Heavy Work in City Clean-up Drive Brings Week's Extension

"We're hauling off a tremendous amount of junk," City Manager Glen Taylor said Wednesday morning, May 28, after one full day of work on the city-wide clean-up campaign. He added that city workmen had hauled off 21 truck loads.

The Memorial Day holiday postponed all activity until Tuesday. Work will continue well past the one-week designated.

"We'll be lucky if we get done in two weeks," Mr. Taylor declared.

All other city work has stopped, and every employee except the girls in the City Office is out with the clean-up trucks, he indicated.

Three city trucks and two loaders began at Haskell and First Streets Tuesday morning and are picking up junk in every alley, going from Haskell Street east. When this is completed, the pick-up will begin south of 15th Street. The trucks will make a second run to get up anything that may have been put in the alleys after the first pickup.

"Then we'll begin work on the list of special things people have asked us to do," Mr. Taylor said, adding that he had "a list a mile long." This, he said, probably will not begin until next week. It will include items that cannot be handled in the regular pickup or are too large or heavy to be moved to the alleys.

The city will pull up trees only if they are in the open and can be reached easily, and if there is no danger of their falling on a house or utility wires.

Mr. Taylor said he was pleased with the response to the clean-up drive and he urged everyone living in the city limits to co-operate.

Those wanting items removed that cannot be taken to the alleys may call either the city hall or the Chamber of Commerce.

It was again pointed out that this clean-up is especially significant because of the city's entry in the Governor's Beautify Texas program.

First '75 Wheat Could Be Cut Late This Week

If the weather clears, the best wheat harvest Collingsworth County has had in several years should begin this week.

This is the consensus of the three buyers, Glen Warrick of Warricks's Inc., Jones Singley of Singley Mill and Elevator, and Bundy Moore of Farmers Co-op Enterprises, Dodson.

The crop may not yield what was expected a month and a half to two months ago, but it will still be a good crop, according to agricultural agent Don Reeves.

There have been a few reports from the south part of the county that some stalks are beginning to break and fall down. Some attribute this to the late freeze, yet no damage to the heads is found.

Most growers do not attempt a per acre yield at this point.

Players Needed on Peewee Ball Teams

Thirteen youngsters, including three girls, reported for the first practice of Peewee baseball Monday evening, May 26. Little girls have not previously played with Peewees.

This group will play each Monday and Thursday in the southeast part of Ellison Park from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m.

Tommy Thomas and Denny Marcum are in charge of the summer program, and they urge all other dads who can come out, to be at the twice-weekly sessions. "It will be appreciated," Thomas said.

Uniforms were issued to the youngsters present

Mr. Thomas reminded that a few uniforms were not turned in at the end of the 1974 season, and he has requested that these be brought to him or Mr. Marcum. These are in the smaller sizes and are needed to replace some issued Monday that are too large.

Mr. Thomas emphasized that the Peewees are for boys and girls 5 through 8 years of age. Emphasis this year will be on the fundamentals of batting, throwing and running.

All boys and girls who want to play are urged to come out as soon as possible.

DARRELL FEEMSTER

Feemster Earns Wayland Degree

PLAINVIEW -- Darrell Wayne Feemster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feemster of 1402 El Paso, Wellington, received a B.A. degree in Religion from Wayland Baptist College during commencement May 17.

He received the Religion Award for 1975 for outstanding achievement in that field.

An ordained Baptist minister, he is pastor of Quail Baptist Church. He and his wife, the former Connie Bearden, will move to Quail. He plans to attend Southwestern Theological Seminary later.

In Wayland, Rev. Feemster participated in intermural sports and was elected to the all-tournament team in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes tournament.

and the final selection is made by teachers on the basis of dependability, service and patriotism. "Walk Tall, carry yourself proudly and be proud to be an American," Mrs. Bartlett urged the young recipient.

Betty Burba garnered six awards: The National Arion for achievement in Band; a $200 residence hall Scholarship from West Texas State University, a $800 Campus Service Scholarship from West Texas State, the Valedictorian's Scholarship, Betty Crocker Award and Valedictorian Award.

In giving the salutatorian's address Sallie spoke of the sadness of walking out the doors of Wellington High School for the last time, but of the pride which the students will take with them.

In her valedictory, Betty recalled the years laden with activity, and noted that when this class of 29 graduates started to school, there were 70 students enrolled.

She, too, spoke of the mounting sense of pride the class has experienced during the four years in high school, and of their closeness to each other. Most of the graduates will continue their education, she noted.

The commencement speaker was the Rev. Ervin Emmert, father of one of the graduates, and pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

"When I think of the future, I am not as happy about the world we are inviting these young people into, yet no time in history has been an ideal time," he said.

Turning to the graduates, he told them that they cannot reach the things they want without help--help from friends, help from family and help from God.

"The diplomas you receive tonight are a challenge to a life of discovery...to one of great privilege and that of hope and challenge God has built in the universe, he said.

Reminding the seniors that the scriptures tell them, "I have strength for all things, I can be equal to any emergency if I permit God to infuse his inner strength into me."

He urged seniors to move in these steps:

- Let your life revolve around faith in God.
- Be interested in those worthy of your friendship.
- Recognize God's gifts to you.

Wellington (Tex.) Leader
Thurs., May 29, 1975 3

- Talk to God often and enjoy peace of mind.

- Learn to discipline your mind. It is more important than you will ever know.

The senior girls sang John Denver's "Friend, I will Remember You," then Steve Emmert led the audience in singing the school song.

Tom Anderson, minister of the Church of Christ, whose son was one of the graduates, gave the invocation and the Rev. Roy Collins, pastor of First Baptist Church, the benediction.

Diplomas were presented by Supt. E.W. Clement and two members of the school board whose sons were graduating, Richard Nall and William O'Rear.

Receiving diplomas were Lynn Anglin, Lucinda Aguilar, Terry Anderson, Gwen Barber, Leatha Baker, Betty Burba, Kelly Cook, Mike Cummings.

Jean Ann Owens, Margie Parker, Joe Porter, Janie Reynolds, Becky Seitz, Lucy Sullivan, Sallie Tarver, Linda Thomas, Tanya Watson and Robert Wolf.

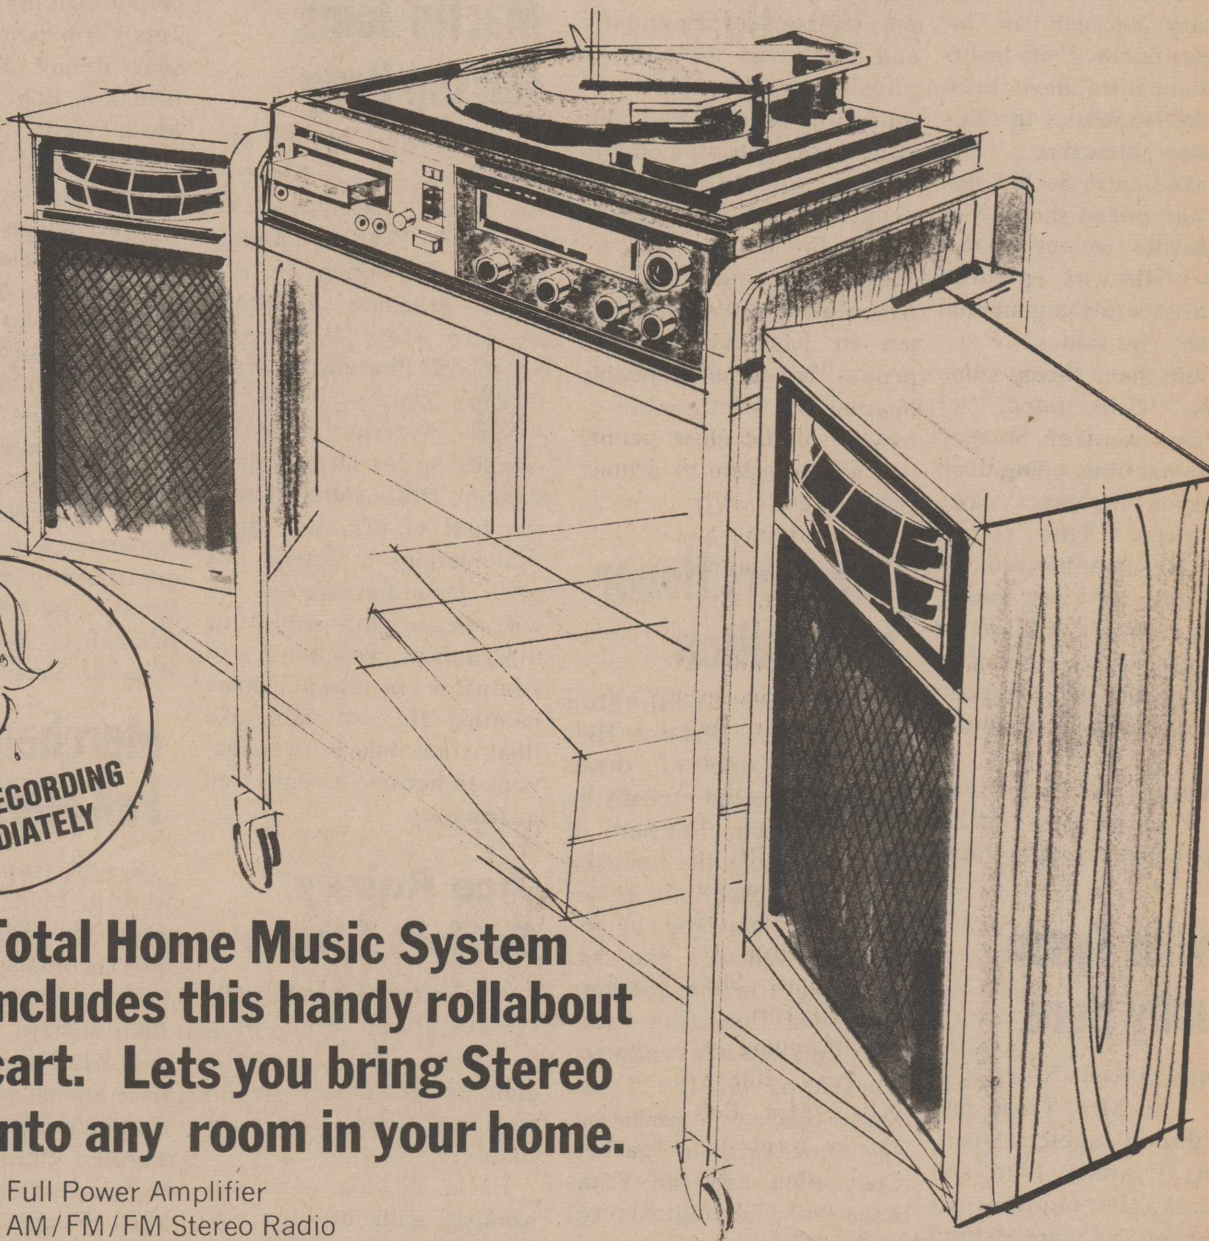

Pam Vines played "Pomp and Circumstance" as the processional, while David Nall played the recessional, the Triumphal March from "Aida."

Juniors who were ushers and who presented programs were Randall Sims, Richard Sims, Neal Cochran, Sammy Gonzales, Paul Hanna, Jeff Hanna, Alicia Terry, Lana Lacy, Denise Archer, Linda Coffee, Kim Goforth and Karen Jeffrey.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Starr over last week end were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen of Canyon, and Mrs. Starr's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. N.W. Morton of Oklahoma City.

Cancer Society Doesn't Endorse Any Products

American Cancer Society officials announced today that it in no way endorses any commercial product. The Chairman of the Board of the Texas Division of the ACS, Stanley Cole, said, "We want to make it clear that this applies to any type of insurance, especially cancer insurance."

Cole, a San Antonio insurance executive, said the Society feels the statement is necessary because an increasing number of insurance companies have been using ACS statistics in sales promotion literature. "The American Cancer Society has never authorized the use of its statistics or any educational film or printed literature for any commercial purpose," he said.

"There have been some reports," Cole stated, "of American Cancer Society educational films being used by agents in direct sales promotions. This is an absolutely unauthorized activity and we are asking people to report this sort of activity to the State Board of Insurance and the American Cancer Society if it continues."

"While the American Cancer Society assembles and publishes many statistics regarding cancer incidence," Cole said, "it should be pointed out that it is possible to save one in two cancer patients if people would do for themselves what they can, using available knowledge regarding early diagnosis and known effective treatment. "Our goal," Cole continued, "is to control cancer. The Society funds basic and clinical research, disseminates up-to-date diagnostic and treatment methods to physicians, provides community services and our volunteers provide many services and rehabilitation programs for the cancer patient."

Cole concluded, "The American Cancer Society is not in business to scare people, but to help people become knowledgeable enough so that more people will act promptly to protect themselves."

Community Action to Open Summer Program

The summer program at the Community Action Center will begin Monday, June 9, and continue until about the time school opens, Mrs. Tessie Burba, director, has announced.

This is planned for children four through 12 years of age, and is primarily for those whose parents work. The center will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and each child will receive breakfast, lunch and an afternoon snack.

Mrs. Burba said that for the first time, emphasis in the summer program will be more toward tutoring those students who may be having problems at school.

"If they are having problems, then we want to make their time worthwhile," Mrs. Burba said, at the same time explaining that Community Action will not be taking over any functions of the schools.

Tutors will be teen-agers working in the summer youth program under the Manpower program.

"We take a child who has a need, and any child left on the streets during the summer is a child in need,"

There will be a recreational program as well, including base ball, trips to Ellison Park, and crafts. All kinds of crafts supplies are needed by the center, Mrs. Burba said.

Mrs. C.D. Damron Honored on Her Eighty-first Birthday

A party Friday evening, May 23, honored Mrs. C.D. Damron on her 81st birthday. Her daughter, Mrs. A.L. Elliott, was hostess. She was assisted by her niece, Miss Kathy Damron.

Guests were members of her 84 Club, although for this occasion, they played 42.

Garden flowers decorated the entertaining rooms. Pictures were taken and refreshments served.

Mrs. Damron is the widow of the late Rev. Damron, long-time Methodist clergyman who three times served churches here. The Trinity United Methodist parsonage was her home for 9 years—an unusual tenure in the Methodist Church.

They came first in the early 1930's, to serve the Methodist Circuit, which included churches at Aberdeen, Salt Fork, Marella, Quail and Loco. In 1936, Rev. Damron was transferred to Dunn, near Snyder, and later at Lakeview, Beckton near Abernathy and Rochester.

The Methodist Circuit had become Trinity Methodist shortly before they returned to Wellington, and still later he came out of retirement to again serve as pastor.

Their retirement included

RSVP Honors Two Wed.

Mrs. C.D. Damron and Mrs. Roscoe Land were the honorees at the RSVP monthly birthday luncheon Wednesday, May 21.

Mrs. S.H. Manuel reported that forty-two attended the covered dish luncheon, which was held in the RSVP Center on the west side of the square.

A recognition service was conducted, at which time approximately thirty certificates were given to those who had volunteered 100 hours of their time in the past six months. Pins were given to members of RSVP that had not received them previously.

Mrs. Carl McKinney presented entertainment in song.

This El Buzon design for Maid of Cotton Kathryn Tenkhoff combines the lustre of polished cotton with the influence of Eastern color and motif for a show-stopping ball-gown. Double ruffles form the collar and cuffs, and the waist is accentuated with a cummerbund above the full, flowing skirt. Brilliant hues of scarlet, violet, indigo, and blue are starkly contrasted on the black ground.

Girl Scout Troop 201 Wins Council Blue Ribbon Award

Girl Scout Troop 201 has earned the Quivera Council Blue Ribbon Troop Award, coming as the climax of their year's work.

This is an achievement award, toward which the girls work all year, explained Mrs. Benny McDanel, a leader.

"The girls won it by their projects, and the many things they did in their Scouting," she explained.

There have been two projects for Community Action Program. First they collected canned foods, then they made stuffed animals. Flag ceremonies were held, there were two field trips, the girls worked with their sister troop.

They maintained 90 per cent attendance through the year -- one of the major requirements. Members of Troop 201 participated in council projects, sold calendars and cookies, and turned in newspaper reports.

Each girl was required to earn two badges -- but everyone in Troop 201 earned at least 4 or 5.

Members were Cathy

Crelia, Belinda Crelia, Cynthia Gollighugh, Rhonda Gollighugh, Karen Whitten, Ladana Denton, Brenda Baker, Lisa Byrd, Renee Daniel, Karen McDanel, Kim Black and a new member, Melissa Lockett.

Leaders are Mrs. McDanel, Mrs. Maxey Baker, Mrs. Lyndon Crelia, Mrs. Lyman Daniel and Mrs. Alva Byrd.

The girls will continue to hold their meetings through the summer.

Different weight fabrics of an identical pattern are a new look in coordinates. Lighter weight fabric is used for blouses and shirts, while an identical heavier weight fabric is ideal for skirts and pants, reports Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University.

An Old Look For New Furniture

If you're like many homemakers, you'd like the look of fine old colonial furniture for your home, yet you're not prepared to pay the prices usually asked for authentic antiques. Fortunately, a good secretary can help you, especially if it's a reproduction of the old fashioned kind. This one features the charm of graceful Queen Anne styling. Other pieces in the collection possess the strong lines and unique "spiral rope" motifs of the handsome Jacobean period that early American craftsmen loved to make. These elegant English motifs, with their sea-change touch of colonial cleverness have been recreated by the talented designers at Thomasville in a collection called FOUNTAINHEAD in native American pine and finished in a sunbleached light pine or a warm fruit-wood, toned honey pine.

If you combine the secretary with a couple of coordinated end tables and upholstered pieces and add a few old-fashioned effects, such as classic china dogs on the secretary's shelves, a gorgeous Georgian-style teapot, and drapery done in a country floral print, you can turn any old room into a New World room.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

If you're tired of scrubbing around stove burners whose chrome rings discolor or scratch, take an aluminum pie pan and cut out the center to fit over the burner. This can be easily lifted out and replaced with a fresh one when food or stains make it unsightly.

Don't discard that old sponge just yet, especially if you're a plant lover! First boil the sponge to sterilize it then cut into pieces about the same size as the bottom of a flower pot. Insert in the pot and use instead of rocks or gravel used to absorb moisture.

Renewal of Interest Seen In Improvement of Airport

A revival of interest in improving Marian Airpark has appeared and the question is asked if federal and state funding is still available.

These funds are available. Moreover, the application used earlier, which received approval of the aviation committee of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, is still effective.

By way or reminder, the Federal Aviation Agency has a program for the development of airports in certain areas, by which federal funding pays 75 per cent of the cost of development. The state will finance one-half of the remaining cost, leaving the city to pay only the balance of 12½ per cent.

This was a $380,000 project a year ago. It will be more now. Even so, the city's cost will be small for what it gets.

Far more Wellington business men and area farmers use services at Marian Airpark than is generally realized. A number of these trips recently have been to Austin. The time and energy saved by a business in the state capital. The same is true of those having business in Wellington.

Agri-flying remains most important to this county's economy, and will as long as we use pesticides and defoliants.

For those interested in airport improvement, a talk with city officials will let them know your concern. For information, county commissioner Cliff Hartman is one of the Panhandle's most knowledgeable men in this field.

Other Editors Say . . .

A New Chapter Opening

For the first time in recent history, the nation has witnessed the spectacle of a Democratic Congress refusing to allow a Republican President to throw good money after bad.

After all, with more than $50 billion already shelled out Americans have turned over to their elected government such a fantastic amount of money that the spending of a few paltry millions has little meaning anymore.

However, if we can read the mood of the American people, the word is out — enough is enough! No more trying to sell the world a watered down American way of life, an anemic kind of democracy or even a dollar down type of exported religion.

While we may not be turn-row isolationists, the average American is saying or thinking; the days of the good-time Charlie, the ugly American, the GI with Hershey bars and Double Mint in one pocket and dollar bills in the other is over, passe, kaput!!

Americans are not going to send the Marines out to sea to help Standard Oil or American Fruit Co., some hill-billy guerillas, or send dollars to grease the palms of already oily politicians in East Africa, northern India, or Outer Mongolia.

A study of American life and world affairs will quickly convince even the most skeptical that our way is not always the best and often time not even second best. For instance several nations are ahead of us in medical care, others best us in their care of the ecology, while others lay claim to a broader case of public education.

Americans have contributed so much to the well-being of the peoples on planet earth. But likewise we have been brash and cocky, and egotistical as well as naive, uncultured and uncouth. Next year we will be 200 years old. We are not only growing up — we are growing old, as a nation, a people, a culture. We are paying more attention to the arts, the folkscrafts, furniture, homes, drama, the theatre, music and all those manifestations of a somewhat somber maturity.

Dollar and bullet diplomacy has been tried with little if any success. The American people are writing finish to that chapter even if some politicians haven't gotten the word.

AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The 64th Legislature is deep into its last final week of activity, with all of its remaining Big 3 assignments still incomplete.

Conference committees have drawn the jobs of adjusting differences between House and Senate versions of these measures:

— The $12 billion all-time record appropriations bill for 1976-77. There is really little controversy, and the budget will be ready for final approval by adjournment deadline Tuesday.

— Public school finance reform. There is plenty of controversy here, with the outcome likely to remain in doubt until near the final gavel. Gov. Dolph Briscoe shows every sign of being determined to veto any measure which overspends revenue in sight.

— Utility regulation through a state commission. Again, there are strong differences between the House and the Senate majority. House leaders insist they have compromised enough in getting their bill passed and want nothing weaker. They are backed by a well-organized citizens group which has served notice it will have the House bill or nothing.

Conference reports can be passed by a bare majority, and they are subject to no amendments.

Oil Increasing

For the 39th straight month, the Texas Railroad Commission has set a wide-open 100 per cent statewide oil production allowable.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said indications are Texas production is "beginning to stabilize and possibly show a slight increase."

The big East Texas field, a deviation from the all-out production pattern, will be held to 86 per cent.

Appointments

Governor Briscoe has appointed former State Rep.

Menton J. Murray of Harlingen to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, replacing Paul Leonard of Fort Worth who resigned.

Briscoe also announced his intention to appoint Joe R. Carroll of Snyder to Texas Water Rights Commission. Carroll will succeed Otha Dent of Austin who resigned before expiration of his term.

Industries Slow

Only 15 new industries located in Texas during April, compared with a 25-per-month average in 1974.

Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the 15 will have an annual impact of $137 million on the Texas economy and create nearly 4,000 new jobs.

The industries will locate in Longview, San Marcos, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Gainesville, Clear Lake City, La Grange, Midland, San Antonio, Sherman, Summerfield, Tyler, Henderson and Liberty.

Courts Speak

The Third Court of Civil Appeals turned down Atty. Gen. John Hill's request for rehearing of an effort to stop a $45 million Southwestern Bell Telephone Company intrastate long distance rate hike.

Hill's motion to modify judgment to prevent the increase going into immediate effect also was rejected. The Attorney General has promised to appeal.

Texas Supreme Court turned down a suit by Amarillo, Borger and Pampa against Canadian River Municipal Water Authority over distribution of costs for operation and maintenance of an aqueduct, dam and reservoir.

Plainview, Lubbock, Brownfield, Levelland, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Slaton and Lamesa sided with the Water Authority.

AG Opinion

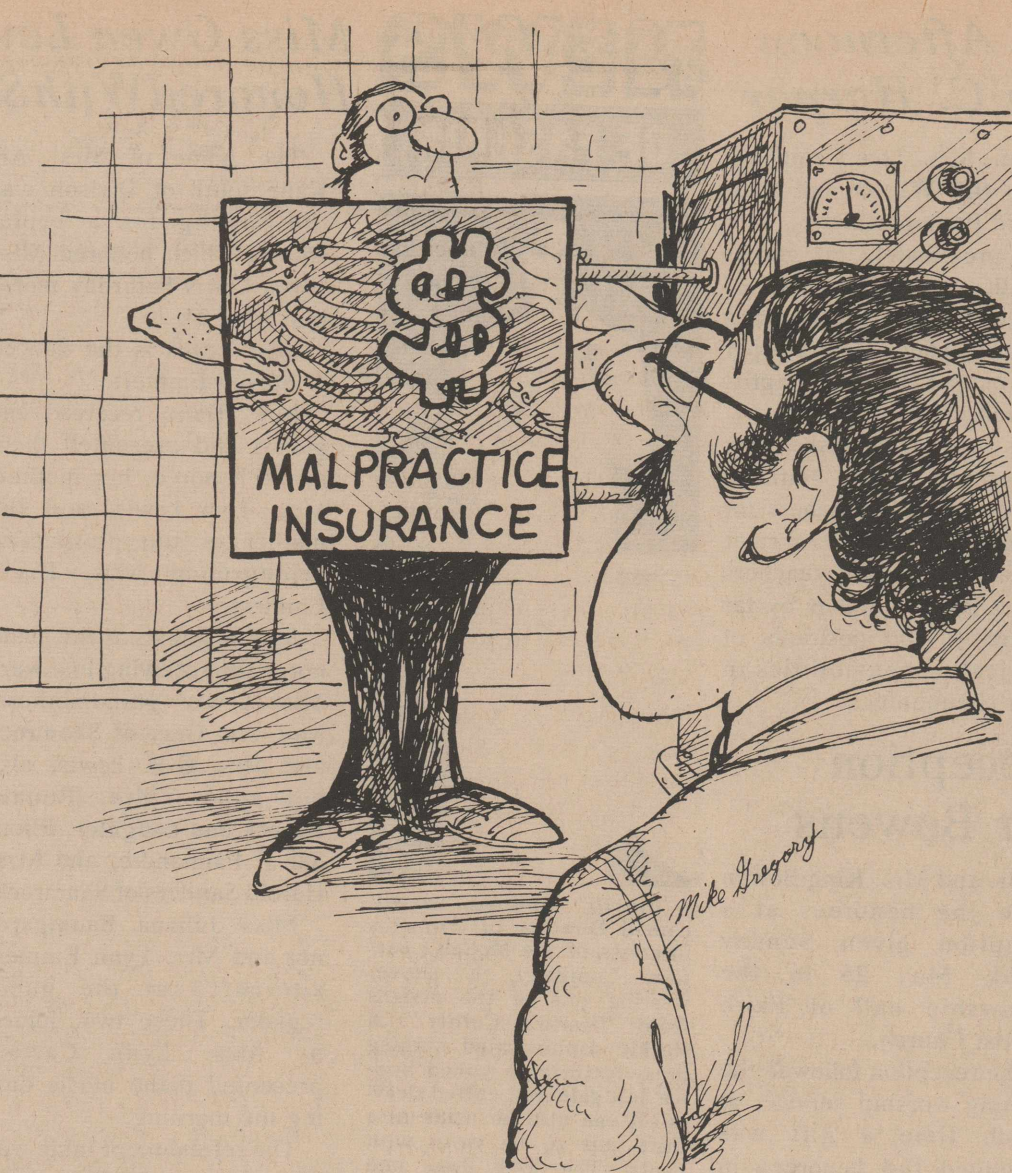

A bill which would permit distribution of state-owned textbooks to pupils of non-public schools "probably" is constitutional, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Domestic relations courts may appoint masters in chancery, but only in exceptional cases for good cause.

An educational and recreational fund administered for benefit of state prisoners may be invested or spent for prisoners' benefit in any manner consistent with purposes of the trust, law and proper prison system management.

A bank holding company may own a majority of the stock of more than one bank without violating the constitution or laws.

Charges Refused

Charges that $500 million in erroneous payments were made to Texas welfare recipients due to clerical errors were challenged by State Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell.

Vowell disputed statements of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning mistakes of state and local welfare officials.

HEW said another $500 million was spent in error because recipient's provided incorrect information on factors determining eligibility for aid and size of payments.

Vowell said 70 per cent of welfare mistakes are due to recipient error or falsification. He said efforts are being made to cleanse Texas welfare rolls of ineligible recipients.

Short Shorts

A new form of health and accident protection will be available December 1 through Health Maintenance Organizations. Governor Briscoe signed the bill into law.

Comptroller Bob Bullock issued checks totaling $19.9 million to Texas cities in the second round of monthly city sales tax payments. Payments were up from $16.1 million in April.

The House voted to raise the state inheritance tax exemption from $25,000 to $60,000, for a revenue loss of $57.5 million if the Senate goes along.

Climbing Fish

One of the strangest fish in Thailand is the climbing perch. This fish has prickly spikes on its scales and can crawl on the ground or climb a tree.

"Father of Modern Band"

Frederick the Great of Prussia is considered the "father of the modern band." In 1763, he ordered a military band to be established and named the instruments to be used. Later military bands were sponsored by other countries of Europe. Thus, the band came into being through its use in Military training.

INFLATION STILL THE PROBLEM

The dramatic drop in the economy has eased inflationary pressures and temporarily eliminated the cost spiral businessmen have had to fight for the past three years. A recent survey confirms the consensus of many businessmen that the economy will continue to slide and prices will continue to ease for several more months.

But, while businessmen are enjoying some slack in the economy and some price-cutting by suppliers, those same businessmen are convinced that our worst enemy is still inflation. Some leaders are anticipating a sharp rise in the cost of living before the end of 1975. The majority of those interviewed are convinced that the inflation spiral won't commence again until late 1976 or beyond.

Most inflation-worriers are concerned with the longer-term view. They believe that over-stimulation of the economy now will result in a dramatic inflation wave in 18 to 24 months. That wave of inflation could easily be the double digit category if the government and/or congress panics over a slow recovery from the present recession and primes the pump too heavily in order to get the economy on an upward course.

Many companies are not just thinking about inflation, but are already doing something about it now. One major paint manufacturer has doubled its capital spending for plant and equipment this year, in spite of a drop in income. Another large manufacturer is already planning future growth and expansion with a 5%-6% inflation rate built into its plans.

Wages are the big question mark because Labor has managed to hold wages up in a soft economy. With the current recession almost over, wages have not dropped and economists expect prices to go still higher in order to absorb the higher labor costs which are sure to come. Excessive deficit spending by the federal government in the past has given a strong push to prices in general. Sharp increases in food and fuel costs have locked in a strong inflationary rate of 6% or better for the foreseeable future.

Rites Here for Former Norwood Coach-Teacher

A former Samnorwood principal and Coach, Paul J. Morris, 60, died Tuesday, May 20, at Hamlin Memorial Hospital of an apparent heart attack. He was the son-in-law of Ace Rainey and brother-in-law of Sheriff John Rainey and Selba Rainey of Lutie.

Mr. Morris was superintendent of schools at McCauley, west of Hamlin. Funeral services were at 10:00 a.m. Friday, at McCauley Baptist Church with the Rev. George Cassey, pastor officiating.

Graveside rites were at Memorial Gardens, Wellington, at 4:00 p. m. with the Rev. Bill Rushing, pastor of Samnorwood Baptist Church, officiating.

Mr. Morris was born at Ben Wheeler and reared in East Texas. He began his teaching career at Samnorwood in the late 1930's and was there for several years. He was married to Miss Pauline Rainey in 1940.

After leaving here, he was superintendent at Mobeetie, Estelline, Water Valley, Presidio, Dell City, Chandler, Darrouzett and Forreton, in addition to McCauley.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Paulette McKinney of Lubbock and Mrs. Linda Rodgers of Pampa; a son, Robert Morris of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; a sister, Lorene Burke of Corsicana; two brothers, E.C. Morris of Tyler and George Morris of Dallas, and five grandchildren.

Going from here to the service were Mr. and Mrs. Ace Rainey, John Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. Selba Rainey, along with Ace Rainey's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Finch of Lancaster, Calif., who also returned here for the burial service. Mike Rainey of Dallas joined them at McCauley.

Coming here for the graveside rites were Jerry Rainey of Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Rainey and Mr. and Mrs. Don Finch and family of Atoka, Oklahoma; Roy Conner and Earl Conner of Shamrock; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Pampa.

Food Stamp Allotments Will Change on July 1

Food stamp allotments and maximum income eligibility standards will be increased on July 1 by approximately five percent according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). For example, the allotment for a four-person household will be increased from $154 to $162 a month, and the maximum income eligibility level from $513 to $540 per month.

The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-86), directs that coupon allotments be adjusted semiannually to reflect changes in food prices as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Maximum income eligibility standards are based on allotments and are therefore adjusted at the same time.

Allotment adjustments are based on the cost of USDA's Economy Food Plan as it is computed from Bureau of Labor Statistics food prices. Adjustments are made each July based on the cost of the Economy Food Plan in the preceding February, and in January based on the cost of that plan in the preceding August.

The cost of the Economy Food Plan for Feb. 1975 was $162 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value of the coupon allotment for a four-person household from $154 to $162 and make appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. In line with the Congressional intent expressed in House Report 94-2, purchase requirements will not be changed, except for households in the top monthly net income brackets.

Maximum income eligibility standards starting July 1 are:

One-person household - $215; two-person household - $300; three-person household - $427; four-person household - $540; five-person household - $640; six-person household - $740; seven-person household - $833 and eight-person household - $926.

For each additional household member over eight, add $73 to the eight-person eligibility level.

Pheasants Sought On Gulf Coast

AUSTIN --- A pheasant stocking program on the Texas coast is slowly paying off, according to an article in the January issue of TEXAS PARKS & WILDLIFE magazine.

In stocking the pheasants, biologists hope to establish it as a new game bird in Texas, says wildlife biologist David Reid, author of "Ringnecks in the Ricelands."

Of special interest is the bird's ability to reproduce. Pheasant reproduction in Matagorda County, according to the article, was very limited from 1964, the year the pheasants were released in Matagorda, to 1966.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

Flags flying around the square and on 8th Street and the Highway made an impressive sight on Memorial Day. Even more gratifying was the increase in the number of flags that were being flown at individual homes. It was a good and worthy effort that reflects credit on the community.

Went out to visit both Fairview Cemetery and Memorial Gardens on Memorial Day. It is astonishing to note how many veterans are buried in the two cemeteries, particularly the newer sections of each cemetery. The American Legion, The Veterans of Foreign Wars and whoever else is helping in this remembrance should be commended. In honoring those who have gone on, they honor themselves. The bright new flags waving gallantly in the May breeze provided an inspiring sight.

For two weeks the combine crews have been moving south in increasing numbers and some of our local operators joined them last week and others left this week for southern wheat fields. Harvest will start here next week and barring rainy weather will be past the peak two weeks from today. Then the combines will start moving north again.

In normal weather wheat matures about a week later for every hundred miles north. Rainy weather can vary this pattern slightly; but wheat like other agricultural crops has a tenuous and at the same time a durable and inherited way of ripening when the lengthening rays of the sun say it is time to ripen.

We have an excellent wheat crop nearing harvest in the Wellington area. The yield will be most satisfactory if the price will hold near its present level. At the present time wheat is holding around $3 a bushel.

Again I thank all of you who sent greetings in one form or another on my birthday. When the first cards came in I was greatly pleased. By the second day I began to sense that this was an organized effort by the community to express their appreciation. Let me say now that it is something I will treasure for the rest of my life.

There were so many expressions of good will that it would be impossible for me to acknowledge all of them individually in an appropriate time. For the time being, let me say I thank you. God willing, I hope to send an early Christmas letter to each one of you expressing some of my thoughts.

Went to the reception in honor of Mrs. John C. Harper at the Walter Camp home Sunday afternoon. It was a great occasion and I saw any number of young friends as well as many old ones. Recognition of this kind could not come to a more deserving person. Vern [Thomas] Harper has performed a superlative task in developing musical talent in Wellington. She deserves every kind word she received. Not only has she taught many accomplished musicians, she has also created an appreciation of good music in the entire community.

When you reach a certain age in life there is a measure of sadness in the joy of having your work acclaimed. Vern Harper expressed this very well when she told a friend: "I appreciate this very much; but it also makes me sad for it means that I am near the end of my teaching days." That may be true Vern; but your work will live on in hundreds of devoted hearts and talented hands.

At the reception for Mrs. Harper, Mrs. J.F. Michael asked me if I observed the total eclipse of the moon on May 24-25 and I nodded my head in assent; but the nod told her only part of the truth. I saw the eclipse at two different times. I had set the alarm clock to ring a few minutes after the eclipse was supposed to start and I watched it until the moon was half covered by the shadow of the earth.

The second visting of the eclipse was when it was complete with only a trace of light observable from the upper part of the moon as it traveled deep in the southern sky.

This second observation was brief. As I stepped out the back door a breeze slammed the back door shut. In my bare feet I walked around to the front door and it was locked securely, just as I figured it would be. Henry was in Amarillo. My keys to the house and the car were lying on my bedroom table safe and secure.

I took another look at the eclipse of the moon, another look at my bare feet and a second look and try of both of those locked doors. And I thought, "Well, old man, you have played hell again." I could have roused Willis Wyrick and I could have gotten Mickey Kendrick out of bed; but neither alternative appealed to me as a solution of my predicament.

By this time I was fully awake and the adrenalin was racing in my blood. Suddenly I remembered the strong tool I had been using in grubbing dandelions and there it was on the back porch. Five minutes after the door slammed I was back in my own bedroom with my feet washed and dried. As I stretched my limbs and prepared for slumber, I thought: "Bless the dandelions."
