Bull's Eye Landing In Sight Of Recovery Ship

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Climaxing a voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 moon explorers came safely home from the heavens Monday, blazing back through earth's atmosphere to a bull's eye landing in the South Pacific within sight of the recovery ship Princeton.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest and most dangerous space adventure when their sturdy six-ton spaceship parachuted into gently rolling seas about three miles from the Princeton.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan landed at 12:52 p.m., EDT. The touchdown was about 400 miles east of Pago Pago, just at dawn in this part of the world.

As the craft descended, its tracking lights blinked in the semidarkness.

The pinpoint landing was a fitting climax to the near-flawless eight-day flight, a final dress rehersal which cleared the way for two astronauts to walk on the moon in less than two months.

"We are in great shape," Stafford radioed.

"We should be right on top of you if you're down there," Stafford radioed minutes before landing.

"I tell you this thing is beautiful," Young exulted.

Television pictures, relayed through a communications satellite, enabled millions of Americans to share the triumphal return of the three astronauts.

Viewers had a ringside seat as cameras focused on Apollo 10 floating down from space, dangling under three orange and white parachutes.

Hundreds of sailors wearing dress white lined the deck of the Princeton and cheered as they watched the stirring sight.

Helicopters spotted the astronauts several minutes before the splashdown and were hovering overhead within minutes.

Within minutes, Navy frogmen leaped from a helicopter. They attached a flotation collar and plugged in a telephone to talk with the astronauts.

Stafford, Young and Cernan traveled 76 hours outward to the moon, circled it 31 times in 61½ hours and raced home along a 54-hour corridor. The flight lasted 8 days 3 minutes.

They logged about 700,000 miles and Stafford and Cernan made man's closest approach to another celestial body, riding a lunar landing vehicle to within 9.4 miles of the moon to scout a landing site for Apollo 11 in July. They rehearsed all phases of a landing mission except the actual touchdown.

Five hours before homecoming, they beamed a final telecast, showing the fast-approaching earth in brilliant color and transmitting their thoughts on their magnificent Odyssey. Stafford summed up the feelings this way:

"I think the future of manned space flight from now and many generations to come is going to uncover many, many other challenges and experiences that we are really incapable of even conceiving at this time."

To reach the Pacific, the astronauts survived man's fastest re-entry through the atmosphere.

Apollo 10 slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere 400,000 feet high at 24,694 miles an hour, was punished by forces nearly seven times the pull of gravity and was blistered by heat of more than 5,000 degrees. The crew traveled 64 m.p.h. faster than the Apollo 8 pilots on their return from the moon in December.

The craft's heat shield protected the craft from burning up and the temperature inside the cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

Before hitting the atmosphere, Stafford, Young and Cernan jettisoned a service module attached to the command ship. The shedding of this equipment bay reduced Apollo 10's weight from 31,500 to about 12,000 pounds.

During the hottest, fastest part of re-entry, radio communications from the speeding vehicle were blacked out for about three minutes.

Right after blackout ended, two recovery force planes and the Princeton reported radar contact with the spaceship.

Minutes later, the ship, dangling under its parachutes, came within view of the ship.

The thickening atmosphere braked the speed, making it possible for three small parachutes to pop out and stabilize the spacecraft. Ships and planes quickly picked up the descending ship on radar.

At 10,000 feet, the three main 83.5-foot chutes blossomed majestically and Apollo 10 floated gently downward into the Pacific at a comparative snail's pace of 22 m.p.h.

Three hours before re-entry, the astronauts fired thrusters for 6.6 seconds to make a slight course adjustment that zeroed them in on the landing site.

S-H-A-V-E In Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had tried to before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for a while," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates' beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the shorn bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Staford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers - which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere — somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

Many astronauts have complained about their itchy beards bothering them in space.

When they broke out the shaving equipment Sunday, Stafford only hinted at what they were doing, calling it "scientific experiment Sugar Hotel Alpha Victor Echo."

Sudan Puts Leftist In After Coup

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A leftist government was installed in Sudan Sunday after an apparently bloodless coup by a group of Colonels.

The officers overthrew a civilian regime headed by President Ismail el Azhari and Premier Mohammed A. Mahgoub and vested supreme power in a National Revolutionary Council headed by Col. Jaafar al Numairi, the army said in a broadcast.

The council banned public gatherings, closed all banks, suspended newspaper publication, annulled the 1954 provisional consitution, and dissolved the cabinet and the constitutional assembly. Airports were closed but reopened Sunday night.

Numairi, a former defense minister, was described by sources in Damascus as an extreme leftist. The sources said the new leaders in Sudan are leftist Socialists or Communists and that their government would probably follow political and economic policies similar to those of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Sudanese radio said the revolutionary council had promoted Numairi to major general, named him commander in chief of the armed forces and reappointed him defense minister in a new 19-man cabinet. The new premier is Babakar Awadallah, also regarded as left-leading, who resigned as Sudan's chief justice in 1964.

There was no immediate word of the whereabouts of the ousted president and premier. Gen. Hamadallah Deif el Nil, the ousted army chief of staff, was reported on the run but later announced he had given himself up.

The new premier said in a broadcast to the nation that his regime is determined to do away with "bickering political parties" and set Sudan "on the road to freedom and socialism."

Ray Makes Bid For Full Trail

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray makes his bid today for a full trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.—a crime he admitted with a guilty plea 11 weeks ago.

J. B. Stoner a member of Ray's third team of lawyers, said he was prepared to put his client on the witness stand if developments at a criminal court hearing permitted.

Ray, serving 99 years in the Nashville state prison, was brought to Memphis Thursday and had since been held under heavy security precautions in the county jail.

A witness stand appearance by the 41-year-old prisoner would have interesting possibilities. At the time of his guilty plea his then lawyer, Percy Foreman, expressed in court a personal conviction that there was no conspiracy in the April 1968 King assassination. Ray said "I don't agree," but did not elaborate.

Ray is asking a new deal in court on the grounds that his former attorneys did not provide him with adequate counsel and pressured him into guilty plea. He also contends the subsequent death of Judge W. Preston Battle, who accepted the plea, guarantees him a new trial. The presiding judge for today's hearing, Arthur Faquin, will decide whether the case should be reopened and whether to allow any testimony.

Ray wrote Judge Battle two letters from prison asking for a new hearing. Battle died in late March without acting on the requests.

Ray asserted that Foreman, his second attorney, and a previous lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes, wanted him to circumvent a full-scale trial through a guilty plea so their royalties from books and motion pictures on his life would not be jeopardized.

He argued that if he had gone to trial, the facts in the case would have become court record and, therefore, would have been open to all parties wanting to write about them.

The prosecution has stood firm on the position that Ray closed the possibility of an appeal or new trial when he pleaded guilty.

Battle's death introduced a new factor. Under state law, when a judge dies with a motion for a new trial in his possessions, such a trial usually must be granted.

Seniors Told To Accept Responsibility

Snyder High School seniors of 1969 were urged last night to accept the various responsibilities that come with adulthood.

The Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, was the speaker at the Baccalaureate service held in the Scurry County Coliseum. The commencement program is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday in the coliseum.

Rev. Robinson reminded the seniors that they were put on earth for a purpose and that they must be productive to live up to their responsibilities. They also have responsibilities to the nation and to God, Rev. Robinson declared, noting that patriotism is not merely the reciting of the pledge of allegiance, waving a flag or popping fire crackers on the Fourth of July.

The Snyder High School A Cappella Choir presented special music, under direction of J. D. Smith. The Rev. O. J. Archie, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, gave the invocation, and the Rev. Herman Valladares, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, the benediction. Ralph Wesson, organist, played processional and recessional music as the class of over 200 seniors entered and departed the coliseum arena.

Showers In Area Vary

An early-morning thunderstorm rumbled around the Snyder area, dropping varying amounts of moisture.

Rainfall in Snyder ranged from almost an inch to virtually nothing from west to east. Showers to the north and northeast were some heavier and rains up to 1½ inches were reported in the Dunn area in South Scurry County. Snyder had an official .16 inch at the city water plant.

Lake J. B. Thomas had .6 inch of rain at the Snyder station at the dam. No runoff was reported from either the Colorado River of Bull Creek.

The thunderstorm here apparently was part of a system which led to a severe weather warning in the Midland area. However, the warning was called off by the Weather Bureau after daybreak.

More showers were predicted today for West and North Central Texas and warm days are in prospect, according to the Weather Bureau.

Accident Claims One

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP) — Ronald George Boren, 21, of Monahans was killed Saturday in an industrial accident near this West Texas town.

Boren, who worked for an oil field servicing company, was opening a valve when a connection blew off and struck him, a company official said. He was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

New US Offensives Result In Heavy Enemy Losses

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced two new American offensives in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces and said they were aimed at "capturing or destroying enemy forces, material and installations."

The two new drives have accounted for 142 North Vietnamese soldiers killed since they began, one 18 days ago, the other 11 days ago, U.S. Headquarters said. U.S. casualties were put at 28 killed and 134 wounded.

The command said announcement of the operations were withheld for security reasons.

One of the offensives, Operation Lamar Plain, was launched May 16 by hundreds of paratroopers from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in jungled foothills 45 miles south of Da Nang. It is aimed at taking pressure off the important provincial capital of Tam Ky, around which there has been heavy fighting in recent weeks. The U.S. Command said 113 North Vietnamese and 26 paratroopers have been killed, and 102 paratroopers wounded.

In the second drive, about 1,000 U.S. Marines from the 3rd Division are checking an area north-northeast of the abandoned combat base of Khe Sanh about 18 miles east of the Laotian border and 10 miles below the Demilitarized Zone.

Dubbed Operation Herkimer Mountain, it has produced little significant results since it was launched May 9. The U.S. Command reported 29 North Vietnamese killed and said U.S. casualties have been two killed and 32 wounded.

The U.S. Command also reported 26 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Sunday night but said only 10 caused casualties or damage and these were light. The Command also reported two more American helicopters shot down, with seven Americans wounded. This raised to 2,678 the number of American helicopters reported lost in the war.

Allied sources reported today that casualties in the war last week included about 300 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese and 4,000 of the enemy, according to preliminary reports.

As the controversy in the United States over American casualties continued, the U.S. Command in Saigon announced that more than 40 of the enemy were killed for every allied soldier during a 24-hour period of the weekend. But battlefield reports gave a ratio Saturday and Sunday of 24 to one, with 436 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, 12 Americans and six South Vietnamese killed. Anoth-

Senate OK Seen On Missile Defense

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON AP) — After weeks of selling, the Nixon administration now believes it has the commitments necessary for Senate approval of the Safeguard antimissile system.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he is confident "the votes will be there" when the issue comes before the Senate, possibly next month.

Although Dirksen said he knows of two switches among Republicans who came out early against ABM but have had second thoughts, he declined to mention any names or to deal in numbers.

He declined also to name any of those who had switched from the uncommitted column to the administration side.

"This is a delicate matter and I'm not going to put anybody on the spot," Dirksen said.

The administration's previous poll showed 44 senators committed to vote for Safeguard, but 46 committed against. That meant it needed six more votes, plus that of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who can vote only if there is a tie, if all Senators answer a roll call.

But the Senate seldom marshals all of its members for such votes. Illness or prior commitments often keep some away. If a couple of GOP opponents found it convenient to be absent, the administration would regard that action as satisfactory.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana seemed to have some such situation in mind when he said in a weekend interview that if the administration puts on pressure it could win by a margin of one to three votes.

Despite Mansfield's contention that this might be a Pyrrhic victory—worth less than it cost—the administration's attiude appears to be that it will take any kind of victory it can get. Mansfield has opposed ABM.

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., an ABM critic, said in a Pennsylvania broadcast Sunday he had felt some White House pressure to change his stance but "it has been within bounds and quite reasonable" so far.

"I suspect it will get a little bit hotter as the June deadline rolls around," he said.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the assistant GOP Leader and a Safeguard backer, said no one would dare to try to put pressure on most Senators.

He said he would be a little happier politically if he were on the "anti" side. He reported 6,000 letters opposing ABM and only a few hundred supporting it. But he said the situation could change.

"If we get to vote on it in June, much may depend on the last things the President says and the last things the ranking committee members say about it," he said.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who tells his wife that he's on a trip away from home? You see, Albert travels and is away from home about two weeks out of every month.

He is always telling me about how he and some other guys get mixed up with strip-teasers and belly dancers, and they close the club and go to those girls' place and drink until morning. But Albert never does anything. It's always the other guys. He claims he gets rooked into situations like this.

I am wondering if he is telling me the whole truth. How come if my Albert is so innocent, things like this keep happening to him? But on the other hand, if he were guilty, why should he mention it?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: You don't say how old your Albert is, but he has a lot of growing up to do. Little boys like to talk. Your husband has a big mouth and probably an imagination which is bigger. He could also be trying to make you jealous, so you'll appreciate him more. When he starts on another one of his Arabian Nights tales, tune him out and change the subject.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Bewildered Grandma," who says her husband at 69 is still looking at bosomy women.

I am only 17, but I know this much about men. They look at women until they die.

My father is 50 and he's still looking. My brother, who is 25, is happily married, but he is looking, too. I have a boyfriend who is nearly 20, and he also looks.

So, Grandma, don't worry. The only way you'll stop "Grandpa" from looking is to poke his eyes out.

CINDY

DEAR CINDY: I wouldn't recommend it. He who isn't able to "look" resorts to Braille.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Tell that "BEWILDERED GRANDMA" whose husband likes to look at the cute, young girls that she is lucky.

My husband was also a "Grandpa" who liked to look. And I used to say, "Keep looking, my love, for when a man stops looking he's dead."

Well, he's dead now, and how I wish he were alive today and still looking. A woman should be thankful for a fun-loving husband who has a twinkle in his eye and can appreciate a good woman.

ANOTHER GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Thank you for your precious, honest message. I agree. It doesn't matter where a man gets his appetite as long as he dines at home.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You've had a running fued in your column lately about whether to bathe the baby in the sink.

Let's forget about the dishes for a moment and think about baby. And Mama.

Babies grow up faster than we think. Mamas do get called away, or maybe turn their backs for a moment to turn the roast or answer the telephone. Babies have jumped out of sinks. Babies have turned on the hot water.

Sign this, "A preacher who has had to console such mothers."

DON J. KLINGENSMITH

DEAR PREACHER: I appreciated your letter. And so will many mothers to whom the above mentioned may not have occurred. (P.S. I wonder if Confucius ever said, "Baby who is bathed in sink is sunk"?)

Hippies To The Rescue

NEW YORK (AP) — A dozen hippies, alerted by the screams of a rape victim, joined police early Sunday in chasing down her accused attacker over darkened rooftops on the Lower East Side.

Police said the victim was a 20-year-old Chinese girl living with relatives while waiting for her parents to immigrate from Hong Kong.

About 3 a.m. she was forced to the roof of a building on east Sixth Street near Avenue A, a tenement district near the center of the city's hippie colony.

Her assailant ripped off her clothes while holding a knife to her throat, police said.

The hippies, who lived in the building, heard her screams. Some dashed to the roof while others ran down to the street and hailed two patrolmen in a radio car.

After a block-long chase over rooftops and down a fire escape, the hippies and police captured Robert Gardner, 39, of Queens, in a rear yard. Te was charged with rape.

Police Probe Two Mishaps

The first one occurred at 12:15 p.m. Saturday on Twenty-fifth Street, near Avenue Q. Damage to the 1963 Model Chevrolet of Cruz Bernal Villa, Fluvanna, was placed at $20, and damage to the 1960 Model Mercury of Nina Faye Pinkerton, 1005 Twenty-third Street, was negligible.

The other one occurred at 10:50 p.m. Sunday at Ballard's Cafe parking lot on the East Highway. Damage to the 1963 Model Chevrolet of Betty Davis, Route 2, was placed at $65, and damage to the 1964 Model Chevrolet of Max Baugh, 800 Twenty-eighth Street, was minor.

Burglaries Are Reported

City Police have been busy the last few days investigating breakins and burglaries.

Someone forced entry into the child development center, 1110 Thirty-fourth Street, last Friday night and damaged a cabinet in the homemaking room.

Thieves took a tire and wheel from the parts building at Bills' Auto Salvage on the East Highway during a breakin last Thursday night.

Someone took a watch and bracelet from the residence of Mrs. W. A. Wells, 505 Twenty-seventh Street, Sunday night after forcing entry and damaging the back screen.

Krist Trial Continues

By DON McKEE
Associated Press Writer

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — The defense begins its case today in the kidnap trial of Gary Steven Krist, and attorneys said there is "a pretty good chance" the bearded defendant may take the stand.

James B. Venable, one of two court-appointed attorneys representing the 24-year-old Krist, said Sunday the defense still has not fully determined its strategy and would make no firm decision until shortly before the trial resumes in DeKalb County Superior Court.

Then he added: "There's a pretty good chance that we'll call him. We may just put him up (on the stand) and let him make his statement."

Krist, former boat mechanic and convicted car thief, is charged in the bizarre kidnaping Emory University coed Barbara Jane Mackle. He faces a possible death penalty if convicted.

Miss Mackle, 20, daughter of millionaire Florida land developer Robert F. Mackle, was abducted from a Decatur motel last Dec. 17. She was buried in a coffin-like box 83 hours and was freed only after her kidnapers had successfully negotiated with her father or a $500,000 ransom.

Venable, 64-year-old imperial wizard of the national Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, also said Sunday the defense may call several other witnesses, including psychiatrists.

The prosecution concluded its testimony Saturday with Miss Mackle as the 75th and final state witness.

The tall, raven-haired coed pointed to Krist calmly when asked to identify the man who forced her into the wooden capsule and buried it following the abduction.

"I'm not going to forget the face," she told a packed courtroom.

Snyder Students Get SMU Degrees

DALLAS—Two students from Snyder received bachelor of arts degrees Sunday from Southern Methodist University.

Millijon Monroe, 2909 Thirty-fifth Street, received her degree in elementary education, while Karen Wooten, Box 877, received her degree in speech pathology.

Baccalaurate degrees went to 1,250 while advanced degrees were awarded to 400 others at the commencement exercises in Moody Coliseum.

Laird Supports US War Tactics

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

Laird, a Republican congressman from Wisconsin before President Nixon appointed him defense chief, outlined his view in an interview before he boarded his airplane for a week-long North Atlantic Treaty Organization planning conference in Brussels and London.

Battlefield tactics have come under mounting criticism from Democratic leaders since the 10-day battle in which GIs drove North Vietnamese off Dong Ap Bia Mountain in 11 assaults that cost some 50 American lives.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called the battle "senseless and irresponsible" in a Senate speech last week and his stand was supported over the weekend by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Mansfield said Sunday the United States is jeopardizing progress in the Paris peace talks by escalating the war through expanded military pressure creating an "act-react syndrome."

"What we ought to do is not so much apply pressure in Vietnam as to instead apply pressure in Paris," the Montana senator said. "That is where peace is going to be made, not on the battlefield."

Mansfield made the comment on CBS' "Face the Nation."

McGovern praised Kennedy Saturday for speaking out "in protest against a truly senseless slaughter" and added, "The only way to end the war in Vietnam is to bring our troops home."

Kennedy followed McGovern to the podium at a $10-a-plate fund-raising dinner by the New Democratic Coalition and spoke again of what he called the "cruelty and savagery of the past week."

"It would have been immoral," Kennedy said, to remain silent about what he called "an unjustified war, an immoral war."

Laird's position and that of the generals is essentially that a cutback in U.S. "spoiling operations" would invite heavier casualties by relinquishing to the enemy the initiative of when, where and how to strike at passive U.S. positions.

A Pentagon statement contended that small-unit patrolling and reconnaissance, and battalion-size operations which result, "are not, in fact, offensive operations but are an active defense aimed at delaying or altering enemy plans."

It is the Nixon administration's position that, as the Pentagon put it, "casualties have been a product of enemy offensive actions rather than of U.S. or South Vietnamese armed forces actions."

Laird declined to discuss the Dong Ap Bia operation in particular. "We shouldn't try to discuss our commanders after an action has taken place," he said.

The defense secretary said U.S. military commanders "are carrying out to the best of their ability orders prescribed by President Nixon and President Johnson" governing conduct of the war on the ground in Vietnam.

He agreed that the ground operation rules now in effect are the same as those which prevailed under Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

Patrolman Joins PD

Lester Wilkerson, 27, a former Odessa policeman, joined the Snyder Police Department this morning as a patrolman.

He served 3½ years with the Odessa Police Department, and also was connected with the Ector County Sheriff's Department.

Last year, Wilkerson attended Howard County Junior College where he studied in the law enforcement technical program. He has a diploma in criminal investigation from the Institute of Applied Science, Chicago.

Wilkerson is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force. He is married and the father of two children. The family is in the process of moving to Snyder.

Pleas Are Heard In County Court

Three guilty pleas to driving while intoxicated were entered in county court this morning. Those entering the pleas were Cristobal G. Rodriguez, Mahlon C. Husted and Alberto Zamora, Jr. The offenses all occurred Sunday.

Husted and Zamora were apprehended by Highway Patrolmen, and Rodriguez was arrested by Sheriff's Authorities.

Rodriguez was handed a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30 day jail term. However, the jail term portion of the sentence was probated for one year. Each of the other two received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 3-day jail term.

Offensives

er 105 Americans and 16 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The kill ratio for the casualties reported for last week was nearly 5 enemy to 1 allied soldier. This was somewhat less than the ratio of 7 or 8 to 1 that has prevailed in recent weeks, but the figures made available today are incomplete and may be revised by the time the weekly summary is issued Thursday.

Casualties have soared since May 11, when the Communist command stepped up its attacks across South Vietnam. The U.S. Command blames the higher casualties on increased enemy attacks; a spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams said two days ago that U.S. forces have not increased the level of their offensive activity but are continuing to operate in the same manner they have for many months.

"A cardinal principle of U.S. military operation is to accomplish the mission with minimum casualties," the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the National Liberation Front broadcast an announcement that Viet Cong forces will observe a 48-hour cease-fire in honor of Buddha's birthday on May 30. The Saigon government announced nearly three weeks ago that allied forces would halt offensive operations for 24 hours, from 6 a.m. Saigon time May 30 to 6 a.m. May 31. The NLF said its cease-fire would start 23 hours earlier, at 7 a.m. May 29, and continue until 7 a.m. May 31.

There was no immediate comment from the South Vietnamese government on the Viet Cong's announcement, but it was not expected to extend its cease-fire period to conform to the enemy's.

On the political front, President Nguyen Van Thieu unveiled a new alliance of six political parties supporting him and invited other groups to join the coalition if they oppose Communism.

"Those who fight Communism but do not agree with us on some points, may those bodies form into an opposition, an opposition that will show respect for the constitution and for the people's rights," Thieu told a meeting of 2,500 delegates and spectators Sunday at a heavily guarded rally in a Saigon movie house.

Vietnam's anti-Communists traditionally have been split into a large number of political parties or factions, leaving the Communists the largest and most effective organized political force in the country. Thieu said in a speech April 7 that a well organized two-party system is necessary if the anti-Communists are to survive.

Unsolicited Haircuts Rile Fathers

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Tom Montgomery said today he "couldn't understand" all the fuss, just because three teen-agers were given unsolicited haircuts in his jail last week.

"The boys never did seem to mind about it," Montgomery said. "Then the daddy came in and started fussing about it. Said he was going to get a lawyer."

The three Mesquite youths were jailed for about three hours Friday for allegedly trespassing on railroad property. Other prisoners shaved their heads. Paul Trammel, father of one of the boys, indicated later he would file suit.

"Frankly," said Montgomery, "when we lock them behind doors, we don't know what happens. We're not like Dallas, we don't have a bunch of TVs to tell us what's going on."

Once In A Million

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (AP)—Louis McGlothin, lost his billfold with $75 in cash and $975 in checks in Chicago a week ago.

Over the weekend McGlothing, operator here of McGlothin Motors, received by mail from Chicago an unmarked package with the cash, checks and other papers intact.

Sun People Need Special Hair Care

The woman who is a sun-worshipper nearly always protects her skin with a layer of cream or oil, mindful of the ravages of sun, sea and air on the complexion. But what about her hair? Usually she doesn't give it a second thought and carelessly leaves it exposed and at the mercy of the outdoor elements.

Hair suffers from an overdose of sun just as the skin does, then there's the additional punishment of frequent dunking in salt or chlorinated water.

The wise woman takes shelter under a pretty cover-up such as a wide-brimmed hat or scarf when spending the day out of doors. Waterproof bathing caps, though rather out of favor with the younger set, still offer the best protection for hair destined to be submerged in sea or swimming pool. If conventional caps are not your thing, consider one of the novel water wiglets which have water-proofing on the inside and a short, shiny coiffure on the outside that stays permanently curled and ruffled.

Most women are surprised to learn that hair can be as easily wind-burned as the face. Hot, moist breezes have very much the same effect on hair as a hot hairdryer does. After too long an exposure to the wind, hair strands may be dried out, begin to tighten and shrink. Windproof your hair by keeping it adequately covered or by brushing a conditioner or protective preparation through it each day.

Hair should be shampooed more often in summer when dust, perspiration, salt and sand collect on the scalp. Remember that hair must be rinsed thoroughly after your shampoo.

Bride Is Honored

FLUVANNA — Miss Debbie Mathis, who was wed Saturday to Jack Faulk of Carlsbad, N. M., was guest of honor recently at an informal shower in the home of Mrs. Dale Johnson of Carlsbad.

Miss Mathis' chosen colors of bright pink and white were used on the serving table. A center arrangement of pink blossoms graced the lace cloth. Pink candles lighted the party room, where friends and hostesses presented bridal gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Ballard and daughters, Shirley and Alice and Mrs. Bonnie Williams and daughter.

New Officers Installed By Beta Sigma Phi Unit

Members of the Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met for their last regular meeting of the year Tuesday evening at the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room.

The Ritual of the Jewels was conferred on three members in a candlelight ceremony conducted by Patsy Elliott. Receiving the Ritual of the Jewels degree, which is the second degree of Beta Sigma Phi, were Nelda Baze, Peggy Koonsman and Carolyn Limmer.

Installed as new officers for the coming year were Patsy Elliott, president; Pam Mengwasser, first vice president; Carolyn Limmer, second vice president; Betty Palmer, recording secretary; Peggy Koonsman, corresponding secretary; Barbara York, treasurer, and Carla Barnes, extension officer.

Following the installation of officers, the business meeting was opened with Patsy Elliott leading the members in the opening ritual. Twenty-three members answered roll call, and one guest, Ann Gilliland, was present.

New committees were appointed by the president. The social chairman, Mary Lou Scott, announced that a secret sister revealing party would be held, at which time secret sisters of the members for the past year would identify themselves and gifts would be exchanged.

Plans for the state convention of Beta Sigma Phi to be held in Fort Worth in June were discussed. Pam Mengwasser and Patsy Elliott will represent Lambda Kappa Chapter at the convention.

Lecture Series Is Published

ESSAYS ON THE NEW DEAL —By Wilmon H. Droe, George Wolfskill and William E. Leuchtenburg, the Universit yof Texas Press, Austin, $3.95.

"Essays on the New Deal" is made up of lectures in the Walter Prescott Webb Memorial series at the University of Texa Arlington.

One concerns the shelterbelt tree planting project, important once and now only vaguely recalled.

The other two lectures concern America today: The validity of Franklin D. Roosevelt's opposition and the late President's court packing plan.

Roosevelt was hated as few presidents have been and loved as none other in the memory of living men.

What he did was start a revolution without intending to do so and in the lecureer's view wihou any real poliical or economic philosophy.

out any real political or economic philosophy.

Basically, Roosevelt destroyed for all time the laiss efaire approach to government and business. The men who fought him on this point were businessmen and their dupes or persons with a fanatically fixed viewpoint.

But those who opposed him then would be horrified today at a suggestion that the nation return to pre-Roosevelt conditions.

Roosevelt found the Supreme Court, its ruling strongly probusiness, murdering his New Deal by overturning measures FDR and Congress approved. It was a court composed of ex-corporation lawyers.

Roosevelt wanted some liberal blood and proposed increasing the number of justices—nothing really new.

He never got his measure passed, but the Supreme Court backed down in the face of his attack and not since 1937 has ruled against New Deal-type legislation.

But the fight destroyed Roosevelt's solid bloc in Congress. Never again could he control the legislators.

Wilmon H. Droze and George Wolfskill are of the University of Texas at Arlington. William E. Leuchtenburg, the third lecturer, is from Columbia.—The AP.

Cheese Fondue

½ pound process Swiss cheese
1½ tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
1 cup dry white wine
3 tablespoons kirsch (clear, dry cherry brandy)

Shred cheese on coarse grater. Sprinkle cheese with flour and salt; toss well. Rub the inside of a fondue cooker with the garlic; pour in wine; heat until bubbles begin to rise to surface — do not boil. Add cheese by handfuls, stirring constantly, and allowing each handful to melt before adding another. When all cheese is added and fondue is bubbling lightly, add kirsch. Bring to table and place over warming element of cooker. Eaters spear chunks of crusty French bread on a fork and dip directly into the fondue cooker, stirring slightly with each dip. Makes 4 servings.

IN PAPYRUS BOAT

Voyage To Prove Theory

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer

SAFI, Morocco (AP) — "She is really riding well," Thor Heyerdahl reported as he set out for America Sunday in his papyrus boat.

His 15-ton craft made of interlocking reeds and looking like a bright yellow basket with a wine-red sail, dropped a tow line 12 miles from the North African coast and headed west-southwest for the deep-running Canary Islands current.

"She is doing better than I expected," Heyerdahl shouted to a sailboat on which his wife, Yvonne, was a passenger. "She is steering perfectly."

With six companions, Heyerdahl began a voyage he hopes will prove a theory for historians in the same way that his voyage across the Pacific 22 years ago on the raft Kon-Tiki proved the Polynesians could have sailed to Peru.

On this journey, Heyerdahl hopes to demonstrate that a boatload of ancient Egyptians could have taken their culture to the New World 5,000 years ago and influenced the pre-Columbian civilization of the Indians of Mexico and Peru.

Heyerdahl hopes to reach the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico in three or four months.

Many papyrus experts and archeologists doubt the vessel, named the Ra after the Egyptian sun god, will be able to hold up that long. They expect it to become waterlogged and disintegrate.

But the skipper, gray-haired and sharp-eyed at 54, said just before departure: "The boat will float. The problem is how long it will take us to learn to navigate."

If the Ra sinks, there is a life raft aboard.

The rudderless vessel's steering system, two 30-foot long oars, had never been used by modern men. Heyerdahl said learning to use it might take several days of aimless drifting.

After two days of postponements, the Ra was towed away from her moorings by 16 oarsmen. She listed to starboard, but Heyerdahl said she had been loaded that way to compensate for prevailing winds.

The sail was emblazoned with an orange sunburst. Flying from the 20-foot mast were a United Nations flag and a flag for each nation represented in the seven-man crew.

Besides Heyerdahl, a Norwegian, they are: Norman Baker, 40, the navigator, from New Rochelle, N.Y.; Yuri Cenkevitch, 40, a Soviet physician and psychologist; George Sourial, 28, an Egyptian diver; Abdoulaye Djbrine, 34, of Chad, a papyrus expert, Carlo Mauri, 39, an Italian explorer and photographer, and Santiago Genoves, 45, an anthropologist from Mexico.

Space is scarce on the boat, which is about 55 feet long and 15 feet wide. But Heyerdahl was determined to keep the boat faithful to the drawing found in an Egyptian pyramid that provided the model.

The Ra is equipped with radio and a few modern navigation devices. For entertainment, the American brought along a harmonica and the Russian brought books by Hemingway and Tolstoy. The Chadian brought pictures of his three wives.

Trying to duplicate conditions the Egyptians might have sailed under, the crew has a ton of water, dates, nuts, dried meat and honey, stored in earthenware jars to supplement a basic diet of fresh fish. There also is a coop of chickens.

Heyerdahl got the idea for the voyage in 1952 when he saw a picture of a reed boat on Inca pottery in Peru. It was similar to the boats of the ancient Egyptians.

He noted other similarities between the two cultures—worship of the sun, step pyramids, caste systems in which brother and sister married, and similar hieroglyphs and surgical instruments.

Fire Hose Causes Sub To Sink

NEW YORK (AP) — Careless use of a fire hose caused the sinking of an atomic-powered submarine May 15 in San Francisco, Newsweek magazine says.

The Pentagon learned that the submarine, the Guitfare, "was down by the stern one degree because of uneven distribution of ballast and fittings; just before a test that required it to be absolutely level," Newsweek said Sunday.

"A fire hose was turned on in the forward compartment," the article said, "but it brought the bow down too far, letting in a flood of water through access hatches which had been opened so power cables could be strung through them during construction."

An estimated million head of cattle perish each year in South America from rabies inflicted by vampire bats.

Controversial TV Program Receives An Emmy

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Hunger in America," the controversial CBS television documentary that incurred the wrath of the Agriculture Department and Congress, received an Emmy today for outstanding news documentary program achievement.

Lord Snowdon was selected for an Emmy for his cinematography of the CBS documentary, "Don't Count the Candles." The program, an essay on aging, also received an Emmy in the program category.

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences announced the news and documentary award winners for the first time in advance of the Emmy presentations, which will be Sunday, June 8. Excerpts from the winning programs will be seen on the Emmy telecast.

"Hunger in America" was denounced as misleading after its showing last May by the then secretary of agriculture, Orville L. Freeman. Last Friday a House Appropriations subcommittee issued a report that charged the program included "staged incidents."

Charles Kuralt, who also was the narrator for "Hunger in America," received an award for his "On the Road" reports seen on the "CBS Evening News With Walter Cronkite." Kuralt earlier received a Peabody award for the nostalgic looks at vanishing Americana.

Cameraman James Wilson and soundman Robert Funk also were cited in the award.

The Public Broadcast Laboratory, now disbanded, received an Emmy for outstanding documentary for its "Law and Order" show.

Here are the other winners:

Outstanding achievement within a scheduled news program — Huntley-Brinkley Report, NBC, for coverage of hunger in the United States. CBS Evening News, "Police After Chicago," John Laurence, correspondent.

Special coverage—CBS News, coverage of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. assassination and aftermath.

Documentaries—"Black History: Lost, Stolen or Strayed," "Of Black America" series, CBS, Perry Wolff and Andrew Rooney, writers.

Cultural documentaries or magazine-type programs—CBS News Hour, "Justice Black and the Bill of Rights." Bell Telephone Hour, NBC, "Man Who Dances: Edward Villella." CBS News Hour, "The Great American Novel."

Individual achievements in documentaries also went to Walter Dombrow and Jerry Sims, for cinematography on "The Great American Novel" and to Tom Pettit for "CBS: The Secrets of Secrecy," on NBC's "First Tuesday."

Australia To Back Wheat Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Australian government has announced that it would support a proposal by growers for quotas on wheat entering the market next season, the Agriculture Department said today.

The Foreign Agriculture Service reported that the Australian wheat industry has "encountered serious problems" in storing and marketing last year's record crop of 540 million bushels.

The Australian Wheat Growers Federation asked that quotas be imposed in each state in the 1969-70 season for a total of 357 million bushels which could be marketed by farmers.

Arizona Free Of Brucellosis

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arizona has become the 15th state to be declared free of brucellosis, and the Agriculture Department says the eradication campaign will eliminate the cattle disease from the United States entirely by 1975.

The department said official recognition of Arizona's "certified brucellosis-free" status will be made Wednesday in a ceremony with Gov. Jack Williams at Phoenix.

Since the cooperative federal-state program began in 1954, brucellosis has been reduced drastically throughout the country. Other states—and the Virgin Islands—that have achieved certified free status are Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

About 96 per cent of the nation's counties have been designated modified-certified" free of brucellosis, a step toward complete eradication.

Only seven states—Florida, Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Nebraska and Hawaii—have not qualified all their counties as modified-certified areas, but about 80 per cent of them have made the mark, officials said.

Testing of cattle headed into markets and tests among dairy herds are included in the control program. Brucellosis can result in undulant fever in humans.

Thief Drives Off With Construction Co.

DETROIT (AP) — Reward: $1,000 for the return of John Patillo's construction company.

That's what the Detroiter is offering after someone drove off with his company's full equipment fleet—a flatbed trailer truck with a bulldozer and tractor.

"They've cleaned us out," said Mrs. Patillo, who estimated the total value of equipment was $27,000. "We don't even have a company any more."

"If someone can help us find it, we'll give them $1,000," Patrillo said.

Astros Streak Past Mets

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jimmy Wynn has walloped four home runs in Houston's last four games—a pretty good pace.

But Wynn's slugging clip is only about half as fast as the one Lee May is following. May tagged two more homers in Cincinnati's 7-2 victory over Montreal Sunday, giving him four in two games.

Wynn's eighth inning shot helped Houston's streaking Astros to a 6-3 victory over the New York Mets and gave him 12 for the year, tying him for the National League lead with May.

The two-man tie lasted about two hours or until Willie McCovey cracked his 12th and third in four games for San Francisco, making it a three-way deadlock. But McCovey couldn't prevent the Giants from dropping both ends of a doubleheader to Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 6-2.

In other National League games Sunday, Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 4-1, St. Louis blanked Los Angeles 4-0, and San Diego split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 10-2 and dropping the second 1-0.

In the American League, Minnesota swept a doubleheader from New York 2-1 and 3-2, Kansas City tripped Washington 3-2 in 12 innings, Baltimore dropped Oakland 5-3, Seattle shaded Cleveland 3-2, Detroit bombed California 10-0 and Boston shut out Chicago 1-0.

May drilled a three-run homer to break a 1-1 tie in the third inning and then unloaded a lead-off shot in the sixth. In two games, he drove in eight runs against the hapless Expos, who lost their 10th straight.

"I'm in the groove now," the soft-spoken Reds' first baseman said. "I'm just meeting the ball. This hitting is all within yourself. When you find yourself, is when you begin hitting."

May has smacked seven homers in the last 10 games and he got plenty of help Sunday. Bobby Tolan also homered for the Reds and Alex Johnson and Tony Perez added two hits apiece with Perez driving in a pair of runs.

Norm Miller smacked four hits and Curt Blefary three as the Astros hopped on Tom Seaver and whipped the Mets. Wynn's eighth inning homer gave Houston some extra breathing room.

The Astros, who've won eight straight and 17 of the 21 this month, hopped on Seaver, 6-3, for three runs in the first inning with Blefary's double and run-scoring singles by Miller and Jesus Alou.

Jim Bunning won his 200th major league game, beating San Francisco for Pittsburgh in the opener of their doubleheader with Willie Stargell's eighth-inning double driving home the winning run.

Then McGovey and Bobby Bonds hit second game homers for the Giants but it wasn't enough as the Pirates completed the sweep. Bill Mazeroski's homer touched off a three-run Pittsburgh third and Carl Taylor later tagged his first major league homer for two more runs.

Atlanta used its pitching cousins—George Stone and Cecil Upshaw—to throttle Philadelphia on five hits.

Upshaw relieved his cousin, Stone, in the seventh inning and preserved the victory. He also walloped an eighth inning homer—the Braves' third of the game. Mike Lum and Orlando Cepeda had connected earlier.

Bob Gibson gave up singles to the first two men he faced and then allowed only four more hits the rest of the day, pitching St. Louis past Los Angeles. Gibson struck out nine and rode a 15-hit Cardinal attack—four by Curt Flood—to his third shutout of the season.

Nate Colbert walloped a grand slam homer and Al Ferrara and Ollie Brown also connected easing Johnny Podres and San Diego to their first game victory over Chicago. Podres went all the way—the first San Diego complete game since opening day—and the victory ended a seven-game losing streak for the Padres.

Ron Santo broke a scoreless duel in the nightcap with a lead-off homer in the Chicago ninth. That was enough to beat ex-Cub Joe Niekro.

Sparrows, Hawks Trouble Community

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Virgil McFadden of North Texas' Gloria community is having troubles with sparrows and hawks. The two bird species are sharing a big tree near the McFadden home. The motives of the hawks nesting near the sparrows are suspect.

CLUTCH PUTTS PAY OFF FOR YANCEY

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Bert Yancey can quit worrying about faltering under pressure on the pro golf tour.

He doesn't have to worry much about paying his bills, either.

Yancey never wavered Sunday in the pressure-packed finish of the Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament, sinking three clutch putts that gave him a $23,000 paycheck.

The former West Point cadet, who suffered a nervous breakdown at the academy, rammed home a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole of the final round to tie Australia's Bruce Devlin.

Yancey rolled in another 10-footer for a birdie on the first hole of a sudden death playoff, with Devlin knocking in a six-footer.

Then Yancey closed out the battle on the second extra hole with a seven-footer for a birdie that he said left him "feeling like a millionaire."

Yancey said before the start of the final round that he has been playing well recently except at the finish, when the pressure got to him.

"But I think I've gotten tough enough inside now to win it," he said.

The 30-year-old Floridian said after the frantic finish that he had eased the pressure by forgetting about his rival.

"I don't look back any more like I used to," he said. "I don't watch the scoreboards to see how anyone else is doing.

"I've quit worrying about the other players, and I concentrate on what I'm doing.

"That way, I'm not as susceptible to as much pressure as I used to be," Yancey said.

"And those three putts I made were almost unbelievable for a putter like me," added the slender veteran, who boosted his 1969 earnings to $50,323.

Devlin, who blew a two-stroke lead by bogeying the 16th and 17th holes, said "I didn't lose—Bert won."

Devlin had reeled off four straight birdies to take the lead before he faltered on two straight holes. He sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th to tie, with both Devlin and Yancey shooting 69s for 72-hole totals of 277.

Gary Player, the little South African who has averaged $9,000 in earnings in eight tournament starts, finished third with a closing 70 for 278.

Sox Pound Yanks 17-8

The Giants smashed the Cardinals 22-4, and the White Sox pounded the Yankees 17-8 in Farm League action Saturday night.

Strangely enough, there weren't any hits in the Card-Giant affray as both teams scored most of their runs as the result of numerous Annie Oakleys.

However, that Sox-Yank slugfest was something else. The White Sox knocked six home runs, and the Yanks put four over the fence.

Hitting for the distance for the Sox were Jeff Read, Darrell Lester, Randy Wilson, Richard Willis, Gary Martin and David Thompson. Lester also cracked a double. The only other Sox hit was a single by Lakin West.

Eddy Woolsey clouted two home runs for the Yanks while his teammates Vince Ellard and Rickey Ramirez each stroked one.

Beginning this week, the Farm League will stage four programs a week. The Giants tangle with the Cubs and the Yankees meet the Indians tonight.

Ronald Regan's Son Injured In Mishap

GALVESTON, Tex. AP) — Three power boat racers, including the son of California Gov. Ronald Reagan, were injured Sunday during the Galveston Island 250 Speed Classic. One driver, Bob Hill, of Tennessee was injured critically.

Hill was hurt in a separate accident on the 55th lap of the race. He suffered head injuries.

A third accident injured Marvin Friedman of Coral Gables, Fla., but he, too, was treated and released from Sealy Hospital.

First place money of $3,500 went to Dick Freek of Oklahoma, driving "How About That." Lou Brummett of California drove "Raw Hide" to second place.

IN LITTLE LEAGUE

Yanks Whip Sox, Cards Clip Giants

The Yankees whipped the White Sox 4-1, and the Cards clipped the Giants 12-2 in Little League action in Towle Park Saturday night.

The Yanks' Mark Harless had a no-hitter going until the last inning, when Osoar Ramirez and Bobby Riggins spoiled his perfect game bid. Each socked a single, and Oscar scored the Sox' only run.

The Yanks had taken command 3-0 in the first on singles by G. Watts and C. Bishop and a double by Joe Hardin. Watts also singled in the 3rd, and Bishop cracked another single in the 5th.

Although he lost, Jimmy Gutierrez gave up only six hits and went the distance for the Sox. Harless also went the full six innings.

Beanie Weems and Rickey Beard led the Cards past the Giants. Beard knocked a home run in a big first inning for the Cards in which they tallied six runs. Weems put one over the fence in a 5-run uprising in the 4th. The final Card run occurred in the 6th.

The victors socked three different Giant pitchers for 10 hits. Weems got three of them, and so did D. Watlington. The other hits for the Cards—all singles— were registered by Kerry Rodgers, M. Freeman and M. Anderson.

Beard and Weems also combined forces on the mound for the Cards, giving up only three hits—singles by K. Ragland, G. Davis and C. McCartney. The Giants got both of their runs in the first frame.

Tonight, the Giants meet the Cubs and the Yankees tangle with the Indians.

Mickey Finds Range Again

PROSPECT, Ky. (AP) — The $2,325 Mickey Wright picked up by winning the Bluegrass Invitational Golf Tournament isn't much compared to the $250,000 she has won the past 11 years.

But the victory, her first in nine starts this year, should indicate to the other women pros that the veteran from Dallas is back on her game and is a definite threat in the upcoming tournaments.

Miss Wright nipped Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S.C., in a sudden death playoff in the Ladies Professional Golf Association event Sunday when she rolled in a three-foot putt for a par on the first extra hole.

The two women were deadlocked at even par 216 after 54 holes of play.

Miss Wright, who said she didn't even play golf from August of 1968 to January of this year, was happy to get the victory after blowing a four-shot lead with only nine holes to play.

Foyt Wins Pole Position, Turbine Car Fizzles Out

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The emphasis is back on the drivers for this year's Indianapolis 500, with A.J Foyt driving from the pole position for a record fourth victory in the Memorial Day race.

The turbine car, which came close to winning the last two years, and part of the 500's international flavor disappeared Sunday as the starting field of 33 cars was completed.

This year's only turbine entry qualified at 156.440 miles per hour, four m.p.h. slower than any other car, and it was only a matter of time until it was bumped from the field.

Foyt won the pole with a speed of 170.568 m.p.h.

The number of foreign drivers in this year's race shrank to two when the builder and designer of the Lotus cars, Colin Chapman of Britain, withdrew the last of the Lotuses, driven by Jochen Rindt of Austria and 1966 Indy winner Graham Hill of Britain. They made no qualifying attempts.

"It's tragic, I think," said Hill. "Lotus put so much time into these cars."

Denis Hulme of New Zealand and Jack Brabham of Australia are the only foreign drivers in the race.

Chapman said the Lotuses were withdrawn because of concern over the safety of their wheel hubs.

Foyt, surprised at winning the pole Saturday despite trouble in his car's exhaust system, said, "With a little lady luck we're in good shape."

He was joined in the front row by two-time pole sitter Mario Andretti and defending champion Bobby Unser. Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., qualified in 169.851 m.p.h. and Unser, the Albuquerque, N.M., driver, who won from the third spot last year, had a 169.683.

The second row drivers, who posted speeds of 168 m.p.h., are led by Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., a highly regarded Indy rookie with an Ivy League and sports car background.

Veterans Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., took the fifth and sixth spots.

McCluskey is driving one of the three cars entered by owner-driver Foyt. George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., put the other car in the 15th startingspot to give the team a 3-for-3 record.

In contrast, STP magnate Andy Granatelli of Chicago, got only three of his 11 entries in. The Lotuses were among the STP cars.

Andretti, Granatelli's main hope, demolished another Lotus last week when a hub broke off and switched to an older car with a Brawner Hawk chasis and turbo-charged Ford engine.

Foyt, whose car also is turbo-Ford powered, looked forward to the Friday race with the observation that "Mario will fight you till the end. He's worse than me."

"I didn't think I had a chance for the pole until Mario qualified at 169," Foyt sid.

Unser and Donohue both have Lola cars with turbocharged Offenhauser engines. In all, the field has 11 turbo-Fords, 19 turbo-Offys, Dan Gurney's stock block Ford engine and the two Australian-made Repco engines in Brabham cars.

Billy Vukovich, last year's Rookie of the Year, was the fastest qualifier Sunday, at 164.843 m.p.h., as the last eight spots were filled. All qualifying was done over the weekend, due to the rainout of the scheduled first weekend of trials.

Report Shows Computers Doing Menial Jobs

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — When it appeared on the business scene in numbers a decade or more ago the electronic computer was misunderstood and often as not was relegated to menial jobs. A survey now shows the same is true today.

"Overqualified and underemployed," is the conclusion reached by Research Institute of America after analyzing replies from 2,500 companies of all sizes. It placed 90 per cent of all industrial computers in that category.

It found them doing routine chores—payrolls, bookkeeping, accounts receivable and payable, inventory control, sales and analyses—instead of helping management make top-level decisions.

In fact, it found also that companies plan to continue using computers in elementary chores, "despite the ballyhooed benefits from computer-assisted top management decision-making..."

A sampling of opinion from electronic data processing managers tended to confirm the suggestion that computers could help business a lot more if they were more imaginatively used.

Said one manager: "Owning a computer is for some companies like an individual owning the Queen Elizabeth to transport him from his home in Hoboken, N.J., to his office in Manhattan."

The reason for not fully utilizing the machine, said another EDP manager, is that business is now buying swift, complicated second and third generation equipment but trying to run them with men who are only first-second year managers.

"You can't expect a guy right out of college to know all the possibilities of computer utilization," he said.

"Most machines are so fast that they can handle several jobs almost simultaneously," he explained. "But most managers haven't the scope to keep them fully employed. There is an art to utilization."

Despite this tendency to underestimate the computer's ability, the survey shows that companies have accepted the cerebral servant to a great extent. More than 60 per cent of respondents now use or plan within a year to use computers.

"Today, any company with more than 200 employes or $7 million in sales that is not using a computer is in the minority," concluded the institute, a privately owned business advisory firm.

Not all those who use computers are owners or renters, however. Many companies send their work out to computer service facilities, much as a housewife sends out the wash, and receive back a package of proposed data.

The institute said, companies using outside facilities indicated they were happier with results than those with "in-house" machines. Outside service facilities often have highly experienced personnel.

For those companies that are contemplating the purchase or rental of machines the veteran users offer this advice:

—Allow one or two years of planning and preparation before installing a computer.

—Hire the best people obtainable. Use a highly competent EDP manager from the very beginning of planning.

—Involve all levels of management in decisions involving the purchase or rental. Their understanding and support is essential.

—Examine the economics of your project. Current systems and procedures might be adequate to handle the work load you have in mind.

Never forget, in other words, that it's people who run computers and not the other way around.

Junior Editors Quiz on EYES

QUESTION: What effect does the sun have on the pupils of our eyes?

* * *

ANSWER: Nature seems to understand the importance of our eyes and has protected these delicate organs in a number of ways. The wonderful iris, which is the colored ring around the black pupil, is one of these. Seen in our cross section, you can realize how this colored ring overlaps the lens through which the light comes into the eye. The iris has muscles which can open it wide to let more light in when it's dark (girl's head). It can close it down when there's too much light (boy's head). An iris works much the way the diaphram of a camera does when one adjusts it to let more or less light through the lens. The right degree of light is needed to make a sharp image on the camera film. The same adjustment is also needed in the human eye, for it keeps sharp and clear the little image which the lens sends to the back of the eyeball. This makes us conscious of what we are looking at. Furthermore, the iris, by closing down, protects the eye from some of the sun's brilliance, which might easily damage it. If we looked directly at the sun, we might go blind.

Boyle Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A husband may cut down his own risk of death from heart attack by helping keep his wife alive. That kind, of a change of conduct resulting from it, is life-threatening, was implied by a recent British medical survey of middle-aged widowers. It found that fatal coronaries among them were 67 per cent above the expecture figure for married men their age who had not lost their wives.

In Japan you no longer need to depend on your own muscle to get into commuter trains. They have become so crowded that the national railway system has hired 506 more men whose duty it is to shove passengers into the trains—literally.

Mother, if your child is a thumbsucker, you don't have to worry too much about it unless he continues the habit after the age of five. Then he could do damage to the alignment of his permanent teeth, which begin erupting when he is about six.

Quotable notables: "When a man points a finger at someone else, he should remember that four of his fingers are pointing at himself."—Attorney Louis Nizer.

The good old days: In 1934, Lyndon B. Johnson bought a wedding ring for Claudia Alta Taylor, later better known as Lady Bird, for $2.50.

Whoosh: Duke University engineers are working on small scale models of air-propelled vehicles which in the future may be developed to carry people and freight through tubes placed at ground on subsurface level.

High price: In bank robberies the cost of the pursuit as well as the loss of the loot can be expensive. The FBI figures it may cost up to $150,000 for it to solve a robbery of a bank in which federal funds are deposited.

In business, the process of the gingham dog eating up the calico cat is speeding at an increasing rate. In the last two years alone more than 4,000 U.S. corporate mergers have been consommated.

Executive signs: This one is on the desk of Elmer Winter, president of Manpower, Inc.: "Some people are like blisters. They don't show up until the work is done."

Nothing to sneeze at: Pepper, one of the oldest spices known to man, historically was one of the most valuable articles of commerce. When Alaric the Gothic king conquered Rome, he demanded 3,000 pounds of pepper as part of his ransom price for the Eternal City.

Worth remembering: "Even though you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there."

Folklore: It will bring you bad luck if you pick up a dropped knife that is pointing toward you. Less than seven spots on a ladybug's wing covers indicates a good harvest. The numbers that are most likely to prove lucky in a lottery are those ending in 3, 7, 9 and 12. Eating too much meat will make you bad-tempered.

It was Kim Hubbard who observed, "The world ain't getting no worse; we've only got better facilities."

Virginia Beauty Is Miss USA

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — When Wendy Dascomb strolled down the runway as the new Miss U.S.A. a Navy lieutenant who had traveled almost 4,000 miles leaned back in his chair and announced: "That's why I came here to see."

The new Miss U.S.A. a 5-foot-9 blonde who represented Virginia in the contest, Saturday night had a 10-member cheering section that included Lt. Charles Westbrook. Westbrook, stationed in Washington, flew to Miami Beach from Scotland, where he had been on temporary assignment.

"Wendy is a born winner. I knew I just couldn't miss this," he said.

Miss Dascomb is from New Orleans but represented Virginia because she is a freshman at Stratford College in Danville.

Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Dascomb, were also in the audience with her brother and sister and their families.

Westbrook said he and the 19-year-old beauty have been friends for 15 years. He prepared to return to Washington as she got ready to begin her public appearance treks across the country.

"I didn't count on winning. I was planning to go on with my life with the pageant remaining a fond memory of good times and new friends," she said Sunday.

"I wanted to go to Europe to study this summer, but of course those plans are postponed now. But I intend to continue my education when this year is over.

"I'm just not the beauty queen type!" she said.

Miss Dascomb, 35-24-35, will represent the United States in the Miss Universe contest here in July.

Bradley Holds Edge In Poll

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thomas Bradley, the Negro councilman challenging Mayor Sam Yorty, clings to majority support in an independent poll released today, one week before the election for mayor.

The voter turnout in the nonpartisan race for chief executive of the nation's third most populous city is expected to reach one million.

In a Los Angeles Times' copyright survey, pollster Don Muchmore reported Bradley leading Yorty 53 to 36 per cent, with 11 per cent undecided.

The 15 per cent lead compares to a 16 per cent edge Bradley had in a Muchmore poll the first week in May. He surveyed 675 people in a poll completed Saturday.

The Field Poll, released Thursday, put Bradley ahead 43 per cent to 38 per cent with 19 per cent undecided. That survey showed Yorty trailing by 17 per cent two weeks earlier.

Yorty, stepping up the pace of his campaign, charged anew that Bradley is supported by black militants and antipolice elements. Bradley, a policeman 21 years, denies it.

Bradley has accused Yorty of running a corrupt administration in which five of his commissioners have been indicted on charges alleging misconduct in office. Yorty replied that the majority of the commissioners he appointed to administer many city facilities have done good jobs.

City Clerk Rex Layton predicted a record turnout Tuesday of between 70 and 75 per cent of the city's 1.27 million voters.

Yorty, in shirtsleeves, predicted victory while greeting elderly people who had applauded him at a senior citizen's rally in the plaza near the city's Mexican-American Olvera street.

"I think we're coming up every day," said Yorty. "I think we turned the corner quite a while ago—about 10 days ago."

Bradley—smiling, shaking hands and kissing a small girl on the forehead—was just as confident after speaking to a cheering crowd of 500 at a street rally on Los Angeles' predominantly Jewish Fairfax Avenue.

"We're going to do it," he told a newsman. Then he turned and laughingly accepted a gift from a rabbi—a challah, the traditional Sabbath bread of the Jewish people.

Frozen Orange Juice Price Has Big Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average retail price for a six-ounce can of frozen orange juice concentrate was 24.3 cents in March, a gain of 5 per cent from a year earlier and a 20 per cent boost since March 1968, the Agriculture Department says.

"Despite a large orange crop, prices were boosted by lower yields of juice per box, small carrying stocks and strong consumer demand," the department said in a report.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

By JOHN ABNEY

Mexico City—A great deal has been written about historical things but nothing on this subject which we might as well get on with.

To wit, how did Herman Cortes meet his lady friend, dona Marina, after reaching Mexico in 1519?

I have just come across some old stone tablets with hieroglyphics on them (found them in the bottom of my cedar chest) so we now will proceed with the translation.

It seems that Cortes and his warriors were in this little town with an unpronounceable name in what now is Tabasco State. Sort of scouting around to check the action and see what was new.

And like all tourists they decided to go to the market one day to pick up a few curios.

The Indians called Cortes "Pink" and "Hay Face" and things like that but they spoke in hieroglyphics and he didn't understand a word.

So all of a sudden he came to this little stand where a gorgeous young lady with terrific architecture was selling star sapphires. Cortes stopped dead in his tracks and said to himself, "That's the girl I want to be my translator when I conquor the country".

That night he and the chief had a heart to heart talk on the subject. Of course the chief was dead against it and he said, "Listen, we don't mind a little honest piracy now and then but lay off our women and livestock".

So Cortes said, "But this is a matter that pertains to the king. You don't wanna make King Charles V of Spain sore."

The chief shrugged and said, "I never heard of any King Charles V. Where's Spain, anyhow?".

And Cortes said, "You're weak on your atlas, son. King Charles V has some terrifying magic".

The chief chuckled and said, "Fool with my girls and I'll have our witch doctor Coaxontl those sticks they carry give you a hex that'll keep you unconscious for six months."

Cortes got sore and asked, "What other tricks can Dr. Coaxontl pull?"

And the chief said, "For one thing he can draw lightning from the sky. Can Charlie V do that?"

"He's a furlong out in front," said Cortes. "Our old foot soldiers pack lightning bolts in those sticks they carry around."

The chief almost died laughing and Cortes turned to a soldier and took his musket. "Now," he said, "where is this Dr. Coaxontl to whom you referred?"

"Right over yonder by that clump of bamboo," the chief said. "And you forget about that girl in the market or I'll call him over here."

Cortes took careful aim and triggered a new umbilicus in the doctor. Fire and smoke shot every which-a-way as the late medicine man stretched out on the ground.

"What about that?" Cortes asked. "How come you don't call him over?"

The chief scratched his initials in the dust with his big toe and looked off thataway and finally cleared his throat and said, "Well sir, I hope you and your new secretary will have a fine trip. Drop me a line if there's anything else you need."

Of course this is a very rough translation because the stone tablets are dusty but it shows what can come from a stroll hrough the market.

Dallas Firm Designs Two New Plants

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas firm will design two plants for the recovery of sulphur from hydrogen gas under the Pan American Oil Co. licensed process.

The firm, Ford, Bacon & Davis Texas, Inc., has designed 27 plants under the process.

Boom Seen In Europe Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another boom in travel to Europe is on, the U.S. Passport Office says, with an estimated 360,000 Americans to board trans-Atlantic flights in June alone.

A random sampling of passport applications shows that France is the single most popular destination.

The June travel estimate from passport officials represents an increase of 23 per cent compared with the travel flow to Europe a year ago.

Travel abroad generally increased under the Johnson administration although some called off trips in response to presidential appeals to help stem the dollar drain. The Nixon administration has not asked anyone to stay home.

An all-time high of 13,308 passport applications in one day was set May 5. Officials believe they will have issued 711,000 passports when the April-June period is over—an increase of 24 per cent.

A sampling of some 30,000 passport applications shows Americans still like visit Europe more than any other continent.

Of every 100 passport applicants, 71 said they intended to go to Europe this year.

The Far East and North-Central-South America each were prime destinations for nine of 100. The Middle East and Australia each attracted five, while Africa beckoned to only one in a hundred.

Tuba Player Makes Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — It might be a good idea to appoint the tuba player an assistant secretary of state, the Soviet ambassador said, "because his notes sounded much better than the notes we exchange in a diplomatic way."

"Laughter," said the transcript provided by the White House.

"But this, of course, is a joke," added Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

The tuba player and 53 other members of the University of Minnesota Band concert ensemble, just back from a seven-week tour of the Soviet Union, had been playing in the White House Rose Garden before an audience of about 100.

President Nixon also was impressed by the tuba solo of Stanford Freese of Edina, Minn.

"When you hear a band like this play so well, including somebody who can play a tuba like I didn't think a trumpet could be played—you wonder are they really amateurs—are they really students," Nixon said.

Then laughlingly he revealed there was a "ringer" in the band. He introduced the second flutist, Mrs. Frank Bencriscutto, wife of the conductor. She was sitting in for the regular player because he has just been drafted.

"We will do our very best to get him back to school as quickly as we can," Nixon promised.

Dobrynin also commented on the second flutist.

"I didn't know in the American family the wife played second things," he joked.

The concert of U.S. and Russian music prompted Nixon to remark that "the Russian people and the American people are not natural enemies," that they "are natural friends."

Grants Available For Graduate Study

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech's campus Fulbright adviser, Dr. David M. Vigness, says applications are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education for grants for graduate study or research abroad during 1970-71.

Doctor Has Controlled Optimism

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

BOSTON (AP) — One by one the long parade of sick children came under a compassionate physician's care, and one by one he had to watch them die.

Week after week, year after year, they died, more than 1,500 children now, succumbing to leukemia, the blood cancer.

But Dr. Sidney Farber lost neither his compassion, hope nor determination. He has won victories against leukemia—most of them victories as small as his young patients—by extending healthy life for months or a few years, but in major triumphs has seen two youngsters stay alive and well for 12 to 13 years now.

Two decades ago, children with acute leukemia were brought to hospitals, given blood transfusions, and then usually sent home to die. The average time from diagnosis to death was a few months.

Now children survive four to five years on average under the best treatment, and a principal reason is antileukemia drugs which Dr. Farber helped to pioneer in 1947.

With "controlled optimism," the graying, 65-year-old physician looks forward to ultimate control and cure of leukemia and other cancers, and dreams and presses for establishment of great regional cancer centers which, he believes, could save 100,000 cancer patients annually even if there were no great new discoveries in treatment.

Dr. Farber is director of research of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation, which he founded in 1947, and president of the American Cancer Society this year.

He knows of cancer more than as a physician-researcher-teacher. He survived a serious bout with cancer more than a decade ago. And, despite a heart attack 3½ weeks ago, he still works a seven-day week.

"I became emotionally involved with cancer as a medical student, when the 11-year-old son of one of my professors died of undiagnosed cancer of the liver," he says. Later his commitment became total.

Witness of so many dying children, Dr. Farber rebelled. "I believed these children belong in the world, and that was the stimulus to find new ways to helping them."

It is always an emotional pain to lose young patients. Many nurses and doctors feel similar hurt and frustration when they start caring for leukemic children.

"They are repelled by the illness and the probability of seeing children die. When that happens, I ask them: What would the child and his parents do if they did not have compassionate, specialzed and expert care? At least, we can relieve pain. We can let parents know the child has not been abandoned by medicine, and we can give them support in meeting crises," Dr. Farber says.

"Even more, if we are successful in applying the best that comes from research laboratories, we may save that child's life and return him home in health, at least for a time.

"The knowledge that progress is being made, has been made, and that research could resolve some and eventually all problems—that permits you to transfuse some with optimism to the child and parents. Ultimately we will learn how to control cancer, perhaps by correcting some molecular defect that makes cells become tumorous."

Surgery and radiation still are the primary treatments for cancer but chemotherapy—the use of drugs—is making contributions also.

In November, 1947, Dr. Farber and associates watched with delight when 10 out of 16 children gravely ill with leukemia recovered temporarily after receiving a pioneering drug, aminopterin, and later a related drug, methotrexate. In the beginning, most remissions were brief, although one boy lived for more than seven years. But the age of chemotherapy had been ushered in.

Since then, researchers around the country have developed a handful of drugs that bring reprieves for months to a few years of good life, back home and at school. Drugs are used in combinations or in tandem.

Other measures have helped change the outlook. Hemorrhage is one disastrous complication in leukemia. Instead of giving whole blood transfusions, a technique was worked out to take only platelets—the blood cells involved in halting bleeding—from donors and giving only the platelets to patients. Strict and improved methods of protecting weakened patients from infecions are also a boon.

Drugs are curing some forms of cancer, such as choriocarinoma, a rare form of cancer of the lining of the uterus, and some tumors of the eye.

Withal, Dr. Farber confesses some disappointment in the slow progress of drug attack against cancers, but is confident more and better drugs will be found, or engineered, if greater efforts are made.

He looks, too, for brilliant contributions in time from immunology—finding ways to boost natural defenses against cancer. Cancers like leukemia can almost be cured now, and "cures will come when we can add the help from immunologic defenses or approaches."

The ideal way to treat cancer is to mobilize all available skills on behalf of the patient, Dr. Farber declares. This means a team approach, pulling together the physician, surgeon, radiologist, chemotherapist, from the very start to assess each patient and to work out the best plan of treatment. Too often, says Dr. Farber, treatment is sequential—the surgeon operates, the radiologist then may step in, and then drugs may be tried as a last resort.

This kind of total approach is made with children here, and with patients at other centers. The concept should spread, Dr. Farber holds.

For two decades, he has planned and worked for a great regional center that would bring to bear the talents of all types of specialists, and which would plug in community hospitals into the system, if they wished to join, so patients in smaller hospitals would have the benefit of the latest knowledge and techniques.

Dr. Farber ends an interview to go see patients.

"I am not sure I would be happy if I did not have patients and the challenge to develop better care for them," he says. "Nor would I be happy without teaching. And none of it would truly have great meaning unless I could continue research at the same time."

All that creates a seven-day week for a cancer physician.

Poet Is Named To Who's Who

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His voice has the timbre of, say, a carpenter's rasp shredding cardboard. Yet his albums have sold 14 million copies.

His poems are fleeting fragments of memory: childhood . . . a lost cat . . . loneliness . . . women made love to. Critics' comments, largely favorable, have ranged from "best song writer in the country today" to "banal."

"Suddenly," Rod McKuen remarked, the slouching 6 feet of him collapsed on a davenport in his hillside home, "I'm going to be in 'Who's Who.' It turns out that I've sold more poetry than any poet in history."

His three books of poems—"Stanyan Street and Other Sorrows," "Listen to the Warm" and "Lonesome Cities"—"have sold in hard cover the past two years," McKuen said, "about 1½ million copies."

He cited no comparisons except, elsewhere in the conversation, that T. S. Eliot's last book of collected poems "sold 11,000 copies, the largest selling book he ever had. Which is not a very nice comment, I think, on the world we live in."

McKuen, just turned 36, is a self-taught poet, singer, composer and lyricist. In croaking vocals and rumbling recitations, he is a chansonnier to record-buying masses in night clubs and concert halls.

Working at a typewriter, the melodies coming simultaneously with the words, he has written nearly 1,000 songs.

Some 60 other performers' recordings of many of them have sold more than 40 million albums.

The past year had been "exciting." He had composed background scores for the movies "Joanna" and "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" . . . written a Concerto for Four Harpsichords—"my first full-length classical work"—and written two books of poems and a screenplay.

He had written "a whole album for Frank Sinatra, who I think is about the best singer anywhere, which he has just recorded and which was a big thrill" . . . and received a gold record for "The Sea" and a Grammy award for his lbum of "Lonesome Cities."

McKuen has blue eyes; shaggy, coppery blond hair and a long-nosed, handsome face scarred by teen-age acne. His past includes birth in Oakland, Calif., interrupted schooling as his mother moved about the West, and jobs as cowpoke, lumberjack, shoe salesman, cookie puncher in a biscuit factory and disc jockey at KROW, San Francisco.

There he met Phyllis Diller, who had worked there as an advertising copywriter. She liked his folk singing and got him an audition at the Purple Onion. A stint there was followed by a brief acting career at Universal studio, where Henry Mancini encouraged him to write more songs.

McKuen lounged now—in blue shirt, gray corduroys and dirty sneakers—in his house overlooking Universal. A bachelor, he lives there with two monstrous English sheepdogs, Mr. Kelly and Katie, and two frisky Siamese cats, Big Mike and Little Joe.

"It seems to me the more successful my books become," McKuen said, "the harder it is for me to turn out things I'm satisfied with."

Qut of his various talents, what does McKuen consider himself basically—a poet?

"No, I'm just one man trying to talk about what's going on around him and trying to relate to his own environment. I think that all the things I do are a mosaic of whatever I am.

"The definition of a poet is difficult anyway. I've always said I feel that poetry can be anything that takes us out of ourselves for a little while and illuminates our lives a little bit."
