VOL. XXV. CANYON, RANDALL COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1921. NUMBER 9

BAPTIST CHURCH ASSEMBLY HELD HERE JUNE 15-23

GREAT PROGRAM ANNOUNCED BY COMMITTEE

Several Hundred Visitors From Entire Panhandle Country Will Attend the Assembly.

All plans for the Baptist Encampment on June 15-23 at the Canyon City Club Grounds have been perfected. Tents have been secured, speakers and teachers, all experts in their lines, have been engaged. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Condrey of the Canyon Cafe will have charge of the restaurant service. They are up-to-date restaurant managers, college people, are deeply interested in the success of the Assembly, and will contribute their part to the great undertaking.

The school and church people of Canyon have brought right to their door inspirational and educational advantages of superior class. Rev. Fronabarger expresses the hope that the churches and the Normal will help the local church make this encampment a great success and at the same time secure training for social and Christian work as well as make for more efficiency in righteous endeavor. He invites the people of the community to come and camp with the Baptists, or visit the day and night meetings, and mingle with the people coming from other towns of the Plains.

The Encampment will be held on the Canyon City Club Grounds.

Any who have not as yet visited the canyons of the Panhandle should not fail to take advantage of this opportunity to spend several days in this, a temple of God's own handiwork. The serene beauty of the surroundings should tempt many to combine rest with study, while the call of exploration will be answered by many who enjoy the more acitve pursuits in their recreation hour.

There will be a matriculation fee of $1.50 for each person camping on the grounds. To those who come from nearby cities for the services the matriculation will be 75 cents.

A small tent to accomodate from four to five people can be rented for $5.00 for the period of encampment. A larger tent to give accomodation to as many as eight people will be $8.00.

Space will also be arranged for all who care to bring their own tents.

Many will wish to cook their own meals and these people will be able to purchase supplies from a Commissary on the grounds.

Meals will also be served to those who so desire at a restaurant on the grounds.

The entire grounds will be well lighted by the Delco system.

Mrs. A. F. Beddoe will conduct the W. M. U. hour and workers from the various churches should not fail to take advantage of these hours of inspiration and instruction, for Mrs. Beddoe's work is known to all.

Mrs. Chastain and Miss Sprecker will conduct classes in the B. Y. P. U. manuals both senior and junior. Classes will also be arranged for those who have completed the above books prior to the Encampment.

Dr. W. S. Wiley, State Field Secretary of Sunday School work, is to be with us; also Miss Hardin, Elementary worker and Mr. Leon Wiley. Classes will be held in S. S. Manual, Winning to Christ and Plans and Programs.

No Encampment would be complete without the great inspirational hours. The committee realized this and saw to it that speakers were selected who could and would make it worth your while to come to the Encampment even if there were nothing else.

No gathering but is enriched and made more helpful to all when music plays an important part in the program. Plans are being made to have music during this encampment which will be both inspiring and enjoyable. Come with the expectation of entering joyfully into the singing. The music will be under the direction of Rev. H. V. Hamilton who is a leader of proven ability in this line as in many others.

Each one who can play any musical instrument is urged to bring it with them. It is hoped that a large number will respond to this call and that a good sized orchestra will result.

CHURCH CAMPAIGN POSTPONED FOR WEEK OF JUNE 5

The Educational Campaign scheduled to start in the local Methodist church next Sunday has been postponed for one week owing to the Commencement activities which will take the attention of the people.

The Southern Methodist church is asking for $33,000,000 from the members of this organization. The quota for the local church is $5,600.00. W. J. Flesher is chairman of the Campaign for the local church, and captains will head teams to wait upon every member of the church during the week of June 5. Practically all of the work will be done that Sunday afternoon.

High School Gives Play Monday Night

The play of the Canyon high school Monday night at the Normal Auditorium was very creditably done and evoked great praise from the large audience which had assembled to see the young people. "Dot, the Miner's Daughter" was presented with the following cast:

David Mason, a farmer—Jack Foster.
Herbert Mason, a returned college student—Edward Gerald.
Royal Meadows, foster son of Mrs. Clifton—Herschell Coffee.
Arthur Floyd, a villian—Roy Campbell.
George Clifton, a returned Californian—Robert McGee.
Bill Tory, Floyd's confederate—Marvin Reid.
Parson Swift, a minister—Bailie McCormick.
Brewster, an officer—Mark Foster.
Ebony, a colored individual—Billie McClure.
Mrs. Mason, wife of David Mason—Frances Hicks.
Dolores? daughter of Mrs. Mason—Lila Fae Simmons.
Winnifred Clifton, daughter of Mrs. Clifton—Edith Harrison.
Mrs. Clifton, George Clifton's deserted wife—Amelia Hazelwood.
Aunt Hap, a lady of color—Gladys Campbell.
Bridesmaids—Annie Mae McClure and Ruth Jennings.

First Act: David's Soliquoy: return of Herbert and the fainting of Winnifred at the sight of Floyd.

Second Act: The revelation; David Mason's confession; disappearance of Winnifred; plotting; Herbert's departure.

Third Act: The wedding; Ebony's timely act; sudden appearance of Herbert.

Fourth Act: Arrival of George Clifton; David Mason's name cleared; all ends in happiness.

463 Scholastics Are In Randall County

Judge Worth A. Jennings states that the scholastic census of the rural schools shows a total of 463 children of scholastic age this year. The census of last year shows 428, making an increase of 55.

The census in Canyon showed a total of 534 this year, an increase of 67 over last year. Randall county thus has 112 more children of scholastic age this year than last year, an increase of 12½ per cent.

School Election to Come on Saturday

The school election to determine whether or not the taxes of the district shall be raised 50 percent and the 10th and 11th grades maintained the Canyon school for the coming year, will be held Saturday.

Only property tax payers in the district will be allowed to vote.

All women who pay property tax, and married women whose husband pays property tax will be allowed to vote in the election Saturday.

A poll tax receipt will be necessary for both men and women to vote in the election.

PUBLIC SPEAKING DEPARTMENT GAVE TWO RECITALS

The two recitals given by the Public Speaking Department this week were very highly interesting and the work of the young people was greatly praised by their many friends who gathered for the programs.

The first recital came Thursday afternoon with numbers being given by Misses Tip Bradford, Jessie DeGraffenreid, Frances Ramsey, Annie Kate Ferguson and Messrs. Robert Hill Archie Jordan and Wayne O'Keefe.

The second recital was given Tuesday night with the following having a place on the program: Misses Joye Mills, Edith Eddins, Carlotta Cheney, Hazel Mathis, Thelma Black, and Messrs Hubert Hamill and Deskin Wells.

Sermon Sunday to Graduating Class

The commencement exercises of the Normal will start next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock when Dr. Roy Rutherford, pastor of the Amarillo Christian Church, will preach the commencement sermon. All of the churches of the city will join in this service.

The work of the year will be closed during next week with final examinations Wednesday and Thursday.

The college orchestra will give a program next Thursday night.

The class day exercises will be held on Friday, June 3, with the commencement exercises on Saturday morning, June 4. Judge A. B. Watkins of Athens will deliver the commencement address.

Building Program Strong in Canyon

There are more houses under construction in Canyon now than at any time within the past five years according to the lumbermen. There are several proposed residences which will greatly add to this program.

Mrs. W. C. Pinnell is starting a new house in the south part of town.

The frame work of R. A. Campbell's new house is up.

Mrs. Sallie Painter is completing a new house in the north part of town

The American Legion Club house is progressing nicely, the roof being almost completed.

J. A. Hazelwood is completing his new house northwest of the city.

A. D. Payne has moved to his new house in the southeast part of town.

Chas. Harter's new home is practically completed.

The work on the H. W. Crain residence is progressing nicely.

DEEDS FILED LAST WEEK IN COUNTY

The following deeds sa furnished the News by the Randall County Abstract Company, have been recorded in the County Clerk's office:

Shriners Going to Ceremonial Today

The Shriners of Canyon were up early this morning getting ready for the big ceremonial at Amarillo today when a big class of novices will be inducted into the mysteries of the order.

John Henry "Spot" Jones will be the leader of a big bunch of novices from Canyon, and is after the big ring which is offered to the most popular novice.

ANOTHER FIRE AT McELROY HOME EARLY THIS MORNING

The Clyde McElroy family experienced another fire this morning. The fire adjuster and Mayor J. D. Gamble were at the home looking at the damage done by the fire of three weeks ago. They had left the bedroom occupied by three young ladies attending the Normal and had examined the damage in the attic. Mr. Gamble noticed smoke coming from the bedroom and asked about it. Within the short space which had elapsed from time they left the bedroom until the smoke was noticed the clothing of the three young ladies had caught on fire and was burned before help arrived to extinguish the flames. The young women had left the house not more than four or five minutes previously.

The adjuster states this is a new experience to have a second fire while trying to settle a previous claim.

The young women losing their clothing in this morning's fire are Misses Pearl and Blanche Davis of Plains and Miss Tieva Crawford of Sudan. They have no idea how the fire could have started.

Furnished Homes and More Rooms Wanted

A strong and earnest plea comes this week for more rooming facilities for the summer session of the Normal which opens June 8.

There is a great demand for more furnished houses to take care of the members of the summer faculty who wish to come here with their families. People moving out of town for the summer will greatly assist if they will rent their homes furnished to one of these teachers.

President J. A. Hill states there is an unprecedented demand for rooms from all over the state. He believes the attendance would reach more than a thousand this summer if the rooms could be provided to care for them.

Those who have not agreed to open their homes for the summer should phone President Hill or Frank R. Phillips at once.

Sixty Quarts Booze Caught Last Night

Sherill W. C. Black and Constable Bob Ball were principle actors in capturing two men with sixty quarts of booze north of town about one o'clock this morning.

The officers were suspicious of the presence of booze and watched the parties until about midnight when two cars started toward Amarillo. The Potter county sheriff was at once notified to start south, Black and Ball following the cars. The capture was made about four miles south of Amarillo, two men with two cars and 60 quarts of booze being apprehended. A. A. and H. C. McNeil, drivers of the cars, were placed in the Amarillo jail awaiting examination today.

Price Second in Contest

In the conductor's charge contest at the I. O. O. F. meeting at Clarendon last week, H. O. Price of this city stood second place with a score of 994. The winning man beat him by one point.

The team which won the cup made a score of 807, and was composed of Jack Vester, J. H. Turner, B. M. Johnson, J. C. Dowd, Sam Wiggins, Bert Clark, Lewis Upfold, Taylor Myers, J. H. Duncan, M. A. Henson, Glen McGahey, Elzie Price, H. O. Price, and Jim Carr.

Eastern Star Installation

There will be installation of officers of the Eastern Star Lodge Tuesday night, June 7.

Alumni Banquet Next Thursday

The banquet of the Alumni Association of the West Texas State Normal College will be held next Thursday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

HOG GUESSING CONTEST ON FRIDAY—PRIZES OFFERED

Frank R. Phillips, head of the Vocational Agriculture of the Normal will hold the last hog guessing contest of the year at the H. C. Roffey farm north of Canyon Friday afternoon. Mr. Phillips has made this kind of work very popular with the boys of his classes and all take a keen delight in guessing the weight of hogs.

This week Mr. Phillips will offer a year's subscription to the Country Gentleman to the boys who win first and second place in the guessing contest.

Mr. Phillips invites any man in Randall county, excepting County Agent C. F. Walker, to enter the contest and will also give a year's subscription to any man who makes better guesses than his boys.

The guessing contest starts at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Flower Day Plan of Mrs. Shaw Approved

Mrs. Simeon Shaw of Canyon has a plan for an International Flower Day in memory of the dead who gave their lives in the World War. On that day every person in the civilized world would wear a flower of some kind. Mrs. Shaw presented the plan to Mrs. Harding, wife of the president, who approved it.

The following Washington dispatch was printed in hte daily papers under date line of May 21:

Secretary of State Hughes today approved the plan of Mrs. Simeon Shaw of Canyon City for an International Flower Day in memory of the World War dead.

"I agree with Mrs. Harding that the idea is a beautiful one and Mrs. Shaw is to be felicitated on its conception," Secretary Hughes said.

Mrs. Shaw received yesterday a letter from Senator Morris Shephard, enclosing the statement made by Secretary Hughes. She also receivd a letter from Governor Neff commending the idea.

Railroad Valuations Are Raised $67,000

The commissioners court sat last week as a board of equalization for the county renditions and raised about one hundred assessments which had been procured by Tax Assessor Wilford Taylor.

The largest increase was made against the Panhandle & Santa Fe railroad, which was $67,735.

W. H. Bush was increased $31,230, C. T. Word $15,070, C. N. Plaster $12,740, C. N. Harding $8,230, H. B. White $7,560, H. B. Molyneaux $5,190, The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. $4,000, and various other tax payers in sundry amounts.

The commissioners will be in session May 31 to hear any complaints regarding the increase.

County Judge Handles County School Books

A bill was introduced in the legislature making the county judge or superintendent of instruction custodian of the free text books in each county. The bill failed to get through both houses, but now Miss Annie Webb Blanton has a ruling from the attorney general stating that the state board of education may make such a ruling, and this has been done.

Judge Worth A. Jennings is arranging his office to look after this work. He has asked all schools to send in text books which are not in use. He will then determine from the requisitions sent from the various schools what will be needed for free text books next fall and order the same for the whole county in one requisition. Hitherto each school had to order their own books, and they were sent directly to the school. Under the new ruling the schools will be better served, but considerable work will be imposed upon the county judges under this plan.

Normal Takes Two From Clarendon

The Normal is clearly at the top of college teams in this section with the defeat of Clarendon in two games last Wednesday and Thursday.

Both games came easily for the Normal boys who put up as classy games as they have exhibited this year.

NEW ELECTION WILL BE HELD FOR THE PAVING

OFFERS OF PAR MADE ON TWENTY-YEAR CITY BONDS

Unable to Sell Forty-Year Bonds Authorized by Election Held in City Last Fall.

Mayor J. D. Gamble stated yesterday that paving was now assured in Canyon if the new election to be held the early part of July is carried

The city of Canyon voted bonds last fall to run for forty years, with option of taking them up in twenty years. The best offer the city officials have received on these bonds is 76 cents on the dollar. It would be folly to sell bonds at this rate. Therefore, Canyon has no paving, and there will likely be none for several months with this kind of bonds.

Mayor Gamble has been offered par for bonds if they are voted for a term of twenty years. This means that an election must be held to carry these bonds, and to retire the issue which has never been sold.

Mr. Gamble states that paving material has declined and that labor can be had for half the price asked last fall when the bonds were voted. The city has not lost, but rather made considerable money through the unfortunate circumstance which made the bond sale impossible.

An election will be called at the next regular meeting of the council on June 6. Thirty days' time is necessary for advertising the election. This will make it possible to hold the election, make the proper assessments and let the contract by the middle of August. Canyon should have the square paved before the first of October.

Canyon has had as much trouble getting paving started as most towns, possibly no more difficulty, but now it looks sure that the paving will go over with no further delay. Once the square is paved, there will be no stoping street improvements in Canyon.

RECITALS GIVEN BY STDUENTS IN MUSIC

Miss Pauline Rice, pianist, assisted by Miss Grace Brewer, violinist, were presented by the Music Department of the Normal last Friday afternoon in recital. Both of the young ladies are very talented in their lines and highly pleased in the numbers presented during the program.

Another recital will be presented this afternoon by Miss Corrie Rankin, pianist and Miss Wilda Slagle, soprano.

Turner Knows Strong Firms

Hon. Thos. F. Turner of Amarillo is a lawyer and business man. In his address at the Methodist church Sunday night on the Educational Campaign for the Southern Methodist Church, Mr. Turner states that the good business firms of America today were advertising heavier than ever before. They were going after business in order that they would be the first to draw business when normal conditions returned. They know there is not so much business to be had, and are therefore keen after all there is.

Mr. Turner understands very thoroughly the advertising game. He would not be a quitter were he in business just because times were a little slack.

Marriage Licenses

The following marriage licenses were issued this week by County Clerk O. W. Gano.

W. H. Roberts and Miss Mary Ada Evans, both of Amarillo, Monday.

W. E. Hall and Mrs. Pearl Kriegiel, both of Amarillo, Tuesday.

Canyon Fighters to Amarillo

J. W. Bates, generalissimo of the fighting crew of Canyon, will take two men to Amarillo Friday night to meet the heavy sluggers from that city.

Stiffy Turner will take on Zane Smith of Amarillo for a five round battle.

Roy Golden will be pitted against Bill Buvins of Amarillo for eight rounds.

Both Canyon boys are ace high among the local fighters and ought to do business with the Amarillo sluggers.

Emma Goldman wants to come back to America from her beloved Russia. She desires that her friends use their influence with the government that the deportation charges be rescinded. Russia is too near hell for Emma. The golden fancies and enchantment of distance of an ideal government has faded when the Goldman woman got a close-up of Russia. Goldman was quickly cured. Why not cure a bunch more of these anarchists by deportation?

As chief executive of the state, Governor Neff has a right to demand that any official refusing to do his duty should at once resign. Whether he has a right to demand such a resignation if there is only political differneces with a state employee yet remains to be seen. If the Governor has other than political reasons, he should present them.

Col. Harvey's utterances regarding the war and President Wilson will be resented by the majority of Americans. The administration has been embarassed by the Colonel's promulgation of its foreign policy which is more according to Harvey's view than that of Harding. Harvey is well known as a light-weight politician who carries a grudge to the grave. He always has his little scalping knife ready for Wilson and Wilsonian policies.

President Wilson sent General Pershing to France, and was lambasted by the republican friends of General Wood The war stopped, and Wood was sidetracked to the the Philippines. Now President Harding has elevated Pershing to Chief of Staff and high arbiter of the army and its affairs. Wood poor thing, is awfully abused.

The Plainview News is 16 years old, 11 years of which have passed under the guiding hand of Editor J. M. Adams. Our friend Adams is one of the most successful newspaper men in Texas. He has the habit of saying what he believes, and in such a forceful manner as to carry conviction.

The grain dealers of the Panhandle-Plains country put the wheat acreage of 1921 at 130 per cent of last year. They estimate that the yield will be about 75 per cent of last year. This would make an increase of about 4 per cent above last year's total yield of wheat. The grain dealers are close students of the wheat conditions. There will be plenty of money for the wheat farmer this year.

President Harding makes it known that he will not remove postmasters who were appointed under the civil service commission as per ruling of President Wilson. However, upon completion of their terms, they must stand another examination, and then they will hold office under the civil service—presumeably, if they happen to be good republicans.

If all the students who wish to attend the summer quarter of the Normal are properly cared for, every citizen will have to open their homes. Let's take care of these people. To refuse to give them the proper attention would give the town a black eye. The attendance will be abnormally large this year. Let every fellow do his best.

The Presbyterian general assembly opposes jazz music in the church. Most preachers throw a fit every time the dance is mentioned in their presence, yet too many of them insist upon jazz music in their churches which will out-jazz the jazziest music ever produced in a dance hall.

Dairy Country is Prosperous

There never has been a time for the life of intelligent dairy farming when a dairy country has not been a prosperous country. Cows have transferred the farms of the older sections of the United States from losing into prosperous enterprises. Cows have been money makers whenever they have been well milked and intelligently handled. It stands to reason that the more salubirious the climate, the more abundant the crops, the more days of pleasant sunshine and the less of biting cold, frigid, weather, the greater the profit from the cows.

In all this section of the State, people have talked big farming enterprises about vast areas handled by one farmer, of the ease with which the lands have been put under the plow and initial crops shown frm the sod, but now there has come a time when the acid test demand for profits is applied to farm operations. The men who sow and reap have gotten to that place in their lives where they ask for profits from their labors and to this they have the most perfect right. In fact, it has not been reflective of greatest credit that they have not reached this point before. They have their money invested in the lands, they have made additional investment in time and labor, and they look upon the areas and reason through them to the main showings upon which they may rely. This process brings them down inescapably, to the milk producing now. They look upon the cow, then, as an item of their farm program, and with wisdom ask the question: How will the cow increase our profits? The answer comes clear, and ringing back. In many ways, includnig the advantage of a day-by-day cash income, through the transforming of bulky, cheaply priced feeds into products of greater worth and more concentrated form, and they give a foundation for a cash basis. When, in addition to the milk cow the hens and hogs are installed on the farm, here is added assurance of profits.

Wisconsin and various other states have demonstrated the worth of the milk producing cow. They have determined that the cow is the deadly enemy of indebtedness on the farm. The things that have been done in Wisconsin are easily possible here and that at less expense. Well treat the the milk cow, the hogs, and the hen, and be independent.—Amarillo News.

HAND FINISHED UNDERWEAR

Ordinary underwear, at the price of "Merode," is manufactured in bulk and cut by means of electric knives—a quick process but not always satisfactory. Merode Underwear for women and children is hand-cut and hand-finished and this perfection makes itself felt in extra wear and extra comfort. We have full lines in wanted weights and prices. Let us show you.

Notice of Election

Whereas, on the 25th day of April, 1921, the Board of Trustees of the Canyon City Independent School District passed and entered on its Minutes the following order, to-wit:

"Order for School Tax Election

"On this the 25th day of April, A. D. 1921, came on to be considered a petition in writing signed by C. N. Harrison and twenty other persons, asking that an election, as hereinafter ordered, be ordered by this Board, for the purpose hereinafter set forth:

"And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Board, that said petition is signed by at least twenty taxpaying voters of this District and that the election petitioned for should be ordered;

"It is therefore ordered by the Board of Trustees of Canyon City Independent School District that an election be held at the Court House of Randall County, Texas, in the town of Canyon, in said Canyon City Independent School District on the twenty-eighth day of May, A. D. 1921, to determine whether the Board of Trustees of said District shall have power to annually levy and collect a tax upon all of the taxable property in said District for the support and maintenance of the public free schools in said Canyon City Independent School District of and at the rate of not exceeding seventy-five cents on the One Hundred Dollars valuation of all taxable property in said District, provided that the rate of tax levied and collected both for the support and maintenance of of the public free schools of said District and paying interest on and creating a sinking fund for the payment of the outstanding bonds of said District shall not exceed the sum of seventy-five cents on the One Hundred Dollars valuation of all taxable property within said District, said tax, if voted, to be levied and collected for the year 1921 and annually thereafter unless discontinued as provided by law.

"S. V. Wirt is hereby appointed Judge of said election, and John Bates and A. M. Smith are appointed as clerks of said election; and said election shall be held as nearly as may be possible in conformity with the general election law of the State.

"None but property taxpayers who are qualified voters in said Canyon City Independent School District shall vote in said election.

"Those in favor of the levying of such tax shall write or print on their ballots "FOR MAINTENANCE TAX", and those against the levying of such tax shall write or print on their ballots "AGAINST MAINTENANCE TAX."

"The President and Secretary of this Board shall cause notice of said election to be given in the form and manner and for the time prescribed by law."

Therefore, notice is hereby given that said election as above ordered will be held as set out in said order of the said Board of Trustees.

Given under our hands and the seal of said Canyon City Independent School District, at Canyon, Texas, this the 29th day of April, A. D. 1921.

G. G. FOSTER,
President Board of Trustees, Canyon City Independent School District.

C. W. WARWICK,
Secretary Board of Trustees, Canyon City Independent School District.

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Canyon evidence—doubly proven.

R. E. Hileman, prop. bicycle shop; says: "I found positive relief in using Doan's Kidney Pills for lameness across the small of my back and for my kidneys. I certainly can conscientiously recommend them for lumbago and for embarrassment caused by the kidney secretions. I am quite over all difficulties of that nature since I used them." (Statement given January 17, 1911).

On May 1, 1919, Mr. Hileman said: "Since I used and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago. I have taken them whenever in need of such a remedy. Doan's have never failed to give instant relief and I am always glad to say a good word in favor of them."

Happy School Has Closing Exercise

Happy, Texas, May 25—Closing exercises of the Happy Independent School for this year have been held. A dinner was given the patrons on Friday night. The tables fairly groaned with the abundance of good things to eat. The guests were fed to their "sanctum fantum" and the proverbial seven basketfulls had to be taken back to many homes.

Friday night the little ones of the primary class gave the big audience singing, dialogues and speeches. There are about 55 in this department. Their work was creditably done and the parents and scholars were well pleased. The auditorium will seat about 300 and the room was crowded.

Sunday morning the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Van Zandt of Muleshoe. Singing exercises were conducted by R. H. Cornelius with his twenty assistants and were decidedly the best that have been given in Happy.

Closing exercises of the commencement were held Monday night in the school auditorium. The program went off smoothly and delightfully. The program was as follows:

March ..... Mrs. Scott
Song ..... Choir
Prayer ..... Rev McNeely
Song ..... Choir
"America's Mission" Essie Mae Martin
Essay "The Class" ..... Roy Aikman
Essay "The Class Flower" .....
..... Lois Whitley
Valedictory ..... Ethel Martin
Presentation of Diplomas .....
..... Mr. Bradenbaugh
Response ..... Harry Harrison
Song
Benediction.

The school work of last year was conducted by three teachers and it is said that there was the least friction this year in the school work than ever before. Next year it is expected that there will be four teachers and about 150 students. It is thought that the work requires at least five teachers but there is not enough money to go ahead with any more than has been planned.

NEEDS OF EDUCATION

(James R. Angell, President, Carnegie Corporation.)

The most compelling needs of American education at the present moment are, first, increasing provision for teacher training both quantitatively and qualitatively; second, extensive revision of the methods of taxation for raising school revenue, based on a Nation-wide study of conditions.

The first thing is to set up in the schools and colleges the machinery for the proper type of training for teachers. And this equipment must be accompanied by a change in the common public attitude toward the profession of teaching.

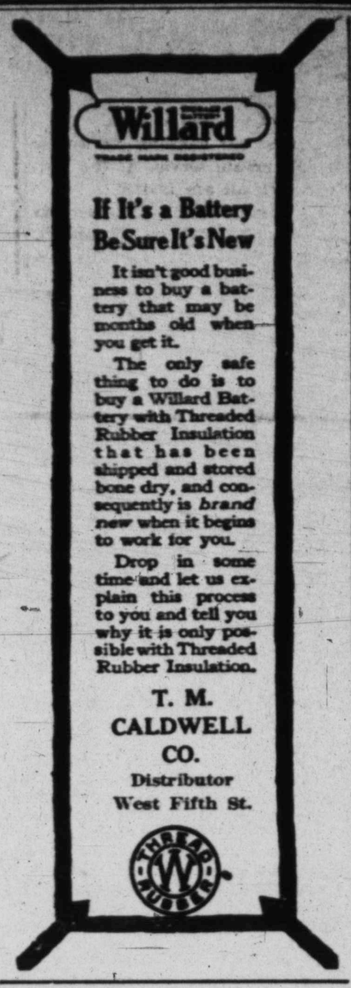

If there is any greater service in a democracy than the training of the children, I do not know what it is. But unless public opinion recognizes the profession of teaching as an eminently dignified and admirable profession, worthy of social as well as economic recognition, we can never attract into teaching the type of person that in a democracy we must have. I don't know any place where a fine, sound, mature, intellectual personality pays such big dividends as in the schoolroom.—From an address before the New Jersey section of the National Civic Federation, March 16, 1921.

Referring to the extent of Texas area, the Boston Globe has the following: "Texas has as much territory as Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio and Indiana combined, with some land to spare. Her territory could be cut up into thirty-five states, each as large as Massachusetts. Her population equals the combined populations of the nine states of Maine, New Hamshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Delaware, Florida, Colorado, Nevada and Oregon. These states have eighteen votes in the senate while Texas, with the same population, has only two. Why should it be unjust to cut Texas up into four or more states, if her people would consent to it? The Globe and all other parties interested in the division of Texas may as well accept formal notice at the present, as at any future time, that the people of Texas will never consent to a division of her territory. Her motto is "The Union now and forever—one and inseparable." It is worse than folly to discuss the question. It is already settled.—Dallas News.

A Spring Day on the Plains

A yellowish shadow was cast over everything. All that could be seen of the sun was a bright spot which resembled a sun-dog. The air was filled with flying particles of dust, and with every puff of the wind the dust grew more stifling. It sifted in around the window sashes and settled over the room. Papers, weeds, pasteboards, and feathers chased each other across the vacant lot and caught on the projecting weeds. People who were out held their hats with one hand and protected their eyes with the other. The horses gathered in the northeast corner of the lot and extended their heads over the fence as far as their long necks could reach. At last the shadows of night settled and hid everything from view, yet the wind kept up its continued roar.

—V. W.

The Conference is the Thing

Estes Park! Just the words have a fascinating charm. Yet, if you have heard one who has been there tell of her trip, you are thoroughly convinced that the name is only the beginning of its wonders.

Every summer, representatives from most of the colleges of our country gather at one of eight beautiful spots where conferences for students are held under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Association. At these conferences there are daily Bible and World Fellowship classes conducted by well qualified leaders. There are also open forum discussions of problems that are uppermost in student thought. Technical hours afford an opportunity for the representatives from the various colleges who are interested in the same form of Association work to meet and share with each other the plans that they have found successful. There are also daily lectures by some of the foremost thinkers of our country. And, of course, we couldn't omit the hikes, tennis, basket-ball, swimming and informal social gatherings which are a very vital part of the ten days.

And the friends one makes! Its worth it all just to meet the conference leaders and the girls from the other colleges. To adequately describe what attendance at one of these conferences means is impossible. Each section is thoroughly convinced that their grounds are by far the most beautiful, and, of course, they really are. It seems unbelievable that one could enjoy more fully and wonderfully any ten days than one does those spent at one's first Y. W. C. A. Conference. The beauty of the surroundings, the new friendships, the inspiring thoughts, the sense of the presence of the Christ in the lives of one's associates creates an atmosphere that has to be experienced to be realized.

In Estes Park, Colorado, August 16-26 such a conference will be held, and we want our association to be represented by as many as possible. There are few investments that one could make which would pay bigger dividends in the years to come. Those who have been before bear convincing evidence of this fact.

To a Skull

Oh, skull, with those ghostly, hollow eyes,
I wonder who you may be;
If yours, like many other lives,
Might the life of a hero be.

Perhaps you were a pioneer old
Who came to conquer the west,
Who hunted the buffalo and the deer,
Free from all care and unrest.

Maybe you were an Indian chief,
And when your white brother came,
You fought him because you thought him a thief
Of the land you rightfully claimed.

Or, maybe you were a forty-niner
Who came to seek for gold,
Enduring the hardships of a miner,
Combatting hunger and cold.

Now, skull, I wonder how you met your death;
Whether miner, chief or pioneer,
Was it in the struggle for gold and wealth,
Or in protecting the great frontier?

—Dot Harris.

The Mirage

Once more in yonder purpled sky
The light of day is dawning;
A breeze springs up with a soft sigh
That bears the breath of morning.

Along the crimsoned sky-line,
Vague figures of a misty maze
Rise up in shapeless outline
To entrance our wondering gaze.

At noon a glowing sun beams down;
Far across a hazy plain,
The buildings of a distant town
Come with a purple haze again.

The twilight comes; the day is done;
And on yon golden sand dune,
A lake ripples,—the sand streams run;
Then comes the pale crescent moon.

The Mirage! The Mirage!
The tranquil glory of the day!
It comes at morn, at noon, at eve,—
An unsung beauty in array!

Book Club Meeting

The last meeting of the Woman's Book Club for the year was held yesterday with Mesdames Fronabarger, Allen and Warwick leading. The subject was Texas Poets. One of the writers discussed was Jake H. Harrison, father of C. N. Harrison, and the following is printed at the request of the members of the club:

Married Courtin'

Jake H. Harrison

Put away your knittin', Nancy,
An' let's go an' take a walk,
I'm a-dyin' right this minute
For a little private talk.
They's so many children 'round us,
An' you've got so much to do,
That I've got all out o' practice—
Way behind—in courtin' you.

I've been thinkin', right here lately,
That hit's sinful in a man
Not to court his wife a little
Ever' time he finds he can;
Life I know is kind o' busy,
Keeps a feller workin' hard,
But it pays him—don't you doubt it,
Now an' then to show regard.

Take his wife an' go a-walkin',
Kind o' takin' in the place,
Slips his nearest arm around her,
With a kind o' awkward grace,
Like he used to do in courtin'—
Watch me—kind o' jist like this—
Ketch her eyes—look at me, Nancy!
An' then slyly steal a kiss.

Hain't it nat-ur-al—now tell me!
Hain't you glad you come along?
Hain"t it nice to kiss a little,
Feelin' you hain't doin' wrong!
Gosh! this married courtin's splendid
(Cider in a silver cup);
Findin' hit so entertainin',
You an' me will keep hit up!

Yes, we'll keep this courtin' goin',
Go a-walkin' once a week—
Nancy, tell me what's the matter—
You're so lovin', mild an' meek;
Does my courtin', rough an' awkward,
Kind o' take you by surprise?
Cat has got your tongue, I reckon—
Why, they's dewdrops in your eyes!

The times are out of joint, O, cursed spite; one place your watch is wrong; another, right.—Wall Street Journal.

Presbyterian Church

There will be no service in this church on next Sunday morning, but in the evening we shall have our regular service of worship at 8:15.

We dismiss our morning service for the Baccalaureate service at the Normal to which all are invited.

In the evening at 8:15 the sermon subject will be: "Things Temporal, Things Eternal." Following this service will be the Senior Endeavor meeting at which some offices will be filled on account of vacancies occurring by the departure of those now holding them.

You are cordially invited to attend these services.

CAN'T DO THE WORK

It's too much to try to work every day against a constant, dull backache, or sudden darting pain in the small of the back. Be rid of it. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Your neighbors recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Clounch, Canyon, Says: "Sometime ago my back and kidneys began to cause me a lot of misery. There was just a dull, ache through the small of my back and it was so sore and lame I could hardly bend over or do my work. When I did manage to stoop over, such a sharp, stinging pain would catch me, making it hard for me to straighten up. I was all worn out and could scarcely get around at times. I became dizzy and had headaches and my kidneys didn't act right at all. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly advertised that I bought some and three boxes cured me entirely."

We Remember

Strong is the nation that pauses in its material tasks to turn its thoughts to the lofty and the spiritual.

Our heroes of the Civil War, and the Great War, died for an ideal; and that ideal must burn in all our minds, find entrance to all our hearts.

Our tribute of recollection spreads today across the seas. On the fields of France garlands are strewn upon the graves of our heroic dead.

In our own land, on tombs sacred to the names of Liberty and Union, the blossoms of a grateful people are spread, this Decoration Day, in proof that we remember.

It is for us all to hold true to the same spirit which animated the boys of 1861, of 1917.

Masters or Bluffers

American vessels carried 94.2 per cent of our imports and 86.5 per cent of our exports in 1830 when only 10 per cent of our imports and 7½ per cent of our exports were carried under the American flag. * * * The was has strengthened the United States where she was weak. Our merchant fleet employed in foreign trade in 1913 was only 1,019,155 tons. Now it is second only to that of Great Britain and comprises some 15,000,000 tons.—Excerpt from bulletin on "Our New Place in World Trade," issued by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Are Americans going to be masters of the situation or are they bluffers?

The Dependable Man

There is a type of man who is built for success. He may have genius or just ordinary talent—no matter. The point is that he always "arrives." While others plod a weary way, he gets ahead.

Those who take note of his progress often cannot account for it. So they say he is "lucky." Or they whisper it about that he has a "pull with the boss."

But the secret is deeper than that. He is a man who is absolutely dependable.

Make yourself dependable, and you come as near being indispensable as any of us can hope to be. You will be the last one your employer will wish to part with, and the first one that he will want to promote to greater responsibilities.

But do not be deceived. Dependableness is a rare accomplishment—so rare that every executive is on the outlook for it wherever it may be found. It cannot be acquired by wishing for it. It is the prize that comes from self-mastery.

What is a dependable man? You can tell him by the ear-marks:

First, he is one that you can rely upon to do his own thinking. Business requires thinking, and someone must do it. The dependable man never sidesteps his share nor tries to pass it along to someone else. You always find him on the alert. His brains do not flit away on vacations, leaving his job without a guardian.

Next, he is one whose judgment you can trust. He doesn't do foolish things. He knows his own abilities; and, not being conceited, he is equally aware of his own weaknesses. He has the happy faculty of understanding other people's viewpoints and of seeking their advice when he ought. Also he knows when to act on his own initiative.

Finally, he is a man you can listen to, taking stock in whatever he says. You are sure that he speaks only after due reflection. He does not talk to the galleries or for the purpose of "grinding his own ax." He makes his suggestions and pleads his cause solely in the interest of the business.

Such a man is safe. Important duties may be entrusted to him and he will handle them with diligence, good sense and earnestness.

If you are looking for the quickest route to opportunity, learn to be this type of man.

Be dependable—a burden lifter. By lightening the anxieties of those who must give account for your doings, you will make yourself their favorite. And they will help you achieve your ambitions.—J. Ogden Armour.

They've read stories snappy of friends, in and out of town. And they've read all the ads and learned to save scads, buying advertised goods of renown.

The home town newspaper records every caper of people, their doings and things; as the town's biggest booster, it's up withe the rooster, every modern improvement it brings.

But circ'lars and hand-bills, that clutter the door-sills, are poor advertising at best; from the porch they are swept, while the newspaper's kept to be read during leisure and rest.

Now the moral is plain; when you start a campaign to bring folks new harness or ice, put your ad where 'twill tell them, what you have to sell them, and how much they save on the price.

Put your ad where they'll read it; constant sight makes them heed it; thrifty readers will come to your store. Here your ad is expressive while the hand-bill oppressive, is scattered from gate-way to door.

Vehemence

We all know them, those people to whom life seems to be one continual energetic gesture. They carry movement, bustle, activity about them and always live in a storm. Their words snap and hammer, their thoughts dart and sparkle and sting. They argue a question with you as if life and death were dependent on it; with prompt, vivid, emphatic movements as if their argument must be driven home by physical effort as well as by force of simple truth. And the remark applies not only to the discussion of great questions such as religion and politics on which heat is normal and expected; these souls f superfluous vehemence will make an argument out of the simplest matter of commonplace conduct. They will come at you with the same fury about the way you used your morning or how you spent a dollar as they display your eternal welfare.

Such vehemence is tiring to live with. People who have it are often charming; wholesouled, simple, kindly, unselfish, ready to give their time and their strength to you. But they do wear you out. There is no repose with them in forgetfulness, n chance to be off your guard in the sweet tranquility of friendship. They keep you always stirred and stimulated, too often irritated and weary. The mere bare facts of life fret enough in themselves without being barbed with perpetual, fretting, heated comment.

And it seems as if the vehement people must weary themselves, as if such constant strain, such an eager, strenuous grasp of life, with every muscle tense, must wear out the nerves, wear out the heart, wear out the soul. You say to yourself, Do they never relax, never let go, never take things as they come, but always strive to force htem and reason them into the arbitrary mould that suits such a furious, discontented spirit? There must be times of utter exhaustion when there is no strength for argument left.

Perhaps it is so. Yet is is an odd thing that those vehement persons do not seem to wear themselves out. Indeed, when you study them, you sometimes feel that the vehemence is mainly on the surface, and that quite, restrained souls exhaust themselves more in the effort of repression than the vehement with all their outward fury.

Nevertheless, if you have one of those vehement dispositions, it is well to remember that the more you hold it in the more grateful your friends will be.

Sneator McCormick's Size-Up

Charleston News and Courier: Senator McCormick has returned from a prolonged visit to Europe where he has been studying conditions. Though ordinarily rather a talkative man, it is noticeable that Mr. McCormick has been very reticent since his return from the other side of the water. About the only thing he has had to say is this:

"The outstanding fact is that the fundamental problems of Europe appear comparatively simple elementarily. Their solution will make or break the world, including the United States, and there is no middle ground."

Slack Time in Departments

Washington Star: Much lively discussion has been arroused by Senator Smoot's recent remark that some of the young women employed in the Government department occupy their office time in making their trousseaus. There are those who aver that the Senator is correct, and others who declare that he is misinformed. The young women of the departments, thus accused as a class, are naturally indignant. Some of them feel they have been maligned. Others feel that they have been complimented by the suggestion that they are preparing for matrimony. But one and all feel that there is injustice in the suggestion that they are loafing on Uncle Sam and are using time for which he pays them—not very liberally—in which they do "fancy work" and other things that it is needless to enumerate.

Truth is there is very litlte loafing in the Government offices. Some slackers are there, of course. There are perhaps some even in the capitol. But a visit to any Government office should convince the average observer that the standard of efficiency and diligence is high. If there are spare moments, between items of work, it is rather to the credit of the young women that they should occupy them with some useful task, however frivolous the materials may appear to be.

Fight With Ads

Advertising by reputable medical organizations is urged to protect cancer sufferers from being misled by the advertisements of quacks. The Franco-Angelo-American League against Cancer advocates the idea.

Dr. Recaud, professor in the Pasteur Institute in France, reports cancer on the increase in that country, as it seems to be everywhere. It is his belief that many lives could be saved by right treatment in the early stages of the trouble which are now lost because the patients are deceived by unscrupulous or over-sanguine physicians who claim to have discovered cures.

For generations it has been considered bad medical ethics to advertise. This restraint on the part of good doctors has afforded the quack his golden opportunity. A departure from this position is certainly warranted when so great a matter is at stake.

Fullest publicity should be given all the facts concerning cancer and its treatment. It may even be said that reputable physicians might better advertise openly for patronage than that continuing numbers of unfortunates should fall a prey to maltreatment in the most cruel of diseases.

"Pipkinizing" Boys

County Judge Ray C. Johnson calls the paroling of juveniles to Rotarians "Pipkinizing" them.

Hermon C. Pipkin, recently retired president of the Amarillo Rotary Club, is given credit for the idea of having boys convicted of crime and sentenced to the State Reformatory, paroled on probation, or freed on suspended sentences to members of the Rotary Club who will take in hand the moral training of these youths.

Mr. Pipkin's idea is a good one, Judge Johnson thinks, and so think others who are familiar with some of the results.

Several months ago, a youth who was frequently caught stealing, who had several times been in police court, who was a perpetual loafer, who seemed, in short to be almost absolutely worthless, was sentenced to the reformatory. He was given a suspended sentence and paroled to Mr. Pipkin, who took in hand his moral training.

Mr. Pipkin required the youth to attend Sunday School every Sunday and attend school regularly. The boy was required to make regular reports and check was kept on him. That youth has reformde. He has attended Sunday School and the public school regularly. He made good grades in school. He has quit loafing and quit stealing.

If he had been sent to the reformatory, he would have been liable to have returned a criminal. At any rate, he would have born the stamp of criminality. There would always have been a stigma on his name, which he would have lived down with great difficulty if at all.

Friday Judge Johnson "Pipkinized" two other boys. They were sentenced to five years in the reformatory, but were given suspended sentences. One of them was paroled to Guy Saunders and one to Mr. Pipkin.

Such are the modern ways of justice. Experts in sociology have proved that kind treatment with the proper guidance accomplishes reform where punishment often hardens the character and confirms the criminal tendencies of the one punished.—Amarillo Tribune.

Purebred Hogs Are Legitimate Tax Dodgers

A. L. Ward, Secretary Texas Swine Breeders' Association and Swine Husbandman for A. & M. College of Texas and Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, says:

"Purebred hogs are now recognized as legitimate tax dodgers. A good farmer friend of mine, who is a young breeder, keeps purebred hogs on his farm, and was asked a few days ago to explain how it was that he could sell about $4,000 worth of hogs during the year while his tax assessments showed he rendered only eight head of hogs at a total valuation of $200.

The explanation is easy. Ordinary hogs are usually rendered about $6 to $10 but this good farmer has purebred hogs so the tax assessor placed his at a total of $25 per head, or a total value of $200 assessed for the seven sows and one boar, which was on the farm January 1, 1920. During the month of March these seven sows farrowed 56 pigs, 25 sow pigs and 31 boar pigs. At weaning time 8 of the 31 boar pigs were selected for seed stock and the other 23 were placed in the feed lot with 7 of the sow pigs, which were not good enough to sell as purebred stock. The 18 sow pigs and the 8 boar pigs selected for seed stock were fed carefully so as to make them grow out nicely. The 30 culls to sell as market hogs were placed on self-feeders. In October and November the breeding hogs were sold as follows:

15 gilts at $125 each	$1,875.00
2 gilts at $75 each	150.00
1 gilt for	50.00
1 boar for	200.00
1 boar for	175.00
1 boar for	150.00
5 boars at $100 each	500.00
Total	$3,100.00
In December the 30 head of market hogs were sold at an average of $25 each, making total of	750.00
Grand total	$3,850.00

"Any farmer can raise and sell the offspring from purebred sows between taxing days, but the poor 'cold blood' is so slow that the tax assessor gets him two to four times before he is ready for market."

Fact and Comment

Ears are once more in style and will be much worn this summer.

The arrows of an enemy prove that you are alive. No one shoots at a dead lion.

If you do your work well enough, other people will save you the trouble of talking about it.

Having to pay from three to five dollars for a new book may drive people back to the low-priced classics.

A ship that recently cleared from New York for Geona and Naples carried fifteen tons of macaroni and spaghetti made in the United States. It takes a special kind of wheat to make good spaghetti or macaroni, and that special kind is raised in this country is peculiarly well fitted for it.

Ulster overcoats have become popular with the Chinese in Manchuria. The wealthier class of Chinese always wear long outer garments of silk, which are easily damaged by rain or snow, and the long ulster, besides affording warmth, protects the expensive silk cloth underneath.

To stock waters three thousand miles distant with half-grown fish is expensive because of the great amount of water that must be transported. A government hatchery in California that wants to send 10,000 salmon to New York will incubate the eggs until the eyespots appear, and then ship them in chilled containers.

Opossums, which were introduced into New Zealand from Australia many years ago, have increased until they have become a pest in the fruit-growing regions. Nevertheless, their value for fur outweighs the damage they do. It is therefore proposed to give them every chance to breed in the forested regions. Watermelons, too, grow in New Zealand.

Lucky the boy who lives in the land of trout streams! To push through the tall ferns, crawling foot by foot to within reach of the deep, quiet pool just under the bank, there to steeple a cast over the willow bush and have the fly light neatly on the glassy surface; then to feel it spin away at the strike of some lusty patriarch of the river—that is for boyish delight and for lasting memories in places remote from brooks.

The distinctive scientific fact in the recent great earthquake in China is that it literally made the whole world tremble. Most earthquakes are local. They usually originate in the ocean near an island or a continent and radiate inland. The crust of the earth, which is estimated to be from fifty to one hundred and fifty miles in thickness, must from time to time undergo readjustment to changes in internal heat and to other internal happenings, but a quake that is felt and recorded the whole world over is unusual.

The High Cost of Government

A man who for several years was employed as an official of the immigration service has written and interesting pamphlet in which he discusses among other things the part our government plays in raising the cost of living.

"For three years," he writes, "I had charge of the New England states in enforcing the act of 1907. On the average I did not work more than three days a week, and a part of my work was absolutely worthless; that is, if it had never been performed the government and the people would not have suffered in any respect. While I was in this situation of drawing seven days' salary and performing three days' labor, Uncle Sam appointed a fine young man from Boston as immigrant inspector to help me do my job." The government paid two men for doing work that actually took only half of one man's time, and therefore spent four times as much of the people's money as it needed to spend.

It is no exceptional case. Everywhere the government does its work slackly, extravagantly, carelessly. Politicians want patronage for their friends and workers. Thousands of unambitious and easy-going persons are eager to shelter themselves under the respectibility and mild distinction of being in government employ, where they are under no pressure to justify their existence by competitive achievement. We do not know exactly how much the government pays out in salaries, but we do know that in 1894 it employed 249,000 persons and in 1919 had 771,000 on the pay roll. At the moderate estimate of $1500 apiece that means $1,150,000,000, and if the experience of the man who wrote the pamphlet is typical it means that at least $800,000,000 of that amount is wasted. Probably it is not quite typical; the postal service is not overmanned, underworked or overpaid, but most other departments are. That is one of the reasons why the ordinary family in the United States has to pay $318 a year in taxes just to keep the Federal government going.

Under present conditions the government is going to have the hardest kind of time to get money enough from taxes to pay its bills. There must be retrenchment somewhere, and there is no better way to begin it than by ceasing to employ two or three men to do one man's work.

Temper

Take a piece of steel.

Fashion it into a tool.

Until it is tempered the tool is soft and worthless. But temper it too much and at the first rough usage to tool breaks and flies to pieces.

Temper in a man works the same way.

The man without temper is like untempered steel. The possibility is there but without temper the man is soft and flabby—a useless tool.

Too much temper, and at the first rough usage the man flies to pieces. He stands the gaff no better than the over-tempered tool.

Just as every other natural quality of man, temper has its use. But temper is for use, not abuse.

Give a man temper with self-control and one has the winning combination. His temper gives him a keen edge necessary to accomplish his daily tack. When temper is demanded he has it. But his self-control protects him from its abuse. He gives and bends but does not fly to pieces. He has the resilience which brings him back after the shock, ready for the next job n hand.

Men, like tools, need temper, but temper of the right kind, in the right quantity.—Selected.

Pup-Dog Lore

Century: Any dog is a pup-dog so long as he prefers a rat, dead or alive, to chocolate fudge, a moldy bone to sponge cake, a fight with a woodchuck to hanging around the tea table for sweet biscuit. Of course he will show traits of age as years advance, but usually they are physical traits, not emotional. For the most part, dogs' affections burn warmly, and their love of life and experience brightly, while life lasts. They remain young, as poets do. Every dog is a pup-dog, but some are more so than others.

Most of all is the Irish terrier. * * * The man who mistakes him for an Airdale, as many do, is one who does not know an Irishman from a Scot. The Airdale has a tough of the national dourness. I believe that he is a Calvinist at heart, with a severe sense of personal responsibility. The Irish terrier can atone vicariously or not at all for his lighthearted sins. The Airdale takes his romance and his fighting seriously as an Alan Breck. The Irish terrier has all the imagination and humor of his race; he has a rollicking air; he is whimsical, warm-hearted, jaunty, and has the gift of blarney. He loves a scrimmage better than his dinner, but he bears no malice. * * *

You can read his family history in the pup-dog's treatment of the cat. The cat of his own household, with whom he is brought up, he rallies with good-humored banter, but he is less likely to hurt her than she him. He will take her with him on his morning round of neighborhood garbage pails, and even warm her kittens on his back as he lies in the square of sunshine on the kitchen floor, till they begin to kneed their tiny claws into him in a futile search for norishment then patiently he shakes them off and seeks rest elsewhere. He will chase any cat as long as she will run; if she refuses to run, he will dance round her and bark, tring to get up a game. "Be a sport," he taunts her. "Take a chance!" But if she claws his nose he treads on the tail of her coat, for no Irish gentleman will stand for that.

The emerald or carnelian is the May birthstone.

May, the fifth month in the modern year, was the third in the Roman calendar.

The Romans regarded May as an unlucky month for marriages and the superstition survives in many countries.

Wisconsin on the 29th, 1918, and Minnesota, on the 11th, 1858, were admitted to the Union in May.

Memorial day is the only fixed holiday in the month of May. Mother's day, the second Sunday, is generally observed.

May 1 is the most conspicuous date in the United States history, it marking Admiral Dewey's victory in Manila bay, in 1898.

Two of the thirteen original colonies ratified the federal constitution in May, South Carolina on the 23rd, in 1788, and Rhode Island, the last to ratify, on the 29th, in 1790.

The origin of the month's name is disputed, although the derivation from maia, mother of Mercury to whom the Romans made sacrifices on the first of the month is generally accepted.

Small-Town Merchant Gains

Lincoln Journal: In his monthly journal of thought, E. W. Howe, the Kansas philosopher, expresses the opinion that the small-town merchants are now able to undersell the mail concerns because of the tremendous increase in the taxes levied upon large corporations. An increase in the cost of doing business in the large cities is also an element. Small-town rentals and salaries have not increased so much as in the cities. The country merchants are also "free from the blackmail of soliciting committees," although the local merchants will not agree that they are entirely exempt from this form of taxation. Mr. Howe concludes that big business everywhere has been worked into a position which will cause it heavy losses in the future. The two big items of taxes and expenditures are the great bugbear of the managers. On a rising market these matters are not formidable. When the market fails sharply they sometimes threaten bankruptcy.

Depression Brings Return to Thrift

Washington, May 18.—Hard times in the United States have had at least one good effect, in the opinion of D. R. Crissinger, Comptroller of the Currency—they've taught the American people to save their money.

Saving money had almost become a lost art with the American people, with war profits swelling their incomes and the silk shirt spirit rampant. But now, according to Crissinger, the average American has been cured of extravagance.

"People are saving more because they feel there may be some uncertainty in the future," Crissinger said in an exclusive interview, commenting on reports that savings accounts were showing an increase.

"When a man begins to feel that his job isn't any too secure, or that the morrow may bring him a reduction in wages, he is inclined to spend less and put more money in the bank. This is a good sign, even though it is regretable that an economic depression was necessary to bring it about.

"But it means that the American people are 'sobering up' and that thrift is returning to the national life and that the wasteful extravagance caused by the war inflation has begun to wane."

It would be well for the country, Crissinger added, if the thrift wave would spread to the holders of wealth. He did not think it had yet struck the richer elements.

Life Wisdom

The art of conquering is that of despising death.—French Proverb.

It were better to have no opinion of God at all, than such an opinion as is unworthy of Him. For the one is unbelief, the other is contumely: and certainly superstition is the reproach of the Deity.—Francis Bacon.

God breathes, not speaks; his verdict's felt, not heard.—Browning.

That which we foolishly call vastness is rightly considered, not more wonderful, not more impressive, than that which we insolently call littleness; and the infinity of God is not mysterious, it is only unfathomable, not concealed, but incomprehensible.—Ruskin.

We treat God with irreverence by banishing Him from our thoughts, not by referring to His will on slight occasions.—Ruskin.

Most men of action incline to fatalism, and most men of thought believe in Providence.—Balzac.

The fashion of this world passeth away: I would fain occupy myself with that which endures.—Goethe.

The web of our life is of mingled yarn; good and ill together.—Shakespeare.

Renunciation remains sorrow though a sorrow borne willingly.—Goerge Eliot.

'Tis sorrow builds the shining ladder up whose golden rounds are our calamites.—Lowell.

The Menace

The road is dark with reckless gents whose cheap cars swiftly pass, and they have less than fifty cents when they have paid for gas. They got their cars where junk is sold by some unmoral man; they got their cars, to have and to hold on the installment plan. And if they smashed my limousine, destroyed its priceless hood, they could not raise a silver bean to make the damage good. And if perchance they ran me down, and broke my costly spine, they could not raise a single crown to pay a claim of mine. Along the road their boats are hurled, for wrecks they do not care; they have no assets in the world, the damage to repair. Oh, in the future or beyond, on some bright day afar, the man must give an ample bond who hopes to drive a car. . . . The paupers scorch along the hill, and by the virgin wood; and if they wreck or maim or kill they can make nothing good.—Walt Mason.

For every purpose for which a liniment is usually applied the modern remedy, Liquid Borozone, will do the work more quickly, more thoroughly and more pleasantly. Price, 30c, 60c, and $1.20. Sold by Jarrett Drug Company. 6t4

Tight Shoes Cause Illness

Baltimore Sun: "The relation of the shoe to the disposition has been stated perfectly by Mark Twain," said Dr. Lillian Weish, in a recent interview. "Mark Twain said, 'If you want to forget your troubles, buy a pair of tight shoes.' Nothing could be simpler. No one can be thoroughly agreeable who is uncomfortable, and a pair of shoes that hurt is reason enough for gloom."

Her comment was apropos experiments conducted at one of the Western universities, which revealed that only one girl out of 344 examined had perfect feet. That girl, according to the report, was born in China and her perfection was ascribed to the fact that she always went barefoot and tried to imitate the coolies in exercising her toes.

Many ailments, according to an orthopedic specialist in a local shoe store, are directly traceable to improper footwear. Various forms of nervousness, which, in turn, are responsible for all sorts of other troubles will disappear at the same time irritable dispositions vanish, says this expert. Pains through the legs and back often are corrected by properly fitted arch supports, he declares.

The concensus of opinion is in favor of a low shoe all the year around, as it is said to allow freer circulation.

Shoe dealers declare that many women do not suffer at least from high-heeled, pointed shoes, but they admit the disposition of such women cannot always be relied upon.

The judge was evidently getting a bit fed up with the jury, and at last he announced:

"I discharge this jury."

A tall, lean member of the twelve then rose.

"Say, judge, you can't discharge me."

"Can't discharge you? Why not?" thundered the other.

"Waal," replied the juryman, pointing to counsel for defense, "I was hired by that guy over there!"

For the Game's Sake

"Why are you always playing golf?"

"Oh, it keeps me fit."

"Yes—but fit for what?"

"Oh, more golf."—London Opinion.

Thence in Northwesterly direction with said right-of-way to place of beginning;

Second Tract.

160 acres of land being the Northwest One-fourth of Survey 67, Block B-5, patented by the State of Texas to Texas Land Company, December 31st, 1880, by patent No. 291, Vol. 61 by virtue of Certificate No. 15-3573, issued to H. & G. N. R. R. Co., all situated in Randall County, Texas, excepting, however, 30 acres out of the Northeast corner of said first tract now owned by Wm. Willard and not herein conveyed.

It is hereby decreed that Order of Sale Issue to Sheriff of Randall County, Texas, to sell the said property as provided by law on the first Tuesday in June, 1921.

It is also ordered and decreed that said property be first offered for sale in Fifty (50) acre tracts, and if the property be so sold the expense of dividing the same into said 50 acre tracts is hereby assessed against all of said defendants, as provided by law in such cases. That if there be no bidder for such property in 50 acre tracts, then and in that event, the same shall be offered for sale as a whole; and levied upon as the property of said J. I. Campbell Individually and as Community Administrator of the Estate of Bertie Campbell, deceased, C. C. Jones and J. M. Tanner, and on Tuesday, the 7th day of June, 1921, at the Court House door of Randall County, in the town of Canyon, Texas, between the hours of ten A. M. and four P. M., I will sell said Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. I. Campbell Individually and as Community Administrator of the estate of Bertie Campbell, deceased, C. C. Jones and J. M. Tanner by virtue of said levy and said Alias Order of Sale.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Randall County News, a newspaper published in Randall County.

Witness my hand, this 7th day of May, 1921.

W. C. BLACK, Sheriff
7t3 Randall County, Texas.

I'd walk a mile for a Camel

The pleasure is worth it. There's no substitute for Camel quality and that mild, fragrant Camel blend.

The fellow who smokes Camels, wants Camels. That's because Camels have a smoothness, a fragrance and a mildness you can't get in another cigarette.

Don't let anyone tell you that any other cigarette at any price is so good as Camels.

Let your own taste be the judge. Try Camels for yourself. A few smooth, refreshing puffs and you'd walk a mile for a Camel, too.

Who is it That Builds Houses?

Most house are built for HOMES. Some houses are built for revenue bearing investments. The house that's built for the money there is in it is only a house—it can't ever become a home until it brings contentment by the occupants ownership.

If we could make you see how important it is for your own welfare to own your home, we won't regret what we spend in trying to impress you with the importance.

Hats Off America

In tribute to its war heroes, the Nation sets aside the 30th of May each year for the purpose of paying homage to their memory.

The great World War added many names to our already long list of soldier and sailor dead and contributed a deeper significance to our solemn celebration of the day.

Hats off, America, the heads bowed to the heroes who have fought and died that we might enjoy the rewards of their splendid sacrifice.

This bank will be closed all day on Monday, May the 30th.
