SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

BY WACIL McNAIR

I believe it was John Boren of our town who once proposed that a period—say two weeks — be set aside each year for continuous meetings on this and that, the idea being that all of the meetings for the year could be taken care of in one prolonged session, leaving the remainder of the year for people to live and take care of their business, if any.

On the other hand there are those about the country, labor unions in particular, who have set as their objective the 37½-hour week (or has it diminished to 35 by now).

* * *

We hereby submit a compromise proposal. It is humbly suggested that neither the "prolonged meeting," nor the 37½-hour or 35-hour week will solve our problems, but our hope lies in something greater — the 36-hour day.

Our proposal still has some detailed planning that would need attention, but the basis idea already has gained verbal approval of our colleague, Dale Walton, the Rev. Jimmie Nelson and G. C. Coleman. If we had political ambitions, that would be sufficient to constitute a "draft" movement.

But there is no politics in this. So don't turn the page yet.

* * *

Just think of the possibilities the 36-hour day would offer.

With all our mechanization, automation, alteration, taxation, imitation, transportation, communication, etc., we now are confronted with more spare time than ever before, it says in the books and press releases.

But alas, and alack The ideas for helping tide us over and prevent boredom during this time we have saved by utilizing modern conveniences have just about outdistanced the clock on the wall. (Ever hear of a clock being anywhere, except on the wall—in a studio, that is?)

* * *

So, it appears crystal clear that something must give. Naturally, when the inevitable approaches, we must look ahead with a realistic vision. If something's "got-to give" we know that tradition has dictated that it will be the weakest link in the chain.

We are convinced that the clock, in this case, is more vulnerable to attack than anything else.

Leading Young Texans Picked

GRAND PRAIRIE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce named its Five Outstanding Young Texans of 1955 today.

They are:

Bill Allcorn, 32, Brownwood attorney; William Bellamy, 35, San Antonio newspaperman; Dan Eddy, 34, Dallas publicity man for the Salvation Army; Jim Lindsey, 29, Texarkana attorney and speaker of the Texas House of Representatives; and Dr. William McBirnie, 35, San Antonio minister.

The five will be honored in a banquet at Snyder Jan. 21, where Frank Pace, former Navy secretary, will speak.

The selection of five Texans, from 21 to 36 years old, has been made each of the last 16 years.

The average age of the young men named this year is 33.

The citations announced by the Jaycee president E. A. Stumpf, included:

Allcorn: a native and lifelong resident of Brownwood, district attorney of the 35th judicial district since 1950. "Allcorn was appointed to a special assignment in the attorney general's office to be in charge of the investigation and the prosecution of criminal cases growing out of the veterans land fraud cases."

Bellamy: executive administrator of the Express Publishing Co. "In charge of the research and marketing department, promotion, public relations and employee relations departments for both newspapers, a radio station and a television station."

Eddy: state service unit director, state campaign director, state public relations director and associate disaster relief director for the Salvation Army in Texas. "During the past eight years, under the direction of Eddy, the number of contributors to the Salvation Army had increased 150 per cent while the state budget has increased 400 per cent and the number of service centers has grown from 31 to 161."

Lindsey: elected to the House when he was 22. "A proven leader among men with years of experience, he has been called upon by the leadership of the House to serve as one of the floor leaders for the major education legislation of the past 30 years in Texas, thus paving the way for his election as speaker."

McBirnie: "climaxing six years of work in San Antonio, in 1955 Dr. McBirnie saw the membership of the Trinity Baptist Church reach 2,000; the property expand to 5½ acres with seven buildings and the budget attain a new high of $226,000."

Researchers In Tuscon Develop Hybrid Cotton

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 17 (AP)—What is believed to be the first successful attempt to produce hybrid cotton was announced today by two government researchers. They said they used bees to pollinate the new variety.

Researcher R.H. Peebles estimated the increase in the crop's cash value at about $29 per acre higher than regular varieties, if hand picked and $34 if harvested by machine.

The new hybrid, as yet unnamed, was developed in 1954 by Peebles and S.E. McGregor, who work out of the U.S. Beekeeping and Insect Pathological Laboratory in Tucson.

They first produced the new hybrid from two varieties of long staple cotton, pima s-1 and pima 32, in 1954, and tested it in seven plots around the state this year.

Peebles said no plans have been made for commercial production of the hybrid seed. They are leaving that up to cotton growers.

Probe Of CAA Gets Support Of Senators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) said today he has unanimous backing of the Senate Aviation subcommittee for an investigation into the ouster of Frederick B. Lee as civil aeronautics administrator.

The inquiry, expected to begin soon after Congress assembles Jan. 3, may be the first political fireworks of an election-year session.

Lee, a career worker, was asked to step down as civil aviation chief by Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Undersecretary Louis S. Rothschild. Charles J. Lowen Jr., Lee's chief assistant, was named to succeed him, subject to Senate confirmation.

Monroney, chairman of the subcommittee, said in a statement that "the purpose of the investigation is to determine whether political considerations entered into the dismissal of a career civil servant, and whether or not there has been seizure of power by a group-minded clique in the Department of Commerce, in a bid to control all civil aviation."

Rothschild has said no politics figured in the case. He said the Commerce Department wanted a man "better suited in leadership talent and teamwork."

Colorado City Rape Suspects Arrested

COLORADO CITY, Tex. Dec. 17 (AP)—Two youths were charged today with raping an 18-year-old Colorado City mother.

Estes Won't Accept Vice President Post

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17 (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today he would not accept his party's vice presidential nomination under Adlai Stevenson or any one else.

Kefauver, who announced Friday that he was a candidate for the presidential nomination, told newsmen:

"I've made up my mind that I want to be president and I won't accept an alternative. If I am not successful in getting the nomination, I want to go back to the Senate."

The senator said he has not made up his mind whether to oppose Stevenson in the Pennsylvania primary. Stevenson, who was the unsuccessful Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, has also announced his candidacy.

Kefauver said that except for California he hasn't made up his mind what primaries he will enter. Stevenson has said that he will enter the primaries in California, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Florida and Illinois.

Large Volume Of Mail Being Handled Here

Indications are that the postoffice here is having its biggest Christmas season in history, according to Dawson Moreland, postmaster.

Moreland said that during the first half of this month, postal receipts were more than $10,000 By the end of November, total recepts lacked less than $15,000 breaking last year's total, which was a record high. The total for the year in 1955 was $121,137.91.

Letter cancellations have been heavy, and the postoffice may see a new record in cancellations for one day. The office had more than 30,000 cancellations Friday, and the daily total was building up more every day. There had been 29,000 cancellations during each of the two previous days, 25,000 the day before that, and 24,000 Monday. The postmaster said tomorrow is expected to be the peak day, possibly going over the previous one-day reocrd of 34,000. After that time, daily cancellations are expected to decrease.

The special temporary parcel office on West Twenty-fifth Street has been doing a booming business. All packages are picked up there during the Christmas season. While it takes only one fulltime man to operate the station, he is aided by half a dozen men during each morning rush.

Lonely Texan Seeks Spouse From Vienna

VIENNA, Dec. 17 (AP) — A lonely Texan has put in a long-distance call to a Vienna newspaper asking help in finding a wife.

"Put an ad into your paper and somehow send me a bill. Maybe there is a Vienna girl who wants to come to me in Texas," the editors of the Neuer Kurier quoted the Texan, whose name was given as Cecil Weens of Odessa.

"But don't forget to say in that ad that I am a true Texan, tall, blond and weighing 160 pounds."

Neuer Kurier printed the ad on page four of the paper. It said: "American from Texas, tall and blond, wants to establish contact with an Austrian girl. Marriage later not excluded. Letters in German or English to the Neuer Kurier under No. 29636."

PROUD KISS FOR HERO'S SON—Colin P. Kelly III, son of one of the first heroes of World War II, gets a kiss from his proud mother, Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, in Concordville, Pa., after the 15-year-old was presented with his Eagle Scout award, highest honor in Scouting. Young Corky bears a striking resemblance to his aviator father who lost his life after a successful bombing run on a Japanese battleship. Corky plans to go to West Point or the new Air Force Academy.

Fire Fatal To Four In State Rest Home

BEAUMONT, Dec. 17 (AP)—A tragic series of fires, car wrecks and a gas explosion killed 30 people in Texas today and Friday.

Four elderly people burned to death when fire leveled a rest home at Beaumont.

Five Weslaco high school football fans enroute to a big game at Waco died in a headon crash near Hallettsville in South Texas.

In another headon crash near Belton, five more were killed today.

At McAllen in South Texas yesterday, a gas explosion burned four small children to death.

To that toll of 18 dead in four instances of tragedy were added 6 other fire deaths for a total of 14 fire deaths, 5 other traffic accidents for a traffic toll of 15, and death from exposure.

Fire which raced through a 10-room frame nursing home in Beaumont killed Mrs. Emma Harper, 82; Mrs. Malathann Cox, 80; Mrs. O. E. Perry, 76, and Mrs. Annie Kratzer, about 90.

Fire Chief Steve O'Conor called it the most tragic happening in his 37 years' service. Six other elderly residents of the home were rescued. Mrs. Etta Redman, 77, was severely burned. O'Conor blamed the fire on a defective heater.

A. M. Cox, son of the Mrs. Cox who was killed, ran from his home across the street but was too late to save his mother. He rescued Mrs. Redman.

Mrs. Doris Woodall, operator of the home, said her first inkling the place was on fire came when she heard someone calling frantically from the rear of the house about 4 a.m.

The five killed at Hallettsville were on their way to the Weslaco-Hillsboro championship game. They were James Holmes, 48; his wife, Clementine, 46; Robert Martin, 48; his son, Thomasn 18, and a woman tentatively identified as Mrs. Thomas Martin.

Four members of a Greenvile family were among the five killed in the headon two-car crash 10 miles south of Belton. They were Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Love; their sons, Rufus Jr., 15, and Sammie, 13; and Sgt. Joseph Lyvers, 24, Loretta, Ky., a soldier at Fort Hood. Love, 50, was a Greenville manufacturer. Lyvers was in the other car.

Burned to death in fire which swept their quonset hut home near McAllen yesterday were Maria Moncerrata, 9 months old; Maria Moncerrata, 2; Amadeo Mercado, 7 months old, and Eva Mercado, 3. They were children of two families living in the quonset.

Threat Sent To Publisher

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—A 20-year-old Negro professed surprise today at the commotion stirred up by his note demanding $600,000 from John S. Knight, publisher of a chain of newspapers.

Peter Napoleon Williams Jr. said he had "no idea" anything would ever come of the note, but that the plan he thought of "just kept working on me and I had to do it."

He admitted writing the note and mailing it to Knight's residence on Miami Beach, FBI agent Charles E. Weeks said. The note threatened death to Knight's family unless the money was forthcoming and directed the bundle be left on a garage can rack in Miami only about 100 yards from Williams' home.

An FBI agent, posing as Knight, left a dummy package there at 9:30 p.m. last night. Weeks said Williams appeared 11 minutes later, walked past the spot twice and then picked up the bundle and began tearing it open.

He was taken in custody by FBI agents immediately.

Seals Drive Pushed Here

Reminders will be sent out the week after Christmas to those who have not yet responded to the campaign letters of the local Tuberculosis Association.

Along with those reminders, Mrs. Edward Bolger, chairman of the local campaign, urged that those who bought Christmas seals in the campaign use them on their Christmas mailing.

Jim Reed, treasurer of the campaign, said about $1,350 has been received so far from about half of the persons contacted by mail. He added that out of letters sent out, about 500 were returned because the addressee had moved or for some other reason, so about 3,900 persons were contacted by mail.

Replies are still coming in at the rate of about 10 letters daily, Reed said. He added that many residents have not sent replies because of forgetfulness, and he urged that those who wish to contribute to the campaign do so this week. That will help save campaign expenses of sending out reminder cards.

The $1,350 raised so far is almost twice the $716 raised in the campaign here last year.

Closing Days Given On Schools In Area

Five area schools have made plans for Christmas holidays, with closing days ranging from Tuesday to Thursday.

The Snyder schools will turn out Tuesday afternoon, and classes will be resumed Jan. 3.

Three schools will turn out Wednesday and will be back in classes Jan. 3. They are at Ira, Fluvanna, and Gail.

The Hermleigh schools will turn out Thursday and return to school Jan. 2.

Some of the schools are turning out early on their dismissal days.

West Is Seeking To Beat Red Game

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The United States and Britain countered Russia's Mideast political offensive today with a 70-million-dollar offer to help Egypt begin building one of history's greatest dams at Aswan on the upper Nile River.

The two Western powers further assured the Egyptian government that they are prepared to put up more money—possibly another 130 million—to carry forward the project after the first phase of work is well started. This latter pledge is subject to approval by Congress.

The construction of a great dam at Aswan—it would be three miles long, 365 feet high and create the greatest man-made lake in the world—has long been an Egyptian dream. The Western powers have considered assisting in the work for several years but their studies were speeded up by Russia's wooing of the Arab world and particularly by Communist Czechoslovakia's agreement to sell arms to Egypt.

The Western powers decided against engaging in an arms race with the Reds in the Middle East but determined that by economic means they could seek to beat the Russian game. Officials regard the Aswan dam offer as spectacular evidence of Western willingness to work with a Middle Eastern country in building up its peaceful economy and raising the living standards of its people.

By Western standards the lot of the Egyptian fellah, or peasant, whose ancestors built the Pyramids, has been an extremely hard one for 5,000 years.

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., who directed development of the deal within the American government, and British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins, gave word of the offer late yesterday to Abdel Monein el Kaisouni, Egyptian minister of finance .Eugene Black, president of the World Bank advised Kaisouni that the bank was very favorable toward the whole project. World Bank financing at a later stage is essential to carry through the 1¼-billion-collar construction program.

Kaisouni left today by way of New York and London for Cairo, where he will present the Western offer to the Egyptian government of Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser. It was understood that Kaisouni personally was pleased with the offer but the reaction of the Cairo government, which has wanted outside help to build the dam, was not indicated by him.

Russia is reported to have offered to furnish all outside assistance to the Egyptians under a 50-year loan at 2½ per cent interest. Nasser has assured American officials in the past that while he was ready to buy arms anywhere, because of Arab hostility toward Israel, he would not allow a build-up of Communist influence in his country.

France Holds Old Fashioned Voting Drive

DIJON, France (AP) — Provincial candidates in the hustings of France today are waging horse-and-buggy style campaigns that would tax the most ambitious American congressional aspirant.

There are no party dinners, campaign frills, television spots or whoop-de-do rallies out in the countryside. Instead, a candidate has to keep moving from little bistros to small city halls where crowds may number 100 or so if he is lucky.

Furthermore, when the sun goes down the candidate's troubles include a swarm of hecklers made brave and talkative by efforts to drink up the nation's wine surplus.

The Department (similar to a very large U. S. county) of Cote d'Or is now witnessing a real dogfight as 37 candidates stump little villages and towns for five National Assembly seats at stake in the Jan. 2 voting.

With campaign appearences on state - controlled radio stations strictly limited and newspaper advertising considered too expensive, the candidates base their campaigns on public meetings, as many as possible and anywhere you can get two Frenchmen together.

A standout at this kind of grind is a Roman Catholic priest who handles his 79 years as if they were 39. He is Canon Felix Kir, a member of the last Assembly and an ardent salesman of the rich wines and gastronomic delights of his home district.

He is embarked on a noon-to-midnight schedule that will go on right up to election day. And the individualistic French hecklers won't give him any respite because of his age or his collar.

This doesn't bother the sturdy priest, who rode into politics as a resistance hero—he makes much of once being sentenced to death by the Nazis. He heads an independent ticket including three other colleagues.

Challenges Overruled In Duval Indictments

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin overruled challenges to 123 Duval County indictments today and ordered the cases transferred out of the 79th judicial district.

Laughlin, entering changes of venue on his own motion, sent the cases to eight counties from Midland in West Texas to Del Rio on the Texas-Mexican border.

Buildings In Cleburne Are Leveled By Blaze

CLEBURNE, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—An estimated $250,000 damage was suffered in a fast spreading fire that leveled two buildings today on the west side of the downtown square. No injuries resulted from the efforts of 50 firemen battling in 28 degree weather.

Two buildings more than 50 years old were destroyed. They contained a grocery, an insurance agency, a lawyer's office and a meat market.

Firemen from Keene and Rio Vista joined forces with Cleburne fire-fighters to prevent major damage to two additional buildings.

Heart Specialist Claims Ike Regarded As' Out Of Danger'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 17 (AP) — Heart specialist Paul Dudley [illegible] hower "out of danger" from his September heart attack today but cautiously skirted the second term issue.

The chief consultant on the President's case told a news conference that with average luck and common-sense care, "it is possible for the President to live for years and be fully active." Yet he said that "the future is in the lap of the gods."

The world-famed Boston heart expert, who examined Eisenhower this morning, said his patient has made "excellent and encouraging progress" toward recovery. It still will be mid-February, he said before it will be known how the President's damaged heart stands up under increasing mental and physical [illegible]

And the decision on a second term, White said, must be made by Eisenhower himself—not his doctors. The issue, he said, wasn't discussed today.

The news conference produced word that:

1. Eisenhower will not deliver his State of the Union message to Congress in person next month.

2. Because the doctors are recommending more exercise the President plans to go south, possibly to Augusta, Ga., for a fortnight after Christmas. The absence will be broken to return to Washington for the opening of Congress.

3. The physicians have advised for the President a "steadily increasing activity, both physical and mental, up to his full job." It was indicated that he will resume full activities of the presidency about Jan. 9.

White and three other doctors spent an hour and a half at Eisenhower's country estate checking, going over the medical records of the last six weeks, and surveying the presidential future from the medical point of view.

Sitting in with White on the consultations were the chief executive's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder; the assistant White House physician, Maj. Walter Tkach; and Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief of heart services at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

500 Are Arrested In Argentine Plot

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 17 (AP) — Gen. Pedro Aramburu's provisional government has crushed a widespread "trouble-making" plot and arrested at least 500 suspects, reliable sources reported today.

Raids and arrests began yesterday. Tonight it appeared the government's drive had been virtually completed. The sources said many of those arrested already had been or shortly would be released after questioning and probably only 50 to 100 will remain in custody.

The government is expected to release an official report on the conspiracy tomorrow.

Informants said the plotters, planning sabotage, strikes, incendiarism and other "trouble-making" acts, aimed their conspiracy more at embarrassing the Aramburu government than at sparking a revolution.

Most of those arrested had been dismissed from government jobs, the sources said. Apparently the largest number are civilians linked with ex-President Juan D. Peron's dictatorial regime, although some are or were connected with the military and police.

There was no sign of undue anxiety in official quarters and the capital outwardly was normal. Gen. Aramburu spent two hours at the military college this morning and presented diplomas to new officers.

Informants said the conspiracy was a "Nazi-Peronista" plot which began at La Plata, an important city about 35 miles southwest of Buenos Aires and capital of the province of the same name. Several members of the Peronista provincial police were reported arrested there. The arrests then spread to other parts of Argentina.

In their raids, government agents seized a quantity of material, mostly instructions for coordinating the plot.

Aramburu apparently kept in close touch with developments. In the last 24 hours he met three times with the ministers of the armed forces, Vice President Isaac Rojas and Minister of the Interior Eduardo Busso, who controls the federal police.

Gen. Aramburu was installed as President Dec. 3 when he and a group of military and civilian leaders deposed Gen. Eduardo Leonardi the main force in the Sept. 19 revolt which toppled Peron. Peron now is living in exile in Panama.

Leonardi's opponents charged his regime was being infiltrated by "totalitarian influences." He has left Argentina for New York to undergo medical treatment for an undisclosed ailment.

Blanco's Herds Are Culled For Quality

By SAM WHITLOW
Texas Editor, Farmer-Stockman

JOHNSON CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—Livestock herds are culled very closely in this Blanco County region, where some of Texas' fine beef cattle are produced.

"We're culled down even closer than the past few years, and the quality of our herds is very high because of this close culling program," said O. L. Patterson, Blanco County agent.

Most cattle are Herefords. Angus herds are well represented.

Patterson said breeding cattle from Blanco County are sold widely in this region of Central and South Texas. About 14 purebred breeders live in the county.

Recent dry years have brought about wider use of improved management practices on rangelands. Most pastures are being properly stocked in order to prevent serious damage to the pasture plants through overgrazing.

The best permanent pasture grasses are bluestem and side oat grama.

"Our cattlemen are working to get the greatest beef gains for the lowest cost, in order to protect their margin of profit," Patterson said. Good cattle and plentiful pasture are stressed.

Cattlemen are emphasizing the use of high quality cattle and a sound feeding program to build the beef industry that is today in a highly competitive stage.

Cattle grazing the broad expanses of rangeland presents a picturesque view in this rugged and beautiful area of Texas, where some of Texas' best beef cattle are grown.

Just bring me a Rusty-Rinty suit, size six and a big 20-inch baby doll. Kim wants some guns and a holster, a cowboy hat, a big truck and a wind-up train. We have a puppy named Snooks and she would like a rubber ball.
Don't forget to leave our gifts at my Mamaw's house in Breckendridge.
Becky and Kim Tipton

I want a little play house, one that has furniture. I wish you would bring me a doll with rooted hair, also powder and lipstick in a case to carry it in. That is all Santa. We have been real good and we have minded our mothers. I go to school now and am a big girl.
Please bring my little brother a farm set, also guns and scabbard. He also needs a dump truck. He is a good little boy. Bring my little sister Patrese Ann, a baby doll and a new dress. We will put our stockings out so that you can put candy in them Santa Claus, but we do not have a chimney.
Daddy needs a ball so we can play ball and mother a new dress. We will have something for you to eat on the table. Please be good to all boys and girls and help the ones that are crippled.

Athletics Acquire Crimian For Wilson

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics today sent outfielder Bill Wilson to Toronto of the International League as part of a deal whereby the American Leaguers obtained pitcher Jack Crimian.

The A's obtained Crimian from Toronto in October for an announced $50,000 and two unnamed players. The club said today another player will be assigned to Toronto in the near future.

Wilson, obtained from the White Sox in 1954, batted .223 for the A's in 96 games last season.

Indiana University will assist the University of Peshawar in Pakistan to establish science courses for its new Khyber Medical College.

Butler Calls For Probe Of Food Dollar

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 17 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler tonight urged a congressional investigation of what he called the growing gap between farm and consumer prices. He said the farmer's share of the food dollar is at its lowest in 15 years.

"The latest figures (September 1955) show that only 40 cents out of every dollar the housewife spends for food goes to the farmer who produced that food," Butler said in a speech prepared for a Democratic meeting. He added that in 1952, the last year of the Truman administration, "farmers received 47 cents out of every food dollar, which is 15 per cent more than they are receiving today under the Republicans."

Butler suggested that Congress find out who is getting the profits.

Asserting that former President Truman's last budget requested $16,000 for a Federal Trade Commission study of "the makeup of the consumer dollar," Butler said: "The Republican-controlled 83rd Congress not only eliminated the $186,000 for a Federal Trade Commission undertaking any consumer dollar study.

"Consumers and farmers are both suffering as a result of this," he said, "while the 'middlemen' seem to be doing all right. Food manufacturers' profits climbed 23 per cent between 1952 and 1955, while farm income dropped 27 per cent during the same period."

Textdook Adoption Group Is Appointed

A local school textbook adoption committee was appointed last week by the Snyder school board of trustees.

This committee, using an official multiple list as recommended by the state textbook committee and by the state board of education, will head a program of study and evaluation of the books recommended.

In addition to the official textbook adoption committee, the board appointed a textbook study committee from school personnel and a parents advisory committee.

The parents committee will review books for possible objection albe materials, while study committees in various subject areas will examine textbooks in their respective fields. The adoption committee, using recommendations of the two sub-committees, will make final recommendation to the school board of books for adoption.

The adoption committee will be made up of Mrs. Maggie Joines, high school English teacher; Mrs. Jane Casbier, high school speech teacher; J. M. Moffett, high school social science teacher; Mrs. Bertie Machel, high school health, physical education and physiology teacher; Glen Richardson, high school natural science; Hal Battle, high school driver education; Mrs. Theris Pannell, high school junior business; Miss Vera Periman, high school homemaking; Mrs. Elwanda Nall, elementary teacher; Mrs. Lida Rhoades, elementary teacher; Mrs. Mary Devenport, eltmentary teacher; Mrs. Pearl Walker, elementary teacher; Mrs. Nedra Hooser, junior high reading, Mrs. Lois Powell, intermediate reading; Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools; and Frank Wilson, school director of curriculum. All the elementary teachers were chosen for the reading subject area.

There are 35 teachers on the study committee and 46 parents on the advisory committee.

Merchants To Get Aid On Renewals

A total of 330 state store licenses are presently in effect in Scurry County, according to E. R. Trego, district supervisor for Robert S. Calvert, state comptroller of public accounts.

These 330 licenses, however, must be renewed by Dec. 31, if the license holders are still in business here, Trego and William Taylor, a field officer for the comptroller, will be in the commissioners courtroom on the main floor of the courthouse here from 8 to 5 Tuesday to aid merchants with the renewals.

The two men will accept applications for the store licenses, cigarette permits, occupation taxes, coin machine licenses, and radio and television dealer licenses. These applications may be mailed directly to the comptroller's office, but they must be notarized if that is done. If they were turned in to the two men here, notarization will not be necessary.

For each day of delay of payment past the renewal date, there is a possible $25 fine.

Trego said that in addition to the 330 store licenses, the comptroller's office during the past year issued 210 cigarette permits, 20 occupation taxes, and 100 coin machine licenses, as well as 15 radio and TV dealer permits since the new law became effective Sept. 6.

Blanco's Herds Are Culled For Quality

By SAM WHITLOW
Texas Editor, Farmer-Stockman

JOHNSON CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—Livestock herds are culled very closely in this Blanco County region, where some of Texas' fine beef cattle are produced.

"We're culled down even closer than the past few years, and the quality of our herds is very high because of this close culling program," said O. L. Patterson, Blanco County agent.

Most cattle are Herefords. Angus herds are well represented.

Patterson said breeding cattle from Blanco County are sold widely in this region of Central and South Texas. About 14 purebred breeders live in the county.

Recent dry years have brought about wider use of improved management practices on rangelands. Most pastures are being properly stocked in order to prevent serious damage to the pasture plants through overgrazing.

The best permanent pasture grasses are bluestem and side oat grama.

"Our cattlemen are working to get the greatest beef gains for the lowest cost, in order to protect their margin of profit," Patterson said. Good cattle and plentiful pasture are stressed.

Cattlemen are emphasizing the use of high quality cattle and a sound feeding program to build the beef industry that is today in a highly competitive stage.

Cattle grazing the broad expanses of rangeland presents a picturesque view in this rugged and beautiful area of Texas, where some of Texas' best beef cattle are grown.

Comfortable Weather Takes Chill Off State

By The Associated Press

Comfortable weather prevailed throughout the state Saturday in place of Friday's biting winds and chilling temperatures that caused the death of one man and dropped frost over some sections of the state.

The weather bureau reported autumn weather temperatures throughout the state ranging from the middle 50s to the middle 70s.

Clear skies prevailed over the state at mid-afternoon except for partly cloudy in the lower Valley and cloudy in East Texas.

Winds were generally southerly to westerly Saturday from 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Dear Santa:
I want a little play house, one that has furniture. I wish you would bring me a doll with rooted hair, also powder and lipstick in a case to carry it in. That is all Santa. We have been real good and we have minded our mothers. I go to school now and am a big girl.
Please bring my little brother a farm set, also guns and scabbard. He also needs a dump truck. He is a good little boy. Bring my little sister Patrese Ann, a baby doll and a new dress. We will put our stockings out so that you can put candy in them Santa Claus, but we do not have a chimney.
Daddy needs a ball so we can play ball and mother a new dress. We will have something for you to eat on the table. Please be good to all boys and girls and help the ones that are crippled.

Athletics Acquire Crimian For Wilson

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics today sent outfielder Bill Wilson to Toronto of the International League as part of a deal whereby the American Leaguers obtained pitcher Jack Crimian.

The A's obtained Crimian from Toronto in October for an announced $50,000 and two unnamed players. The club said today another player will be assigned to Toronto in the near future.

Wilson, obtained from the White Sox in 1954, batted .223 for the A's in 98 games last season.

Indiana University will assist the University of Peshawar in Pakistan to establish science courses for its new Khyber Medical College.

Butler Calls For Probe Of Food Dollar

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 17 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler tonight urged a congressional investigation of what he called the growing gap between farm and consumer prices. He said the farmer's share of the food dollar is at its lowest in 15 years.

"The latest figures (September 1955) show that only 40 cents out of every dollar the housewife spends for food goes to the farmer who produced that food," Butler said in a speech prepared for a Democratic meeting. He added that in 1952, the last year of the Truman administration, "farmers received 47 cents out of every food dollar, which is 15 per cent more than they are receiving today under the Republicans."

Butler suggested that Congress find out who is getting the profits.

Asserting that former President Truman's last budget requested $16,000 for a Federal Trade Commission study of "the makeup of the consumer dollar," Butler said: "The Republican-controlled 83rd Congress not only eliminated the $186,000 for a Federal Trade Commission undertaking any consumer dollar study.

"Consumers and farmers are both suffering as a result of this," he said, "while the 'middlemen' seem to be doing all right. Food manufacturers' profits climbed 23 per cent between 1952 and 1955, while farm income dropped 27 per cent during the same period."

Textdook Adoption Group Is Appointed

A local school textbook adoption committee was appointed last week by the Snyder school board of trustees.

This committee, using an official multiple list as recommended by the state textbook committee and by the state board of education, will head a program of study and evaluation of the books recommended.

In addition to the official textbook adoption committee, the board appointed a textbook study committee from school personnel and a parents advisory committee.

The parents committee will review books for possible objection albe materials, while study committees in various subject areas will examine textbooks in their respective fields. The adoption committee, using recommendations of the two sub-committees, will make final recommendation to the school board of books for adoption.

The adoption committee will be made up of Mrs. Maggie Joines, high school English teacher; Mrs. Jane Casbier, high school speech teacher; J. M. Moffett, high school social science teacher; Mrs. Bertie Machel, high school health, physical education and physiology teacher; Glen Richardson, high school natural science; Hal Battle, high school driver education; Mrs. Theris Pannell, high school junior business; Miss Vera Periman, high school homemaking; Mrs. Elwanda Nall, elementary teacher; Mrs. Lida Rhoades, elementary teacher; Mrs. Mary Devenport, eltmentary teacher; Mrs. Pearl Walker, elementary teacher; Mrs. Nedra Hooser, junior high reading, Mrs. Lois Powell, intermediate reading; Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools; and Frank Wilson, school director of curriculum. All the elementary teachers were chosen for the reading subject area.

There are 35 teachers on the study committee and 46 parents on the advisory committee.

Merchants To Get Aid On Renewals

A total of 330 state store licenses are presently in effect in Scurry County, according to E. R. Trego, district supervisor for Robert S. Calvert, state comptroller of public accounts.

These 330 licenses, however, must be renewed by Dec. 31, if the license holders are still in business here. Trego and William Taylor, a field officer for the comptroller, will be in the commissioners courtroom on the main floor of the courthouse here from 8 to 5 Tuesday to aid merchants with the renewals.

The two men will accept applications for the store licenses, cigarette permits, occupation taxes, coin machine licenses, and radio and television dealer licenses. These applications may be mailed directly to the comptroller's office, but they must be notarized if that is done. If they were turned in to the two men here, notarization will not be necessary.

For each day of delay of payment past the renewal date, there is a possible $25 fine.

Trego said that in addition to the 330 store licenses, the comptroller's office during the past year issued 210 cigarette permits, 20 occupation taxes, and 100 coin machine licenses, as well as 15 radio and TV dealer permits since the new law became effective Sept. 6.

Higher Defense Budget

In proposing a billion-dollar boost in defense spending for the fiscal year starting July 1 Mr. Eisenhower posed a stiff problem for the gentlemen who inhabit Congress, doubly painful in an election year. Hiking the budget by that much might throw out the tax cut that every aspiring congressman and senator hopes to see.

A tax cut is considered essential, by the outs as well as the ins. In an election year that consideration sometimes outweighs all others, including especially military requirements.

But in this case the President's extra billion dollar proposal would go into the production of B52 bombers, jet interceptors and development of the guided missile program. Now these happen to be the three items in which Russia is believed to be overtaking if not outproducing us, and Russia's revival of the cold war on all fronts should make the most obtuse and determined economizer and tax-cutter aware of the bald necesstiy of looking to our defenses.

Talk of a hold-steady course on defence expenditures, or even possible reductions there, went up into blue smoke when the Eisenhower program was placed before leaders of both parties at the Tuesday White House briefings. Mr. Eisenhower beat Democratic talk of a two-billion hike in defense spending to the punch —or at least by half a punch.

The success of the tax-cutting movement is imperilled, but not necessarily aborted, by the higher military spending program. There are other places where economies can be effected, if Congress wants to get tough with some other departments in an election year.. Most likely target is foreign aid, and some pretty potent members of Congress are outspoken in their determination to throw it out the window. But a great deal of foreign aid goes into the military strengthening of our allies, and Congress is apt to take a pretty sober look at that angle before throwing it out the window.

If the current level of prosperity continues a few more months, it will still be possible to balance the higher budget and cut taxes too.

Package Deal Fails

Only an irrepressible optimist could have thought the United Nations would okay the admission of the 18 nations which have been knocking for admittance for several years, for the "package deal" under which the effort was unsuccessfully made this week had more spikes than a field covered with chevauxde-frise.

The 18 applicant countries include 13 non-communist lands the U. S. was anxious to admit. It was willing to go along on the others too, except Outer Mongolia, which the U. S. properly considers a part of metropolitan Russia and therefore ineligible.

Well, the package deal got through the General Assembly and was handed on to the Security Council, which alone has the power of veto. There, as it had warned, Nationalist China cast its veto against Outer Mongolia. There might have been a chance for the remaining 17, except that Russia immediately retaliited by vetoing the 13-non-communist candidates. The four remaining Communist countries could muster only one affirmative vote, as against the seven needed for approval.

Upshot of this failure was not, in the view of some observers, very favorable to the United States. Its opposition to Outer Mongolia, on the ground that country was an integral part of Russia, set up a roadblock which led eventually to rejection of all 18 applicants. Some critics of Mr. Dulles argue that it hardly made sense to oppose Mongolia when the Ukraine and Byelo-Russia are already members of U. N., and they are certainly integral parts of the Soviet Union.

Thus even in defeat the Communists have managed to make the U. S. look bad, for the package deal was sponsored by our good friend Canada and most of our other allies, and the 13 non-Communist countries thus denied admission could hardly feel very kindly to the U. S. for having touched off a series of actions which led to the exclusion of them all.

Who's Hunting Whom?

WALSENBURG, Colo. (AP)—There's one bear in mountainous southern Colorado who hasn't quite learned his place in the world. He went hunting for a hunter.

John L. Palmer of Trinidad, Colo., camped in the mountains, was awakened when the bear took a bite at his head. He suffered deep cuts, but scared off the big animal before it could do further damage. Palmer was treated at a hospital here, then returned to the mountains to hunt the bear that hunted him.

Record Shows Dulles Has Been Learning Lessons About Russians 'The Hard Way'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Secretary of State Dulles wanted to write a book on his feelings about the Russians over the past five months he could call it "Live and Learn."

In that time he expressed plenty of qualified misgivings that the Russians had changed, but through it all, at least judging from what he said, he still clung to a feeling of optimism that maybe they had.

He went to last July's summit meeting in Geneva, where Presidente Eisenhower talked with Soviet Premier Bulganin and the heads of the British and French governments, a meeting whose startling pleasantness developed the phrase "spirit of Geneva."

When he returned from there, he was reportedly worried the Western Powers might assume wrongly that the Russians had truly softened up and that it was all right to relax a bit. But on Sept. 22, in a speech to the United Nations, he said:

"A new spirit does indeed prevail, with greater flexibility and less brittleness in international relations."

That sounded pretty optimistic, and he still sounded that way 23 days before he went back to Geneva for his October meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the foreign ministers of Britain and France.

On Oct. 4—the Geneva meeting was Oct. 27—he told a news conference he believed the four foreign ministers would make positive progress at Geneva toward the reunification of Germany.

(As it turned out, they made no progress on anything, and particularly they made no progress on Germany. Dulles and Molotov went to Geneva with opposite ideas on how to reunify the country and neither budged an inch to accept the other's.)

The Russians were bothering Dulles nevertheless on Oct. 4, for he told reporters that day he had twice warned the Soviets that Communist shipment of arms to Egypt would not "contribute" to lessening world tensions.

Still, he kept thinking that maybe . . . On Oct. 10 he told the American Legion the Russians had a habit of zig-zagging to get what they wanted, but said he thought world opinion "will act as a compulsion on the Soviet Union to relax its grip upon East Germany and to permit unification."

From the way the Russians acted when Dulles met them later that month in Geneva, world opinion was something which didn't seem to be influencing them at all. Dulles came back from that meeting and reported to the nation Nov. 18.

He said a number of questions were in the air, as a result of the meeting, including this one: "Will the so-called cold war be resumed in full vigor? He still seemed to be hoping for a silver lining for he answered the question:

"We must assume that the Soviet Union will continue its efforts short of war to make its system prevail . . . We can, however, hope that this competition will not entail all the same hostility and animosity which so defiled relations between us in the past."

That hope faded in a hurry.

Between then and now Bulganin and Chubby Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev visited Southern Asia, where they spread pure poison — without sugar — about the West and the United States and Britain.

Yesterday Dulles seemed like a badly disillusioned man. In Paris, talking to the NATO Council of Ministers, he said the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet zig-zagging.

In fact, he said, the Russians seem to have repudiated the spirit of Geneva.

GUIDEPOST LITERARY

OFF THE BOOK BEAT - A magazine in which the governments of four countries, the United States, France, Britain, Germany and Austria, are showing an acitve interest is being planned in Paris.

If and when it appears — the earliest possible issue would be May — it will be called "Music," plus the explanatory "an international musical review."

It is the idea of a French journalist and music critic, Gilles de la Rocque, of the newspaper Ouest-France. He talked it up on trips to Switzerland, Germany and Austria, and suggested it to the cultural attache of the American Embassy in Paris, W. E. Weil, Jr. Now here at the specific invitiation of Washington, he is hunting for writers and editors familiar with the American scene, and studying in general the extent of interest and support likely from American sources.

"We French know about French music, you Americans know about the acitivites in your concert halls, but there's no common medium of communication among us. The publication we would like to develop would cross boundaries; it would be, in tone very serious and very entertaining."

Proposed departments would be devoted to the events of the month and programs of the month to come, church, organ, ballet, and theater, radio and TV music; features on music, musicians and musicology; record reviews, and other topics.

Every issue, to be printed in four languages, would cost about $25,000; rough estimates indicate three-fourths of this sum would be met comfortably by advertisements and subscriptions. In the meantime, the project is being regarded very favorably in UNESCO quarters, and the liaison official here for preliminary work of Ray Green, of the American Music Center.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Hostess Perle Mesta Pinned With Gold Star

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Hostess Perle Mesta was pinned with a big gold star. This was not for her talent at party-giving. It was for her "outstanding contribution in the field of human relations."

The former United States minister to Luxembourg, in receiving the honor from the Women's Advertising Club of Washington, was cited specifically for her unofficial good will world tour where she talked with the heads of many Far Eastern countries and with our servicemen stationed in various far-away posts this fall.

In an interview with a local society reporter who asked her for her definition of "society," Perle decried the dictionary definition which in part describes it as the "leisure class."

"There is no leisure class any more," Perle said. "Society used to be a form of snobbery. But thank heaven, that has changed and is continuing to change. The so-called leisure class is the busiest class these days. And it's a well-known fact that the more you have to do the more you can do."

Mrs. Mesta lectures around the country. The money from the lectures goes into the scholarship fund she created to send Luxembourg students to this country.

Rockefellers Trained By Habit To Shun Public Displays Of Their Vast Wealth

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—There probably isn't a place in town where, on any given working day, you can see a greater concentration of shiny, chauffeured Cadillacs than in Rockefeller Center.

But none of them belongs to the owners of this vast, multimillion-dollar property—the five Rockefeller brothers, grandsons of one of the richest men the world has ever known.

In this city within a city there are more than 1,000 tenant organizations, including some of the world's great charitable and philanthropic institutions, with a multitude of imposing, well-appointed offices.

And into one of these offices the other day came a young college boy. He stuck his head through a door and asked, 'Say, Frank, how much is a haircut downstairs?"

"About $1.25, I guess."

"Heck, I'll wait till I get back to school. It's cheaper there."

The boy too is named Rockefeller.

These three items—the Cadillacs, the philanthropic organizations and the haircut—tell much about the Rockefeller brothers, about the sense of proportion and responsibility with which they live, raise children, work and give. First the Cadillacs.

Among their various garages in town and country, the Rockefellers could easily scrape together several Cadillacs, a couple of Lincoln Continentals, a Bentley, Jaguar and other expensive models. But it is a Rockefeller habit, by training and inclination, to enjoy the luxuries of their wealth in the privacy of their own back yard and leave public displays to others. Besides, they frequently find it more practical to walk, ride a bus, subway or car to their offices.

About philanthropy. Many people give their names and money to causes. The Rockefellers do too, but they happen to work at it. Their sense of community conscience begins with their own behavior and ends with the world. The variety of its expression is perhaps as impressive as the millions that go into them.

The price of haircuts needs to be appreciated against the background of the immense Rockefeller wealth. How much? Nobody outside the family and immediate associates can know for sure and, perhaps, not even they. The brothers aren't given to public estimates.

But being people, people wonder. Thus, a reporter in Indianapolis recently walked up to John D. Rockefeller III, the eldest and shyest of the brothers, and asked point-blank, "Are you a multimillionaire?"

John was staggered. He hemmed, hawed, groped for his poise and finally conceded that one might say he was a "man of independent means."

It was one of the understatements of the age, even funny enough to amuse John's four among other things, chairman of the board of Rockefeller Center, which grosses more than 20 million dollars a year; Winthrop, who presides over a 1½-million-dollar farm in Arkansas; David, an executive vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank; and Nelson, now in Washington as a presidential assistant and before the founder of a personal, family-financed "Point Four" program spending millions in South America.

Among other things, John himself is board chairman of the 60-million-dollar Rockefeller Brothers Fund, through which the brothers give to philanthropes they share in common.

Winthrop settled 5½ million dollars on his divorced wife Bobo. During one of the legal actions, he was asked in court if he would agree his net worth was more than 15 million dollars. He agreed.

"But don't be misled by that figure," a close associate said recently. "Actually, it's vastly higher."

Rockefeller Center, for instance, cost about 125 million dollars to build in the '30s. One may assume it's worth considerably more today, perhaps twice as much. Sole ownership of the common stock has passed from John D. Rockefeller Jr., now 81 and relatively inactive, to his five sons.

As big as this property is, it does not represent the largest single hunk of the brothers' wealth. That still lies in oil stocks in various companies, left them in trust by their father and grandfather.

A not inconsiderable part of the fortune is reflected in the family estate. Each of the brothers has an additional home or apartment in the areas in which they operate —John, Laurence and David in New York; Nelson in Washington; and Winthrop in Arkansas.

But the place they regard as their permanent base, to which they return for family reunions, on the holidays, for weekends and summer hiatuses, is the 3,000-acre Rockefeller estate just north of Tarrytown, N. Y. Despite it's many comforts and emotional ties, the Rockefeller brothers once offered to give it up free of charge to provide the United Nations with a home. But the U. N. preferred a spot in New York City. It was then that their father wrote a monumental check for 8½ million dollars to buy the land on which the U. N. now stands.

The estate, known as Pocantico, has many luxuries and conveniences, none of which is visible to the passing public. It has big, comfortable homes for the individual Rockefeller families. It has a nine-hole golf course, 90 miles of roads, several swimming pools, formal gardens and vegetable gardens, trout streams, riding trails and riding rings, lakes, stables, kennels, guest houses, dairy barns for milking cows and breeding pens for black angus, hay fields, deep wooded areas and acres and acres of well-manicured lawns. In all, it takes more than 100 employes to run the place.

Well, you say, with all this why should any Rockefeller worry about the price of haircuts?

Like their father before them, the Rockefeller brothers were brought up to believe that great wealth was great responsibility. To know that, they first had to know the value of a buck.

As kids, they were held to ample but strict allowances, from which they were expected to allot 10 per cent for savings and 10 per cent for charity. They also were obliged to keep written accounts of how they spent their allowances.

And most of the new generation of Rockefellers are being raised the same way. The less they spend in one direction, the more they have for another. Thus, one will walk to school to save the 12-cent bus fare and another will become a comparative shopper among barber shops.

Reds May Be Practicing 'Political Capitalism'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—An American observer brings back from Moscow a diplomat's suggestion that the Soviet Union today is practicing a "new kind of political capitalism" reminiscent of Britain's imperialism in the reign of Queen Victoria.

This observer, former U. S. Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, quotes an experienced European diplomat to this effect—that the Russians learned a lesson from Victoria's celebrated Prime Minister, Disraeli, who combined politics with capital investment to establish British influence in the Middle East.

Disraeli in 1877 put up the cash to buy Egyptian shares in the Suez Canal. Then the British moved in with their technicians and others to establish control of Egypt.

The Communists today are reported selling arms to Egypt at 25 per cent or less of their cost. The arms may be obsolete for the Russians in the light of today's arms race, but such equipment likely is more modern than anything possessed by Israel or the Arab nations.

In addition, says Benton's informant; the Russians have offered to pay a third of the cost of Egypt's ambitious hydroelectric program, which would mean an investment for Moscow of the equivalent of 200 million dollars. The project would increase the arable land of Egypt by 30 per cent.

With the guns and technical help go the Russian technicians, and the process is repeated in many areas. They move in with highly dramatic and important projects, such as the projected steel mill for India which the Russians are to finance.

Benton quotes this same diplomat as saying that Afghanistan would collapse under Pakistan's boycott if it were not for Soviet money and exports. The same source regards Syria as a critical Middle East soft spot under Soviet political attack.

Benton, who was in Moscow recently as publisher of the Encyclopedia Brittanica, talked to many Western diplomats in the Soviet Union and the satellit countries of Eastern Europe.

"The Russian foreign economic policy is dynamic," a diplomat told Benton. "It is very appealing to peoples like the Egyptians and Indians who are seeking to industrialize. Further the Russians can export capital without having to justify such exports to their taxpayers. This gives them a big advantage in working out these big-time deals."

Display Dramatizes Plan Of 'Open Skies For Peace'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How effective is the military air camera today? Could you really detect a military buildup in another country through photo reconnaissance?

These questions have been raised by President Eisenhower's proposals at Geneva for the exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection as "the gateway to a reduction in disarmaments."

The issue remains very much alive. Many government figures are privately hopeful the Russians will in time agree to the proposals, perhaps when supplemented by further suggestions on their part.

The President's "open skies for peace" plan is strikingly dramatized in an exhibit of aerial photography now on display in the Carnegie International Center here.

It shows concretely how effective the camera has become as an eyewitness from the air. The exhibit, planned by a U.S. government interdepartmental committee, has impressed many U.N. delegates and other visitors.

Just what can photo reconnaissance do? The most impressive single display is a single strip of film 200 feet long and nine inches wide. The strip maps an area of the United States 2,700 miles long and 490 miles wide from New York to Los Angeles.

The strip was filmed in 1948 from 40,000 feet—nearly eight miles up—in less than four hours. The same job could be done today by only two jet planes in less than two hours.

To the untrained spectator such a film reveals little. All he can pick out are mountains, cities, lakes, rivers and some roads.

But when sections of the film are enlarged and checked by trained photo interpretation experts with special instruments and new techniques, they reveal a very great deal.

An example of the speed of the aerial camera: A jet plane flying 500 miles an hour at low level was able to photograph and identify the cards in a poker hand laid out on an airport runway.

Up, over and under with 27 first downs for the Tigers to nine for the Albany Lions, the final results of the regional championship of districts five, eight, nine and ten was never in doubt Friday with a final score of 45-0. With approximately 2,500 people looking on, after the quarter, the Tigers proceeded to pick their way to touchdowns aplenty.

One of the most spectacular and fine Christmas programs ever to be given in Snyder has been announced by the Parent-Teachers Association to be given tonight at the High School auditorium, and is free to all members and guests. Miss Vernelle Stimson, head of the art department, Snyder Grammar Schools, is in full charge of the program, directing every activity.

Three farmers in the Times-Signal officer Saturday afternoon said that Scurry County had the finest season in the ground that this section has experienced in more than 10 years time. "Next year should be a humdinger," said one of them.

Sixty Snyder and Scurry County children have written the Goodfellows for help and cheer at Christmas. All are needy and deserving, with fine response begin giving by the citizens of the section. An appeal was issued this morning to all needy children who have not written to get their letters in at once, and those desiring to donate should please hurry.

The regular state public school attendance law is now in full force. The compulsory period started at the beginning of the fourth month of school. All children between the ages of 8 and 14 must be in school, the allotted time of 100 consecutive days. Unexcused absences are finable offenses and each day of absence is a separate offense.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's possible that there's a steadily increasing television audience among those in the age of retirement.

There are no statistics available to support the theory. Actually it's just a hunch based on the fact that I have heard of three older couples who recently acquired sets and the viewing habit. What interests me is that they're glued to daytime television.

If I had reached the age of retirement I'd be interested in what's happening on television these weekday afternoons. You wouldn't catch me staying up till midnight to see this and that.

Well, if I were sitting before the set these bleak winter afternoons I'd tune to Matinee Theater (NBC-TV Monday through Friday). I've been able to see only three or four of these, but from what I've seen it's one of the best of such programs on TV.

Now comes more good news for daytime viewers. ABC-TV has just acquired 100 feature length British films from J. Arthur Rank. Beginning Jan. 16 they'll come on ABC stations weekdays for two-hour periods.

Among them are such outstanding films as "Hamlet," starring Sir Laurence Olivier; "A Queen Is Crowned," the pictorial report of Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953 with Olivier as narrator; "Run for Your MONEY" with Alec Guinness; and "Beware of Pity," starring Lilli Palmer and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

Any group of 10 films is bound to have some second-raters, of course. But in general ABC's announcement means another break for daytime TV fans.

FIRST OILFIELD installation of National PVC, or plyvinyl chloride pipe, a new lightweight plastic pipe, was made last week at a new TXL Oil Corp. producer near Odessa. George Anderson, right, technical representative for U.S. Steel Corp.'s National Tube division, watches as a crew lays the pipe. The crew laid 2,800 feet of the new plastic pipe in less than an hour and 45 minutes, coupling 90 lengths, one after the other, at a rate of almost a joint per minute. Two-inch plain end PVC pipe was used for the TXL flow line. fittings were attached by solvent cementing. Crewmen, left to right, are George Laird, I. S. Dolen, and L. C. James.

Scurry Well Flowing In New Zone

Trice Production Co. of Midland and Longview No. 1 J. W. McGaha, South Scurry County wildcat, flowed oil at the estimated rate of between 25 and 30 barrels per hour on a drillstem test of the Canyon Reef lime at 6,815-35 feet.

Operator is to set casing on bottom and then perforate, test and complete. It is three and one half miles northwest of Ira and one mile southeast of the Ride (Canyon Reef) Field.

The Trice strike appears to be a separate structure from that which is producing in the Ride field. Location of No. 1 McGaha is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 157, block 97, H&TC survey.

The section at 6,815-35 feet was tested for 32 minutes. Gas surfaced in 25 minutes and oil came to the top in 28 minutes. The flow was run to pits for five minutes. It was during that period the well flowed that the flow was estimated to have been at the rate of between 25 and 30 barrels hourly.

After the tool was closed the drill pipe was full of oil. All of that fluid unloaded either before or while the string was being pulled There were no signs of formation water.

Flowing pressure was between 1,375 and 2,000 pounds. Shitin bottom hole pressure, after 40 minutes was 3,375 pounds. The five and a half inch casing is to be run to bottom. This operation topped the Canyon Reef at 6,795 feet.

It ran a one and one half hour drillstem test at 6,795-815 feet. Gas surfaced in 25 minutes, and there was good blow of gas for the remainder of the test.

Recovery was 75 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud and 500 feet of free oil. The oil unloaded while the drill pipe was being pulled.

This well was drilled as a result of a deal worked up by John W. Ruwwe, Midland consulting geologist. He represents Trice in this area. He retains an interest in the well and in the 640-acre spread of leases on which it was drilled.

Burns Fatal For Fireman

HOUSTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A city fireman burned to death and a young woman suffered critical burns in a fire here early today in a motel cabin.

The fireman was John Christine, 31, an occupant of the motel. The woman is Mrs. Mary Stewart, 20, a divorcee of Memphis, Tenn.

She was carried out of the blazing cabin by Robert Parret, 28, a former paratrooper and occupant of a nearby cabin.

Parret said he was awakened about 2 a.m. by screams from the cabin occupied by Mrs. Stewart.

"I crawled in with a blanket," said Parret, "and saw the woman in a corner. I crawled to her, covered her body and took her out."

Parret said he attempted to enter the blazing cabin again to rescue the man, "but the flames beat me back. I heard him moaning, but I couldn't do a thing. Nobody could."

Mrs. Stewart, mother of Peggy Lee Stewart, 5, was burned over 90 percent of her body. Attendants said she is not expected to recover.

Fire investigator H. A. Burke said the mattress in the cabin was destroyed.

"It's apparent that smoking in bed started the fire," Burke said.

Mrs. Stewart was in Houston visiting her brother, Harry Carmichael. Her daughter is with relatives in Memphis, Carmichael said.

Western Co. Contest On

District Manager H. E. Parsons and Area Sales Supervisor Glenn Holloway of Snyder have announced that the Western Co. is conducting a "December Derby" for its entire area of operations, based on December sales results.

The sales contest between the various operating districts will provide substantial bonuses for the best performance. Parsons and Holloway said that the first prize will go to the district which exceeds its December sales goal by the greatest percentage. Each employe in that district will receive and additional one-half month's salary as an award. The second phase of the contest will provide a similar reward to the district which shows the greatest per cent of increase over its average sales for the past three months.

The Western Co. has been operating in Snyder for approximately six years, and at present has 31 employes in the district. The firm specializes in acidizing, fracturing, rocket jet perforating, grammatron well logging, radioactive tracers and packer service.

The St. Mary's ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie carries more traffic than the Panama, Suez and Kiel canals combined.

The project also indicated production from the Strawn reef while being drilled.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 115, block 1-A, H&TC survey, 2½ miles southeast of Maryneal.

The Snyder Story . . .

THE "66" CAFE STORY

The story of the 66 Cafe on the East Highway in Snyder has been one of a continued growth of business which matches the growth of Snyder during and since the boom.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hodges have owned and operated the 66 Cafe since March 1950, during the peak of the Snyder oil boom, but "we have had the best business this year of any of the years here," he said.

From the crowd of persons in the cafe, not only at meal times, but at all times of the day and night, it is easy to see that the 66 Cafe is one of the most popular eating places in West Texas.

A casual observer could see many of the reasons for the continued increasing popularity of the 66 Cafe as an eating headquarters, but the first-glance observation would not show the many underlying reasons for the cafe's popularity—the real reasons for the popularity.

At first glance any one who passes the cafe, which is located adjacent to the Phillips 66 Super Station on the East Highway, would see one visible reason. At all times of the day and night there are a number of trucks parked in the spacious parking area in front of the 66 Cafe, and it is a well and widely known fact that where where truckers eat the food is good and reasonably priced.

To see the trucks parked there, however, would be only one of the obvious reasons quickly visible to the casual observer.

Once inside the cafe, another first-glance reason for the popularity of the 66 Cafe is its clean, modern appearance--a result of careful attention by the crew of waitresses on duty, and of the regular remodeling of the cafe done each year with the last remodeling job having been completed about three months ago.

When the customer receives an order in the cafe he again sees a good reason why the 66 Cafe is a popular eating place.

Of course, the ample portions of his order would be convincing, and the obvious careful preparation and serving would be more convincing, but the extra attentions to please his taste would be still more convincing.

"Our chef and cooks take a so that it will not only satisfy the customers apetite, but will please his eyes, too," Hodges said.

"But there is more to the full enjoyment of a meal than just good food served appetizingly, and our waitresses make a practice of doing the little, usually unnoticed things that add to the enjoyment of the meal," he said.

One of the practices of the waitresses of the cafe is to give the customer quick and complete service, because "they realize that the customer would not have come into the cafe if he or she were not hungry and wishing to eat as quickly as possible," Hodges said.

Another usually unnoticed attention each customer gets in the 66 Cafe is that with each order served the waitress also brings a table rack of all the different seasonings and sauces any customer might wish to personally apply to his food.

In most cafes the customer has to ask specifically for the seasoning or sauce he wants, but not so at the 66 Cafe.

Those are some of the first-glance reasons for the popularity of the 66 Cafe as a widely known tourist eating place as well as regular eating place for many local citizens who "eat-out" regularly or ocassionally.

The careful and correct preparation and serving of the food to the customer would indicate to the customer some of the hidden reasons for the popularity of the cafe.

The chef of the 66 Cafe, Bruce Taylor, has been employed there for five years. His long employment is an indication that he has succeeded in preparing good food which customers "like to come back to."

Russell Cavet, night cook for the 66 Cafe, has been on the kitchen staff for the past six years, and John Moore, the fry cook has been at the 66 Cafe for the past three and one-half years.

"Our customers are always assured of good food because the cooks are the same, dependable cooks that have prepared their food for several years--not new faces in the kitchen every few days," Hodges said.

Equipment throughout the cafe is the most modern and convenient possible, including all the stainless steel refrigeration and cooking equipment in the kitchen.

A sign which remains over the entrance to the kitchen at all times is a motto of the 66 Cafe, and says "We invite you to inspect this kitchen."

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges own another cafe, the Cactus Cafe on the Garden City highway in Midland, but it is operated by a leasee.

Hodges success with the 66 Cafe is due partly to his long experience in the cafe operation business.

He began his career in the restaurant business 22 years ago, and owned and operated his first cafe in 1938. Since then he has owned and operated cafes in Stephensville, Killene, Gatesville, Brady, San Angelo, Menard, and presently in Snyder and Midland.

THE N. W. AUTRY MAGNOLIA AGENCY STORY

One of the few wholesale petroleum products agencies remaining in West Texas is the N. W. Autry Magnolia Agency, now in its thirty-first year of service to the people of Snyder and Scurry County.

N. W. Autry, owner of the agency, first began working with the Magnolia Pertroleum Co. Dec. 1, 1924, and became the company's agent in Snyder on Jan. 13, 1925.

Most petroleum products are now distributed by Company consignees or company distributors.

At the time there were only two Magnolia stations here, and one of them was a one-pump station located at a general store.

"Then we didn't have much demand for gasoline, but we had a big demand for kerosene, which was used for practically all cooking and much of the heating of homes here," Autry said.

"There was a big demand also for axle grease and cup grease, to keep the wheels of buggies and wagons rolling," he added.

"Now there is no demand for any of those early-day petroleum products and the story has completely changed to where lubricating oils for engines and gasolines are the big volume products now, of course," he said.

Along the years the Magnolia Petroleum Co. has kept ahead of the advancing technology in the motoring industry always producing new and improved products ahead of the parallel improvement in motors and automobiles.

"The company and automotive engineers have always worked together to permit the company to produce fuels two to five years in advance of the proposed engine improvements so that the company can have time to thoroughly test and devise economic production of the needed new fuels," Autry said.

"When cars first started to become popular, the company produced mostly heavy oils that would provide safe lubrication for the loosely designed engines of the day," he said.

"Today most all the motor oils produced and sold here are of the thinnest possible weights, usually 10 and 20 weights, to provide easy lubrication for the critically low clearances necessary in all moving parts of the present day high-compression engines," he added.

Just as the lubricating oils have been improved to meet the new needs of the motor industry, the gasolines have also been improved to give better performance and more power, Autry stated.

In the early days of the Autry agency here, it was a one-man operation requiring the services of only one small delivery truck.

It was an Overland delivery wagon capable of hauling 10 10-gallon drums of kerosene, "and sale of two of the 10-gallon drums at one time was a big sale then," Autry said.

As the products Autry sells here have progressed, his services to the customers have made a parallel growth.

Storage tanks with a capacity of 55,000 gallons are now necessary to provide the bulk-quantities of gasoline demanded by the five Magnolia stations served by the Autry Agency.

A storage warehouse with a capacity of four carloads of oils is also part of the Autry plant here.

Abilene, Port Neches Take '55 Grid Titles

Eagles Crush Tyler 33-13

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—Abilene's smashing Eagles rode with an awesome ground attack featuring the wild running of Glynn Gregory to crush Tyler 33-13 today for the Class AAAA Texas schoolboy football championship.

Gregory roamed for 171 yards and scored three touchdowns as Abilene captured its fifth state title in history.

Only in the last minutes could Tyler puncture the iron-bound Abilene defense, and both of the Lion touchdowns came after fumble recoveries.

A crowd of 30,000 watched the Eagles dominate the game for more than three quarters and register a humiliating triumph that brought to 23 straight the Abilene victory string. It halted Tyler's victory march at 14.

There never was any doubt about the Abilene superiority, and Charley Milstead, the Lions' heralded quarterback, was stopped virtually dead both running and passing.

Aiding Gregory in pulverizing the Tyler line was Jim Welch, who made 86 yards on 18 carries. Gregory ran only 16 times.

Abilene scored the first two times it had the ball, taking the opening kickoff and romping 95 yards to a touchdown, made by Jim Welch in a 2-yard blast at right guard, and then taking a Tyler punt that died on the Abilene 10 and surging 90 yards to another touchdown, notched by Gregory with a 6-yard dash around right end.

A 49-yard run by Gregory touched off the first surge, with the score being made in only eight plays. It required 14 plays for the second one. Gregory converted after the first touchdown but missed on the second.

During the first quarter Abilene had the ball 22 times and rolled up 190 yards on the ground. Tyler had it only six plays and failed to make a first down. Tyler tightened up in the second quarter, and the third Abilene touchdown came with only 1:03 remaining after an intercepted pass. Charley Milsteady's throw was gobbled up by Abilene's David Bourland who scatted to the Tyler 24. Bourland lost 17 attempting to pass, made 1 at left end and then, after Abilene was penalized 5 for delay, pulled the moth-eaten Statue-of-Liberty play to send Gregory racing 41 yards through the Lions for the score. Gregory missed the conversion, and Abilene led 19-0 at the half.

Abilene scored again late in the third period on a 46-yard drive. It was set up by a 15-yard punt return by Gregory. With Henry Colwell, Gregory and Welch doing the carrying the Eagles rolled easily to a touchdown. Colwell made it with a blast from the Tyler 1-foot line. Gregory converted and the score was 26-0.

Abilene used a Tyler fumble for another touchdown early in the fourth period. Milstead dropped the ball on the Tyler 27, and Mike McGinnis fell on it. In eight plays Abilene had the score, made by Gregory with a 4-yard blast at right guard. Gregory converted.

Abilene rolled up a prodigious 351 yards rushing but got none passing. Tyler was held to a puny 52 running but managed for 80 in the air.

Pat Pattison Resigns At Midwestern

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—C. R. (Pat) Pattison resigned today as Midwestern University backfield coach and was succeeded by James Riddle, former Wichita Falls high school, Hardin-Simmons and Ft. Hood Tankers backfield star, Dick Todd, athletic director announced.

Pattison resigned to give full time to the sporting goods store he has operated for some time. He was hired for only one season.

Riddle was discharged from the Army Wednesday and will report for duty at the college Monday.

Pattison played at Centenary in the 1930s. He coached Wichita Falls and Lubbock high school teams, taking Lubbock to two state championships in 1951 and 1952.

Mountaineers Match Games With Texas, Miami, And Furman

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 17 (AP)—Texas, Miami and Furman are new opponents on the 1956 West Virginia football schedule announced today by Athletic Director Robert N. (Red) Brown.

The 10-game card also includes old-rivals Pitt and Syracuse. Those two teams handed Coach Art Lewis' Mountaineers their only defeats this year.

The schedule:

Sept.—22, Pitt; 29, Richmond. Oct—6, at Texas; 13, at Syracuse; 20, at William and Mary; 27, at Penn State. Nov.—3, George Washington; 10 Virginia Military; 17, Furman; 23, at Miami, Fla (night).

Trabert Given Top Net Singles Rank

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Tony Trabert, who won the United States, British (Wimbledon) and French National Tennis championships and virtually every other tournament he entered, today was given the No. 1 men's singles ranking for 1955 by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. ranking committee.

If the rankings are approved by the USLTA annual meeting in San Francisco Ja. 21—usually a mere formality—Trabert will replace Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, to whom he was second last year.

Trabert now is a professional. The rankings are based on 1955 amateur performances.

Hamilton Richardson, a Davis Cup team member from Baton Rouge, La., and Westfield, N. J., was dropped from third place to seventh; veteran Gardnar Mulloy of Denver, the No. 1 player in 1952 and fifth last year, was unranked because of "unsufficient data" and the retirement of Davis Cup Capt. Bill Talbert of New York was signalized by omitting his name entirely.

The No. 1 player of 1950, Art Angelo; Edward Moylan, Trenton, moved up from fourth to third, N.J.: Gilbert J. Shea, Los Angeles; Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., followed by Bernard Bartzen, San Richardson; Herbert Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Sam Giammalva, Houston, and Tom Brown Jr., San Francisco.

Bartzen, runnerup to Trabert in the National Clay Courts Championship and victor over him in the final of the Tri-State-Western tournament, moved up from eighth place, Shea from 10th and Flam from 11th.

Giammalva, tabbed by Trabert as the most promising young prospect for the Davis Cup team, was ranked 16th a year ago. Since then the powerful 20-year-old Texan has won the Eastern Grass courts championship—polishing off Seixas, Denmark's Kurt Nielsen and Shea on the way — then went to the quarterfinals at Forest Hills before losing to Australia's Lew Hoad in four sets.

Thec U.S. Davis Cup doubles team, Trabert and Seixas, retained its No. 1 doubles ranking. Next came William Crosby, Los Angeles, and Robert Perez, Encino, Calif.; and Gerald Moss, Modesto, Calif., and William Quillian, Seattle.

The No. 1 ranking in father and son's doubles went to Dr. J. A. Crane and Michael Crane of Berkeley, Calif.

Below the top ten, the singles were ranked in the following order: Sidney Schwartz, Brooklyn; Grant Golden, Wilmette, Ill.; Hugh Stewart, Pasadena, Calif.; Harold M. Burrows Jr., Charlottesville, Va.; William Crosby, San Francisco; Edward Kauder, San Bernardino, Calif.; J. Allen Morris Jr., Atlanta, Ga.; Johann Kupferburger, South Africa; Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., and William Quillian, Seattle.

Cardinals Announce Training Schedule

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals tonight announced a 46-game spring training schedule which includes 11 "B" games so new Manager Freddie Hutchinson can get a better look at his players.

The Chicago White Sox meet the Birds 11 times, two in Florida and nine on the trip home.

Frank Lane, general manager, said all the "B" games will be played in Tampa, Fla., in the morning. Three will be against the White Sox and eight against the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Opening game of the Grapefruit schedule will be March 10 against the New York Yankees, long-time St. Petersburg, Fla., rivals of the Cardinals.

Chisox, Cards Set Nine Spring Matches

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals will play a series of nine exhibition baseball games next spring.

The Pale Hose and Cardinals will make a junket from their Florida training bases for games starting at Albany, Ga., April 5.

HILLSBORO, STAMFORD IN FINALS

WACO, Dec. 17 (AP)— Hillsboro's Eagles came from behind today to smash down Weslaco 20-7 and gain a state AA championship berth opposite Stamford.

The Eagles, completely outplayed for the first two quarters and behind 7-0 at the half, tied up the game at 7-7 in the third period and scored twice more in the final quarter to win going away.

David Hernandez and Merlin Priddy, the Eagles' lightning fast touchdown twins, pulled Hillsboro together for a second half surge after making only one first down in the first two quarters.

Weslaco scored in the first quarter when W. C. Weatherford drove over from the 1-yard line to climax a 74-yard drive. Weslaco got inside the Hillsboro 20-yard line three more times after that, but could never score again.

Weslaco had the better of it in the statistics, leading in first downs 18 to 12, rushing 221 to 209 and passing 76 to 4.

Weslaco went ahead just 40 seconds before the first quarter ended on Weatherford's drive up the middle. Bobby Lackey, who had set up the marker with a 23-yard pass to Dee Templeton, converted. Lackey completed three passes for 43 yards to keep the drive going.

It was Weslaco's first loss after 13 wins and Hillsboro's 12th straight victory after dropping the opening game of the season to Fort Worth's Riverside, a AAAA school.

North, South Grid Squads Set Drills

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—The North and South College All-Star football squads will start training Monday for their clash Dec. 26 in the Orange Bowl and it seems a sure bet coaches on both sides will look first to their air attacks.

A brilliant passing duel is almost certain to develop in view of the fact the Rebels will have the nation's No. 1 thrower, George Welsh of Navy, the Yankees will field sharpshooting Freddy Wyant of West Virginia.

Bernie Crimmins of Indiana, one of the North coaches, confesses "We'll throw 30-35 passes, maybe more." And he adds he'll be surprised if South Coach Wally Butts of Georgia doesn't call for "at least that many."

3,000 Antlerless Deer Are Killed Out

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—About 3,000 anterless deer were shot in six counties during the recent special shoot, the Game Commission said today.

E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration, said the special shoots were to remove surplus deer but that overpopulation still existed in some areas.

"The excess could be reduced by extreme cold where food is scarce. However, prospects at this time are much brighter for the remaining deer due to greater improved range conditions over the same period last year," Walker said.

Neches Wins With One Second Left

By WHITEY SAWYER

GARLAND, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—Bobby Falgout tossed a 3-yard pass to Noland Adams today to give Port Neches a touchdown with just one second left and brought the Indians a 20-14 victory over Garland and the state Class AAA schoolboy football championship.

The last-second effort was set up after a Garland kick rolled dead on the Garland 45. Gordon Leboeuf and Bobby Leborde formed a one-two punch that carried to the 3. With seven seconds left and the score 13-14 in favor of Garland, Falgout passed to his left and Adams gathered it in in the end zone.

Falgout passed to Joan Goodwin for the extra point, but it was anti-climax.

The game was played before 10,000 on a chill, windy afternoon.

Garland struck viciously in the third period for two touchdowns after a scoreless first half.

Bobby Boyd, Garland's touted back, passed 30 yards to Lowell Baker who stood all alone in the end zone for the game's first touchdown. Boyd ran the point over.

Just over two minutes later, Arthur Douglas passed from the Garland 47 to Baker again. Baker took the pass on the Port Neches 25 and shook free from a tackler to run the rest of the way untouched.

The third period ended with Garland ahead 14-0.

But Leboeuf and Laborde started hammering the Garland line to shreds with powerful, driving runs. Falgout, mixing his plays like a maestro, guided the Indians to two touchdowns but a missed kick looked like the big point.

A Garland Owl kickoff rolled into the end zone and Port Neches took over on its own 20. Leborde and Leboeuf, two of the best backs in Texas schoolboy football today, started a roaring drive to Garland's one-foot line. Leborde crashed it over with just over nine minutes left.

Leboeuf's kick was good.

Garland failed to gain. Lanee Van Zandt and Riley Burnette partially blocked Arthur Douglas' kick, and Port Neches took over on the Garland 35.

Leborde smashed to the 32 and on the next play, Leboeuf shot over right tackle, shook loose a couple of defenders and went all the way. Leborde missed the kick.

With seven minutes left, Port Neches kicked off. Boyd took the ball on his own goal line and ran it back to the 25, where the ball was jarred loose. Allen Williams recovered for the Indians.

Leboeuf raced to the 7 on the same play he scored with earlier. But the Garland line stiffened and held for downs on the 2. Garland failed to gain, however, and Douglas' kick rolled dead on the Garland 45.

Leborde went to the Garland 40. Leboeuf slipped through to the 16, then smashed to the 9. Leborde went to the 5 for a first and goal with 43 seconds left. Then Leboeuf smashed to the 3 to set up Falgout's pass.

Both Leboeuf and Boyd played outstanding defensive football.

Three Tied At Sanford

SANFORD, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—Ed (Porky) Oliver, the Lemont, Il., veteran, and Al Balding, young Canadian PGA champion, shattered par today and grabbed the lead after three rounds in the $15,000 Sanford Open Golf tournament with nine-under-par 201s.

But Don Fairfield, a little known pro from Casey, Ill., shot the day's best golf, a brilliant seven-under-par 31-32—63. He set a course record and climbed one stroke behind the leaders.

Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. slammer who led the first two rounds, shot a one-under-par 69 but slipped to a three-way tie for fourth. He was deadlocked at 203 with Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, and Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Oliver, with a 32-32—64, tied the course record set by Snead Thursday over the 6,205-yard par 36-34—70 Mayfair Inn Country Club layout. Long putts accounted for most of Porky's birdies.

Going into Sunday's final round, four other golfers were within easy reach of first place. Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y.; Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and amateur Doug Sanders of Miami Beach all had 204s.

Mirandi Inks Contract With Baltimore Team

BALTIMORE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles today said shortstop Willie Miranda has signed for the 1956 season and received a "substantial increase affording him the best contract he has had in professional baseball."

Exact terms of the contract were not revealed, however.

Bengals Overcome By Plainview Bulldogs

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 17 — Snyder's still unpracticed Tigers, showing good potential but lacking the much-needed practice they missed early in the cage season, dropped their second District 1-AAA game to the Plainview Bulldogs here tonight, 62-55.

The Tigers started the game in the lead and held it until Plainview tied it up, 31-31, just before the halftime gong. After the half Plainview managed to keep the lead most of the time, and during the fourth quarter, moved on out to its seven-point winning advantage.

Coach J. P. Ward started his team with a zone defense, which worked alright until the Bulldog's Simmons and Peagel started "eating them up" with perfect shooting from outside, a type of point-making which is hard to defend against. When the Tigers switched to man-to-man defense, the Bulldogs then held the advantage on the backboard, with tall rebounders Hartley, 6-foot-5, and Nicholl, 6-foot-4.

At one time, the Tigers were ahead 14-4 in the first quarter, which they ended in a 16-9 lead. The score stood at 31-all at halftime, and Plainview led 45-43 at the end of the third quarter.

Tigers Jerry Taylor and Alan Snead led Snyder scoring with 17 and 16 points, respectively. Taylor was hitting from out front and was driving the ball in, while Snead warmed up on his well-known set shots from the corner. Robert Dabbs, the tallest Tiger, showed up well on rebounds but had too tall a team to work against.

Snyder won the B game 62-41. Coach Verlan Shearburn's charges moved out ahead with a big lead early in the game and never gave it up. Score at the end of the first quarter was 17-5, and the Snyder team led 31-18 at the half. At the end of the third, the Snyder five led 45-34.

The Snyder B controlled the ball well, holding the Plainview B with a press. Tommy Pritchard led scoring for the team with 17 points, most of them close shots. The team appeared evenly-balanced.

Tiger Quint Falls To Mustangs 52-50

Snyder's Tigers outshot the Sweetwater Mustangs from the field Friday night but the Bengals were ice-cold from the free throw line and as result the Mustangs escaped with a narrow 52-50 victory before a near capacity crowd at Tiger Gym.

The game opened District 1-AAA play for both teams.

Sweetwater went into the game heavily favored since she had more seasoning, having played seven games to only two for the Tigers, but the Black and Gold outplayed the Sweetwater lads in every way except at the free throw line.

The Tigers drew a blank at the gratis line, missing all 10 free tosses given them. It was possible for the Tigers to make 20 points at the free throw line, however, since they would have received an additional shot had they made the first free shot with each Sweetwater personal foul.

Sweetwater, too, had difficulty at the free throw line but the Ponies did manage to pour in eight out of 17 attempts that decided the issue.

The Tigers hit 25 field goals to 22 for Sweetwater.

The Bengals never led in the game and only tied the score twice, 4-4 and 6-6 in the early moments of the game but the Snyder lads stayed within striking distance of the Ponies throughout.

The last real chance the Tigers had of pulling the game out of the fire came in the late stages of the fourth period. The Tigers whittled the Sweetwater lead to one point, 47-46, with three minutes to go and had three chances to tie up the score and go ahead on free throws before Sweetwater could score often. But all were missed and the Mustangs managed to hold tenaciously to their slim lead to the end.

The ultimate difference of the game turned out to be the first quarter lead the Mustangs built up, 18-12. The Tigers battled on even terms with the Mustangs through the second and third quarters and then outscored the Ponies 10-6 in the final period.

Sweetwater moved ahead 52-46 before the Tigers came back to narrow the gap to two points on field goals by Ham and Snead, making it 52-50. Snead's two-pointer, which cut the difference to two points, came with 30 seconds to go but Sweetwater managed to freeze the ball the remaining seconds.

A full-court press defense by the Tigers kept the Mustangs rattled in the fourth quarter but the six-point lead was too much for the Bengals to overcome.

Sweetwater held quarterly leads of 18-12, 32-26 and 46-40.

The Tigers succeeded in holding the Mustangs' all-stater, Dale McKeehan, to only 10 points, far below his average of 21 plus per game this season.

Scoring honors for the Mustangs went to guard Jerry Lamm who who was deadly from beyond the foul circle. Lamm pumped in seven field goals and three free tosses for 17 points.

Alan Snead and Milton Ham of the Tigers shared runnerup honors in the game, each canning 14 points. Bubby Meyers with 13 and Carroll Bredemeyer with 12 of the Mustangs were next in line in the scoring with the Tigers' Robert Dabbs following with 10 points.

The Tigers hit an amazing 59.5 percentage of their field goal tries, sinking 25 of 42 shots.

Only one substitution was made in the game. Sweetwater coach Bill Savage used his five starters all the way while Tiger coach J. P. Ward inserted Don McNew for Jerry Taylor during the last half of play, for the lone substitution.

In the preliminary game, the Snyder B teamers outlasted Sweetwater B in an overtime session, 56-44. The game wound up all knoted up at 44-44 and the Tigers broke loose for 12 points in the three-minute overtime period while holding Sweetwater B scoreless.

Free led the Tiger B's with 14 points followed by Bud Morgan with 13 and Tommy Prichard with 10. Harvey was high for Sweetwater B with 12 points.

U. S. Olympic Cage Squad To Be Picked

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP) — One college team, one from the armed forces and the two finalists in the National AAU championships will play a round robin series to determine the American basketball squad for the 1956 Olympic Games.

Col. Harry D. Henshel, Chairman of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee, explained the new method of selection today.

The round-robin series will be played at Kansas City, April 2-3-4. Twelve players and two coaches will be selected for the Olympic squad, which is to fly to Australia about Nov. 8.

The winning team will qualify no less than five nor more than seven for the final Olympic squad. Its coach also will be head coach of the Olympic team.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines will hold their own roundrobin tournament at Louisville, March 22-23-24 to qualify a team for the trials. The college group in the Olympic Basketball Committee has the responsibility of recommending the best college squad. Henshel said the 14-man college squad may be based on the National Collegiate AA champion team plus outstanding players from the NAIA. The AAU teams, limited to 12 men for their tournament, will be permitted to select two more from teams which did not qualify.

Part Of Texas Has Increase In Quail

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—An increase in quail has been reported from some Texas areas, the Game Commission said today.

"We are a long way from restoring quail to a satisfactory status but there is definite evidence that some progress has been made," the commission said.

Improving weather was a factor in the rally. The commission said bobwhite numbers are below normal.

Deer Park-Stinnett Game Is Scheduled

AMARILLO, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Class A football championship game between Deer Park and Stinnett will be played at Borger Friday night, Dec. 23.

Stinnett won the toss here today and elected to play at Borger, which is about 10 miles from Stinnett.

Cotton Bowl Tilt To Be Big Battle

DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—The statistics of the 19 past Cotton Bowl football games indicate that Texas Christian and Mississippi will have a ding-dong battle here Jan. 2.

The team average in the 19 previous contests show that things have just about evened up over the years between host and visiting teams. Texas Christian and Mississippi, champions of their respective conferences—the Southwest and Southeastern—each has a 9-1 record and pack the background to make the statistics come true.

Since 1936, there's been a difference of only 1.7 points between the average score of the host and visiting team, despite an average of four touchdowns per game. The home club has won 15.3 to 13.6 over the years.

First downs are all even in the averages, and the visitors have a rushing edge of 180 yards to 168. But the Southwest Conference, host here for 17 of 19 games and the automatic home team since 1941, more than offsets this deficit with its traditional passing advantage. Southwest Conference teams have a 100-yard pass gain average in the 19 games off the throwing talent of such stars as Sam Baugh, Bobby Layne, Tobin Rote and Doak Walker.

The even-steven statistics show up in pass interceptions (one each per game), in punts (36.5 yards for the hosts against 36.7), and penalties (31 yards for the home team and 40 for the visitors).

For all of this, the host has won 10 games of the 19, with six losses and three ties.

And statistics even predict good weather for the Cotton Bowl game—nine have been played in ideal weather, seven under clear but cold conditions and only three game days have been disagreeable.

And if 1955 statistics are an accurate measure, the twentieth Cotton Bowl renewal will see TCU take a slight edge in first downs and in rushing gains, while Mississippi has the advantage in passing and kicking. Fumbles and penalties will be even.

The score: TCU has averaged 29 points per game this year and Mississippi 25.

So, if statistics and football history mean a thing, the game in Dallas will be crowded with a free-scoring but tightly-fought action on Jan. 2. Too, statistics may not mean a thing, but the form predicts another thriller in the list of exciting Cotton Bowl games.

Martin, Vaught To Hall Of Fame Meet

DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—Abe Martin, TCU coach, and Johnny Vaught coach of Mississippi, accepted invitations today to attend the Texas Hall of Fame luncheon. Their teams play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2.

The luncheon will be at the Baker Hotel Dec. 31 with Rogers Hornsby of baseball and Byron Nelson of golf to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Paul Tyson, coach of Waco High School in the twenties, will be given a posthumous niche.

MR. AND MRS. D. M. COGDELL, SR.
. . . unprecedented philanthropy

Snyder Has Young Debt-Free Church

Although only two years old, the Trinity Methodist Church here, has a debt-free, modern worship center valued at approximately $250,000.

The modern church building was made possible largely through gifts from the D. M. Cogdell family, who helped start the new church in 1953 and made their first substantial contribution toward a new building late that year.

Then, upon completion of the new plant, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cogdell Sr. turned over the deed to the property, a philantropic action which Bishop W. C. Martin said was unprecedented in his 40 years of ministry.

Originally, the Cogdells had given land for the site of the new building, made a cash contribution and had prepared an agreement whereby the church would acquire its new building "at 50 cents on the dollar." Meanwhile, Mrs. Cogdell contributed an $18,000 pipe organ.

Consequently, it came as a surprise to members of the church when Mr. and Mrs. Cogdell presented the deed.

"In the 40 years of my ministry never has such a gift been given by one family, given to the congregation and they move into it and enter into a service of dedication in the opening service," said Bishop Martin of the Dallas-Fort Worth area, who led the dedication service. "That, I suspect, you will write down in your book of remembrance as an experience that you have not had before."

When told by the bishop that there was no ritualistic ceremony for such an occasion, Cogdell stepped forward and said, "I present to you the deed. I think that's all I need to say."

"These friends and their family have been very kind and we appreciate their presence in our worship services," said the Rev. Jack Riley, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, in referring to the Cogdells. "We appreciate their presence when they are here and when they are not here we miss them. It is good that they can be with us on each occasion and at this time.

"I think by your very presence you are saying with myself 'thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Cogdell.' "

Traditions Of Christmas

Hanging a sock on the mantle or Christmas Tree on the night before Christmas is a tradition of long standing, and one which is practiced by every small, and many of the larger, boys and girls today. The tradition dates back to the origin of Santa Claus. Santa Claus' name is a contraction of Saint Nicholas, the patron saint of children. Saint Nicholas, a bishop who lived in the Third Century, was especially famed for his unexpected gifts at the end of each year. It is said he would throw money in a purse made from a sock into the window of some poor girl who had no dowry and therefore little prospect of marriage, enabling the poor girl to become married with the aid of the dowry. Four-year-old Dan Warren, Jr., hangs his sock on the Christmas Tree above, while his two-year-old sister, Martha, watches. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Warren, 3730 Avenue U

Carolling at the time of Christmas is a tradition which dates back to the Thirteenth century which found the rise of the carol written in the vernacular instead of Latin under the influence of Francis of Assisi. Carol means a song in which a religious topic is treated in a style that is familiar or festive, a merry song. The group of carollers above, the Madrigal Singers of the music department of Snyder High School, will go carolling Tuesday night to the homes of shut-ins, and to the hospital bedsides of the sick here Tuesday night. A call to 3-6301 with your address will get the carollers to come by your house sometime between 6:30 and 9:30 o'clock that night, but the call should be made as soon as possible because the singers will be busy. Shown from left are: Roe Lashaway, Kenneth Smith, Ganell Randolph, Doug Smith, Roger Kerbow, Wanda Powledge, Jimmy Pior, Linda Stephens, Ann Porterfield, Charles Roe, Harilyn Ward, and Judy Crook. Another member of the Madrigal Singers, Joyce Blakely, was not in the practice session pictured above.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 6, No. 199 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1955 SECTION B

Just as the first Christmas Tree was the result of a combination of efforts of several nationalities, the tree above is being decorated by children of several nationalities in one Snyder classroom. It is generally believed the Christmas Tree was of German origin dating from the English missionary Boniface, who went to Germany in the eighth century. Boniface replaced the sacrifices to Odin's sacred oak by a fir tree adorned in tribute to the Christ child. Students decorating the tree in the classroom of Mrs. Weldon Kincaid in Central Elementary School above, from left, are: Keith Moreland, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Moreland, 911 Seventeenth Street, American descent; Ellie Contella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Contella, 707 Twenty-sixth Street, of Italian descent; Judy Nachlinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Nachlinger, 2812 Avenue H, of German descent; Amelia Costello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Z. Costello, of Latin-American descent; and Joshua John, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. John, of truely American Choctaw Indian descent. (Lee Watson photographs)

One of the traditions of Christmas which is in no danger of extinction is the tradition of kissing pretty girls under the Mistletoe. It is a survival of the superstitious rites of the British Druids to whom the Mistletoe represented the Balder, God of Light. Mistletoe can be found in abundant quantities in trees along Deep Creek, but it is high up in the tree tops. It is nearer the ground and easier to reach in trees along the Big Spring highway near Ira, and can be reached without climbing the trees. The couple willingly demonstrating the proper use of Mistletoe above, when the subject of the kiss cannot be maneuvered under a piece of Mistletoe hanging over a doorway, are Alan Snead, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Snead, Sun Oil Camp, and Marie Stipe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Stipe, Arah Route.

English Guest Describes U.S. As Land Of Plenty

"It's so vast. Then, too, it does seem like such a land of plenty as well as variety, in food particularly. We have plenty, but there isn't the abundance you find here." This statement was made by Miss Clarice Plunkett of Morden Surrey, "which is on the border of greater London", when asked what she thought were some of the outstanding differences between England and the United States.

Miss Plunkett, who is staying with the W. R. Everett's, 1901 29th Street, for the holidays, is not only qualified to speak on her own country, England, but also on the United States, for since her debarkation from the Ile de France Aug. 15, she has spent over a month in New York City, 12 days on a small farm in Pennsylvania, a week or more in Rochester and Buffalo, New York, 5 days in Chicago, two months in Minneapolis, and a week-end in Rockford, Illinois.

When asked her impression of New York, Miss Plunkett replied in clear, neat English: "Very busy. I like it, but I really felt rather locked in there - the skyscrapers, you know."

As to shopping there she said: "somehow I got the impression your simple cotton frocks were less expensive, and chic, more so than ours." When asked in what clothing line she thought the British excelled she said, "Oh, woolens definitely - you never wear them out, you finally just have to give them away," to which statement Mrs. Everett gave a hearty ascent.

When asked where Mrs. Everett and Miss Plunkett had met, they answered in quick succession, "in Bombay, we were in school together." Mrs. Everett's and Miss Plunkett's fathers were in the British army there, and these two friends. "We have many mutual school chums had become lasting friends in England," said Mrs. Everett, also English by birth, "but we really haven't seen each other since Bombay." "It's great fun talking about old friends," added Miss Plunkett.

When asked about England today, Miss Plunkett said: "I think there is less and less sense of class, but still a little more so than over here. Of course, many of the aristocracy are not rich any longer—heavy duties, you know. But still there is a dignity about them, I think although shall we say they are more friendly: Another thing about England —we all have our gardens, you know, and hedges, whereas in the east part of America, which is more like England as far as scenery and population go, they don't have as many gardens in the back of their houses as we do in our cities. Perhaps they don't have the time to work in them." After a moment's thought, she added, "but really the differences aren't so great between the two people, we have the same language, and same outlook, really.

VISITOR FROM ENGLAND—Miss Clarice Plunkett of Morden, Surrey, England, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Everett, 1901 29th Street, for the holidays. Here you see Miss Plunkett, right, Mrs. Everett, and Mrs. Everett's son in the Everett home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Caswell, 3757 Dalton Drive, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mira Nell Caswell, to Ray McDougald, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McDougald of Trent. The wedding will take place Feb. 5 at the North Side Baptist Church with the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor, officiating. The prospective bridegroom is an employe of Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., while Miss Caswell is employed by Snyder Insurance Agency.

Approximately 45 guests were served blue lemonade and cake squares from a table of blue, white and silver, chosen colors of Miss Smith. Centerpieces of blue carnations and a silver and blue Christmas scene served as decorations.

Mrs. C. J. Smith, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. R. J. Griffith, cousin of the groom-to be and Ruth Wiman, aunt of the honoree, were in the receiving line.

HOLIDAY DECOR—"I don't know what I'd do without Linda's help," said Mrs. Billy Greenfield when asked about her unusual Christmas decorations. Here you see Linda and her mother in front of the Christmas tree in the Greenfield home at 2608 Avenue U.

Snyder Woman Makes Own Decorations For Holiday

"I guess I just love to work with my hands," was Mrs. Billy Greenfield's comment as she showed Christmas decorations she, and her daughter, Linda, have made. Mrs. Greenfield, who lives at 2608 Ave. V, has made several circular felt covers for the base of Christmas trees. "These are all I have left, the rest I have given away," she said as she took a dark green felt one from around her own tree, and brought out another. On these circles are placed sprightly cutouts in varied colored felt. There's a deer, Santa in his sleigh, an angel, a bell, a snowman with a broom, a Christmas tree, candy stick and ball. "I did one in white felt and trimmed in it green felt holly leaves, using small red Christmas balls for the berries. I think that was my prettiest."

When asked how much these felt circles cost she replied, "Well, felt costs $3 a yard, and I get two circles from a yard, so that gives you an idea."

Mrs. Greenfield has also made several small Christmas trees out of chicken wire!

"I take a piece of wire and shape it into a cone, then I either wire it together; or on some I have folded the wire back until it holds. These trees I painted gold, but of course, they could be in any color a person wanted." Mrs. Greenfield has made one tree out of ruffled dark green net, which is decorated with tiny Christmas balls she got off a Christmas tree string. On another tree she has artifical fruit, and on another small square of white net which she stuck through the wire.

"Here's something you might like to see," Mrs. Greenfield led the way into her dining room, where there was a center peice of pine cones on evergreen surrounding a large square green candle. "We sawed the pine cones in two and then just touched them with gold paint." Mrs. Greenfield pointed to the gold center of the cone and the touches around the edge. When asked about the candle she said, "Yes, I do make them. I don't find it hard—I use parafin colored with crayola. I pour this mixture into milk cartons a little at a time. It's not hard to do, and lot's of fun."

One went away with the impression that more important than the ingredients—is imagination! Without that there would be nothing, except felt, chicken wire, paraffin and crayola, and they don't make inspiring Christmas season ornaments in their natural state!

Cosmorama Holds Christmas Party Here

Mrs. Robert Hargrove, Mrs. E. J. Richardson and Mrs. Max West were hostesses for the Cosmorama Club's Christmas dinner which took place 7:30 p.m. on Friday. The dinner was served buffet style with over 50 present, including the husbands of the members.

The tables were decorated with candles surrounded by a swirl of pink crinolin, shaped like a Christmas tree.

Santa Aids Bridge Fans

Having trouble with your gift list?

In a quandary about what to give that guy or gal who has everything?

If your problem pals are bridge players, your gift worries are over. For Santa has come up this year with a brand new bridge table cover that should delight the heart of any bridge fan, and help duffers to become experts.

The new cover is made of white ultron plastic listing in black type the point and nonor count bidding of Goren and Culbertson in front of each player. A booklet on bidding is included in the long sleek black tube which provides permanent safekeeping for the cover.

The bridge table cover was designed by a busy California hostess, Mrs. Burt Holloway, who was faced with the problem of entertaining a great number of important business men and their wives.

Noting that many guest ducked a suggestion of bridge, she tried out the new covers, and found interest picked up at once. With the rules in front of them, even amateur bridge players weren't afraid to take a hand.

Having a buffet-style supper? Serve the first course in the living room so you can put the finishing touches on the main course in the kitchen.

Bessire-Blakely Double Ring Wedding Vows Read

Before an arch covered with greenery and white flowers Emma Earlene Bessire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Bessire, Snyder became the bride of Harold G. Blakely, son of Mrs. J. A. Mayhew, Sweetwater. The double ring ceremony was performed Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Church of Christ in Sweetwater with Guy Caskey, minister, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballernia length dress of white satin and chantilly lace with long sleeves that came to a point over the hands. The nylon tulle fashioned fingertip veil was attached to a matching headdress. The bride wore a strand of pearls and for luck she wore a penny in her shoe; something blue was her garter. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations with satin streamers.

The maid of honor, Frances Reese, wore a light blue taffeta dress with a full skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet. Bob Hammock was best man. Marala Davis lit the candles preceding the ceremony.

Ann Holt sang "Because," accompanied by Barbara Flower, who also played the wedding music.

At the reception, the bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and the cake was three tiered decorated in white and blue. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were the parents of both. Sue Thomas presided at the punch bowl and Barbara Flowers served the cake. Ann Holt presided at the guest book.

For the wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a dark green suit with beige accessories and a white carnation corsage. Following the trip, the couple are at home in Sweetwater where the groom is employed with Haliburton Oil Well Service Co.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended Hardin Simmons University and was enrolled in Hendrick School of Nursing at the time of her marriage. The groom attended Sweetwater High School and served three years in the Air Force.

Christmas Luncheon Held By Young Matrons Circle

"We happened to come across a letter she had written to Santa Claus in a church paper, and so we tried to fill her order." This statement was made by Mrs. Malvin K. Stevenson when asked about the gifts the members of the Young Matrons Circle of the First Christian Church had brought to their Christmas luncheon on Thursday.

The little girl who wrote the letter to Santa is an 8 year old orphan in the Juliet Fowler Home in Dallas who is being sponsored by the women of the Snyder church. Among other gifts, there will be a pair of roller skates, a Ginny doll, toy dishes, a doll bed and doll clothes for her on Christmas day.

Mrs. Stevenson gave the program based on an article dealing with the gifts of the three kings "Frankincense comes from a particular tree. It is processed like maple syrup. Myrrh has embalming qualities and is perhaps meant to be symbolic of Christ's death for mankind. And gold will not rust, nor deteriorate in any way, perhaps symbolic of the Christian faith," she said.

Mrs. Coy Rhoades was hostess for this luncheon attended by 10 members.

Packing a lunchbox? Make sandwiches the night before, wrap them well with transparent plastic wrapping or waxed paper and refrigerate. Put them in the lunch box at the last possible moment

Turkey Dinner Is Held

Four guests were present for the turkey dinner of the Friendly Fellows 42 Club, which met on Thursday night at Mary Lynn's Tea Room, they were, Mrs. J. E. Le-Mond, Mrs. Mary Towle, Mrs. Fred Graham, and Mrs. Walter Scott.

Ever garnish a vegetable salad with cheese carrots? For each carrot use about two tablespoons of a processed yellow cheese that molds easily. Have the cheese at room temperature, of course, so it will be soft enough to shape. Roll the cheese between your palms, making it a carrot shape. Fork tines will make carrot markings. Chill. Before serving, insert a parsley sprig at the top of the carrot.

Debbie, Eddie To Combine Their Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher, who starred together on TV last night, have worked out a design for living to combine their busy careers.

Eddie is host tonight for the CBS spectacle "I Hear America Singing," and he'll belt out a few songs with his talented bride. While preparing for the show, both pointed out that their life together will be harmonious as well.

This was no easy matter to plan. For instance, even though they were combining their talents for TV this week, both were involved in other activities. Eddie was doing his regular twice-weekly TV show, and Debbie was rehearsing for her film "The Catered Affair" with Bette Davis, Ernest Borgnine and Barry Fitzgerald.

What's more, they were moving into their first home, an early American house on six acres of the Pacific Palisades. "I don't think Eddie will have the strength to carry me across the threshhold," Debbie cracked. 'I may have to carry him. Or we might just drag each other across."

Both explained that the reason for their long engagement was the need to work out their busy schedules.

"There was no other reason," Eddie remarked. "We simply weren't seeing enough of each other. We had to work out our lives so that we could be absent from each other a minimum.

BROADWAY'S Dolores Gray has the role of Lalune, the temptress of old Baghdad, in M-G-M's musical, "Kismet," which stars Howard Keel, Ann Blyth, and Vic Damone.

Sam Goldwyn, At 73, Called Titan Of Moviemaking World

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—What pleases Sam Goldwyn, he figures, will please most people.

And maybe he's got something. In 40 years of making movies, he has managed to turn out more fine films, collect more news clippings, set off more controversies, and bank more millions than any other creator in Hollywood.

He's a titan of the movie world, yet one of its simplest individuals. He is one of the toughest men in a cut-throat business, yet one of its most charming. Even the objects of his occasional wrath seem to respect and like him.

Goldwyn talks in accented English that is the source of countless anecdotes and legends, yet makes movies that are praised for their literate style.

You can hear many things about Samuel Goldwyn.

Says Walt Disney: "Sam is a great producer in the true sense of the word. He can be exasperating, but you've got to admire his taste, his courage and his achievements."

Says a former Goldwyn publicity chief: "Sam is a man-squeezer. He gets 150 per cent of creativity out of those who work for him. He'll charm the socks off you; then while you're standing there in your bare feet, he'll step on your toes."

Goldwyn most resembles a free-wheeling capitalist giant of another era. He rose from immigrant boy to become probably the richest man in Hollywood.

At 73, the giant appears to have lost little of his fight. He spent 5½ million dollars of his own money to produce a film version of the Broadway hit "Guys and Dolls." (Because he cannot brook outside interference, he has financed his own films for 38 years. He is the only movie producer who does so—and one of the few who can afford to.)

Goldwyn's latest beef arose when Frank Sinatra refused to appear on Ed Sullivan's show to plug "Guys and Dolls." The producer later termed Sinatra "a great talent, but headstrong."

"The Bishop's Wife" was one of Goldwyn's stormiest pictures. After $900,000 had been spent on filming, he fired director William Seiter and threw away everything that had been shot. He janked the script three times. He made Loretta Young unhappy by telling her not to play the Bishop's wife as a glamor girl: "I don't like those three layers of makeup."

In an argument, Cary Grant asked Goldwyn, "You want me to be happy, don't you?"

"I don't give a damn if you're happy," Goldwyn replied. "You are going to be here for only a few weeks, and this picture will be out for a long time. I would rather you should be unhappy here, and then we can all be happy later."

He has been heard to say:

"Usually when people are happy making a picture, it's a stinker."

Goldwyn carried on a long and bitter feud with Mary Pickford over the old United Artists lot. Miss Pickford built the place, but Goldyn was the principal tenant for 20 years. They shared ownership, but could seldom agree on anything about its operation, including its color.

So for years it was always painted a drab, uncontroversial shade.

Although they squabbled on business matters, Goldwyn and Miss Pickford professed to admire each other professionaly and met on a social level without dispute.

Goldwyn's battles with director William Wyler were legendary. They grew to such intensity that the pair had to reach an agreement: each put a $100 bill on the desk; the first to raise his voice would lose his money.

"It was strange to hear them hurling epithets at each other in a normal tone of voice," a coworker recalls.

Goldwyn has gone through dozens of publicity chiefs in his long career. One of the chores of his publicists was to attempt to separate Goldwyn from what came to be known as Goldwynisms, which infuriate Goldwyn.

"They are lies!" he snaps. "I never in my life said, 'Include me out.' It was dreamed up by two columnists."

Many others doubtless are spurious, Like "This atom bomb is dynamite;" "Anybody who would see a psychiatrist should have his head examined;" "An oral agreement isn't worth the paper it's written on."

But there are some originals. Receiving an Oscar for "The Best Years of Our Lives," Goldwyn praised a long list connected with the picture, including "Hugo Carmichael." He meant Hoagy.

In his 30 years as king of the independents, Goldwyn has made many bad pictures, but also an uncommon number of great ones. His formula: select talented people and draw out their best work.

His film-making credo: "Deal with the masses, but don't offend the classes."

Intimates will tell you that much of Goldwyn's success is due to his present wife, whom he wedded after his first marriage ended in divorce. He readily agrees.

"A lot of men are ashamed to give credit to their wives," he says. "I'm not. She is a great woman."

Frances Howard was an actress when she married Sam 30 years ago. She is still remarkably beautiful. She has a hand in all the policy decisions and many of minor details within the company.

Moviemakers Are Out Looking Again For More New Faces

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—The public may still buy Hollywood's old faces, but the men who make the movies are on the prowl again for new ones.

Not since the early '30s, when sound pictures brought the astounding discovery that many an actor had a voice like a swinging gate on a windy night, have producers gone into the search with such intensity.

The revival of Wampas Baby Stars, which a quarter of a century ago started to stardom Joan Crawford, Loretta Young and Ginger Rogers, among others, is one sign of the trend. Universal-International's million-dollar talent school is another. Paramount's accent-on-youth program is a third.

Don Hartman, executive producer at Paramount, puts it bluntly:

"Unless the motion picture industry finds new faces and soon, it is doomed. The few top stars of today set terms which make it impossible for studios to exist."

One anonymous executive declares:

"Even the public is tiring of the old faces. Take Clark Gable's latest 'The Tall Men.' It's not doing the box office business the studio hoped it would do. Movie audiences today are made up mostly of young people. The old ones stay home and watch Liberace and the fights on television. The kids don't buy a 54-year-old screen lover like Gable, no matter how virile he may appear on the screen."

In answer comes Humphrey Bogart, Hollywood's great dissent-enticing accent.

er. Bogie, going strong at 54, is enjoying his greatest year in the movies. The search for new faces doesn't scare him at all:

"Producers always are trying to throw a scare into us old-timers with that new-faces pitch. The public won't buy it though. And I'll tell you why.

"All these new guys—and girls too—look alike, talk alike and act alike. I see 'em all the time and I can't tell one from the other. Howinell can the ticket buyers"

Even so, other studios are watching the Universal-International talent school experiment closely.

Certainly, no school ever had prettier coeds. Among the current crop are such as Hillevi (Miss Universal) Rombin Carlene (Miss U.S.A.) Johnson and shapely Leigh Snowden, the Convington, Tenn., girl who less than a year ago did a walk-on bit on a Jack Benny television show.

The Wampas Baby Stars back in the '20s and early '30s gave a publicity boost to many newcomers. Publicity men have tried to revive it periodically since but this year the timing was right. Result—the first Wampas in 25 years.

Among the new Wampas stars are Jolene Brand, a girl with the face and figure of an Elizabeth Taylor; Roxanne Arlen of Detroit, a girl with the build and comedy timing of a Marilyn Monroe; and Lita Milan of New York, an Italian-French girl who's got everything Gina Lollabrigida has, including an TURNS MOVIE ACTOR—TV star Steve Allen switched to movies for his portrayal of Benny Goodman in Universal-International's forthcoming "The Benny Goodman Story." He is shown here with Donna Reed, who stars opposite Allen as Mrs. Goodman. A total of 29 Goodman hits are included in the musical biography.

TV Performance Awards Pile Up As Value Gradually Falls

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—There are now, by incomplete count, at least 30 annual awards offered by a variety of organizations for performances in television.

Everybody is constantly saying there are too many and let's cut down or let's have only one that's as big as Hollywood's Oscar. But when the award dinner is scheduled and the invitations issued, nearly everybody files in happily to consume a martini and roast beef.

One can't possibly cover all of them, of course. But there's something fascinating about an award. Thus it was interesting to drop around and chat with Deems Taylor, chairman of the board of judges for the first awards of this season. A total of 28 were granted in the annual Sylvania Awards.

The committee of nine judges viewed kinescopes for days and nights before reaching its decisions, announced at a large dinner last week.

"A word I do not like," said Taylor, "is 'best.' It's invidious. After all, it wasn't a dog show where one could say 'best of breed.' We found so many excellent entries that one would rather settle for the word 'outstanding.'"

The judges, in acting on a wide range of recommendations submitted to them, chose 'the $64,000 Question (CBS-TV) as the outstanding new television series of the year. One woman judge had somehow managed never to see this program before.

"She was fascinated," Taylor said. "She agreed, with the rest of us, that the program is not a study of human greed, as some critics have suggested, but is a study of human nature. It has tremendous human interest."

One surprising thing was discovered by judges in granting an award to The Voice of Firestone (ABC-TV) as the outstanding musical series. It's the only series of purely musical programs on a national TV network, Taylor said. So it couldn't very well lose.

Anne Baxter Says Stars Are Falling Down In Lovemaking

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—Anne Baxter gives a potent reason why today's movie stars only attract a weekly audience of 50 million while silent stars averaged 80 millions week in and week out.

The modern stars are falling down on the job in making screen love, the Oscar-winning actress believes. And it's telling at the box office.

Today's moviegoers get just as much of a charge when the heroine melts into the hero's arms as did Grandma and Grandpa, but nowaways the customers are getting shortchanged by the stars, so says Anne.

"You can count the great love scenes of the last five years on your fingers," declares Anne. "People used to flock to see pictures with memorable love scenes. The balconies of the theaters were filled with dating couples. Now audiences yawn—or giggle — when the heroine and hero go into their embrace. There's no magic.

"A conscientious, caring actor," says the honey-haired actress, "can take the most ordinary words of love and make them sing. But somehow actors don't seem to give a hang any more when it comes to the big love sequence.

"They have that let's-kiss-and-get-it-over attitude, and the audience senses it. If the actors don't believe what they're doing ,the audience won't believe it either.

"Maybe it's because Hollywood has become too close-knit as a society. Most leading men know most leading women. They see each other often and they've all done too many pictures together before."

Anne doesn't consider that a valid excuse.

"Even if they bore each other, two stars should be able to make the sparks fly in a love scene. The old fervor that Garbo and Norma Shearer created in love scenes seems to be gone. Actors make love by rote today. It's all mechanical."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Is there a possibility that major farm organizations will follow the lead of the newly merged AFL-CIO labor organization and become politically active in behalf of their members?

Most farm leaders say "No." At a convention in New York last week where the two big labor groups united, officials declared it was the intention of the new organization to enter politics to the extent, of supporting candidates regarded as sympathetic with the needs of labor.

This political declaration brought protests and criticisms from some Republican leaders.

With one exception, the national farm organizations for years have followed a policy of keeping out of partisan politics. The exception has been the National Farmers Union, which makes no bones about the fact that in recent years it has worked actively for candidates who espoused its proposals and against those who opposed its proposals.

Generally speaking, the Farmers Union has been more closely associated with the Democratic party and its candidates than with the Republican party and its officeseekers. Leaders of the union explain that this reflects the fact that Democrats have been closer to the union's policies than have Republicans.

There have been exceptions to this general rule, however. In the Dakotas, where both the Republicans and the Farmers Union have been strong, there has been a relatively close alliance between the two.

PRESIDENT of the newly-organized Agriculture Workers Council of Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell, and Fisher counties is Henry G. Burchett, Scurry office manager for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office. The council, which got its start with about 60 agriculturists from the four counties, will hold its next meeting in Snyder Jan. 10.

Jersey Club Sets Meeting

DENTON, Tex.—The Texas Jersey Cattle Club's 62nd annual meeting, to be held Jan. 4 and 5 on the campus of the Texas State College for Women at Denton, is expected to be the biggest ever, Arthur Dieterich of Dorchester, president, has announced.

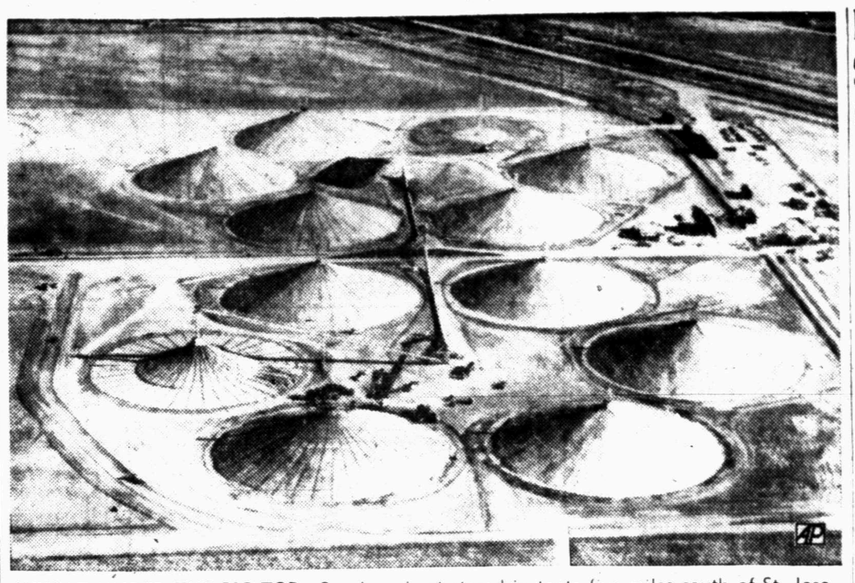

An attendance of 200 is anticipated. This will include leaders in the field of Jersey cattle activities and their wives, groups working with them, and extension specialists in dairying.

A section of the program will be organized around the important part a breeder's wife has in making a dairy operation successful, Dieterich said.

"The Texas Jersey Cattle Club is one of the oldest dairy organizations in the state and has a long history of working for those things that have proved to be good for the development of the dairy industry in the state," Dieterich said.

Veteran Farm Land Suits Are Initiated

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—Six more recovery suits in allegedly fraudulent veterans land sales have been filed by Atty. Gen. Shepperd.

The petitions, seeking $288,489, interest and cancellation, were filed yesterday in Judge Harris Gardner's 53rd District Court.

This brought the total recovery sought by the state close to an estimate made by Shepperd last February of about three million dollars.

The six new petitions brought the state's civil suits in veterans land cases to 30, with total recovery sought at $2,945,381.

Named as promotion defendants in the six suits were these:

Henry Rosenow, a Hudspeth County ranchern John Flanagan, C. O. Watkins and H. M Stalling, all of Zavala County; $69,554.

Bruce Ivey, Stalling, and Paul Little, all of Zavala County; $47,-370.

Kerry Yeager, Frio County; $55,-886.

J. R. Gulick, Little and Stalling, all of Zavala County; $26,504.

Little and Staling; $43,056.

L. V. Ruffin and B. R. Sheffield, both of Brady; $46,117.

Thieves Get Breaks On San Angelo Cars

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Reporter Ed Freitag of the San Angelo Standard - Times was assigned to write a story on how many people tempt thieves by leaving keys in their cars parked downtown.

In 45 minutes he found 66 cars and trucks ripe for picking—including a parked police patrol car.

Fertilization Gets Big Increase Here

A Snyder farm youth has found, in raising a five-acre plot under irrigation and checking use of commercial fertilizer that large increases on yields are possible.

He is Billy Greene, 16-year-old high school junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Green, route 2.

Greene's demonstration plot was on the family farm four miles northeast of Snyder. In his project, he ferulized four acres and raised one acre without fertilization, but with all other conditions equal.

The youth used a 16-20-0 mixture of fertilizer made by Phillips 66 Chemical Co., or fertilizer which had 16 parts nitrogen, 20 parts phosphorus, and no potash. He fertilized the four acres with 200 pounds per acre at a cost of about $10 per acre. Working with Greene as advisors during the project were Billy Bob McMullan and Kenneth Goforth, vocational agriculture instructors at the high school.

The entire plot, that under fertilization and that which was not, was watered five times. One of those times was in April, before the cotton was planted. The planting was done May 30, and watering was done June 27, July 23, Aug. 15, and Sept. 6.

Greene had a much larger per-acre yield on the four acres which were fetilized than on the other acre. The first time over the cotton it was pulled, and the four acre plot yielded 7,099 pounds, or an average of 1,775 pounds per acre, compared to 971 on the unfertilized acre. On the second round, the cotton was picked, and the four acres yielded 4,906 pounds, or more than 1,226 pounds per acre, compared to 754 pounds on the one acre.

The seed yield on the entire five acres was 6,940 pounds, while the lint yield was 3,845 pounds, an average of about 769 pounds lint yield per acre on the entire five acres, or more than one and one-half bales per acre. The seed average was 1,388 pounds per acre.

Gross income on the five acres was 1,523.29, while expenses totaled $945.52, leaving a net of $577.77, or an average net of $115.55 per acre. The expenses included fertilizer, tractor hours, Greene's own labor, poisoning, watering, and other expenses. Greene cultivated the land three times, spent about four hours hoeing, harrowed once, and poisoned three times. Twice the poisoning was done with liquid DDT-toxophene at a cost of about $1 per acre, and the third time it was dusted with 210-40 at a total cost of $9.40.

McMullan said it appeared that the fertilized land made slightly less than two bales per acre to about one bale for the unfertilized. Greene, then, probably got about three bales more on the five acres than he would have had the four acres not been fertilized.

Staple length ranged up to one and one-sixteenth, which is very good, but most was about fifteen-sixteenths, average staple length here.

Greene carried on this project in cooperation with the Phillips Co. and is eligible for a $66.66 award.

An outstanding member of the Future Farmers of America here, Greene has the largest project program of any members, with three calves, two sheep, and eight barrows he is raising in addition to his crops project. He has shown grand champion and reserve champion hogs and calves in shows here and at Sweetwater. He was a member of the chapter's wool judging team last year and is now working out for the chapter grass team.

Hybrid Grain Seed To Go On Market

Hybrid grain sorghum seed is being sold commercially earlier than expected, according to Oscar Fowler, county agent here, who heard reports on the hybrids at a District II Extension Service meeting held at Lubbock Thursday.

The meeting, sponsored by Western Cotton Oil Co., had on its program personnel of the Lubbock Experiment Station, state Extension Service specialists, and representatives of the seed certification division of the State Department of Agriculture.

Fowler said the DeKalb Co., with a seed house in Lubbock, is the first to put any commercial hybrid grain sorghum seed in the field. The seed is selling for $6 per 25-pound bag.

Hybrid grain sorghum, which dates back many years in development, has been developed in elimination of strains from about 1,000 down to the present seven. Field tests may cut those further.

MISCELLANY

By LOUISE BLANCHARD

Two items came in this week's mail which we thought would not only be of interest, but might possibly be useful to you.

The first item was The List of Society, 1956, put out by The National Social Directory. This handsome, white parchment bound, gold lettered, 791 page volume contains, "over 17,000 names of the most prominent families in the nation."

We knew you would be glad and relieved to know there was such a social reference in town, for you just can't be too careful nowadays. For instance, if you are introduced to a couple whom you like, you don't have to wonder anymore whether to have them out to dinner or not. Just give us a call, we'll look them up in the book, and if they aren't in there, they you might as well forget you ever met them. And just think if it weren't for this book, you might waste your time on a couple who isn't socially prominent, a possibility almost too dreadful to contemplate.

Last night instead of wrapping gifts, baking goodies or addressing Christmas cards as we should have been, we buried ourselves in The List of Society, bound and determined we would find one person whom we knew, and after a two hour search we did! Now, it isn't as if we are on first name terms with the Windsors, or have been recently given a $10,000 party at the Waldorf, but nevertheless, directly or indirectly we have come across some pretty high class, and well-heeled families in our day, and with this one exception, not one of them got in the book! All of which makes us wonder just what this National Social Directory committee is using as a guide in choosing who is and who isn't "prominent."

We did run across one clue, though. Under the E's, there was President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and under the H's there was The Honorable Herbert Hoover, but under the T's, there was no Harry Truman. Could it be the publishers are Republicans, or perhaps Harry sent them a letter?

* * *

The second item to come in was a Knowledge and Attitude Test by Betty Crocker. This test "To Find the American Homemaker of Tomorrow" was given on Dec. 6 to interested senior high school girls throughout the country There are 150 questions, both chatty and factual, and we've had a good time going over them, especially since we've also got the answer sheet!

Here's an example of the "attitude" kind of question:

Your neighbor has a new sofa which you think is hideous. When she asks you how you like it, should you:

A. Be polite and say it is lovely,
B. Be honest and tell her what you really think,
C. make some off-hand comment which says nothing,
D. make some comment about how nice it is to have something new.

The answer they give is D. We've thought about this little question quite a bit, because while we agree with the answer, especially since a sofa, after all, is not of great importance, we also disagree! We would hate to think that there were no people left in the world to tell you what they genuinely thought! In other words, when you get right down to it, that question revolves itself into whether or not it's a good idea to tell white lies. Because if you do answer with D, and your neighbor doesn't realize you are evading her question, then to all intents and purposes it is about the same as if you had told her you liked the sofa. We recognize that in one case you are out and out telling a lie, and in the other you are evading, but the result is the same, is it not? Ah me, this is getting very deep, and we'd better leave it to you to continue following the thread of this moral question. Anyway, this we do know, it is nice, although hard at times, to have friends of the B type, whom you can count on to tell you what they honestly think!

There are also many interesting factual questions in this test. For instance, here's a bit of handy information to file away under "When purchasing sheets." Did you know a sheet should be 24-36 inches longer than the length of the bed? Well, now you know!

PENCIL PEOPLE—Cork heads on pencils make gay stocking stuffers or grab bag gifts.

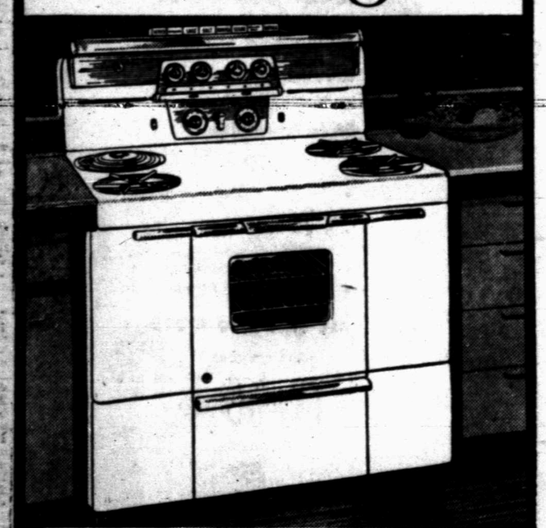

Grab Bag Gifts Made For School

There comes a day before the holidays when Junior and Sis announce they must have a few Christmas gifts to take to the school party grab bag. One inexpensive way out of the situation may be found by visiting variety stores and loading up with cork balls, bits of felt and yarn, pearls, sequins. The cork balls fit on the end of pencils and serve as little heads that may be decorated to resemble characters. Dorothy Flicek designed one with long yellow hair tied in little pink ribbons with a wreath of blue flowers. Eyes are green sequins, mouth a red one, a small pearl is the nose.

Dutch twins hav eblue star sequin eyes and blue hats on blonde hair. Clowns, toy soldiers and even Santa Claus may be made with bits of cotton, thread and other materials.
