Watergate Payment 'White House Project'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Money was raised for the Watergate defendants last year as an urgent "White House project," the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President said in a report made public today.

The committee said Herbert W. Kalmbach, then the President's personal lawyer, solicited "all possible funds" for the project last June 29 saying it "had approval of high authorities." The committee gave $75,000.

SAME MONEY

Kalmbach did not reveal the purpose of the project at the time, the committee said. Kalmbach said recently he raised a total of $210,000, including $75,000 from finance committee chairman Maurice Stans, and paid it through intermediaries to the Watergate defendants and their lawyers.

A spokesman for the finance committee today confirmed that the $75,000 is the same money Kalmbach said he paid to Watergate figures.

Of the sum, $30,000 came from Philippine citizens, the committee said. That is an apparent violation of federal laws prohibiting campaign donations by foreign citizens.

The committee made the statements in a report to the General Accounting Office, which monitors the year-old campaign finance-disclosure law.

READY TO TALK

News accounts have said recently that Kalmbach is ready to testify that former White House domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman requested him to raise the Watergate money.

Also today, the Washington Star-News reported that a former member of the White House "plumber" group has testified before a federal grand jury that Ehrlichman approved in advance of the 1971 burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying that testimony was given in Washington by David Young, who quit the White House staff this year.

Ehrlichman has told Federal Bureau of Investigation agents that he did not find out about the break-in until after it had happened. A former aide to Ehrlichman, Egil "Bud" Krogh, has backed up that account in a sworn affidavit. Krogh said he authorized the burglary mission and was told by Ehrlichman later that he had exceeded this authority.

NO THANKS

Krogh has refused to testify before a Los Angeles grand jury investigating the incident. The Watergate grand jury, which reportedly heard Young's testimony also is investigating.

Ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III appeared at U.S. District courthouse today to confer with the Watergate prosecutors.

The Watergate grand jury was in session but Dean's attorneys indicated the former presidential aide would not testify. Dean is one of the few major figures in the case who has not appeared yet before the grand jury.

In Watergate developments over the weekend, Republican national chairman George Busch said he wants a full public airing of the scandal, but administration officials appeared to be lining up against the Senate's televised hearings.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Sunday that he opposes continuation of the Senate hearings, which he said are turning into a "dramatic production." He said the case ought to be tried in court.

RULING DUE

Bush, however, said the scandal hurts Republican leaders across the country. "We want to see it cleaned up," he said. "I feel the more information out on this, the better. The less appearance of a coverup in any quarter, the better."

He said it would help if Nixon would hold a news conference about Watergate, and predicted he would do so soon.

The Senate's hearings are set to resume Tuesday. Special prosecutor Archibald Cox has asked for a court order preveting further live television or radio coverage of the hearings, and a ruling is expected, also on Tuesday, from U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

A possible witness before the Senate committee this week is former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, Nixon's chief fund-raiser during the campaign.

During the weekend the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, which Stans heads, announced that it is paying legal fees for Stans and other key employes and officials in civil cases arising from Watergate, but not in cases in which criminal charges have been filed.

The committee reported to the General Accounting Office that it has $4.8 million left over from the campaign.

Lucky Break For Brandt

JERUSALEM (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt narrowly escaped a crash today when a gust of wind almost hurled his Israeli military helicopter off a 900-foot cliff to the Dead Sea desert below.

Brandt was unhurt although thrown to his knees as the ramp of the Sikorsky chopper caught on a rock about 10 feet from the edge of the cliff.

German State Secretary Paul Frank and the Israeli ambassador to Bonn, Eliashiv Ben-Horin, were slightly hurt in the accident, but they required no medical treatment.

"It could have been very serious," said one armed border policeman who ran after the helicopter to stop it.

The incident occurred as Brandt's armed helicopter, loaded with security agents, landed on the sun-scorched plateau of Masada, an ancient Jewish fortress overlooking the Dead Sea.

The camouflaged gunship landed smoothly at the fortress and started to roll toward the cliff as passengers were climbing from the tail exit. A gust of wind then heaved the helicopter and the exit ramp caught on a rock, bringing it to a lurching stop while Brandt was on the ramp.

Royal Nepal Skyjackers Snatch Loot

NEW DELHI (AP) — India is conducting one of the biggest manhunts in recent years for three gunmen who hijacked a Royal Nepal Airlines plane to India and escaped into the Himalayan foothills with about $400,000 in ransom.

The hijackers "wanted some loot" and apparently weren't politically motivated, says the Nepalese Embassy here.

Officials said most of their effort was concentrated in the northern states of Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, which border the mountain kingdom of Nepal, and in West Bengal.

The hijackers commandeered the 20-seat Otter Sunday after it left Biratnager in southeastern Nepal, headed for the capital of Katmandu. They ordered it across the border to an emergency airstrip at Forbesganj, about 15 miles from where they took off, the embassy reported. The embassy said the hijackers were Nepalese nationals.

"The men got in as passengers. And when the plane took off, they showed the pilot a gun and said they wanted to go to Forbesganj," an airline official said.

When the plane landed, the men grabbed cases containing the money and drove a waiting jeep into the heavily wooded countryside, said Ambassador K. B. Malla.

The embassy said the hijackers took about three million Indian rupees that the Nepalese state bank was transporting on the plane.

No injuries were reported among the 15 passengers and three crewmen aboard the plane. Officials could not say whether the passenger count included the hijackers.

There have only been two previous hijackings on the Indian subcontinent, and both appeared to have been politically motivated.

SALES PRESSED

A&M Barbecue Is Nearing

Ticket sales are still being pressed for the annual Aggie Scholarship barbecue scheduled here Thursday evening.

This year two scholarships to Texas A & M University will be presented — one from the club as has been the tradition for the past 20 years, and the other from Jimmy Porter, Dallas, recipient of the second scholarship given by the club back in 1954. Now vice president of United Systems division of Equimatis, Inc., Porter said he wanted to post a scholarship equal to the one he received to afford some other young man the chance he had been given.

Tickets ($1.75) are on sale at Higginbotham-Bartlett, Prager's Men's Store, Newsom's, and may be had from Paschall Odom at the Colorado River Municipal Water District or from any other member of the Aggie Club.

Proceeds from the barbecue, which will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Comanche Trail amphitheatre, go to furnish a scholarship worth $1,500 over four years.

Serving will continue until 8:30 p.m. or when ticket-holders stop arriving. Around 8 p.m. an announcement will be made regarding the recipients of this year's scholarship awards.

Barbecue with all the trimmings will be prepared by Don Newsom and his committee, and there will be free beverages to go with it. The barbecue is strictly informal — a come-and-go affair.

Over the past 20 years, 22 scholarships have been provided.

Former Okie Governor Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Former Oklahoma Gov. Roy J. Turner, a rancher and oil industrialist, died early today at Baptist Memorial Hospital. He was 78.

He had entered the hospital more than three weeks ago.

Turner was born Nov. 6, 1894 on a farm his parents homesteaded in Lincoln County. He was inaugurated Jan. 13, 1947 as Oklahoma's 13th governor and served through 1950.

President Harry S. Truman asked Turner to be his secretary of agriculture in June, 1948, but Turner turned him down, saying he had work to do for Oklahoma.

Accomplishments of his term as governor included consolidation of schools and enlargement of the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center and redesigning of the state Highway Commission to give all parts of the state representation.

Survivors include the widow, Jessica; a son, Roy W. "Bill" Turner of Oklahoma City, and a daughter, Mrs. Betty Olsen of Midland.

Funeral services are pending.

Senate Takes Up Bill To Cut 'War Money'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate takes up legislation today to cut off all funds for U.S. military activity in Indochina unless specifically approved by Congress

The ban is included in a $609-million authorization bill for operations of the State Department for the 12 months beginning July 1.

Senate and House Appropriations committee conferees, meanwhile, resume deliberations on a $3.7-billion supplemental money bill containing differing versions of a fund shutoff for continued U.S. bombing in Cambodia.

The antiwar legislation tops the week's congressional agenda which also includes consideration of a wage-price freeze to curb inflation and a bill to extend the temporary $465-billion limit on the national debt. That limit expires June 30 and drops to a permanent ceiling of $400 billion.

The ban on funding any further involvement by U.S. military forces in Indochina hostilities was added to the State Department authorization bill by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on motion of Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

It is described by sponsors as a reassertion of Congress' constitutional right to declare war.

The Nixon administration's claim of presidential authority to continue bombing in Cambodia faces a similar congressional challenge in the supplemental appropriation bill.

Crooker, Cosden's Tax Man In Lively Exchange

One protest to the board of equalization, meeting today at the county courtroom to assess value on oil properties and utilities, almost produced fireworks as the tax manager for Cosden's Refinery and one of the commissioners exchanged heated words here this morning.

Ray Ebling, tax manager for Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., requested to meet with the board of equalization, after discussing the tax assessment with representatives from Pritchard and Abbott, tax evaluators. He got into an exchange with Commissioner Bill Crooker.

The commissioners briefly adjourned their regular commissioners' court meeting to serve as a board of equalization, also one of their duties, to hear Ebling's request.

Ebling requested that Cosden's merchandise assessment be placed on the same basis as inventories of other businesses in Howard County and be listed at 50 per cent.

The tax man claimed that Cosden's inventory is obtained by Pritchard and Abbott at Austin on Jan. 1, at a full 100 per cent at the peak time of year. Pritchard and Abbott representatives confirmed that this is true.

Ebling then used as examples a county $2,000 assessment on all new cars, $110 on all cows and ask the board to check its inventory merchandise assessments on businesses up and down Main Street and in the shopping centers and "you will find that some are as low as 30 per cent."

Ebling requested that Mel Murphree from the county tax appraisal office be present for the discussion, but commissioners were unable to locate Murphree.

Ebling told the court that the school had adjusted the merchandise assessment for Cosden to 60 per cent last year.

Bill Crooker, commissioner, suddenly protested, saying that he thought the other inventories made by Southwestern Appraisal Service might should be rased rather than Cosden's cut. Ebling answered, "That will be fine, but we would like ours changed to be equal until the time that occurs."

Then Crooker veered and accused Cosden of giving low figures on new construction. Ebling denied the charge. Crooker demanded to see the contract and Ebling agreed that he would bring it in "just as soon as all new construction contracts in the city are brought in as well."

Now let's be fair," Crooker stated, "fair to the taxpayers of Howard County." At this point, Ebling heatedly injected, "that's what I want — fairness. Mr. Crooker, do you just hate Cosden or industry in general?" Crooker bristled at this.

Judge A. G. Mitchell, presiding officer, halted the discussion and conferred with members of the court. Si Terrazas, commissioner, requested that the session reconvene at 2 p.m. in the county courtroom and requested that the county tax man also attend.

Environmentalists Win Major Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — An equally divided Supreme Court today handed environmentalists a major victory by enforcing a national policy that bars significant deterioration of clean air.

The 4-4 vote, while not deciding the issue on the merits, has the effect of affirming a decision on the issue handed down by the U.S. Circuit Court here last year.

The circuit court ruled that federal law prohibits any substantial new air pollution in regions where the air is still pure.

In other actions today, the court:

—Held that the United States cannot be held accountable for the day-to-day operation of more than 800 state and local jails used to house federal prisoners.

NUDE DANCING

—Overturned a lower court decision and ordered a rehearing to decide whether the State of Wisconsin can deny liquor licenses to bars which feature nude dancing.

—Summarily ordered an Alabama firm to pay $63.90 to an employe who lost money while serving on a jury.

The pollution dispute began when environmentalists set out to protect those areas with air that was cleaner than that required by federal standards.

The Environmental Protection Agency has established air quality standards setting limits on the permissible levels of pollutants under the Clean Air Amendments of 1970.

One set of standards designed to protect human health must be achieved by 1975. No time limit has been set on a second, more stringent set of standards to protect animals, plants, property and the environment.

The environmentalists contended that the law's stated purpose to "protect and enhance" air quality means air quality must not be degraded.

The EPA was poised last November reluctantly to issue regulations to comply with the appeals court decision. The high court issued a stay that froze the situation while it was under consideration. Today's action gives effect to the appeals court decision.

NO EVIDENCE

The issue was brought to the high court by the federal government which argued that air quality need not be maintained at a level above that required by federal standards. The government's unsuccessful appeal saw the issue largely in terms of economics. "The cost, ultimately to the public, of reducing pollution in polluted areas to meet the primary and secondary standards will be substantially increased if no encroachment can be made on clean air areas," the government argued.

The environmentalists in their petitions to the court saw little to recommend a policy of exporting pollution. The federal government, they argued, "has provided no evidence that spreading pollution across the country is the only solution for pollution in urban areas."

They contended that if the air surrounding urban areas is allowed to deteriorate, then the cities will find it virtually impossible to reduce their own pollution levels to meet federal standards.

Hobbs' Bid Is Accepted

The Howard County Commissioner's Court today voted for the purchase of four dump truck beds from Hobbs Trailer Co. after rescinding the previous bid last week from American Trailer Co.

The Hobbs bid was $5,977.60.

The American bid was rescinded after it was learned by the Court that an increase in the bid would be necessary to meet County specifications. American re-entered a bid of $5,912.00 and King Trailer Co. bidded $5,336.00. They did not meet specifications.

The Court also accepted the bid of $22,174.54 from Tilson Godsey Machine Company for a front-end leader. Six companies bid on the leader but Tilson was the only company to fully meet specification.

In other Court business a meeting between a representative of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and Roy Crim, Howard County Airport engineer, has been postponed until next week, the County Judge office said.

Crim is to accept a federal grant from the FAA for improvements to the airport.

The Court also accepted the job application of Elizabeth Carpenter as secretary for the county engineer at $325 a month salary.

About 50 senior summer school studnts attended the Court meeting for credit for a summer government course. The students will also tour the jail today with the Court or with the Sheriffs Office tomorrow.

Economy Trim For Camp Gary In San Marcos

AUSTIN (AP) — Government sources in Washington say that the U.S. Department of Labor will announce a 50 per cent economy cut for Camp Gary Job Corps, San Marcos, on Tuesday.

The Associated Press was told by telephone from Washington that the size of the Camp Gary Job Corps would be cut from 3,000 trainees to 1,500, effective at the beginning of the fiscal year July 1.

The government sources said the McKinney Women's Training Center would be reduced from 620 to 505 trainees.

The only other training center in Texas, the Residential Manpower Center at El Paso will not be changed, keeping its quota of 250 trainees.

The source said the Texas cuts were part of a nationwide reduction of trainees from 24,000 to 19,000.

FAMILY IN THEIR HAPPIER DAYS—Mr. and Mrs. George T. O'Leary and five of their six children were found dead in their home Sunday. Police said a daughter, 15-year-old Theresa, discovered the bodies. The father apparently was a drug suicide, according to medical examiner George W. Curtis, and the mother and children apparently died of gunshot wounds. The above picture shows the O'Leary family in happier days as they paraded down snowy Commonwealth Avenue on Easter Sunday 1970, in Boston.

Acri Returns From Meeting

Mayor Pro Tem Eddie Acri returned this weekend from a three-day meeting of the Association of Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners of the Texas Municipal League in El Paso.

Acri was among some 500 delegates to attend sessions focusing on many aspects of municipal government. He was among those to hear Joe Christie, Texas Insurance Board chairman, discuss the public's lack of confidence in government.

The former state senator said government has "lost its passion for justice" and can regain public confidence only through straight talk and straight dealing.

He said the Watergate affairs, soaring inflation, talk of impeachment of the President, as well as Texas' own recent Sharpstown scandal, provide a challenge to government at the grass roots level to restore public trust.

"The fight to regain justice will be won by the communities under the leadership and direction of their mayors and councilmen, the true foundation of government based on truth and trust," Christie said.

Besides hearing the Christie address, Acri heard Allen Pritchard, president of the National League of Cities, discuss federal block grants to cities and heard addresses on "Legal Limitations on Elected Municipal Officials," "Working with the Media," "Ten Most Important Considerations in Employe Relations," and "Constitutional Revision: The Cities' Stake."

Frank Sinatra Says He Will Return To 'Show Business'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainer Frank Sinatra says he will return to show business after a two-year retirement but "only when I can control the situation."

"I'm not going to put myself in the position of facing big, uncontrolled crowds again," the 57-year-old Sinatra told an interviewer.

"Too many times I became the victim in such situations, and I'm not going to let that happen again."

He plans a television special next fall.

The singer actor-businessman appeared at UCLA Saturday night as master of ceremonies for the annual alumni awards show. He didn't sing, but he appeared relaxed and mellow.

On his return from retirement, Sinatra said: "I kept getting mail from people who wanted to hear me sing again. There was something like 30,000 letters, and many of them sympathized with my desire for privacy. But they suggested that there were ways I could perform again without sacrificing my private life.

"I'll record, but I can do that before a small group of friends. I'll have an audience for the television show, but that can be controlled, too.

"Members of my own organization have been trying to convince me to make a return. My family, too. So I decided I would go back to work, but only when I could control the situation," he added.

Sinatra last sang before a paid audience on June 13, 1971 — a "farewell appearance" at a 50th anniversary gala at the Los Angeles Music Center for the film industry's Relief Fund.

Earlier this year, he sang at a White House dinner for the visiting Italian premier, and President Nixon urged him to come out of retirement.

Seven Die In Tragedy

BOSTON (AP) — Police say a uniformed security guard apparently shot and killed his wife and five of their children before taking his own life with a drug.

The bodies were discovered about 1 p.m. Sunday by the only surviving member of the family, Theresa O'Leary, 15, as she returned to the family's home in Boston's Dorchester section after a hospital stay.

Dr. George W. Curtis, a medical examiner, said the seven victims had been dead from 24 to 48 hours when the bodies were found.

He said George T. O'Leary, 43, probably died "of an ingestion of drugs." Thelma O'Leary, 36, and the children apparently died of gunshot wounds, he said.

Institute For Teachers Of Migrant Help Opens

An institute for the teachers of elementary school aged children of migrant workers began today at Howard County Junior College under direction of the Texas Education Agency.

Twelve teachers and teacher aides from the Big Spring Independent School District are among the approximately 100 teachers and teacher aides from the Midland, Abilene and San Angelo regions attending the institute which continues until June 29.

Classes held 8 a.m.—5 p.m. daily are designed to help teachers deal with the special problems of migrant children. Being taught by TEA consultants and other professionals, the institute stresses the areas of oral communication, reading and mathematics.

"Of all the things being done in education today, this has to be one of the most important," said Tony Wynn, HCJC vice president. He said similar institutes to help improve teacher-student dealings with the other neglected migrant children are going on all over the state.

Those attending the institute are each being paid $15 a day. Some 30 to 40 are staying at the HCJC dormitory while many of the others are commuting from area towns.

Among topics being covered are oral language development, fine arts, maximum use of human resources, cultural awareness and parental participation.

Participants from the local school district are Ruth Box, Betty Cain, Gwendolyn Combs, Elmira Forman, Bertha Hastings, Shirley Matthews, Barbara Miller, Valeta Matthews, Erlinda Rios, Mary Ivery, Jennie Ortiz and Emily Philips. Lakeview, Bauer, Cedar Crest and College Heights elementaries are the main schools being represented.

Suicide Suspected In Death Of Playwright William Inge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Playwright William Inge, whose Broadway successes included "Picnic" and "Come Back Little Sheba," is dead at 60. Authorities say his death was an apparent suicide.

The body of the Pulitzer Prize winner was found Sunday in a car in the garage of his secluded Hollywood Hills home by his sister, Helene Connell. Detectives said the auto's engine was running and the garage door was closed.

The Los Angeles County Coroner's office said the cause of death was carbon monoxide poisoning.

DRUG OVERDOSE

Investigators said Inge was admitted to the UCLA Medical Center last week for psychiatric observation after a drug overdose. He was reported to have signed himself out of the hospital after three days.

The heavy-set bachelor moved to Los Angeles from New York in 1962 afters everal of his works failed to match his earlier Broadway successes. He said he experienced "a terrible period of depression" after his failures.

But he continued to work, producing novels, other plays and taking a teachnig asignment at the University of California at Irvine. His novels were "Good Luck, Mrs. Wyckoff" and "My Son is a Splendid Driver."

Investigators reported finding the manuscript of a new novel, "The Boy from the Circus," on a living room table. Authorities said it had been rejected by a New York City publisher.

'PICNIC'

Mrs. Connell said her brother was severely depressed in recent years about the novels, which received favorable criticism but did not sell well.

"But it wasn't only that," she said. "He was discouraged about not having anything to say. But he knew he was more discouraged than there was reason to be. It was the depression itself that he was fighting."

Many of Inge's work were melancholy reminiscences. "Picnic" drew heavily on his boyhood recollections of Independence, Kan.

In 1953, Inge won a Pulitzer for "Picnic," which also received a New York Drama Critics Award, and he took an Academy Award in 1962 for his screenplay of "Splendor in the Grass." Other hit plays were "Bus Stop" and "Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

Inge was born in Independence on May 3, 1913, graduated from the University of Kansas and taught at Stephen College in Missouri and at Washington University in St. Louis. He then joined the St. Louis Star-Times as a drama critic.

Larger Turnout Sought At HC

While this is billed primarily to give women some working knowledge about the cars they drive, it is good basic training for most men who may have limited automotive knowledge.

Men and women interested in this non-credit course should be at Room 103 in the Practical Arts builiding Monday 7 p.m.

The class in crochet, although virtually assured, can handle a number of other participants. It will meet Tuesday 7 p.m. in Room A-4 (east wing of the administration building.

There are also openings in craft classes — those in elementary art and pottery crafts.

More students can be accommodated in defensive driving, which will earn a discount on insurance premiums.

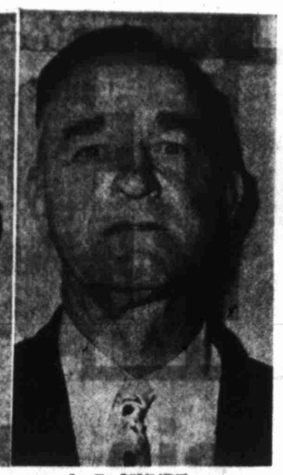
HOMER HAYGOOD

MRS. DOROTHY HULL



L. R. MUNDT

Veterans, Auxiliary Install New Officers

Barracks 1474, Veterans of World War I, and its Auxiliary held a covered dish luncheon Saturday, followed by the installation of new officers.

Homer Haygood is the new barracks commander, and L. R. Mundt was installed as commander of the 19th District. Mrs. Dorothy Hull will head the auxiliary.

Approximately 50 persons were seated at tables which carried out the Flag Day theme in decorations of miniature flags and red poppies. The same motif was used at a registry table which was covered with a white lace cloth.

The retiring district commander, D. J. Irwin of Lubbock, was guest speaker. He discussed the aspects of patriotism and encouraged the group to undertake a membership drive. Other out-of-town guests were F. W. Mogford, barracks commander from Colorado City, and Mrs. Mary Forrest of Lubbock, district auxiliary president.

During the business session, the meeting date was changed from the second Thursday to the first Saturday of each month. The meetings are held at noon in the IOOF Hall.

New auxiliary officers serving with Mrs. Hull are Mrs. Cordelia Castle, senior vice president; Mrs. Jean Cantrell, junior vice president; Mrs. Mary Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Mattie Wren, chaplain; Mrs. Gladys O'Barr, conductress; and Mrs. Birdie Adams, guard.

Trustees are Mrs. Winifred Wood, one-year; Mrs. Kathleen Swindell, two-year; and Mrs. Ruby Simpson, three-year.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

San Angelo Pageant Open Through June

San Angelo has been having itself a party during this weekend with its "Fiesta del Concho," highlighted by a pageant that included a live "flood" down the Concho. This re-enacted the historic flood that wiped out the town of Ben Ficklin in the 1880s, with some 400 lives lost. While the fiesta per se is passed, the pageant will be continued on the evenings of June 14-15-16, 21, 22 and 23, and then 28-29-30. Starting time is 8:30 p.m.

Just around the corner is the opening of the famous Fort Griffin Fandangle in Albany, June 21, 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30. This is a product of the 2,000 people in Albany, but is just about as polished and colorful as professionals could be. The Fandangle has its own amphitheatre against a backdrop of hills, plus colorful costuming, original music, etc. It has a cast of 200.

* * *

A similar production opening June 21 and continuing nightly (except Sunday) at 8:30 p.m. in Palo Duro Canyon State park is "Texas," the Paul Green panoramic folk musical. It, too, has its own spectacular amphitheatre. So far, half a million people have viewed this show (prices $1. to $4).

* * *

Another Palo Duro event is the "Windmill" art competition which ties in with the opening of "Texas." Artists are invited to submit studies of windmills, either in photography, paintings, drawings or three dimensional figures. There is no entry fee.

* * *

The Globe of the Great Southwest (the faithful reproduction of the theatre which housed the Bard's works) opens the fifth annual Shakespeare Festival in Odessa the evening of June 22 with the "Tempest," which will be repeated the following evening. "Comedy of Errors" will be June 26, and it will alternate with "Tempest through June 30. On July 5, the first showing of "Cyrano" comes up. The season lasts through Aug. 26. Prices are $3-$1.50.

* * *

"Butterflies Are Free" is the current offering of the Midland Community Theatre. Other showings are June 14-15-16-17 and June 22-23. Other summer activities include "Punch and Judy," June 28-29-30; then a pair of musicals; "Run Away," July 19-20-21, and "The Great Cross Country Race," Aug. 9-10-11.

The exhibit spotlighting oil development in Howard and surrounding areas is still drawing visitors at Heritage Museum, and last week the display of an old Fort Worth spudder (cable tool drilling unit) and pulling until across the street got added interest with the erection of streamers around it. Gerri Atwell, curator, made a trip to Fort Davis to visit with members of the W. J. Brennand family. Mr. Brennand was a pioneer merchant here. Museum visitors included the Desk and Derrick Club. Incidentally, it is open this afternoon.

Museum of the Southwest in Midland is sponsoring a teen-age art workshop July 9-27 with nine sessions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9-11 a.m., with Mrs. Bud Mathys, instructor. Instruction will be held to a minimum; emphasis will be on creativity and the disciplines necessary for successful work. Information is available at 1705 W. Missouri. The museum also is presenting Dr. Emilio Caballero in a multi-media workshop Aug. 18-25 with 48 hours of instruction.

Another feature there is

a display of the works of Roderick Mead (1900-1971) called "a Retrospective Exhibition." There will be 82 prints, 29 oil paintings, six water colors and a pencil drawing, as well as several metal plates and woodblock forms. The exhibit opens June 14 from 7-9 p.m. and continues through July 6.

Don't Worry

Dear Abby ..

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been living with Joe for six months. I fell so much in love with him I couldn't help myself. He said he loved me, too, but he never really believed that I loved him.

Someone told me that Joe was planning to skip town one of these days and not tell anyone where he was going. I asked Joe about it and he said it wasn't true.

I guess it was, because he has been missing for six days and five nights and no one has seen or heard from him. I am so worried and heartbroken I cry myself to sleep every night. I keep thinking he's been in an accident or something.

I won't even go outside to empty the trash for fear Joe will telephone me and I'll miss his call.

Please tell me what to do.

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The person who told you that Joe was planning on skipping town evidently knew more about Joe than you did. Chances are he's all right, so don't worry about his safety. But it might be wise to wonder what kind of man would cause you so much grief when one telephone call would ease your aching heart. Empty the trash and get into your normal routine. He'll turn up. Bad pennies always do.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your batting average is about 99 per cent, which is so high no one should squawk; but when you goof, you sure blow it sky high.

Advising a secretary not to tell her boss that his wife went into his office and rummaged through his drawers and inspected his files during his absence is completely unjust and unfair.

Without prejudging the motives of the boss' wife, a simple statement of who went into his office in his absence is sufficient.

If I knew that my secretary withheld any information from me about any activity in my place of business, she wouldn't be my secretary very long.

Did you consider what could happen if the wife walked off with something valuable from her husband's office? The secretary would be suspect.

You sort of shot from the hip on that one. E.L.

DEAR E. L.: I certainly did. And it missed the mark. Thanks for adjusting my sights.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful guy who is now serving in the armed forces. We are on a very tight budget as Mark doesn't make much money.

We are having a serious disagreement. Mark wants us to share an apartment with another couple to save expenses. He's known them only a few weeks and I've never met them. The other wife is in her teens and has a small baby. Abby, Mark and I are newlyweds and I want a place of our own — if it's only a hole in the wall. Mark says we girls can share the housework and keep each other company. I don't want to share the housework and I don't need company. I just want to be a wife to Mark.

Mark thinks I am being unreasonable. I think HE is. Who do you think is right?

Hurry, please, because Mark wants to tell his buddy one way or the other.

NOT GETTING THRU

DEAR NOT: I don't see anything "unreasonable" about your wanting to have a place of your own. I think Mark is unreasonable to expect you to share an apartment with people he hardly knows and you don't know at all. Stick to your guns.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATES GOSSIPS IN SANTA ANA": I quote a sage piece from Quote Magazine: "If we show ourselves disinterested to listen to gossip, we will soon be spared its intrusion Scandalmongers are ineffective without an audience."

* * *

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Attendants Honored At Friday Luncheon

Miss Molly McKinney, who was married Saturday to Mark Foss, honored her bridal attendants with a luncheon Friday in the Gold Room, Coker's Restaurant. Assisting her were her mother, Mrs. Don McKinney, and her grandmother, Mrs. P. F. Sheedy of Coahoma.

Guests included the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. F. E. Foss, Evergreen, Colo.; Mrs. Bob Van Meter, Weatherford; Mrs. Mike Carter, Stephenville; Mrs. Phil Cochran, Petersburg, Va.; Miss Kathy Brueggon, Matagorda; and Mrs. John Ambuhl, Houston.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening at 122 N. First, Coahoma, with forty in attendance.

MRS. PEDRO PAREDEZ JR.

Couple United In Marriage

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Connie Marie Trevino and Airman 1.C. Pedro Paredez Jr. of Keesler AFB, Miss., at 10 a.m., Saturday in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Nuptial music was by Mrs. Robert Martinez, Littlefield, and Miss Evelyn Rodriquez, organists. Joe Gonzalez was vocalist, and the church choir sang during a nuptial mass.

The Rev. James Delaney officiated before an archway decorated with boxwood and wedding bells. Arrangements of carnations, roses and greenery, placed in large urns, flanked the altar.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Trevino Jr., Compress Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Paredez Sr., 1107 N. Scurry.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Alice Trevino, as maid of honor; the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Mike Smothers, and Mrs. Clemente Villa, bridesmatrons; and another of his sisters, Miss Bertina Paredez. Miss Frances Hernandez of Littlefield and Miss Teresa Briones, Lubbock, all bridesmaids. Amanda Duran, Littlefield, was flower girl.

The bride was attired in a formal-length empire gown of peau de soie with an overlay of white silk organza. Full bishop sleeves were gathered to wide lace cuffs, and the bodice featured a high collar accented with lace. Rows of matching lace extended down the chapel-length train which was edged with a ruffle. Her illusion veil fell from a cluster of lace petals, and she carried a cascade of miniature carnations and babies'-breath centered with a gardenia.

Bridal attendants wore floor-length gowns styled with fitted waistlines and full skirts in a marquisette floral print. They wore garden hats adorned with lilac streamers and carried nosegays of lilac carnations.

Best man was Clemente Villa, and groomsmen were Mike Smothers and Abel Trevino. Serving as ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Fernie Paredez, and Abel Abundez. Alan Trevino, brother of the bride, was ring bearer, and acolytes were Carl Trevino and Jerry Trevino, the bride's brother and cousin respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Paredez will reside in Biloxi, Miss., where he attends USAF technical school. He is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College.

The bride attended school in Littlefield, and graduated from Big Spring High School. She is training at HCJC to be a Licensed Vocational Nurse and is employed at Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of assorted spring flowers. Miniature bridal figurines topped the tiered cake, and crystal appointments were used.

Serving were Mrs. Guillermo Franco, Miss Sylvia Trevino, Miss Beatrice Correa, Miss Rosie Paredez and Miss Patsy Mendez.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Solis, Levelland.

Tips Given For African Violets

Miss Shirley White presented a program on tips for rooting and growing African violets when the Texas Star African Violet Club met at 7 p.m., Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. W. Baker, 710 Lancaster.

The speaker said miniature violets, if grown under lights, should be raised up by flower pots stacked upside down until the small plants were the same distance from the light as the larger plants.

In giving advice about ventilation, Miss White said, "With air conditioning and proper heating, violets, know no difference in summer and winter."

Committees and chairmen were appointed for the year.

The next social meeting will be a weiner roast at the home of Mrs. Harry Montgomery, July 5.

Kin Of Wallace Is Off The Hook

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Board of Commissioners of the Alabama Bar Association has cleared Gov. George C. Wallace's brother and two other attorneys of charges they improperly split $280,000 in fees for legal work on two state bond issues.

The bar association's grievance committee had raised the charge in a report accusing Birmingham bond attorney Alfred Rose of splitting the fees with Gerald Wallace and state Rep. Rankin Fite.

According to the committee's report, Rose paid Fite $60,000 and the legislator in turn gave part of his share to the governor's brother.

The state paid Rose the fees $116 million bond issue in 1965 in question for work done on a and a $160 million highway bond issue in 1967.

Gulf Station Offers Service

Summer service is what is being offered at Brown's Service Center at the intersection of East Third Street and Birdwell Lane.

Some stations are operating under the belief that since there's an impending gas shortage, they can let up on their service, but not so at Brown's Gulf.

Service is their motto at that station. Kent Brown has seen an increase in sales ever since he took over the station.

And this did not come about by accident, but through good service.

Brown still believes that this is what it is all about at service stations.

They have complete service calls 24 hours a day even though the station only remains open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

They have two numbers that may be called at night if their customer is needing a service call. These are 3-3647 or 3-2337.

At the station, Brown sells topnotch Gulf products including tires and also handles Dunlop tires.

He stresses that car owners, before they elect new tires for that summer trip are invited to drop by and see what they have to offer.

Brown has operated the station for over a year and he has built up quite a list of satisfied customers.

The reason they go to that particular station is simple — it is still a service station.

'OUR JOB WAS SIMPLE, WE JUST SAT AND WAITED'

Some POWs Resent Being Made Celebrities

DALAAS (AP) — The days of tickertape and tears for returned POWs may be over. For some of them that's not so bad.

"I think they are dying out. I think this will be the last major event of any sort," said Navy Lt. Cmdr. David R. Wheat, a crew-cutted former POW for 7½ years from Duluth, Minn.

HOMECOMING

He, and about 400 other returned POWs, came to Dallas recently for a $40,000 "Vietnam Veterans Homecoming Celebration" which ended up with a lot more POWs than veterans.

It was billed by its sponsors, mostly wealthy Dallas businessmen, as the biggest privately sponsored reunion for POWs to date.

But some of the POWs resented being made celebrities while other Vietnam veterans, including those the war made crippled or crazy, are seemingly forgotten.

"I have come to this because Dallas chose to call it a salute to Vietnam veterans," said Navy Lt. Cmdr. David J. Carey, a bristling goatee accenting his jutting jaw.

"Had it been a salute to POWs, I wouldn't have come. Our job was simple, we just sat and waited."

Carey may not have been aware that although the Dallas homecoming organizers invited every former POW, only four veterans were invited from each state.

'IMPOSSIBLE'

It was "impossible" to ask all the veterans, said W. W Clements, Dr. Pepper president and organizer of the event.

Some younger, more radical Vietnam veterans have said POWs are being exploited for profit or publicity.

But many POWs do not agree with that, at least in every instance.

"We haven't been exploited in any of these homecoming type parades," said McKamey. "We've been treated so well. We're not called on to support anything or endorse anything."

Even so, he said, "Anyone who wants to spend a great deal of time and money . . . I feel some sort of an obligation to attend. We've received so much support from the American people in recent years."

But between the cocktails and parades, dinners and speeches, the thrill had gone.

Orbiting Tourists Play With Planes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — As the Skylab 1 astronauts whirled through their 18th day in orbit today, the rocket and spaceship for the Skylab 2 crew rolled to the launch pad at Cape Kennedy.

The 22-story-tall Saturn 1B booster moved out of its assembly building at 7 a.m. EDT and made the 3½ mile trip to the pad perched upright on the back of a large tracked transporter.

Launch teams will prepare the Saturn 1B and its Apollo ferry ship for a July 27 liftoff to transport three more astronauts to a rendezvous with Skylab, America's first space station revitalized by astronaut fix-it jobs.

The Saturn 1B also would serve as a rescue rocket if the present Skylab inhabitants have trouble with their return-to-earth Apollo vehicle.

NO HELP NEEDED

But Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz show no signs of needing help as they carry on a heavy work schedule in their laboratory.

On schedule today were continuing earth resources, solar astronomy and medical experiments as the astronauts seek to learn more about earth, the sun and man in space.

They also find time for fun and games in their spacious lab. They mentioned Sunday that they had used their recreation dart board for the first time.

PROMISING

The darts use a sticky material instead of sharp points in case they go astray in weightlessness.

"We're busy here in our experimental space laboratory," Commander Conrad reported with tongue in cheek. "The darts don't work worth a darn, but the paper airplanes are rather promising."

Kerwin, a physician, and doctors on the ground report all three crewmen in excellent health as they head toward the stretch on their 28-day mission, adding daily to the 14-day American space record they broke last week.

And with their patched-up space station operating almost normally, Skylab appears ready to support the remainder of this flight and two 56-day missions to follow.

THEFTS

James Cook, Starlight, reported to police at 12:59 a.m., Sunday that the battery, valued at $43, had been taken from his pickup.

Frank Sharp, Tulia, reported at 2:32 a.m. Sunday that the battery had been taken from his car while parked at Herman's on Gregg.

Joyce Nagle, at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, reported at 7:39 a.m. Sunday that the battery, valued at $35, had been taken from her car and that $20 in damage had been done to the vehicle.

Airport Grocery reported at 9:19 p.m. Sunday the theft of a package of hot dogs by four men, three black and one white.

Mrs. Joe Rogers, 910 W. 8th, reported at10:33 p.m. Sunday that someone had burglarized her home, taking a black and white portable TV, clothing valued at $70, an air rifle, an air pistol and a piggy bank contaning $20 worth of Kennedy half-dollars.

GOP LINING UP AGAINST TV HEARINGS

Bush Wants Watergate Airing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican national Chairman George Bush says he wants a full public airing of the Watergate scandal, but administration officials appear to be lining up against the Senate's televised hearings.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Sunday that he opposes continuation of the Senate hearings, which he said are turning into a "dramatic production." He said the case ought to be tried in court.

And Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was reported ready to criticize the hearings at a speech today in St. Louis.

CLEAN IT UP

Bush, however, said the scandal hurts Republican leaders across the country. "We want to see it cleaned up," he said. "I feel the more information out on this, the better. The less appearance of a coverup in any quarter, the better."

He said it would help if Nixon would hold a news conference about Watergate, and predicted he would do so soon.

The Senate's hearings are set to resume Tuesday. Special prosecutor Archibald Cox has asked for a court order preventing further live television or radio coverage of the hearings, and a ruling is expected, also on Tuesday, from U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

A possible witness before the Senate committee this week is former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, Nixon's chief fund-raiser during the campaign.

During the weekend the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, which Stans heads, announced that it is paying legal fees for Stans and other key employes and officials in civil cases arising from Watergate, but not in cases in which criminal charges have been filed.

MONEY, MONEY

The committee reported to the General Accounting Office that it has $4.8 million left over from the campaign.

Also over the weekend the Gallup Poll published figures showing that 55 per cent of voters questioned said they are likely to vote for Democrats in next year's House races. This compares with 35 per cent for Republicans and 10 per cent undecided.

The poll of 2,356 voters was taken last April and May and indicates the Watergate scandal is hurting GOP election prospects, the Gallup organization said.

Morton, who once was Republican national chairman, said the party has been hurt by the scandal, but he predicted it will "snap back" once the guilty parties are tried in court.

Morton spoke on CBS' "Face the Nation"; Bush on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Motion Overruled

The Eleventh District Court of Cicil Appeals at Eastland has received and overruled a motion for rehearing in the case of Virginia Price Bailey versus Asalie Key Price, et al, appealed from Dawson County.

E. L. Smith Gets Coveted Award

Eugene L. Smith, Sterling City Route, received a certificate of competency from the Texas State Health Department recently after completing a three-day short school in Abilene.

Smith, a utilities maintenance supervisor for the City of Big Spring, received the certificate for his work in the oldest ecology-oriented profession in the state, water treatment.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS"

do the "roman collars" label them catholics?

Episcopalians and Roman Catholics and Presbyterians and Baptists and Methodists ...these and countless other denominations exist because of the differences between men.

It's the similarities between men that produce Christians.

Episcopalians are proud of both their differences AND their similarities to other denominations. You can call them anything you like. They're Protestant because their forebears were among the leaders of the Protestant Reformation in 16th-Century England. But the word "Catholic" means "universal, whole, or complete"... and, certainly, Episcopalians are proud to embrace all the traditions of Christ's "universal church."

In short, they don't feel that heaven is reserved for those who agree with the Episcopal viewpoint. They say, "There's only one God. Let's share. OK?"

By the way, would you believe that the "backward collar" was not a Roman-Catholic invention? It was introduced by a priest of the Church of England, parent of the Episcopal Church in the United States. He devised it as a mark of identification during his ministrations to the London Dock area.

• • •

It's surprising how often people new to the Episcopal faith discover that its "peculiarities" help them appreciate the universality of the Christian religion. Think about that.

Texas-Born, Ty Hardin Now In Restaurant Business

Copley News Service

LOS BOLICHES, Southern Spain — Ty Hardin, 43-year-old film and TV western star, has turned bar and restaurant-owner.

Disenchanted with the Hollywood scene, he is living quietly and almost unrecognized behind a thick white beard in this quiet, unspoiled fishing village by the Mediterranean. But fans who know him from movies and his television series "Bronco" still greet him enthusiastically as El Bronco.

The Texas-born actor is concentrating on the restaurant scene on the rich and flourishing Costa del Sol, the southern strip of Spain, year-round playground of millions of European and American vacationers.

He has bought a second restaurant-bar in nearby Torremolinos, the Coney Island of this coast, and plans two others at Malaga and Marbella.

Ty came here several years ago to star in European-made movies, including the Italian-shot "spaghetti westerns" and other outdoor action films shot on Spain's own "Oregon," the desert-and-rocks province of Almeria.

NOT RELEASED

His film "Sacramento" has yet to be released here, and he recently made "Arpad the Gypsy" in Hungary.

As he greeted customers in his western-style restaurant, a Texas cowboy's saddle mounted on the wall, Ty told me:

"I've given up movies and TV only temporarily, not for good. For good is a long number, isn't it?

"But I've made up my mind that, after traveling through Europe for the last few years, making films, television shows and plays, it's time for me to find some roots in some area, develop some income so I can keep myself financially stable. I don't want to have to depend on the industry to support me all my life.

Ty Hardin agrees that life as a restaurant owner is often tougher than being a movie and TV star.

"Now I find myself in about 14 feet of water without being able to swim. Luckily, I have some good people around me, including my partner, Harry Hubert, who has experience of bars in Spain. But it does mean an awful lot of work."

The Texas-born star, handsome behind his beard and graying hair, is considering offers to star in the play "Stalag 17" in Britain in August.

He added: "But for the time being I am very well dedicated to my bars. I've had other offers, one for a 'spaghetti western,' another for a modern picture to be made in Palma, Majorca. So far I've made 14 films in Spain, two of them in Almeria, one in Segovia, others out of Madrid."

MUCH SLOWER

Contrasting tranquil Spain (though it's also fast developing), Ty added: "Spain is in about a 300 per cent slower pace than America. California is going 100 miles an hour nowhere. It's a great country to have been from, but for my life-style, for what I want out of life, it's no place for me to live.

"That's why I picked Europe. It's much more relaxing, easier, less competition, less feeling of pressures, and so forth.

"Maybe I'm an escapist, but I came from a very small town in Texas, and I couldn't really handle the Hollywood scene. I was bashed to pieces by it; my whole equilibrium was thrown off balance.

"So I'm much happier and much more content here in Spain."

"Though," he adds, "the Texans are more efficient, take on a little more responsibility, while still having this feeling of relaxation."

He is adding a western flavor to his restaurants by bringing over spittoons, horns, replicas of the Texas scene, and guns from the Alamo. Customers enter his bars through western-style swinging doors. And he is offering them a varied menu of fine fried chicken (Col. Hardin's "special"), chili con carne, hamburgers, and grills with a smokey flavor.

"I've also got fried fish for the Limeys (London Cockneys), but, generally, we're hamburger specialists, and will popularize the American hamburger here in amid the rice and fish of Andalucia."

CIA Is Coming Under Unfamiliar Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency's cloak is slipping.

Licensed for secrecy by law and long practice, the intelligence agency is coming under unfamiliar scrutiny in the fallout of the Watergate affair.

President Nixon hinted at the scope of covert CIA operations when he said he feared some of them might be compromised by an immediate, unrestricted investigation of the political wiretapping.

Now there is conflicting congressional testimony as to how that came to be translated into the orders and understandings that figured in the initial Watergate coverup.

Four congressional panels have been looking into that, and into acknowledged CIA involvement in the Daniel Ellsberg-Pentagon papers case.

The law that created the agency 26 years ago forbids its involvement in internal-security functions. But the Ellsberg case, and Nixon's account of an intelligence plan he said was not implemented, involve domestic activities.

To this point, the CIA cover is intact so far as what it spends—and how—is concerned.

Nixon's budget for the year beginning July 1 lists the CIA followed by a blank in the space for its spending proposals. It has been done that way since the agency was created.

The budget is secret. CIA spending is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $750 million, but only a handful of senior members of Congress know for sure.

One of them, Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said the CIA appropriation is less than $1 billion a year.

Five senior members of the House defense appropriations subcommittee examine CIA spending requests, rule on them, then tack them onto other categories in the defense budget to keep them secret.

The procedure is the same in the Senate, despite repeated attempts to require submission of an over-all budget figure, at least to other members of Congress.

Interstate Speed Limit?

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has suggested an interstate compact reducing speed limits to 55 miles an hour as a way of easing the gasoline shortage.

Noting that fuel consumption increases as speed increases, Rockefeller said a New York Transportation Department study has determined that a 55 miles per hour speed limit would save some 1.4 billion gallons of gasoline a year.

The speed limit would not apply to passenger buses and emergency vehicles, and it would be effective only until Sept. 30.

CROSS: (Q.) Jerry and I got along fine for about two months. One night at a party he took a cross and chain I was wearing around my neck and started wearing it himself. When the party was over he kept it.

Pretty soon after that he lost interest in me, but he did not give the cross and chain back. I called him to ask him about it and he said he would bring it to me, but he never did.

I have called him twice more, and he has promised again, but he still has the cross.

Should I go to his house and ask for it? I don't want to pester his parents, but the cross is important to me. I honestly am not trying to get him back, just the cross and chain. — No Luck in North Carolina.

(A.) Any girl who gives — or lets a boy take — a ring or bracelet or necklace or pin or anything of value, either real or sentimental, takes the risk you have taken.

Unless you personally know Jerry's parents and are friendly with them do not go to his house to try to get your property back.

Writing him a firm but friendly letter asking him to return the cross and chain might help. A letter has more impact than a telephone call on some people.

MOTHER SAYS NO: (Q.) I like Tim very much and he likes me. We have been seeing each other privately because my mother says I'm too young for boys. I am 14. How can I tell her I'm not to young to date? All my girl friends do. — Old Enough in Massachusetts.

(A.) The way you phrase it sounds nice. But what you are really doing is sneaking out to see your boy friend. This is a practice that gets lots of girls into lots of trouble.

Some parents think that 14 is too young for a girl to have outside dates. I do not disagree with them on this, but I do believe 14 is old enough for girls to have boy friends.

Talk to your mother about Tim. Ask her to let you invite him to your house to meet her and your father. Ask her to let him visit you at home at reasonable intervals. Promise to follow her rules about these visits.

Can your cigarette pass these 5 simple tests?

If you've ever had second thoughts about the brand of cigarette you smoke, here's a quick way to find out if it really delivers what you want.

These five simple tests will tell you a lot about quality, freshness, and taste.

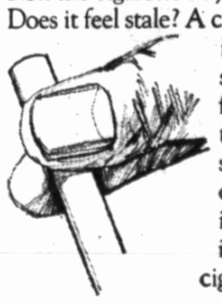
And if you make these tests with a Winston, they'll tell you why Winston smokers can point to their brand and say, "How good it is!"

Test #1 Sniff It

Take a whiff of the tobacco. Does it smell rich and fresh and appealing? If your cigarette is Winston, you'll recognize the aroma of costly Vintage Leaf Tobaccos. Winston chooses the most nearly perfect leaves money can buy. Then we age these rare tobaccos in wooden casks. We do it for the same reason you'd age a fine wine. Aging makes our tobaccos mellow and brings out that extra dimension of natural goodness.

Test #2 Feel It

Roll the cigarette in your hand. Pinch it slightly. Does it feel stale? A cigarette that's been waiting in a warehouse, or on a shelf, can lose some of its freshness. And some of its taste. But, because Winston sells so fast, every pack comes to you fresh. The fact is, on any given day, Winston is likely to be the freshest cigarette your money can buy.



Test #3 Take a puff... before lighting

Take a puff—without lighting it. That's a good way to learn about the tobacco and the filter. If you can taste the tobaccos without lighting up, you know there's richness up front. And that the filter doesn't get in the way of the taste. Winston's exclusive Filter-Blend, a top-secret blend of different tobaccos, works with Winston's modern white filter to deliver satisfying taste in every puff.

Test #4 Light It

Does it burn evenly? Here's a critical test of the way your cigarette is made. A cigarette rolled fresh, packed full and made with care will burn evenly, draw easily. Winston always does. How does your brand shape up?

Test #5 Smoke It

What could be simpler? That's the real test of a cigarette. Can it deliver good taste and real satisfaction every time you light up? Winston can. Ask a Winston smoker. Any time. He'll tell you in four simple words: How good it is.

Ask a Winston smoker. He'll tell you

HOW GOOD IT IS.

Pachall, Barron Win Partnership Tourney

Two home-grown products, Richard Pachall and Jerry Barron, made their first day lead stand up in the annual Big Spring Amateur Partnership Golf Tournament here Sunday, winning a two-shot victory with a 36-hold score of 130.

Pachall and Barron followed the 64 they registered Saturday with a 66 Sunday.

The defending champions in the tournament, Duncan Boyer and Larry McNeeley of Abilene, had too far to go Sunday although they picked up a stroke on Pachall and Barron. They wound up second with a 132, which made the trip worthwhile.

Two other Abilene players, Shane Fox and Steve Long, held on to claim third place with a 138.

Two teams, including John Disosway and Criss Young of Big Spring, deadlocked for fourth place, each with a 134. Snyder's J. B. Koonsman and Jay White of Lamesa also came in at that figure.

First place was worth $350 in prizes for Pachall and Barron. Boyer and McNeeley claimed $250 in merchandise. Third place winners receipted for $150 in awards while fourth place meant a return of $100 on the investment, fifth place $60, sixth place $50 and seventh place $40.

Dr. Robert Johnson and Bill Sikes of Brown, very much in contention after Saturday's round of 69, didn't even turn in a score Sunday. Three other tandoms also picked up.

In the handicap division, Kirby Horton of Big Spring and Nelson Donahoo, Dallas, outlasted Kirk French and Gary Littlejohn in a two-hole playoff to claim the $350 first place award.

It was Donahoo's birdie on the second hole that sent the foursome back to the clubhouse. The two twosomes had tied at 125 in regulation play to beat out the combination of Pat Weaver and Howard Hall by a single stroke.

Fourth in that division was the team of James Petty and Niles Cole, who finished with a 127.

A total of 220 players took part in the two-day event, held at the Big Spring Country Club, and it was a pronounced success, although a light rain, not enough to stop play, fell Sunday afternoon.

Cardinals Tip 2 Opponents

The Big Spring Cardinals had to go all-out to topple San Angelo in the opening game of their double header here Sunday, 2-1, then protected their undefeated record by mauling the Odessa Orioles in the five-inning second bout, 12-0.

The Red Birds have now won 10 straight games. They go to San Angelo next Sunday to play two contests where perhaps they face their sternest challenges of the year.

It took a ninth-inning run by Orlando Olague, who had reached base on an error, to give the Cardinals their win over San Angelo. Grizzle raced home on a one-baser by Jessie Zapata.

The Cards collected only four hits in that contest but Jody Florez, on the mound for Big Spring, was even tougher. He yielded only three safeties.

Big Spring managed its other run in the sixth when Sammy Rodriquez legged it home on hits by David Gamboa and John Grizzle after reaching base on a bobble. Rodriquez had moved up on a passed ball.

Petty Claims Win In Alamo

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Richard Petty figured the monkey that rides Buddy Baker's back at Texas World Speedway would catch up with him sooner or later Sunday.

And when it did, Petty, the four-time NASCAR driving champion, passed Baker to win the NASCAR sanctioned Alamo 500 stock car race after Petty had spent most of the afternoon dueling with Baker for the lead.

"My plan was just to keep the pressure on and wait for him to make a mistake," Petty said of Baker, who has a long history of hard luck at TWS's 2-mile oval track.

The mistake was in the form of a battery cable on Baker's car that broke on the 214th lap with Petty and Baker running in a wheel-to-wheel deadlock.

Weiskopf Winner At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus will be the favorite in this week's U.S. Open, but the hottest golfer enroute to Oakmont Country Club today for America's most prestigious tournament has to be Tom Weiskopf.

The 30-year-old Weiskopf won the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic Sunday with a 14-under-par 274 for his third triumph on the pro tour in the last four he's played. The $30,045 first prize boosted his earnings to $151,867 for the year, and moved him ahead of Lee Trevino into third place on the money list.

Met Bats Cool Off Behind Koosman

By The Associated Press

Jerry Koosman is about to sue the New York Mets for non-support. You couldn't blame him, really.

"I've had only three runs to work with in the last four games," said the Mets' left-hander.

Sunday, he got nothing at all—and as a result, lost a 4-0 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'm having the same problem that Tom Seaver had for us earlier in the year," said Koosman, referring to a stretch this season when the Mets scored only two runs in four games for their ace right-hander.

Koosman started out as New York's hottest pitcher with five straight victories, but cooled off of late with five straight losses.

In the other National League games, the Houston Astros whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-1; the Chicago Cubs stopped the Cincinnati Reds 9-7; the Montreal Expos trimmed the San Francisco Giants 7-6; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the San Diego Padres 11-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 5-2.

American League scores: Milwaukee 8, California 6; Oakland 5, Detroit 0; Kansas City 7, New York 4; Minnesota 11, Baltimore 4; Boston 10, Texas 1, and Chicago 5, Cleveland 3 in the first game of a doubleheader and Cleveland 6, Chicago 5 in the second game.

Cesar Cedeno knocked in five runs with two homers, leading Houston over Pittsburgh. Cedeno hit a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run shot in the ninth.

Two home runs by Rick Monday and one each by Pat Bourque and Ron Santo powered Chicago past Cincinnati. Monday, who hit only 11 homers all last year, hit a solo shot in the first inning and a two-run blast in the second.

Johnny Bench hit a homer for Cincinnati and boosted his National League-leading RBI total to 48.

Boots Day drilled a tie-breaking, two-run single in the eighth to lead Montreal past San Francisco for a three-game sweep over the NL West leaders.

Three Firsts Won By Team

COAHOMA — The six-member Coahoma Track Club returned from the McCamey meet Saturday with an abundance of ribbons and Coach Noran Roberts said he would welcome additions to the team for its trip to Seminole this week.

Only first place winners for Coahoma at McCamey were Jean Parks in the 50-yard and 100-yard dashes and Putt Powell in the shot put.

However, the Coahomans claimed many other ribbons. Charles Tindol grabbed off second places in the high jump and 220 and was third in the 100.

Tim Tindol was second in the 220 and high jump and third in the 100 and broad jump.

Robbie Tindol was second in the discus and third in the shot put.

Jean Parks also won a second place in the broad jump. Debra Meyer was second in both the 50 and 100.

In addition to winning the shot put, Choate was third in the 200 and sixth in both the discus and 100.

Those interested in joining the team can contact Roberts at the high school any time during the day.

Vicinity Has Big Share Of Texas Oil Production

Last year, one of every 40 barrels of oil produced in Texas came from Howard and the six counties touching it.

Or, one of every three barrels produced in the state came from counties within 100 miles of Big Spring.

These are some of the comparisons to be drawn from the figures compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association from the records of the Texas Railroad Commission.

These showed a total of 1,290,514,953 barrels of crude oil produced in the Lone Star state during 1972. Of this, 401,410,357 barrels came from a 100 mile radius of Big Spring.

The figures showed 36,603,022,439 barrels of oil have been produced in this history of Texas, and 7,694,370,033 of them have come from this 100-mile circle.

During 1972, Howard and its contiguous counties turned out 56,644,141 barrels oil, or 157,672 per day. Since they began producing oil, they have together produced 1,055,986,067 barrels.

A neighboring County, Scurry, has done better than that by itself with a cumulate production which last year crossed the billion-barrel mark, or more specifically 1,011,915,520. It so happens that Scurry is now the leading oil producing county in the state. During 1972, it turned out 85,386,766 barrels. Even Gregg County in East Texas which holds the cumulative total record of 2,345,958,463 barrels of recovered oil, was far off the pace with 53,390,345 barrels Ector was the nearest with 71,446,403.

Andrews County, which for several years has set the West Texas pace, faded to third place with 65,610,689 barrels. It's cumulative total is 1,584,649,719. Ector's cumulative total is 1,584,649,719. Ector's cumulative total is 1,796,939,269 barrels.

The 1972 production total was a record for Texas, according to Texas Mid-Continent. It was tops for the nation and represented 38 per cent of the country's total output. The increase was 67.8 million barrels over 1971 production, and one reason for the gain and the record was that for the first produced at capacity.

Value of the production was $.5 billion.

The accompanying tables show the record of neighboring counties, and then those within a 100-mile radius of Big Spring:

Nature Vies With Humans For Streams

AUSTIN — Saltcedar and mesquite, destructive of grassland range and the vexation of many ranchers, also compete with man for the flow of streams in West Texas, according to a Texas Water Development Board publication.

Along the arid flood plains of the upper Brazos River drainage alone, the report reveals, over 92,000 acre-feet — 30 billion gallons — of otherwise useable water is discharged into the atmosphere each year by these plants.

Report 168, "Woody Phreatophytes Along the Brazos River and Selected Tributaries Above Possum Kingdom Lake," was written by F. E. Busby, Jr. and J. L. Schuster. The term "phreatophytes" is applied to those deep-rooted plants that can pull out large amounts of water directly from the water table.

The saltcedar is considered particularly obnoxious because it is not part of Texas' native ecology. Introduced from the Old World in the 1800's, presumably as an ornamental shrub, the plant has spread profusely and now infests nearly a million acres along streams in the western United States.

While mesquite is native to Texas, its range has increased through overgrazing of grasslands coupled with periodic drouth. Continuing spread of both plants was documented by comparing recent aerial photographs with those taken in previous years.

Dense thickets of mature mesquite trees are indicated to use about 40 inches of water annually where this amount is readily available. Saltcedar stands can use over twice this much — about 86 inches.

* * *

One of the worst saltcedear infested streams is the Pecos, on which considerable sums have been spent in experimental eradication.

Even the Colorado River Municipal Water District is finding this a difficult plant to combat, particularly in the Lake Thomas area where the district has tried everything from burning to plowing, all without greatly encouraging results.

The plants also are increasing in the Colorado River bed, and even on the upper reaches of Beal's Creek, a Colorado tributary, there is a pronounced spread of this pest, which, little over a generation ago, was of minor consequence.

GRANDPA, GOOD NEWS

Elderly Women Outnumber Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are more women than men among the nation's senior citizens, and female domination of that age group is expected to increase, according to a Census Bureau profile.

According to figures compiled from the 1970 census there are 11.4 million elderly women in the nation compared to 8.4 million men over 65 years of age. That works out to 722 men for every 1,000 women.

And looking ahead, the bureau predicted that the ratio will decline so that by 1990 there will be only 675 elderly men for every 1,000 women.

"Men have not benefited as much as women by the declining death rate of this century," said the bureau, but it did not list the reasons for this.

The report noted that in 1930 the number of men and women over 65 was about equal, but between 1960 and 1970 the population of elderly women increased twice as fast as that of elderly men.

Over-all between 1960 and 1970 there was a 21 per cent increase in the population of elderly persons, a faster rise than that of the population of the country as a whole.

Chance To Go Slow

The action of Greek strongman George Papadopoulos in abolishing the monarchy by decree and declaring himself president of a new republic presents the United States and other Western nations with a diplomatic dilemma.

Papadopoulos has ruled Greece for six years now, but under a constitution declaring the nation a democratic monarchy on the British mold. It is to that government, established under that constitution, that Western diplomats are accredited. It would seem, then, that a new round of recogniions of the legitimacy of Papadopoulos' rule would be required; such moves by Western governments would perhaps doom the chances of restoration of King Constantine and, given the Papadopoulos record, ensure his self-perpetuation in the role of dictator.

Our policy toward Greece has been confusing. Rightly or wrongly, we are regarded by many nations as a prop to the dictatorship, since we have continued, with a few breaks, military and economic assistance. Yet we have lamented, particularly in congressional resolutions, the winking out of democracy in the nation which was its cradle.

Now we are presented with another opportunity to influence the future of the Greek government. We should not act hastily to give Papadopoulos the legitimacy he desires; instead, we should try to obtain assurances the referendum now called for will in fact by a free vote on the monarchy vs. the new republic. And should Papadopoulos renege on his promise to follow the dictates of the referendum, or to restore democracy under constitutional law if his republic plan wins, then we should end our support of his regime.

The rationale for supporting the Greek government has been the necessity to NATO defenses of the Greek military. But recent events, including the mutiny of a Greek warship and a plot within the navy to depose Papadopoulos, bring the dependability of the Greek contribution to NATO into serious question. That is too slender a reed on which to hang our policy.

Don't Be Blackjacked

Robert Calvert, chairman of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission, reports that representatives of powerful county government groups have taken up the cudgel against changes that would affect county structures.

The chairman has received letters and statements which are thinly veiled threats to sabotage the whole process of constitutional revision if a hands-off policy is not maintained in respect to present county and precinct offices.

We personally feel that reform in this direction is desirable if not imperative. It would be a shame to shirk from this challenge simply because vested interests with political clout threaten to use their blackjacks. This issue must be faced head on, and let the people decide.

An Easy Way Out

Idle thoughts:

Why should the government devise new ways to make the ultra-rich share the tax burden? The good, old US of A wastes enough of the loot it extracts from regular working stiffs, as it is.

A LOT OF people on the edge of the ledge actually don't realize how easy it is to take the plunge and end those embarrassing calls from money lenders and people who extend credit. The following ad appeared recently in a California news organ: "Join the 1,000,000 consumers who filed bankruptcy in the last 5 years and got out of debt. Stop wage attachments, suits, harrassments. Keep home ($20,000 equity), clothes, all household equipment, $2,000 plus 20 other items after bankrupty. Call for FREE info . . ."

Here's a little item which might interest you: Inflation has gripped the lumber industry to such an extent, it's estimated by some that the cost of a $28,000 house has increased by $1,200 each six months' period over the past couple of years. It's also said that each $1,000 increase puts a house out of the reach of another 1.5 million people. No one in the trade wants government controls, however.

SOME PEOPLE gag at a gnat and swallow a camel, but not the French. There are over 1,000 butcher shops in France which sell horse meat — but then the French, bless them, eat snails and call them a great delicacy.

If good times are half of what they are cracked up to be, why does it take half as long to get into debt and twice as long to get out?

Because you've grown lazy and are inclined to let some one else pursue the chore for you, Ma Bell is devising a plan to make you pay for the privilege of having a telephone company employe hunt up a number for you.

THOUSANDS OF calls are made daily to "411," a number that brings a voice on the line saying "number assistance."

Some patrons of the phone never bother to look up a number, secure in the knowledge that the special operator will do it for them.

So are you willing to pay for the help? Eventually, you're going to have to.

My Answer

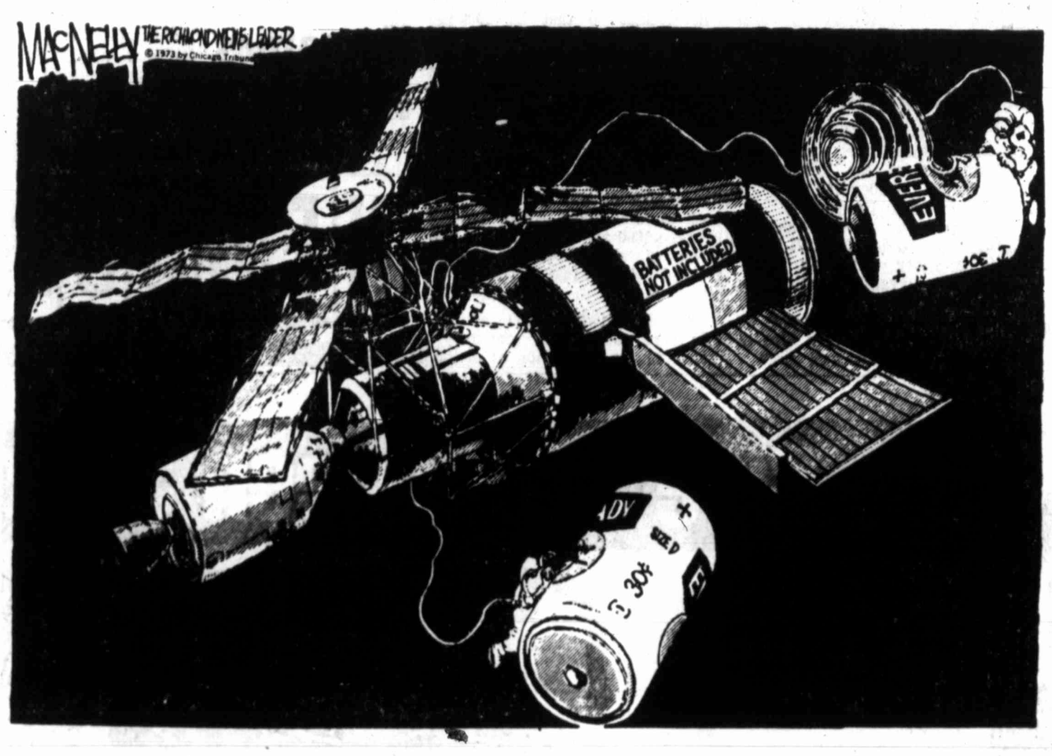
BILLY GRAHAM

I know it is said that two things nobody escapes are death and taxes. You would think we could adjust to these realities, but I can't get over the death of my husband. Even as a Christian, I find no solution to my grief and loneliness. What can I do? L.T.

I'm glad that in Hebrews 4, it says "Jesus is our great High Priest . . . . . This High Priest understands our weaknesses." So first of all, you need to come to God in prayer knowing that your grief and loneliness are thoroughly understood. Furthermore, it is accepted as the inevitable reaction of a finite human being. Don't apologize for it — simply ask for the power to handle it and overcome it.

I rather think all of us Christians need to redefine death. A good perspective was proposed by a Scottish clergyman in the last century when he wrote: "We picture death as coming to destroy; let us rather picture Christ as coming to save. We think of death as ending; let us rather think of life as beginning, and that more abundantly. We think of losing; but let us think of gaining. We think of parting, let us think of meeting. We think of going away, let us think of arriving. And as the voice of death whispers, 'You must go from earth,' let us hear the voice of Christ saying, 'You are coming to Me.' "

I have always liked the Apostle Paul's word picture in Ephesians 3:15, "The great family of God — some of them already in heaven, and some down here on earth." Keep that image of you and your husband — the same great family — just temporarily separated.



Reluctant Alliance

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Melvin R. Laird's eleventh hour rescue expedition into Richard M. Nixon's White House, stubbornly resisted by both men all spring for divergent reasons, was finally forced on them last weekend at Camp David by the desperate bleakness of the situation.

CONFLICTING with his own desires and a pledge to his family, Laird accepted the top domestic post at the White House only after he saw domestic policy there had become immobilized by the Watergate scandal. President Nixon, who prefers advisers who give no advice and is not overly fond of the advice-prone Laird, offered the job only after incessant importuning by congressional Republicans, when he saw every other course closing fast.

Accordingly, while Laird's appointment has rallied flagging Republican morale on Capitol Hill (where presidential resignation talk had been rising), the future partnership between the two is uncertain. Laird has been clinically critical of almost everything done at the White House the last two months and will push for dramatic changes which may cause tensions.

THE LAIRD-to-the-White-House campaign began last fall long before Watergate's full eruption when far-seeing ex-Nixon aide Bryce Harlow, critical of the closed operation run by H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, privately boosted Laird as a super-presidential assistant. Laird would have no part of it, particularly so long as Haldeman and Ehrlichman were around.

Nor would the White House. Laird's influence there, fading in his latter months as Secretary of Defense, hit bottom last December when he opposed Mr. Nixon's bombing of Hanoi for fear it might upset the return of American POWs. During one meeting, Haldeman was coldly outraged at Laird for holding up the President's decision, treating Laird as an interloper.

JUNIOR NIXON aides confided the President wanted no part of Laird after last December. Pressure came not from the White House on Laird but from Laird's old colleagues in Congress.

On April 17, the two top Republican congressional leaders — Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan — asked the President to name a Laird-style chief domestic aide who would consult the Hill. On April 30, Scott and Ford relayed word to Mr. Nixon through White House lobbyist William Timmons that Laird was their one and only choice. The President did not respond.

MEANWHILE, little that the White House was doing pleased Laird. He strongly disapproved of musical chair cabinet shifts as meaningless cosmetics. He wanted Mr. Nixon to take the initiative in naming a Democrat as independent Watergate prosecutor. He opposed naming Gen. Alexander Haig "interim" chief of staff, correctly predicting it would end a brilliant military career. He was appalled by inaccuracies in Mr. Nixon's May 22 "national security" statement.

Laird's many demands for return included: cabinet status and a seat on the NSC, neither of which domestic policy chief Ehrlichman had; guaranteed access to Mr. Nixon. When Laird and the President finally met at Camp David last Sunday, Mr. Nixon assured him he took no part in the Watergate cover-up. Laird accepted the job that day.

THE QUESTION now is: will the dire necessity that brings them together keep them together and save the Nixon presidency?

Smallest Increase

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Difficult as it may be to accept, an authoritative compilation made recently shows that the United States had the smallest consumer price increase of any large trading nation in the past year.

The U.S. percentage increase from April to April was 5.1 per cent, compared with 9.6 per cent in Italy, 9.4 in Japan, 9.2 in the United Kingdom, 7.5 in Germany, 6.8 in France and 6.6 in Canada.

And in almost every instance rising food prices contributed heavily to the increases.

The figures were gathered by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, which has as a primary goal the promotion of policies designed to raise living standards while maintaining a nation's financial stability.

The United States, therefore, is not alone with its specific problem of inflation and its more general problem of an economy that seems unwilling to respond to either fine tuning or formal restraints.

Despite a crescendo of economic activity, characterized by rising sales, profits, incomes, new housing and a long list of other highlights, there are many flat notes: 5.1 per cent unemployment, rising prices, a weakened dollar.

But in the United States, uniquely, there is another flat note, and that is a growing pessimism about the problems, especially as they relate to the ability of the administration to correct them.

Polls show that Americans of various persuasions believe that firmer control of the economy from Washington is essential to contain price excesses that, instead of abating, are holding at high levels or intensifying.

That much was indicated by the latest wholesle price report, which showed a 2 per cent rise for May — 24 per cent on an annual basis — led by a 4.7 per cent increase in farm products, which translates to more than 50 per cent a year.

Nevertheless, the Nixon administration holds to its Phase 3 economic policy, seemingly indifferent to what the polls claim the American people are telling it, that the problem now is political as well as economic.

In other words, if Phase 3 is working in a strictly economic sense, most Americans can't see the proof. Businessmen, workers, homemakers and others no longer seem to trust the statistical signals that Washington claims are proving the correctness of its policy.

And they cannot be blamed.

For well over a year they have heard Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, conclude from the distressing statistics each month that now, finally and certainly, the nation was on the road to equilibrium.

The view is now widespread that perhaps even the administration itself no longer believes in its policies but that, overwhelmed with Watergate, it cannot take on an economic offense, or ask the people to follow it in one.

First National City Bank's monthly economic letter, published today, expressed this widely shared opinion: " . . . while the Washington bureaucracy is making its routine decisions and the business of government seems to be proceeding normally, few recommendations for policy changes or proposals for new policies initiatives are emerging from the departments.

"One reason is that many important positions down to second and third levels in the departments are lying vacant . . . But even if all the slots had been filled, the Watergate atmosphere is hardly conducive to White House initiative."

It notes that important policy proposals, such as the trade bill, revenue sharing and tax reform, no longer are regarded by Congress as political imperatives mandated by the President's election victory.

And overseas, despite the feeling that the dollar might already be undervalued, its price continues to fall. Why? Fears, explain international bankers, that the President's authority to control the economy has been undermined by Watergate.

Love And Marriage

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Marriage, they say, is a game of give and take.

Whether it is a game is questionable, but there is no doubt that there is a great deal of give and take.

For, no matter how perfectly teamed two married people are, there are always moments of annoyance or vexation when one feels he has to assert his superiority or take the other one down a bit. This is as inevitable as human nature.

Wives and husbands perform this matrimonial ritual in different ways and each has his own vocabulary for it.

Here, for example, are a few typical ways in which a wife may put her husband in his place:

"You know, if you were only a few inches taller, not so many people would notice your hair is getting so thin on top."

"Your pants are getting shiny again. You must spend more time sitting in your swivel chair in the office than the other men do."

"In case your secretary forgets to remind you, dear, next Wednesday is our wedding anniversary."

"I wouldn't say I have any regrets, Harry, but I was going with a medical student when I met you, and now and then I wonder what it would be like to be a doctor's wife, they say they live in the lap of luxury."

"Don't let it worry you too much. All men your age begin to fall apart a little."

And here are a few remarks husbands make to wives when it's their turn to dish it out:

"Honey, what color was your hair when we first got married? I'm darned if I can remember."

"How many mink have to die, do you suppose, to make some woman a fur coat — 20, 30, 50?"

"No, I don't regret not marrying that red-haired girl I knew in college. You know what Casanova said, 'All cats are gray in the dark.'"

"I guess the reason I don't talk to you more is that you don't say much to me that needs answering."

"Why in heaven's name do you think Id ever want to divorce you? Your cooking isn't all that bad — and anyway we usually eat uot twice a week."

Give and take, take and give. As long as nobody wins, nobody loses.

Got What She Expected

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

I've had another blast from a woman telling me that having a hysterectomy ruined her life. It was not unexpected. In fact, I felt reasonably sure somebody would tell me how wrong I was.

Also not unexpectedly, the letter was 12 pages long but sent anonymously. I won't try to print it all — wouldn't have room — but will give part of it:

"Dear Dr. Thosteson: Regarding these fairy tales that women tell about hysterectomy, I could testify that it is true. I had it a year ago and it ruined husband told me just forget it, years. It ruined everyone in the family, my husband and my children.

"I began to feel so depressed that I cried all day and all night. I'm still crying now. My husband toldme just forget it, but I can't forget that terrible operation which ruined my entire life.

"One time we were driving and my husband got mad and said if I didn't stop crying he would drive at such a speed that we all would die.

"My daughter got sick because of my crying. When I didn't stop she left home. It was raining and already very late at night. I was so worried I prayed for my daughter to come back, and promised I would not cry any more. She came home soaking wet.

"My son was also made at my crying because they could not sleep at night. I tried to commit suicide but couldn't do it because I was thinking what would happen to our children if I die. My husband also lost interest in sex. I always feel sickly and weak. The operation made me fat and ugly. I gained from 115 pounds up to 140 . . ."

And so on for 12 pages.

I am dreadfully sorry for this woman. And I'm even sorrier for her family which has had to listen to her cry night and day for a year.

But the thing is that, in all 12 pages, there is no word of explanation as to why she is crying except that it is "because I had that dreadful operation."

All of which is another way of saying that if a woman starts out with the idea that it is a "dreadful operation," she's pretty likely to react accordingly.

But if she recognizes that the operation is not going to change her behavior, then it won't.

Incidentally, in her 12 pages she keeps asking why she ever agreed to the operation in the first place. That's one question she finally does answer. "The doctors said I would die if I didn't have the operation." Which is a pretty good reason.

It is my thought that if the family can get her to see a psychiatrist, he may be able to unknot the kinks in her emotions. I hope so.

It isn't the operation that has ruined her family. It's a year of days and nights of crying. And if the crying hasn't totally ruined her family, give it time and it will. So I hope she gets some understanding psychiatric counseling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently ran across an article which said you could lose weight by just dropping a capful of this magic liquid in your bath water and you would lose weight instantly. It seems fantastic but it is, so they say, guaranteed by a leadinglaboratory. Do you think it possible? — Mrs. G.G.

I suspect that the only thing you lose instantly with such stuff is the money you pay for it.

Pyramid Idea

QUEBEC (AP) — A commercial center to be built here will be shaped like a pyramid with an illuminated dome. It will provide 180,000 square feet of office and store space. The $5 million project is expected to be completed later this year.

Who Owns The Spoils?

Getting engaged came easy for Gwen and Andy. But getting married seemed so scary that they finally decided to call the whole thing off.

AT THAT point, however, a new problem arose; which one was entitled to keep the engagement ring? When Gwen refused to give it back, Andy hauled her into court.

After due deliberation, the court ruled in Andy's favor.

"An engagement ring is a symbol of the coming marriage," said the court. "If the engagement is broken off, the ring should be returned. The gift was conditional and the condition was not fulfilled."

MOST COURTS agree that the engagement ring is returnable — at least, unless the man was solely to blame for the breakup. Returnable also are other gifts exchanged between the two parties in contemplation of marriage.

But this does not extend to gifts given prior to the engagement — that is, gifts given during the period of courting.

THUS, A COURT rejected the effort of an elderly suitor to reclaim some jewelry he had given to a younger woman. The court said the gifts had been made at his own risk, on the chance this his courtship would succeed.

What about gifts from friends and relatives, when the marriage plans fall through? Consider this case:

A DOTING father was so delighted when his daughter became engaged that he set up a $5,000 joint bank account for the betrothed couple. Soon afterward, the romance cooled. But the young man retained his affection for the $5,000.

"That was an outright gift," he argued in a court test. "Her father didn't say we had to get married."

BUT THE court decided that even if the father didn't say it, he clearly meant it. The court said he would scarcely have set up a joint bank account except on the assumption that the two would soon be husband and wife.

A Devotion For Today . .

In the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert. And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water. (Isaiah 35:6-7)

PRAYER: Lord, may I experience the newness of Your presence in my life every day, so that I may not live a life that is parched and dead, but one that is fresh, alive, vital. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

SELECT NEW LEADER

Presbyterians Mull Split Within Church

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The general assembly of Southern Presbyterians resumed today with a new leader but the old threat of schism still the main topic of concern.

The 450 commissioners, or voting delegates, chose Dr. Charles E. S. Kraemer of Richmond, Va., as their moderator, the group's highest elective office.

Dr. Kraemer, whose religious philosophy is characterized as moderate-liberal, was the only candidate for the post, although nominations could be accepted from the floor.

In his first comments as moderator, Dr. Kraemer, alluding to the conflicts within the church, said: "We come here with opportunities and problems. Our first opportunity is to restructure the church. Every now and then every human organization needs to look at itself. . .

Overshadowing the normal assembly business was concern over the split within the church between liberals and conservatives, causing an exodus from the church which Dr. Bell labeled a "tragedy."

A number of Deep South conservates quit the parent church in protest over its increasingly "liberal" posture, and the legality of such a move is among the topics with which the general assembly must deal.

The split focused in part on the denomination's "liberalism" on social issues and evangelism and the proposed union of the million-member Southern body with Northern Presbyterians.

In what some interpreted as a move toward conciliation, the assembly approved on voice vote Sunday a proposal by Dr. Bell for appointment of a seven-member committee to examine the problems and seek solutions.

The assembly already has before it a resolution from the Presbytery of the Everglades (Florida) asking guidance for presbyteries faced with withdrawing congregations.

Ten of the 260 church delegates who voted in Atlanta June 3 to leave the denomination were from the Everglades Presbytery. They are forming a new denomination.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A 6 3 ♡A 10 8 7 3 ◇9 7 ♣8 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—What started out as a colorless holding has, in the light of partner's vigorous action, blossomed forth into a thing of beauty. Upon revaluation your hand is worth 10 points at a heart contract and, since partner's bidding indicates about 21, you are in the slam zone. One step is called for and should take the form of a cue bid of four spades.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠8 4 ♡Q J 7 ◇Q J 6 3 ♣K 9 8 6

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dble.	1 NT	?

What do you bid?

A.—Double. Assuming partner to be sound, either East or West has exaggerated his values. You have nine points in high cards and partner has at least 13 which gives your side a decided edge in high card strength.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A J 3 ♡K 6 ◇J 6 5 ♣A Q 9 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	3 ♣	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your partner has no strength or he would have doubled West or made a free bid. The opponents are in a bad spot, and a double by you will only serve to wise them up. West apparently has the rest of the clubs and from your distribution it is apparent that East's long suit will represent a much better resting place for their side.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠K J 9 7 6 3 ♡A J 9 8 ◇A ♣10 7

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	3 ◇	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Things aren't going your way, and it behooves you not to be stubborn. It is true that you have not yet shown that you have a good rebiddable spade suit, but there is a very grave doubt as to whether you can afford to do any bidding. If partner doesn't like spades, you may be in very deep water. The better part of valor is to resign yourself to a short loss by passing three diamonds.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K 9 7 4 2 ♡K 10 3 ◇A J 9 6 ♣A

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this somewhat unbalanced hand the door should not be shut to a possible game contract in spades and the suggested call is three diamonds. If partner returns to spades, we would accept that suit as trump. If partner returns to three no trump, we relax.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠4 2 ♡K 2 ◇K 6 3 ♣A K Q 9 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	1 NT	2 ♡

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Your hand should produce seven or eight tricks, and since you can stop the hearts and partner has indicated that he can take care of the spades, fulfillment of a no trump game should prove routine.

Q. 7 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠6 2 ♡K Q 5 ◇A J 9 5 ♣J 10 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ◇	Pass
1 ♡	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Dble.	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself and declined to do so. Showing the heart support at this point will serve to clarify the picture for partner. Since you are giving a delayed raise he will know you have only three card support and will be in a better position to decide on the final contract.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A 9 7 6 ♡10 9 7 6 ◇A 3 ♣A K 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Dble.	2 ♣	Dble.

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. A rescue is not to be considered. Had there been a better spot available, partner would not have offered an immediate raise over the double. If his values fit well enough, you may make your contract even against a badly stacked enemy trump holding.

Wide-open Spaces Awe Pair Of Irish Nurses

By WALTER MALONE

An advertisement declaring a need for nurses in Texas was read in London, England by two women from Ireland.

The two women, Gwendoline Murray and Atracta Moran, responded and ended up in Big Spring.

They received their nursing training in London, and now they are working in Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

Miss Murray, who is in her middle 20s, has three sisters and a brother in a family of seven. Her father owns a meat shop in West Meath in the Irish Midlands. She specializes in psychiatric care.

Miss Moran, 22, has three sisters and three brothers in a family of nine. Her father has a farm in Dublin, population about 750,000.

MET HERE

Miss Moran has been here for three months and Miss Murray about six weeks. The two had never met until they came to Big Spring.

Both of the women plan to stay here a year. After that Miss Moran will return to Dublin but Miss Murray will go to Australia to settle.

Both women wanted a small town after living several years in London, but they were unprepared for West Texas.

"I got rather frightened to look out over Midland (Texas) to see no grass," Miss Murray said. "I thought they were flying me to the desert. I thought there must be some mistake."

She said in comparison to London she was "just overawed" by the friendliness of the Big Spring people.

Both women must take the Texas State Board Examination in Austin to receive full registration as nurses in the United States.

ADJUST TO AREA

Mrs. David Duke, head of nursing services at Medical Center Memorial, let the girls stay with her until they found apartments.

The women said they are having to adjust to the Texas sun, heat and Country-Western music. Neither has a car and say the wide expanse of Texas surprises them.

"Nobody thinks anything of the distances," Miss Moran said. "I like some Country-Western music, but here there is just too much."

The two women said the American moon landings were watched closely in Ireland. Miss Moran does not think the space program is a waste of time. Miss Murray thinks the moon still possesses some mystery.

They said they had no trouble with American currency because Ireland also uses a decimal system.

'My Father Was Not Like Hitler'

LONDON (AP) — Vittorio Mussolini, eldest son of Italy's Il Duce, thinks his father was a misunderstood man.

"My father was not like Hitler," the 56-year-old Mussolini told a reporter.

"To me, it is a mistake to think that the political life of my father began only when he made the alliance with Hitler. For 20 years before that, he did many good things for Italy."

Vittorio is here for publication of a book that deals with Benito Mussolini's wife, his daughter and his mistress, Clara Petacci, who died with him during World War II at the hands of Italian resistance fighters.

Violent Deaths Include Five Drownings In Texas

By The Associated Press

Violence sent the death toll soaring in Texas once more during the weekend.

There were at least 33 fatalities between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, including 16 in traffic accidents. Eight homicides, five drownings added to the grim tally.

These were among the victims:

William Slave, 20, of Irving drowned Sunday in Grapevine Lake, where a small dog jumped overboard from a small sailboat. Slave went down in 45 feet of water while trying to save the animal, which swam ashore.

Royce Mack Jr., 26, of Dallas fell into the water while trying to walk a log and drowned Sunday in Lake Ray Hubbard. Three companions thought he was clowning until it was too late to reach him, they told officers.

Seven young men were playing in the street with a football and it landed in the yard of Pablino Yruegas, 65, at San Antonio, causing him to step forth angrily with a pistol in each hand, police reported. They said he fired seven shots before one struck and killed Gonzalo Barrego, 22. Authorities charged Yruegas with murder.

Henry Garrett, 30, of Muskogee, Okla., was killed Sunday as a car skidded off U.S. 281, hit a fence and rolled about five miles south of Premont in South Texas. Two companions suffered injuries which were not believed to be serious.

Police said Walter Pulley, 75, was stabbed to death Sunday in a fight at his Dallas home after he spilled hot grease on a sleeping associate, whom he accused of stealing his money. Officers said the case will be referred to the county grand jury.

Manuel Cisneros of Pleasanton was killed Sunday when a pickup truck in which he was riding south of Edinburg hit a U.S. 83 median strip and overturned. Another occupant was taken to an Edinburg hospital.
