WRONG SIDE UP

The following story, credited to one Dr. B. W. Kilgore, aptly describes the soil situation of the Panhandle and adjacent areas in the north and west:

"It is related that when the white man was moving west and bringing the great plains under cultivation with his big teams and plows, a group of Indians collected around to observe what was going on. The big chief, after witnessing the complete overturning of the heavy sod grass on which the buffalo had grazed and waxed fat for years, examined a slice of the furrow on both sides, dropped it back as the great plow had turned it, gave one huge grunt, and exclaimed, 'Wrong side up.'"

Far too much land all over this region has been broken out from its original grassy state; that fact is evident when the winds blow and waves of sand and dust roll before it.

When a combination of dry weather and high winds occur the loose top soil is bound to blow unless some sort of cover crop protects it. The writer noticed the other day, less than a dozen miles from town, an example of wind effect on a barren sandy plot and an adjoining field covered with maize stalks. The unprotected land had blown quite badly, sand filling the ruts in the road for a distance of several hundred yards. Immediately beyond this was the field of forage crops. Alongside it but little if any evidence of soil blowing could be discerned.

What to do about it?

Farmers have been advised to protect their land with cover crops. In most instances they have done the best they could in that respect. However, in the case of a tenant farmer, what interest or inducement is there for him to try to save the soil or keep down the dust storms? In many instances the owner is a non-resident; he insists on certain income from the farm or the tenant will be looking for another place.

Not all the government expenditures in the world will correct such a situation—unless the land is bought outright and turned back to grass. One of the best means of bringing about corrective measures would be for those tilling the land to also be owners of it. That condition, under the present economic program, can be but a dream, however. For, regardless of how much aid is given certain individuals, they will still have nothing. To reverse the picture it will be found that regardless of difficulties, certain individuals will accumulate something, will gain possession of a tract of land and be an asset, not a liability, to the rest of society.

Boiled down, it amounts to this: Prosperity cannot be legislated into an individual or a people. The question of industry, enterprise and frugality must be answered by each individual or at least each family group.

Fair legislation, reasonable taxation and honest governmental practices enable a larger number to be independent and self-supporting, but all the coddling in the world won't make a success out of a shiftless ne'er-do-well.

talk about amending the constitution, limiting the powers of the court and denying it the right to reverse an act of Congress.

Such proposals shocked the public, for every United States citizen who thinks back to his school days knows that our constitution was drawn with the idea of forever preventing any department of the government, any public official or any group of officials from gaining dictatorial powers, under stress of circumstances, that could limit or destroy the rights and liberties of the people as provided by the constitution, which might be said to be written in the blood of our forefathers.

Therefore, this nation was provided with a legislative, an executive and a judicial branch of government, and the United States supreme court stands as the final arbiter in all controversies affecting the people's rights. Its honesty and integrity have never been questioned. It is above politics and mob hysteria. Financial considerations do not affect its judges. It is a thing apart from the bickerings of different factions and it stands as sacred as the constitution itself. Without it there would be no constitution left and no stability of government. Is it any wonder that proposals to tamper with it or the constitution, in order to give more opportunity for hasty congressional action, struck the nation with a shock?

Next to the constitution, the daily and weekly press of the 48 states is liberty's greatest safeguard. Almost unanimously, it has stood behind the decisions of the United States supreme court and expressed itself as against any tampering with the constitution which would weaken its fundamental principles.

Our people can be thankful for three things as their greatest guarantees of liberty and continuity of orderly government: First, the constitution; second, the United States supreme court; and, third, an uncensored and free press. Neither one of the three could stand without the other two, and the people could never be sure of their liberty without the protection of all three.

STAR ROUTE CARRIERS

Designed to maintain a fair and reasonable compensation for services performed, Congressman Fred H. Hildebrandt of South Dakota, member of the Post Office and Post Roads committee, on Jan. 6, introduced in the house of representatives a bill to extend all star mail route contracts for one year that expire June 30, 1936. Under this bill, compensation on star routes will be fixed by the Inter-state Commerce commission. Service rendered, amount of mail transported, distance traveled, character of roads and pay allowed for other forms of mail delivery will be considered in determining remuneration for star route carriers.

Approximately 12,000 carriers now earn their livelihood in service to more than 25,000,000 living on star routes. It has been remarked that the star route is a relic of stage coach days. Methods of compensation appear to be determined on such a basis. The government has a way of saying what the last man received, with the inference clearly shown of "how much less will you do it for?"

Present star route men pay for maintenance and operation of their cars, hoping to have a small margin left above actual expenses. Under a cut-throat competitive bidding plan, through sheer necessity, men will cut the rate so low as to injure themselves and impair the service.

The movement to place star route carriers' pay on a sound basis is primarily the fight of their association. It is also a matter of moment to every patron on star routes and they should support efforts to pass legislation that will insure continuance of the service on a basis comparable to that of the rural free delivery—rural route—in pay and privileges.

The governor and newspaper men in Oklahoma got to eating crow on a bet and found they liked them. Shamrock went them one better when Editor Albert Cooper served crow to the fat stock show visitors Saturday. Albert scored when he served buzzard for desert.—Donley County Leader.

The long sought for project through the WPA for 14 blocks of street paving in Lefors was launched Wednesday. Engineers were on the ground making surveys on third street from the lumber yard to the railroad. This street is to be the first to receive its hard surfacing. Court street will be tackled next, leading south from the school to the city limits and, last, but not least, around the public square.—Lefors News.

Much talk is heard about reducing the size of the legislature, but citizens should keep in mind that the only way to do this is to elect to the legislature those who favor the proposal. The legislature must pass the proposed constitutional amendment by two-thirds majority in order that it be submitted to the people.—Canyon News.

H. M. Reeves of Gageby, died Feb. 24. He was born on March 4, 1868, near Nashville, Tenn. When a young man he came to Texas and settled in Wise county. Surviving him are six boys, by his first wife, Minnie McGowan, also four daughters, by his second wife, who was Mrs. Minnie Ervin. Four step-children, twenty-eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive.—Canadian Record.

Last Saturday morning forty men started the excavation work on Perryton's $16,000 swimming pool, a WPA project. The pool will be located on the central portion of the east line of the city park, in the south part of Perryton. Plans call for a pool proper 60x105 feet, with a depth ranging from 2 1/2 to 9 1/2 feet. Adjoining the main pool on the north will be a wading pool, size 15x60, from 12 to 16 inches in depth. This pool will be of the most modern construction.—Ochiltree County Herald.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the sheriff or any Constable of Wheeler County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon R. C. Wood by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Wheeler County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Wheeler, on the 2nd Monday in April A. D. 1936, the same being the 13th day of April A. D. 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of October A. D. 1935, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2624, wherein

Mrs. A. J. Beasley, C. E. Beasley and C. H. Beasley, are Plaintiffs, and R. C. Wood, is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiffs' cause of action, being as follows:

That on the 11th day of April, 1934, R. C. Wood, defendant, executed and delivered to E. Tillman his four promissory notes bearing date on such day and year, and thereby promised to pay him, or his order on or before April 1 of each year of 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938, the sum of $220.00, $200.00, $200.00, and $200.00, respectively, with 10 per cent per annum interest thereon from the 1st day of April, 1934, interest payable annually, 10 per cent on any unpaid interest or principal from maturity until paid, and 10 per cent attorney's fees upon principal and interest if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection or should suit be brought thereof, after maturity.

That on April 25, 1934, E. Tillman endorsed without recourse and transferred the said notes to Mrs. A. J. Beasley, C. E. Beasley and C. H. Beasley, plaintiffs being from April 25, 1934, to the present date legal owners and holders of said notes and on several occasions after the note, No. 1, was due and payable and the interest on notes Nos. 2, 3, and 4 was due and payable, made demand on defendant to pay and the defendant refusing to pay same.

Though repeated demands have been made by plaintiffs upon defendant to pay such note No. 1, and the interest on notes Nos. 2, 3 and 4 and attorney's fees, the defendant has failed and refused and still fails and refuses to pay same or any part thereof to plaintiffs damage in the sum of $1,076.96.

Said vendor's lien notes were given as part purchase price for the following real estate:

The East 1/2 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section No. 50, Block A-8, Certificate No. 14-3041, issued to the H. & G. N. R. R. Co.

Premises being considered plaintiffs pray that defendant be cited to appear herein, and that on final hearing plaintiffs have judgment against him for such sum of $1,076.96, interest and costs, for foreclosure of such vendor's lien and order of sale, and for such other and further relief to which they may be entitled either at law or in equity.

Herein Fail Not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Wheeler, Texas, on this 4th day of March A. D. 1936.

ROSES: CHOICE, CARE AND CULTURE

By VIOLA JONES, Home Demonstration Agent

One of the first essentials of growing beautiful roses is the location and preparation of the rose bed. Roses show up much better against a background of shrubs that haven't too much color, or that haven't colors that would clash with the roses themselves. Bridal wreath makes a good background. Since roses like for their roots to be shaded, they can be arranged so that the foliage affords necessary shade. At some seasons roses are not pretty as shrubs, so they should be placed where it will be easy to endure during their ugly season. Roses like full sunlight on their foliage, and should be placed where they are free from shade of trees or buildings at least for a great part of the day.

Roses demand good drainage on both the surface and underground. The soil must be loose and very rich. It should be well prepared in advance of planting by deep spading and replacing about one-third of the soil with dairy manure. When the soil is very tight, artificial underground drainage will have to be provided. This can be done by digging a pit two feet deep and putting rocks in the bottom which allows the water to drain off. Replace one-third of the soil with dairy manure and the bed is ready. Dairy manure is best for roses.

Since roses like sun on their foliage, but do not like it on their roots, they should be planted closely enough for the foliage to provide shade for the roots. That means the plants will never be more than 24 inches apart. They should be planted in beds as wide as one can work without inconvenience. When planting, rose roots like other plant roots, should never be exposed to the air. The roots must be kept moist and any broken or bruised roots and branches should be cut off with a sharp knife. Having thin mud in a bucket and dipping the rose roots into that and leaving them and removing one by one and planting will insure a better start for the rose.

When roses are put into the ground plenty of space should be allowed for spreading out the roots and the plants should be set deep enough that the budded joint is just covered. The plants should be pruned so that about three or four of the best canes are left and each of them cut back to about six inches in height.

The Radiance rose is the most thrifty and dependable grower, says the Extension Service of A. & M. college and since it can be had in red, pink and shell pink, it offers the best possibilities for the uncertain conditions in West Texas. Lady Hillingdon and Luxemburg are the best yellow roses and Antoine Rivoire and Kaiserin Auguste Viktoria are good white roses. Francis Scott Key perhaps ranks next to the Radiance as a red rose. The Etoile de Hollande and the E. G. Hill are almost as good as the Francis Scott Key. A real rose grower may have no trouble in growing many other varieties.

The condition of the plant is of much greater importance than its age and the fact that it is a budded plant. The number, size and vigor of the canes; the nearness of the source of the canes to the base of the plant, the open balanced shape of the bush, the amount and vigor of the root system are points that determine whether the plant is a good one. Plants of the best grade have at least five vigorous canes starting from near the base of the plant. There may be several canes branching out from these. This grade plant will have a root system of a similar number of main divisions and healthy unbroken fibrous roots. The second best plants will have three to four main canes and the third best will have only two canes at the base. You can examine the root and tell whether the plant is young or old.

Care of Roses

Rose roots grow very close to the top of the ground so any cultivation of them must be shallow. The soil must be kept loose to provide proper aeration of the soil and to keep out weed growth. The use of a mulch of fertilizer or leaves helps to do these two things without the possibility of disturbing the roots by too deep cultivation. An additional advantage of using mulch, especially if it is dairy manure, is that the plants are provided with the proper plant food, the rain or the waterings taking plant food down to the roots as needed.

To protect roses from disease and insect enemies is much easier than to rid them of those things, so a spraying schedule should be a regular part of the care of roses. Dusting sulphur combined with arsenate of lead in the proportion of nine to one will take care of biting insects. When sucking insects attack the plants it is time enough to spray with nicotine sulphate. The roses should be watched and any evidence of die-back, black spot or other disease should be pruned off and together with the leaves or stems that have dropped to the ground, should be removed from the beds and burned.

Cutting rose blooms is an important part of keeping the roses in the best condition. Roses should not be allowed to shatter on the bushes because the energy that the plant would use in forming seed pods should be turned into producing more blooms. If one desires to produce few large flowers, it is a good plan to pinch out some of the tiny buds before they show any streaks of color so that other buds on the same stem will be finer.

Roses should be pruned about the time the last freeze is over if there is anyway of determining that time. If they are pruned earlier, new growth may be forced out and plants will suffer, maybe fatally from cold. Since pruning is done for various reasons the amount and type will differ according to the nature of the plant and the effect desired. If one wants shrubby plants with a mass of flowers without regard to size of blooms, then the diseased wood and the oldest branches might be cut out and no further pruning done. If fewer blooms, large in size, and blooming over a longer period of time is the effect desired, then more thorough pruning is needed.

Of course, each bush is an individual and needs its own treatment but with the moderate growing roses like the Radiance there are generally about two operations. First thin out from the base of the plant any diseased or decayed wood or any that is old enough to be very woody. The commonest error made by amateurs is that of leaving too many shoots when thinning. Take out all the weak growth. Two or three strong canes are better than any number of smaller ones. Never allow a plant to carry more than six or seven branches from the crown. If properly thinned these canes that are left should be as nearly as possible equidistant from one another and should present a well balanced appearance from both sides. All weak canes or undesirable parts should be cut out as near the base of the plant as possible.

For the canes that are left, the vigorous ones should be cut back to four or five eyes which will leave about six to 10 inches of the cane. The weaker ones should have only two or three eyes left. In selecting canes to leave and in cutting back canes, arrange for an open type bush by leaving shoots that are not crowded to the center and by always cutting above an eye pointing in an outward direction. One should be careful to cut about one-fourth to one-half inch above an eye. A closer cut might injure the bud, while cutting farther away would leave an unsightly stub. Cutting should be done as smoothly as possible, and at an angle of about 45 degrees so the water does not collect and start decay. A bruised bud, a ragged cut, or a stub left is evidence of careless pruning. Few rose bushes were ever killed by too much pruning, but many plants are ordinary or even ugly because pruning is neglected. Quality of the bloom depends on the vigor of its stem, and the fine stem is one that is nearest the base of the plant.

CLUB NOTES

Happenings of Interest by and for Home Demonstration Club Women of the County.

Center 4-H club girls attended the county 4-H club meet at Wheeler Saturday.

There were 19 present from Center 4-H club. We played in the gymnasium at Wheeler. Our play was on "The First White Settlers in North Texas in 1843."

The judges were J. Edmund Kirby, pastor of the Methodist church; Taft Holloway, pastor of the Baptist church, and C. C. Merritt, pastor of the Church of Christ.

We have $8.70 for the purpose of sending a girl from the Center club to Short Course.—BERNEICE BURRELL, Reporter.

A week of pretty weather has encouraged the Cliff Sivage family, yard demonstrators for the Briscoe Home Demonstration club, to accomplish much in carrying out their yard plans. They have set out four cherries, two lilacs, three bear grass, three jasmine, one bridal wreath and three roses. In the cutting bed, they have 20 bridal wreaths, 50 grapes, 15 salt cedar and two honey locust. They have planted four walnuts and two hickory nut trees.

To make the yard in harmony with their plan, they have moved two cottonwoods, three willows and a walnut and reset them in other places. They have the holes dug and watered for the apple trees as soon as they arrive.

A new fence separates the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harris, yard demonstrators for the Bethel Home Demonstration club, from the field. Other work to carry out their yard plans that has been completed is the removal of two salt cedars from the front lawn, planting eight two-year-old rose bushes, setting a salt cedar hedge of about 150 plants for a wind-break and planting three cottonwood trees.

TEXAS, OF THESE I SING

—by—
 WALTER McCORD

You sing of beautiful Texas
 Her mountains and prairies and streams,
 Her cities, her farms and her orchards;
 The pride and the joy of her dreams.
 I sing now, not of her beauty,
 The bright gilded dress that she wears,
 But rather more of her people—
 Our neighbors, and friendships we share.

The clothes that one wears are not always the index to character of man, it's the heart that beateth beneath them

That really counts more what I am. One maybe, all clothed in fine linen, Bedecked and adorned and in style. Yet lack all the virtues that maketh A neighbor—a friend that's worthwhile.

When an out of state man comes to Texas

To see what we have over here,
 He's not so concerned with her beauty,
 Her grandeur, her splendor so fair;
 He'd like to know more of her people
 With whom he must mingle and live.
 Are they friendly, good neighbors and helpful?
 Are they fair, "and let live," "take and give?"

Are their churches, their clubs, or their lodges

A place with a welcoming hand,
 Or, rather a snobbish self-centered Vain group with their own little clan?

Do they reach out an arm that's uplifting,
 That raises the weak that may fall;
 And the old Golden Rule do they follow,
 And help those in need when they call?

I sing of my neighbors in Texas:
 They are legion and found everywhere;

In town, on the farm, in the city—
 Wherever I go they are there.

They are not the least bit artificial,
 But real—have been tried and found true.
 They always stand ready to give us
 A hand of encouragement, too.

Let us sing of our neighbors in Texas,
 Of our churches, our clubs and our schools,
 Of our farmers, our ranchmen and merchants,

Who follow that old Golden Rule.
 Let us try then to merit their friendship,
 Show the world we are proud of our state;
 Convince it that people, not beauty,
 Has made Texas famous and great.

TEXAS HISTORY TALK TELLS OF WHEELER COUNTY EVENTS

The school was honored in having Prof. L. F. Sheffy of Canyon deliver a talk on Texas history Monday afternoon. He told numerous stories of Texas, relating how many towns and rivers received their names. He gave interesting accounts of various places in Wheeler county.

Declamation Elimination

The elimination contest for declaimers was held at the school house Friday night, Feb. 28. Junior girls placed as follows: First, Wilda Dixon; second, Clifferene Savage, and third, Joyce Sorensen. Harold Sivage took first place in junior boys. Dottie Bell Cowan took first in senior girls.

Mr. Sheldon, who has spent eight years in the Philippine Islands, gave a very interesting talk on Filipino customs, schools, people, etc. He brought with him motion pictures as well as many other curious articles from the Islands.

Young Folks Attend Party

Saturday night, Feb. 29, Fay and Bernard Wilson entertained a few young people in their home with a "Kitchen Party." Many amusing games were played, and the guests entertained themselves by popping popcorn, making candy and popcorn balls.

Those attending were: Fay and Elmer Hammer, Maxine Fields, Hesper Young, Clyde and Geraldine Wadsworth, Valoise Evans, Grady Dodd, Ernest Wilhelm and Mary Margaret McCarroll.

Usual Chapel Held

Monday morning, March 2, the students and teachers met for the regular assembly. Miss Evonne Hubbard of Wheeler led the group in several songs, after which Mr. Evans led in prayer. Mr. Dyer then read several interesting statistics to the group.

4-H Club Notes

"Yard Improvement" was the subject on which Miss Jones gave a very interesting demonstration Tuesday, March 3, at the school building.

There is a saying that one can be judged by the way he keeps his yard and house. Miss Jones stressed the fact that the house should be painted, and also gave a solution for cleaning windows. When a house and yard are clean and attractive, it makes everyone happier.

Miss Jones showed the girls some lovely crocheted garments which can be made with a little practice. Two members were selected to give a team demonstration at Amarillo, March 16.

Those present were: Fay Hammer, Fay Wilson, Joy Bill and Betty Riley, Lorene, Laverne and Lavana Treadwell, Margie Vaughn, Ruth Morris, Lena Mae and Betty Glenn, Georgia Cain, Nellie B. Candler, Mrs. Vise and Miss Jones.

Wonder Why?

The giggling fever is contagious? Bernard Wilson went east Sunday? Lorene was so mad when she came to English, Wednesday? Could Hesper have had something to do with it?

Everyone was so sleepy Tuesday morning? Say, kids, what happened Monday night?

Winnie went to the show Monday night?

Daphne and Lois are so mischievous, especially in English and home ec? Tell us your secret, girls.

Joy Bill looks at Miss Coney with her mouth open?

Movie Chatter

By a Rogue

Law Beyond the Range

The many followers of Tim McCoy will be delighted to see their favorite in his latest western picture, Law Beyond the Range, which comes to the Rogue Friday and Saturday. This picture has the usual thrills incident to a good western picture. It is reminiscent of the days when the rod of iron represented the law of the range. Tim will entertain you with his many daring exploits. It is the kind of western you will thoroughly enjoy, and one that you will long remember. Then, too, Leon Errol will be there in a two reel comedy, Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, which will afford much amusement.

Claudette Colbert

The mere mention of Claudette Colbert's name is enough for those who select their picture with precaution. It will be remembered that this young lady won the medal for the best acting of the past year in her "It Happened One Night." Her newest picture, She Married Her Boss, which comes to the Rogue theatre Monday and Tuesday, was directed by the same man who directed her former success. It is, therefore, unnecessary to tell you that "She Married Her Boss" is a good picture because you have already heard from your neighbor or friend that it is one you cannot afford to miss.

Coming

Annie Oakley, the sharpshooting lass who made Buffalo Bill, jr.'s, Wild West show famous; The Littlest Rebel, Shirley Temple's newest picture; The Bohemian Girl, Laurel and Hardy's new full length feature; Three Live Ghosts, Hard Rock Harigan, The Goose and the Gander, Rose Marie, and many other fine pictures, coming soon to the Rogue.

Glee Club Presents Varied Program

McMurry Students Entertain With Quartets, Trios, Octets, Sextets, Solos

Presenting a varied and interesting program, the McMurry College Glee club appeared in Wheeler last Wednesday afternoon.

Mixed chorus, boys quartet, girls trio, boys octet, girls sextet and solo numbers with chorus accompaniment comprised the program; Mrs. Gypsy Tedd Sullivan Wiley, instructor of music, conducted.

The entire group figured in the first presentation, which was "Gypsy Life." Next a group of four boys sang "Talk About Jerusalem Morning" and an arrangement of "The Woodchuck."

The sextet were featured in two songs, "Billy Boy" and "Who's That Calling?" won the response of the audience.

The girls trio rendered "Hush Your Honey" and "Goblins Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out." The octet sang two selections, including a harmony number.

A solo arrangement of "Fairies at the Bottom of the Garden" was given. In the form of a grand finale, the "Italian Street Song" from Rigoletto was vocalized by the entire company.

Minute Interviews

Question: What do you like to read best in The Corral?

Principal C. B. Witt: "Oh, that Corral. I like to read the general announcements and the editorials."

Cecil Sherwood: "Oh, the gossip and the sports, I guess."

Dorothy Burgess: "Gossip. Oh, sometimes I like to read the Wampus Cat whenever it is put in the paper."

Irene Hunt: "Well, I always read the columns first, The Wampus Cat and Caught In the Lasso's Noose."

Mrs. J. L. Gilmore: "In The Corral? Well, I think I like to read the general news items of the school. I hardly know—it is all so interesting."

H. E. Young: "Oh, I don't know. Well, the Sport Slants and jokes!"

Miss Winona Adams: "I guess the features."

Wallace Pendleton: "Sport Slants will be O.K."

Ford Newkirk: "I don't think I have any special thing. I guess the sports. I always read them first."

Mazie Bean: "I just start in and read it all. I suppose I like the gossip best, because I always read it first."

Sponsor of McMurry Glee Club Smiles Broadly as She Confesses Knitting Hobby

Mrs. Gypsy Ted Sullivan Wylie smiled very broadly as she was asked how long she had taught voice in McMurry college. Her reply was that she taught there since the college was built, 14 years ago. She obtained her education at Clarendon college, Ward Belmont college of Nashville, Tenn., and at a Chicago conservatory.

Mrs. Wylie inherited part of her musical ability from her mother, who was a very accomplished musician. At the age of six she began her study of music. Her favorite type of music is the Italian opera.

Her favorite American composers are John Carpenter and Charles Griffes. Among the old masters she admires Schubert, best. She has never composed any music.

Mrs. Wylie said that several of her students had achieved fame in the musical world. To prove that she is just a common woman, she enjoys knitting so much that she makes it her hobby. Her favorite type of literature is plays.

Next to music, Mrs. Wylie enjoys reading most. She declares that she is not a good hand at catching fish, although she still likes to feed them. When asked if she could speak any foreign languages, her face was brightened with a broad smile as she replied, "Yes, I can speak three different languages, but please do not ask me to speak them now because I am out of practice and could make a mistake."

This is not her first visit to this part of the state. She declares that she likes the Panhandle and thinks that the people are very kind.

The violin is her favorite instrument, although she says that she likes several other instruments almost as well.

Mrs. Wylie, unlike many famous artists, is very friendly and there is nothing "high hat" about her. She enjoys the same things that other people enjoy. Musical ability and a wonderful personality make her well known and well loved.

Improvement Seen In Grade Honor Roll

Miss Winona Adams and Miss Lois Kirby are directing spellers. Those coming out so far are Parilee Clay, Orveta Puett, Wilma Riley and Naomi Johnson.

Several are preparing for debate, declamation and extemporaneous speaking. The debaters are Martha Jane Shipman, Aline Buchanan, Bonnie Adams, Wave Wallace, Cecil Sherwood, J. R. Burke and Billy Noah. Robert Mayne is in charge of the debate and extemporaneous speaking. Mrs. J. L. Gilmore is helping him with the declaimers.

Eliminations for declamation will be March 13, for extemporaneous speaking March 17, and for debate March 20.

W. H. S. FACULTY TO GO TO EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Wheeler will be well represented at the meeting to be held at Canyon Friday and Saturday as all of the teachers plan to attend. School will be dismissed this day.

Members of the faculty are going in cars.

Several distinguished people will be present at the meeting. The Perryton band will play Friday night.

Dr. L. A. Woods to Speak at Dedication

Each Home Economics Class to Have Part In Formal Opening of Cottage Sunday

With Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, as feature speaker of the dedication services of the home economics cottage, the program is expected to be of special worth and interest to those attending.

The opening song is to begin promptly at 2:30, Sunday afternoon, March 8, in the auditorium-gymnasium.

The third year homemakers are to serve luncheon to the visiting guests of honor. Home economic II students are to act as ushers, while the first year girls have charge of advertising.

A special section will be reserved for the visiting superintendents and home economic instructors. Pictures of the cottage and gymnasium, interior and exterior views have been taken.

The cottage will be open for inspection following the dedicatory service.

The program will be as follows:

GOOD, BETTER, BEST

A person who attended a program several years ago at the Wheeler high school, without again being present to observe the general uplift in conduct, would hardly believe his eyes and ears if he were optimistic enough to come back for a second dose.

Not so many years ago, when anyone came to the school to put on a program, he was, you might say, lucky to get away with his shirt. The difficulty of an innocent bystander who wanted to see or listen was even greater. He had to dodge everything from a paper wad to an unemployed shoe, at the same time trying to decide whether all the "boo-ing" was coming from the stage or the back of the auditorium.

It is not difficult to see the change, but don't you students get flattered. There's still room for improvement, as the conduct of a small minority at the musical program last week indicated. Let's strive to hang up such a record of behavior at public gatherings that even strangers will cite the W. H. S. student body as a model in deportment.

THE WAIFS

Two orphans are in Wheeler. In fact, they are on the school yard at the present moment. They have no names; so a description will have to suffice.

One poor fellow was very popular at the first of last semester, but it seemed that the students soon discarded him for the other waif. The first fellow is becoming noticed again as track takes the foreground. He does not run or throw the discus but is even more important to success or failure of the track entrants.

The other child has recently enjoyed a season of popularity. The basketball players were with him every afternoon and at night too.

A sad tale to relate is that neither the football stadium nor the gymnasium has a name. Why not christen these orphans and make them feel more at home during their remaining school years?

Friendship is the sweetest flower,
 For it has the strongest power
 That binds the chain hour after hour.

IN REVIEW

LUCILE

Owen Meredith

"Lucile," a novel written by Owen Meredith, deals with English and French life. It is in the form of a poem and is very entertaining to the reader, as the author has a wonderful art of description.

Lord Alfred was in love with Lucile De Nevers when in his youth; however, she refused to marry him. At their parting he promised to return to her if she ever so desired. He later became engaged to Matilda Darcy, a very beautiful girl. Lucile requested that he come to see her, and he again proposed, but she did not accept. She was deeply in love with him, but he was not free. She also refused the Duke, who was greatly infatuated at the time. After Matilda and Lord Alfred were married, they went to a health resort and Lucile and the Duke were there, too. Alfred almost left his wife because he was so in love with Lucile. However, he was awakened to his sense of duty and became aware that he loved her. After this episode he almost worshiped her. Lucile gave up all of her old ways and became a nun, after again refusing the Duke. While acting as a nun in the army camp, she saved the life of the son of Alfred and Matilda and aided him to marry the girl he loved.

The Poet's Corner

Boys

I think that I shall never see
 A boy as lovely as a tree.
 A boy whose hungry mouth does quest
 In search of savory chicken's breast.
 A boy who looks around all day,
 Then lifts his brawny arms to pray.
 A boy that will in summer wear
 No hat or cap upon his hair.
 Upon his desk he whittles much.
 His plans for the future are such and such.

Poems are made by fools like me;
 But my model boy is yet to be.

A Football Game

The team was fighting furiously;
 The score was in a tie.
 The players each were fighting mad;
 The crowd yelled, "Win or die!"

The ball was on the ten-yard line.
 Each man was there to try.
 The halfback made a long end-run,
 And won for Wheeler High.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

Members of the Sandstorm football team, state champions for 1935, received individual awards and letters in assembly last Tuesday morning.

The journalism class of Canyon high school has been working on an interview project on the early history of the town and county.

Panhandle, McLean and Mobeetie won in the tourney held at Miami. Oh, yes, it was a girls' tournament.

The junior class of McLean sponsored an amateur program at the high school auditorium last Thursday evening. It proved successful.

New report cards for the Spring Lake high school. O, boy! Don't you know they wouldn't care if there weren't any?

Miss Evelyn Blair, whose home is in Denton, Texas, arrived here last week to take the position left vacant by Miss Bita May Hall.—The Broncho Range.

A silver Centennial tea will be held at the high school in Floydada.

Dr. Walter Williams, former president*of the University of Missouri, was known as the only college president who never graduated from college.

A purse placed on the floor of one of the corridors in Butler University was returned more than 200 times in one day.

(My, what honest students or was it the same person each time?)

CHORUS TO SING AT COTTAGE DEDICATION

Though practicing every Monday and Wednesday mornings from 8:30 until 9 o'clock, the girls' chorus had a special meeting Wednesday for more practice on the songs they will sing at the dedication of the home ec. cottage to be held in the gymnasium-auditorium March 8.

Those who will participate in the singing are: Bonnie Adams, Lula and Ruth Barr, Aline Buchanan, Dorothy Lee Burke, Laverne Cox, Lillie Mae Crofford, Cosette Crofford, Ruth Faust, Ferrol Ficke, Ruth Faye Garrison, Imogene Jamison, Naomi Johnson, Helena Jones, Viola Lamb, Caroline McBee, Beatrice Miller, Mary Etta Patterson, Orveta Puett, Martha Jane Shipman, Johnnie Faye Templeton, Dorothy Tolliver, Dawn Weatherly, Martha Alice Wiley, Elva Willard, Nerine Young and Louise Veale.

Caught in The Lasso's Noose

We went down to the gym that day
 To hear some music nice;
 But the only song we sang
 Was "Three Blind Mice."

Mr. Mayne: "If you think about anything long enough you can accomplish that. If you girls think about a boy long enough you can finally win him."

Imogene: "Really!"

Mr. Mayne: "Yes."

Imogene: "Well, I am sure going to think about Dippy."

Is it true that some of the English IV students are going to enter their poems in a contest of some sort? Wheeler is going have some poets in her school after all, it seems.

The students who saw the comedy at the show the other night on how to sleep said they were unable to do so after seeing it.

I heard that Estelle was in Shamrock Saturday night. Wonder if she was escorted by a dark-haired bus driver?

Miss Addison (giving subjects for the English IV students to write poetry): "In the Kitchen.' That's a place where you like to go about four o'clock, isn't it?"

Junior: "I don't know whether I do or not. I never did get in that late."

Did anyone realize that Monday was Independence Day for Texas?

The journalism students surely do have to work. Now they have to count every word that they write in their stories. Poor journalists. Won't some one please take pity on them and count the words for them as they talk? That is, the ones who give them any information.

Ray Norman: "We will finish this book, will we not?"

Miss Kirby: "No, school will be out when we finish this book."

Ray: "Then let's take the rest of this book for tomorrow."

Whose ring is Cecil Sherwood wearing? Some say it is Estelle's. Can you solve the question, Estelle?

Wave Wallace is getting to be a basketball player. Have you noticed the little basketball and sweater she is wearing?

Twinkle, twinkle little brain.
 Won't you please come back again?
 I only used you once before,
 Ain't you up there anymore?

STUDENTS ENTER LITERARY CONTEST

Scholastic Magazine to Give Cash Awards for Best Papers in Literary Events

Several students are planning to enter the national literary awards contest sponsored by the Scholastic magazine. To be eligible one must be an undergraduate student in the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh or twelfth grade in any public or private school. Also students graduated in January or February of 1936 may compete in the contests if their entries are completed before graduation.

The entries may be sent in any time during the school year until March 15, 1936, which is the closing date, but must be sent in on time to reach the hands of the judges not later than that date.

All awards are made on the basis of sincerity, originality, technical accomplishment, sensitivity, vitality and other virtues.

Contests to be entered by the journalism and English students are as follows: poetry, essay, book review, current events and contests sponsored by the Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists to be entered are: news story, feature story, interview, sports story and editorial and columns.

Three prizes of $50, $25, $15, and ten prizes of $5 each will be awarded for the best essays, and awards of $15, $10 and $5 will be given for the other entries. In contests sponsored by Quill and Scroll, a Royal Junior typewriter will be offered for first prize, and awards of $10 and $5 will be given for second and third. Also 48 state certificates will be given for honorable mention.

SAGE BLOOMS

SPOT

Leading a dog's life probably isn't so bad for Spot, the honest dog, as it once was. Nor is being the proud owner of an intelligent canine as unpleasant as John James Jinkins once thought it to be.

Spot had a very natural taste for eggs but Jinkins liked eggs, too. As eggs kept disappearing from the hen house, it stood to reason that one of them had to leave, and it wasn't going to be Jinkins. So Spot was carried 65 miles from home and dropped.

Merely dropping Spot didn't seem to disturb him much; so the angry owner drove him away with stones.

Billfolds have a very uncorporate way of slipping out of pockets without being noticed. That's what happened to Jinkins for throwing rocks.

Jinkins went home, missed his pocketbook, and wondered what had become of it.

Next morning he heard a noise at the door that sounded like Spot. He opened the door, it looked like Spot, and sure enough it was Spot—with the billfold.

Yes, siree, it is a very honest dog that will walk 65 miles to return a billfold.

Mrs. McCrohan Has Tonsil Operation

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, teacher of history in the grades, had her tonsils removed last Thursday at the Wheeler hospital. Mrs. Johnny Reed taught in her place Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday.

Melody Fills the Air As Seniors Attempt Harmonious Rhymes

There is rhythm in the air and melody in the mind when Miss Addison gets in the mood to stir up enthusiasm among the English IV students to write poetry.

I don't know why it is, but it's got to be done, and that is learn the things that go to make up poetry, just as you have to learn what to put in bread.

Some of the students say that Miss Addison does not know just what she is doing, but if she doesn't she is not the only one, for she received her inspirations from a red-backed book that wasn't accidentally invented. Can you feature that the American language would be disgraced by having in it such words as iambic, anapestic and pentameter?

Many of the students show great talent in the writing of poetry. It has been predicted that very soon Wordsworth will be forgotten and that the younger generation will be studying about the great, child-loving Sherwood or Jamison.

Every poem attempted by the English students was very trying on nerves, but the first ballad written was when the students had rather sit on a tack than to sit still.

Some lines of those ballads had to be four feet long, but to the surprise of all, inches were not used in making measurements.

Another poetical effort had to be about a student's best friend, and for three days the students' best friends weren't their best friends and smiling faces were changed to frowning ones as the students read their descriptions in poetical words. Of course the students are not responsible for what they say in writing poetry, just so the last words rhyme.

If you or anyone else intends to take English IV, please heed my advice. Learn all of the big words that you can think of and then consult Webster. Train and feed yourself well and by the time you get to the poetical part of English IV next year, you will be prepared physically and poetically to start working out to be a poet when the time comes. . .

Home Ec. Cottage Gets 40 Lockers

At last lockers have been put in the sewing department of the home economics cottage. In the center of the wall there is a show case in which the winning dresses in the contest will be placed for exhibit. Twenty steel lockers are on each side, making a total of 40.

COTTAGE YARD IS BROKEN

Work was started on the home ec. cottage yard last Thursday. It is being plowed and leveled by Ed Jones.

According to Mrs. Gordon Whitener, evergreen trees, Bermuda grass and shrubs will be set out as soon as possible.

"We will try to have some of the yard completed before Sunday, states Mrs. Whitener.

COLTS

Coach Bob Clark has charge of the track and field events of the grade school. There will be two divisions—one of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades; the other, in the lower grades. Those who wish to try out will start Monday. Before anyone may participate, he must be passing five out of seven subjects and have a B average in department.

Dorothy Fay Downs, a member of the fifth grade, has withdrawn. Thomas Downs withdrew from the fourth grade last week. Two students have withdrawn from the second grade. They are Lithemay Parker and Glenn Downs.

Under the instructions of Mrs. Roscoe Morgan, the pupils trying out for picture memory are studying the names of the pictures. Hiram Whitener, Wilma Derryberry, Emily Lou Ahler, Anita Hale, Waymond Herd, Paul Johnston, Odous Hooker and Frances Compary will be in the contest.

Floyd Latham from Twitty has enrolled in the second grade.

Mrs. Lloyd Davidson and Mrs. John Hood have charge of story telling in the second and third grades. The eliminations will be March 15.

Monday evening members of the first grade sent invitations in the shape of the state of Texas to their parents to attend the Parent-Teacher association meet Tuesday afternoon. The second and third grades made invitations in the shape of bluebirds.

Gayle Wilson won in essay writing. Miss Bernie Addison judged them. Only two entered the contest. The other one was Norma Webb.

The second and the third grades are studying life in Holland. The third grade has made spelling tablets in the shape of a wooden shoe.

Roscoe Morgan is sponsoring the arithmetic division. Only seventh grade pupils are eligible. Those entering are Norma Webb, Stella Cooper, Theodore Cooper, Gayle Wilson, Elizabeth Balch, Tris Hooker and Lowell Farmer.

Students in the grammar grades who wish to try for declamation are practicing every afternoon with Miss Rose Bowden.

The fourth grade has finished the unit on the United States in geography. Next they will study the countries that belong to the United States. The third grade geography class is studying transportation.

The first grade B members have received new readers recently. New books have been issued to the second grade pupils, also.

RAMBLINGS ON THE RANGE

Lavell Jaco visited in Pampa and Lefors Sunday afternoon.

Jaunell Perryman, Beatrice Miller and Nerine Young were in Shamrock Saturday night.

Willie Denson of Amarillo visited Parilee Clay, Sunday afternoon.

Opal Morris visited her aunt in Allison Saturday night.

Mary Genthe was in Briscoe Sunday.

Orveta Puett and Ruth Faye Garrison visited Annie Mae Puett in Lubbock Sunday.

Wave Wallace went to Mobeetie Friday afternoon.

Dorothy Burgess attended a play in Twitty Friday night.

Gladys Warren was absent from school last week on account of illness. She returned Monday morning.

Helen Sanders motored to Erick, Okla., Saturday.

Adell and Alvern Hampton were in Pleasant Hill, Sunday.

Miss Vallie Harrell from Canyon visited with Miss Lois Kirby, Monday.

Ferrall Wallace spent Thursday in Pampa last week.

ALL SIGNS POINT TO ARRIVAL OF SPRING

Spring is came! Spring is came! Spring is sprung! Spring is in the air! The birds are out in pretty feathers and are once again flying about from tree to tree, limb to limb and so forth and so on, as gay and happy as ever.

The girls seem to be in a race to see who can wear white shoes first. It doesn't make any difference, race or no race, several girls have already blossomed out in spring clothes.

The boys, old and young, big and little, have started wearing out the knees of their trousers by playing marbles.

Oh, yes, last but not least by a long shot, the sand storms have sprung up and started blowing full force in order to keep up the usual spring weather.

The spring football training has begun also in order to have some huskies for the fall season.

New Signs Are Painted on Fence

Two more signs are being painted on the football fence and the one for the City Drug store is being repainted. The advertisements are for Mac's Service station and Ernest Lee Hardware. A few more signs are expected to be painted.

Faculty to Attend Educational Meet

Because of the educational meet to be held at Canyon, March 6 and 7, school will be dismissed Friday.

Ford (coughing in plane geometry class): "This morning when I woke up I had coughed both legs out of joint and my spine was all curled up."

TURN OVER A NEW LEAF

If the pages of your life have become ragged and torn, just turn over a new leaf. Your problem may be solved on the next page. When you read a page over several times, you are ready to turn over the page and read another.

If you wish to turn over a new leaf and revise the report card, just get in a few hours of studying when you are not being watched and revive the old thinking power.

In the early winter, when the stinging frosts come, the trees shed their old yellow and brown leaves. For many days the new leaves do not appear and the winds and cold weather wail in laughter at the ugliness of the tree. But soon those who laugh and scorn are gone and the beautiful green leaves emerge to enjoy the warm sunshine, and to make resting places for the singing birds.

A student may be at the head of his class and some one laughs at him for making good grades. Then the name does not appear for some time on the honor roll. Soon those who laugh and scoff are expelled or they quit school and the student then emerges to show the world his beauty and his knowledge. Some students do not get over being scoffed at and that kind is here because they are here, just as a dead tree.

Turn over a new leaf. Don't let your pages decay for lack of care.

SENIOR BOYS HAVE RECORD CAGE YEAR

Mustangs Capture 32 of 40 Games, 7 Lettermen to Return Next Season

Ending the basketball season with 40 games, the Wheeler Mustangs were very successful, losing only eight games and winning 32.

The boys lettering in basketball this year are O. D. Connor, Lewis Cain, Ocie Pace, Alvis Jolley, W. J. Ford, A string; and Junior Jamison, Amos Page, Ray Norman, H. E. Young, Alton Weeks and Bob Tillman, B string. Cain and Connor made the highest scores.

There will be seven out of the 11 lettermen back on the team next year. Lewis Cain, O. D. Connor, Ocie Pace and Junior Jamison are the four lost to the team next year.

The teams that they played and the scores are as follows:

HOME EC. III GIRLS GIVE ENTERTAINMENT FRIDAY

The home economics III girls entertained a few friends with a party at the home economics cottage last Friday night.

Several enjoyable table games were played throughout the evening. Refreshments consisting of peaches, whip cream, hot cocoa and cookies were served.

Those present were: Dorothy Tolliver, Carlisle Robison, Bonnie Adams, Dawn Weatherly, Ferrol Ficke, Elva Willard, Farrell Wallace, W. J. Ford, Lewis Cain, Ocie Pace, Cosette Croford, Arthur Burke, Lilla Mae Croford, Ruth Faye Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whitener.

Trophy Case Has Permanent Place

Wheeler high acquired a trophy case a week or two ago and it has a great many trophies in it now. The case has a permanent place in the office. It is located in the southeast corner.

Tinney's Left Hand Wins Fame for Her as Forward in '36

Meet Julia Lou Tinney, co-captain of the 1936 senior basketball team. The choice of Julia Lou as co-captain has been that she is one of the best forwards ever developed at Wheeler. The work she did this year on the team well deserves the honor accorded by her teammates.

Julia Lou never played basketball before she came to Wheeler high school two years ago. She played two years for Wheeler and intends to play next year if she does not move away.

The classification of Tinney is a junior. She is five feet, seven inches in height and she weighs from 149 to 154 pounds. The way she makes the baskets shows that she can use that left hand of hers.

The two coaches, Roscoe Morgan and Miss Winona Adams, staying in training, the new gymnasium and the practice all make up the success of this girl, she says. Her way of playing is fast and quick passing and her left handed throws are good.

Not all of Julia Lou's achievements have been in basketball training only, because she plays tennis, baseball and volleyball.

TEACHERS DEFEATED BY MOBEETIE CAGERS

Several of the teachers played basketball at Mobeetie Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Although the team played furiously throughout the game, they were defeated by 10 points, the score being 31 to 21.

Miss Winona Adams and Miss Ruth Ewing were the only teachers playing. Others were: Mrs. Robert Mayne, Mrs. Ida Farmer, Miss Madge Richerson, Mrs. Frank Buchanan, Mrs. Irene Wofford, Miss Florence Merriman, Miss Clara Finsterwald and Miss Jaunita Stone.

P.-T. A. TO OBSERVE SUMMER ROUND-UP

Mrs. J. M. Porter, Mrs. Clarence Robison and Mrs. G. O. McCrohan were appointed on the nominating committee for next year's officers at the Parent-Teachers association meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

The group voted to observe Summer Round-up some time in May. At this time doctors of the town will examine, free of charge, children who are to enter school next year. Mrs. Levi Reid was named as chairman of the committee to oversee the lunch room activities.

The Rev. J. E. Kirby discussed character development under the topic, "It is Up to Us," and Robert Mayne talked on "Service Clubs and the Parent-Teachers Association."

Entertaining features of the program included a tap dance by Margie Mae Mullins and two readings, "Spitting," and "Nathan's Flat" by Mrs. Melvin Howe.

Christian, Baptist Church Teams Win

Seniors Clear $13.50 By Sponsoring Basketball Games Thursday

With the aroma of popping corn and the yells from excited spectators adding to the atmosphere, the seniors were the sponsors to six games between the churches Thursday night at the gymnasium.

The class took in $16 and cleared $13.50. The money will be used on a trip to Carlsbad next spring.

The Christian women were winners over the Methodist women and due to the lack of a Baptist women's team they were scheduled to play the winner of the high school girls' game.

The Christian church high school girls players were divided between the Methodist and Baptist teams. The Baptist girls' team defeated the Methodists and then defeated the Christian women's team by seven points.

The Methodist men played the Christian team. The Methodists were then beaten by the Baptists.

The Baptist high school boys' team defeated the Methodist boys' by three points.

Morgan Tells Value of Manual Training

Coach Roscoe Morgan discussed the value of manual training at the regular faculty meeting held in the music room Monday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

Among the advantages to be derived from this course, Mr. Morgan named development of handy man ability, appreciation of workmanship, ability to help select house furniture and ability for creative designs.

He also pointed out that manual training keeps boys in school who would not attend for academic studies alone and that it awakens a vocational interest.

Supt. J. L. Gilmore appointed Miss Frances Alice Clark, Miss Rose Bowden, Mrs. Allen I. Smith, Mrs. John Hood and Miss Lois Kirby to serve on the program committee for the second semester.

Miss Winona Adams, Mrs. Roscoe Morgan and Mrs. Gordon Phillips arranged the programs during the first semester.

POOR MR. WITT WRITES 3 SOLID HOURS ON A TEST

Well, well, well. I'll bet there are several juniors and seniors who would certainly have enjoyed seeing Mr. Witt take that examination last Friday night.

Maybe the Texas history students would be able to appreciate the fact that a teacher has to sit through a lecture once in a while, too.

Mr. Witt said he wrote three solid hours. These probably aren't any history students in high school who know enough to write that long.

For the last 18 weeks Mr. Witt has been attending a lecture course held by L. F. Sheffy of Canyon. He will be credited three hours on a Master's degree.

SPORTSLANTS

By a Cowgirl

Basketball season is over in spite of anything the players have tried to do about it; so general attention is now turned to other things, such as tennis and track events.

These tennis fans certainly have been burning up the court. (Walking around striking out). With a good deal of practice there should be some fair teams, both boys and girls, this year for track meet.

Speaking of track meet; it is going to be held in Wheeler this year. The school would certainly appreciate your financial and moral support along about the last of this month.

The inter-church basketball games seem to be arousing general public interest. So far, the Baptist girls' and women's teams have been champions over the other churches.

When it comes to running hurdles our boys would probably be better at tennis. Coach Clark says all the boys can do is fall through them, which isn't exactly good for either the boys or the hurdles.

Wheeler should have a fair relay team this year. According to all reports, they are practicing for something like that.

PASSONS TO ENTER BILLY IN AMARILLO CALF SHOW

James Passons will enter his Hereford calf, Billy, in the Amarillo Fat Stock show which begins Monday, March 9. This calf won ninth place in the junior division at the stock show in Shamrock.

It will be remembered that James won grand champion on an Aberdeen Angus calf at the Wheeler show and reserve grand champion at the Shamrock show. He will exhibit the Angus at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show March 13 to 22.

gomery, Patsy Beal, Janelle Crowder, Vera Mae Derryberry, Dorothy Elliott, Wanda Sewell, Alfred Hale, Joe Page and Orvil Sims.

The only one to get on the honor roll in the sixth grade was Adrain Risner.

Those making straight A's in the seventh are: Stella Cooper, Norma Webb and Gayle Wilson. A's and B's are: Elizabeth Balch, Marceil Farmer, Joyce Faust, Louise Genthe, Melba Hyatt, Presley Guynes, Maryian Lewis, Syble Todd and Claudia Stinson.

Outstanding Achievements Distinguish Gov. James V. Allred's Administration

At the halfway mark of his first term of office, it is interesting to note the accomplishments of Governor James V. Allred's administration.

In the words of one well known capitol newspaperman, "Allred's administration has registered some of the most important and far-reaching permanent achievements in state government within two decades."

The defeat of a general sales tax has been one of the major accomplishments of the governor's first term of office in compliance with his campaign statements. With one of the most powerful sales tax lobbies in the history of the state gathered at Austin during the regular and special sessions, the battle to defeat "the tax on poverty" was a strenuous one. If Allred had not been strong enough to defeat a sales tax, Texans would probably now be cramming their pockets with milk bottle stoppers similar to Missouri's sales tax tokens and trying to get out from under a horde of sales tax collectors.

Some of the more important achievements during Governor Allred's first year in office are:

Liquor Regulations and Control: In two months time, the liquor revenues have enriched the state by more than a million dollars. Under the liquor law, three-fourths of the revenue from liquor permits and stamps goes to the old age assistance fund and one-fourth to the state school fund.

Old Age Pension Law: The obligation of the state to care for its aged who are destitute and in need was squarely met during the first year of the governor's administration with the passage of the Old Age Assistance law.

Texas Securities Act: Passed without a dissenting vote to supplant the old ineffective Blue Sky law. The securities act has "teeth in it," and is designed to protect Texas investors from sellers of worthless securities, and to prevent outright fraud. Millions of dollars have been invested in past years by Texans in fraudulent stocks, bonds, and other securities. No longer is it possible for smooth-talking swindlers to reap a rich harvest through the sale of spurious oil and gas leases and to evade detection.

Merit System Inauguration: When the 44th legislature appropriated the last of $20,000,000 in "bread bonds" for relief, voted by the people of Texas prior to his inauguration, Governor Allred sought a more economical and intelligent approach to the problem of unemployment. The State Employment service was created through which qualified unemployed workmen might find jobs. During the first three months of the operation of the system of public employment offices, the State Employment service placed 22,698 men and women in jobs throughout 33 counties.

State Planning Board: The purpose of this board, advocated by Governor Allred, is to go hand-in-hand with state government in consistent economic development of Texas. The board, in doing its part to put men back at work, has felt that the greatest opportunity to create jobs that would have some degree of security lay in the increased development of industries. With the natural resources, the people and the climate of Texas, the board has attempted to create five types of industry: (1) the manufacture of paper from the pines of East Texas, (2) the packing of meat in the various livestock raising sections, (3) the production of leather from hides, (4) the manufacture of woolen goods in the wool producing areas, and (5) the further development of Texas stone for structural and monumental purposes.

The Texas Planning board and the State Parks board have brought to Texas already about $100 for every $1 spent by the state on them and for their operations. The Planning board has secured definite action upon a state wide mineral resources survey under WPA auspices. The main expense has been the few months salary of a Washington representative, who has secured the allocation of federal funds for the state.

Drivers License Law: In an effort to reduce the alarming traffic fatalities upon the highways and in cities, Governor Allred submitted the drivers license measure to the second called session. The law went into effect in February.

Abolition of Fee System: Under the new law, salaries of all county officers and their employees, except of the peace and constables, were changed from the old fee basis to a salary.

Industrial Labor Commission: Governor Allred revived this commission, extinct since the early twenties in order that the difficulties involved in labor strikes might be arbitrated in satisfactory manner.

Labor Laws: In order to insure safer working conditions for labor, particularly in the oil fields, laws were passed with "teeth in them" and under the direction of the State Labor Department have been enforced.

Rural School Aid: The largest rural school aid appropriation in the history of Texas—$10,000,000—was obtained under Governor Allred.

Livestock Sanitary Commission Work: Through the efforts of the governor, additional funds were secured to further the work of tick eradication.

Woman Suffrage Recognition: With the appointment of Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas, woman suffrage in Texas was given its most outstanding recognition in recent years. Already, this woman judge has tried more cases in her court than any other judge of that district.

Public Safety Department: Since the creation of this department which was strongly advocated by the governor, crime in Texas has declined sharply with the fewest number of bank robberies in recent history.

Chain Store Tax Law: A graduated chain store tax hailed by independent merchants as a great victory for the small man over big business.

That these achievements have been important ones, may be realized in the selection of Governor James V. Allred as one of the twelve outstanding young men in America for 1935.

WPA Workers Prove Efficient at Labor

Many Authorities Commend Industry of Men Employed on Relief Work Projects

With projects throughout the twenty Texas WPA districts operating at top speed, employing the maximum number of persons, and with many of the projects nearing completion, State Works Progress administrator H. P. Drought today expressed complete satisfaction with the performance of workers in Texas.

"Representatives of those local agencies which are contributing approximately $8,000,000 toward operating our projects are generous in their praise of the work," declared Drought. "When the sponsors, who are helping to foot the bill, compliment our efforts, I know that the proper sort of work is being accomplished."

Illustrating this angle of Works Progress experience, the state administrator called attention to the following quotations from letters in his files:

From A. L. Landry, mayor of McAllen: "I am frank in stating that I believe WPA labor will average 98 per cent efficient with workmen in private industry. I am speaking only for the men we have on our project."

From Hartford Jenkins, Bastrop county judge: "I do not believe that this work could have been done better, had it been done by contract."

From T. S. Mitchell, commissioner of utilities, Greenville: "The fine spirit of the men is an outstanding thing, a direct contrast to the spirit shown by men working under (other) plans."

From Martin W. Callihan, Caldwell county judge: "It might interest you to know that these relief men have worked on this project just the same as you would expect on any private work of this character. I believe the unit cost reports will bear me out in stating that the job compares favorably in efficiency and cost with ordinary contract work."

From M. L. Blacklock, mayor of Round Rock: "We have kept accurate unit cost records on this work (city street project) and find that these men from the relief rolls are turning out more work than we estimated that they could do."

From C. E. Koen, superintendent of building and grounds at the Edinburg schools: "WPA labor is at present better in general than any relief labor that I have observed in the past three years."

Drought commented: "From all over the state have come letters such as these indicating that persons taken from relief rolls by WPA are anxious and willing to work and that they take pride in the tasks assigned them."

LISTEN HERE, MR. CHRISTIAN!

C. C. MERRITT, Pastor, Church of Christ

SO LONG as God's people are sojourning here in this world and, so long as commercial dealings must be measured by and expressed in terms of money, just that long must some of the work of building the kingdom of God among men be measured by and expressed in terms of money.

But where is that money to come from? Who is the owner and the giver of it?

Did you ever hear of the "House that David Built?" Well, it is not like the "House that Jack Built." This was a real and truly wonderful building. I think you will find the story of David's part in that house (for he only gathered the material) in I Chronicles. His son, Solomon, finished the work. The valuation of that house was five billion, 936 million, 750 thousand dollars! All the people of David's kingdom had a part in this for they gave of their substance until the amount needed was in hand.

King David had a "thanksgiving meeting." Whom did David thank? Listen to this:

Wherefore David blessed Jehovah before all the assembly; and David said, Blessed be thou, O Jehovah, the God of Israel our father, for ever and ever. Thine, O Jehovah, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Jehovah, and thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honor come of thee, and thou rulest over all; and in thy hand is power and might; and in thy hand is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name.

But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee. For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as all our fathers were: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is no abiding. O Jehovah our God, all this store that we have prepared to build thee a house for thy holy name cometh of thy hand, and is all thine own." (I Chron. 29:10-16).

David knew the word of God when He said, "The silver is mine and the gold is mine, saith Jehovah of hosts."

The joyous thanksgiving David offered unto God for the things his people gave was because they had "offered so willingly." No wonder "God loves a cheerful giver." Joyous thanksgiving like that is a "tribute to any nation."

Until God's people now also recognize the Source and Giver of all things it is not likely that they can give willingly. If they do not give "from the heart," all the drives and drumming for their gifts will be meager and of brief duration.

A speaker in a religious convention once said, "The three things the church needs most is: first, money; second, Money; third, MONEY." There are, instead, several things that must come before money, both in time and value. A spirit-filled Christian will have no difficulty giving in a way that pleases God and that will reach even unto the needs of God's kingdom.

How much easier does it seem to the builders to go about getting money for God's work in another way than in God's way. And because it will not be done in His way, the builders plunge headlong into the thorny hedge of borrowing, taxing, "inflation"! After such actions, it will be hard for the giving to be unselfish, wholeheartedly and joyous.

All necessary means in building God's kingdom are available where glad hearts have joyously given themselves unto the God of love, who "is not willing that any should perish." What a price He paid for us and will we hold back niggardly?

50 Calves Expected at Groom Fat Stock Show to Be Held March 6-7

GROOM, Texas, March 5.—Intent upon making the Groom Fat Stock Show, March 6 and 7, the best ever held here directors of the show have voted to double last year's premium list.

During the two days Groom businessmen will be hosts to hundreds of visitors. A free barbecue will be served at noon on the first day of the show as one of the many attractions of the two days continuous entertainment.

M. P. Leaming, Carson county agent, is superintendent of the show. He reported that there will be nearly 50 calves in the baby beef class this year. There were 36 calves entered here last year.

The show is open to all 4-H club boys and Vocational Agriculture students in Texas. There will be $131.00 in cash premiums for the calves.

The following premiums are being offered for the 1936 show.

Heavy Class—1st, $8.00; 2nd, $7.00; 3rd, $6.00; 4th, $5.00; 5th, $4.00; 6th, $3.00; 7th, $2.00; 8th, $1.00; 9th, $1.00; 10th, $1.00.

Light Class—1st, $8.00; 2nd, $7.00; 3rd, $6.00; 4th, $5.00; 5th, $4.00; 6th, $3.00; 7th, $2.00; 8th, $1.00; 9th, $1.00; 10th, $1.00.

Group of Five—1st, $10.00; 2nd, $8.00; 3rd, $6.00; 4th, $4.00; 5th, $2.00.

Grand Champion—$8.00. The Hereford Breeders association has agreed to add 25 per cent to the above premiums on all prizes totaling $4.00 and over with the exception of the group of five class.

Entries have already been received from Carson, Gray, Armstrong and Wheeler counties, according to P. B. Farley, secretary of the show.

Other officials of the Groom Fat Stock show are J. W. Knorrp, president; Cecil Culver, vice president. Directors are T. G. Fields, P. L. Johnson, Mike Britten and J. E. Whatley of Groom. Out-of-county directors include Landon Doak, Claude; Homer Wilson, McLean; H. H. Reeves, Shamrock; Jake Hess, McLean; John W. Ewen, Estelline; R. W. Thompson, Miami; R. T. Alexander, Canadian, and Cap Kelly, Lipscomb.

When Day Is Done

Most anyone would hurry home To such a little tot! So joyously alive, sparkling eyes so bright!

Waiting like as not— Until he sees you come!

Most anyone would be content, Would feel a happy twang; To see against the firelight, A face pressed to a pane— Eagerly watching you!

Most anyone forgives such sins As soiled rugs or this: Tornup rooms, a broken bowl or shattered china vase!

There on tiptoe for a kiss— One never can remember! —MARIE WATERS.
