Surgical Dressing Program To Be Started In Lamesa Soon

The War Department has called upon the Red Cross to furnish them with a large portion of the Surgical Dressings that will be needed.

Specifications have been laid out by the War Department as to the procedure that the Red Cross is to follow in order to yield standard products.

The structure for this program has been begun by the Dawson County Red Cross Chapter. Mrs. C. Jenkins has been appointed chairman, and Mrs. N. H. Price as Co-Chairman. These women have attended a two day institute at Big Spring, Texas, which was conducted by two volunteer representatives trained by the Red Cross Headquarters in St. Louis, Missouri.

This program in Dawson County is to get underway immediately. The workroom is located in the rear portion of the Presbyterian Church. Day supervisors are being trained and tables prepared so that when the materials arrive no time will be wasted.

Mechanics For Army Air Force Interviewed Here

Capt. Richard J. Coffee, from the South Plains Army Flying School, Lubbock, will be in Lamesa through Friday of this week interviewing men experienced as aircraft mechanics and radio mechanics. Capt. Coffee and assistants are located in the chamber of commerce office in the City Hall.

These army men are qualified to give the men of Lamesa full information on the special opportunities made available to them by the Army Air Force. All men between the ages of 18 and 45 are eligible to enlist.

Men experienced in mechanical trades are acceptable for enlistment even though they do not have the specialized training for aircraft work. The Air Force provides "on the job" training to create aircraft technicians out of general mechanics and metal workers.

Local men may enlist through Capt. Coffee, as radio mechanics or aircraft mechanics, and will probably be stationed at the Lubbock school, he said.

Cottonseed Gets Price Support Through C.C.C.

Texas cotton growers should benefit materially from the recently announced U. S. Department of Agriculture program to support the price of cottonseed, B. F. Vance, State USDA War Board chairman, declared this week.

Under the new program, Commodity Credit Corporation, through contracts with crushers, will support the price of cottonseed to growers and provide for the orderly movement of the crop so as to obtain maximum production of oil and linters needed in the war.

Under terms of the contract, the minimum price to be paid by processors for cottonseed in Texas is $49 for basis grade seed at the gin. Basis grade is 100.

USDA officials estimate that on the basis of these support prices, taking into consideration average quality premiums and discounts and average ginners' margin of not more than $3 per ton, prices to growers should average approximately $47.50 per ton. Prices received of course, will vary from time to time and by areas according to the quality of the seed being marketed, the prices being paid by mills, and the ginners' margin in effect at the time of marketing.

Under the program, the CCC also will support prices of cottonseed products. Cottonseed oil and linters will be supported at the ceiling prices.

Jersey Cows Brings In Cash

Again the pulling power of the Classified Department of the Courier has been clearly demonstrated. A report coming from L. C. Burkhardt, prominent farmer of Wilson community, adds proof to the already established fact that Courier Want Ads are getting the job done.

"I sold every Jersey cow advertised at my own figure without bickering or price cutting," Mr. Burkhardt said. These results were obtained from a small ad placed in the Courier last week. Hundreds of dollars worth of livestock were turned into cash for the small sum spent for advertising. Give these little wonder workers a chance to work for you.

Clear Weather Adds To Dawson County Crops

After several weeks of unsettled weather in Dawson County much needed sunshine is again in evidence. Considerable rainfall was received in this section during the month of August, which in the main is thought to be beneficial. Each day of fair weather will add materially to the yield of crops. Leafworms are still active in some localities, but reports coming in tend to lessen the danger from this angle.

Some cotton pickers are reaching this section and it is thought that a few weeks of sunshine will put this county into the middle of one of the biggest harvest seasons of all times.

While no report of hail damage to local crops has been received, considerable damage has been reported from adjoining counties.

Six Boys From Dawson County Joins Navy

More than 100 men a day were enlisted in the Navy from this district during the first week of September. Lieut. L. H. Ridout Jr., officer in charge, announced today.

"In ordinary times, this would be not only an astounding figure but recruiting facilities would be taxed. However, these are not ordinary times, and the figure must be raised if we are to meet our month's quota of 3,600 men. Don't worry. We are fully equipped to take care of all increases in enlistments."

At week's end, total figures showed that from Dawson County 6 recruits had been sworn in.

"Whether you have or have not met your local seven-day quota, I urge you to talk and think Navy wherever you go," Lieutenant Ridout emphasized. "Chance street corner conversations with friends, armchair discussions in your home, pointing out the Navy's vital needs at your luncheon club, over the bridge table, on the golf course—all this will impress the Navy upon your acquaintances.

"Remember, without our boys overseas, these accepted comforts would disappear. There wouldn't be any bridge games, any teeing off, any public meetings. If you expect to continue wartime pleasures, you should expect to shoulder wartime responsibilities. The Navy is one of them."

"He reminded Negro men that an officer will be in Dallas September 14, 15, and 16 to interview them for ratings in the Seabees. Physical examinations and two letters of recommendations must be obtained before interviews can be arranged.

Moving Of South Plains Crops Discussed By Large Group At Lubbock Meeting

(From Lubbock Journal)

Farmers of the South Plains and West Texas may be puzzled as to how they are going to move one of their largest cotton crops to gins and markets with few tires this fall. But they are supremely confident that, somehow and some way, the crop will be moved. Seemingly it hasn't even occurred to them that the problem may have been licked. This was the spirit evident at a meeting in Senior High school auditorium.

They were informed that the chamber of commerce here has been assured by the U. S. Employment Service that enough transient labor, mostly Mexican and negro, will move into the South Plains in time to pick the crop. This report stressed pointedly that the pickers won't be as plentiful as usual, but that there should be enough of them to get the cotton out of the fields.

Game Called For 8:30 P. M. On McCollum Field

The Golden Tornadoes, the High School Band, the Girls Pep Squad, working under the leadership of Coach Cloyd, Directors C. E. King and Carolyn Seale, have worked diligently to be ready for the first football game Friday night at 8:30 on McCollum Field.

Tahoka's organizations will arrive before game time to back the Bulldog's playing their first game under the tuition of Coach Volney Hill, formerly of Burk Burnett. Coach Hill's work at Tahoka is the talk of that athletically minded county seat.

Lamesa's coach, Mr. Cloyd, has worked hard since September 1st with the Golden Tornadoes, that they may be ready for the Bulldog's. Local game enthusiasts are keenly interested in what Mr. Cloyd's 1942 Golden Tornadoes look like in blocking, running plays, and on defense. Former games with Tahoka have been played hard all the way. This one bids fair to surpass former games in spectator interest according to reports from football observers.

FOR TRAFFIC CONSIDERATION, TRY AN OAT-BURNER BALTIMORE (AP) — Tip to tourists: You'll make out fine in Baltimore traffic with a horse and buggy. After a motorist complained that traffic lights were synchronized for a horse and buggy, the Baltimore Evening Sun hired a horse (Mr. Chips), a buggy, and sent a liveryman and reported out to investigate. Jogging along at 6 miles an hour, Mr. Chips ambled up and down three main thoroughfares, stopping for nary a light. Automobiles whisked by him, but Mr. Chips often pulled abreast at the next traffic light. Despite Mr. Chips, police insisted the lights were synchronized for a brisk 18-mile per hour.

Trying Donkey Serenade

Herman, Ceylonese donkey at the San Antonio zoo, is only 31 inches tall and, naturally, is too small to knock around with other donkeys, but because of his willingness to try a few notes of donkey music without much urging, he is a favorite of zoo visitors. Above, Herman reaches one of his high notes.

Make Your Meat Menu Go Farther

Secretary Wickard's announcement that this country will experience meat rationing within a few months will mean fair sharing of the nation's supply and should not bring hardships to anyone. "If every American family has a cheese dish instead of pork chops more often than usual, or chicken instead of steak, the pressure on beef and pork supplies will not be so great," Miss Bryant suggests.

Roughage Needed For Cattle During Winter Months

Check your hay or other dry roughages to be sure there is enough to last your dairy cows until hay can be made in 1943 counsels E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension Service. He says that each cow needs an average of at least one ton of hay or other roughage yearly, provided silage is available to take the place of green pasture. Without silage or pasture an average of two tons of hay per cow is needed. A Jersey cow needs 20 to 25 pounds of dry matter from roughage daily. She will eat about 80 pounds of tender green grass, which analyzes about 85 per cent water, leaving the equivalent of 12 pounds of dry matter.

Canning Center Pays Dividends To All Concerned

Community canning centers in Texas have saved quantities of food which might have been wasted this year for lack of food preservation equipment. Maurine Hearn, district agent of the A. and M. College Extension Service who supervises home demonstration work in 20 Central and West Texas counties, says the benefits of canning centers in Coleman County illustrate their value.

FARM NEWS from YOUR COUNTY AGENT TEXAS EXTENSION SERVICE FOOD FOR FREEDOM

Thirty 4-H Club Boys from Borden and Dawson Counties held their annual 4-H Club Encampment at the W. D. Johnson Ranch in Borden County Saturday and Sunday, September 5 and 6.

Saturday night the 4-H Club Boys entertained their fathers and friends with a barbecue and picture show. The entire stay was filled with rifle shooting, swimming and most usual camp activities. All of the rifle shooting was on the standard 50-foot range and the NRA standard targets were used. Bill Carpenter, Dawson County 4-H Club boy, scored the high score in this competition. Motion pictures of Texas Wildlife were shown to about 50 people.

Floyd Oliver, 4-H Club boy of the Grandview community, has put his Club calf on feed. The calf was selected by the county agent Thursday, Sept. 3. This calf is from the herd of O. K. Oliver, father of the club boy.

"Peanut hay is one of the better hays in Texas," states B. J. Baskin, County Agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, "and will give the average producer of livestock a rich forage that we normally do not have in the county."

"Peanut hay, without the nuts, is worth only about 10 per cent less than the average quality alfalfa, soybean or peavine hay. It is worth about 25 per cent more than the average sweet sorghum bundles that we have," further states Mr. Baskin. "It is also worth twice as much as deheaded bundles."

Farmers should be careful in buying peanut hay to know definitely that the leaf content of the bale is normal. In other words be sure that when the peanut hay is baled all of the leaves should remain with the bundled vines. The leaves contain the principal portion of the food value—nitrogen, vitamin A, etc.—and make the hay very palatable."

"This year we are going to have many types of protein feeds competing with our cottonseed meal," states B. J. Baskin, County Agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. "These feeds will be plentiful due to the heavy expansion in peanut production for oil purposes, and also in the increased acreage of soy beans for oil."

Farmers should be careful in making purchases of all protein feeds to determine the protein content of the feed purchased. Cottonseed meal generally contains 43 per cent protein. Peanut meal in the past has varied in its protein content. Any protein feed containing only 26 per cent protein is worth one-fourth less than a 43 per cent protein feed. Any feed containing 38 per cent protein feed is worth one-fifth less than a 43 per cent protein feed. So read the tag on all feed sacks. Be sure to get the best feed possible.

"In 1942 we had a serious shortage of good cottonseed for planting purposes throughout Texas," states B. J. Baskin, County Agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. "It is sound business for our farmers to take every step necessary to insure plenty of good planting seeds for 1943."

"According to Mr. M. C. Jaynes, Cotton Specialist of the Extension Service, where a farmer plans to save seed for 1943 planting it is recommended that the cotton be picked dry if at all possible. Or if it is impossible to do this then it is suggested that such seed cotton be spread out to dry before ginning. It is not practical to dry the seed with War Plant Adds A Banker's Shift LONDON (AP) — What has been dubbed the "Bankers Shift," comprising 120 bank employees of all grades from managers to messengers, is now working on Sundays in Sheffield war plants.

The white collar financiers will work every third Sunday to keep vital machines going and give regular workers a day off. Most of them are employed in a shell case factory from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Two bank managers, several banking inspectors, a handful of cashiers, juniors clerks, five girl typists and messengers up to 60 years of age do the regular hard and dirty work of the factory hands.

From one bank which the draft left with only four men, all four volunteered. When they cease work they chalk up the output figures of the machines on which they have been working; that is the target for the succeeding Sunday's team.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FROM LADY JANE
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — It was one of those things which just couldn't happen — but did. Ann Yates, 8-year-old daughter of Tom Yates, a Chattanooga stock breeder, had been promised a horse to raise and train as her very own. The next foal of Lady Jane, a brood mare, was to be hers. Lady Jane's foaling time and Ann's birthday were approaching — so Ann thought it would be wonderful if the colt were born on her birthday. Her parents conceded it was possible though not probable. Ann went down to the pasture and took it up with the request in her prayers. The day came. Ann was eight and sure enough, Lady Jane's foal was born that morning. The colt's name? Happy Birthday, of course.

Firestone Feed & Poultry Are Doing Custom Grinding

Firestone Feed & Poultry, local feed distributors, have just been made an Approved Custom Mixing Station, according to an announcement just received by them from the Purina Mills, St. Louis, Missouri.

"We are fully qualified," they say, "to render the type of custom grinding and mixing service Purina Mills authorize in the announcement. We are completely equipped to grind the farmer's own grains and mix them a balancer that the Purina Laboratories and Purina Experimental Farm have found to be practical and economical. By grinding the farmer's own grains and blending with them the proper Purina balancer, it is possible to increase the return a farmer gets from his grains when he markets them through his livestock in the form of pork, beef, eggs, or milk."

Certain definite standards had to be met before they could become a Purina Custom Mixing Station, according to them.

"We have been provided with the Purina Rations Service which entitles us to the help of the Purina Laboratories and Farm on any special needs of our customers, in addition to having these Laboratories provided a complete set of rations made of corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye, sorghum grains and Purina balancers. As a Purina Custom Mixing Station we send samples of mixtures as made by our grinder and mixer to the Purina Analytical Laboratory so they can check the efficiency and accuracy of our machinery."

"This arrangement," they say, "makes it possible for us to render an unusually high standard of accurate, uniform and profitable feed mixing service to the farmers in this vicinity—a service particularly adapted to local feeding conditions."

Firestone Feed and Poultry will continue to handle the complete Purina feeds as well as Purina concentrates.

MECHANICAL MIXING
Helps You Get Best Results From Your Grain!

OLD WAY NEW WAY

(Shovel Mix) (Machine Mix)

TWO things are necessary to cash in on the full feeding value of your grain. First, select the proper supplement for the kind of stock you intend to feed. Second, mix the supplement so thoroughly with the grain that every quart of mixed ration is in the same balanced form as every other quart. This is absolutely essential when correct feeding is so vital to the cause of capacity food production today.

Shovel mixing is tedious and cannot possibly provide the necessary uniformity. But accurate mechanical mixing — such as is available to you through our NEW Approved Purina Custom Mixing Service — makes the mixture much more uniform and dependable.

Our Formulas are thoroughly tested and proved for turning your grain into balanced feeds for poultry, hogs, cows and steers. Our grinding and mixing machinery is operated by trained men. Bring in your grain for proper balancing to help step it up to capacity feeding value.

GUARD IT CAREFULLY!

An old friend . . . a reliable, economical servant . . . today your Gas Range assumes a new role. It has a new job to do—one of the most important of them all—the job of feeding your family for Health and Strength for the duration.

A little care will go a long way in providing efficient and economical service from your Gas Range . . . will add years to its life.

A Few Simple Rules for Gas Range Care

1. Use your Gas Range all you need . . . but make it serve you well every cooking minute.
2. Watch cooking temperatures. Over-roasting or over-baking wastes fuel as well as food. Over-boiling wastes heat and kills health-giving vitamins.
3. For greater efficiency use flat-bottomed cooking utensils. Keeping them covered prevents loss of heat and food flavors.
4. Keep your Gas Range clean! Wash it with soapy water to remove grease and grit. (This applies to cooking utensils too.)
5. Try economical meals such as "oven dinners" or "boiled dinners" that are all cooked at one time.

Remember—GAS, America's preferred cooking fuel, is also vital for war production. Do your part by using it well.

Skilled Mechanics Needed By Air Corp Immediately

Attention, man of Lamesa and its area! Attention men who work with tools!

Here is an opportunity to get into military service and be trained at Big Spring, at the same time doing your part to serve your country.

The U. S. Army Air Forces is now hand picking ground crew specialists to enlist for "on-the-job" training and work as aircraft mechanics, aircraft armors, aircraft radio mechanics and operators.

Big Spring Army Flying School is securing applications from qualified men in this area. Information may be obtained from Capt. Harry W. Nolen at the City Hall, Big Spring, Texas.

A good mechanic or radioman can qualify for these opportunities: to serve as a specialist in the Army; to earn promotions rapidly; to train "on-the-job"; to build for the future and to win the coveted Air Crew's Wings.

Capt. Nolen pointed out that for the first time since War began, experienced mechanics and radiomen are hand-picked for direct enlistment in the Army Air Forces. He added this is an opportunity for men to pick their branch of service, for sooner or later they will be saying: "It's up to me now! Where can I serve best with my skill and tools?"

Men of these trades are apt to go rapidly forward in the Army Air Forces as specialists; airplane mechanics (all kinds), appliance servicemen (oil burner, electrical refrigeration, household appliance, etc.), armorer or gunsmith, automobile mechanic, bench assembler, bicycle repairman, farm mechanic instrument maker, instrument repairman, jeweler, locksmith, radio mechanic, radio operator, sheet metal worker, telegrapher or welder.

Types of servicemen needed are:

AIRCRAFT MECHANICS—to inspect, check, service and repair airplanes and engines, including instruments, controls, electrical systems, propellers, landing gear . . . and some can be aerial engineers.

AIRCRAFT RADIO MECHANICS—to adjust and repair various types of transmitting and receiving radio equipment as members of the ground crew.

AIRCRAFT ARMORERS—to inspect, adjust and repair armament equipment: serial machine guns, cannon, synchronizers, gun sights, gun cameras, bomb racks. Some can become aerial gunners part of the Air Crew.

AIRCRAFT WELDERS—to fuse metal parts by means of electric

Health Protection Most Essential In This Critical Time

With the nation facing a loss of more than 6 million man days per month in defense industries alone from accidents and illnesses, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is intensifying the Texas State Health Department's effort to cut down the total days lost in this State.

"The number of man days lost from accidents alone each month reaches an alarming total. But when we consider that there are 9 times more absentees from communicable and other diseases it becomes apparent," Dr. Cox asserted, "why it is necessary to urge that each individual protect his own health to the best of his ability."

Communicable disease and even mild epidemics can seriously handicap the nation's war effort by slowing down the production of the necessary ships, planes, guns, and tanks. Careful attention to personal cleanliness, proper nutrition, sufficient rest, fresh air and sunshine is the personal responsibility of every individual at this time.

"It is our job," Dr. Cox said, "to fight sickness and accidents. Production can be boosted and lives can be saved by strict adherence to community and industrial hygiene standards and full cooperation in such community projects as mosquito control and rat extermination for preventing the spread of malaria, dengue, and typhus fever. Loss of time renders aid to the enemy and this country must be able to depend on peak production from all of its industrial army."

Dr. Cox pointed out that the armed forces have called a great percent of our doctors and nurses into active service and the war has made unattainable many of the drugs and chemicals which have heretofore been used as ordinary household remedies. This shortage of doctors and nurses, together with our inability to obtain many needed drugs, makes the conservation of good health a definite war project and the patriotic duty of every man, woman, and child.

FDR Pledges Offensives Against The Reich, Demands Stabilizing Of Living Costs

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. — President Roosevelt carried his battle for stabilization of living costs to the people tonight with a radio address asserting that immediate action was necessary to avoid a "serious domestic economic crisis," that "if we wait for two or three or four or six months it may be too late."

During that day he had sent a message to Congress demanding legislation by Oct. 1 to bring farm prices under control. "Unless Congress acts by that date he will act himself," he said. Firmly he reiterated this statement of his intentions in Monday night's address. With farm prices stabilized, he himself would act to stabilize wages, he promised.

The radio address contained also a front-by-front summary of the progress of the war, which closed with a statement that in Europe the "aim is an offensive against Germany," toward which preparations are in progress in both the United States and Great Britain.

"The power of Germany must be broken on the battlefields of Europe," he said, adding that: "Certain vital decisions have been made. In due time you will know what these decisions are—and so will our enemies. I can say now that all of these decisions are directed toward taking the offensive."

No "Smashing Victory" Paragraph by paragraph he reviewed the war on each front.

Russia — Hitler is still unable to gain the "smashing victory" which almost a year ago he announced had already been achieved. Important Russian territory has been captured, but Hitler has not been able to destroy the Red Army. The Russians are "killing more Nazis, and destroying more airplanes and tanks than are being smashed on any other front." The German army must spend another "cruel and bitter winter" on the Russian front. "In spite of any setbacks, Russia will hold out, and with the help of her Allies will ultimately drive every Nazi from her soil."

The Pacific area — one major Japanese offensive has been stopped, but the enemy still possesses great strength, and will strike hard again. Don't over-rate the victories in the Solomon Islands, which were "local operations," and don't under-rate the victory at Midway, for "there we stopped the major Japanese offensive."

Hopeful Of Outcome Mediterranean and Middle East: —A "desperate" battle has been joined in Egypt, for control of the area and the domination of the Mediterranean sea and Indian ocean. "We are well aware of our danger, but we are hopeful of the outcome." In the nine months since Pearl Harbor, Mr. Roosevelt said, America has sent three times as many men overseas as went to France in the equivalent period of the first war.

"And every week," he added, "sees a gain in the actual number of American men and weapons in the fighting areas. These reinforcements in men and munitions will continue to go forward."

Bluntly, Mr. Roosevelt told the American people that "we are not doing enough" toward winning the war. The economic situation with its inflationary dangers was proof enough of that, he thought.

Explains Parity Meaning He described his message to Congress and repeated his demand that present obstacles to controlling farm prices be removed. Present law forbids farm price ceilings at less than 110 per cent of parity, he noted, asking that this provision be repealed. Other restrictions prevent a ceiling of less than 116 per cent of parity, he contended.

Parity, he explained, "means that the farmer and the city worker are on the same relative ratio with each other in purchasing power as they were during a period some thirty years ago — at a time when the farmer had a satisfactory purchasing power."

As in his message to Congress, he urged that farm price ceilings be fixed at parity, or the price level of some recent date, whichever is higher. He proposed, too, a floor for farm prices which would prevent a disastrous post-war drop in these quotations.

Wages Have Been Stabilized Of the present restriction, he had this to say:

"This act of favoritism for one particular group in the community increased the cost of food to everybody — not only the workers in the city or in the munitions plants, and their families, but also to the families of the farmers themselves."

Wages in certain key industries, he said, had been stabilized "on the basis of the present cost of living." He added: "It is obvious, however, that if the cost of food continues to go up, as it is doing at present, the wage earner, particularly in the lower brackets, will have a right to an increase in his wages. That would be essential justice and a practical necessity."

Repeatedly, Mr. Roosevelt stressed in both message and speech that control of the inflationary threat can be obtained only by control of all the factors influencing it. Wages and farm prices remained to be stabilized. Time after time he linked the independence of the two factors.

Facing Danger Our experience with the control of other prices during the past few months has brought out one important fact—the rising cost of living can be controlled, providing all elements making up the cost of living are controlled at the same time," he said.

Young Texas Golf Champ

Ray Kenny of Dallas, swinging one of the clubs which helped him win the Texas amateur golf title in Dallas recently, is the youngest titlist in the history of the event. At left stands Earl Stewart, Jr., also of Dallas, who lost to Kenny 6 and 5 in the final match.

"We know now that parity prices for farm products not now controlled will not put up the cost of living more than a very small amount; but that if we must go up to an average of 116 per cent of parity for food and farm products — which is necessary at present under the emergency price control act before we can control all farm products — the cost of living will get well out of hand."

"We are face to face with this danger today. Let us meet it and remove it."

"I realize that it may seem out of proportion to you to be worrying about these economic problems at a time like this when we are all deeply concerned about the news from far distant fields of battle. But I give you the solemn assurance that failure to solve this problem at home—and to solve it now—will make more difficult the winning of this war."

"If the vicious economic spiral ever gets under way, the whole economic system will stagger. Prices and wages will go up so rapidly that the entire production program will be endangered. The cost of the war, paid by taxpayers, will jump beyond all present calculations."

"It will mean an uncontrollable rise in prices and in wages which can result in raising the over-all cost of living as high as another twenty per cent. That would mean that the purchasing power of every dollar you have in your pay envelope, or in the bank, or included in your insurance policy or your pension would be reduced to about eighty cent. I need not tell you that this would have a demoralizing effect on our people, soldiers and civilians alike.

"Over-all stabilization of prices, salaries, wages and profits is necessary to the continued increasing production of planes and tanks and ships and guns."

President Roosevelt singled out one war hero for special acclaim. He was Lieut. James Powers, of the Navy, missing in action on the third day of the battle of the Coral Sea. In the first two days of the battle, Mr. Roosevelt said, Powers, flying a dive bomber in the face of "blasting enemy aircraft fire, demolished one enemy gunboat, put another out of commission, severely damaged an aircraft tender and a 20,000-ton transport, and scored a direct hit on an aircraft carrier which burst into flames and sunk soon after."

Before starting out the next day, Powers said to the fliers of his squadron:

"Remember the folks back home are counting on us. I am going to get a hit if I have to lay it right on their flight deck." Powers subsequently dived almost to the deck of the enemy aircraft carrier, and "did not release his bomb until sure of a direct hit." When last seen he was trying to recover from his dive at an altitude of 200 feet.

"His plane was destroyed by the explosion of his own bomb," Mr. Roosevelt said, "but he had made good his promise to 'lay it on the flight deck.'"

"I have just received a recommendation from the secretary of the Navy that Lieut. James Powers, of New York City, missing in action, be awarded the medal of honor. I hereby and now make this award."

Mr. Roosevelt went on to say that:

"You and I are 'the folks back home' for whose protection Lieut. Powers, fought and repeatedly risked his life." He said that we counted on him and his men. We did not count in vain. But have not those men a right to be counting on us? How are we playing out part 'back home' in winning this war?

"The answer is that we are not doing enough."

Mr. Roosevelt noted that he asked Congress on April 27 for action to bring farm products more securely within the range of price control, and simultaneously presented his recommendations for tax legislation.

"I regret to call to your attention to the fact that neither of these two essential pieces of legislation has as yet been enacted into law," he said. That delay has now reached the point of danger to our whole economy."

Asking for action by Oct. 1, he went on to say that:

"Inaction on your part by that date will leave me with an inescapable responsibility to the people of this country to see to it that the war effort is no longer imperilled by the threat of economic chaos."

"In the event that Congress should fail to act and act adequately, I shall accept the responsibility, and I will act."

"At the same time that farm prices are stabilized, wages can and will be stabilized also. This I will do."

"The president has the powers, under the constitution and under congressional acts, to take measures necessary to avert a disaster which would interfere with winning of the war."

Despite a peace treaty with Russia in March, 1918, the German invaders of World War I captured Sevastopol at the end of April of that year.

Up to June 1, the United States had shipped 1,500,000 pounds of dehydrated vegetables under lease-lend.

America's armed forces allot two ounces of coffee a day to every man, or approximately 2,000 cups a year.

Do You Know Your Military Insignia? Here's How To Spot A Naval Officer

"Well, if he's a Naval officer, then why is he wearing khaki?"

About one-half of the general population are still asking that question, although the Navy has been wearing khaki since before Pearl Harbor.

And the explanation is simple—khaki is simply the "work" uniform of the Navy. Because of its durability, its coolness in hot weather and its capacity for cutting down laundry bills, it was the most logical material for such uniforms.

But John R. Public is still a little confused by many khaki uniforms. The Army has been in khaki for so many years, it is perhaps justifiable for many persons to assume at first glance that a khaki uniform denotes an Army man or a Marine. Another question frequently raised by Mr. and Mrs. Public is how to distinguish the various branches of the service. This has been the subject of much intense publicity on the part of both the Army and the Navy, for in war-time, one of the first duties of a good patriot is to know the service branches and to be able to distinguish them at a glance.

NECKTIE EASIEST RULE

The easiest rule of recognition is the necktie. If the man in khaki uniform wears a black necktie he's in the Navy. It's as simple as all that because the Army men all wear khaki neckties.

Other methods of distinguishing service men are by the rank insignia. The Naval Officer always wears his on his collar, while the Army wears them on the shoulders. The caps too are different. Navy officers always wear anchors on the cap—but nary an anchor will you find on the Army officer.

Another problem worrying the average civilian is how to distinguish the various ranks of Army and Navy officers. Well, here's the simplest explanation:

In the first place, the ranks of Army and Marine officers are the same. They are denoted by bars, leaves and stars. The ranks of Naval officers are indicated by stripes. The star on a Naval officer's uniform indicates he is of the line (a deck officer). A gold bar on the shoulder of an Army officer indicates the rank of Second Lieutenant which corresponds to the rank of Ensign in the Navy as designated by one stripe on the officer's sleeve. A silver bar on an Army officer indicates the rank of First Lieutenant. A half-inch and a quarter-inch stripe on a Naval officer designates the corresponding rank of Lieutenant (Junior Grade). Two bars for the Army spell Captain, but in the Navy two stripes indicate Lieutenant (Senior Grade) which is the corresponding rank. Next in seniority is the Army's Major who wears a gold leaf; the Navy's corresponding rank of Lieutenant Commander wears two full stripes with a half-stripe of narrow one between. A Lieutenant Colonel wearing a silver leaf corresponds to the Navy's Commander who wears three full stripes. A Colonel wears a silver spread eagle and corresponds in rank and pay to the Navy's Captain who wears four full stripes. A Brigadier General wears one star. This rank formerly corresponded to the Commodore in the Navy, a rank which has been discontinued.

The Army's Major-General, Lieutenant General and Full General wear two, three and four stripes respectively. To match them the Navy has its Admirals, known as "Flag Officers." They are: Rear Admiral, Vice Admiral and Admiral and they all wear a two-inch stripe plus one, two and three stripes respectively.

Moving Of—

It was a most important meeting—perhaps the most important of its kind and the largest held in the nation thus far in the attempt to find the solution to this particular problem. It was held specifically at the call of Mark McGee of Fort Worth, state director of the Office of Price Administration, who was present with several key members of his staff.

Also present were delegations from 35 South Plains and West Texas counties. Among these were war price and rationing board members of at least 26 counties. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which assisted Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in preparations for the meeting, was represented by its manager, D. A. Bandeen, and its activities director, Max Bentley, both of Abilene. Attendance totaled approximately 800, of whom about 100 were county rationing board members.

The purpose of the meeting, as emphasized repeatedly by McGee and others who spoke, was twofold: First, to emphasize anew that automobile tires will be almost unobtainable; and second, to hear and discuss ideas as to how cotton can be moved to gins either with the few available tires, or by other means of transportation.

The meeting was productive of a great many suggestions. But the consensus seemed to be that the main hope of solving the problem is by neighborly cooperation among farmers themselves. That such a plan of cooperation does work has been demonstrated in Ellis county, according to Joe Naughton, chairman of the Ellis County War Price and Rationing board, who was one of the principal speakers.

The pooling arrangement as designated by Naughton and others, requires cooperation by neighborhoods, by communities, by counties and even by larger areas.

But, in its simplest form, it was described as working something like this:

A few farmers—usually five or six—residing in the same general area get together to try to solve the problem of moving their cotton crops. It seldom will happen that any one or two of them will have enough tires and other equipment to move their crop. But, among five or six, they usually either have all the equipment that is needed or they will be able to obtain it from the limited supplies available.

This sort of plan, as frankly admitted, might mean a great deal of inconvenience and extra work. It might mean additional expense. But according to speakers, it should move to gins and markets a lot of cotton that otherwise will not be moved.

Will Make Own Details

The explanation continued that each group ordinarily will encounter problems peculiar to itself. But each group usually can work out the details of its own problems—such, for example, as to whether some member of the group will receive pay for serving as driver or for a greater contribution to the group than the others.

What of those who refuse to cooperate in such groups? The best answer to that, as suggested by McGee, Naughton and others, is for rationing board to refuse to approve tires for those who won't cooperate.

Another advantage of the cooperative plan, as pointed out at the meeting, would be that the vehicles used to transport cotton to haul return loads back to the farmers.

Eight Ideas Suggested

Among the many other ideas suggested were these:

1. Attach several cotton-laden trailers behind a single tractor.
2. Switch tires, even wheels, from such other vehicles as family cars, tractors and the like to trailers in which the cotton is hauled.
3. Arrange by groups of farmers with professional truckers to haul the cotton.
4. Investigate the possibility that trucks of wholesale houses might be brought into the cotton hauling picture.
5. If the farmer has friends in the city, see if a worn spare cannot be bought or borrowed there.
6. Make the utmost possible use of trucks and trailers that some gins keep available for that type of hauling.
7. Take fullest advantage of other methods of transportation, such as horse-drawn wagons if any can be "dog-up."
8. Investigate the possibility that large trucks, like those used to haul cattle, which could carry many bales of cotton in a single load, might be put to use in hauling cotton.

some of these proposals might infringe existing laws. But, as he said repeatedly, "the big problem is to move the crop that is needed to win the war." He expressed confidence that there will be leniency in the enforcement of laws during the emergency, and that it likely will be possible to obtain official waivers of some of the usual restrictions.

The picture as to the outlook for tires painted by the state director was not a pleasant one—and the unpleasantness is not confined to farmers alone.

He emphasized particularly that a great many people seem to have the notion that tires will be available for them when needed because they happen to be on the "eligible" list. There won't be tires for most of those on the "eligible" list, and these must be made available on the basis of their value to the victory effort. He pointed out that during August, more than 35,000 applicants from "eligibles" for tires were turned down. More than 70,000 eligibles will be refused during September.

Tires For School Buses
In this connection, he urged county boards to "get tough" in seeing to it that available tires go only to those whose contributions are most necessary to the war effort.

He said, for example, that there will be tires for school buses actually used to take children to their school. But there won't be tires to take teams, pep squads students and the like to football games and athletic contests.

There will be tires for doctors who actually go out to the homes of the sick. There won't be tires for the doctors who do most of their practicing in their offices.

There likely will be tires for some of the vehicles that are used to haul such commodities as livestock to market. There won't be tires for trucks that are used to haul livestock from auction ring to auction ring.

No Tires For Vacations

He warned especially that there won't be tires for any persons who use those they have for "excursions" or who are known to travel at excessive speeds. He asked that the license numbers of any automobiles that are seen to be traveling too fast be reported, and added that the owners of such cars won't get any more tires. Instead, these tires will go to farmers trying to move their crops.

Can Tomatoes To Save The Vital Food Elements

Many farm homemakers are having sufficient tomatoes to have them to eat fresh and to have some to can. According to the Texas Food Standard, every person should have some tomatoes, or citrus fruits, or raw cabbage, or melons, or strawberries every day. These fruits and the cabbage, furnish Vitamin C which is essential to good health. The tomato is the cheapest source of this vitamin. However, one should use the correct methods in canning tomatoes in order to be sure if its presence.

The vine ripened red tomato will be the most flavored and the highest in food value. When canning, use only tomatoes which are free from decayed spots. Wash them carefully, place in boiling water only long enough to cause the skin to slip, then dip immediately into cold water, drain and peel.

As the tomatoes are peeled, they may be put directly into the jars or cans. They may be canned in juice which has been extracted with a colander, or they may be pressed into the jar until the juice rises to the top. Then place the containers in water with the lids on loosely and exhaust 8-10 minutes. This expels the air, kills the oxidizing enzyme which causes deterioration of the food.

When the containers of tomatoes are exhausted the proper length of time, they may be sealed, and processed in boiling water which covers the container. Process the full ripened ones 20 minutes (for quarts and pints). Should the tomatoes not be of excellent quality, they should be processed 30 minutes instead of the 20.

Ask your county home demonstration agent for the bulletin, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables."

Midland Offers Roping Contest Sunday, Sept. 13

MIDLAND, Sept. 9 (Sp.) — The official calf roping championship of the world for 1942 will be determined in Midland on Sunday, September 13, when two champions, Toots Mansfield of Bandera, Texas, and Clyde Burk of Comanche, Oklahoma, meet in a matched contest. Mansfield is thrice world's champion calf roper, and Burk is twice holder of the crown.

Arrangements for the big event have been completed and the two ropers arrived in Midland early this week to begin work-outs. Mansfield and Burk will rope 12 calves each.

The write-faced calves, weighing 230 pounds each, were obtained from the Scharbauer Cattle Co.

The performance will start promptly at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Only one show will be presented, rain or shine. A record-breaking crowd of spectators is expected to overflow the huge stands at the Midland fair grounds where the contest will be held.

The Midland Army Flying School band, under the direction of Master Sgt. Thomas Marcell, will play a 30-minute concert preceding the ropings and also will furnish music during the show.

Fifty per cent of the net proceeds will go to the Army Emergency Relief Fund. Men in uniform will be admitted at half price.

Four other top-notch ropers are matched in two contests which are attracting wide-spread interest. James Kinney of Comstock will contest Troy Fort of Lovington, N. M., and Sonny Edwards of Big Spring will meet Jim Espy of Fort Davis. A jack-pot roping contest also will be held, with all cowhands invited to enter.

To add color to the affair, several bronco riding, Brahma bull riding and bulldogging events are carded. The Double Heart Ranch of Sweetwater is furnishing the wild rodeo stock. Midland Fair, Inc., is sponsoring the attraction to which all citizens of the Southwest are invited.

Marketing Plans Completed For Oil Peanuts

Announcement by the U. S. Department of Agriculture of the program for marketing peanuts to be crushed for oil started Food for Freedom peanuts moving to market this week.

Delayed temporarily to allow time for working out details, the program is now in operation. B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA War Board, has announced. The program will be conducted by the Agricultural Marketing Administration and provides for disposition of quota peanuts and peanuts grown for oil under the Food for Freedom program.

The price for No. 1 quota peanuts grown within farm marketing quotas will be $131 per ton and of No. 1 peanuts to be crushed for oil the market value but not less than $82 per ton, Vance said. Prices will range downward for other grades and types.

The Southwestern Peanut Growers Association, probably will be designated by the USDA as the agency to handle oil peanuts. The peanuts moving through the approved cooperative will be graded according to U. S. standards for farmers' stock peanuts, and for oil kernel content, under supervision of the AMA. Purchases of quota peanuts will be based on grades for farmers' stock peanuts, while peanuts grown under the Food for Freedom program at the request of USDA War Boards will be purchased on the basis of oil kernel content.

According to the National Crop Reporting Board as of August 1, the 1942 crop of peanuts to be picked and threshed is estimated at 4,173,000 acres of which 2,568,000 acres represent farmers' increases from 1941.

Vance explained that normal yields in peanut producing areas indicate the total production of quota peanuts this year will be approximately 642,000 tons while peanuts grown for oil under the Food for Freedom program will be around 758,000 tons.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Earnest and daughters returned Tuesday after visiting with friends in El Paso the past week.
