoddy merchandise? How does reading the ads keep you from "taking any wooden nickels?" The answer is simple: You won't find inferior merchandise advertised in the newspaper! Because: (1) Newspaper advertising pulls the crowds. Thousands of people read it. Thousands act on it. Results come fast; too fast for the gyp-artist. Too many people have a chance to compare his offerings with the real values, both in the ads and in the stores. If he's "pulling a phoney" too many people find out about it at once. He's exhausted his whole sucker-list at one crack. And he can never fool 'em again. Fraud shuns the light. (2) Newspaper advertising, like any other good investment, costs money. No trickster is going to invest money for the long pull when he can bank on being found out before he gets his investment back. (3) Finally, the Ochiltree County Herald, in the public interest, exercises a censorship over its advertising columns. It would instantly refuse space to any business firm trying to cheat the public.

You play safe when you buy advertised goods! Because you have the chance to check and compare claims and prices in the paper before you buy. And because economic necessity forces a merchant to live up to promises he makes in print to thousands — or go out of business!

OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD

YOU GET MORE FOR YOUR MONEY WHEN YOU BUY FROM THE MERCHANT WHO ADVERTISES
IN THE NEWSPAPER

Advertised goods are invariably greater values. You get more for your money when you buy them. Here's why! Newspaper advertising gives a merchant fast economical distribution . . . he can buy better merchandise in larger quantities and hence more cheaply. And because of the intense daily competition for public favor from the thousands of people who read all the ads every day—every advertiser must pass those lower costs on to the consumer—and does so gladly!

People Live Longer

Life Span from Birth is Now 61 Years Compared with 35 Years 50 Years Ago

Austin, Texas.—That Texas is headed for an era of quieter, more mature living, is the prediction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The basis of this prediction is the declining birth rate and the increasing life span of the average Texan. While the population may continue to increase until 1955, as Government census experts predict, the percentage of youth is decreasing. By 1975 today's total American population over 65 years will have trebled their number from seven and a half million to twenty-two and a half million.

Two reasons for this change in the age ratio are smaller families and stricter immigration laws.

Third and most important reason is the longer average life expectancy due to increasingly wide-spread use of medical and public health knowledge, which reduces mortality, particularly in childhood and allows the average person to live on the average until he was 35 years old. A baby born in 1900 had a life expectancy of 48 years. A baby born in 1935 could normally expect to be 61 years old.

Repercussions to this change in our population from youth to middle age will be gradual. Both young and old will do less productive labor.

while the middle aged do more. Fewer schools will be needed. Golf and other mild games will gain favor. Travel will be more popular as more people will have leisure. The jitterbug era of dancing will fade. The population will tend to decentralize as older people move to quiet suburbs or the country.

In the long run, America and Texas will undoubtedly benefit in the advent of experience and seasoned judgements in government and business.

When our population becomes more or less static, our scale of living will automatically rise, and the science of medicine and public health will have much to do with this change toward a longer and better life for more and more people.

AMERICAN LEGION COMMANDER

R. B. ORRILL ELECTED POST COMMANDER TO SUCCEED H. C. GRAHAM, INSTALLED JULY 15

R. B. Orrill of the Men's Wear was elected Commander of the Pierce Johnson Post of the American Legion at the annual election of officers Monday evening. Mr. Orrill has been active in American Legion circles for many years and his election to head this organization is a just recognition of the many services he has rendered ex-service men and the Legion.

Other officers elected were: Jack Schultz, Pollett, 1st vice-commander; Robert Barlow, 2nd vice-commander; Tom Denman, adjutant; Rev. P. E. Yarbrough, chaplain; F. L. Oarrett, service officer; Loyd Black, sergeant-at-arms; Sibley Jones, liaison officer; Harry Cayler, historian; H. C. Graham, Hugh Stowell and Van W. Stewart, executive committeemen. The new officers will be installed at a joint installation ceremony of the Legion and Auxiliary on July 15. Charlie Maier, Pampa, 18th District Commander, has been invited to preside at the installation. The following served on the nominating committee: J. W. Woodworth, chairman; Chas. H. Imke, Pollett, and W. M. Boston.

H. C. Graham, present Post Commander, will retire with a chest full of citations of accomplishments. The Post attained the largest membership in years, going well over its assigned state and national quota. Several citations have been received for Community Service and other noteworthy programs.

At the Monday night meeting delegates to the 5th Division convention at Odessa on June 24 were named as follows: Van W. Stewart, chairman; E. W. Thomas, Tom Denman; R. B. Orrill, Sibley Jones, and J. W. Woodworth.

Resolutions were also passed to be forwarded to Congressman Marvin Jones and Soil Conservation Service Chief H. H. Pittsall requesting that rental cabins be provided at the Ochiltree State Park.

NO. 1-Continued From Front Page

When asked if he believed the Tennessees committed the triple murder as they confessed, Mr. McConnell said, "I just don't know." Mr. Flowers said, "I believe they are guilty, but it could have been committed in a different way than they stated." Mr. Taliaferro stated that they could have done it. The Herald has not been able to see Mr. Callahan but we understand that he is of the same opinion as Mr. Flowers.

McConnell said their questioning had failed to shake the confession made by the Tennessee brothers, but that several items in their story failed to comply with the facts as we know them, but that the investigation of the crime would continue.

Claude Tennison testified that Cone offered to pay $1000.00 for "pulling the job" on the day of the killing of the children. Cone paid him $250.00 while they were still down on Wolf Creek, and promised to pay the $750.00 as soon as they returned to Perryton.

When asked why he shot Cone, Claude said, "Well he threatened to turn me in and not pay the rest of the money." Claude also testified that they buried the two children side by side, something like two and a half or three feet under ground, that the bodies were buried in a kind of draw and that they got off a wagon from this draw to a kind of a second bank, and put them right against this second bank; the second bank had about a three foot break off and "we just dug right straight down."

The question was asked, "Why, Claude have you made this statement assuming responsibility for this crime?" He answered, "Well, Elmer—he kept wanting to get it off his mind, so I don't know, though I would relieve my conscience, I guess. It seems to be bothering him."

When Elmer Tennison was asked why he assumed responsibility for the crime, he stated, "Well, sir, it was just driving me nuts. I couldn't sleep, I couldn't work, I couldn't be satisfied anywhere. And I guess that is a case where you would say a fellow's conscience was hurting him. I have felt a lot better since I told it. Trying to forget it."

According to the testimony, Claude shot one of the Cone boys and Elmer shot the other, stripped the bodies and burned all their clothing, and then carried the bodies about a quarter of a mile to bury them; the hole had been dug before dark by the Tennessees; that the boys' father, J. M. (Gene) Cone took the boys down on the creek and the Tennessees went in their own car. Cone and the Tennessees pretended to fish that afternoon and evening.

Following the disposal of the children, Tennessees and Cone returned to Perryton. And Claude stated that he followed Cone around to his place, and waited outside a half block or so away until Cone came to the garage early next morning; Claude followed him into the garage and when Cone refused to pay off as agreed, Claude shot him twice, with a 32 caliber, he thought, and then pitched the gun down on the ground toward Cone. Claude left the garage immediately.

Mrs. L. D. Stinson and son, Gene, are in Hooker, Okla., this week visiting with her mother, Mrs. M. Henderson and other relatives.

Texas Tech Red Raiders, and promises to be a valuable assistant to Coach Otis Burk in his work with the Perryton Rangers. In his three varsity years he played as end.

Coach Pete W. Cawthon of Texas Tech, who has developed many coaches, predicts a brilliant future for Philbrick. Of his former end, Cawthon said: "Philbrick is a close student of the game. He has thorough knowledge of the fundamentals and the knack of imparting that knowledge to youngsters. I used him as one of my assistant coaches during our spring training this year and absolutely know that he will prove himself a real coach in his new job."

Philbrick had the honor of playing with the Texas Tech Red Raiders through their untied and undefeated 1938 season which saw them finish the season as one of six major teams with an unblemished record and the second highest scoring major team in the nation.

Elected President

Miss Nellie Perry Was Selected President of Community Service Club Saturday

Miss Nellie Perry was elected president of the Community Service Club sponsored by the American Legion and received the $25.00 salary Saturday for her services during this week.

It is of vital importance that members pay dues each week to become qualified for acceptance of the position of president in the event they are selected for the office.

In case the person selected has not paid dues of ten cents for the current week they are not eligible to become president of the organization and the salary of $25.00 will be doubled for the next week. In this manner if the salary reached $75.00 and the person elected at the first ballot is ineligible, the election will continue until a person with paid up dues is selected. This person will be paid the original $25.00.

All profits derived from this club is used for charity work by the Legion. Miss Perry returned her salary to the club for local use.

Misses Peggy Jane Thomas and Mary Kathryn Allen left Sunday afternoon for the Girl Scout camp located near Amarillo. They will remain at the camp for a two weeks period. Several other Perryton Girl Scouts plan on attending the second session of the camp which opens on June 18.

We know that Miss Nellie M. Perry is not going to like this but we've just got to mention in this column that splendid generous act of donating to the Community Service Club the $25.00 check that was awarded her at the Saturday election of the club.

Miss Nellie is just the kind of person that would do something like this and that $25.00 gift is going to mean a lot to some person in need. If it is not used for some worthy purpose before school opens, it will probably be used to provide some hungry, undernourished school boy or girl with hot noon lunches for 25 school weeks.

Talk of consolidating the counties of Potter and Randall has been started by one of the Potter commissioners. This is a step in a more economical form of government. We venture to say that the 254 counties of Texas could be consolidated into one-third that number without decreasing a single item of service but it would decrease the cost of government by millions of dollars savings to the taxpayers.

What is true in Texas as to an excess of governmental subdivisions and public employees is true in most other states. Some few states are making headway in county consolidation programs. Cost of government is increasing out of all proportion to the ability of the property owner and business to pay.

With county consolidation should come a unicameral legislature doing away with the feckless two-house legislature whose present session is a sum of one million dollars.
