Texas Law Changes Going Into Effect

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans find out this week a lot of what the 1981 Legislature did for them and to them.

Many of the law changes made by the regular 140-day session take effect Monday and others on Tuesday, the start of the state's new business year.

Most of them will touch on the personal and business life of Texans.

Examples:

— Eighteen-year-olds will find they cannot legally drink a beer until 19.

— State Police looking for drugs will be allowed to plant wiretaps in homes and businesses.

— Public schools must make instruction conform to 12 general areas laid down by the Legislature.

— You won't be able to hire a farm worker to use a hoe with a handle less than four feet in length.

Some of the 902 bills passed by the regular legislative session have already become effective, but most of them had to wait until 90 days after the end of the session.

Some of the 30 bills passed by the recent special session will not become effective until Nov. 10.

The two sessions also proposed 10 changes in the state Constitution, which do not become effective until, and unless, approved by voters. Seven of these propositions will be on the Nov. 3 general election ballot and the others on the 1982 general election ballot.

One of the bills passed by the 1981 Legislature that will affect almost all Texans, mandatory auto liability insurance, is technically effective Monday, but motorists will not be required to obey the law until Jan. 1, 1982.

After that, failure to maintain minimum liability insurance on a motor vehicle will be punishable on first offense by fines up to $200 and for convictions after that of fines up to $1,000 and 180 days in jail. Anyone convicted also would have his driver's license and motor vehicle registration suspended unless he filed a certificate with the Department of Public Safety for five years showing he is carrying liability insurance.

Two other controverisal measures passed by the recent Legislature and effective next week are tied up in court action.

A law which would ban commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout is being challenged in a Brownsville federal court.

And a law calling for bilingual education from kindergarten to the eighth grade — where there are enough students without English proficiency — begins when public schools open. However, it could be affected by the outcome of a federal court order, which is being appealed, that calls for bilingual education through the 12th grade.

Here are some other important laws that become effective Monday or Tuesday:

— One that allow higher interest rates on life insurance loans but applies only to new policies, not to old ones.

— A law allowing recorded or videotaped confessions if the suspect is advised beforehand.

— Another that sets up a system of intermediate criminal appeals by expanding the jurisdiction of courts of civil appeals to handle criminal appeals. Includes appointment of 26 new judges of courts of appeals.

— A law that tightens regulation of bail bondsmen to provide they cannot write bonds for more than 10 times the security provided.

— New penalties for drug trafficking including fines up to $1 million for organized dealers.

— Prohibitions affecting the sale or delivery of paraphernalia used in drug abuse.

— Increased penalties for aggravated rape and sexual abuse of a child.

— A law that allows state highway department to contract with Department of Corrections for convict help in road building.

— A law that allows Department of Corrections to recommend selected prisoners for release on work furloughs in halfway

HE WRITES SONGS, TOO—Buddy Prestridge finds his hobby of building things with matchsticks comes in handy while serving time in the Scurry County Jail. He also writes country and western songs and serves as jail cook. (SDN Staff Photo by Lois Gleason)

Matchstick Art Helps Hours In Jail Go By

Buddy Prestridge said he was looking for a hobby about eight years ago so he started building things with matchsticks. He has built oil derricks, boats and windmills and plans to build a ferris wheel.

He quit building things for a while but got started again when he found himself serving a term in the Scurry County Jail. As he says, "I've got a lot of time on my hands."

Prestridge says he sometimes spends about four hours a night in his cell working on his projects and can finish one in about a week. He recently finished work on a Confederate gun boat which he says took a six days to build.

The finished projects are given to friends, except for the ferris wheel he wants to build. He wants to keep it long enough to enter in the Scurry County Fair The jailer was given the gun boat.

Having only served four months of a two year term for driving while intoxicated, theft and criminal mischief, his friends are going to have plenty of artfully made matchstick structures before it's all over, if Prestridge keeps up the pace he's been working at.

Besides his artwork, Prestidge has a few other talents. It seems he's a country western songwriter with a few demos coming out soon. He's also the cook at the jail and deputies there say he makes great divinity and cinnamon rolls.

Omni magazine conducted a contest for "unconfirmed rumors," and this one got the grand prize:

"There is a strain of albino marijuana growing in the New York City sewer system. The nurtient-rich sludge has germinated the seeds that were flushed down the toilets during drug raids, resulting in extremely powerful plants known locally as Manhattan White, or Subway Silver. It is hard to harvest, however, because it is guarded by all of those alligators."

Apparently nobody thought about entering Jimmy Carter's belligerent rabbit.

A few other entries that failed to make the runoff include: "Humpty-Dumpty was pushed." "Parking meters are designed to speed up during the last 10 minutes of an hour." "Killing turkeys causes winter."

A reminder has been issued to ranchers. The time is at hand for re-registering cattle brands. The registration period begins Aug. 30 and continues through Feb. 28. The Texas branding law requires re-registration of brands every 10 years during this six-month period.

And brands for ranches that extend into more than one county must be registered with the county clerk in each county involved.

Enrollment in Snyder Public Schools is up from last year at the end of the first week, which should indicate that the community has added population during the past year. The trend is toward fewer school-age children per family these days. Districts that hold their own in school enrollment may even gain population, and those that show increases in school enrollment can be fairly certain that they are experiencing significant growth.

Tractor Runs Over Boy, 13, Near Snyder

Steve Parker, 13, suffered multiple broken bones when he fell from a farm tractor in a cotton field three miles west of Snyder at approximately 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

The tractor's left front wheel ran over the youth from his left hip to his right shoulder.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parker of Snyder.

He was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where it was reported that he had suffered a broken pelvis, broken chin and broken ribs.

He was brought to the hospital by Scurry County EMS.

Texan Held In Slaying

CLIFTON PARK, N.Y. (AP) — A 32-year-old Texas man was in Saratoga County Jail without bail on a second-degree manslaughter charge today after the stabbing death of a 28-year-old Marblehead, Mass., man.

New York state police say Thuyduc Nguyen of Arlington, Texas, was arrested Friday night after an anonymous phone call led them to the Hollandale Apartments in Clifton Park.

Police said they found the body of George Sandler on the floor of the apartment he was sharing with Nguyen while they attended a training course at General Electric. Sandler was declared dead of stab wounds to the chest at Ellis Hospital in Schenectady.

2 Projects Discussed At BCD Meet

The Scurry County Board of Development was brought up to date on plans for first aide courses and activities of a women's division of the chamber of commerce at a meeting Friday.

Bill Warner told the board that first aid classes are due to begin soon in response to needs of oil industry firms. Arrangements are being coordinted by the chamber and the BCD.

Also, plans for the White Buffalo Days event planned by the womens division of the chamber were discussed.

Guy Sullivan, chairman, presided, and other board members attending were Arel Faver, Dale Stuard and Morris Light.

Enrollment In Schools Here Shows Increase

Enrollment in Snyder Public Schools continued to show a significant gain over last year's figures at the end of the first week of classes.

By Friday, the over-all total had reached 3,480, or 77 more than the number enrolled at the end of the first week in 1980. The Friday figure also represented an increase of 128 over the first-day figures recorded last Monday.

A big portion of the gain over last year is at the junior high level, although four elementary schools also show increases and one has the same number as this time last year.

High school enrollment continued to lag, a continuation of some small classes that have been making their way through the system.

The figures by schools, with this year's first week figures and those for a year ago, in order: High school, 892 and 918; junior high, 540 and 480; North Elementary, 299 and 299; Central Elementary, 373 and 346; East Elementary, 345 and 341; West Elementary, 400 and 391; Northeast Elementary, 374 and 353; Stanfield Elementary, 257 and 275.

By classes, the comparisons are: Kindergarten, 285 and 290; first grade, 328 and 286; second grade, 300 and 288; third grade, 300 and 271; fourth grade, 270 and 309; fifth grade, 298 and 257; sixth grade, 260 and 294; seventh grade, 301 and 244; eighth grade, 239 and 236; ninth grade, 250 amd 232; 10th grade, 212 and 244; 11th grade, 208 and 238; 12th grade, 222 and 204.

It is not known whether the early start affected the first week's enrollment. Usually, classes begin after Labor Day, but this year the start was moved up so that the first semester could be completed before Christmas.

Weekend update

Soviets Visit Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — There was no word today on the fate of a Soviet man and his elderly mother who raced into the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Friday and left a few hours later trailed by Soviet security men.

Vasily Nazarov and his mother Natalia told reporters Friday that they drove their aging Moskvich sedan past startled Soviet police and into the embassy compound in an effort to dramatize personal grievances against Soviet officials.

They conferred with U.S. diplomats for just over three hours, left the compound and spoke briefly to reporters before driving off into rush hour traffic Friday evening.

Six Plead Innocent

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Six striking air traffic controllers have pleaded innocent to charges they are participating in an illegal strike.

U.S. District Judge David Belew set their trials for Oct. 5 after the men entered their pleas Friday.

Gary P. Laws, Harry L. Grant, Ronald A. May, Sam Anslem, Gary Greene and Charles J. Phillips all are present or former officers of the Professsional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

The defendants face a maximum penalty of a year and a day in jail and $1,000 fines.

Smith Sheriff Indicted

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A Smith County grand jury has handed down a new round of indictments against suspended sheriff J.B. Smith.

Smith, already indicted on charges of retaliation, arson and 18 counts of official misconduct, Friday was charged with bribery and burglary of a vehicle.

Smith is accused of bribery for offering security for an apartment complex for use of a rent-free apartment.

The burglary charge stems from the same January 1978 incident for which Smith has been indicted for attempted arson. The sheriff allegedly doused the car of an arson suspect with gasoline and threatened to ignite it.

Terrorists Hit Synagogue

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Terrorists lobbed hand grenades and fired automatic weapons into a crowded synagogue today, killing two people and injuring 16, authorities said.

Both Hold High Offices...

Jaycees Are A Way Of Life For Lynn And Billie Smith

To Lynn and Billie Smith, the Jaycees are not just a club or a pastime — it's a way of life.

It didn't begin that way, Lynn said he was more or less coerced by his boss to join when he was single and living in Nebraska. For about eight years he was one of those members who didn't participate in much unless there was no way to gracefully avoid it.

Ten years ago, the Smith's moved to Snyder and joined the local Jaycee and Jaycee-ette organizations "just to meet people our own age," said Lynn. Though he can't say how or why, before they realized it they were spending more time on Jaycee projects and with Jaycees.

During the 1978-79 club year Lynn was named state Jaycee president. He spent over 300 days away from home in that 12 month period, all for the Jaycees.

Billie doesn't complain about the activities. On some of the trips to seminars and conferences, she goes along and so does their grade school age daughter. They sometimes refer to her as a Jaycee kid. This year Billie is public relations chairperson for the United States Jaycees.

Lynn believes the organization has done more for him than he can ever do for it. "It's meant more to me than any of the schooling I've had. I think I'm a better person for it."

When he joined the Jaycees, Lynn was pumping gas. He credits the Jaycees with his metamorphosis into a self-employed businessman. "The Jaycees provide the opportunity for a young man to dream and provides the tools to convert those dreams to goals and the goals to reality," he says.

The organization does that, he continues, by giving the person practical experience and responsibilities.

"It instills self-confidence," he adds. In working on a project, "He meets community leaders and it comes to the point where he's thinking like a community leader and before he knows it, he is a community leader."

The community greatly profits by the Jaycees, Lynn maintains. He says they determine a community need then act to eliminate it. As evidence, he points to the Kiddieland playground project. They acquired the land and funds then built it because a Chamber of Commerce survey revealed that the towns people felt they needed one. A more recent project was the remodeling of the Humble Smith School.

The Jaycee-ettes support and assist the Jaycees, says Billie. "We have our little projects, but we don't take away from the Jaycees." The Jaycees are open to men of 18-35 and the Jaycee-ettes is open to women in the same age group but usually consists of wives of Jaycee members.

In one year, the Jaycees took on 155 projects. Says Lynn, "You can be as active as you want to be."

The organization has taken most of the Smith's time in the last ten years, all the time not already set aside for Lynn's general contracting business and marketing business.

Lynn doesn't really know what he will do when he turns 36 and has to get out of the club except to say he will continue to support it as much as he can.

He has one and a half years left and says he won't quit until his birthday and he's forced out.

Tigers my be building, but time for winning is now

BY BILL MCCLELLAN

COACH GEORGE Byerly doesn't like to consider 1981 as a rebuilding year for the Tigers, who fell to 2-8 their first year in the newly formed District 2-AAAA and are under a new coaching staff this time around. He intends to get Snyder High School back in the title role as soon as possible.

"We're going into this season and every season to win and we're going into each ballgame to win," said Byerly, who took Snyder to back-to-back basketball championships in 1979-80 and 80-81 before taking over the football program this year. For 1981, just competing with the rest of the district won't be enough.

"I don't like to say 'we'll compete' because to me that's like saying you're going to lose. So we're not going into the season just to try and compete. We're going into the season to win and to take each game one at a time, and try to build and learn from each one," Byerly stressed.

"YOU COULD call it a foundation year if you want. We're laying down a cornerstone for the future. But we have kids that are capable of winning right now."

Ironically, Byerly doesn't feel any pressure as head football coach at Snyder High School. And that's something he'd like to see change.

"I don't feel any pressure from outside, and I wish I did," he said. "I think there ought to be pressure from the parents and from the community because that where it starts. They have to have the desire to have a winning team. If I feel pressure the kids will feel pressure. And if they're competitors they'll rise to it."

With a new staff and a new system, perhaps the community is taking a wait-and-see approach. But Byerly doesn't want that.

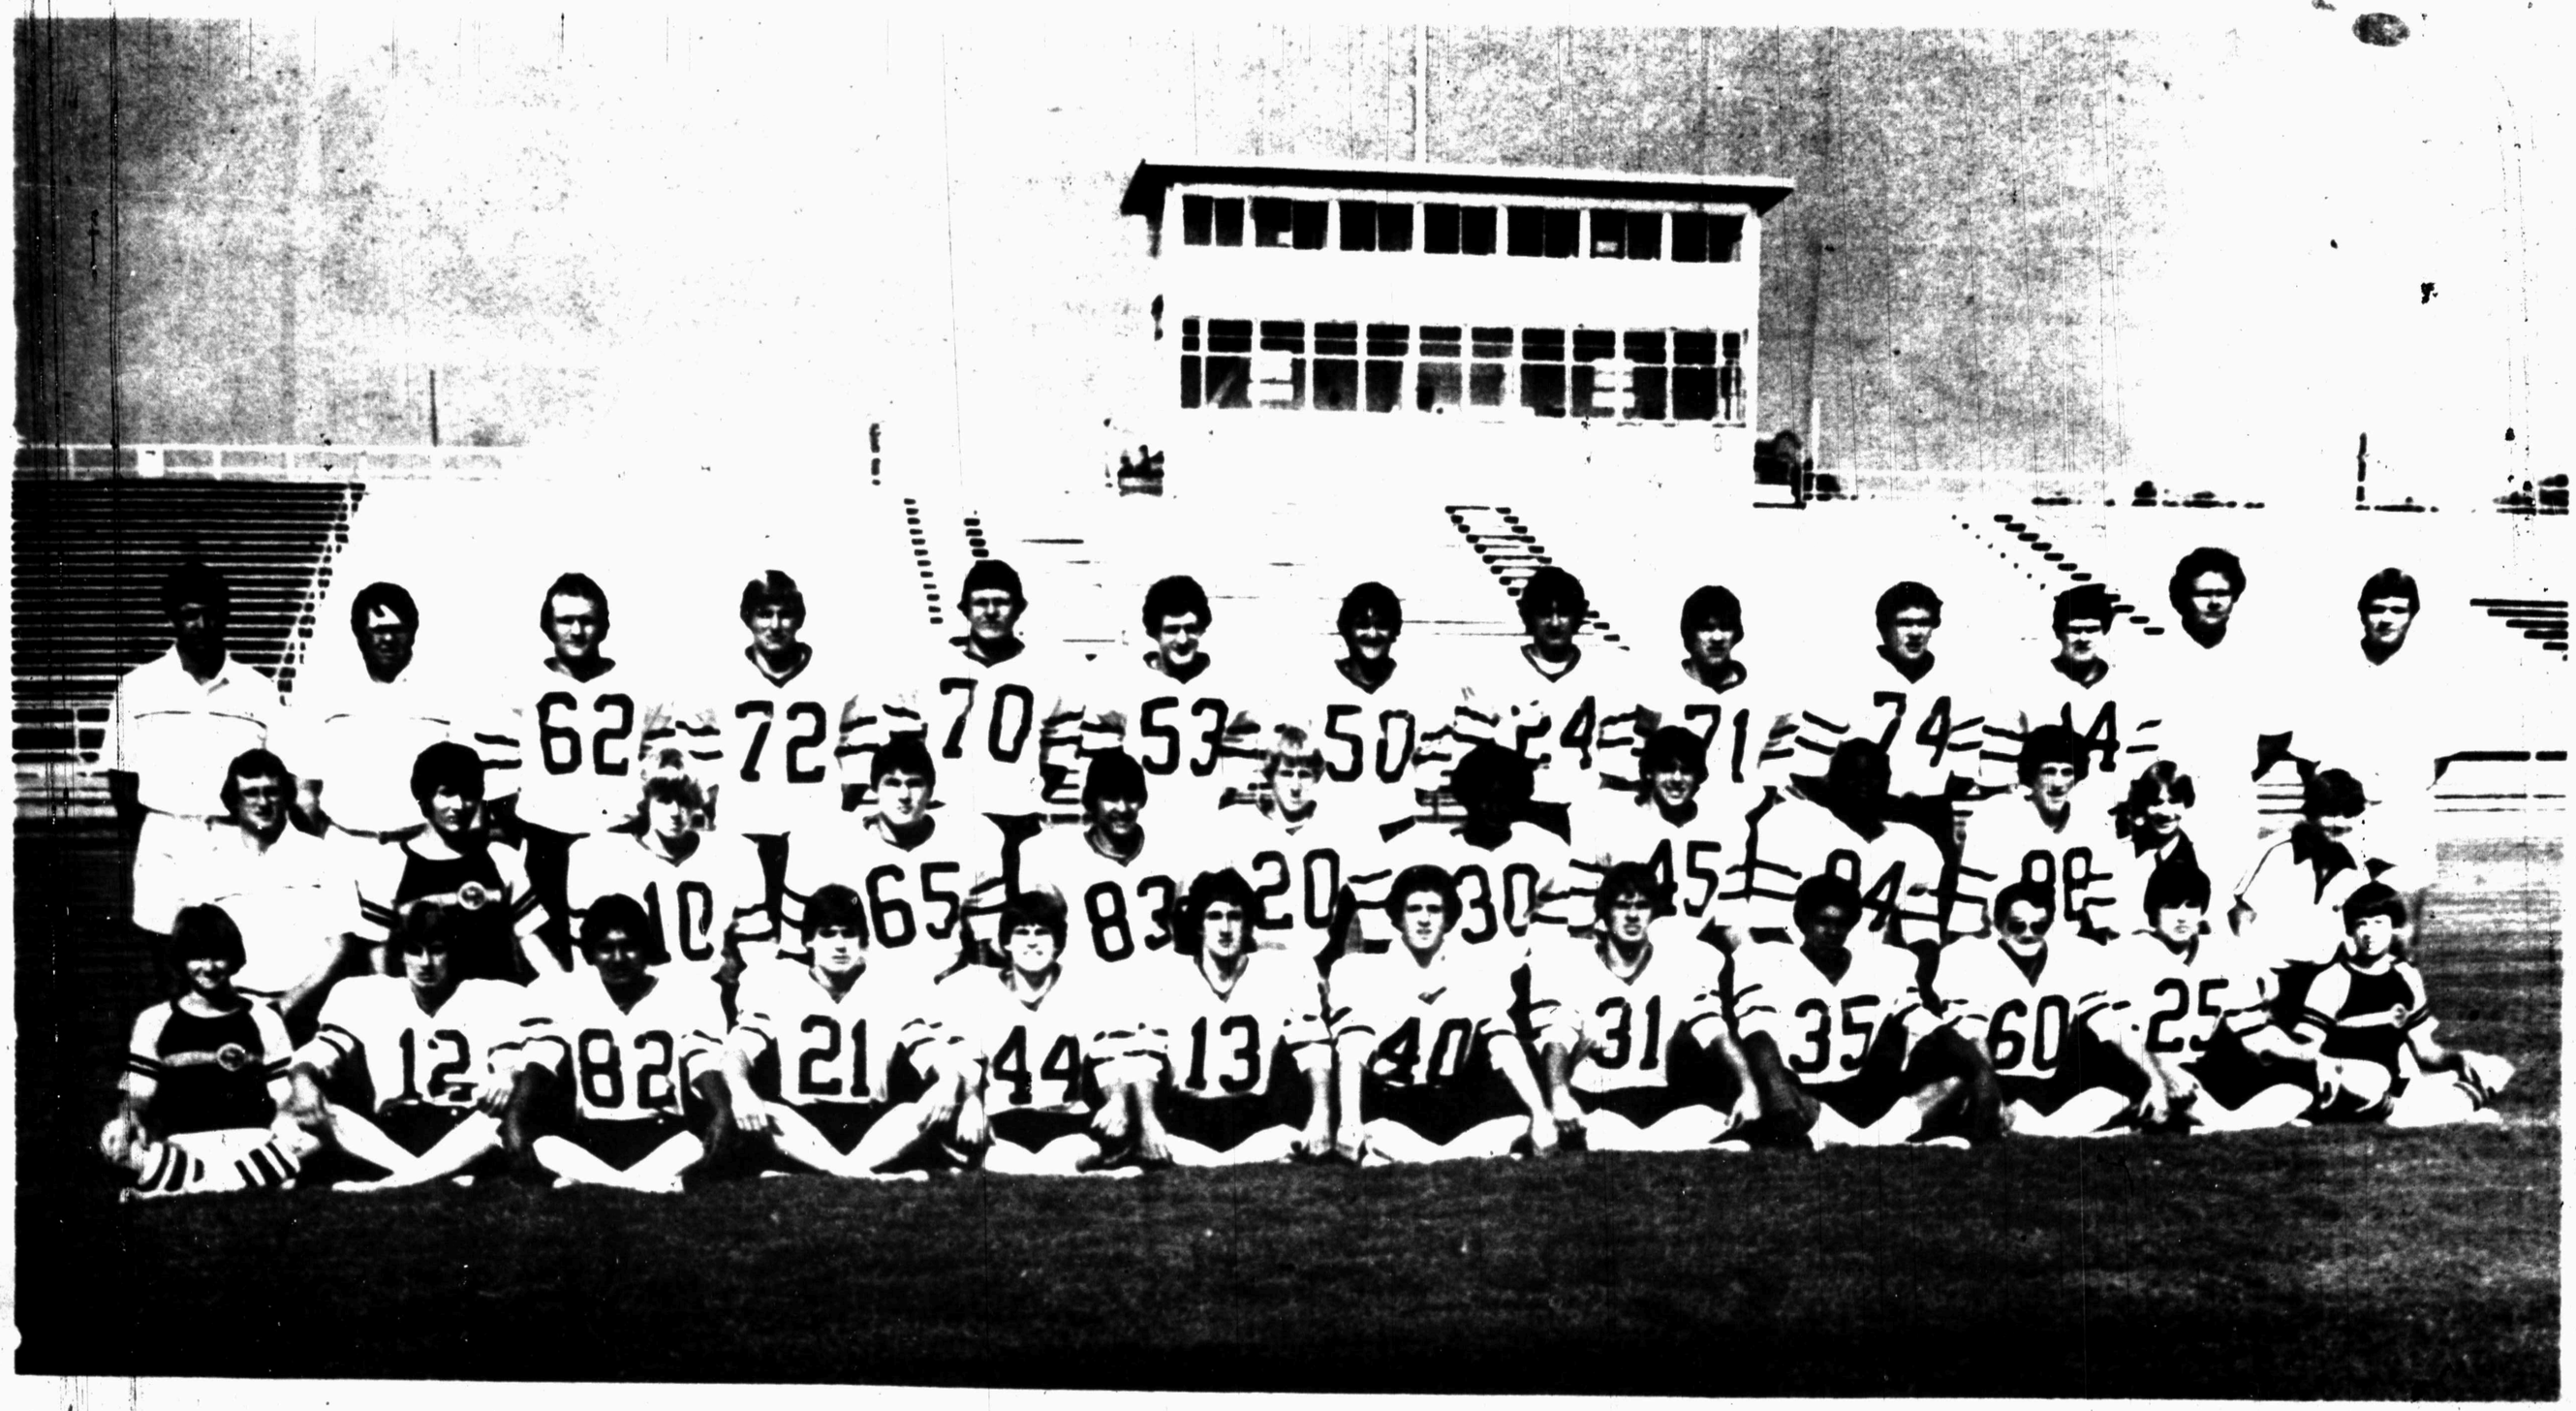

"I feel pressure right now, but it comes from within," he pointed out. I put pressure on myself because I want to win. I think anybody in this business ought to. It's not the winning but the desire to win that's important. If you have the desire to win and you keep trying, you're going to get there. If you lose that desire, then you're not going to be successful."

That desire to excell spreads throughout the community, but it starts at home.

"I DON'T think it starts with the kids or with the coaching staff. It has to start at home," stressed the coach. "If the kids feel the pressure to play and play well, I think that's what they'll do.

"There's no reason there are not 25 or 30 seniors on our ballclub every year. We're big enough to have that situation. We've got good facilities and good kids. There's no reason why we can't have great senior tradition like other teams in this district," added the coach. "These are some of the things we're working towards."

It seems the future of Snyder football is in good hands.

Texas Law Changes Going Into Effect

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans find out this week a lot of what the 1981 Legislature did for them and to them.

Many of the law changes made by the regular 140-day session take effect Monday and others on Tuesday, the start of the state's new business year.

Most of them will touch on the personal and business life of Texans.

Examples:

— Eighteen-year-olds will find they cannot legally drink a beer until 19.

— State Police looking for drugs will be allowed to plant wiretaps in homes and businesses.

— Public schools must make instruction conform to 12 general areas laid down by the Legislature.

— You won't be able to hire a farm worker to use a hoe with a handle less than four feet in length.

Some of the 902 bills passed by the regular legislative session have already become effective, but most of them had to wait until 90 days after the end of the session.

Some of the 30 bills passed by the recent special session will not become effective until Nov. 10.

The two sessions also proposed 10 changes in the state Constitution, which do not become effective until, and unless, approved by voters. Seven of these propositions will be on the Nov. 3 general election ballot and the others on the 1982 general election ballot.

One of the bills passed by the 1981 Legislature that will affect almost all Texans, mandatory auto liability insurance, is technically effective Monday, but motorists will not be required to obey the law until Jan. 1, 1982.

After that, failure to maintain minimum liability insurance on a motor vehicle will be punishable on first offense by fines up to $200 and for convictions after that of fines up to $1,000 and 180 days in jail. Anyone convicted also would have his driver's license and motor vehicle registration suspended unless he filed a certificate with the Department of Public Safety for five years showing he is carrying liability insurance.

Two other controverisal measures passed by the recent Legislature and effective next week are tied up in court action.

A law which would ban commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout is being challenged in a Brownsville federal court.

And a law calling for bilingual education from kindergarten to the eighth grade — where there are enough students without English proficiency — begins when public schools open. However, it could be affected by the outcome of a federal court order, which is being appealed, that calls for bilingual education through the 12th grade.

Here are some other important laws that become effective Monday or Tuesday:

— One that allow higher interest rates on life insurance loans but applies only to new policies, not to old ones.

— A law allowing recorded or videotaped confessions if the suspect is advised beforehand.

— Another that sets up a system of intermediate criminal appeals by expanding the jurisdiction of courts of civil appeals to handle criminal appeals. Includes appointment of 26 new judges of courts of appeals.

— A law that tightens regulation of bail bondsmen to provide they cannot write bonds for more than 10 times the security provided.

— New penalties for drug trafficking including fines up to $1 million for organized dealers.

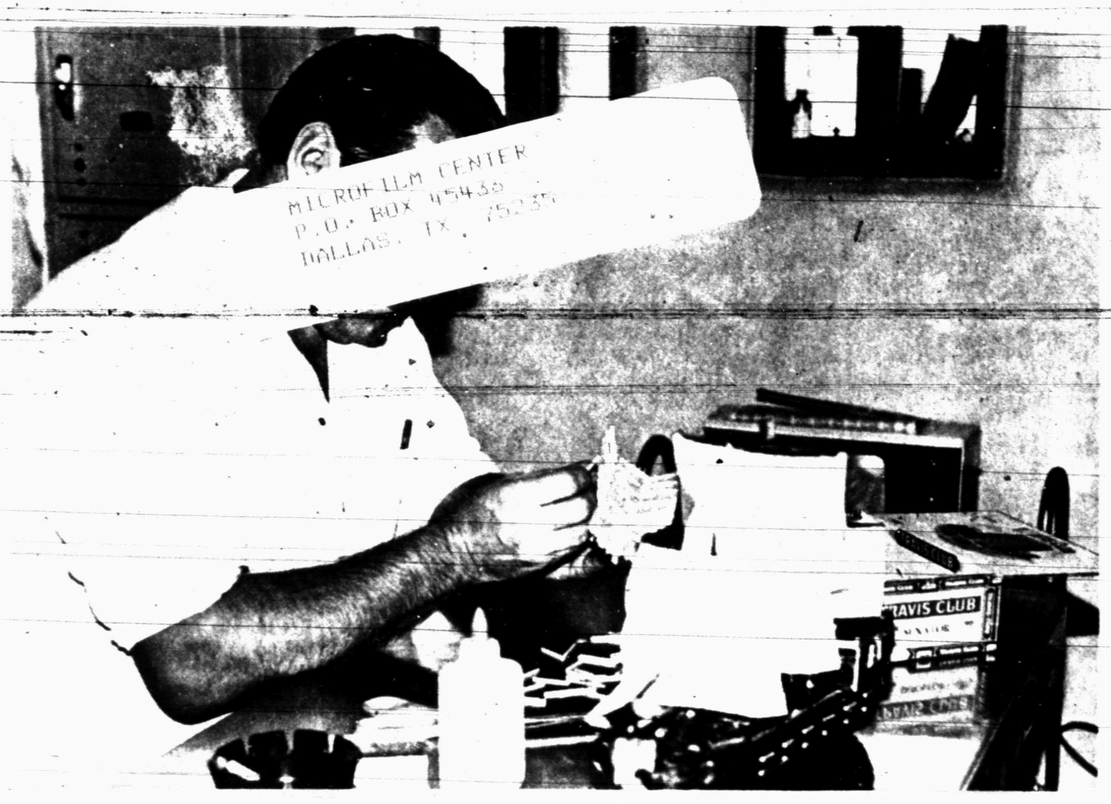

— Prohibitions affecting the sale or delivery of paraphernalia used in drug abuse.

— Increased penalties for aggravated rape and sexual abuse of a child.

— A law that allows state highway department to contract with Department of Corrections for convict help in road building.

— A law that allows Department of Corrections to recommend selected prisoners for release on work furloughs in halfway

Enrollment In Schools Here Shows Increase

Enrollment in Snyder Public Schools continued to show a significant gain over last year's figures at the end of the first week of classes.

By Friday, the over-all total had reached 3,480, or 77 more than the number enrolled at the end of the first week in 1980. The Friday figure also represented an increase of 128 over the first-day figures recorded last Monday.

A big portion of the gain over last year is at the junior high level, although four elementary schools also show increases and one has the same number as this time last year.

High school enrollment continued to lag, a continuation of some small classes that have been making their way through the system.

The figures by schools, with this year's first week figures and those for a year ago, in order: High school, 892 and 918; junior high, 540 and 480; North Elementary, 299 and 299; Central Elementary, 373 and 346; East Elementary, 345 and 341; West Elementary, 400 and 391; Northeast Elementary, 374 and 353; Stanfield Elementary, 257 and 275.

They acquired the land and funds then built it because a Chamber of Commerce survey revealed that the towns people felt they needed one. A more recent project was the remodeling of the Humble Smith School.

The Jaycee-ettes support and assist the Jaycees, says Billie. "We have our little projects, but we don't take away from the Jaycees." The Jaycees are open to men of 18-35 and the Jaycee-ettes is open to women in the same age group but usually consists of wives of Jaycee members.

In one year, the Jaycees took on 155 projects. Says Lynn, "You can be as active as you want to be."

The organization has taken most of the Smith's time in the last ten years, all the time not already set aside for Lynn's general contracting business and marketing business.

Lynn doesn't really know what he will do when he turns 36 and has to get out of the club except to say he will continue to support it as much as he can.

He has one and a half years left and says he won't quit until his birthday and he's forced out.

Weekend update

Soviets Visit Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — There was no word today on the fate of a Soviet man and his elderly mother who raced into the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Friday and left a few hours later trailed by Soviet security men.

Vasily Nazarov and his mother Natalia told reporters Friday that they drove their aging Moskvich sedan past startled Soviet police and into the embassy compound in an effort to dramatize personal grievances against Soviet officials.

They conferred with U.S. diplomats for just over three hours, left the compound and spoke briefly to reporters before driving off into rush hour traffic Friday evening.

Six Plead Innocent

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Six striking air traffic controllers have pleaded innocent to charges they are participating in an illegal strike.

U.S. District Judge David Belew set their trials for Oct. 5 after the men entered their pleas Friday.

Gary P. Laws, Harry L. Grant, Ronald A. May, Sam Anslem, Gary Greene and Charles J. Phillips all are present or former officers of the Professsional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

The defendants face a maximum penalty of a year and a day in jail and $1,000 fines.

Smith Sheriff Indicted

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A Smith County grand jury has handed down a new round of indictments against suspended sheriff J.B. Smith.

Smith, already indicted on charges of retaliation, arson and 18 counts of official misconduct, Friday was charged with bribery and burglary of a vehicle.

Smith is accused of bribery for offering security for an apartment complex for use of a rent-free apartment.

The burglary charge stems from the same January 1978 incident for which Smith has been indicted for attempted arson. The sheriff allegedly doused the car of an arson suspect with gasoline and threatened to ignite it.

Terrorists Hit Synagogue

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Terrorists lobbed hand grenades and fired automatic weapons into a crowded synagogue today, killing two people and injuring 16, authorities said.

Kiss Your Baby Today

Today, Sunday, Aug. 30, has been proclaimed "Kiss Your Baby Day," an event sponsored by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Locally, Mayor Milton Ham has issued a proclamation setting the special day aside for observance here.

The proclamation:

Whereas, Cystic Fibrosis, the No. 1 genetic killer of children, is a crippling and debilitating lung disease, and PROCLAMATION SIGNED—Joining Mayor Milton Ham for the signing of a proclamation designating Aug. 30 as "Kiss Your Baby Day" were, from left, Melissa Hodge, Heather Floyd and Valerie Wood, three local youngsters known to have Cystic Fibrosis. The special day is sponsored by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Whereas, early diagnosis and treatment are essential to preventing lung damage and lengthening the lives of thousands of American children who suffer with Cystic Fibrosis, and

Whereas, parents can help discover Cystic Fibrosis by kissing their children to detect the symptom of a salty taste to the skin, and

Whereas, "Kiss Your Baby Day," sponsored by the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, is designed to help parents recognize the signs of Cystic Fibrosis,

Now, therefore be it resolved that I, Milton Ham, mayor of the City of Snyder, do urge all citizens to join with me and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in learning the signs of Cystic Fibrosis in chilren, and by virtue of the authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim Aug. 30 "Kiss Your Baby Day."

To WTC Rodeo Program...

Tallman Scholarship Adds New Dimension

Bob Tallman, the personable rodeo announcer who added a new dimension in announcing to the recent American Junior Rodeo Association national finals here, introduced a new Western Texas College rodeo scholarship at the conclusion of the finals.

Bob and his wife, Kristen, donated $1,500 for the first Great American Cowboy Scholarship, named for Tallman's radio program.

Tallman said he hopes to make this an annual award at WTC and hopes some local people will join in supporting it.

Tommy Poyner, a spring graduate of Odessa High School, was named recipient of the scholarship and has enrolled at WTC for the fall semester. He is taking basic courses and will be competing on the rodeo team.

"The Tallmans indicated that they wanted the scholarship to go to someone who really needed help financially and might not get a rodeo scholarship otherwise," Bob Doty, WTC rodeo coach said. "The AJRA officials selected Tommy for the award because they were impressed with his potential and try, and we are pleased to have him at WTC."

Poyner finished sixth for the year in bareback riding in the AJRA.

Tallman, who has been a rodeo competitor himself, said that it was one of his goals in life to help deserving young men and women continue their education while they still compete in rodeos. It was the desire of the Tallmans to make the scholarship large enough to pay for one year's education for the person receiving it.

Tallman has become known as "The Voice of Rodeo" through his role as anchor man on "Blair Pro Rodeo," and announces many rodeos each season. He works from the arena, mounted on horseback and using a wireless microphone. He is to be back for the 1982 n[illegible] finals in Snyder.

"We do appreciate this new scholarship," said Doty. "And we feel it shows the outstanding character of the Tallmans."

The WTC men's and women's rodeo teams will begin their fall schedules Sept. 24-27 when Eastern New Mexico University hosts an NIRA rodeo.

Dear Abby

Parents' Grief May Spur Others to Take Action

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter with a very heavy heart in hopes that it will wake up some parents.

Last Memorial Day our house caught fire. Our three daughters were asleep upstairs and my husband and I were asleep in the downstairs bedroom. The fire spread so fast and the smoke was so thick we weren't able to get to the children. Melinda, 5, was dead on the scene; Suzanne, 2, was dead on arrival at the hospital; and Tonya, 7, was in a coma for two days. She died without coming out of it.

My husband and I still can't believe our little girls are gone. Maybe if we had had a smoke alarm we would still have our children.

While Tonya was in a coma, we were expecting the worst, so we willed her kidneys to the organ bank so that two children who need a kidney could have them. That gave us some comfort.

Please print this. It's too late for us, but it may save some other parents from having to go through what we went through.

STILL GRIEVING IN DAYTON

DEAR STILL: Thank you for writing. Too bad you'll never know how many parents your letter will awaken, or how many children it will save. Bless you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old woman with a problem I don't know how to handle. When I was 8 I had an incestuous relationship with my father. (He's my real father, not a stepfather.) I told my mother, but she wouldn't believe me. It stopped for a while, then he started again and used all kinds of threats and promises to get me to do things. It went on until I was 18. Finally I couldn't take it anymore so I told my mother. This time she believed me, but accused me of encouraging him.

I left home and joined the Navy. In the meantime my mother divorced my father because he was having an affair with a 38-year-old woman he worked with. (My father has a master's degree and an important job.) He is now married to this woman. She has a 9-year-old girl. My younger brother (age 19) went to live with my dad. My brother caught Dad in bed with his 9-year-old stepdaughter, they had a fight and Dad kicked my brother out of the house.

I feel so sorry for that little girl and hate to have her go through what I went through. I asked my mother what to do, and she said, "Nothing. Eventually the girl's mother will find out about it and I hope she shoots the rat."

I'm not speaking to my father and I've never even met his wife. I know something should be done about this, but don't know how to go about it. Please help.

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAMES: Start speaking with your dad. For openers tell him that you know about his behavior with his 9-year-old stepdaughter and he has exactly one week to provide you with proof that he is seeing a therapist in a serious effort to cure this evil sickness. (It is a sickness.) His wife should be informed at once.

If your father refuses to get treatment, report him to the agency in your community that protects children. Your local Child Welfare Association can help you. Contact it immediately.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you had a letter in your column from a man who was concerned about his small behind. He complained that he couldn't find a pair of trousers to fit him, and he had to have all his trousers taken in by a tailor.

I have that problem and I've tried everything — including weight-lifting, but to no avail. You suggested that he wear a padded undergarment under his trousers. I would very much like to purchase one of these. But where?

NO BEHIND

DEAR NO: Write to Frederick's of Hollywood, 6610 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Calif. 90028 and ask them to fill you in. (And out.)

Lowly Guayule Getting Attention

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The lowly and ugly guayule plant, isolated for centuries in the deserts of West Texas, is the subject of research in four states, experiments by companies like Goodyear and Firestone and discussion in the Reagan administration.

Why? Guayule, pronounced why-oo-lee, produces natural rubber in its stems and branches.

With the world's natural rubber supply endangered by instability in Southeast Asia, where most of it is produced, government officials are turning to the squatty, silver-green guayule plant as a possible solution to the nation's needs.

Natural rubber is second only to oil as an import into the United States, with 1 million tons imported annually, said Wayne Whitworth, an agronomist at New Mexico State University in nearby Las Cruces.

Forty percent of the rubber in radial tires is natural rubber and airplane tires are made exclusively from natural rubber because it is more heat-resistant that its synthetic counterpart, Whitworth said.

Plus, synthetic rubber is made from petroleum, another product that the United States is not self-sufficient in.

Rubber is considered by the U.S. government to be a strategic material that should be stockpiled in case war or political upheaval should cut off the supplies from Asia.

"We have less than one half of the natural rubber we're supposed to have," Whitworth said. "If we could develop guayule as a crop, it would help us in two ways — give us an industry and give us a stockpile.

"We could have living rubber reserves so that when we needed it, we could go out and get it."

Whitworth was involved in a government-funded guayule project at Crystal City, Texas, in 1951, when the Korean conflict threatened natural rubber supplies. The crop was plowed under when the situation stabilized.

During World War II, guayule was planted by the government in California because of the Japanese threat to rubber-producing countries. That crop was burned when the war ended.

But guayule has gained the attention of government again and currently $1.7 million in government funds is being used for research projects in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, said Dick Wheaton, program manager of the Joint Guayule Commission in Washington, D.C.

One of those research projects is Whitworth's 30 acres of guayule at New Mexico State.

Much of the research is being conducted in West Texas, the only area in the United States where the plant, which needs less than 15 inches of rainfall a year, grows wild. Texas A&M University has a seeding project near Pecos. Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. is growing nearly 200 acres of guayule near Fort Stockton.

Firestone also is experimenting with extracting rubber from the plant at laboratories in Akron, Ohio, said Joe Nivert, production manager of the company's plantation division.

"We have a small developmental laboratory that can make about two pounds of rubber per day," Nivert said. "We are looking at a number of alternative processes for getting the rubber. We're scheduled to come up with a process by mid-1982."

Nivert said the company also is investigating methods of using guayule byproducts such as bagasse, a woody fiber that burns very hot. It is believed that bagasse could be used to generate the energy needed to operate a full-scale processing plant.

Resin from the plant can be used for adhesives and varnishes and the plant's oils might even be used for perfume, he said.

"For guayule to be profitable, we know we will have to use the byproducts," he said.

The profitability of guayule has been the major question mark in the production of a domestic rubber crop, Nivert said.

"There are too many risks," he said. "There's no proven process so far. For that matter, there's no proved method of growing. There has to be a lot of development in the field before it could be a big money-making project."

There is a "chicken and egg situation" that is preventing private entrepeneurs from jumping onto the guayule bandwagon, Ross Clanahan of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said.

Potential growers won't plant a crop until they are assured that there is a processing plant to buy it. Rubber companies are afraid to build such a plant because they may not be able to get adequate guayule supplies.

Everyone interviewed about guayule said government support will be the key to development of the rubber source.

"In 1980, natural rubber cost an average of 74.5 cents per pound," Wheaton said. "Our best educated estimate is that the cost of guayule natural rubber is 83 to 84 cents per pound. We have to get a government subsidy to balance the difference between natural rubber and guayule rubber."

Goodyear has submitted a proposal for a pilot program to FEMA in hopes that the administration will invest in guayule because of its strategic value as a defense stockpile. Firestone is preparing a proposal of its own, Nivert said.

Book Loans Ruled Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It is unconstitutional for the state to lend public school books to parochial or private schools, the California Supreme Court has ruled.

At issue were sections of the state Education Code that authorize the superintendent of public instruction to lend textbooks to students attending non-profit, non-public schools.

The unanimous decision Thursday said state laws challenged by the California Teachers Association and the American Civil Liberties Union violate two sections of the state Constitution prohibiting the state from spending money in support of sectarian schools.

Financial & tax planning

Sale of Residence (Under New Tax Law)

There are two changes in the tax consequences of selling your principal residence (the home in which you spend most of your year).

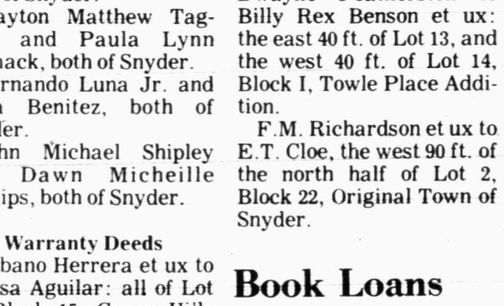

The first has to do with the length of time permitted to replace the sale of a personal residence. For all residential sales after January 21, 1980, you have 24 months to replace it and still qualify for the deferment. The prior time limit was 18 months.

For example, if you sell your residence for an "adjusted sales price" of $80,000 on January 22, 1980, or later, you'll have 24 months to buy a new residence for $80,000 or more. The adjusted sales price (the price at which you must replace) is your total sales price less your selling expenses for realtors, attorneys, title insurance, etc. You are not entitled to a reduction for mortgage balances due.

The second change under the new tax act is for taxpayers, age 55 or older who have owned and occupied their homes for three of the five years prior to selling their principal residence. For all sales after July 20, 1981, the excludable gain is increased to $125,000 from the prior $100,000. Note that this refers to gain (profit) in the sale, and not the sales price. This means that a residence costing $100,000 could be sold for up to $225,000 and result in no income tax to you. Also, any sale up to $125,000 will be tax free regardless of cost, even if you take all cash on the date of sale.

The election to use the age 55 exclusion should be carefully reviewed. It is a "one time" election and if you use only a portion of your total exclusion the balance is unavailable to you. Therefore, taxpayers anticipating replacement residential property at any future date should take a look at retaining this election for future gain purposes.

HAY FEVER

Hay fever sufferers sometimes report 'miraculous' cures due to eating honey. Unstrained honey contains pollen particles (that cause hayfever). Some are taken into the bloodstream unchanged by digestion. This tiny irritant triggers the system to build up resistance to the foreign substance. So by eating honey produced locally, the body just may build immunity to the runny noses and sneezes of hay fever.

ENJOYED JAMBOREE--These four Snyder Boy Scouts recently participated in the National Boy Scout Jamboree held at Ft. A. P. Hill, Va. They are from left, John Hamlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Hamlett, Brad Gambrel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brad Gambrel; Billy Overhulser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Overhulser; and Victor Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bruns. Jamboree A Rewarding Experience For Scouts

By Shirley A. Gorman

Four Snyder Boy Scouts received the treat of their young lives this summer when they traveled to Fort A. P. Hill, Va. to attend the Boy Scout Jamboree which is held only once every four years.

Local scouts participating in what might be the last jamboree (national scout leaders are deciding whether to continue the tradition due to rising costs etc.), included Victor Bruns, Troop 107, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bruns; Billy Overhulser, Troop 107, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Overhulser; John Hamlett, Troop 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Hamlett; and Brad Gambrell, Troop 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brad Gambrell. They were accompanied by Joel Hamlett who served as assistant scout leader.

They all agree the trip which began July 20 was well worthwhile and that is was an experience they will not soon forget.

"I survived it," Joel Hamlett said. "It was an inspiring time. It was really something to see 30,000 of the finest young men on one spot at one time. They can be proud of the way they acted."

Gambrell liked the Jamboree because of the myriad of activities available including fishing, canoeing and archery.

Commenting on his first rafting experience he said, "It was all right if you liked getting splashed and getting hit in the head with the oar."

Gambrell said he had the most fun trading patches and that his favorite was the Malibu Flap patch. The scout's first-time experience with snorkeling was also fun.

"We swam to the bottom of a tank to retrieve a marble," he explained.

Gambrell also enjoyed the trading post since it was chock full of souvenirs and other items.

Bruns liked the handicapped awareness events best of all. Scouts were given the opportunity to play volleyball in wheelchairs and play baseball blindfolded using a baseball that beeped. They also performed various skills with one arm tied behind their back.

Bruns also enjoyed the Merit Badge Midway and exhibits presented by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

During the Jamboree lots of trading was conducted among the scouts who came from around the world as well as the United States. Bruns is proud of the Korean scout shirt he acquired in the trading process.

Overhulser liked the big shows staged at the beginning and end of the Jamboree. The Oak Ridge Boys and Burl Ives helped provide entertainment for the closing show; about 125,000 people attended. The entertainment was capped with a fireworks display featuring some fireworks that were 36 inches in diameter.

Some 70,000 people attended the first show.

John Hamlett liked the "see and do" booths best of all as it gave him an opportunity to see so many different things including how to cook alligator meat. One of the booths manned by the local scouts demonstrated how to use a bullwhip and rope calves.

Another facet of the Jamboree were the arena shows during which the scouts made different presentations.

Exchanging campfires was another tradition the scouts enjoyed. John Hamlett said his troop visited a campfire manned by scouts from New Jersey. They exchanged sea shells for a bottle of Texas crude oil, Hamlett said. They also were visited by a troop from Mississippi.

Each scout troop set up its own tent, camp fire and the scouts and leaders cooked their own food. Overhulser's troop experienced a bit of difficulty as a 70 mph wind raged through the camp when they were gone knocking down the tent.

It was estimated that for one breakfast the scouts ate pancakes a mile high and sausage that if laid end to end would total two miles.

The Snyder scouts also put up a fence and gateway around their campsite depicting the heritage of the land from Indians to the discovery of oil and other facets of modern day living.

The journey by bus began July 20 and Texarkana was the first stop. There they stayed at the National Guard Armory. Next on the itinerary was a brief stop in Nashville, Tenn. where they stayed at the L. G. Boxwell Scout Reservation. They also visited Opry Land in Nashville which is similar to Six Flags Over Texas.

Other stops enroute to the Jamboree included visiting the Antitam Battlefield and Gettysburg where they climbed a tall tower overlooking the battlefield.

In Philadelphia the travelers saw Freedom Square where the Constitution Hall is and the crack in the Liberty Bell. In Arlington, Va. they saw the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Marine Shrine, Washington and Lincoln Memorials, the graves of both Robert and John Kennedy and destroyers in the Baltimore Harbor.

En route home they stayed at Barksdale Air Force Base in Shrevesport, La. Total miles traveled in all were 4500.

Ag Spanish Course Set

Spanish for Farm and Ranch will be offered by Western Texas College as an Adult Vocational Education course from Sept. 8-Dec. 15.

Classes are to meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays with Robert Adams, WTC faculty member, as instructor. Fees are $39.75 per person which included the textbook.

Students are to call the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240, to reserve space in the class. They will register at 6:15 p.m. on Sept. 8 in the lobby of the Learning Resource Center.

Farm and Ranch Spanish is designed for area farm and ranch operators who would like to improve their conversational Spanish. The textbook was prepared by two Southwest Texas ranchers, Rex and George Kelly, using their 30 years of experience as ranchers.

The first oil well was drilled in Western Pennsylvania in 1859.

Photography In Museum Exhibit

Sixty-one photographs submitted by 23 area residents will be shown in the Scurry County Museum's first Fine Art Photography Competition and Exhibition which opens today.

The museum is located on the campus of Western Texas College and is open from 1-5 p.m. on Sundays and each weekday. Paintings by the August Artist of the Month, Eddie Jo Richardson, are also being featured in the museum.

Snyder photographers represented in the new exhibit are Pat Snider, Pam Zeck, Katherine Elkins, Carol Beck, Rayburn Burgess, Bryan Hibbitt, Elois Pruitt, Mrs. Charlie Jordan, Gerald Cochran, Barbara McCormick, Cindy McAnally, Connie Wright and Billy Ray Hall.

Others are Josh Johnson of Abilene; Shannon Middlebrook of Anton; Larry Clifton of Aspermont; Courtney Silberberg of Dalhart; Edyth Brothers, Retha Lindsey and Tommy Dyess of Sweetwater, and Pat Murphy, Joe Carter and Bill Black of Ira.

Amateur photographers in Scurry County are invited to enter a Photographer of the Month competition being planned by the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College.

Each photographer must submit at least four different photographs, color or black and white. The Photographer of the Month will be named by a selection committee, and must be able to exhibit from 10-15 photographs for the period of one month.

Persons wishing further information are invited to contact the museum office or call the office at 573-6107.

Co-Op Sets Annual Meet

Midwest Electric Cooperative's annual membership meeting date has been set for Thursday, September 3, in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Registration of members will begin at 6 p.m. to be followed by a barbecue meal at 7 p.m. Cindy Hataway will provide the entertainment. Prizes will be given throughout the evening.

General manager Parker Wetsel will give a message, Cooperative officials will give reports and the election of directors will conclude the meeting.

Class Set For Medication Aides

Weekend classes to train medication aides will be offered at Western Texas College from Sept. 11-Oct. 17.

Students must be employed in a nursing home facility in the capacity of an aide and must be recommended for the course by the administrator and the director of nurses there.

Students must call 573-8511, extension 240, to reserve space in the class, which will be limited to 20 students. Fees are $135 per person, pyable on Sept. 11.

In The Oil Patch...

Wildcat, Field Wells Scheduled In Scurry

Western Reserves Oil Co. will drill the No. 1 Cerveza Grande, a 7,800-foot wildcat, four miles southeast of Snyder.

The project is ½ mile northeast of the current one-well Tri-Rue, Northeast (Reef) field. Location is 2,310 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of Section 172, Block 97, H&TC Survey.

The Tri-Rue, Northeast field produces at 6,820 feet and formerly produced from 7,420 feet.

MGF Oil Corp. of Midland will drill the No. 1 C. E. Sears, an 8,300-foot wildcat in Scurry County, 15 miles west of Snyder.

The venture is ¾-mile west-northwest of the one-well 4900 oil area and 1¼-miles north-northwest of the one-well Wichita-Albany oil area of the Log Pat field, three miles south of the two-well Hataway (Strawn) field, separated by and 1¼ miles south of an 8,265-foot failure.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of Section 262, Block 97, H&TC survey.

Monsanto Co. has scheduled three locations in the Diamond M Field of Scurry County, 12 miles southwest of Snyder.

The No. 80 McLaughlin Account 1 is located 1,650 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line of Section 196, Block 97, H&TC survey.

The No. 81 McLaughlin Account is located 330 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west line of Section 195, Block 97, H&TC survey.

No. 83 McLaughlin Account 2 is located 1,090 feet from north line and 1,550 feet from the east line of Section 182, Block 97, H&TC survey.

The Diamond M. field of Scurry County gained its current fifth Wichita-Albany producer and a ⅜-mile south and very slightly west extension to that pay with completion of Monsanto Co. of Midland No. 76 McLaughlin, 12 miles southwest of Snyder.

It was finaled to pump 33 barrels of 30.3 gravity oil, plus 245 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 454-1. Production was natural through perforations at 3,857-864 feet.

Location is 330 feet from the north and 930 feet from the east lines of Section 182, Block 97, H&TC survey.

Estoril Production Corp. will drill two 9,000 foot wildcats in nearby Borden County.

The No. 1 Joe R. Lemley is 1⅞ mile south of the Clearfork unit, separated by an 8,395-foot failure, and 3⅜ miles east-southeast of Pennsylvanian production and the depleted Mississippian opener of the Lucy field and 14 miles east of Gail.

Location is 1,320 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of Section 235, Block 97, H&TC survey.

The No. 1 Sterling Williams, a south offset to an 8,321-foot failure, ⅞ mile south-southeast of Pennsylvanian production and the depleted Mississippian opener of the Lucy field is nine mile east of Gail.

Location is 1,400 feet from the north and 1,00 feet from the west lines of Section 232, Block 97, H&TC survey.

The failure, Bakke No. 1 Williams, was abandoned Sept. 18, 1959. The Lucy field produces from the Pennsylvanian at 7,692 feet. The Mississippian discovery, Sterling Williams No. 1, was drilled to 8,395 feet and was finaled July 3, 1978 to pump 30 barrels of 39 gravity oil, no water, through pertorations at 8,316-324 feet.

Hinkle Exploration Ltd. of Midland will drill the No. 1 Davidson as a ⅞-mile north-northwest and a 1⅛-mile west and slightly south outpost to Ellenburger production in the Borden County portion of the Fluvanna, Southwest multipay field, 16 miles northeast of Gail.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 467 feet from the west lines of Section 673, Block 97, H&TC survey.

The field, which also produces from the Strawn and Mississippian, was opened in Borden County and has extended into Garza County. It currently has seven Ellenburger wells.

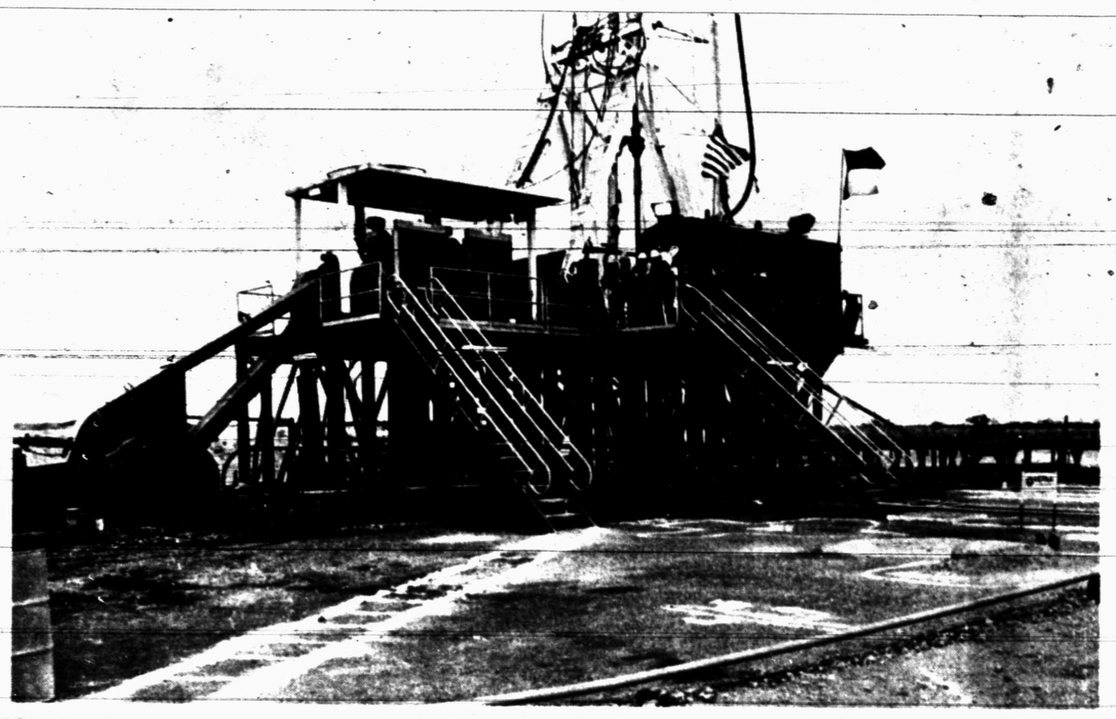

L. R. French Jr. of Midland will drill the No. 3-A Double Mountain, an 8,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat, 1⅛ miles northeast and 1¼ miles south of the three-well Strawn area of the Tufbow field of Garza County, three miles northeast of Justiceburg.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of Section 9, Block 6, H&GN survey.

French has three other wildcats scheduled in the same section.

Arbusto Energy Inc. of Midland will drill the No. 1 Hunsaker as a location northeast stepout to the current two-well Strawn area of the Hunsaker (Strawn and Noodle Creek) field of Fisher County, five miles northeast of Rotan.

Location is 900 feet from the south and 825 feet from the east lines of Section 282, Block 2, H&TC survey.

RIG BEAUTIFICATION--Verna Drilling Company's Rig No. 36 is quite stylish looking thanks to the creative hard work of crew members. Besides flying both an American and Texas flag, crew members have also sculpted several designs including a drilling rig, state of Texas, driller's grave, and the company's symbol. Crew members pictured are Billy Riddling, Danny Collins, Parnell Robertson, Bart Goins, and Jerry Anderson. Not pictured is Steve Roberson, pusher. (SDN Staff Photo By Shirley A. Gorman)

WTC Offers Class In Sign Language

Ellen Rumpff will be repeating a Manual Communications Course at Western Texas College in Thursday night classes starting Sept. 10 and ending Dec. 10.

This Continuing Education course is designed to teach the language of signs to students so that they may communicate, interpret, teach or work with deaf individuals.

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to fingerspell to deaf individuals, read fingerspelling from others, use sign language to communicate with deaf individuals, and interpret and reverse-interpret a simple conversation between hearing and deaf individuals.

Fees for the course will be $42.50, which includes the cost of the textbook.

Classes will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. in 2C-103.

Students must call 573-8511, extension 240, to reserve space in the class. A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the class.

Infant Care Course Set

A prepared Childbirth and Newborn Infant Care class is to begin Tuesday at Western Texas College.

The course is designed for the expectant mother due before December. Classes will meet Tuesdays from 6:30-9:30 p.m. through Oct. 6. Diane Beard and Linda Mize will serve as instructors.

Students are to call the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240, to reserve space in the class. Fees are $50 per couple which include the expectant mother and her partner.

Drilling Crew Has Own Beautification Project

Verna Drilling Rig No. 36 located near the airport in the outskirts of Snyder doesn't exactly look like the average drilling rig. The difference is the American and Texas flags hoisted on the side of the rig and a very unusual but inventive front yard sculpted with limestone.

The front yard, which pusher Steve Roberson is very proud of (along with the rest of the crew's accomplishments) boasts a buried driller (who died with his boots on), an outline of Texas with Snyder clearly marked, a drilling rig, cactus plants, and the Verna Company symbol.

All of the designs are clearly eked out with limestone which shows up very well against the earth background.

Rig No. 36 was moved from Levelland, home of the company, last month. Right now they are on their second hole. They are drilling a 7,800 foot well for Dinero Oil Company. Eventually Verna will move two more rigs (Nos. 39 and 40) from Levelland to Scurry County. No. 39 is due to be moved Saturday and No. 40 will be moved the latter part of September.

This marks the first time the company has moved rigs into Scurry County.

Crew members include Billy Riddling, Danny Collins, Parnel Robertson, Bart Goins, and Jerry Anderson.

Earth-Sheltered Housing Seminar

"Energy Smart" is the way an article in the September issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine describes earth-sheltered housing.

"Families in virtually every climate are discovering that living tucked into the earth offers some real advantages: low costs for energy and maintenance; peace and quiet, and a feeling of security," the writer points out.

Local residents who would like to learn more about earth-sheltered housing can get information in a seminar scheduled Sept. 12 at Western Texas College. Michael D. Hitt, a member of the American Underground-Space Association, will direct the seminar. He has been involved in researching underground housing for the past four years, and will provide seminar participants with a workbook and handouts he has compiled.

The seminar will be held in room 101 of the Learning Resource Center from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and fees are $35 per person. Persons wishing to attend are to make reservations by calling the Continuing Education Office at 573-8511, extension 240 by Sept. 10, and the $35 fee is to be paid in advance. Hitt will be answering questions from seminar participants as well as presenting his prepared materials.

Rogers Hornsby, a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, is the all-time slugging percentage champion in the National League with a mark of .578.

Offer Made To Settle Slaying Case

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The family of a man who was mistakenly shot to death by a former rookie policewoman has been offered $70,000 by the city, a newspaper has reported.

The Nashville Banner said the city offered the settlement to relatives of Harry Walden, 37, the owner of a drive-in market. Walden was shot Aug. 1 by Joyce Faye Allen, 23, as he fled a robbery.

Ms. Allen, who was fired, said she mistook Walden for a man she saw in Johnny's Sak-Ful market holding a shotgun on a customer.

The Banner said the city wants the Waldens to agree not to hold the city or its employees liable for further damages.

The Walden family and their lawyer, Mike Binkley, declined comment.

Spuzich Leads Columbia

DENVER (AP) - Sandra Spuzich had the lead, but JoAnne Carner was lurking just 1 stroke away and had served notice on the other golfers.

"I'm real close to playing well," said Carner, who needs slightly more than $12,000 in winnings to reach the coveted $1 million plateau for her career. "I'm going to rip this place up before I leave on Sunday."

Spuzich, who birdied five of the first eight holes, fired a solid 3-under-par 69 Friday to wrest the lead from Jan Stephenson after 36 holes of the $150,000 Columbia Savings LPGA Classic.

Spuzich, 44, had a two-round total of 139. Carner, 42, was a stroke away after registering her second straight 2-under 70 over the 6,488-yard Columbine Country Club course.

The field was tightly bunched at the top, with 21 other golfers within 4 shots of the lead.

Stephenson, the first-round co-leader after a 4-under 68, birdied the first three holes Friday to go 7-under for the tournament, but then lost four shots to par and finished with a 73. She was among seven golfers at 141.

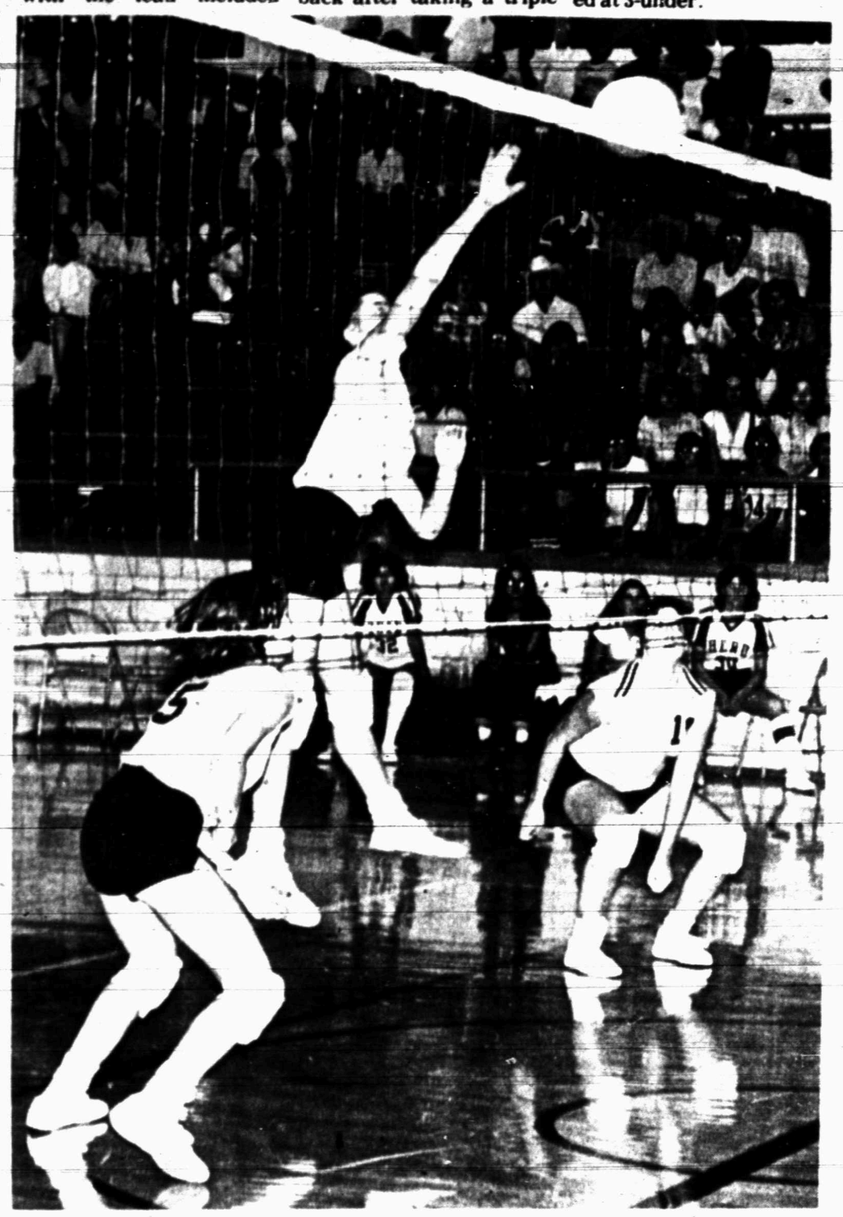

Seven others - including Nancy Lopez-Melton and Debbie Meisterlin, who had a course-record 66 - were grouped at 142. Defending champion Beth Daniel, Donna Caponi and Amy Alcott were another shot back at 143. Julie Stanger Pyne, tied for the first-round lead with Stephenson, ballooned to an 81 Friday.

Spuzich, winner of five tournaments during her 20-year professional career, birdied the first, second, third, fifth and eighth holes to go 7-under for the tournament.

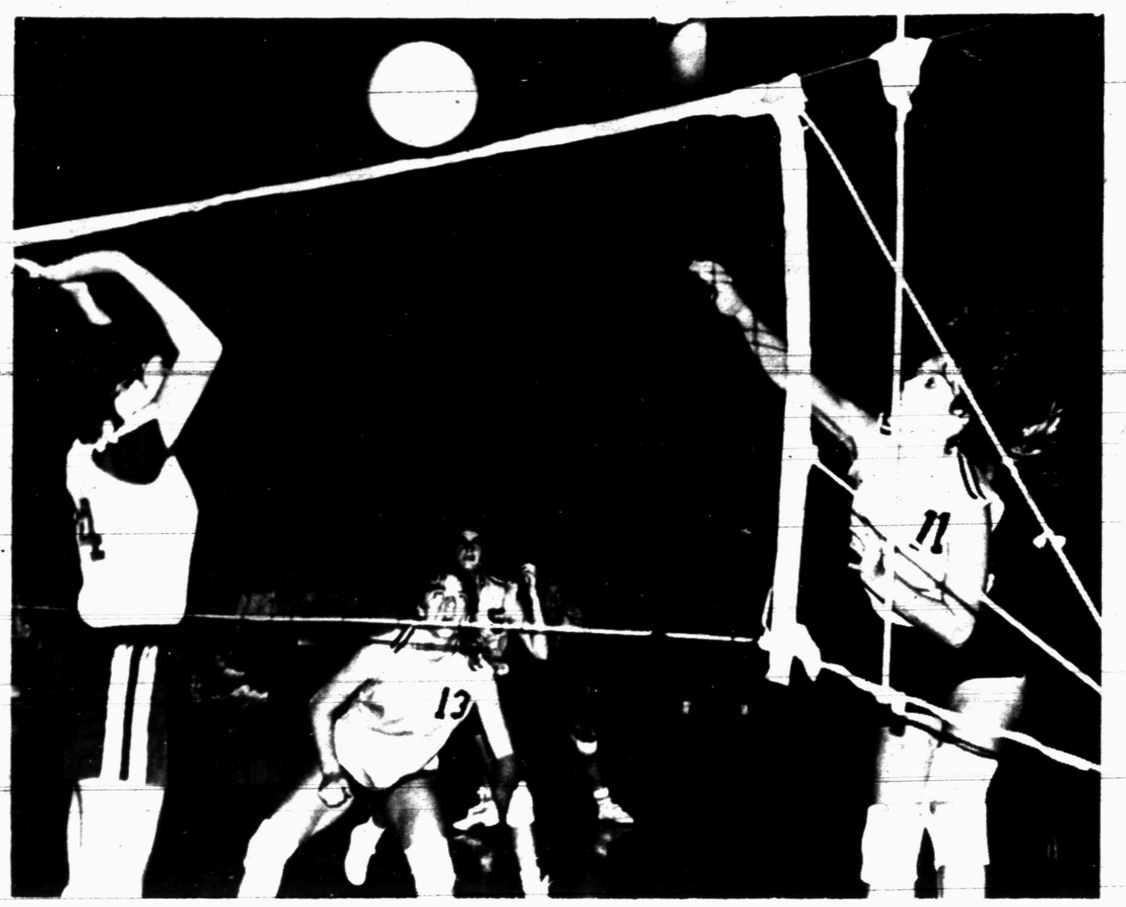

"It scared me," she admitted after her round. "I thought, 'What in the world is going on here?' When you're not used to those kind of scores, it worries you about what might happen next. I saw that minus-7 figure on the board and thought, 'Who is that?'"

She later cooled off, suffering bogeys at the ninth and 11th holes after having trap trouble, to finish at 5-under.

Other golfers who flirted with the lead included Vicki Fergon, who was 5-under through eight holes before finishing at 3-under for the tournament; Sandra Haynie, who was 5-under at the turn but fell back after taking a triple bogey on No. 17; and Pat Bradley, Lynn Adams and Patty Sheehan, all of whom were 4-under at one point in their rounds but fell back. They also finished at 3-under.

TIGERS WIN AGAIN -- Snyder's Tigers won their third straight volleyball match of the season Friday afternoon, defeating Hereford in short order. The Tigers were to play again Saturday at 12. Finals were set for 6:30 Saturday evening in the two-day, 14-team Snyder Varsity Tournament being held here. Above, left to right for Snyder are Sabrina Robinson, Toni Elrod and Sherri Rich.

U.S. Leads Walker Cup

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Hal Sutton, the U.S. Amateur golf champion, has a definite weak spot when it comes to Walker Cup competition.

"I was mad at myself after the morning round, but I got it going my way again in the afternoon," said Sutton, who had an embarrassing loss and an impressive victory Friday, the opening day of the 28th Walker Cup Match between amateur teams from Great Britain and the United States.

The Americans took an 8-4 lead. Twelve more matches, ending the event, were scheduled today on the 6,484-yard Cypress Point course.

Sutton and teammate Jay Sigel won the first three holes of their Friday Scotch foursomes match against Irish teen-agers Philip Walton, 19, and Ronan Rafferty, 17. But the Americans lost nine of the last 11 holes and lost, 4 and 2.

"Two years ago in the Walker Cup, I lost one doubles match and halved the other. We're not used to foursomes and it's difficult," noted Sutton, the 23-year-old from Shreveport, La.

In the foursomes, teammates play one ball, taking turns hitting. Sutton missed a two-foot putt on one of his turns, at the 10th hole, and made several other bad shots before the morning match ended.

In singles, he's done fine, as he proved by playing 4-under golf Friday to beat Rafferty, 3 and 1.

Joe Rassett, Jodie Mudd, Corey Pavin and Sigel also won singles matches for the United States.

Walton, who used a 65-year-old putter, and UCLA student Pavin were the only double winners Friday. Walton matched par with a 72 and edged Ron Commans, 1 up. Pavin teamed with Commans for a foursomes victory and beat Ian Hutcheon, 4 and 3, in the singles.

"I played very well, but you have to play well to win in this competition," said Walton, the current Spanish Amateur champion.

Michael-Steinbrenner...

Stirrings In Yankeeland

CHICAGO (AP) - Manager Gene Michael of the New York Yankees claims he's had it as far as owner George Steinbrenner is concerned, but Steinbrenner apparently isn't ready to make any moves - not yet anyway.

Michael revealed prior to Friday night's 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox that he had talked to Steinbrenner and told the owner if he wanted to fire the manager "Do it now, don't wait."

Steinbrenner showed up for the game in the third inning, stayed for an inning and left, but before departing, he said "Maybe Gene is saying these things to cement his position with me.

"No, I'm not satisfied," Steinbrenner said of the Yankees' play in the second half of the season. "I would be less than an idiot to say I'm satisfied. I have nothing more to say. Maybe he's said enough for both of us."

Michael said, "Yes, I've talked with George. I told him to quit threatening me. If he wants me to go, make the move, don't wait.

"I can't take it any longer," said Michael, who admitted he knew what he was getting into when he took the job. "But I didn't think it would be so direct.

"I can live with anything," he added. "My mother died in 1978; I went through a divorce, I had friends who died. He can take the job, it won't bother me.

"I can take the phone calls, but if I did everything right, we'd never lose a ball game," said Michael.

Asked if he knew that his statements might lead to his dismissal, Michael said, "He might do it before tonight's game or he might do it after the game. I talked to him on the phone and told him do it, don't wait."

Why doesn't Michael simply resign? "I don't resign. I didn't take this job to resign."

Prior to making the statement, Michael held a meeting with slumping slugger Reggie Jackson, who left the manager's office and went into the trainer's room.

"Look," said Jackson, "they're putting bandages on my wrists. That's what they said 'bandage his wrists.'"

Jackson then took a roll of tape and put it around his head but said "sorry fellas, can't talk to you while I'm in the trainer's room."

Jackson, in a horrendous slump, had been given a complete physical examination in New York Thursday but was unable to make Thursday night's game which the Yankees lost to the White Sox on Greg Luzinski's three-run homer in the eighth inning.

Jackson was in the starting lineup Friday night and came up with a pair of singles.

Rangers Rapped By Milwaukee, 6-3

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Cecil Cooper lined a three-run homer and Robin Yount slapped a two-run single in a six-run Milwaukee first inning, and the Brewers held on for a 6-3 victory over the Texas Rangers Friday night.

Rick Honeycutt, 8-3, whose 2.61 earned run average had been third best in the American League, was tagged for five of the Brewers' six first-inning runs.

Charlie Moore and Paul Molitor opened with singles, and Cooper lined his 10th homer into the right field seats. A single by Ben Oglivie and a double by Mark Brouhard chased Honeycutt.

Yount singled home two runs off Charlie Hough, stole second and scored the sixth run of the inning on a single by Ed Romero.

The Rangers scored in the fifth against Moose Haas, 8-4, on a walk to Jim Sundberg and a double by Billy Sample. They closed to within 6-2 with a sixth-inning run on a single by Mickey Rivers, a double by Al Oliver and a sacrifice fly by Buddy Bell.

Reggie Cleveland, who relieved Haas in the seventh, gave up the Rangers' third run in the eighth on a walk to Rivers, a wild pitch and a single by Oliver with one out. Rollie Fingers relieved and earned his 18th save, tops in the AL.

Astros Claim Victory After Carlton Departs

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Astros didn't exactly run Philadelphia ace hurler Steve Carlton off the mound, but they were certainly glad to see him go.

Carlton has been particularly rough on the Astros, winning 30 of 39 career decisions, including the last eight in a row. Carlton had allowed only three Astro base runners after leaving the game after six innings with a stiff arm.

The Astros took advantage of his absence to secure a 3-2 victory on Craig Reynold's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning.

"When Carlton left the game, I guess our chances improved a little," Astros manager Bill Virdon said.

That's a bit of an understatement, considering the ease with which Carlton handled the Astros through his six innings.

The Philadelphia lefthander whiffed eight and walked one while allowing two hits, a first inning double to Kiko Garcia and a single by Louis Pujols in the fifth.

"He doesn't give you anything," Garcia said. "I haven't got one good pitch to hit the whole time even when he gets behind in the count, he just blows it by you."

Garcia, like his teammates, fared well against the Philly relievers.

The Astros infielder tripled to the leftfield wall in the eighth to score Tony Scott and cut Philadelphia's lead to 2-1.

Art Howe doubled to lead off the ninth inning and was replaced by pinch runner Craig Reynolds when he dislocated a finger sliding into second.

Harry Spilman's single to right sent Reynolds home to tie the score.

Scott hit a double off loser Sparky Lyle, 6-3, to lead off the 10th inning and reached third safely when Mike Schmidt bobbled the throw in from the outfield. Lyle walked Garcia and Gary Woods intentionally to load the bases and, after Jose Cruz popped out to left field, Reynolds lifted a single to win the game.

Dave Smith, the third Houston pitcher, picked up the mound win to raise his record to 2-3.

Pete Rose scored a milestone run in the fourth to give the Phils an early lead. The run was the 1,889th of Rose's career, pushing him ahead of Lou Gehrig into sixth place on the all-time list.

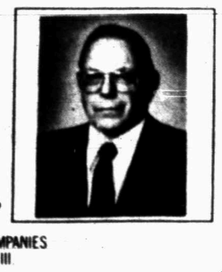

Rose opened the fourth with a single, went to second when Schmidt walked with one out and came in on Mike Moreland's single.

Garry Maddox forced Moreland at second, sending Schmidt to third. Houston pitcher Bob Knepper apparantly had Maddox picked off first, but Maddox ended up on third when first baseman Dave Roberts threw the ball into left field. Schmidt scored on the play, making it 2-0.

Knepper allowed five hits in seven innings but only one of the runs was earned. The Houston lefthander lowered his earned-run average to 1.95, second in the National League behind teammate Nolan Ryan's 1.19 mark.

Seahawks Finally Win At Home...

Strock Looks Sharp For Dolphs

by The Associated Press

Don Strock may be giving Don Shula something to think about - like who's the Miami Dolphins No.1 quarterback. The Seattle Seahawks are luckier than Shula - they can stop thinking - about their 12-game losing streak that is.

Strock came off the bench in the second quarter to replace starter David Woodley and keyed three scoring drives as Miami rolled to a 31-7 National Football League preseason victory over the Kansas City Chiefs Friday night.

"When you have good field position, you try to cash in," Strock said after he completed 11 of 12 passes, two of them for touchdowns.

"We did have the one long drive where we mixed it up pretty well. But field position was the key on the other two."

Strock's performance hiked his preseason stats to 24 completions in 26 attempts for 213 yards, but the eighth-year pro refused to comment on whether he thought he earned the Dolphins' starting job.

The Seahawks finally got the Seattle fans and a 12-game losing streak off their backs Friday night, downing the hapless Baltimore Colts 31-17 as Jim Zorn threw two touchdown passes.

The win was Seattle's first at home in almost a year, while the Colts dropped their seventh straight game - all four this preseason and their final three of the 1980 season.

"It's a great big win for us," said Zorn, who was booed by Seattle fans when he was introduced before the game. "It was the last preseason game and both teams needed a win."

Seahawks' linebacker Michael Jackson added, "Winning was all we talked about this week."

In other NFL preseason finales Buffalo nipped San Diego 30-24 and Atlanta bombed Tampa Bay 27-7.

In NFL action Saturday, the New York Giants traveled to Pittsburgh, it was Chicago at St.Louis, Denver at Cincinnati, Philadelphia vs. the New York Jets at East Rutherford, N.J., Detroit at New Orleans, Cleveland at Green Bay, Houston at Dallas and San Francisco at Oakland.

The final preseason game of the 1981 season is slated for Sunday when Washington visits New England.

The Los Angeles Rams outlasted Minnesota 34-31 Thursday night in a game which saw the Vikings lose starting quarterback Tommy Kramer with a knee injury. The Vikings said Kramer suffered a sprained ligament in the knee and that he would be a doubtful starter for Minnesota's regular season opener next week at Tampa Bay.

Strock said a new contract has given him peace of mind.

But it's Strock's play that has given Coach Shula peace of mind.

"Strock continues to do a great job," Shula said. "He's missed on two passes in three quarters of playing time and put points on the board. He has been super. I can't say enough good things about the way he's played."

Chiefs' Coach Marv Levy, who signed a new three-year contract earlier in the day, said injuries are his main concern entering the regular season.

"I am very concerned about the physical condition of our team," he said. "Essentially, we have played the preseason without quarterbacks."

Kansas City played without starting quarterback Steve Fuller, who was out with a knee injury, while backup Bill Kenney started the game with bruised ribs.

In Seattle, Zorn completed 26 of 37 passes for 334 yards, teaming with Steve Largent on a 21-yard scoring pass in the third quarter and hitting John Sawyer with a 9-yard TD in the first period.

Baltimore's Bert Jones completed 18 of 31 passes for 217 yards, including touchdown passes of 23 and 48 yards to Ray Butler.

Buffalo reserve quarterback David Humm threw a 27-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Ron Jessie early in the fourth quarter to give the Bills their victory over San Diego.

San Diego had two chances to win the game in the final two minutes. The game ended with Chargers' reserve quarterback Ed Luther stopped just short of the goal line on an attempt to sneak up the middle from the 1-yard line.

The two teams finished the preseason with 2-2 records.

In Atlanta, William Andrews raced 71 yards for one touchdown and Mike Moroski hurled a pair of scoring passes as the Falcons smashed Tampa Bay 27-7.

Moroski fired an 18-yard touchdown pass to Wallace Francis in the third quarter and came back with an 11-yarder to Junior Miller in the fourth as the Atlanta lifted its exhibition record to 2-3.

Tampa Bay got its touchdown in the final quarter on an 8-yard pass from Mike Ford to Gerald Carter. The Bucs were 1-3 in the preseason.

Tigers Looking Better But Still Not Sharp

Coach George Byerly had some praise for his Tigers Friday night but added a word of caution - there's still a lot of work to be done.

"We're a better football team than we were last week," he said following the scrimmage against Brownfield here, "but I think it's still evident we're not a good football team. The kids are catching on to what we want to do. Now it is a matter of making them work in all situations. Tonight (Friday) we made some big plays when we had too, but we're going to have to learn to adjust to what the other team is doing during a game from now on."

Snyder crossed Brownfield's goal line three times, while the Cubs broke loose and scored once on the Tigers. All of the scoring came in the game-type scrimmage rather than the controlled scrimmage which opened the night's work.

"It's hard to get consistancy in a controlled scrimmage," said Byerly. "I'm not sure why. I guess it's because the kids know they have a set number of plays to run."

Byerly said he wasn't pleased with Snyder's effort in the controlled portion of the scrimmage, but "I was pleased with our effort more than our execution in the game situation. We gave pretty good effort."

Offensively, Byerly noted all the backs did well. Raymond Jeffery led the group with 88 yards in 16 carries in the game-type scrimmage (3 carries for 10 yards, controlled). Matt Davis had 43 yards on eight totes (2 for 19 controlled) and Kirk Herrley picked up 30 yards in six runs (4 for 30 controlled).

Snyder's passing, under quarterbacks David Nicholson and Brent Beck, also looked decent. Together, they tossed four completions in eight tosses for 68 yards.

Snyder suffered two injuries in the scrimmage; one of little concern. Casey Peterson suffered an ankle injury but is expected to be fine next week. A more serious injury occurred as Curtis Gafford suffered a dislocated shoulder. He was to return to the doctor early next week, but unofficial reports are that he could possibly be back for the first game of the season, Sept. 4 at Big Spring.

Dorsett Will Dedicate Performance To Youth

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Dallas Cowboy running back Tony Dorsett dedicated his performance in the Washington Redskins' game to a high school player fighting for life in a local hospital.

"My prayers are with Byron Miller and the Miller family," Dorsett said. "I will be playing that game for Byron. I hope to play the kind of game that will make Byron proud of me."

Miller, 15, a sophomore at Madison High School, has been in a coma at Northeast Baptist Hospital since receiving a head injury during a goal-line stand in football practice earlier this week.

Dorsett said he may play little against Houston in an exhibition game this weekend, but expects to be at full strength during the Sept. 6 regular season opener against Washington.

Madison G. Miller, the injured boy's father, said his son adopted the Cowboys as his team about the time he learned to walk and has idolized Dorsett.

"I will pray for a miracle, and I just hope that by the Washington game, Byron can be well enough to watch the game on television," Dorsett told The San Antonio News in a telephone interview from Dallas.

Dorsett said he understood dreams of young football players like Miller, because he had the same kind of dreams as a youngster.

Dorsett said he and every football player is aware that an injury can end their dreams, but that young men should be allowed to chase their dreams despite the risks.

Dorsett said Miller's parents should not allow themselves to accept any blame for letting the youngster play football.

"He has talent and he would not have been content to sit on the sidelines while others played," Dorsett said.

Curtis Heads Sail Event

The sixth, or final, race will be held today if good weather conditions prevail. If the final race is canceled because of bad weather, Curtis would win the title.

Curtis has sailed his 19-foot Lightning sloop to finishes of second, first, ninth, third and second in the 35-boat championship fleet.

Bryant, who finished 23rd in the first race Wednesday, took second in the second race of the series. Since then, however, he has won the last three races held at the Cedar Yacht Point Club on Long Island Sound.

Using the low-point scoring system, Curtis had 17 points, while Bryant had 28.

The North American rules call for a six-race series, permitting each competitor to discard a low score. Bryant's worst score was his 23rd-place finish, while Curtis has only a ninth-place finish to deduct from his score if a sixth race is sailed Saturday.

As a result, Curtis would have to beat Bryant by four boats Saturday to maintain his lead and win the championship.

Pearson Agrees To 3-Year Contract

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Drew Pearson agreed Friday to a new three-year contract, ending speculation that the nine-year Dallas veteran might not come to terms before the beginning of the regular season, team officials said.

Cowboys vice president Gil Brandt said he expected Pearson to sign the new contract by Monday.

Although Brandt would not disclose the terms of the agreement, he said "both sides had smiles on their faces" after a negotiating session late Friday afternoon. The contract includes an extension option, Brandt said.

The 30-year-old Pearson became the Cowboys' all-time pass receiver last year when he made his 366th reception, surpassing the old mark set by Bob Hayes. He went on to record his 378th reception by the end of the season.

Minor Accidents Reported In City

City police worked a variety of calls Friday which included three minor accidents.

At 10:42 a.m., Lawrence Moore told police he had been bitten by a dog. The dog was taken to the Scurry County Veterinary Clinic for observation.

A mishap occurred at 1800 26th St. at 4:33 p.m. Involved was a 1975 Chevrolet driven by Joanne Becker and a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Corienne Mahurin. Only minor damage was reported.

At 6:15 p.m., James Parmer at the 3-D Motel reported his 1972 Dodge Demon was missing. He was advised that Colorado City police had impounded the vehicle and that the driver was in City Jail for hotrodding around the high school and driving on the sidewalks.

William Robinson told police at 10:51 p.m. that a female had written "I Love You" on the hood of his car while it was at the high school.

Another mishap occurred in the parking lot at Allsups on College Ave. at 11:18 p.m. Involved was a 1981 Ford pickup driven by Mark Alan Marble and a parked Pontiac owned by Kathleen Spencer.

A vehicle struck a light pole owned by the Scurry County Parks Department at North Park Saturday morning. Involved was a 1978-Chevrolet driven by a 16 year-old male. No injuries were reported.

At 1:13 a.m. Saturday, one juvenile was taken into custody at North Park for driving while intoxicated.

At 4:30 a.m., a 19 year-old man was arrested at Texaco Truck Stop for public intoxication and being in the country illegally.

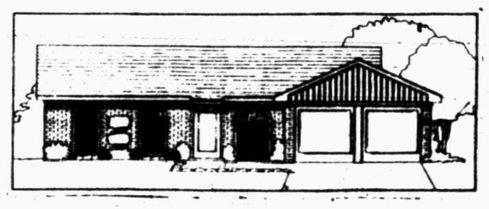

Fire Damages Dwelling Here

What was believed to be an electrical fire caused heavy damage to a bedroom at 2312½ 30th St. at 10:45 p.m. Friday. Leonard Keller, acting fire chief in Alfred Kohl's absence, said he believed the fire was caused by "overloaded circuits with no fuse protection."

Firefighters pulled the fuses out of the box and discovered tin foil and a penny behind each fuse. The house was occupied by Pat Chappa and is owned by Anil Goswami.

In winning the Triple Crown in 1943, Count Fleet captured the three races, the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, by a total of 36 lengths.

OBITUARIES

Jose Zomora

Jose Liandro Zomora, 45, who lived at 1100 Ave. P, died at 9:30 p. m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral rites have been set for 2 p.m. Monday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Sabinal, he had lived in Snyder most of his life.

Surviving are his wife, Louise, of the home; three daughters, Josie and Gloria Zomora, both of the home, and Beatrice Cade of Fremont, Ohio; two sons, Joe and Jimmy Zomora, both of the home; two sisters, Nora Alvarez of Snyder and Espernanza Cisneros of Bay City, Mich.; two brothers, Alfredo Zomora of Grand Prairie and Alberto Zomora of Snyder.

Braziel Rites

Funeral service has been set for 10 a. m. Monday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. Levada Braziel, 73, who died Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Officiating will be the Rev. Raymond Dunkins and Rev. Joe Peterson, assisted by Rev. Green of Big Spring.

Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Pennington

Melvin Argus Pennington, 79, who lived at 4401 Midland Ave., died at 1 p. m. Friday at his home following a long illness.

Funeral service is set for 3 p. m. Sunday at Union United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Thomas Taylor officiating. Following the service here, the body will be taken to Stinnett for graveside rites and burial at 2 p. m. Monday in the Stinnett Cemetery.

A retired mechanic, Mr. Pennington is survived by his wife, Delia, a daughter, Mrs. Genele Blagg of Ira; three sons, Glenn Pennington of Lubbock, E. V. Pennington of Borger and Jerry Pennington of Claude; a brother, Faye Pennington of San Luis Obispo, Calif.; 11 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Registration For Aikido Classes Set

Registration for aikido classes through the Western Texas College Continuing Education department will start Aug. 31 when classes begin.

Classes will meet from 6:30-8 on Monday nights, with students paying fees of $30 each for the 13-week course. Students may also attend a practice session each Wednesday evening at the same time.

College credit courses in aikido are also on the fall schedule. Beginning aikido classes will be offered from 11:55-1:10 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Advanced aikido will be offered from 11:15-12:05 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Aikido is a martial art form that stresses defense against empty-handed as well as weapon attacks, Dr. Shel Hillis, instructor, said. The development of the skills of movement and balance is emphasized and especially the control of a person's own body. The skills developed in aikido are dangerous in unskilled application. Consequently, only persons of high school age or older will be allowed to enroll in the course.

Persons wishing more information about aikido may contact Hillis at extension 237 at WTC, 573-8511.

Merit System Council Now Separate

The Merit System Council, which administers examinations for various state agencies, will become a separate agency Sept. 1.

Examinations will continue to be given by the Texas Employment Commission at various locations, including the Abilene TEC office.

A number of changes will be made, one of which is the usual Saturday testing will be discontinued. Effective Oct. 1, all tests will be given by "appointment only" on Friday afternoons, and persons wishing to take examinations must be scheduled for a testing time. Those who have not been given an appointment time ("walk-ins") will not be allowed to take the examination.

Examinations for employment interviewer and employment counselor will no longer be "open" examinations. In order for a person to take those examinations, an application must be made to the Merit System Council, and their approval, along with an appointment slip, will be required for admittance to the testing sessions.

The Merit System Council is in the process of revising and printing examination announcements, with the location and schedule of testing sites printed on them. When this information is received, it will be available at the Snyder TEC office located at 1904 37th St.

Further information may be obtained by writing the Merit System Council, 507 Brown Building, Box 1189, Austin 78767.

School Board In Brief Meet

The Snyder Independent School District board of trustees met at noon Friday for an one-item agenda.

The meeting was called to make revisions in the 1980-81 school budget. The action is required each year prior to the end of the school's fiscal year on Aug. 31.

All board members were present for the brief meeting.

Hataway, Minyard Wed In Evening Rites

Tina Marie Hataway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hataway of Roby, and David R. Minyard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Minyard of Snyder, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday, August 22 at seven in the evening at the Chrisitan Student Center on the campus of Western Texas College. Lester Cavett of Sweetwater Baptist Layman, performed the ceremony.

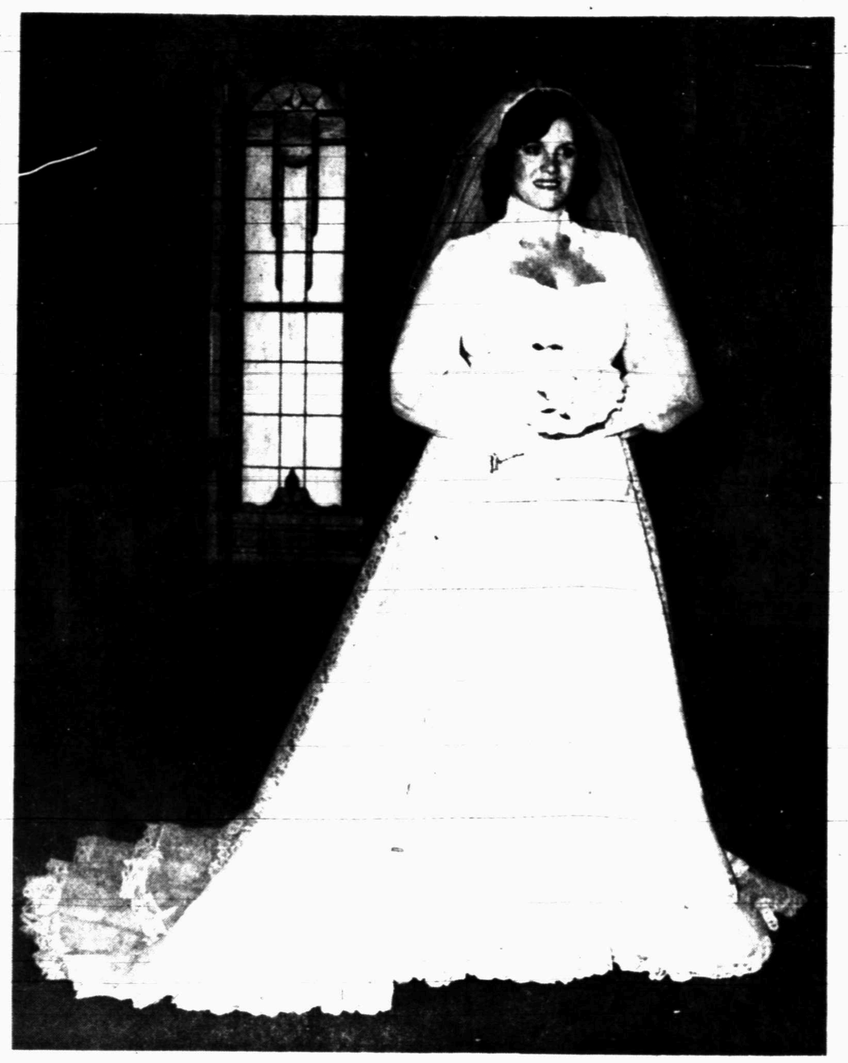

Music was presented by Mrs. Cindy Hataway, soloist, and Ross Preston on the guitar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of Chantilly and re-embroidered lace featuring a Queen Anne neckline, encrusted with seed pearls and bishop shadow sleeves. The skirt of the gown had an all lace deep peplum with two flounces encircling the hem and chapel length train.

The three-tiered veil of bridal illusion was attached to a juliet cap covered in lace and encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of silk rosebuds, roses, orange blossoms and baby's breath in yellow, white and pale yellow with a white lace back and yellow and white picot ribbon streamers.

Miss Donna Hataway served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lesa Minyard, sister of the groom, and Miss Leah Sue Hall of Lubbock. They wore yellow jersey knit dresses with a deep ruffle flounce at the neckline and an ankle length tulip hemline raised in center front. Each carried small lace backed silk nosegays of large yellow roses, yellow and white forget-me-nots and pale yellow baby's breath and yellow picot bows and streamers.

Candlelighters were Miss Melody Hataway, sister of the bride, and Miss Regina Stewart of Roby. They were attired in a Gunne Sax styled dress of pale yellow print with yellow, beige and brown tone flowers and trimmed with beige lace at the shoulders.

MRS. DAVID R. MINYARD

Ring bearers were James and Chad Arnwine, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Arnwine of Roby. They wore beige tweed slacks with a darker beige shirts and medium brown bow ties.

The bridegroom wore a squire tuxedo and his boutonniere was a pale yellow rose with orange blossoms.

Jimmy Crow served as best man and groomsmen were Tim Sonnier and Lee Minyard, brother of the groom. They wore beige squire tuxedos, boutonnieres of yellow rosebuds, pale yellow forget-me-nots, and baby's breath.

Ushers were Billy Wilkenson and Gary Bryant.

A reception was hosted by the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered by a white crocheted tablecloth with a yellow underlay. It was centered with a three-tiered cake flanked by gold candlesticks with hurricane globes. The crystal punch bowl was surrounded by the floral nosegays carried by the bride's attendants. Overseeing the nuts and mint dishes were a small crocheted bride and groom made for the couple by Mrs. Mary Dodds of Roby. Mrs. Peggy Arnwine of Roby and Miss Joan Ellen Maxson of San Angelo presided at the table.

The groom's table was covered with a white crocheted tablecloth with a brown underlay. A brass cuspidor held an arrangement of dried and silk flowers. The cake was M-shaped with the names of the bride and groom on top. Miss Tresia Hall presided at this table.

The hall was decorated with an array of silk and dried floral arragments. Silk candle rings encircled beige and yellow candles covered with hurricane globes. A cascade of white flowers and greenery hung from the balcony behind the bride's table and greenery ropes entwined the banisters of the staircase. The white archway and candelbrum were covered with greenery and yellow roses, morning glories and baby's breath. The candelabrum held fourteen off-white tapers.

Miss Becky Lee registered guests as they arrived.

After a short wedding trip to Abilene, the couple will reside at Kingwswood Estate apartments in Snyder.

Th bride is a graduate of Roby High School and is employed at West Texas State Bank.

The groom attended Snyder High School and Western Texas College. He is employed by Permian Tire and Supply.

In 1776, the British captured Fort Washington on Manhattan Island.

Killgo, Morgan United In Afternoon Ceremony

Theresa Carol Killgo became the bride of Robert Vance Morgan August 8 in Trinity United Methodist Church at two in the afternoon. Reverend James Merrell, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Killgo, 207 36th Street, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob S. Morgan of Midland.

The altar was centered with an arched 15-branch candelabrum flanked by two 9-branch candelbra. All were decorated with fresh greenery of English ivy, leatherleaf fern and yellow pom-pom mums. The glowing cross above the sanctuary accented the altar. Yellow satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Cheri Beth Stewart played "To a Lily" on the organ as the couple's parents were ushered in. When the bride and her father reached the altar, Darrell Collins sang "The Lord's Prayer." After the vows were taken, he sang "We've Only Just Begun" and as the couple knelt in prayer he sang "Follow Me." He was accompanied by Mrs. Stewart on the piano.

The bride's father gave her in marraige. She was attired in a formal length gown of white organdy accented with Alencon and Bristol lace designed by Priscilla of Boston. The portrait neckline draped off the shoulder to long tapered sleeves. The entire bodice and sleeves were covered in Alencon and Bristol lace. The empire waist fell to an organdy paneled skirt with matching Alencon lace appliques. The skirt swept to back fullness with Bristol lace around the hemline and chapel length train. The bride's veil was of white silk illusion. The double layers fell to scallops edged in Alencon lace around both layers. It was gathered to a beaded capulet covered in Alencon lace.

MRS. ROBERT VANCE MORGAN

The bride carried a colonial nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses, white carnations, white starburst mums and baby's breath. Streamers of bridal satin picot in yellow and white completed the bouquet.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a blue garter designed and made for her by Ms. Peggy English. She wore a cameo and diamond lavalier belonging to her grandmother for something old and a pearl ring belonging to her mother for something borrowed. Her dress was new.

The mother of the bride wore a shell pink formal length gown of chiffon featuring an accordion style deep pleated skirt. The front ruffled button line was accented by rhinestones, as were the cuffs on the sleeves. She wore a frenched carnation corsage made with pink ribbon and matching accessories.

The groom's mother was dressed in a dusty rose formal length gown of chiffon overlay. A short cape extended from the deep ruffled collar. A chiffon rose accented the empire waist. She wore a frenched carnation corsage made with dusty rose ribbon and matching accessories.

Mrs. Vic V. Keys, sister of the bride of Big Spring, served as matron of honor. Mrs. Roy E. Hunter, the bride's sister, of Pecos was maid of honor. They wore formal length gowns of pale yellow dotted swiss featuring butterfly sleeves and Chantilly lace trimmed empire waists. The Chantilly lace also formed two rows around the base of the skirt. They each carried a long stemmed yellow rose with baby's breath, greenery and yellow streamers. Their hair was adorned with miniature yellow silk roses.

Steve Stuller, cousin of the groom, of Lubbock was best man. Tim Compton of Lubbock served as groomsman. Ushes were Larry J. Killgo, brother of the bride, and Howard Stuller, uncle of the groom.

Miss Kay Lynn Hunter, niece of the bride, of Pecos was flower girl and Miss Ellie Killgo, the bride's niece, of Roswell, New Mexico was ring bearer. Ms. Sheri Ann Hunter, niece of the bride, of Pecos and Ms. Kasandra Keys, the bride's niece, from Big Spring lit the candles. They wore dresses of pale yellow dotted swiss featuring short puffed sleeves and Chantilly lace around the empire waist and forming two rows around the base of the skirt. Miniature yellow roses adorned their hair and the flower girls carried white baskets filled with yellow silk petals and yellow streamers flowing from the basket.

The groom wore a solid white cutaway tuxedo with tails with two yellow roses and baby's breath as a boutonniere. His attendants wore complimentary white tuxedos with yellow carnation boutonnieres.

Followng the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a fresh flower arrangement of spider mums, yellow roses, yellow carnations, baby's breath, and greenery. Appointments were in crystal and silver. The three-tiered cake was decorated with cascading yellow roses and yellow rose buds. It was topped with three yellow satin bells. Mrs. Larry J. Killgo and Ms. Brandy Elkins served the cake and yellow fruit punch.

The groom's table featured a silver coffee and tea service set on a white damask cloth. A chocolate cake monogramed with an "M" and tea and coffee were served by Mrs. Tim Compton and Mrs. Steve Stuller.

Miss Shawn Keyes, niece of the bride, registered guests as they arrived.

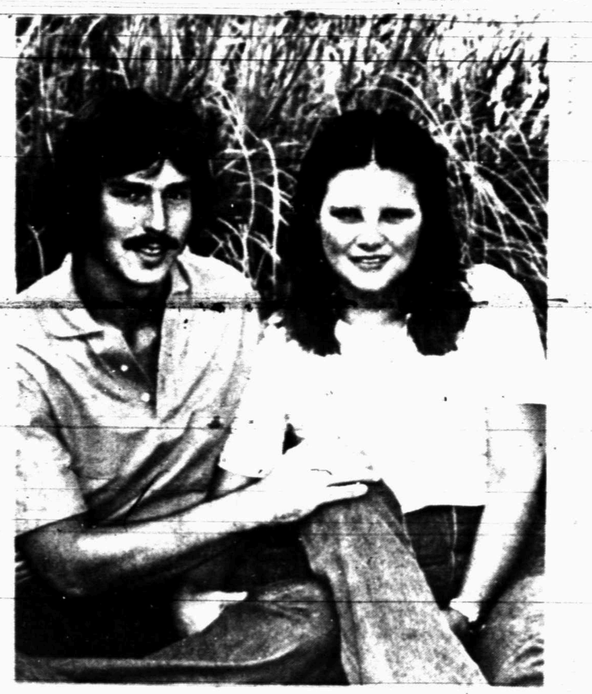

For going away, the bride wore beige linen slacks and an off white silk blouse with beige accessories. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses, baby's breath, and white starburst mums.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Lubbock General School of Medical Technology and holds a bachelor of science degree from McMurry College.

The groom graduated from Snyder High School and holds a bachelor of business administration degree from Texas Tech University. He is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Odessa.

A rehearsal dinner was held at The Shack, hosted by the groom's parents.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South studied his options fully before playing to trick one. He analyzed the lead as a singleton or doubleton. He reviewed the bidding. East obviously had a lot of red cards and probably K Q or K x in clubs. He counted his losers and found one heart, one diamond and two very probable clubs.

He asked himself how can I make this hand and saw that he had to hold his club losers to one.

Then South embarked on a winning campaign. He took his ace of hearts and led the suit right back.

East won and promptly cashed the king of diamonds. West played the deuce and East decided quite properly not to play a second diamond. Then he noted that South had not led a trump. So East led a trump.

South was ready to operate. He cashed his ace and king of trumps and ruffed his last heart in dummy. Then he led a low club.

East was in with the king and also caught in an unusual end play. If he led a heart South would ruff in dummy with the last trump while discarding his remaining club loser. If he tried to cash his ace of diamonds he would set up dummy's queen for a club discard.

Note that South's play would also have won if East started with K-Q, K-10 or Q-10 of clubs.

East would have saved himself if he had led his king of clubs instead of a trump. We wonder if more than two or three players in the world would have figured this out and made that play.

Why gas is plentiful:

50% of the Gas

There are thousands of square miles of natural gas formations in these nine basins. Industry experts estimate that these basins hold 50% of the nation's remaining onshore reserves. Lone Star's pipeline system extends to eight of them, which should give you a nice warm feeling for many a long winter. It's another reason to be glad you're served by the Lone Star system.

Gas. It's plentiful, efficient and right for the times.

Beauty Digest

Mint mask

If your complexion is oily or prone to breakouts, try this astringent mask you can make at home. Add enough cold, strong mint tea to one fresh baker's yeast cake to make a creamy, spreadable mixture. Apply to your freshly washed face, avoiding the delicate eye area. Leave on 15 minutes, then remove with warm water. This mask is very drying, so you probably won't want to use it more than twice a week.

Chill chasers

Here are some tips on how to keep away the cold this winter. Regular exercise will improve your circulation, making you feel warmer. Try some stretches before going out on a cold day. Several thin layers of clothing are better than a couple of thick ones but don't overdress — that will make you perspire and lower your resistence to the cold. Try a poncho over a jacket, tights under pants and mittens over gloves on a nippy weekend.

Insurance
FACTS
by Tom Deffebach

YOUR Independent INSURANCE AGENT SERVES YOU FIRST

A multiple-peril policy is one that insures against two or more perils. A fire insurance policy which insures against fire and lightning, or the extended coverage endorsement, which lists nine perils, are both examples of multiple peril policies. an automobile insurance policy, which makes up both liability insurance and physical damage coverage on the car itself, is a true multiple peril contract. A homeowner's policy, which combines fire and theft insurance on personal property with liability insurance and fire insurance on the home itself, is still another example.

Many different types of insurance policies are available through THE DEFFEBACH AGENCY, 1810 27th, 573-5611. We specialize in fire, auto, home owners, and complete commercial service. Profitt, Farley Exchange Vows In Odessa Rites

MRS. DARRIN RAY FARLEY

Jana Deanne Proffitt and Darrin Ray Farley exchanged vows July 3 at seven in the evening at First Baptist Church in Odessa. Reverned Bailey Stone, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Proffitt of Odessa and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Farley of Snyder.

The altar featured two brass candelabra decorated with greenery and flanked with baskets of blue carnations, baby's breath and mixed greenery.

The musical program was presented by Ms. Joyce Freeman, pianist, Jack Hendrix, organist and Miss Teresa Mearse, soloist. Miss Mearse sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "He Has Chosen Me for You."

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a formal gown of white bridal satin overlaid with sheer silk organza designed by Priscilla of Boston. It featured an empire waist, a skirt with a train gathered in the back, a standing collar and long sleeves gathered into cuffs with tiny satin buttons closing the cuffs. The gown was lavished with rows of lace across the bodice, down the sleeves, around the neck and cuffs and edging the skirt and train. Her bouquet featured white carnations, baby's breath and white roses.

Ms. Teresa Mearse was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Kenna and Kara Proffitt, sisters of the bride. They wore baby blue sundresses and carried bouquets of blue carnations and baby's breath.

Flower girl was Miss Becky Beggs. She wore a tiered baby blue dress and carried a basket of blue carnations and baby's breath.

Ron Hinesley, cousin of the groom, was best man. Gary Gray and Monte French served as groomsmen and seated the guests.

Ring bearer was Dane Farley, the groom's brother, of Snyder. He wore a black tuxedo and a baby blue shirt.

The parlor of the church was the scene of the reception following the ceremony.

The bride's table featured a two-tiered white cake with blue flowers, candles and greenery. Ms. Beth Beggs, Ms. Shirley Proffitt and Ms. Jenny Finch presided.

Mrs. Sharon Mearse and Ms. Lanice Freeman served chocolate cake at the groom's table.

Ms. Jenny Finch registered guests as they arrived.

Following a wedding trip to Nassau, Bahamas, the couple will be at home at 1011 Custer in Odessa.

The bride graduated from Permian High School in 1979, attended Odessa College and University of Texas, Permian Basin.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Permian High School and attended Odessa College. He is employed by West Texas Office Supply in Midland and Odessa.

Davis, Davenport Wed In Evening Rites

MR. AND MRS. ROBBY LLOYD DAVENPORT

Kimberly Denise Davis became the bride of Robby Lloyd Davenport on July 11 at 7:30 in the evening at Morningside Baptist Church. Reverend Glenn Border officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunter, Route 1, Hermleigh and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Davenport of Snyder.

The altar was decorated with a heart shaped candelabrum entwined with greenery and complimented by sprays of silk spring flowers in the bride's chosen colors. Pews were marked with satin bows in the same colors. The memory candle was placed on a round table covered with a floor length ivory satin cloth accented by spring flowers and a pair of antique candle holders with white candles.

Ms. Anita Black, pianist, accompanied Ms. Julie Roemisch as she sang "The Wedding Song." As the couple lit the memory candle, she sang "The Theme to Ice Castles."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown with a Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was appliqued with galloon lace and seed pearls with iridescent sequins. The bishop shadow sleeves of illusion net were trimmed with appliqued lace which was accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The sleeves were deeply cuffed in the ivory satin trimmed with pearl buttons and also appliqued with lace and seed pearls. The skirt and chapel length train were of ivory bridal satin appliqued with galloon lace and accented by seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore an ivory derby trimmed with galloon lace accented by seed pearls and iridescent sequins. A fingertip veil of illusion net cascaded from the brim of the derby. The dress and derby were designed by the bride's mother and her aunt, Donna Parish, of Sterling City.

The bride carried a cascade of silk flowers in spring colors attached to an open ivory lace fan with lime green satin streamers.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a blue garter trimmed with white lace and maraboo feathers. For something old she wore pearl earrings and necklace belonging to her paternal grandmother, Nina Hunter. Her dress was new and she borrowed a pearl covered white bible from Linda Roemisch of Hermleigh. She also wore pennies minted in the years of their birth in her shoes.

Miss Terri Sue Feaster of Hermleigh served as maid of honor. She wore a lilac chiffon overblouse covering a lilac knit floor length gown and carried a nosegay of lilac silk flowers. Bridesmaids were Kaye West of Odessa and Donna Johnston and Belinda Gannaway of Hermleigh. They wore satin dresses overlaid with illusion net and trimmed with seed pearls in colors of yellow, apricot, and mint green, respectively. They carried a single long-stemmed carnation to match their dresses.

Flower girl was Melissa Sue Humphreys, cousin of the bride. She wore a pink chiffon floor length gown with a tiered skirt.

The bride's brother, Doug Tindol of Hermleigh, was best man. Groomsmen were Riley Kitchens, Ricky Housden and Robbie Mullins of Hermleigh. They wore black tuxedos with ruffled shirts in spring colors complimenting the bridesmaids' dresses. Ushers were Donny Davis and Corylane Burleson, brothers of the bride. They wore black tuxedos with white ruffled shirts.

Candlelighters were Tammy Davis, sister of the bride, and Marnie Tyson, cousin of the groom. They wore blue floor length dresses with an overlay of blue illusion net. Crystal and silk flowers adorned their hair.

Toby Tyson of Levelland was ring bearer. He wore a black tuxedo with a blue ruffled shirt and blue boutonniere.

The fellowship hall of the church was the setting for the reception.

The bride's table was laid with a mint green cloth with a white lace overlay. It was adorned by spring flowers arranged around six green candles. The three-tiered cake was decorated with clusters of flowers in the bride's chosen colors and topped with a miniature bride and groom under an archway of white doves and pink flowers. Ms. Kay Roemisch, aunt of the bride, and Melinda Roemisch presided.

A blue cloth with a white lace overlay covered the groom's table. Coffee from a silver coffee service was served with a German chocolate cake. Presiding were Miss Shellie Davenport and Miss Vickie Propest, sisters of the groom.

Ms. Donna Parish, aunt of the bride, registered guests in the bride's book.

The couple will reside in Snyder after a wedding trip to Dallas. They attended Hermleigh High School and Mr. Davenport is employed at the Auto Clinic.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN PAUL SNIDER

Chastain, Snider Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Linda Darlene Chastain and Stephen Paul Snider were joined in marriage at four in the afternoon on August 1 in the First United Methodist Church. The Reverend David Robertson officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chastain of 209 32nd Street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Snider of 3701 Midland Avenue.

The altar was centered with a nine-branch candelbrum atop an arrangement of white quill mums and apricot carnations. Green fig trees in brass containers flanked the altar.

Mrs. Joe Jackson registered guests as they entered the sanctuary on a round table with a white cloth centered with brass candlesticks with peach colored tapers.

The musical program was presented by Mrs. Betty Watts, organist, and Ms. Belinda Scott, soloist. Mrs. Watts performed various selections as the guests were seated by ushers Danny Chastain of Sweetwater, brother of the bride, and L. E. Scott, brother-in-law of the bride. Ms. Scott sang "More" before the bride entered the sanctuary and "One Hand, One Heart" as the couple stood before the altar. The bride entered with her father as Mrs. Watts played the traditional processional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a Victorian neckline and long fitted sleeves edged with lace. Brussels lace highlighted the sheer yoke and a Chantilly lace overlay adorned the bodice. The natural wasitline held a gathered skirt with deep flounces of Chantilly lace at the hem which flowed to a chapel length train. The picture hat had lace ruffles and satin ribbon at the crown with fingertip illusion in the back.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white and apricot roses, stephanotis, phaelaenopsis white orchids, starburst mums, white carnations, baby's breath, and small touches of brown silk gyp atop a white lace covered Rainbow Girls' Bible with streamers of white lace and apricot pixi satin which completed the bouquet.

In keeping with tradition, the bride carried a Bible for something old, her dress was something new, a hat pin from Ms. Karen Sears was something borrowed, and her garter was blue.

Mrs. Diane Scott, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, while Mrs. Debra Kesseler from Houston served as bridesmaid. Each wore a floor length gown of apricot polyester knit featuring a blouson top and natural waist. Gathered from the rounded neckline, the top split at the sleeves and came together at the waist with a tie belt and a flower. They carried white lace fans with silk apricot miniature tiger lilies and streamers of the bride's colors.

Best man was Neely Wright III of San Angelo and groomsman was Max Snider of Odessa, brother of the groom. The groom with his attendants wore chocolate brown tuxedos with white pleated shirts. The groom's boutonniere was a white sweetheart rose while the groomsmen wore apricot feathered carnations.

The reception was held in Wesley Hall following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with a silk piece featuring apricot and browns in various flowers atop a golden cherub. The same centerpiece in miniature form was used on tables at the reception. A three-tiered separated cake with flesh colored background was decorated with different shades of peach icing flowers accented with silk wedding bells on top. Appointments were of silver and crystal. Presiding over the table were Mrs. Debbie Stove and Mrs. Gena Patterson of Canyon.

The groom's table was laid with a brown cloth and a white lace overlay featuring a centerpiece of two large sea shells backed with fresh greenery and apricot dried material. Assorted fruits and cinnamon crisps were served by Ms. Angela Vincent of Midland. Appointments were in silver and crystal.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Jackie Baldwin, Mrs. Neva Harbin, Mrs. Jo Ann Littlepage, Mrs. Barbara McGee, and Mrs. Nell Allen.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner the evening before the wedding at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

The bride was honored with a bridal shower by college friends in Canyon this summer and an office party in Canyon where she worked.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Western Texas College. She graduated from West Texas State University with a BBA degree in finance. This summer at WTSU, Darlene was a member of Phi Gamma Nu, a professional sorority. She is now employed with NRM Petroleum Corporation in Midland as an accountant in their partnerships department.

The groom is a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Western Texas College. He is employed with Tape Town, Inc. in Midland.

For going away, the bride wore a dress with navy background and colors of peach. With her gold accessories the bride wore a watch, a gift from the groom. Her corsage was a phaelaenopsis white orchid, stephanotis, and white starburst mums taken from her bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple is at home in Midland.

Out of town guests were from Shadypoint, Oklahoma, Abilene, Sweetwater, Houston, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, and Canyon.

OAT TOPPING

Repeated by request, this recipe is from pre-granola days.

4 cups quick-cooking oats
1 cup firmly packed light or dark brown sugar
2-3rds cup butter, melted

With a fork stir together the oats and sugar; add the butter and mix well. Turn into a 15 by 10 by 1-inch jellyroll pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven, stirring several times, for 10 minutes. Cool about 15 minutes; toss with a fork to break into crumblike form. Store in a tightly covered jar in refrigerator. Makes 5 cups.

Pamper Feet With A Pedicure

NEW YORK (NEA) - Out now from under wraps, your feet are visible, whether on the beach or in this summer's colorful sandals. The Footwear Council wants to help you put your best foot forward with a pedicure regime.

Always do a pedicure right after bathing, when the foot is still damp. Using a cotton-wrapped orangewood stick, gently push back cuticles and clean under nails. Apply cuticle remover lotion and rub with towel to remove excess. Trim nails straight across, as tapering can cause an ingrown nail.

Stroking in one direction only, gently smooth nail edges with an emery board, rough side first, fine side to finish. Now gently rub callused or rough areas of the foot with a wet pumice stone. Finish by stroking on a moisturizing body lotion from the toes up to the ankle.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES ALLEN GREENFIELD

Richmond, Greenfield Wed In Monahans Rites

Vicki Lynn Richmond and Charles Allen Greenfield exchanged vows on August 8 in the First Baptist Church of Monahans at seven in the evening. Reverend Don Harms, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Richmond of Big Lake. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Johney Greenfield, 3202 42nd Street, Snyder.

A wedding arch entwined with garland centered the altar. It was flanked by two 9-gobe candletrees and garland was entwined on the choir rail with votive candles placed among the garland. A memory candle stood on the altar table.

Ms. Glenda Wyse, cousin of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song" and "Wherever Thou Goest" and Ms. Jeannie Thrasher played the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a traditional white silk gown of organza and Chantilly lace. The lace bodice was adorned with pearls and featured a Queen Anne neckline. It had long, full sleeves with deep lace cuffs. The A-line skirt cascaded into a cathedral length train made up of ruffles edged in a deep band of lace.

The two-tiered veil was scalloped and edged in bridal pearls and fell to elbow length from a Juliet cap.

Mrs. Jayme Richmond, sister-in-law of the bride, of Cedar Park, served as matron of honor. Maid of honor was Ms. Vickie Greenfield, sister of the groom, of San Angelo and bridesmaids were Ms. Janet Hooper of Odessa and Ms. Jana Fisher of Big Lake. They wore A-line formal length gowns in Daphne Rose Glo knit fabric with spaghetti straps over one shoulder and a chiffon capelet. They carried nosegays of silk burgundy flowers.

Flower girl was Missy Wyse, cousin of the bride, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. She was dressed in a three-tiered floor length gown with a bodice of solid Daphne Rose nylon fabric. The tiered skirt alternated in solid and floral print Daphne Rose nylon fabric. A floral print capelet completed the ensemble. She carried a lace basket filled with pink and burgundy flowers.

Clint Askins of Big Lake was ring bearer. He wore a burgundy tuxedo and pink shirt. Leslie Gooch and Jill Fisher, both of Big Lake, lit the candles.

Mike Greenfield, brother of the groom, of Snyder was best man. Don Richmond of Cedar Park, Allen Mobbs of Monahans, and Rick Hagelstein of Midland served as groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore an A-line formal gown of pink Glo Knit fabric with a sleeveless, fitted bodice and scoop neckline enhanced with a sheer crystal pleated cape.

The mother of the groom wore a formal gown of burgundy chiffon with long sleeves and ruffle accented neckline and a satin belt.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was centered with a silver candlebrum entwined with fresh flowers. The four-tiered cake stood on columns and was accented with wedding bells, doves, and flowers of rose and burgundy color. Ms. Mitzi Owens served the cake and Ms. Beth Stultz ladled punch.

Ms. Leesa Hahn presided at the groom's table which was centered with a nosegay of pink carnations.

Ms. Sherry Gay of Big Lake registered guest in the bride's book.

Members of the houseparty included Susan McKay, Sue McPeak, and Zeed Mercer.

The bride wore a burgundy sundress with a full length coat as a going away ensemble. Their destination was San Diego, California. Upon their return, they will reside at 607 South James, Monahans.

The bride graduated from Reagan County High School in 1976 and Texas Tech University in 1980. She was a member of TSEA, ACE, Kappa Delta Pi (president, spring semester, 1980), and national dean's list. She is employed by Monahans, Wickett-Pyote I.S.D.

The groom is a 1975 graduate of Snyder High School. He graduated from Western Texas College in 1977 and UTPB in 1979 and was a member of Pi Theta Kappa. He is employed by Hughes Tool Company.

Special out of town guests were Laura Richmond, Maude, Oklahoma, grandmother of the bride; Betty Dyer, Iowa Park; Mrs. H. G. Childress and Clay Wyse of Tulsa, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Buck Johnston, Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poteet, Lakeside, California, grandparents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clark and Patti, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hastedt, Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Greenfield, Snyder; and Mrs. G. K. Fambro, Snyder.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in the fellowship hall of the church on August 7. The head table and serving tables were decorated with candelabra with burgundy and pink candles. Burgundy and pink streamers with English ivy centered each table.

opec clout diminishes

The OPEC ministers have gone home from Geneva in a huff, failing to agree on a unified price structure for their oil. This may not be the beginning of the end for the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, but it is becoming harder to fit OPEC into the classic mold of an international cartel controlling the price and supply of a commodity.

Saudi Arabia, the biggest OPEC producer and hence its most powerful member, is willing to leave the scene in disarray rather than give ground on its efforts to set the benchmark price of crude no higher than $34 per barrel. The price hawks in OPEC are willing to do the same rather than accept the $34 figure.

For the time being, this leaves the Saudi price at $32 and its production high enough to sustain the present oversupply of oil on the world market. It leaves the other members to sell their oil for as much as they can get, which is likely to be something less than the $40 to $41 top price which some have been asking.

The oil importing countries can take satisfaction in the prospect that oil prices will remain soft and probably decline on the average at least until the end of the year. The few cents that may be shaved off the price of a gallon of gasoline are less significant than the fact that we will be spared the inflationary effect that results from any increase in the basic cost of energy.

While the Saudis may have had political reasons of their own for their stance at Geneva, their argument for "moderation" in price has always made more sense than the pleas from the OPEC hard-liners that they need more revenue from their oil. As Sheik Yamani tirelessly points out, already OPEC price increases are having bad economic consequences for the importers and spurring their search for alternative energy sources.

The problems within OPEC are no reason to relax that search. The more the industrial nations can hitch their economies to non-petroleum energy sources and the more they can stimulate oil production outside the OPEC sphere, the harder it will be for OPEC to get back into the position of dictating prices and limiting production to sustain them.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Despite all the mysteries of life, one can usually find someone who knows all the answers."

One guy suggested that diapers for newborns should have a warning label that reads: "Warning--Life can be hazardous to your health."

That, at least, would be the indication from a list of stress situations prepared by medical experts who have assigned numerical values of stress to certain circumstances of life, ranging from the death of a family member to a two-week vacation.

Those who collect too many points--called life change units or LCUs--during a specific period may be in for some health problems, according to a recent study done by the experts.

Taking a mate and the associated ups and downs of wedded life can be very stressful, the study indicates. Marriage itself rates 50 LCUs, while arguing with a spouse rates a 35.

Should those arguments lead to a separation, a person adds 65 LCUs. A reconciliation is worth 45 units, while a divorce rates 73.

But even if the marriage is relatively smooth, that doesn't mean there's no stress involved. A pregnancy has been rated at 40 LCUs, while a gain in family nets 39. The study also indicates that when a wife begins or quits a job, that's worth 26, but that figure may change as the effects of inflation increase.

The death of a spouse is rated at 100 LCUs, the highest value assigned to the list.

Not surprisingly, money matters are a major source of stress. A change in finances is worth 38 LCUs, a change in work habits rate a 36, a mortgage in excess of $10,000 is worth 31 points and a mortgage or loan of $10,000 or less is worth 17.

An argument with the boss, rated at 23 LCUs, may lead to being fired, which nets 47 units. Retiring, even peacefully, is almost as traumatic, with an assigned value of 45.

Some other situations and their assigned LCU values include 63 for a jail term, 63 for death of a close family member, 53 for illness or personal injury, 39 for sex difficulities, 29 for son or daughter leaving home, 28 for an outstanding personal achievement, 26 for beginning or finishing school, 25 for change in living habits, 20 for change in residence, 18 for change in social habits, 16 for change in sleeping habits, 13 for vacations and 12 for Christmas.

Persons interested in knowing how stressful their lives are should add up the LCUs for conditions they have experienced over a year's period.

The study indicates that 86 percent of those with a score of 300 or more have also expeienced a number of health problems.

Life is filled with stressful situations. It reminds us of the story about a man's reaction to the stock market falling 20 points in one day.

He jumped off Deep Creek bridge, but he only sprained his ankle.

Complaint Is Usual One

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a familiar complaint that took on new meaning.

Margaret Fifer said in a questionnaire sent by Rep. Doug Walgren, D-Pa., that she didn't think she was getting her money's worth out of the U.S. Postal Service.

The congressman got the questionnaire earlier this month — as much as four years late.

"Miss Fifer said it was sent so long ago, she couldn't remember exactly when or where she mailed it," said Jonathan Delano, Walgren's administrative assistant.

Robert Goddard, a pioneer rocket scientist and the holder of 214 patents, fired the first rocket using liquid propellant in 1926.

the wagman file

by robert j. wagman

WASINGTON (NEA)—Previous columns have traced the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's efforts to fire Dr. Peter Infante, the cancer specalist who heads its Office of Carcinogen Identification.

Infante got into hot water with his OSHA superiors when he continued to advance the position that formaldehyde, a chemical used in hundreds of consumer products, has the potential for causing cancer. That was the offical position of OSHA under the Carter administration.

Infante's expression of his beliefs did not sit well with the Formaldehyde Institute, a powerful industry lobby, or with the Reagan appointees who have taken control of OSHA. In short order he received a letter of dismissal from Dr. Bailus Walker, his immediate supervisor.

The case became a cause celebre of scientific free speech vs. government control, of trade lobbies vs. consumer watchdogs. Infante found influential friends on Capitol Hill. among them was Rep. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who held a raucous hearing on the ouster attempt.

First Walker testified that he agreed with Infante on formaldehyde and had sent the dismissal letter only at the direct order of Thorne Auchter, the Reagan-appointed chief of OSHA. Auchter then came to the witness stand and denied that he had ordered the dimissal. The two men virtually accused each other of lying under oath.

(Walker has since left Washington to head Michigan's Department of Public Health. At his confirmation hearing before the state legislature, he repeated under oath that he had been on Infante's side and had been ordered by Auchter to send the dismissal letter.)

Now Auchter appears to have changed his mind. He informed Infante in a letter that has been described as "conciliatory" that he would dismiss the charges of insubordination against him.

But this story may be far from over. Infante says that he is not up with the developments and will continue his work of protecting the public and particularly the worker."

But Auchter is making it clear that OSHA has reversed the position on formaldehyde that it held during the Carter years. The agency now says that more study of the issue is required—although the government's National Cancer Institute and the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health still say that formaldehyde has been proven to cause cancer in animals and therefore is a potential carcinogen in humans.

Previously we reported that the Reagan administration had found a way out of its bind over the Davis-Bacon Act. That law and several like it require the federal government and federal contractors to pay their workers the highest rates prevailing for their skills in their geographic area.

Davis-Bacon is a particular favorite of big labor, especially the powerful construction unions. But the law has long been a target of conservative groups and big business, who contend that it fuels inflation and perpetuates the power of unions.

The Reagan team came to Washington dedicated to the repeal of Davis-Bacon—until it discovered that it needed labor support on the budget and tax cuts. Labor made it clear that Davis-Bacon would be its price for not waging an all-out campaign against these measures.

This left administration officials in a quandary. Eventually they decided not to seek the outright repeal of Davis-Bacon in Congress but rather to gut the law through administrative changes. Business would be satisfied, they reasoned, while labor would be able to look forward to the undoing of the changes by a future administration.

So, earlier this momth the Labor Department issued some 80 pages of administrative changes in Davis-Bacon in an effort to avoid a major repeal battle in Congress between supporters of business and labor.

The White House was pleased when construction-industry groups said that the changes would correct most of their problems with the law. Union spokesmen expressed no more than the proper amount of outrage.

But it is still too early to tell whether the administration will get away with this attempted finesse.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which has long been one of the leadng opponents of Davis-Bacon, is not at all happy with the White Houe attempt at what it has termed a "political solution." Chamber spokesman Christopher Luis says that his organization intends to "redouble our efforts" to have the law repealed.

at wits end

It came as no surprise to me whatsoever when my mother informed me that I was a week overdue. I've been running a week late ever since.

Everywhere I go, it's the same story. "You should have been here last week when: "(a) the beach was still here; (b) everything was half price; (c) the weather was perfect; (d) Burt Reynolds ate in the dining room; (e) there were no lines; (f) the fish were biting; (g) the cheap rates were still in effect; (h) the regular cook was here; (i) this slot machine paid $15,000; (j) you could park right in front of the door.

No matter where I go or what time I get there, I always miss paradise by one week. What I do arrive in time for is the record for something or other.

Count on me to arrive in Minneapolis dressed in fur skin during the city's first record-breaking heat wave in January.

Or to step off the plane in Florida and hear there's a plague of flies that has just eaten the beach for the first time anyone can remember.

I was on hand for the largest number of conventioneers ever assembled in an elevator at the same time in Denver.

Not to mention the wildcat garbage strike in New York and the first shark to be sighted ever in a motel pool in Michigan where we were vacationing.

You might think there is nothing worse than being a week late for everything. You are wrong. Talking to people who were there the week before is worse.

There's delight in telling you, "Luigi's in Rome was CLOSED when you got there? Then my dear, you didn't see Italy."

Or, "Wesley and I got our mortgage at 8 percent but then that was last week before the interest rates went up to $18\frac{3}{4}$."

When mother was discussing my birth, she said I was born during the bad times for the nation. The bottom had dropped out of the stock market, people were unemployed, bread lines were everywhere. "But the week before was great!" she said.

Et tu, Mother!

When you're rich enough to spend more than you make and get credit for doing it, it's known as "deficit spending."

A really with-it government biggie is known in some irreverent circles as a "bureaucat."

Show us smiling office staffers and we'll lay odds they've found out a goodie about the boss.

Is it a coincidence that there was a lot less student unrest when the only school board anyone ever heard about was a paddle?

You have a splendid chance to develop something different with a potential for profit in the year ahead. All you have to do is use the inventive talent you possess.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Get family obligations out of the way early today so that you will be free to do your own thing. Your day could be spoiled if you feel your independence is restricted. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Instinctively you'll want to be charitable today, provided others don't make you feel you have to be. You'll want giving to be your own idea.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Fraternize with pals today who are as generous as you are. Steer clear of those who are good takers but reluctant givers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Things are not likely to work out too well today where you are too strongly self-involved, but in situations where your concern is more for others you'll achieve what you hope for.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you look for faults in friends today, you'll find them. They, in turn, will find faults in you. If you look for their finer qualities, they'll mirror your actions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Progress in joint venture could be delayed today if you permit nonparticipants to infringe on your time. Post a "workers only" sign to keep out idlers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let emotions enter into important decisions you have to make today. When you emphasize the logical your judgment is splendid.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful when working with materials today that you don't repeat a mistake you once made when you failed to follow directions properly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're socializing with a new acquaintnce today, don't ask too many prying questions. This person may have secrets he or she doesn't want to reveal.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ideas which can be of benefit to the entire family are good today, but there's a possibility you may not garner their support and have to go it alone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you will have to make a decision as to whether you'll work or play. Should you try to schedule both, you may find it mentally frustrating.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Allocate your funds prudently today so that you spend first for necessities and then for luxuries — not vice versa.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be a good listener today. A friend may have a valuable idea but not know how to handle it. You have the wherewithal to bring it to full fruition.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're lucky today in getting others to help advance your personal interests. In fact, they will be pulling strings for you that could open promising channels.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If there is something sizable you want to swing with a large organization, contact your friend who already has his foot in the door. He can help you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Major goals can be realized on time, but it will require all the ingenuity you can muster. Don't be afraid to take chances on your ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In business situations today you may be able to take others' ideas and expand them into something far more profitable. Two possibilities are likely.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Reversing an opinion or a change in judgment works out to your benefit today. The situation or matter involved might include two other people.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Treat serious matters with the respect they deserve today. If your judgment is careless, it could affect you at a future date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be alert for new career opportunities. Extra responsibilities are likely, but the rewards should be worth it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do what you can today to strengthen contacts you deem important. These associations could prove helpful in the times ahead.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You should be luckier than usual today in finalizing matters that have far-reaching effects on others as well as on you. You know what they are.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Initial appearance can be deceptive today, especially in areas affecting your income and security. Something that looks small could turn out to be of great benefit.

Abbott, Stokes United In Chapel Rites

Darlene Abbott and David Wayne Stokes were joined in marriage on August 15 at seven in the evening in the First Baptist Church Chapel. Reverend Ken Branam officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester K. Abbott of Snyder, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Stokes of Snyder.

The altar was decorated with a heart-shaped brass candelabrum entwined with English ivy. This candelabrum was flanked on both sides by seven-arm candelabra also entwined with English ivy. A stand holding the memory candle and two tapers set in English ivy stood to one side.

Traditional wedding music was played by Barbara Perkins. Two special selections were sung by Larry Stokes, the groom's brother, of Shreveport. They were "The Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer." A recording of Kenny Rogers' "Love the World Away" was played while the unity candle was lighted.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza and Venice lace. Venice motifs covered the bodice of the dress. The open neckline and shirt collar were trimmed in matching lace and had matching motifs on collar lapels. Motifs accented the moderately raised waistline and matching lace continued around the waist. Full sleeves with small cuffs were outlined in matching trim. The skirt was accented with matching motifs which descended downward to the hem and outlined around and continued into a chapel length train with matching trim. The front hemline was accented with the same motifs. Her two-tiered fingertip length veil was attached to a Venice lace covered tiara-cap. The two tiers were edged with matching Venice trim. The face blusher was plain net.

The bride's flowers were silk white carnations, blue carnations, and white roses mounted on a white wedding Bible.

In keeping with tradition, something new for the bride was her wedding gown. Something old was a gold heart locket belonging to her mother. Something borrowed was a sixpence coin belonging to her sister. Something blue was a garter presented to the bride by Ann Walton upon the occasion of her daughter's, Marta Hanks, wedding.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of blue qiana with a sheer floral capelet collar and the groom's mother wore a powder blue qiana floor length gown with a sheer floral cape collar. Their corsages were wine feathered carnations.

Theresa Vest, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Kathy Taylor, the groom's sister, was the bridesmaid. Both wore powder blue gowns with ruffled capelet of polyester chiffon. In their hair were combs with blue and wine silk flowers, and they each carried two long-stemmed wine carnations.

Jenny Stokes, the groom's daughter, served as flower girl. Her dress was powder blue and made similar to the gowns of the attendants. She had a matching comb in her hair and carried a basket containing silk wine and blue carnations.

Best man was Carl Stokes, father of the groom. Mark Stephens of Elk City, Oklahoma, served as groomsman. Albert Canon of Snyder and David McCommas of College Station were ushers.

The male attendants wore navy blue tuxedos with white pleated shirts and had wine carnation boutonnieres. The groom wore a powder blue tuxedo with a white pleated shirt and a white silk rosebud boutonniere.

The reception was held in the Garden Room at the First Baptist Church, hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with a blue and wine floral arrangement. A three-tiered cake decorated with white lattice work and accented with blue roses was topped with blue wedding bells. Presiding over the table were Lyndia Allen ad Gwen McCommas.

The groom's table was covered with a beige cloth and centered with an oil derrick music box with appointments in silver and crystal. Mary Beth Justice and Beverly Clements served the German chocolate cake and coffee.

Wine and deep rose satin flower rice bags made by the bride and her mother were arranged to form the letter "S" in a basket stand and displayed at the registery table. The stand was moved to the entrance of the chapel prior to the departure of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Richard Hanks registered guests in the bride's book. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Wayland Walton, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Canon, and Mrs. Albert Canon.

Following a wedding trip to London, England, the couple will be at home in Miri, Sarawak in East Malaysia.

The groom is a 1971 graduate of Snyder High School. He is employed by Halliburton Limited in East Malaysia.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1975 graduate of Angelo State University. She was employed by the Ira Independent School District, a position which she has resigned due to moving to Malaysia.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Northside Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were from Ada, Elk City, Oklahoma City, and Shawnee, Oklahoma; Weinert, Knox City, Lubbock, Levelland, Kingsland, Anson, Midland, Abilene, Ira, Colorado City, and Roscoe, Texas; Blythe, California; and Shreveport, Louisiana.

"The Big Boys" Is A Funny One

THE BIG BOYS. By Max Ehrlich. Houghton Mifflin. 302 Pages. $12.95.

Let us return to those halcyon years — the late 1920s. The stock market was going up and up and up, and it looked like it would do so forever.

Everybody was making money — at least on paper — and greed was the watchword. And that's what Max Ehrlich's novel, "The Big Boys," is all about, greed.

The greedy folks in this book are the president, treasurer and two lesser employees of a bank in a small Massachusetts town. All of them, for various but valid reasons, want to make money, lots of money.

But, as the saying goes, it takes money to make money and none of the four has all that much to spare. So, they do the obvious thing. Since they work in a bank, they are surrounded by money. Why not take a little now, invest it, and pay it back later after it has gone out and multiplied? Not a bad idea, except that taking money that isn't yours is embezzlement, and the penalty for doing so is jail.

No problem, as long as the market keeps skyrocketing. But one day the market becomes perverse. It stops going up. It goes down, and down and down.

Obviously, the embezzlers have to do something to replace the money they "borrowed" before the bank examiners show up. What they do and how they do it is what Ehrlich's story is all about, and it's a funny one.
