Italian Threat To Suez Erased; British Purpose Attained

Next Phase Of Desert Drive Problematical

Only "Mopping Up" Remains Near Bengasi

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 8.—The British said tonight the purpose of their North African campaign—to end any Italian threat to Suez—has been achieved with the Italians driven from all eastern Libya.

The next phase of the desert drive is problematical.

British and Australian soldiers still are busy "mopping up" the battlefield south of Bengasi. The Italian forces there have been cut off from retreat, their resistance has collapsed and they are "surrendering in large numbers."

Thousands Captured

Several thousand have been brought into the captured naval and military base but military sources so far have given no accurate estimate of the number.

It was announced that an army commander reported captured south of Bengasi was the commander of all Cirenaica and second only to Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, the Fascist commander-in-chief in North Africa. His name was not given.

Some of Graziani's retreating forces were reported to have been defeated by a British armored division in the desert between Soluch and Agedatia. This places the British almost half way around the gulf of Sidra southwest of Bengasi on a line toward Tripoli.

400 Miles By Air

But Tripoli, the last major Fascist stronghold in Libya, still is 400 miles by air to the west of the British vanguards and to reach it the British would have to cross 600 miles of winding coastal road.

It is known that some of two divisions Graziani had left in eastern Libya after the British capture of Tobruk and Derna got hampered by a lack of transport and fuel, it is doubted whether the British will take up the chase, at least for the present.

Military sources indicated the whole question of the British pressing on toward Tripoli was a matter

Churchill To Rally Forces

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The vast garrison of this island fortress, cheered by the Bengasi triumph of the army of the Nile, waited tonight for Winston Churchill to rally the armed forces to other campaigns in 1941, and, perhaps, to explain where Britain stands in relation to France.

Churchill speaks over the radio at 9 p. m. Sunday (2 p. m. C.S.T.).

Warfare on the British front dwindled to an aerial conflict of thrust and parry. Today a lone German fighter-bomber dived out of the thick Dower strait fog, bombed and machinegunned coastal targets and in turn was knocked down by anti-aircraft guns. A German sea plane, off the southwest coast was shot down by fighters, officials said. One British fighter was lost.

New Warnings Made

A third German plane, a bomber, was shot down off the east coast by fighters, the ministry of information announced.

This slight activity followed last night's 3-hour RAF raid on the docks at Boulogne, Dunkerque, Calais and Ostend. Official sources said thousands of fire bombs and

Suspects Questioned In Burglary Here

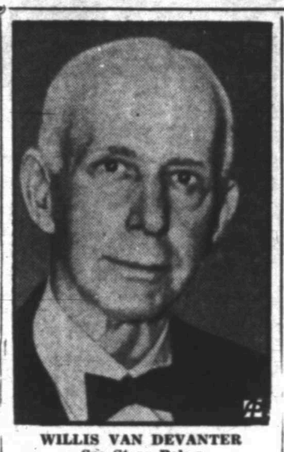

Two suspects were questioned Saturday in connection with burglary Friday night of Mark Halsey Drug store No. 3, at 1520 Texas avenue.

Missing was $30 in money and approximately $57 worth of merchandise. A west window to a rest room had been broken to gain entrance, police were told.

Money was taken from hiding places in the store. Other loot included five cigaret cases, seven watches and a radio.

Former Justice Van Devanter Taken By Death

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — Willis Van Devanter, former associate justice of the United States supreme court who retired in 1937, died suddenly tonight of a heart attack. He was 81 years old.

Van Devanter, who was appointed to the supreme court by President Taft in 1910, left the court under provisions of the statute permitting justices over 70 who had served 10 years to retire at full pay of $20,000 a year.

He had been in poor health since his return from a visit of several weeks to New York when he presided over the federal district court there but his death was unexpected.

Was "Conservative"

The retirement of Van Devanter, who had frequently voted against New Deal legislation, came shortly before the defeat of President Roosevelt's plan to add new justices to the court.

Congress had been engaged in a fierce controversy over the proposal when Van Devanter electrified political Washington on May 18, 1937, by writing Mr. Roosevelt that he planned to retire the following June 2.

Described by the administration as a "conservative," the jurist's departure gave the president an opportunity to name a justice whose

Salvation Army Fire In Dallas Claims 10 Lives

Nine Men And Boy Die; Others Are Seriously Burned

By JACK B. KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Feb. 8.—Nine men and a boy perished today in a mauling, screaming crowd of homeless transients trapped by fire in a second-floor Salvation Army hotel.

About 18 others who fought their way out of the inferno after flames had blocked the only stairway were in hospitals, at least five of them seriously burned or injured. The death toll was expected to grow.

Blood Is Donated

An emergency call for blood donors went out from Baylor university hospital's blood bank after the equivalent of 196 transfusions had been administered the injured and dying. Salvation army officials and employes immediately volunteered their blood.

A story of heroics and pandemonium was related by one transient, who broke both legs in plunging from a window 35 feet to the ground.

Flames Are Discovered

He did not want his name used. He told of what happened, pain from his shattered limbs halting him occasionally:

About 11 p. m. last night about 55 men were lying in the row of cots which stretched to the rear of the big room. At the front sat several naked men, waiting for their clothes to come out of a small cabinet-like room called a "delouser." In the delouser a gas fire burned, heating the clothes hung around it.

Smoke curled from around the door of the tiny room and someone ran in to grab the clothes. The flames roared out, flashing across the tar-papered ceiling.

Slugged One Man

The witness said he leaped from his cot, quickly tied two blankets together and reached for a third held by a neighbor.

"He wouldn't turn loose, so I slugged him and took it away."

He said he tied the third blanket to the others and rushed to a window at the rear of the room, pushing through a plunging mass of men making for the smoke-filled stairway. He anchored the tied blankets to a cot, smashed the window with a shoe and flung the make-shift rope through it. The window opens on an enclosed courtyard.

The crowd of men at the stairway entrance turned back, unable to stand the wall of flame barring their way. Some got through, burned and blackened.

Rush For Window

The others made a rush for the rear window. One man, the witness said, was literally shoved out, dropping in a heap 35 feet below. The witness himself was shoved, toppling out the window but grasping the blanket rope before a body hurtled down on top of him. Men poured through the window until there was a pile of them below.

The press at the window grew and when firemen went in they

Denver City Host To Singing Convention

DENVER CITY, Feb. 8. (Special) —The Five County Singing convention, convened tonight, is expected to attract several hundred singers of West Texas and eastern New Mexico Sunday.

L. B. Patton, president said, interest was running unusually high.

Mickey Rooney's Symphonic Music Makes Debut Tonight

By TED GILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8—Symphonic music by Mickey Rooney, regarded by some who don't know him as an irresponsible cinematic jitterbug, but who at times is as dignified and serious as the proverbial long-haired professor, makes an auspicious debut to radio tomorrow night in a nationwide hookup.

Two of the three movements of his "Melodante," which he secretly and diligently has worked on for the past two years, will be presented on the Ford Sunday evening hour program from Detroit at 8 p. m. (CST) over the CBS network.

"Gee, but I'm scared to death," declared the tousled-haired 20-year-old No. 1 movie box-office attraction. "And, I'm going to keep on being scared until I actually hear the program.

"Of course, I'm terribly elated to think that my symphony is to receive such recognition, and I just hope that everybody likes it. I'm sorry I won't be able to go back to Detroit for my picture work here, but you can bet I'll be listening in when it comes on the air."

Mickey has never heard the symphony since it has been put to orchestration. He played it publicly on the piano for the first time at a social function in Washington recently on the occasion of the presidential inauguration, and was enthusiastically acclaimed by the first lady for his musical accomplishments.

When Dr. Hans Kindler, director of the National Symphonic orchestra in Washington, heard Mickey's symphony, he declared: "It's fantastic—and I'm not kind to music, either. Please send me a manuscript for my orchestra."

Defense Training In Texas Speeded

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE sullen roar of heavy artillery, the sharp smack of anti-aircraft rifles practice-shooting at towed targets, foot soldiers drilling under full packs, cavalry units moving to new stations along the Rio Grande and increasing speed of construction at new training camps and naval centers spoke the story of national defense in Texas today.

Less spectacular but equally significant was a daily-rising flood of contracts for materials ranging from khaki cotton trousers to engine fuels and mop handles, let to concerns in all parts of the state.

The amount of these and expenditures for all national defense projects in Texas since July 1, 1940, amassed the staggering total of $210,898,884.

Still in the raw stages of construction was naval activity at Orange, where war ships will be built. At Corpus Christi, work on the $28,000,000 naval base was two-thirds complete.

Two-Thirds Complete

February and March will see a growing deluge of troops rushed into Texas training areas as rapidly as facilities to accommodate them are finished.

The first cadre of an ultimate division of 18,600 national guardsmen from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona will move into swiftly-built Camp Barkeley at Abilene Feb. 15. On Feb. 25 another tricle of 1,500 men will arrive, followed by 9,000 Feb. 28 and an additional 8,000 March 4 and 5, all from Fort Sill, Okla. When all selectees assigned to the 45th division are absorbed, its strength will total 18,600. Construction on this $2,000,000 pro-

Crosbyton Teams Win Judging Contests

Vocational agriculture students of Crosbyton High school were winners in dairy cattle and dairy products judging contests held at Spur Saturday.

T. L. Leach, associate professor of agricultural education, and L. G. Harmon, instructor in dairy manufactures at Texas Technological college, were judges.

Other teams to place in the dairy cattle judging contest were McAdoo, second; Jayton, third; Ralls, fourth; and Spur, fifth. Other teams placing in the dairy products judging contest were Spur, second; McAdoo, third.

R. C. Mitchell is vocational agriculture teacher at Crosbyton.

A Lubbock district junior chapter conducting contest is to be held at Slaton High school at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Lubbock county vocational agriculture departments and Lorenzo High school are to be represented. Judges will probably be Walter Grist, Wilson vocational agriculture teacher; J. R. Bertrand, holder of a graduate fellowship in the Tech vocational agriculture department; and James Gunter, Tech student and national FFA vice president.

TROOPS CONCENTRATED

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Feb. 9. (Sunday) (AP)—Travelers reaching here from Singapore, Britain's great Far Eastern naval base, said today the British have concentrated 90,000 troops there and that extensive land, sea and air defense practice operations are under way.

Masked Bandits Take Jewelry Worth $200,000

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8.—Edward S. Moore, sr., prominent turfman from Sheridan, Wyo., reported to police tonight that masked bandits seized more than $200,000 of jewelry from him and Mrs. Moore late today.

The Moores were returning from Hialeah race track to their yacht Big Pebble, tied up at the Nautilus hotel docks at Miami beach, when the robbery occurred.

Moore said the robbers' car, containing two men, forced his chauffeur, Horace Clark, off the road in north Miami and made away with $90 in cash from him, $130 from Mrs. Moore and the jewelry.

The Miami Herald said the robbery was the largest in Miami's history.

Director Of Company

Moore is a director of the American Can company and the National Biscuit company. He makes his home at Circle M ranch near Sheridan.

Moore declined to identify two other women who were in the car, but said the bandits fled without taking their jewels.

The robbery occurred about five miles from Hialeah park, only a few blocks from the Miami end of the seventy-ninth street causeway.

Detective F. W. Fouts quoted Moore as saying the jewelry was fully covered by insurance.

Fouts said all circumstances surrounding the robbery indicated it had been planned carefully.

Suspect Charged With Kidnaping Clovis Man

EL PASO, Feb. 8. (AP)—Gene Crosby, 42, who was turned over to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in Napa, Calif., today, was charged with kidnaping Charles A. Walker of Clovis, N. M., in 1935, in a complaint filed in U. S. commissioner's court here.

FBI agents filed the charges, alleging Crosby forced Walker to drive him from Clovis to El Paso. Crosby had been held in jail since Jan. 1, pending an investigation of a Napa robbery.

Just To Mention Bananas Sickens Air Corps Recruit

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 8.—The mere mention of bananas pains Marion Rhoades deeply, yet bananas—eight pounds of them topped with two quarts of milk—helped him realize his ambition.

Rhoades, 22, wanted to become a cadet in the U. S. naval air corps reserve but recruiting officers rejected him because he weighed only 137 pounds, eight less than the regulation minimum.

The youth went straight to a grocery store, purchased eight pounds of bananas and the milk and began to eat. Two hours later he was back at the recruiting station.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," said Officer A. L. Husted, "when he tipped the scales at a fraction over 146 pounds. Then I noticed he was sort of pale and asked him what he had been doing.

"I told him if he wanted to join bad enough to eat eight pounds of that stuff he deserved to get in. That took determination, and we need men of determination in the air corps."

Rhoades confessed that his banana-eating orgy was quite an ordeal.

"When I would get to the point where I thought it was impossible to take another bite," he explained, "I would just rest for a while and start over again.

"Anyway, I'm in the air corps and there's another coriselation. I'll never have to eat another banana as long as I live.'

Senate Boosters Of Aid Measure Win First Test

Group Ballots To End Its Public Hearings Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.— Senate supporters of the lease-lend bill won their first test today when the foreign relations committee voted 10 to 5 to wind up its public hearings on Tuesday after Wendell Willkie testifies.

The decision, opposed by leading opponents of the bill who are members of the committee, was reached at the close of a tumultuous day that saw these developments:

Demonstration Quelled

A noisy demonstration at the committee hearing that frought capitol policemen running and caused removal of some 50 young people from the hearing room. Members of the group said they represented the American Youth Congress.

Testimony by Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, that the legislation was a "guess and be damned policy" that would lead this country into war. Landon also accused President Roosevelt of a "systematic attempt" to "silence" Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), an opponent of the legislation.

Letter Publicized

Publication by Senator Wheeler of a letter to Secretary of War Stimson asserting that the cabinet member "should not be a party to misleading the American people into believing that this nation is so well armed that we can afford to strip it completely of what few planes we have." Stimson had questioned the propriety, in the light of world conditions, of a recent statement by Wheeler that the army had only 639 planes on Jan. 1.

Chairman George (D-Ga), in announcing the majority decision to end testimony Tuesday, said those who favored the legislation had taken only a week to present their testimony while senators opposed to the legislation had had all of this week to offer witnesses, and also would have Monday.

Voting against ending the hearings were Senator Johnson (R-Calif), Capper (R-Kan), Nye (R-ND), Shipstead (R-Minn), and Clark (D-Mo), all opponents of the measure.

Clark said these five votes did not include all opposition within the committee, but conceded a majority of the group favored sending the

Measure Approved By Big Majority; Limitations Voted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—By a vote of 260 to 165, the House passed the momentous bill empowering President Roosevelt to lease, lend or otherwise transfer the sinews of war to embattled Britain and other nations whose defense he deems "vital" to the defense of the United States.

On the final vote, 236 Democrats and 24 Republicans were recorded for the bill. Voting against it were 135 Republicans, 25 Democrats, 1 American Labor, 3 Progressives and 1 Farmer-Labor.

Most Opposition From Republicans

The measure went through, and on to the Senate, at the climax of an historic week-long controversy, which found most of the opposition coming from the Republican side of the wide center aisle. Democratic leaders, seeking the largest possible majority to increase the prestige of the program abroad, met this situation with a successful strategy of yielding one concession after another to the critics of the measure.

Consequently, the bill as passed contained all its original provisions but also these restrictions:

A limit of $1,300,000,000 on the value of American defense items already on hand or under appropriation which may be sent abroad. (The chamber refused, however, to place a $7,000,000,000 limitation on the over-all cost of the program.)

Time Limit Voted

A time limit of two years on the president's power to make contracts for delivering military equipment to other nations, and of five years on the execution of these contracts.

A proviso that Congress may rescind, by a simple majority vote in both houses, any of the powers granted under the measure.

A stipulation that the bill contains no new authority for assigning naval vessels to convoy duty or sending American merchant ships into the zones of war. And a proviso that before sending any army and navy equipment abroad, Mr. Roosevelt must consult, though not necessarily have the approval of, the ranking officers of the army and navy.

One Slips Through

Having backed all these restrictions—except the one providing for congressional repeal of the powers given, which went through when they were napping—administration leaders refused to grant any more concessions. Steadfastly they opposed and uniformly defeated all such amendments as the Republicans offered them. Thus, the House rejected:

A proposal that assistance to Britain be put on a strictly money-loan basis.

That its cost be limited—two figures, $2,000,000,000 and $7,000,000,000, were advanced and rejected.

Russia Is Excluded

That the president be specifically forbidden to transfer any part of the navy to another country—the $1,300,000,000 limit on the disposition of present defenses was intended to cover partially this much controverted point.

That Russia be excluded from the Provisions Of Lease-Lend Bill Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Here, in brief, are the provisions of the lease-lend bill as approved by the house:

Section 1.—Declares the purpose to be "to promote the defense of the United States."

Section 2.—Defines "defense articles" in broad terms to include "any commodity or article for defense" and machinery or materials for making them. Defines "defense information" as any information pertaining to such articles.

Left To President

Section 3. — Authorizes the president until June 30, 1943, to have manufactured or "otherwise procure" any defense article for the government of any country "whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States." (All contracts made before June 30, 1943, would have to be completed by July 1, 1946.)

Snow Reported In Texas Areas

(By The Associated Press)

A carpet of snow covered hill country areas and there was snow of varying degrees in West, Central and South Texas Saturday but Oklahoma had fair weather with freezing temperatures forecast for Sunday.

An eight-inch blanket spread over the Kerrville section.

San Angelo had two inches and there was sleet in Sutton county.

South Central Texas reported a deep snow fall around Kyle, San Marcos, Lockhart, Schulenberg and Gonzales.

There were traces of snow and some sleet along the Gulf coast in the Galveston and Corpus Christi areas.

Austin had no snow but there was a light rain.

Angleton, Freeport, Palacios, San Antonio, Del Rio, Alpine, Wink and Uvalde reported snow.

Amarillo had one of the lowest recordings with 20 degrees.

No damage was reported and ranchmen said the moisture was needed for the range lands.

Natural Death Ruled After Corpse Found

ABILENE, Feb. 8. (AP)—Justice of the Peace J. D. Perry, jr., ruled today that Richard L. York, 32, of Fort Worth, died of natural causes as he slept in the back seat of an automobile.

York's body was found early this morning. He had been in Abilene about a week, seeking employment as a painter on the Camp Barkeley construction project. The body was taken to Fort Worth by a funeral coach this afternoon.

Lubbock Fire Credit Rating Is Unchanged

Lubbock's fire insurance credit for 1941 remained unchanged from last year, it was announced Saturday by Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall.

The Associated Press reported a 20 per cent credit for Lubbock. Only Longview, among 35 cities of Texas given ratings Saturday was given an increased credit.

Outstanding Young Man To Be Named

Lubbock's outstanding young man of 1940 will be announced Monday.

The announcement will be made at a luncheon of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Hilton hotel Monday noon at which officers, directors and members of the senior chamber and members of Lubbock civic clubs have been invited to attend.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal, will be principal speaker. George Dale, chairman of the Jaycees' award committee, will make presentation of the award.

The outstanding young man was selected from a group of approximately sixteen young men who have been outstanding in their various business and professions.

The outstanding young man award is to be an annual affair. Monday's award is the first to be made by the Jaycees since their organization two years ago.

Thorough System Of Sabotage Detection Said Established In Plants By FBI

Jackson Reveals Careful Plans

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A thorough system of sabotage detection has been established in more than 1,200 plants producing defense material for the United States Army and Navy, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson revealed today.

Jackson, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Saturday afternoon forum of the National Democratic club, said that the defense plants had been carefully surveyed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the past few months. Jackson was ill at Washington and his address was read by Matthew F. McGuire, assistant to the attorney general.

Surveys Extended Rapidly

The surveys are being extended rapidly, Jackson said, so that the entire American arms program should be safeguarded against damage in more critical times ahead. Prevention of sabotage, rather than arrest of saboteurs after their work is done, has become the Department of Justice's objective, he said.

Reviewing the work of all sections working under the department's orders, Jackson said alien registration, tracking down of foreign propaganda, elaboration of effective counter-espionage at home and abroad, control of all political enemy agents and enforcement of anti-trust laws to break enemy-induced bottlenecks in defense industry had eliminated fifth column dangers in the United States.

Jackson said the department "now knows all about our alien population." The response of aliens to the alien registration law had proved that the overwhelming majority were "law abiding and eager to be identified with this country," while the few suspects among them were now catalogued and watched, he added.

Illinois Animal Wins Houston Show Award

HOUSTON, Feb. 8. (AP)—Purdue's Moden, a black Aberdeen Angus weiging 600 pounds, was adjudged the grand champion steer at the Houston Fat Stock Show and Livestock exposition Friday.

The animal was exhibited by A. H. Spitzer, jr., of Pleasant Plains, Ill.

Chang Eng, 19-year-old Chinese orphan who was adopted by an American family of Webster, Tex., won an award for exhibiting the best Harris county steer.

Fred M. Allison, jr., of Corsicana exhibited the champion and reserve champion female in the Hereford division.

School Officials At Levelland Re-Elected

LEVELLAND, Feb. 8. (Special) — Levelland board of trustees has voted to retain Ray D. Brown as superintendent of schools and T. E. McCollum, R. D. Lee and G. C. Clapp as principals.

Brown came here from Hico at beginning of the present scholastic term. He has been given a two-year contract. He holds a master of arts degree from SMU.

McCollum, Lee and Clapp were given one-year contracts as principals respectively of the high school, junior high and the elementary school.

Rehearing Ordered On Labor Ruling

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8. (AP)—On its own initiative the third U. S. circuit court of appeals order Friday a rehearing on a four day-old decision which, the general counsel of the National Labor Relations board had said, would place a "drastic limitation" on the Wagner act.

On Monday, Judge Albert B. Maris handed down a decision that the N.L.R.B. had no jurisdiction in disputes arising between employer and employe after the employer had signed a contract with a union.

Today, Judge Maris signed an order for new arguments Feb. 20 before the entire bench. The two other judges are John Biggs, jr., and Charles Alvin Jones.

VFW Organization At Post To Be Formed

Organization of a post of Veterans of Foreign Wars in Post is scheduled Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement here Saturday by Tom Carter of Lubbock, state commander.

Carter will officiate at the chartering ceremonies and will install officers. He has been advised by T. D. McElroy of Post that 16 members already have signed for the post, Carter said.

A delegation from the Lubbock post will accompany the state commander to the meeting. They are to leave from Hilton hotel at 6 o'clock Monday night, Carter said.

Counter-Attacks Of Italians Repulsed

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 8. (AP)—Two Italian counter-attacks upon Greek positions along the Albanian front were repulsed today, a Greek government spokesman reported tonight.

An Italian advance post was captured, he said.

In the war at sea, he declared that the Greeks had lost not a single ship, either in the Mediterranean or Aegean since the beginning of hostilities, and in the last three months had destroyed at least three submarines and transports aggregating 35,000 tons.

It was announced officially during the day that King George had inspected units at the front and had been given ovations.

English Only Want Supplies From U. S., Texan Declares; 'They'll Do The Fighting'

(By The Associated Press)

DENTON, Feb. 8. — Ira Lee Sullivan, ar. injured Texan back home from the air war over Britain, today said the English defenders wanted only supplies from the United States, not men.

"They'll do the fighting," he said.

Sullivan, a strapping member of the Royal Air Force, may on his way to Hillsboro, his home, where live his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sullivan. His spine was injured when he pulled a fighter plane out of a power dive during an air battle, he said.

European Planes Superior

The Texan said English and German planes were superior to American craft sent abroad, but the Germans will fail if they attempt invasion because "England is ready for them." British morale has not been shaken, he related, because "bombings only harden them for a fight to the finish."

The English also are doing well with airplane production, he said, increasing output 100 per cent in the last six months. With help from the U. S. Britain will attain air mastery in half a year.

Favors Lease-Lend Bill

He is for the pending lease-lend bill, saying he did not think it would involve this country in war. The British Isles, he added, are already crowded with troops.

They need only munitions and other material assistance—they'll do the fighting."

Court Session Will Be Opened Monday

Six-weeks session of 72nd district court will be convened at 10 o'clock Monday morning by Judge Daniel A. Blair in Lubbock.

Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court will have a week of civil jury cases. Six cases will be set at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Criminal hearings will occupy Judge G. V. Pardue of county court. There are 22 persons charged with offenses ranging from drunkenness and assault to liquor and check law violations, one case of adultery, one of violation of the real estate dealers law and one of unlawfully carrying arms.

Judge Blair has set the week of Feb. 24 for criminal hearings. This week will be given to non-jury actions, four weeks to jury civil actions and the last week to non-jury civil cases.

There will be no grand jury, court officials said.

Two Are Recovering After Auto Mishap

Mrs. Frances M. Van Dyke of 2628 Twenty-third street has written from Fort Worth to inform friends her son Alfred J. Van Dyke and his wife are recovering satisfactorily from injuries suffered Jan. 22 when their car plunged off the road near Fort Worth and fell 40 feet into a dry creek bed.

Van Dyke, 33, is resident engineer for Hood county and formerly attended Texas Technological college. His wife is 30.

Their condition was considered serious several days after the crash. The Lubbock woman is at their bedside in Harris Memorial hospital in Fort Worth.

TOPPING PHYSICALLY UNFIT

GREENWICH, Conn., Feb. 8. (AP)—Daniel R. Topping, 29-year-old Greenwich millionaire sportsman and husband of Sonja Henie, was reported physically unfit for military service by Eban F. Putnam, chairman of the selective service board here.

Air Raid Shelters Are Causing Popularity Of Yashmaks In London

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—London stores are featuring yashmasks —yes, yashmasks.

Yashmasks, as old as the reticence of Mohammedan women to show their faces in public, have been beautified and are being made in various colors. Yellow, pink and green have top billing.

Alderman Charles Key, chairman of London shelters, said 90,000 of the veils now are ready for shelter use. They are primarily designed to snuff sneezes and prevent infection.

Fashion designers say they'll be popular. If a girl has nice eyes the veils will add 'allure," they said, and, on the other hand, if her face is not so nice, yashmak will help.

The veils are designed to fit over the nose and are tied at the back of the head.

White To Lead Betting Foes

ABILENE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons university, will accept an invitation to lead a statewide campaign opposing legalized horse race betting.

In announcing his acceptance here yesterday, he said Dr. William H. Mansfield, pastor of Waco's Austin avenue Methodist church, had agreed to serve as associate chairman.

Leader of Texas anti-horse racing forces several years ago, Dr. White cited six reasons which he said prompted his current acceptance.

Reasons Are Given

Legalizing horse racing, he said, proved disappointing as a revenue measure during its Texas tenure;

Racing gutted legitimate business of most types where race tracks were centered;

It stimulated bookmaker gambling throughout the state;

It demoralized the financial life of affected communities;

It resulted in an epidemic of financial "defaults" in many Texas communities;

The moral effect was "terrible," not only among adults but among school children, and caused the rupture of homes and suicides.

Veterans Leader To Pay Visit To Texas

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (U.P.)—Vincent E. Shoeck of Detroit, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, will begin a tour of Texas DAV posts on Feb. 17, State Commander Horace Shelton announced today.

Schoeck and Shelton will be at Dallas Feb. 17, Austin Feb. 19, Legion hospital near Kerrville Feb. 20, and El Paso Feb. 22.

Railroad Fireman Is Dead In Derailment

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 8 (AP)—J. E. Slusher, 47, railroad fireman of Shreveport, was killed late yesterday in a freight train derailment at Harmon, 40 miles south of here in which two other trainmen were injured.

Officials said the accident occurred when a through Texas and Pacific freight train, northbound, ploughed into the rear of a local freight pulling out of the station.

The two injured men were W. C. Thiebaud, brakeman who suffered a wrenched back, cuts and lacerations, and J. R. Cowan, engineer, cuts and possible brain concussion. Both are from Shreveport.

Ex-Slave At 101 Expounds Creed

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 8. (U.P.)—He says he has drunk enough whisky to float "me from here to Chattanooga," and smoked enough tobacco to "blanket Knoxville in a smoke fog for two weeks," but Ole Wes is still gettin' about at 101 years young.

With a tone that rings with clarity, Uncle Wesley Hurd, Knoxville negro, comments quickly on the enormous quantity of whisky and tobacco he has consumed.

Had Half Gallon Daily

"Good whisky don't hurt nobody. Why, when I used to work in a government distill'ry, they'd give us a half gallon of whisky a day. That was all right through the week, but on the week-ends, I had to buy myself a extry gallon to tide me over to Monday."

The 101-year-old negro says, however, "Ain't no use of nobody bein' a hog about it. People can drink moderate. I been full as a fish, but I ain't never been drunk."

Ole Wes readily admits there is only one reason he is still living—"the mercy of God." He says he knows the Good Book from "kiver to kiver."

Was Born A Slave

Born a slave at Charleston, S. C., the negro was bought at the age of 11 by his father, a free negro. He lived at Greenville, S. C., and Asheville, N. C., for more than 20 years before coming to Knoxville.

His occupation was stone masonry, and he proudly says, "You see all them stone walls around Knoxville. I'm the man that done the work."

He spent all his life savings—$3,000—trying to get his neuritis cured. The negro has been married twice, the first time when he was 35 and the second time when he was about 50. He had two children by his first wife and five by his last.

Ole Wes was 101 years old last Nov. 28, and he now lives at 805 Coleman street here. His birth date is on record in the office of the Tennessee Welfare department.

Seven Enlist Here For Army Service

Three flying cadets and four other men for regular army duty were enlisted in Lubbock Saturday, Capt. Everett W. Bright, assistant recruiting officer, said.

The flying cadets were sent to California, Herman R. Green to Santa Maria, Marcus O. Owens, jr., to San Diego and Kellogg C. Mahchee to Ontario.

Earl L. Holcomb and Orvie E. Jones enlisted for the 49th air corps school squadron at San Angelo. Clarence Granger for the 18th field artillery at Fort Sill, Okla., and Jessie Bradford for the air corps recruiting detachment at Las Vegas, Nev.

Eight Texas Cities To Receive Awards

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (U.P.)—Eight cities will be honored for their 1940 traffic safety records at the Texas Safety association's annual banquet in Houston on April 8, executive Secretary George Clarke announced today.

For the second straight year, Dallas won the safety award for cities over 100,000 and Amarillo in the 50,000 to 100,000 bracket.

Tyler, a city of 28,000, had only one traffic fatality during the year and will receive an award. A special award will go to San Benito, which concluded two years without any traffic deaths. Four cities in the 10,000 to 25,000 population class had no deaths in 1940. They are Corsicana, University Park (Dallas), Sweetwater, and Bryan.

Mayors of the eight cities will receive the safety association's awards at the Houston banquet.

Oklahoma Suit Is Dismissed

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Feb. 8 (AP)—A three-judge federal tribunal today dismissed the state of Oklahoma's suit to halt construction of the $54,000,000 Red river dam and reservoir project near Denison, Texas.

The court acted on request of attorneys for Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma who said the order was necessary in order to permit them to appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Notice Of Appeal

Counsel for Oklahoma immediately filed notice of appeal and put up $500 supersedas bond.

Judges Walter A. Huxman and Alfred P. Murrah of the tenth U. S. circuit court and Federal Judge Eugene Rice of the eastern Oklahoma district heard the plea of C. C. Harchett for the state.

He asked the court to "hit us square between the eyes" in moving for the dismissal. Attorney Charles O. Butler of the department of justice contended that a denial of the injunction was not necessary to a judgment dismissing the case and expressed concern that it might hurt the government's position in the further legal fight over the dam project.

Request Is Granted

But the judges held the dispute was "much ado about nothing" and granted the state's request.

On January 25 the court entered a memorandum of opinion upholding constitutionality of the congressional action under which the dam is being constructed. At that time it, in effect, sustained the government's motion to dismiss the injunction sought by Phillips.

It found the pleadings concerning alleged loss of revenue to Oklahoma, damages to "potentially rich" oil properties, farm lands, and highway networks, not relative to the constitutional issue on which both sides admitted the case turned.

Today's action on the state's petition, permits Oklahoma's lawyers to take the original injunction request directly to the supreme court.

Prison Group To Prepare Report

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Feb. 8. — Dr. Sidney M. Lister, chairman of the Texas Prison board, said today that a subcommittee he appointed a month ago to recommend substitutes for whipping of convicts will meet Sunday to prepare its report.

Dr. Lister predicted that the board would eliminate the "bat" in disciplining unruly convicts. The "bat" is a piece of leather one-quarter-inch thick, four inches wide and 24 inches long, attached to a wooden handle.

Dr. Butler Chairman

The sub-committee will meet under the chairmanship of Dr. C. W. Butler jr., Crockett, member of the board. Other members are Mrs. C. A. Teagle, Houston; Paul T. Sanderson, Trinity, and Joseph Wearden, Victoria.

The report will be submitted to the full membership of the prison board here next Tuesday, at which time action on recommendations will be taken.

Joint Meeting Planned

Dr. Lister said that he already had made plans for a joint meeting of the penitentiary committees of the Texas House and Senate and members of the prison board in Austin next Thursday. An anti-whipping bill has been introduced in the legislature.

"We will hold a general discussion of the prison system," Dr. Lister said. "I am sure one of the high spots will be the discussion of the bat. No doubt, the board will have a proposition regarding the bat to submit to the legislature at that time."

Dr. Lister said that the board desires to give substitute disciplinary measures a two-year trial in preference to placing the whipping matter up to the legislature.

Permission Given For Making Carbon Black

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—The house committee on oil, gas and mining today quickly and unanimously stamped approval on a bill which would permit one company in Gray county to manufacture carbon black from sweet gas.

Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa, the author, told the committee the bill would be applicable to only the General Atlas Carbon company, located near Pampa, although it would extend the specified permission to those which produce an average of five pounds of carbon black from 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

Favors also has introduced a bill which would allow all carbon black companies in the Panhandle area to make carbon black from sweet gas.

A state law forbids such use of sweet gas, and carbon black generally is manufactured from sour and casinghead gas. There are exceptions.

List Of 74 Military Highway Projects In Texas Announced By Department

Projects Cover Military Areas

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. — The Texas Highway department today announced a list of 74 road projects on highways of national military importance upon which it proposes expenditure of $12,588,000 within a year from July 1.

The work will be on 493 miles of roadway needed to bring 6,375 miles of designated military roads in the state up to standard.

Federal Funds Provided

All federal funds allpted to the state for road aid during the period will go into these projects, which have been selected subject to approval by the bureau of public roads.

The proposed work includes:

Surfacing 16 miles of state highway 31 in Hill and Navarro counties and grading and building culverts on an additional 11 miles between Corsicana and Purdon.

Surfacing 13 miles of state highway 44 between Corpus Christi and Robstown.

To Widen Highway

Grading, drainage and surfacing of state highway 73 between Houston and Hildenhahl, and grading and culverts on about 16 miles of the same road between highways 61 and 146 in Chambers county. State highway 235 will be graded and have drainage structures built from Vidor to highway 62.

Widening and surfacing U. S. highway 66 between Shamrock and the Oklahoma boundary, and grading, drainage structures and surfacing from east of Bushland to Amarillo.

The bridge over the east fork of Trinity river for U. S. highway 67 in Rockwall county will be widened and surfaced. Work preparatory to surfacing is listed from Sulphur river to Bassetts and from Texarkana to Aikens creek in Bowie county; for three miles in Franklin county; for four miles east of Ardis Heights in Hunt county, and from Mt. Pleasant to a junction with U. S. highway 271 in Titus county.

Bridges To Be Built

Bridges on U. S. 75 will be reconstructed between Dallas and Hutchins and a bridge will be built at Bedias creek at the Madison-Walker county boundary. The road will also get surfacing after other work through south Houston and north of the Texas City wye in Galveston county, and between Sherman and Denison.

U. S. highway 77 has work scheduled in Dallas, Denton, Ellis, Hill counties.

Work on U. S. Highway 80 is listed for more than six miles west of Cisco, three miles east of Baird. For 16 miles in Hudspeth county, eight miles in Mitchell county, 14 miles in Parker county, between Sweetwater and Roscoe in Nolan county, for four miles west of Abilene in Taylor county, for 11 miles east of Barstow, for seven miles east of Mineola, and for five miles in Smith and Wood counties. Pecos river bridge approaches will be widened.

To Surface 26 Miles

Twenty-six miles of U. S. Highway 8 will be surfaced through Williamson and 11 miles in Hill county and 5½ miles with be reconstructed and surfaced near the Frio river.

Fifteen miles of U. S. Highways 82 and 287 will be improved in combination projects near Wichita Falls and Henrietta.

U. S. Highway 83 will have grading, drainage structures and surfacing between Harlingen and San Benito.

Lubbock Gets Project

Shoulders of U. S. Highway 87 will be improved in Lubbock county and the highway will receive grading, drainage structures and surfacing in Gillespie, McCulloch, Hale and Wilson counties. A bridge to serve also U. S. Highway 277 will be erected over south Concho river near San Angelo.

U. S. Highway 90 which had recent reconstruction in sections between San Antonio and Uvalde is listed for work between Richmond and Sugarland, from Waelder to Fayette county boundary, between Seguin and the San Marcos river, between Brackettville and Uvalde county, for 8½ miles near the Hondo river and between the Uvalde fish hatchery and Kinney county. Three miles of work at Orange is also listed.

U. S. Highway 181 is to have 15 miles of work in San Patricio county.

Other Work Authorized

Grading and culverts will be installed for seven miles of U. S. 271 in Gregg and Smith counties near Gladewater and for five miles northeast of Tyler.

A bridge for U. S. 277 over an unnamed tributary of Devils river.

Ten miles of reconstruction and surfacing of U. S. 281 in Atascosa county and 17 miles in Jim Wells is included in the projects.

Four miles of U. S. 283 between Brownwood and Camp Bowie will be widened and surfaced.

Two miles of U. S. 287 will be widened and surfaced north of Estelline.

Grading, drainage and surfacing will be provided for U. S. 290 for about two miles east of Sonora, and for six miles west of Kerr county including a bridge over Starke creek west of Junction.

Grading, drainage and surfacing for nearly six miles of U. S. 377 near Tolar completes the list that is being submitted for approval.

COTTON GROUP TO MEET

DALLAS, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Texas Cotton association, the nation's largest state shippers organization, will hold it's annual convention here March 21 and 22, association officials decided today.

Whiteface And Sundown Are Adding To School Facilities

WHITEFACE, Feb. 8.—Four new teachers have been employed to take care of the over-crowded condition in the Whiteface public schools as a result of the oil development adjacent to this town. The Whiteface board expects to keep up with the pace of development, as the pool is being extended northwest into Cochran county. A new and larger building will be needed, if the crowd continues to grow. A total of 325 students is enrolled at Whiteface.

Sundown, the mushroom town which has sprung up to an estimated population of about 2,000 since oil was discovered, had only 135 enrolled students last year and most of them were from the farms and ranches. The cotton gin was the biggest business. Over 300 students are enrolled in the Sundown consolidated school and from seven to eight new enrollments are being entered daily. On Monday of the present week, 17 new students entered.

Sundown's teacher staff has been increased to a total of 12, in the last few weeks. A total of eight was employed last year. Another teacher is needed now. There are 11 grades and a high school.

Bond Issue Carries

At a special election held, a bond issue of $115,000 was carried by a vote of 36 for and seven against. The issue provides for a new building of 11 rooms, also the funds will be used to pay off bonds issued against the present building. This issue has 29 years yet to run. Of all the 2,000 estimated residents of Sundown, the total legal votes counted was only 36. Except for newspaper accounts of the election, but few of the oil boomers even knew an election was being held on this school issue.

Whiteface citizens voted unanimously at the meeting of the Development club, to stage a campaign for building new homes for the oil workers, also to try to induce the owners of good hotels and cottages, to move them here. The publicity committee was instructed to contact those with buildings, also to secure lists of workers desiring to move here, for the purpose of helping newcomers get located comfortably.

Sundown Active

Sundown citizens are scheduled to complete their Chamber of Commerce organization, at a meeting to be held Monday night. This body proposes to lay out plans for an oil field city.

Perhaps the most novel scenes almost daily in both Whiteface and Sundown, are the trucks which haul in large frame or stucco buildings for service in the Hockley-Cochran district. Some of the larger hotels were cut into two loads. In the big loads, two trucks were placed on the front and rear, and then the journey was made over dirt roads. Since the graded roads are in condition, it has been possible to make fast time in removal of the oil field buildings.

Traveling "Diners"

C. C. Yeager, pioneer boomer, moved a two-story hotel which has seen service in Goldsmith, Denver City and is now the "Sundown hotel." The ground floor is a second-hand furniture store and the upstairs is a hotel and rooming house. Yeager owns three vacant lots and announces that a tourist court will be erected thereon. He formerly operated the Goldsmith Lumber Co., Goldsmith.

Gaston Bonds, Frank Craddock and Swain Eubanks, truckers from Tatum, New Mexico, moved two houses on one truck, a total distance of 240 miles. This big load almost blocked traffic, on the main street of Whiteface, when a stop was made to get gasoline. The truckers lived in one of the houses, while moving along the paved highway. One of the houses, which saw service in Kermit, Texas, is a two-room building, 12 by 28 feet. The other oil field house, is 12 by 16 feet.

K. W. Witty, employed by the Magnolia Petroleum Co., has moved in four camp houses, near the pavement in Whiteface. All were rented quickly to his fellow workers.

Whiteface citizens are looking forward to the biggest open air show ever staged in western Texas, when the wolf-rodeo is to be staged by the ranchmen and other citizens of this community. In order to protect both life and property of all who participate, it was decided that it would be hazardous, if a free-for-all race was staged, in pursuit of the coyotes and wolves. At the meeting of the Development club, it was unanimously decided that the rodeo, with a large arena where the visitors could see the show from their parked cars, would be the proper thing to do. The wolf catchers, mounted on horses, and dogs which will do the fighting, will perform before the crowd.

After the show, a barbecue will be served on the grounds. J. E. Alexander, of Lubbock, suggested, that Fred Snyder, jr., be invited to act as grand marshal of the day. Lem Brock, of Whiteface, a contractor in the oil field, is to be the chief wolfer, assisted by J. O. Brown, of the Devonian Oil Co., George Flexner, oil worker, Bud Tremmier, B. A. Battenfield and Van Burton, ranchmen. Date for the wolf hunt is to be announced later.

Food Clinics Are Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (U.P.)—Emergency food clinics conducted by Texas clubwomen were proposed today as an aid in the national defense program by Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Walker recently conferred with Milo Perkins, head of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, other Washington officials, and Texas congressmen, concerning the program.

Would Study Diets

The emergency food clinics, Mrs. Walker said, would study average Texas diets and recommend low-cost diets that have adequate food value.

The clubwomen also will seek to extend the federal food stamp program for distributing surplus commodities to each community in the state and to install the WPA school lunch program in all eligible schools of Texas.

Mrs. Walker also announced that a special $25 round-trip bus fare will enable probably 150 Texas clubwomen to attend the triennial General Federation of Women's clubs convention at Atlantic City next May 19-24.

Net Gains Of 2.12 To 2.67 Pounds Daily Registered In Feeding Test At Texas Tech

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A summary of the first and second progress reports on the feeding test of 50 steers at Texas Technological college, showing gains made in the five groups for the first 56 days, has been prepared by W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department of the college and director of the experiment.

The animals went on feed Dec. 4, averaging in weight from 773.6 pounds to 791.4 pounds per pen. At the end of 56 days the average weights ranged from 895.5 to 941.4 pounds, showing net gains of from 2.12 to 2.67 pounds daily.

Average Rations Given

Average daily ration for all five lots was 4.5 pounds of milo head chop; two pounds of alfalfa hay and 1 of a pound of limestone flour. Lots 1 and 2 received four pounds of cottonseed meal daily; lots 2 and 3, three pounds and lot 5, two pounds; lots 1, 3 and 5 received 43.1 pounds of sorghum silage; lots 2 and 4, 17 pounds of cottonseed hulls; lot 1, .042 pounds of salt; lot 2, .089; lot 3, .026; lot 4, .102 and lot 5, .077 pounds.

Total feeds consumed per steer for the periods were: milo head chops, 252 pounds; alfalfa hay, 112 pounds; limestone flour, 5.6 pounds; lots 1 and 2, 224 pounds of cottonseed meal; lots 3 and 4, 168 pounds and lot 5, 112 pounds; lot 1, 2,411.9 pounds sorghum silage; lot 3, 2,415.9 pounds and lot 5, 2,471.2 pounds; lot 2, 953.4 pounds cottonseed hulls and lot 4, 952.7 pounds; salt, lot 1, 2.35 pounds; lot 2, 4.995 pounds; lot 3, 2.45 pounds; lot 4, 5.7 pounds; lot 5, 4.295 pounds.

By pens, total feed costs were, $93.51; $96.88; $84.19; $87.53 and $75.60. Costs per hundredweight gain, were $6.23; $6.43; $5.67; $7.37 and $5.05.

Prices per ton were figured as follows: milo head chop, $14; cottonseed meal, $33.50; alfalfa hay, $14; sorghum silage, $2.50; cottonseed hulls, $7; limestone flour, $7 and salt, $12.

No Need For New Laws, Hillman Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (U.P.) — Associate Director General Sidney Hillman of the Office of Production Management said today that there was no need for new labor legislation because the defense labor situation so far has been "very satisfactory."

"My position is that the situation has been so satisfactory that there is no need to make any changes," he said at his first press conference since his appointment to the OPM.

"If things are satisfactory why make changes?" he asked.

Third Annual Kite Tourney Is Slated

Third annual kite tournament sponsored as part of the city parks recreational project of the Work Projects administration will be held in Mackenzie state park Saturday, March 15, according to announcement Saturday by Mrs. John W. Wilson, project superintendent.

The early setting has been announced, she explained, so that those planning to enter the various events may begin preparations. Usually, she said, some of the kites entered in contests of the past have been of such intricate workmanship that considerable time has been required to build them.

Details of the contest have not yet been made. However, she announced, prizes will be awarded, and divisions of competition will be provided for several different types of kites.

Legislative Activities Increase Tempo But Session Is Not Yet 'Opened Up'

Truck Load Bill Is Introduced

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. — Activities in the Texas legislature increased in tempo this week, but the session has yet to "open up" on its more controversial subjects.

The first major disputed bill to receive committee action was one by Rep. Lon E. Alsup of Carthage to increase the truck load limit according to dimensions of each truck. The house committee on highways and motor traffic recommended the bill's adoption, and sent to a subcommittee a bill by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel calling for a flat increase to 14,000 pounds from the present 7,000-pound load limit.

To Resume Hearings Wednesday

A Senate committee considering the scientific formula load bill will resume its public hearing next Wednesday.

Public hearings will begin Tuesday before the House revenue and taxation committee on tax bills, by which revenue would be raised to care for social security obligations, which Governor O'Daniel termed the sessions' "number one problem."

The Texas State Teachers' association wants to separate its request for state funds to match retirement contributions from the general social security program, but advocates of improving the lot of old age pensioners will insist on keeping the two groups together. A bill to appropriate $3,500,000 a year from the general revenue fund for matching teachers' contributions will be considered Monday by the house appropriations committee.

"Defense" Is Magic Label

"National defense" continued to be a magic label for legislation this week. Committees quickly approved most bills which authors said were needed in the rearmament drive, and the House and Senate suspended rules to send the bills on their way.

The legislature day-by-day:

MONDAY—Bills introduced to have state assume bonds on all military roads in Texas, to punish saboteurs and conspirators, and to regulate manufacture of explosives; senate extended temporary rules for one week.

Governor Signs Bill

TUESDAY — Governor signed first major bill of session, which will reduce Texas employers' unemployment compensation payments by $10,000,000 a year; legislature passed an hour after introduction a bill to permit U. S. government to obtain land it needs for a shipyard at Irish Bend island, Houston; bill to reinstate parimutuel betting on horse races introduced; Senate began its investigation of old age assistance administration, hearing Chairman Marvin Leonard, Fort Worth, of the welfare board.

WEDNESDAY—Legislature passed finally a bill to allow the state to lease Camp Hulen, National Guard cantonment at Palacios, to U. S. war department; House appointed five members to investigate complaints of discrimination against old age pensioners; Dr. Thomas Taylor, Brownwood, member of welfare board, testified before the senate.

House Defense Bill Passed

THURSDAY—Legislature passed bills to authorize Texas home defense units and to allow the state school board to lease surface rights on land needed by the War department; bill introduced to set up a state industrial labor commission with duties similar to national labor relations board; Judge Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge, welfare board member, told Senators that the whole pension administration staff needs re-examining.

FRIDAY—House killed one resolution condemning public statements of Col Charles A. Lindbergh and sent another to a committee; the House passed a bill, which awaits Senate action, to continue Texas' participation in interstate oil compact for two years; J. S. Murchison director of public welfare, said he was "followed" by strangers when he first took office last fall.

Union Sunday School To Benefit Boys' Club

Approximately 1000 men are expected to attend the union Sunday school meeting of the Downtown Bible class to be held in the Palace theater building next Sunday, officials of the meeting said Saturday.

Dr. J. M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences at Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker.

The meeting includes all the men's Sunday school classes of Lubbock. Officials said that as many as 1500 have attended past meetings.

All contributions will go to the building fund of the Lubbock Boys' club, according to directors of the club.

Englishman Sentenced To Death By Germans

BERLIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—A 28-year-old Englishman, Percy William Olaf de Wet, whom the Germans called "a brave and curious man," was sentenced to death today by the peoples court after a two-day secret trial on a charge of being a spy in French pay.

Germans said his guilt had been proved beyond question, but that he would face the firing squad with many perplexities unsolved.

CASUALTIES ARE REPORTED

BERLIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—Informed sources said today 35 persons were killed in the RAF raid on Duesseldorf, Ithineland industrial city, on the night of Feb. 4-5.

Freedom Issue Soft-Pedaled

BY RODOLFO L. NAZARENO
United Press Staff Correspondent

MANILA, Feb. 8—The National Assembly which opened here Jan. 27 has concentrated its attention on numerous pressing problems of the country, arising from the world crisis.

The session is the assembly's last, as a bicameral legislature—to be called Congress—and will take over legislative duties after this year's elections, in accordance with one of the Philippines constitutional amendments recently approved by President Roosevelt.

Outstanding among Philippine problems, mainly attributed to unsettled world conditions, is the diminution of government, revenues, attributed chiefly to declining customs collections. The partial paralysis of international commerce, owing to the shortage of ships, also has affected the country. The boost in freight rates has been effectively felt by Philippine industry, particularly the sugar industry, which already faces chaos as a result of the application of an export tax on sugar entering the United States.

Security Foremost Topic

With the independence question apparently a closed issue, the country's defense requirements demand increasing attention. With conditions in the Far East showing no signs of improvement, the question of Philippine security after the United States withdraws in 1946 is expected to be tackled with redoubled vigor.

Many assemblymen reportedly favor a long-range plan to link Philippine economy to that of the Western Hemisphere. Under the plan, the Philippines would be placed within the economic orbit of the Western Hemisphere. Some assemblymen are said to be willing to send goodwill missions to American republics to cultivate commercial relationships.

Speaker Jose Yulo of the Assembly, who returned recently from the United States, where he worked for President Roosevelt's approval of the constitutional amendments, is reported in legislative circles to have brought back an "encouraging picture" of the Philippine position in the light of the international situation.

A "masterly analysis" of the Philippine situation was made by the speaker before a secret meeting of about 40 assemblymen shortly after his return. Details of the talk were kept secret, but one assemblyman indicated that according to Yulo "we have nothing to fear as to the future of the Philippines."

Move Believed Weakened

As a result of Yulo's unrevealed declarations, some proponents among assemblymen of a "realistic re-examination" of the Philippine question, intimated by former High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, have withdrawn from the re-examination movement.

Assemblyman Prospero Sanidad of Ilocos Sur, a former "re-examinationist," declared that Yulo's declarations convinced him the best course for the Philippines is to stick to the Tydings-McDuffie (Independence) act.

However, the chief advocates of the re-examination move, Assemblymen Jose E. Romero of Oriental Negros and Narciso Ramos of Pangasinan, have refused to give up their crusade. Ramos declared that Yulo's confidential disclosures regarding the Philippine problem did not turn counter to the aims of the re-examinationists. Ramos added that a re-examination still would be feasible, particularly in view of present conditions in the Far East.

Romero and Ramos indicated that, while they would not make an issue of the re-examination plan, they would defend it should it be presented to the electorate as an issue against them.

Father Of North Dakota's First Quads Is Going To Have To Build An Addition To His Home; Infants Showered With Gifts

FARGO, N. D., Feb. 8. — Nick Brown, with a smile as big as his big face, one fist full of cigars and the other full of handshakes, had heard the question 20 times if he'd heard it once since Thursday.

"Nick, what did you say when they told you you had four new kids?"

Nick's smile grew bigger!

"Boy, I didn't say a dang thing. I just looked."

Through a glass window as two nurses scurried about, he looked at a girl and three boys to whom his 37-year-old reddish-haired wife gave birth between 1:10 and 1:15 p. m., Thursday in St. John's hospital.

Family Is Doubled

That doubled the Brown family. They have four other boys, ages 16 months, 3, 10 and 12 years. "Seven boys to get a girl," laughed Nick.

Nick, who's about 40 and runs a farm and filling station, thought of their four-room house on the wheatlands near Leonard, N. D., 30 miles southwest of here and mused:

"Nick, I guess you're gonna have to build an addition."

Mother Glad They're O. K.

In another hospital room, tired but happy and in good health was the tall, slender mother. She smiled faintly and murmured she was glad it was over and that "they're all right." They came a month prematurely.

Immediately placed in separate incubators and attended constantly by shifts of two nurses who fed them by bottle, the babies cried lustily.

Since last Dec. 3, when Mrs. Brown entered the hospital, she and her middle-aged physician, Dr. J. F. Hanna, had known through x-ray the possibility she would bear quarruplets—a once in the millions birth.

Receive Advertising Offers

Before they were 24 hours old North Dakota's first quardruplets were showered with gifts and offers for advertising contracts.

As the quads gained strength in their incubators their parents, received their first offers.

A newsreel company asked permission to film them.

A baby food company — which made its first offer less than two hours after the quads were born yesterday — wanted to use their names in advertising.

A manufacturer of baby cribs sent two attorneys to confer with the quadruplets' physician — Dr. J. F. Hanna.

Can't Decide On Names

There was so much excitement that the parents were unable to decide on names for the infants who weighed from three pounds, 12 ounces, to four pounds, 10 ounces at birth.

Dr. Hanna planned to aid the father in studying the commercial offers. The Browns are in "modern circumstances," a friend said, but it seems likely they will need financial assistance to raise the quadruplets.

Blitzkrieg Troops Of America To Train

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 8. (AP) Alaska, come spring, will see the army trying out blitzkrieg tactics, but all in a peacetime way.

Admittedly similar to German army units but patterned, Fort Richardson officers said, on plans worked out by military technicians long before the present war, a group known as a "blitzkrieg" unit will get workouts over and through the nearby countryside. Its official name is "reconnaissance unit."

Capt. R. G. Emery, battalion commander, said today the detachment was aimed to be able to move quickly, while facing heavy odds, as a "spearhead" in defense maneuvers.

Churchill To Speak To World Sunday

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill will broadcast over the British Broadcasting corporation home and overseas services on Feb. 9 at 9 p. m. (2 p. m. Central Standard time), it was announced tonight.

(The address will be carried in the United States by the NBC and Columbia networks.)

Enrollments Are To Start On Monday

Enrollments will start Monday for an engineering defense training course in productive engineering at Texas Technological college, according to announcement Saturday by Oscar A. St. Clair, professor and head of the department of industrial engineering.

Hopes are to start instructions the following Monday, St. Clair said.

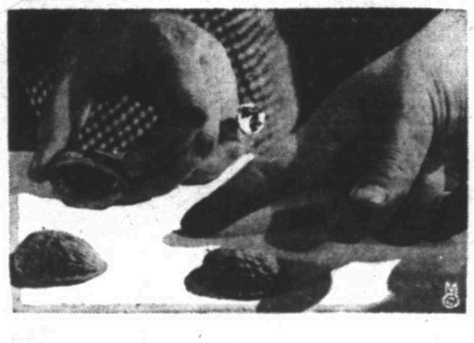

Eligible for enrollment, he added, are those who have completed three years of college engineering work or the equivalent. There is no age limit on those who may take the course, but the class will be limited to 15 members. St. Clair invited those desiring to enroll to confer with him.

The course will provide training in the managerial, budgetary control, timing and motion and tool designing phases of engineering, he said. Instruction costs will be borne by the government, but those enrolled must pay their own incidentals and living cost.

The government is to supply the equipment the college will require in giving the course, consisting chiefly of fine cameras for time-and-motion photography, St. Clair said.

Treasury Establishing Special Unit To 'Watchdog' Foreign Assets In U. S.

'Frozen' Funds To Be Watched

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. — The treasury is establishing a special unit to serve as "watchdog" over assets in this country which are controlled directly or indirectly by foreign interests, especially those of totalitarian countries, it was learned today.

It will be a part of the treasury's monetary research division.

Sources close to the treasury said the unit might very well be the forerunner of a such-discussed new government agency for economic defense to cope with totalitarian economic tactics abroad.

To Have Investigative Functions

While the new unit ostensibly would be a research organization, it will have certain investigative functions.

A government official not connected with the treasury, but familiar with certain phases of its activities, said the new organizations would maintain a continuing study to determine, among other things:

1. What foreigners are doing with their money here.
2. The sources of these funds.

Special License Necessary

At present, the treasury exercises control over funds here of German-invaded countries, including Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium and France. These funds are "frozen" and a special treasury license is necessary before withdrawal is permitted. German funds and those of other belligerent powers, do not come under such control although treasury officials are considering extending the "freezing" policy to them.

An official explained that the need for the research or investigative group—whose personnel already is being selected—was highlighted recently by evidence of a transfer of Russian funds in this country to German control.

Money Said Exchanged

(The Dies committee on un-American activities recently revealed that its investigation showed as much as $250,000 a month was being exchanged between the two countries through New York banks. Rep. E. E. Cox, D., Ga., charged yesterday, in connection with this phase of the committee's inquiry, that a number of U. S. government employes have invested sums up to $10,000 in Russian bonds.)

Furthermore, the official said, there was a good deal of official curiosity as to what the soviet is doing with funds obtained from the sale of goods here, and where it is getting money to make certain types of purchases in this country.

Few Nations Have Facilities

He pointed out that there are few nations now which have facilities such as those in the United States for the inner-country exchange of assets.

The new unit, he said, might be useful in seeking information regarding the source of funds for financing foreign propaganda in this country; whether the money is coming from abroad or is being furnished by domestic interests.

He said that if the axis powers were victorious, the suggested government agency for economic defense actually might have to be one for "economic warfare."

Production Credit Officers Re-Elected

Directors of Lubbock Production Credit association re-elected Earl Davis of Acuff president, Roy Fitzgerald of Plains vice president, Lee F. York secretary-treasurer and W. E. Melton, jr., assistant secretary-treasurer, it was announced Saturday.

Both Davis and Fitzgerald were reelected to membership on the executive committe of the organization.

Stockholders Friday afternoon had elected C. E. Hicks of Meadow as a director, for a three-year term. Holdover directors are Davis, Roy Sherman of Seminole, Fitzgerald and G. C. Keith of Whiteface.

Rolls For Tech Night Extension Classes To Close This Week

Class rolls in night extension courses will be closed this week, J. F. McDonald, director of the extension division at Texas Technological college, announced Saturday.

McDonald said four courses, open to both undergraduates and townspeople, will be closed: Spanish 131, Business Administration 4316, Education 3316-17 and History 437.

Enrollment fee is $15 for each course, and applicants will be accepted through the week, McDonald said. Postdated checks will be accepted, he added.

Spanish 131 is beginner's Spanish, designed especially for business and professional men and women. Taught by Prof. A. B. Strehli, the class meets Monday and Thursday nights, 7:00-8:30, in room 210 of the administration building. Enrollment in the course is limited to 20.

Business Administration 4316 is a course in government accounting. Application of accounting principles to budgets of local, county, state and federal units is studied. Students majoring in economics and business administration, and teachers of business subjects in high schools will be welcomed, McDonald said. The class meets once a week, Tuesday night, 7-10, in room 219 of the administration building. Prof. Reginald Rushing is instructor in the course.

Practice teaching is the work of Education 3316-17, taught by Prof. J. T. Shaver Tuesday nights, 7-10, in the administration building, room 216. The course is open to students majoring in education and teachers in service. Practice will be in the schools where teachers are employed, as far as practical.

Last of the courses offered, History 437 is the first half of nineteenth century United States history. Dr. S. S. McKay is instructor in the class, which meets one night a week, Tuesday, 7-10, in the administration building, room 214.

Clossin To Instruct WPA Dance Classes

Jimmy Clossin, El Paso dance instructor who has just completed a week's course in American country dancing in cooperation with the Texas Technological college women's physical education department, will teach classes Tuesday and Wednesday in Lamesa and Thursday and Friday in Stamford, it was announced Saturday.

Clossin, five years a county recreation project supervisor with the Works Projects administration, has conducted classes attended by an estimated total of 20,000 adults and 10,000 children, ages four to 75, it was said.

He will conduct classes in the Amarillo and San Angelo classes after this week. He will give classes for the public the nights he is in Lamesa and Stamford.

Pensioner Fined For Cruelty To Animals

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8. (AP) — Miss Edna Chase, 66, was fined $22.50 by Magistrate E. J. Myers, on a charge of cruelty to animals after she admitted she had kept herself, 18 dogs and 15 cats on a $30-a-month old age pension.

Pleading she was a lover of animals, she said she had picked up some of the dogs and cats as strays and others had been given to her by friends.

A veterinarian testified the dogs and cats were suffering from malnutrition and most of them were incurable.

WINANT CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — The Senate foreign relations committee approved late Friday the nomination of John G. Winant to be ambassador to Great Britain. The full Senate still has to confirm the nomination.

The organization has offices in Lubbock National bank building.

Airport Work Starts Monday

Approximately 200 men are scheduled to report for duty at Municipal airport Monday for start of the $325,000 national defense improvement project there, according to announcement Saturday by district officials of the Work Projects administration.

Work was scheduled to start during the past week, but was delayed while officials of the city and WPA continued the "round up" of men and equipment for the project.

Before the end of the week, officials said, equipment on the job will consist of approximately 40 trucks, caterpillars, and three or four graders. The city commission recently authorized the purchase of a new caterpillar and two graders at a total cost of approximately $17,000 for use on the project.

The first work will consist of grading, stripping the top soil along the 150 foot strips where runways are to be constructed and the placing of caliche base. Pits containing all the caliche needed have been located approximately 400 yards from the scene of operations on land belonging to J. E. Vickers, local attorney.

Eight-inch Thickness

The caliche base is to be compacted to a thickness of eight inches, and upon its approximately two inches of asphalt and crushed rock will be laid. Three runways are to be constructed, each 150 feet in thickness and ranging in length from 4,800 feet to 5,800.

J. O. Jones, district manager of the WPA, reported that the WPA part of the work will be done under the general supervision of W. E. Burke, district director of operations, with R. L. Thurman the superintendent on the job.

The city's part of the operations will be under the general supervision of Marlin R. Smith, jr., city engineer, with Billy Clark, sr., superintendent, directly in charge.

The city's part of the cost of the project will be approximately $78,000. The WPA will pay the remainder.

Levelland Building Permits Set Record

LEVELLAND, Feb. 8. (Special) — Building permits issued in January totaled $25,345, reflecting Levelland's largest month of residence construction and indicating the new tendency being paced by oil development in the Duggan-Slaughter field in the southwest section of Hockley county.

Residences sprang up in all sections of Levelland.

One homeowner said he was repairing his roof and no less than 25 persons sought to rent the house.

New business locations also are being constructed to accommodate influx of new retail establishments, and other business places are being repaired and renovated.

January's building total is particularly impressive when compared with the $2,000 in permits issued in January of 1940.

Business men have estimated there must be at least 50 more residences built before demands are met.

Control Of Seas To "Determine History"

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 8. (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox told naval academy graduates Friday that "control of the high seas will determine the next century's history" and forecast "a slave world subject to the imperial will of ruthless dictators" if this control should pass "to those who support the totalitarian theory of government."

In the "shadow of another irreconcilable world conflict," he said the 396 graduates must accept the responsibility of "contributing your all, if need be, to the defense of your liberties."

Seventy-Seven Occupations Or Professions Followed By 593 Draftees Inducted Here In January; Most Of Them Were Farmers

Seventy-seven occupations or professions were followed by the 593 men who were inducted into army service for a year, through the Lubbock induction office in January, according to Lieut. Phillip C. Rawlins in charge of the induction work.

Of the total number, 239 were farmers, or 40 per cent. None other occupations had more than 10 each; truck drivers, 43; laborers, 40; clerks, 27; mechanics, 25; ranch hands, 20; cooks, 17; service station attendants, 13; oil field workers, 13 and salesmen, 11.

The Butcher, The Baker . . .

There were nine carpenters, as many bookkeepers and seven each of electricians, power line construction men and butchers. Five men were students.

There were four each of, compress workers, postal employes, bank cashiers, drug clergs, tractor drivers and welders; three each of lawyers, school teachers, newspaper reporters, dairy hands and painters.

Two each were from the following, construction workers, plumbers, bottling plant workers, car salesmen, machinists, warehousemen, railway brakemen, bricklayers, dishwashers and geologists.

A Dock Foreman?

Thirty-eight occupations were represented by one each, blacksmith, janitor, messenger boy, chemist, baker, refinery workers, dock foreman, safe owner, photographer, WPA recreation leader, agricultural agent, laboratory technician, telephone engineer, stenographer, steel workers, tailor, petroleum engineer, policeman, boiler maker, tire repairman, telegraph operator, soda clerk, smelter workers, stereotyper, glazer, pianist, paperhanger, engineer, insurance agent, location inspector, railroad section hand, shoe salesman, sheet metal worker, cleaner and presser, cafe waiter, radio technician, geophyscist and florist.

Officers To Meet In Levelland Tuesday

LEVELLAND, Feb. 8. (Special) — Sheriffs and other officials will gather from a wide section of West Texas and eastern New Mexico Tuesday when Levelland plays hosts to an all-day gathering of West Texas Law Enforcement association.

Registration of the officers and visitors will be prior to a business session in the district courtroom.

At noon the group will be served luncheon at the American Legion hall, where an expected 200 guests will assemble.

Sheriff B. L. Parker of Tahoka is president of the group. He said invitations had been sent to members and numerous visitors.

Winant To Leave For England In 10 Days

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters Friday that John G. Winant probably would leave for England, where he will be the new United States ambassador, in about ten days.

Asked about the background of the appointment of the former governor of new Hampshire, which was sent to the Senate for confirmation yesterday, the president said that Winant had a lot of experience that fitted him for the job.

While conceding that there has to be some discussion of politics and of Democrats and Republicans, the chief executive said it was a mistake to stress in news stories that Winant was a Republican.

The president declared that his newly designated ambassador had been appointed because he was an American. He added that he thought there was a nice distinction there and that he could have said the same thing had he named a Democrat.

University Of Iowa Co-Eds Can Expect To Be Old Maids

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 8. (AP)—Prof. George Haskell popped this question to University of Iowa coeds in his class:

"How much would you require a prospective husband to be earning before marrying him?"

Eighty-five per cent demanded $2,500 a year.

"Well," Haskell said, "less than 15 per cent of the income receivers in the nation earn more than $2,500 a year. So about 85 per cent of you can expect to be old maids."

Austin Leading State Building

(By The Associated Press)

A new University of Texas music department building requiring a permit for $475,185 gave Austin this week's lead in the Texas building parade.

The capital city issued a total of $536,102 in permits the past seven days. Houston was second with $237,390, which boomed its total for the year to $2,241,465.

Building permit totals for the week and for thus far during the year from various representative Texas cities included:

City	Week	Year
Austin	$ 536,102	$ 839,683
Houston	237,290	2,241,465
Corpus Christi	161,638	1,362,642

Inspection Tours Are Planned By Group

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP) — To determine conditions at state institutions first hand, the house of representatives committee on eleemosynary and reformatory institutions has mapped out tours of inspection.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of Rep. M. A. (Bill) Bundy of Wichita Falls, was enlivened by a discussion of conditions at the Waco State home.

Rep. Gordon Davis of Waco asserted corrective measures should be applied to eliminate complaints of nearby residents of occasional property damage. He said also he had learned girls from the institution had met boys from the city outside the home's grounds.

Fort Worth To Send Boosters

Young business men of Fort Worth will turn cowboys this week when they ride out, 60 strong, in two chartered buses to invite West Texans to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, opening March 7.

They will present a musical program, attend a stag party and spend the night here Thursday.

Jaycees Sponsor Trip

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at Fort Worth will sponsor the first of six goodwill trips for the stock show.

Howard Collins, general chairman, announced in a letter to Arlie Crites, president of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, that the show envoys would arrive in Lubbock at 6:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon from Lorenzo.

Music and other entertainment will be provided by the Jaycees choral club of which Sam Crow is chairman, and by Tommy Thompson's cowboy band. Music will be interspersed with important announcements about points of interest at the stock show and world-famed rodeo. Boyce House, widely-known West Texas newspaperman, will make the trip as special days director of the stock show. The program will be near Lubbock hotel, where visitors have made reservations.

Cotten Is Director

The tour will be directed by Charles G. Cotten, manager of the trade extension department of the chamber of commerce.

Crites said the stag party would be at Lubbock Country club, where the American Business club had made prior plans for such a party.

"So the ABC members simply allowed us to swing the entire party for benefit of the Jaycees, the ABC and visitors," Crites said.

The Lubock stop will be the only overnight stay on the trip.

Another Contingent Of Fliers In England

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Feb. 8. (AP)—Another contingent of Canadian, Australia and British graduates of the commonwealth air training scheme, mainly sergeant pilots, has arrived in England from Canada after a stormy crossing.

The only sign of danger encountered, one of the men said, was a mine spotted 30 yards from the ship at the height of the storm. Sharpshooters tried to detonate the mine, but their aim was spoiled by the motion of the ship.

Draftee Gets Right To Join Brothers

CAMP BOWIE, Feb. 8. (AP) — Joe Palmeri, jr., trainee from Corsicana, Tex., insisted to officials at the reception center here that he wanted to join battery D., the 132nd field artillery.

Officers wished to know why and Palmeri said:

"I have three brothers in that outfit and I want to serve with them."

He will rejoin them Tuesday.

FEET HURT

FOOT BALANCE INDICATOR

We know—A good, well fitted shoe is not always the answer to FOOT RELIEF. It takes more than that—you must have BALANCE as well. You must have foot balance in order to have body balance. If you are out of balance, you are in a constant strain at all times when you are on your feet. The result is your feet hurt, your legs ache, your back hurts, and you begin to think you have rheumatism, arthritis, or lumbago.

We have the Roberts Posture Check and Foot Balance machine, the only one of its kind in Texas. This machine gives us accuracy, precision; it enables us to balance your weight properly, distribute your weight in your feet as nature intended. We often find people who are carrying from 10 to 50 pounds more weight on one foot than on the other. The reason? One leg shorter than the other, in-rolling ankles, weak feet will cause it. The result? Your body warps, you get curvature of the spine and you hurt all over. Stand before a mirror in your bare feet, see if your ankles roll inward. Notice if one shoulder droops lower than the other. If your entire body is warped, you are out of balance. Let us check your balance now, and show you the result. For complete foot relief, Balance, Corrections, Treatments, also Health Spot Shoes, and Dr. M. W. Locke Shoes, visit Dr. H. C. Wright, Registered CHIROPODIST, with 26 years experience in the treatment and CORRECTION of FEET, in charge. Consult with him, no obligation. At—

Lawson Little Burns San Antonio Snow With A 62 To Take Texas Open Lead

National Champ Is 9 Under Par In Second Round

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 8. — Bulky W. Lawson Little plodded along in snow, deep slush and eventual sunshine on his fifth wedding anniversary today to create one of golf's alltime masterpieces—a nine-under-par 62.

Incredible under the conditions, fantastic except to some 1,500 bundled addicts who slipped and slid at his heels, the National Open champion's 31-31—62 tied the P.G.A. 18-hole open tournament competitive record—put him three shots ahead of the Texas Open field at 36 holes with a 136 total.

Hogan Is Second

It tied a round shot in the Oakland Open last month by pokerfaced little Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., and it was Ben Hogan who trailed him in second place today with 69-70—139.

Ill luck on the last four holes cost Hogan a chance to take the lead, despite Little's wizardry. Bogies caught him at the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth holes, a lost ball in deep grass in the rough causing his grief at the fifteenth.

Nine one-putt greens, every one for a birdie, were included in Little's perfect round of golf. He hit every green in par figures, used only 27 putts.

Oliver Speaks

Pudgy Ed (Porky) Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., posted a respectable par 71 in the muck, stroked his chin when Little's last putt rattled the cup and commented:

"The most perfect round of golf I have ever seen played—under any conditions."

Snow flakes were whirling when Little tucked his long pants inside flaming red socks and started bareheaded from the first tee. Snow was played as casual water, players were permitted to lift balls from embedded positions in the rough and fairways.

Suddenly the snow halted, the wind heightened and the sun shone. It was Texas weather at it's fickle best. Little barely missed birdie putts on the first and second holes.

His birdie putts ranged from two feet to 35 feet, but seven of the nine were under 10 feet. He was simply a machine pumping iron shots dead to the pins.

Nelson Shoots 71

Tied for third position at 140 were Johnny Dawson, the Hollywood amateur whose 68 led the field yesterday, and Slammin' Samuel Jackson Snead, Hot Springs, Va. Snead came tearing in with a 68 to bracket with yesterday's 72.

Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., was around in 68 for a 141 total. One shot behind him was National P.G.A. champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, with a pair of 71s.

Back to 144 the field jumped, a group that included Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C.; Bud Williamson, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., and Emery Zimmerman, Portland, Ore.

Other scores included:

Tod Menefee, San Antonio, 71-74—145.
Ralph Guldahl, Chicago, Ill., 71-74—145.
Willie Goggin, Miami, Fla., 74-71—145.
Jim Demaret, Houston, 73-72—145.
John Revolta, Evanston, Ill., 73-72—145.
Henry Ransom, Ft. Worth, 74-71—145.
Ed Dudley, Bala, Pa., 73-72—145.
Dick Metz, Oak Park, Ill., 70-75—145.
E. J. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., 72-74—146.
Jim Thomason, Chicopee, Mass., 73-73—146.
Phillip George, Austin, 72-74—146.

Jenkins May Fight Philadelphia Negro

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—Impressed by the debut Bob Montgomery made in Madison Square Garden, Promoter Mike Jacobs today offered the Philadelphia negro an over-the-weight ten round fight with Lightweight champion Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas, in Madison Square Garden March 21.

Montgomery outpointed Al Nettlow, Detroit welterweight, in a hard-fought eight-round semi-final to the Ernie Vigh-Billy Soose bout last night.

Plains Lions Cagers Beats House Of David

PLAINS, Feb. 8. (Special)—The Plains Lions club team tonight defeated House of David, 39 to 38, in a thrilling contest.

Glovers Ready For "State"

By Collier Parris

PICTURED ACROSS THE TOP of this page are the "after-the-tournament" faces of champions of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's fifth annual District Golden Gloves tournament. They are the boys who'll represent the South Plains section, District 13, in the State Golden Gloves tournament starting at the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum, Fort Worth, next Thursday night. The State tournament is sponsored by the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

With possibly one exception, the champions pictured above are "popular" champions; the decisions awarded them in the district championships Friday night appeared to meet with almost unanimous approval except in the welterweight division, where Dale Odam, Lubbock High school athlete and a fine little boxer, made a great stand against the defending champion, Howell Steen, a boy several years older but who has not been fighting but a year longer than Odam. The decision turned in by two of the three judges was greeted by considerable booing—the first real booing of the 30-bout program, and that's a pretty good record for the judges.

This writer, who did his best to help promote a good tournament and who believes it was the best tournament ever conducted under similar name and circumstance, takes no sides in the Steen-Odam issue because we didn't see the fight. At the time, we were busy as triplets in the dressing room getting the previous winners acquainted with the "red tape" that goes with preparations for the trip to Fort Worth and the State tournament. We heard the booes, of course, and hunched our shoulders in shivering fright and disappointment. Not disappointment at the decision, but disappointment in the reaction thereto. Things had moved along so nicely, without interruptions, injuries or imprecations, that we thought the organization was almost perfected at last. But there are a lot of ways of seeing a fight.

ALL WE ARE INTERESTED in right here is thanking every boy who ultimately entered and competed in the tournament, and congratulating every winner, commending every loser—and thanking the cash customers and all others who helped make the tournament a success.

And it was a success, artistically and financially; although a little short of the 1940 tournament's cash income, it was a greater boxing show, as advertised. The boys knew more about what they were about; they were in better shape physically, and apparently more acutely interested in reaching the top.

The show would have been much better from an attendance standpoint had a larger arena and more seating space been available. As it was, we are entirely grateful to Mr. Clyde Trusty for use of his Cotton club, certainly a fine amusement hall for this city and its neighbors, during the tournament. The place simply isn't large enough to accommodate all the fans who'd like to see the Golden Gloves, and we certainly hope that another year will see Lubbock outfitted with a bigger place.

(We see by the papers that a couple of independent, semi-pro basketball clubs are going to play a game in the Texas Tech gymnasium next Tuesday night. Power to them, and congratulations! But we can't understand how they got "sponsored" or how they got permission to use that sanctified place. We had been given to understand that no entertainment or sporting event could be held on Texas Tech soil unless it was purely a college affair, or at least an intercollegiate or interscholastic affair. Efforts, for weeks, had been made to place the Golden Gloves tournament in the gymnasium, the "natural" site of the city, but IT'S BUSINESS! The financial benefit to the college would have painted the entire gymnasium, inside and out—or would have paid enough to give two jobs, possibly more, to athletes during the football season).

Anyway, the Gloves show is over for another year. We hope every boy who entered will think about next year's show, and be prepared for it. If he prepares for it, he'll be a better man for the preparing. The training and exercising and practice, clean living and habits necessary, can't help but make him a better man. They do it in other sections of the state, where Golden Gloves is popular — and they win state championships by doing it. One of the principal purposes of the Gloves, anyway, is to encourage young men to take care of their bodies and strive to attain the best in physical well being.

THE DISTRICT TEAM which goes to the state tournament this week counts several young men who train the year-round. They're going up against other young men who train the year round. The state tournament is a tough proposition for any district winner, because the fighters who go there are the best physically prepared men in the state, although not always the best boxers.

From flyweight through heavyweight, the Lubbock district team this year is better balanced than ever before, and it has a couple of stand-out performers, possibly three, who may get places in the state event. Curtis Lebow is going back to Fort Worth for the third time—twice as the flyweight champion, now as the bantam, and he may get along. Likewise, young Buford Bradshaw, the featherweight, winner of the district TAAF tourney last summer and one of the most improved boxers on the Plains, may do some cutting up at Fort Worth.

We look for tough Howell Steen, who has been there once before, to cut a caper, and maybe a face or two, in the State tourney. He is an unpopular boxer here because of his ring tactics, but he's tough as a boot and knows how to wear his opponent down. Jack Lovin, probably the most consistent winner of the Plains section this season, because of quick knockouts in all his fights so far, may go to town, but the middleweight division is one of the toughest in the State tournament. Until

Paraffin Face For Cardinal

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 8. (AP) A paraffin face will front for Jimmy Brown come April and the St. Louis Cardinals' race for the National League pennant.

A sizzling grounder hit Brown in the face last summer. Surgeons removed more than 100 pieces of shattered bone, rebuilding with paraffin the bridge of the nose and antrun surface.

The North Carolinian who may take over Pepper Martin's old post at third base, isn't gun shy about going back to the hot corner.

"Who's Coach" Guessing Game Moves To Waco

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Feb. 8—Another guessing contest began in Texas today, revolving around Baylor university's football coaching situation.

It really was not another contest, but the guessers merely had moved from Texas Tech where it was considered an "open secret" that Baylors' Morley Jennings would become athletic director and Dell Morgan, Rice line coach, would become head coach.

Resignation of Jennings as head mentor at Baylor brought on the change in locale for the forecasters.

Those they first pounced upon were Tiny Thornhill, former Stanford coach, and Francis Schmidt, resigned coach at Ohio State. These two reportedly had made inquiries concerning the vacancy.

However, close Baylor followers were of the opinion that the job would go to Jack Sisco, coach of North Texas State.

May Decide Soon

No date has been set for the meeting of the Baylor athletic committee to consider the coaching situation, but President Pat M. Neff said he was hoping a selection could be made within the next few days.

Neff said a large number of applications from men in Texas and all over the country had come in since Morley Jennings resigned his post Thursday. These will be turned over to the athletic committee of the Baylor board of trustees and they will discuss the situation at their next meeting.

Oklahoma City Nine Changes Camp Site

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8. (AP) — Owner John Holland said today the Oklahoma City Indians had cancelled their reservations for spring baseball practice at Tyler, in favor of Atlanta, Tex.

Holland said he decided on the shift because positive assurance of a Tyler playing field was not provided under a deadline set for today.

"Tyler will have a splendid field eventually," he commented, "but we just couldn't take a chance on that infield. I don't see how it would be possible to have it available by our March 10 camp date."

Recent heavy rains brought work on the Tyler project practically to a standstill.

May Play At Tyler

Holland said changing of the camp site would have little effect on the exhibition schedule. He added that a two-game set with Little Rock may be switched to the Arkansawyer's field. He added that the Indians might still help dedicate the Tyler field March 26 with Tulsa's Oilers—"if there is a Tyer field."

At the same time Holland announced the sale to Wilmington, Del., of Joseph Burns, third baseman who jumped the club early last year — returned — then jumped for good.

Fish Hatcheries Show Increase In Stocking

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Texas fish hatcheries placed 7,454,962 fish in Texas lakes and streams in 1940, Will J. Tucker, executive secretary of the state game and fish commission reported here today.

The production is an increase of 2,000,000 over 1939. Fourteen species were supplied, rock bass being added to previous supplies.

He Knew The Cop Wasn't Kimbrough— But The Copper Didn't Know Marion Pugh

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—The well-built young man behind the wheel protested.

"Honest, officer, this is my car. It was given to us as a wedding present. I'm Marion Pugh."

"Sure, sure," said the man in blue as he poked his head in to see the young couple. "I'm John Kimbrough and my partner, here, is Bronco Nagurski. Now come along with us; we'll just go down to the police station and talk it over."

The girl blushed and the man fumed.

At the police station the two were booked as "auto-theft" suspects, fingerprinted, morgue shots taken, and "grilled."

That's the story of one of the few losses suffered by Marion Pugh, all-conference quarterback at A. & M. He had just married Miss Helen Ruth Braselton when a prankster—probably another Aggie footballer—telephoned the police and reported a stolen car bearing Pugh's license plates.

After an investigation at the police station it was discovered that Pugh really was Pugh and he was allowed to go on his honeymoon where he is today "somewhere in Texas."

"Forget that stuff about me being Kimbrough," the arresting officer said. "And my partner there, on second thought, he don't look like Nagurski."

Whiskered Wizards Coming!

Farmer And Wolcott May Tangle Again

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Three old friends in the hurdle-running business are invited to meet again at the 14th annual Texas Relays on April 5, Director Clyde Littlefield announced today.

The three are Fred Wolcott, the blond flier from Rice; Boyce Gatewood, University of Texas star who has pushed Wolcott for five years; and Marsh Farmer, best hurdler ever developed at Texas Tech.

All three have finished their college eligibility, but Littlefield, also track coach at the University of Texas, has asked them to participate

FRED WINS AGAIN

BOSTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Fred Wolcott, Rice institute's amazing hurdler, established his third world indoor record in the brief space of a week tonight when he raced 45 yards in 5.6 seconds to defeat Ed Dugger, of Tufts, by a foot in the Boston A. A. meet's timber final at the Boston Garden.

Wolcott clipped a tenth of a second off the former record, originally set by Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist in 1937, and equalled by three others, the last being Dugger here last year.

Last night at Philadelphia the former Rice star lowered the world mark for the 50-yard high hurdles a tenth of a second to 6.1 and a week ago, in the Millrose games at New York, set a new mark of 7.2 seconds for the 60-yard event.

in a special hurdles race during the annual relays here. Gatewood is one of the best hurdlers in the nation. He has never beaten Wolcott but seldom was more than a step behind.

Cheaney Is Starter

Littlefield today named officials for the meet, the first major outdoor track event of the American season. Lawson Robertson, University of Pennsylvania track coach, will be head referee. Robertson is director of the annual Penn Relays and coached the American Olympic teams of 1928, 1932 and 1936.

Joe Bailey Cheaney of Southwest Texas Teachers College, San Marcos, will be head starter at the relays and J. A. (Tiny) Gooch of Fort Worth, head announcer.

University, college, junior college and high school teams throughout the nation will be mailed.

Littlefield's own Texas squad will give the visitors plenty of competition, particularly in sprint events,

Women's Golf Meet Dates Announced

CHICAGO, Feb. 8. (AP) — The Women's Western Golf association announced today that the 1941 Western derby, 72-hole medal play event, would be held at the Medinah Country club, Chicago, Aug. 4-7.

The association awarded the Western Amateur to the Exmoor Country club, Chicago, for the week starting Aug. 18. The Western Open, which begins June 9, was given to the Cincinnati Country club.

Sportsmen, Dog Fanciers Ought To Like This Story

ATLANTA, Feb. 8. (AP)—An Atlanta sportsman took his wife on her first quail shoot in south Georgia.

At the sight of the dogs pointing a covey she was fascinated.

When . . . but it's the story of Atlanta Journal Sports Editor Ed Danforth. Let him tell it:

"When husband and dogs arrived on the ridge she was standing eagerly on one foot. One finger on her left hand was on her lips. With her right hand, she was pointing toward the single bird in the grass.

The husband got the bird. What gets Editor Danforth is this:

Touring Cagers To Be At Tech

The Whiskered Wizards, professional basketballers who specialize in clowning antics on the court and manage to win a majority of their games on the side, make a three-game swing through the South Plains this week.

Starting at Sundown Monday night at 7:15 o'clock, the Wizards play a game there, drive 50 miles to play another game at Cooper High school starting at 9:15 o'clock.

Tuesday night the Wizards play the Dr. Peppers, a local independent team composed of former Texas Tech varsity men and Tech football players, in the Tech gymnasium.

Risinger Is Star

One of the leading players on the touring team is William "Curly" Risinger, member of the Texas Tech varsity for two years before his graduation last year. Risinger was all-Border conference guard in his first year at Tech. Before playing at Tech he played with Cameron Aggies.

Another Wizard well-known to fans of this area is Bob Rich, the playing coach of the team. Rich formerly coached high school teams at Anton and Frenship. In his college days, he played for Texas A. & I., captaining that team in his senior year.

Bob Lofland, former Frenship High player, is the only boy on the club without college experience. Only 18 years old, he has been barnstorming with the Wizards for two seasons, playing over 200 professional games in that time.

Tommy Merrick, one of the Wizard forwards, was twice named All-American AAU forward before he started playing professional ball. In college, he played for the Marysville, Mo., Teachers.

Familiar Dr. Peppers

At Cooper, the Wizards will meet a team composed of outstanding former high school and college players of the area. Bauman Roper, former Texas Tech player and now coach at Frenship High, is one of the players. Others are J. B. Florence, Draw, and Davey Holt, Idalou, both all-district high schoolers last year; Moon Mullins of the Tahoka Orange Crush club, a former all-American player; LeRoy Crews, Tahoka, former Raider; Doyce Barret and Smokey Qualls, both ex-Cooper High players; Red Henderson, Shallowater, and Wallace Ganawa, New Home.

The Dr. Pepper team is composed of Milton Hill, T. L. Gilley, Raymond Flusche, Jack Everett, Eugene Carl, E. J. McKnight and other Texas Tech students.

Frank Guernsey, Once Rice Netter, Drafted

HOUSTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — Frank Guernsey, former Rice institute player who has won national ranking in tennis, said today he had been ordered to report for selective service training March 6.

Guernsey, Orlando, Fla., resident, has applied for service as a flying cadet, and will report at Kelly field in San Antonio Monday for an examination.

As a flying cadet, the former intercollegiate champion would be sent either to Dallas or the West Coast for preliminary training.

STEERS SLATE NORTHWESTERN

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—A game between Northwestern university and the University of Texas football team will be played Oct. 3, 1942, at Evanston, Ill., Coach Dana X. Bible of Texas announced today.

It will be the first meeting of the two teams.

Chicubs Buy Big Interest In Tulsa Club

By EDWARD CURTIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Feb. 8.—The Chicago Cubs have purchased a substantial interest in the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas League, Don Stewart, president of the Oilers, announced tonight.

The Cubs purchased 49½ shares of stock from the estate of the late Art Griggs, former oiler president, for an undisclosed price. Stewart retains 50½ shares and remains in control of the Tulsa team as president and general manager.

Not A Farm?

"We will not be, in any sense of the word, a Chicago farm," Stewart said. "The Cubs merely become partners in the Tulsa baseball team and players belonging to our team will be Tulsa property."

Last year the Chicago National League team entered a working agreement with the Oilers. The Cubs sent their coach, Roy Johnson, to Tulsa as manager and for a time during the season farmed out Dizzy Dean to Tulsa in the hope that the southwest's burning sun would put new spark in his pitching flipper.

And while Diz' arm grew stronger, his drawing power sweetened the Oiler till with the merry music of more cash.

Stewart said the Oilers would continue to work closely with the Cubs and with Los Angeles, another Wrigley club.

Longhorns Begin 1941 Football Practice

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—One of the most promising University of Texas football teams in a decade today was launched on its spring practice program.

Seventy-five candiates reported for the first session Friday afternoon, including almost the entire squad that beat Texas A. & M. in last Thanksgiving's great upset victory, Pete Layden and Jack Crain, the backfield stars, both are eligible for another year of competition.

V. D. Basey of Austin, a guard lost last fall by a stab wound suffered in an altercation after the Oklahoma-Texas game in Dallas, did not report. He will be out of school this semester but retains his eligibility for the 1941 team.

JENKINS HURT IN WRECK

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 8. (AP) — Lew Jenkins, of Sweetwater, Tex., world's lightweight boxing titleholder, received a one-inch cut over the left eye and contusions of the right knee when the car he was driving skidded into a Passaic river bridge today.

Tigers Shove Averill Out

DETROIT, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today announced the outright release of veteran Earl Averill, 37-year old utility man, to make a place on the roster for Walter "Hoot" Evers, newly-signed 19-year old outfielder.

For some time Averill had known his playing days were near an end. "I'm only good for four or five more years," he declared in 1938.

Westerners Win Final Big Five Contest, 37-7

By JOE PIERCE
Avalanche Sports Writer

It wasn't much of a show out at the Senior High gymnasium last night, and there weren't very many people there to enjoy it. But those who did see the Lubbock-Plainview basketball contest are quite convinced the Westerners are going to be hard to beat in the district tournament two weeks hence.

The Westerners won the game easily, 37 to 7, scoring just about as they pleased over the small and inexperienced invaders. Lubbock led 8-2 at the end of the first quarter, 14 to 4 at half time and 25 to 6 at the end of the third period.

The game concluded the Big Five season for the Westerners, with an even record in conference play. Lubbock lost two each to Borger and Amarillo and won two apiece from Plainview and Amarillo.

Nabors Heads Scoring

Season record for the Westerners now is six victories and four defeats. They've been improving steadily since their season opener a month ago, and now must be rated co-favorites to win the district title they've held for two consecutive seasons.

Roland "Tuffy" Nabors and his left-handed pivot shots stole the scoring show. The big blonde hit six field baskets and a couple of extras from the foul line for 14 points. Bob McKinnon was close behind with five and one for 11.

Coach Goober Keyes again swapped his two teams, frequently, substituting five men at a time.

Play Levelland Next

Little Johnny Mason, who was a pain in the neck to the football Westerners, was ditto for the Lubbock five last night. If he'd been a little bigger and there had been several more of him, the game might have been close enough to be interesting. Johnny scored three points for the night, not a very high total but still enough to lead the Plainview scoring.

His field basket was a nifty; the ball was tied in Lubbock's end of the court, and on the jump the Plainview boy batted it far downcourt. Johnny got it on the run and there was nobody close when he laid in the crib.

Next game for the Westerners is on the home court Tuesday night, a return engagement with Levelland. The Black and Gold five played in Levelland last week, defeating the Loboes 33 to 16.

The box score:

PLAINVIEW BULLDOGS (7)	FG	FT	PF	TP
W. Mason, f	0	2	1	2

Rice Announces Grid Schedule For 1941

HOUSTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — Games with three Louisiana teams — Tulane, Louisiana State and Centenary from the inter-sectional character of Rice Institute's 1941 football schedule, announced today.

The Owls open with Sam Houston State Teachers college, a small-school team which upset Rice the last time they met, in 1939.

The complete schedule:

Oct. 4—Sam Houston at Houston (night.)
Oct. 11—Tulane at Houston.
Oct. 18—Louisiana State at Baton Rouge (night.)
Oct. 25—Texas at Austin.
Nov. 1—Centenary at Houston.
Nov. 8—Arkansas at Houston.
Nov. 15—Texas A&M at Houston.
Nov. 22—Texas Christian at Fort Worth.
Nov. 29—Baylor at Houston.
Dec. 6 — Southern Methodist at Dallas.

It has not been determined whether the Tulane game will be played day or night.

Paducah Coach Dies; Burial To Be In Dallas

PADUCAH, Feb. 8. (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for Ab Pruitt, 25, Paducah High school football coach and former Texas conference football and golf star, who died here last night from complications following an appendix operation.

Burial will be at Dallas Monday.

Pruitt played on the Forest Avenue High school baseball and golf team. He was a star back on the Forest football team in 1933 and 1934, winning all-city honors one year.

He played three years of football at Austin college in Sherman, making the all-Texas conference team two seasons. One year he was the leading scorer in the conference. He also won the Texas conference golf championship while attending Austin.

Was Coach At Chillicothe

After graduation from Austin college, Pruitt was appointed coach at Chillicothe High school, serving there in 1938 and 1939. For the 1940 season, he moved to Paducah, where his team won the district and bi-district championships.

Paducah lost only one game last season, that to Phillips in the regional playoff.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Ab, jr.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pruitt; two brothers, Johnny and Billy; three sisters, Miss Helen Pruitt and Mrs. J. B. Hunter of Dallas and Mrs. Katie Rice of Whitesboro.

Morton Takes Crown In Levelland Tourney

LEVELLAND, Feb. 8. (Special)—Flashing further proof of their superiority in South Plains schoolboy cage circles, Morton High's Indians tonight perched the all-West Texas High school basketball tournament crown atop their heads with a 32 to 24 triumph over Idalou.

The two teams are rated in many circles along with Lubbock High's Westerners as favorites to enter the finals of the District Three melee in Lubbock soon.

Consolation honors in the event here were taken by Levelland, a 42 to 21 decision over Denver City turning the trick. Afternoon semi-final scores found Morton edging past Levelland, 20 to 18, and Idalou taking an easy 30 to 18 nod over Denver City.

Three best players of the three-day affair, according to judges naming an all-tournament team, included: Ralph Smith, Idalou; Billy Green, Levelland, and Desmond Monroe, Morton. The other two members were Pat Carter, Levelland, and Leroy Woods, Denver City. The three top players received medals while awards were made to the first four winners in the 11-team field.

Syndicate Is Formed To Buy Boston Bees

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—Confirmation of reports that a syndicate headed by J. A. Robert Quinn is being formed to buy the Boston Bees for about $300,000 was obtained tonight from Quinn and from Max C. Meyer, Brooklyn pearl manufacturer.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees is a member of the prospective syndicate. Two or three other persons will be included in the deal to buy the stock now owend by Charles F. Adams.

Quinn said plans still were a good step from competition and he could not say how soon the deal might be made because some of the money still had to be raised.

Tennis "Gravy Train" Is Virtually Derailed

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—New brakes were applied to the tennis players' "gravy train" today by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

In its annual meeting, the association tightened its by-laws governing expenses a player may receive during the tournament season, closed the chief loophole in the old rule regarding "hospitality" at private homes during a tournament, and put a much narrower allowance on a player's connection with firms dealing in net equipment.

The U.S.L.T.A. re-elected Holcombe Ward as president for the fifth straight year, approved the national rankings which had Don McNeil and Alice Marble at the head of the 1940 lists, and awarded dates and sites for some 40 tournaments, topped off by the national singles championships beginning August 29 at Forest Hills.

Roach, Bradshaw and Steen will leave Lubbock at noon Wednesday with Team Manager H. R. Bundock and Trainer Cliff Caraway and this writer, while the other five will leave Lubbock at noon Thursday.

DUCK HEAVEN—A sky almost blackened by countless thousands of wild ducks, this scene is typical of those to be found on the 5,809-acre reservation of the Muleshoe Wildlife refuge in Bailey county this winter. Serving as a cold-weather resort for approximately 125,000 wild ducks, the reserve was constructed by WPA workers and is operated by the U. S. Biological survey. Guns are barred and as a result thousands of mallards, pin tails, blue wing teal, green wing teal and many other varieties have been sighted this season. In addition, about 250 geese have visited the refuge this winter, according to J. K. Walton, jr., refuge manager. The scene above often is brought about by unusual noises. Two More Teams Added To "AA" Schoolboy Loop

(By The Associated Press)

One hundred and six teams—an increase of two over last year—will play in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football in 1941 under tentative assignments announced Saturday.

Three new school — Colorado, Ennis and Livingston—go into the interscholastic league's highest division, while one-Harlandale (San Antonio)—is dropped to Class A.

Ennis goes into District 10, the Central Texas sector, and Mexia transfers into this district from district 12.

302 Teams In Class A

Class A in 1941 will carry 302 teams and Class B 267. Assignments for six-man football have not been announced by Athletic Director R. J. Kidd.

Next fall they will line up like this in Class AA:

District 1—Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview.

District 3 — Abilene, Big Spring, Colorado, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Sweetwater.

District 4 — Austin (El Paso), Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High, Ysleta.

District 5 — Bonham, Denison, Gainesville, Paris, Sherman.

District 6 — Arlington, Denton, Greenville, Highland Park (Dallas), McKinney, Sulphur Springs.

District 8—Dallas Tech, Forest (Dallas), North Dallas, Sunset (Dallas), Adamson (Dallas), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas).

District 9—Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cisco, Mineral Wells, Ranger, Stephenville.

Ennis New Member

District 10—Bryan, Cleburne, Corsicana, Ennis, Hillsboro, Mexia, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.

District 11—Athens, Gladewater, Kilgore, Longview, Marshall, Texarkana, Tyler.

Gen'l Manager Runs First In San Carlos

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8. (AP)—W. B. Simpson's Gen'l Manager scored a surprising triumph today in the $10,000 San Carlos handicap, while the heavily backed favorite, Mioland, ran to defeat for the first time in five starts in the seven furlong feature race at Santa Anita park before 27,000 turf fans.

The four-year-old son of the great Morvich, which had twice chased Mioland to the wire at Santa Anita this season, found the distance and the heavy going better to his liking and won the sprint by four lengths.

Mioland, backed down to 4 to 5 odds by the bettors, came out fourth in the photo in the blanket finish for the second and third positions. The Valdina farms' Viscounty, closing with a rush, grabbed the place spot by a nose; and the Circle S stable's Hysterical, which set the pace down the back stretch and held it until the turn into the stretch, took third.

Whirlaway Sprints To Hialeah Victory

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8. (AP)—Warren Wright's great chestnut colt, Whirlaway served notice today on other Kentucky Derby hopefuls that he still likes to run in the stretch.

Warming up for bigger races later, Whirlaway broke last in the $1,500 Coconut Grove stakes at Hialeah Park. At the end of a quarter-mile, the other four three-year-olds in the six-furlong dash were closely bunched—eight lengths ahead of the big Kentucky colt.

Then Apprentice Jockey Wendell Eads started to cut down the distance and by the time they entered the stretch Whirlaway was trailing by only four lengths.

Whirlaway came charging down the stretch, much as he raced last year while winning more money than any other two-year-old in the country, and nipped Herbert M. Woolf's Signator at the wire in a photo finish.

The Calumet colt, carrying 117 pounds against 108 for each of the other horses, was a $3.30 for two choice and ran the distance in 1:11 3-5. He paid $2.90 to place and $2.40 to show.

the short relays and sprint medley relay.

Mac Umstattd, half miler, Morris (Red) Barefield, quarter-miler, Lonnie Hill and Fred Ramsdall, 20-yard dash specialists, will form a sprint medley team that is considered capable of equaling the present world record.

Hill, Ramsdell, Charles Roberts, and Carleton Terry form a 440-yard relay team that may be better than last year's quartet, which won at the Drake and Kansas Relays.

Flying Freddie Gets "Outstanding" Award

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8. (U.P.) — Fred Wolcott, a tow-headed Texan from Rice institute, was awarded a trophy today as the outstanding athlete in the fourth annual Penn A. C. indoor track meet as result of twice breaking the world 50-yard high hurdle record.

Wolcott, national hurdles champion, clipped one-tenth of a second from the three-year-old mark formerly held by Alan Tolmich of Wayne university to take the play away from the "name" runners before 7,000 persons here last night.

He skimmed over the bars in his trial heat in 6.1 but meet officials could not recognize the new standard. They were ready for him in the finals, however, and had the necessary number of watches on him when he won the event in identical time.

Vanderbilt Planning "Dream" Horse Race

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP) — The Maryland Jockey club moved today to make the Pimlico special a "super" horse race, bringing together the winners of 24 of the richest and sportiest events in the country for an "All-America" contest.

Under plans announced by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, jockey club president, the winners of 12 of the leading fixtures for three-year-olds and 12 of the most important stakes for older horses will automatically become eligible for the special.

Thus, the "dream race" wihch Vanderbilt has been steadily promoting since 1937 will assume the status of a real national championship event.

Lynn County Tourney Passes Second Round

The second round of the Lynn County round robin basketball tournament was played yesterday in the Tahoka gym.

Next Friday and Saturday the third and fourth rounds of the tournament will be held. The winner of Lynn county will be announced at that time.

Games played yesterday in the girls division were: Draw 9, Wilson 31, Tahoka 39, O'Donnell 11; Draw 8, Wilson 29; and Grassland 20, O'Donnell 22.

Boys games were: Wilson 42, Draw 16; Tahoka 23, O'Donnell 18; Draw 11, New Home 56; T-Bar forfeited to O'Donnell.

FISH PRODUCTION UP

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Production of state hatcheries increased by more than 2,100,000 fish during 1940 over the year previous, Will J. Tucker, secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission, announced today.

Cleveland Taking On Squad Of "Veterans"

CLEVELAND, Feb. 8 (AP)—Something is brewing in the wigwam when the Cleveland Indians practically raid the old men's home twice the same week.

Vice President C. C. Slapnicka explained today it was all due to an "all out" pennant drive.

The Tribe this week purchased 36-year-old Pitcher Joe Heving from the Boston Red Sox, and swapped Joe Humphries, 25, to the Chicago White Sox for Hurler Clint Brown, now nearing 38.

"We're going all out for the pennant," declared Slapnicka. "Barring injuries and the draft, we think we have a splendid chance to win this year. We're not leaving a stone unturned."

Steers Stampede Over Frog Cagers, 58-39

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP) — Texas coasted to a 58-39 victory over the T.C.U. Horned Frogs here tonight in a Southwest conference basketball duel after piling up a commanding lead in the first half.

It was the sixth straight loss for the Purple and the third victory against three defeats for Jack Gray's combine.

The Steers stampeded to a 39-16 advantage at the intermission, dazzling the invaders with superb ball handling and fine goaling. The Texas team was well on its way to a new conference scoring record, despite improvement by T.C.U. until Coach Gray sent his second and third stringers in the last half.

Anicos Run Out Of Competition

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Feb. 8. (AP)—Galveson's Anicos, one of the greatest girls basketball teams of all time, has about run out of competition.

It was not of the Anicos' choosing, because they were deliberately broken up in an effort to whittle down to the size of the opposition.

But it did no good. Today they continue to win and the competition has dwindled until they can't get enough games to make it really interesting.

Team Breaks Up

Time was when the Anicos, a team sponsored by the American National Insurance co., roamed the broad southwest and middle west, running up unbelievable winning streaks and twice capturing the National AAU championship.

But each year it became increasingly difficult to get games close enough to home. So the All-American stars left the squad and this season the team started with new faces at all but two positions.

They were here last night to play the Dallas Hornets and they won 27-18, their seventh victory in eight starts. Who they will meet next is the problem.

Nothing Till Tourney

"We sent out about 25 letters seeking games," said Louis Rivaux, business manager. "We've played all we could get and now there's nothing to look forward to but the State AAU tournament."

Rivaux couldn't understand what had happened to all the girl teams that once played in Texas.

The Anicos were organized in 1935, being then known as the Red Ramblers. They won the National title in 1938 and 1939 and finished third last season. Once they boasted a consecutive winning streak of 66 games.

Porkers Rally To Take 36-31 Win From Bears

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 8 (AP) The Arkansas Razorbacks came from behind twice to reach the halfway mark of their Southwest conference basketball campaign undefeated as they won over the Baylor Bears for the second straight night, 36 to 31.

A band of battling Bruins opened up with a bang and held a 10 to 4 lead over the Porkers, who have won six straight circuit decisions, after seven minutes of play. Three minutes later, however, a free throw by John Adams deadlocked the count for the Porkers at 10-all. Less than a minute later giant John Freiberger looped a one-hand field goal to give Arkansas a two-point advantage.

Vaughn Ties Score

Grady Vaughn gave Baylor new life with five minutes remaining in the opening half with a field goal that again tied the score at 14-14.

Field goals by Frank Bryski and Dwight Parks, the latter individual scoring leader for the second straight night with 13 points, just before the opening half closed, placed the Bears only four points behind, 19 to 23.

Shortly afterward Vaughn was awarded a field goal when the officials ruled Porker Gorden Carpenter jumped into the net and Baylor moved up to within three points of Arkansas. Howard Hickey dribbled in for a field goal to give Arkansas a 29 to 27 midway lead in the closing half.

Bruins Take Lead

Parks took things in hand for the Bears at this point and looped two over-handed goals to give Baylor a 30-29 lead. Less than ten minutes later, however, Hickey's field goal again brought the Porkers the lead.

Mark Belew tied the score again with a free throw but the Bears became over-anxious and fouled Clayton Wynne, who made good his carity toss to give Arkansas a lead they held easily the rest of the way, thanks to field goals by R. C. Pitts and Hickey.

Rockne Trophy Goes To Minnesota Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Knute Rockne Memorial trophy, emblematic of football supremacy among the nations' colleges and universities, found a permanent resting place tonight at the University of Minnesota.

The trophy was given to Minnesota for the best national record over a ten year period according to a ranking system devised by Professor Frank G. Dickinson, University of Illinois economist.

Wilford Moore Added To Abilene Staff

ABILENE, Feb. 8 (AP) — Abilene High school's 1941 football coaching staff was complete today with school officials' announcement that Wilford H. Moore, Hardin-Simmons university guard for three seasons, will be line coach.

It is estimated that 24,000,000 Americans are amateur photographers.

BILL DEAN'S COLUMN

FROM the dawn of time, human beings have been prone to make what in latter days have come to be known as "noble experiments," but never was there a nobler one than this.

All my adult years I have been engaged in business having to do with oil, the products of oil, or in avenues having to do with the automobile. Therefore, I have come to the conclusion that I should write a newspaper column every Sunday—and that is just what I am setting out to do, with today's as a starter.

—B—D—

Someone has said that every man is sure in his own mind that he can:

Pick race horses;

Run a restaurant;

Manage a baseball team, and Write better newspaper articles . . .

Than those who give their lives to those callings.

Since there are no race horses hereabouts, the restaurant field is well taken care of, and Charlie Engle is coming back to manage the Hubbers, that leaves me but one of those four fields in which to exercise my ego.

Therefore, move over Mister Winchell, Mister Tucker, Miss Turner, Mister Parris and The Plainsman!

Make room for a man with a MESSAGE—and the urge to propound it!

—B—D—

IN MY weekly stints—and that "weekly" is not spelled with an "a," I reserve the right to cut numerous journalistic didoes.

I aim to give credit where credit is due, especially where it has been overlooked by the other oracles, both local and syndicated.

I aim to make suggestions for the good of our community, our state and our nation.

I aim to say things that will make readers smile, grin, chuckle or break out in a good, oldfashioned "belly laugh." But there's where I am going to leave off from the patterns set by all the other columnists I have ever read after or heard of.

I don't aim to make anybody mad, feel hurt or be unhappy.

Those fields will I leave to the Winchells, the Tuckers, the Turners, the Parrises and the Plainsmen!

—B—D—

Of course, too, I aim to let the world in on another type of good news—that having to do with BILL DEAN'S business.

While I have been engaged in business in Lubbock for the better part of a decade, my present business, BILL DEAN, is a new one.

I've got me a pretty nice place, I think you'll agree, on the northwest corner of Avenue J and Fourteenth street, where you can get anything you want—that is, anything of the BEST—in the automotive line. And in the Sunday columns to come, I expect to tell you more and more about our products — such as Texaco gasoline, oil and greases; Pennsylvania Tires, National Batteries, etc., etc., and etc. I'll also tell you more about BILL DEAN'S TIME PAYMENT PLAN, through which you can "pay as you ride." And, of course, you'll want to know more about our repair service which, pardon the blush, is unexcelled, at least in these parts.

—B—D—

JUST to prove to you right off the bat that BILL DEAN means business, I'm going to GIVE AWAY something right here and now! Open-Handed Dean, they call me, so if the following persons, whose names were chosen at random from the City Directory, will call at BILL DEAN'S by noon tomorrow, Monday, February 10th, they'll get the following FREE GIFTS from BILL DEAN:

EDWARD T. KELLY, 2618 21st st., five (5) gallons of that good Texaco gasoline, free.

W. J. DODSON, 2218 Broadway, free change of Texaco oil.

KYLE B. RATISSEAU, 2008 30th st., free wash and grease job.

So come on, Messrs. Kelly, Dodson and Ratisseau—but you must come in by noon tomorrow—Monday, February 10th!

—B—D—

Watch for BILL DEAN'S COLUMN every Sunday from now 'till doomsday. Watch it for fun, for comment and for PROFIT. And in the meantime, save money by trading with BILL DEAN for your every automobile need!

Motorists who change NOW to U.S. ROYAL MASTERS get a SWELL BREAK

Here's why...

1. Royal Masters mounted now deliver up to 20% more mileage because rubber wears much more slowly in cool, wet weather than when it's hot and dry.

2. You save by buying now and you get the extra skid protection and quick-stopping power of Royal Masters during the time of year when wet and slippery roads are often at their worst.

Once you enjoy Royal Master 3-way protection you'll never want to ride on any other tire

1. EXTRA BLOWOUT PROTECTION! Tougher, more flexible carcass construction, with stronger cords "safety bonded" in pure liquid rubber, gives you EXTRA protection against blowouts due to heat, road shocks, and hard, fast driving.

2. EXTRA SKID PROTECTION! The instant brakes are applied hundreds of sharp units emerge from the tread to bite through surface film and GRIP the road! You stop quicker, straighter, safer—hold the road on the wettest pavement.

3. EXTRA LONG SAFE MILEAGE! Deeper, flatter non-skid tread of "Tempered Rubber." Puts more rubber on the road. You get more safe miles—lower cost per mile. Plus an extra quiet, smoother ride; and the last word in smart appearance.

Britain Warns Bulgaria Not To Allow Germans Passage; Bombings Threatened

Train Service Is Curtailed

(By The Associated Press)

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 8.—The British were reported today to have served a formal warning at Sofia that Britain's air force would bomb Bulgarian military objectives, such as railways and communications generally, if German troops enter that country.

(In London, officials said "there is no confirmation of the report.")

To Head Off Drive

Diplomatic quarters here heard that a note bearing the warning had been handed to the Bulgarian foreign office by the British minister to Sofia. They said it was intended to head off the long rumored German attempt to strike at Britain's allies, Greece and Turkey, through Bulgaria, or perhaps to attempt by the same long route to come to Italy's aid in the Middle East.

Only last night the Bulgarian government ordered curtailment of passenger train service toward the Rumanian, Greek, Yugoslav and Turkish borders, and Sofia was alive with rumors that the Germans were about ready to move in from Rumania, where their troops are understood to stand 300,000 strong.

The Bulgarian foreign minister, Ivan Popoff, told members of Parliament at a private meeting simply that he was unable to foretell "What may lie in the future."

Turkish Attitude Given

(British bombers based in Greece could reach Bulgaria with no great difficulty.)

Coincident with rumors in Sofia that German action was imminent, the official Turkish press—which has been insisting that Bulgaria wouldn't grant troop passage to the Nazis—now said that she might submit.

"It is impossible for Bulgaria to resist," said the newspaper Ikdam, which often is inspired from the highest official Turkish sources, "unless she is sure of military aid from England, money from America and other help from the Soviet."

bill on to the Senate for debate.

The demonstration in the Senate committee's hearing room was touched off by Jack McMichael, who said he was chairman of the American Youth Congress.

Rising in the center of the crowd of spectators, the tall, blond young man attempted to make a statement opposing the bill. In an instant dozens of other young men and women began applauding, whistling and yelling. Capitol policemen rushed for McMichael and whisked him out of the room.

McMichael was taken to a guard room and lectured on Senate rules and courtesy and then released.

many heavy explosives were dropped on the crowded docks at Boulogne and on the harbor railway; that fires sprang up at many points; that several German vessels probably were destroyed at Dunkerque, where "tons of debris was blown high in the air after our bombs straddled three of the main docks."

As has become usual on the week-end, two government officials, L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, and Lieut. Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, made speeches containing new warnings of the possibility of German invasion.

Boy Scouts Take Over City, County Offices

Action of the Boy Scout city commission Saturday extended government day activities of Boy Scout week into the afternoon, the four hours to noon wasting away too fast.

City and county offices were filled by boys and several persons, including County Judge G. V. Pardue, were fined. Money collected went to the scout fund.

Garland Newsom was government day chairman.

New Fighting Planes To Be Delivered Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — Army air corps combat units expect to receive this month the first new fighting planes embodying features developed in the European aerial warfare.

Deliveries already have started on a limited number of P-39 Bell pursuit ships, whose armament features a 37-millimeter cannon fired through the propeller hub.

Due in service this month, authoritative sources reported today, are the first of an order of 384 Curtis P-40D fighters, the export version of which already is being tested by Britain's Royal air force.

Also scheduled for early completion are medium and light bombers which like the fighting craft, are equipped with leak-proof fuel tanks, armor protection and heavier fire power.

Willkie Due To Reach America This Morning

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 8. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie took off at 9:30 p. m. (7:30 p. m., C. S. T.) tonight on the last lap of his homeward flight from a survey of wartime Britain and was expected to reach New York at 7 a. m. tomorrow.

During Willkie's stay here he and other passengers took their first baths since leaving London.

"We were commencing to hate each other," he joked.

Willkie paid a four-hour stopover visit to his former home tonight when he touched United States soil again on this island, alighting from the Dixie clipper, which had flown him from Lisbon, Portugal, to Bolamo, Portuguese Northwest Africa, thence across the Atlantic to port of Spain, Trinidad, and here.

Attempt To Wreck Locomotive Foiled

AUBURN, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—All of the spikes and angle irons of a 24-foot section of Southern Pacific railroad track near Auburn were removed today in an apparent attempt to wreck the westbound Pacific Limited.

The track tampering was discovered by a railroad trackwalker shortly after a freight train had passed. Repairs were made in time to permit the Limited to go through on schedule.

The railroad sent police to investigate and notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Earl Crane, state highway patrolman, told Sheriff Charles Silva the section of track was held in place by a single bolt.

He said the plant was being financed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, in cooperation with the company, and would be a permanent industry.

RFC officials reported a loan of $12,000,000 had been appoverd for the plant to be located on the Houston ship channel, about 10 miles below Houston, and that the company would use from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 of its own money.

Danish Government Yields Torpedo Boats

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 9.—(Sunday) (AP)—The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today that "after heavy German pressure" the Danish government was forced to deliver about 10 torpedo boats from the Danish navy to German authorities.

It said the ships got German crews last Wednesday and that Danish officers aboard the vessel lying in Copenhagen harbor lowered their flags to half-staff before the Germans went aboard.

Danish acceptance, the newspaper said, was under protest and followed presentation of the German demands several times.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 8. (AP) — A Delegation of 300 Texas business men will arrive here next Friday for a brief visit as the guests of Gov. Alfredo Chavez of Chihuahua state, the government information office announced today.

The bulletin said officials from the foreign ministry, members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies and leading Mexican businessmen would entertain the visitors.

Sen. Eugenio Prado from Chihuahua state said the Texans would be received by President Avila Camacho and would be afforded every facility in studying investment possibilities.

The combination good-will and business excursion is scheduled to leave El Paso, Tex., next Wednesday by special train. Brief stops will be made at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua City, Aguascalientes and Queretaro en route to Mexico City.

The visitors will be accompanied on the train not only by Gov. Chavez, but also by members of Chihuahua's state legislature and by local businessmen.

Provisions Of Bill

transfer defense articles and defense information to such governments on any terms he deems satisfactory, with these restrictions: He must consult with the chief of staff of the army and the chief of naval operations before transferring any articles already on hand, and shall not transfer more than $1,300,000,000 worth of articles originally ordered for the army and navy.

Opens Up Harbors

Authorizes the president to have defense articles tested or repaired for a foreign government. (This provision would permit repair of British ships in American ports.)

This section also says nothing in the bill authorizes entry of American vessels into a combat zone in violation of the neutrality act, or the convoying of vessels by American warships.

Section 4.—Directs that foreign governments receiving defense articles must agree not to transfer them to other governments without consent of the president.

Section 5.—Orders that records be kept of all transfers and that the president, at least every 90 days, advise Congress of what has been done, only withholding "such information as he deems incompatible with the public interest to disclose."

To Protect Patents

Section 6—Authorizes appropriation of money to carry out the program, and says that any money received from foreign government for defense articles may be used to produce more defense articles.

Section 7. — Directs that defense patent and royalty rights of American citizens be protected.

Section 8.—Authorizes acquisition of arms, ammunition and implements of war from foreign nations.

Youngster Has Cold After Riding Cake Of Ice On River

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 8. (AP)—George King, only seven, was in bed tonight being fed hot drinks to fight off a threatened cold.

He admitted he was "little bit scared" when he became trapped on an ice cake floating down the Merrimack river today. But George wouldn't concede too much.

"I was a good man, though, wasn't I?" was his greeting to policemen who rescued him in a boat after he had floated more than a quarter of a mile down the river.

The real hero was George's older brother, Willie, 12, who jumped to safety just as the ice cake broke loose near the shore and moved toward mid-stream.

Before running for help, Willie shouted to George to "sit down and don't move." And when police finally reached him a half hour later, there was George—shivering and almost speechless—but still sitting down.

"It's lucky he kept seated," said Police Inspector Andrew Hunter, who directed the rescue. "If he moved even inches, the chances are the ice would have broken under him."

Texas Defense Plans

ject was roughly two-thirds complete.

Augmented By Cavalry

At Camp Bowie, near Brownwood, Texas' 36th division augmented by cavalry units from Iowa, included nearly 18,000 men, deep in an accelerating training program. Work was pushed on facilities to take care of the total of approximately 28,000 expected by June 1. This will include men of the 36th, the 113th Iowa cavalry, and 8,000 men of the eighth army corps and third balloon squadron. Daily drill under field conditions with full equipment and arms is being held. Firing on the artillery and infantry ranges will start Monday. Construction was 81 per cent complete on the training center that started at a $5,000,000 project and was expanded until its ultimate cost will be $13,000,000.

Fort Bliss, near El Paso, had 3,500 men a year ago. Now there are 18,000, from Texas, New Mexico, Illinois, Arkansas, District of Columbia, and Colorado. These units, principally cavalry and artillery, will reach war strength of 27,000 before the end of the year. On the nearby 300,000 acre maneuver area anti-aircraft guns bark daily at targets towed by speeding planes. Concentration of the first cavalry division was complete, troops moving into the huge new camp just vacated by the 56th Texas cavalry, shunted to scattered posts southward along the Mexican border.

Trainees Trickle In

Selective service trainees continued to trickle into Camp Hulen near Palacios, where artillery training has been in full blast for weeks. Moderating weather along the Gulf coast has favored anti-aircraft target practice. There are now more than 9,500 men in training at Camp Hulen and the camp's population is about at its peak.

Camp Wolters, huge infantry induction center near Mineral Wells, was 49 per cent complete, with first skeleton units of reception troops already in barracks. The first selectees from the South and Southwest, totalling 3,000, are not expected until March 17. Ultimately there will be 18,000 men in process of preliminary training there before they are farmed out as needed to army units throughout the nation.

Advance Unit Arrives

Camp Wallace, huge coast artillery replacement center near Houston, already had an advance unit of officers and enlisted men, thus opening officially, while construction was intensified. The initial group of selectees was expected early in March.

The first class of 128 cadets to train at the new army air corps basic flying school at San Angelo was due Feb. 11, from Dallas, Tex., Sikeston, Mo., and Santa Maria, Calif. There are now approximately 1,000 troops at the field, and the total cadet complement will be 350 when operation is in full sway. New classes will arrive every five weeks. A 100 unit housing project for married enlisted men, to cost $350,000, was due to be completed in three months.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox will come to Corpus Christi March 12 to commission the naval air station, which will then be in the final stages of construction. More than 6,000 men were on the construction job, hurrying it to a finish.

More At San Antonio

San Antonio, long a center of military activity, had more than twice as many troops in training as it had a year ago. The total of officers and enlisted men at army posts in the area was 30,000, compared with 14,000 in January, 1940.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 more were expected within the next two months.

The number of enlisted men in the eighth corps area Jan. 31, 1940, was 28,359 and today it was 109,989.

An emergency housing project was completed.

In addition to the spectacular centers, there were smaller training activities in progress at a dozen or more civil air training centers or scattered forts throughout the state.

At Camp Bowie, where Maj. Gen. Walter Krueger, eighth army corps commander, was due for an inspection trip Monday, landowners on infantry and firing ranges had been warned to be out of firing areas before 7:30 a. m. Monday.

MILITARY WEDDING

CAMP BOWIE, Brownwood, Tex., Feb. 8. (AP)—Miss Bunice Allworth of Abilene and Second Lieut. Paul F. Roberts of San Antonio were married here last night in Camp Bowie's first military wedding.

House Approves Lease-Lend Bill

nations to be benefitted—administration leaders argued that to adopt it would drive Stalin and Hitler closer together.

And many more changes of a minor or greater nature.

Throughout most of the battling, the administration had its way. As for the $1,300,000,000 limitation amendment they said after it was passed that they had no objection to it.

At the last minute in fact, Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass), still seeking a maximum vote, formally assured the House that no effort would be made to remove it from the bill.

The effort to place a $2,000,000,000 over-all limit on the program was made by Rep. Eaton (R-NJ) and was beaten, 177 to 120. Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) sought to apply the $7,000,000,000 "ceiling" and was turned down 122 to 38.

Passage came at the close of a day of impatience, snapping tempers, charges of improper statements and allegations that Democratic leaders were imposing a "gag rule" by using their dependable majority from time to time to vote a limit on debate on particular amendments.

As the final vote drew near the Democratic membership began heckling the Republican speakers as one after another they arose to offer their amendments. Rep. Dworshak (R-Idaho), in particular, had a hard time with an amendment forbidding the president to commit infractions of international law in his administration of the bill.

Angry Gesture

His speech, shouted into the amplifiers above a din of conversation, was repeatedly interrupted by derisive cheering. Finally, Rep. Mundt, (R-SD) pleaded that he be given a "fair hearing."

"I wouldn't expect that from that side of the House." Dworshak said, with an angry gesture in the direction of the Democrats. His proposal was rejected, 142 to 94.

Under the leadership of Rep. Fish of New York, Republicans made a last minute effort to substitute their program of credits to Britain and no new powers to the president. They made a motion that the bill be recommitted, with instructions that these changes be made. On a roll call vote, this was repected 263 to 160. The final vote followed immediately.

There was considerable debate on Rep. Wadsworth's proposal for a $7,000,000,000 ceiling.

No Estimate Possible

Asserting it was impossible to estimate how much money would be needed to effectuate the administration's policy of helping Britain, Rep. Whittington (D-Miss) had declared:

"I believe that a limit now, when no one knows the answer, would hinder and not help."

Wadsworth, who is for the bill, had argued that $7,000,000,000 would "be adequate and not extravagant." He said such a restriction would relieve "apprehensions felt in the minds and hearts of a great many people" who have called the bill a "blank check" and a prelude to dictatorship.

Also rejected were an amendment by Rep. Fish (R-NY) prohibiting use of American parts for repairing belligerent warships, and another by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) which would have forbidden the president to send troops outside the western hemisphere.

Proposal Defeated

The amendment to keep American troops inside the western hemisphere grew out of a speech by silver-haired Rep. Jeanette Rankin (R-Mont) who as a member of the House in 1917 tearfully voted against the declaration of war. The propaganda of 1917 was rife, she said, and many members of Congress who supported the declaration of war at that time did so in the belief use of American troops was not to be involved.

When administration leaders objected her amendment would keep naval and marine corps personnel within the limits of the hemisphere, she withdrew it.

views were known to be "liberal."

This greatly increased the chances that the court would continue to support administration legislation—as it had been doing since the previous October—and convinced a number of legislators that the president's court plan was not needed.

Mr. Roosevelt appointed Sen. Hugo L. Black of Alabama to fill the vacancy and the Senate did not pass the court-enlargement legislation.

Since his retirement, the jurist has spent a large part of his time at his 788-acre farm near Ellicott City, Md. He also spent several weeks presiding over the federal district court at New York City and traveled some, including a hunting trip to Texas.

Funeral arrangements had not been made tonight.

Texan Is Chosen Head Of Newspaper Library

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 8. (AP)—Ted Dealey, president of the Dallas Morning News, was announced today as chairman of the newly-created library committee for the Southern Newspaper Publishers association.

The committee will have charge of a library here consisting of books by newspapermen and books relating to all fields of journalism.

A. W. Huckle, of the Rock Hill (S. C.) Herald, association president, announced appointment of the committee which is composed of all past presidents of the association.

Parents Of Triplets Honored With Shower

The budget of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Benson, parents of twins and triplets in 18 months, received a helpful shove Saturday.

Mrs. L. V. Risinger, at whose 2433 Twentieth street home a public shower and tea was given, said 49 guests had called Saturday afternoon, leaving gifts of groceries, linen and clothing—a variety of essentials for early babyhood.

A purse of $8 was raised at the tea. Lubbock telephone operators gave an additional $5. A hat was passed at Lubbock Hog and Cattle company, raising a sum that will be augmented by further donations today and Monday, said Richard Roberts and Col. Kenneth Bozeman of the firm.

A home demonstration club near Monroe sent in gifts.

Salvation Army Fire

found eight men, some dead, lying in and near it.

Julius Benson, 41, nightwatchman at the lodgings, died at noon of his injuries but he died a hero. Three times he charged up the stairway, and returned with a victim. On one trip he rushed shouting to the rear window, imploring the able-bodied to help several cripples to safety. He struck at least two men, the witness said, who refused.

Hand Is Injured

One man going through the window ripped the flesh from his hand on jagged glass.

Identification of the dead, made difficult because admittance records were destroyed or mutilated, gave this list of men who perished:

Julius Benson, 41, Little Rock, Ark.; an unidentified boy; John B. Murberger, Dallas; William H. Nugent, New York City; James Edward White, who gave his address as 9 Main street, Tulsa; Gus Halb, St. Louis, Oscar Lindley, DesDemona, Tex., Thomas Cook and J. M. Jenkins, addresses unknown. The tenth man was not identified.

Lindley, before he died, said he had a wife and a child living in Amarillo. His father was reported to reside at Colorado City, Tex.

Origin Is Obscure

The origin of the fire was obscure. Fire Marshal Jack Thompson said he was inquiring whether a spray, used in the delouser, had been used and whether it was inflammable.

The dead will be buried Monday or Tuesday in a mass funeral, Brig. Gen. George Gilks of the Salvation Army said.

Ironically, firemen discovered an opening through which the men might have escaped without serious injury. A locked door at the rear of the room, when opened later, gave onto a small shaft. A drop of six or eight feet would have led the men to a skylight opening into a cafe on the first floor.

New Government Of France Expected

(By The Associated Press)

Navy Minister Admiral Jean Darlan is expected to be asked by Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain to form a new French government at Vichy and already is canvassing likely candidates for cabinet posts, the Swiss Telepragh agency reported early today from Vichy.

The agency said Admiral Darlan probably would return to Paris soon to confer with "various persons."

This report renewed speculation on the part to be played by Pierre Laval, one of the most puzzling figures in the confused picture of the government of France. Last night Laval was thrust back into the spotlight by a Vichy government announcement that he had refused to become "minister of state and member of a committee of direction" at Petain's invitation. Laval is now in Paris.

PAY IS DEMANDED

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—A petition for mandamus requiring the comptroller to pay Sen. J. Franklin Spears, captain in the national guard, for his services in the legislature was filed today in the supreme court.

REPAIRING RAILROAD

SLATON—The Santa Fe has about 225 track workers doing resurfacing work between Southland and Slaton. The work has taken up the slack in the local unemployment situation, it was said.

U. S.-Mexico Troubles May All Be Settled

MEXICO CITY Feb. 8. (AP)—The government tonight said the United States and Mexico probably would announce next week an agreement settling all major problems between the two nations.

The announcement came as it was cinfirmed here that Standard Oil of New Jersey and the British-controlled Royal Dutch Shell Oil company, Mexican Eagle Oil company were negotiating in Washington a settlement of claim growing out of Mexico's expropriation of the foreign oil industry in 1938.

Announcing the departure by plane of Mexican Ambassador Francisco Castillo Najera, th government said he carried "a complete plan for settling all existing problems between our country and the neighboring nation to the north." The ambassador is due in Washington at 6:15 a. m. Sunday Central Standard time.

A global settlement of all major issues between the governments, such as Agrarian and other claims, waterways controversies, and the Mexican claim for certain lands in the El Paso, Tex., business district was expected.

Desert Campaign

which would have to be considered carefully. Although the road is good there is virtually no water along this stretch, they said.

(In London, neutral informants said Future British plans in Africa were inextricably wound up with the position of France, which has a great, untested army standing on the western borders of Libya.)

Along with the army of the Nile's north African pacemakers, the British general headquarters reported these developments on three fronts 2,000 miles across the continent in East Africa:

To Break Resistance

Eritrea—Cheren, the key mountain defense point of Asmara, capital of the Italian colony, is being put under increasing British pressure. An Italian force which withdrew Sunday from Barentu is being pursued in a retreat toward Arreza, 60 miles south of Ceren, on a tortuous trial in the direction of Asmara, the capital.

Ethiopia—Mobile British units are pressing toward Gondar, in the area north of Lake Tana.

Miliary sources here predicted that Italian resistance around Cheren would be broken soon.

Fines Are Assessed In County Court

J. M. Sparkman, about 28, paid $150 fine and $25.40 court costs Saturday afternoon after pleading guilty to liquor law violation before Judge G. V. Pardue in county court.

The court also continued other activitiy

Celes Crews, 37, a negro, was fined $5 and assessed court costs for fighting and D. C. Harmon, 28, another negro, posted $100 bond. He was charged with Crews and another negro on a joint complaint.

Bail of $500 was executed by Yenes Manrriquez, 52-year-old Mexican, on a liquor law violation charge. Complaint against the Mexican was signed by Frank Mitchell.

Josephine Cook, who was fined $1 and costs Thursday by a jury of H. G. Brock and five others in J. T. Inmon's justice court, posted $50 appeal bond to transfer the case to county court.

She was found guilty of stealing a $4.98 coat from Montgomery Ward & Co.

Twenty-One Escape Fire In Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 8. (AP)—Twenty-one men escaped without injury tonight when fire damaged a Salvation Army shelter for homeless men near the business district here.

The first spread from the kitchen to the front of the two-story frame building before it was brought under control. Cause of the blaze was not known.

OFFICERS ELECTED

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8. (AP)—A. J. Duncan was elected chairman of the board of Texas Electric Service company and J. B. Thomas, vice president and general manager, was elected to succeed Duncan as president at a meeting of the company directors today. Thomas will continue as general manager.

Swift's Chicks Are Healthy Chicks

Swift's Premium Baby Chicks are from selected, rigidly culled and properly blood-tested flocks.

Every flock supplying eggs to Swift's Hatchery is tested for "Pullorum" (B.W.D.) disease and all reactors to the test are removed from the flock. Health, vigorous stock brings success with Swift's Baby Chicks.

Byrd Expedition On Return Trip To U. S.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 8. (AP) Members of the third Byrd Antartic expedition are enroute to the United States after 13 months in icy Little America.

Officials of the General Electric company's shortwave station, which has maintained contact with the 59 men, received word today the motorship North Star and the ice-breaker Bear left the expedition's west base last Saturday for the east base at Marguerite bay, 1,400 miles distant.

A gentle sea swell and strong wind freed huge ice floes for three days before the ships departed, delaying loading of supplies. The vessels are expected to arrive in the United States in April.

Crosby is sending three men; Dawson, five; Dickens, two; Gaines, three, Garza, two; Kent, one; Lynn, four, Stonewall two, Terry four and eight each from the Lubbock board.

Twenty-seven men will report Tuesday.

Replacements for drafted men rejected by the district induction medical board here in December and January will begin reporting to the district board Thursday, according to Major Walter Jessee, induction officer.

Eighty-three men are to report, 26 from the first call and 57 from the January call. Thursday and Friday will be report days this week. Other days are: Feb. 17 to 21, inclusive.

Defense Contractors To Meet In Houston

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (AP) — The largest meeting thus far of national defense contractors and constructing quartermasters in charge of projects under Army jurisdiction will be a feature of the annual convention at Houston Feb. 16-20 of the Associated General Contractors of America, Charles H. Newell said today. Newell is secretary of the Texas highway branch of the A.G.C.

General Brehon Somervell, the Army's constructing quartermaster general, has invited all defense contractors and their quartermaster supervisors to confer with him at Houston Feb. 20.

General Somervell, Gen. Julian L. Schley, chief of engineers, U.S.A., and W. H. Harrison, chief, ships construction and supplies, office of production management, will address the convention. Newell said it would be their first program appearance at the same public gathering since the all-out national defense effort was launched.

MILD RECOVERY WEEK ENDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The stock market today finished a mild recovery week leading issues edging slightly higher.

Those who showed up in boardrooms had little to go on in the way of outstanding news. Apprehension over war and taxes persisted but another batch of earnings statements, demonstrating the ability of some corporations to overcome mounting imposts, inspired timid buying here and there and served to keep selling light.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .1 of a point at 42.3 and on the week retained a net advance of 5.1; was the first 6-day gain in four weeks. Transfers of 175,470 shares compared with 308,060 last Saturday.

Universal Pictures preferred got up 3 points on a meager turnover but it was an exception. Fractions were tacked on by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott, Westinghouse, General Electric, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Texas Corp., Bath Iron Works, N. Y. Shipbuilding and du Pont.

On the losing side for minor amounts were U. S. Rubber, Western Union, Great Northern, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Boeing and International Harvester.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP) — Cotton futures gained 1 to 3 points today, despite opening setbacks on Bombay and hedge selling.

Principal support came through small trade buying orders to fix prices for domestic mill account. Contracts came out slowly after the opening dip and the market kept its balance with only wavering support.

Worth street textile brokers reported the week's turnover in heavy cotton goods was satisfactory but trade in print cloths and similar items was only around 80 per cent of current fast mill operations.

Exports Friday 400 bales, season so far 700,905. Port receipts 8,992, port stocks 2,479,947.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 (AP) — The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch today at ten designed southern spot markets was 3 points higher at 10.14 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.14 cents a pound; average for the past thirty days 10.10 cents, middling 7-8ths-inch average 9.93 cents a pound.

Labor Ruling Made By California Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8. (AP) — The state supreme court ruled Friday that employes out of work because of voluntary refusal to pass strike picket lines are not entitled to unemployment compensation.

The decision, far-reaching in its application and long awaited, was embodied in an opinion written by Chief Justice Phil Gibson, Gov. Olson's appointee.

Three cases were considered simultaneously by the court, including the bitterly contested one of 4,000 CIO longshoremen here, idle 55 days in a waterfront tie-up, but technically not on strike. They refused to pass picket lines of the CIO Ship Clerks' union.

Rumor Petain Fled Is Killed

(By The Associated Press)

A broadcast report that Chief of State Philippe Petain of France and his navy minister, Admiral Jean Darlan, had fled to Africa by plane created a furore in Europe last night but proved to be false.

The broadcast further quoted a report that shooting had occurred in Vichy—and this, too, turned out to be erroneous.

A brief message from Robert Okin, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Vichy, quickly killed both reports. Okin cabled at midnight (5 p. m. C.S.T. Saturday):

"Vichy quietest. Petain Darlan here."

Traced To Burn

Nearly an hour later the Columbia Broadcasting system correspondent in Vichy, Courtney Terrett, broadcast from that capital also there was no rioting in the city.

The report went through a far-reaching maze before it was tracked down.

Both British and German sources said it originated in Bern, Switzerland—but who started the ball rolling was not disclosed.

The British Broadcasting corporation in a report heard late yesterday in New York by CBS carried in both the BBC German and French language broadcasts reports credited to the German Transocean News agency to the effect that Marshal Petain and Admiral Darlan had left Vichy for North Africa and that Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin had resigned.

BBC said in a later English broadcast to Europe that the Vichy correspondent of Transocean agency had picked up the report from Bern.

Firemen's Meet Held At Lamesa

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Feb. 8.—Because of snow and icy weather south of here, fewer than 200 persons registered today for the midwinter convention of Permian Basin Volunteer Firemen's association.

W. P. Rooney of Port Stockton was chosen president to succeed J. C. Donaldson of Monahans.

Brownfield was voted to membership in the association.

Other new officers elected were J. L. Tidwell of Midland, first vice president; Van Binion of Alpine, second vice president, and Freedy Pearson of Wink, secretary. Wayne Beauchamp of Midland was chosen as mascot.

Rogers Is Speaker

V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa school superintendent, addressed the group tonight. A barbecue and dance concluded the convention.

Next session will be conducted in June at the annual water carnival in Fort Stockton.

Big Spring was winner of the pumper race contests with a time of 24.6 seconds and was awarded a loving cup. Odessa was second, Monahans third.

Alpine won the four-man pumper race, with Kermit second. A women's hose connecting race was won by Kermit.

Other towns represented were Crane and Fort D. A. Russell. Jim White of Colorado City, Mid-Western Firemen's association president, and Hugh Nation of Brownfield, state association fourth vice president, attended.

Derrick Completed On Sundown Townsite

WHITEFACE, Feb 8. Special) — Sid W. Richardson has completed a derrick for an oil well at Sundown and is ready to drill, it was said here tonight. The well will be the first in the Sundown townsite.

The George P. Livermore-Bella Wright well seven miles west of Whiteface was reported shut down today with its casing collapsed. Owners expect to dig another well, it was said.

Argentina has an eat-more-pork drive.

Lubbock FFA Chapters To Banquet Feb. 21

Nine Lubbock county chapters of Future Farmers of America, including the Texas Technological college chapter, will join other Texas chapters in attending banquets Feb. 1, Ray L. Chappelle, sponsor of the Tech organization, announced Saturday night.

An estimated 100,000 persons are expected to attend the banquets, which will be held by more than 800 chapters at the same time.

A broadcast over two state-wide networks between 9 and 9:30 o'clock that night will feature a special FFA program, including addresses by Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator; Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House; J. B. Rutland, state adviser; R. A. Manire, state director; and W. A. Ross, national secretary. Rayburn and McNutt will speak from Washington, D. C.

Besides the Tech chapter, Lubbock county chapters planning banquets are Slaton, New Deal, Wolfforth, Roosevelt, Idalou, Cooper, Shallowater and Lubbock High school.

'Malfunctioning' Of Radio Equipment Is Blamed For Crash

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (U.P) — The Civil Aeronautics board today reported that "malfunctioning" of radio guiding equipment at Salt Lake City was the probable cause of the crash of a United Airlines airplane at Centerville, Utah, Nov. 4, 1940, in which seven passengers and a crew of three were killed.

The board said that the malfunctioning resulted from the effects of atmospheric conditions upon some defective part of the equipment.

The board said that a contributing factor probably was the failure of the communications operators at Tintic, Plymouth, and Salt Lake City, Utah, whose duty it was to monitor the radio signals, to detect the malfunctioning and notify airline officials and the plane's crew.

Failure of the transport's pilot to follow established procedures to the fullest extent was also given by the board as a contributing factor. The board said that the plane's captain began his descent during a period of time when, because of heavy static, he was unable to hear radio range signals and as result could not definitely locate his position with respect to the Salt Lake City radio range.

Woman Again Given Death Penalty In Case

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 8. (AP) —Twice within the last 12 months has 24-year-old Mrs. Annie Beatrice Henry heard a jury's solemnly intoned verdict that she must die on the gallows as a murderer.

The second time was last night in the Calcasieu parish (county) courtroom. A verdict that she was "guilty as charged" in the slaying last Valentine's day of a Houston, Texas, salesman makes a death sentence mandatory under state law.

It took the jury only an hour to reach a decision. When the verdict was read the young woman's lower lip quivered and she bit it. That was her only display of emotion.

The salesman was Joseph P. Calloway. His body, stripped of clothing, was left in a frozen rice field near here Feb. 14.

Horace Finnon Burks, alleged companion of Mrs. Henry the day Calloway was killed, was called by the state in a surprise move yesterday. He had not testified at Mrs. Henry's previous trial.

Insurance Agent Gets 15-Year Prison Term

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8. (U.P) — Hallett R. French, the insurance agent who wrote an $800,000 policy on the Tacoma Narrows bridge and pocketed the $1,217 premium without notifying his company of the policy, pleaded guilty to embezzlement charges today and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

The $5,200,000 birdge collapsed in a high wind last fall and only then did the Merchants Fire Assurance company of New York learn that it was liable. French wept when sentence was passed. He told the court he had turned over $17,500 to the company in restitution.

LONG WALK

Grand Coulee Dam, in Washington, consumed enough concrete to build a walk one foot wide and three inches thick from the earth to the moon.

Pension Setup May Be Altered

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8. (AP)—Prompt passage of a measure to modify Oklahoma's old age assistance constitutional amendment is expected in the house early next week.

Legislative leaders predict the house will vote almost unanimously on the second measure to be referred to the voters at a special election March 11.

To Modify Measure

The measure would modify an mendment voted in 1936 which limits state participation to a maximum of $30 a month. Its object is to remove the limitation and permit participation up to the $40 monthly now allowed by the federal government.

E. Blumhagen, house speaker, said the amendment would be brought out of committee and passed without difficulty.

Also in the house committee on constitutional amendments is a plan for establishment of one board of control for state institutions of higher education.

Another measure advanving on the house calendar next week is a so-called "clean politics" bill, making effective in the state some provisions similar to those provided in the Hatch bill enacted by Congress.

To Revive Fight

Administration leaders said they would revive the fight for repeal of the oleomargarine tax, killed in the house yesterday.

Gov. Leon C. Phillips has promised a workable compromise in a bitter senate-house controversy over a bill designed to help the poorer counties which would suffer under a measure diverting some revenues to the schools.

The proposal would permit counties to pay their commissioners from their 40 per cent share of the motor vehicle license fees. It was held up in a senate committee after Sen. James Nance, Purcell, had termed the house proposal unconstitutional and Rep. Robert Barr, Kingfisher, served notice he would move to strike all senate bills from the house calendar unless the senate committee acted on the relief proposal.

Three-Year-Old Saves Brother From Flames

Their mother left him to watch the baby while she went to a grocery.

Garments on a line near the kitchen stove caught fire and fell into the crib. Russell snatched the child out, dragged him to the front porch and yelled. Neighbors called firemen, who put out the blaze and gave Richard first aid for several burns on arms and legs. The baby wasn't hurt.

MacDonald Appointed To Post In Canada

LONDON, Feb. 8. (U.P) — Minister of Health Malcolm MacDonald has been appointed British high commissioner to Canada, it was announced officially today.

MacDonald, 40, is a son of the late Ramsey MacDonald, one-time laborite prime minister. He was appointed minister of health last year to cope with a difficult health problem created by crowded public air raid shelters.

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

It is obvious that Germany is experiencing increasingly in Norway, the low countries and western France those difficulties that invariably go with fighting a war on or from hostile territory.

There is ample evidence that information as to German plane, submarine and troop dispositions is seeping through to London despite harsh Nazi measures to suppress the traffic. It seems probable that the British high command has a definite picture, based on tested information from many continental sources, of the scope of German preparations to attack.

Norwegians Executed

There have been accounts from Swedish sources within recent days of Norwegians sentenced to death or imprisoned by Nazi courts martial for attempted radio communication with London. Weeks ago the Germans adopted stern measures in Holland and Belgium in an effort to stifle civilian signaling to British air bombers concerning prime targets for attack. Probably the same thing applies along the "invasion coast" of France.

Guarding a 2,000 mile sea front, some of it within close sight of British shores, from military information leaks would be beyond the capacity of an army many times the size of the German occupation forces. If German-hating civilians all along that vast coastal sweep have the will to pass along information to the British it will be impossible to prevent it.

It follows, then, that London has accurately gauged probabilities of the actual strength in air power which Germany could throw against England in an all-out spring offensive.

Conclusions Kept Secret

There are good reasons why the London government should not disclose its conclusions just now. Yet there are hints from England that well informed British sources do not share the notion that Nazi planes by the thousand are already massed or being massed all along the "invasion coast" for the spring drive at England. Some witnesses before Congressional committees in Washington have guessed the present total Nazi air strength at 40,000 planes or more.

A London aviation magazine, "Aeroplane," expresses doubt that the Nazis have ready for action against England, now or in the spring more than 4,000 planes of the first line. It concludes that at least 1,500 of those ships are fighters.

Daylight raiding experience last year "taught the enemy that fighter escorts in a ratio of at least 10-to-1 are necessary to prevent excessive losses," the article said, adding that it seemed unlikely the Germans could "throw more than 150 bombers into action by day at any one time."

Roosevelt Addresses Boy Scouts; Observance Starts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — America's Boy Scouts heard their honorary president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, declare tonight the nation had adopted the scout motto. "Be Prepared," for a national policy, since "the United States must be strong if our free way of life is to be maintained."

Participating in commemoration of the thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts organization, President Roosevelt spoke over the three major national radio networks from the White House. More than 1,500,000 scouts have been celebating the anniversary all week with special activities.

Win Praise Esteem

Scouts, Mr. Roosevelt said, have won the praise and esteem of the American people because they have "dedicated themselves to the development of those qualities of character and citizenship upon which the future of our democracy rests."

He said he was proud of what he knew they would do "in playing your part in our American defense."

Asserting that scouts of today are approaching manhood at "a grave hour in the world's history," the chief executive added that "recent events have threatened the security of free men everywhere; and the democratic way of life is being challenged in many parts of the world."

Scouts have an opportunity, in their scout troops, he said, to develop "the type of leadership and group cooperation which is so greatly needed in a democracy such as ours."

The Woman's Angle

"THERE is no fun like work!" gushes an industrial plutocrat. And may we add, brother, there is mighty little work like fun.

SCATTERINGS

Lucian Thomas, whose constant and cheerful struggle to help earn a living and work toward a college degree despite paralysis that resulted from a car wreck, has returned from Marlin where he spent the month of January and was fitted with braces, designed to enable him to walk eventually. Several persons who have labeled themselves "the Lucian Thomas committee" have asked us to inform Lucian's public he is back home at 2425 Twenty-fifth street and anxious to continue his job of soliciting magazine subscriptions. Recently he began correspondence courses that will enable him to finish requirements for a degree from Tech college.

NOMINATION for one of the nicest sounding voices in Lubbock: H. T. Luther's . . . Amarillo is beginning its annual Civic Music association drive Monday and hints at bringing John Charles Thomas, Donald Dickson, Richard Crooks and Gladys Swarthout next season. Many remember Miss Swarthout appeared on a South Plains CMA program and Dickson is booked for the last number of the current season. . . . Do you remember when Dick Powell's voice was as young and appealing as Kenny Baker's. . . . Add to your shades for spring those of pink grapefruit and Lone Star navy . . . Designers admit that most fashions designed in our country are suited to the American mode of life, adapted to American activities and detailed to American tastes but deplore the truth that women want to wear what others are wearing rather than wishing a style distinctly their own . . . We didn't expect to see the day when Ethel Barrymore would be as visibly affected as she was over the radio program staged last week in observance of her fortieth anniversary as a stage star. She was crying outright when she tried to give the lines from her first play, "That's all there is, there isn't anymore." . . . Tech theater is to bring the technicolor picture, "The Thief of Bagdad" March 1-3, starring the little Indian boy Sabu in the title role.

We can think of no household necessity that has undergone greater improvement than the alarm clock which used to be just plain ugly and now has been transformed into a object of beauty. The former ding-dong, tinny sound has been converted into chimes and soft bells although we wouldn't like to hear an alarm clock if it played "Liebestraum." We believe waking up in the morning is about the greatest domestic problem that confronts the working people of our generation.

Every member of Tommy Dorsey's orchestra is eligible for the selective service draft except two and they are too young . . . Speaking of draft situations, we were delighted to read that skinny, black-haired Jimmy Stewart, pride of Indiana, Penn., has asked to be put in classification A-1 and be called for army duty in his turn. Somehow we could not believe that drawling actor Stewart, who represents to us a composite picture of young American manhood, could play roles such as "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "You Can't Take It With You" and want to fall back on his health as deferment excuse. He's said to be 30 pounds underweight . . . The A. L. Wassons, pioneer ranch couple of Dawson, Gaines and Howard counties celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at their home in Big Spring. Mr. Wasson is the man who named the town of Lamesa, taking the Spanish feminine article and noun and running them together to anglicize Lamesa . . . What is lovelier for a young woman's early spring costume than a tailored suit outfitted with crisp white blouse and navy or turkey red accessories . . . A new marigold, "Idabelle Firestone," named in honor of the widow of Harvey S. Firestone, was presented recently to an audience of 3000 in a world premiere at a New York hotel. David Burpee is the hybridist. The marigold comes into bloom eight weeks from planting and will keep for two weeks after cutting. It will grow in any soil under the most trying conditions and is free from disease, the introducers say.

THERE is said to be an increased interest in the Stephen Foster memorial stamp lately although it was issued a little more than a year ago by the United States post office. . . . Perhaps we'd better stay out of all this but anyway we noticed Jere R. Hayes, Times-Herald sports editor, predicts Texas Tech will be voted into the Southwest conference in Dec. 1942 . . . Buddy Sprague, dressed as a puppet, will appear in a show window down town this week to advertise "Rumpelstiltskin," that all-time favorite to be presented by the Lubbock Children's Theater Feb. 20 under auspices of the Episcopal Woman's auxiliary. . . . Speaking of plays, we are getting ready to weep when we go to see "Smilin' Through," as presented by Tech dramatic students next Thursday night. At least we'll be disappointed if they are not talented enough to cause our tears because we always cry so loud at "Smilin' Through" at the movies they have to turn up the speaking apparatus. . . . Many gardeners make the mistake of waiting until the neighbor next door has a yard full of flowers and then decide to have some of their own. Lecturers before Lubbock gardening clubs point out that the wise gardener must plan ahead and take some risks. In planning planting it should be remembered that there are many things that are proof

Best Seller To Be Discussed

Dr. W. C. Holden, member of the faculty at Texas Technological college, is to review "For Whom The Bell Tolls" (Ernest Hemingway) at the First Presbyterian church basement Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. This is one of a series of reviews sponsored by the Woman's auxiliary.

More than 500,000 copies of Hemingway's book have been sold and Paramount has purchased the motion picture rights, having paid the highest price ever paid for such property.

This novel, which is one of the longest ever written by the author, concerns the romance of a young American and a Spanish girl in wartime Spain. The romance continues over a period of four days. The book contains the fullness of the author's experience and is said to be a perfection of his art.

Other novels he has written include: "Farewell To Arms," "Death in the Afternoon," "To Have and Have Not," "Green Hills of Africa," "Winner Takes Nothing" and others.

Admission is by season tickets and single admissions will be available at the door.

Junior Garden Club Is Planning Year Of Interesting Projects And Study Of Beautification

MRS. LOUIS EUBANK

THE yearbooks for the Lubbock Junior Garden club have been completed and plans for the year are included in them. Mrs. Bert Collard made the covers and Mrs. J. Bryan Edwards did the typing and mimeographing. The "Southern Homes and Gardens," recognized the Lubbock club for their practicability in not spending money for the books.

The club, which was organized in the fall of 1939, meets the first Thursdays from September through June. Officers are Mrs. Edwards, president; Mrs. Collard, vice-president; Mrs. Vance Apple, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Clem Boverie, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Garland Newsom, treasurer. Mrs. Aubrey Woodfin is federation representative. Mrs. Jimmie Kerr is past president.

On Standing Committees

Standing committees consist of program: Mesdames Collard, Arch L. King and Marlin R. Smith, jr.; telephone: Mesdames Robert Maxey, Charles W. Bartlett, jr., and Jimmie Whiteside; finance: Mesdames Newsom, H. B. Bryan and M. G. Pederson; decoration: Mesdames Homer Maxey, George W. Soash, Raymond Marshall and Woodfin; auditor, Mrs. Apple and historian, Mrs. E. B. Kerr.

The next meeting will be in March with Mrs. Smith as hostess. The Treble Clef chorus is to present the program and garden publications will be discussed. Mrs. Soash will talk on Holland's Magazine; Mrs. Pederson on American Home; Mrs. Boverie on Better Homes and Gardens and Mrs. Robert Maxey on House Beautiful.

April 3 the club will meet with Mrs. Kenneth D. Moore. The program will be on seeds and plant exchanges will be made and the club will visit nurseries.

May 1 the members will arrange fruit and vegetables and flowers in their gardens. Mrs. Pederson is to be hostess.

Plan Garden Pilgrimage

June 4 the annual garden pilgrimage will be held. Mrs. Soash is to be hostess and a social will be held with Mrs. Sid Oglesbee.

Beginning the fall program will be a luncheon September 4 and Mrs. Apple is to be in charge of a musical program.

October 2 Mrs. Newsom will be hostess and a guest speaker from Texas Technological college will be heard.

November 6 Mrs. W. M. Powell will be hostess and the development of individual projects will be studied. Pictures of each member's yard are being taken this month and in November the improvement will be shown with pictures taken in October. Work of eight months will be shown. State recognition has been given the club for this project.

December 4 Mrs. Collard will be hostess and the Christmas party will be given.

Marriage Read At Residence

The wedding of Miss Pauline Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Cook of Littlefield, and Louis Eubank of Carlsbad, N. M., took place Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed before a floral setting.

Couple Attend Tech

Mrs. Eubank was a student in Texas Technological college the past semester. She was a junior and was majoring in foods and nutrition.

Mr. Eubank is a graduate of Tech and is employed as a chemist in the Union Potash mine at Carlsbad, N. M.

After the ceremony punch and wedding cake were served to several guests including Miss Margaret Coffman, and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Higgins. The couple left for a short trip through New Mexico before returning to Carlsbad.

Pan Hellenic Society To Attend Luncheon

The Pan Hellenic society is to attend a luncheon at one o'clock Saturday afternoon at Hotel Hilton. Hostess sororities are to be Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Phi and Alpha Xi Delta.

New residents in Lubbock who are eligible for membership are asked to call Mrs. Roscoe Wilson whose telephone number is 4.

Couple Plans Short Trip

THE marriage of Miss Elizabeth Favor Bowyer, only daughter of Mrs. John Bowyer of Abilene, to Wayne Henly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Henly of 1509 Twenty-fifth street, will be solemnized this morning at 9 o'clock at the Heavenly Rest Episcopal church in Abilene by the Rev. Willis P. Gerhart, rector.

Gladioli, double stock and fern will decorate the chancel and the candle-lighted altar.

Bride To Wear Navy

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her brother, Donald Bowyer, will wear a navy blue porosa crepe costume suit trimmed in white pique and made with a fitted coat. Her navy ribbon poke bonnet is trimmed with a veil. She will wear a white orchid.

Miss Lavania Gregg of Abilene, maid of honor, will wear a black crepe dress trimmed with white embroidered collar and a white straw toque trimmed with crushed ribbon and veil. Her corsage is of gardenias.

Parker F. Prouty is to attend Mr. Henly as best man.

Reception Is Planned

An informal reception will be held at the Bowyer home after the ceremony. The polished bride's table will be centered with white gladioli and white stock in a silver bowl. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Ted Bishop of Hobbs, N. M., is to pour coffee, using a silver service that was a wedding gift to the couple from Mrs. Bowyer. Miss Patti Harrell of Fort Stockton will serve the double ring wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to South Texas cities, the couple will be at home in an apartment at 2304 Seventeenth street.

The bride is a graduate of McMurry college where she was active in literary, dramatic and social circles and ranked high scholastically. She was sponsor from Abilene at the annual Cowboy Reunion at Stamford one summer. She is a member of a pioneer family. Her great-grandfather, the late J. T. Berry, was called the "founder" of Abilene and with the late Col. C. W. Merchant named the town.

Mr. Henly is a graduate of Plainview High school and a former student at Wayland college. He is a member of the Lions club and of the Club '40. He is display advertising manager of the Avalanche-Journal publications.

Out-Of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests will include the following from Lubbock: Messrs. and Mesdames J. D. Henly, A. B. Slagle and daughter, Jo Nelle, Clifford T. Williams, D. K. Bondurant, Bode S. Adams, E. C. Henley, Charles A. Guy, Wylie Briscoe, Mrs. Prouty, Mary Lou, Ellis Foreman and members of the advertising department, T. Bruce Craig, M. I. Hall, B. T. Formby, Dick Cook and W. M. Powell.

Additional out-of-town guests will include the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Favor, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. Carpenter of Big Spring; an uncle, H. P. Bowyer of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Bishop; Misses Annie Laurie and Carrie Johnson and Mary Boyd of Fort Stockton.

The bride has been honored with a series of parties during the last week. Mrs. Bishop entertained with a luncheon Saturday at the Abilene Hilton hotel honoring the bridal party; Miss Gregg was hostess Friday and on Wednesday Mrs. John A. Hutchinson entertained with a supper, her guests being former members of a supper club in which the bride held membership.

Happy Hour Needlers Meet At Beard Home

Mrs. S. A. Beard, 2602 Twenty-first street, entertained for the Happy Hour Needle club Friday afternoon with Mrs. R. S. Booker as co-hostess. Five new members were named and Mrs. J. R. Stewart was elected secretary.

A Colonial party is to be held Feb. 21 at the home of Mrs. Booker, 2301 Twenty-fourth street, at 7 o'clock.

Those attending were Mesdames Stewart, J. C. Richards, E. P. Norwood, Booker, C. P. Cox, J. E. Walter, Ted Vernon, W. E. Watson, Paul B. Williams, R. T. Bertram, R. F. Ratliff and S. C. Rawlings.

Wesleyan Guild Plans Open House Tuesday

Honoring business and professional women who attend the First Methodist church, the Wesleyan Service Guild is to give an open house at the home of Mrs. M. C. Overton, 1808 Broadway, Tuesday night between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The guild, which is affiliated with the Women's Society of Christian Service, was recently organized. Mesdames H. I. Robinson, Overton and R. Fred Adkins are sponsors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Keene of Spur visited Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hood, Mrs. Keene's parents, Friday. They were on their way to Midland to visit their son, Jack Keene.

A. L. Mangum, Jr., Is Birthday Honoree

A. L. Mangum, jr., was honored on his ninth birthday Friday afternoon when his mother, Mrs. A. L. Mangum, 1925 Eighth street, entertained at their home. A Valentine motif was featured. After games, refreshments of candy hearts, ice cream and cake were served to Connie May and Mollie Fay Ray, Don Leslie and Rodney Sparks, Jo Ed and Charlyne Beggy, Leslie Stepp, Sue Elliott, Bobby Jean Terrell and Betty Mangum.

Other guests were the honor guest's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Amberg of Plainview. Mrs. Mangum's sister, Mrs. E. E. Terrell assisted in entertaining.

Charles McAuliffe has coached Montana Mines grid teams for 18 years.

Plays Are Being Staged By Dramatic Groups; Plan Recitals

"Smilin' Through" To Be Presented

Various dramatic organizations in Lubbock have been occupied with play rehearsals of late. Sock and Buskin club and Alpha Psi Omega fraternity at Texas Technological college are to present "Smilin' Through," the fantastic comedy-drama by Allan Langdon Martin that brought world renown to Jane Cowl, Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock at Senior High school auditorium. Admission will be by Tech student activity ticket or fifty cents general admission for adults.

In the play, Kathleen Dungannon is in love with Kenneth Wayne, but her stubborn uncle, John Carteret, forbids their marriage, having taken oath that no one of his line shall ever wed a Wayne. Pressed for explanation, he begins the story of something that happens 50 years before. There is a "flash back" to the period in which Carteret and one Jeremiah Wayne were in love with Moonyeen Clare. She chose Carteret and Wayne became widely jealous, shot at Carteret the night of the wedding and accidentally killed Moonyeen.

Firm In Opposition

Carteret continues firm in his opposition to the modern romance until the spirits of Moonyeen Clare and Sarah Wayne, mother of Kenneth, get a message across from the other world, softening his stubborn heart.

Characters are different in the first and third act and the second "flash back" act.

Noel Edgar Thompson of Lubbock plays the part of John Carteret in the first and third acts; Roy Chambliss of Brownfield, the part of Dr. Harding; Nettie Belle Batton of Littlefield, old Ellen, the housekeeper; Martha Fisk of Amarillo, Kathleen Dungannon; Kenneth Duke of Lubbock, Willie Ainsley, a neighbor boy in love with Kathleen; Joe Burson of White Deer, Kenneth Wayne.

Characters In Act

Characters in the "flash back" act are Frank Gosdin of Lubbock, John Carteret; Boyce Dunigan of Fort Worth, Dr. Harding; Ann Moore of Albany, Ellen; Catherine McCallum of Dallas, Moonyeen Clare; Gerald Hinchey of Lubbock, Jeremiah Wayne; Carrye Jo McLoen of Lubbock, Mary Clare; Maxine Wheatley of Pampa, Sarah Wayne; Reginia Lee of Spur, Frances Gordon of Anson, Mona Pierce of Lubbock, Thelma Crawford of Olton, Kathleen Webb of Lamesa, Barbara Cox of Post, Orville Shofner of Levelland, Jack Dubberley of Lubbock, H. M. Terry of Dallas, Arnold Mathias of Copperas Cove, Gordon Carlisle of Houston and Paul New of Skellytown, wedding guests.

Miss Ruth Pirtle, head professor of speech and John Watson, instructor, are directing the production. Miss Myrtle Dunn will assist with music. Miss Annah Jo Pendleton has charge of lighting.

Programs will be in shape of valentines. The play will be held the night before valentine day and the play fits into the valentine theme.

Mayor and Mrs. Joe Teague of Slaton, pictured above, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday at their home with an open house for more than 100 friends and relatives. They have lived in Slaton for the past 30 years, having moved there when the Santa Fe railroad began construction. The Teagues have one son, Joe Teague, jr., who is married.

Young Franz Rupp Reaches High Level Of Artistry In CMA Concert In Lubbock

Commencing his program with an Italian concerto by Bach and continuing with the Beethoven Sonata in E flat major, a Chopin group, a Liszt valse and two numbers from the modern composers, Ravel and Mana-Zucca, young Franz Rupp gave a concert Friday night at Senior High school auditorium that was an exciting musical experience to every one in the audience made up of South Plains Civic Music Association members.

Before Rupp's appearance, Vernon Herndon announced the annual membership drive is to be conducted in Lubbock March 10-15 and during that week the final number of this season's series, a concert by Donald Dickson, will be given.

Interpreter Of Chopin

In a program that was so consistently beautiful, it is hard to select one rendition as outstanding. In the opinion of the writer, Rupp could have played Chopin etudes, one after the other, all evening and the program would have been complete. There was a singing quality of tone in the Chopin numbers that was delightful and his first encore was a Chopin valse, indicating his attitude about the matter.

Mr. Rupp, who already is a master of the piano, has a quality about his playing that leaves the ordinary music lover as well as the most critical musician satisfied.

South Plains C. M. A. members may attend the Conrad Thibault concert in Amarillo Monday, Feb. 17, Mr. Herndon said. A number of Amarillo people attended Friday's concert. In the audience was Sam Harrington from Civic Concert service in Chicago who will direct the membership drive here in March.

Hostess Entertains At Daughter's Home

The 1930 Friendship club met with Mrs. A. M. Miller at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Hamilton, 1917 Twenty-third street, Friday afternoon. Guests were Mesdames J. A. Dubberley and R. C. Odom. This was a courtesy party.

Members attending were Mesdames C. E. Love, W. W. Campbell, J. B. McCauley, B. F. Hodges, Joe Hess, Pebble Talley, E. B. Harris, J. P. Edgar, Erle Thompson, C. Y. Partain, C. M. Mitchell and J. H. Whiteside.

Misses Ruth Keeter, Pauline Cole, Katherine Temple, Aldine Swepston, Florence Stark, Mesdames Florence Hvass and Davis.

"The Purple Door Knob" (Eaton) will be directed by Miss Jonnie Birdwell and portrays the present day in the second story chamber of a New England home. Roles will be taken by Mesdames Leroy T. Patton, M. V. Gray and Douglas Alden.

Others in the party from here will be Misses Grace Padley, Dorothy Lomax and Mary Magee, Mesdames R. G. Porter and J. L. Teal.

Dramatic Unit Stages Plays In Amarillo

The Dramatic unit of the American Association of University Women is to present two one-act plays in Amarillo this afternoon at 3 o'clock before the Panhandle Speech Arts association. The program will be held in the club room at the Municipal auditorium.

The association is to come here in April to give a reciprocal program.

Mrs. Martha Davis will direct the first play, "So Wonderful" (Husbaum) which is laid in the present time in the common room of a school for nurses. Taking part will be

Wesley Players Give Play At Open House

The First Methodist Wesley Players presented a play, "The Christmas That Bounced" (Fredrick G. Johnson) at the open house held Friday night by the young people's department of the First Methodist church.

The production was directed by Hollie Cross and Miss Nettie Belle Batton. Those taking part were Thomas Rutledge, Katherine Temple, Douglas Hardy, Eugenia Harper, Genevieve Furgeson, Erline Dowell and Dorothy Magee.

Hardin-Simmons Exes Are To Meet Today

A meeting of South Plains organization of Hardin-Simmons alumni and exes has been called by Mrs. B. H. Meskimen, president of the local organization. The group is to meet at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. W. McLeod, 1901 Thirty-third street.

Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons university and former pastor of the First Baptist church here, will be in Lubbock March 16 for the morning services at the Baptist church. Plans are to be made by the organization for an entertainment in his honor on March 15. March 16 is to be Hardin-Simmons Day at the Baptist church.

Anyone interested is asked to attend the meeting this afternoon.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: Most interesting news of the week was a letter from Rose Jean Rodgers who works in the office of Congressman George Mahon in Washington, D. C. She writes as follows: "Washington is certainly a merry-go-round for me. I have been too busy to be homesick. But I love it. I have run into gobs of Tech exes — Earnest Griffith, Finis Heidel, Carl Harper, Clinton Cook and Frances Gilley. All of them just won't allow me to get lonesome.

"I'm going to Annapolis this weekend as the guest of one of the midshipmen, who is Bob Hailey of Big Spring. I'll also be there for the graduation ball and the graduation exercises."

Thanks for the note, Rose Jean. Hope you will write again soon and we are glad here in Lubbock that you are enjoying that city.

Lubbock Band Pleases

From the column "After 5 o'clock," in the San Angelo Standard-Times written by Mary Belle Head Bancroft, we got this little item: "Your guess is as good as ours as to why each dance in the town is rated 'the best dance I ever attended.' But it's not difficult to understand why the Draker's Forget-Exam dance in the Hotel Cactus ballroom received such a rating. One of the members says he could write a book on the orchestra alone — it was Jack York's 13-piece band from Texas Tech in Lubbock."

Nice going, kids.

Mrs. J. Bryan Edwards has made out a 12-months blooming program which would be adaptable to any Lubbock yard. She can tell you flowers, plants and shrubs that are suitable for blooming plants during any month of the year. She might even give you a copy of the program. It is a grand idea I think.

WE THINK Ruth Hereford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hereford, is one of the most attractive young girls we have seen lately.

Jane Hill of Tech is to be one of the attendants at the wedding of Miss Jo Marie Carmack of Clovis, N. M., and Ralph Balfanz of Fort Worth, later this month.

Out-of-Towners Here

Among the out-of-town guests in the city this week-end are Tom Power, George Taylor and Billy Robinson. All three are students at Texas A. and M. college and were here for the Tech Double "T" dance Saturday night. Tom is a cadet colonel at A. and M. and is from Post.

Also, here from Sweetwater were Misses Audra Mae Gent, Martha Tubb and Mary Grace Yog.

MARY Ellis Maedgen and Jacqueline Davis are traveling around again. This time they are going to Skytop in the Poconos Mountains for a week-end of winter sports. Mary Ellis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen and Jacqueline is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis. They are in boarding school in Washington.

Smith Brock has as a hobby, Southern history. Every time he hears something concerning the Confederacy or the war of that time he inquires into it and gets a story. He can certainly tell some interesting tales about his father and his uncles fighting in that war.

New residents in the city are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Clement, who have moved here from Shamrock. Mrs. Clement is a charter member of the Athenaeum club there. Both are active in church work and music circles. Mr. Clement is employed by a hardware store here.

Love,
Lou.

The Cordyceps mushroom, is a parasite on an insect, growing on the white grub of the rhinoceros beetle.

The newest of the new is here. . . . On my shopping list . . . as usual . . . I had the Decorators Studio. I always put them on it because you can never tell what they will buy next . . . and if I miss them . . . well, it is just like missing Gone with the Wind.

And my usual precautionary methods were well repaid. . . . I have seen all now . . . they can come and get me . . . I am through.

I could give you a hundred guesses and you would never think of this one. Colored earth! That plants will grow in.

That's right! Colored earth. It will now be possible to use glass bowls for your favorite plants . . . and decorate them with the colors of the rainbow. Our feeble words can not give this new innovation justice . . . all I can say is to see Ruth . . . she has filled every available bowl they have with this new innovation in decorating.

Fredda brought it back from Chicago and hasn't had a chance to experiment with it . . . as Ruth has used all the bowls.

By-the-way, before I leave this week—don't forget Valentine, February 14. . . . And may I suggest an old Victorian heart-shaped silver asparagus tray . . . with all the fittings (with the exception of the asparagus) . . . Decorators Studio has one.

I'll be seeing you. . . . "Nosey"!

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The war department plans to add about 15,000 planes to its projected fleet of 25,000 aircraft and soon will ask Congress for more than $2,000,000,000 to carry out the increase, it was disclosed today.

The program, which would bring the army's eventual strength to about 40,000 planes, will be offered to Congress within a few days as part of a supplemental defense bill, authoritative sources said.

To Use All Facilities

It is designed to utilize all available aircraft industry facilities and provide a "backlog" against a sharp production let-down as planes now on order are delivered.

The army now has 19,000 planes on order, most of which probably will not be delivered before 1942. British orders placed before or early in the European war are said to be running out rapidly, thus leaving private manufacturers with idle assembly lines that can be utilized under the new program.

The proposed new program is said to consist of two major phases involving about $1,000,000,000 each.

Spread As Backlog

One calls for about 12,000 planes of all types—some 6,000 trainers and 6,000 pursuit, interceptor and bombing craft. Orders for them would be spread among various aircraft firms as a backlog when present defense and foreign orders run out.

The other would provide funds to pay for the first 3,600 medium and heavy bombers to be assembled at new plants at Tulsa, Kansas City, Kans., Ft. Worth, Tex., and Omaha, Neb. Parts for these craft are to be made by automobile manufacturers.

Officials said that the proposed new program would mean an upward revision in present plans for an ultimate army air force of 54 combat groups. They declined to state how many groups would be added, but admitted that an "increase is planned."

Asks Relief Clothing To Be Returned Soon

Garments for the British war relief that women have taken to their homes to finish are to be brought back to the Red Cross headquarters immediately, Mrs. R. W. Amick, chairman, said Saturday morning. She is planning to mail a shipment of the garments this week.

SHE'S HEADED SOUTH—Smart as can be in a white wool dress with pleated skirt and a navy wool jacket with gold buttons and a gold emblem on the sleeve. The same outfit, in all-navy blue, would be perfect anywhere, now and right through the spring.

Miss Tudor To Wed In Slaton Today

SLATON, Feb. 8 (Special)—The wedding of Miss Rebecca Tudor, daughter of Mrs. Nan Tudor of this city, and Morris Clinton of Los Angeles, Calif., son of Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Clinton of Lubbock will take place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist church. The bridegroom's father will perform the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. H. A. Ferrell will play "Serenade" (Schubert) and accompany Mrs. Hugh Zimmerman when she sings "Because." Mrs. Ferrell will also play the traditional wedding marches.

The bride will wear a navy blue ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. For "something old" she will wear a locket belonging to her grandmother and she will carry a white prayer book.

Miss Mary Leslie Culwell, who will attend Miss Tudor, as maid of honor, will wear a navy blue dress with crater blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Dale Lehr is to serve as best man.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Layne.

The couple will be at home in Los Angeles after March 1.

Mr. Clinton is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college. Miss Tudor attended Slaton High school and is also a former student of Tech. She has been receptionist at St. Mary's hospital.

Loyalty Club Members Enjoy Sewing Hour

Members of the Loyalty club met with Mrs. C. A. Rodgers, 2223 Twenty-first street, Friday afternoon with 18 members present. Mrs. T. L. Johnson, president, presided and the meeting was opened with a song. Several Bible verses were read and Mrs. Bertie Diebel read the devotion.

Mrs. Rodgers led a prayer. Plans were made for the club to take food to a club member, who has illness in her family. Mrs. W. H. Sarter read the club minutes. During the afternoon sewing was done for the hostess.

Refreshments were served to the members. Mrs. Dan Lacewell led the closing watchword. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Jack Slover, 1309 Twenty-fourth street, Feb. 21.

Road Bonds Will Be Talked At Meeting

Joint meeting of a special highway committee of the chamber of commerce and the county commissioners court probably will be held early this week to discuss matters pertaining to $369,500 in Lubbock county road bonds which have been voted but not sold, according to announcement Saturday.

J. A. Fortenberry, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee, said that a request for the conference was agreed to readily by County Judge G. V. Pardue.

The conference probably will be the first of several, the officials said, with the eventual aim in view of obtaining for the bonds the benefits provided in the state bond assumption acts of 1939 and prior years. Funds would be used for the sale of the bonds on highway projects in the county approved by the state highway department.

Members of the chamber's special committee are, additional to Fortenberry: E. J. Parsons, Morris Levine, Homer Maxey, F. H. Childress, Charles C. Piles, Neil Wright, W. S. Posey, Wade Cooper and Paul Hardwick.

Joint Service Will Be Held On Feb. 16

A joint service of men in all Sunday schools in Lubbock affiliated with the Minister's association will be held in Palace theater next Sunday morning, Feb. 16, at 9:30 o'clock, according to announcement Saturday by Dr. Marshall Harvey, president of Lubbock Boy's club, inc.

The service will be sponsored jointly by the Boy's club and the Minister's association as a benefit for the club, Dr. Harvey said.

The purpose will be, he added, to attempt to raise enough money to complete the building for the club at Twenty-fourth street and Avenue K. Work on the structure was stopped for lack of finances when it was about two-thirds finished last September.

Dean James M. Gordon of Texas Technological college is to conduct the special service. The program, including special music, will last about an hour. The invitation to attend, Dr. Harvey said, will include all men, regardless whether they are affiliated with any Sunday school.

John W. Wilson is director of the Boy's club.

Men Of Church Are To Honor Scouts

Men of the First Christian church will honor members of Boy Scout troop No. 5, sponsored by the church Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement Saturday by J. F. Venable, chairman of the arrangements committee. W. A. Hood is scoutmaster of the troop.

Men of the church are to provide the food and the scouts are to supply the entertainment, Venable said. Arrangements will be made for an attendance of approximately 75 at the dinner.

The banquet has been arranged as part of the observance of national Boy Scout week, Venable explained.

Doctors Doubt Presence Of Master Could Save Old Dog

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 8. — Laddie, an old Airedale dog, was so low today that veterinarians doubted the presence of the soldier for whom he had nearly grieved himself to death could save him.

Despite a blood transfusion and intravenous injections, he lay in a stupor. Dr. H. W. Young said the transfusion had been his only hope. It will be afternoon before he can determine whether it was a success. Laddie was too far gone, of loneliness and age, he said, to recover naturally, even if Private Everett Scott, in Fort Ord, Cal., were brought to him.

Special Crate Built

Preparations had been made to fly him to Fort Ord, where army officers said Scott could keep him. Transcontinental and Western Air, inc., built a special crate for him. Officials said they would have veterinarians waiting at Albuquerque, N. M., and if Laddie needed treatment and rest before continuing his journey, they would give it to him.

He was to have left on a plane Thursday. But he was so nearly dead when he was brought here from Chanute, Kan., where Scott enlisted, that he was taken to an animal hospital and given intravenous injections of a glucose and saline solution. That did little or no good so Dr. Young borrowed a mongrel yesterday from a friend and transfused some of its blood into Laddie.

Given Stiff Dose

Laddie, not protesting, was laid on a table. Jack, the mongrel, was led in. Wagging his tail, he sniffed at Laddie. He was put on another table. The transfusion was made through the dogs' forelegs, and Jack gave him nearly a pint of blood, a stiff dose for Laddie.

He was put back between warmed blankets.

"He sleeps most of the time," Dr. Young said. "He's in a sort of stupor, as if he doesn't care what happens."

Laddie is a "one man dog" veterinarians said. He had tramped the fields with Scott since he was a puppy, but he now is 10, and his teeth are bad.

When Scott enlisted and went away, Laddie began to mope, and lose his appetite. For weeks, he has eaten nothing and refused water.

Permission To Make Flight Is Unlikely

FORT ORD, Cal., Feb. 8 (U.P.) — Private Everett Scott loves his old Airedale, Laddie, and is anxious about him, but there was little chance today that the army would allow him to fly to Kansas City and get the dog.

Maj.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has expressed interest in Laddie's plight, but when it was suggested that Scott go to San Francisco and meet his dog there, permission was refused.

Despite Laddie's condition, there was no indication that the army would reconsider its refusal to let Scott leave camp.

But if Laddie survives and reaches Fort Ord, he will be greeted by the entire 17th infantry, which has just buried with full military honors, its mascot, Jo-Jo, a dog.

Planned Farming Is Emphasized

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 8 (Special)—Systematic planning of farming operations for the coming year will enable each farmer cooperating with the national farm program to get the greatest benefits from the program.

To that end representatives of all branches of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service are working together in an effort to have every farmer cooperating with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration fill out a farm plan sheet for 1941.

Groups To Work Together

Working with the individual producers in planning farming operations will be representatives of the various agencies, when possible, members of Land Use Planning Committees, and AAA county and community committeemen. On the farm plan sheet will be listed the farm's allotments, estimated payments for complying with allotments, and estimated maximum soil-building allowance. The farmer and the committeeman will work together in planning the acreage to be devoted to soil-depleting and non-depleting crops and the soil-building practices which will be carried out on the farm.

Preliminary meetings in the 12 districts of the state already have been held, B. F. Vance, state AAA administrative officer in charge said. The meetings, at which farm plan sheets and procedure for getting the sign up were studied, were attended by representatives of the interested agricultural agencies.

As soon as a supply of the printed plan sheets is received, similar meetings will be held in each county, followed by intensive drives to sign up all farmers in the state who are cooperating with the farm program.

Planned farming will result in greater conservation of the soil in the state, the administrator predicted, in that the individual producer will have access to technical advice as to what conservation practices are especially needed on his farm and will be able to plan his operations so as to obtain the greatest benefit out of the program.

Mrs. Pardue, Bride, Is Party Honoree

Honoring Mrs. Thomas Pardue, who was Miss Frances Ballow before her marriage, Mesdames E. B. Kelly, Vaughn Wilson, H. H. Holmes and W. P. Fry entertained with a tea and shower Friday afternoon in the Kelly home, 2508 Twenty-first street.

A Valentine motif was carried out in appointments. Centering the refreshment table was a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Wilson greeted guests, Mrs. Holmes presided at the register and Mrs. Fry directed a program that included readings by Mrs. Gradie Bownds and accordion selections played by Elizabeth Stratton and Dorothy Reese.

The list of guests included Mesdames Creek Brown, G. V. Pardue, A. T. Cocanougher, H. G. Brock, Pebble Flemister, M. L. Hogan, R. C. Hopping, J. B. Walker, Virginia Fann, R. V. Sandlin, Ed D. T. Bullock, G. E. Knight, Douglas Robinson, T. B. Woods, O. McClinton and Flora Nutt. Gifts were sent by the First Baptist T. E. L. class and Robert and G. V. Pardue, jr.

Mrs. E. P. Mead Will Be Speaker In City

Mrs. E. P. Mead of Abilene, teacher of a woman's municipal Bible class, will address several church groups of Lubbock this week.

At 9:45 o'clock this morning she will speak to the Loyal Women's class of the First Christian church. At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Fix of 3613 Twenty-first street she will discuss Hebrews for circle 7 of the Christian church.

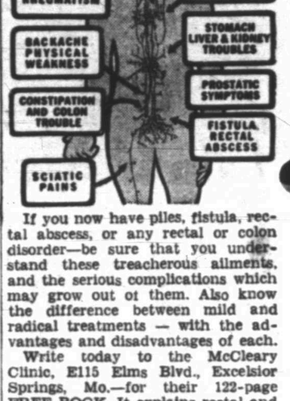

The Presbyterian Business and Professional Women's circle 8 will be addressed at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the church, and at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Mead will teach a lesson for the Tuesday Bible class in the residence of Mrs. W. T. Raybon of 1110 Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Mead recently returned from study in Jerusalem.

Mexican ballets performed by Mexican dancers to Mexican music and embodying Mexican themes constituted a program given recently in Mexico City to portray the revival of the arts in Mexico.

How Piles Affect General Health

It is a well-known fact that piles and colon disorders may be a factor in causing focal (localized) infection, just the same as diseased teeth or tonsils. Where this occurs, the sufferer is apt to be troubled with any one or several of the "reflex" associated ailments shown in the chart below.

If you now have piles, fistula, rectal abscess, or any rectal or colon disorder—be sure that you understand these treacherous ailments, and the serious complications which may grow out of them. Also know the difference between mild and radical treatments — with the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Write today to the McCleary Clinic, E115 Elms Blvd., Excelsior Springs, Mo.—for their 122-page FREE BOOK. It explains rectal and colon disorders in clear language; also describes a comparatively mild treatment used at their clinic which has brought relief to thousands of men and women. They will also send you former patient references from your own section. This interesting book is free and is sent postpaid. Use the above address and ask for it today—by card or letter. It would be helpful in answering your letter if you would check in the above chart any of the ills which you now have that have been so diagnosed by your family physician. Please mail the chart with your letter. Adv.

The 1934 International championship team, and the prized 'bronze bull' left to right: Mowery; W. L. Stangel; Homer Brumley, Hereford stock buyer; Henry Elder, Lubbock High vocational agriculture teacher; J. P. Smith, Panhandle vocational teacher; N. C. Fine, Tech staff; Lawrence Shipman, FSA at Lamesa; Herbert Davis, Seminole; the late President Bradford Knapp and Dean A. H. Leidigh.

'Maker Of Champions' Title Goes To Mowery; Record At Lubbock High Still Stands

MANY of you probably never heard of it and those who were here when it happened, probably have forgotten about it.

Lubbock High school's vocational agricultural judging team set a four-year record of winning state championship judging contests and still holds that record—four successive championships in a row. They were won back in 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925.

Coaching those teams was a young fellow named Ray C. Mowery, who today is professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college and is still coaching livestock judging teams. And a glance at the records at Tech reveals that he is still putting out championship teams, although not in such a sensational manner as when he was at Lubbock High.

Tech Teams Have Done Well

In the past 14 years, his teams have won first places in four major livestock judging contests, the Fort Worth Exposition and Fat Stock Show in 1928 and 1935, the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City in 1937 and the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago in 1934.

Livestock judging is in Ray Mowery's blood. From the time he was a youngster on his father's farm near Houston, through his years at Texas A. & M. college where he was on the school's major judging teams and during his teaching career, he has put livestock judging work ahead of everything else. In his years at Tech he has coached approximately 100 boys on various judging teams and now looks back on that group as being one of the most successful bunch of graduates from the institution. He has been a perennial judge for livestock shows and fairs over West Texas ever since he came to this section back in the fall of 1921.

Produces Grand Champions

His department has furnished three grand champion barrows at the Fort Worth show in three different breeds in the past six years, an outstanding achievement in one of the best regional livestock shows of the nation. Tech 1935, the grand champion Hampshire in 1937 and the grand champion Poland China in 1938.

Ray Clifford Mowery was born on a farm near Anna, Ill., March 17, 1900, the youngest of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mowery. His father was a farmer and when Ray was two years old, the family moved to a farm nine miles from Houston; in the vicinity of which all of the rest of the children still reside with the exception of the Lubbock man.

Ray's father died in 1938 at the age of 82 years. Other members of the family are; H. A., farmer near Houston; T. F., building contractor at Houston; I. H., electrical appliance dealer, Houston; Curtis, farmer-rancher at Sandy Point; Mrs. Eva R. Swengel; Mrs. Bettie Pretty, Mrs. O. W. Fordyce and Miss Mary Mowery, all of Houston.

Active At A. & M.

Young Mowery's elementary schooling was in a country school at Almeda and he attended high school at Houston, graduating in 1917. That fall he entered Texas A. & M. and was a member of the class of 1921. In A. & M., he was a major in the cadet corps, a member of the Ross Volunteers; won the drill medal in his senior year; and was active in activities of the Saddle and Sirloin club.

Coming to Lubbock in the fall of 1921, he taught the first vocational agriculture courses in Lubbock High and a year later began his sensational work with the judging teams. In his sixth year, the team dropped to fifth place. In 1926, he joined the staff at Tech and the school dropped the courses until 1935.

Mowery also acted in the capacity of yell leader at Lubbock High in his early years here and was president of the Athletic association. Members of his judging teams have continued their work in the profession. Judson Todd, Curtis Grimes, R. B. Davis, John Burroughs, F. G. Blackmon, J. R. Boyd, Wilbur Lemons and many others are still in the livestock industry, either as county agents, farmer-stockmen or in allied lines. His 'boys' at Tech are making even more enviable records in their work.

Married In 1929

On June 1, 1929, he and Miss Eunice Cox, a teacher in the speech department at Tech, were married. They have two daughters, Susan, six; and Linda three. The family resides at 2416 Broadway.

Ray Mowery isn't 'tied up' in his profession so much that he doesn't have time for extra-curricula activities. He was the first new member of the Lubbock Kiwanis club to be taken into the organization after its founding in 1922 and served as the club's president in 1936. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and the Lubbock Commandery and was commander in 1927. He is superintendent of the Sunday school at the First Presbyterian church and a member of the board of deacons. He is also secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock Milam home.

Was Acting Department Head

He is a member of the American Society of Animal Production and the American Association of University Professors. The Block and Bridle club and the Aggie club always count on his support. He and Mrs. Mowery are members of the Trailers dance club and the Faculty club. He is a member of the West Texas Museum association and of the social activities committee of the faculty.

During the absence of W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department in 1935 and 1936, Mowery served as acting head of the department. Stangel was loaned as livestock superintendent of the Texas Centennial exposition at Dallas.

Mowery's 'boys' compete in four major judging contests, at Fort Worth, Denver, Kansas City and Chicago. The Denver team recently placed second in the contests there and he is now preparing a team for the Fort Worth show next month.

Likes To Hunt And Fish

He has a bachelor of science degree from A. & M. and a master's degree from Iowa State.

Hunting, fishing and photography are his hobbies but he spends most of his vacation periods in traveling with the family. In 1930, he and Mrs. Mowery spent the summer in Europe and each summer trips are taken over the Western part of the U. S. On these trips, he always stops and visits many great livestock farms.

His theory of successful agriculture?

Oh, yes, he'll tell you that he doesn't believe agriculture will ever be permanent without livestock. You must have livestock to have a balanced farming program.

Sundown Newspaper Will Be Published

WHITEFACE, Feb. 8. (Special)—Sundown, borderline town in the big middle of this section's oil play, is to have a newspaper, it has been announced.

Final arrangements will be made in Oklahoma by Castlebury and Sons, who have published several papers in oil areas, said W. D. McBee, attorney who is associated with a Sundown townsite. The Castleburys once were associated with the Nunn publishing interests of Amarillo, and have been associated with papers at Borger, Texola, Anadarko, Okla., and Seminole, Okla.

Negro Signs Up For Military Service

AUSTIN, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Van Darling Wilbarger, 33, a negro, was registered today for military service and the government's case against him apparently ended.

Charges against Wilbarger and his father, John Tom Wilbarger, 62, were heard last week by Federal District Judge R. J. McMillan. The elder Wilbarger, a preacher, told the court that he advised his son not to register last Oct. 16 because it was contrary to his religious principles.

McMillan deferred sentence until Friday, after explaining that conscientious objectors should register but could explain their objections if they are drafted. When the time came to pass sentence, the judge again deferred it until the June term of court and advised young Wilbarger to register.

He did so within a few minutes after leaving the courtroom.

Willard A. Giddens, agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, questioned several University of Texas students who attended the Wilbarger hearing. The students said they were members of a pacifist organization.

North American Warplane Factory Near Dallas Has World's Biggest Workshop

Ships To Roll In March; Painted Golf Course To Camouflage Roof

BY ED HOFFMAN
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Feb. 8.—The biggest room in the world . . . without a single window . . . made liveable by the world's biggest air conditioning system . . illuminated by one of the world's most powerful lighting systems . . . yes, it's quite an airplane factory North American Aviation, Inc., is rushing to completion just outside Dallas. Company officials hope army planes will be rolling out of the plant by mid-March.

Big is the word for just about everything related to this enterprise.

Big is the word for its cost—$7,000,000.

JAMES HOWARD KINDELBERGER, president of North American Aviation, Inc.

THIS VIEW OF THE STRUCTURAL STEEL work on the North American plant gives an idea of the immensity of the building. Tiny speck in right extreme background is a man.

Backed By Government

Backed by the government in building the new plant, North American bought 140 acres adjoining Hensley field, an army air base four miles west of Dallas. Ground was broken last Sept. 28. Company officials expect to be making planes by March.

The plant is being built with an eye to all the lessons learned from Europe's experience with bombs from the air. For the most part it will be one story high. It will have no windows. The roofs will consist of a steel deck with 2 1-2 inches of asphalt-dip, cane fiber insulation, in turn covered by tar and gravel. If a bomb strikes such a roof, there is no crash of ruined masonry. The bomb would hit a floor made of five-inch reinforced concrete slabs, laid over a three-inch sand cushion. Builders believe a bomb would not greatly interfere with production.

Roof Camouflaged

The roof will be thoroughly camouflaged. A complete 18-hole golf course with artificial trees and shrubs will be painted on it.

The factory will have six units: the main building, the largest room in the world, 960 by 870 feet, covering a floor space of 835,200 square feet; hangar building, 45,000 square feet; drop hammer building, 15,000 square feet; foundry, 25,000 square feet; paint mixing building, 12,000 square feet; office building, 8400 square feet.

In Four Units

This gives an idea of the size of the building:

The national capital at Washington is famed not only for its beauty but for its immensity. It covers 153,112 square feet. But the North American factory covers about five and a half times as much floor space as the capitol building.

The main building will be divided into four units. Final assembly of planes will be made in an area 150 feet wide by 960 feet long—that's about equal to three football fields—with 150-foot span steel trusses.

Painting Department Fireproof

The manufacturing section of this main room will be 576 by 960 feet—10 football fields, 250 tennis courts. Here will be conducted all fabrication operations, such as preparation of material, fabrication of sheet metal, wing and center section assembly, engine installation, machining, welding and painting.

In the painting section there will be 15 individual spray booth units protected by fireproof walls and doors and a fire extinguisher system. The warehouse section of the main room will be 144 by 960 feet. Here will be the shipping department, wood shop, processing department and maintenence department.

Built For Comfort

The engineering department in the big room will occupy a mezzanine area 300 by 150 feet—merely a single football field — with offices for departmental heads and the engineering staff.

Of the million square feet of space in the entire plant about 700,000 square feet will be completely air conditioned. The remaining area will take the leakage from the air-conditioned parts and thus will be semi-air conditioned. Power for this will be supplied by four 650-ton centrifugal type compressors, each with a capacity of 125,000 cubic feet of air per minute. In the winter this same system will heat the plant.

Electric power will be obtained from Dallas, but there will be an emergency service in the factory itself, consisting of three 1000-watt Diesel generating units.

As there are no windows in the plant, lighting will be all-important. Fluorescent lighting of the latest type will supply 26 foot candles of light on all points of planes under construction and, where precision work is necessary, will supply 40 foot candles of light.

The plant will be the first new airplane plant at a new location constructed as part of the national defense program. If plane deliveries begin in March, it will also be the first new plant to get into production. By the end of 1941 officials expect the plant to be turning out between 300 and 400 airplanes a month.

While the plant is being pushed to completion, the company is running a school in Dallas to train men to take places in the factory. There will be 12,000 employes at first, with a yearly payroll running into millions of dollars.

Man Sells Furniture And Baby's Diapers To Obtain Booze

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 8 (U.P.)—William Price, an unemployed house painter, began a two weeks jail sentence today for non-support of his wife and two children. W. Preston Crook, probation officer, informed the court that Price had sold the furniture out of his home piece by piece, "and everything else he could lay his hands on, including the baby's diapers, to buy booze."

New Yoakum Pool Opening Is Prominent Oil Development In Area During Past Week

By JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

West Texas' outstanding oil development during the week just ended was the natural oil flow by George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Shell-Ernest Ownby in Yoakum county, opening a new pool or effecting a three-mile north by northeast extension of the Waples-Platter area.

Magnolia Petroleum Co. staked location for No. 1 Maple Wilson in Hockley county 440 feet out of the southwest corner of labor 8, league 41, Maverck County school land survey, approximately one-half mile north of production in the Slaughter field.

Slaughter Has Six Producers

The Slaughter field, most northerly in the West Texas Permian Basin, registered six completed oil producers, three each in Hockley and Cochran counties.

On the Hockley county side, Devonian No. 2 Citizens National Bank in the southwest corner of labor 28-39-Maverick was finaled at 5,009 feet with a daily potential of 1,154 barrels, having been treated with 11,000 gallons of acid. Bond and Awoeb No. 3 Berry, in the northwest part of labor 46-39-Maverick, responded to treatment with 9,000 gallons of acid by flowing at a daily rate of 991 barrels of oil plus 2.7 per cent basic sediment and water. It was bottomed at 5,015 feet. S. W. Richardson No. 10 Slaughter, in the northeast part of labor 58-39-Maverick, was treated with 8,000 gallons of acid and registered a daily potential of 1,154 barrels.

Has Potential Of 649 Barrels

In Cochran county, Mid-Continent No. 1-A Mallett, 580 feet out of the northeast corner of labor 25-50-Scurry, was finished at 5,050 feet, after treatment with 11,000 gallons of acid, with a daily potential of 649 barrels. Magnolia No. 2-H Mallett, in the northwest corner of labor 2-53-Scurry, was acidized with 10,500 gallons and flowed at a rate of 604 barrels daily, with the total depth 5,065 feet. Atlantic No. 4 Boyd, in the southwest corner of labor 19-56-Oldham, was completed at 5,053 feet, flowing at a daily rate of 675 barrels. It was treated with 10,000 gallons of acid.

Livermore No. 1 Shell-Ownby in Yoakum county showed the first free oil from 5,227-30 feet, filled 3,750 feet with oil in 16 hours while drilling to 5,251 and flowed naturally at a rate estimated at 60 barrels daily after obtaining an increase from 5,270-78 feet. Deepening to 5,292 feet and acidizing was planned.

Shell Owns Offets

The well is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 502-D-John H. Gibson, three miles north and three-quarters of a mile east of Livermore (formerly Sloan & Zook Co. and Tom N. Sloan) No. 1 Waples-Platter, a flowing well 2 1-2 miles northeast of the nearest production in the Bennett sector of the Wasson field. The nearest wells in the Waples-Platter and Bennett areas did not flow until acidized.

Shell owns west, east and northeast offsets to Livermore No. 1 Shell-Ownby, Sinclair-Prairie the north offset and Devonian the adjoining lease on the south.

M. C. Lindsay farmed out to George Etz of Lubbock labor 11, league 283, Schleicher county school land survey, in northeasten Gaines county for the drilling of a test south of the Cedar Lake pool. Lindsay retained a one-eighth override.

Ector Well Finaled

Phillips Petroleum Co. No. 1-A M Bar Ranch, opener of a new oil producing spot in northwestern Ector county, was finaled at 4,317 feet for a 24-hour flow of 34.23 barrels of net oil plus 7.4 per cent water through a 34-64ths inch choke on 2-inch tubing. Pay topped at 4,210 feet was treated with 2,500 gallons of acid in two stages. The well is three miles south and one-half mile west of Phillips No. 1 M Bar, discovery gasser on the M Bar Ranch in Andrews county.

Atlantic and Sun No. 2 - B O. B. Holt estate in Andrews county 1 1-2 miles north of production in the North Cowden field in Ector county topped the anhydrite at 1,790 feet, 1,342 feet above sea level, reportedly normal, and drilled ahead below 2,775 feet in anhydrite and salt.

Roeser & Pendleton of Fort Worth and Merry Bros. & Perini of Abilene cemented 7-inch casing at 4,912 feet in their No. 1 Bird S. Hays, north offset to Kenneth Slack No. 1 Hays, discovery wet gasser in west central Ward county near Quito. It had showed a small amount of oil in Delaware sand on drill stem tests after drilling to 5,184 feet. Location is in the west corner of section 164-34-H&TC.

To Go To 7,000 Feet

Stanolind No. 1-B W. F. Cowden heirs, one-mile west outpost to the North Cowden deep field in Ector county, had drilled to 6,108 feet in dolomite under a new contract to go 7,000 feet unless production is developed meanwhile. Location is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of the west half of section 12-14-In-T&P.

Latest of the half-mile east extensions to the north end of the Tubb deep Permian lime producing in western Crane county, Gulf No. 16 Waddell established a record daily potential for the area of 8,263.44 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil for completion at 4,533 feet. It was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. Gulf staked location one-half mile to the north for No. 20 Waddell, near the center of the southwest quarter of section 21-B26-psl.

Water Shut Off

Culbertson & Irwin, Inc., No. 1 Mary Heiner, possible opener of Pecos county's third Ordovician producing area, showed 40 per cent water in eight barrels of fluid swabbed hourly at plugged back depth of 5,541 feet. It shut off the water by plugging back to 5,527 feet, was retreated with 2,000 gallons of acid and was testing. Location is in the northwest corner of section 589,GC-&SF Ry. Co. survey, in the Byrne sector of the Pecos Valley Permian lime pool.

Stanolind staked No. 1 Conry-Davis unit 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 31-9-H&GN, four miles east and slightly south of Stanolind (formerly Taubert and others) No. 1 Crockett, opener of the Abell pool, Pecos county's second Ordovician producing area. Drilling of the test was provided in Stanolind's recent purchase from George T. Abell and associates of leases totaling 3,060 acres within a four-mile radius of the discovery well, which Stanolind acquired at the same time.

TWINS?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Two brothers—Charles Holbrook of Montgomery, Ala., and Cecil Holbrook of Frankfort, Ky.—ran into each other here recently. They discovered they had drawn the same selective service number

MAY TOSS HIM OUT — Dr. Herman F. Erben, above, medical officer of the scuttled German raider Graf Spee's supply ship, faced deportation when a San Francisco judge recently revoked his American citizenship, upholding charges that Dr. Erben "knowingly made false statements" on his citizenship papers.

Allotments Have Been Increased

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 8 (Special)—All state allotments for special crops under the 1941 AAA program have been increased slightly over the allotments for 1940, B. F. Vance, administrative officer in charge of the AAA in Texas, has announced.

The total cotton allotment, not including new-grower allotments, in 1941 will be 9,880,197 acres, an increase of 4,072 over last year's 9,876,125 acres.

Peanut Allotment Higher

The peanut allotment has climbed from 238,151 acres in 1940 to 243,437 acres in 1941.

The rice allotment for 1941 will be 199,766 acres as compared with 194,546 acres in 1940.

Already announced was the wheat allotment of 4,232,822 acres as compared with 4,182,923 acres in 1940.

General Allotment Lower

Only allotment taking a cut was the general crop allotment which fell from 14,412,173 acres in 1940 to 13,538,212 acres in 1941.

Generally speaking, cotton allotments in the various counties in the state remained about the same, Vance said, although some county allotments increased slightly, while others decreased. Cotton allotments are computed by a set formula as provided by the Agricultural Adjustment Act passed by Congress, the administrator pointed out, and are not subject to the discretion of AAA officials or committees.

School Courses To Start Soon

All young men and workers interested in enrolling in the classes to be offered in the national defense program by the Lubbock Public schools, in cooperation with the National Youth administration and the federal government through the state department of education, should get in touch with Dr. W. B. Irvin as soon as possible, he announced Friday.

Dr. Irvin said it was possible for those who wished to take advantage of this training to call his office or to mail their intention to take the courses to his office in the Senior High school building.

Work To Be Started

Work on the building to house the equipment for the classes will begin as soon as approval is received from Washington, and that approval is expected momentarily, Irvin said.

A refresher course for those who have had training in electrical work, machine shop work, or metal work is to be offered, with 30 hours given each week. Irvin said that it is possible that this course will be offered at night. WPA workers are eligible to take this work and are to be paid for the hours they spend in this manner.

Others To Benefit

Out-of-school youths are also to benefit from the training. There will be two sections planned for these youths, one with thirty hours each week, and one with fifteen hours each week. Boys in the CCC camp will be eligible for the course which is to offer fifteen hours per week.

A supplemental course for men who are regularly employed or part time employed is to be offered, probably in the evening, with twelve hours of training each week.

Dr. Irvin said he is anxious to complete rolls on these classes so that when all arrangements are made the work may begin immediately.

Here's One Way To Stop An Argument

EL PASO, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—A New York girl, visiting El Paso friends, was driving along a highway on the city's outskirts when she crashed her automobile into the gate of a farm.

To a highway patrolman investigating the accident she said:

"Everybody was arguing and I was tired of it so I just drove into the gate to stop them."

The car was badly damaged. No one was injured.

Demonstration To Be Offered Wednesday

Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, will demonstrate late developments in death-dealing and life-protecting rays and mechanical inventions to prevent imperfections in machinery at Junior High school auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

The address will be sponsored by the Lubbock Technical club and the Texas Technological college chapter of American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The program will be free.

Dr. Thomas will illustrate uses of ultraviolet radiation, the sterilamp, photo-electric cells and atom-smashing.

His talk will be accompanied by pictures flashed on a screen and by exhibits. He will especially discuss the value of late developments in electricity to the national defense program.

Contract For New Lamesa Church Let

LAMESA, Feb. 8 (Special)—C. L. Hendrick & son of Waco was awarded a contract to build a new $66,000 First Baptist church in Lamesa, it was announced after a meeting of the building committee last week.

Work is expected to get underway soon after March 1, said O. B. Norman, chairman of the building committee. The building is to be of light face brick. It will be located on the site of the old church at South First and Wasson streets.

Ten bids were submitted, it was said.

Lubbock Boys Send In County Swine Records

Records of Lubbock county 4-H club boys in the 1940 county wide swine contest have been sent to College Station for judging in the state and district contests, Lee H. McElroy, assistant farm agent and club leader said Saturday.

Two hundred twelve of the 214 boys who were enrolled in swine work completed their records, McElroy said. They produced approximately 80,000 pounds of meat. Seventy-five boys had registered sows or gilts.

Lubbock county placed second in the state, winning a $50 prize.

TRAVELING LABORATORY TO DRAMATIZE RESEARCH

Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, will use working models of recent engineering developments to support his assertion that "practically every important peacetime engineering achievement of the past 10 years will have an important, if indirect bearing on our national defense, enabling this country to build stronger and better designed defense weapons." Listed below are a few of the laboratory products to be used in this story of "Electricity at Work."

- A projection device will show death rays, released from an ultraviolet source, exploding a swarming colony of tiny organisms in a drop of water.
- With a model "atom smasher," Dr. Thomas will explain how the 60-foot Westinghouse electric generator at East Pittsburgh, Pa., makes radioactive materials and bombards the hearts of atoms.
- Steel Balls that contradict a rule of gravitation.
- A nickel-bar that changes its length when talked to.
- A "Stroboglow" lamp that makes fast-traveling objects appear to stand still.

After Bengasi--What? Is Puzzle Now

Graziani Only Toothless Lion

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Britain and her Allies have won a great victory in the Libyan campaign, and one which is strategically complete in itself. The initiative is theirs and they are free to decide which of several possible courses they shall pursue.

It would be natural for any army in the flush of triumph to want to race over that long curved coastal highway to Tripoli and there take the sword of the great Marshal Graziani himself in his last stronghold. If I know my Australians—and I was with them both in the desert warfare and in France during the World war—their command is having a job to hold them back right now.

May Consolidate Area

British General Wavell may decide to do exactly that in order to be able to consolidate the entire Libyan territory right up against the sweeping French colonial borders to the west and south. Still, it isn't an essential operation.

Wavell already has secured the safety of Egypt and the Suez canal and has vastly strengthened Britain's domination of the all-important Mediterranean.

So far as concerns Graziani and his shattered army, they are impotent.

Is Toothless Lion

Graziani in Tripoli is a toothless lion in a cage. The only way Mussolini could put him on his feet would be with vast reinforcements and supplies of all kinds. Those can't be moved by air. They must go by sea, and Britain controls that.

There has been some talk that Il Duce might even risk his navy against the British fleet in order to save Graziani. That would be a terrific gamble on his part, and England is hoping he will chance it.

In this connection the Germans have been trying to persuade the French government to give the Axis the port of Bizerte, in Tunisia, as a base of operations against the British. This not only would put the Axis astride the British lifeline in the narrow way between Italy and Africa, but would enable them to bring Graziani aid from the west through French Tunisia.

France Gives Answer

Europe has waited on the edge of its chair for France's answer. It came yesterday when General Weygand, commander of French forces in Africa, announced in the name of his government that Bizerte never would be surrendered.

The British now have to decide what enterprise is the most profitable to pursue. They can (1) continue their drive to Tripoli, (2) utilize troops and equipment to reinforce their operations in Ethiopia, Eritrea and Somaliland so as to smash up the rest of the Italian empire—or (3) send reinforcements, both land and air, to the Greeks.

The Greek situation is one which must demand careful consideration. Not only do the Greeks need help to evict the Italians from Albania, but they are in danger of attack by the Germans. The Anglo-Allies can't afford to allow the Axis to get a hold on strategically vital Greece.

The steel industry offices consume nearly 6,500,000 pounds of office paper, enough to make a pile of standard business letterhead size sheets 41 miles high, in a year.

Excitement In Abundance Is Found By A Canadian Destroyer In Atlantic Patrol

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch was written for the Associated Press by Louis V. Hunter of the Canadian Press staff).

BY LOUIS V. HUNTER

ABOARD A CANADIAN DESTROYER AT SEA, Feb. 8 (AP)—The destroyer lurched away from the dark, friendly coast of Britain for the uncharted dangers of the submarine-ridden Atlantic to keep a rendezvous with fat little trade steamers supplying the Britons with food and steel to wage their war.

This was routine for the 'teen age Canadian seamen aboard—escorting those ships safely across to America. The freighters and one giant liner which the Germans claimed to have sunk slipped out of another British port to make the junction at a designated point on the gale-lashed ocean.

Expected No Excitement

Lieut.-Commander Jackson of Calgary said: "This probably won't be an exciting cruise."

Within a few hours the crew raced to its action stations, and began unloading depth charges. The destroyer shivered at every explosion.

It may have been a submarine—or a school of fish. But no chances are taken with the recorded presence of underwater objects.

"If it's a submarine those depth charges will make it stay down," Lieut. J. E. Mitchell explained above the din.

No Chances Taken

No chances are taken with aircraft either. One of the escorting warships quickly fired at an approaching plane. The stream of lead ceased only when the pilot hastily dropped identifying flares.

The convoy safely crossed the submarine "zone," and our destroyer now turned back to play shepherd dog at the sides of two British warships plunging toward England.

Mountainous waves whipped by a howling gale washed the ship from end to end. Parts of the rigging whipped away into the night under the terrific impact of that gale.

Starshells Are Seen

On such a night the starshells were seen bursting to starboard. A minute later came the laconic wireless message:

"Torpedoed. Sinking fast."

Then came the race through those impeding seas to reach the stricken vessel. Survivors were being fished from that raging torrent by another warship when a second vessel reported "under attack."

Still a third distress call clipped through the night.

Again a heave of motors and a race to the third location.

What remained was a patch of oil and a few pieces of wood.

Former Bell County Judge Death Victim

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8 (AP)—G. M. Felts, for the past 15 years a resident of Fort Worth and for many years previously a resident of Belton where he was county judge from 1900 until 1904, died last night.

Felts, who for the past 10 years had made his home here with a daughter, Mrs. J. A. Kelso, came to Texas in 1877 from Arkansas and settled in Bell county at Belton where he practiced law for almost 50 years before moving to Fort Worth.

In addition to Mrs. Kelso, Mr. Felts is survived by four sons, George B., of Caracas, Venezuela, William, of Fort Worth, Wallace M. of Houston, and Charles L., of New York City.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow in Belton. Burial will be in the North Belton cemetery.

Women In Baltimore Now Driving Taxis

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP) — Miss Edith Jeffries cruised the rainy streets of Baltimore today searching for "fares" as the first of "ten women drivers to be hired as an experiment" by a taxi-cab company.

"If the plan is a success, we probably will let down the bars and hire men and women on an equal footing," said Robert Freedman, head of the company.

INDIAN TRAVOIS

The primitive vehicle used by plains Indians for hauling their belongings was known as a travois. Two dragging poles served as shafts for a dog or horse, and a platform was laid across the two.

"Santa Fe Trail" To Bring Western Thrills To Lindsey

YESTERDAY'S history makes today's exciting screen thrills and characters out of the past flash across the Lindsey screen today for thrills galore in the western style in the showing of "Santa Fe Trail."

With Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland topping the big-name cast, others having prominent roles include Ronald Reagan, Raymond Massey, Alan Hale, Van Heflin, Gene Reynolds, William Lundigan, Henry O'Neill.

Famous Characters

Principals who spring to life are Jeb Stuart, General George Custer and John Brown. Stuart and Custer, newly graduated from West Point, are sent to Fort Leavenworth.

One of their first duties is to escort a wagon train of freight westward on the Santa Fe trail. The wagon train service is owned by Cyrus Holliday and his daughter, Kit Carson Holliday, is the manager. Both young officers fall in love with her.

On their first assignment, Stuart and Custer run into difficulties with John Brown and his followers. They attack the wagon train, in order to get a shipment of "bibles" being freighted westward. The "bibles," however, turn out to be guns. This is the beginning of a long struggle between Brown's forces, who are seeking to create their own empire within the United States, and the military forces represented by Stuart and Custer.

"Maisie" Is Here Again

Ann Sothern, the vivacious blonde with the provocative ways, and who is becoming increasingly popular in her "Maisie" roles, is back in her latest one at the Palace, "Maisie Was A Lady."

And she is supported by her most impressive cast. In addition to Miss Sothern in the title role there are Lew Ayres, Maureen O'Sullivan and C. Aubrey Smith.

Maisie is seen as a wise-cracking stranded showgirl, who this time loses her job as the "headless woman" in a carnival sideshow due to the antics of inebriate playboy Ayres.

The drama of the story is contributed largely by Miss O'Sullivan as Abby, the sister, whose tangled life Maisie attempts to unravel after Abby discovers that her fiance is interested solely in her millions.

Another Bette Davis triumph heads the program at the Tower. With Herbert Marshall in the leading male role, the star appears again here in "The Letter."

"The Letter" is based on W. Somerset Maugham's stage drama, originally presented on Broadway with Katharine Cornell in the starring role. It is the story of a woman who murders for love, and the consequences she suffers, even though the law acquits her.

A powerful drama of undying love in the big city is the theme to greet audiences at the Texan when "City For Conquest" starts a brief run there today.

James Cagney and Ann Sheridan are the stars.

Price Of Success High

Cagney plays the part of an East Side newsboy who discovers that one must be hard and tough to make a dent in the town. Miss Sheridan has the role of a girl who finds that the price of success can be very high.

Ann dances her way to fame while Cagney tries to make enough money to marry her and send his brother through music school. They find that the city can be conquered, but only if one can face great tragedy and sacrifice.

The price has for a supporting cast Frank Craven, Frank McHugh, Arthur Kennedy, George Tobias, Jerome Cowan, Joyce Compton.

Another frontier action epic, "When The Daltons Rode," starts the week at the Cactus theater.

Randolph Scott and Kay Francis top the cast which also includes Brian Donlevy, Broderick Crawford, Stuart Erwin, Frank Albertson, George Bancroft, Andy Devine, Mary Gordon, Harvey Stephens and Quen Ramsey.

The film marks the first outdoor role of Miss Francis's career. She is seen as the telegraph operator of Coffeyville, Kas. center of the Dalton gang's operations in the early nineties. Scott appears as a frontier lawyer and befriends the embattled Daltons when they are persecuted by land company agents.

Gene Autry is back at the Lyric today in "Ridin' On A Rainbow" to afford to live the way I do." . . . Sign on a local apartment: "Vacancy—No Children, Dogs, Song Writers, Tap Dancers or Vocal Students." . . . Joan Blondell took 6-year-old Norman to see one of her pictures. Afterward, asked how he liked it, all he said was, "Mother, is that why you're so tired every night?"

FLOUR WAS WASTED

The picturesque old English custom of powdering the hair was abandoned largely because of a scarcity of food. It was discovered, during a food shortage, that the flour used to whiten the hair of the Baritish army alone was enough to feed 50,000 people.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Rich Man Meditates Upon Impulsiveness Of Young Lovers

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8 — Behind the screen:

Sad story about the wealthy, aging playboy who almost turned over Heaven and Hollywood to arrange a screen test for a girl-friend, with an able young leading man to appear with her. She got a contract, all right—and won the actor, too. They've been going together ever since, while the lonely rich man meditates upon feminine ingratitude and the impulsiveness of young love.

PICTURE companies have said "No, thanks" to the British offer allowing frozen assets in England to be invested in theaters there. Insurance rates on theaters run as high as 30 per cent, and even movie-making isn't that big a gamble . . . Note of alarm: Most popular film in Buenos Aires is "Petrolee," about U. S. oil grabs in the Argentine. It's said to be antagonistic to this country throughout, and all U. S. characters are heavies.

THERE'LL be a bid for U. S. sympathy for the French people in "Reunion," an original story being prepared by Metro. It deals with the efforts of patriots in occupied France to oppose Germany and bolster French morale. . . . Her friends here have been told that Danielle Darrieux, shapely French star who made one picture here, has arranged to return to Hollywood to stay.

Go Up In Smoke

BING CROSBY has dieted off 25 pounds in preparation for his next picture and denies that he's trying to get down to 115 so that he can jockey his own horses. . . . Cesar Romero has been ordered to regain 25 pounds before he works again. The flu and a tough shooting schedule had him looking like a couple of photographs pasted together. . . . Heard Jack Benny and Mervyn LeRoy make a pact to quit smoking; and a single puff will cost $100 if the other catches him.

BRITISH Eric Blore hates a monocle but often has to wear one in pictures. Charles Coburn, American-born, always wears a monocle off-stage but casting directors don't consider him the type. Don Ameche's face just isn't designed to hold a single eye-piece, so for scenes in "The Road to Rio" he has to paste in a monocle with spirit gum.

CECIL DE MILLE is begging Tallulah Bankhead to come back to the screen in "Reap the Wild Wind". . . . In the earliest scenes of "Pioneer Woman," Barbara Stanwyck will appear as a woman of 109 years. Story of her life will be told in flashbacks.

AFTER years of air travel in his own ships, and of being the ablest flyer among all directors, Henry King finally is going to direct an aviation picture . . . Both the Gables and Taylors are shopping for large, practical cattle ranches, probably in Arizona.

Shearer And Taylor Star In "Escape," Now At Broadway

Gene Autry Is Riding At Lyric

A GRIPPING adventure story, Ethel Vance's best-seller, "Escape," will headline this week's program at the Broadway theater.

The cast, headed by Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor, is unexcelled and presents masterful characterizations.

Escape Plot Featured

Miss Shearer has never been seen to better advantage than as the world-weary Countess von Treck, who finds herself involved in the attempt of ex-actress Emmy Ritter to escape a death sentence in a concentration camp. Nazimova has the part of the prisoner in her return to the screen for the first time in 15 years.

Other figures contribute to the fascinating plot. There is Conrad Veidt as the epitome of impatient militarism, the general, lover of the countess; and Dutch newcomer Philip Dorn as the concentration camp physician, who refuses to let the new ideology of his country blind him to human obligations and sympathy; Felix Bressart as the stubborn yet loyal family retainer, Fritz.

The story of "Escape" scores its points in the very fact that it does not treat of concentration camp brutalities or physical terrors, but lays bare the souls of those who are implicated in Emmy Ritter's escape.

Others In Cast

Others of the cast include Albert and Elsa Bassermann as the fearful Henning and his wife; Edgar Barriar as the sadistic police commissioner; Bonita Granville as Ursula, student in the countess' finishing school; Blanche Yurka as the brutal hospital nurse.

Lyric theater today offers a fine concoction of unadulterated fun in the Gene Autry film, "Ridin' On A Rainbow."

Autry, always entertaining, excels in his role of a showboat entertainer who undertakes to straighten out the affairs of the itinerate show people and the more or less stationary cowboys.

Smiley Burnette again is on hand for his inimitable comedy role, and Mary Lee, the moppet songstress, wins favor in her appealing role of the child showboat entertainer who is torn between her love for her scapegrace father and her knowledge of right and wrong.

Carol Adams is cast in the leading feminine role.

Deputy Collectors To Start Visits In Area

First of a series of visits by deputy internal revenue collectors to towns over this territory will be made this week, beginning Monday, by deputy collectors in the Lubbock office.

"He Stayed For Breakfast" Is Feature At Tech Today

Arcadia Offers "The Sea Hawk"

MELVYN DOUGLAS, who urged "down to earth" pictures and was cast in several via which he boomed to stardom, returns to the Tech theater today in one of the brightest films of his recent hits—"He Stayed for Breakfast."

Supported by a four-star cast which includes Loretta Young, Alan Marshal, Eugene Pallette, Una O'Connor, Curt Bois and Leonid Kinsky, Douglas turns in a performance rivaling those in "This Thing Called Love" and "Third Finger Left Hand."

Plot Humorous

In the picture, up to the minute in setting, Douglas is a waiter with Communistic tendencies in Paris. He shoots Pallette, "representative" of the "upper classes" and husband of Miss Young, who gives him scant sympathy. The police trail the assassin, Douglas, to Loretta's apartment. Douglas disguises himself as one of the authorities, but is discovered by Miss Young, who conceals him for the night. He refuses to leave in the bourgeois clothes she brings him, however, and remains in her apartment. Arrest follows, but Pallette drops charges with the understanding that his wife will return to him. She does, but imbued with Douglas' ideas, she shoots her husband and she in turn rushes to Douglas for protection.

Playing typical roles suited to their abilities, the sophisticated comedy has proved itself. The Tech is presenting the picture through Monday.

Tops In Adventure

One of the greatest adventure thrills ever to come to the screen—"The Sea Hawk" with Errol Flynn—headlines a double bill at the Arcadia today. Easily comparable to the best in sea films, "The Sea Hawk" boasts a cast including Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson, Alan Hale and thousands of others.

Rife with dramatic incidents revolving about England's famous sea hawks, who sailed the seven seas in their pirate galleons, the picture is a tale of the old world in the sixteenth century.

The film concerns itself with the intrigues of Spain's King Philip and his henchmen directed against the court and possessions of England's good Queen Bess, played by Miss Robson. Flynn is seen as Geoffrey Thorpe, daring captain of a buccaneer ship engaged in piratical pursuits against Britain's enemies. He has the Queen's approval in his exploits.

On one of these plundering expeditions, he takes prisoner one of Philip's emissaries to England, a haughty Spanish nobleman portrayed by Rains and his lovely niece, played by Miss Marshall. And from there on, the film is one of continuous action.

"Hideout in the Alps" with Jane Baxter completes the Arcadia's double program, which runs through Monday night.

Loretta Young and Melvyn Douglas are the top notchers appearing in "He Stayed For Breakfast," now at the Tech.

Errol Flynn and Brenda Marshall are to be seen at the Arcadia today in "The Sea Hawk."

James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr will be seen at the Lindsey, starting Thursday, in "Come Live With Me."

Ann Sothern and Lew Ayres are the stars of "Maisie Was A Lady," now on at the Palace.

Contests Set For Saturday

The first division of the 16th annual vocational agriculture judging contests is expected to attract approximately 500 West Texas vocational agriculture students and teachers to Texas Technological college Saturday, said Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education and general superintendent of the contests.

Meats, dairy products, cotton and dairy cattle contests are to be held Saturday. The second division of the contests is scheduled for March 29 and contests to be conducted on that date are livestock judging, poultry, farm shop, crops and horticulture.

Ribbons will be given to the five high contestants in each part of each contest. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to first, second and third boys in each contest and banners to the three high teams in each contest.

Representation is expected from approximately 80 schools.

Senior students and faculty members of the Tech agricultural division will serve as contest officials.

Judging will open at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and awards will be announced at an assembly that night.

USE SILVER TRUMPETS

On state occasions, the household cavalry of England uses trumpets made of solid silver. Eight in a set, they weigh about 30 ounces each and cost between $180 and $200.

Here's Today's Movie Test

1. Her name is Kathryn Adams, leading lady in the serial "Sky Raiders." She's from New Ulm, Minn., daughter of a minister. Can you name (a) a burly he-man star whose father also was a cleric, or (b) a character actor, usually seen in meek, kindly roles, whose father is a Lutheran pastor?

2. France's most famed movie director now is directing Marlene Dietrich in Hollywood. Surely you remember the English-speaking comedy he made in London, a big hit in this country—or do you? (It starred Robert Donat.) Name the director and film.

3. Kindly take a deep breath, blow hard, and see how many movie titles (new or old) you remember as featuring "Wind."

4. Your movie news: (a) One of three movie sisters married recently. Which? (b) What movie couple recently became papa and mama? (c) Who was re-elected president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences?

5. Screwball sallies: (a) "The Philadelphia Story" is about William Penn—modern Main Liners—Quakers in trouble—a reporter after gangsters. Which? (b) "Flight from Destiny" is about quarreling aviators—a man under the Indian sign—an escape from a concentration camp. Which? (c) "Santa Fe Trail" leads to Santa Fe—to the South Pole—to Harper's Ferry, Va. Which?

Count 20 points for each question answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 excellent and 90 or above colossal.

Red Cross Sponsors Safety Drive In Lubbock Schools

An annual drive to educate Lubbock public school children to home and farm accident prevention is being sponsored by the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter under chairmanship of Mrs. R. A. Studhalter. The drive was postponed from October because officials and teachers agreed there were too many outside activities in the fall to make the campaign a success.

Ten thousand booklets and list of common accident causes and their prevention have been received for distribution this week by the teachers who will seek cooperation of their pupils' families in making a careful examination of their homes and surroundings to find all possible causes of accidental death and injury.

Deaths Decreasing

"Hazards in the home," Mrs. Studhalter pointed out, "are a serious menace because they are commonly unrecognized. Last year 31,500 persons lost their lives and 4,650,000 were injured—140,000 of them permanently—as a result of home accidents. The decrease in the home accident death total, from 37,000 in 1936, shows what can be done in this direction through cooperation and persistent effort."

The Red Cross list enumerates the common home accident hazards under the following type-of-accident headings: falls and broken bones, burns and scalds, asphyxiation and suffocation, electric shock, bleeding and infection, poisonings and gun shot wounds.

Farm Accidents Listed

The two principal agents of farm accidents are machinery and livestock. According to recent surveys they account for one-half to two-thirds of all farm accidents. In addition to these, the Red Cross check list sets forth the hazards of the farm under tools and equipment, the farm yard, the home and buildings.

"We believe by cooperating with the school children the adult population of Lubbock can effectively aid in reducing the number of deaths and injuries caused by accidents of this nature," Mrs. Studhalter said.

PATRIOTS—NOT PRESIDENTS

Not named for presidents were the counties of Lincoln, Cleveland and Wilson, in North Carolina. The first two were named for Revolutionary patriots and the third for a general in the Mexican war.

Mount Vesuvius, one of the most famous craters, is not the world's largest volcanic crater.

"I Take This Woman" Heads Midway Program For Week

Tracy, Lamarr In Star Roles

TOUGH and ready Spencer Tracy finds himself cast in a new-type role in his picture, "I Take This Woman," which opens a three-day run at the Midway theater today.

But Tracy, one of the screen's most popular figures, accepts and accomplishes his task with his usual capability.

Cast opposite the veteran hero is lovely Hedy Lamarr as the demanding wife.

Marries To Save Her

The plot finds Tracy as a struggling physician who marries Miss Lamarr in order to help her find herself after an attempted suicide due to a broken heart.

Giving up his work at a clinic which he loves in order to earn more money for his wife, he eventually wins through to the girl's real love as she realizes that she no longer cares for the man who broke his promise, and they return to share the problems of the clinic.

Names in the supporting cast include Verree Teasdale, as the girl's friend; Kent Taylor as the man who was to have married Miss Lamarr, Mona Barrie as his wife, Paul Cavanagh, Laraine Day, Louis Calhern and Marjorie Main.

Ann Sheridan and James Cagney as they appear at the Texan in "City For Conquest."

This May Not Be The Time For The Gambling Amendment; Home Defense Talked

1941 Is An "Off Year"

A "Stacked Vote" Is Possible!

BEFORE those who oppose re-legalization of horse race betting in Texas go overboard in favor of a resolution submitted to the legislature by Rep. A. H. King of Throckmorton, a bit of caution may be advisable.

Mr. King proposes a constitutional amendment forbidding the legislature to legalize race betting or other gambling in Texas.

Doubtless he feels about the matter like most Texans. All are thoroughly fed up with attempts made in every legislature to re-legalize race betting. All are wholly disgusted with sanctimonious pretenses that the racket is proposed in the effort to provide revenues to pay such things as increased old age pensions. All know that those who mention the pennies that such a racket might produce for worthy causes are trying to conceal the millions it would pay to racketeers.

Ordinarily, we would endorse Mr. King's resolution unreservedly and unqualifiedly. If such an amendment is submitted, we shall support it and vote for it. We say with most Texans: "Let's end even the possibility that this 'sport of crooks' might be sneaked back into our state."

But before we are willing to say 1941 is the year of such an election, we would like to know as well as can be ascertained the kind of people who, taken as a whole, are qualified to vote this year. Everyone knows that poll tax payments fell off most sharply.

If those qualified are a true cross section of the citizenship, then let's have the election.

But if it happens—and we don't think this likely—that the poll lists are stacked with those favorable to the return of betting, let's defer the election until the outcome would represent an accurate expression of the will of the people of this state.

We Believe It's Possible

THOSE who professed with some apparent surprise the other day they are beginning to believe Henry Ford can do what he said about producing 1,000 airplanes a day represent the skeptical minority.

The majority reaction is: "I told you so." Common logic taught most people that a man who builds several thousand automobiles a day was pretty apt to know what he was talking about when he said he could build 1,000 airplanes per day.

True, Mr. Ford is not producing planes in mass quantities now. He may never produce them. But if the leftist fringe of the New Deal will drop its policy of refusing contracts to American citizens whose only "crime" is in refusing to permit labor bosses to run their plants, and give Mr. Ford and several other industrial geniuses the opportunity, we believe they can make a success of mass production of airplanes.

In view of their success in mass production of automobiles, it is nothing short of reasonable to believe they could do the same with flying machines.

With Our Contemporaries

"Wandering hasn't been so bad this week since I learned that the average for the plains is 36 dust storms a year, and the knowledge that the purrr has already been taken out of about six of them," John A. Price comments in the County-Wide News, Littlefield.

"We wonder," Vic Lamb notes in the Hale Center American, "is 836 our final 1940 census total—and what happened to 20 who were listed."

The One Minute Sermon

Remember ye not the former things, neither consider the things of old.

Behold, I will do a new thing; now it shall spring forth; shall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert.

The beast of the field shall honour me, the dragons and the owls: because I give waters in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert, to give drink to my people, my chosen.

This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise.—Isaiah 43; 18 through 21.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Smiling Elizabeth Really Works Hard At Being England's Queen

She Helps Uphold Nation's Morale

By G. H. P. ANDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 8. — Picking her way on high-heeled shoes through broken glass, charred wood and rubble, Queen Elizabeth still can smile as she accompanies King George on wearying tours of Britain's battered cities.

She smiled in the opening hour of the war when she sat with her husband in a gasproof bomb shelter under Buckingham Palace as sirens shrilled their first warning. Publicly, at least, she kept smiling when her home was bombed twice, her children sent to the country, and her nation threatened with defeat.

The queen has a three-fold task in this war—guarding the comfort and health of her husband against the fatigues and perils of his wartime duties, inspecting and encouraging Britain's women units as they help their menfolk fight, and running smoothly the largest household in the land under wartime conditions and with rationed food.

No Uniforms For Her

ALTHOUGH she is commandant-in-chief of the three principal women's services — Women's Royal Naval Service, the Auxiliary Territorial Service and the Women's Auxiliary Air Force—she consistently declines to wear a uniform. She leaves to her sister-in-law, the Duchess of Kent, the Princess Royal and the Duchess of Gloucester, that means of honoring the respective services.

Every week she meets with the women of the royal household in the blue drawing room of Buckingham Palace, where Victoria danced as a young queen, to help them knit woolen materials for the troops.

In peacetime, the royal program for each day is minutely planned weeks and months ahead. Now the queen often accompanies her husband on impromptu tours of bombed sections to cheer and comfort the wounded or evacuees.

The Scottish Housewife

ELIZABETH never lets the war interfere with her visits. Once an air raid alert sounded just as she was about to leave Buckingham Palace for a disabled serviceman's exhibition. She rode through to the west end in an armored car tucked behind the khaki-clad driver, a trip which later she admitted she enjoyed thoroughly.

With a gray velvet gas mask container on one arm, she appears in hospitals, barracks, police stations and evacuees' billets with a smile for everyone and a special word for children.

Often the practical training of the Scottish housewife shows through the dignity of the queen. She will take the lids off saucepans in the kitchens and sniff the contents. Once while visiting a hostel for Polish seamen, she said, "I hope they all eat porridge with salt and not sugar." Porridge with salt is the Scottish way.

After eating a six-cent luncheon of stewed beef, potatoes and a jam tart with evacuees in Sussex, the queen visited children from South London who were playing the game of "putting baby to bed."

"Don't forget to wash behind the ears," she advised 4-year-old Shirley Sleet, who was bathing a doll.

When Elizabeth noticed east end evacuees billeted near Windsor had no place in which to keep their clothes, she sent a quantity of solid Victorian furniture from the castle and, for the first time since Victoria's death, the rafters echoed to changed words of the national anthem—"God save the queen."

Wounded Men Enjoy Visits

AS a mother herself ("I know, I have two daughters," she is fond of saying), the queen always is interested in the welfare of children.

She keeps the two little princesses away from London now because "I think it is good for the children to go to the country, especially those

We Learn From England

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE problems confronting American cities in preparing civilian defense plans are so staggering that Mayor F. H. LaGuardia has barely outlined them to President Roosevelt. England's tragic experiences in trying to preserve municipal services and activities under incessant bombing form the basis for the studies. The U. S. Conference of Mayors has been in constant touch with British and Canadian authorities.

Air raids have revolutionized fire-fighting methods and equipment. New wartime apparatus is hardly larger than a good-sized baby carriage. It is really a tiny trailer, equipped with handles for pushing it through narrow and debris-strewn streets. It needs to carry only a pair of couplers, because hose carpets London's thoroughfares day and night. When the path is clear it can be hitched to a taxi, truck or wagon. When necessary it can be lifted or propelled by hand. Boatloads of this sort of apparatus have been made here and shipped to Britain.

The cost of equipping cities with protective devices would be fantastic over here. It is estimated that $21,000,000 would be required to change over New York City's Fire department alone. Additional expenditures for air-raid shelters, rescue stations, blackout caps for street-lighting systems and special personnel would be terrific. On the basis of current information, Mr. LaGuardia's staff now is preparing complete estimates only for key cities within striking distance of our coasts and borders. It would not surprise his experts if the bill approached the 20 billion-dollar figure.

STUDY: The war will have to come much closer to our shores before any civilian defense system will be established on a large scale. Even President Roosevelt showed only transient interest, in spite of warnings by cabinet witnesses on the Lease-Lend bill that Hitler means to invade the United States if he downs England.

When Mayor LaGuardia merely sketched the problem for FDR, the latter suggested that civic committees, volunteer groups and regular city employes could handle it. "Listen, Mister President," countered the mayor in effect. "That is all right for folk dancing, communal singing and basket weaving. But this is as much a war job as combat preparation." He explained that Coventry's fate had taught the British that civilian defense must be organized and administered by the national government. Local communities have neither funds nor facilities. Hardly a taxable piece of property remained in Coventry after the German raid. The Home Ministry office had to pitch in just like Washington often does in time of floods, fires and earthquakes.

The Army and the National Defense commission have been too busy with the combat phase of war preparation to consider this task. But the General Staff has set up quietly a civilian defense section to make a complete study and submit recommendations. Eventually the assignment may be transferred to a new and separate agency. In event of actual invasion such a bureau would rate cabinet rank, as in England.

FLOTILLA: Foreign Minister Matsuoka probably is correct in his guess that President Roosevelt is not anxious for war with Japan. But Tokyo's slow strangulation of the key British base at Singapore has aroused the keenest concern here. By land, sea and air the Japanese have isolated the port that would be so necessary to Anglo-American forces in the event of a Far Eastern conflict.

FDR's interest in recent Japanese gains in this area may be judged from the following incident: When former French Premier Herriot visited the White House some years ago, Mr. Roosevelt's naval knowledge led him to ask: "How about Cap-Saint-Jacques? How far have you gone in constructing the new naval base there? How many ships can you accommodate in the new dry docks?" Poor, philosophical Herriot had to plead ignorance, but he cabled France for information. In relaying it to Mr. Roosevelt, he promised that the facilities there would be available to this country whenever necessary. But now, as part of the Thailand-Indo-China peace agreement, they have fallen to Japan. Cap-Saint-Jacques lies only 800 miles north of Singapore and could harbor almost our entire Pacific fleet.

Even with Nippon's more favored position, her military men are not keen for open warfare. Fighting the Russians and Chinese—their only modern war tests—is a different matter than taking on John Bull and Uncle Sam. And there is a far more powerful flotilla in Far Eastern waters—British, Dutch, American, Australian—than the public realizes.

TUNGSTEN: Past handling of the strategic materials problem by White House and Congress showed definite shortsightedness and unpreparedness. In a small way its history reveals why we are rearming now in such haste and with much waste of time and money.

Five years ago a special departmental committee—Army, Navy, State, Commerce, Treasury—drafted a program for purchase of $100,000,000 worth of war supplies which are not obtainable in this hemisphere in sufficient quantity. In a rare burst of economy, Congress appropriated only about $7,000,000 over a period of two years. Next year the committee tried to persuade the White House to make the proposal a "must bill"—without success. The argument that prices then were at bottom made no headway. Nor did reminders that our Navy, in wartime, would have to divert ships to keep open the sea lanes to sources of these stocks.

Now the Congress has handed over $110,000,000 to assemble materials so essential to manufacture and operation of our war and naval machines. In fact, had it not been for a comparatively small store of tungsten bought by these farsighted planners, the steel industry would have to close down for several months right now.

NEW YORK
By S. Burton Heath

YOU may never have had occasion to think of it in this way—but there is something very apt in the bone-rolling doughboy's interest in baby's new shoes, when he begs for a natural. For every soldier who is accepted or inducted into the U. S. Army, the Quartermaster corps must have on hand or in the works eight pairs of shoes.

When the rookie sheds his civvies he is handed two pairs—if Uncle Sam is prepared. Before the first year is ended he will have worn out these and a third pair—and still must have two good pairs under his cot. That makes five. In the QM stores must be another pair waiting for him—in the supply depot must be a seventh to replace the sixth when it is issued—and in the factory an eighth must be under way to replace the seventh when that has replaced the sixth. The second year—unless he is at the front, under hazardous circumstances—the new soldier will get by with four pairs.

Under and above all these shoes our soldier needs a good 36 pounds of wool. This is distributed among two pairs of underdrawers, two undershirts, one service hat and an overseas cap, two shirts, two pairs of trousers, four pairs of socks, one pair of gloves, one overcoat, two blouses and three blankets. He doesn't wear all of these at once, of course. The wool on his back at any time won't run over sixteen pounds ten ounces, including overcoat—unless he has also a muffler knit for him at home.

DEFICIENCY: From the clothing provided for a single soldier, it is not difficult to conceive something of the task that is confronting Donald Nelson in his attempt to be ready for 1,800,000 men in cantonment by the end of July—and four millions by early '43. Mr. Nelson's procurement office is beginning to worry about two angles of it. First, getting the goods. Second, the effect on the national economy.

The current buying program is too close to the minimum. Deputy Purchase Director A. J. Browning has warned that shortages are bound to develop. Moreover, when purchases are made under prevailing emergency conditions, it is impossible to fit production demands in with civilian programs—and workers must live even in wartime. Shortages cause squeezes and high prices. Industry and labor are disturbed. Substitutes have to be accepted.

ANSWER: Turkey. Once a powerful empire, Turkey's disintegration set in about 1540, and from 1683 to 1922, the sick man title was quite appropriate.

Burlingame Gives Us Biography Of Whitney

Inventor Of Cotton Gin Was Original Technocrat

"WHITTLING BOY: The Story of Eli Whitney," by Roger Burlingame; (Harcourt, Brace, New York).

ASK any schoolboy who Eli Whitney was, and back will come the answer, "The man who invented the cotton gin." The answer is true, but as quite often happens in school texts the answer also is incomplete. Whitney's cotton gin was of great importance, but his principle of standardization was so much more important that the gin seems minor in comparison. Whitney was the original technocrat, nearly a century and a half ago.

He was also, Roger Burlingame indicates in his "Whittling Boy," an artist. During Whitney's lifetime the word artist was often employed to designate a man who was a genius in the mechanical arts, sometimes an inventor. This Whitney was.

Made Machine Shop Pay

As a boy on a Massachusetts farm he annoyed his family by refusing to take up his share of farm work. What saved him from the consequences was the fact that he paid his way with his little machine shop. Eventually he earned the money with which to leave home. This he built up until, after a long illness due partly to overwork, he was able to study law at Yale. But the practice of law came to be a thing over the horizon to Whitney; the ever-present seduction of the machine shop held him to another last.

From New Haven, Whitney went to Georgia to teach school. But the school waited while he invented the machine which made cotton raising practical in the South. Teaching was forgotten in the battles which he and his partner Phineas Miller undertook to defend Whitney's patent. The planters quite frankly stole the design, with the excuse that the machine was necessary, and Whitney could not make enough to go 'round.

Suffered Many Tribulations

Back in his New Haven shop, Whitney evolved a great many other things, and suffered a great many tribulations. Burlingame shows him to have been the quintessence of the one-track mentality, a burning genius using himself for fuel. But always there was a principle in the back of his mind. It was the idea of substituting mechanical means for individual effort and it came to flower in the production of muskets for the new government of the United States—another source of agony for the inventor, by the way.

Whitney was the first American to grasp the idea of making the parts of an article to an exact pattern so that it could be made and assembled by any ordinary workman, and that is the foundation of mass production.

The story itself is pretty much padded: apparently the biographical material on Whitney is scant.

Today's Chuckles

A LOT of things are simply remarkable until you understand them. Then they're remarkably simple.

German government has invited a team of U. S. boxers to compete against a team of German boxers in 1942. Guess who we'd like to see punched in the nose.

Ex-Convict Confesses To Extortion Plot Against Countess Marc De Tristan

Threats Made Against Child

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today announced the arrest of Raymond Parker, 52, an ex-convict, on a charge of attempted extortion of $10,000 from Countess Marc de Tristan, under the threat of violence to her three-year-old son.

Parker is held at Stockton, Calif. Hoover said that Parker, who escaped from G-men and Santa Rosa police on Dec. 20, had confessed in writing to his preparation of the extortion notes when confronted with evidence of his participation prepared by the technical laboratory of the FBI.

$20,000 BAIL SET

STOCKTON, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—Raymond Parker, 52, a bank robber, was arraigned on kidnaping charges and held under $20,000 bail here today shortly after the FBI announced he had confessed that he attempted to swindle the family of another kidnap victim out of $10,000.

Parker was ordered into superior court next Wednesday on a charge that he kidnaped a taxi driver in Oakland and forced him, under threat of death, to drive 80 miles to Stockton.

Second Incident

This was the second incident involving the de Tristan child. He was kidnaped Sept. 20, 1940, and held for $100,000 ransom. His kidnaper, Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich, was captured by two woodsmen and the child returned to his parents without the ransom being paid.

Then on Nov. 18, 1940, Countess de Tristan received the first of three extortion letters, Hoover said. A second letter was received Dec. 6, 1940, which demanded that the $10,000 be placed in a cigar box and delivered to an intermediary of the extortioner.

No contact was made with the extortioner and on Dec. 16, 1940, a third letter was received which contained pay off instructions.

Slipped Through Net

The FBI and local police arranged to trap the extortionist, but he slipped through their net at that time.

According to the FBI, Parker was imprisoned for the first time at San Quentin, Calif., Nov. 9, 1923, to serve a term of one to 14 years for forgery. He was paroled on May 9, 1925.

On Jan. 18, 1926, he was imprisoned at Folsom penitentiary at Represa, Calif., after pleading guilty to a charge of bank robbery. He had been sentenced to serve a term of five years to life. He was discharged Nov. 9, 1940.

HIGHEST PRODUCER IN COUNTY—The highest producing cow for the Lubbock County Dairy Herd Improvement association for December, 1940, was a cross-bred Jersey-Holstein belonging to Clayson Fuller, who operates a retail dairy in northwest Lubbock. The cow, shown above with Fuller, gave 57.8 pounds of milk, six and two-thirds gallons, on test day and 1,792 pounds and 84.2 pounds of butterfat for the month. The test was 4.7 per cent butterfat. Spot was bred and raised in the Texas Tech college herd, sired by a registered Jersey bull and is out of a grade Holstein cow that produced twelve other calves while in the Tech herd, Feb. 1928 to Feb., 1940. When she was tested in December, she was receiving 28 pounds of ground hegari bundles a day and five pounds of alfalfa; 12 pounds of mixture of six parts of milo head chop, two parts oats, two parts wheat bran, two parts cottonseed meal and one-half part manomar. Later she was put on full feed of 16 pounds a day of this feed. (Avalanche-Journal Staff Photo).

Fourth Outlet For Oil Pools

WHITEFACE, Feb. 8. (Special)—For more than a week, crews of surveyors have been busy in the Cochran-Hockley producing Duggan-Slaughter oil pools, making connections to the different pipelines which serve the area. This assures the outlet for crude oil from a number of leases scattered over the vast area, also has injected new pep into drilling for the various operating companies.

News that a fourth outlet now is offered for running the oil, is the best news received by the operators this week. Great sums of money now await the operators who heretofore have been unable to sell their crude. Not only will the operators benefit, but it means cash-on-the-barrel for the royalty owners. Small farm owners and ranchmen will share in the royalty—which means general prosperity for other property owners, business firms and those who work in the fields.

That more drilling will go ahead, which means additional work in the field, is the forecast, since the tanks which are slopping over with crude ready for market, are to be run and the tanks re-filled.

Two lines have served the Cochran-Hockley district, these being the Magnolia Petroleum and the Texas-New Mexico pipelines. The Motor Fuels Corp. refinery in Hockley county, has been supplied with crude, which is one outlet.

Sid W. Richardson of Fort Worth, it is announced, will lay a line from Sundown, to the heart of the Slaughter pool, in Hockley county, which will connect with the Aloco pipeline system, in the Wasson pool of southern Yoakum county. This connects with the Atlantic pipeline at Hobbs, New Mexico. This new line of Richardson, will be a 6-inch main, 44 miles in length.

Lubbock Teachers And Students Plan To Attend Music Session Slated For Waco

Three music teachers of the Lubbock Public schools and representatives of the Senior High school chorus and orchestra will leave Wednesday to attend the annual convention of the Texas Music Educators association to be held in Waco Thursday through Saturday. The convention is to be divided into three parts, the sixth annual state band clinic, the fifth orchestra clinic, and the third annual choral clinic.

Charles S. Eskridge, band director of Senior High school, is a member of the executive committee of the association. Miss Beulah Dunn, orchestra director of Junior and Senior High schools will take five members of the orchestra of Senior High school to take part in the clinic. They are: Eleanor Jackson, Ruth Spikes, Monda Hamilton, Panze Butler, and Marilee Jones. They are to take part in the orchestra clinic which is to be directed by Ralph Rush, director of the Cleveland Heights High school.

Mrs. E. Waldo Trotter, choral director of Senior High school will take the following students to take part in the choral clinic, to be conducted by Noble Cain of Chicago: Jean Smith, Mary Lou Scoggin, Carey May, and Cullen Chapman.

Band, orchestra, choral, percussion, baton twirling, drum majoring, and sectional clinics are to be held for the benefit of music pupils and teachers of the state. Other guest conductors and clinicitians are to be Forrest L. Buchtel, Chicago, band, and Maynard L. Vieler, Franklin, Pennsylvania, drum majors and baton twirling.

Fort Bliss Is Budding Giant

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Feb. 8—Fort Bliss, with almost 18,000 troops already on hand for national defense training, is expected by its ranking officers to reach 27,000 troops before 1941 is completed.

A year ago El Paso prided itself on having "the largest cavalry post in the world," with about 3,500 men at Fort Bliss. Now, even though the entire first cavalry division formerly scattered along the Mexican border has been concentrated here, the coast artillery anti-aircraft training center at the post, which was born with the national emergency, is a lusty giant that has outgrown its older brother.

Concentration Completed

Arrival of the fifth and twelfth cavalry regiments and the eighth engineer squadron from Forts Brown, Ringgold, McIntosh and Clark on the lower Mexican border, completed concentration of the first cavalry division in Fort Bliss. The trops are occupying the recently built cantonment vacated by the 56th Texas national guard cavalry brigade which went to the border posts to complete a year's training.

Stationed at Fort Bliss already were the seventh and eighth cavalry regiments and the 82nd field artillery regiment, which recently was split up into four battalions.

Arrived for a year's training are these national guard coast artillery (anti-aircraft) regiments: 260th from New Mexico, 202nd from Chicago, Ill., 206th from Arkansas, and 260th from District of Columbia. Also here is a regular army coast artillery anti-aircraft regiment, the 63rd, formerly stationed in California.

Practice Held Daily

The anti-aircraft regiments are firing their shells in almost daily practicing at targets towed by planes of the 120th observation squadron, national guard, of Colorado, on the 300,000 acre area in the desert region north of El Paso that was leased by the government.

No more regiments are expected to arrive, but those already here are being built to wartime strength, and others, including a number of anti-aircraft outfits, are to be "activated"—organized with a core of experienced commissioned and non-commissioned officers and the privates drawn from ranks of selective service trainees.

He Was Afraid That He'd Bag Customer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Police today asked Milford Loomis, drugstore manager, why he fired his pistol into the air instead of trying to hit two bandits fleeing from his store after robbing him of $30.

"Well, I saw one of my best customers coming toward the store," Loomis said. "I'm a pretty poor shot, and I was afraid I'd bag him instead of a bandit."

Texas Tech Student Starts With But One Sheep And Builds Flock Up To 200 Head; And He Pays His Way Through College

By LEWIS THOMAS

Modern counterpart of an Algier hero is young Max Munn, from Junction, Texas. Max is now enrolled as a sophomore in the department of textile engineering at Texas Tech, a place he has attained solely through his own ingenuity and shrewdness.

It all started in 1938 when an uncle gave Max a fine Rambouillet sheep. To most city-dwellers, a sheep would be a silly gift, but to this young man its value was inestimable. He immediately established the animal on some land leased by his father. From that day he became a sheep rancher and has been one, a successful one, ever since.

Has 200 Head

Today Rancher Munn's flock numbers two hundred head. Considering that it was seven years building, this number doesn't seem so impressive. But the remarkable fact is that Max has sent himself through Texas Tech, thus far, from the earnings of this very flock. Furthermore, he expects to finance himself, through graduation, from the same source.

During his years as a self-styled rancher, Max has also become somewhat of a sheep-fancier. His animals have placed in numerous stock shows in and around San Angelo, Eden, and Junction. In 1938 he walked away with top honors in the boy's division at the Junction show and placed second in the men's. The sale of his champion and prize money netted him a tidy sum.

Today Max's consuming ambition is to finish his course in textile engineering and then to get a job in Australia where, he says, "The wool business is really a business."

MEETINGS SCHEDULED

Two night meetings of 4-H clubs will be held this week at which Lee H. McElroy, assistant county farm agent will visit.

Monday night he will visit the Becton club at 7:30 o'clock and Tuesday night, Southwest ward. Other visits will be: Tuesday, Cooper and Estacado; Wednesday, Idalou, junior and senior; Friday, Roosevelt, junior and senior.

Fire Fighting Crew Will Tackle Well

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8. (AP)—A fire fighting crew from Houston, Texas, was summoned today by Gulf Refining company to bring under control a blazing oil well which blew in early today in Plaquemines parish below Buras.

Flames from gas in great volume melted the derrick within a short time after the well went wild. The well blew in from the 7,286-foot level while workmen were running 9 5-8-inch casing preparatory to completion.

TROUBLES DOUBLED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Three 16-year-old boys, who were arrested for stealing automobiles, today doubled their troubles. They were caught raiding the jail ice box after freeing themselves from their cells with a key cut from the rim of a wastebasket.

Ten Months In Milk And Two Months Dry, Said Best For Herd

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 8 (Special)—Ten months in milk and two months dry, says G. G. Gibson, assistant Extension dairyman for Texas A. and M. College, has been found to be the most efficient basis for operating a herd. Cows, therefore, should be bred back about twelve weeks after freshening. It has been found that a large part of the lactations being reported from herds on test in dairy herd improvement associations are less than ten months in length.

The objection is raised, Gibson observes, that in trying to allow a two months dry period sometimes a cow is put dry after she has been milking ten months, and because she was not bred at the time dairymen thought she will stand dry longer than two months. This has happened in many herds. But about the only solution is to keep breeding dates on every cow and make it a rule to turn each dry seven months after she is known to be with calf.

The importance of inheritance should not be under-estimated. Definite progress is being made in improving the inherited capacity of dairy cows through the location and use of sires of known ability. About 7,500 bulls have been proved in the last five years.

Texas has lagged in the number of bulls proved, due in part to lack of information needed for the dam and daughter comparisons. By having all cows identified and the production records reported to the Bureau of Dairy Industry, dam and daughter comparisons will be prepared at no cost to the herd owner, Gibson says.

In a munitions factory she said she would like to be trained in such work. "What is more," she added, "I believe I could manage it."

But the moment when Britons love their smiling queen the most comes when she tiptoes through a hospital ward filled with wounded men, pausing at most of the cots to chat, moving silently past those where patients sleep, asking a nurse to lower a blind because the sun troubles a man's eyes. And when she comes to a screen behind which a mutilated face lies, she never flinches but goes through and gives a cheering word to him as well.

Committees At Tech Selected

Committees have been appointed to plan the regional conference of International Relations clubs to be held on Texas Technological college campus March 14 and 15.

Ruth Henry, student from Lorenzo, has been named secretary of the club and the conference, to succeed Jean Verner of Spur, who is not in school this semester.

List Is Announced

Committees are:

Arrangements—Mayo Boucher of McAdoo, president of the club, chairman; Willard McCloy, Morse; Bobbie Felts, Kirkland; Kara Hunsucker, Matador; George Kelton, Madisonville, and Miss Henry.

Housing—Miss Hunsucker, chairman; Joe Will Triplitt, Lubbock; Jeanne McDonald, Clarendon; Kelton, and McCloy.

Publicity—Miss Henry, chairman; Miss McDonald; Felts, and Ruth Faust, Wheeler.

Colleges of West Texas and New Mexico are to be represented. Approximately 100 students are expected.

Census records show that approximately 105 boy babies are born to 100 girl babies. Thus the U. S. figures are about the same as world figures.

Tales Of Thrilling Combats In Air Being Told By Texan

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 8.—Tales of thrilling combats in the air, of Poles who fly like madmen and the inferiority of American planes were related here by Ira Lee Sullivan, 20-year-old Texan back from 9 months of flying with the RAF.

Sullivan was on his way to Hillsboro where last night his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sullivan, whisked him home after a brief greeting from a crowd of several hundred persons.

Fighting Days Ended

His fighting days were ended by internal injuries received when he pulled out of a power dive at nearly 600 miles an hour to escape Nazi bullets which killed his rear gunner.

Sullivan, an experienced flyer, was assigned to a fighter squadron four days after he reached England and enlisted last spring. During the four months he flew over France and England he brought down two confirmed enemy planes.

One, a Junkers 88, crashed on English soil. The name plate from its motor and a twenty-mark note from the dead pilot's pockets are among his souvenirs.

Other Fell In Channel

"The other one fell in the channel and I didn't get any souvenirs," he commented.

"Of all the pilots the most deadly are the Poles," said the Texan who served with English, Czech and Polish squadrons.

"They fly like madmen when they see a German. The Polish fliers have a higher average for bringing down German planes than any others in the war."

In late summer, Sullivan tired of fighter duty and was granted a transfer to a bombing squadron which several times weekly made raids over Germany and occupied France.

British pilots were under orders to confine their bombing to military objectives and avoid the heart of Berlin.

Few Fell Accidentally

"Sometimes a few bombs fell in the city accidentally," Sullivan grinned.

Typical of the Polish attitude toward the war, he related, was the action of a Polish gunnry who accompanied him on a bombing raid of submarine bases in occupied France.

"We flew over in daylight and dropped our bombs from about 30,000 feet. After we had straddled the docks with our load the gunner begged me to drop low enough for us to machine-gun the ground troops.

"I saw his trip would be spoiled if I didn't, so we circled and dropped close to the ground. I emptied four of my forward guns at them and then flipped a wing down and gunned the tail up so he could get a crack at them from the rear. I looked back and he was spraying bullets at them over the side of our plane as though he was handling a hose—did a pretty good job of it too."

English Planes Better

British pilots prefer English craft to American ones because they are superior, Sullivan said.

"In the American ships structural defects and motor trouble frequently has cost the lives of good pilots.

"In one week I saw seven English fliers killed in American planes. The week before I left England Captain Horsey, who was chief pilot on the Imperial Airlines before the war, was killed in an American plane. The motor exploded in mid-air and he was killed in the crash.

"The later types of American planes now arriving are all right."

Sullivan said the best American planes in use in England were the Lockheed-Hudson, Glenn Martin and Douglas DB7.

The American pilots in the RAF are not flying for the money they get out of it, he said. As a pilot officer Sullivan drew about $80 a month. Up to the time he left, only about three Americans had been killed.

Germans Are Tricky

"The Germans are pretty tricky people to fight," he said.

"One night our squadron was on a bombing raid and headed for the Berlin area, flying by radio. Suddenly a German station broadcast 'attention all operations, bad weather closing over Germany, bombers return to your stations.' We just laughed and dropped our bombs because we were over our objective and there wasn't a cloud in the sky."

"Sometimes they fooled us in defense work, too," Sullivan said and told of a raid over France when the sky was filled with red, blue and green shellfire.

"A reconnaissance flight the next day showed us there were no gun emplacements there, and we finally decided they were using fireworks to make us think they had heavy defenses there."

Long Way From Beaten

Sullivan said Britain was a long way from beaten.

"England is ready for them. British morale has not been shaken.

"They looked pretty sick when I got over there last March but it's amazing the progress they have made this year. The whole country is working 18 hours a day to produce fighting equipment, and doing it for $1.75 a day. American materials are just beginning to arrive."

Sullivan attributed his escape from death to a deficiency in German aircraft in comparison with the English. At speeds of 400 to 500 miles an hour the controls of the Messerschmidt 109's and 110's become locked and the pilot has to reduce his speed to pull out of a power dive.

In his final encounter, Sullivan said he blacked out when he came out of the dive which enabled him to escape from a German's slower plane. His injuries necessitated a major operation and made him unfit for further combat duty.

After recovery and a few weeks of ferry duty which became monotonous, Sullivan started home.

HONEYED WALL

To rid his home of bees, Burger Reed, Trenton, N. J., tore down a wall and found a slab of honey five feet high, 22 inches wide, and four inches thick.

Officials Confer On Wheat Loan Plans

Plans for handling renewal of 1940 wheat loans and also wheat insurance for 1941 and 1942 crops insurdiscussed by state Agricultural Adjustment administration officials at a district 2 conference in Plainview Wednesday and Thursday.

Charles Beard of College Station, district fieldman, presided. Speakers included E. R. Duke of Amarillo, in charge of loans in this area; P. C. (Happy) Colgin of College Station, state supervisor and H. H. Marshall of Amarillo, a fieldman.

Loans made for the 1940 crop become due eight months after the date of the note, and some of the notes will be due shortly, Wasson explained, with the greater portion due in April. Notices must be sent borrowers 30 days before the notes are due, and in the event the note is not paid, the Commodity Credit corporation takes over the wheat.

Question of a 1941 marketing for wheat was discussed. It was explained that a quota election may have to be held this year, but that decision would not be made on the election until later in the spring.

Average wheat loan in Lubbock county for the 1940 crop was 64 cents a bushel.

TEXAS BIG MILK STATE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—Texas' important position in the dairy industry is vividly depicted in a new handbook issued by the Milk Industry Foundation. According to the book, Milk Facts, 1,443,000 cows valued at $54,834,000 produced $42,267,000 in cash farm milk income for Texas farmers in 1939: Production of farm milk in the state for the year totaled 1,966,000,000 quarts; creamery butter—37,575,000 pounds; cheddar cheese—14,362,000 pounds; ice cream—9,988,000 gallons.

Council Drafts Week's Plans

More than 2,000 Boy Scouts, cubs and adult leaders in South Plains Scout council are participating actively this week in the observance of the 31st anniversary of Boy Scouts in America.

This was the announcement Saturday of L. R. Grimes, general chairman for the week, who added that the most important events of the week's observance still are to come.

First Events Friday

Serving with Grimes on the general committee are Garland Newsom, Lubbock city commissioner, government day chairman; Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of First Baptist church, Sunday chairman; R. B. Parkinson, program chairman; and Dr. A. W. Young, president of Lubbock Optimist club, "pot-luck" supper chairman.

Official observance of the week started Friday night, Grimes explained, and several events already have passed. Events of Friday night included a pot-luck supper and court of honor in Ralls, a mobilization of Plainview troops and a bonfire, and a court of honor at Allred in which Denver City and Allred troops participated.

Observe Government Day

Saturday, Lubbock scouts observed government day, when boys served in the city and county offices to which they were named in an election last Wednesday. Plainview City park was the scene of a "pow-wow." In all parts of the council, scouts and leaders assembled Saturday night to hear the national broadcast in which President Roosevelt, Walter W. Head, president of Boy Scouts of America, and Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, participated.

However, much still remains on the program, Grimes said.

To Attend Church

Today, cubs, scouts and leaders are to attend the churches of their choice, preferably in uniform. Many ministers in the council have announced that their sermons will be appropiate to the particular occasion.

Other events remaining during the week include:

Monday — Pot-luck suppers in Lubbock and O'Donnell; southeastern district meeting at Tahoka.

Tuesday—Matador father-and-son banquet in First Baptist church; Post pot-luck supper.

Wednesday—Pot-luck suppers in Spur, Tahoka, Slaton and Morton. Chairmen of those various events are W. D. Starcher at Spur, Hap Smith at Tahoka, W. T. Cherry and L. B. Hagerman at Slaton, and Rev. G. W. Watson at Morton.

Most Boy Scouts Live In Medium Towns

A look at the statistics of South Plains Council shows that most Boy Scouts live in communities from 2,500 to 10,000 in population.

Records reveal 575 scouts live in these towns while 371 live in 1,000 to 2,500 group, 377 in the under 1,000 group and 395 in the 10,000 to 100,000 group.

As is nearly always true, the leading 2,500 to 10,000 communities brought in the most new scouts during the year. Some 200 were inducted as tenderfoot scouts.

Twenty-three of 76 tropps are in this classification and five of 23 packs. The 2,500-10,000 group leads in troops but not in packs, for eight are in Lubbock.

Eagle Rank Won By 18 Youths In Past Year

Records reveal that 18 scouts qualified for the high rank of Eagle during 1940 in the South Plains council, and that 30 of the 1,718 scouts registered are Eagles, a small percentage of 1.7.

Active are 10 bronze palm scouts, eight gold palm, four silver palm and two combination palms. These ranks may be won after the achievement of eagle.

National Scout Commissioner Daniel Carter Beard, now past 90 years of age, Colin H. Livingstone and John Sherman Hoyt are the only members of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America serving continuously since its inception in 1910.

Defense Effort Helped By Boys

While the nation's industrial machine labors at an ever-increasing pace to arm, other important factors must not be overlooked. Building and maintaining the country's morale is as important to national defense as expanding production.

That is why the theme for Boy Scout week is "Strengthening and Invigorating Democracy." Positive measures are the order of the day. The boys and men who make up the American Scout movement are pursuing a nation-wide program of action to make scouting a signal and effective asset to our country in this national emergency.

Emphasize Regular Program

By emphasizing doubly their regular program of education and energetic activity the members of the Boy Scouts of America hope to perform an important part in the task of revitalizing the ideals and practices of American democracy.

This week, the public will be able to judge the results so far of intensive intra-organizational activity which the Boy Scouts have carried on since early in September.

Roll Call Conducted

A nation-wide roll call and inventory, completed in December in every one of the 47,000 Scout units, is the basis of an extensive plan designed to make Scouting more effective with those already enrolled as Scouts and to extend the benefits of Scout Training to the boys who are eager to be better equipped to serve their fellow men and their country.

In many communities older Scouts are making ready to act in emergency service corps, trained to apply scout training in assisting the Red Cross and other existing agencies in times of disaster. In many of the 545 local councils, too, plans for rapid and efficient concentration of scout units for community service on short notice have been adopted and put into practice. In countless minor ways, members of the Boy Scouts are helping to make democracy a living, vital creed.

HEADS COUNCIL — Only one man in the history of South Plains Boy Scout council has served the area as president more than one year. He is Dr. F. B. Malone of Lubbock, pictured above. Dr. Malone is now entering upon his ninth consecutive year in that position.

Scouts Help Lubbock Keep Cleanup Crown

Boy Scouts of Lubbock again expect to take an active part in the 1941 cleanup, paintup campaign.

It merely will continue their participation in the campaigns of the past which have resulted in Lubbock winning for 11 straight years the trophy from the National Cleanup, Paintup Campaign bureau which is considered emblematic of the cleanest city in Texas.

The part the scouts will play in the approaching campaign presumably will be about the same as during the last several years. They will inspect back yards and alleys and report on conditions they find there, and will stage their annual nail and junk pickup.

During the past five years, Lubbock scouts have collected more than 75,000 pounds of such junk from the streets and alleys during their pickups.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, first chief executive to be an active scout leader before entering the White House, has made eight nationwide broadcasts to the Boy Scouts of America.

Busy Camping Season Planned For Area's Scouts

Trips Scheduled To New Mexico

ALEX McDONALD

The most ambitious camping program in the history of South Plains Boy Scout council is planned in 1941, according to Alex McDonald, camping chairman.

Hundreds of scouts in the 20 counties of the council will be given opportunity for outings ranging in duration from overnight to 10 days.

Plan Long Trips

High points of the camping season will be two 10-day encampments in New Mexico. One will be at Camp Wehinahpay in the Sacramento mountains July 6-16. The other will be for senior scouts, 15 years of age or older in the 36,000-acre Philturn Rockymountain camp near Cimarron, N. M., July 20-30.

It will be the first visit by South Plains scouts to Camp Philturn, which is the gift to Boy Scouts of America by Waite Phillips, Oklahoma oil man.

Camp Philturn also will be the scene of a training camp for leaders May 9-11.

Financing Made Easy

As during the past several years, the financing problem in connection of camping costs will be made easier for the scouts by the continuation of the savings stamp plan. Increasing numbers of scouts have used the plan since its adoption, and have discovered that the investment of their occasional dimes in the stamps usually means that the cost of their outing is paid for with money they do not miss.

In general outline, the camping season will begin with district camporees which will begin on Friday night and end Saturday night. Five full-week camping periods in the scout camp near Post will follow. Then will come the New Mexico encampments. The final event of the year will be the annual council camporal to be held in Lubbock about the middle of October. As usual, the scouts attending that event will be guests of honor at a Texas Technological college football game.

Places and dates of district camporees have been announced as follows:

Northern district, April 18-19; Dimmitt; southeastern, April 18-19; Tahoka; northeastern, April 25-26, Ralls; southern, April 25-26, Lamesa; northwestern, May 2-3, Amherst; southwestern, May 2-3, Seagraves; eastern, May 16-17, Afton; western, May 16-17, Levelland; and central, May 16-17, Lubbock.

The schedule of encampment periods at Camp Post will be:

May 25-31 for southern, southeastern, southwestern and western districts; June 1-7, for eastern and northwestern districts; June 8-14, for northern and northeastern districts; June 15-21 for central district; and June 22-28, for negro troops.

Cost of the Camp Post camping period ranges from $4.75 to $6 per scout, depending on the equipment they supply.

Full cost of the Sacramento mountain trip will be $10, which includes everything except spending money.

Cost of the trip to Camp Philturn has not been announced.

Whiteface Continues Attendance Record

A record of which any town might be proud belongs to Whiteface, Cochran county community where important oil development now is centering.

For four consecutive years, the Whiteface delegation has won the banner for making the outstanding attendance record at annual banquets of South Plains Boy Scout council. Points determine the winner of the banner each year, credit being allowed for number present, distance traveled and size of the community.

At the recent 15th annual banquet, Whiteface was represented by 33 of its citizens, enough to win the banner a fourth consecutive time without great difficulty.

The banquet, incidentally, was the most largely attended in the history of the council. Almost every inch of available space at Hilton hotel was required to seat the more than 400 persons who were served at dinner.

Accounting for the record attendance was, of course, the presence of Walter W. Head of St. Louis, president of Boy Scouts of America, as the principal speaker.

National Defense Hits Scoutmasters Ranks

Scoutmasters lost during 1940 through the volunteer draft or selective draft were Dr. C. T. Dubuy, Tulia, troop 63, American Legion, and now with the medical corp at Palacios, Texas, and Rev. Gordon Voight, Floydada, troop 57, American Legion, now stationed as chaplain at McAlester, Okla.

Assistant scoutmasters who have left scouting for army service are: Ernest Robertson and Eugene Marquet, troop 9, First Baptist church, Lubbock; Charles Day, Sea Scout ship, Lubbock, and Clyde Hodges, troop 16, Post Rotary club.

All Presidents of the United States are honorary presidents of the Boy Scouts of America.

A TRIBUTE TO YOUTH

America's Men of Tomorrow!

To the Boy Scouts of America and Lubbock, our heartiest congratulations and good wishes in commemorating this week which has been set aside as yours and yours alone. It is with regret that we admit with a tinge of envy the opportunities which lie before youth trained and schooled as you.

However, we too have a part to play. Our part is to encourage and support you to the utmost. We consider you a vital part of our community life today, our leaders of tomorrow. As such, we wish you success and accomplishment in its greatest degree . . . and the reminder that you stand staunchly in back of the principles which your organization fosters and defends.

BOY SCOUT WEEK — FEB. 7-13

Strengthened Democracy Aim Of Scout Program

Training Given For Emergencies

Striking an encouraging note in the world unrest today has been the extended work of the Boy Scouts of America, the world's largest youth organization.

The men and boys registered in this federally-chartered group have pledged themselves to follow a program of strengthening and invigorating democracy in the United States.

Adopt Strong Program

A nine-point program stressing self-reliance and ability to react in times of emergency has been undertaken by more than 1,500,000 members of the Boy Scout movement.

These 12 to 16 year old boys, under the leadership of volunteer adult workers, are "learning by doing." Faced with practical situations demanding instantaneous and intelligent reactions these boys are receiving valuable training for emergency crises. In this preparation to act the Boy Scouts have pledged themselves to be "united with all lovers of freedom, whatever their tongue or origin. To keep our nation strong in valor and confident in freedom, so that the government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Isolate Weak Spots

To this end the 47,000 scout units throughout the country have made a roll call of their entire membership to isolate weak spots in local organization. Troops have taken stock of themselves in order that they might organize emergency service corps in local communities, prepared to act when danger of any kind threatens.

These efforts hearten sincere and worried Americans who view the future with fear for this country's inherent rights and values. They are in keeping with the long service record of the Boy Scouts of America.

Help In Emergencies

Floods, storms and fires have seen these khaki-clad youths in immediate action. New England and Florida still recovering from the hurricanes and floods of 1938 remember the Boy Scout work with appreciation. Older folks can remember them at work in wart times.

During World war, over $400,000,000 worth of Liberty loan subscriptions were sold by Boy Scouts. Forty-three million dollars worth of war savings stamps were distributed by these youngsters.

Scouts under direction of national leaders located over 5,200 carloads of standing walnut trees for defense authorities. Herbert Hoover, food administrator for the United States, complimented Scouts upon their efficient cultivation of war gardens and farms. These teen-age boys, directly aiding the government, delivered over thirty million pieces of literature.

American democracy is in the spotlight today. While the youth of the United States is being trained in a non-military fashion, not only to meet the exigencies of a war-time emergency, but also to meet the complexities of a peace-time existence, worried Americans may well relax their fears for the future.

"IN DEFENSE OF OUR HEARTH AND HOME"—Revealing that Great Britain now has 4,000,000 armed and uniformed men "who will play a part in the defense of our hearth and home," Prime Minister Churchill painted an optimistic picture of Britain's readiness for attempted invasion. Munitions, too, are piling up and flowing to vital defense areas. One such point pictured above—an east coast battery, where artillerymen are seen checking a shipment of 9.2-inch shells and trundling them off to the storehouse.

Utah Pioneer Keeps Up With Progress

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—"A lot of people are dying around 87, but not many over 90" muses W. B. Richards, Sr., as he sweeps the snow off his front sidewalk. He himself is older than the city in which he lives.

Richards, the son of one of the men who accompanied Brigham Young when he first viewed this valley, was born in 1847 in a Nebraska settlement—Winter Quarters—where the Mormons camped until spring.

He was a year and a half old when he followed his father, Willard Richards—second counselor in the L. D. S. church to Brigham Young—into the then small but thriving community.

Richards has kept pace with modern developments which have come to the Utah capital. "I like to drive a car," says the spry nonagenarian. However, he hastens to add, he hasn't driven for a "long time"—not since he was 80.

Furthermore, he doesn't attempt to advise youth on how they should live. He merely passes it off and says, "When I was young, I didn't get a chance to see any fast living."

STONE UNCOVERED SECRETS

The Rosetta stone is a black slab of basalt found in Rosetta in 1799. Because of ancient writings thereon, it uncovered the secrets of Egyptian records.

For 20 of its 31 years the Boy Scouts of America has been administered by Dr. James E. West, the chief scout executive who took the post for only "six months."

Injured Pedestrians Often Blame Selves

DENVER, Feb. 8. (U.P.)—Through questionnaires, state officials have learned that most of the pedestrians struck by cars on Denver streets during the last six months of 1940 never sensed danger was near.

Some of them blamed the motorist but a majority attributed their injuries to their own carelessness. Several even suggested that traffic regulations should be more strict for the pedestrian and that "jaywalkers" be fined double.

Youthful Staff Serves Council

Headed by Jack O. Stone, scout executive, the staff consists of two field executives, H. P. Gilley and J. C. Grimes. Stone is 32 while Gilley and Grimes are in their 20's.

Stone is completing his second year as scout executive, having come here from Port Arthur where he was executive for two and one half years.

Both field executives serving at that time, George A. Holland and Don Peterson, have left the council. Holland is now executive at Denison and Peterson out of professional scouting.

Latest recognition of Stone was made in January when he was named to the regional advisory committee whose membership includes eight other executives out of 40 in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Stone served two years as assistant executive at San Angelo and two years at Oklahoma City. He has been a scout, was an eagle and decorated by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927. Stone is married and has one child, a girl, Sidney.

Gilley, a former scoutmaster at Sonora, Tex., and superintendent of schools there, has been in this council since Sept. 1, 1939. Gilley is married.

In Grimes, the council acquired one who had come through cubbing and scouting, as cub, scout, eagle and cubmaster. He came here from Oklahoma City, graduating from the University of Oklahoma last June.

All three men are graduates of the National Training school for scout executives at Mendham, N. J.

Since 1910 more than 1,755,554 American men have been volunteer leaders in the Boy Scouts of America.

FEBRUARY 7TH TO 13TH

BOY SCOUT Week

WE SALUTE THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA — THE MEN OF TOMORROW — THE CHAMPIONS OF OUR DEMOCRACY

The United States may well be proud of her Boy Scouts. As an organization it stands for the principles of liberty, justice, righteousness and all the moral, mental and physical ethics taught in our finest homes and churches and schools. As individuals they are the fine, honorable young men to whom we Americans like to refer as being "clean-cut."

This year the week of February 7th to the 13th has been set aside as BOY SCOUT WEEK. During that time, Scouts and Scouting will be honored throughout the country. It is the sincere wish of these institutions who are sponsoring this announcement of Boy Scout Week that through it, the people of Lubbock and the South Plains may become more fully conscious of the magnitude and importance of the Boy Scout Movement. Much of America's future depends on the men of tomorrow, men who today are members of the Boy Scouts of America. To them we point with Pride and look with Hope.

"... On my honor I will do my best—to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law ... To Help other people at all times ... To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight ..."

That is the Oath of the Boy Scouts of America. It is an Oath they take seriously, one which they endeavor to stick to ... and do. It's a good Oath. In a few simple words it embodies many of the finest principles taught in homes, in churches and in schools. These principles, as they are applied in the Scout's training, help to make the Boy Scout of today the outstanding citizen of tomorrow.

This year the week of February 7th to 13th is known throughout the United States as BOY SCOUT WEEK. During this time Scouts and Scouting will be honored everywhere in the country. Pages similar to this appear in newspapers in hundreds of communities as part of a nationwide effort to give the Boy Scouts of America the recognition and acclaim that is their due. It is the sincere wish of the firms who are sponsoring this announcement that, through it, the people of Lubbock may become more fully conscious of the magnitude and importance of the Boy Scout Movement. It is an activity that deserves the wholehearted support and encouragement of every American citizen.

Expect More Than 1,000 At 'Pot-Luck' Supper

Former Raider Star To Speak

Easily the outstanding event from the standpoint of attendance of South Plains council observance of national Boy Scout week will be the third annual "pot luck" supper here Monday night.

The scene will be the old auditorium at Eighth street at Texas avenue. The time will be 7 o'clock. Reservations already are well in excess of the approximately 1,000 persons who attended the supper last year, according to Dr. A. W. Young, president of the Optimist club which is the official sponsor of the event.

Program Is Complete

Lt. Elmer Tarbox, one of the outstanding football players ever produced by Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker on an unusual program which has been arranged by members of a committee composed of C. E. Friley, jr., Dr. Waldo Glock and B. L. Manire.

Tarbox climaxed three years of stardom with the Tech Red Raiders when, at the close of the 1938 season, he was the choice of a radio poll as the outstanding college player in Texas. He received his commission as a lieutenant in the army air corps recently.

Speaker at last year's supper was Sammy Baugh, famous professional football player formerly with Texas Christian university.

To Award Banners

Complete program for Monday night's supper was announced as follows:

Toastmaster, W. T. Strange, jr.; songs, led by Manire; invocation, E. Gaston Collins of the Church of Christ; dinner music by members of the Senior High School band; welcome, Dr. Young; introduction of guests, Strange; appreciation of leaders, George W. Dupree; address by Tarbox; award of banners, Friley; benediction, Collins; and taps, by Boy Scout buglers.

Banners are to be awarded to the troop or pack with the most attractive table and to the troop or pack with the largest number of persons at their table, Young announced.

Food—W. C. Boyd, chairman, Bryan Walker, T. J. George, E. T. Duke and M. L. Waldrop.

The Cub, Scout and Senior Scout programs of the Boy Scouts of America have been developed to interest and serve the needs of both rural and urban boys.

During 1940, the Boy Scouts of America had 530 approved scout tours and moving camps, totalling 493,952 miles. Making these trips were 10,730 scouts and 1,912 scout leaders.

HEADS CLUB—Dr. A. W. Young, above, is president of Lubbock Optimist club which will be the official sponsor of the "pot-luck" supper here Monday, an event of national Boy Scout week observance.

TRAINING LEADER—Leadership training chairman of South Plains Boy Scout council during the last several years has been Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, above, head of the department of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college. Dr. Ellsworth is to introduce Lt. Elmer Tarbox at the scout "pot luck" supper Monday night.

The National objective of the Boy Scouts is to have one of every four new male citizens a four-year Scout-trained man.

Quick Mobilization Is Part Of Training

To do its part toward strengthening and invigorating democracy the Boy Scout movement this week reflects the national mood of the United States by readying its members for instant and effective action.

Scout troops here and through the country have prepared plans to quickly mobilize Scouts in the event of local or national crisis. These troops can often assemble their entire membership of high-school age youth within one hour.

Can Assemble Quickly

Tests conducted by the local scout councils all over the nation have indicated that the majority of communities can assemble their Boy Scouts in less time than any other group of similar size.

Pointing to numerous past emergencies, scout officials are justifiably proud of the long list of services rendered by these 12 to 16 year old boys during disasters. Scouts, quickly cooperating with the relief agencies in charge of rescue work, have performed yeoman duty. They served as orderlies and messengers, as well as conduct accurate censuses of damages following floods and storms, making relief work more valuable and eliminating waste effort.

Undergo Intensive Training

Scouts distribute food and aid in registering and identifying refugees. In times of distress thousands of handbills pointing out vital needs are quickly distributed by Scouts.

Cognizant of the necessity for Americans to be ready to act intelligently and efficiently in times of emergency both in peace and in war, the Boy Scouts of America are looking forward to future service opportunities. Each Boy Scout undergoes intensive training designed to ready him for effective action when cool-headed thinking is needed.

Boy Scouts are cooperating with American Red Cross in the distribution of literature for public safety education. They serve, when practicable, as aids to police departments at large gatherings. Local fire departments seeking to eradicate community fire hazards make use of Scouts in their fight against waste.

NEW TROOPS PLANNED

Two new scout troops are in the offing. They are troop 70, Lions club, Seagraves, and Troop 13, Kiwanis club, Lubbock. The application for charters are expected in the office here by Feb. 15.

More than half of the 46,446 Boy Scout troops in the nation are sponsored by churches or religious groups.

Over 9,412,638 American boys and men have been members of the Boy Scouts of America since Feb. 8, 1910.

GERMS DIFFER IN COLOR

Under a microscope, influenza germs are blue; pneumonia germs look like strings of minute pale sausages; and scarlet fever germs resemble ropes of scarlet rings.

In 1940, gold honor medals went to 15 Boy Scouts and certificates of heroism were awarded to 21 Boy Scouts for saving the lives of others at great personal risk.

RAMPANT STARLING

First successfully introduced in the United States in 1890, at New York City, the European starling now is found in every state of the Union east of the Mississippi river.

For young men at colleges, who were Scouts, there is the Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity operating on the campuses of 87 colleges and universities.

Remarkable Growth Made In Boy Scout Council

Difficult Goals Set During '41

The Boy Scout movement in South Plains council has made a remarkable record of growth during the past year.

Despite that fact, however, even more difficult goals have been set for 1941, according to the program approved by the executive board.

Membership Climbs

Records compiled by Jack O. Stone, council executive, disclose that during 1940, the number of scouts in the council increased 16 per cent, the number of cubs 51 per cent and the number of adult leaders 21 per cent.

They reveal that the number of scouts increased from 1,471 to 1,719; the number of cubs from 331 to 501; the number of leaders from 550 to 664; the number of scout troops from 67 to 76; and the number of cub packs from 17 to 23.

The significant point of the record, it was pointed out, is that almost 3,000 men and boys in the area are affiliated actively with the Boy Scout movement.

However, here are the announced objectives for this year: 1,900 scouts; 651 cubs; 817 leaders; 90 scout troops; 33 cub packs; 60 troops participating in camping; 55 troops at Camp Post; and 95 per cent of troops with health examinations.

More Merit Badges

Likewise, the past year has seen growth in other particulars. For example: a total of 2,767 merit badges was awarded as compared with 2,068 the previous year; 124 training certificates were issued as compared with 28; 28 training courses were completed as compared with three; 147 courts of honor were held as compared with 56; and 471 scouts advanced to first class rank as compared with 393. Further improvements in all those records are sought during 1941.

Among the places where new troops are desired during the year are Littlefield, Anton, Tulia, Plainview, Hale Center, Matador, Floydada, Slaton, Post, Lamesa, Seagraves, Brownfield, Levelland and five in Lubbock. The tentative program includes negro troops in Matador and Lamesa.

New or additional cub packs are needed in Amherst, two in Plainview, Petersburg, Silverton, Floydada, Ralls, Lorenzo, O'Donnell, Seagraves and three in Lubbock.

ABOUT LIGHTNING

Lightning does not follow drafts unless the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, in which case it would form a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding air.

Scouting has been regarded as sufficiently important by 103 colleges and universities to justify their offering courses in scouting for students with college credit.

NATIVE'S RETURN — That beaming smile says for John Maroukian what he can't put into English: "It's swell to be back in America." Born in Boston, 13 years ago, John was taken to France as an infant, speaks no English. He's pictured above as he recently arrived in New York by boat from Lisbon. His mother is still in France, his step-father in a concentration camp.

DIRECTS ACTIVITIES — The man who does most of the behind-the-scenes work in connection with South Plains Boy Scout council is Jack O. Stone, council executive, pictured above. The scouting movement in the council has enjoyed a phenomenal growth since Stone became executive nearly two years ago.

Financial Condition Of Council Healthy

South Plains Boy Scout council is one of the best conditioned financially in the entire Southwest.

A large share of the credit for that fact is given by leaders to J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, who has been chairman of the finance committee the past two years.

2,000 Aid Movement

The recent annual report for the council cited as evidence that the public is increasingly realizing the value of scouting that more than 2,000 persons in 34 towns of the 20 counties of the council now contribute regularly to the support of the movement. Most of the contributors are members of Sustaining clubs and give their help at monthly intervals.

The record of income during the past three years has been: 1938, $11,124; 1939, $13,830; and 1940, $14,308.

An objective of the council, it was explained, is to set aside 10 per cent of all income as a "stabilization" fund for emergencies. That fund now exceeds $2,000.

Recognition of McLaughlin's outstanding service was given recently when he became one of the two men in the council to be awarded the Silver Beaver, the highest honor for an adult leader within the gift of the council. The other Beaver was presented to Alex Nisbet, jr., of Plainview.

WEEDS STOPPED TRAIN

Tumbleweeds stopped a train between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Denver, Colo. Crushed beneath the wheels of the train, the weeds made the rails too slippery.

ORIGIN OF EXPRESSION

According to ancient folklore and superstitution, on many occasions birds were supposed to have whispered to humans; hence the expression, "a little bird told me."

There are 328,797 American men who as volunteer leaders serve the youth of the nation through the Boy Scouts of America.

First Scout Troop Formed On Plains By Post Leader

Give Marshall Mason of Post credit for the first Boy Scout troop on the South Plains.

Mason, member of the South Plains council executive board and a merchant at Post, was the first scoutmaster, having started a troop back in 1911, only one year after the founding of scouting in America.

"Mason saw a piece in the newspaper about scouting," K. N. Clapp, one of the veterans of scouting on the plains, said, "and he just up and organized a troop with the boys he already had!"

Council Is Organized

Scouting as a council came to the South Plains in March, 1926, when E. E. Voss, deputy regional executive from Dallas, came here at the beckoning of L. S. "Pop" Harkey and Clapp. Some 300 men met at Junior High school, then the senior high school.

Harkey, now scout executive at San Antonio, formed the first troop in Lubbock and J. D. Dyer, district commissioner now at Lamesa, a troop there. H. B. "Baldy" Palmer was employed as scout executive. A campaign for finances lasted one and a half hours and $3,000 was raised.

Harkey became president in 1927, followed in order by R. J. Murray, 1928; L. G. H. Williams, 1928-1930; T. A. White, 1930-1932; W. G. McMillan, 1932-1934 and F. B. Malone, the present president taking over January, 1934.

Executives following Palmer were A. H. Watt, 1927; H. B. Yates, 1927; W. P. Knox, 1927-1929; acting, Clapp, Williams, 1929-1930; D. T. Jennings, 1930-1936; Earl McClure, 1936-1939 and Jack O. Stone, now executive, who came here April 1, 1939.

MARSHALL MASON

First camp was held at Ruidoso with 200 boys in that undeveloped camp grounds. In 1926, the Post Estate gave Camp Post, 400 acres, to the council and camps have been held there since.

Need For Movement Greatest In History

BY WALTER W. HEAD
President of the Boy Scouts of America

Never in the history of our country have we needed the character building and citizenship training influences of the Boy Scouts of America so urgently as we do today. Scouting instills in our boys reverence for God, admiration for country, love for home and respect for their fellows. It is a genuine brotherhood.

During the 31 years the movement has served America, more than 9,000,000 boys and men have been registered on its membership rolls. Today more than 1,500,000 are active participants in its program. And every day throughout the land this vast brotherhood individually and collectively is doing something worth while to "strengthen and invigorate our democracy."

Indeed, it is my conviction from personal observation in many hundreds of communities in every section of America over a period of 20 years that Scouting epitomizes all the attributes of democracy. It is a great movement charged with the responsibility of working ceaselessly for our great country. Its idealism is practical; its acceptance is universal. It is free and voluntary. Its spirit is service.

Under Scouting supervision, 24,136 Boy Scouts were taught to swim in 1940.

Dates Set For Annual Scout First Aid Events

Lubbock Patrol To Defend Title

Annual first aid contests will make up the first event of council-wide nature to follow observance of national Boy Scout week, according to announcement Saturday by Ralph Stroup, first aid chairman.

First of the district meetings is scheduled Feb. 19 and will be followed by the annual council meet in Lubbock March 21, he announced.

Troop 5 To Defend

Defending champion this year will be the team representing Lion patrol of troop No. 5, sponsored by First Christian church, of which W. A. Hood is scoutmaster. Members of the winning team last year were Scouts Maurice Hood, James Stephenson, Halsey Lee Hackett, Marshall Rhea and Gail Hudson.

Dates and places of district contests and the chairman of each were announced by Stroup as follows:

District Dates Set

Southeastern district, Post, Feb. 19. G. E. Welch of Slaton; northeastern, Floydada, Feb. 21, Dr. J. L. Adams of Crosbyton; northwestern, Sudan, March 2, A. J. Gardner of Muleshoe; southwestern, Seminole, March 7, Finley Moore of Seminole; northern, Plainview, March 8, Mack Gregg of Plainview; western, Whiteface, March 11, P. O. Smith of Whiteface; eastern, Spur, March 14, David Guest of Matador; southern, Lamesa, March 19, John Allen of Lamesa; and central, Lubbock, March 14, Stroup.

R. E. STROUP

Preliminary to the district meets, the council chairman said, contests will be held within troops and teams scoring an average of more than 80 points will qualify for district events. Those scoring 80 to 85 points in the district will qualify for the council contests.

Members of the winning troop last year scored 398 out of a possible 400 points, Stroup recalled.

ERECT SCOUT CABIN—Boy Scout troop 7, sponsored by Lubbock Asbury Methodist church, is the first in South Plains council to complete a cabin on the 40-acre tract at Buffalo lakes donated by the lakes' management to scouts and cubs of the area. Pictured above beside the cabin are several members of the troop, troop committee and others. Scouts kneeling in the front row of the picture are, left to right, Rex Glimp, Calvin Thomas, C. A. Snow, Boyd Glimp and John Fred Valentine. The uniformed scouts and leader standing shoulder to shoulder in the second row are, Scouts R. L. Wahl, O. C. Moore, David Rowland and Charles Kelly and Scoutmaster W. B. Kelly. Others in the background are, from left to right, W. H. Rodgers, one of the owners of the lakes; "Uncle Andy" Gillespie, his father-in-law and guest, Scout Jimmie Lee Hinsley, Committeeman Ted Vernon, Scouts Arlin Hinsley and Bradford Boyd, Committeeman Paul B. Williams, Scout Billy Hunt, and Committeemen C. C. Hunt, Chester Hinsley and C. H. Campbell, who is chairman.

Historic Spot Given Scouts Of Area As Encampment Site

AN 80-acre tract of land donated to South Plains Boy Scout council by John Haynes, Silverton pioneer, has been a major addition to Boy Scout camping facilities during the past year.

The camp, which has been named "Mammy Haynes Boy Scout camp" in honor of Mr. Haynes' mother, is located approximately 10 miles due east of Silverton in Briscoe county.

In Excellent Location

It is one of the historic spots of West Texas and ideally adapted for development into an important camping area, according to Jack O. Stone, South Plains council executive.

The land is threaded by numerous burro trails named for pioneers of Briscoe county. One is known as "Terry trail," named for the man credited with having first introduced the burro into the rugged area to transport wood, posts and other commodities.

Another trail, known as the "Burson," has been abandoned because of its difficult passability. Many pack animals fell to their deaths from it before use of it was discontinued. Sheer drops of more than 400 feet are found in places along the old trail.

Seek Buried Treasure

Other trails, from the north, are named for Mack Watters and Jake McClendon. The McClendon trail originally was known as the "Buffalo" because of the buffalo carcasses found along it during the old days.

The tract also is reported to have been the scene of a massacre of an immigrant train many years ago. According to legend, members of the party were destroyed by boulders rolled upon their camp site by the Indians.

Likewise there are tales of treasure buried on the land. According to the stories, Mexican bandits used the area as a hide-out and were slain by the Indians. Whether the stories are true is wholly a matter of conjecture. However, certain Indian signs found in the area have aroused curiosity and have caused many hours of search by those who believe the stories to be true.

Nine Districts Serve South Plains Council

South Plains Boy Scout council has nine districts with administrative centers as follows: northern district, Plainview; northeastern district, Floydada; northwestern district, Littlefield; eastern district, Spur; western district, Levelland; southeastern district, Slaton; southwestern district, Brownfield; southern district, Lamesa, and central district, Lubbock. One field executive, living at Plainview, serves the first four districts and another at Lubbock, serves the next four, with the executive serving the central district.

Opportunity Improved To Join Boy Scouting

Money invested in scouting in the South Plains council assures that more boys of cub age, 9 to 12, boys of scout age, 12 to 15, and boys of senior scout age, 15 to 18, will have the opportunity to join this organization through new troops and packs.

Leadership of these units receives training and a program of activities is carried on in cooperation with a council-wide and district-wide program. Camp Post is maintained. Professional leadership is retained in the scout executive and two field executives. An office staff of t secretaries is active.

The "scout dollar" goes for troop and field service, activities, training, office maintenance, stabilization fund, advancement, camping, regional service and miscellaneous items.

Scout Camp Assets Total Near $10,000

Camp Post, council owned camp near Post, is valued at nearly $10,000. The land itself, 400.77 acres given by the Post Estate, is valued at $4,000, the buildings at $2,500 and development is valued at $800, and has 80 acres available.

New Members Of 1941 Board Are Named

New members of the 1941 executive board of South Plains council are: John A. Broome, Robert E. Maxey, Marion Peters, C. C. Schmidt and John Shewmake, Lubbock; Joe Salem, Sudan; M. K. Young, Levelland; Rollin McCord, Tahoka; Henry Hubel, Tulia; John Herd, Post; Henry Norris, Lamesa; M. L. Penn, Post, and L. A. Wicks, Ralls.

Three other members will be named shortly Dr. F. B. Malone, president.

Of the 488 cubs in South Plains council, as of the end of 1940, 265 were bobcat, 146 wolf, 49 bear and 28 lion ranks.

Swimming Safety Stressed In Scout Program

Learn By Doing Is Scout Policy

During Boy Scout week 1941, the Boy Scouts of America are reminding Americans that "the paramount need in national defense is the strengthening and invigorating of democracy in the United States." This the organization proposes to do through its normal programs of activity and education.

Boy Scouts in this country following a non-military policy are engaged in a program of "learning by doing." Boys in every city are learning how to do the simple, necessary things of life, from tying a knot that will hold to cooking a meal in the open. Their program is an active one, stressing outdoor life and the ability to think under emergency conditions.

Make Enviable Record

This is not unfamiliar to the people of America. The Boy Scouts of this country have an enviable record in service which older people many times cannot match. Each year brings its quota of news stories, telling how some youngster who learned the rudiments of first aid from his Scoutmaster has saved the life of a human being in some crisis.

Drownings annually are lessened by the prompt actions of these boys in the khaki uniform. The 1938 New England hurricane disaster, bears witness to the prompt and valuable service of these boys. Carrying messages, taking care of refugees, and many times actually saving lives in dramatic episodes, these Scouts have shown themselves to be fine examples of all the best that America can create for the future.

They Practice Democracy

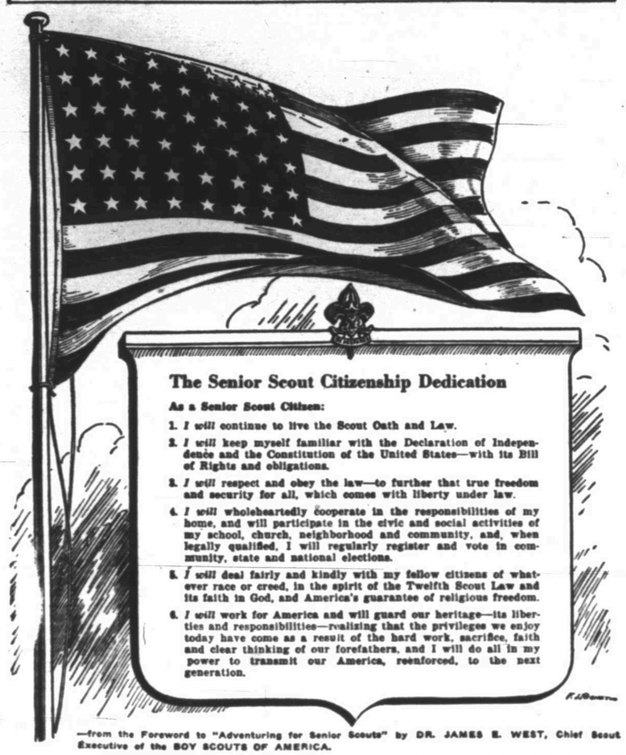

The efforts upon the part of the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America to strengthen America by giving the boys of the country the ability to act quickly and effectively in times of emergency deserve the support of every person who believes in the value of democracy.

The Boy Scouts of America believe that the way to fight those forces which would attack our democracy is to be democratic. To that end over 330,000 Americans are giving voluntary service to the million and a half members of the movement.

An example of the way in which Scouts are keeping clear and open minds under present conditions, is the welcoming of scouts from foreign countries to affiliation with troops in the Boy Scouts of America. American scouts are mixing with foreign refugees, giving them the spirit of the American way, and taking in return a true knowledge of conditions overseas.

Scout leaders are sparing no efforts to prepare American youth with the knowledge and skills which will make them valuable in times of emergency.

TOMORROW'S CITIZENS SPEAK

The Senior Scout Citizenship Dedication

As a Senior Scout Citizen:

1. I will continue to live the Scout Oath and Law.
2. I will keep myself familiar with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—with its Bill of Rights and obligations.
3. I will respect and obey the law—to further that true freedom and security for all, which comes with liberty under law.
4. I will wholeheartedly cooperate in the responsibilities of my home, and will participate in the civic and social activities of my school, church, neighborhood and community, and, when legally qualified, I will regularly register and vote in community, state and national elections.
5. I will deal fairly and kindly with my fellow citizens of whatever race or creed, in the spirit of the Twelfth Scout Law and its faith in God, and America's guarantee of religious freedom.
6. I will work for America and will guard our heritage—its liberties and responsibilities—realizing that the privileges we enjoy today have come as a result of the hard work, sacrifice, faith and clear thinking of our forefathers, and I will do all in my power to transmit our America, reenforced, to the next generation.

—from the Foreword to "Adventuring for Senior Scouts" by DR. JAMES E. WEST, Chief Scout Executive of the BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA.

Emergency Program Trains Scouts For National Crisis

TO mark its 31st birthday, the Boy Scouts of America is continuing an active program to prepare the youth of this country to take its place in dealing with world conditions.

Scouting officials have drawn up an extensive service program designed to make the boys of the United States of more value in time of crisis.

West Explains Plan

Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, in announcing the plan said: "It is the responsibility of everyone identified with Scouting in normal times, and certainly in a period of national emergency, to be alert and vigilant to meet every opportunity for service, not only because of the obligation but because of the special training which the program of scouting gives to boys in patrols and troops and through the development of qualities of leadership on the part of older boys and Scouters."

Giving new significance to the Boy Scout motto: "Be Prepared!" the scout movement has begun intensive training for the boys in its membership in all things which will make them more reliant and capable in emergency situations. Scouts are being trained in observation, identification and memory through a thorough knowledge of their home communities.

Clean Living Stressed

The boys are being trained in swimming, horsemanship, boating, proper methods of running messages, as well as how to travel under adverse conditions. Stressing the necessity of clean living, the program emphasizes outdoor life, giving the scouts training in camping with and without shelter, the preparation of food, and knowledge of woodcraft lore.

Calling to mind the long list of scout heroes who have received medals for saving life, local scoutmasters are teaching their boys safety methods for dealing with firearms, cutting tools, and fire, as well as instruction in methods of water rescues and first aid for the seriously injured.

Rural scouts are playing an important part in this emergency service program through raising garden truck for food, studying the importance of food and its conservation, raising birds and animals for food as well as fish hatching.

Rural Scouts Help

Although in no way advocating military training for the scout units throughout the country, the scout movement has recognized the necessity of preparing the youth of the United States for efficient and valuable service to the country in time of emergency. Scout service in times of recent crisis, such as the hurricane disasters of New England and Florida, has shown the value of the Boy Scout training in first aid, signaling, pathfinding, safety and use of knife and axe.

Boy Scouts of America, in organizing this emergency service program, have joined with 16 other organizations of the citizenship educational service in issuing this statement: "While recognizing the urgent necessity for military preparedess, we are deeply convinced that the paramount need in national defense is the strengthening and invigoration of democracy in the United States. This we propose to do through our respective programs of activity and education."

KNEW WHAT HE WANTED—When Private John Shea, N. Y. National Guardsman wanted to go off to camp with his outfit, army authorities said "Nix" until he got his teeth fixed. John spent nearly 11 consecutive hours in the dentist's chair, had three teeth yanked, four filled, five crowns repaired and two bridges (which he holds) made. Okayed, he's now at Camp Shelby, Miss., with his buddies.

Water Contests Set For Summer

Many Taught To Swim

Likewise, it is one considered by many to be among the most importanf in scouting because in the aggregate, many hundreds of boys have been taught to swim as result of their connection with Boy Scouting.

In various of the camps where possible, swimming is one of the events which appears at least once on the daily program. Excellent facilities for the sport, and instructions, are conveniently available to Camp Post.

However, the important events so far as swimming is concerned are the district and council meets each year. Boys are grouped for contest purposes according to ages, and those placing first, second and third in swimming and diving competitions qualify for the next highest meet.

Dates Are Set

Dates and places of various district meets follow:

June 16, northwestern district at Muleshoe.

Defending champion in the council will be troop 35 of Spur, sponsored by the American Legion Rotary club, which has won the title four times consecutively.

Enjoying the virile, nautical program of Sea Scouting under the banner of the Boy Scouts of America are 26,679 young men over 15 years of age.

A SCOUT IS OBEDIENT

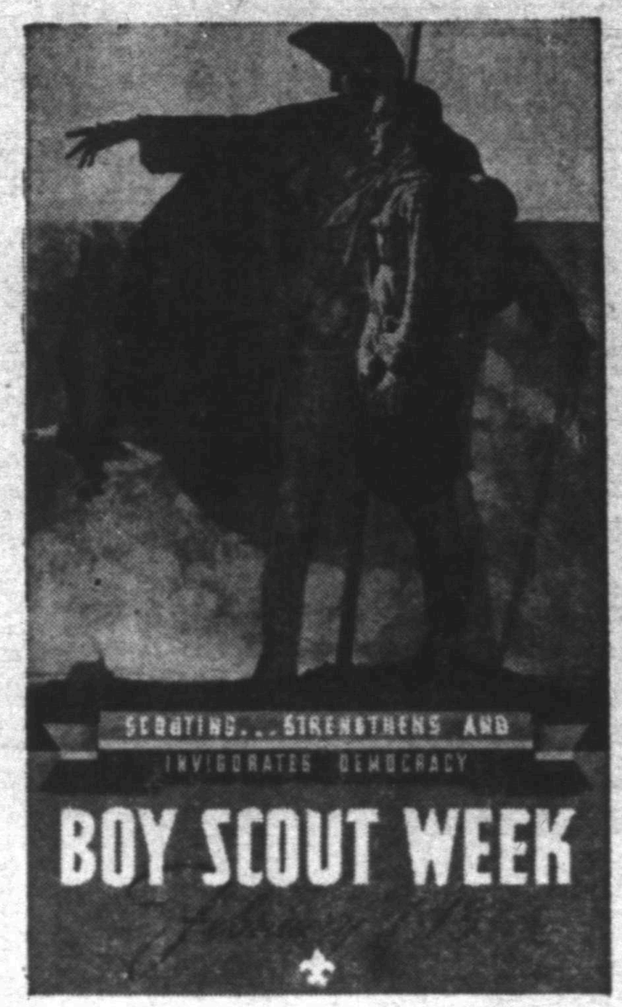

He learns the need of disciplining himself so that he may better meet life and conquer its problems in a manly and sincere fashion.

Beaver Awarded 14 In Council

Fourten men have been awarded "Silver Beavers" since South Plains Scout council came into existance.

The Silver Beaver is the highest honor for an adult leader within the gift of any Boy Scout council.

Awarded For Service

It is presented to the individual or individuals within the council who, in the judgment of a secret committee, has performed the most outstanding service to boyhood during the previous year. Two may now be given in South Plains council each year.

Recipients of the award for 1940 were J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, chairman of the council finance committee, and Alex Nisbet, jr., of Plainview, executive board member.

Others similarly honored in years past and the positions they occupied at the time follow:

1932—L. G. H. Williams, executive board, Lubbock.

1933—Marshall Mason, executive board and Camp Post chairman, Post.

1934—J. D. Dyer, district commissioner, Lamesa.

1935—W. G. McMillian, council president, Lubbock.

1936—Sam A. Henry, sr., field commissioner, Lubbock.

1937—Joseph N. Spikes, scoutmaster, Lamesa.

1939—Dr. E. L. Reed, district committee, Lubbock, and Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, executive board, Lubbock.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION

Troop 3, Lubbock First Baptist church, displayed Boy Scouting from the tenderfoot to eagle in Christie's window, at 1803 Broadway, Lubbock during this past week. Maury Kelisky, junior assistant scoutmaster, was in charge.

More than 700,000 Boy Scouts had some camping experience during 1940.

Executives' Meeting In Mineral Wells

Annual regional executives' conference for this region will be held at Mineral Wells Feb. 24 to March 1. National staff members to attend are Arthur A. Schuck, M. M. Ammerman, E. H. Bakken, B. B. Dawson and Capt. Fred C. Mills, all of New York City.

The last two days of the conference will be given over to the "emergency service corps" training, with Capt. Mills handling the instruction. Laymen are urged to attend.

PLAINS COUNCIL LARGE

Twenty counties in South Plains council are Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Swisher (except town of Happy) and Yoakum.

Cubbing, the pre-scout age program of the Boy Scouts of America, appeals to its members 9, 10, 11 years of age. This program had an increase in membership of over 21 per cent in 1940.

Personal Health Merit Badge Most Popular

The personal health merit badge, one of 106 field of exploration in the merit badge program for Boy Scouts, was the most popular during 1940 in the South Plains council. Exactly 158 of these merit badges were awarded at courts of honor.

In order of popularity the remainder of the top 10 were handicraft, 139; first aid, 102; safety, 86; cooking, 82; pathfinding, 70; pioneering, 69; swimming, 68; civics, 66, and firemanship, 62.

HELP "LESS CHANCE" BOYS

More than $50,000 has been realized by the Boy Scouts of America for "less chance" work in eastern cities of the United States from the sales of "God Bless America," song written by Irving Berlin, who has turned all royalties of this song to a trust fund.

Several railroads, among them the Missouri Pacific railroad, have on their staffs specially-trained men whose entire time is given to the promotion of Scouting in the territory which they serve.

Scouts Prepared for Emergency Service

Boy Scouts here and throughout the country are now training in Scoutcraft and outdoor lore with new vigor to be better prepared for any sort of emergency and disaster service. Scout troops are forming units of Emergency Service Corps (see emblem, upper right above) and being trained in firefighting, first aid, rescue work and other service connected with emergencies caused by storms, floods, hurricanes, earthquakes and any type of catastrophe.

At camp and on hikes, through games and other attractive activities of the regular Scout program, they are learning what to do in case of crisis and how to fulfill their promise to help other people at all times. Through demonstrations, displays and exhibits, in cooperation with established disaster relief agencies, they are doing their part to teach the American people to be prepared.
