Banking Code Is Probed

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' strict banking code may have a "weakness" or two but key government and industry leaders see no need for a wholesale revision.

A five-man Senate Investigating Committee was to begin its probe this week, paying particular attention to any legal laxity that might have contributed to the downfall of Sharpstown State Bank.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. officials are paying off about $50 million to depositors after the Houston bank was placed in receivership.

"I'm not going to recommend any changes but I will point out one or two weaknesses that were pointed up during the Sharpstown situation," said state Banking Commissioner Robert Stewart.

Treasurer Jesse James said he would have no recommendations of new laws or regulations - "not that I know of."

A spokesman for the Texas Bankers Association, which has both state and national bank members, said the group would have no recommendations to the Senate committee, "but we will follow the hearings with interest."

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appointed the investigation committee after the Senate unanimously adopted a resolution calling for a probe to see if the State Banking Department "has met all of its responsibilities under the law." Barnes made it clear the primary object of the committee would be to determine if present state banking laws are needed. He warned against any investigation that would interfere with those made by the securities and exchange commission's stock fraud suit.

Over the weekend the investigation committee chairman, Sen. J. P. Word, was making arrangements for an assistant attorney general to work with his group.

Stewart said his comments to the Senate committee would concern present appeal procedures from orders issued by the state banking commissioner, who is charged with administering and enforcing the state banking code.

"I can't say I will ask a change but I do intend to point out that if we do have a future situation to the Sharpstown State Bank closing the laws may have to be changed," Stewart said.

Stewart said orders issued by the commissioner for removal of officers of a state bank or for a bank to show cause in court why it should not be stopped from some action may be appealed now to the State Banking Board, whose primary duty is examination of new bank applications and issuance of charters.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 8, the 39th day of 1971. There are 326 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1904, the Japanese besieged Port Arthur in Manchuria. It was the beginning of the Russo-Japanese War.

On this date:

In 1587, Mary Queen of Scots, was beheaded, charged with plotting the murder of England's Queen Elizebeth I.

In 1690, Mohawk Indians and French troops attacked Schenectady, N. Y.

In 1861, Arkansas troops seized the U. S. arsenal at Little Rock as Southern states were rebelling against the federal government.

In 1910, the Boy Scouts of America was formed.

In 1940, during World War II, every tenth person was shot in two villages near Warsaw, Poland-in reprisal for the deaths of two German soldiers.

In 1955, Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov resigned and was succeeded by Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Ten years ago—Britain said the facts of international life require Communist China's entry into the United Nations.

Five years ago—President Lyndon B. Johnson and South Vietnamese leaders ended a mid-Pacific conference with the so-called Declaration of Honolulu. They pledged to defeat the Communists in Vietnam and build a better life for the Vietnamese people.

SPLASHDOWN TUESDAY WITH MOON TREASURES

Moonmen Streaking Home

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14 and its cargo of moon treasure plummeted past the halfway mark of its homeward journey today, streaking faster and faster toward a Tuesday splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa reluctantly awakened after a 10-hour rest, which followed a Sunday night telecast in which they expressed hope the space program might help achieve peace and understanding on earth.

Mission Control said it had considered letting them sleep later because they had only a light schedule on their last full day in space: monitoring systems, making stellar navigation readings and resting for the busy re-entry Tuesday.

"We thought we'd let you keep banker's hours today," capsule communicator Fred W. Haise told Mitchell when he sent the wakeup alarm. "But we can't let you sleep in tomorrow, so we thought we'd get you back on schedule."

Mitchell reported he had to do a little extra shaking to "wake up these other two guys."

While the astronauts slept, their command ship Kitty Hawk zipped past the halfway point of the 238,000 mile trip from moon to earth and was picking up speed as earth's gravity exerted an ever greater influence.

During the sleep period, the speed increased from 2,734 to 3,157 miles per hour. By the time the astronauts hit the earth's atmosphere Tuesday, they will be racing at 24,500 miles an hour.

They are to land at 4:04 p.m. EST Tuesday with their record cargo of 108 pounds of moon rocks and material. If they are on target, it will be Wednesday at the touchdown site. The recovery ship waits three miles west of the international dateline.

They are to appear on a final television program at 6:53 tonight, answering questions relayed from newsmen at the space center.

In a telecast to Mission Control Sunday night, they conducted scientific experiments and expressed thoughts on the space program and problems on earth.

"We're reminded as we look at that shimmering crescent that is earth that we still have fighting there," said commander Shepard, speaking for all three. "We are reminded that some men who have gone to Vietnam have not returned and that some are still being held there as prisoners of war.

"It is our wish tonight that we can in some way contribute through our space program to better understanding and peace throughout the world and help to rectify these situations."

Shepard said, "Communications through the space satellite will certainly go a long way toward solving the problems of the world—the problems of understanding between peoples of different nations and different countries."

He made the comments at the end of the 51-minute telecast in which the astronauts demonstrated manufacturing techniques which Shepard said "could benefit all peoples of the world."

It is hoped these techniques will be able to use the weightlessness of space to produce cast metals, medical vaccines and electronic crystals of purity and strength higher than possible on earth.

With the television camera focused on the space laboratory, Roosa explained each of the four experiments, which demonstrated how weightlessness overcomes some of the manufacturing problems caused by the gravity of the earth.

Liquids were transferred between containers, metals were cast in a small heat chamber.

House Approves Welfare Fund Bill

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The House passed and sent a $34.9 million emergency appropriation bill to the Senate today after abandoning plans for "hot check" financing to pay for it.

"The welfare recipients of Texas thank you," said Rep. W.S. Heatly of Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and sponsor of the bill.

Heatly won a unanimous vote to strike from the measure a section that would have permitted "hot cheek" deficit financing.

Heatly explained that deficit financing would be avoided by a plan announced last week by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. The plan originated with research director Janes Wilson of the State comptroller's office.

Also eliminated from the emergency appropriation bill was $13.5 million to replace medical school construction money transferred last year to welfare. This would make the appropriation small enough to fit within the Wilson-Barnes plan.

Heatly said he would introduce a bill today—identical to one scheduled for a Senate committee hearing this afternoon—carrying out the plan. He said he expected the measure would be up for a final vote this week.

The Senate passed 28-3 and sent to the House a proposed Constitution change that would replace the present annual registration procedure with permanent registration. A person could re-register merely by voting once within a four-year period

The Senate also sent the House, 26-5, another proposed Constitution change that would allow those 18-year-olds to vote in local and state elections, as well as federal elections.

Both suggested changes would be on the general election ballot in November 1972.

A proposal to have annual legislative sessions was tentatively approved, but a move to suspend the rules for final action fell one vote short.

The House last week okayed a $48.4 million emergency spending bill, including $39.4 million for welfare, but fell eight votes short of suspending the state constitution's "pay as you go rule."

Barnes said Thursday a poll of senators showed "it will be almost impossible" to get the needed four-fifths vote for red ink financing.

Gov. Preston Smith recommended suspending the "pay as you go" rule and running a deficity for a few months to pay for the emergency needs. The deficit would be made up over the next fiscal year.

Bills raising the state sales tax from 3.25 to 4 per cent and jumping the cigarette tax three cents per pack effective March 1 are resting in a House committee in case an immediate tax bill becomes the only way out.

S-Viets Invade Southern Laos

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops swept into southern Laos today in an attempt to cut North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh trail, something six years of American bombing has failed to do. Six U.S. helicopters were reported lost in the first waves.

The operation carried the war into the third Indochinese country, but the State Department in Washington and the South Vietnamese government insisted the Indochina conflict was not being enlarged.

The Soviet Union and Communist China called the operation an expansion of the war and blamed the United States. France was reported to view it as an extension and a prolonging of the fighting.

The British government expressed its understanding of the operation and said North Vietnam was to blame for conditions in Laos.

The North Vietnamese peace talks delegation in Paris condemned the incursion a "new escalation of the war."

The operation was confined, in this first day at least, to one sector of Laos—a landlocked nation a little smaller than Oregon. The drive comes a little more than nine months after U. S. and South Vietnamese forces crossed into Cambodia to smash North Vietnamese base there.

American helicopters and South Vietnamese armored cars took the troops across the border, and the U.S. Command pledged its full air and artillery support. But the U.S. Command said no American ground combat forces or advisers would cross the border.

A communique said the 9,000 American troops who moved into the northwest corner of South Vietnam 10 days ago would act as a blocking force on the Vietnamese side of the border.

Field reports said four U.S. helicopters were shot down and two crashed due to mechanical trouble. Pilots reported heavy antiaircraft fire, but the reports indicated most of the crews were rescued.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the border that South Vietnamese troops made contact with North Vietnamese forces within an hour after they crossed the frontier. U.S. helicopter gunships attacked the enemy positions with rockets.

Pollution Proposals Submitted

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon sent Congress today his environmental proposals for 1971, including brand new programs to control noise, ocean dumping, and the industrial and commercial use of toxic substances.

The President also proposed to tax the use of lead in gasoline and to levy a charge on the air-polluting sulphur content of energy fuels, a measure whose greatest impact would be on the costs of electric power generation.

As promised earlier, Nixon called for adoption by Congress of a national land use policy, which would lean heavily on the authority of state governments to regulate critical uses of their land.

The package also repeated Nixon's call, contained a week ago in his budget proposals for fiscal 1972, to increase federal aid for construction of waste treatment facilities to a level of $2 billion per year over the next three years.

But the President's proposals would also give the new Environmental Protection Agency a stronger hand in enforcing water quality standards by allowing it to impose administrative fines up to $25,000.

And it would permit citizen suits against water polluters, such as were authorized against air polluters in the 1970 Air Quality Act.

As announced previously, the President sought authority to place limitations upon industrial and municipal waste discharges into virtually all United States waters, including ground water.

In all, said Russell E. Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, the program would require passage of about 14 pieces of legislation.

Train told newsmen the bills would be sent to Congress within a few days, perhaps on Wednesday.

2 Persons Die On Icy Highway

The worst blast of winter iced over streets and highways and covered the countryside with patches of powdery snow Sunday afternoon in the Snyder Area.

Slippery roads figured in a traffic tragedy when two women were killed in a highway mishap about 20 miles southwest of Snyder on Texas Highway 350 at 4:10 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Alma E. Rhodes, 58, and Mrs. Lillian Hall 54, both of Big Spring, were killed when their car was involved in a collision with a truck after the car spun out of control. The mishap occurred in Mitchell County and highway patrolmen from Colorado City investigated. The two victims were pronounced dead at Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder, where they were taken by Snyder Ambulance Service.

Driver of the truck, Albert Nelson Page, also of Big Spring, was not injured in the crash.

Mrs. Rhodes was a former resident of Snyder and has a number of relatives in the Snyder area, including a brother, Weldon Bills. She also is survived by three sons, Anthony Rhodes of Odessa, Morris Rhodes of Dallas, and Joe Rhodes of Kansas City, Kan. Mrs. Rhodes was the widow of the late Rev. Cecil Rhodes, a well-known Baptist Minister. Her body was taken from Bell-Seale Funeral Home this morning to Big Spring, where funeral arrangements were to be made at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

The body of Mrs. Hall was to be taken from Bell-Seale Funeral Home here to Eastland, where arrangements were to be made at Arrington-Hammer Funeral Home. Mrs. Hall is survived by a sister, Miss Frances Coldwell, and a brother, Joe E. Coldwell, both of Fort Worth.

The powdery snow produced only a trace of moisture in the official gage at the city water plant here. The official thermometer logged a low reading of 15 degrees this morning. The snow and ice melted rapidly as bright sunshine covered the area this morning.

Scotland Yard To Add Women

LONDON (AP) — Another male bastion may fall to the fair sex. Scotland Yard hopes to recruit two women police constables to handle dogs sniffing out drugs.

"There is no reason why they shouldn't do the job as well as men," says Douglas Randall, head of the police dog section.

Taxi Franchise Is Available

A taxicab franchise is available now in Snyder, city officials reported.

Persons interested in applying for the franchise may submit applications to the City Secretary, K. O. Pitner, at the city hall.

Registration Re-Opened

There is a good chance more local citizens will register to vote than registered last year.

The Texas Legislature last week passed a law re-opening registration and extended the registration period until Feb. 28.

As of Jan. 31, 5,672 persons had registered to vote at the county tax office. This compares with 5,720 who registered last year.

"We've already re-opened the registration period," said employes at the tax office.

Persons who will become 18 or 21 during the year may register at any time during the year. However, those who already are 18 or 21 must register during the registration period.

Sharp Agrees To Consent Decree

DALLAS (AP) — Frank W. Sharp, the principal figure in allegations of fraud and stock manipulations that have brought in the names of high state officials, agreed to a consent decree today.

The decree agrees that Sharp, of Houston, will not participate in stock manipulations in violation of Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulations.

Eleven others of the 22 defendants in the civil action as today's hearing began also agreed to the consent degree.

The defendants who consented did not agree that the allegation made by the SEC in its petition were true.

Immediately after announcement of the consent degrees, former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr took the stand. Unsmilingly, he denied any wrongdoing in a lengthy testimony. He is a defendant in the SEC civil suit.

In addition to Sharp, others discharged were:

J. Quincy Adams, a stockbroker and former part-owner of a Dallas bank earlier discharged from the suit.

Donald S. Akins, former executive vice president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. (NBL), a defendant, and an officer in other defendant companies.

Daughter, not inlaws, should tell parents

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our son was recently married to a lovely girl. They had been engaged for almost a year. The girl's parents are quite well-to-do, and they gave their daughter and our son a "picture book" wedding.

When the newlyweds returned from their honeymoon they blushingly confessed that we would have a grandchild exactly six months after the wedding. Naturally, we were shocked and disappointed, but felt nothing would be gained by making them feel more ashamed than they already appeared to be.

The problem: Our daughter in law is afraid to tell her parents. She's a shy little thing and has asked us to tell them. We think she and our son should tell them. We leave it to you, Abby. Who should tell them, and how?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: The shy little thing should tell her parents that they are going to have a grandchild, which, if it arrives on time, will be three months "premature."

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which concerns my parents, myself and music. I am 13 and I hate taking piano lessons. My parents know this but they are forcing me to take lessons anyway.

The lessons are expensive and I seldom practice, which makes it a waste of money, right? My mother says I am so unpleasant at home that I will have to continue taking piano lessons until my disposition improves. My father threatens me by saying that if I don't shape up I will have to take piano until I am 18!

So will you please tell me, what is the point of taking piano lessons when it is only a waste of time and money?

HATES PIANO

DEAR HATES: There are two schools of thought on that. One: Even a child who "hates" music, and must be nagged, bribed and threatened to practice, can't help but learn something about music, which in your parents' view is better than no musical education at all.

The other school: Never force music lessons on a child. He will only grow to hate music. My view: Music lessons are like a vaccination. It's temporarily painful, but if it takes, it's worth it.

DEAR ABBY: I am an old grandpa of 82, and I don't have any serious problems, but I read your column every day and get a big kick out of it.

Someone wrote in to complain because she and her brother had to split up a set of the Book of Knowledge. They each got 10 volumes, but her brother got Volume 20, which has the index. She said she got a dirty deal because her half was no good without the index. Well, I think I can help her.

I found Volume 20 at the Goodwill store in Walla, Walla, Wash. It cost me 25 cents! I would be happy to send it to the lady to further the cause of "peace on earth." I will even pay the postage. GRANDPA DAVE RORABECK

DEAR GRANDPA: You are a sweetheart and I thank you for your generosity, but the problem has already been solved.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. C. IN ANAHEIM: You're right. I was wrong. Next time a long-haired hippie-type approaches me for a handout, I'll not refuse. I'll give him a dime on the chance that he wants to call his mother—collect.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Plea Entered

Ricardo Surita Zamora pleaded guilty in county court Friday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received a $50 fine and a 30-day jail term. The offense occurred Dec. 22, and he was apprehended by Highway Patrolmen.

The Maltese nation—Malta and two Mediterranean islands, Gozo and Comino—has almost 2,700 persons per square mile, making it one of Europe's most crowded countries, the National Geographic Society says.

Manhattan Blacked Out

NEW YORK (AP) — A transformer failure in a Consolidated Edison Co. power plant plunged blocks of midtown Manhattan into darkness for more than four hours Sunday night. Nine television stations were knocked off the air.

The blackout stranded sightseers in the 86th and 102nd floor observatories of the Empire State Building, snarled traffic moving without signals and turned thousands of Sunday suppers into candlelit dinners.

First reports from Con Edison said the failure resulted from an explosion, but a spokesman said later that the trouble probably was due to two electrical short circuits "that sounded like explosions."

When lights flickered and went out at 7:12 p.m., many recalled the "Great Northeast Blackout" of 1965 and feared it was happening again. But the trouble this time was localized.

Because of the grid patterns, half of Times Square went black while lights on the other half blazed on brightly.

The first two grids to go knocked out power to the Empire State Building where all but one of the local television stations have their transmitters.

WXTV, a Spanish language station on Channel 41, has its transmitter downtown. It stayed on the air and broadcast bulletins about the blackout in English.

Radio stations also stayed on the air, some using emergency power.

Trade Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest block of shares ever traded crossed the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape today during an otherwise uneventful session.

The record-breaking transaction involved 3,248,000 shares of Allis Chalmers valued at $58,464,000. It was second in dollar value among trades.

Wall Street analysts said there appeared to be little reaction among investors to the movement into Laos of U.S.-supported South Vietnamese troops.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 876.57.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had dipped .1 to 304.7 with industrials off .4, rails up .3 and utilities off .4.

The Allis Chalmers block was sold at 18, up ⅝, by White Consolidated Industries.

The block represented White Consolidated's entire holdings in Allis Chalmers. Identity of the purchasers was not disclosed.

White Consolidated said it sold the Allis Chalmers stock at a loss of about $63 million in order to lessen Justice Department objection to its proposed merger with White Motor.

White Consolidated rose 1⅝ to 19 in a delayed opening. White Motor, also delayed in opening, gained 2¾ at 21.

The Allis Chalmers block pushed the Big Board's first-hour volume to a record 7.85 million shares. The old mark was 7.66 million shares on Oct. 17, 1968.

Midday prices on the Big Board included Du Pont, off 2 to 143¼; Leasco Data, up ⅞ to 18⅞; Occidental Petroleum, up ½ to 20⅞; McDonnell-Douglas, up 2⅝ to 32⅛; Xerox, off 1⅛ to 96¾; Boeing, up 1 to 22⅝, and Texaco, up ⅜ to 34¼.

Among American Stock Exchange prices were Systems Engineering, off 1⅝ to 16⅛; Career Academy, off ⅜ to 6⅛; International Stretch, up 1 to 16, and Asamera Oil, up ⅜ to 17⅜.

Firemen Are Called Twice

City Firemen answered a call to 2704 Thirty-fourth Street at 11:30 a.m. Sunday. The call was prompted by a fire in an electric motor in the furnace.

At 10:45 this morning, firemen went to Buck Logan's residence about five miles southeast of town. There was a fire in a well house.

Sanchez Named To EOS Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today named Phillip V. Sanchez, 41-year-old administrator of Fresno County, Calif., to be assistant director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Sanchez would become the highest ranking official of Mexican-American descent in the Nixon administration if confirmed by the Senate. Before he resigned recently, Hillary Sandoval held that distinction as head of the Small Business Administration.

Sanchez will head the OEO's operations office, which has been vacant since November when Nixon elevated Frank Carlucci to the job of OEO director.

In the $38,000-a-year job, Sanchez will be in charge of community action operations, state and local government liaison, Indian and migrant programs and training and technical assistance.

Youngsters Join Irish Fight

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — "How do you fight a 10-year-old even if he has a bomb in his hand?" a British soldier asked today after six days of street warfare in Northern Ireland's main cities.

Youngsters are fighting alongside their fathers and older brothers as Roman Catholic militants switch from rocks and bottles to shots and bombs.

A 14-year-old lost a hand in Belfast when a dynamite bomb exploded before he threw it at soldiers. Five of the dozens of persons arrested in Londonderry Sunday were under 12.

All the snipers picked off by British marksmen—officially two, but possibly as many as 10—were adults, believed by the British to be Irish nationalists egged on by radical factions of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. The IRA advocates the violent overthrow of the Protestant government in Northern Ireland to bring the six counties under the predominantly Catholic government of the Republic.

An exact count was not possible. Most of the dead and wounded were dragged away for secret treatment or burial to prevent reprisals against relatives.

The first fatality among the British troops sent to Northern Ireland in August 1969 occurred during the weekend, a 20-year-old soldier cut down by machine-gun fire.

Eight soldiers and nine civilians were wounded, including two civilians and a soldier Sunday night. The soldier and one civilian were felled by gunfire as battling continued in Belfast and broke out in Londonderry, the province's second largest city.

Two customs posts and an electrical substation were bombed near the border with the Republic. The army blamed them on an outlawed Protestant group, the Ulster Volunteers.

Six hundred reinforcements arrived from England during the night, bringing the total army force to 7,400 men.

County Accepts Depository Bid

County commissioners this morning accepted the bid of West Texas State Bank as the county depository for the next year.

West Texas State Bank bid calls for 5 per cent interest per annum for time deposits having a maturity not less than 12 months, 4 per cent per annum for time deposits having a maturity between two and six months, 3½ per cent for any deposit having a maturity between 90 days and six months, and 3 per cent for any deposit having a maturity between 30 and 90 days.

Smith Accused In Land Deals

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has accused Gov. Preston Smith of twice attempting pressure on the state land office in veteran's land deal involving Smith's friends and a Lubbock legislator.

Smith denied that he "at any time exerted any pressure on anybody."

Sadler said Sunday that one land deal involved 17 veterans including Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock; J. W. McCulloch of Lubbock, a longtime Smith business associate, and Harold K. Davies, a Lubbock promoter. Sadler told The Associated Press, "All my investigations showed Jones was strictly in the clear."

A spokesman for Smith's office said Smith helped set up an appointment for Davies in the land office and called the matter "a strictly routine request" that would have been handled for "any constituent."

Sadler said the land deal involving the 17 veterans came in 1967 and dealt with the purchase of 255 acres in 15-acre tracts with $170,000 in Texas Veterans Land Program loans. Sadler said this was followed by a contract promising $5,000 to a mysterious unnamed third party.

Sadler did not describe the second land deal but said pressure was involved in both instances.

Sadler said he held up the deal involving the 17 veterans "for a long tine trying to find out where the pressure was coming from."

Sadler said Smith, then lieutenant governor, personally called some people in the land office.

"He just wanted to know what was holding it up," Sadler said. "He tried to speed them up. There were no threats that I know of...It wasn't threats. He was just a little impatient."

On the second deal, which Sadler turned down after Smith became governor, Sadler said Smith called A. J. Bishop, deputy chief appraiser for the general land office, and asked him to come to the governor's office for a talk on the deal. Sadler said he did not know if Bishop actually went to the governor's office.

Sadler said Smith also called W. W. Glass, an administrator in the Veterans Land Program, but added, "I don't know of any threats.

"I am satisfied that Davies was pressuring him (Smith) just as he Smith was pressuring me. Davies is a high pressure gentleman."

Ambassador's Wife Tells Of Her Life In Africa

NEW YORK (AP) — To be young and beautiful and an ambassador's lady may be the dream of every starry-eyed schoolgirl. But for the past year it's been real life for Margaret Melady, wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Burundi in East Africa, who at 31 is the youngest American first lady overseas.

Margaret recounted her experiences here recently with a mixture of humor and wonder. Her husband, Tom, 43, was on temporary duty with the U.S. Mission to the United Nations during the 25th General Assembly. This was their first trip back to the states since arriving in Burundi almost a year ago.

Margaret had traveled extensively before marriage and co-authored one of her husband's six books on Africa, but when she left for Burundi with their two pre-school daughters she admitted to being a bit uncharacteristically terrified.

"The things I worried about most proved to be the greatest assets: my age and my inexperience at the diplomatic style of life," Margaret related. "As it turned out, most of the African diplomats we meet are young men with younger wives and small children. We have a good deal in common just as young parents."

If Margaret had envisioned a conventional diplomatic post with its formal gowns and social entertaining, she would have been disappointed in Burundi. The new African nation needed Americans interested more in the country's economic development, and that suited Margaret.

She spends most of her time encouraging self-help projects in Burundi such as schools and hospitals, and her major effort during the first year abroad was expanding the work of American diplomatic corps people in a tutoring project.

During the days Margaret attends classes at the public university in Bujumbura, the capital city. Credits she has earned there are being applied to a master's degree in French literature from Seton Hall in New Jersey.

An ambassador's wife, Margaret quickly learned, is in full charge of the housing and official entertainment for her husband and family. In Burundi this means supervision of a ten-room house with a staff that includes two full-time male housekeepers, a chef and a nurse for the children.

The most difficult part of her assignment, Margaret recalled, was getting used to the lack of a local supermarket. The markets in the capital city sell fresh fruit, eggs and African vegetables to the 50,000 residents. But the varieties offered there are not what American families are accustomed to eating.

"We can have African sweet potatoes for three meals a day," Margaret said, "but we can't buy spaghetti or peanut butter there." When the embassy's Fourth of July barbecue was planned, Margaret credits her chef's ingenuity in creating a tasty "apple" pie for the occasion out of green mangoes.

For canned foods, cake mixes, canned meats and other prepared foods that add variety to menus, Margaret prepared a six-month supply list for a food distributor in Europe. It generally takes three or four months to be delivered. "When you run out of something like ketchup and have to order it quickly," you mail an order and get air delivery in two weeks. But when it costs $2 for a bottle of ketchup, you learn not to have emergencies."

Margaret expresses respect for the native culture and already sees the effects of life overseas on her two pre-schoolers. Schools in Africa are incredibly under-equipped by American standards, she observed. But the teachers develop close relationships with each child, and work together to create basic teaching tools. By using simple things around them as instruments for learning, Margaret feels, the children are developing some basic skills that will last throughout life.

Life in Africa is a good deal more in many of its aspects than life even in an American city, Margaret observed. The children come into direct contact with people crippled or deformed, for instance.

Human suffering is closer to each family in Africa, and the Melady girls have already developed respect for it. If nothing else at this stage, Margaret notes, they understand the need for getting shots from the doctor.

Lana Turner Turning To Stage

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lana Turner says she is turning to the stage for the first time in her 33-year acting career because "the movie business is in terrible shape."

Miss turner has been engaged for a 10-week summer tour of the Broadway hit "Forty Carats."

She said Thursday she liked to keep busy but that recent movie offers had been unattractive.

"The scripts I get nowadays you wouldn't believe," she told an interviewer. "I simply read the titles and I know how repulsive they are."

BAD NEWS COMES IN THREES!

Housing Activity IncreaseExpected

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost inevitably, 1971 will be one of the most active years in housing since 1950, now that interest rates are falling. But there is a grim aspect to the outlook: Prices are rising.

It's an old story. The house that sold for $25,000 early in 1968 can't be duplicated now for less than $30,000, and the prospect is that it will sell for $35,000 in a year or two.

"In the next 12 months," said Lawrence Weinberg, whose company expects to erect 3,000 homes this year, "our costs will rise a minimum of 10 to 12 per cent." Much of this will, of course, be passed on to the buyer.

Weinberg is president and chairman of the Larwin Group, Inc., based in Los Angeles, active more recently in Chicago and planning to move into other sections of the country, now that it has become a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corp.

The company for years has maintained a reputation for efficiency, almost always being high among the most profitable of the nation's top 10 builders, so the forecast has considerable meaning for the entire industry and for potential home buyers.

What can be done? For one thing, the building codes can be changed, Weinberg feels. "We have building codes overlaying building codes—state, country, city, FHA, VA."

Almost all codes relate to the quality and safety of products that go into the house, but many are so dated or so curiously written that they discourage innovations in methods and the use of worthwhile new products.

Weinberg feels that codes written to enforce performance rather than the use of specific products and methods might help to encourage experimentation that could lead to houses of higher quality for the same price.

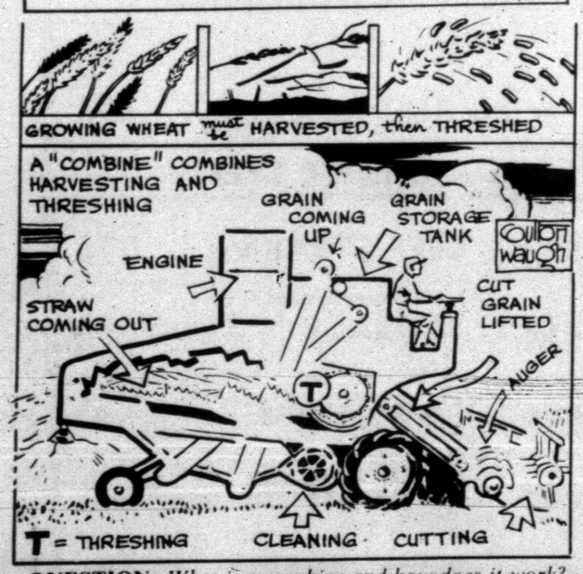

The code for a roof, for example, wouldn't detail the products and the methods but it would require that the roof remain leakproof and sturdy for a specified number of years.

Not only would this permit builders to use new materials and methods, Weinberg says, but it would sharpen the edge of competition among them. It would force builders to put their reputations and finances on the line.

If the structure failed to live up to promises, the builder—or a bonding company—would be forced to make good or see his reputation and his future ruined, a strong reminder to him that innovation doesn't mean cutting corners.

Such codes have often been talked about but they are in use to no significant extent and aren't likely to be utilized for some time. Thinking is ingrained and so are certain products. And there is the awesome number of codes to be rewritten.

Junior Editors Quiz on COMBINES

QUESTION: What is a combine and how does it work?

* * *

ANSWER: Before grain from a plant such as wheat is ready to be used to make bread, several steps are necessary. The grain must be cut on the field. This is called harvesting. Then the grain must be shaken out or removed from the husks. This is threshing. Once, these operations were laboriously done by hand. Then came the mechanical harvester, which cut the wheat down and bound it in bundles, later to be taken to a threshing machine to have the grain kernels removed. A machine which combined these operations, quite naturally called a combine, was first used in 1837, but did not have wide use until about 1917, when gas engines began to power farming machinery. Our picture shows a self-powered combine. As it moves along, a cutter-bar in front knocks down the grain. A revolving auger pushes it onto a feeding belt, which lifts it up against the rasp bar cylinder, where the actual threshing takes place. Grain, pushed off, falls into the cleaning shoe below where an air fan and sieves separate the grains and clean them. Then they are lifted up elevating tubes and fall into storage bins on top. Meanwhile, the straw, now without grain, has been pushed out behind.

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

You are more likely to get a cold if you work in an office than a factory. The average worker loses from three to four days a year because of colds. Only six per cent escape at least one attack of the sniffles during that period.

Venetian noblemen once vied so hard to see which could make the trappings of his gondolas the most magnificent and colorful that in 1562 a decree was issued: "Henceforth one color for all." That is why to this day the picturesque water craft that ply the canals of Venice are all painted a somber black.

You wouldn't think any patriotic American would litter a historic site such as the Washington Monument, would you? But workmen who clean it daily sweep up about 40 gallons of debris, most of it thrown away by tourists.

The chances are that you'll take 1.7 trips away from home this year, and nine to one that you'll go by car. About 77 per cent of travelers go by car, and 63 per cent of them journey at least 199 miles from home, and 47 per cent spend from two to five nights away.

Quotable notables: "Any fool can tell the truth, but it requires a man of some sense to lie well."

The Stronger Sex: Older women seem to have a greater desire for independence and freedom than older men. At least three tines as many women live alone or with nonrelatives as do older men.

The Good Old Days: Inflation has always been with us. For example, there was widespread indignation and predictions of financial disaster when some barber shops—or tonsorial salons, as they were called—raised the price of a standard nickel shave to six cents and upped the dime haircut to 12 cents. That was in 1860.

Sobering statistic: Alcohol is now regarded by medical authorities as either the third or fourth chief killer in our society. They attribute more deaths only to heart disease, cancer, and perhaps strokes. For years many experts have thought it to be a factor in half the nation's fatal highway accidents.

It was John Dewey who observed, "A man who prides himself upon acting upon principle is likely to be a man who insists upon having his own way without learning from experience what is the better way."

Moon Eclipse Wednesday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A total eclipse of the moon early Wednesday will be visible throughout North America, weather permitting, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory says.

The moon will begin moving into the earth's shadow at 12:52 a.m. Wednesday and will be entirely within the shadow from 2:03 a.m. until 3:26 a.m., the observatory said Thursday.

The eclipse will continue until 4:37 a.m., when the western edge of the moon clears the earth's shadow.

Keating Is Matchmaker

NEW DELHI (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating has acted as matchmaker for a young bull bison from Sioux Falls, S.D., named Benjy, and Jessie, a cow bison widowed some time back.

In ceremonies at the New Delhi Zoo Sunday an elephant tossed garlands of flowers around the necks of Keating and his aides when they arrived "to arrange the marriage," as the 70-year-old ambassador put it.

Jessie, childless by her previous union, also is from the United States. Keating undertook to get her a mate when he learned of her plight last November.

Benjy flew in Saturday from the Great Plains Zoo in Sioux Falls. The U.S. Embassy staff named him Benjy after Benjamin Franklin.

Critics Are Sympathetic

LONDON (AP) — Actress Mia Farrow and her conductor husband Andre Previn appeared on stage for the first time together Sunday night and got mostly sympathetic reviews from critics.

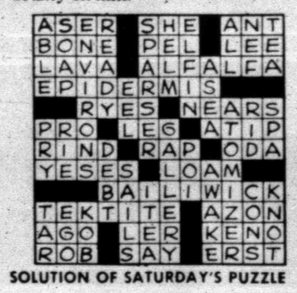

Previn conducted the London Symphony Orchestra and Miss Farrow played the title role in a performance of Arthur Honegger's little-heard dramatic oratorio "Joan of Arc at the Stake."

The Times music critic said Miss Farrow "mistimed or misinflected some of the key passages" although he praised her voice and added: "She did not funk her short song."

The Daily Telegraph said Miss Farrow was a "lightweight casting for a part that demands uninterrupted inner concentration and the vocal range of a great actress."

In 1883 New Hampshire pronounced the woodchuck "destitute of any interesting qualities" and slapped a 10-cent bounty on him.

Project Of CRMWD Progresses

Things are falling rapidly into place on the crash project of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to have an additional well supply ready for its system by June 1.

The 33-in. supply line is being strung on the right of way, and within a week the contractor is due to begin laying pipe eastward from Wickett. Shortly after that, a second crew will begin at a point in Ector county and lay east, to be followed by a third crew which will take the line in to the Odessa terminal storage.

Construction of two of the three pump stations has started, and the third will await action on a condemnation suit. O. H. Ivie, general manager, said it appeared that the district would have to file on two tracts of the 47-mile line.

Bids will be opened in Big Spring at 2 p.m. Feb. 19 for the last portions of the project—the laying of 38,000 feet of gathering lines in the Ward County well field; the construction of an electric distribution system to the wells; and the purchase of well pumps.

Ivie said that four wells have now been completed and tested, and a fifth is in process of being tested. Another well has been drilled but is awaiting casing.

The ground hog or woodchuck generally curls up in his underground nest about September and hibernates until March. His breathing and heartbeat all but stop and his body temperature may drop below 40 degrees.

Saragat Pledges Aid To Tuscania

TUSCANIA, Italy (AP) — President Giuseppe Saragat today embraced weeping survivors of the earthquake that destroyed much of the medieval hill town of Tuscania and promised them government help.

About 30 archeology experts assayed damage to historic sites in the town of 12,000, and Mario Moretti, superintendent of national antiquities, said, "The damage is extremely grave but perhaps not irreparable."

The president and Premier Emilio Colombo flew the 50 miles from Rome by helicopter to the Etruscan town where at least 20 persons died, 120 were injured and almost 4,000 were left homeless by the tremor Saturday.

At the end of an 80-minute inspection, Saragat came across about 100 townspeople, many weeping over lost relatives or property. A laborer in tears pleaded: "Help us. Don't forget us. I lost a granddaughter of 5 and my house."

"I commit myself as head of state to see that everything possible is done to help you," the president told them.

An aftershock rumbled through the town's rubble Sunday night, but the survivors had been evacuated to tents and hotels in nearby towns and there were no more casualties.

Tuscania was a center of Etruscan civilization several centuries before Christ, and the quake cracked walls of the Etruscan museum. But it was believed most of the statuary and tombs inside were undamaged.

Archeologists also were surveying open Etruscan sites, some of them uncovered by a 16th century quake.

Damage was especially severe in the center of the old town. Experts said they would try to restore the 20-foot stone walls, Romanesque churches and towers made of volcanic ash. Every church is unusable, Bishop Luigi Boccadoro said.

US Troop Strength Drops

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a drop in American troop strength in Vietnam last week of 800 men, lowering the total to 335,000.

The command also announced that the 3rd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment was withdrawn from combat status today preparatory to redeployment. This will reduce troop strength by 1,140 men in the near future.

The total strength is scheduled to drop to 284,000 men by May 1.

Swiss Women Can Vote Now

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss men have given in at last to the pressures of suffragettes.

Reversing a decision they nade 12 years ago, the men voted 2 to 1 Sunday to approve a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote in national elections and hold federal office. The vote was 621,403 in favor of the government-sponsored amendment to 323,596 opposed. Twelve years ago the ladies lost 654,939 to 323,727.

According to a United Nations report, only five other countries continue to bar women from the polls—the Arab states of Jordan, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Yemen, and tiny Liechtenstein, between Austria and Switzerland.

Tool Workers Need Education

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I'm a jr. in high school . . . I don't think I want to stay much longer . . . I hear tool and die work is a good job. — S.H., Kansas City, Mo.

Noodlehead thinking. Tool and die making is highly skilled work usually requiring 4 or 5 years of formal apprenticeship or equivalent on-the-job training. Most employers want young men who have high school or trade school education as apprentices because the work is getting more complex. You should have a good working knowledge of math and physics as well as considerable mechanical ability, finger dexterity and an aptitude for doing very precise work. A knowledge of electronics and hydraulics improves your chances for advancement, which could be to a supervisory or administrative position, tool designer or owner of your own tool and die shop. Get out and talk with tool and die shop owners; they too will advise you to finish school. You can read more facts about this trade in "Occupational Outlook Reprint No. 1650-98 Machining Occupations." For a copy, send 15 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Dear Joyce: In the field of marine photography, I would like to know (1) opportunities for women, (2) requirements, (3) what schools are recommended (4) where can I write for information? — M.C., San Jose, Calif.

I asked oceanography authority Odom Fanning to answer this question. Fanning replies:

"Don't plunge in yet! I don't think you'll find a curriculum in marine photography. Good oceanographers are their own best photographers. I'd suggest you first study and practice photography. Take 2-4 years of liberal arts. Get a job on a newspaper or with a studio. Eastman Kodak (Rochester, N.Y., 14650) will send you a list of photography schools. Then if you want to take graduate work, the National Oceanography Association (1900 L St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036) will send you a list of oceanographic colleges.

"Vocational Guidance Manuals (235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017) publishes 2 authoritative books (each $1.95) paperback), "Opportunities in Photography Careers" and "Opportunities in Oceanographic Careers." Yes, matey, women are welcome. As a marine scientist, you'll need photography."

[P.S. While you can obtain training in photography in the military services, to my knowledge, none offers a special program in marine photography.]

Dear Joyce: Would you please give addresses where a young man might take up police science? —, P.H., Towanda, Pa.

Start with the free career information available from the International Association of Chiefs of Police, 1319 18th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036. Also write for free literature, including a list of schools, to the Law Enforcement Education Program, U.S. Dept. of Justice, Washington, D.C. 20530.

Dear Joyce: I would like to have a career where I could help people who don't have as much as I do. I am 15 and quite serious about this. — A.H., Santa Rosa, Calif.

You can get some ideas in a 39-page booklet, "Career Opportunities in Service to the Disadvantaged and Handicapped." It lists training and job opportunities in the Teacher Corps, social work, library science, adult education and education of the handicapped. Send 30 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Scholarship Change Asked

OXFORD (AP) — Eighty of 140 Rhodes scholars at Oxford University have called for a change in the method of awarding scholarships, which they claim discriminate against blacks in South Africa and Rhodesia.

A petition carrying their signatures was handed recently to E. T. Williams, warden of Rhodes House and secretary to the scholarship trustees. He said he had no comment on the petition.

VALENTINE BARGAINS — This pretty Valentine floral design is on display at Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 Avenue S. The House of Flowers will be glad to fill your Valentine order in either flowers or candy if you will just call 573-9600. Plenty of beautiful, red roses are available this year.

Valentine Roses Are Featured By Hinshaw's

"If we get all of the roses we've been promised, then we'll have ample roses for Valentines," said Hershel Hinshaw, who operates Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 Avenue S, along with his wife, Pat.

Hinhaw's has plenty of pretty spring potted plants, such as hyacinths, azaleas, tulips and others.

This year, Floral Telegraph Delivery of which Hinshaw's is a member, is pushing what they call the "love bug." It is a pretty bouquet of flowers that includes a corsage. The corsage can be taken out and worn all week long.

Hinshaw's, of course, has delivery service. And, as a member of FTD, can guarantee delivery to just about any country in the world and any one of the 50 states.

Say it with candy and flowers this year. If your loved one appreciates candy as much as she appreciates flowers, you can send her one of Hinshaw's tasty boxes of FTD candy. Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be the big delivery days, but FTD can deliver your order all through the week of Valentine's.

Monday through Friday, Hinhaw's has trucks coming into town with fresh flowers. This guarantees their customers fresh flowers every day. The company has a sufficient volume of business with a good turnover to assure that the flowers you buy will be fresh.

And, with qualified disigners, Hinhaw's makes sure that its patrons receive quality in design as well as freshness in flowers.

For quality at reasonable prices, shop at the House of Flowers for cut flowers, potted plants and artificial arrangements.

Sex Excess

LONDON (AP) — Britain's chief film censor, John Trevelyan, 67, has quit because he's had enough of sex films. He feels the emphasis on sex is killing the film industry.

"Sex is a marvelous human activity," he said, "but merely to watch other people doing it is not my kind of entertainment."

Froggies Best Baylor 102-87

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

TCU basketball coach Johnny Swaim should get his blue suit cleaned and pessed this week.

Swaim, whose Horned Frogs are leading the Southwest Conference basketball race with a 6-0 record, says he's not doing anything special to keep the string alive but adds:

"I just wear a black suit for the home games and a blue one for the road games," said Swaim, decked out in his black suit after TCU had clobbered Baylor 102-87 Saturday.

Swaim's blue suit will get the workout this week.

The Frogs play two big ones on the road. They're at Rice Tuesday and at Texas Tech Saturday. Swaim's not blooming with optimism yet, but admits, "If we can take the next two, I would have great confidence we'll win it all."

With a wary eye to the upcoming road swing, Swaim says, "It's not in the bag yet. The next two are double tough. The hump looks smaller, but we still have eight games to go. I'm not a pessimist but you've got to think about that."

Swaim's biggest problem these days is not letting his high-flying Frogs get too high. Like for the Baylor game.

"I was worried about them getting so high they would stand around and get petrified," he said.

While the Owls are hosting TCU Tuesday, Arkansas will travel to Baylor still looking for its first SWC victory, Texas Tech is at Southern Methodist and Texas A&M at Texas.

SMU is at Arkansas in Saturday's TV game and in other weekend matchups Texas is at Baylor, Rice at A&M and TCU at Texas Tech.

The defending champion Rice Owls ended a three-game losing streak with an 80-64 victory over Texas Tech Saturday. Texas A&M nipped Arkansas 87-83 and Texas tipped SMU 84-83 in a pair of thrillers.

Rice coach Don Knodel pinned down Texas Tech with a zone defense that kept the Raiders from the basket.

"I was surprised when he (Knodel) ran the zone that much," said Tech coach Gerald Myers. "He used a zone against us in Lubbock last year and we'd worked against it all week."

Knodel said "When we started changing zones on them, it made them slow down and think."

B. G. Brosterhouse was the hero of Texas' split-second victory over SMU. He canned a free throw with 17 seconds to play to provide the winning margin.

Johnson Sets Record

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Von Ruden finally did it. The blond former Oklahoma State runner predicted he would run a sub-four-minute mile and he did.

However, Von Ruden said he was going to do it eight days ago at the Millrose Track Meet in New York—and the Olympic 1500-meters ace didn't accomplish his feat until this Saturday night at Fort Worth's 10-lap banked board track, capping the two-day meet.

Little matter though since it was also the first sub-four-minute mile indoors in the United States since Jim Ryun achieved the distinction three years ago in New York on Feb. 9, 1968, running a 3:57.5.

Von Ruden, running for the Pacific Coast Club, was caught in 3:59.4 at the Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games and it was his first ever indoors under the magic mark. Jim Crawford, a Richardson, Tex., schoolteacher helped immeasurably, setting a brisk pace and finishing in 4:01.4. Von Ruden trailed until he passed Crawford with two laps to go.

Von Ruden, who also won the 1,000-yard run in Toronto the night before in 2:08.2, said he was tired and had only three hours sleep.

"Sometimes being tired will relax you," he said. "That's what happened tonight."

What happened a week ago at the Millrose Games was a different story. Von Ruden, who was the defender at 1,000-yards there, requested a chance at Marty Liquori, Villanova's Olympian, in the mile.

"I'll beat the four minute mark for you if you put me in the mile," Von Ruden said. And since there has never been one in that famous meet, the promoter quickly accepted Tom.

He failed that night, running a 4:02.1, which placed him 10 yards behind Liquori, who won in 4:00.6. But this weekend was a different story.

In all there were meets in New York and Toronto on Friday night and two others on Saturday besides Fort Worth, in Baltimore and Seattle.

At Seattle, Kerry Pearce, of Australia tied his own world mark of 8:27.2 in winning the two-mile run on the 11-lap banked board track of the Coliseum.

The Texas El-Paso runner actually ran 8:27.1 but rules call for times to be clocked to the nearest fifth of a second. He easily whipped Poland's Henryk Dzordykowski, a distant second in 8:44.3.

Al Feuerbach, the world indoor record holder in the shot put, won his specialty with a toss of 65 feet, 4 inches, well off his record toss of 68-11 at the same meet.

At Baltimore, Tony Greene of Maryland, captured a blanket finish 60-yard dash, nipping Zack Rogers of Norfolk State and the newest track sensation, Dr. Delano Meriwether. All three runners were caught in six seconds flat.

Meriwether, the 27-year-old hematologist at the Baltimore Cancer Research Center, who only took up the sport less than a year ago, has now raced indoors seven times, finishing first twice, second three times, third and fifth once each.

Eamonn O'Keeffe, an Irish lad running for Florida University, won the outstanding performer award at the 11-lap banked board track in Baltimore, copping the 880-yard run in 1:50.4 and anchoring the victorious Florida two-mile relay team.

Brian McElroy, sitting out a year of ineligibility at Villanova after transferring from Kansas, won the Calvert Mile in 4:08.1 over Sam Bair of the Pacific Track Club.

Another world record toppled when Feorge Frenn, a school teacher from North Hollywood, Calif., broke the 35-pound weight throw mark with a toss of 72 feet, 3½ inches at a Long Beach, Calif., meet.

Harold Connelly, Frenn's teammate at the PCC, held the former mark.

On Friday night, Randy Matson, the Olympic shot put champion, beat Feuerbach, flipping the 16-pound ball 68 feet, 4 inches with Feuerbach second at 66-7½.

Other winners in Toronto besides Von Ruden were teammate Chuck LaBenz, capturing the mile at Toronto's 11-lap banked board oval in 4:05.8 besting Szordykowski.

Reynaldo Brown, another Olympian, shattered the meet mark for the high jump with a 7-2½ leap while the pole vault went to Dick Railsback of the PCC at 17 feet.

In New York at the Knights of Columbus meet on Madison Square Garden's 11-lap elastroturf banked track, Liquori raced to his 12th consecutive Garden victory, winning the 1,000 in 2:08.8, beating McElroy by five yards.

But the meet's top performer award went to Alabama's Jan Johnson, who broke the K of C pole vault mark with a 17-0¼ vault, bettering the former record of 16-6¾ by Bob Seagren. The only other meet record to fall was Al Hall's 67-6 toss in the 35-pound weight throw.

Jim Green of Kentucky won the 60-yard dash in 6.2, nipping Dr. Meriwether by inches while O'Keefe took the 880 in 1:53.8.

And at Ypsilanti, Mich., Kent State's Al Schoterman broke the NCAA record for the 35-pound weight with a toss of 66-5½.

Shaw Sacks Up Cash

HONOLULU (AP) — Arnold Palmer's head was up and the mobile face flashed the famous grin, but there were tight, weary lines of bitter frustration around the eyes.

"I just have no confidence in my short game," the aging idol said. "I guess I'm scared of the short putts."

Palmer, the almost legendary figure who put the word "charge" in golf's lexicon, again failed to get it going in the final round of the $200,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament Sunday and finished four strokes back of winner Tom Shaw.

He was tied for the top with Shaw and burly Dewitt Weaver going into the bright, sunlit final round on the course hard by Diamond Head.

"But I promptly three-putted two of the first five holes," said the 41-year-old champion, who has not won in more than a year.

"When you're in my position, second or third or fourth or fifth doesn't make that much difference. Winning is the only thing that is important."

Shaw, the personable young man who won the Bing Crosby just three weeks ago, rallied with birdies on two of the last three holes for a three-under-par 69 and a 273 total, 15 under par.

Bengals Host Colorado City

The Snyder High School basketball team closes out its home schedule tomorrow night in the Scurry County Coliseum with Colorado City's Wolves providing the opposition. Tipoff is on tap for 8 o'clock following the B team game at 6:15 p.m.

Only one senior—Bid Cooper—will be playing his last game in front of the home folks. All of the other Bengals will be back next season.

Colorado City has a good team and could make the home final interesting for the local fans. For the season, the Wolves are 14-12. In second round play, they are 0-3. Snyder is 20-5 for the campaign and 3-1 in second round action.

The Tigers will be about 10 point favorites to turn back the Wolves. The local lads beat them 70-59 in the first round of play at Colorado City.

Probable starters for the Bengals include Cooper and Tommy Washington at guard, Dubby Preston and Jerry Brooks at forwards, and Kent Horsley at center.

Starters for Colorado City Dave Matthews, Skeet Kimbrell, Jerome Hopkins, Larry Williams and Stanley Bracy.

Possible starters for the B team Kittens will be Marvin McClanahan, Jackie Hartsfield, Jimmy Don Dyess, Moell Blalock and Charles Anderson.

The Tigers take on Estacado there Friday, then they close out the season the following Tuesday at Sweetwater.

Volleyball Girls Lose

BIG SPRING—Both Snyder High School volleyball teams lost out in the tournament here last weekend. The varsity was beaten, 15-8, 15-7, by Fort Stockton in the first game. In their second game, they lost, 15-4, 15-13, to Midland Lee.

The B team Tigers lost to Big Spring 15-2, 15-11, and to Midland Lee 15-6, 15-6.

Christy Suttle was high point girl in the varsity game with Fort Stockton, getting six points. Penny Jones tallied eight points against Midland Lee.

Coach Joyce Elrod will take her girls to Plains today, weather permitting, and to Monahans tomorrow.

Louisville In Driver's Seat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisville is in the driver's seat in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball standings, but the race is far from over according to Louisville's interim coach Howard Stacy.

Stacy says it still is anybody's race even though the Cardinals play four of their final six MVC games at home. Stacy says Bradley, Drake and Memphis State have to be rated prime contenders.

Louisville is leading with a 5-3 record followed by Bradley at 6-4, and Drake at 4-3. St. Louis, which Stacy calls a dark horse, is next at 3-3.

Drake and Bradley square off in a showdown Thursday in one of the highlight games this week. Wichita State is at St. Louis in the only league game tonight. Seattle is at West Texas in non-league play.

In other games Thursday Louisville is at Wichita State and North Texas State is at Tulsa.

Weather Boosts Texas Violent Death Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Multiple - fatality traffic crashes and poor driving conditions sent the Texas weekend violent death toll on an upward spiral Sunday.

The death count climbed to 31, including 22 traffic fatalities and eight persons killed in shootings.

The Associated Press began the tabulation at 6 p.m Friday and continued it until midnight Sunday.

Lillian Caldwell Hall, 54, and Alma Bills Rhodes, 58, both of Big Spring, were killed Sunday 17 miles northwest of Colorado City in a car-truck collision on snow-covered Texas 350. Officers said the women's car skidded as they attempted to pass a third vehicle.

Larry B. Freund of San Antonio was killed Friday night when his camper overturned on an embankment and burned 6 miles west of Brackettville on U.S. 90.

Arthur Jefferson Taylor, 19, of Dallas was killed by a shot from a .22-caliber pistol Sunday as he watched a knife-gun fight between two other men. Witnesses told police one of the men fighting fired a pistol, and the slug hit Taylor.

Gerald Wayne Champion, 19, a Ft. Wolters soldier from Corpus Christi, was killed Sunday in a two-car collision in snow 1 mile south of Mineral Wells on U.S. 281.

Snow that made U.S. 82 slick and dangerous east of Dickens in the South Plains was blamed for five deaths.

Killed when two cars were in a broadside crash after one skidded in the snow were J.R. McCarley, 42, Dorothy McCarley, 39, and Tommy Wilson McCarley, 19, all of Terrell; Jerry Lea Hall, 22, of Wills Point and Karen Alexander, 25, of Dallas. Seriously injured in the collision Sunday morning were Judy Lynn Noe, 23, of Henderson and Lillie McCarley Hall, 21, of Wills Point.

Ortensia Rosales McGlone, 32, of El Campo was killed Saturday night when a car crashed into a tree off Texas 332 about two miles west of Lake Jackson. Officers said the driver, Mrs. Rebecca M. Valdez, 27, of Houston was taken to a Galveston hospital in serious condition.

Edna Police said Estorgio Pena, 47, was killed Friday night when struck down by a car on U.S. 59 at that South Texas city.

Four persons died at Johnson City in the Hill Country early Saturday when their car flipped over at a bridge crossing. The dead were identified as Johnnie W. Gipson, 23; Lonnie Gipson, 20; Frank Stevenson, 20; and Fred Gutierrez, 19, all of Johnson City.

A two-car collision at Benavides in the Rio Grande Valley Friday took the life of Ernest E. Enyart, 67, of Alice.

An elderly Alvarado man, Tom Ezell, was struck down and killed by a car as he walked along U.S. 67 early Sunday. He was Johnson County's first traffic fatality this year.

Gore Lectures At Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Albert Gore, a former teacher, returns to the educational field as a political science lecturer at Vanderbilt University today after 32 years as a Democratic senator and congressman.

"I have neither plans nor desires for a further political career," Gore, 64, said in an interview. He was defeated for reelection to the Senate last November by then-Rep. Bill Brock.

Gore said, however, that he would "devote as much time as I can in a largely advisory capacity to my party, both state and national.

He is writing a book and making lecture engagements, he said, and may later practice law.

True Love At Last

DONISTHORPE, England (AP) — The romance crashed but Maggie Tomlin never took off her fiance's ring. And 55 years later, after she had been married four times, Maggie and her first love, Joe Cox, are going to the altar.

The couple, both in their late 70s, parted in World War I but met again recently by chance.

Researchers find that porpoises are high strung and when overworked are likely to get stomach ulcers.

Suit Moved

HOUSTON (AP) — An alienation of affections suit against singer Liza Minnelli was moved to federal court Friday.

The suit was first filed in state court by Mrs. Margaret Kulbeth who alleged that Miss Minnelli enticed her husband, known professionally as Rex Kramer, and caused the Kulbeth marriage to flounder. She seeks damages for loss of her husband and his future earnings.

Kramer and the singer met while she was appearing in Houston and he was playing with a group called Bojangles at a local night club. Kramer later formed his own group, which performs with Miss Minnelli.

Bonus Is Offered By Concert Assn.

The Scurry Concert Association, now conducting its membership drive for the 1971-72 season, is offering a bonus to new members, it was announced this morning.

Those who purchase new memberships will be permitted to attend the concert of Ted Alan Worth, world famous organist, on this year's series by presenting their 1971-72 membership cards at the door.

Worth has attained international recognition, both as a performing artist and as chief designer for the American sales division of Europe's largest builder of modern pipe organs. For the past several years, he has toured half the world where he has encountered a burgeoning demand for his artistry.

No memberships in the Scurry Concert Association will be available after Saturday, Feb. 13, the date the current membership enrollment period ends. Headquarters for the drive are in the community room of the West Texas State Bank building.

Under consideration as attrations for the 1971-72 concert season are piano duos, vocal groups, the return of Los Indios Tabaharas and others.

Persons who wish membership in the association may contact a volunteer worker, or call the membership headquarters at 573-5441, or call 573-7488 or 573-6482. Mrs. W. B. McSpadden is the membership chairman.

Teenagers Need "Bolt-Holes"

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — Teen-agers leading hectic lives should be provided with "bolt-holes," monk-like retreats to sort themselves out, Ronald Gibson, a Hampshire school doctor, suggests.

"People think that because teen-agers are in the joy of life they don't suffer stresses and strains," he said. "In fact, they suffer more than any adult."

RECEIVE FLAG — Alvin Wimmer (left), Cubmaster of Pack 36, receives an American Flag from Mrs. L. C. Bible (center), patriotic instructor of Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Post 8231 and Bonnie Timora, Auxiliary president. The flag is a gift from the VFW Auxiliary to the Cub Scout Pack.

Severe malnutrition of either the mother or her baby while in early stages of development has been found to be the cause of some mental retardation, according to the National Society for Medical Research.

Democrats Skeptical Of Nixon's Education Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Senate Democrats, concerned that the quality of education might suffer, are skeptical of President Nixon's proposal to consolidate elementary and high school aid programs into his revenue-sharing plan.

These Democrats say they doubt the five broad-purpose education programs surviving under the Nixon plan would do the job of about 75 school-aid funds worked out by Congress over the past 13 years.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R,I., chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, has expressed his misgivings to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which contends consolidation would make it easier for states, cities and counties to apply for federal aid.

Members of Pell's subcommittee cite these problems the Nixon approach might bring:

—Reduction of local effort toward improving education by substitution of no-strings-attached federal revenues for local taxes.

—A sharp cutback in goals set by Congress for federal effort in the education field.

—The consolidation plan would give far fewer guarantees than present laws that federal funds would be spent properly.

—Repeal of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act might undermine national support for federal aid by losing support of Catholics and others who send children to private schools.

Passage of the act in 1965 broke a long stalemate over federal aid-to-education legislation. Its passage was aided strongly by provisions benefiting children in parochial and other private schools.

HEW officials engaged in drafting the administration bill say not all controls would be removed under the Nixon plan.

The states would have to spend the federal money for: impacted areas, districts where there are large numbers of children because of federal installations; economically disadvantaged children, those now generally benefited by the education act; vocational training; handicapped children, and supporting services.

Seventy per cent of the federal money received would be spent on one of the five programs. The remainder could be transferred to one of the other four titles.

HEW officials raise the possibility additional restrictions might be imposed beyond splitting the money into five broad categories, even if this might violate the philosophy of the revenue-sharing plan.

Higher Education Aid Bill Is Introduced

WASHINTON (AP) - Many of the nation's 5 million college undergraduates would be eligible for up to $1,200 a year federal tuition aid under a broad higher education financing bill introduced in the Senate today.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, proposed the plan, which he estimated would cover all students with incomes of less than $10,000 annually.

Each student would receive $1,200 minus the amount of federal income taxes paid by himself or his parents.

It is a radical plan, Pell said, but something must be done to help colleges and universities "which are suffering impending financial disaster."

The multi-billion-dollar bill includes $1.4 billion for student grants, $250 million of supplemental help for particularly needy students, and instruction allowances to be paid colleges at the rate of $1,000 per student, less the tuition charged each student.

Education subcommittee aides said the cost of the instruction allowance section could not be estimated, since it is uncertain how many institutions would alter their tuition structure to take advantage of the federal money.

The bill would extend many existing federal aid programs to college students and their schools.

"It is my philosophical belief that the federal government must play a major and ever increasing role in support of higher education," Pell said.

"This role must not only be financial in nature, but must also indicate to students and institutions a commitment to fostering excellence in education over a long period of time."

The Nixon administration, Pell said, tailored its higher education proposals to a tight budget, and thereby "sought to shift the burdens of financing higher education to the students, basically through a system of loans on the open market.

The 91st Congress rejected the administration proposals. The new Congress must act on higher education early this session since several programs run out June 30.

Of his plan for grants to students, Pell said the average family with income of $3,000 or less pays no income tax so a student from such a family would get the full $1,200 a year.

For families with income between $3,000 and $6,000, the average tax is $250 and the grant would be $950.

In other categories: Income $6,000 to $7,500—average $570 tax, resulting in a $630 grant, Income $7,500 to $9,000—average tax $845, resulting in a $355 grant, Income $9,000 to $10,000—average tax $1,030, resulting in a $170 grant.

There will be an estimated 5 million college undergraduates next year; including 500,000 from families of $7,500 income or less.

Liberals Form People's Lobby

AUSTIN (AP) — Some 300 persons gathered Sunday to form what was labeled an issue-oriented "people's lobby" but was viewed by some participants as a new attempt at organizing liberal Democrats.

U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., and state Sens. Barbara Jordan of Houston and Joe Bernal of San Antonio called the meeting, saying a new force was needed to counter the special interest lobbies.

Eckhardt said the organization would be "oriented toward issues" and not candidates.

Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough linked the group historically with past coalitions of liberal Democrats.

Eckhardt was elected temporary chairman, and Bernal and Miss Jordan were named temporary vice-chairman. Twelve steering committee members were chosen to serve with them.

Yarborough, defeated for reelection by Lloyd Bentsen in last year's Democratic primary, harked back to the old Democrats of Texas—a liberal group within the Democratic party that died in 1960.

He said the new group was getting off to a better start than the DOT and predicted it would "live longer, be stronger and accomplish more.

Other liberal coalitions have emerged briefly to succeed the DOT, but none lasted long or had the DOT's energy and spirit.

Texas will have "honorable government" when young people can be persuaded to participate in politics, Yarborough said.

"We've got to stop this thing of wheeler-dealers controlling the state that we've had for 30 years, lining their pockets and those of their friends—usually both," he said.

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was applauded when he said Yarborough's "public service...was only beginning, I would hope." There has been speculation Yarborough might run in 1972 for governor, U.S. senator or some other statewide office.

Clark also urged strong efforts to get young people and other groups which traditionally turn out in small numbers at the polls, such as ethnic minorities and the poor, to vote.

"If they did, it could make the difference . . . We would see politicians looking to new constituencies...We would see a liberation of the human spirit in America," Clark said.

In a statement issued last week about the purpose of Sunday's meeting, Eckhardt said "good legislation" often fails "because people were not organized behind a bill...it's time bills of general interest got the support they need. It is all part of making government at all levels more responsive to the people."

Elected to serve on the temporary steering committee with Eckhardt, Bernal and Miss Jordan were Dr. Ramiro Casso, McAllen; former Yarborough aide Benton Musselwhite, Lufkin; Judge Andrew Jefferson, Houston; Rep. Curtis Graves, Houston; Ronnie Dugger, Austin, Texas Observer editor-at-large; Rep. Paul Moreno, El Paso; Roy Evans, Austin, secretary-treasurer of the state AFL-CIO; Ted Siff, Houston; Joyce Peters, San Antonio, chairman of Bexar County Democratic Women; Cathryn Engel, Austin; Bill Darby, Corpus Christi; and Latane Lambert, Dallas.

Card Goes Long Way Around

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — James D. Wagner mailed a card to join a New York book club but it came back a month later — from Nyeri, Kenya.

Mrs. Laura Lee Stewart of the Baptist mission there returned the card to Wagner along with a letter telling him it had been found in a letter she had received from her mother, also a Roanoke resident.

Apparently, she wrote, the card got stuck in an open end of the envelope of her mother's letter.

IF YOU ARE TRULY INTERESTED IN A BETTER ATHLETIC PROGRAM FOR SNYDER . . .

. . . You are cordially invited to stay home tonight and let the School Board Officials determine what is best for the athletic program of Snyder. The offjcials were duly elected at a public poll and are qualified, intelligent and conscientious men.

If the people of Snyder are truly interested in the athletes and not their own personal views they will support the decision rendered by the board, whatever that may be.
