Volume XXXIX

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Friday, Aug. 11, 1922.

Number 16.

FOUNDER OF SOUTH'S GREATEST FARM PAPER

Colonel Frank P. Holland and F. P. Holland Jr.,
of Farm & Ranch and Holland's Magazine
Attracted Here in Peculiar Manner.

Junction is signally honored this week in having two of the best known men in the State as visitors. A party composed of Col. Frank P. Holland, founder of Farm & Ranch and Holland's Magazine, F. P. Holland Jr., and the Colonel's grandson, Fred A. Jones Jr., arrived Wednesday afternoon from San Saba, where they had attended the San Saba Pecan Growers' Meeting the day and night before.

Col. Holland is not only one of the big men of Texas, but is Nationally known, and because he is Nationally known, is one reason for the invaluable work he has done during the past forty years in placing Texas before the outside world in a manner that has created an interest in her vast resources. Through Farm & Ranch, with a circulation of more than 150,000, and Holland's, with a circulation of more than 250,000, he has doubtless done as much in furthering the development of the Southwest as any other man in the State.

F. P. Holland Jr., is Vice-President and General Manager of the two publications and has been associated with his father since 1905.

Farm & Ranch and Holland's maintain offices in Chicago and New York and Mr. Holland spends much of his time at these places in the interest of the advertising end of the business.

While in the Eagle office on Wednesday night he recounted many interesting experiences growing out of his association with Sidney Porter (known the world over as O'Henry) and Harry Steger. Steger is a cousin of Mr. Holland, and was the first man in Texas to receive a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford. For many years Steger was associated with Doubleday, Page & Co., and a part of his work was to associate with, and in a manner look after O'Henry, who was wonderfully gifted as a writer, but otherwise rather irresponsible.

Steger was the man who "found" Irvin S. Cobb and assisted him to gain the prominence as a writer that he has. Mr. Holland is also a personal friend of such men as George Ade and Sidney Smith, and is a member of the same Club in Chicago, as are the writer and the cartoonist.

Some weeks ago when the Old Spanish Trail Caravan passed through Junction, some one requested E. A. Löffler to mail an advertising booklet of the Junction Hardware Co., to Colonel Holland. The trip these gentlemen are making is the result of this little bit of advertising that was sent out through the progressiveness of this local business house. Incidentally, they are looking for a desirable place for the Colonel's wife and R. V. Holland and wife and daughter to spend the summer. They came to see how the country would appeal to them and to see if proper accommodations could be secured. In these two respects their trip has been more than satisfactory, and their visit here will mean more to this advertising standpoint than from an advertising standpoint we could possibly estimate.

F. P. Holland Jr., is taking and collecting a number of desirable pictures of the mountains and rivers around Junction.

Colonel Holland has traveled in practically every important country in the world, and has made a thorough study of every section of the United States, and says that we have here as fine scenery and as desirable a climate as can be found in any part of the Union, and that when the people know what is here that those who are spending hundreds and thousands of dollars going to distant resorts, will come here. He placed emphasis on advertising that must acquaint the people with this country, stating that this country can sell its scenery and climate for many times the price it now gets for its production of livestock.

The party will leave in a few days for San Angelo and will spend several days on the Anson ranch near Christoval before going on to Del Rio, Laredo, then to Brownsville and other coast towns.

County Attorney Proves Himself Good Fisherman.

Attorney and Mrs. Knetsch went out last Wednesday to enjoy a little fishing for passtime and to get away from the whirl of city life. During the night luck was with them and after letting the big ones get away, as Judge Knetsch tells it, they were able to land two very nice ones and bring them into town the next morning. One weighed 14 pounds and the other 23 pounds. Small cats were used as bait and the fishing was done on the Porter Hodges ranch.

Merry Wives Meet With Mrs. U. D. Kindricks.

An attractive party of the summer season was enjoyed Friday afternoon, when Mrs. U. D. Kindricks was hostess to the Merry Wives Club, at the home of Mrs. Frank Baker.

The guests rooms were very artistically arranged in sun flowers, the color scheme being yellow and green.

For high score, Mrs. C. T. Holekamp received a linen puerst's towel and Miss Fae Taylor the guests' prize, a vanity case.

Miss Dorris Wright was given a hand painted fan for consolation.

A delicious ice course was served to the Mesdames H. O. Patterson, C. T. Holekamp, W. H. Baker, L. L. Skaggs, Frank Baker, Jim Moore, H. D. Taylor, Henderson of Ozona, Misses Dorris Wright, Cecil Martin, Ruth Baker, Clara Fritz, Fae Taylor, Annie Taylor of Rock Springs, Hazel Taylor of Sonora, Ellen Hall of Richland Springs, Katie Seelgion of Sugarland, Emma Mae Hodges, Josie Mae Patterson of San Antonio.

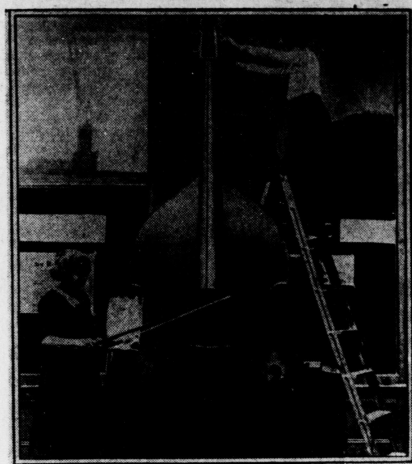

The next meeting of the Merry Wives will be with Mrs. L. F. Boyle.

618,928 Votes Cast in Primary Race for Senator

Dallas, August 5.—Of the total votes cast Mayfield received 163,910; Ferguson, 131,308 and Culbertson, 109,999; the others trailed far behind.

Complete unofficial returns from the Texas Democratic primary election of July 22, tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau, shows that Ferguson defeated Culbertson for second place in the senatorial race by 27,399 votes and that Mayfield received 32,602 more votes than Ferguson. The results in all other races were accurately forecast by the incomplete returns announced earlier.

Little Novene Gardner, who has been sick for several months died last Saturday morning and was buried at the Copperas Cemetery the following day. She was twenty-one months old and the daughter of Fletcher Gardner and wife. A large crowd attended the funeral services conducted by Rev. Durst.

World's Largest Violin.

One of the main features of the nation wide music conference held recently in New York, was the world's largest violin. It is 11 feet, 7 inches high, 4 feet, 7 inches wide, 13 inches deep and weighs more than 150 pounds. The strings, as thick as a man's little finger, are 7 feet, 13 inches long. The bridge is 12 inches high and the keys 8 inches long. The bow is 30 inches long.

A MATTER OF VALUES.

When the Preachers are paid like the Plumbers,
And Poets are paid like the Cooks,
When the world does not worship its Tummy,
And Merit goes further than Looks,

Then the Bread and the Meat will run heavy,
And the Pudding and Pie will count less,
For the Brains and the Heart will score higher
Than the Cut and the Cost of the dress,

And the Peacock will go at a bargain,
And the Parrot be sold below cost,
The Monkeys and two-legged Donkeys
Encounter perpetual frost;

When a man will consider his brother,
And share all the good things in sight,
Just because he discovers The Secret,
And longs for the Deeper Delight,

As he learns there is something more Filling
Than gripping, and grasping and strife,
And drops all the crowding and stuffing
To deal in the good things of Life.

—Charles Irvin Junkin.

Extra Service on Junction- Kerrville Passenger Line.

The Junction-Kerrville Mail and Passenger Line is now running a big Buick Six daily between here and Kerrville, with Bert Braley as driver, and the schedule as shown by their advertisement in this paper is followed very closely, and the public is assured of the very best service possible. The contract for carrying the mail is based on three days a week mail from Junction, returning the other three days each week from Kerrville. In addition to this contracted service, these people have been running daily between the two towns, and doubling back Saturday nights in order to be able to leave Kerrville about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning to bring the San Antonio Express into Junction by 9 a. m.

From the standpoint of daily papers, we have rather satisfactory arrangements. The Fort Worth and Dallas dailies are in the hands of readers, ordinarily, by 3 p. m., of the day they are dated, and the San Antonio dailies by 6 p. m. of the day dated.

It is probable that we will shortly have daily letter mail between here and Kerrville. A letter from Congressman Huds-peth Wednesday of this week, acknowledged receipt of the application which we recently sent in for daily mail, and also stated that he had taken this application and petition sent in by Mr. Hanks, to the Post Office Department, and presented it in person, and that some action would doubtless be taken within the next few days.

J. G. Ayala of Kerrville is proprietor of the Junction-Kerrville Mail and Passenger Line, and he, and those associated with him, are making every effort to give this section the very best in local service that connects with cars running into San Antonio from Kerrville.

Rain Falls in Many Sections Of Kimble County Recently

Since last Friday rains varying from light showers to as much as two inches, have fallen in different parts of the county. In Junction Saturday the precipitation was about 1-4 inch, with heavier rains east and northeast.

Monday night a light shower fell here and was heavier towards Menard. From the 14-mile school house to within a couple of miles of Menard about 1-2 inch fell. A heavy rain fell at McKavitt that day. Tuesday another light rain fell in Junction, and around two inches was reported north of town that brought Bear Creek down with a four or five foot rise.

The mail drivers reported rains towards Sonora, and good rain almost all the way to Kerrville. The rain was light on South Llano, except from the 700 springs on to Rock Springs, where a good rain was reported.

Colonel Holland, F. P. Holland Jr., and Fred Jones, of Dallas and Judge Stevenson and H. G. Perry were at Seven Hundred Springs and on the Stevenson ranch Thursday morning, and on Thursday afternoon the Dallas party, Dr. McMahon and H. G. Perry enjoyed a little fishing trip on Johnson Fork near Segovia.

TWO OCTOGENARIANS DIE THE PAST WEEK.

Well Known Kimble County Men Die One Day
Apart and Buried in Local Cemetery.
Services Conducted by Masons.

A well-known Junction character has passed out of our midst. The little figure of J. M. Tomberlin who so long was the care taker of the cemetery, will be seen no more. Last week he was stricken with pneumonia. His extreme age was against his recovery and on Friday, the 5th of August he passed away.

Mr. Tomberlin was born in Washington County, Arkansas, in 1849. At the time of his death, he was past eighty years of age. When a child he removed to Texas. He was twice married. His first wife, who was Miss Mollie Burton, died in 1872. Five children were born to that union. In 1874 he was married to Miss Emma Schmidt who survives him. They were the parents of six children. Most of his life he spent in Central Texas, but in 1905 he removed to Kimble County, where he has since resided.

Mr. Tomberlin was an interesting man; poor, industrious, cheerful, uncomplaining. He was a Confederate Veteran and was wounded during the war. For forty-one years he had been a Mason and for several years was secretary of the Cedar Valley Lodge No. 673. He was a Baptist and loved his church, appreciated his pastor, quoted the Scriptures readily and bore malice toward none. But he was best known to the community by his services as caretaker of the local cemetery, where he had been employed some thirteen or fourteen years.

The funeral services were in charge of the Masonic order.

Major William A. Spencer, for many years a citizen of Kimble County, died at Camp Wood, Texas, August 2, 1922. He was a native of Tennessee and at the time of his death, lacked but a few months of being 82 years of age.

The Major was a picturesque character. When a child he moved to Texas. In his young manhood, he was in the ranger service on the Mexican border. He delighted to tell of having once been invited with others to attend religious services by Robert E. Lee when he was in Texas as an officer in the Federal army before the war. When the war between the States opened, Mr. Spencer organized a company of which he was elected captain. Later he was promoted to the rank of major, which rank he held when the fighting ceased. For a number of years he was an active citizen of Wilson County. In 1879 he came to this part of the country. He assisted in the organization of Kimble County. At various times he held the office of sheriff, county judge and district clerk. For many years no man was better known in the county than he. He was a man of considerable education and had something of the old-time Southern gentleman's manner of conversation.

Major Spencer was married to Miss Carrie Taylor of Wilson County, in 1866. She preceded him to the better world more than a year and a half. One son, Kiance, and a daughter, Mrs. Jas. McDonough, with whom he has made his home for several years made their home in Kimble County. Other children live in various parts of Texas. He had been an ardent Mason for many years. That fraternity had charge of his burial services.

Thirty years ago he united with the local Baptist church. It is but fair to say that he could not at all times agree with his church in matters of public policy, but he never relinquished his faith and during his latter years, which were clouded by a gradual advancing illness, he talked much of religious matters and found comfort therein. A few minutes before the end came he spoke of the joy that he had in going into the better world.

The body was brought here from Camp Wood and laid beside that of his wife in the local cemetery.

Member of Legislature Here With His Family.

A. J. McKean, wife, and son and daughter, arrived here last Saturday and will spend several days here. Mr. McKean and his brother owned a large ranch in this county several years ago, located near Roosevelt, and his brother lived here for a time, but A. J. has only been here on business trips before.

Both he and his brother are close personal friends of Adam Murr, John Cowsett and E. Holekamp, and are spending part of their time visiting in the homes of these men. Incidentally, Mr. Murr is giving Mr. McKean a course in "42."

Mr. McKean is a merchant at Prairie Lee, and has recently been elected for a second term in the Legislature, having served in the 37th along with the Eagle Editor.

County Now Well Equipped To Build and Maintain Roads

Messrs. Osborne and Mentor of the Avery Company of Texas were recently in Junction, demonstrating the Avery Road Main tainer. This maintainer is a self contained, one-man machine being a combination grader with a "scare devil" attachment for loosening the ground. Its primary purpose is to move loose gravel from the sides of the road back onto the main body of the road.

Kimble County has a first-class equipment for building and maintaining its roads, according to Judge Weaver H. Baker, and it is not probable that any new machinery will be necessary for this purpose at any time in the near future. At present the heavy equipment consists of one 40-80 Avery Tractor, a smaller tractor with roller attachment, a 12-foot Adams Grader, and other smaller implements, such as iron drags, etc.

Considerable work has been done on roads leading from town. Gravel is now being placed on the streets where it is needed. The Menard road from the six-mile to the Cleo Store has just been graded and with rains to settle it, will be in first class condition.

West Texas Club Organized By Denton Normal Students

The students of the North Texas Normal College who live in West Texas, have recently organized a West Texas Club, according to a recent letter from Miss Model Jones, a summer student there, to the Junction Eagle. The Club is gaining a reputation for pep and enthusiasm in that institution of learning, and has a membership of about fifty.

The officers are as follows: T. L. Johnson, Thalia, Texas, President; Miss Modelle Jones, Junction, Texas, Vice-President; La Rue Johnson, Secretary; O. W. Griffith, Kress, Texas, Treasurer.

Alton Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mason, arrived in Menard Monday and was met by his parents. He has been attending school at Hamilton, the former home of the Masons and will spend the remainder of the summer and probably longer here.

Pecan Production Greatly Reduced by Excessive Rain.

Pecan conditions on July 1 for the United States are 53.4 per cent of normal, compared with 56.3 per cent at this date last year and 38.5 per cent July 1, 1920, as ascertained by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The condition of the pecan crop ranges from 72 to 86 per cent of normal in all States excepting Louisiana, where it is 50 per cent, except Georgia 45 per cent, and Texas 34 per cent. The last two states are the most important in production of wild and cultivated nuts, respectively, and they reduce the average promise to slightly more than half a crop.

The number of trees of bearing age shows an increase of 1.7 per cent over the number a year ago. Of these trees 45.2 per cent are not bearing this year, as contrasted with 37.1 per cent not bearing last year and 16.8 per cent not bearing in a usual year. Sixty-seven per cent of the trees of bearing age are reported as not producing this year in Texas, compared with 47 per cent last year and 20 per cent in a usual year. Trees not producing in Georgia are 35 per cent this year, compared with 19 per cent last year and 11 per cent in a usual year.

In Texas the excessive rains during pollination interfered seriously with fertilization, with a resulting small set of nuts. Considerable damage has been done also by the weevil and case borer. There has been an unusual premature dropping of fruit. The trade anticipates a crop under 100 cars. Similar, but less serious, conditions in Oklahoma and Arkansas lowered the condition, though not so seriously as in Texas. In both these states sections have very good crops. The Red river section of Arkansas shows a condition of only 38, but in the White river and Arkansas bottoms conditions are better than 80 per cent of normal. In Mississippi the wild crop in the wooded sections of the Delta is reported poor; elsewhere it is good and almost normal in the extensive groves of the fine, improved varieties of nuts in the southern part of the State. The acreage of improved nuts continues to increase in the coastal sections. In Georgia the crop is generally short and particularly so in the main commercial sections in the southwestern part of the State. In Florida conditions are very spotted, adjoining groves reporting from 50 to 100 per cent of a crop. The outstanding factor reducing the crop this year appears to be the excessive rains at the period of bloom over a large portion of the pecan territory.

Henry Elledge and sister, Miss Lydia, of Ozona, were the guests of Misses May and Lola Abbott the latter part of last week. They are trying to locate them a home here and they highly praised Kimble County.

Young Man Experiences Unusual, Painful Accident.

The 16-year-old son of C. F. Barker had an unusual experience last Saturday, and quite a painful one at that. While taking a drink of water out of a jug he was stung on the lip by a wasp, causing immediate swelling of the lower part of his face and throat to such an extent that he was threatened with choking to death. He was hurriedly brought to town for treatment, prompt and effective relief being had by the applying an ice bag to the injury.—Brady Standard.

Board of Directors To Meet Regularly.

The second regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce was held last Tuesday night. It was learned from the members of the board that important business was transacted. A number of applications for secretary were taken into consideration, so undoubtedly it will be only a short time till we shall have a secretary.

A motion was adopted to extend invitations to all members to attend the meetings of the Board of Directors, which are held on the first Tuesday of every month. Those attending will be asked to bring their problems before this body, or before one of the directors in person.—Fredericksburg Standard.

Child Drowns in Tank.

Falling into a concrete water tank near the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schmidt at Comfort, Saturday afternoon, Rosie Schmidt, aged four, was drowned.

Mrs. Schmidt went to the pasture to drive in the cows, leaving her three children playing in the yard. Upon returning, the eldest child met her, a boy six years old, and asked where the little girl was. Becoming alarmed when he replied that he had not seen her, Mrs. Schmidt began a search which ended when the body was found in the tank. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home. Interment was made in the Comfort Cemetery.—Boerne Star.

Brooms Better than Sacks For Fighting Prairie Fire.

Heavy warehouse brooms as a method of fighting any West Texas range fires that may occur is advanced by old time cattlemen here as being far better than the proposed wet sacks. One man with a heavy broom is worth more than a half dozen with wet sacks according to the practical idea advanced.

A man long in the cow business here, says that each year he orders a dozen of the brooms sent to his ranch to be kept ready in case of any grass fire emergency. He indicates that a man sweeping the fire out can render far more effective service than one with a sack, pointing out that the man with the sack has to bend over the blaze and is soon too hot to work, while the man with a heavy broom can sweep the blaze while standing erect, thus not tiring himself so quickly and with the additional advantage of not being so near as to inhale the smoke and ashes. While not depreciating the effort being made to organize a volunteer range fire fighting force here to use wet sacks, this cowman, familiar with the broom idea, advances the theory that it wouldn't be a bad policy to secure a few of the heavy brooms and have them along handy, thus making a practical test of the two methods in case of any emergency.—San Angelo Standard.

Republicans Will Seat Nothing But Whites.

All seats at the Republican State convention to be held here Saturday have been reserved for "white folks," it was announced by Republican party leaders here Saturday. No negroes will be seated at the convention, they declared.

F. E. Scobey, director of the mint, and possibly Vice President Calvin Coolidge will be among the 1,000 or more visitors who are expected here for the convention. W. E. Talbot of Dallas, State organizer for the party, Saturday night was awaiting final word from Coolidge as to whether or not he could be in Fort Worth for the meeting.

Certain "political organizations" now in existence are denounced by the convention in strong terms, it was indicated by leaders Saturday. The statement of this contemplated action was not specific, but it is believed to mean the Ku Klux Klan.

Party leaders look for the nomination of a full state ticket. Four men, they say, are in the running for Republican nomination for United States Senator, among them being C. C. Littleton, of Fort Worth, who was given the endorsement of a number of county conventions on July 29.

According to advices from Dallas, negroes will hold a mass meeting here simultaneously with the Republican convention. Local political leaders of that race, however, declare that they have not been notified of such a meeting.

The State executive committee will hold a meeting here Monday. Among those who are expected to attend this meeting are R. B. Creager of Brownsville, State Chairman; H. F. McGregor of Houston, National Committeeman; C. E. Linz of Dallas, Joe Kingsberry Jr. of Ft. Worth and Talbot.

The convention will be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. It is said that not less than 196 counties of the State will be represented. Reduced rates of one and one-third fares for the round trip have been granted by railroads of the State.—Star Telegram.

Wolf Club to be Organized Saturday at Court House.

P. C. Dutton, president of the county Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, has this week issued a call to all land owners of the county to meet Saturday at the court house at 2 p. m. for the purpose of forming a county wolf club, similar to the ones now operating in Mason and San Saba counties.

Mr. Dutton states that loss of sheep, calves, young turkeys and other stock and poultry has grown to an alarming state and that if the land owners of this county do not do something to curb their depredations that the loss this year will be enormous. Mason and San Saba counties have already organized clubs and are making war on Mr. Wolf in a systematic way. This is pointed out by those in favor of the club here as one of the reasons why a club should be organized. With all the adjoining counties co-operating in the extermination of the wolf, this entire section can be cleaned up; however, if only a few counties co-operate the wolves will migrate from one county to another.

Mr. Dutton is anxious that all land owners meet with him at the court house Saturday afternoon where a free and full discussion will be had and an organization formed.—Brady Sentinel.

Little Possibility of Seeing Gas Shortage.

There should be no alarm whatever over the possibility of there ever being a gas shortage within our memory, if some facts and figures gathered by Firestone experts are to be relied upon.

According to what the tire men say chemists and others are at work on development of motive fuel from a dozen different substances, the more ordinary of which are: Alcohol, acetol, shale, tetralene, molasses, gas, rice straw, naphtha and ordinary straw.

Apart from all this, benzol and kerosene will last as long as wood and coal exist. Shale, obtained from the coal fields of Colorado, is said to offer one of the best substitutes for gas yet known and there appears to be almost an endless supply of this.

"I was hardly able to drag, I was so weakened," writes Mrs. W. F. Ray, of Easley, S. C. "The doctor treated me for about two months, still I didn't get any better. I had a large family and felt I surely must do something to enable me to take care of my little ones. I had heard of

The Woman's Tonic

"I decided to try it," continues Mrs. Ray. "I took eight bottles in all. I regained my strength and have had no more trouble with womanly weakness. I have ten children and am able to do all my housework and a lot of outdoor work. I can sure recommend Cardui."

Take Cardui today. It may be just what you need. At all druggists.

Sid Ramsey is now with the Joplin Store at Menard. Formerly he was with the Schoffers Drug Store.

Miss Lillian McDonald of San Antonio is spending her vacation in Junction with friends and relatives.

Sgt. Phillips and wife and Mrs. George Cousins spent last week camping on the Mack Anderson place on Bear Creek.

A. McDonald and J. S. Spicer, both of Kerrville and brothers-in-law of E. A. Loeffler, were here this week on a visit with Mr. Loeffler.

Jamie and Mary Louise Gardner are spending a few weeks with their aunt, Mrs. R. S. Williams, on the Williams ranch near Mertzon.

Mrs. W. W. Boyle of San Antonio, Texas, who has been visiting her son, Lewis F. Boyle of this city, returned to her home on last Friday.

I. H. Shoffer and Attorney Henry Herschberg of San Antonio are here this week. They are camped on the Deckert place below town.

Miss Rena Cowsett of Abilene, is the guest of Mrs. S. P. Bennett at the ranch on North Llano. She will be here for ten days or two weeks.

Miss Lois Oliver has been spending the week with Miss Ruth Maxwell on the ranch near Cleo. Miss Maxwell accompanied her home Tuesday.

When you have a news item that is of interest to Eagle readers, we shall be glad to have you phone us, or mail it. By doing this you help us and we help you.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Childs and children and Mr. Lamb motored up from Kerrville Sunday to spend the day with Boyd Jetton and family. Mr. Lamb will remain for a few weeks' visit.

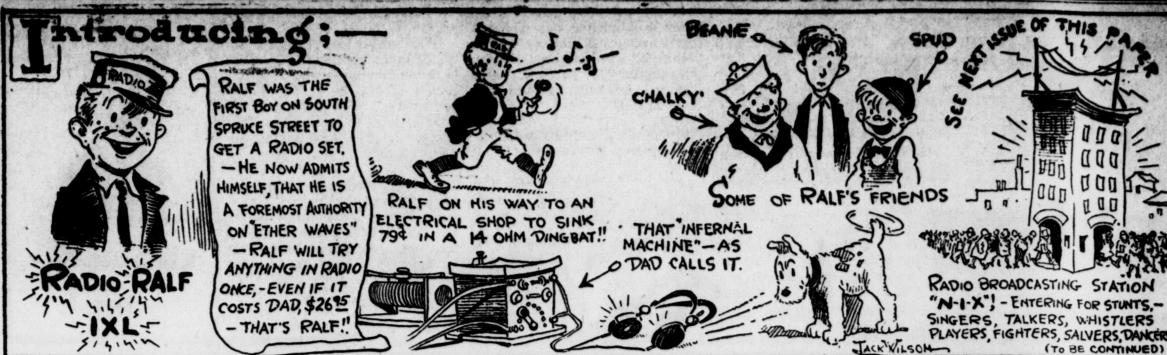

E. E. Conley, County Auditor of Stephens County, and ex-newspaper man, is in the county this week with his family for formerly a partner of Clarence Nichols, one time editor of the Citizen-Light.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Oxford and daughter, Miss Pallie of Stephenville, and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Curtis and daughter, Miss Mabel, of Waco left last week for their homes, after spending some ten days camping on the Llano and visiting Otto Oxford and wife. Mr. Abe Oxford is the father of Otto Oxford, of the City Cafe, and makes an annual visit to Kimble County. Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Abe Oxford are sisters. The party were camped on the Deckert place, below town, and had excellent luck at catching fish. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have made several pleasure trips to Colorado in recent years, but stated that such a long trip would not be necessary in the future, as they could find more of interest in Kimble County than in Colorado.

Commissioner Enright to Study European Crime.

Dr. John W. McMahan returned Wednesday night from Fort Worth, where he had gone on business last week. Mrs. McMahan accompanied him to Ft. Worth and will remain there for several weeks looking after some property interests she has there. The Doctor made the return trip in one day, leaving Ft. Worth about six o'clock and arriving here about ten that night. He reports the roads in excellent condition, except a few miles between London and Hext.

M. Wilkinson, linotype operator for the Eagle, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting on the J. W. Bailey ranch near Ingram, where Mrs. Wilkinson and daughter, Miss Tyler, were also visitors. Mrs. and Miss Wilkinson arrived here Tuesday and the family has rooms with Mrs. Gardner in the Kendrick house. Miss Wilkinson has been a student at T. C. U. for the past two years, and has just returned from attending summer school there.

J. A. Townsend who has been living two miles east of town for the past year, left with his family this week for Tucson, Arizona, where he will spend the winter and look after some business interests that he has there. Mr. Townsend stated that he was reluctant to leave Kimble County and that as soon as he could arrange his affairs in Arizona, he would return to locate permanently here.

H. A. Allen and son, B. L., of Texarkana, are visiting the former's brother, W. M. Allen. The Messrs. Allen have made an extended trip through north Texas and New Mexico, and came by Junction to spend a few days before returning to their home. They are traveling in a Franklin car and have little or no trouble on the trip of several hundred miles.

Reports that Europe was suffering from a crime wave similar to that now current in the United States has prompted commissioner Enright, of the New York Police Department to go abroad to study the situation there and the foreign method of coping with crime. STATE CAPITAL NEWS Important News Items From the Capitol are Reported Here Every Week.

From The Austin Statesman:

Camp Mabry Troops
Get Down to Work.

Squads, right!
"Hey! you wooden-headed tin soldiers, wake up!"
"Ready! aim! fire!"

The foregoing is a sample of what an observer might have heard Monday at Camp Mabry with the opening of the two weeks of instructions for Texas National Guards infantrymen under the supervision of regular army officers and "hard boiled" sergeants of Chateau Thierry vintage. What to do and how to do it in the way of military tactics and rudiments of drill were the subjects that occupied the attention of perspiring doughboys, who until last week had been engaged in the pursuits of peace in their home towns in other sections of the State.

The national guardsmen spent Sunday at their ease and most of them crowded Austin's downtown section while others were defying the heat by splashing water at local swimming pools. Conveyances, loaded to capacity with uniformed men, plied the road to and from Camp Mabry constantly Sunday.

In order that all of the men in the encampment may spend some time on the Camp Mabry target range, platoons of guardsmen are holding firing practice during the morning and afternoon hours, while the remainder of the 3,000 troops are going through infantry drill or barracks detail. Lectures on camp sanitation and personal care to members of all units were on Monday's program, while officers, first sergeants and company clerks were receiving special instructions in army paper work.

In the evening company commanders are scheduled to meet under the supervision of their battalion chiefs for the purpose of discussing matters of instruction for the next day's work.

Katy Joins Roads in Embargo on All Ordinary Freight

Only perishable freight, food for human consumption and live stock are being accepted for movement by a number of railroads until the present unsettled conditions are adjusted, according to a notice received this morning by W. R. Smith, division freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific lines. The roads have placed an embargo against all ordinary freight movements until further notice.

Included in the embargo list is the Missouri, Kansas & Texas lines, which have announced that on account of labor trouble they will accept only livestock and perishable freight subject to delay. The Wichita Falls & Northwestern is included in this order, which became effective last Friday and will continue in force until further notice.

Conditions in the West and Middle West seem to be improving since the Great Northern several days ago cancelled its embargo on perishable freight, livestock and less than carload lots destined to and via points in Montana. The Wabash has also cancelled its embargo on carload and less than carload lots destined to or via points in Hannibal, Mo.

An order received this morning from C. K. Dunlap, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, instructs all carriers subject to the interstate commerce commission act to "route traffic to destination by any available route, regardless of original routing, whenever such action becomes necessary to expedite freight movement or prevent congestion."

Transfer of Scholastics is Duty of Superintendents.

Whenever an application is made to the county school superintendent for the transfer of a scholastic from one district to another within the time and in the manner prescribed by article 2760, Revised Civil Statutes, 1911, it becomes the duty of the county superintendent to make the transfer, and he has no discretion in the matter, held the Attorney General's department in an opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Bruce W. Bryant, to Miss Annie Webb Blanton, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The right of transfer is a privilege granted by the statute to the child," said Mr. Bryant in his opinion. "The county superintendent is the officer whose duty it is to transfer the children and with the transfer goes the child's portion of the school fund. The statute does not in any way attempt to lay down any rule for the guidance of the county superintendent, as to whether the transfer should be made. It simply provides that the child 'may' be transferred under the rules and conditions set out in said article."

"We think the use of the word 'may' in the statute clearly falls within the rule of construction heretofore quoted," continues the opinion, "and that this word is equivalent to a direct command to the county superintendent to make the transfer when properly and seasonably presented to him."

Educators are Seeking
Co-Operation of Neff.

Co-operation of Governor Neff with the Texas State Teachers' Association in a comprehensive educational program was urged at a conference held with the governor by M. H. Moore of Ft. Worth, president of the association, who headed a sub-committee from the executive committee of the association at the conference.

President Moore said the association was formulating its policies for the educational welfare of the State and that the co-operation of the governor was desired. It is the purpose of the association, Mr. Moore said, to present certain resolutions to the State Democratic convention to be held at San Antonio next September, which will harmonize with the views of the governor on the educational situation. The next meeting of the association will be held at Houston the latter part of November.

Predicts Ferguson Will Carry South Texas.

Harry V. Fisher of Houston, a well known figure in Texas politics was in Austin today. He has thrown his strength with Ex-Governor Ferguson in the senatorial race and says Ferguson will carry South Texas.

"George Paddy, who was once perhaps Ferguson's most thorough going opponent is now president of the South Texas Ferguson club," said Mr. Fisher.

"We might as well meet the issue face to face," he continued. "It is one of open government as opposed to invisible imperialism."

"The people of Texas on the 26th of this month must choose between the candidate of the Ku Klux Klan and the exponent of Democracy."

Many Austin People Attend
Ferguson's Georgetown Talk

Many supporters and friends of former Governor James E. Ferguson left early this afternoon in automobiles for Georgetown, where Mr. Ferguson was scheduled to address the people of that city this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the interest of his candidacy for the United States Senate in the run-off with Earle B. Mayfield.

Mr. Ferguson was expected to speak along the same general lines as his opening speech in Waxahachie, friends of the former governor stated before leaving for Georgetown.

State Seeks Recovery $32,761
In Taxes From Dallas Gas Co.

Suit to collect $32,761.35 in alleged delinquent gross receipts taxes for the period of 1915-1922 was filed Thursday in the Fifty-third district court against the Dallas Gas Company by the State of Texas through the attorney general's office. It is alleged that of $48,578.58 in gross receipts taxes due during the period only $15,817.23 was paid. In the attorney general's petition it is alleged that the gas company's gross receipts for the seven and one-half years beginning January 1, 1915, and ending June 30, 1922, amounted to $9,726,624.80.

Automobile Registration for 1922 Shows Increase Over 1921

The total number of registrations of motor vehicles in Texas during the first six months of 1922 was 449,246, according to State Highway Department records. The number of registrations for the same period in 1921 was 412,332, showing an increase in 1922 for the first six months period of 36,914.

According to the estimates of the department if the same ratio is maintained for the last six months in 1922, the number of registrations for the year will exceed 500,000. The registrations for the entire year, 1921, totaled 469,937.

The greatest increase by counties for the first six months in 1922 is in Limestone, which shows an increase to date of 3,413 motor vehicles. The number of registrations in that county last year totaled 2,711 as compared with 6,124 for the first six months of 1922.

Harris county comes next in the list with an increase of 1,192 registrations during the first six months of 1922 in excess of the total registration for last year. The number of registrations in Harris county last year was 28,583 and for the first six months of this year totaled 29,775.

Bexar county stands third in the list with 27,062 registrations for the first six months in 1922, or an increase over last year's registrations of 786, the total registrations last year being 26,276.

Travis county with an increase of 550 registrations for the first six months this year stands fourth in the list, the registrations for 1921 being 7,388 and for the first six months period of this year registrations total 7,938.

Exact Center of Texas in McCullough Co., Says Survey.

'Way out in McCullough County, 20 miles northeast of Brady, is the center of Texas. The particular spot is no center of art or learning. But is the geographic center of the Lone Star State, the geological survey announced today.

Washington is more than 1,000 miles from the geographic center of the United States, and the question of establishing the capital in a more central location has heretofore been brought up from time to time. St. Louis, Denver and other places have been proposed as new sites.

The position of the geographic center of the United States has been determined by the United States coast and geodetic survey, and falls in Smith County, in Northern Kansas, in latitude 39 degrees and 50 minutes, longitude 98 degrees and 35 minutes.

G. A. R. Vets Cheer Sheridan's Horse as it Starts on His Last Journey.

Texas Needs More Fish Hatcheries.

The matter of having the lakes and streams of Texas adequately stocked with food and game fish has for too long been neglected. This State, great in almost all things, is behind in matters of fish propagation.

One reason for this backwardness is lack of proper facilities for breeding and distributing fish. Texas is too large to be supplied by one fish hatchery. The hatchery at Dallas is a good one and is doing a great work, but its scope is too small. It is practically impossible to supply the demand for fish, or supplying it, long distances make distribution very expensive at best.

Just now Texas needs two fish hatcheries. These hatcheries should be established at once, and then later on the number added to until every section of the State will be convenient to a fish hatchery.

One hatchery should be established in the Panhandle country, and another in South Texas, say, around San Antonio. These hatcheries would temporarily serve sections of the State now practically without service, due to their remoteness from the Dallas plant.

The Dallas hatchery was built without cost to the people of Texas, it being paid for from the revenue received from the sale of shell and gravel from the coastal preserves. Now, however, in order to build hatcheries, it would require legislative appropriation, and the cost would not be prohibitive; the food value of the fish thus made available would by far exceed the cost, and the hatcheries would be the best investment the people could make. At present more than $100,000 a year is realized by the State from the sale of permits and licenses. Formerly this money was used by the Fish, Game and Oyster Department for development work, but the law was repealed and the money has been transferred by the Legislature to the general fund. This should not be. The money should be used for game and fish propagation and the enforcement of adequate laws to protect game and fish.

One reason why one fish hatchery isn't adequate for a State as large as Texas, as noted above, is the cost of distribution. To ship fish for stocking purposes from Dallas to the Panhandle, for instance, it is necessary for one or two men to go along and look after them, take care of them, change the water, etc.

Crappie, or White Perch, and Black Bass are the fish that do best in Texas waters. The Crappie is a delicate fish and can't stand rough handling. Very often it can't stand the shock of a long railroad trip. At all odds it must have the most exact care. This adds to the expense and trouble of distribution from a hatchery located a great distance from the lakes or streams to be stocked.

The Black Bass is a piscivorous individual. Nothing pleases him quite so much for his dinner as a mess of young fish. This again complicates matters of distribution, and renders advisable restocking. Many states restock streams and lakes every year. Texas should not lag behind in these matters.

Thoughtful men and women everywhere must wake up to the importance of this question of fish breeding and distribution. It must be thought of in the light of food as well as sport. When the people come to realize the importance of the question, the State will get the fish hatcheries that she needs.

Texas needs at least two fish hatcheries now. Let's get them at once and then build others in various parts of the State at points of vantage as rapidly as possible.—Col. William G. Sterrett, in Southwestern Sportsman.

All Business Feels the Effects of Two Strikes.

New York, Aug. 6.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s summary of general business conditions follows in part:

Despite negotiations for an adjustment of the controversy, coal mining and railroad strikes are still present obstacles to business recovery. Progress has not been completely checked but it is being interrupted in different quarters, and some gains that should have been established are lacking. The effects of the labor troubles not alone appear in restricted production and delayed merchandise movements, but also in curtailed buying power and rising commodity prices.

While Dun's list of wholesale quotations does not disclose a wide excess of advances this week, some leading markets have tended sharply upward and the strength of pig iron and steel industry is so dependent upon fuel supplies that mill and furnace outputs not unnaturally reflect the restraint imposed by the coal shortage and retarded shipments of manufactured materials because railroad priority orders and embargoes are lessening the movement of new business. The virtual withdrawal of sales forces from the road in certain instances is a development that would not have been noted if strikes were absent, as consumptive requirements are large and a continued broadening of demand was fore shadowed.

The general situation reveals many irregularities and contrasts and activities are sustained in some lines, as in the hide trade, as if there were no serious drawbacks present. With labor unsettled in such important industries as coal mining and railroading, however, practically all business is afforded either directly or indirectly the reduction of purchasing power resulting from the idleness of thousands of workers is beginning to make itself manifest in some sections.

The fact that confidence in the future is maintained is encouraging but the adverse influence of fully four months of coal strike and more than a month of the railroad is plainly visible and the handicap will be the more difficult to overcome the longer the controversies continue. Without these obstacles, a general extension of the business recovery would probably be witnessed. Failures in the United States this week show a decrease of 60 in number from last week's total porting the largest decline of any geographical section.

Condensed Gossip on Automotive Industry Activities

There are 105 automobile factories in operation in this country.

There are 20,000 motor buses now in operation in the United States.

Milwaukee power concern has 18 motor buses feeding its car lines.

"Be a good fellow," says the wheel. "Keep cool," says the fan.

Never turn off the ignition on a hill or the car will drag the engine.

Don't blame the tires if you skid after jamming the throttle too soon.

Extra tires not in use on the car should be stored in a cool and dark place.

A motor bus with a glass inclosed top proved a curiosity in New York recently.

The average life of an automobile in the United States is estimated at five years.

Make sure the jack is secure and in working order before attempting to take off a wheel.

Paris policemen are now provided with motorcycles that can carry four other officers of the law in the side car.

The average number of people to each automobile in California is 5.16; in Alabama it is 28.5.

It is said that the only Chinese automobile race driver is Jim Chy, a resident of Canton, China.

The Union of South Africa imported 24,265 motor vehicles during the years 1917-1921 inclusive.

Watch for black smoke. Your car's burning oil; you've too much oil aboard or too rich a mixture.

The automotive industry is now third on the list. First comes packing and then the steel industry.

New cars should be driven rather slowly for the first 1,000 miles. Never more than 30 miles per hour.

The production of automobiles in 1921 required 1,464,000 tons of steel; 6,000,000 gallons of varnish and paint were required.

Medina Lands to be Put to Work on Truck Crops.

Thousands of acres of land owned by the San Antonio Land and Irrigation Company and forming part of the Medina Valley enterprise, will be rented this winter for the first time since the completion of the big dam to truck growers, according to Hugh R. Robertson, Federal Receiver of the property. Ever since the building of the great water distribution scheme to the west of San Antonio, the irrigable lands have become inactive with the harvesting of the corn and cotton crops. Mr. Robertson plans to change all that—not only for the good of the owners, but for the benefit of the community, including San Antonio.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Robertson yesterday, "water in the canals has been shut off through out the winter months. It will all be different this winter. Already a considerable acreage has been rented for the growing of lettuce, spinach, onions, tomatoes, etc., and I am in receipt daily of many inquiries concerning the renting of more acreage. I am confident lands to be rented for the uses named this winter will total thousands of acres. Inquiries about rental of the lands of the company come from all parts of Texas and some from other states.

"We have made arrangements to furnish all the water the truckmen may need and whenever they need it. Those who have already signed contracts with us are expert truckers and their efforts joined with ours land and water will make a great garden of acreage that has heretofore been brown and vacant from autumn harvest to the coming of the next spring. No economist is required to note the benefits that should accrue to the growers, to the company and to the consumers of San Antonio. I regard it as one of the most important steps it has been possible to take in connection with the property in my charge.

"Most of the truck grown in the Rio Grande Valley can be grown just as successfully in the Medina valley. That means that San Antonio throughout winter months can get all that her consumers require in the form of fresh vegetables daily on a haul of 30 miles instead of a haul of 300 miles. Naturally, those interested in the property are pleased over the arrangements that are making, and I am confident, the truckers will be even better pleased with the outcome."

Though Mr. Robertson declined to discuss the matter in any phase, it is learned the company has in contemplation the selling of the entire 30,000 acres of irrigable land over which Mr. Robertson presides in small tracts to truck growers. The general plan will be, provided the owners finally approve a scheme they are now viewing sympathetically, to sell in lots of from five acres up to forty, on long term payments, if necessary, the company reserving the distribution facilities and entering into guarantees to furnish the water as it may be required. If this plan is carried out, and it is confidently anticipated, the Medina Valley is expected to become in a year or two the greatest garden spot in all the Southwest. The plan will add thousands to the population of Medina County, and in a large measure, be of immense aid to San Antonio.

Mr. Robertson leaves today on a visit to his father, who is ill at his home in Los Angeles. He expects to return in two weeks, when the renting of the trucking lands will be expedited.

FACT.

The average American voter is a trained monkey. Now don't get mad and refuse to read any further, for the facts can be proven. The American voter, the average adult citizen, rarely thinks for himself, because thinking involves the hardest kind of work, and as a nation, we prefer almost anything to work. The American voter is tagged with a party label and follows his self-constituted "leader," his political bosses.

Or, if he is what used to be called a "mugwump," one who has torn off the ancient and honorable party emblem, he nearly always follows some "reformer," meaning a person who waves his hands in horror and declaims loudly against anything in general and is either a narrow-eyed fanatic or a paid propagandist. The BOSS in American politics, as well as the BOSS in labor circles, wherever you find him, is BOSS by reason of his knowledge that the average American, so far as independent thinking and acting is concerned, is a trained monkey. —Hornish Monthly.

Has It Occurred To You?

That every year a great amount of good feedstuff is allowed to waste because people fail to consider the value of certain by-products of crops. One of these is corn tops. Corn tops, cut at the proper time makes an excellent roughness for winter feeding.

The time to save your corn tops is now. Many Kimble County farmers are already doing this, and all should do it. Don't think you will have too much feed because we have a good crop year. Corn tops can be used for other feeds that you can sell.

Don't overlook this matter.
