West German spy scandal...

Intelligence agency leader will be fired

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl will fire the head of West Germany's intelligence agency as a result of the country's spy scandal, high-ranking government sources said today.

The sources, speaking on condition they not be identified, told The Associated Press that Kohl informed Heribert Hellenbroich, the intelligence agency chief, of his decision during a meeting this morning.

Hellenbroich has been in charge of the agency for less than a month. He was formerly in charge of Bonn's counter-espionage service, where Hans Joachim Tiedge worked as a section chief in charge of counter-spy activities against East Germany.

Tiedge defected to East Germany last week, and since then reports of a series of personal problems have surfaced.

Kohl also faces growing pressure to fire the interior minister because of Tiedge's defection.

Opposition Social Democratic leader Hans-Jochen Vogel on Tuesday demanded the resignation of Interior Minister Friedrich Zimmermann, saying: "If a disaster of this scope happens you have to take responsibility and resign."

Zimmermann's ministry deals with interior security matters.

Three other people being investigated for possible espionage activity have disappeared, and are presumed also to have fled to East Germany.

A secretary in President Richard von Weizsaecker's office was arrested last Saturday in connection with the scandal, and authorities have started an espionage investigation against an employee of the Koblenz-based military procurement office.

Vogel said the spy scandal "has shaken the trust of our allies in our capability to operate effectively in the protection of our own interests."

Two brothers — injured in a major two-vehicle accident just north of Dunn Tuesday morning — remained hospitalized in Lubbock Wednesday morning.

Nineteen-year-old Brad Roberts of Ira was listed in critical condition in the intensive care of Lubbock's Methodist Hospital while his brother — 17-year-old Shannon of Sweetwater — was listed in serious condition in the surgical intensive care unit of Lubbock General Hospital.

BCD meeting

The Board of County Development was to meet for its regular August meeting at noon Wednesday at the Snyder Country Club.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Tuesday, 98 degrees; low, 69 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Wednesday, 70 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1985 to date, 19.34 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight and Thursday: fair with lows near 70 and highs lower 90s. Wind southeast 10 to 15 mph.

Driver trapped in cab wreckage

Snyder firemen and emergency medical personnel worked for almost 2 hours Wednesday morning to free a truck driver trapped in the wreckage of his vehicle.

Eventually freed was 24-year-old Steven Don Hildebrand, driver of a York Transport Co. tanker rig.

Hildebrand was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital around 10 a.m. where he was admitted for treatment of possible leg and back injuries.

He was trapped inside the truck cab shortly before 8 a.m. when he apparently lost control of the rig at the intersection of County Road 2148 and the Polar Rd. — about 14 miles north west of Snyder.

He was westbound on 2148 and attempting to turn south on the Polar Rd. when the rig overturned.

Four chosen to help cattleman's round-up

Four Scurry County men have been named area chairmen for the Cattlemen's Round-up for Crippled Children, which annually benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene.

They are among 200 area chairmen statewide named to assist with the fund raiser. Chosen locally are Charlie Henderson, John Jarrell, R.H. Odom Jr. and John Reed. Also chosen from the area is Buddy Baldridge of Clairemont.

The drive involves a donation of livestock from West Texas cattlemen. These are collected at a designated point in each community and transported to Abilene for the Sept. 30 cattle auction.

The area chairmen job entails both a personal pledge and an effort to have others to join them in the annual drive.

The dollars raised go toward the rehab center, which last year helped provide treatment for 11,000 handicapped persons.

Student gate tickets dropped for 2-AAAA

Due to a change in District 2-AAAA policy, students tickets will not be sold this football season at the gate.

Advance student tickets will still be offered at $1, but all tickets sold at the gate will be $4.

During the week prior to the game, student tickets will be sold at individual school campuses. The deadline for these sales will be Thursday at the elementaries and junior high and at noon Friday at the high school.

The vote to change this rule was taken this summer by the district committee for 2-AAAA and will apply district-wide. The first home game for the Tigers this year will be Sept. 13 versus Lubbock Dunbar.

Regarding season tickets, school officials say a few remain unsold. These are available at the athletic director's office at Snyder High School.

Sessions move to 3nd day

The third day of in-service activities for Snyder teachers is scheduled Thursday — a day that will see high school instructors reporting to the Western Texas College campus for training seminars related to testing and test construction.

The SHS instructors will be at the Science Lecture Hall at WTC from 8 until 4 p.m. for the instruction, to be offered by Dr. Mary Cardiff, a testing consultant with Powell Associates Inc.

Elementary teachers in the system will again be split in their in-service responsibilities while junior high instructors will be in their respective rooms all day for classroom preparation.

One exception for the junior high will be Computer Assisted Instructor (CAI) proctors, who will report to the junior high computer lab for a morning and afternoon program.

In the morning, they will attend a session entitled Implementing the Campus Computer Instruction Program; followed during the afternoon by Improving Student Achievement Through Computer Assisted Instruction.

Regarding the elementary teacher schedule Thursday, all staffers grades K-6 will be in their individual rooms Thursday morning from 8 until 11 a.m. for classroom preparation.

Teachers will then be divided into two groups for an afternoon mathematics session presented at the West Elementary cafeteria by a consultant from Harcourt Brace.

From noon until 2 p.m., teachers grades K-3 will attend the session; and from 2:10 until 4 p.m., teachers grades 4-6.

In-service will conclude for Snyder teachers Friday and classes will begin Tuesday.

WTC signup begins today

Registration for the fall term at Western Texas College begins Wednesday as sophomores are slated to signup from 1 until 5 p.m.

From 6:30 until 9 p.m., evening students can take advantage of a special registration period also, followed by Thursday from 8 a.m. until noon when freshmen will register.

In a departure this year, evening classes will begin Thursday night rather than the first evening class after Labor Day.

The first day for regular classes will begin Friday with classes to resume Tuesday after the Labor Day holiday.

For students who have neither pre-registered nor pre-paid, the registration process begins at the Learning Resource Center where students are cleared for admis-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Just admit mistakes–don't brag about 'em."

Everyone wants to be a millionaire, right? Better hurry or you won't be worth much.

It seems there is a lot of air in "millionaire." The number of persons with net worths of at least $1 million jumped to 406,000 in 1982 from 180,000 in 1976. The government estimates that $1 million in terms of 1982 dollars equaled $639,700 in 1976 dollars, in terms of inflation.

At that rate, a millionaire could be busted at the turn of the century.

Skipper Joyce says rich people are robbed of one of the greatest thrills in life–making the last installment.

Insurance man Brud Boren says man goes through three stages: "He believes in Santa. He doesn't believe in Santa. He is Santa."

O'Neal Bloom, owner of Clark Lumber Two, tells the coffee shop crowd that this actually happened.

Bloom says two women came into the yard recently and wanted a 4x2. O'Neal explained that they had 2x4s that were the same thing. One woman said she'd have to call her husband to make sure.

With that settled, Bloom asked the next question. "How long do you want them?"

"Oh, we want them a long time," she answered. "We're gonna build a house with them."

Last legislative session, some folks in state government were wanting to close UTPB in Odessa. A lot of institutions of higher learning are facing budget crunches.

Calvin College in Grand Rapids, Mich. had a pretty good idea. The college is offering gift certificates toward tuition. The smallest certificate (now $46.20) will be worth one percent of Calvin's annual tuition at anytime in the future, no matter how high the tuition gets.

It's a pretty good idea. Parents could start investing early, the college could use the money all those years, and the kid could cash in after high school graduation.

Dormitory welcome set

Move-ins at the Western Texas College dormitory were to conclude Wednesday and events to "welcome back" WTC students are slated Thursday.

The dormitory opened Tuesday afternoon for freshmen students and sophomores were to move in Wednesday beginning at 10 a.m. as the 15th fall semester at WTC gets underway.

An orientation program for dormitory students is planned at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Fine Arts Theatre. It will be followed by the traditional faculty-student ice cream supper at 7:30 p.m. and a Howdy Dance in the cafeteria at 8:30 p.m.

In addition, Kappi Chi, a Christian fellowship organization, will host a movie and refreshments starting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the Christian Student Center.

Fighting fires slow progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The explosion and fire that destroyed a British jetliner last week, killing 54 people, focused new attention on the frustrating difficulties and slow progress in finding ways to protect passengers against commercial aircraft fires.

"With this latest disaster, they are going to have to face the facts and decide which is more important — money or lives," says Wayne Williams of the National Transportation Safety Association, a private, Florida-based watchdog group.

Says Daniel T. Smith of Dallas, consumer affairs manager of the International Airline Passengers Association: "Recent efforts by the government are commendable, but as usual it's too little, too late."

For its part, the federal government is concentrating on finding ways to reduce the lethal effects of aircraft fires, notably from smoke and toxic fumes, and prevent leaking fuel from bursting into a catastrophic fireball.

The Federal Aviation Administration was ready late last year, in fact, to order use of a fuel additive designed to prevent the sort of rapidly escalating blaze that engulfed the British Airtours twin-jet Boeing 737 on Aug. 22. But the government backed away after the additive failed to perform as expected in a highly publicized test crash in December.

In any event, says FAA spokesman Fred Farrar, "There's not much that can be done to prevent the fires."

The reason is simple.

A jetliner carries thousands of gallons of extremely volatile fuel, akin to ordinary household kerosene. In addition, some aircraft cabin materials — plastics, wool, acrylics and the like — release lethal gases such as carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanide when they burn intensely.

In the case of the British Airtours jet, which caught fire as it hurtled down a Manchester, England, runway, press reports said the explosion in the plane's left-hand engine was a "chance-in-a-million" incident caused by failure of the only engine part that could easily rupture a fuel tank and start a fire.

Similarly, investigators speculate that a malfunctioning electrical flush motor in the rear lavatory may have been responsible for a fire that erupted in an Air Canada DC-9 during a flight from Dallas to Toronto in June 1983, forcing the plane to make an emergency landing at Cincinnati. The cause has never been established. Twenty-three people died.

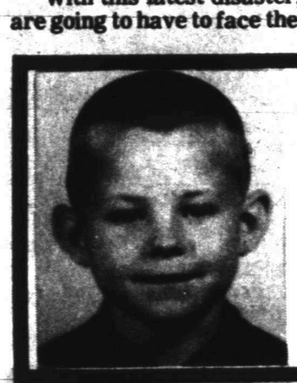

Federal experts say 40 percent of the people who die in plane crashes after surviving the initial impact are killed by fire.

Spurred by the Air Canada fire, the FAA ordered airlines last October to outfit seats and cushions with flame-retardant covers within three years and to install special cabin floor lighting within two years.

The "fire-blocking" seat material is intended to slow the rate of burn in the event of a fire, and to delay by as much as 40 seconds the point at which flammable vapors in the cabin burst into a fireball. The purpose of the floor lighting is to guide passengers to exits in a smoke-filled cabin.

The FAA will meet with airline and plane manufacturing representatives in Seattle next week to discuss ways to improve emergency evacuations.

The government's difficulties in solving the problem of fire safety were dramatized last December with the embarrassing outcome of the test of a new chemical additive, developed by a British firm, intended to prevent fireball explosions of leaking jet fuel.

Object of Women's Charms Objects to All the Attention

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I suppose most men would sell their souls to have, but I would sell mine to be rid of it. Women chase after me. I have just begun a new job, and four of the 11 secretaries here are after me—one is married. They are not even subtle; they come right out and tell me what they have in mind. One actually started putting her hands where they didn't belong, and when I sternly rebuked her, she continued to pursue me.

I am not interested in any of these women because I am gay. This is no secret, but it doesn't seem to dampen their enthusiasm—they want me anyway. I have had this problem all my adult life, but now it's reached the breaking point.

I once asked four women why they thought women fell for me knowing I was gay, and I got four different answers.

Believe me, if I ever find out what it is, I am going to change it! Please rush me some advice. I'm at the end of my rope.

RELUCTANT SEX OBJECT
IN OHIO

DEAR OBJECT: You should know there is nothing more tempting than forbidden fruit! Tell these predatory females that you aren't interested, just as you'd tell a man in whom you had no interest.

DEAR READERS: Even though selling or serving alcoholic beverages to persons of high school age is illegal in most states, studies reveal that 93 percent of high school students have consumed alcoholic beverages at least once—with 72 percent drinking in the past month.

The need for dealing realistically with teen-age drinking is supported by drinking and driving statistics, and the growth of treatment facilities for adolescent alcoholics.

I have just read a booklet that I think should be in every home where there are children from 10 to 18 years old. It's for children and parents to read. It's titled, "Let's Talk About Drinking."

It can be obtained by writing to: Family, P.O. Box 57008, Washington, D.C. 20037.

The booklet is free. And the postage is paid, too. Send for your booklet today.

DEAR ABBY: I've lived in this home for 25 years and have always used gas to heat it. Last year my next-door neighbors decided to switch to wood. The wood burning continues for 24 hours a day all winter long and the inside of my house constantly smells of burning wood. My eyes burn, my nose is stuffy and my sinuses hurt.

Wood burning is allowed in this township, so I was advised to speak to my neighbors about this annoyance. I even offered to pay them $500 a winter not to burn wood, but they told me they didn't want the money. I tried to seal my house up to keep the odor out, but it creeps in anyway.

I can't afford to move, and I'm uncomfortable with things as they are, so what do you advise?

DREADING WINTER

DEAR DREADING: Because an activity is permitted by law does not make it moral, ethical or acceptable. One's conduct should be guided by consideration for others and a sense of fairness.

Obviously if you can't afford to move, you can't afford to sue your neighbors for imposing noxious fumes on you. Pity. It appears that you are at the mercy of selfish and unfeeling neighbors.

If anyone out there has a suggestion, please send it to me, and I'll pass it along.

Mother ordered to hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — A mother who said she stabbed her son after God told her to was ordered to commit to a state mental hospital after being found innocent by reason of insanity.

State District Judge Joseph Guarino returned the verdict Tuesday on a recommendation by the prosecutor and defense attorney in the case, who agreed Terri Ann Spradlin was insane at the time of the March 27 killing.

Mrs. Spradlin, 30, was accused of stabbing her 5-month-old son, Jordan Timothy. Investigators who went to the Spradlin home in La Porte the day of the killing found a 15-inch butcher knife near the infant's body.

The baby had been stabbed four times, investigators said.

Prosecutor Ned Morris and defense attorney Tom Roberson agreed that Mrs. Spradlin, who told police God wanted her to kill her baby, was insane.

"I don't think that anybody who heard the evidence believes she belongs in the penitentiary," Morris said after resting the state's case Monday.

Guarino ordered Mrs. Spradlin committed to Rusk State Hospital for as long as he feels she poses a danger to herself or others.

Roberson called only one witness — Shirley Andrews, Mrs. Spradlin's mother — in presenting the insanity defense Tuesday. Ms. Andrews testified her daughter was one of 16 children and had been sexually abused by her father.

Morris confirmed that Mrs. Spradlin's father is in prison for the sexual abuse of several of his eight daughters.

Wide variety of good pieces highlight book

SUNRISE WITH SEAMONSTERS. By Paul Theroux. Houghton Mifflin. 365 Pages. $18.95.

Paul Theroux is best known for his novels and nonfiction books, such as the best-selling "The Great Railway Bazaar."

But he is also very good at writing journalistic pieces as the 50 articles gathered together in this volume amply demonstrate. They are arranged in chronological order — the first appeared in 1964, the last in 1984 — because, says Theroux, "these pieces seemed to me to form a narrative of having lived through two interesting decades in a number of different countries; and not just lived through, but grown up in."

Their subject matter varies widely and wondrously, from Theroux's years as a teacher in Africa, to his exploration of and thoughts on New York City's subway system.

Although he tends to regard the early pieces as sounding "a little forced and clumsy to me," they do contain some very good writing. In "The Edge of the Great Rift," he speaks of the vast African sky "at noon when there are no clouds and the heat is like a blazing rug thrown over everything to suffocate and scorch." In "Burning Grass," Theroux tells of great African fires whose "heat and smoke would turn the fleeing ravens into frightened asterisks of feathers."

Away from Africa, Theroux tells of the rise and fall of the famous Orient Express, and then moves on to his 20th high school reunion in "Traveling Home." Here, he finds "the high school reunion disinters the past and rehashes it ... Decades are pressed into a few hours. If it were not so brief it would be a nightmare."

There are many other good things in this book, and, luckily for the reader, nothing really bad.

Backgammon

The origin of backgammon has been traced to a dice-and-board game found in the ancient city of Ur, dated 3000 years B.C. The Romans later played a game similar to the modern one. The name "backgammon" is variously ascribed to Welsh ("little battle") or Saxon ("back game").

North first made a temporizing response of one diamond, just to see what South's rebid would be. After South had rebid two clubs, it was a simple matter for North to ask for aces and settle for the small slam. What North did not anticipate was that the slam contract would be precarious, but then the opening bid by South was a bit ragged — only 10 high-card points.

What's the best play after the queen of diamonds lead? You have a choice in the heart suit of a straight finesse or a ruffing finesse. But first you should lead a spade, either up to dummy's king or toward your own queen. Do you see what you can do if you slip a spade trick through? Next you can play ace of hearts and then the queen, discarding a spade if East does not cover. On the other hand, when you lead a spade and the opponent in front of you rises with the ace, the king of spades in dummy will eventually take care of your losing diamond. You will of course have a problem if the spade honor you lead up to is taken by the ace.

The best approach is probably to lead from dummy. When West takes your queen with his ace, you have a clue that the heart king is with East. The theory is that West, with the spade ace, Q-J of diamonds, and heart king, would perhaps have made a takeout double of one club. Since he did pass, play him for not having all the outstanding high honors in the deck.

Members hear Noah Project spokeswoman

Members of the Scurry Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association heard Deanie Mills in the Martha Ann Woman's Club Thursday.

Mills, spokeswoman for the Noah Project, told the women that the Noah house has remained full since it opened last Oct. 1. She noted that 90 percent of abuse cases are not reported. She also added that often women are beaten on their backs and ribs so that the abuse can be covered up. The Noah Project also serves Nolan County.

In her closing remarks, Mills encouraged the women to obtain some credit in their own names.

Judy Scoggins, sales director with Mary Kay Cosmetics, presented the vocational speech. Members were reminded of the organization's national convention set for Oct. 9-13 in San Antonio and of White Buffalo Day, Oct. 12-13.

Clara Mae Noah, Inez Teaff, Maxie McNew and Ileta Hall were awarded 25-year chains.

The group also held a memorial service in honor of Mary Faver, a long-time member of ABWA.

Many factors in mouth pain

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — For three years, my husband, 79, has had an agonizing condition in which his tongue and mouth burn terribly during the night. He's been to many specialists, but no one has been able to treat the condition successfully. He has severe chronic obstructive lung disease, but no one has said whether this might cause the mouth condition. Can you offer any diagnosis?

DEAR READER — Sometimes medicine can cause mouth irritation and pain, as can some forms of neuralgia. Your husband's symptoms are unusual, since they occur only at night. I wonder if he could be doing something at night to bring this on; perhaps his dental cleaner is affecting his mouth. Could there be something in his diet, such as alcohol? Does he take one kind of medicine at night? An oral-surgery clinic at a teaching hospital might help him solve this puzzle.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 82 and no matter what I eat, I have a terrible taste in my mouth three or four hours later. What could cause this?

DEAR READER — The sequence of events you describe suggests at least three possibilities.

(1) Food may be catching in and around your teeth and, as saliva digests it, an odor and unpleasant taste may form. Try to clean your teeth after eating. Also, certain foods may react chemically in your mouth to cause the unpleasant taste. Try altering your diet. Add some yogurt as your last course.

(2) You may have an infection in one of your salivary glands. When you put food in your mouth, these glands are stimulated to produce saliva. If infection is present, the infected material may be secreted with the saliva and cause an odor. Check with your doctor or dentist.

(3) The fact that the bad taste develops three or four hours after eating raises the possibility that you may have a digestive disturbance. By four hours after a meal, the food is well digested and is on its way to being excreted. Your doctor or a gastroenterologist can determine whether your digestive process is operating normally.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two years ago I developed shingles. Right now I need eye surgery, but my doctor thinks I should wait, since the shingles are broken out. What do you think?

DEAR READER — It would be very unusual for the blisters of shingles to remain for two years. You may have continuing pain, tingling or discomfort, but not a rash. Visit a dermatologist to find out what is going on.

Your ophthalmologist is correct in refusing to operate on an eye that is in an infected area. If the rash is on a part of your body away from the eye, he may consent to operate once the dermatologist has begun treatment.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Trio remains in Houston jail

HOUSTON (AP) — Three people who allegedly refused to help a dying, pregnant woman remain in Harris County Jail after being charged with murder, authorities said.

The woman's stepfather, James W. Colburn, 40, his brother-in-law, A.J. Spradlin, 43, and Colburn's girlfriend, Linda K. Goodwin, 27, were charged Monday with murder.

Investigators say the trio refused to allow police and paramedics to enter a northeast Houston apartment where Linda Carol Morales, 21, apparently was suffering from stab wounds.

Police said they believe Ms. Goodwin stabbed Ms. Morales in an argument but say the two men also were responsible for her death for failing to seek medical treatment, Dunn said.

"As far as we're concerned, they denied her medical attention," said Sgt. W.T. Dunn. "She was two months pregnant. So they not only killed her, they killed her child."

Ms. Morales, mother of an 8-month-old child, died of stab wounds Sunday night at Ben Taub Hospital.

Spradlin was jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond. Bond was set at $10,000 each for the others.

Ms. Morales allegedly was stabbed and beaten Sunday night in the second-floor apartment where the suspects lived, investigators said. She staggered downstairs, knocked on an apartment door and asked for help, investigators said.

A man went to a pay telphone to call for help and left the woman who lived in the apartment to care for Ms. Morales, investigators said. While he was gone, three people went downstairs and carried Ms. Morales back to their apartment.

"They cursed her for helping and carried her back up to the apartment," Dunn said.

Police officers went to the apartment and were met by two men and a woman, investigators said. The woman had a minor cut but refused treatment from paramedics.

Repeal is sought of seat belt law

AUSTIN (AP) — Just days before it goes into effect, a state senator says the new mandatory seat belt law should be repealed.

Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, said the law takes state government too far into Texans' private lives.

"I wear my seat belts and believe that wearing them saves lives, but I believe when government mandates things on individuals that they could by their own choice do, then government has gone too far," Blake said Tuesday.

Blake said he will introduce a bill in the next session of the Legislature to repeal the seat belt law.

The new law takes effect Sunday, making it a traffic offense to ride in the front seat of an automobile or most pickup trucks without wearing a seat belt.

The penalty for violations will be a $25 to $50 fine, but that doesn't take effect until Dec. 1.

The Legislature in May passed the seat belt requirement under pressure from the federal government and automakers.

But Blake said the Texas law "was passed under the guise of eliminating the need for the installation of expensive air bags." He said the new law falls short of meeting all federal requiremnts.

Authorities arrest 3 persons in four U.S. Marine slayings

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Authorities have arrested three men they suspect of being part of the leftist terror squad that sprayed a cafe with gunfire, killing 13 people, including six Americans, President Jose Napoleon Duarte said.

A fourth suspect was wounded in the June 19 attack and died in a hospital, Duarte said Tuesday at a news conference.

He said security forces still were hunting seven other suspects, five of whom have been identified.

A statement issued at the news conference identified all 11 suspects as members of the Central American Revolutionary Worker's Party, which claimed responsibility for the attack.

The guerrilla group is the smallest of the organizations making up the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, which has been fighting the U.S.-backed government for the past 5½ years. Known by its Spanish initials PRTC, the group recently has been mounting urban raids.

Duarte's announcement came a day after Attorney General Santiago Mendoza Aguilar said he was reopening the investigation into the 1980 assassination of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero. No arrests have been made in the case, in which human rights activists claim a rightist death squad was involved.

Mendoza Aguilar also has been reopening investigations of other slags, some involving American victims. Rightist death squads or members of the military are suspected in most of the cases.

In the cafe attack, PRTC guerrillas drove a truck to two sidewalk cafes in the capital, jumped off and opened fire with automatic weapons at cafe patrons.

The Welland Ship Canal opened in 1932.

Riot police move in before protest march begins today

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Riot police with truncheons and rubber whips scattered about 200 people who gathered near a sports stadium today for a protest march to the prison where black leader Nelson Mandela is serving a life term.

One man screaming "Allah akhbar," Arabic for "God is great," was seen being hauled away from the clash that developed moments before the scheduled 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EDT) start of the march.

Some of South Africa's Moslems, classified as Asians under the government's race laws, speak and read Arabic.

Hours before the police charge, police and soldiers sealed off the neighborhood around Athlone Stadium, where the demonstrators intended to gather.

Security forces refused to allow anyone near the sports complex. About 300 people sang freedom songs and heckled police from behind a barricade 500 yards away.

One of them, Anglican clergyman Maxwell Malan, told The Associated Press that the protesters planned to carry out the march despite the police presence and a government pledge to take "stern action" against it.

But 10 minutes before the march was to begin, a senior policeman announced over a bullhorn: "You must leave peacefully in five minutes. Otherwise I will have to take action. Please, people, you will get hurt."

Part of the crowd melted away.

Chemical leak has spread

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Federal and state investigators were probing a runaway chemical reaction early today that spread irritating fumes from a suburban plant 20 miles east into Philadelphia, injuring 27 people and threatening a mass evacuation.

At one point, authorities in a 12-square-mile area stood ready to evacuate up to 40,000 residents, West Chester police officer Robert Gallen said.

The emergency ended at 3 a.m., four hours after about 2,000 gallons of chemicals in a reactor at the Sartomer Co. chemical plant reached a "very, very high temperature" and triggered a safety vent, said company President Nicholas Trainer.

Gallen said the leak was contained by 50 firefighters wearing gas masks who trained water on the overheated reactor for several hours.

The leak occurred while petrochemicals were being mixed with reacting agents to form pentaerythritol tetraacrylate, a raw material used in plastics and paints, Trainer said.

"It's classified as an irritant; it hurts the eyes and throat," he said. "It's a long, long way from being lethal."

But a small amount of the carcinogen benzene was used in the mixing process, he said, bringing investigators from the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Environmental Resources tothe plant early today.

DER chemist Charles Formeck said that benzene and another of the reacting agents used in the mixing process, heptane, are both highly explosive.

A 61-year-old asthma victim, Donald Erdman of West Chester, was the only area resident admitted to a hospital because of the leak, authorities said. He was listed in satisfactory condition at Chester County Hospital, nursing supervisor Emma Rimel said.

She said 26 others were treated for irritations and released.

135th crash victim has died

DALLAS (AP) — Kathleen Wright of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has become the 135th person to die as a result of the Delta Air Lines jumbo jet crash at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport 26 days ago, officials said.

"She died at 9:59 p.m. Her family was here," Claude McCain, vice president for administration at Parkland Memorial Hospital, said this morning.

Mrs. Wright, 49, suffered burns and fractures in the crash, and doctors amputated her lower right leg on Aug. 16 to prevent the spread of potentially fatal bacteria, McCain said.

She remained in critical condition since the crash and died Tuesday night after developing pneumonia earlier in the day, McCain said.

The wife of Broward County, Fla., Judge Zedebee Wright, Mrs. Wright was a Nova University professor and a former Broward County School Board member.

She was the first black to win a countywide office and the first and only black on the board during the eight years she served before retiring in 1982. Although she left the board, she remained involved in the activist community.

Panel urges crackdown on bank reporting, tax havens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government must clamp down on U.S. banks that fail to report large cash deals and then move aggressively against foreign firms that act as tax havens and money launderers, a Senate panel said today.

The report by the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations came one day after the Treasury Department announced a record $2.25 million fine against Crocker National Bank of San Francisco for unreported currency transactions.

While the 180-page subcommittee document concentrates on problems with offshore banks — mainly in the Caribbean — it also notes that U.S. law enforcement officials are having difficulty tracking millions of dollars in illicit money that flows through domestic banks.

"The United States government must insure that its own house is in order if it is to expect the cooperation of offshore financial institutions and haven governments," the report said.

Even though the Senate panel's report discusses the use of offshore banks as tax havens for money earned legitimately in the United States, the focus is on laundering drug money.

"Realistically, we're talking dope here," said a subcommittee staffer who briefed reporters on condition he not be quoted by name.

In the Treasury Department's action against Crocker, the bank was fined under the Bank Secrecy Act, which requires banks to report all cash transactions larger than $10,000.

Department officials said there was no evidence the bank itself deliberately engaged in money laundering. But assistant Treasury Secretary John M. Walker Jr. said, "Crocker's reporting failures were systemic and pervasive."

The department said $3.43 billion of the $3.88 billion not reported by Crocker from 1980 to 1984 had come from six banks in Hong Kong. Other violations involved Crocker branch banks located along the border with Mexico.

In both cases, Walker said it was highly likely the money being deposited came from drug transactions.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was stricken with polio in 1921 while at his summer home on the Canadian island of Campobello.

While the 180-page subcommittee document concentrates on problems with offshore banks — mainly in the Caribbean — it also notes that U.S. law enforcement officials are having difficulty tracking millions of dollars in illicit money that flows through domestic banks.

"The United States government must insure that its own house is in order if it is to expect the cooperation of offshore financial institutions and haven governments," the report said.

Even though the Senate panel's report discusses the use of offshore banks as tax havens for money earned legitimately in the United States, the focus is on laundering drug money.

"Realistically, we're talking dope here," said a subcommittee staffer who briefed reporters on condition he not be quoted by name.

In the Treasury Department's action against Crocker, the bank was fined under the Bank Secrecy Act, which requires banks to report all cash transactions larger than $10,000.

Department officials said there was no evidence the bank itself deliberately engaged in money laundering. But assistant Treasury Secretary John M. Walker Jr. said, "Crocker's reporting failures were systemic and pervasive."

The department said $3.43 billion of the $3.88 billion not reported by Crocker from 1980 to 1984 had come from six banks in Hong Kong. Other violations involved Crocker branch banks located along the border with Mexico.

In both cases, Walker said it was highly likely the money being deposited came from drug transactions.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was stricken with polio in 1921 while at his summer home on the Canadian island of Campobello.

OLD FURR'S CLOSES–A new Furr's Supermarket opened in Snyder today at 30th and College Avenue. These photos were taken in the early 1950s of the old Furr's store located on 26th Street which officially closed its doors for the last time at 10 p.m. Tuesday. New Furr's store opens here today

A new Furr's Supermarket opened in Snyder today at 30th and College Avenue. Ribbon cutting ceremonies were held this morning.

The other Furr's, located at 1618 26th, closed at 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Furr's opened its first store in Snyder in December, 1949--approximately one year after oil was discovered near the city.

The supermarket burned in July of 1959 and was rebuilt and reopened in December of that year. In 1967, the store flooded when June rains caused local creeks to overflow.

The new supermarket has approximately 34,000 square feet. The interior is decorated in a combination of ginger, sand and walnut tones.

The store features eight computerized scanner checkout stands that will speed up the process and make it more accurate. Each product has a Universal Product code printed on its label. The cashier will simply run the UPC over the scanner, the computer will "read" it and automatically ring up the purchase. The tape will then contain a detailed report of what was purchased.

In addition to fresh produce, meat and dairy foods, the Furr's will also have a bulk foods department. In this area, food can be bought by the pound or ounce.

Prison board chairman resigns post

AUSTIN (AP) — The man who has headed the state prison board during some of the prison system's most difficult times has submitted his resignation to Gov. Mark White's office.

Robert Gunn's resignation letter, dated Aug. 23, was received Tuesday, said Janis Monger, a spokeswoman for White.

Ms. Monger said contents of the letter couldn't be made public because White, who is vacationing in Alaska, hadn't seen it yet. The governor is due back in Austin late today, she said.

"The letter did come in today. It was two or three sentences, stating his intention to resign," she said.

The 60-year-old businessman previously said he would be leaving the prison post to support U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler's bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

That action sparked a feud with Democrat White, who Gunn charged had been mixing prisons and politics.

Contacted by KAUZ-TV, Gunn said Tuesday he was happy about his decision to resign and said it "was a good time for an easy transition" because the corrections board was "changing in purpose and effort."

Also Tuesday, the Palestine Herald-Press reported that Gunn plans to resign immediately. The newspaper said it had obtained a copy of a letter Gunn sent fellow prison board members.

"I resign without any hard feelings and only minimal regrets," Gunn stated in that letter.

Gunn was named to the TDC board in 1981 by then-Gov. Bill Clements. He has been chairman for about two years but had indicated for some time he didn't intend to serve out his six-year term that expires in February 1987.

In his letter to board memebers, Gunn noted that the prison system has settled the 13-year-old reform lawsuit brought by an inmate that has sparked wide-ranging changes in prison operations.

"Actually, it is time, with a new administration in place, for a new chairman to be installed to begin the compliance effort and to direct (the prison system) on its new course, whatever it may be," the Herald-Press quoted the letter as saying.

"I feel that prisons and politics don't mix," Gunn said in late June. "It's the role of an executive (the governor) to take the advice of his advisers and experts, which should be the (TDC) board of directors."

The chairman of Gunn Oil Co., Gunn has served during a period of turmoil that included implementation of prison reforms ordered by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice in 1980.

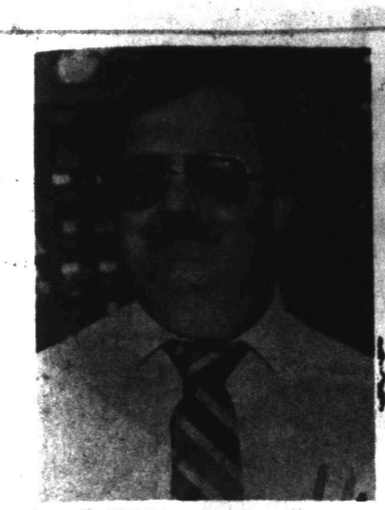

Increased violence in the prison system, revelations of financial mismanagement and the 1983 resignation of then-TDC director W.J. Estelle Jr. also occurred during Gunn's tenure as chairman.

Workshop readies handicapped for real world

DENTON, Texas (AP) — The school bell still rings at Fred Moore High, but homework and books are things of the past. Teachers are called therapist technicians and classrooms are now work stations. Although the curriculum is different in this training center, the goal is the same. Denton State School clients are preparing for society.

"Our purpose at the Fred Moore workshop is to prepare the clients for the possibility of entering the labor market," said John Lewis, director of vocational programming.

"This is more or less a stepping stone. We're primarily work oriented, but we're teaching socialization skills as well."

Lewis and workshop director, Ray Stefl, procure contracts from private industries which need labor for packaging, assembling, sorting, labeling, welding, woodworking and bookbinding.

"We like to call it a business proposition, and that statement is so important because it must be good for both parties. In other words, the contracts must be such that our clients can produce quality products that are satisfactory for us and our customers. We didn't accept one contract because we felt our clients just couldn't do it," Lewis said.

The center has acquired contracts with two businesses in California, one in Florida and previously, one in New York.

"The majority of our work comes from the metroplex. We have our own trucks, so we can ship and receive," Lewis said.

With about 200 clients enrolled in the center's training program, keeping up with their abilities and limitations is no easy task. But it must be done, in order to prepare them for the outside world.

"So many of the clients cannot count, so we take a board and count if off for them. We also make adjustments for clients with physical handicaps. The most gratifying sight is seeing a client confined to a wheelchair who's able to come here and earn money," Lewis said.

"We have a blind client who can do production. There's a constant consideration here of how we can help them with the production level."

How much is produced by each client in the six-hour work day dictates the pay rate.

"We use the piece rate system. The client gets paid by the number of items completed. There may be five steps to a 10 cent item. Each step may be worth 2 cents. The earnings are determined by their production. This is more realistic than a hourly rate because one client may work slowly while another one works fast. The faster worker would make more money."

As in jobs in the outside world, Lewis believes the pay is an incentive for the clients to do good work. "They're working for the extras in life. They know they can go out and buy something. This is very important to them."

When the clients have met the criteria of the individual program plans set up by an Interdisciplinary Committee, (a group of professionals which includes psychologists, social workers, medical personnel and teachers), a decision is made to determine whether or not the client is ready for community life.

LBJ remembered on birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A red, white and blue flower wreath was laid at the base of a pink slab of Texas granite that stands in tribute to what would have been Lyndon B. Johnson's 77th birthday.

About 70 people gathered at the LBJ Monument on Tuesday to honor the nation's 38th president. The granite monument is in the LBJ Memorial Grove in Lady Bird Johnson Park, across the Potomac from the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials.

Harry McPherson, a former White House assistant, said Johnson, who died in Texas in 1973, was an under-appreciated "consummate government man."

"When activism is wanted again, as one day it will be, the tremendous example of Lyndon Johnson will be its reference point," McPherson said at the dusk ceremony. "When government is seen once more not as the problem but as society's instrument of doing good for the greatest number, LBJ, the consummate man of government, will be remembered with gratitude and admiration. So I believe."

Inmate stabbed 8times

BRAZORIA, Texas (AP) — A 25-year-old convict became the 182nd attacked so far this year in the Texas prison system, the nation's second largest, authorities say.

Juan Garza, serving six years for a Bexar County vehicle burglary conviction, was stabbed repeatedly in the chest and neck about 6:15 a.m. Tuesday in a hallway at the Texas Department of Corrections' Clemens Unit, prison spokesman Phil Guthrie said.

Garza was flown by helicopter to the TDC hospital in Galveston, where he was in serious but stable condition with eight stab wounds, Guthrie said.

As prisoners were going to breakfast, Garza was jumped and held down by one inmate while another stabbed him, Guthrie said.

A 20-year-old inmate serving an eight-year sentence for a Bexar County burglary conviction and a 22-year-old convict sentenced to seven years for a Tarrant County robbery conviction were being questioned, Guthrie said.

The motive for the attack was uncertain, he said.

An 18-inch metal rod and a screwdriver were found, but authorities weren't sure if the weapons were used in the stabbing, Guthrie said.

So far this year, there have been 18 inmate homicides and 164 non-fatal knifings, Guthrie said.

The National Military Establishment was renamed the Department of Defense in 1949.

Cards finding ways to win

by The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals seem to come up with a new way of winning night after night, and that combined with the mediocre play of the New York Mets over the past two weeks - has made a once-torrid divisional race a little cooler.

"There are so many ways we can beat a club," St. Louis reliever Jeff Lahti said Tuesday night after the Cardinals came from behind to beat Cincinnati and increase the St. Louis lead in the National League East to three games.

"We hit home runs . . . we steal them blind . . . we base-hit them to death . . . we hit balls in the gap," said Lahti, whose 16th save preserved St. Louis' 6-4 victory over Cincinnati.

While the Cardinals won their season-high seventh straight game, the Mets dropped their second straight to NL West leader Los Angeles, being shut out by Jerry Reuss until Darryl Strawberry homered with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning of a 2-1 loss.

Elsewhere in the NL it was San Francisco 6, Montreal 1; San Diego 4, Philadelphia 1; Atlanta 7, Pittsburgh 6; and Houston 11, Chicago 4.

Cardinals 6, Reds 4

Willie McGee borrowed a lighter bat from teammate Vince Coleman because he needed to pull the ball with two men on base and St. Louis trailing 4-3 in the eighth inning. The strategy worked as McGee hit his league-leading 16th triple into the gap in right-center to score both runners and put the Cardinals ahead to stay.

Pete Rose did not play for Cincinnati, and remains 11 hits shy of passing Ty Cobb's all-time record of 4,191 hits.

Dodgers 2, Mets 1

Reuss, 12-8, was thankful for the quick feet of rookie shortstop Mariano Duncan, who went to the right side of second base to rob Keith Hernandez and snuff out a sixth-inning threat by New York.

Duncan tripled, walked, stole two bases and scored both runs for the Dodgers.

Padres 4, Phillies 1

San Diego needed a victory to break a three-game losing streak, and left-hander Mark Thurmond was there to answer the call. He struck out a career-high eight batters in 7 2-3 innings.

Thurmond, 6-7, gave up seven hits and walked just two.

Lady Tigers win 2

MIDLAND – Snyder varsity upped its volleyball record to 5-2 here Tuesday, defeating both Midland High and Bronte.

Snyder defeated Midland High 15-5 and 15-10, then ripped Bronte 15-1 and 16-14.

Next action for the Lady Tigers is Friday, when they attend the San Angelo Tournament.

The girls had been scheduled to play at Abilene Cooper on Thursday, but that match has been cancelled.

Coach Vicki Nelms was pleased with the victories and added, "we're getting more consistant. Against Bronte we were able to play everybody on the team and it showed our depth."

Nelms said that Kima McLarty, out with an ankle injury, is not expected to be able to compete until next week and will miss the San Angelo Tournament.

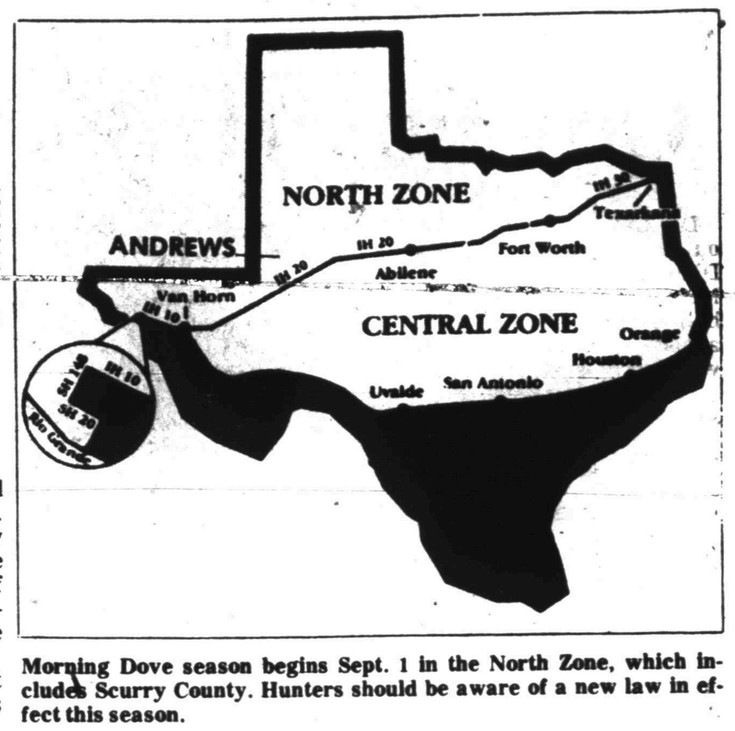

The Tigers are scheduled against Midland Lee at 9 a.m. Friday as the two-day tourney cranks up. They will return to the court at 3 if they win and at 1 if they lose, taking on either Lubbock Dunbar or San Angelo Lake View.

The 16-team tournament features District 2-4A members Monahans, Sweetwater, Pecos, Lamesa, Fort Stockton and Andrews as well as Lake View and Snyder.

Snyder junior varsity, which will host the Snyder JV Tournament on Saturday, split in matches here Tuesday.

The Cats lost a close one to Midland High, 9-15, 16-14 and 15-10, then defeated Bronte 15-7 and 15-4.

The junior varsity is 4-2 for the season.

Morning Dove season begins Sept. 1 in the North Zone, which includes Scurry County. Hunters should be aware of a new law in effect this season.

Residents cautioned of new law in effect for 1985 dove season

Scurry County dove hunters should be aware of a new law in effect this season.

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, all dove hunters between the ages of 17 and 65 must have a hunting license - even to hunt in their own county.

In the past, hunters were able to hunt in their own county without a permit.

The dove season this year in the North Zone, which includes Scurry County, opens Sept. 1 and runs through Nov. 9. Interstate 20 serves as the dividing line between the north and central zones, set up by the TP&WD. Dove hunting in the Central Zone also opens Sept., while hunting in the South Zone, which includes those areas below Uvalde, San Antonio and Houston, begins Sept. 20.

Hunters should also be aware that while hunting in the North Zone is continuous from Sept. 1 through Nov. 9, the season is split in the Central Zone. The season there goes from Sept. 1 through Oct. 30, then reopens Jan. 4 until Jan. 13.

Shooting hours for the dove season are 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset in all zones. The daily limit is 12 birds. Possession limit is 24.

Resident combination hunting and fishing licenses, the most common sold, are $15 and available in a number of local stores.

More is giving way to less as $queeze is felt in sports

EDITOR'S NOTE - The sports money boom is coming to an end. This last of a three-part series looks at the financial future.

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

More is giving way to less in a new, emerging economy aimed at restoring stability to sports.

Less competition from rival leagues. Less in salary increases and other costs. Less reliance on television for money and fan support.

Partly by design and partly by natural progression, the change is already under way:

-Salaries are leveling off, and while superstars like basketball's Pat Ewing will still get the big contracts, owners and players predict that overall increases will continue to decline.

-The United States Football League, after a two-year salary war with the National Football League, has dropped out of the bidding for most college stars, easing pressure on the NFL.

-The National Basketball Association operates under a salary cap limiting team payrolls. The immediate result last season: While 10 teams still lost money, that was seven fewer than the year before.

-Baseball's new collective bargaining agreement calls for revenue sharing to help struggling teams, and owners estimate they will save $400,000 a year per team, starting in 1987, from salary arbitration changes.

It is a gradual transformation deemed necessary after unparalleled growth led to unparalleled spending over the last decade.

That doesn't mean sports will go broke, only that it won't get much richer.

"Maybe this latest golden age of sports is coming to an end," said former baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, "but it's not turning to lead."

Players really made it big because of competition for their services - from rival leagues in football, basketball and hockey, and from free agency in baseball. And, like water, sports now is seeking its own level.

"THE WORLD'S MOST COMPACT ZOOM COPIER. IT'LL FIT YOUR BUDGET AS NEATLY AS IT FITS YOUR OFFICE."

—Tony Randall

THE BETA 3502 FROM MINOLTA.

Imagine getting copies from almost 50% smaller than the original up to almost 50% larger and anywhere in between. From a copier so compact, it fits just about anywhere in your office.

The reason the Minolta Beta 3502 is so compact is that it has a stationary platen usually found on much more expensive copiers. And a universal paper drawer tucked neatly under the body of the copier.

It even takes optional big-copier accessories like a semi-automatic document feeder and a 10-bin sorter.

CALL in today for a free demonstration of the Beta 3502. Only from the mind of Minolta.

In appreciation for helping to make Business Copy Products-Minolta's "Dealer of the Year" in the Southern Region of the United States, we are offering to the businesses of Snyder...

'Could be making a mistake...'

Cowboys trade off Dickerson

DALLAS (AP) - When starting outside linebacker Anthony Dickerson didn't play a down in Monday night's National Football League preseason game against Chicago, he knew what was next.

"I figured something was up," said Dickerson. "And it was."

Dickerson was shuffled off to Buffalo for a future draft choice as Dallas Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry decided to go with younger players.

"I'm the best linebacker they have," said Dickerson, a six-year veteran. "I hate to go but I'm shifting my loyalties now.

"I'm a little upset about it."

Landry admitted he was taking a "calculated risk" by getting rid of Dickerson, who gambled for the big play too often to suit his coach.

"We had to make a decision based on putting together a team trying to get back into the playoffs," said Landry. "We decided we have to try to bring in young players."

Jesse Penn, a second-round pick from Virginia Tech, has had a solid preseason and Jeff Rohrer has also been producing. Landry said Rohrer would be the starter for the time being.

"Tony had a good summer," said Landry. "It was a tough decision but we had to do what we thought was best for the team."

Rohrer immediately moved into the starting position at right outside linebacker.

Linebacker Coach Jerry Tubbs said Dickerson would be helped by the trade.

"We play a very controlled type defense and that workd against Tony," said Tubbs. "Tony had a good camp and a good attitude. We could be making a mistake but felt we had to go with some of the younger guys."

The Cowboys also cut rookies Loyal Proffitt, a quarterback from Abilene Christian, and punter Bryan Wagner and veterans wide receiver Kirk Phillips, offensive guard Syd Kitson, offensive tackle John Hunt, running back Norm Granger, and defensive end Chris Arendt.

Offensive guard Brian Baldinger and fullback Todd Fowler were placed on injured reserve.

On another matter, Landry said quarterback Danny White, who missed Monday night's 15-13 preseason victory over Chicago, will play half the game against the Houston Oilers Saturday night.

White resumes workouts Wednesday. He has been throwing lightly because of a torn left rib cartilage.

The Dallas roster is now down to 50 and will have to be at 45 next week unless the NFL makes a change to expand the roster to 46.

"I've lived through the demise of the World Hockey Association, the World Football League, the American Basketball Association," sports agent Bob Woolf said. "I've represented a lot of players who had wonderful contracts that weren't fulfilled. There's no sense having a great contract if you've got no place to play. And more and more players realize that."

Negotiating the superstar contracts could be more difficult in baseball under a new requirement for up-front financing of all long-term contracts. If a player is to be paid for years after he leaves the game, the money has to be put in escrow; teams may no longer mortgage - or bankrupt - their future.

Just as television was pivotal in the money boom, it will be a key to the retrenchment.

"I don't think our television contract will go up 2½ times to over $4 billion for five years," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who negotiated a record $2.1 billion, five-year contract with the three networks in 1981. "I think we will have an increase, but it's not going to be an increase that will compensate for continual escalation of player salaries of 25-30 percent."

The proliferation of money led to a proliferation of sports on the air. Will there be less sports on the air in the future?

"What's necessary," said Bob Igiel, a senior vice president and director of programming at the N.W. Ayer advertising agency, "is to reduce the number of games to make them more meaningful and then to reduce the number of events telecast, to make those more important, too. That's why the NFL ranks so highly - because it's still a relatively short season and every game means a lot."

Alcott suffers injury to knee

SUGAR LAND, Texas (AP) - Amy Alcott, the fourth-leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour this year, will be sidelined indefinitely after suffering a hairline fracture of her right kneecap Sunday, the LPGA said Tuesday.

Alcott was hurt when she fell on an escalator at the Los Angeles International Airport after losing a playoff Sunday to Pat Bradley at the LPGA National Pro-Am in Denver.

Rams' Youngblood retires

by The Associated Press

Jack Youngblood and Reggie McKenzie may have worn National Football League uniforms for the last time, but the coach who cut another multi-year All-Pro, punter Dave Jennings, believes Jennings will get another chance.

"I feel certain he'll kick in the league this year," New York Giants Coach Bill Parcells said Tuesday after announcing that Jennings had been waived. "I think he was a great player at his position. He's one of the best who ever kicked."

Sean Landeta, a refugee from the Baltimore Stars of the United States Football League, was chosen by Parcells over Jennings, the Giants' punter for 11 years. Jennings averaged 47.6 yards per punt on five attempts during the preseason, compared to 38.8 yards per punt on five attempts for Landeta, who signed a big contract before training camp opened.

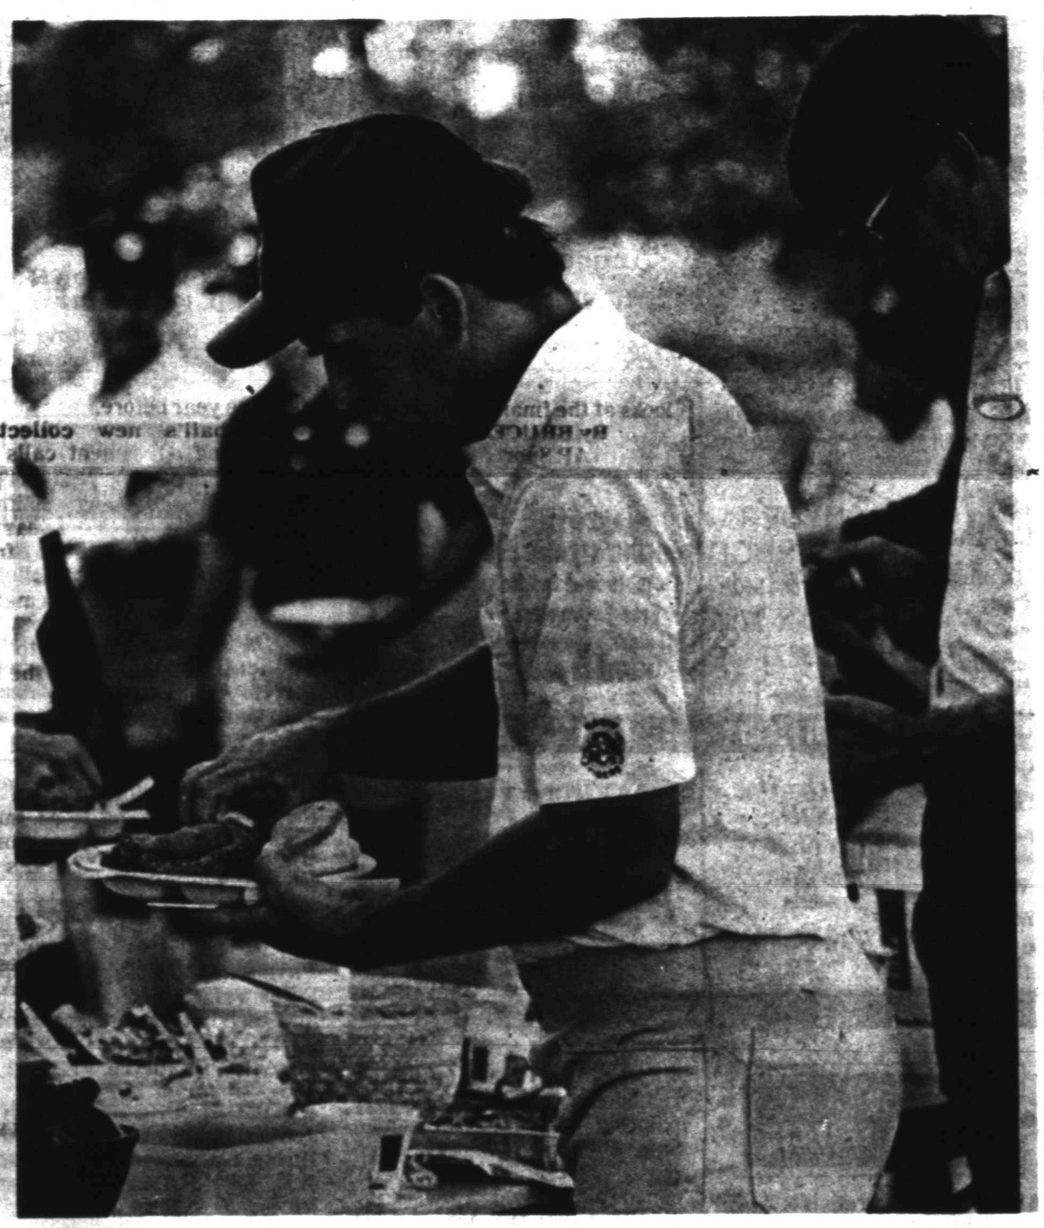

Youngblood surrendered to back problems by retiring from the Los Angeles Rams, while McKenzie, a sparkplug on the Buffalo Bills' "Electric Company" offensive line, was dropped by Seattle.

"I've had to make some tough decisions in my life, but none as tough as this one," said Youngblood, a 14-year starter for the Rams who holds the team record with 202 consecutive games played.

McKenzie was cut by the Seahawks along with defensive end Mike Fanning, center John Hill and defensive end Mark Bell. McKenzie was traded to Seattle in 1983 by Buffalo, where he had become famous as a blocker for O.J. Simpson. The Electric Company, it was said, gave the juice to Simpson.

All NFL teams had to cut their rosters to 50 men by Tuesday and 45 next week before the regular season starts.

Tiger workouts going well; scrimmage C-City Thursday

Workouts at the Ragin' Tiger football camp have gone well this week say coaches, who are preparing for Thursday's scrimmage with Colorado City.

The scrimmage will begin about 7:30 here. A freshman scrimmage opens the evening's work at 5:30. The junior varsity will scrimmage at approximately 6:30, according to coaches.

"What we want to do now is solidify the starting positions. We made some changes after the first scrimmage and now we hope we can find the best people playing at those positions," said Coach Dennis Tomlin.

Colorado City will come at Snyder with a Veer offense. The Wolves also use a multiple front defense.

"It should tell us a few more things about ourselves," said Tomlin. "The multiple defensive front will give us some problems. But that's okay, that's what this is all about, a learning situation."

Tomlin said "Our workouts this week have gone real well. We're better than we were. We're just looking for that improvement."

Veteran player Steve Parker (guard-outside linebacker) was expected to undergo orthoscopic surgery on his right knee today in Midland. The senior ballplayer injured the knee in last Friday's scrimmage with Vernon.

An official word won't be known until later today, but it was thought that Parker might be out four to six weeks.

Ruth Gordon is dead at 88

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Actress Ruth Gordon, whose stage and screen career spanned 70 years and included a supporting actress Oscar for "Rosemary's Baby," died today at her Martha's Vineyard summer home, police said. She was 88.

"She passed away peacefully in her sleep," said state Trooper James Mettaliano.

She was found by her husband of 43 years, Garson Kanin, a producer and author.

Her screen credits include "Inside Daisy Clover," "Where's Poppa," and "Harold and Maude," about the love between a teen-age boy and an old woman, which attacted a devoted cult following. She was the friendly neighbor devil worshiper in "Rosemary's Baby" and she played Clint Eastwood's mother in "Every Which Way But Loose" and "Any Which Way You Can."

She won an Emmy award for an appearance on the TV show "Taxi" in 1979.

Inspections ordered

LONDON (AP) — British airlines carried out urgent checks on some U.S.-built Pratt & Whitney jet engines today after aviation authorities said they discovered cracks and deterioration in some of the engines.

The inspections, ordered by the Civil Aviation Authority, involve the type of engine used by a British Airtours Boeing 737 that caught fire at Manchester airport in northern England last Thursday.

Dog owner on trial for wreckless injury

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors rested their case after the third day of testimony in the trial of a Magnolia farm worker charged with reckless injury to a child after his pet bull terrier mauled his girlfriend's 4-year-old son.

Montgomery County sheriff's deputies said Tuesday that after the child's death they found the comments of James Traxler, 30, so repulsive that one officer almost struck the man and another later wept.

"The boy should have known better than to mess with that dog," Deputy Sam Lynch quoted Traxler as saying after the Feb. 23, 1984 incident.

Art Collins, former captain of sheriff's detectives, testified Tuesday he was tempted to hit Traxler because of his comments.

Another officer, Deputy Jim Isaacks, said that after leaving the Traxler home the day of the killing, he went to his own house three blocks away and "sat on the porch and cried."

Defense attorney Roy Rowland on Houston is expected to present his case today.

Prosecutors contend a pit bull terrier kept by Traxler attacked and killed James Miller, the son of Traxler's girlfriend.

The child's mother, Jeri Miller, lived with Traxler before the incident but later married him, testimony showed.

Authorities said the babysitter who was watching the boy said she left him alone in the yard for a few minutes while she tended to a younger child in the house.

Deputies testified a babysitter moved the child's body away from the dog, which was standing in a pool of blood — lunging and barking fiercely — when officers arrived. The animal was secured at the end of a heavy chain, they said.

Justice of the Peace Gary Collier, unable to find a tranquilizer gun, ordered officers to destroy the animal, according to testimony.

Lt. Eddie Pierce said he shot the terrier.

However, the animal was not killed by the first shot and Traxler became upset, and told officers "You didn't have to do that," Pierce quoted the defendant as saying.

Pierce said Traxler then drew a knife and said he would put the dog out of its misery. But officers restrained him and shot the animal twice again.

Traxler currently is serving a 10-year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections for a June conviction of manufacturing methamphetamine, authorities said.

Also Tuesday, three neighbors testified Traxler and a woman companion brought several dogs, including three pit bulls, from Louisiana.

Neighbor Alma P. Staymie said one of the pit bulls was especially vicious and all the dogs were tied to telephone poles in a partially fenced yard.

Ms. Staymie testifed Traxler told her he once was bitten on the leg by the same dog that attacked the boy. She said Traxler told her he had to pry the dog's jaws open too get the animal off himself.

Ex-commander says he was saddened by Cole's resignation

AUSTIN (AP) — The former commander of the 1st Armored Division has testified that he was saddened by the resignation of former Army Capt. Peter Cole but he felt that the cause of Cole's distress was at Fort Hood, Texas, and not in Germany.

Cole claims he was relieved of duty as a battalion supply officer in Germany, coerced into offering his resignation then was unable to get the resignation returned.

William L. Webb, retired major general living in Vienna, Va., was to return to the witness stand today for cross examination in the lawsuit filed by Cole against the Army.

Webb said Tuesday he talked with Cole July 7, 1976, when Cole came to see him about the resignation — "a sort of an emotional outburst for wanting to leave the Army."

"I was saddened that we had an officer with such views," said Webb. "He had a very, very bitter attitude and I tried to find out what was wrong."

Webb said subsequent conversations indicated that Cole's complaints all originated at Fort Hood, where Cole had been stationed with the 2nd Armored Division.

Webb said Cole did not offer to withdraw his resignation and Webb did not ask him to.

Webb said he later sent a message to Maj Gen. George Patton, commander of the 2nd Armored Division, telling him of Cole's visit.

Assault report filed locally

Police are investigating a misdemeanor assault complaint filed Tuesday.

South African ministers against apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's clergymen have assumed a prominent role in the struggle against apartheid, preaching the urgency of change to whites and the hope of peaceful gains to blacks.

Black Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu is the best known of a half-dozen prominent church leaders who are pressing the government to make concessions before a bloody conflict becomes inevitable. Hundreds more rank-and-file clerics are working quietly in black townships and white suburbs, often a buffer between the haves and have-nots.

"Whether we like it or not, we are right there in the middle of it," said the Rev. Peter Storey, head of the Methodist Church, after he and eight other top church officials met this month with President P.W. Botha. It was the highest-ranking anti-apartheid delegation to see Botha in a year of black unrest that has left more than 600 dead.

The role of the churches has become more critical as opposition activists are detained without charge or put on trial for treason. More than 2,000 people have been held under a state of emergency declared July 21.

In this leadership vacuum, churchmen are more than counselors. Tutu, the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize winner, waded into a crowd of angry black mourners at a funeral for a riot victim last month and saved the life of a suspected informer. It was the third time in three weeks that he personally interceded to defuse a confrontation.

White and black clerics have been arrested, banned and harassed for what the white government regards as political meddling. The ministers answer that the Gospel compels them to fight a system of privilege based on skin color.

On Tuesday, the Rev. Allan Boesak, the mixed-race president of the 70-million member World Alliance of Reform Churches, was jailed without charge, a day before he intended to lead an illegal march demanding the release of imprisoned black leader Nelson Mandela.

Last week, Paddy Kearney, white director of a Roman Catholic community center in Durban, was also detained without charge. Tutu's passport was revoked from 1981 until May. Catholic Archbishop Denis Hurley, 69, was charged with slandering the police in neighboring South-West Africa, also known as Namibia. The charge was dropped the day he was to appear in court.

Hurley, who is white, said churches play a leading role because clerics "have become much more aware of the tensions and resentment of the black people under the burden of apartheid."

Setback earns praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger won wide congressional praise for scuttling the Army's troubled Sgt. York air defense gun, a costly weapon that worked no better than the system it was designed to replace.

The decision to cancel the gun means the Army will have to go back to the drawing board to come up with a weapon to defend its infantry troops against aerial attack. The service already has missiles and high-speed guns for that purpose, but says a better system is needed.

"The system didn't work well enough," Weinberger told a Pentagon news conference Tuesday. "That's the simple fact."

"The adage about Weinberger is that he's never seen a weapons system he didn't like, but he's now shown that given the right circumstances, he's not against cancelling a program. It's a very important and dramatic decision," said Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind.

It is rare for the Pentagon to kill a weapon after production has begun. Eight years ago, President Carter halted the B-1 bomber program, but only four prototypes had been built and production wasn't started. President Reagan resurrected the plane.

Although Congress is in recess, legislators quickly praised Weinberger's decision and said it would help him as he tries to defend Reagan administration defense budget requests before an increasingzy reluctant Congress.

"This gives Weinberger tremendous credibility on Capitol Hill," said Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., by telephone from his home. Rudman, a frequent critic of the Sgt. York, said, "it certainly was the right decision."

Rep. Denny Smith, R-Ore., the weapon's chief critic in the House, called Weinberger's decision "a gutsy move" and said it "sends a strong signal to contractors to clean up their act."

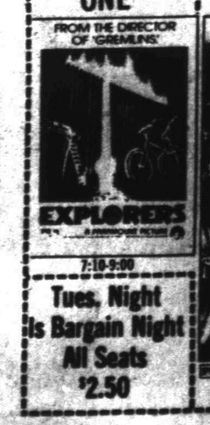

A frequent Weinberger critic, Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., said by telephone from Jonesboro, Ark., that "I must say I am pleasantly surprised. I did not ever think I would see the day when Weinberger would turn thumbs down on a weapon when it's been around so long. It was a turkey."

The Sgt. York, also known as Divad for division air defense, was designed to chiefly defend against low-flying Soviet helicopters.

The service had planned to buy 618 of the guns from Ford Aerospace for a total cost of $4.8 billion. The Pentagon had already sunk $1.8 billion into the program and had received 65 Divads.
