Germany's Fate Is Decided

Military Rule By Big Three To Be Junked

Occupation Forces To Remain; Allied Supervision Slated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The United States, Britain and France announced today they are ready to end military control over western Germany as soon as a proposed "German federal republic" is set up.

Occupation forces would remain in Germany under top civilian control.

A joint communique said "complete agreement" on "the whole range" of outstanding German issues was reached in conferences here among the foreign ministers of the three powers—Secretary of State Acheson, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France.

The pronouncement appeared certain to harden further the differences between the three powers, on the one hand, and Russia, on the other, over Germany's future. Diplomatic authorities here anticipate it will touch off fresh propaganda blasts from the Soviets.

Powers Supervisory

With the establishment of the German republic, the communique said, the military governors in Germany will be replaced by high commissioners and military commanders will remain only to head the occupation forces.

It was added that "the functions of the allied authorities will become mainly supervisory."

The high commissioners "will be the supreme allied agency of control."

The agreement also covered these other specific points, according to the announcement:

1. The text of an occupation statute was worked out "in a new and simpler form" and is now being dispatched to the German parliamentary council at Bonn, where the constitution for a western German government is being drafted.

2. Basic principles were developed "to govern the exercise of allied powers and responsibili-

Cooler Weather Is Reported In State

(By The Associated Press)

Old Sol had to peek through clouds to get at Texas today and as a result temperatures weren't so high as yesterday.

For many Texas communities, yesterday was the hottest day of 1949. Wichita Falls recorded 92, Mineral Wells and Fort Worth 91, Tyler, Junction and Laredo 90, and Dallas 89.

The cover of light clouds was general throughout Texas, in contrast with yesterday's clear skies.

Ground fog along the coast early this morning broke up as soon as the sun got to work.

Tomorrow Texas weather is expected to be pretty much the same—slightly cloudy skies, and warm temperatures.

Over most of Texas temperature fell only to the 50's last night, and along the lower Gulf coast they fell no lower than the middle 60's.

The Weather

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Saturday. Not much change in temperatures.

EAST TEXAS — Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Saturday. Mild temperatures. Moderate southerly winds on the coast.

EXTENDED FORECAST: For April 9-13. Texas Gulf Plains, Northeast Texas, and western Louisiana: Temperatures will average 5-7 degrees above normal. Normal minimum 50-55 north and 56-61 south. Normal maximum 73-76 north and 77-81 south. Little daily trend until cooler interior Wednesday. Precipitation light to moderate. Showers about Tuesday.

Texas west of the Gulf Plains: Temperatures will average 4-6 degrees above Normal. Normal minimum 43-47 north and 48-55 south. Normal maximum 72-75 north and 76-80 south. Little daily trend until cooler late Tuesday and Wednesday. Little or no precipitation indicated.

Strikes Frustrated In New York City

Taxis, Bread, Beer, Parcel Delivery Are Still In Supply Despite Walkouts

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, April 8—New Yorkers had no lack of taxis, bread, beer, and parcel delivery service today despite strikes in all four major industries involving 25,000 workers.

The taxi strike, which cleared the streets of cabs when it began a week ago, was a walkout in name only as almost 90 percent of the taxis returned to service. Police said 8,366 of the normal total of 10,853 cabs were on the streets at the evening rush hour yesterday.

John L. Lewis' infant taxi union, frustrated in its attempt to gain recognition from fleet owners, accused Mayor William O'Dwyer of "double crossing labor" by ordering police to break up the strike. The mayor retaliated by ordering the police department to increase its vigilance against strike violence.

Some 6,000 bakery workers also were disappointed in their attempt to cut off 70 per cent of the city's bread supplied by six major bakeries. When the work stoppage began six weeks ago smaller plants and suburban bakeries stepped up their production and have been sending a normal supply of bread to city bakeries ever since.

The week-old strike of 6,750 brewery workers continued to cut off supplies from 14 major metropolitan breweries, but hotels, bars and restaurants carried on with beer from their dwindling reserve stocks and fresh deliveries from Pennsylvania. New Jersey brewers have declined to send trucks to

"TELL-US-MORE" ATTITUDE TAKEN

Congress Skeptical Toward Farm Plan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8—A somewhat skeptical Congress took a "tell-us-more" attitude toward the administration's new farm program. It is aimed at cutting consumer grocery bills and keeping farmers prosperous at the same time.

"I want to hear more about it, how it would operate, and what it would cost the taxpayers," was the typical reaction of members of Congress who heard Secretary of Agriculture Brannan outline the plan yesterday.

The secretary was called before the House agriculture committee today to answer questions. He sketched the program before a joint meeting of the House and Senate committees yesterday.

Criticism Sharp

It drew immediate sharp criticism from some Republican farm-state leaders and from the powerful American Farm Bureau federation.

Democrats as a whole withheld judgment.

The methods, rather than the objectives, will be the subject of debate and controversy.

Expected to arouse sharp opposition are these provisions of the program:

(1) Use of government payments to farmers to assure them a minimum return for such products as hogs, cattle, lambs, milk, butterfat, eggs, poultry, fruits and vegetables.

This provision would permit consumer prices of these products to go much lower than under the present farm program. No longer would the government put a floor

Students Will Attend Fiesta

More than 100 students of Lubbock secondary schools and a special group from Texas Tech will leave Saturday morning for Canyon to attend the first annual fiesta sponsored by the West Texas chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish.

Thirty schools, including eight colleges, are members of the Llano Estacado chapter, sponsor of "Fiesta '49," as this year's event is called. Mrs. Emmett Burford, Spanish teacher in Lubbock Senior High school, is chapter president.

Coronation Is Feature

An all-day program starting at 9 a. m. is planned on the West Texas State Teachers college campus, with the feature event to be the coronation of the fiesta queen. Miss Rossi Stiles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stiles, of 3002 Twenty-second, is Lubbock's candidate for the honor.

Fifty Lubbock Senior High school students and 41 students of the city's three junior high schools are expected to make the trip.

Junior high school teachers who will attend include Mrs. R. P. Swofford, of Carroll Thompson Junior High; Mrs. May Belle Gowan of J. T. Hutchinson; and Miss Genelle Wilhite, of O. L. Slaton.

To Present Dance

Hijacking And Liquor Fights Are Pictured

Gangster Methods Declared Used By Violators In Area

A 99th district grand jury that returned 41 bills of indictment about 9:30 p. m. Thursday also issued a lengthy report in which it called for more action in countering "gangster methods" now employed by "organized criminal syndicates" engaged in "an extensive crime wave" in Lubbock county.

The grand jury said in its report that what it had learned about "bootlegger wars and liquor hijacking incidents" had produced a "shocking and alarming realization" of conditions that are "a disgrace to our city."

Recommendations Made

To combat these reported conditions—pointed up to an extent recently by unofficial reports of liquor hijackings—the Grand Jury made several recommendations. Among them were:

1. That during the period of "the emergency" that an additional assistant county attorney be made available.

2. That a recommendation be made to the City commission that areas adjacent to the city, "particularly that section of the city east of the canyon and that part of the colored section of the city known as 'Queen City' . . . be taken into the city limits so people may be afforded the benefit of building code requirements, and police patrol.

3. A recommendation that legislation be passed which would increase funds available for more personnel in the Lubbock Sheriff's department. In connection

Co-Op Session Attracts Many

Approximately 600 farmers and their families from five South Plains counties are attending an annual meeting of the South Plains Electric Co-Operative, Inc., at Chapman field house today.

A barbecue lunch was served at noon.

S. S. Allcorn of Lubbock county is president of the co-operative which has more than 4,000 members and has 1,500 miles of electric power lines in the five counties.

Profits Announced

In the morning session, Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, extended welcome to the group after which reports were made by the secretary and president of the co-op, which revealed that profits of the system were $58,638.92 last year.

W. G. Newton is manager of the co-operative; Bob Pace is secretary; and a new board of directors will be elected in this afternoon's session. Talks by Elmer East, vice president of the Lubbock National bank; and L. A. Howard, attorney for the co-operative, will feature the afternoon program to be followed by Newton's report and election of officers.

Young Veteran Of Crime Is Captured

AMARILLO, April 8. (AP)—Bobby Craig, a veteran of crime at 17 years of age, was captured in Corpus Christi last night after escaping officers Wednesday.

Craig Wednesday was leading officers to loot taken in a $6,000 burglary of an Amarillo jewelry store. They stopped by Craig's home and Craig escaped through a bathroom window.

The youth was arrested last night at the home of an aunt in Corpus Christi. He was captured by Deputy Sheriff C. O. Scott about an hour after Corpus Christi officers had been asked to look for him.

Craig is a three-termer at Gatesville reformatory.

Stock Shows Set Saturday

Two South Plains towns will be the scene of stock shows Saturday with 4-H club and FFA boys showing animals from two counties.

The Sixth annual Terry County Club Boys' Fat Stock show, sponsored by the Brownfield Jaycees, will be staged at Brownfield.

Parade Is Feature

A downtown parade, featuring the Brownfield High school band, will officially open Brownfield's show. The exhibits will be shown in the Jaycee show barn, northwest of Brownfield.

Jack Cleveland, Terry county agent, and Lester F. Buford, Brownfield High school vocational agriculture teacher, are co-superintendents of the show.

Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, is to judge the animals. Following judging, a sale with Col. Kenneth Bozeman, Lubbock auctioneer, crying the auction will be staged beginning at 3 o'clock.

In the Sudan show, Roy McLaury will supervise cattle entries and G. W. Maxfield swine entries.

Work Of Neighbors And Friends Aids Young Lubbock County Farmer In Recent Illness

Whether or not the "good neighbor" policy is at work any where else in the world it is certainly in evidence in Lubbock county.

One who is aware of this is Raymon Harkey, a young war veteran who is farming 210 acres seven miles northwest of Lubbock. Harkey became ill about two weeks ago and was unable to take care of his farm and livestock. His wife had all she could do with three small children and the outlook was pretty bleak for the Harkeys.

A Welcome Call

Word spread rapidly that Harkey was in trouble through no fault of his own. Without waiting to be asked, neighbors and friends, some of them war veterans too, called on Harkey. They fed the

United States Preparing To Heed Appeals

Eight Countries List Needs For Atlantic Defense

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8. — Eight of America's European Allies urgently appealed today for both guns and dollars to build up their military power for defense of the West under the North Atlantic treaty.

They were told in reply that the United States government is "prepared to recommend" that Congress enact a program of military aid covering both arms and financial assistance.

Secretary of State Acheson described this program as "in the highest interest of the American People."

No Estimate Of Cost

But he said he cannot yet estimate its total cost.

Acheson emphasized in a statement accompanying the release of an exchange of notes between the United States and the eight countries that the documents "in no sense represent a price tag to be placed upon the (Atlantic) pact."

He said the appeals for help "are consistent with the spirit" of the alliance signed here only last Monday. The treaty still awaits ratification by the United States Senate and the 11 other participating governments.

The eight requests were submitted by Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg —acting jointly as members of the western European alliance they set up under the Brussels treaty last year—and by Norway, Denmark and Italy. No plea for help was voiced by Portugal, Iceland or Canada, the other alliance members.

Stage Set For Truman

The official appeals and the American reply set the stage for President Truman's forthcoming formal request to Congress for western European military assistance which may amount to $1,250,000,000 and for aid to other countries. Together these may raise the total foreign arms costs of the United States next year to around $2,000,000,000.

In each case, the European Allies said substantially the same thing:

That none of the countries acting alone can provide an adequate armament for its own defense and for its part in the Atlantic defense system.

Replies To Appeal

The State department replied to this appeal:

"The executive branch of the United States government is prepared to recommend to the United States Congress that the United States provide military assistance to (name of country asking

PLANES SEARCH OCEAN AREA OFF CAROLINAS

Schooner Is Believed Adrift With Two Trapped Children

(By The United Press)

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., April 8 — The Coast Guard launched an intensive air-sea search today for an abandoned schooner believed adrift off the coast of the Carolinas with two children trapped aboard.

Seven giant Coast Guard patrol planes and one Air Force plane were assigned to the search and more planes were expected to be thrown into the hunt by the Navy air base at Norfolk, Va., and the Air Force base at MacDill Field, Fla.

The Coast Guard said it had received information indicating that the owner of the vessel, Donald Parrott, of Manchester, Mass., and his wife, had been swept overboard and drowned during a storm, leaving their two sons, Donald, jr., 4, and Steven, 10 months, locked in the cabin.

The schooner, a 50-foot two-master named the Keewatin, was sighted Tuesday about 75 miles off the South Carolina coast by the tanker Richard J. Cleveland.

Coast Guard vessels began a search for the schooner on Wednesday, but the decision to intensify the search was only made last night when Hadley Parrott, brother of the missing man, told the Coast Guard of the couple's habit of locking the children below decks in a storm.

He warned searchers who might go aboard the schooner that the baby ordinarily was kept in a small stateroom that could be mistaken for a closet.

When the Cleveland sighted the drifting schooner it

HST Faces New Fight

Solons Oppose Hike In Funds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8—President Truman appeared headed today toward a new fight with a large part of Congress over his plans for financing arms for western Europe.

Mr. Truman's indication he may seek additional money above the $15,900,000,000 already proposed for national defense brought vigorous protests from Republicans as well as some members of his own party.

Additional Funds Urged

In his news conference yesterday the President did not rule out entirely the possibility that other funds might be pared. But he said he stood by his January budget message which spoke of the "additional funds" to be needed for the arms program.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said that if the President asks for more money, Congress may have to choose between in-the-red spending or increased taxes. Mr. Truman told his news conference he still wants taxes raised.

(The President expressed confidence last night in his general program. He said in a telegram to the convention of Americans for Democratic Action in Chicago: "As long as the people know where we are going and that we are going there I do not worry over petty and temporary victories by obstructionists.")

Wherry told a reporter he

Thefts In City Are Probed By Officers

Several thefts were reported to peace officers here Thursday night and today. A radio and fan were ripped from the car of a Mr. Stevenson, not otherwise identified on police reports except as living at 3108 North Fifth. Total value was placed at $60.

E. L. Brock of 1624 Eighth complained that someone entered his residence and took a billfold containing five $20 bills and four $1 bills from his trousers.

The billfold later was found in Brock's yard, but the money had been removed.

Bikes were reported stolen from Robert Vandafriff who address was listed only as Lubbock general delivery, and Russell Albert of 2318 Fifteenth.

The sheriff's department was informed that five or six pigs weighing from 60 to 70 pounds each, and two milk goats had been stolen from near Littlefield. The Lamb county sheriff's office made the complaint.

Youth Freed After Slaying Of Father

PAMPA, April 8. (AP)—Larry Frey, 14, was free today after fatally shooting his father, Jack Frey, 52.

Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry yesterday returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case.

Authorities said the boy shot his father as the father pointed a shotgun at the boy's mother, Mable Frey, 42.

Uncle Sam To Build Massive Superliner At Cost Of $70 Million As Challenge To British Position In Transatlantic Trade

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8—A massive superliner will be built in this country at a cost of $70,000,000 to challenge Britain's position in the Transatlantic trade.

Admiral W. W. Smith, chairman of the Maritime Commission, said construction of the 48,000-ton, 980-foot vessel will begin immediately. It is due to take to the sea in the summer of 1952.

The largest passenger ship ever built in the United States, it will be slightly smaller than Britain's Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, but will carry about the same number of passengers: 2,000.

Final agreement was announced yesterday on financing arrangements for the huge luxury liner.

The federal government will foot $42,000,000 of the construction bill, mainly through a "national defense" subsidy. The other $28,000,000 will come from the United States Lines, whose flag the vessel will fly.

Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., Newport News, Va., has contracted to build the long-proposed giant for $67,350,000. The rest of the money will go for such things as architects' fees and fittings.

Incorporating new developments in architecture and metals, the liner will have a speed of about 30 knots. Its crew will number 1,000 officers and men. Its name is yet to be selected.

Smith, in announcing the government's decision to help finance the construction, termed the move "the most important step the Maritime Commission has ever taken to bolster the peace-time merchant fleet and to protect the nation's welfare."

Containing many top-secret "defense features" in addition to its speed — itself a considerable defense against attack—the luxurious vessel is designed for easy transformation into a wartime troop-cargo carrier.

Should it ever be pressed into combat duty, it will have accommodations for 12,000 troops—almost a division—and much equipment.

It will be the first mammoth

Death Sentence Of Nazi Is Confirmed

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 8 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay confirmed today the death sentence against SS Col. Joachim Peiper, who ordered the Malmedy massacre of captured American soldiers.

More than 900 American prisoners and Belgian civilians were slaughtered in the Malmedy area of Belgium during the battle of the Bulge in 1944 and 73 Waffen SS (elite guard) veterans were adjudged guilty by an American court in July, 1946.

Texas Hitchhiker Is Shot To Death

KINGMAN, Ariz., April 8 (AP)—Glen Yarbrough, 28, of Rule, Tex., was shot to death here last night and sheriff's deputies combed the desert for the killer. The slayer smashed his get-away car a mile east of here.

Yarbrough was a hitchhiker. The man was shot twice as he stepped out from a car that had pulled into a service station.

The killer then sped away.

Rail Officials Visit In City

A program marking the centennial of the founding of the Burlington system was presented at American Business club luncheon today with several officials of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad in attendance.

The visitors include R. Wright Armstrong of Fort Worth, vice president of the Burlington lines; manager; Robert L. Hoyt, General freight agent, all of Fort Worth; M. G. Monaghan, assistant general manager, Amarillo, and Donald Ashton, executive assistant to Ralph Budd, president of the railroad, of Chicago.

Educator Is Speaker

Principal speaker was Robert E. Buchanan, head of the radio division of the department of speech, Northwestern university Evanston, Ill.

At the luncheon Buchanan outlined the history of the Burlington "family" from the time it was founded in 1894 at Aurora, Ill., with 12 miles of tracks.

He traced the history of the railroad in its westward progress to Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Minnesota.

The railroad in Texas received its charter from the Texas legislature May 26, 1873. Building was delayed by a panic of that year, but first grading was started near Fort Worth in 1882. The line from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls and Colorado was opened in 1888.

New Oil Field Opens In Texas Panhandle

AMARILLO, April 8 (AP) — Opening of a new deep field and a new era in oil development in the Texas Panhandle was heralded today when the first commercial producer in the Texas part of the Anadarko basin came in for 517 barrels.

The Amarillo offices of Sinclair Prairie Oil company announced the No. 1 Lips perforated Mississippi lime at 8,900 feet.

Major oil companies have spent millions of dollars in the search for deep oil in the basin.

The Amarillo Globe published an extra on the announcement of the new well, which is 24 miles south of Perryton and 30 miles west of Canadian.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Woman Is Dubious About Marriage Of Convenience To Stolid Candidate

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 27 and live at home with my parents in a mid-western city. I have a very nice position, a fairly decent income. I am engaged to be married to a man whom I have known for three years. I once turned him down flat but have since accepted him.

Ralph is very much in love with me, but I cannot say that I am head over heels in love with him. I am quite fond of him, and I am not in love with onyone else; although during the war I was very much in love with another man. That engagement was broken by strange circumstances and I have never fallen in love again.

In the time I have known Ralph he has always lived in the East, in a city where he works and owns a home; and marriage would mean my going there to live. Hy parents are happy over my engagement, but my two brothers—one older and one younger than I—feel that my job should mean more to me than marriage. Incidentally, they are married.

SHE WANTS HUSBAND: IS IT GOOD GAMBLE?

I DO have, and have always had, a strong desire for independence; but I also have a normal desire to get married, and I feel that I can learn to love Ralph.

What do you think? Would I be making a mistake in marrying and leaving my home town and giving up my position? Should I, at 27, continue to live at home with my parents, with no special male-interests in town, just for the sake of a good pob? Please advise me. Signed G. C.

BROTHERS AREN'T SPEAKING CLEARLY

DEAR G. C.: I think your brothers are trying to say that the "known" situation in this case seems preferable to the "unknown," from their viewpoint; which is an expression of concern for your welfare and happiness, and not meant to persuade you that a job is better than marriage, for their sister.

In all probability they don't understand the gist of their misgivings, and perhaps they can't put their finger on anything wrong with Ralph; but still they feel, or fear, that you may come to grief if you marry this almost-stranger, whom you don't love, and leave job, family and home-town, to try your luck with him—merely to achieve matrimonial status.

Perhaps they are vaguely troubled by awareness of the demands that a husband, and marriage, make on a woman; and dread the effects on you of trying to meet them without true love in your heart. Also, the fact that you got a rough deal from a man once before — who jilted you due to "strange circumstances" — may heighten their concern for you in this instance.

WHAT DOES GIRL KNOW ABOUT MAN?

YOU say that your parents are happy over the engagement, which suggests that they are happily wed, that they suffered inwardly with you, over your aborted engagement to the man you loved; that they are eager to see the wounde healed, are hoping for the best this time, and are being more optimistic than "realistic" or analytical in scrutinizing Ralph—or your reactions to him.

At any rate, that's what I sense back of your parents' attitude versus your brothers; and the question isn't whether to marry or stay single; but whether Ralph is a good or bad bet. And that is a question you must decide, primarily on the basis of what you know and feel about him.

If you have substantial evidence that he is decent, kindly, rational and mature in character; that he is liked, respected and trusted by long-time associates, and would be a "fair-and-square" partner and friend to his wife, then you have reason to give him a vote of confidence. But if your lack of enthusiasm refers to doubts about his cilaber, or to dislike of certain qualities, then a marriage of convenience would be a leap from the frying pan. I think. M. H.

SPRINGTIME PICNICS

Along with the warm days of spring have come plans for picnics and outings as a pleasant change from confining college classrooms.

THE TECH ACCOUNTING SOCIETY is extending an invitation to all junior and senior accounting majors to attend an annual spring picnic to be staged by the society on April 26 in MacKenzie State park.

Francis Brockman, president, has appointed Wilbert Hart as chairman of the picnic committee, and other committee members are Royce Hopkins, Jan Clark and Calvin Stewart. A short business meeting will be held at the picnic for election of officers.

75 Attend Tractor Maintenance School

Study sessions at a two-day tractor maintenance school at Texas Tech continued today, with more than 75 agricultural specialists, county agents, and 4-H club leaders taking part.

The opening day of the school Thursday featured demonstrations by W. N. Williamson, district agent for the extension service, in assembling several used tractors of different makes.

Also highlighted on Wednesday's program was a study of safety precautions in operating farm tractors. Joe Potter, of Fort Worth and Ed Wickhorst, of Tulsa, two safety specialists of the Stanolind Oil and Gas company, discussed this phase of the maintenance program.

Visitors divided into small groups to make detailed studies of available tractor models.

The afternoon session was devoted to a study of small repair jobs.

County agents and leaders registered from Lubbock, Yoakum, Scurry, Howard, Dallam, Potter, Lamb, Moore, Dawson, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lynn and Gaines counties.

The school is being conducted in the old agriculture engineering building on the Tech campus.

Rich Italian's Empire Unique For No-Strike Record, Reform

By JULIUS HUMI
NEA Staff Correspondent

VAL D'AGNO, Italy, April 8 Count Gaetano Vittorio Marzotto, Italian industrial king, can snap his fingers in Communism's face. Of the 18,000 workers who run his industrial empire only 240 are Communists. And even they have never struck, in a country where strikes are as common as children.

County Marzotto, whose family started a textile factory in the valley of the Agno in the Dolomites in 1820, today is one of the richest men in Europe. He is also one of the most popular.

In contrast with industrialists who rely upon assistants to run their concerns, Marzotto, at 55, controls every phase of his enormous industry. But what makes him distinctive in European industrial circles are the ultra modern social reform plans on which he spends almost every one of his countless millions.

Count Marzotto: What he spends is not merely philanthropy.

Expansion Underway

In Val d'Agno, a city of 30,000 constructed entirely with the count's capital, he has built the most up-to-date kindergartens and hospitals. For 350 lire monthly (about 50 cents) workers' children are cared for all day, given modern scientific training and two meals. In the maternity ward, where an average of two children are born daily, mothers get benefit of modern equipment and excellent doctors free of charge. The count maintains a home where his older and less able exworkers eat, sleep and live for less than $5 a month.

With his faith in European recovery, the count still is expanding his empire. He is building huge model farms in the Venetian lake area, where he intends to breed Dutch and American cattle. On a 1300-acre farm near Portogruaro, Marzotto produces wheat and vegetables that he sells to his workers in Val d'Agno, Piza and other plants for about half what they would pay on the open market.

Sons Share Business

But Count Marzotto is not merely a philanthropist. As he gives to his workers he also expects their full co-operation and loyalty. European Recovery Program Management Analysis expert Russel Duncan, of Los Angeles, Cal., who visited his establishments, considers it the best run industrial concern in the country.

The count's five sons, all of whom own shares in their father's enterprises, are spread over the world, learning their trade. One is in South Africa, another in Australia, from where Marzotto gets the bulk of his raw wool. Another is in the U. S. working as an ordinary laborer in a cotton mill. The oldest son, Vittorio, 26, acts as his father's substitute and is a vice-president of the textile works. All the other projects, including his stone and marble quarries, are owned by the count personally.

When the present Marzotto took over the textile industry, he immediately used part of the family's large fortune to start his social reform programs, believing that Communism can be defeated by making the workers happy.

During the past 30 years that theory has appeared to be right. By the 100,000-odd people who depend on him for a living, Marzotto is regarded as a mixture of guardian angel, stern father and teacher of discipline and cleanliness.

Left Mussolini

Although the count is a sworn anti-Communist, when Mussolini started his famous land reforms in northern Italy, Marzotto closed down his farms and agricultural establishments and lived in France, Switzerland and the United States until after the liberation.

He is making up now for his lost years. Model farms near Venice are near completion. He is constructing a village on the lines of Val d'Agno in the area. Every farmer will have his own flat in small, tidy two-family houses.

Management experts believe that the count is investing his money prudently. Absence of the dread "slow-down" strike, now crippling northern Italy's production, already is returning some of his investment.

Assistant to the count in his huge social reform system is his cousin Allessandro Negri, expert practical sociologist who has been responsible for the workers' well-being for the past 20 years. He is in charge of the count's own industrial school, where boys and girls from 14 to 18 get free technical training in the textile industry and related industries.

Burglars Forced To Put In Hard Night's Work In Order To Get $1,000 From Baltimore Bar

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP)—Times must be getting tough. Even burglars have to work for what they get.

Early yesterday morning, thieves broke into a bar and escaped with $1,000. But, as police reset the crime, here's what they had to do to get it:

Scale a 20 foot wall at the rear of the establishment.
Rip open a heavy screen and force a window.
Force a door leading to the basement.
In the basement, force another door leading to a storeroom.
Lay a heavy safe over on its side and chisel an eight-inch hole through the plating.
They had the money then, but they weren't out. So—
To leave by a side door, they forced it open, only to find a heavy screen door padlocked. They broke that lock, too.
Left in the club were a small screwdriver, a large chisel and about 50 feet of sash cord.

Non-Stop Banquet For Global Fliers Staged At Fort Worth; Air Force Officials Guests

BY WILLIAM C BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, April 8 — A non-stop banquet for the non-stop fliers.

Fort Worth really put it on big last night for Capt. James G. Gallagher and his crewmen who girdled the globe in a single 94-hour and one minute hop.

For three hours the fliers—and Air Force officials—soaked up compliments and accepted gifts.

After the choice sirloins, mushrooms, remouladed shrimp, whipped cream and strawberries and other extras had gone down the hatch, Mr. Fort Worth took over.

Mr. Fort Worth is Amon G. Carter, fabled publisher, a big, strapping man, grey-headed and bright-eyed.

Fort Worth Boosted

Carter was in rare form—even for Carter. His was a roaring, applauding, untiring audience of 500. He reminisced, rambled and never ran out of humor—but through it all he brought the sincere thanks of a swarm, friendly city.

As he told the airmen:

"Your gallant flight has been written into time—and with it has been written the fact that the flight started in Fort Worth and ended in Fort Worth. Fort Worth will not forget that—nor will it let anyone else forget it."

It was a plushy, top-drawer affair, sponsored by Fort Worth's hard-hitting Chamber of Commerce. Menus cost a dollar each to produce. The swank hotel ballroom was full of flags, flowers and beautiful gowns and the soft music of a smooth orchestra tantalized the air. The young fliers lolled happily at the head table.

Wives Are Guests

At a reserved front table were their wives—the guests of Fort Worth. Each wife wore a gardenia corsage.

"We surely appreciate all this" said Lt. Earl L. Rigor of Corvallis, Ore. "This is the first time our wives have had a chance to see us in action."

"I'm getting more of a kick out of this than I did out of making the big trip," said Staff Sgt. Robert R. McLeroy of Alvarado, Tex. "And my dad—W. R. McLeroy of Alvarado—is out there in the audience, getting a bigger kick out of it than I am."

"This is Texas," Capt. James H. Morris of San Antonio said blissfully.

Gifts Presented

Carter presented the world-fliers and Air Force officials present with expensive, leather-bound scrolls, conferring lifetime citizenship in Fort Worth; fine wallets; and 14-karat gold medals commemorating the epic flight. In addition he promised them broad-brimmed western hats: "just be careful where you leave those hats, boys."

Lt. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, chief of the strategic air command and boss of the nation's global bomber training said: "Our gratitude for the honor you have shown Captain Gallgher and his crew will never be forgotten. In return we'll give you an Air Force that will give you the security we all desire so much."

And Gallagher said: "Whenever we come back to Fort Worth, it'll always look as good to us as it did after 94 hours and one minute."

Earlier the fliers had been paraded through the city and had attended the presentation of a bronze plaque at Carswell Air base, marking the spot where the flight began Feb. 26 and ended March 2.

A reported asked Carter: "When the Army launches its first rocket to the moon, do you suppose they'll launch it from Fort Worth"

Services Conducted For Lamesa Resident

LAMESA, April 8. (Special) — Funeral services for G. S. Bolton, 71, a resident of this city for the past seven years, were held Thursday afternoon Bryan Street Baptist church, where he had served as Deacon.

Rev. E. L. Jones and Rev. J. P. Jones officiated. Burial was in Lamesa cemetery with Higginbotham Funeral home in charge.

Mr. Bolton was a native of Caldwell county and had been a member of the Baptist church 37 years.

Survivors include the widow; a brother, N. M. Bolton, Three Rivers; a sister, Mrs. Fannie Callihan, Luling; a daughter Mrs. Margie Boatright, Lamesa, two granddaughters and a great grandson.

Pallbearers were T. N. Middleton, Matthew Goodrich, Ray Leathers, Joe Thompson, J. D. Thompson, and H. M. Box.

Woman, Three Sons Held While Officers Seek Missing Father

WHITESBURG, Ky., April 8 (AP) Authorities in this east Kentucky mountain county tried to establish today whether a missing rural storekeeper is dead or alive.

Conflicting stories about storekeeper Herman Ison, missing since about March 5, added to the puzzle which officers sought to unravel.

Sheriff Herman Combs said Ison's wife, Amanda, 48, and three teenage sons had been placed in the Letcher county jail on charges of murder. Their arrest came, Combs said, after a younger son, Albert, 11, reported seeing his mother and older brothers kill Ison and bury him.

Man Reported Alive

Then last night jailer J. M. Adams said he received information from a telephone caller indicating the 50-year-old storekeeper is alive. Adams said the caller identified himself as Carl Hunter, son-in-law of Ison.

The jailer reported Hunter said he had seen Ison in Cincinnati yesterday. Adams added Hunter agreed to have Ison call authorities here today.

Mrs. Ison insisted from her jail cell, separate from her sons, "there ain't nothin' wrong; he's (Ison) just gone away for a spell."

Adams said Mrs. Ison and the boys—Ruben, 18, Bruce, 16, and Luther, 14—would be held, however, until Ison's whereabouts are established.

If Czech cows will each produce two more pints of milk a day, whipped cream will return to Czechoslovakian tables, said Premier Zapatocky.

Communist Plans To Place Reds In Key U. S. Industrial Plants Are Described In Trial

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Communist plans to "colonize" key U. S. industrial plants were described yesterday by an undercover man who fed the FBI with secrets from his strategic position in the red underground.

The General Electric company's jet airplane engine plant at Lynn, Mass., was a special target of a Communist organizing campaign in 1947, the party ex-propagandist told a federal court jury.

Herbert A. Philbrick, an advertising executive who spent nine years in the Boston area Communist movement as a "contact" man for the FBI, put in his second day on the witness stand against eleven top party leaders.

Man Is Attacked

The Daily Worker printed a scathing personal attack on Philbrick yesterday. The Communist newspaper also assailed his testimony backing charges that the defendants conspired to teach and advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

Philbrick's declarations followed previous government testimony that a post-war "colonizing" program was started by the U. S. Communist politburo on orders from Moscow. The alleged purpose was to develop "political" strikes into armed revolt when the time was ripe.

The witness said he had to go "underground" when he shifted to the party's "professional" group, because it is made up of business men, teachers, lawyers and others whose membership the party wants to keep secret.

Members Go Undegrround

In the past year, he added, most party members have gone "underground."

Armed with a little black diary and a stack of Communist literature, Philbrick told of his work as educational director in the eighth congressional district of Massachusetts, which takes in communities around Boston.

Philbrick identified party documents showing a postwar reorganization that made the eleven defendants together with national chairman William Z. Foster, the sole members of the U. S. politburo at the time the indictment was filed last year. Foster was indicted with the eleven, but his trial was put off because of illness.

Conference Is Revealed

The witness said the "colonizing" of industrial plants in Massachusetts followed a new party "line" decreed in September, 1946.

Following this order, he said, a "party building conference" was held in Boston Feb. 7, 1947. He said he was one of 100 members present who heard a speech by Manny Blum, the district organizer.

"We were told," Philbrick testified, "to adopt the policy of colonizing, that is taking jobs in key industries. These included the New England textile plants, the leather industry, which is important in Boston; the Boston and Maine railroad, and the General Electric plant in Lynn . . ."

The witness quoted Blum as saying "the status of a colonizer" is "a high honor in the party."

The witness said the automobile, steel, coal, railroad, lumber and maritime industries in all parts of the country were mentioned in connection with recruiting 10,000 workers for "mass struggles."

Venezuela has bought four new Swedish-built vessels for about $2,500,000.

THEY HOP THE PACIFIC—Mark Twain's famous Jumping Frog of Calaveras County can take a back seat to these giant Louisiana bullfrogs. They hopped across the Pacific Ocean. They were part of an airplane shipment of 30 pairs of frogs flown from San Francisco to Singapore to be used for breeding.

Hanging Of Boy Is Ruled Accidental

NORWALK, Conn., April 8. (AP)—Nine-year-old Ronald Self., playing with a rope in a tree here yesterday, accidentally hanged himself.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Harold Self, cut the child down and tried to carry him home. After two blocks, she screamed for help and police arrived with an inhalator. They were unable to revive the boy. Dr. William H. McMahon, medical examiner, called it an accidental hanging.

Police, who said there were no witnesses, reported that several boys had been using the rope earlier in the day as a swing by placing their feet in a loop.

They said it was apparent the boy had slipped from a tree branch with the loop around his neck.

Morons Allowed To Wed In Pennsylvania

TOWANDA, Pa., April 8. (AP)—Morons, even though on relief, may marry in Pennsylvania, a judge ruled today.

Judge William M. Rosenfield of Bradford county issued his decision after the register refused to grant a couple a marriage license. The register contended they were unfit mentally and unable to support a family.

The couple appealed to the court. Dr. Irving Chatterson, psychologist, examined them and declared they were morons, "the next classification above imbeciles."

After hearing Dr. Chatterton, Judge Rosenfield said the law forbids giving marriage licenses to imbeciles but there is nothing in the law barring the marriage of morons.

NO THOROUGHFARE

BROOKLINE, Mass. (U.P.)—In addition to one-way streets, this town has a no-way street. The 100-foot-long cut-off has a "No Right Turn" sign at one end and a "Do Not Enter" sign at the other. Town officials are thinking of grassing over the unused street.

Police Stave Off Pickets As Rival Union Boards Ships

HALIFAX, N. S., April 8 (AP)—A long-range battle was waged at the waterfront early today as police kept hoses played on a throng of howling, rock-throwing Canadian seamen's union pickets from the decks of several strike-bound ships. At least two C.S.U. men suffered minor injuries.

The fight began after a special train was whisked quietly into a waterfront siding early this morning. It discharged more than 200 seamen from the rival Seafarers International union (AFL). Flanked by a cordon of police and waving sawed-off axe handles the S.I.U. men went aboard at least three struck ships. They moved at the double.

Police Moved In

C.S.U. men said the police suddenly appeared "from nowhere," pinned the pickets' arms to their sides and quelled resistance while the rival S.I.U. men trooped aboard.

In the early scuffle, C.S.U. witnesses said two of their men were clubbed with axe handles. As soon as the S.I.U. reached the decks of the ships, batteries of fire hoses were used.

The C.S.U. called the strike a week ago after the shipowners signed a contract with the rival union.

Prof Joins Ranks Of Absent-Minded

CINCINNATI, April 8 (AP) A University of Cincinnati faculty member joined the ranks of the legendary absent-minded professor yesterday—because of two articles of clothing.

The professor—whose name was withheld — attended a university student sale of lost and found articles. He hung his coat and hat on a rack among the for sale items. A UC employe happened along and liked the coat and hat, handed a student a dollar and walked off with the clothing.

The mistake was corrected later. The professor got back his coat and hat and the employe his dollar.

Sympathetic Congressmen Donate Money To Buy New Store Teeth For Veteran Bus Boy

BY HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 — Roy is a bus boy. He is one of those faithful servants who clears the table, spreads the clean linen and leaves you to your meal — without getting many tips.

Roy, last name of Wilson, has for many years been a favorite in the House of Representatives restaurant, where Congressmen meet each day to chew over the 75-cent plate special and political fat.

The management lets Roy, a 55-year-old negro grandfather, fetch the eggs and bacon for the breakfast trade while the waiters are busy. That supplements his $125 a month salary with a few tips.

Dentist Demands Money

The other day Lyle Snader, secretary to Rep. Leo Elwood Allen, R., of Galena, Ill., noticed that Roy was minus all his teeth. Lyle, being a 15-cent tipper, is one of Roy's best breakfast customers.

Roy explained it like this: He had been having sharp jaw pains for a long time and finally went to the dentist. He didn't have much spare change since he supports his wife, three kids, and a grandmother. So all he could put down was $25, which paid only for the extractions. The dentist made it clear there would be no false teeth unless he saw $162 on the barrel-top in advance.

Roy, the quiet kind, kept his mouth shut at work for a month. After he heard the story, Lyle went to the tobacco counter and got an empty cigar box. He put a dollar bill in it.

The Republicans have a large round table in the restaurant. The waiter for that table is an old-timer — and a friend of Roy's. He casually mentioned the cigar box and the dollar bill to Rep. Walt Horan of Wenatchee, Washington, when the Congressmen dropped in for lunch.

Walt looked at the box and the teaser-dollar. He bounced into the kitchen and came back lugging the biggest salad bowl you ever saw. Then he went back to his office, got out the india ink and a big piece of cardboard. He put Roy's story in big letters and placed Lyle's dollar in the salad bowl, along with one out of his own wallet. He enjoyed his lunch very much.

The Congressmen came. They ate their lunch and dumped a dollar each into the "molar fund."

At the end of the day, some $70 had been collected. The idea spread to the Democratic table, which Roy also cleans off. Another salad bowl appeared.

To Get Teeth

All of this went on for two days until somebody got the bright idea of ringing up Rep. Walter Ellsworth Brehm, of Millersport, O. Brehm is the only dentist in Congress and has been pulling and filling teeth for over a quarter of a century, although he says he's out of practice.

Some colleague, a wag, asked the congressman-dentist if he had pulled Roy's teeth and forgotten to replace them?

Dr. Rep. Brehm denied the allegation stoutly but put some more "Lettuce" into the salad bowl.

That did it.

Roy, who is grateful, to be sure, will be off the soup and fruit juice diet — as soon as his dentist, who has been paid, gets around to making him some new store teeth.

Official Promises "Seeing Eye" Dog To Michigan Girl Blind Since Birth

GRAND LEDGE, Mich., April 8 (AP)—Hope, disappointment, then a promise of fulfillment. That's the story of little Bonnie Lee Kirchen.

Blind since birth five years ago, Bonnie put her faith in a report that a cigaret company would furnish a leader dog free in return for the cellophane tabs from 40,000 packs of smokes.

Townspeople pitched in and collected that many. But Bonnie's hopes were shattered when it was learned no company had made the offer.

Then came the happy ending. A Chicago newspaper publicized the little girl's plight. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and president of the Master Eye foundation, stepped in like the fairy godmother.

He notified Bonnie he is sending her a puppy for the time being. What's more, he'll see that she gets a seeing eye dog when she's 12 and old enough to handle it.

HST Claims Final Success Of Liberal Program Is Assured

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Opposition to administration legislation dealing with labor, housing, rent, national health insurance and the European recovery program is "only a defeatist expedient," says President Truman.

"Expediency can never win a real victory," Mr. Truman said in a message sent to the convention of Americans for Democratic Action which opens a convention here today.

Temporary Success Claimed

"Temporary success for expediency is only time out in the march of progress—a hollow victory that soon turns to defeat," the President added in his message addressed to Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), acting national chairman of the ADA.

"A program won the 1948 elections. I hope that all Americans of whatever political faith will not lose sight of the moral of our recent political history."

Mr. Truman said the opposition to a fair labor law, a fair minimum wage, the ERP, rent control, a housing bill, national health insurance, better educational opportunities, and to safeguarding human rights "is no program."

Carrying Out Program

"We are carrying out the program which we offered to the voters last year," President Truman said. "In carrying out that program we are not making everyone happy. Some say we are moving too fast. Others say we are moving too slow.

"As long as the people know where we are going and that we are going there, I do not worry over petty and temporary victories by obstructionists, nor do I worry about the future of liberalism in America."

A winter drouth and severe frosts combined to cut Argentina's current wheat crop to an estimated 4,500,000 tons.

Society Burglar's Girl Is On Trial

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 8 (AP)—Trial of Betty Ritchie, pretty girl friend of Gerard Dennis, accused society burglar, has opened with an accusation she admitted receiving a stolen mink coat from him.

Police Sgt. R. W. Borders quoted the 24-year-old ex-Canadian school mistress as saying: "Gerry gave it to me." The mink in question is a $3500 item which Mrs. Waite Phillips, wife of the oil magnate, says was taken from her Bel-Air mansion last October.

A jury of nine women and three men heard first-day testimony. Sgt. Borders said he led the police squad which searched Dennis' Beverly Hills apartment —with no objection from Miss Ritchie, the occupant—last Feb. 16 and found furs and jewels valued at more than $100,000 in a locked closet.

Dennis is accused of burglaries involving $600,000 in valuables from Hollywood stars and Beverly Hills socialites and in White Plains, N. Y.

500 Persons Attend Square Dance Meet

An estimated 500 persons from over a wide area of West Texas gathered here last night for the regular monthly meeting of the Westerners Square Dance association.

The meeting, held at Playmor hall, opened with Kenneth Cox, of Lubbock, second vice president of the association, as master of ceremonies. Others who acted as MC's were Lee Mason, Post; Wright Kerr, J. M. Harper, A. D. Montgomery, Robert Mason, and L. J. Sollis, all of Lubbock.

Plans for the next session of the association, slated to be held at Brownwood in May, were discussed at a business meeting held during intermission. Morris W. Liston, of Sweetwater, is president of the group. Last month's session was held at Stamford.

Guest callers last night included Al Finch, Rotan, Morrison Liston, Sweetwater, Ivy Jones, Rotan, John Horton, Loraine, Ercell Givens, Abernathy, Chuck Rogers, Sweetwater, Joe Benton, Stamford, Harry King, Big Spring, L. MAN LEADS FBI TO BOND CACHE

Most Of $883,660 Taken From New York Bank Is Recovered

NEW YORK, April 8. (AP)—All but about $60,000 of the $883,660 which banker Crowe filched from a branch of the National City bank has been recovered—a big share of it in the attic of his home.

After a talk with his attorney, Crowe steered FBI agents yesterday to the spot where he had hidden $690,000 in bonds, most of them negotiable.

Confers With Attorney

Crowe had said earlier that he dumped the bonds from a ferry into New York harbor.

His wife, Miss Honora Wall Crowe, said she had begged her husband to "tell about the bonds —whether he had thrown them away or what."

Later, Crowe, who had been a $6,500-a-year assistant manager of the Broadway branch of the National City bank, put the FBI on the right track after conferring with his attorney, Peter F. Gulotta.

Crowe, who disappeared March 27 and was arrested about a week later in Daytona Beach, Fla., is accused of taking $193,660 cash along with the bonds from the bank's vault.

More than $50,000 cash was found in his possession when he was arrested. About $15,000 was found in his parent's home, and some $60,000 was mailed to creditors. The remainder is unaccounted for.

The case goes to a grand jury today.

At the Crowes' well-furnished bayfront home, Mrs. Crowe said yesterday that she had told her husband "I prayed you would give yourself up," and that he replied:

"I did. I waited for them for three days in practically the same place."

Mrs. Crowe said her husband "looked and acted disturbed."

Officials of the National City bank revealed an audit showed that no funds had been taken prior to the sudden disappearance of the $883,660.

James Mason Finds Hollywood Just As It Was Described

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 8. — After living here several months, James Mason finds Hollywood filled with frustrations, "but not uninhabitable."

The free-talking Briton was booed by Hollywoodians last year for panning the town without having seen it. He had penned a magazine article lambasting the movie capital in rugged terms.

Later he came to Hollywood and has been earning a fabulous salary. So I sought him out on "The Blank Wall" set to see if his ideas about the town had changed. They hadn't.

"I wrote that article on hearsay," Mason declared. "Since coming here, I found that most of the things I had heard were true. But I think that Hollywood is not uninhabitable because of them."

Capitalists In Charge

Mason's objections to Hollywood includes:

"Because the money - dealers run things, the creative artist has little freedom."

Concerning this, Mason was recently talking to a gifted writer-director. "How can you do the things you want to do and still work for the big studios?" Mason asked.

"Why," answered the film maker, "when we play golf, we like to have bunkers and sand traps for hazards. It wouldn't be any fun to drive down a smooth fairway. It's the same thing in making pictures. The studios provide the hazards."

But Mason appears to be settling in Hollywood. He has bought a house and reports that some of his land can be subdivided in 1950.

Midget Cow Three Feet Long Is Owned By Washington Man; Dwarf In Normal Health

EVERETT, Wash., April 8. (AP) A midget cow was claimed by its owner today as "the smallest full grown cow in the world."

She is three feet long and two feet high. A veterinarian said the 90-pound cow is between two and three years old.

Dwarf Is Spotted

The dwarf is so small that several cattlemen claim she isn't "all cow." They declared they believed she is a cross between a cow and one of the midget deer that abound on nearby Whidbey island.

Roy Tower spotted the dwarf at cattle auction yards in Snohomish and made a private deal to buy her.

Odd Eating Habits

Her odd eating habits, shaggy coat and flightiness indicate that she ran wild for a long time, Tower said. When Tower first obtained her a few days ago she nibbled at buds off trees and bushes instead of grazing on the lush grass in the vacant lot where he is keeping her.

The dwarf, named "Saffo" by Tower, has a fawn-colored coat with deep brown and black on the head. The veterinarian who examined her said she is in normal health.

Forces Clash In Guatemala

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, April 8. (AP) — Army units fighting to quell Guatemala's 19th revolution in four years claimed the upper hand again today.

Foreign Minister Munoz Meany said at least two persons have been killed in fights along the Mexican border with groups he accused of a "fascist" plot to depost President Juan Jose Arvalo.

Border Is Closed

The Mexican and Guatemalan governments said the border has been closed, Mexico proclaiming strict neutrality. Meany said the objective was to hem in the rebels, and prevent others from coming into Guatemala.

(The commander of Mexican forces on the frontier described the rebels as "subversive groups of armed men without military experience who are devoting themselves to robbery and looting." He indicated revolutionary action continued in northwestern Guatemala.

(In Mexico City a manifesto signed by Col. Jose Ignacio Aguilar was circulated quietly among Guatemala citizens giving them 20 days to cross the border and join the revolt in order to be "saved and respected." The manifesto challenged the legality of Arevalo's election on grounds he is "an Argentine citizen although of Guatemalan origin."

Clashes Are Revealed

Munoz told of clashes at El Carmen, Ayulta and MaLacatan, near the border. He said revolutionaries held Malacatan for six hours before Army troops recaptured the town yesterday after a fight.

The defense ministry reported the Army has restored quiet in all three towns.

Arevalo, elected to a six year term, has held the presidency since March 15, 1945.

India banned entry of 10 Pakistan newspapers which is accused of propaganda "likely to cause fear or alarm."

GEYSERS HIT TOWN

MILAN, Italy, April 8 (AP) — Hundreds of villagers were evacuated today from Basiasco, a north Italian hamlet of 1,000 which suddenly found itself among huge geysers of methane gas and mud. The biggest reportedly fountained 5,000 feet in the air.

A boy in Glamorgan, Wales, queued at 4:30 a. m., recently, to buy his mother nylons.

Henderson-Guerrera In Boxing Card's Top Fight Tonight

Full House Expected To Witness Matches

The top fight on the boxing card tonight at Sled Allen's arena will be the 10-rounder between Bill Henderson and Paul Guerrera, and all ringside seats have been sold for several days.

Interest in the fights has increased the past few days, and a full house is expected by fight time, with four preliminary matches before the main event. Three other local boxers are scheduled to fight, and weighing-in was set for 2 o clock this afternoon.

Guerrera has the advantage over Henderson as far as number of fights is concerned, having participated in 32 professional bouts, and he has seen the local boy in several fights at El Paso.

Both fighters are expected to be in top shape. Henderson should enter the ring at approximately 134 pounds, slightly heavier than in his last fight. For the past few days he has been doing heavy roadwork, sparring, and working with the punching bags.

Has Fine Record

Henderson has a fine record in little more than a year in the ring, winning 14 of 15 fights. Guerrera has more professional experience and has the advantage of having seen Henderson box in El Paso.

Charley Neff, of Petersburg, who meets Conrado Castunou is in the best shape he has been in, and should fight a good bout. The Juarez native has had eight fights, and the boys seem to be very evenly matched for the contest.

An experienced man, Jack Wortham, will be in the ring with Gene James when he makes his professional debut. James has won two regional Golden Gloves titles and is in good shape for this match. Both fighters will weigh approximately 180. But James is very eager and takes his fighting seriously, so the experience factor may be counterbalanced by enthusiasm.

Bill Pollard, another local boy, is matched against Frankie Guzman in a welterweight bout. Pollard has looked good in his last fights and much improvement has been noted. Guzman has appeared in 18 fights, winning 13 of them with three draws, and this match should produce plenty of action and excitement.

In the other bout, Dickie Weinhold, Amarillo, will face another experienced boxer in Jesse Robles of Juarez, but the Amarilloan has been in the ring some length of time himself, having appeared in several New York bouts. Robles has a record of 21 victories in 23 starts, with two draws.

The action starts at 8 o'clock, with the doors opening at the arena at 7. Tickets during the day may be bought until 5 o'clock at Wylies Drug store or at Foster's gym, 2417 Main. Only general admission ducats remain unsold, but each fan is assured of a good seat. The tickets sell for $1.80. Tickets that remain will be sold at the gate after 7 o'clock tonight.

Jaycees Take Lead In Bowling Tourney

Jaycees lead the City Bowling league tournament after the fourth night of action with a top score of 2,922 pins. The defending champion, Lubbock Bowling club, is now in second place with 2,907.

The VFW team also had an exceptional score to take over third with 2,901 as only one night of bowling remains.

The individual series high has been boosted somewhat as Coulson Taxton averaged 220 for three games to post a 660 score. Only three pins behind, with 657, was E. A. Christensen, and he turned in the top individual game with 246.

Jim Bragg posted a 644 series; Rufus Rush had 621; I. D. Short toppled the pins for 620; R. Z. Abell rolled 610; and Dick Williams finished with 606.

In third place now is Mission Orange with 2,894; Sears has 2,888; and Waltons holds down sixth place with 2,884.

Thursday night the Lions finished with 2,802; Exchange club totalled 2,787; and ABC was low with 2,687 pins.

Tonight at Lubbock Bowling club will find some of the top teams competing. In the final night are Arthur Lay, Yellow Cab, Glassmans, Lester's Jewelers, S and Q Clothiers, Firestone, Jaycees number 2, and Jones Construction.

Horse Players Broke For Reason, Maybe

BOSTON, April 8 (AP)—So horse players always die broke.

Maybe this is why:

Last year, bettors at Suffolk Downs threw away or lost winning tickets on which they could have collected $50,000.

John C. Pappas, president of Easter Racing association, operators of the track, gave the figure to a legislative committee yesterday.

Westerners Will Be Near Full Strength At Saturday Meet

The Lubbock Westerners will be almost at full strength tomorrow for the District 2 track meet of Class AA Region One at Texas Tech. Qualifications begin at 9:30 a. m. for District 4-A schools, which will also hold their district meet.

Approximately 20 teams are slated to kick up the dust on the Tech oval, and the three qualifiers in each event will be eligible for the Region One show here April 23. Some of the top track stars in the South Plains region and Panhandle will participate in the Region, which qualifies the top two places in each event for the state meet in June.

Hot, windless days have had a cheering effect on the Westerner squad, and though it is not entirely free of injuries, all but one runner, Malcolm Young, should be in good shape. Wayne Stroud said Thursday that he is still weak from a recent throat infection, but he is improving daily and should be at his peak by the time of the Region meet.

The 440-yard relay team turned in a 45.8 performance Thursday afternoon at Tech with Stroud, Charlie Williams, Danny Boone, and Donald Decker running the event. The same quartet will be likely to enter the event Saturday.

Decker had the best time in the 100-yard dash, 10.4, and Williams registered 10.5. In the 220-yard low hurdles Decker made the distance in 24.5, a good time. He has been a consistent performer all season and should prove valuable to the Westerners Saturday.

Eddie Goetze has about found himself in the 440-yard dash. Wednesday he ran the distance in 53.5, but yesterday his timing was off and he finished with 55.0.

Lubbock Man Fights For Bearkat Post

HUNTSVILLE, April 8 (Special)—Fighting for the starting spot at third base in the Sam Houston State Teachers college baseball lineup is Adrian Huckabee, 175-pounder from Lubbock.

For with Lone Star conference title play just two days old, Huckabee must beat out a two-year letterman from Houston for the hot corner. And there are a host of newcomers trying for the position.

So far this season the Lubbock baseballer has shown he is qualified for the job. He has been a trifle slow in moving around in his position, but once he has his hands on the ball he has a rifle arm throw to first. In recent days, he has been turning in more polished performances.

But it is Huckabee's ability as a slugger that may make him this year's pride and joy of the Bearkat nine. Swinging from the right side of the plate, he has been giving the ball some terrific rides.

Rain has halted a major portion of the practice games, and one conference game had to be postponed.

For the past two years the Bearkats have finished second in conference play, but this year they hope that a brand new stadium will bring them luck. The ball park, complete with plenty of seating space and lighting for night games, is one of the most modern college fields in the state.

His parents, the D. W. Huckabees, live south of Lubbock on the Slaton highway.

Mangrum In Tourney Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8. (AP)—The Masters tournament sailed into the second round today in the wake of Lloyd Mangrum and the ebb tide golf of the one-time favorite, Dr. Cary Middlecoff.

Mangrum, whose golf money winnings this year are ahead of everyone's, took three strokes off par at the Augusta national with a 35-34—69.

Before Masters play began on the 6,900-yard course, Dr. Middlecoff was top choice and Mangrum second. But Mangrum, a twice wounded veteran from Niles, Ill., now is the choice to go on to victory.

Far From Game

Middlecoff, who resigned from Memphis dentistry for golf, was far from his game in the first round which required 76 strokes. That lofty score put him in a tie for 29th place.

Just behind Mangrum was Toledo's spark plug fortune heir, Frank Stranahan, with a 35-35-70.

One of the old names of American golf was bracketed with three others in a tie for third place. Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., a star of the early thirties, spotted pas a stroke with a 71.

Big Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, and Kansas City's Leland Gibson, also had 71's.

Little Scores 72

Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., one of the best of windy weather golfers, had a 72 going into the second round.

Little's par equaller was shot into winds prevailing at 22 miles an hour and blowing 35 in gusts.

Defending Chapmion Claude Harmon of Mameroneck, N. Y., and Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had disappointing 73's.

Bobby Locke, the South African, and Veteran Professional Henry Picard of Cleveland had 75's. Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Texas, Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and Horton Smith of Detroit had 75's. Nelson, Smith, and Sarazen, are former Masters winners.

Sports In Brief

(By The Associated Press)

BASEBALL

BOSTON — Dave Egan of the Boston Daily Record reported Boston Braves players were on "verge of open revolt" against Manager Billy Southworth but Southworth and players, at Columbia, S. C., denied it.

RACING

SKATING

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Yvonne Sherman of New York won compulsory figures to take the lead in the U. S. women's figure skating championships.

OWNERS PLAN MEET

GREENVILLE, April 8. (AP)—Club owners of the Class D Rio Grande valley baseball league will meet Monday in McAllen to elect a president to succeed Bill Osley, who died earlier this week. Osley also was president of the San Antonio Missions of the Texas league.

GORGEOUS GUSSIE—Coming east to sweep the women's indoor tennis championships with victories in mixed doubles, women's doubles and singles, Gertrude Moran relaxes in New York at a piano. Vivacious Gussie, 25-year-old Santa Monica, Calif., miss has her eyes on Wimbledon and U. S. outdoor titles, with long-range plans centered around fashion designing.

Tech Gridders' Final Spring Drill Session Slated Tonight

The last practice of the 1949 spring football program by Texas Tech's Red Raiders will be held under the lights tonight to acquaint the boys with night play, and the intra-squad tilt will be Saturday night.

Coach Dell Morgan said Thursday that two balanced teams would take to the field Saturday as a highlight to the Double T Sports Parade. A light workout on the lighted field will help eliminate a few mistakes that would otherwise occur if the boys took to the field Saturday without the night practice. Names of the players on each team will be made known today and they will get last minute instructions from the two elected coaches for the game, Bill Kelley of the Farmers and Glenn Lewis of the Ranchers.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the contest are on sale at Hilton hotel and the Tech Athletic office. Proceeds of the game will be used by the athletic department to help finance a dormitory for the athletes, something that is sorely needed on the campus. The ducats are on the market at $1 for adults and 60 cents for students. No charge will be made for children if they are accompanied by their parents. A good game and a fine halftime show will greet the fans who turn out for the game.

Bobby Layne, who has been assisting with the backfield coaching, more particularly the quarterbacking, will give a passing demonstration between the halves of the game. Layne gained fame while at the University of Texas under Coach Blair Cherry and Dana X. Bible, and last season played for the Professional Chicago Bears. Target for his aerial work will be Tech wingmen.

Performers Named

Other performers will be Preston Johnson and football relay teams. The relay teams will compete with one another in carrying the ball from one end of the field to the other.

Johnson, former Southern Methodist university star, will give a punting exhibition during the rest period. While at SMU he was nationally famous as a punter, and even now he can boot the ball 65 to 70 yards on the fly. Against Pitt one year he got off a record kick of 92 yards.

Coach Lewis's Ranchers will be suited out in red jerseys for the fracas which begins at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, and he said Thursday that his team was raring to go. Team strategy is a secret, but he intimated that he had a secret weapon which he would use sparingly in order to keep the score down. He doesn't want to humiliate the Farmers by defeating them more than two or three touchdowns.

Lip And Rickey Make No Deal

FORT WORTH, April 8. (U.P.)—President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers came to Fort Worth looking for a hard-hitting first baseman, and he was still a-lookin' when he left.

There was a report that the Mahatma of Montague street and Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants would talk about the possibilities of a trade.

Instead, Leo the Lip ate breakfast with Branch Rickey, jr., and Rickey the elder left in his private plane for Sacramento, only talking to Durocher on the telephone briefly.

Has Little To Say

Rickey, sr. had little to say before leaving Fort Worth. He conceded the Dodgers were thinking about making trade offers to the Chicago Cubs and the Giants. But no definite action had been taken, he added.

What Rickey the younger and the Lip had to say about over their ham and eggs also was a matter for speculation.

Young Rickey and the Giants have been chinning for some time in conversations that may have laid the groundwork for the trade.

Dodgers Try Rookie

Meanwhile, the Dodgers tried Rookie Kevin (Chuck) Connors at their first base sore spot and he hit one for five as the Dodgers beat the Macon Peaches of the Sally league at Macon, Ga., 11-2.

That was encouraging, but not yet the accepted solution. As Rickey moved on to Sacramento, there was a new report that he was interested in a trade with the Philadelphia Phillies — Pitcher Joe Hatten and Coach Edwards in exchange for Phil First Baseman Dick Sisler, Catcher Andy Seminick and Third Baseman Bert Haas.

Slaton Tigers Lose To Westerners, 9-2

In a seven-inning practice game Thursday, the Westerner baseball team won its seventh straight start, 9-2, at the expense of Slaton's Tigers at Chapman field diamond.

The victory for the locals was the second in two days and was marked by steady play at bat, fielding, and pitching.

Benny Day started on the mound for the Westerners, and the young southpaw gave up the two runs in the first inning on two triples and a walk after the first two men were out. But after that he settled down and pitched hitless ball until Maeker got a single over second base in the top of the fifth frame. Mac Taylor took over the pitching chores in the sixth, giving up no hits, but walking three men and hitting one batter with a pitched ball.

Nine Hit Attack

Two home runs, one each by Dean White and James Burgess in succession in the second frame featured the nine-hit attack of the Westerners, and White hit safely both times he was at bat.

The second team started the game, playing five innings and scoring six runs. The boys came through in good shape and their hitting left little to be desired.

Powell Hinson continued his hitting streak, getting a double in one trip to the plate for the Westerners, and he seems to have found his eye for the ball after a slow start. Jimmy Hamilton also hit safely in his only time at the plate.

Top man with the bat for Slaton was Maeker, who knocked a triple and a single, accounting for two of the three Slaton hits. Huckabay got the other three-ply blow.

To Meet Tech Team

The hits by Maeker and Huckabay put the Tigers ahead, 2-0, in the first inning, but in the bottom of the second the hometowners tied the count on the homers by White and Burgess.

The Westerners put three hits to the best advantage in the third inning for two more runs, but a double play squelched the attack when Norman Bantz popped-up to the pitcher on an attempt to squeeze Dan Adkisson in from third. The pitcher, Willis, threw to Maeker at third to complete the play. Two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth completed the scoring.

Sweetwater Facing Lamesa Nine Today

LAMESA, April 8 (Special) — Lamesa's High school baseball team invades Sweetwater today for a game with the Mustangs and will attempt to better its 1-1 record in District 3-AA competition.

The Conference contest was originally scheduled to be played at Lamesa, but the site was changed due to the local field not being ready.

Beaten 10 to 7 by Odessa's Bronchos in their season opener, the Tornadoes earned their first victory at Midland Wednesday. They walloped the Bulldogs, 4 to 0, behind the shutout hurling of lefthander Royce King. King allowed only five hits during the game, fanned 10 and walked two batters.

Coach Jack Wetzel announced that either Bill Hart or Jerry Phillips, both veteran righthanders, would work on the mound for the Tornadoes.

— By JOE KELLY —

Manager Lou Boudreau is an optimistic man these days, even though some 7,000 fans at Rosenthal field would have to be convinced that he had reason for optimism. Lou believes—and deeply—that the Indians going North are a better club than they were a year ago this time. The same feeling is shared by sports writers traveling with the club and by other players on the team. But after the exhibition game against the Giants Tuesday, it would take some explaining.

To be sure, Frank Papish was no great ball of fire and his slants were about as much of a mystery as Communist activity in Texas university. With that established—and with Ray Poat and Andy Hansen pitching fine ball—perhaps the Indians just had no opportunity to demonstrate why they should have so much confidence. For all their 12 hits, the Tribe couldn't do much with them. A pair of homers were the only truly devastating attack they showed and Mickey Vernon was lucky on his three-two clout.

But the Indians talk as though they were convinced it was in the bag and Boudreau leads the optimism. He thinks that if his infield hits as well as it did last year and the rest of the club stands up, the Indians are in. Be believes that the winter trades helped him immensely and that they will pay dividends. One thing is certain; Mike Garcia is going to be a valuable mound asset. In the five frames he worked Tuesday, Garcia showed control, curves and the best mixing of his stuff any hurler demonstrated.

Joe Gordon and Lou, of course, still are the best second-short combination in the majors. It will be hard to beat this combination. And the line through the mound is strong. Jim Hegan is one of the best receivers in the game, while Thurman Tucker and Larry Deby provide both good fielding and batting strength in the center garden. Vernon is a question mark at first, Ken Keltner is getting no younger at third, and the other two outfield positions appear to be in capable hands.

At the same time, the Indians didn't look or act like World Champions. We remember all too vividly when the New York Yankees ruled the roost. They looked, walked and acted like the champions they were. There was something undefinable about their actions that stamped them as something apart from the rest. Sure, they could be beaten and were, but even in defeat they wore the stamp of authority. The Indians failed to live up to this example. About one thing we are sure; the Indians are champions at being friendly, courteous and willing when it comes to dealing with the public.

Leo Durocher would have suited up Tuesday, but for the fact that he and Branch Rickey, jr., were in the midst of a trade talk. What it is, no one knows and there is a lot of guessing. We don't pretend to be good at guessing games, but we have a hunch Rickey is looking for a first baseman and Lippy wouldn't option a first class pitcher to the Hubbers. All of which suggests that if we were to guess, we'd guess that Leo might be after a Dodger hurler and Rickey might be after John Mize. From what we could learn, the deal apparently is bigger than that and several players may be involved.

New York and Cleveland baseball writers, who were here last year, said that they all looked forward to come back to Lubbock this season. One of them said that he didn't know what it was about the city, but it captivated him more than any other stop on the road. In fact, he declared he had written about it six or seven times during the year. All were thrilled over the sunshine and one remarked that he would have been disillusioned if it had been anything but nice here Tuesday. It was one of the best days for a game that they had had in about a week.

All of which must chafe Harry Gilstrap of Amarillo, who remarked in his column that a great many persons wondered why Bob Seeds and Buck Fausett didn't get the big league clubs to visit Amarillo the way they did Lubbock. His answere was that the best reply to the question was the weather West Texans was having. It was 70 degrees in Lubbock Tuesday; it was 52 in Amarillo. Q.E.D.

Former Dodger Wins $51,428.56 Judgment

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 8. (AP)—Mickey Owen, who jumped from the major leagues to the Mexican baseball circuit three years ago, won a $51,428.56 judgment yesterday against his former boss, Millionaire Jorge Pasquel.

"But the biggest hope of the former catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers still is to get back into the majors.

"Naturally I'm happy about the verdict," Owen said after a federal jury had awarded him a sum representing the unpaid portion of his salary in the Mexican league for 1946 and his full salary for 1947, 1948 and 1949.

The jury also turned down Pasquel's damage claims against Owen.

Bisons Hand Licking To Fort Worth Cats

WAXAHACHIE, April 8. (U.P.)—The Fort Worth Cats paraded four pitchers to the mound here last night in an effort to halt the heavy artillery of the Buffalo Bisons, but the Interational leaguers built up an 11-1 lead in the first four innings and coasted in with a 12-9 victory.

The Cats started hitting in the late innings, including a home run by Shortstop Al Leap in the ninth, but couldn't overcome that big lead.

AGING "YOUNGSTER" STILL ACTIVE—Sixty-one-old Charley Webber arrives at a Newark, N. J., field on a bicycle towing his team's equipment for a practice session. He is playing manager of the amateur Vailsburg Tigers. Last year, his 44th with the club, he caught 68 games and estimates he has caught more than 5,000 in his career.

Independents Lose To Optimist Group

The newly organized independent baseball team, the Hawks, were defeated Thursday, 10-4, by the Lone Star Junior Optimist club at the Optimist diamond. Both teams are composed of teen age players.

The practice game was good starter for the Hawks against a more practiced Optimist team.

Heavy hitting by Manager Billy Clark and Robert Webb featured the Hawks attacked. Both boys knocked home runs. Marvin Dunagan had two singles in two times at bat.

Kenneth Dalrymple pitched two innings for the Optomists, being relieved by Billy Lingle. Starting for the Hawks was Billy Ray Smith. He was relieved by Eddie Huitt, who pitched one inning, and Donald Dunagan come on to finish the game, giving up only one hit.

Catching for the Hawks were while Dale Wooley went the route for the Optimists.

Tech Independent, Boys Club Play Set

Boys Club was scheduled to meet Tech Independents in a practice baseball game today at the club diamond, beginning at 4:30. Pitching for the club team will be Jackie Martyn or Joe Hall as starter.

The Tech team may be playing under the Thomas Tinkers colors for the remainder of the year. In the last meeting they were set down with no hits by Martyn in a five inning game, but the boys have their mind on victory today.

Probable starters for Boys Club will be Jackie Cook, catcher; Billy Bohner, first base; Jack Whitehead, second base; Buddy Maner, shortstop; Mackie Lawrence, third base; and Royce Jones, Jack McClarty and Noland in the outfield.

Texas Sportsman's Competition Opens

BROWNWOOD, April 8 (AP) — The Texas Sportsman's Competition, sponsored by the Texas wildlife federation, got underway here today.

Skeet and trapshoot matches started this morning, directed by the Houston Fish and Game association.

Other events opening today include:

Rifle and pistol tournaments, under the direction of the Brown County Rifle and Pistol club; hunting dogs division, directed by the San Antonio bird dog and quail club, the Brazos coon hunters association, and Brown County Fox Hunters association. This division includes a bench show for bird dogs and setters, coonhound racing, coonhound bench show and foxhound bench show.

The Fort Worth Anglers club is in charge of plug and fly casting events starting Saturday.

Site To Be Decided For Bowling Meet

EL PASO, April 8 (AP)—Site of the women's state bowling tournament will be decided here tomorrow night during a lull in the current tournament. San Antonio, Amarillo and Beaumont are bidding for the meet. Officers also will be elected.

Last night, the Abilene Bowling Palace quintet failed in its bid to take over the Class C team title. The Abilene group rolled up a 2018 count, but was far short of the needed pins to take the title they won last year.

Leaders in all team brackets successfully withstood the barrage last night.

Three SWC Games On Schedule Today

(By The Associated Press)

Three Southwest conference baseball games are on schedule today.

The University of Texas opens a two-game series with Texas Christian at Fort Worth. Rice and Southern Methodist play at Dallas and Baylor and Texas A. & M. meet at Waco.

HOME RUN WINS GAME

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 8. (U.P.)—It took a home run in the top of the ninth by Jerry Baumer with a mate aboard to enable the Tulsa Oilers to squeeze out an 8-7 victory over the Muskegon, Mich., Central league team here last night. The Oilers had bunched six hits with two errors for a half dozen runs in the third.

Lubbock Hubbers Face Strong Paris Nine In Practice Game

BY JOE KELLY
Journal Sports Editor

GREENVILLE, April 8 — The Lubbock Hubbers go up against a strong Paris team tonight in a practice game there, and tomorrow take the road for Henderson.

The two games will be the last for the Lubbock nine before breaking camp Monday and heading for home, arriving there Wednesday, April 13, after two games en route. The Hubbers had a very good workout Thursday and seem to be in good shape for the two practice games.

Slated to hurl against Paris will be Cotton Russell, who won 12 and lost seven for the Hubbers last year. He will be followed by Don Hensiek, rated as the top pitching acquisition on the Lubbock team's roster.

This will be a stern test for Russell, the former rookie from Fort Worth, who came to the Hubbers directly from high school. Russell reported to camp heavily overweight and has not trimmed off too much fat yet. He will go five innings and possibly six, with the Hubbers watching him closely.

So far Russell has thrown some pretty good ball. He has worked in two games so far, showing better control than he had last year. He also is faster, but the tendency to take it easy remains.

Henseik is the pride and joy of the Hubber camp. He is a tall lad weighing over 180 who has a steaming fast ball. His control is good, and Manager Sullivan is counting on him to win a lot of games this summer. Hensiek has turned in two impressive performances on the mound this spring, while looking good also in camp.

Seven of the other eight players in the lineup will be Hubbers, with only Bob Megarity of Corpus Christi not under contract to the Lubbock club. Megarity will substitute for Sullivan at second base.

Sullivan, meanwhile, will be playing the keystone sack for the Greenville Majors who play Dallas Friday night, meet the Chicago Cubs here Saturday night, and top off the chain with a Sunday afternoon game against the New York Yankees. Sullivan will be on second base for all four games.

He isn't the only Hubber slated to see action for the Majors. Present plans call for Royce (Rooster) Mills to work three frames against the Cubs Saturday. Mills has made two mound appearances, both in relief roles, and each time saved one-run margins. He is one of the hardest working players here and is getting in fine condition.

Bill Gann, Corpus Christi manager, is masterminding the Hubbers while Sullivan is on leave to Greenville. Gann, formerly a hurler with Shreveport, is slated for action on the hill Thursday and possibly Sunday against the Yanks.

The Lubbock lineup presents few new faces at the present time. On hand from last year's team is Jackie Wilcox at short, Chick Fowler in left field, and Frank McAlexander at third base. Mike Dooley, with the Hubbers in 1947, in behind the plate.

Lloyd Pearson, on option from Greenville, is in right field and looking good, while Joe Wisniewski is in center field. Jim Prince, drafted from Midland, is on first base and playing there as though he owned it. He is getting competition from Ben Pardue, last year with Odessa, but he can't hit within 50 points of Prince, who also drives the long ball more frequently.

Fowler, on the Greenville list, but expected to be optioned to the Hubbers, appears to be about the same as last year. He is hitting better, and they say his fielding has improved.

Wilcox and McAlexander are two of the most improved ball players anywhere. Wilcox, of course, working with Sullivan, provides the Hubbers with one of the best double play combinations in the West Texas-New Mexico league. In fact, it probably is the best this year after coming close last season.

Prince is knocking the cover off the ball. He has been one of the leading hitters this spring and a large portion of his hits have been for extra bases. He is heavy, but moves around with enough agility to ward off any hopes Pardue might entertain of beating him out of the opening spot. Pardue, however, probably will replace Prince Friday and Saturday nights.

The Hubbers will watch the Yankee-Greenville game Sunday and break camp for home Monday. They play at Vernon Monday night and at Abilene against the Blue Sox Tuesday night. The club comes into Rosenthal Field Wednesday for two days of practice before playing exhibition games Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Texas League Action Slated

(By The Associated Press)

Six Texas league teams will see action today in exhibition baseball games, after loop nines broke even in intersectional play yesterday. Four teams won and four lost.

On the winning side yesterday were San Antonio, Shreveport, Tulsa and Oklahoma City. Losers were Houston, Beaumont, Dallas, and Fort Worth.

San Antonio Wins

San Antonio swamped Saginaw of the Central league, 20-6 at San Antonio, while Shreveport was defeating Greenville of the Big State league, 14-6, at Greenville. Oklahoma City swamped Vernon of the Longhorn league, 18-0, at Vernon. Tulsa shaded Muskegon, Mich., of the Central league, 8-7 at Hot Springs, Ark.

The Chicago White Sox pasted the Beaumont Exporters, 9-1, at Beaumont, and Buffalo of the International league defeated Fort Worth, 12-9, at Waxahachie. The Texarkana Bears squeezed by Dallas, 10-9, at Texarkana. The Pittsburgh Pirates beat Houston, 3-0, at Houston.

Today's Schedule

Dallas vs. Greenville at Greenville.
Beaumont vs. Pittsburgh at Beaumont.
Tulsa vs. Waterloo, Iowa, at Hot Springs, Ark.
San Antonio vs. Saginaw at San Antonio.
Fort Worth vs. Milwaukee at Fort Worth.
Houston vs. Chicago White Sox at Houston.

Mexico Takes Honors In Tarpon Contest

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 8. (AP) Mexico carried off all honors in the first day of the eighth tarpon contest here yesterday.

Oscar Sanchez of Tampico beat the tournament record by taking a tarpon of 186 pounds, 6 feet, seven inches long. The previous record was set in 1943 by Augusto Eichelmann with a 169½ pound fish.

More than 200 contestants still have two more days of fishing to try to beat Sanchez's record.

TCU WHIPS AGGIES

FORT WORTH, April 8 (AP) — Texas Christian university defeated Texas A. & M., 4½ to 1½, here yesterday in a dual golf meet.

Poultry Conference Is Opened At Tech

Approximately 100 farmers and poultrymen from several South Plains and Panhandle counties gathered at Texas Tech this morning for the opening of the South Plains poultry conference. They were welcomed to the campus by W. L. Stangel, dean of the agriculture college.

Lubbock County Agent D. W. Sherrill, chairman of the morning sessions, supervised the registration in the agriculture auditorium. Beginning at 10 o'clock the visitors heard a series of short talks by professors, instructors and experienced poultrymen on the proper care and handling of poultry.

Brooding and Developing Pullets; Why Test for Pullorum; Controlling parasites; Chicken Diseases and Breeding For High Egg Production were among the subjects covered.

The conference is scheduled for two days with an added evening session set for tonight at 8 p. m. Jack Creel, general chairman of the conference, said the meeting hopes to increase the number of farmers engaging in poultry raising as well as improve the quality of the flocks in the Plains area.

Atlantic Pact

help) in order to assist it to meet the material requirements of its defense program.

"It will be requested of the Congress that such assistance be in the form of military equipment from the United States required by (that country's) defense program and the provision of some financial assistance for increased military production on the country's part required by its defense program. Such assistance would be extended in recognition of the principle of self-help and mutual aid contained in the Atlantic pact."

The program is expected to call for around $1,250,000,000 worth of military supplies and equipment over a period of 12 months.

Each of the appealing countries promised to provide in return such help as it is capable of in the general interest of the defense of the whole north Atlantic area.

Treaty Signed Monday

The treaty was signed last Monday by 12 nations but has yet to be ratified. In the United States that requires approval by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

There were some variations in the appeals.

In the case of Denmark, for instance, emphasis was placed on an asserted need for American dollars to help meet the costs involved in increased military production. Each of the pleas stressed the view that military manufacturers must not be permitted to disrupt the European recovery program.

The Brussels pact countries acted as a group. Their request was presented by Luxembourg on behalf of all five nations.

The five Brussels treaty countries laid down this four-point statement of principle in their note:

Common Plan Sought

"A. The armed forces of the European participating countries should be developed on a coordinated basis in order that in the event of aggression they can operate in accordance with a common strategic plan.

"B. They should be integrated so as to give the maximum efficiency with the minimum necessary expenditure of manpower, money and materials.

"C. Increased military effort, including increased arms production, should be consistent with economic objectives and the maintenance of economic stability. Additional local currency costs should be met from non-inflationary sources.

"D. Arrangements concerning the transfer of military equipment and supplies for such production among the European participating countries should permit transfer, insofar as possible, without regard to foreign exchange problems and without disrupting the intra-European payment scheme."

Urgent Need Stressed

The statement then declared:

"In order to carry out a common defense program on the basis of the above principles, there is urgent need for United States material and financial assistance."

If the United States is prepared to indicate the prospects for such assistance, the countries said, they will submit a detailed statement of their needs.

In the American reply, the State department said the United States is prepared to recommend a program to Congress and this country would like to have the detailed statement of specific needs as soon as possible.

Acheson, in his statement accompanying the release of the exchange of notes, declared that he can not now place a figure on the overall arms program because it has yet to be reviewed by the President for a final decision.

Total To Be High

Unofficial estimates are that besides the program worked out by the State department calling for about $1,250,000,000 worth of aid to western Europe an additional sum for help to non-European countries will be asked. Thus the total bill to be laid before Congress may approximate $2,000,000,000.

RAILS LEAD RISE

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — Railroad stocks pulled well in front of a rising market late today.

Final prices were up fractions to an extreme of 2 points or so.

Earlier in the session the market had lofed along in slightly lower territory. Many losses were wiped out in the final hour and some gains extended.

Business expanded a bit as demand picked up. Trading, though, was about the slowest for the week, with turnover at the rate of around 800,000 shares for the full session.

In front of the worward move were such issues as Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Others higher included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Standard Oil (NJ), Richfield Oil, Pacific Western Oil, and Loew's.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today in moderately active dealings. The market was under pressure of profit taking, following yesterday's advance. Offerings were absorbed through trade buying for mill and export account. Nearby May was independently steady on covering orders, influenced partly by the decrease 3,199 bales in the certificated cotton stocks which now totaled 33,893 bales.

The Army called for offers on 11,000 bales which it did not cover in its recent inquiry for 40,550 bales.

ECA increased cotton credits to France and Italy which combined amounted to $7,750,000, or equaled to an estimated 45,000 bales.

Trade advices also said rains have delayed plantings of cotton in South, but 50 per cent was reported planted in early growing sections.

Futures closed 45 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, April8 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.42½-48½.
Oats No. 2 white 92½-93½.
Corn No. 2 white 1.71¾-74¾.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.65-70.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP) — Grains sank for losses extending to around a cent or more on the board of trade today. Lack of interest was the main factor in the slump, rather than any urgent selling. Trading was light.

Deferred corn futures, which had been strong yesterday, led the early decline.

Wheat closed ¼-1⅜ lower, May $2.16¾-⅞-1⅛ lower, May $1.31⅞-1.32, oats were ¼-⅜ lower, May 69⅝-¾, rye was ½-¾ lower, May $1.25¼-½, soybeans were unchanged to ¾ lower, May $2.19-2.19¼, and lard was unchanged to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $11.25.

Officer Checks Dog, But Is Check-Mated

FORT WORTH, April 8 (AP)—This was broadcast over the Fort Worth police radio:

"KQAN to officer A. W. Kohles. Investigate a dog in the 4400 block of Bonita Drive. Dog has just bitten a passer-by."

Several minutes later:

"Officer Kohles to KQAN. Located dog. Dog just bit me, also."

The dog's owner got a ticket. Kohles got hospital treatment.

WANT MONEY BACK

BROWNSVILLE, April 8. (AP)—County Attorney F. T. Graham today launched a probe of Pyramid clubs after police dispersed a crowd of 300 persons who were milling through a residence here last night. Police headquarters said they were swamped with demands from Pyramid club members who were demanding their money back.

Rules For Dahlia Show Are Adopted

South Plains Dahlia society, in a Thursday night meeting in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hiatt of 2510 Twenty-third, approved rules and regulations for the Dahlia show to be held in the fall.

Mrs. Lillian Slay, vice president, presided in absence of Mrs. James Samson, president.

It was emphasized that the show is open to all exhibitors who wish to enter, and not to just members of the society.

A color picture of the flower garden of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Faubion of the New Deal school district was shown by Jack Creel.

A paper was read by Frank R. Murray. He discussed some of the authorities on how and when to plant dahlias. He complimented Lubbock County library on having considerable literature on dahlias.

He said that the largest dahlias reported grown, a Murphy's Masterpiece, measured 17½ inches, and was grown in Ohio. Dr. J. Guy Porter once exhibited a Hunt's Velvet Wonder grown here that measured 15 inches, the speaker said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cocannouer of 3519 Twenty-fifth were accepted as new members.

War On Crime

with this, the group also recommended to the City commission that they "make available to Lubbock Police department sufficient funds to carry out a carefully planned training program" for the officers of the department.

4. More emphasis on halting juvenile delinquency, preventing it at its source by enforcing school attendance laws, more attention by parents toward how their children spend their leisure time.

Judge Issues Comment

Judge G. V. Pardue, in commending the jury upon its attitude, pointed out that the public will have to become more aware if the true situation of the current trend toward increased crime is to be stopped.

He recommended stiffer sentences, both for misdemeanor and felony offenses, and an improved system of probation. He suggested that copies of the grand jury report be sent to legislators in Austin, asking that adequate facilities and personnel be set up to supervise the probation system.

At this point, the Grand Judy report recommended higher wages for the Sheriff's Department. Copies of the report were to be sent to Sen. Kilmer Corbin and Rep. Preston Smith urging legislation to improve salaries to permit hiring more personnel. The present salary is based on the 1940 census, it was said.

Laxity Is Rapped

The grand jury found there had been an "extremely lax enforcement program in regard to the liquor laws" here. Teen-age boys have been introduced into illicit syndicate operations.

Lloyd Croslin and Waggoner Carr, district and county attorneys, were commended by the grand jury for "recent efforts to obtain a cleanup of this condition."

The court were asked to "impose upon those guilty of liquor law violations fines and jail sentences of such proportions as will deter further violation."

Few Jail Sentences

(Jail sentences for liquor law violation almost never are assessed in county court here. When one goes to jail it is almost solely because he cannot pay his fine and court costs.

(Those who watch the operation of that court also find a laxity in letting bootleggers and other criminals go free under deferred payment arrangements with the court. Frequently the court allows a convicted criminal the right to pass up the jail and take a month or two to pay his fine.)

Foreman of the grand jury making the report was George Langford of 2818 Twenty-third. Others included P. C. Mitchell of Lubbock Route 5; C. P. Young, jr., Wolfforth; G. W. Brassell, Slaton; J. R. Barron, Slaton Route 2; E. C. Pounds, Lubbock Route 1; Jack Payne, 2818 Twenty-third; Homer G. Maxey, 3206 Twenty-first; Leonard G. W. Cole, 2106 Sixteenth; Earl Hobbs, Lubbock Route 3; W. J. Spikes, jr., 2222 Eighteenth; and R. C. Priestly, 2102 East Ave. D.

Farm Program

under prices of these products by buying the price-depressing portion of the supply and removing it from the market.

Government Would Pay

If the price set by the free-play of supply and demand failed to give the producer a pre-determined minimum return, the government would make up the difference in the form of a check drawn upon the treasury.

(2) Abandonment of the parity system of determining so-called "fair" price goals for farm products. Adopted in the first year of the Roosevelt new deal, this system has been the backbone of farm-aid programs ever since. It would be supplanted by a new system designed to assure agriculture a certain minimum income rather than minimum crop prices.

(3) Provisions for broadening government controls on farm operations. These face stiff opposition. Farmers would be required to cooperate with all government program affecting all products produced by them and to comply with soil conservation programs in order to be eligible for any price-support aid.

thinks "the only sensible thing to do is to put all of the foreign aid proposals together, cut them down where it is necessary and keep spending within the limits of current receipts."

Tax Increase Possible

"If the President insists on piling European arms expenditures on top of all of the other budget requests, we'll either have to increase taxes—which will mean a depression and hard times—or start deficit spending, which will mean new and bigger inflation," he declared.

Similarly, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate finance committee said he doesn't think the European arms program can be separated from the domestic defense program.

"It is logically impossible to talk about a military budget for ourselves and a separate military budget for the North Atlantic pact countries," George said.

No Estimate Given

Senator Millikin of Colorado, who heads the conference of all Republican senators, told the Senate yesterday that the European arms costs ought to be taken out of the $5,580,000,000 proposed authorization for foreign economic recovery.

However, Senator Myers of Pennsylvania, acting Democratic leader, said he feels confident that necessary funds to help the western European countries get back on their military feet will be forthcoming.

"There may be long debate on this question," Myers said, "but if the treaty is ratified by the Senate, I believe Congress will implement it by voting for giving our allies the arms they need."

President Truman would give no advance estimates on the porbable cost of the arms program. He said it is being studied by the defense and State departments and the budget bureau.

Rail Officials

City system in the South Plains was chartered March 6, 1925, Buchanan said. The chapter required completion of the road within 18 months and it was completed in that time.

A celebration was held in 1928 in Lubbock with five excursion trains from various points arriving within 10 minutes intervals. A sixth train from Wichita Falls had turned back because of the death of the chamber of commerce president.

A barbecue celebrating opening of the road was held at Texas Technological college. At a similar observance in Plainview 1,100 wild ducks were served at a banquet.

Buchanan said that when the original chapter was granted in 1873 the entire population of West Texas west of Fort Worth was only 2,449 as shown by the 1870 census.

Development Emphasized

He emphasized the development of the railroad from its original 12-mile distance to the present network of 11,000 miles of track in 14 states, serving 15,000,000 passengers a year.

Also attending the luncheon were Dr. Clifford B. Jones and Arch S. Underwood, directors, and W. N. Verner, traveling passenger agent; and Guy C. Victory of Lubbock, general agent.

Buchanan also addressed speech and radio students at Texas Technological college at 10 o'clock this morning.

President George Dale presided over the meeting and Hobart Nelson introduced the guests and speaker. One new member, Bill Edwards, was introduced to the club. Members of the Chamber of Commerce were among special local guests. Booklets with the Burlington history were given to each one attending the luncheon.

Superliner

Ruhr Control Approved

3. Plant dismantling arrangements, policies governing prohibited and restricted industries and the establishment of an international Ruhr authority—all previously negotiated in London — were confirmed and approved here.

4. The proposed German government will, when established, negotiate its own European recovery agreement with the United States and "should participate as a full member in the organization for European economic cooperation."

"The occupation statute," the announcement said, "will define the powers to be retained by the occupation authorities upon the establishment of the German federal republic and set forth basic procedures for the operation of allied supervision.

"Subject only to the limitations of the statute, the German federal state and the participating Laender (states) will have full legislative, executive and judicial powers, in accordance with the basic law and with their respective constitutions.

The final meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers was held at Acheson's office this morning. It lasted less than an hour and consisted of confirming the agreement already worked out in conferences here Wednesday and Thursday.

Bevin immediately left by train for New York to return home by ship. Schuman is expected to return to Paris shortly.

The German agreement cleared the boards of the last really major split among the western powers.

livestock, milked the cows" and in general made themselves useful around the place.

The 210 acres on which Harkey is going to plant 50 acres of grain sorghum and the balance to cotton, had been well prepared for planting before he became ill. During the last few days it became obvious that the soil was getting crusted so this morning eight neighbors with as many tractors pulled into Harkey's place and took over.

Do Job In Four Hours

The eight tractors, operated by their owners or a man hired for the job, started out soon after dawn. Op one furrow and down another they went knifing the beds and breaking up the crushed earth. Before noon the entire 210 acres were in good shape to absorb moisture. The eight men had accomplished the job in about four hours. It would have taken Harkey at least five days and maybe longer to do the job alone if he had been well enough.

"It's awfully hard to express appreciation to friends like these," Harkey said. "The only way you can show it is to help them out when they get in the same predicament."

Harkey came to Lubbock county 10 years ago. He settled first near the Acuff community and later married a local girl, Wilma Lee Lanham. They moved to their present home three years ago. The couple now has three children; Jacqueline, 3; Marilyn, 5, and Carolyn, 6, a student at the New Deal school.

Attends Vocational School

Harkey served with the Eleventh Air Cargo Unit for 13 months; most of the time in the Philippines and Japan. Since his discharge Harkey has attended Veteran's Vocational School, 1122 Thirtieth street. He hopes that the training will help him to improve his property and make a better farmer of himself.

Among those who were so generous with their time in helping the veteran over the 'hump', were Willis James, Houston Dixon, Clyde Powell, Charlie Hunter, Frank Barton, H. E. Evans, C. L. Harbison, J. O. Scarbrough and Kenneth Bowden.

"It's just such friends and neighbors as these that make a veteran glad he had a chance to fight for democracy," Harkey said.

Credit Legalities Discussed At Club

Hugh Anderson spoke on legal questions connected with credit before Lubbock Credit Granters club at its weekly luncheon today in Hilton hotel.

Those attending were Mrs. June Woodrum, Mrs. Helen McElwee, Rudolph Minor, M. L. Vance, Miss Thelma Stallings, A. S. Meinecke, Miss Bobby Phillips, Wm. J. Whitson, Larry Copenhaver, Mrs. Eunice Wallace, Preston Alford, Mrs. Helen Jones, Q. B. Taylor, Mrs. Elizabeth McMillan, Mrs. Mary Louise Fulkerson, Mrs. Maurine Holloday, H. B. McAfee, jr., Miss Audie Thornhill, Thomas A. Banks, Bertell Jackson, Mrs. Gladys Workman, Cliff C. Bloodworth, R. W. Peavy, S. C. Parnell, Clyde Edwards, B. W. Snell, W. R. Johnson, Frank Revier, jr., Mrs. Oliver Thomas, Miss Billie Jean Sewell and Miss Ann Owen, members, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham, guests.

Former Resident Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. Z. R. Turner, 59, died at 11:25 p. m. Thursday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Shell, of 204 Thirty-second.

Mrs. Turner, a former Lubbock resident, had lived in Brady for the last two years.

The body is to be taken overland by Rix Funeral home to Brady for burial. A graveside service will be conducted at 3 p. m. Saturday in Brady cemetery, with Rix in charge.

Survivors, in addition to the daughter, include the husband, who resides in Brady; two sons, Carl Turner of Carlsbad, N. M., and Raymond Turner of Brady; two grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Man Fined $140 For Traffic Violations

Butler Prentice Ralston, 20, whose address was listed as the experiment station east of Lubbock, was in jail this afternoon in lieu of fines totaling $140, corporation court officials said.

The youth, already under $100 bond in connection with an earlier charge of reckless driving, was arrested at 4:06 a. m. by Sgt. L. D. Blakney of the police when in a taxicab leaving the scene where he had overturned his car in Mackenzie State park. The car skidded 111 feet before striking a tree and rolling over, Blakney said.

Ralston pleaded guilty of reckless driving and was fined $100. In addition, he paid fines growing out of running over a fire hose and having no drivers license, both offenses dating back to December; a March offense of having no driver's license; and a charge of operation of a car with expired license plates.

Spanish Fiesta

Sylvia Ross, Wilta Joyce Irwin, Ray Nall, Johnny Lozano, Bobby Eller and Roy Weaver Boyd.

Lubbock Senior High students have prepared a booth for the Spanish market to be staged at the fiesta. They will sell cactus candy and pralines, fresh carnations, and handwoven multi-colored belts which they have made.

The entire Lubbock Senior High group will enter a singing contest.

Four Lubbock boys will do "The Dance of the Old Men," a Spanish number. They are Richard Dean, Allen Clayton, Wyatt Burkhalter and Bill Rogan.

Three girls, Sue Burks, Jane Austin and Elizabeth Stanley will sing as a trio.

Four local high school students will present a Spanish language play. In the cast are Benton O'Neil, Beverly Hutcheson, Charles Stahl and Margaret Barrier.

At the fiesta medals are to be awarded to students writing the best Spanish-language essays in a special contest.

Dr. Alfred Strehli, assistant professor of Spanish at Texas Tech, has announced that six Tech students from Central and South America will attend the fiesta. They are Victor Lolas, Peru; Guido Rodriguez, Costa Rica; Mrs. Sally Witte, Mexico; Guillermo Pello, Venezuela; James Lakas, Panama; and Carlos Braga, Brazil.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Witte, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tucker also will attend representing Tech.

Three Tech Spanish teachers, Dr. Charles B. Qualia, Dr. Strehli, and Dr. Eunice Gates, will be judges in the high school essay contest.

Victim Hopes Loot Will Teach Lesson

The NEW 54 COTTON PLANTING SEED NOW AVAILABLE

The NEW Paymaster "54" is now available for the 1949 planting season — ready for farmers who want more profit from Cotton. This quick-maturing, high-yielding, better-staple-producing planting seed answers the demand for a variety that is tested and proved for West Texas growers. It is the result of scientific selection and painstaking experiments to develop a seed that will produce more money per acre planted.

Here's why the NEW Paymaster "54" is a money-making Cotton . . .

- EARLY MATURITY Of 25 varieties tested recently . . . "54" was first in percentage of crop harvested in a four-month period.
- HIGH YIELD In this same test, "54" was third among all varieties in yield per acre.
- BETTER STAPLE "54" ran 15/16" to 1 inch throughout West Texas, assuring a better price.
- TESTED FOR DRY LAND "54" has been proved successful for dry land farming as well as for irrigated Plains areas.

Be among those profit-minded farmers who demand a money-making Cotton planting seed—the NEW "54"; order your supply of the improved, state-registered "54" NOW.

Rebuff Fails To Halt Walkout Of Georgia Teachers Over Pay

ATLANTA, April 8 (AP)—Georgia school teachers met a rebuff today in their threat to walk out and "turn the schools over to the politicians and tightwads."

But nearly 200 of them already had quiet classes in protest of the failure of Georgia voters to approve new taxes fr a $23,000,000 school improvement fund in last Tuesday's election.

Leaders urged others likewise to leave class rooms "until something is done." At least 1,000 other walk-outs were predicted by Monday.

Special Session Urged

Aderhold last night telegraphed presidents of all GEA units and asked them to urge "your local unit members to fulfill contracts for this year."

The announced purpose of the teacher demonstration is a special session of the legislation to vote new school funds, regardless of Tuesday's vote. Reps. Roy Adams and Paul Hurt of Polk county, a nerve center of the teacher movement, urged Gov. Herman Talmadge last night to take this step to avert what they termed a crisis.

A top organizer of the walk-outs is L. M. Shelf of Rockmart, president of the Polk County Teachers association. Shelf said yesterday:

"All our best teachers are quitting in droves, effective next year. If we wait until then to do something about it that will be too late. "Our school system faces a complete break-down unless we get more money and action now."

3,500 Students Idle

State auditor B E. Thrasher, jr., warned that when the teachers quit work their pay stops. He said they will be docked for the days they remain out.

State School Superintendent M. D. Collins was sympathetic with the teachers. They have been "kicked around too long" he asserted.

Chatooga county, where two teachers already have quit and the others have voted to do so Monday "if something is not done," was described as full of "mad teachers." County Superintendent C. B. Akin said they have taken up the slogan—"quit and turn the schools over to the politicians and tightwads."

All schools in Polk county, like Chattooga in northwest Georgia, already have closed. The county's 115 teachers quit and left 3,500 students idle. Eighty teachers in nearby Haralson also voted to join the "recess."

The teacher complaint is inadequate pay. The present rate is $1,690 a year for four-year college trained teachers and much less for those with lesser training. The figure would have been raised to about $2,400 under the improvement program turned down by the voters.

London reports that American and British research has resulted in successful tests of a new drug, chloromycetin, which will reduce scrub typhus—fatal to thousands of soldiers in the Far East—to a "trivial" risk.

Young Fighter In Rape Suit

CHICAGO, April 8. (AP)—Vince Foster, headliner in a Chicago stadium boxing program tonight in his campaign for a welterweight title match, yesterday was sued for $100,000 damages by a Kansas City girl who charged him with forcible rape.

Criminal rape charges against the 22-year-old Omaha boxer were dismissed last March 21 in St. Joseph, Mo., for lack of evidence.

In a suit filed in circuit court yesterday, Miss Alice Smetla, 23, said that Foster raped and beat her on a highway near St. Joseph, Mo., on Feb. 7. She said in her suit that she is pregnant as a result of the alleged attack.

Evidence Lacking

O. R. Newcomer, St. Joseph prosecutor, in dropping the criminal rape charges against Foster, said a report by a physician who examined Miss Smetla, did not contain evidence that would bring a conviction. Foster has denied the attack on Miss Smetla, who is an office manager. He said he met her while visiting relatives in Kansas City and drove with her to St. Joseph.

Jack Hurley, Foster's manager, said the suit would not interfere with his plans to have Foster meet welterweight champion Ray Robinson in a title bout next summer. Foster will meet Chuck Taylor of Coalport, Pa., in the 10-round main event at the stadium and is an 8 to 5 favorite to win.

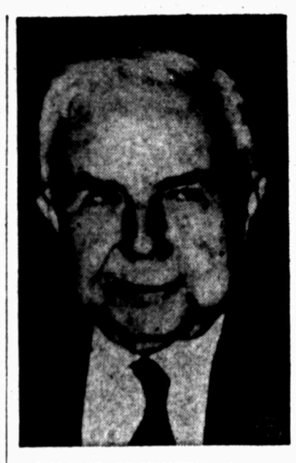

The young Omaha boxer, who surprised fistic followers last Jan. 14 with a knockout victory over Tony Pellone in New York, is booked to return to Madison Square Garden May 13 for a bout with Charlie Fusari, third ranking welterweight.

Tech Students Will Tour Dairy Plants

A group of senior dairy manufacturing students from Texas Tech will leave Tuesday for an eight-day field trip through the state to inspect dairy installations and other milk products manufacturing plants.

The group will be accompanied by Dr. J. J. Willingham, head of the dairy department at Tech, and W. H. Tinney, instructor in dairy manufacturing, from the college. They will travel in a special bus.

Stops are planned in the following cities: April 12, Fort Worth; April 13, Dallas, Garland and Sherman; April 14, Sulphur Springs, Mt. Pleasant and Tyler; April 15, Palestine, College Station and Houston; April 16, Corpus Christi; April 17, Kingsville and Harlingen; April 18, Falfurrias and San Antonio; April 19, San Antonio and Abilene, and then back to Lubbock from Abilene.

SYRIA'S PREMIER?—Seventy-year-old Faris El-Khoury, Syria's former premier and delegate to the UN, may head a temporary government there, following the bloodless coup in which the Syrian army seized power. El-Ghoury is said to sympathize with the army's determination not to yield to Israel in armistice negotiations.

Architectural Stone Firm In City Making Rapid Progress

From a vast area of the Southwest, Lubbock is pulling in thousands of dollars worth of business every month through one of its newest and most unusual industrial plants.

Craftsmanship that approaches artistry is embodied in the wide variety of products being turned out here by the Architectural Stone company, manufacturers of cast stone for construction and decorative purposes.

Buildings in Amarillo, Albuquerque, Roswell, Hobbs, Abilene, Houston and other southwestern points have utilized these Lubbock-made products in varying degrees.

Building facades, bold-relief figures, columns and decorative entranceways are converted from the architect's conception into an accomplished fact. And by way of incidental products, the firm produces such unusual items as pre-cast mantels for home and pumice-concrete salt troughs by the dozens for Southwestern ranchers.

The only establishment of its kind west of the Fort Worth-Dallas area and southwest of Oklahoma City, time will only tell the firm how far the demand for these products will extend.

New Mexico is already providing a heavy backlog of orders for the Lubbock company, located at 2123 North Second.

Its history began in January, 1947, when three cast stone craftsmen from Dallas, each with approximately 25 years experience in the craft, joined in a partnership with a Lubbock man, J. Herschel Maxey, in the venture.

The three, A. E. Eisemann, J. W. Knight and J. H. Puckett, still devote their time to the job of turning out stone products, leaving the details of business and sales management to Maxey and Bill Potts, sales manager.

Making cast stone for buildings is an involved process that varies with each individual order.

Generally, when the order is received, the process begins with the making of templates or patterns, from which a plaster mold is manufactured. This mold may be a flat-surfaced piece of stone, a column section or figures in bold relief to decorate a building.

When the mold is finished the actual forming of the stone begins. Varying mixtures of cement, fine sand and aggregate are poured into the mold in a steam curing room and cured in steam for a 24-hour period.

The aggregate may consist of any of dozens of different materials—marble or granit, to name a couple. By using different aggregates any desired color may be obtained in the finished stone.

The partners believe they are going to be the envy of the nation's cast stone plants as result of a job they are working on now—the million-dollar Hemphill-Wells company store building.

The immense task of molding large sections of cast stone for the modernistic exterior of the building is already in progress, although the building itself is still in the steel-erection stage.

Among other jobs now under construction are bold-relief figures for Lamesa High school. One portrays a football player carrying a ball, another shows two high school students.

Some other larger jobs include stone facing for Albuquerque's $600,000 high school and gymnasium now under construction, and for a one and one-half million-dollar 400-man dormitory on the University of New Mexico campus.

Eisemann, who started in the cast stone trade when he was 15 years old, carried on his trade in Dallas for many years.

He was still in Dallas when he made the cast stone which adorns Texas Tech's new agriculture building.

With a yearly volume of $250,000, the partners are operating at capacity, with a 17-man crew working a nine-hour day, five and a half days per week. And they are finding satisfaction in meeting a warm reception for a business entirely new to this section of the country.

Hollywood Faces New Unemployment Crisis

HOLLYWOOD, April 8. (AP)—The greatest unemployment in history faces Hollywood, the motion picture industry council says, due "largely to discriminatory trade barriers set up by the British government."

The council last night asked the State department to intercede in behalf of American film makers. It wants U. S. officials to negotiate with the British government for a "substantial reduction" of British film showings in England.

It charged the British government "broke faith with the American industry by doubling the required playing time of British pictures" after negotiating a dollar remittance agreement with the American movie industry.

Lewis Demand For Increase In Pension Royalty Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP)—Coal operators today looked to John L. Lewis to demand a higher pension royalty for his miners, following his successful fight to lower their retirement age to 60.

The United Mine Workers' health and welfare fund previously had paid pensions to union members at age 62, with the money coming from a 20-cent-a-ton royalty on all coal mined.

Bridges Backs Lewis

The $100,000,000 fund is administered by a three-man board of trustees: Lewis for the miners, Ezra Van Horn for the operators and Senator Bridges (R-NH), neutral.

Bridges yesterday broke a deadlock on the pension-age issue by siding with Lewis on a 60-year retirement age. Van Horn had urged retirement at 65.

The operators differed with the Republican senator's statement that his decision would not put "an awful burden" on the welfare fund.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, and other operators said Lewis was building up a case to increase the 20 cent royalty.

Royalty Demand Seen

Some mine owners said they expect the UMW chief to demand a 50-cent royalty when negotiations begin, probably in May. The present contract expires June 30.

Bridges said one reason for his action was the indication that most miners work beyond the retirement age anyhow.

But the operators said that as the work week is reduced because of poor market conditions, more miners than ever will choose to retire at the $100 a month pension.

The lower pension age will increase tonnage costs, the operators said, which in turn cost producers many contracts in a highly competitive market.

Theater Crunchers Target Of Solons

SALEM, Ore., April 8 (INS)—No longer will crunching of popcorn enliven the sad interludes of moving pictures at Oregon theaters if nine state senators have their way.

The lawmakers introduced a bill to forbid popcorn-eating or peanut crunching in theaters.

Under the terms, the manager may throw out popcorn eaters or inhalers without giving back their money. Customers who prefer only to hear the sound effects in the movies could collect thrice their admission price if they are bothered by popcorn eaters.

A theater owner who permitted popcorn or peanut eating might be fined $100 or sentenced to 30 days in jail—next to a popcorn eater, no doubt.

Noted Painter Suicide Victim

CANAAN, Conn., April 8. (AP)—Ezra Winter, 63, internationally known painter of murals, was found dead of a shotgun wound yesterday in the woods behind his home, and Dr. R. C. Sellew, medical examiner, gave a verdict of suicide.

The body, shotgun at its side, was discovered by Fred Blackwell, caretaker of Winter's extensive estate.

Shot Is Heard

State Police Lt. Elton Nolan quoted Blackwell as saying he heard a shot in the woods behind Winter's studio when he went to call the artist for his noonday meal.

Members of the family said Winter had been in ill health for more than a year and was bothered by a recent hip injury. He left no notes or letters.

Winter's works were hung in many important buildings. They were in two rooms of the Congressional library in Washington, the foyer of Radio City music hall in New York, the Clark memorial building in Vincennes, Ind., the Eastman theater in Rochester, N. Y., and the Bank of Manhattan in New York City.

Winter was at work on the last of seven paintings for the Bank of Manhattan at the time of his death. He did all his painting in his studio, which was large enough to accommodate a canvas 60 feet long.

The artist was born at Manistee, Mich., March 10, 1886. He attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts in 1908 and 1909 and three years later won a scholarship of the American academy in Rome. He received many medals and high honors for his work.

Winter is survived by his widow, head of the House of Herbs here, and three daughters by a former marriage — Mrs. Renata Hunter of Pleasantville, N. Y.; Mrs. Donald Whelan of Chappaqua, N. Y.; and Mrs. Albert Moss of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. Funeral plans are incomplete.

WOMEN ONCE WORE THEM—Mrs. Sally Margolis, of Los Angeles, shows some of 2,100 hatpins she's collected.

FORMER FDR AIDE GETS POST

Steve Early Slated To Halt Fighting In Armed Services

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 — Stephen Tyree Early is coming back into government as No. 2 boss of the armed services and from here on out it will be a lot quieter along the Potomac.

Part of Early's new job will be to silence the loud yah yahs by which the Air Force and Navy have been challenging each other with publicity and barbed speeches since the war. His friends are betting today that Early will silence the dispute or raise the Pentagon roof a foot or so above its present placement.

Not Quiet Man

Steve is not a quiet man, himself. He has a worse temper and more friends than almost anyone. When he bellows in anger, Early can be heard up to half a mile. His laugh is just as boisterous.

His new job is undersecretary of defense. It was created by Congress last week and unless Steve has been spoofing his friends, he didn't know until a day or so ago that President Truman wanted him to take it. The nomination was announced yesterday.

"I didn't particularly want the job," Early told newsmen, "but I'll naturally do my best at it."

The wonder in Washington is that he took the job at all. He gave up a well paid private job in 1933 to be a presidential secretary through FDR's three terms, plus. After helping Mr. Truman get adjusted to the White House in 1945, Early became vice president of Pullman, Inc., and of the Pullman Standard Car Co. He is 59 years old.

Raise Is Approved

In his new spot, Early will get $12,000 a year, although a House committee has approved legislation to boost all undersecretaries to $20,000. Undersecretary of defense is bigger in scope, responsibility and headaches than some full cabinet positions. In the job, Early will rank second to Secretary Louis Johnson and ahead of the secretaries of Army, Navy and Air Force.

These secretaries are Kenneth C. Royall, and John L. Sullivan and W. Stuart Symington. Royall's early resignation frequently has been predicted and Sullivan recently has told friends he probably will be getting out of the government soon.

Forrestal Said Ill

Creation of the undersecretarial post distinctly reduced the importance of the three service secretaryships, and there probably is more of that to come. The act which sought to obtain unity of effort among the armed services by creating the national defense department proved to be faulty.

The defense secretary got too little power and, many persons contend, the three service secretaries got too much. James Forrestal, who resigned as defense secretary last week, knocked himself out trying to cope with that situation. Forrestal is in naval hospital here and in bad shape.

Creation of the undersecretaryship with authority over all three services was Congress' first move to correct the national defense situation at the top. The rest of the job probably will be done at this session.

Man Granted Divorce From Beauty Winner

DETROIT, April 8. (INS)—Miss Michigan of 1944 was divorced from her husband today because she liked California so much she wouldn't come to Michigan.

Raymond R. Link was granted the divorce after he told circuit court Judge George B. Murphy he has seen his wife, the former Beverly Bennett, for a total of two months since he married her in December, 1947.

Link said his wife stayed in Detroit for two weeks after their marriage, went to California for a vacation, came back to Detroit for six weeks and went back to the coast to stay.

The Detroiter said his bride insisted she likes the western climate. However, Link added he found a letter in which a California man addressed Beverly in endearing terms.

Ladies Night Party Held By Rotarians

Approximately 200 Rotarians, their wives, and guests, attended a Ladies Night party Thursday evening in the Hilton hotel.

New members Fenner Tubbs, Jimmy Milam, and Eric Hahn were introduced by Irving Jones, who presided.

Entertainment featured a banquet and musicale, nostalgia interspersed with laughter, as music designed to recall college life was presented by master of ceremonies Wallace Rix, and principal narrator, Mrs. Margarette W. Walker, dean of women at Texas Tech.

Taking part in the program were Mrs. Rex Webster, Miss Ann Crenshaw, Miss Sue Tyson, Douglas Blackburn, Elton Plowman, Miss Norma Hammer, Miss Carolyn Cole, Mrs. Elton Plowman, Gary Garner, Bob Martin, Tom Kilpatrick, Rex Webster, and Roy Bass.

Out of town Rotarians who attended the event included Edd McLaughlin, former Rotary International director, and Mrs. McLaughlin, of Ralls; Ira Woods, district Rotary governor, and Mrs. Woods, of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hester of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Signor, of Plainview; and Alton Hail, president of the Plainview Rotary club, and Mrs. Hail.

As the Rotary guests were gathering, Miss Marian Canterbury sang three songs, one of which was the Rotary Ann parody on "Peggy O'Neal."

Roosevelt Seniors Will Present Play

The Roosevelt High school senior class will present a play at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium.

The play, a comedy, "Faith, Hope, and Flarity," concerns itself with the antics of twin daughters, Faith and Hope, and their romantic entanglements.

Faith is played by Patsy Weaver; Hope by Jonelle Judd. Others in the play include Dale Ray, Bobby Joe Anderson, Doyle Lay, Tommy Joe Durham, Bertha Lou Jones, Gerry Timer, Aline Rackler, Evalon Maines, Donald Wayne Searsy, E. C. Beadles, and Billy Cooper.

Co-Operation Urged To Preserve Birds

DENTON, April 7 (AP)—Howard Dodgen tonight urged co-operation between landowner and hunter to preserve a declining quail and dove population.

The executive secretary of the state game, fish and oyster commission said the number of quail in Texas had shown a large decrease in the last two years. He said this was largely due to drouth and the increased number of hunters.

He spoke at a meeting of the Denton County Pointer and Setter club.

NTSTC WINS MEET

DENTON, April 8 (AP) — North Texas State Teachers college defeated Texas Christian university, and Howard Payne college in a triangular track meet here yesterday.

North Texas scored 87½ points. Howard Payne chalked up 58 and Texas Christian 11½.

Man Has Climbed Buildings All Over U. S.

Human Fly Will Scale Walls Of Hilton Hotel Tomorrow

There will be plenty of "ohs!" and "ahs!" tomorrow afternoon when Johnnie J. Woods, 53-year-old "human fly" attempts to scale the south wall of the Hilton Hotel.

Woods, who has been climbing tall buildings all over the United States, and in Canada and Mexico for the past 34 years, said that he expects to be over the top of the hotel in 25 to 35 minutes.

"I climbed this building once before, about 15 years ago," Woods said. He will be dressed in white when he starts his ascent up the wall at 4 p. m. so that he will be readily visible.

Was Circus Acrobat

Woods was a circus acrobat and trapeze artist before he decided to become a human fly. There was plenty of glamour in the circus, he recalled, but there wasn't enough excitement to suit him. He wanted something more dangerous and risky.

"Actually my first climb was made while I was a boy in school," Woods stated. "We were playing football in the school-yard and the ball was kicked up onto the roof of the school building. I shinned up the side of the old brick walls and have been doing it ever since."

Woods is very agile and vigorous for his years. He is a strict vegetarian and outdoorsman and believes in plenty of rest and relaxation. He says he is relaxed all the time, even when he is scaling some dangerous wall.

Had One Accident

Woods has climbed most of the architectural masterpieces in the United States. In Texas he has climbed the Edison hotel, Beaumont; Magnolia building, Dallas; Herring hotel, Amarillo; Texas State bank, Houston and the Kyle hotel at Temple.

The most dangerous building Woods ever climbed was also the tallest of his career. It was the L. C. Smith building in Seattle, Washington. The building was 42 stories, he related, and was of terra cotta. Terra cotta, he said, was especially slippery and it took longer than usual to make the climb. It was several hours after he started before he reached the top.

Woods has had only one accident from climbing. It occurred in Daytonna Beach, Florida a few years ago. He was 22 feet above the ground when a loose brick gave way. Amid shrieks and cries from the crowd he plummetted to the ground. But he got to his feet unassisted with only a scalp wound which was closed by a few surgical stitches.

JOHNNIE J. WOODS

Assumes Responsibility

"I always assume full responsibility in my climbs," Woods said. "I sign a release for the hotel or building manager and get the permission and cooperation of the local police departments. The police are always a big help in handling the crowds and traffic."

Although Woods considers Los Angeles his home he spends very little of his time there. He tours the country from one end to the other and then begins all over again. It takes him from 12 to 15 years to make the circuit. The human fly says that he expects to be climbing tall buildings as fast as they are completed and expects to be at it 15 years from now.

"Maybe you'll have a taller building in Lubbock at that time," Woods suggested. "If so, I'll be back to see if it's any tougher than the rest of them to climb."

Radio Brings Taxi To Caller Too Fast

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., April 8. (AP)—Short wave radio brought taxicab service too fast for a Binghamptom housewife.

She telephoned for a taxi; the cab company used its radio system to notify a driver whose car was next door to the woman's house. She had barely hung up the telephone, when the driver arrived.

"I won't ride with you," she said sternly. "You drive too fast, young man."

Ailing Cary Grant Thinks Of Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, April 8. (AP)—Cary Grant, still under the weather from a yellow jaundice attack, is back home near Betsy Drake. And, he indicates, he'd like to be nearer.

"I have asked her to marry me," the actor told reporters who met the S. S. Dalerdyk returning Grant from London yesterday.

Betsy was on dock, too. But all she said was: "I'm too busy concentrating on my next picture right now."

With his 25-year-old protege close by, Grant feels he'll recover soon from the attack that felled him and several other cast members of "I Was A Male War Bride" in England.

New Zealand just relaxed building controls so as to permit inclusion of verandas on new houses, and basements to be used as garage or workshop.

THRIFTY DINNER PIE
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

For Sure Success Make it the Crisco Way!

This thrifty dish fits man-sized appetites—makes meat money s-t-r-e-t-c-h!

Just follow the sure-fire pastry method given below and your pie crust is bound to be perfect! For, with pure, all-vegetable Crisco and Crisco's "can't-fail" pastry recipe even a beginner can be sure of flaky, tender, digestible pie crust every single time!

FILLING:
(All Measurements Level)

¼ cup Crisco
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
3 to 4 frankfurters, sliced
½ pound ground beef
2 cups cooked tomatoes
2 cups cooked vegetables
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour

Lightly pan-fry onion, green pepper and meat in melted Crisco. Add remaining ingredients, simmer about 15 minutes, and thicken with flour. Pour into 1½ quart casserole. Top with Crisco pastry.

CRISCO PASTRY:

1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Crisco
3 tablespoons water

Sift flour with salt into bowl. Remove ¼ cup flour and mix with water to form a paste. Cut Crisco into remaining flour until pieces are size of small peas. Add flour paste to Crisco-flour mixture. Mix and shape into ball. On floured board, lightly roll out circle of dough 12" in diam. and ⅛" thick. Cut pastry into stripes; arrange lattice fashion, over filled casserole, and trim to edge of dish. Cut an extra strip of dough 1" wide; lay around rim of casserole and flute with fingers. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 30 mins. or until pastry is browned.

For cakes and pies and tasty fries . . . use Crisco

England Gets Another Dose Of Austerity In New Budget

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, who has won the sobriquet of the "iron chancellor" because of his insistence on national austerity, has a conscience like the rock of Gibraltar—impervious to storms.

Again this doughty guardian of John Bull's purse strings has dared to face a critical House of Commons and present a budget which means an even higher cost of living, with only minor tax relief. Thus the long-suffering British public, which has been living with belt tightened across its lean stomach since early in the war, must continue to grin and bear it.

Pressure Resisted

The strain has been so tough that even the left wing of Cripps' own Socialist party has been clamoring for easement. But Cripps, austere of mien as well as of thought, has clung to the course that has been chosen as the only possible route to a balanced national budget. He hopes to achieve this by 1952 when Marshall plan relief is due to terminate.

A gauge of the government's daring may be had in the fact that Britain is due for a general election next year. At that time the nation will pass judgment on England's first outright Socialist regime and decide whether it is to continue in power or be scrapped. The Liberal Manchester Guardian, one of the country's outstanding newspapers, puts it in part like this:

"The budget will not doubt be attacked on most sides for its austerity and, from the Labor benches, as un-socialist. . . . The chancellor has had no choice but to steer a delicate middle way between the need for a surplus to check inflation and the need to keep tax increases as small as possible.—En balance he has probably made the best of a job that only could be done badly."

Production Up

In any event, the government reports improvement in the general economic position. Production is said to be well above prewar level, and business is reported improving.

The taxation in Britain is tough. The average worker pays about fifteen per cent if single and ten if married. Above that bracket the standard, roughly speaking, is around 45 per cent, though it hits the sky with very big incomes. Thus the tax is slanted in the direction of higher incomes rather than those of working folk.

For many years, going far back of the Socialist regime, taxation has been so levied as to make it increasingly difficult for the individual to salvage more than 5,000 pounds sterling (normally $25,000) per year. As a result Cripps stated last December that the number of net incomes over that sum in the whole country was estimated at 250, whereas before the war there were 11,000.

The chancellor said in his last budget speech there is little room for further equalization of income, though there can be a redistribution of wealth through death duties.

This levelling off process through death duties has produced an amazing change in Britain in recent years. The landed gentry is rapidly disappearing and "tally-ho" of the scarlet coated riders to hounds is largely an echo out of the past. Villages which once were pasts of great estates are being sold. Sometimes a huge estate will be wiped out in a few months, where an heir dies shortly after inheriting the property and paying a big tax. Lack of ready cash of course forces sale of land and houses.

Naturally the nobility has been hard hit. Apropos of this it is announced that the lord of Bath is throwing his ancient mansion open to tourists who will pay the equivalent of half a dollar to see where Queen Elizabeth and other famous royalty were entertained in days long gone.

Sir Mark Annesly Norman is going to organize Mediterranean tours for Americans, and says he doesn't mind calling anyone "sir" if paid for it.

Conservatives Gain Strength In Britain

LONDON, April 8. (AP)—Britain's week-long county elections continued yesterday with the Conservatives making further inroads into labor majorities.

Labor's whopping 3-1 margin on the council of giant London county fell to less than 2-1 on the basis of incomplete returns. Neighboring suburbs switched to the Tories as did several outlying counties.

All Communist candidates were defeated.

These elections, which correspond to American city and town council elections, have no bearing on Parliament. They have been eagerly awaited here, however, as an indication of popular feeling.

Yesterday's voting followed by one day the publication of labor's high-tax austerity budget. Conservative gains were regarded in some quarters as a natural reaction although the Tories were also out front earlier in the week before the budget was made public.

Scurry Wildcat Indicates Oil Production From Ellenburger

Placid Oil Company appears to have discovered commercial petroleum production from the Ellenburger at its No. 1 R. H. Odom, North-Central Scurry county wildcat, about six miles north and slightly east of Snyder.

This exploration, lcated 660 feet from north and west lines of section 388, block 97, H&TC survey, topped the Ellenburger at 7,713 feet.

It drilled 20 feet into the formation to 7,733 feet. A five hour and five minute drillstem test was taken, at 7,713-33 feet.

Oil Is Recovered

Gas showed at the surface in 10 minutes. There was a fair blow of gas at the surface for the remainder of the period.

Recovery was 5,580 feet of clean oil and 180 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. No formation water developed. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 750 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 30 minutes, was 2,100 pounds. Gravity of the oil was 38.4 degrees.

Oil unloaded while the 20th stand of the drill pipe was being pulled. More fluid unloaded from the 24th and the 25th stands, and when the 54th stand was being pulled a heavily head of oil was kicked out.

Operator was slated to make more hole. The showing on this initial test in the Ellenburger indicates that the project more likely will make an oil well.

A mile north extension to the Dollarhide - Devonian production in Southwest Andrews county has been proven by Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-E Cowden, 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-52, psl survey.

Tentative top of the Devonian was picked at 7,660 feet on an elevation of 3,225 feet. The prospector drilled ahead to 7,820 feet, set a packer on 7,750 feet and drillstem tested for two hours.

Gas reached the surface in seven and one-half minutes, mud in 52 minutes and oil flowed at the top in one hour. The flow was turned to tanks, gauging 31 barrels of 39.4-gravity oil one hour.

More hole was to be made, prior to running another drillstem test. This venture has already shown for a probably discovery from the Wolfcamp-Permian.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, deep wildcat in Southwest Andrews County, topped the Devonian 576 feet high to a dry hole one and one half miles to the west, and is now taking a drillstem test on the top 30 feet of that formation.

The Magnolia prospector is two miles east of the nearest completed oil wells in the Dollarhide field.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey. This venture topped the Devonian at 10,030 feet, on an elevation of 3,168 feet.

No Possibilities Shown

That makes the Magnolia development 576 feet high on that marker to the same point in Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 E. P. Cowden, a dry hole one and one-half mile west which bottomed at 10,737 feet in the top of the Devonian, after making water in that formation.

The Humble dry hole did not show any possibilities of production in any zone it penetrated.

Magnolia No. 18-B Cowden was on a total depth of 10,060 feet in the Devonian, and was taking a drillstem test on the section of that formation so far drilled, at the time this report was prepared.

The samples has shown some porosity and some slight oil stains.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation has staked a north offset to The Texas Company No. 1 Wharton, recently completed pumping discovery from the Glorieta-Permian in South-Central Gaines county, 10 miles south of Seminole.

It will be Anderson-Prichard No 1 Mrs. Ike Morton. The drillsite is 660 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the southeast quarter of section 23, block A-21, psl survey. Elevation is 3,275 feet.

Good Indication Reported

Starting at once with rotary tools, the venture is to explore to 6,500 feet to test into the Glorieta.

More possibilities of a San Andres-Permian strike in Central Gaines county were shown on a core at C. H. Murphy & Son No. 1 O'Daniel, wildcat two miles southeast of Seminole and 660 feet from east, 1,980 feet from south lines of section 16, block C-44, psl survey.

A core from 5,390 feet to 5,420 feet recovered 30 feet of dolomitic lime saturated with oil and containing fair to good porosity. Informed sources say this core is the best indication yet encountered by the prspector.

Bottomed on 5,420 feet, with packer set at 5,374 feet, the project was running a drillstem test.

Placid No. 1 Early, another wildcat in North-Central Scurry county. 467 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of survey 1, Erving, Addison and Walker survey, was bottomed at 7,548 feet in lower Strawn lime, and was preparing to make production tests.

This venture flowed a small amount of oil from the Strawn, before it cemented a string of 5½-inch casing at the total depth.

The pipe has been perforated at 7,520-45 feet, and operator is now swabbing to cleanout and test, and try to complete an oil well.

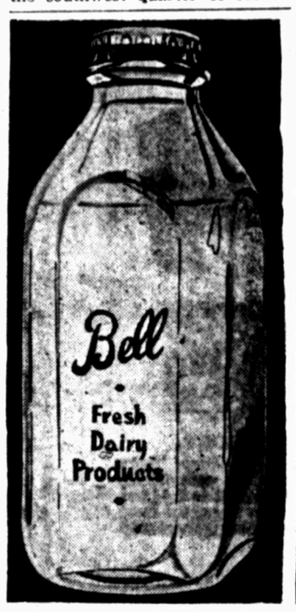

Futher definition of the Shafter Lake-multi pay field in North-Central Andrews county was shown as M. J. Delaney Company of Dallas plugged and abandoned two outposts on the north side of the pool.

It was abandoned on a total depth of 8,651 feet.

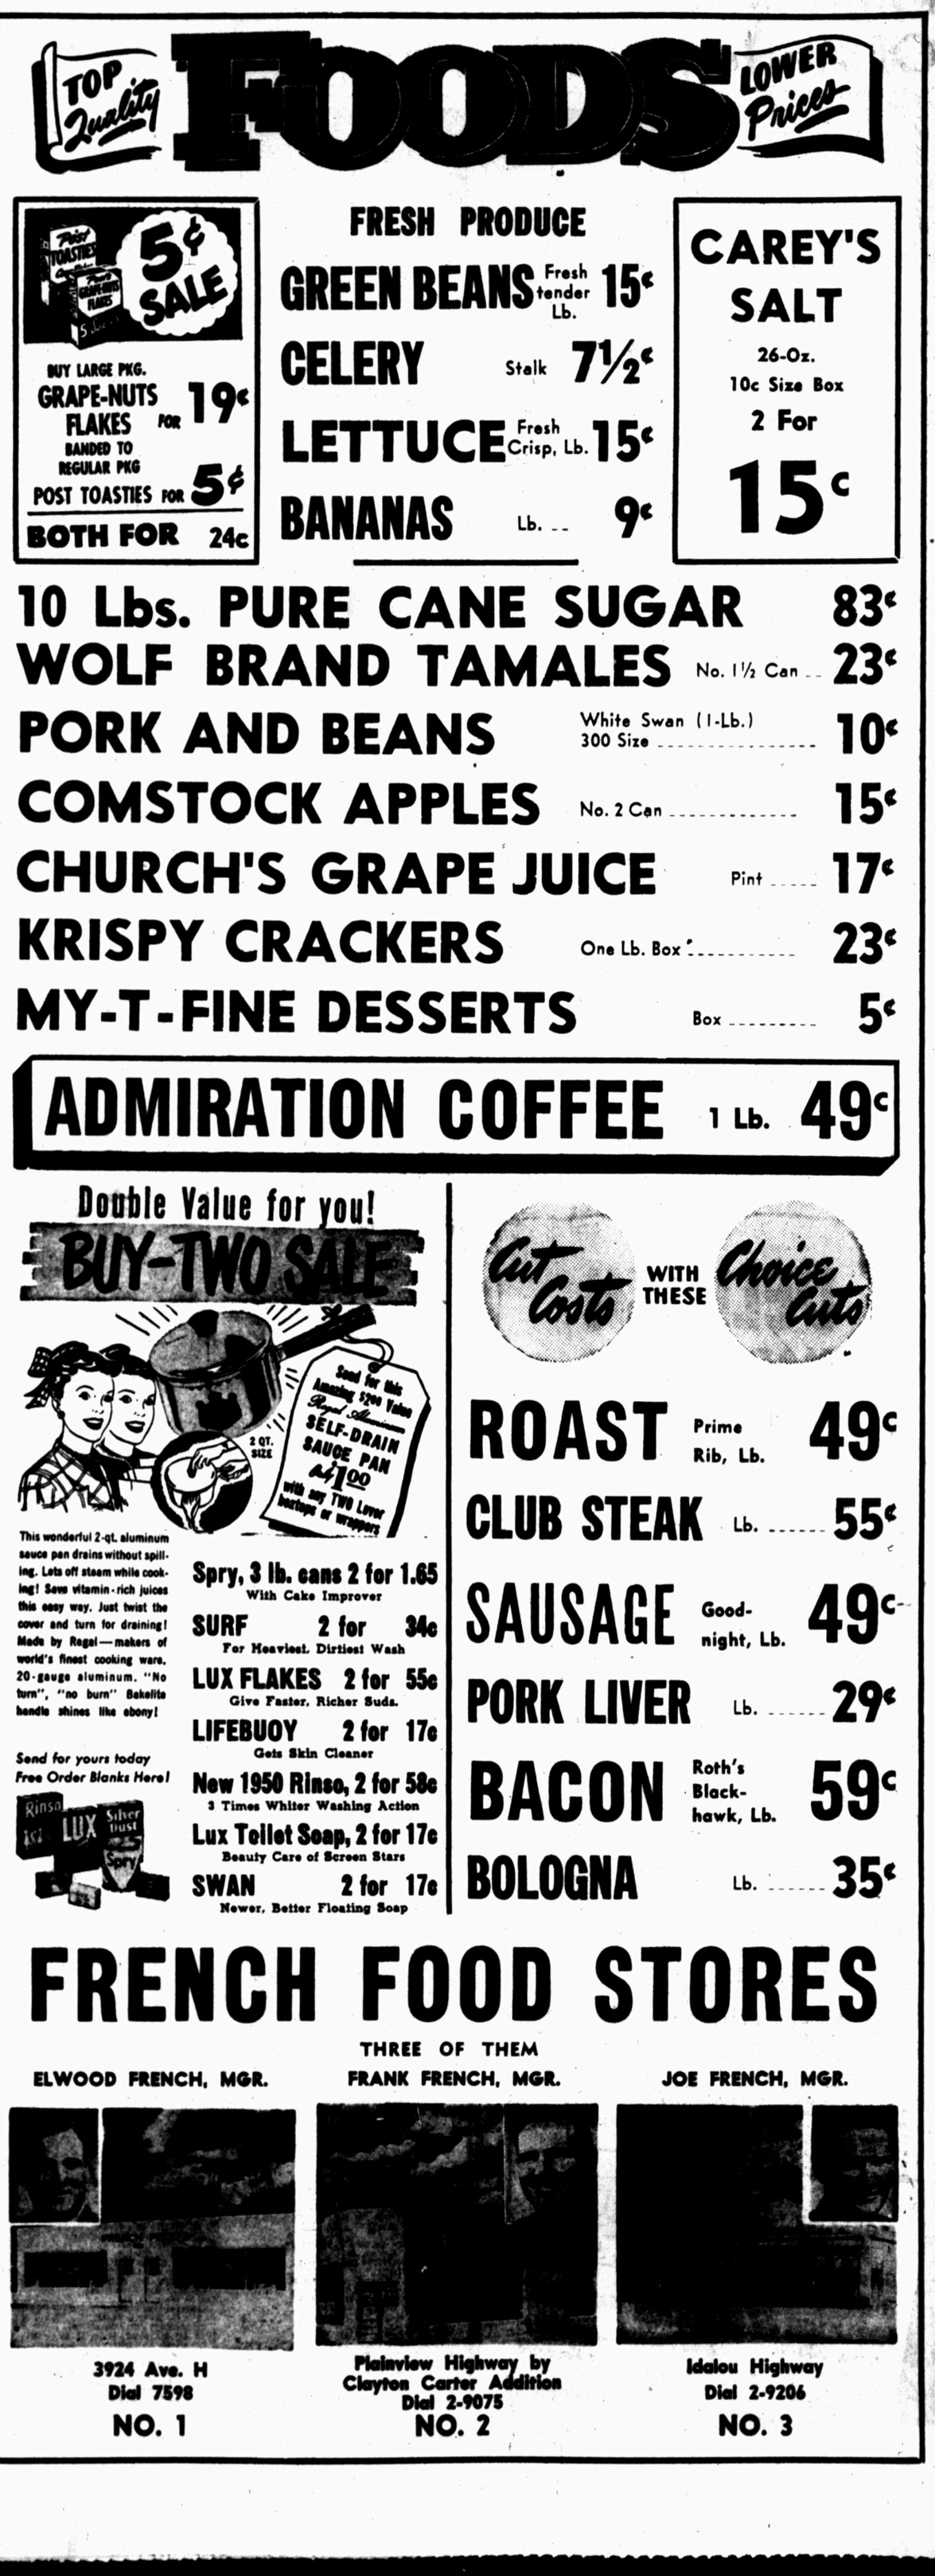

Nationalist Leader Offers To Be Burned In Oil If That Would Aid Peace In China

NANKING, April 8. (AP)—Acting President Li Tsung-jen today made a dramatic bid for peace in China, offering to be "burned in oil or dismembered" if that would help.

Li's offer was made in a telegram to Mao Tze-Tung, Chinese Communist leader. The text was made public unofficially after the telegram was sent to Peiping yesterday.

Li reportedly had rejected an ultimatum from the Communists earlier this week. The ultimatum told the government to surrender its army by Tuesday at the latest.

Telegram Quoted

The unofficial translation of Li's telegram to Mao said in part:

"Now that peace negotiations have started and the government delegation has arrived in Peiping to discuss all issues of your eight conditions in keeping with your invitation, I should like to further express my determination to sacrifice myself to overcome the most difficult obstacle in the peace talks.

"(Li apparently referred to the Communist demand that various government leaders be surrendered as "war criminals.")

"I take this step in view of the disastrous results of the civil war sufferings of the people and mistakes already made.

"I will accept without evasion, the severest punishment, even being burned in oil or dismembered as a so-called war criminal, for past mistakes which are still hindering peace."

"New China" Is Aim

The acting president said he still was determined to follow the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic, and co-operate "with your party and the democratic personalities" to establish a "new China."

His reference to "Democratic personalities" apparently meant the third-party Democratic league, and the dissident Chinese followers of Marshall Li Chi-shen. Marshal Li broke with Chiang Kai-shek years ago.

The acting president's telegram asserted that Li had "no other wish but that of eliminating war and the restoration of peace so that the people may be rescued from their suffering."

Li's message appeared to be an answer to a Communist ultimatum delivered earlier this week.

Advance Threatened

This ultimatum called for the creation of a government-Communist committee by Saturday. This was to set up the organization for the transfer of the government's army to Communist control.

The transfer of control had to be completed by next Tuesday. Otherwise, powerful Chinese Communist forces would cross the Yangtze.

Rejection of the ultimatum might well mean a resumption of the civil war, which has been relatively quiet for the last few months. The main action has been around Anking, about 150 miles southwest of Nanking. The Communists also have been reported moving toward Hankow, big government base about twice as far up the Yangtze from Nanking.

Premier Ho Ying-chin returned to Nanking by air from Canton late in the day.

Before leaving Canton he told members of the legislative and control yuans that he would not surrender to the Communists. He did not say what position his cabinet would take.

Ho hinted that he would move the government back to Canton if the Reds again threaten Nanking.

The premier was scheduled to confer with Li on the Red ultimatum.

Presidents' Families Traced To Kentucky

FRANKFURT, Ky., April 8 (U.P.) Ancestors of President Truman and Abraham Lincoln were neighbors in Shelby County, Ka., and some are buried in the same cemetery, the magazine In Kentucky says in its current issue.

The magazine said the grandfather of Lincoln, pioneer Abraham Lincoln, lies buried under a church building given to the Long Run Baptist congregation by President Truman's great-uncle, William Gregg.

Some of President Truman's kipsmen, the Youngs, also are buried under the same church, the article said.

Eisenhower Meets With Chiefs Today

(By The Associated Press)

KEY WEST, Fla., April 8 — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower confers today with the joint chiefs of staff of the armed forces at this vacation retreat.

Gen. Omar Bradley, Army chief of staff; Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, arrived by plane last night from Washington for the conference.

Capt. C. C. Adell, commandant of the Key West naval base, met the Washington party upon arrival at the Boca Chica naval air station and escorted the joint chiefs of staff and their aides to the submarine base. Eisenhower has been recuperating from a stomach ailment at the base since March 28.

Length Of Visit Indicated

The chiefs of staff are expected to remain three or four days.

Reports from Washington indicated the discussions will seek to end rivalry among the armed forces.

"There are many problems before the joint chiefs, but I am taking the attitude that all can be solved and solved simply," Eisenhower said at a news conference yesterday.

Getting Stronger

"We've got the finest Army, Navy and Air Force in the world, and men of brains to run them. Our country is strong and getting stronger and we should recognize that fact in settling world problems.

"I don't believe optimism is out of place in this world of ours," he continued. "We've been underestimating ourselves."

Deadline For Derby Nears

Hey, fellows, you'd better hurry! That is if you want to enter the big Soap Box Derby to be run here on Monday, July 4.

For Saturday is the deadline for registration for the big race. You must go to Kuykendall Chevrolet company, 1902 Texas avenue, by noon tomorrow and sign up if you expect to race in this year's Dedby.

Any boy between the ages of 11 and 16 years is eligible to enter. He must be 11 and under 16 on Aug. 14 this year. A boy must be accompanied by one of his parents in order to enroll in the race.

Six more boys signed up for the race Thursday to bring total entries thus far to 276.

To Secure Sponsors

With the completion of registration for the race on Saturday, members of the Lubbock Exchange club, who with the Avalanche-Journal and Kuykendall Chevrolet company, are sponsoring the Derby, will turn to the problem of securing sponsors for the various racers.

A canvass by mail of last year's sponsors is now being staged by the club and should the number fall short of expectations, personal solicitations will be made for sponsors.

Working On Plans

In the meantime, another committee of the Exchange club is working on the planning of a permanent track in Mackenzie State park for the big race.

New entries in the race Thursday were: Caleb Wood, 14, 1602 Ave. Y; Darwin Holder, 15, 302 Ave. S; Joe Anthony, 11, 2312 Twenty-first; Bill Conley, 14, 2113 Main; Delton Combs, 12, 3025 North Fourth; and Lloyd Goode, 14, route 4.

Children Are Kept At Home To Prevent Tragedy After Collie Dies Of Poisoning

Neighborhood children who were playing in a yard thought Mooch, a Shepherd collie, was still only because he was watching them play.

Then 8-year-old Suzanne McCauley noticed Mooch was foaming at the mouth and ran to her daddy, J. B. McCauley, jr., 3207 Twenty-second.

The family rushed the dog to a veterinarian, who pronounced Mooch dead from poisoning, apparently strychnine.

Bill McCauley, 10, and Suzanne took the death of their pet seriously, as did some of the other children of the neighborhood who have played with the dog.

Afraid For Children

That was not all of the problem, however. The neighbors today were afraid their children might happen onto some of the dread poisoning which killed Mooch. They were keeping their children home to keep such a tragedy from happening.

"It is pitiful because of the children," said Mrs. McCauley. "We felt, too, people should be warned, in case some is left around the neighborhood."

Condition Of Wreck Victim Is Improved

BROWNFIELD, April 8 (Special)—Slight improvement was reported today in the condition of Walter Lott, Fort Worth man who was seriously injured Thursday afternoon in a three-vehicle collision 12 miles south of Brownfield.

Attendants at Brownfield hospital said Lott suffered serious facial cuts, an eye injury, and a cut on the top of the head.

Other persons in the collision, which occurred at 4:30 p. m. Thursday on Brownfield-Seminole highway, escaped serious injury.

Lott was a passenger in a sedan driven by Miss Margarete Freeman, also of Fort Worth, when Miss Freeman apparently lost control of the car. It crashed into the left rear section of a car ahead, then sideswiped an oncoming truck. The car driven by Miss Freeman, and owned by V. A. Price of Hobbs, N. M., was almost completely demolished. Price was also in the car at the time of the accident.

Rites At Brownfield For Retired Farmer

BROWNFIELD, April 8. (Special)—Funeral services for J. W. Autrey, 74, retired farmer who died Thursday night in his home after a lengthy illness, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Foursquare Gospel church.

Burial will be in Brownfield cemetery, under direction of Brownfield Funeral home.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Witt, of Porterville, Calif., and Mrs. Dorsie Foster, of Brownfield; and seven sons, Lewis of Ropesville, Lloyd of Valiant, Okla., Cecil of Blair, Okla., Orville of South Bend, Ind., Luther of Brownfield, Robert of Potterville, Calif., and Beauford of Richmond, Calif.

Presbyterian Group Ends 48th Conclave

SAN ANTONIO, April 8. (AP)—The Women of the Church of the western Texas presbytery of the Presbyterian church wound up their 48th convention here today after electing officers.

Kerrville was selected as the site of the 1950 meeting.

Officers included: Mrs. E. S. Joslin of Corpus Christi, vice-president and Mrs. J. N. Lankford of Victoria, recording secretary.

J. J. Wise Winner In Denver City Voting

DENVER CITY, April 8. (Special)—An official canvass of the ballots in Tuesday's election confirmed J. J. Wise's victory in the Denver City mayoralty race. Wise edged out his opponent, A. C. Wagner, 108 to 107. The retiring mayor, H. C. Cotton received one write-in vote.

In the race for two city council positions, C. A. Bickley and J. M. Trent were elected with 201 and 133 votes respectively. A third candidate, George L. Rose polled 68 votes.

NEW Emulsorized SNOWDRIFT! gives lighter, richer, moister cakes.

ORANGE CAKE
with Chocolate Sundae Icing
ORANGE CAKE: Combine ½ cup orange juice with ½ cup milk.
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double action baking powder
(4 teaspoons single action)
1 teaspoon salt
1¼ cups sugar
Add:
½ cup Emulsorized Snowdrift
½ cup orange-milk
Mix till flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes. (If beating by hand, count beating time only. For electric mixer, use "low speed," and scrape bowl often.)
Add:
2 eggs
½ cup orange-milk
Beat 1 minute. Bake in 2 greased 8" layer pans (paper lined) in moderate oven (375°) about 25 min. Cool and frost with—
CHOCOLATE SUNDAE ICING: Use your favorite white 7-minute or boiled icing. Ice between layers and all over cake. Melt 3 squares of unsweetened chocolate with ⅓ teaspoon creamy Snowdrift; glaze top of cake and let chocolate drip down sides.
Get more compliments for your cakes—with the help of new Emulsorized Snowdrift. See how Snowdrift's special blending aid works wonders in the new "quick-method" recipes where batter is mixed in only 3 minutes! Only an emulsorized shortening can blend in all of the sugar and liquid so completely! Sudden Thought: It's possible for an economy wave to sweep over everything but the government.

UNDER the general heading of "discretion is the better part of valor" lies Lubbock's decision to retire from statewide competition a few years ago after winning, for 11 consecutive years, the title of "Cleanest City in Texas." We couldn't win such a title now, unless Texas cities, in general, are in a most deplorable condition.

Dirt, encrusted by last Winter's snows and sleets, lies by the hundred tons along curbs and gutters. All sorts of trash litters the streets of the downtown and residential sections. Empty beer cans and liquor bottles lie about by the scores.

Lubbock, today, is not a clean town by any stretch of the imagination.

Speaking of empty beer cans and liquor bottles, you can play a game as you drive over these legally "dry" Plains of ours.

The game might well be called "I Spy the Dead Soldiers."

We noticed it the other day, driving between Floydada and Lockney on a highway which is not one of our most heavily traveled ones. The route borders a section 100 miles or more in every direction from legal beer and whiskey.

Along a 10-mile stretch we saw literally scores of empty beer cans and more empty liquor bottles than make up a case—and on the right hand side of the road, only. We weren't driving, hence could keep track of the right side barrow pit.

PROBABLY you haven't looked too closely at your new telephone book—the one bearing the date of March, 1949.

Therefore, it's a good bet that you haven't noticed the small type—the very small type—warning on the first page inside the book's cover which has to do with the recording of telephone calls.

The telephone, which frequently is the most nerve-jangling, discordant and thoroughly disturbing of civilization's many tortures, now can be even more the tool of the particular demon who cooks up human trouble.

Attachment of a recording gadget can preserve—for posterity, or the courts—conversations over the telephone wire.

Very softly, in small type, the Bell company explains this in its new book. But its explanation is so insignificant that many citizens likely will not be awakened to dangers of telephone talking until they find themselves in hot water.

FOR years people have talked with unseen other persons by way of the telephone as frankly and as casually as they'd talk to an old friend on a fishing trip.

They could do so in perfect safety, too, from connivers who some day might otherwise wish to embarrass them with a transcript of the conversation.

But that safety is no more. Telephone recorders can, and do, make exact records of conversations. They can be used in court, or even in blackmail, to punish the speaker.

For instance, Mrs. Jones isn't safe any more when she casually says over the telephone that Mrs Doakes is an old hen, never washes her neck and looks like something the cat dragged in. A recording of the conversation might result in Mrs. Jones' being convicted of slander; or having to pay Mrs. Doakes a tidy sum to stave off a suit for slander.

And no longer can J. Van Whooziz Gotrocks coyly string a girl friend along by telephone, serene in the knowledge that the girl friend can't prove anything. The recording gadget can cause J. Whooziz more trouble than a mother-in-law if the girl friend wants to exercise it.

A business man isn't even safe in talking straight from the shoulder about a deal, unless he is certain he won't change his mind before signing the papers. The recorder can cost him but plenty.

In our book, these records should be banned by law, just as wire-tapping is banned.

If they're not banned by law, they at least should be issued by license only, and for certain types of use—not permitted for sale to any and everyone.

Furthermore, they should be banned as evidence in a court of law which, while not solving the blackmail angle of the use of a recording, would at least keep an individual's own word from being used against him.

If the telephone—as many people with 'teen age children believe—is the work of the devil, then the telephone recorder is the work of a million devils, so great are its propensities for trouble-making.

SINCE the telephone company has been so coyly shy about its warning on recorders (maybe its long tentacles hold a hunk of stock in the recording company) we'll see if we can help a little.

We'll just reprint the warning right here, so some people, at least, may avoid unpleasantness growing out of this new conversational trap.

Here it is:

"If you hear a short 'beep' tone on your telephone about every 15 seconds, it means that the person with whom you are talking is recording your conversation. This signal is provided by the telephone company for your protection. Use of a recorder without this signal is unlawful. If you do not want a record made of what you are saying, ask the person with whom you are talking to disconnect the recording machine. When he disconnects, you will no longer hear the 'beep' tone."

Now this is all very nice and thoughtful of the telephone company to "protect" us all. But we can't help wondering why—instead of a "beep" that might be lost in long distance static, for instance — the company doesn't have a recording to warn of the recording. In other words, instead of a "beep," why not have an automatic recording which says: "Be careful what you say. This conversation is being recorded on the other end"?

That would be real protection, telephone static and people's faulty hearing being what they are at times.

BY DREW PEARSON: BARKLEY REPORTS TO CABINET ON OUTLOOK FOR HST's PROGRAM

Russian Diplomat To UN Takes Permanent Leave

WASHINGTON.—Vice President Barkley, who more and more is becoming the balance-wheel of the Truman administration, gave a significant report to the President at last week's cabinet meeting.

The Truman program on Capitol Hill, Barkley told the cabinet, was much better shape than the public realizes. Furthermore, he predicted that a considerable part of the program will be passed at this session of Congress.

PEARSON

Barkley listed the housing bill, and-to-education reciprocal trade and school health as certain to pass. However, he was pessimistic about certain other important bills, especially the Taft-Hartley act, which he said the administration did not have enough votes to repeal.

He was also pessimistic about civil rights, minimum wages—which Truman wants increased to 75 cents an hour—and the national health bill. This, the vice president told the cabinet, could not be passed this year.

NOTE—Betting among leaders of both parties is that no tax bill will be passed at this session—despite Mr. Truman's emphatic statement that he wanted taxes revised.

Missing Russian Diplomat

It won't be announced publicly, but the assistant secretary of the United Nations, Arcady Soboloff, has mysteriously faded out of the U. N. picture.

Soboloff, who is assistant to Secretary General Trygve Lie, went back to Russia on a vacation three months ago with the announced intention to remaining only six weeks. But six weeks have spread out to double that time, and Soboloff has not returned.

Worried, Trygve Lie sent him several cables. No reply. Further investigation showed that Soboloff had carefully removed his files, all his personal belongings, and had drawn all the money due him. Last week Trygve Lie came to the conclusion that his Russian assistant was deliberately ducking, so sent a cable notifying Soboloff that he was fired.

The Russian was the No. 2 Soviet diplomat in this country, second only to Gromyko. It's believed he will now occupy a top spot in Moscow's diplomatic command.

MUSINGS of a columnist—Have been thinking of inviting all the congressmen who voted against the housing bill last year to see "City Across the River" when it opens in Washington. It would change a lot of votes. . . It isn't a housing picture, but about juvenile gang warfare, which wouldn't flourish if it wasn't for slum housing. . . . The scene is set in Brooklyn—not only set, but actually shot there. Maxwell Shane, who produced the film, set up a microphone with a tape recorder in the markets, poolrooms and dance halls of Brooklyn to get accurate Brooklyn dialects and conversations . . . Then he interviewed 228 boys and from them picked three to play the lead holes in the movies. They hadn't much acting experience, but they did a terrific job.

The movie features real shots of Brooklyn—tenements on South Third street, crowded blocks on Havemeyer street, the Marine Parkway bridge, Prospect Park, etc. . . . Play is based on Irving Shulman's well-known story of juvenile gangsterdom, "The Amboy Dukes." . . . Tragic fact is that the story is too near the truth. As happens in the picture, a New York schoolteacher was actually killed by his students some time ago. And when you see the crowded living quarters in "City Across the River" you get some realization of why . . . Senators, please note.

The Strange 81st Congress

One of the strange reversals of politics is the efficiency of the House of Representatives in the 81st Congress compared with the inefficiency of the Senate.

In the 80th Congress it was just the opposite. Then it was the Senate which functioned more smoothly—and more liberally. Now it is the House.

This reversal is due to two things: 1, the efficient leadership of Speaker Sam Rayburn and majority leader John McCormack of Massachusetts; 2, the progressive group of young Democrats elected last November, many of them from the South.

Rayburn and McCormack, old hands at the game, know exactly what they are doing every minute of the time. To anyone skilled in parliamentary procedure, their leadership is beautiful to behold. As a result they are sending legislation to the Senate, and it is bulging with bills waiting to be passed. Meanwhile, the Senate has been slowed down by a group of reactionary Republicans teamed up with certain Southern Democrats, who are consistently and cleverly undercutting almost every liberal piece of legislation to come before Congress.

OPENING in New York tomorrow under the protective wing of the U. S. Army is the first German trade exhibit since the war—the German industrial exposition at the Museum of Science and Industry.

The American military government for Germany has promoted the exhibit with the idea of getting German industry back on its feet. As one officer explained it, "we've got to take the financial load off U. S. taxpayers."

U. S. Army officers claim they are trying to do a conscientious job of eliminating Nazi exhibitors and by the time the exhibit opens this may have been accomplished. However, at this writing it looks as if some former Nazis had slipped into the picture.

For some strange reason the Army has consistently refused to publish the names of the Germans who are coming to New York to represent the exhibitors, yet forty of these German representatives arrived last week, among them Frau Peter Pixis. Frau Pixis' husband was Hitler's favorite architect for Nazi propaganda fairs, and the couple were specialists in setting up Nazi exhibitions in neutral countries overrun by the German army. When Pixis' record was called to the attention of General Clay, he was barred, though Mrs. Pixis is still in the U. S. A. in full charge of exhibition layouts and displays.

Another exhibitor whom Clay barred as a result of last-minute protests was Dr. Herbert Gross, whose operations in this country were exposed by a congressional committee before Pearl Harbor.

After the New York opening, it's planned to send the German exhibit to Milwaukee, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Buffalo—if there isn't too much of a howl from the American public.

The Empress of Ethiopia and her daughter are reported taking a warm interest in women's welfare there.

"Let's Make Good On This Part Too, Huh?"

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

SOME OF my readers report that they find they can't stretch their household allowances to cover entertaing at home, and being entertained in their friends' homes.

MILLETT

The reason the latter is also expensive is, of course, because of the necessity of hiring a baby sitter for the evening.

For those readers I'd like to recommend a plan worked out by one housewife and given publicity in the March issue of the magazine "Today's Woman."

In order to cut down on the cost of supper parties, three young couples, all with children, decided to have a buffet supper once a month, with the hostess providing the appetizers, main dish and coffee. One of the other couples brought the salad and a vegetable; the other the desert.

There's nothing new about cooperative dinners, of course. They are as old as the church supper.

But this supper club does two things that make it different.

They bring their children with them, fed and in pajamas ready for bed—cutting out the necessity for hiring baby sitters. And the hostess always invites an extra couple for the evening.

So often when couples organize a small club in order to have some social life, it soon becomes dull, because it is always the same little group over and over again. In no time at all they know all about each other, what one thinks about this and the other about that, and the evenings together are pretty much of a pattern.

NEWCOMERS LEND INTEREST

BUT BRINGING in a new couple each time helps to enlarge the group's circle of friends. And it adds some new ideas, new points of view, new faces to the sociability of the evenings.

The pattern of today's social life has become so dependent on the baby sitter and often so expensive for young host and hostesses that it is more duty than pleasure.

"We've got to find a sitter so that we can go to the Joneses Saturday night."

"We simply have to have the Smiths and Browns to dinner, as soon as the budget will stand some entertaining."

These are common cries today. So any scheme to make entertaining easier for young couples with children who have to get by on a limited budget is worth a try.

'Try And Stop Me"

A FRIEND of financier Bernard Baruch spoke so often about his love for hunting that Baruch finally invited him to his South Carolina plantation for a turkey shoot. The friend tramped the field for two days, shooting madly, but failed to hit a single turkey.

Mr. Baruch made no comment. The next morning, however, the friend was ambling along a path near the playhouse when he saw a well-fed gobbler sitting motionless in a tree. He crept up close to the turkey and fired pointblank. He was overjoyed when the turkey fell at his feet. It was only when he picked it up to stuff into his bag that he noticed a card tied around the turkey's neck. The card read, "With the compliments of Bernard Baruch."

Real Payoff Of Crime Comes When Officers Burst In Door

NEW YORK, April 8.—The glorification of the dashing thief, the romantic murderer and the haloed hoodlum is old in the history of man. The Robin Hoods, Dick Turpins, Francois Villons, and John Dillingers commanded an odd-sort of crowd-appeal. Even Jack the Ripper qualified as entertainment of a sort.

RUARK

But at a time when we make a great deal of lip-service about juvenile delinquency, I baffle easily at the Hollywood intent to purchase the life story of Gerard Dennis, the "Raffles" of recent infamy in the glamour belt of burglary. According to announcement, the dashing second-storyman's story will be filmed if a financial agreement can be reached. "Raffles" asking price was 50 G's. There was even some talk about letting the handsome crook out on bail to play his own part.

Will Make Movie

Along these lines there is the report that Lila Leeds, the marijuana playmate of Robert Mitchum, will make a semi-biographical movie called "The Wrong Road," now that she's out of the clink. Nor is it any secret that Mr. Mitchum's box-office appeal has soared since the cops caught him with a reefer in his fist and shut him up for a spell.

This might demonstrate, to a reasoning as naive as mine, that a career of crime is not a bad thing at all, if one wishes speedy entree to the silver screen. One heists a filling station for operating expenses and dramatic experience, and by the time you get nabbed for major burglary, you are ripe for the camera.

They have just nabbed Richard Crowe, the New York banker who took off with 800 grand from his bank's strongbox, and I should not be surprised if some agent is not already dickering with him for first crack at his memoirs. There is a certain glamour to the life of a banker who keeps himself in speedboats and club dues by dipping into the till.

I'M the first guy to admit I love cops and robbers, and find more excitement in the chronicle of a desperado's doings than in the pasty performanceof a professional do-gooder. An illustrated lecture on the nonpayment of crime can be both intriguing and morally serviceable, if the crook gets his comeuppance in the last reel.

But there should, it seems to me, be some decent interval between the apprehension or demise of the thug and his enshrinement in prose or celluloid. Using a loaded gat or a smoking reefer as a stepstone to fame and fortune is just a little too bad. An apprenticeship to the arts might be served in a dramatic school or even in a newspaper office, with les wear and tear on the innocent bystander.

However, I always wish to be constructive, and so will help them cast the picture on "Raffles" Dennis' delightfully whimsical carreer. Miss Leeds will play a part, of course, as will Mr. Mitchum. You can always work a maripuan angle into a crime story.

To Collect Miss Schmidt

We will collect Miss Patricia Schmidt, or Satira, who is currently open to engagement. Miss Schmidt is the lovely, but petulent lass who gunned her lover, Lester Mee, down in Havana. I would suggest her for the female lead.

We can cast the fugitive banker as himself, because a banker lends tone to any literary tour de force. It's too bad we can't re-import Lucky Luciana for a character spot, but there are enough ex-murderers and arsonists around to fill out the cast.

There would have to be a villain, or heavy, in this piece, and J. Edgar Hoover would be ideal to show that law abiding does not pay. At finally the theme is that crime should only cover simple expenses, like a politician working for peanuts in Washington in order to gather memoirs for later sale. Crime is merely a foothold on the ladder of the arts, and the big payoff comes when the cops bust in the door.

SALUTE TO THE BURLINGTON

Lubbock and the South Plains have special reasons for active participation in the observance this year of the centennial of the Burling Railroad system, of which the Fort Worth & Denver City is a part.

The FD&DC has made one of the greatest contributions to the development of this and many other areas. Lubbock and many communities owe much of their growth to the outlets the railroad has supplied. It has established in residence here men and women who have been among the most valuable and most esteemed of our citizenship. And Lubbock represents only one small, but typical, part of what the system has done for the vast area it serves during the past 100 years.

It is peculiarly appropriate, therefore, that the luncheon of the American Business club today should be dedicated to an observance of the Burlington anniversary and that the community and area should give other evidence of their appreciation for what the system means to them.

Water System Expansion Approved

Contract For Paving Okayed

Members of the city commission approved another major expansion of the Lubbock water system, transacted business affecting 169 blocks of new street paving and reluctantly approved, by a 3-2 vote, the payment of an $1,800 fee to Koch & Fowler, of Dallas, city planning engineers, at a recessed meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers' vote was necessary to break a tie on the Koch & Fowler fee, Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler and John Spikes voting for the payment and Commissioners W. B. Price and Clarence Whiteside against.

Drafted City Plan

"I don't think they did a good job," the mayor commented as he voted for the payment. "But I don't think the city legally could avoid the payment if the question should be carried into court."

Commissioners Hufstedler and Spikes expressed similar views.

The Dallas firm drafted the city plan under which Lubbock has operated since about 1939. The engineers were retained more recently on the recommendation of the city planning commission to make studies and suggestions designed to bring the original plan up to date.

Koch & Fowler rendered the $1,800 bill for this service several weeks ago. It was recommended to the city commission for payment after expressions of dissatisfaction by several planning board members with the work the Dallas firm had performed. Board Member Chas. A. Guy voted against the recommendation.

The majority opinion was, however, that the firm probably could show, in the event of a court showdown, a technical compliance with the terms of the contract.

Water Expansion Okayed

It was the first time since Mayor Rodgers took office a year ago that his vote was necessary to break a commission deadlock.

The water expansion approved by the commission, according to City Manager Steve Matthews and City Engineer R. L. Oldham, will add 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 gallons daily to the city's available supply.

It also will mean a supply from a direction different from those where water now is obtained, Mayor Rodgers pointed out. This will be added insurance, he explained, of ample water if the supply from other directions should be interrupted for any reason.

The action taken Thursday represented the acquisition, without cost, of sites for at least 12 new wells south of the city limits in proved areas in the vicinity of the extension of South Avenue H. The most distant of the new sites is about one and one-half miles from Thirty-fourth street, the city limits at that point. Wells in the area

THE QUESTION

If you were giving advice to the Oklahoma City resident who has $10,000 to spend and has been told she has one year to live, what would you suggest to her?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. HENRY HABBINGA, Lubbock route 1, housewife: "To that question, there are a lot of Army boys who have come back in nervous state and who need help. She saved that money for herself, all right but she'll get more pleasure out of it by spending it on someone else. If I had a year to live, that money wouldn't mean much to me. I'd want peace of mind more than anything else."

MRS. V. R. WEAVER, Lamesa, housewife: "If I had a year to live and had all the comforts of life anyway, what would be the use of spending any of it on myself?"

MRS. MELVIN JOHNSON, Abernathy, housewife: "I believe that one thing I would do would be to give partly for church work. Then I'd spend the rest of it just for everything — partly for myself and partly to help others."

MRS. F. E. ROBERTS, Post route 3, housewife: "If it were me, I would help the poor children and spend the rest for my own benefit to be more comfortable and to enjoy it in a Godly manner. I don't know exactly what I would do. I'd spend it just as it occurred to me to spend it, I guess.

MRS. H. T. CARPENTER, Lubbock route 3, housewife: "I think I'd advise her just to spend the money in any way she wanted to. If she wanted to spend the money for trifling things, that would be her business. If it were me, I think I'd try to help out with charity as much as possible."

MRS. C. L. NOLAND, 710 Main, housewife: "I believe I'd help someone who needed it. If she doesn't need it, I'd give it to someone who really needs it. I understand she has enough to live on without the $10,000."

Installation Service Is Conducted By VFW

Joint installation services were conducted for new officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the VFW Auxiliary at the new VFW home at Thirty-fourth street and Avenue N Thursday night.

VFW officers installed included William Earl Creel, commander; Robert Porter, senior vice commander; James H. (Cotton) Bryant, junior vice commander; J. C. Marbut, quartermaster; Fred Kincaid, admutant; William Pennington, Art Matistic, guard; and Glenn Self, quartermaster Sergeant.

P. T. West was the installing officer. W. H. McDonald was aide in the installation ceremonies.

New VFW Auxiliary officers installed included Mrs. Billye McElroy, president; Mrs. Manda Marbut, senior vice president, Mrs. Virginia Kincaid, junior vice president. Mrs. Bennie Jackson was installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Georgia Farmer, conductress.

Refreshments were served to approximately 225 persons, including 25 out-of-town guests.

WHY ACCIDENTS HAPPEN

SAN DIEGO (U.P.)—The February police traffic report reveals that excessive speed caused 131 traffic accidents in the city. In second place were boulevard stop violations, responsible for 47 accidents. Next came drunken driving, 45 accidents; following too closely, 43, and improper turns, 38.

TOTAL SHOWS SLIGHT DECREASE

Senior High Honor Roll Is Announced

A total of 112 Lubbock Senior High school students has succeeded in making the third nine weeks' honor roll list. This is a decrease of 21 under the 133 recorded for the previous nine week period. Sophomores represent 52 of the 112, while 32 are juniors and the remaining 28 are members of the senior class.

Mary Frances Forkner and Donald Hudgeons, each taking five solids, made three A's and 2 B's, and two A's and three B's respectively.

Nineteen students carrying the normal four subjects made all A's. They are Coleen Baldwin, Margaret Barrier, Margaret Helen Brown, Luther Claborn, June Franklin, Neal Friets, Goldia Hester, Martha Hobgood, Dorothy Dale Kennedy, Zita Martin, Pat Patrick, Connie Phillips, Mona Powell, Garnet Reeves, Paul Schneider, Dorothy Schuler, Van Scott, Rossi Ann Stiles, and Rudelle Thompson.

Others Are Named

Thirty students are represented on the list of those making two A's and two B's. They are Al Alschuler, Beverly Bantz, Betty Jynes, Peggy Bethel, Hardy Bourland, Wyatt Burkhalter, Doyle Clark, Dorothy Clements, Frank Ford, Ernestine Gammill, Margaret Ann Garlin, James Grace, Ned Hardin, Faustine Haynes, Powell Hinson, Richard Hitt, Beverly Hutcheson, Shirley Johnson, Patty Knox, Theola Leonard, Barbara Linzy, Hubert Maxwell.

Joan McMilan, Bobby Mitchell, Shirley Sue Mood, Mary Belle Perryman, Charlene Potts, Tommy Raney, Ladon Sheats, Martha Somers, and Larry Tonroy.

The largest group, 31, made one A and three B's. They include Bettye Armstrong, Robert Bratcher, Clifford Brown, David Clark, Mary Catherine Cole, Nancy Crosby, Louise Davis, Nancy Dealey, Franklin Greer, Donna Hall, Sue Hammock, Mildred Giles, Deverle Henslee, Charles Holmquist, Martha Lou Hubbard, Jack King, Julian Kornfield, Betty Lou Lancaster, Carol Leslie, Anne McCaig.

Margaret McElyea, Don Naylor, Kenneth Owens, Charis Pinkston, Frances Roth, Caroline Schaefer, Kay Smith, Christine Toles, Doris Wise, Wanda Woody and Ernest Wossum.

Of those students taking only three subjects, Jane Austin, Evelyn Sue Burks, and Anne Edwards made all A's. Donna Woolman made two A's and one B, while Bruce Hamilton made two B's and one A.

MADE TO LAST

MELROSE, Mass. (U.P.) — Edith Cabot's watch, a hand-me-down from her great-aunt, was made in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1873. Despite its 76 years, it still keeps perfect time.

ARMY SHOWS MIGHT—Medium tanks clatter past Gen. Lucius D. Clay and his staff at Grafenwoehr, Germany, as the U. S. Army shows its might on Army Day. Other tanks in background wait turn to join at the former training grounds of the once mighty Wehrmacht. In the display were 5,000 soldiers, 200 tanks, 3,000 armored vehicles and many planes overhead. Addressing his troops, Gen. Clay said the U. S. Army pledged to keep peace by force if necessary.

Japanese Celebrate Birthday Of Buddha

TOKYO, April 8 (AP)—Japan today celebrated the 2,515th birthday of Gautama Buddha, a holy man whose influence in this country is slipping.

The anniversary was observed principally by children who base songs, dances and processions on the legends surrounding Buddha's birth.

The ceremonies included the sprinkling of sweetened tea and flower petals over the heads of Buddha images to commemorate the sweet rain and show of flower petals which are said to have heralded his birth.

Buddhism has been on the wane in Japan since the end of the war when Shintoism, the former state religion, was outlawed.

House Debates Education Bill

AUSTIN, April 8. (AP)—The legislature quit work for the week yesterday with the Gilmer-Aikin school bills still hanging fire in the house.

In the most decisive action of the day, the House apparently cinched abolition of the elective office of state superintendent. It turned down Rep. Jimmy Horany's proposal to keep the elective office, 76 to 59.

Jim Taylor's bill, first of the G-A measures passed by the Senate, replaces the superintendent with an appointive state commissioner of education.

Ultimate Victory Seen

The Senate accomplished less than the House so far as disposition of legislation was concerned. It debated the bill to set up a Texas citrus commission for an hour before adjourning until Monday.

Ultimate victory for the Gilmer-Aikin reorganization bills has been conceded by many of the opponents, but it looks like a long battle. The initial measure got nowhere fast in the House yesterday.

Rep. Sid Gregory, advocate of the legislation, called for a showdown late in the afternoon but made no headway as the House chose to adjourn.

"We could be here two or three weeks in a row the way this thing is set up," Gregory remonstrated. He wanted a limitation placed on the number of amendments which could be offered. Previous attempts along the same line failed during the four days the bill has been before the House.

One Change Okayed

The Senate bill will not be subject to action again until next Wednesday and Thursday. Those are Senate-bill days in the House.

One amendment was hung on the bill in the fact of strong opposition by its backers.

By Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls, it provides for election of state school board members in the general elections. Seven of the 21 members would be elected every two years, thus giving them six year terms. The Taylor bill calls for their selection at the local school trustee elections.

Idea Is Assailed

Tufares said all state officials should be chosen on the general election ballot, The House agreed, 95 to 45.

Attacking his idea, Rep. Rae Files Still of Waxahachie said: "When you place this election at the time of school trustee elections you make people vote specifically on school issues. When you place this in the general elections, people will be voting on so many things that the school board election will be a minor issue.

"You are going to force candi-

41 Indictments Are Returned By Grand Jury

A 99th district grand jury, which had been recalled Monday morning by Judge G. V. Pardue, returned 41 bills of indictment about 9:30 o'clock last night.

Included among the indictments were the following charges and the number of each: Murder, 2; robbery by assault, 3; burglaries, 11; forgeries, 7; swindling by worthless check, 3; felony theft, 4; theft by bailee, 1; receiving and concealing stolen property, 1; removing mortgaged property from the state, 1; second offense drunk driving, 2; and desertion, 6.

Eleven Persons Sought

All but 11 of those named in indictments were under arrest here or elsewhere or were under bond, the sheriff's department said.

The indictments included the following:

Arthur Lee Ivey, 50, of Lubbock, murder with malice of Leonard Bailey by stabbing with a knife; Alfredo Albidrez, 29, of Lubbock, murder of Adolfo Trujillo by shooting him with a gun; Harry LeMaire, jr., 22, Bruce LeMaire, 19, and Gaylen Zane Brand, 18, all of Lubbock, each charged with robbery by assault of 25 cases of whiskey from W. T. Bridges; Sam Calloway, 32, of Silverton, receiving and concealing stolen property—25 cases of whiskey belonging to W. T. Bridges.

Burglaries Lead Charges

Henry Majica, alias Henry Mojica, 18, of Idalou route 1, burglary; Charles J. Jefferson, 26, a negro of Lubbock, burglary; Bill Homer, 20-year-old Lubbock negro, burglary; Floyd Brown, 22-year-old Lubbock negro, burglary; Robert Lee Davis, 20, of Lubbock, burglary; Raymond Lee Tate, 21, of Idalou route 1, burglary; Ferlon Dwaine McCreary, 20, of Lubbock, burglary; Chester Wayne Morgan, 18, of Lubbock, burglary; J. B. Jackson, 19, of Lubbock, two counts of burglary.

William Moore, 38, of Garrett, Ky., theft of over $50 from Citizens National bank; Mathew Moore, alias Mattew Moor, 36, a negro, of Austin, swindling by worthless check over $50; Dean Andrews, 17, of Lubbock, theft by bailee of an automobile; K. E. Middleton, 31, of El Centro, Calif., swindling by worthless check over $50; Joseph Perry Howell, 37, of Lubbock, second offense drunk driving; Lester C. Cruse, 32, a negro, of Meadow, second offense drunk driving.

Kathleen Powell, 20, of Lubbock, swindling by worthless chack and forgery; Melvin Dean Barton, 24, of Baileyboro, two counts of forgery; Rosendo Gutirrez Castillo, 19, of Lubbock, forgery; Ermerejildo DeLeon, 20, of Abernathy route 1, forgefy; John Henry Bigbie, jr., forgery;

Clark Is Demo Rally Speaker

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 8. (U.P.) Attorney General Tom Clark will address fellow Texans tonight at the second in a series of Jefferson-Jackson dinners to raise funds for the national Democratic party.

Loyal party members will pay $25 a plate to hear Clark and other speakers. Warren Phillips, general chairman of the dinner, said the banquet would be a sell out.

Last month at Austin, party leaders heard House Speaker Sam Rayburn speak and gave him a check for $40,000 to take back to Washington.

Phillips said that some Democrats were paying more than the required $25 in an effort to better the Austin mark.

"We could have had 2,000," he said. "As it is, we have had to cut it off at 585. That is all we could handle."

Judge Backs Clark

But Phillips let it be known subscriptions were still being sought, and that the amount could range from $50 to $100.

Clark, one of the loudest drum-beaters for President Truman last fall, has been criticized by some Texas state officials for his stand on federal ownership of tidelands.

(It was learned at Laredo yesterday that Webb County Judge M. J. Raymond would criticize party members for "antagonizing Clark in the tidelands matter, pointing out he (Clark) is doing his duty as he sees it for all of the states.")

There will be a good representation of party leaders, although Gov. Beauford Jester and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles will not attend the dinner.

Mayor Tom Miller of Austin, the state's chief fund raiser, said he was "going down to help them out any way I can."

Old Theater Is To Be Wrecked

PITTSBURGH, April 8 (U.P.)—The whine of long spiraling drills, digging into the earth beneath Pittsburgh's famed Nixon Theater, are sounding the beginning of the end for the 46-year-old playhouse, the city's only "live" stage.

The drillers are testing the rock foundation for the 30-story Aluminum Company of America office building which will replace the historic playhouse, probably leaving Pittsburgh one of the few major cities in the nation without a legitimate theater.

The curtain will fall for the last time on the big stage where the late Florenz Ziegfeld liked to "try out" his glittering Follies, about May 1, 1950, and the wreckers will take over.

Replacement Sought

Led by Mayor David L. Lawrence, civic leaders are seeking a replacement for the Nixon, but the outlook admittedly is dim. Principal hope centers on the conversion of the one of the city's moving picture houses, several of which originally were "live" theaters.

The mayor met recently with representatives of two large movie chains, Warners Brothers and the Harris Amusement Co. They pledged co-operation in seeking a successor to the Nixon.

M. A. Silver, Warner Brothers zone manager, said:

"We told the mayor that we in the motion picture business feel that Pittsburgh's loss of its only professional legitimate theater is a calamity, unless another house replaces it."

A survey of the costs of building a new theater, or converting a movie house, the anticipated yearly revenue, and expenditures and taxes was planned.

The Nixon was built in 1903 by Samuel F. Nixon. It seats 2,200 and has one of the largest stages of its type in the country. During nearly a half century of operation, it has been visited by virtually all the greats of the theatrical world.

The Barrymores, George M. Cohan, Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, John Drew, E. H. Sothern, Julia Marlowe, the Dolly Sisters and many other outstanding stars have appeared on its broad stage.

On June 1, 1918, what is claimed to be a world's record for one performance was the $138,000 received for a Red Cross benefit. The show was Cohan's "Out There."

New Houses Are Sold Complete With Cars

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—In his 1928 presidential campaign, Herbert Hoover envisioned two cars in every garage. But it remained for Perry Brothers, prominent Washington builders, twenty years later, to offer a car and garage with every house.

Arnold Perry, head of the capital firm, says this offering is "no campaign promise." He actually furnishes a brand new Crosley station wagon, valued at $1,077, with each of his new houses in suburban Bethesda, Md. And, he reports, he is doing a land-office business—"with Republicans and Democrats alike."

"Buy a house with a car as standard equipment" is the Perry slogan. "Some builders put in deep-freeze units, or television sets, as inducements to buy. Why not a car in every garage?"

Raincoat Of Future To Look Just Like Regular Clothing

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 8—The raincoat of the future, the experts said today, is going to look just like any other coat.

Satin and plastic raincoats which have brightened the April showers with their glistening finishes for the past several years are less popular this season, according to the National Rainwear Manufacturers association.

New Gadgets Developed

Newest of the shower coats are waterproofed silks, tweeds and crinkled nylons designed to look as smart in the sun as they do in the rain. The old reliable gabardine waterproof is as popular as ever, according to the manufacturers.

New Gimmicks in the raincoat department include hoods which attach (and detach) to the inside instead of the outside of the coat collar, giving a snugger fit around the neck and eliminating all evidence when they're taken off.

One medium priced (about $30) rayon gabardine raincoat comes with an umbrella in the pocket and a pair of rubbers in a pocket of the umbrella handle.

Among the handsomest and most versatile coats are a number of beautifully tailored wool tweeds—priced generally at $50 and up—which can double as all-around campus or country coats in anybody's wardrobe.

Plastic Still Popular

Still shining in the rain are the huge metallic looking pink polka dots on a black faille coat copied from a Paris model with huge flap pockets, wide revers and a hot pink lining, about $35.

Nylon plisse — which means crinkled like seersucker—is shown in a classically tailored gray raincoat with a bright red lining and detachable hood. That's priced around $70.

A number of coats are shown with waterproof gloves to match. One three-quarter length raincoat comes with a bag to match it, the works for under $30, and let your hem get wet.

There's still a market and maybe always will be, the manufacturers said, for the lightweight shower-curtain plastic coat that tucks into a desk drawer or a coat pocket for surprise rains.

Amelia Garcia, a South American woman, found herself at London airport recently, having arrived there because she got into a wrong queue at La Gardia Airport, New York, where she wanted to board a clipper for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

A recent advertisement in a newspaper at Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, said: $40 reward for every lion shot on my ranch 10 miles from Plumtree, where lions killed 26 cattle in the last two months; only genuine keen hunters need apply."

Chilean farmers complain of a shortage of tractors and horse-drawn equipment.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Littlefield, Texas, at the office of the City Secretary until 10 o'clock a. m., April 18, 1949, for the construction of certain Waterworks Improvements, and at that time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

The proposals must be accompanied by a bidder's bond or a cashier's check in the amount of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00) payable without recourse to the order of City of Littlefield, Texas, as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract and execute a Performance Bond in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond for 100% of his total bid, written by a responsible surety company satisfactory to the City Commission. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding local conditions.

Plans, specifications, and other proposed contract documents are on file at the office of Ralph W. Douglas, City Engineer, at Littlefield, Texas. Copies may be secured upon the deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00), which will be returned if the contractor submits a bona fide bid and/or returns the plans and specifications before the bid opening date.

The proposed work includes approximately the following: 2200' of 16", 9000' of 14", 11,000' of 12", 6000' of 10", 10,000' of 8", and 4300' of 6" C. I. Russians Offer Germans Coal And Spuds At Reduced Prices

BERLIN, April 8 (AP)—The Russians today offered coal and potatoes at prices designed to whet the taste of east Berliners for their Red government.

Both items were placed on sale in limited amounts in ration-free sales for the first time. And prices set were reasonable.

Coal is still rationed in western Germany but potatoes have been freed from rationing.

American officials said the new move was part of a trend in which the Russians have shifted their tactics in Germany by making a show of how much they are doing for the Germans. Previously, the Soviets took away as much as they could.

American officials said the new tactics began when it became apparent to the Russians that western Germany's industry was booming because of allied monetary help. That industrial boom also boosted allied political stock.

The prices listed by the Soviet-licensed ADN news agency for potatoes equalled the present black market prices. Coal was listed at about one-third the black market price, however.

Water System

usually are good for 700,000 to 1,000,000 gallons daily, officials said.

Practically all of the city's present supplies come from groups of wells northeast and northwest of the city limits, providing double protection against a breakdown in either direction.

Triple Protection Afforded

This will become triple protection, the mayor said, when the development south and southeast of the city limits is carried out.

Just when that will be, officials said, will be determined by needs—maybe next year, maybe five years from now, depending on whether Lubbock growth continues at the pace of recent years. The development of the source will require the drilling of the wells and the construction of a storage reservoir of probably 5,000,000 gallons capacity at a total cost, including necessary pipe lines, now estimated at $600,000 to $800,000.

Mayor Rodgers expressed confidence that supplies from northeast and northwest sources will be abundant for at least two or three years, although production from the northeastern areas is not holding up as well as officials had hoped.

Would Double Present Supply

The new wells will give Lubbock a potential total supply of 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 gallons of water daily. Peak demand for any one day has yet to reach 20,000,000.

"But if we catch up with present available supplies," the mayor remarked, "I don't know where we will go next for well water. Further extensions are liable to cost a lot of money."

Of the new well sites, six are on the D. C. Rumph estate land, two on property owned by Marvin McLarty and four on the Tate Sanders tract.

The only concession made to owners of the properties, members of the commission said, is that they will be privileged to tap the lines from any wells drilled. They will pay prevailing rates for any water they obtain. The advantage to them, members of the commission said, is the prospect of water and sewage supplies for residence areas they may attempt to develop.

New Paving Slated

The paving matters considered by the commission fell into three categories. Sixty-nine blocks are included in a construction contract awarded two weeks ago to Holland Page, of Austin, and given final approval Thursday. Sixty blocks are to be listed in an ordinance to be prepared for submission to a meeting next Thursday, when the commission will decide whether the work is to be done under contract or with city facilities. Forty blocks are on a waiting list to be grouped into another project in the near future.

Manager Matthews remarked that requests for approximately 100 blocks of new paving have been received within the past month.

"It just goes to show how fast Lubbock is growing," he remarked.

The streets included in the Holland Page contract follow:

Ave. E from 17th to 19th; M, 23rd to Arnett; O, 23rd to 24th; P, 2nd to 4th and 21st to 27th; S, 4th to U. S. 84; T, 4th to 6th; U, 30th to 32nd; V, 7th to 9th; W, 1st to 2nd, 3rd to 4th, 28th to 34th; X, 3rd to 4th; 6th, Van Buren to Tyler; 20th, Polk to Taylor; 24th, K to L; 25th, one-half block from S; 26th, 400 feet west from A and from E to H; 27th, Van Buren to Tyler; 28th, H to Morningside; 29th, N to Q; 31st, U. S. 87 to Railroad row and Van Buren to Tyler; 32nd, Monroe to Tyler; Ruby, Madison to L; Jefferson, 32nd to 34th; Temple, 1st to 4th; Waco, 1st to 2nd; Wolfarth, U. S. 84 to X; Van Buren, 25th to 30th.

East C, 19th to 26th; East D, 19th to 26th; East E, Railroad avenue to 26th; North H, Maple to 2nd; M, 2nd to North 3rd; N, 2nd to North 3rd and North 3rd to Maple; O, 2nd to North 3rd; P, 1st to Santa Fe tracks at 2nd; 1st to North 3rd and 27th to 34th; Maple, North M to North O; Paris, 2nd to 4th; 1st, L to P; 10th, widening from L to M; 23rd, U. S. 87 to Railroad avenue; 34th, Q to Monroe.

Demands Block Project

Among other matters considered, the commission struck a snag on the proposal to widen and pave Ave. J from Nineteenth to 26th when J. D. Leftwich demanded payment for any portion of his property on the southwest corner of J and Nineteenth used for the right-of-way. The commission was advised that all other property owners affected by the proposed improvement have agreed to provide needed right-of-way. Leftwich would not say what he wanted for his property.

Avenue J south of Nineteenth is one of the worst jumbled of Lubbock streets. Its width varies from 15 to 50 feet. In places, no street-right-of-way at all has been dedicated. Within a six-block distance there are 10 or 12 jogs. The street is an important approach to the Boys' club site at Twenty-third and J.

The Boys' club spokesmen also set a price for their cooperation in making the improvement possible. A letter from A. W. Young, club president, asked for free paving around the donated site. He also asked the city to fence the property.

Lubbock Engineering Company To Design Large Power Plants

Design of power plants for municipalities, utility companies and rural electric co-operatives will be undertaken by a newly formed firm of engineers in Lubbock, it was announced Thursday.

To be known as Continental Engineers, the firm is now releasing plans and specifications for its first project, a $1,280,000 power generating plant at Lovington, N. M., being built by the Lea County Electric Co-operative, Inc. The bids will be opened May 3 in Lovington.

Price Is Chief Engineer

Partners in the firm are H. N. Roberts, J. B. Payne, Edward P. Price and Cecil Hawk.

Chief engineer of power for the firm is Clyde Price, formerly chief engineer for the Arizona-Edison company. Mr. and Mrs. Price and one child have moved to Lubbock and now live at 2224 Twenty-seventh street.

Only one other firm in Texas is engaged in power plant designing. That firm is in San Antonio.

Roberts has been a consulting engineer in Lubbock for 20 years and has been operating as H. N. Roberts and Associates for 10 years. Price and Hawk have been operating as engineers for 10 years in Lubbock. Both firms will continue intact, and formation of the third firm devoted exclusively to power plant and transmission line design and supervision will not affect the two firms.

Recent policy of the Rural Electrification administration has been to erect power plants only where privately owned utility companies cannot supply power to REA co-operatives.

Building Permits In City Hit $2,432,188

April permits accounted for $158,000 of the $2,432,188 building permit total for 1949, records at the office of Lloyd Ross, building inspector, indicated.

It was too early in the month to determine whether April will be another million-dollar month. March building permits totaled $1,112,869.

At the same time Ross announced that permits for 226 dwelling units had been issued during the first quarter of 1949.

In January 47 housing units with a total permit valuation of $256,118 were started. In February 94 units for which permits were issued had a total valuation of $680,450. March residence permits numbering 85 represented a total valuation of $651,925.
