3.2 Is Illegal! Try A Shot Of Our "Nice" Corn

A Lubbock business man vouches for this story:

A Fort Worth man registered at a local hotel. The negro porter accompanied the guest to his room, set down the luggage and asked:

"Anything else, suh?" (Emphasis on "anything.")

"What about something to drink?"

"I've got some good corn liker. Dollar a pint."

"Got any three-point-two?"

"No, suh, it ain't legal."

Mrs. Shannon Still Has Faith In Her Bold Daughter

By WILLIAM VOIGT, JR., Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26. — A tearful story of how George (Machine Gun) Kelly shattered her belief that he was an honest business man was told by Mrs. R. G. Shannon, a defendant in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping trial today to a court that had been electrified by word of the capture of the fugitive machine gunner with his wife, Kathryn, in Memphis.

Mrs. Kelly is Mrs. Shannon's daughter.

Trial Set Oct. 9

District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde announced that Kelly and Kathryn would be brought here for trial October 9, and revealed that information given by a little child led to the arrests.

The child, 12-year-old Geraldine Arnold, had been sent home by the Kellys after her father, Luther Arnold, had communicated with them and expressed fear for the child's life.

Arnold told his attorney, John Roberts of Enid, he was afraid that since a $15,000 reward for the Kellys "dead or alive" had been offered in Oklahoma City, someone "might shoot first and aim later," accidentally hurting Geraldine.

Word Spreads Quickly

Word of the capture spread quickly through the courthouse and brought jubilant expressions from the Urschels and federal officers, and the elderly Shannon, on trial with his wife and son, Armon, voiced his relief. He said he had feared for his life and for his family.

From the highest to the lowest officials were unanimous in saying they were glad their search was ended.

"You know, we couldn't let that pee-wee keep running around the country sending back sassy letters," said R. H. Colvin, local chief of the federal bureau of investigation. A broad smile was on his face. The Urschels and the Shannons had been threatened by Kelly.

Protest Is Lodged

The Kellys will be kept out of the jurisdiction of the local court until after the present case has gone to the jury, federal attorneys said.

James H. Mathers, attorney for Harvey Bailey, notorious jail-bird, protested vigorously at this announcement.

"If Kelly testified, he would free Bailey on this charge," said Mathers. "Bailey was just down there on the Shannon farm, broke, and maybe chiseled in on the ransom

Approval For Retail Trade Code Looming

Provisions Against Cutting Of Prices To Extreme Will Be Carried; Some Protests Are Being Lodged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. — Approval of an NRA code for retailers and druggists with their provisions against extreme price cutting was indicated today by officials.

Although Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, has been confined for almost a week with an infection that necessitated a slight operation, it was said both he and President Roosevelt have been informed fully about the proposed codes.

Codes Are Favored

Codes were approved today, subject to examination by President Roosevelt, for the lime, building supplies, optical manufacturing, textile machinery manufacturing, electric battery manufacturers, advertising specialty, women's belt manufacturing, and the knitting, braiding and wire covering machinery manufacturing industries.

After a general conference with his principal staff members that lasted until late last night Johnson called others of his aides for talks today.

Meanwhile, despite the vehement protests in some sections to the provisions against price regulations contained in the retail charters, the administration announced less than one-half of one per cent of the expressions received voiced opposition.

This section of the master retail code would prohibit sales below a price representing wholesale cost plus ten per cent. In the drug code the provision bars sales of trade-marked goods on which the manufacturer fixes a price at a discount of more than 21 per cent.

Whether President Roosevelt and the administrator will advance these articles as written officials would not attempt to say, but it was indicated strongly the administration believed some such ban on price-cutting would be approved.

Convicts Revolt And Start Fires

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 (AP) — The entire convict population of the Eastern penitentiary — 1492 "long term" felons—revolted tonight and threw the old stone prison into the worst riot of its 103 years.

With smoke and flames shooting along the radiating corridors and bells that could be heard for four blocks in the thickly populated neighborhood, the rioters grabbed the warden, Herbert (Hardboiled) Smith, and beat and slashed him severely before guards came to the rescue.

The convicts, enraged at the loss of their special privileges after an earlier attempted prison break, started the bedlam about an hour after they were locked in their cells for the night.

Igniting their mattresses, they moved them through cell bars into the corridors, setting up a flaming barrier that prevented guards from entering the long tiers. The riot was put down shortly after midnight after firemen directed streams of water on the convicts, and state troopers arrived with machine guns and riot sticks to augment city police.

Kathryn Kelly Declares That She Meant To Give Herself Up Today; Says George Had Threatened To Kill Her

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26.—George R. (Machine Gun) Kelly, bad man of the southwest's ranges, surrendered here today with a pistol in his hand.

His captor had a shotgun.

"They got me, but keeping me is another matter," said the desperado who is wanted in Oklahoma for trial in connection with the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel. He also is wanted in Chicago for alleged participation in the slaying of a patrolman.

Wife Also Captured

His wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, who now are on trial in connection with the Urschel kidnaping, was captured with Kelly in a little bungalow where he had been hiding.

A tip that the Kellys were in the house sent a squad of officers to the scene. The place was surrounded. Detective Sergeant Bill Raney of the Memphis force—blue eyed and soft spoken — rapped on the door. Kelly flung it open. He had a gun in his hand.

Raney snapped his shotgun over the bad man's heart and drawled: "Drop that gun Kelly."

Jerks Hands Skyward

The weapon clattered to the floor and the desperado jerked his hands skyward.

The Kellys and two house companions—J. R. Tichnor, 30, and S. E. Travis, 26, were hurried to the station.

Kelly was surly

"Tell the world I'll be out of this jail before long," said he—then light heartedly as he glared at the guards around him—"say chief, looks like there might be a war going on around here."

His wife, Kathryn, agreed to waive extradition, but Kelly said:

"I'm not talking about anything."

Wants To Save Parents

Mrs. Kelly said she wanted to return to Oklahoma to save her parents. "I was going back tomorrow and give myself up," said the auburn-haired girl. "Kelly told me he would kill me if I did, but I was going anyway."

She wore a red wig. Kelly had died his black hair yellow.

Memphis police received a tip from the department of justice early today that the Kellys were

Amon G. Carter Presents Suit Made At Texas Tech To FD As He Leaves For Hyde Park Visit

"The President Was Delighted And Is Taking The Suit To Hyde Park With Him," Carter Wires; Wool Is Produced And Processed On Campus; Texas Hat Also Presented

PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT today owned a suit produced in Texas Technological college laboratory courses.

Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and first chairman of the board of directors of Texas Tech, presented the suit to President Roosevelt in Washington yesterday. Immediately after the presentation, Mr. Carter wired Lubbock Chamber of Commerce:

"The president was delighted and is taking the suit with him to Hyde Park today."

Wool, used in the manufacture of the clothing not only was produced on Texas Tech campus, but it also was processed there. Two college athletes, Leonard Curfman and Malcolm Martin, scoured, carded, spun and wove the wool in laboratory work in the textile engineering department. Carl D. Brandt is head of the department.

Although the material in the suit was machine-woven, the college has designed a hand loom suitable for community or individual farm-home use. The college is fostering home-manufacture of textiles in West Texas, noted for its production of cotton and wool. President Bradford Knapp has received many inquiries regarding specifications of the loom and its

Known Death Toll In Tampico Hurricane 50; Large Part Of City Is Laid Waste By Winds

Many More Bodies Are Feared Buried In Debris Over The City; Heavy Property Loss Also Is Suffered

BY CLARK LEE
Associated Press Correspondent

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 26.—The known death toll from last Sunday's hurricane which buffeted this oil port for several hours was placed officially tonight as 50, with 300 known injured and much of the city laid waste.

It was feared, however, that many more bodies were buried in the debris of collapsed houses or had not been recovered from the water which swirled in from overflowing rivers to cover the low lying sections.

Death Toll Falls

This correspondent, arriving from Mexico, D. F., by airplane, the first to reach Tampico since the storm, found the city suffering from heavy property damage but without the high death toll at first feared.

Officials of the city did not attempt to estimate the total number of injured, but the figure unofficially was placed at thousands, many of them receiving treatment in their homes.

Half of the center of the city proper remained intact, but entire buildings were twisted to pieces by the wind. Wooden buildings on the

McDonald Advises Farmers To Withhold Cotton Sales

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, today advised Texas farmers to withhold sale of their cotton crop until details of the federal cotton loan plan had been worked out. The advice was contained in a communication to his office here from Washington.

McDonald said the administration expected to have all details of a plan worked out by next Monday whereby producers would be loaned ten cents per pound on all tenderable cotton.

Seven Indictments Returned By Grand Jury At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, Sept. 26. (Special) A 72nd district court grand jury today returned seven indictments and adjourned, said Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney.

Two of the bills were for driving an automobile while intoxicated and the other five were for violation of the prohibition law. Judge Homer L. Pharr has set the week beginning Oct. 9 for trial of criminal cases.

Boy Dies In A Futile Effort To Be A Hero

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A 19-year old boy died alone on a tenement roof today in a futile gesture of bravado by which he hoped to deceive his father.

His friend told police he shot him on request, intending to nick his arm, but the wound was fatal.

The plot as police reconstructed it:

Feared Detection

Joseph G. Gregorovio, a naval training student, borrowed $5 from his family's grocer and had the loan charged to his father's account. It was about time for his father to pay the bill and the boy feared detection.

Said he to Louis Zelenka, his 17-year-old friend.

"You either cut or shoot me slightly in the arm and then I can say I was held up and a lot of people will come around and bring me candy and flowers, and sympathize with me. I'll be a hero in the neighborhood and my father will forget about the $5."

Shaking A Little

Louis told officers: "But I guess I was shaking a little because instead of grabbing his arm, Joe put his hand over on his chest and fell down."

Louis went home and hid the rifle. He couldn't sleep. Soon after dawn he went back to the roof and found Joe's body.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Cohen said Louis would be arraigned tomorrow on a charge of homicide.

Theft Of Payroll Checks Is Revealed In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Sept. 26. (AP)—Theft of payroll checks of the Texoma Natural Gas company representing more than $2,500, presumably stolen from the Fritch postoffice in Hutchinson county last Saturday morning, was revealed in Amarillo tonight by city and federal authorities.

All but 26 of the 74 checks were discovered by a maid in a local hotel room where they had been hidden. Postal inspectors said the checks were scheduled to have arrived at the postoffice Saturday morning. One of them was reported to have been cashed in Amarillo.

Convicts Are Successful In Long Plotted Dash And Head For Chicago; Sheriff And Motorist Kidnaped

All Long Termers

Guard Shot Down And Two Pen Officials Menaced; Bandits Take Cars Along Highway To Keep Up Flight

(By The Associated Press)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Sept. 26. Ten desperadoes shot down a guard, kidnaped a sheriff and a motorist, menaced two prison officials with death, and escaped today from the Indiana state penitentiary.

Successful in what appeared to have been a long-plotted break for liberty, the convicts sped away toward Chicago, 55 miles distant; in two automobiles commandeered from the men they abducted.

Names Are Given

Warden Louis H. Kunkel and Chief H. C. Crosby gave the names of the escaped prisoners and offenses, as:

Joseph Jenkins, life for murder; Edwards House, 25 years, auto banditry; Russell Clark, 20 years, bank robbery; Joseph Fox, life for bank robbery; Walter Dietrich, life for bank robbery; John Burns, life for murder; Harry Pierpont, 10 to 21 years for robbery; Charles Mackley, 10-20 years for robbery; John Hamilton, 35 years, auto banditry, and James Clark, life for auto banditry.

The escape started in the prison shirt factory. Assistant Warden Albert Evans was summoned to the shop on pretext that he was needed there because of a breakdown in machinery.

Greeted By Armed Men

He was greeted on arrival by seven men with pistols and four with clubs. The convicts disarmed Evans and forced him and D. H. Stevens, plant superintendent to accompany them.

Taking with them a 10-foot steel shaft for use as a battering ram if needed, the 11 prisoners forced Evans and Stevens to accompany them into a ventilating tunnel running under prison buildings. There they held a conference.

After the "council of war" each of the desperadoes picked up a bundle of shirts and they marched up

Lamson To Die Upon Gallows

Young Defendant Declares His Conscience Is Clear Before Judgment Of God; Death Set For December 15

(By The Associated Press)

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 26.—The death sentence was pronounced today upon David A. Lamson, young Stanford university publishing house representative convicted of wife murder, after he had professed innocence in a statement to the court.

Superior Judge R. R. Syer denied a hard-fought defense motion for a new trial of the case growing out of the death of Allene Thorpe Lamson, attractive Stanford Y. W. C. A. secretary, in a campus cottage last May 30. Lamson was asked to rise.

Conscience Is Clear

"Have you any legal cause or reason why judgment should not be pronounced now?" asked Judge Syer.

"I understand, your honor," said Lamson calmly, "that under the law and under this verdict you have no alternative but to pronounce the death sentence. I should like you and the people of this state to know that my conscience is clear before your judgment and before the judg-

Federal Judge Is Charged In Poison Probe

Conduct Of Cases Involving Shipment Of Poison Ginger Extract Is Investigated By Congressional Group

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Sept. 26—Federal Judge James A. Lowell, already under fire in congress for his decision involving a negro wanted in Virginia for murder, today was disclosed as under investigation for his conduct of cases involving the shipment of poisonous ginger extract from Massachusetts to western states.

Congressman Gordon Browning of Tennessee, member of a congressional subcommittee, here to receive testimony concerning Judge Lowell, said charges against the jurist had been filed with the congressional committee on judiciary.

Case Handling Rapped

"The pure food interests complained about the manner in which Judge Lowell handled the cases of Max Reisman and Harry Gross, who were found guilty in the Jamaica ginger cases in this court a few years ago," said Browning.

Browning said the complainants, the "pure food interests," were from New Jersey and that they had complained about "the small fines and the small sentences imposed by Judge Lowell on the defendants."

Several months ago congress passed a resolution for action by the judiciary committee to determine whether impeachment proceedings against Judge Lowell should be brought as a consequence of his decision in granting a writ of habeas corpus to George Crawford, negro, wanted in Virginia for a double murder. Judge Lowell's decision, granting the writ because, he said, negroes were not permitted to serve on juries in Virginia, aroused southern congressmen.

The sub-committee of which Congressman Browning and Con-

Attractive Loan Plan For Purchase Of Steel Looming

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—An unusually attractive loan plan for purchase of steel rails is expected in informed circles to be offered to the railroads by the government in an effort to create additional employment.

This was made known in official circles today following a White House announcement yesterday that government officials and steel mill executives had considered bids on some 500,000 to 700,000 tons of steel rails.

The money—about $25,000,000 — would come from the public works fund being allocated by Secretary Ickes, head of the public works administration.

Witness Says Underworld Marked Cermak For Death

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Startling testimony that the underworld had marked the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak for execution because of his anti-criminal activities and had chosen Louis "Little New York" Campagna as his executioner was given today in criminal court.

The declaration was made by former Police Sergeant Harry Miller in the trial of Harry Lang, suspended police officer who is charged with assault with intent to kill Frank Nitti, reputed one time enforcer of Al Capone's edicts.

Former Ferguson Forum President Testifies That Large Amounts Were Turned Over To Him For Deposits

Several Accounts

Where Money Came From Is Not Known; Chudej Declares It Was All In Cash Of Various Denominations

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. — Frank W. Chudej, until recently president of the Ferguson Forum, edited by James E. Ferguson, and manager of other interests in which Ferguson was interested, today testified before the Texas senate that James E. Ferguson had delivered to him (Chudej) $22,100 in currency, some of it in bills of $1,000 denominations, over a period from January 4 last to August 17 last. He said Ferguson ordered the amounts deposited in the American National bank to the credit of certain accounts.

Chudej testified he deposited $17,905 to the credit of the Bosque Creamery account over a period from January 3 to August 18; and $3,795 to the credit of the Ferguson Forum account from January 16 to January 17, all delivered to him in currency by James E. Ferguson. He said several hundred dollars had been given him in currency by Ferguson for the "C. C. McDonald anti-prohibition account."

Dates And Deposits Read

Chudej read the dates of the deposits and the amounts from what he identified as a photostatic copy of a ledger sheet. He said he had entered the amounts to the credit of the accounts in a permanent ledger that was kept in the Ferguson Forum office and that he (Chudej) had kept a copy of the ledger sheet for his own information.

"You do not know where the money came from," questioned Senator Clint C. Small, of Amarillo.

"No," replied Chudej.

"Was that butter and egg money?" inquired Senator Small.

"The butter and egg money was not listed," answered Chudej.

Varied Denominations

Questioned by Small, Chudej testified the currency was in various denominations, some times in five and ten dollar bills.

"Generally the currency was $50 and $100 bills, and he gave me one or two $1,000 bills," Chudej testified.

Chudejj said he had severed his connections with the Ferguson Forum and the other Ferguson interests last August 19. He said he had been connected with the Ferguson Forum since it was incorporated on September 26, 1913.

He testified that as he banked the money the amounts of the deposits were entered in a pass book and on duplicate deposit slips. These he said were kept in the Ferguson Forum office.

Checks Are Drawn

Chudej testified that he had drawn checks on instructions from James E. Ferguson on the Bosque Creamery account for miscellaneous bills, including insurance and "gree-

Legion May Start Drive Upon Crime

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—A plan for the American Legion to fight crime through its thousands of posts in all of the 48 states was added today to the long list of subjects for discussion at the Legion's national convention next week.

National Commander Louis A. Johnson arrived to take charge of pre-convention activities and announced at least 10 states have petitioned for the national organization to open war on racketeering, kidnaping, robbery, and other forms of crime.

Asked if the Legion might start a vigilante movement against criminals, Johnson replied: "A tour over 105,000 miles of the country has shown me that the Legion is the police department, as well as the chamber of commerce, in hundreds of smaller towns."

Young Woman Treated For Poisoning Last Night; Condition Not Critical

MRS. CHARLES WYNNE, 19, of 235 Avenue H was treated for poisoning at West Texas hospital late last night. It was said she swallowed a mixture of medicine and an antiseptic disinfectant, chief compound of which is carbolic acid.

Mrs. Wynne was returned to her home after treatment. She was not believed to be in a critical condition, but it was said her condition could not be determined definitely for several days.

The young woman has been here about a month with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rosa Wynne.

Neighbors said that Ida Pearl Wynne, about 9 or 10 years old, saw Mrs. Charles Wynne mix disinfectant with medicine. The child called Mrs. Rosa Wynne, and she found the young wife on the ground at a back door. Tommie Wynne, a young boy, was sent to call an ambulance. A Sanders ambulance took her to the hospital at about 10:50 o'clock.

Charles Wynne and the young woman were married last spring in New Mexico, it was said. She came here to visit recently. It was the first time she had seen her husband's mother. Charles

Ford Employes Out On Strike

Longer Work Week And Higher Minimum Pay Being Demanded By Leaders; Movement Comes As A Surprise

(By The Associated Press)

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 26. — Demanding a longer work week and a higher minimum pay several thousand employes of the Chester plant of the Ford Motor company went on strike today.

The movement was more or less secretly started and the order to walk out came suddenly.

At first officials of the plant denied there was a walk out, but later admitted that a large part of the force had quit. There was no official word from the company representatives here as to what action Henry Ford would take.

Ask Five-Day Week

Leaders among the men said the workers are asking for a five-day week with minimum pay of $25 a week.

Last week the plant was placed on a four-day week of eight hours a day with minimum pay at 50 cents an hour. The leaders said the men are dissatisfied with the $16 a week minimum and contend it is not a living wage.

The number on strike was estimated by the leaders of the walkout at 4,000 to 5,000. The number of men who refused to go out was estimated from 200 to 800.

PAYMENT IS MADE

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—Payment of $1.50 on the state scholastic per capita apportionment for the 1932-33 school year was announced today by L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction.

Today's remission brought the total paid on the 1932-33 apportionment to $12.50, leaving unpaid $3.50, which must be paid before liquidation of the 1933-34 apportionment of $16 can start.

Red Cross Gives $25,000 To Relief Fund For Sufferers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The American Red Cross today gave $25,000 toward relief of hurricane sufferers at Tampico, Mexico.

John Barton Payne, chairman, instructed Red Cross chapters in large cities to accept contributions to the Mexican relief fund.

Pan-American Airways officials here said all their facilities had been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross for relief work. It was said some food and other supplies had been dropped today by planes at the Tampico airport.

Elective And Appointive Officers Named In Twentieth Century Club On Tues

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Lubbock Woman's Editor

IT is surprising how little most of us know about what is going on all of the time.

"Now that the schools have opened, don't you think the parent-teacher associations might do something useful for the schools?" one business man was asking me last week. His opinion seemed to be that the parent-teacher associations were social gatherings of women and nothing more than that. Perhaps his opinion is generally shared—even by parents whose children benefit by the things the parent-teacher associations accomplish.

If you have such an opinion attend some of the meetings this winter. One need not be a parent or a teacher to attend. One need only to be interested. Parent-teacher leaders, in fact, will welcome memberships of men and women who are not parents of school children. They will even go so far as to take you to a meeting if you will give them a call—try Mrs. M. B. Hilburn, the P.-T.A. council president on that.

You, like this business man, might be surprised to know that the parent-teacher societies seek to improve general conditions in all of the schools.

WHAT THEY DO

JUST for example, there are the cafeterias in the schools. As far as I know, all of the lunch rooms were established by the parent-teacher associations. Moreover, these organizations seek to keep the cafeterias in good condition. Last year there was a committee from the Central Ward parent-teacher association that acted in an advisory capacity to the manager of the cafeteria—helped her plan meals so that they would be balanced and have variety and yet be appetizing. This committee saw that the cafeteria was renovated and made sanitary, added new dishes and other equipment.

Almost all of the playground equipment at schools has been bought and installed by parent-teacher associations. Balls, bats and other equipment have also been furnished pupils by the associations.

GENERAL TOPIC

THE general topic for programs in all of the parent-teacher associations this winter is "The Child and His Community." These programs will deal with home life, the physical condition of children, cooperation of the home and school, spiritual surroudings for children and other such topics.

Many phases of the subject will be presented through lectures by men and women from the faculty at Texas Technological college—men and women who have the training and education to discuss the topics with intelligence. These men and women graciously give of their time to help the parent-teacher associations—which are much more fortunate than societies in towns where these professional people are not available for lectures.

Doctors and dentists here help the association leaders, too, and give their time willingly. They help with the Summer Round-Up clinics each spring when children of pre-school age are given examinations free of charge. They have given much other medical help free through the parent-teacher associations.

HELP WITH HEALTH

THESE Summer Round-Ups are something else that parent-teacher association members have been sponsoring here. Children who are to enter school for the first time in September are examined and their parents are told of defects in order that these may be corrected by the time the child enters school.

You may think this is a waste of time. You wouldn't if you could see the difference in the response that a well child and a sick child makes in the school room. All of the advantage is on the side of the well child.

Whether this business man knows it or not, the parent-teacher associations are doing tangible things for the Lubbock schools. Much more could be done if more men and women became interested in their programs and helped—whether or not they have children who are reaping the benefits.

Council Meets At Hall Today

Child Health Committee Will Make Report At County-Wide Meeting; Out-Of-Town People Expected To Attend

When the County Children's council meets at Seaman hall this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock there will be a report from the child health committee in the organization. This will be the first fall meeting for the council. Mrs. H. F. Godeke is chairman.

Since this is a county-wide council, delegates are expected to attend from all communities in the county, Mrs. Godeke said. The council is made up of representatives from educational, civic, cultural and medical associations and any others who are interested. It was formed last spring.

The child health committee has been making a survey of conditions in the county during the last few months.

Anyone who is interested in the work of the council may attend the meetings, Mrs. Godeke said, and she is particularly anxious to have people from county communities and towns, in addition to those who will attend from this city.

Mayor Of Tampico Describes City's Condition After Hurricane Sunday

(The Associated Press asked Jose Tarrega, mayor of Tampico, to describe the condition of the city which was buffeted by last Sunday's hurricane. His reply follows):

By JOSE TARREGA
Mayor of Tampico, Mexico

TAMPICO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Up to now it has been impossible to calculate the casualties from last Sunday's storm. Material losses have been estimated at approximately 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 pesos ($2,800,000 to $3,360,000).

Conditions are generally dire. The water mains have been destroyed as well as some of the water pumps. There is absolutely no communication except by air.

The Panuco and Tamesi rivers joined in the lower regions of the city. Twenty thousand families are homeless.

The cyclone blew furiously for 12 hours, accompanied by heavy rains from September 24 and including part of the following day. Military authorities decreed martial law.

Miramar was destroyed completely and part of the city was submerged. The refining plants of the Huasteca Petroleum company and the Aguila (Mexican Eagle) and Imperio and Pierce companies were almost virtually destroyed.

Strong river currents make it impossible to journey to the interior, and hence news from that region is not available.

Seven Faculty Members Here

New Tech Instructors Added To Fill Vacancies Caused By Leaves; Records Given Upon Arrival

Seven new members of the faculty of Texas Technological college have reported here for work this year. Several are new members and others take the places of members on leave.

Dr. A. G. Barnett, Ph. D. comes from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, where he has been for seven years, as associate professor in education. He is a graduate of Peabody College and received his Ph. D. degree there. Before going to the Nashville school Dr. Barnett taught in the Universities of Florida and of Arizona.

Takes Ogden's Place

E. H. Plank, M. A. who has just come from Leland Stanford university, is in the department of government and takes the place of M. E. Ogden, who is on leave this year. Last year he had a fellowship at Leland Stanford. Mr. Ogden is himself studying at the California school this year.

Francis C. Cook, Austin, graduate of the University of Texas and an instructor there, is in the foreign language department as instructor. He takes the place of N. D. Moulton, who is on leave while studying at Columbia university, New York City.

Is Rice Graduate

Miss Carrie Hodges, instructor in foods and nutrition, is a graduate of Rice Institute, Houston and holds an M. S. degree from Iowa State college at Ames. She taught at Nacogdoches and more recently has been on the faculty of the North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington.

Another division of home economics faculty member is Miss Josephine Looney, instructor of clothing, textile and applied arts. She holds a B. S. degree from the University of Minnesota and a M. A. degree from Columbia university. After graduation there, she taught in Connecticut before coming to Texas.

Olympic Star Here

Jack Francis Van Bebber is graduate assistant in the department of agricultural economics and also wrestling instructor in the physical education department. A graduate of the Oklahoma A. and M., Stillwater, he is an athlete of note, having been an Olympic wrestling champion and also the holder of several collegiate records.

C. Luker, Texas A. and M. graduate, will represent the vocational agriculture work on the faculty as a member of both the division of agriculture and the department of education. After graduation from A. and M., where he was a member of the stock judging team, Luker went to near San Angelo and then to San Antonio where he made an outstanding record as a vocational teacher. Later he went to Bryan in a similar capacity and it was there that his school was used as a laboratory training school for students in vocational work.

HEARING IS SET

AUSTIN, Sept. 26, (AP)—The Texas railroad commission has set for hearing on October 5 application of the Beaumont, Sour Lake and Western Railway company for authority to reduce its service between Sour Lake and Grayburg.

In the early days in the west it was necessary to drive spikes in telegraph poles to prevent buffaloes from pushing them over.

Teaching Forces At Tech Enlarged

Increased enrollment at Texas Tech is causing the teaching force to be enlarged, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president, said yesterday afternoon in announcing that between 1,800 and 1,900 students were either enrolled or in the process of enrollment.

"We have had to put on three student assistants," he said. "They are in the chemistry, physics and government departments. Besides, we made two half time instructors in the English department full time instructors, or an additional full time man. Our enrollment in these departments is very large."

On the basis of present increase over last year, Dr. Knapp believes by the middle of October there will be 2,000 enrolled. A year ago there were 1,752 enrolled at this time, compared to between 1,800 and 1,900. By the middle of October, 1932 the number had grown to 1,950 and using this as a basis, Dr. Knapp sees enrollment above the 2,000 mark within three weeks.

"A lot depends upon receipt of cotton checks," he added. "Many want to come in now, but their families have not yet received checks. We will be registering students for a little while, yet."

Large Rattle Snake Killed After Discovery By A Dog

SEMINOLE, Sept. 26 (Special)—One of the largest rattle snakes ever killed in this section was recently reported by Con Hood after his dog had found the snake in the brush in Mr. Hood's yard. The dog scared the snake and it rattled, the noise being heard for some distance.

Mr. Hood secured his garden hoe and killed the reptile. It measured five and a half feet long and was eight inches around at the largest part.

MAN IS KILLED

TYLER, Sept. 26 (AP) — A man identified by cards in his billfold as S. G. Fondaw, about 45, was killed today when an automobile collided with a truck near Tyler on the Chandler highway. The cards indicated he lived at Mexia and was associated with the Fondaw Casing Pulling company.

MRS. HOOPLE ILL

LORENZO, (Special)—Mrs. F. E. Hoople, postmistress here, who was injured in an automobile nearly three months ago, is still confined to her bed. According to her physician she must remain in bed until the middle of October.

Pelicans Defeat Santone Thrice Straight For Dixie Diamond Pennan

Galehouse On Mound To Win Final, 2 To 0

Missions Limited To 5 Hits, All Scattered, As Southern Association Champs Triumph In Dixie Series

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—The New Orleans Pelicans, champions of the Southern Association, today swept forward to their first Dixie Series title by turning in a third straight victory over San Antonio, Texas League champs, in Heinemann Park.

Dennis Galehouse, the Pels' fair-haired boy, facing the Missions for the third time in six days, made it a shutout, 2 to 0, and became the undisputed local hero of the 1933 season.

He yielded only five scattered bingles while his teammates were reaching Abe "Payday" Miller for nine safeties, good for runs in the second and fifth. Louis Berger, relief utility man, playing third base, drove in both of the Pel runs, accounting for two hits in three times up.

Not A Money Series

Less than 2,500 witnessed the deciding contest of a series far from being a financial success. Total attendance for three games here and three in Texas was only around 26,000. With players participating only in the first four days' receipts, the Pels figure to get around $600 each and the losing Missions about $400 a piece.

Both sides went out in fast one-two-three order until New Orleans' half of the fifth when Autry and Berger, the first two up, each doubled, scoring Autry. Harrington flied out, Galehouse fanned and Knothe fouled out.

The nearest San Antonio got to second base was when Clift went out trying to steal it in the second. Fred Tauby was sent in in the ninth as a pinch-hitter for Miller. Galehouse fanned him.

Shag Introduces New Things For Chicago Gridmen

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—A railbird, who has been watching Amos Alonzo Stagg build University of Chicago football teams for almost a quarter of a century, blinked his eyes in astonishment.

"Well, for . . .", he cried. "They look like a gymnasium class. They haven't got football suits on even. Well . . ."

Train On Milk

"Aw, that's nothing," one of the senior lettermen put in. "Just stick around and you'll see some more of Coach Shaughnessy's ideas. Say, we haven't worn regulation football suits for three days and won't until next week. We're not going to scrimmage more than an hour a week and later on we're going to cut that to half that time, maybe. Another thing. Know what we're drinking these days to keep fit? Milk and lots of it although that big frosh over there took the coach at his word, drank four quarts one day, and got sick."

Anyone dropping in on the university of Chicago football camp, where Coach Clark Shaughnessy is applying all his football ingenuity to give the Maroons a "new deal" in the Big Ten football wars, will be just as surprised as the veteran railbird. His head is buzzing with new ideas and his spirit pervades the practice field. His squad is the largest in many years and is hustling all the time.

"No, I can't think of winning a championship this year," Coach Shaughnessy said, "but I think we're going to be tough and get tougher as the season rolls on. We are stressing blocking and tackling as no team can succeed without those rudiments."

Franklin D. Jr., Tries Out For Harvard Football Team

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 26. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., son of the president, is a candidate for the freshman football team at Harvard.

He reports to freshman Coach Cliff Gallagher at Soldiers' Field this afternoon. Roosevelt played tackle on the Groton school eleven last fall and was rated a promising lineman.

In the Series

This is the sixth of a series of sketches on individual stars of the Washington Senator and New York Giants, prospective world series rivals.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Ossie Bluege has been described by those who should know as the greatest fielding third baseman alive.

Bluege is what is known as a baseball players' player—that is, while the average fan may not appreciate his worth, opposing athletes regard him as the last word in third-sackers.

Strange, too. When Ossie was a boy, the doctors told him he must avoid strenuous exercise. His reply was that life was not worth living if he couldn't play baseball and that he would play if it killed him.

This is his 15th season as a professional, in addition to a few years as a Lutheran Institute and semi-pro player, and he still is going strong.

Bluege signed with Peoria in 1920 as a shortstop. Two years later Washington bought him. He was sent to Minneapolis for seasoning and when he returned was assigned to third, because Roger Peckinpaugh was starring at short.

This will be his third world series. He is the only member of the present Washington squad, except Goose Goslin and Sam Rice, who took part in the world series of 1924 and 1925.

Bluege was born in Chicago and is 33 years old. He weighs 160 pounds, stands five-feet, 10 inches, bats and throws right-handed.

Headliners On Boxing Card Here For Final Workouts Before Season Begins Thursday Night; Prelims Announced

Burl "Scrap-Iron" Merritt, powerful young welterweight from Waco, arrived in Lubbock yesterday and hustled through a light workout to inaugurate his local training and finishing for his main event bout Thursday night with Duke Tramel, veteran boxer of Fort Worth.

Tramel, known from coast to coast as a scrapper who takes them as they come and does a fair job of any fight, winning most of them, is scheduled to put in his appearance here this morning. He is traveling by automobile from Fort Worth, accompanied by Johnny Sutton who appears in the semi-final.

Apparently favorably impressed with the local setup, Merritt went to work shortly after his arrival, displaying to Promoter Dee Puckett and a small gathering of lookers-on his fine physique and fast footwork. While not exactly a newcomer to professional boxing rings, Merritt is possibly less popular, probably no less a fighter, than his scheduled opponents. He comes highly recommended by South Texas promoters. His manager, C. M. Chesher, is a near relative of the late Lem Chesher of the South Plains.

Public Workout Today

A public workout is scheduled this afternoon at the Uptown Dance palace, where Lubbock's first professional boxing show under the new state law is carded for Thursday night. Tramel and Merritt, as well as some of the preliminary fighters, will go through their training and practice routine.

Promoter Dee Puckett announced yesterday his entire card, naming six men who appear in preliminaries.

Lawton Smith of Waco meets Johnny Sutton of Fort Worth in the semi-windup, a six-round duel between fighters of the 143-pound class. Sutton comes especially recommended by Fort Worth promoters. He has appeared on more than one main go in different metropolitan centers of the south and southwest.

Brittain Meets Jones

In the curtain raiser, O. H. Brittain, former Lubbock High school student, now a freshman athlete at Texas Tech after one year at the University of Missouri as football player and boxer, meets Andy Jones of Snyder in a four-round bout that promises plenty of excitement. The No. 2 fight will find big Harrie Guthrie, heavyweight champion of Texas Tech, matched with Raymond Lightfoot, scrappy youngsters from Beaumont, in another 4-round go. These are stricty amateur bouts.

Sonny Smyers of Lorenzo, conqueror of every man he has met on the South Plains and popular in his section, meets Clark England, a former main eventer in Central Texas, now of Lubbock, in the quarter-final match.

No Outside Labor Is Needed In Area For Cotton Picking

No outside labor is needed now in this area to pick cotton, an official of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce said yesterday.

The statement was made after C. W. Woodman, district director of the federal farm bureau, of Fort Worth announced he had sent a man to the South Plains to find an outlet for a surplus of cotton pickers. Woodman declared there was a greater surplus of cotton pickers this year than ever before.

"The survey of the unemployed made recently by the chamber of commerce indicated the number of unemployed in the area was sufficient to pick cotton and harvest the feed crop," it was said. "There is no need for outside labor now, and the prospects are that it will not be needed later."

Coaches work Westerners In Intense Drill

Lubbock High Lads Due To Face Toughest Opponents Of Year Friday Afternoon As Ranger Bulldogs Come Here

Mentors Chapman and Huffman bore down on their Lubbock High school gridders yesterday, spending the two hours in earnest exhortation and administration with the Westerners against Friday afternoon's skirmish with the Ranger High school Bulldogs.

Although a non-conference game, the contest Friday probably will find the Westerners up against the toughest set of foes they meet all season. The champions of District 2, who lost by a scant score to Amarillo in the bi-district play-off last year, loom as Lubbock's fiercest opponents in a schedule which calls for Class A games only. With but few individual exceptions, it is the same team which played in 1932.

Honor For Westerners

As the District 1 tally-card stacks up now, there is no team in the northern-most circuit that could deal out defeat to the Ranger Bulldogs. The Westerners, who showed promise but little power in their 14 to 0 victory over Big Spring last Friday night, have the first crack at Coach Esker Curtis' bunch, and a Lubbock victory surely would put the Westerners up in the running for honors in their own district.

Time was just about equally divided yesterday between offense and defense, as Chapman and Huffman directed their charges through a more technical routine than heretofore has been the case. Deliberation and precision were practiced as the lads ran through offensive drills and "shadow-boxed" against expected attacks. A scrimmage, with reserves running Ranger plays and regulars on defense, probably will be in order this afternoon. The club, no doubt, will take things easier but none the less seriously in tomorrow's drill.

Indications were that Chapman planned to start the same crew, with a possible variation or two, which took the field against Big Spring last week. This would find Captain Rufus Ryan, Quarterback Rayburn Hale, Fullback Weymond Newton and little Vergil Griner in the backfield, with Griggs, Doherty, Phillips, Young, Aycock, Wimberley and Calhoun, reading from left end to right end, in the forward wall.

Dempsey Laments "Machine Age" In Regard Fighters

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 26. (AP) Jack Dempsey, the barnstorming referee de luxe, wiped beads of perspiration off the forehead which once wore the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, took a look at two fighters who had just left his charge in a ring and attacked the "machine age" for the extinction of boxing's "killers."

"The real champions came," he said, "from the mines, the blacksmith shops or the iron works, where muscles were developed and bodies toughened by old mother nature and hard work.

Products Of Gym

"Now all that hard work which developed a Fitzsimmons or a Jeffries is being done by machines. Our present day fighters are the product of the gymnasium."

There was disgust in his voice.

"But times are different. Fights have been shortened to 12 and 15 rounds. I've often wondered how many of our present day champions could stand the gaff for the 40 and 50-round battles of years ago."

Max Baer, the Livermore, Calif., butcher boy, second ranking heavyweight, came into the picture. Naturally, of course, for Jack has an interest in him. Jack hopes he will prove an exception.

"He was, you remember, a butcher boy and had none of the old gruelling work in the mines, nor did he sling a sledge hammer. He's had the test, however. He stood up for two 20-round matches at Reno and showed his stuff."

He added that he hoped Baer, now in Hollywood making a film, won't let "this movie stuff spoil him."

He threw a towl around his thick shoulders and jumped over the ropes.

"What this world of fighters needs," he shouted as he ran down an aisle, "and more than anything else, too, is less machines and more hard work."

The tongues of some moths and butterflies are as long as their bodies.

Cantwell Wins Twentieth Tilt

Boston Braves' Star Chunker Goes On Plane With Hubbell And Dizzy As He Beats New York Giants; Phils Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Lanky Ben Cantwell of the Boston Braves became the third National League pitcher to win 20 games this season when he turned back the Giants, 5 to 3, today in a struggle with Roy Parmelee. The other flingers to reach the 20 game mark were Carl Hubbell of the Giants and Dizzy Dean of St. Louis.

Cantwell's 20th victory was opposed to nine defeats while Parmalee's loss was his eighth after 13 victories.

Today's triumph gave the Braves the series 2-1 and the season's series 12-10.

The Phillies' two Big Six members, Chuck Klein and Spud Davis, were the only ones of the select group of batting leaders to get into action yesterday and neither of their batting averages benefitted. Klein hit his 43rd double for his only blow in four times up against Brooklyn and scored his 100th run but his average went down a point to .372. Engineer Reports On Charges Here

There is no evidence of the Lamble Construction company employing out-of-town unskilled laborers, F. E. Johnson, supervising construction engineer of Montgomery Ward & company, of Chicago, reported here Tuesday. Mr. Johnson has been here several days investigating the charge made by a group of local workmen.

Only two men from out-of-town with the exception of the superintendent are employed on the new building being erected by the company at Broadway and Texas avenue, Mr. Johnson said. He said the construction company which headquarters in Amarillo had received permission to employ these men. Both are skilled workmen, one a power saw operator and ahother a carpenter foreman.

Mr. Johnson said Montgomery Ward & company maintained a policy of using local labor on all building jobs.

Mr. Johnson is making regular inspections of the building here as well as other construction jobs his company has over the southwest.

ROB TATUM STORE

TATUM, N. M., (Special) — The James Drug store here was robbed recently and merchandise amounting to approximately $30 stolen. Entrance was gained through the back window. The same night the Cicero Smith Lumber company's yard was robbed, a typewriter being taken from the office.

During the first three months of 1933, losses due to fires in England showed a remarkable decrease; in the first quarters of 1929, a damage worth $20,000,000 was done, while in the same period of this year the loss was $10,000,000.

Matadors Indulge In Stiff Workout At Practice Grid

A sweaty outfit, wallowing in the loose dirt of their practice lot, the Texas Tech Matadors went through the most grueling workout of the week in preparation for their game Friday night with Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist Mustangs.

With a tough, thick-legged fish squad, drilled in Mustang plays, as their opponents, the Matadors scrimmaged with defense against the S.M.U. aerial or aerial attack particularly in mind.

Another part of the evening was given over to a scrimmage between the varsity in which you could get a good idea of the hot contest for several of the positions. Particularly was this true at the center slot, with big Bob Crawford getting decidedly vicious at times and Whacker Barton and Priddy giving him back as good or better of the caveman stuff.

A few yards away on the dusty field, Coach Dell Morgan's Freshmen were getting in some heavy home-work for their game this weekend with New Mexico Military institute.

Tip That Led To The Arrest Of Kellys Came From A Girl

District Attorney Pieces The Story Of Chase And Capture Together; Anxiety Of Pair For Safety Told

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26. (AP) The tip that led to the arrest in Memphis this morning of George and Kathryn Kelly came from 12-year-old Geraldine Arnold, daughter of a man whom the Kellys had used as a contact here, who had been taken about the country with the fugitives as their little daughter, District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde revealed today.

The girl arrived here on a train from Memphis last night and gave federal officers sufficient information to make the 6 a. m. raid today.

Agents Concentrated

Federal agents were concentrated in Memphis from Birmingham, Ala., St. Louis and Chicago to make the capture.

Hyde said the little girl had been traveling with the Kellys and giving information to the officers for several days, but that the Kellys themselves prevented their earlier capture because "they changed their minds too much."

A federal agent said their anxiety for their own safety was so great that it approached hysteria.

"They would start in one direction with this little girl and she would send us word. Then they would suddenly change their minds and we would be off on the wrong track again," said the agent.

Always Behind

Another said that the officers had been "from three hours to three days behind Kelly," for the last few weeks.

Here is Hyde's story of what happened:

"Kathryn and George Kelly picked up three hitch-hikers somewhere in Texas about 15 days ago, a man his wife and his 12-year-old daughter. They took the three to a tourist camp and fed and clothed them.

"The Kellys decided the man could make contacts with lawyers as they wanted to select an Oklahoma attorney to defend Mrs. Ola L. Shannon, Mrs. Kelly's mother.

Lawyer Suggested

"The man, Luther Arnold, suggested John Roberts of Enid, whom he knew, and was given money and a car with which to make a trip to Oklahoma.

"On the way up here this fellow picked up two girls and registered with them at an Oklahoma City hotel.

"Roberts came here at Arnold's suggestion and approached me with reference to aiding the Shannons, Mrs. Shannon, her husband, R. G., and his son, Armon. He wanted them released with nominal bond. I refused.

Learned Of Presence

"I learned of this contact's presence in Oklahoma City and had him shadowed. He was here a few days and then returned to San Antonio, Tex., where he made a new contact with the Kellys.

"Kathryn and George took Arnold's 12-year-old daughter and said they would keep in touch with him.

"When Arnold came back here we arrested him on a Mann act charge under an assumed name, and then released him. He was booked as John W. Williams. He had meanwhile promised to help the government catch the Kellys. Also, he was becoming uneasy about the safety of his own child.

"He registered at a hotel here under a still different name and kept up negotiations with his daughter and the Kellys.

"We learned last night the daughter was returning to Oklahoma City from Memphis and met the train. She told us the Kellys were in Memphis but that she did not know the exact address. Her information was sufficiently accurate, however, for us to send men in planes to capture the two fugitives."

Price-Fixing And Other Questions Of Oil Policy Are Talked Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP) — Price-fixing and other questions of oil policy were discussed with President Roosevelt at a White House conference today by Secretary Ickes and leading representatives of the oil industry.

Secretary Ickes declined to discuss what was said except to affirm that price fixing and other matters of policy entered in. In other sources it was asserted that oil price fixing may be imminent.

The fact that the secretary was accompanied by officials of the oil code's planning and coordinating committee and by his own oil experts indicated the importance of the meeting.

The work of the planning committee and the secretary's oil experts on a price schedule was reported to be near completion. It was said, however, that this did not necessarily mean immediate announcement of the schedule.

Those who attended the conference included James A. Moffett, M. L. Benedum, K. R. Kingsbury, Wirt Franklin, Henry Dawes and A. L. Beaty of the planning and coordinating committee, and Nathan R. Margold, chairman and Charles Fahy, Norman Meyers, Howard Marshall and J. Elmer Thomas of the petroleum administrative board.

United States Tells British That Program Will Continue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The United States has told the British government this country can not postpone any part of the naval building program now underway as was suggested last week by British officials in London.

The American statement, understood to have been accepted by the British as final, followed presentation of the view in conversations with Norman H. Davis, chief of the American delegation to the arms conference, that the British felt that carrying out the whole $238,000,000 naval construction program might have a bad effect on moves to limit armaments.

The source through which the American position was made known in reply was not disclosed at the state department.

Sympathy For Mexico Given

President Roosevelt Offers Expression Of Concern For Stricken Area In Message To Mexican Chief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP) — President Roosevelt's concern over the disastrous hurricane at Tampico was expressed in the following telegram sent to President Rodriquez of Mexico:

"I am shocked and deeply distressed to learn of the hurricane which has struck Tampico and caused such tragic loss of human life and wide destruction of property.

Expresses Sympathy

"On behalf of the people of the United States and in my own name I wish to extend to your excellency and to the people of Mexico an expression of profound sympathy."

The national geographic society said today "a vast international trade" would be affected as a result of the hurricane which is "reported to have nearly laid the city of Tampico, Mexico, in ruins."

Tampico, lying six miles up the Panuco river from the gulf, has a volume of trade greater than any other point of entry in the republic," the statement added.

Distributing Center

"The city ranks among the great oil distributing centers of the world. In its spacious harbor is a constant parade of shipping—oil tankers, barges and huge ocean-going vessels that fly the flags of many nations.

"Tampico also thrusts into the world trade channels silver, copper, zinc, bananas, vegetables, hides, skins, sarsaparilla, vanilla, honey and sisal.

"With all its Yankee commercial aspect, it has a charm almost wholly Mexican."

Many Americans Are In City Of Tampico

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—The hurricane-devastated city of Tampico, lying in the center of four important oil fields, is as much American as it is Mexican. Known as the "New York" of the country because of its modern aspect and high standard of living, it nevertheless has a picturesque flavor, and is popular as a winter resort.

Signs of the American business invasion are to be seen everywhere. There is even a Rotary club and a Y. M. C. A. The English language newspaper is generally considered the best in Spanish America, and the Imperial hotel is famous throughout the country for its modern comfort and service.

Owes Position To Oil

Now a flourishing metropolis of nearly 100,000, Tampico owes its position to oil and the fact that nature endowed the city with a fine harbor. In 1900 it was an unimportant port serving the occasional needs of a rich but undeveloped hinterland. The population was 10,000. Health and moral conditions were among the lowest in Mexico. Sanitation was an unknown science, and foreigners were very likely to succumb to fever.

Then the petroleum industry came. Swamps were drained, streets paved, a sewage system installed and modern stone buildings erected. Towering steel oil tanks line the river from its mouth to the city line, wharves and freight depots clutter the harbor, and half the native population speaks a smattering of English.

Harbor Is Busy

The pipe lines leading into the city are capable of transporting 1,200,000 barrels of oil a day, and three railroads feed into the city. The harbor where once the buccaneer ships of Francis Drake and John Hawkins cast anchor now teems with freighters.

Although the oil business has declined since 1920 the city has maintained its progress. One of the reasons is the attractiveness of the neighboring country, where some of the best hunting and fishing in Mexico is to be obtained. And progress has not wiped out the town's picturesque qualities. In the native quarters, down by the river between the skyscrapers and the oil tanks, life goes on behind the walls of straw and mud huts in much the same fashion as it did when Drake paid his last call.

Clear Up, Like New, By Taking Black-Draught

"I have used Black-Draught off and on for about three years," writes Mrs. Maud Van Deusen, of Collinsville, Okla. "I have had dizzy spells and bad taste in my mouth. My complexion would get muddy, and I would be 'all down and out.' In such cases, I take a dose of Black-Draught every other night for about a week and it seems to clear me up and make me feel better in every way."

Friends of the Family

LOOK at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years. You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage—nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised—ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in our daily paper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

Will It Be An 'Ill Wind'?

THERE'S an old saying "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good' and the capture of the elusive George "Machine Gun" Kelly may be the proof of the pudding. Who knows but what the depredations of the hijacking murderer captured at Memphis yesterday will result in a New Deal for society, after all?

In the person of Kelly, representatives of the federal government taking charge of the war against crime have another perfect "example" upon which to work. If they are successful in securing an early trial and a conviction with death penalty attached, they will be a long way down the road toward smashing gangster rule.

No matter how slick Kelly's legal talent may be, his attorneys will be handcuffed before they start. The public cannot and will not be fooled regarding that criminal and whitewashing of his record will be impossible, even though all the red tape in the world is pulled from the hat by those who, for a fee, will seek to turn him back again upon the public.

With his henchman, Harvey Bailey, Kelly may unwittingly prove a great aid in ridding society of the organized leeches who have so long, successfully and brutally preyed upon the defenseless.

Decent people everywhere will be licking their chops in anticipation of what can, should and probably will be done with him.

HO, HUM— HO, HUM— HO, HUM!

We of Lubbock and The South Plains may now go on with our work, uninterrupted, after taking time out, if we like, for a sigh of relief.

For members of Rumania's comic opera royal family have buried the hatchet and have decided to begin to live together peacefully, and with at least a show of the decorum their position demands.

Now if Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, who is carrying the gospel to Broadway via the theater at $5,000 a week, and her bumpkin of an ex-husband, the baritone, will follow the example of the Rumanians, everything will be lovely and the goose will hang high.

Such action, at least, would result in a decrease in headaches caused by the gyrations of these representatives of the age who, for some reason or another, have little difficulty in figuring out methods of crashing the front page.

WE ARE EXTREMISTS

What ever blessings thrift may confer upon the individual, there are times, judged by the interests of the common welfare, when it may be carried to excess. The American consumer has become too thrifty for his own good and for the world's good. There are indications that the expenditure on consumption is less than the earnings of the people justify.

Many have found encouragement in the rising totals of savings bank deposits, forgetting for the moment that they are the result of personal thrift and self-denial stimulated by the depression. When the American people have the assurance of a steady income they are as free spenders as any people on earth; but there is always a time, high or low, as the case may be, at which prudence jams on the brakes and halts us with a sudden jolt.

All the world has referred to us as the most extravagant nation on earth, and we have chosen to interpret the charge as a compliment rather than as a slur; and yet we can, and do, in a pinch, go a long way toward the other extreme.

No doubt serious individual effort should be made to flatten out the curves of individual expenditure, getting rid alike of the dizzy peaks and the precipitous valleys, just as enlightened industries are endeavoring to do; but this is, after all, a counsel of perfection and one to which human nature does not take kindly.

Still, when the cave man saw his kids using bows instead of a club he probably wondered what the world was coming to.

The railroads needn't worry about deficits if everybody who wants a crack at the treasury heads for Washington.

There is a dance (there would be) called the Nira. And a good many people are dancing to it who can't keep the time.

FEEDING OUR SOULS

"For you always have the poor among you."—John, 12:8.

A woman had just poured sixty dollars worth of perfume on Jesus' feet. She was criticized for wasting so much money and not giving it to feed the poor. Jesus defended her. A Persian poet, Sadi of Shiraz, once said, "if I had two loaves, I would sell one and buy white hyacinths to feed my soul." That is what Jesus had in mind when He said the above.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

FIREWORKS are due at next week's annual convention of the American Federation of Labor but they won't be touched off by any spectacular fight over the presidency.

A month ago it looked as if William Green were going to have stiff opposition for re-election.

Now the picture has changed. He is expected to coast in again as organized labor's continuing chief.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was the man who could have given Green the battle of his life.

Word from the inside says Lewis has decided not to run this year.

But look out for him in 1934.

Lewis' friends say two things decided him against contesting for A. F. of L. leadership this time.

First he is stronger today with the mine workers than he ever was in his life. He won victories at every step of the way in his fight with the operators over a bitumnious coal code. He has the fields organized almost solidly. After all the lean years he would like to enjoy a little of his new power.

Secondly all the responsible leaders are agreed that this is no time for a family squabble in labor's ranks.

SALVATION: NRA has been the absolute salvation of the union movement.

It was dying on its feet when the Blue Eagle flew in the window with unbelievably good news. Somewhere the idea had registered officially that if the unions passed out they would be replaced from the left. Men and money were waiting to build a fighting outfit.

Aided and abetted by President Roosevelt and General Hugh Johnson (who decided the law meant what it said) labor has jammed code after code down industry's throat with little sugar coating on the collective bargaining pill.

So this, argue the leaders, is a most opportune moment to present a united front against the enemy. That means Green's re-election.

FIRING UP: Some of the union men who were pretty lukewarm on the subject of Green have been watching him function the last few weeks with new interest.

Labor's boss man has had the reputation of being too mild in his dealings with industry. Those who prefer a rip-snorting fire-eater didn't take much to him.

Since studying some of his latest utterances they're beginning to wonder if Green hasn't invested in an asbestos lining and gone on a fire diet himself.

Green's uncompromising declaration of war on the open shop and company unions particularly pleased the more progressive element in organized labor.

It will hold the younger and more belligerent boys in line. And word has leaked out that the executive council, which met the first part of the month, adopted some pretty radical proposals for submission to the convention. Green is the executive council. If they adopted anything startling, he engineered it.

One of the complaints by those who favor Lewis has been that the council was entirely too weak—a one-man show.

VETOED: John S. Hurley, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Investigation, got the shock of his life the other day.

Hurley generally is regarded as a Farley man. The Postmaster General in turn generally is regarded as not having a very high regard for Hurley's superior, J. Edgar Hoover.

Patronage in the Justice Department bureau is quite an item. Hurley summoned one of his aides and requested a list be brought him showing the transfers, salary raises and discharges effected among agents since March 4.

The subordinate said he was sorry but no could do—by order of Director Hoover!

NOTES: Montagu Norman's huddles the last time the British financial overlord was here have a very definite idea back of them. . . . The picturesque banker was making an arrangement whereby dollar credits wouldn't be dumped on the London market but would be fed in easy doses so as to avoid violent exchange fluctuations. . . . Emil E. Hurja, Public Works administrative assistant, has turned patronage matters over to Ebert K. Burlew, administrative assistant to the Secretary of Interior. . . . This is odd because Hurja has been a patronage trouble-shooter for Jim Farley and Burlew is a hold-over from the Hoover administration.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

WALL STREET awards first prize for optimism to a newly formed firm. Its members were former partners in brokerage houses but resigned to go into the security underwriting business.

The new firm is undaunted by New York's freely expressed fear of the Securities act and even issued a statement saying that it saw no reason why the law should handicap legitimate business. Local conservatives regard such views as frightful treason and heresy.

But if it should turn out that the optimists are right they will probably have a host of imitators. Established firms have honestly felt that the profits involved in underwriting were too small to compensate for the financial risk of liability under the act. If some one proves otherwise they won't be slow to take their cue.

SECURITIES: The best analysts agree that capital financing under the Securities act is not too difficult for small corporations or new companies. It's the big corporations with re-funding issues that present the toughest problem and no one is willing to take a chance on that type of business yet. Raking up records of old-time practices would be cheerless work in these days.

But here and there come rifts in the clouds. A large and established stock exchange firm which has done very little underwriting in the past is planning to sponsor a $15,000,000 issue for a new brewing and distilling concern next month. It will be a legitimate business in contrast to certain of the liquor issues already offered. This won't set the river on fire but at least it will make a dent in the ice jam.

One hundred and ninety-three new security offerings were made to the public in June, July and August. One hundred and fifty of them belong to the brewing and related industries and 12 to gold mining and oil prospecting ventures.

These figures lend strength to Wall Street's claim that the Securities Act offers no obstacle to wild-cat financing and therefore doesn't give the investor the protection he was promised. There is no doubt that most of the offerings were junk. They were able to qualify because they were blessed by having no history.

DRAWING THREE CARTOONS SIMULTANEOUSLY

Another unique and unbelievable accomplishment to be found in my Believe It or Not Odditorium at the Century of Progress, Chicago, is that of Henry Paul Burke, formerly of Calumet, Michigan, who gives his exhibition of drawing three cartoons simultaneously—one with each hand, and another by tying a pencil on his right foot.

Seeing is believing, and anyone of the 1,200,000 Odditorium visitors who have seen Burke perform will vouch for his astounding accomplishment.

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Contrary to popular belief there is more danger of infection from rabies in the winter than in summer, according to Dr. S. W. Bohls, director of the state department of health laboratories.

Rabies is commonly supposed to be an infection of warm weather, but the warmth of the weather has no influence on the disease, Dr. Bohls said. A five-year survey by Dr. Bohls shows that rabies occurrs less in June and July, two of the hottest months, than in January and February, two of the coldest periods.

Dr. Bohls said in explaining his survey that rabies is more prevalent in the winter because exposure to the cold lowers the resistance of the animal.

Much misinformation has been spread about rabies, Dr. Bohls said.

There is no need to become unduly excited when a person is bitten by a dog suspected of being infected by rabies, he said. It takes several days for rabies to develop to serious proportions in human beings, the average period of incubation being between 40 and 70 days. This allows plenty of time to establish beyond doubt whether the animal had rabies and to institute preventive treatment.

Since dogs are the chief carriers of rabies, Dr. Bohls has concentrated on this species.

Some of the principal things to be remembered are:

Place the animal under observation for ten days. If it becomes restless and irritable and shows signs of paralysis, it should be killed and its head sent to the laboratory.

Don't allow a "mad stone" to make the diagnosis for rabies.

Don't expect a mad dog to have a fit when a bucket of cold water is thrown on it in order to confirm a diagnosis. This is an old superstition.

Don't agree with the general belief that a skunk or so-called "hydrophobia cat" is a natural carrier of rabies.

Don't allow the brain of a suspected animal to become decomposed if an examination is desired. Use plenty of ice in shipping.

Don't destroy the brain by shooting the animal in the head.

Don't kill an animal too early; allow plenty of time for observation.

Don't delay taking anti-rabic treatment when you are positively inoculated.

Don't expect a blood test to tell whether you need anti-rabic treatment. Examination of the animal's brain is the only means of diagnosis for rabies.

Don't dispose of the suspected animal until you are certain that no one was inoculated.

Court Of Honor Being Cancelled

A monthly court of honor scheduled for Friday night and a board of review to have been conducted tonight as a preliminary to the court have been cancelled, D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council Boy Scout executive, announced Tuesday afternoon.

James P. Fitch, region 9 executive, will arrive in Lubbock this morning. He will speak before the Rotary club today and the Kiwanis club Thursday.

The court cancellation was effected becouse the court would conflict with a football game and, if postponed to Saturday would suffer from presence of a circus in Lubbock. As next week is fair week, it was decided to drop the court from the calendar.

Achievement quotas of scouts will not be affected, he said. To illustrate, a scout who qualified for two merit badges, the maximum, this month, can appear for two additional badges next month.

School Change Being Planned

Several Colleges Operated By Texas Methodist Conferences Likely Will Be Offered To Cities Of Location

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26 (AP)—Possibility of the Texas Woman's college being turned over to the city of Fort Worth was seen today as the joint educational commission of the five Methodist state conferences met at First Methodist church here.

A statement regarding the proposed changes in the operation of Methodist schools in Texas was made by a spokesman of the commission which met in closed session.

The local college is one of four institutions maintained by the Methodist denomination in Texas which probably will be abandoned by the church. Kidd-Key college at Sherman, junior college for girls, probably will be offered to the city of Sherman or to Edward Kidd, son of the late Mrs. Joseph S. Key, from whom he received an interest in the school. Weatherford college, a junior co-educational institution at Weatherford and Wesley college, a similar institution located at Greenville, likely will be offered to the towns in which they are located.

Although Southwestern university, a senior college at Georgetown, probably will be moved to San Antonio, the Georgetown plant will not be abandoned by the church but will be the seat of a girls' school if operation of Kidd-Key is relinquished.

If Southwestern is moved from Georgetown, it will be combined with Westmoorland college, a junior co-educational institution at San Antonio. The combined schools will serve as the head institution of the educational system operated by the five Methodist conferences in this state. It will be a senior college.

Schools maintained and operated by the Texas conferences which probably will not undergo any changes are McMurry college, a co-educational senior college at Abilene and Lon Morris college, a similar institution located at Jacksonville.

Operation of Southern Methodist university which is administered jointly by the Texas conferences and by the division of the Methodist church west of the Mississippi river will be continued at Dallas.

The Texas conferences began a re-adjustment of the operation of their schools when faced with a $500,000 indebtedness on the nine institutions in which they are interested.

Clyde Barrow Identified As Robber Of Fort Worth Store

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26. Three of the persons who were in a grocery store when it was held up and robbed Saturday afternoon, September 16, through pictures have identified Clyde Barrow, who sought southwestern desperado as the man who committed the robbery and escaped with about $100.

The three persons were shown pictures of Barrow by Deputy Sheriff H. W. Rhodes yesterday and said there was no doubt in their minds that Barrow was the man. They said that the robber escaped in an automobile of the make and body that Barrow is known to drive. The confirmation to their opinion, Rhodes declared.

Pond-cleaning pumps that work on the principle of a vacuum cleaner in water are being tested by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Stocks behaved indifferently today, advancing quietly until mid-afternoon when a dribble of selling put the market into reverse and brought an irregularly lower close. Net changes were mostly fractional for the active issues.

Weakness in wheat no doubt had much to do with the late sell-off on the stock exchange. Bonds looked irregular, though highest grade listings maintained a fairly firm appearance. Dollar exchange had its ups and downs, but the swings were narrow.

Steel shares drew some following as a result of current plans for stimulating rail purchases. Utilities and rails were quiet, while metal issues looked a bit ragged and alcohols cancelled the greater part of early gains.

Railroad equipment issues improved.

During its early firmness the market looked as though pools might be preparing to reassemble their lines. However, extreme gains were not very impressive among the rank and file of stocks nor did volume expand on the rise, and when wheat dropped more than two cents a bushel traders were content to let the market slide. Volume totaled 1,439,010 shares, a slightly larger volume than yesterday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26. (AP)—Prompt stoppage of October notices was offset by liquidation in the cotton market today and as other markets were easier prices developed a slight downward trend in late trading. The close was quiet but steady at net declines of 5 to 8 points.

Notices for 19,800 bales for October delivery were issued here and 40,000 bales in New York. Manchester cabled that there was a better cloth trade and steady demand for longs. The market rallied when it was reported Liverpool notices had been stopped and on firmer stocks and wheat.

The market was rather quiet during the afternoon and prices gradually eased off on moderate liquidation and in sympathy with easier stocks and wheat. The close was at or near the lowest. December closing at 10.04 down 8 points net for the day and March closing at 10.30 down 5 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 4 penny points down.

Port receipts 82,587, for week 177,748, for season 1,578,559, last season 1,329,543.

Exports 23,697, for week 76,280, for season 1,154,595, last season 1,000,182.

Port stock 3,370,183, last year 3,841,472.

Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 111,381, last year 117,227.

Spot sales at southern markets 87,010, last year 47,527.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Cotton closed slightly lower today after a session of comparative dullness.

December contracts after selling up from 10.08@10.23 or 10 points net higher closed at 10.09 with the general market ending steady at net declines of 4 to 7 points.

There was considerable October liquidation incident to the circulation of the first notices which were estimated at about 45,000 bales. Trade interests were buyers of the near months, however, while there was a scattering demand for later deliveries, and sellers of October in some instances were rebuying in the later months.

This was sufficient to absorb the early offerings and the market firmed up after the call with October advancing from 9.80 @9.94.

This bulge seemed brought in a more realising or liquidation, and prices eased off during the afternoon under comparatively moderate offerings which included some southern selling in the late trading. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest for the day.

Reports from the southwest said the spot situation was tight with the basis firm and there wre reports in local spot circles of a rather better spot inquiry from Comestic mills. The October notices wer said to have been taken up by spot and commission houses.

Exports today 21,302 making 1,186,120 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,338,949.

Utah has five mountain peaks more than 10,000 feet above sea level.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26. (AP) — Steady prices predominated the day's trading in slaughter steers and yearlings at midwestern markets and a similar tendancy prevailed on dressed beef at eastern centers.

The bulk of grass slaughter steers sashed at 3.00@4.35; replacement steers 3.35@4.50; choice feeders up to 5.00; light stockers 5.50. Accumulated receipts of cattle for two days this week at nine markets numbered 124,900 as compared with 115,910 last week and 146,119 a year ago.

St. Louis recorded a late hog top of 5.35. Lambs sold at weak to 25 lower prices with a large percentage of better grade native and range offerings at 6.00@7.00.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26. (AP)—Hogs 3,200, including 2,000 government pigs; top 5.00 paid by packers; bulk good to choice 4.85@5.00; packing sows 2.75@3.35.

Tearful Story

money, but he didn't have any part in the kidnaping."

Pauses To Weep

Mrs. Shannon had testified only a few minutes this afternoon before her eyes filled and she paused several times to weep. She had told how Kelly and Albert Bates, now on trial, brought Urschel to her home and carried machine guns.

"I knew then that he was not a good man," Mrs. Shannon said.

She declared her continued faith in her daughter, Kathryn, however, and detailed a conversation with her that pictured the two women weeping on each other's shoulders and wondering "what shall we do."

Sticks With Story

When she completed her account of the imprisonment of Urschel at the Shannon farm near Paradise, Tex., under threats of death from Kelly and Bates, Mrs. Shannon was questioned closely by Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general, but she stuck with her story of coercion.

She expressed several times her unshaken love for Kathryn.

The effect of the Kelly arrests was clearly shown on the faces of the Urschels today. They wore smiles and profusely praised the government's investigators who have trailed from three hours to three days behind the fugitives for weeks.

Urschel said "of course you know how I feel now that these people are in custody."

"I just want a chance to look Kelly in the eye and identify him," E. E. Kirkpatrick said. Kirkpatrick identified Kelly from a photograph on the stand as the man to whom he handed a satchel containing the $200,000 ransom for Urschel's release.

Mr. Carter, prominent in the Democratic administration in Washington, also presented a Texas hat to the president.

Curfman, of Electra, and Martin, of Lorenzo, wove about 60 yards of suiting. The cloth is white, with a stripe of mercerized cotton, also grown and manufactured on Texas Tech campus.

A nationally-known manufacturer of fine clothing made the suit, using the president's measurements.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26. (AP) — Wheat and corn were in fair demand on the Fort Worth cash grain market Tuesday. Oats were fairly well bought. Barley and sorghums were slow.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination: delivered Texas gulf ports export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 97@98. Barley No. 2 nominally 63@65; No. 3 nominally 62@63. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.25@1.30; No. 3 milo nominally 1.22@1.27; No. 2 kafir nominally 105@1.10; No. 3 milo nominally 1.02@1.07.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 mixed 62 1-2@63; No. 2 white 63 1-2@66; No. 2 yellow 63@63 1-2.

Delivered Texas common points oats No. 2 red 46@47; No. 3 red 45@46.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—Ripped suddenly apart by more than 3 cents break in prices, the wheat market saw gains turned into loses late today.

The chief apparent reason was a quick reversal of market position by houses that earlier had been conspicuous buyers. Careful observers said news factors had no apparent effect, and that a general tendency was shown to await Washington administration developments regarding financial affairs.

Wheat closed unstable at nearly the day's bottom level, 2 to 2 3-8 cents below yesterday's finish, corn 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 down, oats at 1-2 to 1 1-8 decline and provisions unchanged to 10 cents off.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Grain—A. E. Cone Grain and Seed company, following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers; Cotton—Plemmer Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Death Sentence

ment of God.

"I know in my heart that I have been a good husband. I loved Allene. I have done her no harm. I am as innocent of her death as you yourself. That is all."

Sentence Is Read

Then Judge Syer read the sentence — that Lamson be taken to San Quentin prison and there on December 15 be "hanged by the neck until dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

The weeping of women provided a sombre undertone to the proceedings for the few moments then required for defense attorneys to serve notice of appeal to the state supreme court and for sheriffs to lead Lamson to jail.

Mother Visits Cell

Later, the condemned man's mother, Mrs. A. B. Lamson of Palo Alto, went alone to his cell, and remained an hour and a half. When she emerged, her face was drawn and haggard, but she was outwardly calm.

News men waiting at the jail stepped up to her.

"They can't hang my boy," she said, simply. "You boys know that. They can't hang my boy."

Then she went on, alone.

Federal Judge

gressman Randolph Perkins of New Jersey are members, today heard testimony regarding both cases in a private session. Tomorrow Judge Lowell will be heard.

The poison ginger extract cases involved Harry Gross, president of the Hub Products, Inc., of Boston, and Max Reisman. Indictments against them charged they conspired to ship from state to state from June, 1928, to February, 1931, adulterated drugs and to transport intoxicating liquor. Suspension of a two-year sentence against Gross eventually was revoked by Judge Lowell and he went to jail. Reisman, who pleaded guilty, was given a suspended sentence.

Investigation of the poisoned extract shipments was caused by the death and illness of many persons in western states.

Two Counterfeiting Cases Are Heard In Federal Court

AMARILLO, Sept. 26. (AP) — Two counterfeiting cases, one resulting in acquittal and the other ready for delivery to the jury tomorrow morning, were heard today in the U. S. district court here.

Levi P. Stallworth, of Amarillo, was found not guilty of federal charges that he possessed and passed a counterfeit $10 federal reserve bank note here.

Two young men, Calvin Gentry, 27, and Edward Carlstrom, 25, both of Redlands, Calif., were placed on trial on two charges of passing three spurious 50-cent coins and of possessing eight similar coins. The government contended that eight coins were thrown away by one of the men after officers had questioned them about those it claimed were passed. The alleged offense occurred at Turkey, Texas. The jury will receive the case tomorrow.

Poisoning

Wynne, it was said, is employed at a mine in New Mexico.

The elder Mrs. Wynne called her daughter-in-law "Pete." The girl was wearing green riding breeches and boots when she was carried to the hospital.

Kellys Caught

hiding here. A telegram sent by Kelly in code to Tichnor was the give-away. Tichnor, police said, is not wanted in connection with any of the crimes charged to Kelly.

There was no ransom money on Kelly. He only smiled when asked wh he came to Memphis.

Girl Gives Tip

The tip to the federal authorities came from a 12-year-old girl, Geraldine Arnold, officials at Oklahoma City disclosed.

The girl had been carried about the country by the Kellys as their daughter, and then had been sent home to Oklahoma.

Raney, who single handed captured Kelly, said he first saw the desperado when he came into the hallway of the bungalow.

"Kelly was never nearer death than he was at that time," the officer said. "If he had raised one finger I would have blown him in two. When I shoved my gun into his stomach, he dropped his .45 as meekly as a lamb."

Kelly insisted later that he was not armed. His pride was hurt over the idea that he surrendered with a gun in his hand.

Denies He Was Armed

"Say chief," he said to Police Chief Will D. Lee, "where do your boys get the idea that I had a .45 on me. I sat up all night expecting you cops. Then, I decided to take a nap. I just got up to see what the noise was when that chap shoved the gun in my stomach. The .45 I was supposed to have was in the bathroom."

He complained that the cell was crowded.

"Hardly room to swing a cat in," he told police.

His wife talked rapidly.

"I've got nothing to say about that guy," she said when asked about Kelly. "I don't want to have anything more to do with him. He got me into this terrible mess.

Says She's Innocent

"It's my fault my parents are in this because I married him in the first place.

"I'm glad of one thing — that we're both arrested. For I'm not guilty and I can prove it, and afterward, I'll be rid of him and that bunch.

"Day before yesterday was my third wedding anniversary and what a swell anniversary.

"I came here to see Kelly and tell him I was going to testify for my parents."

In addition to the Urschel kidnaping, Kelly is wanted for participation in the slaying of Policeman Miles Cunningham, who tried to capture five bank robbers in Chicago recently.

Tampico Storm

cutskirts, including several churches and motion picture theaters, were completely wrecked with few exceptions.

Populace Is Stunned

The populace seemed stunned by the catastrophe. Hundreds of homeless huddled in municipal buildings and schools. Others took refuge in parks. All were being provided with small rations of corn, beans and coffee from the meager supply remaining in the city.

The water supply was completely exhausted. An epidemic was feared.

Military and civil authorities directing the relief work attempted to construct emergency water lines.

Hospitals were crowded with injured. Many of them are in a critical condition. Buildings in any degree habitable were pressed into service to care for the refugees.

Fears Are Expressed

Fears were expressed the loss of life might have been heavy in the Puntilla district, on the right bank of the Panuco river, where authorities with difficulty persuaded some of the householders to leave before their homes were blown down upon them. A number of persons insisted upon going back into the house to secure valued possessions.

The Tampico railway station was destroyed and all the small houses in Llanos Del Golfo, a village, were demolished by the stiff blow. All that remained today at the site of the former village was an immense lagoon. On the water floated debris and clothing.

Although ships were forewarned of the approaching storm and took precautions, many were snapped from their moorings and either driven into midstream or beached.

Steamer Is Ripped

The German steamer Adriac, anchored in front of the Sinclair dock, was ripped from its moorings and, propelled by the heavy seas and winds, was forced out to sea. There it collided with the British cargo ship Baron Nairn and the American vessel Sapinero. No serious damage was done.

The German steamer Kiel Dragas and a few Mexican ships rode out the storm.

At the height of the storm a poor peon left in search of a physician to attend his wife during childbirth. As he stepped from his home a piece of sheet steel flying through the air struck him and inflicted mortal injuries. Relief workers picked him up and took him and his wife to a hospital, where a child later was born to the widow.

NEWS BRIEFS

Forty-four checks from the federal government, for cotton acreage plowup, were received late Monday by W. T. Magee, Levelland, acting county agent for Cochran county. C. W. M. Blackwood, former Morton resident, said yesterday. He did not learn the total amount of money for the checks.

G. E. "Mac" MacPherson, highway department foreman at Post, was a visitor here yesterday. He reported roads in his district in first class shape following grading after recent rains.

N. W. Buchanan, 38, who suffered a fractured spine in a vehicular accident at Tahoka, Saturday, has been placed in a cast at Lubbock sanitarium, where he will remain several days before being removed to a home.

A rodeo program is planned at Ropesville Friday and Saturday afternoons, said J. Y. Crum yesterday. Crum and Bud Cotton sponsor the two-day program, which also includes baseball games and dances. The rodeo, to include calf and goat roping and bronc riding, will begin at 2:30 o'clock each day.

J. D. Beasley, indicted for robbery by threat, appeared here yesterday and made bond, records in the sheriff's office show.

Mayor C. L. Johnson and Police Chief Ruck Sibley of Abilene were here yesterday, inspecting City electric plant and organization of the police department.

Ben Kucera, a Lubbock attorney returned recently from Minneapolis and St. Paul, where he spent two months visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Kucera's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kucera, live near Minneapolis.

Saturday is last day on which delinquent state and county taxes may be paid without interest and with only a 1 per cent penalty said H. B. Bryan, deputy tax collector.

Dee Robinson, special Santa Fe railway agent, of Clovis was in Lubbock yesterday.

F. W. Harding, secretary of the American Short Horn Breeders association of Chicago, will attend Panhandle-South Plains fair here October 2-7, inclusive, he has informed fair officials.

Routine business, preparatory to opening of Panhandle-South Plains fair here next Monday, was discussed at a meeting of fair directors in the chamber of commerce offices yesterday afternoon. R. C. Smith, president; S. E. Cone, vice-president; W. T. Gaston, treasurer; A. B. Davis, manager, and Parker Prouty, Don L. Jones, Dr. I. E. Barr and Alex McDonald, directors, attended.

Because a 72nd district court grand jury was in session yesterday in Crosbyton, requiring attendance of District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, no charge was filed against Oliver Shackelford, 18. Burks said last night. Burks said he intended to file a charge of attempted burglary today. Shackelford, wounded in each leg, was arrested by police early Sunday morning after an exciting chase beginning at 12:40 a. m. when the boy fled from city police station with a drawn gun. Previously the boy had been wounded by W. R. Fickas, proprietor of a drug store. The suspect's brother, Clarence Shackelford of Littlefield, was here last night.

Accompanied by Mrs. Aubrey Walker, Misses Louise Garrison and Willette Waters, accordion players, and Miss Lucile Walker, singer and dancer, appeared on a program at a Lions club luncheon at Hilton hotel yesterday. H. C. Pender was chairman.

Thirty men attended a second class of a course in Sea Scout leadership last night at the American Legion home, said Scout Executive D. T. Jennings.

The enrollment was increased by seven members. The next meeting, October 3, will begin at 7 o'clock because of the fair. Six of the persons attending the course said they never had been connected with scouting before.

Four victims of a head-on automobile collision Sept. 18, when three persons were fatally injured, continued to improve yesterday at Lubbock sanitarium. They are Dorothy Neal Brown, 10; Howard Hodges, 13; Billy Barstow, also 13, and David Hodges, 17, brother of Howard. Mrs. Mary Hodges, mother of the Hodges brothers; her daughter, Mary Katherine, and Clynt S. Martin, formerly of San Francisco, died as a result of injuries suffered in the accident, six miles northwest of Lubbock on highway 7.

Sixteen Persons Reported Killed In Mountain Quake

ROME, Sept. 26. (AP)—Latest reports tonight showed 16 persons killed, approximately 200 injured and hundreds made homeless in the earthquake which occurred in the Abruzzi mountains region in the early morning hours.

Hundreds, still terrorized tonight, slept in open fields, huddling about huge bonfires to protect themselves from the chilly autumn air. Soldiers and fascist militiamen erected villages of tents. The hospitals in the area were overtaxed with the injured.

Defense Rests And State Opens Rebuttal In Trial

STEPHENVILLE, Sept. 26. (AP) — The defense rested and the state began rebuttal testimony tonight in the murder trial of Roscoe Cupp, charged with slaying W. J. Gamble on a main street here Jan. 31, 1933.

An 18-year-old daughter and a 15-year-old son of the defendant testified that Gamble had "wrecked their home" and threatened their father's life. I. B. Cupp of Dallas, brother of the defendant, also testified.

SEARCH IS ENDED

EL PASO, Sept. 26 (AP)— Climaxing a two-year search, H. F. Doran, alias Jack Delaney, 28, was arrested in El Paso tonight at the request of Johnson City, Texas, officers. Doran is charged with the murder of a Johnson City resident two years ago, officers here said they were advised. He is said to have hitch-hiked a ride from El Paso and to have slain and robbed the man when his benefactor stopped to fix a puncture.

GET RATE REDUCTION

CROSBYTON, (Special)—A three per cent reduction in the key insurance rate for Crosbyton has been announced by the state fire insurance board according to F. M. Dunn, who notified city officials. Weekly fire drills by local volunteer firemen and the sending of Herman Perkins, a fireman, to College Station to attend the firemen's school, enabled the state to reduce the rate. Perkins made a grade of 98 at the school.

Horses Groomed For Shows Here

Between 15 and 20 horses, which will be entered in horse shows to be presented several nights of the Panhandle-South Plains fair next week, were groomed for the show on a training track at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stinson, south of town, last night.

Joe W. Bowman, superintendent of the horse-and-mule division and of the horse shows, said owners of entries would be announced as soon as possible.

The superintendent urged boys and girls owning Shetland ponies to enter them in the show. He said owners of ponies or of horses for other divisions, may enter animals by seeing him at the bus terminal, 1210 Broadway.

Considerable interest in the shows were expressed by persons at the Stinson home. Mr. Bowman said between 30 and 40 men and women were there.

Prison Break

into a cell block.

One Man Slugged

Each guard they encountered was told by the escaping men, "we're taking these shirts out." Menaced by pistols concealed beneath the bundles of shirts, Evans and Stevens could not give a warning.

Finally, they reached a guard room, one wall of which formed part of the main gate of the prison.

Two guards, Guy Burklow and Fred Wellnitz, questioned the group. Wellnitz was slugged into unconsciousness by pistol butts. Burklow was forced to open the outer gate.

Clerk Is Shot

Looking for money and weapons, the convicts entered the prison clerk's office outside the walls. One of a half dozen clerks in the office, Finley P. Carson, became confused and failed to observe a chorus of orders shouted at him.

Bullets struck him also simultaneously in the leg and in the shoulder. The desperadoes finished ransacking the office, and fled when they heard an alarm sounded inside the prison.

As they fled, they encountered Sheriff Charles Hill of Corydon, Ind., who had brought several prisoners to the penitentiary. They overpowered him, took his weapons, and forced him to carry four of them away in his automobile. No further word was received of Hill.

Driver Is Kidnaped

A short distance down the highway, the other seven forced the driver of an automobile carrying two women to head his car into a ditch. They rode away with the driver, leaving the women behind. The driver was freed later at nearby Gary.

Three of the ten fleeing convicts abandoned Sheriff Hill's automobile near Wheeler, Ind., tonight after forcing another motorist to give up his machine. They roared away in the newly commandeered car with the sheriff still their prisoner.

Deputy Sheriff Gordon Reynolds at Valparaiso said that the sheriff's automobile ran out of gasoline and the convicts halted an automobile driven by Cecil Stainer, farmer living near Valparaiso. They forced Stainer to drive them to Wheeling where they obtained gasoline for the farmer's car.

Stainer escaped while gasoline was being purchased and notified the sheriff's office at Valparaiso. Reynolds said the farmer was able to give only an incoherent report of what happened although apparently he was unharmed. Stainer said the convicts forced Hill to buy the gasoline.

Child Killed When Struck By Car Driven By A Texan

RIGBY, Idaho, Sept. 26 (AP)—Vera Sharp, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp, residing two miles south of here, was killed today when she was struck by an automobile driven by J. S. Tike of Temple, Tex.

The girl and her brother had just stepped from a school bus. Tike said he sounded his horn but apparently the children did not hear it. He swerved his car, he said, to avoid striking the child but she became confused and ran directly in its path. After striking the girl the machine overturned in a borrow pit.

Tumultuous Welcome Given FDR On New York Arrival

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt came back to New York City tonight for the first time as president to receive a tumultuous welcome on his motor ride from the Pennsylvania station to his East Sixty-Fifth street home.

He stopped in the metropolis for the night enroute to Hyde Park, the ancestral estate, where in the next week he is believed to be ready to announce important moves in his credit expansion program to back the recovery drive.

Tool And Die Makers Walk Out; About 8,000 Included

DETROIT, Sept 26. (AP)—Mechanics educational society spokesmen claimed tonight that 8,000 tool and die makers had responded to a strike order issued this afternoon and that 2,000 more are expected to walk out within 24 hours.

The society has a membership of 11,000 here, most of the men being employed in automobile factories. Should the strike reach the proportions claimed, another 25,000 automobile employes probably would be left without work.

TESTIMONY GIVEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP) — Testimony that the shipping board spent $1,825,718 in repairing 18 ships that were sold to the Export Steamship corporation for $1,071,431 and that a Hoover cabinet member approved a loan extension to the company when its liabilities were $3,952,000 and assets $1,172,199 was received today by a senate investigating committee.

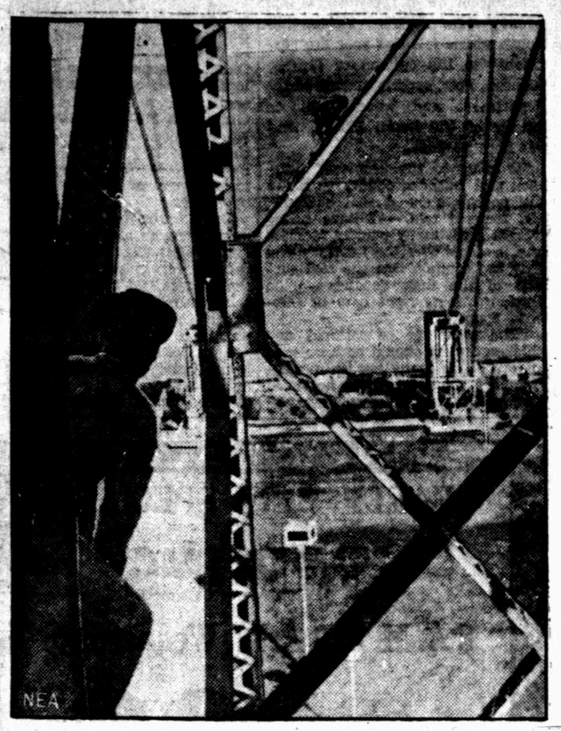
Monkey Goes Sightseeing At Fair



Capuchin, a little black spider monkey with a gray beard, was chief attraction at the Chicago World's Fair for a day when he escaped from a concession and eluded policemen, Fair employes and visitors in a chase through the grounds. Finally he took refuge among the lofty girders of the sky ride, as shown above, where he defied efforts of a structural steel worker to capture him. Finally Capuchin went home of his own accord.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN, No. 39

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Then Tarzan arose, shaking himself like a lion, and placed his foot upon the prostrate body of his antagonist. He raised his voice in the wild cry of victory of the apes. The mad priest of the sun-worshipers lay unconscious. La tried to escape, but with a quick leap the ape-man was by her side.

"What do you intend to do with me?" she asked. "Nothing," he replied, "but you can lead me out of this place to freedom." "I am the High Priestess of the Sun Temple," she said. "But you have been chosen by the Flaming God as his own. Not even my power can save you if the people find you. But you saved my life. I will try to save yours.

"Though it makes me false to my god, I will hide you. Come! For if we are found together we shall both be killed." Tarzan protested, saying she must not take the risk. He would fight his way to freedom. She would not have it so and finally persuaded him to follow her, for already they had remained too long to prevent suspicion falling upon her.

She led him through long corridors of gloom. At last they came to a small chamber into which a little light filtered. "None will think of searching for you here," she said. "They would not dare! I will return after it is dark." She was gone. And Tarzan of the Apes was left in the Chamber of the Dead, beneath the long-dead city of Opar.

Floor Action Now Expected

Bill To Exempt NRA Adherents From Prosecution Under The State Anti-Trust Laws Now Ready In House

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Floor consideration of the first of the emergency measures submitted to the special session of the Texas legislature is ready to start with debate in the house on a bill to exempt NRA code adherents from prosecution under the state's anti-trust laws likely tomorrow.

The bill was first on the order of business in the house. It would provide that compliance with approved codes or trade agreements would be a defense to both civil and criminal actions under the anti-trust laws.

Senate Is Delayed

Senate consideration of anti-trust law modification has been delayed by the extensive investigation by that body into affairs of Texas rehabilitation and relief commission and the disbursement of relief funds. The inquiry, undertaken to determine how state relief funds should be expended, threatened to become a protracted affair, with the summoning of additional witnesses.

Legislation in the house relative to state bond relief funds and their distribution has been placed with a sub-group of the state affairs committee which was working to perfect a bill for presentation to the main committee tomorrow.

Appropriations Made

Although the legislature has been in session 13 days, the only legislation finally passed were bills making appropriations for salaries and expenses of the members.

Bills have been introduced in both house and senate to replace the rehabilitation and relief commission with another agency. A house bill proposed establishment of the Texas emergency relief commission. A senate bill would set up the Texas employment commission to take over the duties of the existing agency.

Final action on these bills will be withheld until the senate concludes its investigation.

Subjects Submitted

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today submitted 12 additional subjects of legislation, including provision for more adequate collection of delinquent taxes and the payment of six per cent interest on state warrants. She also submitted enactment of a law to require rendition of notes, mortgages and other evidence of indebtedness for taxation.

A delinquent tax collection bill was introduced by Representative Harry Graves of Georgetown. It would require county attorneys to file delinquent tax suits within sixty days from October 1 of the year following assessment. Payment of delinquent taxes in installments would be permitted without penalty or interest as long as remissions were made regularly. A graduated penalty of from one to eight per cent would be assessed if taxpayers failed to remit regularly.

Report Is Favorable

A favorable report was given by the house state affairs committee to a bill to license pool halls. An annual tax of $5 per table and an occupation tax of $10 would be levied. Numerous safe-guarding provisions were contained in the bill.

The house passed a local bill to provide for establishment of a policeman's, fireman's and fire alarm operator's pension fund in Dallas county. A bill to provide for a pension fund for all El Paso employes also was passed.

Bills adjusting compensation of assistant county and district attorneys in El Paso and Harris counties were approved by the house. A bill to provide for election of a special judge of the Jefferson county court law also was passed.

Senate action on all the bills was necessary before they can go to the governor.

Among The Stars Of Dill's Circus

Record-Breaking Poultry Show Is Expected At Fair

Prospects for a record-breaking poultry show at the Panhandle-South Plains fair this year are "excellent" in the opinion of George Samson, Post, superintendent of the department and veteran chicken fancier of the South Plains, who was here Tuesday.

"It is up to the people of Lubbock and Lubbock county to make the poultry show a real success," Mr. Samson said. "I have heard from a great many poultry fanciers and breeders over the territory and they are coming. But the real success of the show depends upon chicken owners right here in Lubbock county.

"The show is educational and chicken owners should be here with an exhibit to really get the benefit from the show. One does not need to have a large number of birds entered, a pen of four or five be enough."

Mr. Samson pointed out many farmers and others o entire West Texas area are market for chickens to bu their flocks and breeding sto this reason, fanciers should to get in touch with a nun prospects.

Garza county will have so hibits here. The Post voc agriculture boys are planni exhibit, among others.

YOU ALWAYS HAVE AN OIL RESERVE IF YOU HAVE

Care in maintaining proper oil level is very desirable and necessary for efficient motor operation — yet, there are times when a slip of memory may be forgiven, if you use Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil. Then the "Hidden Quart" extends its protection to cover the lapse, and gives extra miles to safely reach the next Red Triangle Station.

This exceptional lubrication is brought about by fine, selected paraffin base crude oil, adroit and experienced refining and the Germ Process — exclusively Conoco's patented formula. By adding extra oiliness and penetrativeness to the very highest quality motor oil, complete protective lubrication is achieved.

THE HIDDEN QUART STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY

With all these qualities, the total cost for this oil is low — one-fifth of a cent per mile!
