

Increase in Phone
Rates Asked For
Dodson Users

A request for an increase in telephone rates for users at Dodson has been made by the General Telephone Company, Mayor Ewing Ready of that town revealed this week.

The request was made at a meeting of the city council earlier this month, when Gene Craig of Memphis represented the telephone company.

The council asked for additional time to consider the request. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, April 5.

The last increase in telephone rates came with the change-over to dial telephones in September, 1952, the Dodson Mayor said.

The requested rates, without the federal tax, as compared to the present rates, are:

Present Rate:
1 party business	$7.00
2 party business	5.50
1 party residence	4.00
2 party residence	3.25
4 party residence	2.75

She is now District 13 trustee and secretary of the local Auxiliary. She is a former member of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

For eight years she was teller of the Wellington State Bank, and she is now with Wells and Wells.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leach were reared here, he having been born here and Mrs. Leach coming while still small. Both are graduates of Wellington high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Lentz and his mother is Mrs. Emmett Leach.

Theme of the preaching in all these revivals will be "Christ as the Answer."

During the three weeks preceding the revival, prayer services are preparing the membership of the church for the services. These are in addition to the regular Wednesday night prayer services.

Cottage prayer meetings are on Thursday night, in five homes in the area, both city and country.

During the week of April 3, to 10, prayer services will be every night, with an all night prayer meeting Saturday night, April 9.

Police Warns
Of City Prowler

Police Chief Bill McCarver Tuesday, March 22, warned Wellington residents that a screen-cutting prowler is apparently operating in Wellington and asked the cooperation of the people in catching the culprit.

Approximately a dozen reports have been made by city residents, Chief McCarver said. Apparently the prowler has not tried to go inside a house, but merely cuts screens. One door has been cut and the others are windows.

Most of the calls have come between 11:00 p. m. and 1:00 a. m.

Working together are the police chief, Sheriff John Rainey, Deputy Kenneth Hodge, night officer Joe Childress and Constable Bruce Hite, but in every case, no trace has been found of a prowler by the time they could reach the scene of the call.

Chief McCarver urges anyone who may feel he has a prowler about the place to leave his light off, phone his nearest neighbors asking them to see if they can get a look at the prowler, then call officers. So far, no one has been able to furnish officers with any kind of description of the prowler.

The officers also will investigate any stranger seen walking about the residential area in a suspicious manner, whether it is night or day, the police chief added.

Rain & Snow Give County
To Inch & Fourth Moisture

Spring came to Collingsworth with blowing snow and some of the coldest weather of the entire season.

Rain and snow during the week-end gave the southeast part of the county up to an inch and a quarter of moisture, but played out about mid-way across the county and the northern and western sections will benefit little.

Gayle Young Miss
Irish Rose of 1955

Wellington's lovely Gayle Young was crowned Miss Irish Rose of 1955 at the St. Patrick's Day Celebration in Shamrock Thursday, March 17. Approximately 35,000 persons were on hand for the festivities.

Entered as Miss Wellington, the winner took honors over 18 other colleens representing towns throughout the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Young, 17 years old, and a junior in Wellington high school. She is one of the majorettes of the Skyrocket Band and has won numerous school honors.

Second place went to Miss Sandy Ely, entered as Miss Amarillo, and third to Miss Franceta Henry, Miss Erick, Oklahoma.

Cowboy Pink Williams, Oklahoma lieutenant-governor, placed the crown of Shamrock on Miss Young's head, as an estimated crowd of 2,000 filled the armory for the ceremony.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO RED CROSS
NEEDED; QUOTA ONLY HALF FILLED

One half of the Red Cross Roll Quota of $2,095 has been raised, and with only one week remaining on the drive, workers are being urged to complete their solicitation, Miss Katherine Boverie said today.

A number of people who have not been contacted for contributions are bringing them to Miss Boverie at the county library.

"This fund is badly needed. The money that is given during the drive is divided, with part of the money being retained locally, and that is what we use to finance the work of the Red Cross in Collingsworth County," Miss Boverie said.

O. T. Nicholson,
Pioneer of County,
Dies March 17

O. T. Nicholson, 75, a leader in the financial growth of the eastern Panhandle, and an early day teacher in Collingsworth county, died at his home in Shamrock Thursday, March 17, unexpectedly.

He had been to the Farmers and Merchants Bank of which he was president, earlier in the day and watched the St. Patrick's Day parade.

Mr. Nicholson was born March 9, 1880, in DeKalb County, Alabama and came to Texas in 1898. It was the following year that he arrived in the Panhandle, in a howling blizzard, and came to the ranch of his cousin, Judge E. H. Small, near Aberdeen.

His first job was teaching the Aberdeen school. Already tough big boys had run off several teachers, but the new teacher didn't run, although he recalled that he had to whip 11 boys one day. The job paid $30. a month.

He later taught a school on Elm Creek, then worked as a horse wrangler for the Mill Iron Ranch. Still later he was deputy county clerk in Wellington.

When the railroad built into Texola, he put his belongings in a tow sack and moved there, entering the real estate cattle and insurance business. It was there he got his first taste of banking, which was to become his profession.

He helped to organize the Farmers and Merchants Bank about 1909, after having worked at the First National Bank in Shamrock and owned with Ira Speed the Texola Bank.

He was married to Miss Mabel Moore in 1905.

Mr. Nicholson was a strong supporter of the Red Cross.

New Irrigation
Wells at Dodson

Three new irrigation wells in the Dodson area this week are being watched.

Ernest Nipper has one well about 5 miles southwest of Dodson; L. L. Collins has one about three miles southwest; and Hilliard Scott has one about two miles southeast of town. All are described as good six-inch wells.

One importance of these wells is their value to their owners, but another important point is that it extends the section in the Southeast part of the county where water exists in irrigation quantities.

Heretofore, most of the wells have been south of town, where Hugh Painter and Arnie Lewis have brought in wells about three miles south, and L. C. Hill and John Sherman have irrigation developments farther south in Childress county.

The three new wells were brought in by the H & R Drilling Company of Pampa.

District Meet April 16

Rocket Track Team To Panhandle Relays Sat.

The Skyrocket track team will participate in the Panhandle Relays at Panhandle Saturday, April 2, Coach Maxey McKnight, has announced.

The entire team is due to take part.

During the Easter weekend, they probably will be in Childress for a practice session with that high school, then on Saturday, April 16, the Rockets will take part in the District meet at White Deer, their coach said.

The regional meet will be April 23 at Lubbock.

In Wellington, rain falling Saturday evening amounted to .20 of an inch, while the snow that fell Monday measured out .05 inch of moisture in the rain gauge at the city hall, Jim Williams said.

This brings Wellington's rainfall to approximately 1.60 inches for the year. Mr. Williams said about .53 was recorded February 4. Twenty-four hundredths was recorded from rain January 3 and 4, and .25 inch of moisture from the snow January 10.

The rain grew heavier toward Dodson, and still heavier on into Oklahoma to the Wichita Mountains. At Dodson, .75 inch was recorded in the rain gauge at the school, T. E. Lennon said. About .65 inch of this was from rain. The temperature registered about 20 degrees Monday morning and 25 degrees. It is presumed that the fruit is killed, although it cannot be definitely determined if it is a total loss for several days.

Wheat in the Dodson area that survived the dry weather looks good, although some patches had died out.

Dennis Holland reported that

April 1 Car
Tag Deadline

John Rainey, Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector, reminded this week that April 1 is the deadline for buying vehicle tags without penalty.

"If you don't have your tag, we urge you to do it the first thing. There's already a rush in our office at certain times, and it will get worse as the week goes on", he said.

His office also explained how the weight of cars is determined for licensing purposes, a procedure misunderstood by some.

"We take the weight of the cars from the manufacturers' certificate, round it out to the next 100 pounds, then add 100 pounds to take care of the weight of gas, water, spare tire and added accessories", Miss Louise Fulcher, deputy, explained. "For instance, a car that is shipped from the manufacturer weighing 3225 pounds, is rounded out at 3300. Then 100 is added for the accessories, gas, etc., making the weight for license purposes 3400".

Domestic Science Club Observes It's Fortieth Anniversary With Luncheon

Members of the Domestic Science Club, Wellington's oldest study club, observed the 40th anniversary of its founding with a luncheon in the home of Mrs. L. C. Hill Thursday, March 17. Former members who have moved from Wellington were invited to return, and the day became one of enjoyable reminiscence, but at the same time through the discussions ran the note which revealed the valuable contributions the club has made to the town.

The club's colors of yellow and white were carried out, and the birthday cake was white decorated in yellow roses. Arrangements of jonquils and peach flanked the cake, and these flowers, with Japonica, were used through the other entertaining rooms. Small tables placed on the living porch, were covered in yellow cloths and white place cards were decorated with yellow roses. Favors were yellow and white rose cups filled with mints.

Present were six former members: Mrs. Herbert Dysart of Plainview, Mrs. C. C. Small of Austin, Mrs. Aubrey Hilburn of Childress, Mrs. Davis Robinson of Irving, Mrs. Orland Butler of Pampa, and Mrs. Lee O'Neil of Lubbock, one guest, Mrs. Billy Dysart of Plainview; and these present members: Mrs. J. F. Johnson, Mrs. E. N. Lewis, Mrs. J. B. Llorente, Mrs. W. R. Orr, Mrs. Henry Sullivan, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Deskins Wells, Mrs. Charles Caldwell Jr., Mrs. Elvis Crawley, Mrs. John Sherman, Mrs. Walter Starr, and the hostess, Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Stevenson, president of the club, presided at a short business session following the luncheon, then gave a history of the club. The remainder of the afternoon was given over to reminiscence and looking at a club scrapbook compiled by Mrs. Hill.

Three members were unable to attend, Mrs. Pink Sullivan, Mrs. Dudley McMillin and Mrs. Cleo Templeton.

The club history was compiled by Mrs. O'Neil several years ago. "Wellington had only a few study clubs in the early days of the town," she recalled. "Clubs were not popular among the men and ministers spoke of them in a whisper, believing that they were a little inclined to be worldly, considering the fact that sometimes for a social meeting they played 42. It took some time for the community to become educated to the fact that when several ladies were seen going into one house it didn't always mean someone was very sick or dead, but that it might be the next worst thing, a club meeting, considered by many as such a waste of time."

The Domestic Science Club was organized at the Wellington Hotel in March 1915, with Mrs. Dysart as hostess. Mrs. T. A. Hudson was elected the first president and the charter members were Mmes. A. E. Brady, J. D. Camp, Herbert Dysart, Joe Hardy, Hudson, W. R. Orr, C. C. Small, R. R. Sherwood, R. L. Scott, W. W. Joyner, and Mrs. R. L. Templeton.

Only two of these charter members are present members: Mrs. Templeton, who because of ill health cannot be active, but who has been a member the entire 40 years; and Mrs. Orr, who dropped out of the club for a few years but who has been a member during most of its history.

The name, colors, club flower, chrysanthemum; motto "The Beauty of the house is order; the blessing of the house is contentment, the glory of the house is hospitality, the crown of the house is Godliness," and the object of the club—mental development, social intercourse, and training in domestic science, were adopted at the beginning and have not been changed.

Those first members immediately bought a set of books on home economics and began intensive study of such topics as "The House," "Household Hygiene," "Chemistry of the Household" and "Principals of Cookery".

This latter brought an amusing memory. One member due to give a demonstration on making meat loaf, declared she couldn't make a meat loaf and resigned from the club. Too, she had seen a former demonstration when a member let milk boil over on someone's new stove, and she didn't want that to happen to her new stove.

In the later years of the decade the members for possibly the first time in their lives were keenly interested in political issues of the day—and this was reflected in their study of "Woman Suffrage," "Political Issues and Women," "Laws Governing Voting," "Naturalization," "Taxes and Schools" and "Prohibition".

A course in American Literature followed.

In the fall of 1923 a book agent who was a high-pressure saleswoman came to Wellington and sold almost every member a set of books, which carried with it a study course. So that their money might not be wasted, the club followed this course, using their new books, for two years.

To add spice one year, a member gave a stunt at each meeting. Mrs. Sullivan, before her time, asked each member to write her favorite recipe. There was much talk about the cook book they were sure Mrs. Sullivan was going to give each member and one lady even promised to secure an extra copy for a former member then living in Dallas. But at the meeting, Mrs. Sullivan said she wasn't interested in the recipes at all, but simply wanted a specimen of the handwriting of each from which to tell her fortune. This she proceeded to do.

But it was from this stunt that the idea developed of issuing a cook book of favorite recipes of Wellington women. Today many of these cook books are still in use.

In earlier years, each member had to take her small children to club meeting and Mrs. O'Neil, in her history, recalled there was always much confusion. She, herself, was a teacher before her marriage and was used to children doing as they were told. Members recall one meeting when a long discourse on "Study of Child Life" was under way. Small Marianna Scott let out a frantic cry, and when she was quieted enough to tell what happened, she said young C. C. Small, now a prominent Austin attorney, had bitten her finger.

With good humor and high spirits, the members overcame their difficulties. In 1918, to attend a district meeting in Clarendon, they started early in the morning, went by Lillie to get a member, and by hand driving arrived in Clarendon, some 50 miles distance, by late afternoon.

Then there was the occasion when they served a formal dinner—in seven courses. The women worked two days preparing for it, but most of the husbands were shy of so much formality and fully a third failed to come. One who did refused to eat the fish course. He knew how hard it was to get fresh fish into Wellington and was afraid it was spoiled.

The entire history of the club is a record of much work on behalf of the community. During both World Wars, the members, as individuals and as a group, did much war work.

Among the more recent activities was an outstanding hobby show in 1939, which is still a pattern for later groups to follow. The Club's silver anniversary was observed in 1940.

Among the highlights of the club work in recent years have been the workshop for the District Federation of Women's Clubs in 1952, and a style show in 1953. For the last two years, the club has been in charge of the lighting ceremony at the Community Christmas tree.

At present they are helping with two projects, a curtain for the community building and improvement of Ellison Park.

One of their little known projects was to provide clothing for a family in Greece following the war. A gracious letter from the recipient is in their scrap book.

Past presidents, who served two years have been Mrs. Hudson, 1915 to 1917; Mrs. C. E. Stone, deceased, 1917-1919; Mrs. H. D. Creath, now of Wichita Falls, 1919-1921; Mrs. Joe Hardy, deceased, 1921-1923; Mrs. C. C. Small Sr., Austin, 1923-1925; Mrs. S. R. Pinkston, Vernon, 1925-1927; Mrs. O'Neil, Lubbock, 1927-1939; Mrs. Sullivan, 1939-1941 and 1947-1949; Mrs. Orr, 1941-1943; Mrs. Lewis, 1943-1945; Mrs. Templeton, 1945-1947; Mrs. Stevenson, 1947-1949 and 1953-1955; Mrs. L. E. Gribble, deceased, 1939-1941; Mrs. T. E. Bengt, Fort Worth, 1941-1943; Mrs. Hill, 1949-1951; Mrs. Wells, 1951-1953.

County Winner to Area Judging

Miss Langley Wins Nurse Recruitment Essay Contest

Melba Beth Langley, 18-year-old Quail senior, and daughter of Jim Langley, was county winner in the essay contest sponsored by the Texas Hospital Association, Sister Josephine Therese of St. Joseph's Hospital has announced.

She received a cash award of $10.

Her essay, entitled, "Why I Have Chosen Nursing as a Career", will be judged in the area contest.

Miss Langley's essay follows: WHY I HAVE CHOSEN NURSING AS A CAREER

There are endless opportunities for the American Youth of today. The major problem is choosing the right career to make the most of these opportunities.

My personal opinion concerning which of these opportunities I would choose for my career is something like this. First, I expect a good salary in a career. I think most people do. Second, I want to choose a career in which I can feel good while I am doing it. I want to feel that someone is benefiting by my work.

In applying my expectations of a career to choices open to me, I find the following statements true. First, the salary. I fully realize that nursing is not the highest paying job there is, but it does offer an income on which almost anyone could live.

My second expectation of a career is that my life will not be dull, nor will I feel that I am in a rut. By this I do not mean that I want my life to be always on a mountain top with something exciting happening all the time. I would be more willing to do something with a little less excitement without having life become monotonous, and I am quite sure that the life of a nurse can do this for me.

My third expectation in a career is the assurance of employment. There may not always be a need for secretaries, or file clerks or many other various jobs. Mechanical devices are taking their places. But in nursing there must be someone at the bedside at all times to keep watch over the patient. There must be someone there to record the reaction to various tests in the laboratory. I do not think there will ever be a machine invented that will take the place of the "girl in white" who has a cheerful smile and a kind word for those whom she cares for. I believe that as long as there are people on earth, there will be a need for nurses. There will always be people coming into and going from this world, or being slowed down a little by sickness while they are here, and nurses play a very important part in helping to make people endure these things.

The fourth thing I look for in a career is far more important to me than how much money I will receive. This is the factor which concerns my helping people. I cannot think of anything that pleases me more than making a sick child laugh again, or making some worried mother's eyes light up with admiration because her child is well again. Then there is the joy and satisfaction of knowing you have done all that was humanly possible even when the life of a person has been lost. It is not as if you had failed, but these is something there that tells you you have done your duty well, and a Higher Power has intervened.

Yes, I am choosing nursing as a career. I have analyzed it and what else can there be for me which fits my specifications more perfectly? I know I shall be proud when I can join the "Girls in White" and become a "Keeper of the Lamp".

How Much Is a Penny Worth?

It all depends on how you look at it. These are all American pennies. Worth, at face value, only one cent. But to a coin collector, some of these pennies are worth many times more. To him, their real value is high.

The real value of the pennies you spend for electric service is high, too. Think what you get for them in terms of comfort, convenience and easier living.

Electric service is always there to help with the housework, the cooking, the laundry and dishwashing. It will warm the baby's bottle late at night or help Dad shave in the morning.

When you count all the things your electric service does for you, don't you agree that you get more for the electric pennies than for the money you spend for anything else in your family budget?

Town Laws Need More Respect

Small municipalities have a hard time enforcing the laws which mean safety and security for their people.

Villages are up against difficulties larger places do not have. They do not have the same amount of tax revenues, to start with, so that they must put their law enforcement on a part-time or on a low-cost basis. More than that, they have a personal obstacle to meet, for many residents of small settlements resent simple law enforcement as a species of meddling in their business. Still another problem is the attitude of many outsiders, especially from larger centers, who take the liberty of making fun of the attempt of the small-town constable or justice of the peace to enforce the law.

It takes a level head to overcome all these difficulties.

Yet, it must be done, for the villages deserve the same safety and protection that other citizens receive.

Ideally, there should be a high degree of cooperation and helpfulness linking the law enforcement officers of cities, countries, and villages in the same area, with the men of the state police and the FBI taking their proper roles in a network of protection which looks after the safety of the whole population.

The effectiveness of all these participants in the work of law enforcement depends, to a considerable degree, on the attitude of the citizen, wherever he may live. In Mill Hall, for instance, where the authorities have decided to go from a policy of fines to enforce the parking ordinances, the success of the policy will depend on the general attitude of the citizens in backing up the authorities, and refusing to adopt the primitive attitude which regards law enforcement as interference.

Unless all citizens adopt the attitude that the laws should be enforced, even when they themselves run afoul of them, we shall have many difficulties in safeguarding the welfare of any community.

Some motorists, for instance, resent the traffic speed zones which smaller communities must establish to protect the safety of their pedestrians. Apparently, they feel that they should be free to rush through a village with the same speed they use on the open highway. That attitude is the reason why the accident rate in the non-urban areas is bigger than in the built-up city areas. Subconsciously, even a reckless driver slows down when he sees a big city; he disregards the safety of a village.

The smaller municipalities have a responsibility to insist that their laws and ordinances are observed and enforced. Their own citizens and those who pass through should recognize that responsibility and assist in meeting it.

Palm Sunday
Foreshadows Easter
Glory

Palm Sunday, with its celebration of Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem, its picture of the people thronged along Jesus' way, shouting their hosannas, is followed in our church calendar by Easter Sunday, again a day of rejoicing; this time in the Resurrection. The tragedy of the betrayal and the Cross falls in the days between. Glory and tragedy; doubt, suffering and sadness; then triumph and glory again. All this in the space of one short week.

With the triumph of Jesus in His Resurrection, the events of this week are the most important in all the history and religious life of man.

The supreme importance of these events is as fact. Yet they also symbolize something that has continuously been in the history of mankind, and is particularly emphasized at the present time.

Incredible as such a contrast seems in the few days between the hosannas of enthusiasm and the acts of violence, it is the way in which glory and tragedy have so often been intermingled in the affairs of men, but always lacking the complete fulfillment of the Resurrection.

One thinks of the great Crusade, with their pomp and zeal; the rallying of kings, the banding together of children.

Yet they were quickly followed by jealousies, betrayals, the sacrifice of the children and the tragedy of defeat. These episodes contained the tragedy we find between Palm Sunday and Calvary's Friday—without the glory of the Resurrection.

Our hope and dream is that there will be for mankind, a final Resurrection beyond all the glory and tragedy of the world; our faith is that from the palms and the Cross will come a Resurrection of triumphant glory, transcending all things earthly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jack Watson spent Sunday in Olton with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hackler.

Portable Aluminum
Irrigation Systems

Portable Aluminum Irrigation Systems were designed and developed for their own use by farmers with engineering experience.

Portable Aluminum Irrigation Systems were placed on the market at the request of other farmers because of their positive, trouble-free easy operation.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE FEATURES WHICH MAKE PORTABLE ALUMINUM IRRIGATION SYSTEMS OUTSTANDING:

Portable Aluminum Irrigation fittings are the only irrigation fittings where V-Gasket Seals are not susceptible to sand packing.

Portable Aluminum Irrigation systems are the only irrigation systems which may be uncoupled under all conditions from the center of each 20, 30 or 40-foot length pipe, made possible by an easy operating 1/4-turn coupling designed for an easy, simple, twist release.

Portable Aluminum Couplings are the only portable irrigation coupling without moving parts, springs or gadgets.

Portable Aluminum Valve fittings are the only valves which may be coupled and uncoupled with "one hand" this insures efficiency, with ease, and no loss of time, saves labor and uses pipe more hours per day.

Portable Aluminum has developed revolutionary designed automatic drain gaskets to drain lines at predetermined internal water pressures. (Note: Users should specify drainage pressure designed.)

Portable Aluminum Irrigation Systems are designed to cut friction loss by internally designed "water lubricated" couplings which allow maximum flow at minimum loss. In many cases this allows the use of 3-in. pipe where otherwise 4-in. would be needed with ordinary couplers not "water lubricated."

Style Show Winners Named

QUAIL PARENTS JOIN STUDENTS TO OBSERVE PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK

By Mrs. G. T. Stephens
Public School week was observed last week in the Quail School. The observance was launched Monday night when the pupils in grade school presented the History of Texas in pantomime and song. Chorus, quartet, trio and solo numbers including old Spanish hymns and modern favorites were given. The program was directed by Mrs. L. W. Wells. Each child in grade school took part in the program.

Thursday night the school orchestra and girls chorus with 25 members presented a program in the Tell School.

Friday was devoted to the F. F. A., F. H. A. projects shows. On Friday morning each class was excused one period to go see the Future Farmers exhibits at the show barn. This was also visitation day for the prents.

At noon lunch was served at the school cafeteria for the visiting parents and the school children.

At 2 p. m. a general assembly was called to see the Future Homemakers style show. The gymnasium was filled to capacity as twenty one Future Homemakers modeled their suits, dresses and ensembles they had made. Edith Messer, Betty Dollar, and Mary Jo Phipps won the three first prizes in the show. While second places were won by Sheri Graham, Marine Price and Nancy Stephens. Third place winners were Peggy Clay and Faye Lacy.

Judges for the style show were, Mrs. Herman Moseley, Mrs. Earl Gibbs and Mrs. Auburn Keller which was a difficult task. Since all the things modeled so nice and neat. The show was directed by Mrs. Monty Mitchell, Home Ec. teacher and Melba Langley acted as toastmistress.

Jake Tarter of Wellington was the judge for the livestock. Earl Farris, senior Future Farmer won two grand championships in the livestock. One in the swine division where his Hampshire female took the rosette and his yearling Hereford steer topped the beef animals.

Cash prizes totaling $150 were paid to winners of the first three places and ribbons were awarded fourth and fifth place winners. The F. F. A. program was Discussing safe driving, Mr. Cudd told the students, "Don't forget that courtesy in driving comes first, and most of our accidents are caused by the 'Nut' behind the wheel".

Clifford Beard discussed safety in everyday life. Two films, "Better and Safer Highways", and "Building of Tires" were shown.

under the supervision of Frank Kennedy, vocational agriculture teacher.

The class rooms in grade school and high school were neatly and attractively decorated with posters and work books made by the pupils. The maps drawn and colored by the pupils were also a credit to any school. The week was one of enjoyment for the pupils and teachers as well as parents and visitors of the school.
