Favors Wagner Measure Which Was Vetoed By Hoover; Work Of Children's Bureau Draws Governor's Praise

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Franklin D. Roosevelt said tonight in a radio speech that the federal government was obligated to step in and help care for the unemployed "when it becomes apparent that states and communities are unable to take care of the necessary relief work."

Speaking in reply to a questionnaire sent him by 10 welfare and social workers, the Democratic presidential nominee laid down as his first relief principle that "the primary duty rests on the community, through local government and private agencies, to take care of the relief of unemployment."

Local Funds Insufficient

"But we then come to a situation where there are so many people out of work that local funds are insufficient," he said.

"It seems clear to me that the organized society known as the states comes into the picture at this point. In other words, the obligation of government is extended to the next higher unit."

The New York governor told of how his state had dealt with the relief problem and said that where the state was unable to fulfill the obligation it "becomes the positive duty of the federal government to step in and help."

Husband Must Pay Alimony As Result Of An Experiment

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley today ordered Ronathan Holden, Pleasantville lawyer, to pay his wife, Stella, $100 a week temporary alimony, pending final settlement of her suit for separation.

Mrs. Holden alleged her husband started supporting four foundlings after she had given birth to nine children, eight of whom still live, thereby depriving the family of "systematic support."

Her husband's reason for the adoptions, she said, was "to test a philosophical opinion about large families."

What A Gal! They Say She Is Modern, Too

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. — A young woman who says she is considered "very modern" in Austria has started a first-hand study of American homes with the observation that a girl's life is vastly different here.

Miss Hertha Zwerger is 24. She has never ridden with a man in an automobile. She has never smoked. Her only "dates" have been Sunday afternoon walks, and then with a chaperon. Only once she was out until 1 a. m.

In her village of Innsbruck, Austria, she says she is not only "average" but "very modern."

This fall and winter she is to be the guest of homes of students who met her last summer while attending the American Peoples college, at Oetz, in the Tyrolian Alps.

"It must be easy," she said, "for young girls to get husbands over here."

Bodies Of 16 Men Fall 800 Feet In Tube

Four Workers Near Death As Result Of Terrifying Accident In Dark Interior Of A Canyon Siphon

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—Four of sixteen workers who tumbled in an odd and terrifying accident 800 feet down the pitch-dark interior of the steep grapevine canyon siphon of the Los Angeles aqueduct early today were reported near death tonight in a Los Angeles hospital.

The canyon is 180 miles north of here, one of the wildest and loneliest spots along the course of the water carrier.

The human avalanche started when one of the men, Arthur Johnson, slipped near the top of the tube, which is nine feet in diamter.

Others Are Struck

His body struck workers below. The lights went out when a wire was torn loose, and the tangle of screaming men shot down over sharp rivets and corrugations to the bottom on the siphon. Only one, whose name was not learned, escaped unhurt.

The injured lay on the ground in a freezing temperature until ambulances reached them from Los Angeles. The accident occurred at about 12:16 a. m.

Dr. D. V. Steed of the mathematics department of the University of California calculated the workers traveled at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour down the chute. The gradual leveling off of the tube lessened the impact.

Doors Of League Football Are Closed To Cisco High

EASTLAND, Oct. 13. (AP)—The door of league sponsored football competition for 1932 was finally slammed shut today on Cisco high school, when attorneys representing the oil belt executive committee, filed and had approved a supersedeas bond for $5,000 in 91st district court here. At the same time the state interscholastic league filed and had approved, its $500 appeal bond. Filing of bonds means the Cisco team will not play this season under league auspices and rules, appeal having been perfected from the decision of Judge George Davenport, rendered in 91st district court last month, ordering Cisco's reinstatement in the league following an order of suspension by the league for violation of an eligibility rule.

Other school children said the missing boy and girl were called by their names by the man who took them in a car bearing a California license plate. Glenn Faulks, father of the children, lives in Los Angeles, Calif.

Accused Slayer Weeps As He Relates Story Of Fatherly Advice Given Boy

Made in the courtroom at Jacksonville, Fla., these pictures show the principal actors in the sensational "sweat box" murder trial now taking place. At top is Mrs. Julia Maillefert, of Westfield, N. J., mother of Arthur Maillefert, who, the prosecution claims, was tortured to death while a convict in Sunbeam Prison Camp. With her are her son, Billy (rear), and State's Attorney Charles Durrance. Lower photo shows, left to right, Sol. Higginbotham, former official of Sunbeam Camp, accused of torturing Maillefert, Fuller Warren, his attorney, and George Courson, co-defendant with Higginbotham.

Former Guards Deny That They Killed Young Prisoner

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Two former prison guards today testified they did not kill Arthur Maillefert, young New Jersey prisoner who died in a Sunbeam camp sweat box. One of the former guards wiped tears from his eyes as he concluded a story of fatherly advice given an unruly boy.

George W. Courson, denied the prosecution tales of brutal treatment that preceded Maillefert's death at the end of a chain attached to rafters in the sweat box last June 3. Tears came as he told that he asked the youth if there was anything he wanted and said he would have shared his own food with him if it had been asked.

Denial Is Emphatic

Solomon Higginbotham denied emphatically that he killed Maillefert or made any attempt to do so.

The defense rested after Higginbotham testified and both sides prepared for rebuttal testimony tomorrow. Court's attaches expressed the opinion the case would reach the jury Saturday.

Mrs. Julia Maillefert of Westfield, N. J., mother of the dead boy, wept throughout the testimony of Courson. Her son, William, left the courtroom as the former guard prepared to take the stand.

Courson Tells Story

Asked to tell his story about the death of Maillefert, Courson began:

"On the morning of June 1, Road Foreman Denmark brought Maillefert to camp.

"Jersey (Maillefert) said, 'Captain, I done served my sentence. I don't intend to hit another damn lick.'

"I told him, 'No sir, your time is not made. You were sentenced here for nine years and my job is to see you do it.'"

Three Victims Killed Instantly As They Strike Pavement At Feet Of Pedestrians; Woman Leaves A Note In Which She Blames Mistreatment By Brother As Cause Of Act

(By The Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31—After throwing two small children to their deaths, Mrs. Aurelia Lorenz, 31, a divorcee, was injured fatally late today when she leaped from a sixteenth floor window of a downtown hotel.

The children, Vivian, 5, and Milton, 4, were the daughter and son of the woman's brother, Rudolph Libo, Milwaukee. Mrs. Lorenz and the children were killed instantly when they struck the pavement at the feet of pedestrians.

Mrs. Lorenz, identified as the divorced wife of Joseph Lorenz, wealthy Milwaukee paving contractor and sportsman, had tied the children's hands and feet with stockings. She left a note, authorities said, which gave mistreatment from her brother and other relatives as the reason for the act.

Woman Details Death Threats

Defense In Doye Arnold Trial At Breckenridge Rests Case On Insanity Plea; Witness Tells Of Conversation

(By The Associated Press)

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 13.—The defense in the trial of Doye Arnold, charged with the murder of his divorced wife, rested today on its plea of insanity, after a state witness quoted Arnold as saying:

"I ought to kill her. I have 99 ways to beat the chair and only one to take. I can plead insanity and beat the case."

Mrs. C. L. Martin of London, Tex., former Breckenridge resident and close friend of the murdered woman, testified this afternoon as a state rebuttal witness that Arnold made this statement to her the day before his wife was stabbed on a downtown street corner here and her skull crushed with a rock.

Tells Of Threats

"He told me," she testified, "that 'the day she gets her divorce is the day she dies.'" She referred to the divorce proceedings Arnold's wife had filed against him.

Mrs. Martin also testified that Arnold before the fatal attack upon his wife with a penknife, once stabbed her with an ice pick and that the woman said then, "Doye, death would be sweet compared to living with you."

(By The Associated Press)

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 13.—A fugitive from justice for 34 years during which he built up a modest fortune and once served as a deputy sheriff in California, W. Kirby Robinson, 65, has surrendered and expressed willingness to serve a 4-year sentence to Leavenworth penitentiary for an Arkansas postoffice robbery.

"It's been haunting me," said Robinson, now gray-haired and the father of a family in California.

"I want to clear the record. Then I can go back to California with a clear conscience."

Robinson appeared before Warden Zerbst at the federal prison and told his story. He was denied immediate admittance because there were no commitment papers for him. He then placed himself in custody of Leavenworth police, awaiting action by federal authorities.

When Robinson faced Zerbst the warden did not know what

A. L. Tudor Confesses Slaying Dr. S. H. Adams Late Thursday And Expresses Sorrow For Act

Pioneer Victim Shot Four Times And Attending Physicians Say Shock And Loss Of Blood Caused Death; Had Lived In Slaton 21 Years; Formerly Was A Resident Of Lubbock

Tudor Blames Adams For Death Of Son

"I'm Sorry It Happened, In A Way, 'Cause I'm Too Old To Be In Trouble," Tudor Declares; Prisoner Says That He Asked Doctor To Aid Young Children Of Dead Youth

(Special To The Avalanche)

SLATON, Oct. 13—Dr. S. H. Adams, pioneer Slaton physician, was shot fatally in his office here at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon, and A. L. Tudor, coal and grain dealer, gave a .380 automatic pistol to Police Chief Tom Abel.

"I killed Doctor Adams," Tudor told Abel.

Tudor, who said the shooting was an aftermath of an accident in which his son, Wood Tudor, was mortally injured Aug. 25 near Slaton, was taken to Lubbock late today. Charges will be filed Friday morning at Lubbock, District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley said.

Doctor Adams, 58, died of "shock and hemorrhages" at Mercy hospital at 7:55 o'clock.

The pioneer physician, a resident of Slaton 21 years, and formerly of Lubbock, was wounded four times, and none of the wounds was said to have been sufficiently grave to cause death alone.

No Bullets In Abdomen

One bullet took effect in the left elbow, another in the right wrist, one in the region of the groin, and one grazed the skin of the right lower abdomen. None of the slugs, said to have been fired from a .380 caliber pistol, entered the abdominal region.

Wood Tudor, who was survived by his widow and three young children, died on an operating table in Doctor Adams' office following an automobile accident about two and one-half miles north of here August 25. Haskell Cooper, 24, has been indicted for driving an automobile while intoxicated in connection with the accident.

The elder Tudor, 52, said tonight that his son died while under influence of an anesthetic.

Started Firing Automatic

Tudor said he began firing the automatic after the doctor allegedly had made a move to a drawer in the desk near which he was seated.

Attending physicians, both from Lubbock and Slaton, at first said chances for Doctor Adams' recovery were good. Shock and excessive bleeding from the bullet wounds caused death, they said.

There were no eyewitnesses to the shooting. It could not be ascertained definitely whether the slain man made any statement. He was in a semi-conscious state for some time prior to death.

F. J. Helber, a farmer, living on the Adams' farm; J. E. Stokes, Joe Williams, a negro janitor of a barber shop; and S. I. Fluke, a barber, were some of the first men into the office after the shots were fired.

The petition sought actual damages of $120,000 and exemplary damages of the same amount.

Case Against G. A. Ross To Be Probed By Grand Jurors

Case of G. A. Ross, charged with the holdup of Cliff Lindsey last February, probably will be considered by a 99th district court grand jury to be reconvened Monday morning, District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley said yesterday.

Ross was the principal witness against Hugh Walker, Jess Covington, and B. L. (Barber John) Richardson, convicted for murdering Frank V. (Leather Hat) Brown. After Covington's trial began, a brother of Covington filed the robbery charge against Ross.

Tudor Tells Story Of Tragic Affair

"I'm sorry it happened, in a way, 'cause I'm too old a man to be in trouble," A. L. Tudor told The Morning Avalanche last night, before Dr. S. H. Adams of Slaton died of gunshot wounds.

The slight, grayhaired Slaton coal and grain dealer was on the verge of tears several times as he gave his story of the shooting at Slaton late Thursday.

Seated on a cot in the Lubbock county jail hospital ward, his head bowed much of the time, Tudor explained the beginning of the trouble between the two men after Wood Tudor, his son, died. The younger Tudor died in Doctor Adams' office at Slaton on the night of Aug. 25 after the son had been injured in an automobile accident.

Asked About Children

"I walked into the doctor's office and asked him what he figured on doing for those children," Tudor said in detailing the shooting last night. His son was survived by a widow and three young children.

"He said, 'Nothing,' and 'You get out of here.' He reached over toward a drawer with his left hand. I think, and I shot just as long as it would shoot."

Tudor said he had the pistol beneath his shirt and under his trousers belt when he went to the office.

Affairs For Clubs And Societies Are Predominating Social Calendar

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THERE are cities of roses, cities of oleanders and other blossoms but Lubbock's bid to fame in flowers probably will be in growing dahlias.

There are some beauties on my desk, a contribution from one of this city's dahlia fanciers who sent a note asking for "no publicity." I am withholding her name but giving the publicity to the flowers, some of which are as big as plates.

Just so you may know what may be done in the way of growing dahlias around here, some blossoms this summer have measured as much as 11 inches across, I am told. And, after seeing some out at the fair and in gardens over the city, I do not doubt that this has been done.

FOLLOWING FADS

If one stays in a sewing club long enough, she may have samples of a lot of different kinds of needle work. In a period of twenty years or more there are many fads to be followed if one is industrious.

Now, while making quilts is the fad, some beautiful covers are being turned out in these clubs. Members of some are making quilts for each other, taking the membership alphabetically or each member making a block for every other woman in the organization.

During the World War there was a lot of knitting. There followed a period when everyone was busy tatting, when crocheting lace was popular and everyone made gown yokes, lace for table runners, sheets and in fact anything that lace could be sewed on. There was a period when hardanger was the fad of the day. Colored embroidery was very popular for a time. Applique work was the fad for another period and wool yarns have had periods of extreme popularity.

Of course, there are types of needlework that are always good but almost everything runs in cycles and this is no exception. We may use handmade handkerchiefs at all times but there was a time several years ago when every woman had a piece of linen into which she was drawing colored threads.

Right now there are women who are not making quilts and will never attempt to piece one, but there are many others who are. Some of these have been inspired in their sewing by the popularity of quilt making.

There are women outside of needle clubs who do a great deal of hand work but in a club that lasts for any period there are usually women who have specimens of many types of needle work—a sort of resume of the fads of the times.

BRIEF TOPICS

THIS talk of flowers is a reminder. You never can tell who is going to like the blossoms. Today, with a bouquet on my desk, I have been surprised at the men who have come by to admire them and the ones who have told me they grow flowers for a hobby.

What the first lady of the land wears is of interest to many people. What Mrs. Herbert Hoover wears might sometimes profitably set styles for the rest of us.

That dress that she wore on the platform on notification night, the one many described as blue chiffon, was in reality a dress of cotton net, we are told. Mrs. Hoover is in favor of wearing cotton clothing and in summer she wore cotton almost exclusively, if we are to believe the stories that come out of Washington. Now she is continuing to wear cotton with the coming of winter.

Speaking of styles, the latest thing to which style experts have been giving a thought is a fashion for fat men.

Only average skill on the part of the tailor is required to dress the tall man smartly, we are told, as the tall man is usually gifted with the ability to wear clothes well.

So now the stylists are planning to dress up the fat man just as smartly. The ideal suit for the heavy man, we are told, should have a double-breasted sack coat with a concave crease roll in the lapel. The trousers should be worn high in the waist to create illusion of length in the legs.

Wife Of New Tech President Says She Is 'Homey' Person

Displays Art Treasure; Has Several Hobbies; Leads In Club Activities; Mother Of Five Children

MRS. BRADFORD KNAPP

"I'm just one of these simple, old-fashioned, 'homey' people," very modestly admits Mrs. Bradford Knapp, charming affable wife of the new president of Texas Technological college. She is truly all of those things in that she has reared five accomplished children amid the rare luxuries of a comfortable American home such as only the elite of our grandfathers enjoyed.

Mrs. Knapp has many unusual hobbies. She is a collector of ancient and rare handicraft gathered by herself and friends from the old country and various parts of the United States. Her pet collection is a wide and varied assembly of fine old linens representing the native handiwork of Italy, Spain, Japan, the Panama region, and India.

But No Shirts

She displays a luncheon set made of East Indian grass linen which was originally intended for shirts for her husband's wedding trousseau. Once she learned of the linen, the shirt idea was dismissed and an Alabama handicraft artist was employed to furnish the intricate crocheted pattern which adorns the set.

The collection which President Knapp likes best, apart from Mrs. Knapp's own work, is a group of delicately woven or quilted bedspreads. One handmade spread, in navy blue and white design, was woven more than fifty years ago by a pioneer woman down in Alabama.

Mrs. Knapp is an artist in her own right. Her masterpiece consists of a hundred piece set which she designed and painted in delicate shades of blue, green and gold. Among her many pieces of pottery, collected from various countries, she has some made out of Alabama clay which she has painted or polychromed.

One of her most unique treasures is a set of a dozen and a half salt containers with spoons to match, hammered in floral design from coins of India. In the bowl of the spoons can be read the denomination of the money from which it was made. One coin was dated 1887.

From Indian Monastery

A hand-made jug, containing oil of violets, sets on the mantle in the president's home. Both the jug and the oil are products of an Italian monastery. One drop of the oil added to a cup of alcohol makes enough perfume to last Mrs. Knapp a year.

On the walls in the drawing room are two tapestries; one of water-color-painted silk made by DeWitt, one of Mrs. Knapp's three sons, who is finishing a five-year course in architectural design, this year, at The Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

There is something distinctively individual in each of Mrs. Knapp's five children, as can be immediately determined by their successes in their various professions.

Her oldest son is a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M. with a Master's degree from the Iowa State agricultural school. He is now employed in Washington with the department of agriculture. Her youngest son is taking a pre-medical course at the college here. The older daughter in the family, is the wife of Irving Hurst, assistant city editor of the Daily Oklahoman. Mrs. Knapp also has a thirteen-year-old daughter in high school here.

Mrs. Knapp has always been interested in club work. For the past several years has been a state (Alabama) officer in the General Federation of Women's clubs. She has been active in the P. E. O., Eastern Star, and Phi Omega Pi. She has been accepted, recently, as a member of the Twentieth Century club here, according to Mrs. W. O. Stevens, vice-president of the organization.

This charming woman, who is a native of Storm Lake, Iowa, was educated at a girl's school in Dubuque. She has lived, since her marriage, in Washington, D. C., Oklahoma and Alabama where she has always been associated with colleges and universities.

Slaton's New Bank Is Open

Citizens State Bank Opened For Business On Thursday; J. S. Edwards Is Named As Head Of Institution

SLATON, Oct. 13. (Special) — Slaton's new bank, the Citizens State bank, chartered by the state banking department, was opened for business this morning. J. S. Edwards is president.

Authority for the opening came this morning from Austin, and officials at once completed their arrangements to start business. The institution is located in the former Slaton State bank building.

T. A. Worley, jr., is assistant cashier, and Adabelle Benton is bookkeeper.

Stock Of $25,000

The new institution has a capital stock of $25,000. J. S. Edwards is the principal stockholder.

"We have not selected a cashier as yet," Mr. Edwards said. "That will be done soon.

"We received a hearty support from the people of Slaton when we opened this morning. I believe that the bank will continue to grow."

Representative men of the town some weeks ago began a movement for a new bank. Stock was subscribed and paid in and application for a charter sent to Austin.

Directors Named

There are nine directors: J. S. Edwards, president; C. F. Anderson, Bob Merrill and H. G. Sanders, vice-presidents; S. S. Forrest, G. H. Orr, Abe Kessel, H. T. Swanner and E. R. Legg.

Slaton has been without banking facilities since early in January. The chamber of commerce has assisted in the organization of the new institution.

Force Of Second Big Flood Spent

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 13 (AP)—The second big flood of the Rio Grande had spent its force in the valley today and residents turned toward aiding the victims in Willacy county.

Willacy county and others were providing food temporarily and in a short time expected more permanent aid from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The first flood, early in September, was estimated to have cost the valley $100,000, in addition to expenditures for emergency flood work, but no estimate of damage from the second has been made. Both had similar effects except in Willacy county, where much additional land was under water recently, and there was delay in planting of crops. The overflow still covers an area about eight miles square.

The Missouri Pacific railroad was able today to again run its trains through Sebastian and Lyford, the water having dropped sufficiently to permit tracks to be repaired.

The river was reported dropping rapidly in the western part of the valley.

Two Being Sought By Texas Officers

EL PASO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Search was being made here today by detectives for two men believed by authorities to be associates of R. M. Palmer and Frank J. Ryan, San Antonio, Texas, brokers who are held here for Alamagordo, N. M. authorities.

G. A. Shipley, attorney, told Detective Captain W. C. Woolverton in a telephone conversation from Alamogordo that Palmer and Ryan are charged with fraudulently obtaining stocks valued at approximately $8,000 from Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walker of High Rolls, N. M., by false representations.

Two other complaints are filed in connection with a promissory note of $3,288 which Walker executed, Shipley said.

Shipley said Walker consummated a deal with Ryan and Palmer October 6 in which Walker was to receive 320 shares of stock in a Georgia concern in exchange for stock in the mutual and peoples building and loan associations in El Paso.

Ryan and Palmer said they will fight extradition to New Mexico. Palmer said he had no connection with the deal.

American Publisher Declares That Only Thing To Drive Japan Out Of Manchuria Will Be Superior Force

HONOLULU, Oct. 13. (AP)—B. W. Fleisher, American publisher of the Japan Advertiser, Tokyo, in an interview published today, expressed the opinion the only thing that will drive Japan out of Manchuria will be a superior military force, and no nation is going to apply that to save a treaty.

Fleisher, a passenger on the steamer President Coolidge, was en route to the United States.

"The League of Nations cannot apply force," he said. "Neither the United States nor any other nation will.

"If America as sponsor of the Kellogg pact must resort to war to maintain peace, then the pact is a danger to the peace of America.

"It is unnecessary to wade through the Lytton report, but at the realities of the Manchurian situation. Japan is committed to stay. She cannot nor will not turn back.

To Mothers

whose children won't eat

NATURE knows best. Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite. When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children a constipating cathartic that drains the system. California syrup of figs is all the "medicine" they require.

The Child's Appetite Will Always Respond

Specialists will tell you that a sluggish appetite almost always means the child has a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children seem to need is pure, unadulterated fig syrup.

Children who get syrup of figs, now and then, soon have the appetite and energy of young animals! They keep well and avoid colds and sluggish spells.

Nature never made a finer laxative for children; and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California syrup of figs. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. The very next day, your child will be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

A single IF

The promises made by the bottlers of California Syrup of Figs are true, and it will do the same for you. IF it's genuine CALIFORNIA. Don't accept substitutes.

Tech Opens Conference Season With Arizona Tonight

Two Matador Teams Take Road; Lubbock Meets Abilene Tomorrow

Wildcats Here For First Go With Matadors

Record Crowd Is Expected To Fill Park Tonight; Ladies Admitted Free; Squad Split To Play Two Games

Seating accomodations for one of the largest football crowds ever to see a college game here have been arranged at Matador Field for tonight when the Texas Tech gridsters tangle with the University of Arizona Wildcats in Tech's first conference game.

The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Because it is "ladies' night" at Tech tonight and because the game is the first conference contest in history for the Matadors, a crowd bordering on 7,000 fans is expected to click the turnstiles.

Ladies Get In Free

All escorted ladies will be admitted free to tonight's game. That is, Texas Tech is charging the ladies nothing to see the game. A ten-cent federal tax will be asked at the gate. Ladies, accompanied by male escorts, may procure a grandstand seat by paying [illegible] cents at the gate.

Today marks the University of Arizona's first invasion of Lubbock. The Wildcats, leading contenders for the Border States Athletic conference championship now held by Arizona State Teachers college, will arrive shortly before noon today. A parade will be staged down town this morning, it was announced, to welcome the visiting gridsters and stimulate interest in the contest.

Following a skull practice yesterday afternoon, the Matadors took the field for a workout under the lights last night. A brief scrimmage, individual lessons and a snappy signal drill constituted the workout.

Local Team Handicapped

Under ordinary circumstances, Texas Tech would be a favorite to win tonight's game, but changes have been made the results of which cast a dark cloud on the local hopes.

Coach Cawthon had to split his squad for the week-end, sending one team to Las Vegas to keep a date with the New Mexico Normal. Included in road squad are some of the first and second string men who have been playing regularly together so far this season.

Under Border States conference rules, a number of Matadors of the first string are ineligible to play tonight's game, which is a second blow to the local victory hopes.

New Combinations

A new combination will take the field tonight, and if Cawthon insists on following up with a wholesale substitution, a second new combination will be called upon.

The starting lineup given in other columns of this page has never played together before tonight. They have appeared in games for Tech, but not in the same combination. This makeshift team of "shock troops," between whom and the first team there is little to choose, will be supplanted by what will be known as the first team as the second quarter rolls around. Yancy Price and Matt Hitchcock will take over the wing positions; Elva Baker and Truett Owen will go in at tackles, Captain Ross Ayers and Toby Greer at guards and Leslie Tribble at center. The backfield will consist of Milton Moffett at quarter, D. M. McElroy and Lefty Sollis at halfbacks and Harold Crites at full.

Neither backfield has appeared in this order. Gwynn Dowell has been a halfback playing with Crites in the backfield and Adrian Clark is the first string signal caller, with Ed McKeever a halfback favorite. This trio will not be eligible to play tonight.

Wildcats Are Tough

Coach Gus Farwick brings a team to Lubbock today which has had its troubles getting started but which is one of the best looking clubs Arizona has sent out in several seasons. Tech coaches predict a victory for the Wildcats tonight. Coach Dutchy Smith scouted Arizona last week when the Wildcats defeated the New Mexico Aggies. The score was close, but in the estimation of Smith, Arizona had a "four or five-touchdown better club on the field."

"They're one of the hardest blocking and hardest tackling teams I've seen in a long time," Smith said. "They go at their opponents with more fierceness than either the Texas Aggies or the S. M. U. Mustangs, or any other team we have played. In Murdock and Don Clark, Coach Farwick has a couple of backfield men who can really go, and Greer, an end, could play on anybody's ball club."

Coach Farwick is coaching the Wildcats for the first season. He is a former West Point cadet and Army football star.

Army Team Resolves To Make Major Sasse's Last Year A Winning One

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 13. (AP)—Determined to make Major Ralph Sasse's last year as coach at West Point a winning one, a fighting Army football team today completed its finally heavy practice for its first major engagement of the year against Pittsburgh Saturday.

When the major announced last night that he was leaving the head coaching post he has held for three years another hurdle was erected in front of Pittsburgh, whether the Panthers know it or not.

Major Sasse himself was so busy putting the last polish on his squad that he wouldn't even talk about his resignation, beyond saying he didn't intend to leave the army or accept a coaching post at some civilian school.

West Point will seem an unfamiliar place next fall when September and football time rolls around with Sasse, Major Phil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, and Captain Walter Wells, dispenser of information, all gone to other fields.

In Sasse's place will be the 28-year old plebe coach, Lieut. Garrison H. Davidson, youngest and lowest ranked man ever to hold that important position. Major Fleming will be succeeded by Major Ludson D. Workshan, and "Cappy" Wells by some officer not yet designated. All three return to active army duty.

Meagher's Owls Expect No Setup Against Loyola U.

HOUSTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—Taking advantage of perfect football weather, Coach Jach Meagher today drove his Rice Owls at a fast training clip. They meet the Loyola Wolves of New Orleans here Saturday.

Whether Lou Hassell, veteran tackle, will start against Loyola is problematical. He has been out all season with a lame knee, but now is ready to go.

Hassell played great football in helping beat Texas in 1930 and there is a chance Meagher will keep him on the sidelines until the October 22 game here with Texas.

Longhorns Off Today Noon For Sooner Tilt At Dallas

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—After sending his charges through a light workout today, Coach Clyde Littlefield announced that his University of Texas football team was fit and ready to meet the Oklahoma University Sooners at Fair Park, Dallas, Saturday.

The Longhorn coach, with 30 players will leave tomorrow noon for Dallas, arriving in the North Texas metropolis about 6 p. m., too late to engage in a limbering up workout. After a good night's rest, the Steers will partake of a light drill and then mark time until they step onto the gridiron with the Sooners for the twenty-seventh time. Records disclose that Texas has won 17 of those contests, Oklahoma eight, while one was tied.

Coach Schmidt Takes 26 Men To Aggieland For League Go

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP)—After a final and thorough polishing of their offensive plays this afternoon Coach Francis Schmidt announced 26 Horned Frogs would leave tomorrow for their battle with the Texas Aggies. The Frogs will not arrive at College Station, home of the Aggies, until Saturday morning, stopping in Bryan, where they will remain overnight. A light workout will be taken there.

Although only 26 players are leaving tomorrow morning, practically the entire squad will be available for the game, as 10 other players will ride the special train Saturday morning.

Ossie Solem, new football coach at the University of Iowa, has seven tackle candidates averaging 190 pounds, and four are veterans.

Miss Ruth McGinnis of Honesdale, Pa., is rated as the outstanding women's professional pocket billiard player.

Varsity Squad Off For Vegas Game Saturday

Coach Del Morgan Takes Fish Team To Albuquerque For A Tilt With University Of New Mexico Freshmen

The weekend football program for Texas Tech's gridsters isn't over after tonight's game with the University of Arizona.

Two games are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in which Texas Tech teams play important roles.

Under the personal direction of Chief Assistant Grandstand Coach Ben F. Condray, a squad of Matador varsity gridders leave early this morning for Las Vegas, where they play the New Mexico Normal university tomorrow afternoon.

Picadors Pack Bags

Freshman Coach Del Morgan and a squad of Picadors also depart this morning, taking a separate trail but going in the same general direction as the varsity. They will meet the University of New Mexico freshman team at Albuquerque Saturday afternoon.

Sixteen varsity men will leave this morning for Las Vegas. An additional four or five will be taken to the scene of battle tomorrow, their presence being needed at home tonight. Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith will drive to Las Vegas early tomorrow, taking several gridmen with them. The advance guard, from which the starting lineup probably will be chosen, leaves early in order to rest tonight.

First Stringers Leave

Those making the trip this morning are Adrian Clark, regular varsity quarterback; Gwynn Dowell and Ed McKeever, regular varsity halfbacks; Ben Anthony, starting center, Woodrow Wilson, starting tackle and Carleton Luper, starting end, who have been declared ineligible for the game against Arizona tonight. They will start in their respective positions against New Mexico Normal, along with Cotton Welch and Roy Curfman, guards; Frank Eddleman, tackle; W. Gilmore, end; and Leonard Curfman, fullback.

Others making the trip to Las Vegas today are B. Gilmore, end; Demp Cannon and J. C. McCommis, halfbacks; Eli Harris and G. B. Morris, guards; Comer Burton, tackle; Harold Prather, end; and Estill Carnes, quarterback.

Morgan Takes 26 Men

Coach Del Morgan takes a squad of 26 players and Freshman Manager Doc Halsey to Albuquerque today. The list includes Melvin Grigg, Cleo Mason, Alford and Gaines Davis, guards; Sammy Young, Bert Williams, Cunningham and Marks, tackles; S. Jones, L. Jones, West and Dowell, ends; Thompson, Kincaid, Wilson, Puckett, Mack Scoggin, White, Nichols, Brandon, St. Johns, Beauchamp, Wester, and Judd, backs.

The game at Las Vegas counts as a regular varsity contest, being scheduled as the week's headliner when the Arizona game seemed in doubt. Later transactions with Arizona were put through and the Tech coaches found themselves with two games this week. The team going to Las Vegas will be composed mostly of players who have started previous games at home, and of three first stringers in Clark, McKeever and Dowell, ineligible to play here.

Southwest Loop Teams Play Two Important Tilts

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas Christian Frogs, Texas A. & M. Aggies, Baylor University Bears and Arkansas University Razorbacks will come through with Southwest conference championship games tomorrow with the Frogs playing the Aggies and the Bears battling the Razorbacks.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs, University of Texas Longhorns and the Rice Institute will contribute intersectional combats. The Mustangs embarked Wednesday to play Syracuse University at Syracuse; the Longhorns invade Dallas to play the Oklahoma Sooners as a feature of the Texas State fair, and the Owls remain at Houston to take on Loyola of New Orleans.

With Dennis or Brannon at quarterback, Spearman and Oliver at halves and Kitchens at fullback, which is one of the best backfields to ever grace a Southwest conference gridiron, Texas Christian goes to College Station to battle Texas A. & M. in tomorrow's outstanding contest. These backs, weaving, running and plunging behind a powerful aggressive front wall, are expected to give the Aggies much trouble.

Frenchy Domingue and Jimmy Aston will be in the Aggie backfield, and there is a chance that J. C. Gregory, husky sophomore fullback, will play, since he will become residentially eligible Saturday. The Frogs started their conference race last Saturday with a victory over Arkansas. The Aggies play their first 1932 conference game against the Frogs. Last year when these two teams clashed, it was a 6 to 0 victory for Texas Christian. Both clubs are ready for tough going, and it promises to be the battle of the season.

Arkansas and Baylor will meet at Little Rock, Ark. Coach Fred Thomsen has stressed pass defense this week in preparation for the aerial attack he expects Baylor to flash. Baylor is the only conference team with an uncrossed goal line. Coach Thomsen has Biddle and Laforge, his two best backs, prime for the Bears. Having won two non-conference games with a well executed aerial attack, Coach Morley Jennings of Baylor is confident that his boys will pass their way to victory over Arkansas.

70-Year Old Coach Is Stunned When Told To Resign

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Amos Alonzo Stagg, grand old man of American football, was forced out as director of athletics and head football coach at the University of Chicago tonight after 40 years of service.

The reason given for Stagg's retirement, coming as a stunning surprise to the intercollegiate athletic world and to Stagg himself, was that a rule was invoked which provides no member of the faculty shall continue to hold a post after reaching the age of 70. Stagg became 70 on Aug. 16.

New Job Created

The board of trustees created a new position for Stagg as chairman of the committee on intercollegiate athletics, but Stagg gave no indication he would accept. He said, with a feeling of crushed spirit that he felt physically able to carry on for at least 15 or 20 years longer, and was not content with his enforced retirement.

Stagg's retirement will not become effective until the end of the collegiate year, June 30, 1933.

His successor will be Thomas Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics and chairman of physical education at the Iowa State college. Metcalf will name Stagg's successor as head football coach.

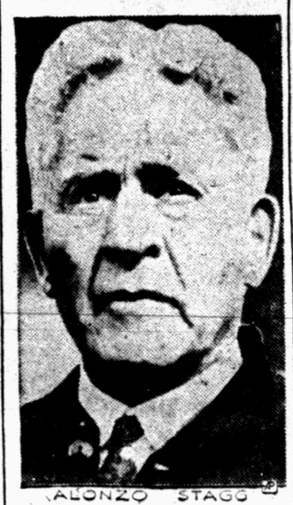

The selection may be Orville "Pat" Page, how Stagg's assistant and himself a noted gridiron star at the University of Chicago some 15 years ago. Page was head football coach at Indiana University before joining Stagg's staff.

Stagg Is Heartbroken

Stagg, dean of American football coaches, was heartbroken over the action of the trustees, but accepted it with the same splendid spirit of sportsmanship that characterized his 40 years of coaching at Chicago.

Two days ago Stagg returned from his greatest personal triumph—that of holding Yale, his Alma Mater, to a 7 to 7 tie on the gridiron last Saturday. He was riding on the crest of the wave because of that victory. Then came the crushing blow of his enforced retirement.

"According to my present feeling, I expect to be good for 15 to 20 years more of active service," Stagg said.

"I went into athletic work because it offered the largest opportunity for service through contact with young men. No scheme of life, which removes that contact, would meet with my ambition.

Desires Action

"I have no protest to make in lining up in conformity with these principles for I have tried always to base my life on principles. I feel too young and aggressive to step altogether out of my particular work, and, frankly, I am not content to do it. Whether I remain at Chicago or go elsewhere, I wish to be active in the field of coaching."

Stagg, although 70 years old, doesn't look a day older than 50. His face, tanned and seared by the life that has been rugged and clean, is not wrinkled nor drawn nor old. His body is vibrant and tough, just as tough as it was when he was made "end rush" on Caspar Whitney's all-American football team in 1888 and later was chosen by Walter Camp. His daily tennis game is as fast and seriously played as it was 20 years ago.

No other Coach has approached Stagg's record of 40 years service at the University of Chicago. From the first year when he still was a young man and a better athlete than any of the players, he has been known at Chicago as the "Old Man" and as the "Old Man" he will always be remembered and respected by his athletes.

Westerners In Night Workout For Eagle Go

High School Outlook Bit More Optimistic With Abilene A Favorite To Win By Close Count Tomorrow Night

After a sluggish start following their defeat at the hands of the Sweetwater Mustangs last Saturday night, the Lubbock High school Westerners turned their week's practice for Abilene High school's Eagles into a spirited spurt Wednesday afternoon and last night.

A workout under the lights at Matador Field last night was full of pep and spirit, as the Westerners appeared to sense a victory over Abilene if they put enough stuff into getting ready.

Changes in the lineup, pep talks and "bawlings out" by the coaches have resulted in an outlook which could look much worse.

Eagles Are Favored

The Eagles, who came to Lubbock tomorrow and meet the Westerners at Matador Field tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, are the ruling favorites to win, but they are promised trouble from a bunch of revenge-hungry Westerners.

A heart-breaking defeat last December by Abilene after Lubbock had won its first District 1 football championship and followed it up with a victory over Quanah for the bi-district title, eliminated the Westerners from the Texas interscholastic league race and a possible state pennant, and there's a cry for blood and vengeance over the practice field these days.

In shifting his lineup for the purpose of finding a stronger defensive combination than was shown last week, Chapman has placed Richard Godeke, an early season candidate for fullback and later for halfback position, to left end. Robert Stone and O'Dell Blackwell have been alternating at the position. Godeke has been out with illnes suntil recently and in the last two workouts he showed fine form.

Amending The Constitution

IN THE 142 years that the Constitution of the United States has been in existence, there have been 25 constitutional amendments submitted, of which five failed, 19 have been adopted, and one is pending. Never before has any constitutional amendment, after its original passage, received such concentrated examination as the Eighteenth Amendment is receiving today.

Any change in the Constitution is legally an amendment, whether it be to strike out or to change its terms, or to substitute some other provision for it. Pointing the way to correct constitutional action, Attorney General William D. Mitchell recently spoke on "Methods of Amending the Constitution." The speech is a review of past amendments relative to the proposed "resubmission" and "repeal" planks which are in the political platforms this year.

How many of us really know how the Constitution may be amended? Is it not pertinent in this year of political campaigning, when every other word concerns a revision of the Constitution, that every voter have a definite knowledge of legislative procedure?

Anywhere from eight months to four years may be required for an amendment to be ratified. The Eighteenth Amendment itself required one year and one month for ratification. The procedure for amending the Constitution, as outlined by Attorney General Mitchell, is as follows:

1. The proposals for amendment originate in Congress and submission must be authorized in each house by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting.

2. The President's approval of the proposal is not required by the Constitution and he has no constitutional power respecting amendments.

3. After an amendment is proposed by Congress, it goes to the states for ratification.

4. Congress decides whether the ratification shall be by the state legislatures, or by state conventions chosen for that purpose.

5. Congress may fix a reasonable time limit for ratification. A fair guess is that the time limit may be from four to seven years.

6. Congress may submit not one but several proposals on the same subject, leaving the choice to the states.

7. If the state convention system of ratification is prescribed, the state legislatures provide for the holding of state conventions, the delegates to be elected by the people.

8. The requirement of a two-thirds vote relates to the vote in Congress proposing an amendment. The requirement of a three-fourths vote applies to the ratification by the states and denotes the number of states whose approval is required.

Finally, an amendment proposed by Congress becomes a part of the Constitution if ratified by thirty-six of the forty eight states within the time prescribed by Congress.

THE NATIONAL DELICACY

Last year Americans consumed 335,703,610 gallons of ice cream, which was nearly three gallons for every man, woman and child in the land. In a single year the national consumption of ice cream increased 11,000,000 gallons.

Much of the growth and prosperity of the dairy industry during the last few years have been due to the increasing popularity of ice cream. Since 1917 consumption of ice cream has increased 160 per cent.

Ice cream has been a boon to mankind. It is a wholesome and satisfying food. Countless times it has solved the dilemma what to give unexpected guests. It has usurped the pie as the national desert. But of more importance is the new industry it has created. Billions are invested and thousands of men and women are employed in this industry. A part of it are the dairy farms which furnish the great quantities of cream and milk required by it each day.

Ice cream saved the farmer from bankruptcy when prohibition deprived him of a market for his grain. Just as the consumer turned from beer to ice cream growers of corn, rye, barley and hops turned from grain-growing to dairy farming. And the farmers have found it a profitable change.

That this is one of the benefits of prohibition will be denied only by the handful of eccentrics lacking taste for ice cream.

A physicist says the Einstein theories are easier to understand than economics. But that doesn't prove that the economists understand either.

The new trawler that catches fish 2,100 feet down wasn't needed in the old stock-selling days.

Brinkley Center Of Interest

(Charles P. Stewart, touring the middle west, sizes up the political outlook in Kansas.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—Dr. John R. Brinkley, the celebrated goat gland specialist, is practically drowning out all other Kansas politics with his independent campaign for the governorship.

Presidential news is subordinated almost to the vanishing point in the Sunflower state press in favor of accounts of the three-cornered contest between Dr. Brinkley; Alfred M. Landon, the Republican nominee, and Gov. Harry H. Woodring, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket.

The fight for Senator George McGill's seat in the upper house of congress, with McGill as Democratic defender of his toga and ex-Gov. Ben. S. Paulen trying to get it away from him, as G. O. P. candidate, is barely mentioned. In fact, plenty of Kansans, on being asked who is making the Republican race, cannot remember until reminded that it is Paulen. McGill being the incumbent, is not quite so completely lost in the jam, but he is attracting little attention.

John R. Brinkley

LET NO ONE imagine that the big party leaders are not afraid of Dr. Brinkley, either.

They distinctly recall that the doctor chalked up 180,000 votes the last time he made the gubernatorial run, and did it without even having his name printed on the ballots; his supporters had to write it in by hand.

It will be recalled that this inspired Publisher William Allen White of the Emporia Gazette to one of his finest editorials, dealing with Kansas' "moron element". What preys, however, upon the minds alike of Republican and Democratic strategists is anxiety lest the doctor may not have polled anything like the moronic group's total strength then. And he may do so in the present instance, with his cognomen in cold type alongside Governor Woodring's and ex-Governor Paulen's, requiring merely a couple of scratches a lead pencil to make it count for him.

THE ANTI-BRINKLEY-ITES are not lacking in resourcefulness of their own, to be sure.

They recently brought Editor Morris Fishbein of the "Journal of the American Medical Association" all the way from Chicago to speak at Wichita on "Fads and Quackery in Healing", which may not sound to non-Kansans like a political subject, but which is, nevertheless, in the Sunflower state, as applied to Dr. Brinkley's goat gland treatment—the way Dr. Fishbein looks at it, anyway.

The "regulars" of both parties have an idea that, if the doctor can be punctured professionally, he will be punctured politically. But is this reasoning sound? His license to practice in Kansas was revoked a couple of years ago, and it was on the strength of that that the doctor got his 180,000 hand-written votes for governor.

PROHIBITION, as perhaps might be expected, also figures very importantly in the Kansas electorate's calculations.

There was a wet-and-dry scandal in the state not long ago and Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, national administrator of Volstead law enforcement, arrived to investigate it.

What action he may take is as yet problematic but the nub of the incident was that he conducted his inquiry—a purely governmental affair—under clerical auspices, in Trinity Methodist church, at Hutchinson.

In some parts of the country prohibition is somewhat overshadowed, as an issue, by economics—but not in Kansas, with the church in charge and conducting investigations into its enforcement right in its own meeting houses.

AS TO NATIONAL tickets, Kansas normally is quite decidedly a Republican state.

True, no state can be deemed unchangeably Republican, which has, as Kansas now has, a Democratic governor and one Democratic senator. Its farmers, who, of course, dominate it, are bitterly dissatisfied. They are not as violently dissatisfied as Iowa's farmers, for example, because their land did not go as high as Iowa's land during the boom; consequently they are not so deeply in debt. Still, they are dissatisfied.

Kansas' independent oil producers likewise accuse the "big interests" of plotting constantly to destroy them by reducing the price of petroleum, and they incline to link the "big interests" with the G.O.P.

ALL THESE considerations are pro-Democratic.

Indeed, many Republicans themselves admit that President Hoover is "below par" in the Sunflower commonwealth, though they say he is gaining.

Yet the state is mighty proud of Vice President Curtis. Senator Capper is putting in his best licks for the Hoover administration, and he is highly influential. The state unmistakably is dry, too, and G.O.P. Gubernatorial Candidate Landon keeps insisting that Governor Roosevelt's election to the White House inevitably would be followed by "the immediate return of the saloon."

And, anyway, it is impossible to predict what a state will do, that accepts goat glands as a vital issue in a campaign for the office of governor.

In short, Kansas is doubtful, and when it finally goes one way or the other, it probably will be a mere matter of guesswork as to what made it go that way.

Disagreeable suspicions are usually the fruits of a second marriage.—Racine.

We bear each our own destiny.—Vergil.

Lubbock Man In Favor Of Permitting The People To Vote On Aiding Ferguson

Editor, The Avalanche: There is a line of thought which I have maintained during the past several years, and one on which I have been waiting and hoping that some one who has a name would take up and thrash it out to a finish, until results of the two primary elections the past summer has convinced me that it should be done now.

In the firstplace, I never have believed that the Honorable Ex-governor Ferguson got a fair and square deal in his impeachment trials. I believe that he was badly mistreated and forced to submit, by being outnumbered and smothered out of appropriate resources, and I deem it a blotch on our honor as a citizenry and on our State as a sovereignty, to permit so strong and useful a man to be compelled to carry on under such conditions as he is being subjected to.

He is still fighting and winning. He is hard to whip. I dont believe he can be whipped by the devices of men, which further demonstrates that he is more right than wrong, a merit of which I fear but few of our higher officials can boast.

I hope that no one will surmise that he or any of his friends have in any way influenced or authorized this writing, for only his enemies have convinced me that it should be done.

I am herein offering a move to the voters of our State that we undertake to re-instate the Honorable Ex-Governor Ferguson to all rights and privileges of a United States and Texas State citizen. Let's take a vote on it!

We may not be able to get this feature printed on the November election ticket, but let's get it printed on if possible, if not, we can write it on, which will hardly be a fair test but will help to diagnose the pulse and sentiments of the voters.

If we fail to get printed on the ticket, I suggest for convenience of those who prefer not to write the whole wording that we use only two letters—R F—meaning re-instate Ferguson—and put it on in a conspicuous place where it cannot be overlooked and we will hope that the election judges will count and report it so that we can know the results. If, at the general election, we find that this effort has attracted a respectable percent of response, be sure of the sincere thanks of one who ever prays God's blessings on all of the honest efforts of every one.

I am with-holding my name on this letter as it is of no material importance in this case, while if anyone needs to know it he may by calling on:

C. W. Drake.
An Humble Citizen, Lubbock.

Salvation Army Issues Call For More Pickers Of Cotton

With 47 more persons, including eight families, sent to fields Thursday to pick cotton, G. A. Dickerson, supervisor of the Lubbock Salvation Army corps' bureau for cotton farmers and pickers repeated again that families were needed to go to farms and stay on them until picking was completed.

The welfare agency through Thursday had obtained cotton picking jobs for 298 unemployed persons. Calls for pickers have come from points as much as 80 miles away, Mr. Dickerson said.

Roosevelt Boosts His Lead In Literary Digest's Poll

A slight increase in Franklin D. Roosevelt's lead over Herbert Hoover occurred in the fourth week's returns of nearly 2,000,000 ballots from 38 states in The Literary Digest's nation-wide presidential straw vote, today's issue of The Digest reports.

Of the 1,983,634 votes tabulated President Hoover receives 781,431, or 39.39 per cent, Governor Roosevelt receives 1,062,087, or 53.54 per cent, and Norman Thomas 106,352, or 5.36 per cent of the total cast to date.

Eighteen new States are reported in the current returns. The only one of this in which Hoover is leading is Vermont. Roosevelt is shown capturing the other seventeen—Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The Hoover strength is confined to the six New England States, which he is shown carrying solidly, and New Jersey. Roosevelt is leading in the other thirty-one States from which returns have been received and tabulated so far.

Delinquent Taxes May Now Be Paid Without Penalties

Lubbock municipal taxes now delinquent may be paid without penalties, interest, and costs on or before Dec. 31, 1932, it was announced after a city commission meeting Thursday afternoon.

City commission yesterday ordered the remission of the delinquent charges during the same period that the state had decreed—from Sept. 10 to Dec. 31.

The order will affect all delinquent ad valorem taxes, and if Lubbock residents take advantage of it thousands of dollars will be saved, it was said. In the case of delinquencies dating back 12 or 15 years, the penalties and interest amount to as much or more than the actual tax.

In addition to penalties and interest, costs of delinquencies amount to about $1 per rendition.

Ex-Convict Is Being Quizzed

Officers Are Making An Effort To Connect Man With Series Of Crimes In Central Texas In Past Months

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13 (AP)—San Antonio and Austin police Thursday continued questioning John M. Pickett, 29, ex-convict, in an effort to obtain information they believe he has concerning a series of burglaries, attacks and murders in Dallas, Austin and San Antonio.

Pickett Wednesday made a statement admitting his identity as the man who invaded the home of Guy Dillehay, here early Wednesday. Mrs. Hazel Dillehay was shot three times in the struggle which ensued when her husband resisted the intruder.

In addition, a San Antonio woman identified the suspect as a man who criminally attacked her in Austin recently, and police are seeking to connect him with a murder here last May and a recent slaying in Austin.

Officers are attempting to connect Pickett with the slaying in Austin a month ago of Edgar Ardredge, 21 year old University of Texas student, who was killed by a highwayman as he sat in a car with Miss Margaret Trull.

Police are also trying to connect the suspect with the slaying of Mrs. Gertrude Hawkins, 72, who was shot down in her home on the Mission road last spring when she got up to investigate noises made by an intruder.

Tudor Talks

The boy begged him not to give him either; he went ahead and gave it to him and the boy never waked up.

"That boy (the aged man's eldest son) went to sleep saying, 'I love my daddy. I love my daddy'."

The hunched shoulders shook; tears dimmed his blue eyes.

Mr. Tudor still was dressed in his work clothing—a light tan shirt, buttoned at the neck, but without a tie, patched brown trousers, and worn black shoes. He had a pencil and a piece of paper in his shirt pocket and an unlighted pipe in his hand. He was wearing shell-rimmed glasses.

Wanted Money For Babes

"In a way he (Doctor Adams) had threatened my life. I told him I was going to make him give Woodie's children something.

"'What do you mean? Money for blood?' he asked. I said 'I want some money for them babies'."

Maurine, the youngest of the fatherless trio, was 2 years old Thursday; Billie George is 7, and Tommie Lee 5.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Tudor said he went to talk to Doctor Adams.

"Sure, I had my gun," he replied to a question. Why did he go to the office? "I went to talk to him about these babies."

Speaks Of Shooting

At first Mr. Tudor was reluctant to detail the actual shooting, and after saying he went to talk about the "babies," he declared, "That's enough of that." Later he spoke of the shooting, saying, "I don't know whether you want to use it or not."

After the shooting, "I walked out and met Tom (Tom Abel, Slaton police chief and sheriff-elect). I told him I'd killed Doctor Adams.

"Yes, that's what I thought then."

This is his first time to be in jail, Mr. Tudor said.

"I would never have thought I'd be mixed up in anything like this. It was about to run me crazy. I'm a pretty old man to get in trouble."

Has One Other Son

Mr. Tudor was free to enter any portion of the hospital ward. At the conclusion of the interview he asked, "Got a match? I've got one in my pocket, but I might need it later."

Ed Green, jailer, brought the aged man a handful of matches.

Mr. Tudor has one other living son, Melvin, who lives at Slaton. The father has lived in Slaton since 1915 and is well known in that section. He has been in "the coal and feed business 10 or 12 years."

He was wearing a Masonic signet ring last night.

"In 1917 and 1918 we acted upon impulses born of enthusiasm and fed by propaganda," Doctor Jackson said last night. "Now we are older; yet, we are impulsive, and propaganda has not lost its power. Let us not constitute ourselves as advisers nor as guardians for the political and moral conduct of others to the extent that we want to stand with a club and whack people over the heads who express a liberal or even radical ideal. Of a thousand such ideas one may be good. Take it for what it may be worth and discard the other nine hundred ninety-nine.

"In 1917 and 1918 we fought to 'make the world safe for democracy'. Now let us work to make our own country safe for democracy."

W. H. Wright and J. A. Haley, jr., presided at the opening session. "A Show Boat quartet sang, and readings were given by Miss Ethel McKinley.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13. (AP) — The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and prices developed a decided downward trend owing to fair weather in the belt, rather liberal hedge selling and renewed weakness in the stock market. The close showed net declines for the day of 25 to 30 points.

The market opened somewhat easier and Liverpool cables came in 1 penny point worse to 2 better than due. Private cables said there had been trade calling but also hedging and liquidation. Manchester cabled the improved cloth demand was being maintained.

First trades here showed losses of 8 points and the market continued to ease off after the start mainly on hedge selling orders accumulated over the holiday. Before the end of the first hour, December had dropped to 6.37 and March to 6.72, or down 12 points from the previous close.

There were only occasional and minor rallies on covering as the downward trend was maintained most of the day under the influence of hedging, good weather, and heaviness in stocks. Lows for the day were made in the late afternoon when December dropped to 6.37 and March to 6.80, or 32 to 34 points under Tuesday's close. Prices rallied 3 to 4 points at the end and December closed at 6.40, or 29 points net lower and March at 6.54, down 30 points net.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Declines of over $1.50 per bale in cotton today were attributed to increased hedging combined with liquidation and Wall street and local selling promoted by more favorable weather for the movement in the south and weak grain and stock markets. December contracts broke to 6.37 or 33 points below Tuesday's final quotation, and closed at 6.41, general market closing steady at net losses of 28 to 35 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 7 points under an increased volume of southern selling through spot houses on orders accumulated over the holidays.

The lowest levels were reached during the afternoon with March selling off to 6.52, and active months generally showing net losses of 30 to 35 points. At 6.37 for December the market was at the lowest level touched here since that delivery sold at 9.66 on the advance of late last August. There was a little more trade buying as well as covering on the closing rallies of some 2 to 5 points from the lowest.

Such bullish features as appeared in the weekly report of the weather bureau appeared to have been discounted, while some thought the report was more favorable than expected. Carded cloth statistics indicating sales for September 2.6 per cent in excess of production received some bullish comment but appeared to be without much effect on the market.

There were reports of a better business in spot cotton with a continued firm basis, but most of the hedge selling here was said to be coming from 3 or 3 of the larger houses.

Stocks Slide Off After A Gesture Of Firmness In Thursday's Session

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—After a gesture of firmness in the first hour, stocks slid off today.

Trading was dull and substantially professional; but if the decline lacked evidence of renewed liquidation on any important scale it also emphasized the current stagnation of demand.

With cotton and wheat again lower—the latter made new minimums for the season — and bonds wishy-washy, share traders found no leadership from other markets. Trade news over the holiday was favorable in that it pointed to maintenance of upward trends in steel and electricity production, but the reports failed to get much response.

Weakness of American Telephone, which was down nearly 5 points at one time, imposed a drag on the share list, although other departments suffered from the absence of much support.

Short covering just before the close generally reduced spreads between the day's lows and Tuesday's final quotations. U. S. Steel issues were each off 2 net, Allied Chemical 4 1-2, Case 3, Union Pacific 2 7-8, Consolidated Gas 2 5-8, Chrysler 1 1-2 and General Motors about a point. Rails, on the whole were soggy, notwithstanding indications that last week's loadings on balance has risen slightly above the previous total.

The market's decline, averaging 1.7 points, cancelled about half of what had been gained in Tuesday's rally, although at their lows prices had lost nearly all of that advance. Transactions totaled 1,228,490 shares.

Slaton Shooting

peace's office in the same block, arrived at the scene before Doctor Adams was taken to the hospital.

The county attorney said he found four .380 caliber shells and two bullets. One of the slugs was laying on the floor and another was lodged between two daybooks, in which accounts were kept, on the table. The bullet had penetrated one of the books and had stopped against the second. A bent gold-plated cuff button was found also.

Physicians said all bullets went through Doctor Adams' body without lodging.

Officers Investigate

District Attorney Bradley, Sheriff Wade Hardy, and Deputy Sheriff Bill Earnest came to Slaton from Lubbock soon after the tragedy and made an investigation.

No weapon was reported to have been found in the office, Mr. Bradley said.

No serious fractures were caused by the wounds. So grave was the physicians' condition that no operations were performed. Stimulants were given to him in a futile effort to save his life.

Dr. J. T. Krueger and Dr. J. H. Stiles of Lubbock sanitarium were called soon after the shooting.

Once Lived In Lubbock

Doctor Adams moved to Lubbock about 23 years ago and began the practice of medicine—the beginning of a long career of successful practice. Twenty-one years ago he moved to Slaton, and for years had been official Santa Fe railway physician.

Besides the widow, Doctor Adams is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Achilles Corcanges of Fort Worth, and Miss Josephine Adams of Slaton. Mrs. Corcanges tonight was said to be enroute to Slaton.

Mrs. Fred Denham of Lubbock is a sister of the physician. Mrs. J. Farris Frye is a sister and W. B. Price of Lubbock a brother, of Mrs. Adams. Doctor Adams also is survived by three sisters of near Crosbyton.

Active In Civic Work

Funeral arrangements to be directed by Foster funeral home, had not been made tonight. Burial probably will be in a Slaton cemetery.

The pioneer physician had been active both in church and civic work. He had been a member of the Methodist church since he came here and for years had been a steward in the church. He also had been a member of the public school board. He was a native of Georgia.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13. (AP)—Receipts at most centers around the eleventh market circuit were comparatively small and values settled down to about a steady basis considering the unevenly weak to lower markets on previous days this week. Chicago secured 9.50 for best weighty steers and a few loads of better grade kinds at various points made 8.00@8.50, but the majority of short fed natives and fed grassers cleared from 5.00@7.50. Plain quality straight grass western steers are becoming rather scarce after about two months of concentrated marketing from grazing areas. Stockers and feeders have found a relatively slow outlet since early trade Monday and valuations declined in sympathy with killing classes. Today's business was very limited out of first hands and prices ruled steady to weak. Majority of replacement steers sell at 3.25@5.50. Receipts to date this week at eleven markets totaled 205,300 as compared with 205,469 last week and 229,830 a year ago.

Hogs moved at steady to 10 lower levels, Chicago reporting a top of 3.90.

Fat lambs were sold at mostly steady to 25 higher prices with most better grade kinds at 4.75@5.50 and a few closely sorted loads at 5.75@5.90. A few feeding lambs brought 4.75@4.90.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP) — Hogs 400 including 202 direct; market steady to 10 lower, some late sales off more; top 3.70 paid by small killers for truck hogs; packer top 3.30; part load good 242 lb. ball hogs at 3.40; bulk better grades 185-250 lb truck hogs 3.50@3.65; packing sows mostly 2.75 or steady.

would be made to secure a trial for Mooney on a remaining indictment returned against him as a result of the bombing. They expressed belief he would be acquitted, if such a trial was held, and that a pardon on the previous conviction then would be "practically mandatory."

Callicotte said Mooney asked him how he came to tell the story of the placing of the suitcase which the former believes held the bomb. Callicotte replied that he decided to come forward after the death of his father and mother had removed possibility of any disgrace for them.

The suitcase was given to him, he said, by a man in Oakland with directions to deliver it to another man in San Francisco and the latter man instructed him to place it on the sidewalk where the explosion occurred a short time later.

to do. Thirty four years—why the Oklahoma that Robinson talked about having escaped from was Indian territory then. Nor were there fingerprint records in those days. Probably no one could identify this gray-haired man as being an alleged postoffice robber when 31 years old.

But the yellowed department of justice records at Kansas City showed that W. K. Robinson escaped from a train bearing him to prison on a 4-year sentence imposed at Fort Smith, Ark., for robbing a postoffice near Little Rock. North of bartlesville, Okla., then in the Indian territory, Robinson worked himself free of shackles and plunged through an open window to freedom.

benched in favor of Robert Hale, a newcomer who may start at left tackle tomorrow night. Hale was a candidate for guard position, but these places seem to be filled with Bob Vaught on the right and Hugh Newton on the left.

Little Joe Nelson, who made Lubbock's only touchdown against Sweetwater, probably will start in Truman Hutson's place at fullback. Chester McCarty, injured last week, is back in harness and capable of doing a man-sized job against Stanley Smith, Abilene center who took all-state honors over Bob Crawford last year.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP)—Splendid demand was reported on the Fort Worth cash grain market for wheat while sorghums were fairly active and other grains were slow.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points.

Wheat No. 1 hd., according to protein and billing, 53 3-4@55 3-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 32@33; No. 3 nominal 31@32. Sorghums No. 2 bright milo per 100 pounds nominally 65@67; No. 2 bright kaffir nominal 63@65.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 39@40; No. 2 white 42@43; No. 2 yellow 40@41, all prices nominal.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 22 1-2@23 1-2; No. 3 red 21 1-2@22 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. (AP)—Outdoing the season low price record for all deliveries, wheat today paralleled bearish action of securities, and responded to reports of heavy rains in Argentina.

Stop loss selling of wheat was witnessed in the late transactions. World's available stocks of wheat showed 21,047,000 bushels increase for the week, making the total 435,000,000 bushels against 429,000,000 a year ago, exceeding for the first time in months the amount in sight last year.

Wheat closed shaky at about the day's bottom, 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 under Tuesday's finish, corn 3-4 to 1 down, oats 5-8 to 3-4 off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 cents.

Roosevelt

public works, Mr. Roosevelt said "it would be advisable for governments of all kinds to set up in times of prosperity what might be called a nest egg to be used for public works in times of depression."

He asserted that in principle bonds should be issued for only such public works as were of a self-sustaining character.

"All public works—including federal—must be considered from the point of view of the ability of the government treasury to pay for them," he said.

To Inaugurate Plan

Mr. Roosevelt said he proposed "to inaugurate a definite long range plan for dealing with all phases of public health and welfare, which are a proper concern of the federal government."

Discussing public works, he set up the gauge that they should be "honestly essential to the community."

"Each case must rest on its own merits," he added. "It is impossible for example to say that all parks or all playgrounds are essential."

Mr. Roosevelt endorsed the idea of a system of unemployment insurance reserves made compulsory by the states and said that he had favored the Wagner measure to set up a coordinated system of boards of employers and employes. The measure was vetoed by President Hoover.

Favors Children's Work

The candidate said he favored continuance of the work of the children's bureau and keeping children in school until the age of 16, a higher age than generally is prevalent. He also endorsed increased vocational education.

In concluding his speech from the long, mirrored drawing room of the executive mansion, the New York governor added an appeal "to let nothing interfere with the duty and obligation of coming forward as individuals and as groups to the support of the unemployed and the support of their dependents during the coming winter."

"By proclamation I can make an official appeal to the state of which I am governor, but I think I have the right as a presidential candidate to make an unofficial appeal to my fellow Americans in every other state," he said.

Appeal Is Sounded

"I wish that every man, woman and child above the age of reason in the whole country would make the coming Thanksgiving Day and the coming Christmas Day occasions to contribute with money or food or clothing or all three, to the direct relief of local needs."

Mr. Roosevelt took up the questions categorically in a 20-minute speech that was preceded by one from New York by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst delivered on behalf of the Democratic national committee's women's division.

State Starts Its Case In Murder Trial Of W. H. Hamby

SAN MARCOS, Oct. 13. (AP) — The state today began presentation of its case against W. H. Hamby, elderly San Marcos peace officer, charged with the murder of Bill Porter, a young painter.

Charles Zunker, a former football star who now is coach at the San Marcos academy, was the first witness. He allegedly was with Porter the night last June when he was slain.

Attorneys indicated more than 50 witnesses would be presented during the trial.

Selection of a jury was completed late yesterday.

Democratic Soap Being Sold To Clean Up U.S.

Young Democratic Clubs Of Nation To Distribute Many Bars This Month

MRS. JAMES SCOTT — TYRE C. TAYLOR

BY WADE H. LUCAS
Central Press Correspondent

RALEIGH, N. C.,—"Democratic Soap—Let's Clean Up America."

Housewives of the nation and others are now being greeted with this soap. The sale has just opened and it can be purchased until the November election, according to Tyre C. Taylor, of Raleigh, 34-year-old president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

Taylor, executive counsel to Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, has arranged with Hal Slane, president of the Young Democratic Club of California, to have unemployed sell the soap.

With Mrs. James L. Scott, of Greensboro, N. C., executive secretary of the national organization which has a goal of 1,000,000 members, Taylor has succeeded in perfecting organizations of young Democrats in 42 states. They have the approval of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nomnee for president, and James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman.

"It is not soft soap we are selling," says Taylor following a recent conference with Chairman Farley.

"By using many of the 10,000,000 unemployed in the nation we believe we can sell some 25,000,000 cakes of the soap before election day. We are selling the soap at 10 cents a cake and we have worked out plans whereby the unemployed receive a profit of five cents on every cake of soap sold."

Red, White and Blue

The soap, a large cake, has been manufactured in three colors—red, white and blue—and on each cake is stamped, in a vegetable die, the slogan: "Democratic Soap—Let's Clean Up America."

Taylor is enthusiastic over the soap venture. So is Mrs. Scott. Taylor headed the Young People's Democratic clubs in North Carolina in 1928, and though Alfred E. Smith lost the state to Herbert Hoover the younger Democrats are regarded as having done yeoman work for O. Max Gardner, a Democrat, who was elected governor.

Shiny New Dimes Lead To Arrest Of Two Sonora Men

ALBANY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Shiny new dimes, paid filling station attendants here for small amounts of gasoline, today led to the arrest of two men against whom charges of passing counterfeit money will be filed today. The men gave the names of J. M. Owens and Joe Thorp of Sonora.

Sheriff W. E. Goodman and a filling station operator, Charles Moseley set out after the men, overtaking them near Stamford. In their car were found a blow pot and spoon, three counterfeit half dollars and nine bogus dimes. TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 13. (AP) —Andy Ganis, striking miner, was shot to death tonight in a clash between national guardsmen and members of the newly formed progressive union, climaxing a day of disorders in the Central Illinois coal field.

Demo Vote Is Being Sought

Bullington Launches Attack Upon Fergusonism; Outlines Own Plans On Taxation And Asks For Support

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Orville Bullington, Republican candidate for governor, attacked what he termed "Fergusonism" and outlined his own stand on taxation in an address here today in which he openly invited the anti-Ferguson vote.

"We will bury Jim Ferguson under an avalanche of honest votes," Bullington said.

"I release all Republicans from any obligation to vote for me who do not believe me the best candidate and I challenge Jim Ferguson to make Democratic voters the same proposition," the Republican nominee told his audience. He mentioned "obvious frauds" in the Democratic primaries.

No voter, he said, is obligated to a political party and quoted Woodrow Wilson as saying "country over party" and interpreted that remark as meaning that voters should vote for the best candidate regardless of his party affiliation.

Bullington also cited the supreme court ruling on the party pledge as follows: "It is binding no longer than it can be conscientiously performed" and declared that Ferguson had scorned the Democratic pledge in 1920 when he organized the American party.

Bullington said there were two ways to cut the tax burden; equalize taxes and cut the cost of government. He spoke against the present ad valorem tax and endorsed taxation of natural resources, luxuries and chain stores.

"We are going to take the tax burden off the farm and home owner and place it on shoulders more able to bear it," he said.

Mrs. Mae Harris Convicted Of Assault; Is Fined $25

Mrs. Mae Harris, hotel operator here and a witness for Hugh Walker in his murder trial ending this week, was convicted of assault by a corporation court jury Thursday afternoon and fined $25.

E. S. Fisher paid a fine in connection with the same alleged altercation. Mrs. Harris was at liberty on bond late yesterday afternoon and had not paid the fine.

Julia Robertson, 17-year-old negro maid at a downtown hotel, who was fined $20 in corporation court Thursday morning for theft of a sweater, will appeal the case, it was said.

$4,000,000 Bridge Opened

Spanning the Turtle Creek Valley, on the Lincoln Highway just east of Pittsburgh, is the latest word in highway bridge engineering. It is the $4,000,000 George Westinghouse bridge, shown above. It towers 200 feet above the valley, and is more than 1500 feet long. The middle arch, 425 feet long, is said to be the longest reinforced concrete arch in the United States. The bridge is said to save motorists 20 minutes in a drive from one side of the valley to the other.

Art Of Powdering And Painting By Women Described As One Of Oldest

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A grey-haired young man wiped the crayon off his fingers in his East Side garret today, lit a cigarette and told animatedly how he hopes to make women realize that when they rouge their lips and powder their noses they are pursuing one of the oldest arts of civilization and one which should be practiced with corresponding nicety.

The uplifter is Witold Gordon, famous illustrator, who is working on a mural of 12 panels for the women's powder room in the international music hall, one of the buildings of Rockefeller center. The mural depicts the history of cosmetics.

"Women do not realize," he said with a French accent, "the traditions behind the makeup they put on so casually. Women have been using cosmetics for as far back as we have any records.

"I venture to say that Eve herself sought to enhance her beauty with vegetable stain of some sort soon after she donned the fig leaf.

"Now when the women patrons of the music hall come into this rest room to powder, I hope they are going to look around at the walls and realize the extent of the cosmetics art, and that the panels may inspire them to greater artistry in the use of their own cosmetics."

Gordon's panels show, among other things, a Chinese woman applying mascara, a colonial dame dusting with powder, a dandy of the empire sprinkling rose water on his lady's handkerchief, an Egyptian woman painting herself and a modern miss with her vanity case.

Forty-five colleges and 37 state universities are represented by the faculty of the University of North Dakota.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Youngsters Are Kiwanis Guests

Clifton and Garland Casey, sons of Guy Casey, captain of the Nineteenth street fire station, were guests of the Kiwanis club at luncheon Thursday at the Lubbock hotel. The club was observing Fire Prevention week, and the boys were introduced by Mark Long, a fireman. Clifton and Garland, twins, are six years old, the age of frankness.

Asked, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" they replied, "A fireman like my daddy because you don't have to work."

Meda Craig Twitty, daughter of Chief W. E. Twitty, gave a reading about fires. R. S. Rodgers and Garnet Reeves were program chairmen.

Wesley Read, chairman of the local campaign for fire prevention, spoke briefly of fire hazards and fire prevention.

A musical number from representatives of Happy Kings' orchestra was another feature of the program.

The club voted to accept an invitation from Fred Snyder to attend a round-up and chuck wagon supper at his ranch the latter part of the month.

Visitors at the club included Jennings Studeman, who has just returned from Panama, and Henry Godeke, who asked the club to support the Tech Matador band.

The president, G. P. Kuykendall, presided.

"I SUFFERED 10 YEARS WITH ITCHING ECZEMA"

"...and after spending hundreds of dollars to clear it up, I tried Zemo and got relief," writes G. C. G. of Texas. Soothing and cooling, Zemo stops itching in five seconds because of its rare ingredients not used in cheaper remedies. Also wonderful for clearing Rash, Pimples, Ringworm and other irritations. King Of Italy Not Mentioned In New Oath Given Fascists

ROME, Oct. 13 (AP)—The King of Italy is not mentioned in the new oath to be administered to those who enter the fascist party, according to the new constitution which is to be approved by the grand council November 3.

"In the name of God and Italy," the new oath will read, "I swear to execute without discussion the orders of Il Duce and to serve with all my strength and with my blood if, necessary, the cause of the fascist revolution."

A fascist who is expelled from the party is declared "banished from public life." The constitution is fundamentally the same as the previous one except that it includes the young fascists of combat.

"You're telling ME they're Milder?"

"EVERYWHERE I go, I have to listen to the same thing. 'Try Chesterfields. Honestly, they are milder, and you simply must try them!'

"Me... try Chesterfields! Why, I haven't smoked anything else. That's how important mildness and better taste are to me!
