

Mrs. C. W. Bradley Of Samnorwood Dies Friday

By MRS. C. W. FRITTS Mrs. C. W. Bradley of the Samnorwood community passed away Thursday, January 19, at 10:00 a. m. at St. Joseph's Hospital in Wellington.

The funeral was conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 from the Samnorwood Baptist Church, with the Rev. Tom Burns of Brownfield and the Rev. Clarence Garrison, pastor, in charge.

She moved with her family to this county from Oklahoma when a young girl, and grew to womanhood here.

She was married to Walter Bradley November 28, 1906.

She became a Christian and joined the Baptist Church in young girlhood. She was a quiet, home-loving woman, who lived a conscientious life. She was loved and respected by those who knew her.

N. F. L. A. AND STEVENSON BUILDINGS

The remodeled fronts of two Wellington business buildings, side by side and with 100 foot frontage, makes this one of the most modern business areas of any town this size in the Panhandle. Both buildings are in 900 block of West Avenue, just off the southwest corner of the Square. The upper building, owned by the Wellington

National Farm Loan Association, consists of three offices, occupied by the NFLA, the Jack Gibson Motor Co. Pontiac dealer, and Dr. Clyde McCain. The lower building is of the J. B. Stevenson Implement Co., dealers here for Allis Chalmers farm machinery and GMC Trucks.

Remodeled Buildings Improve West Avenue Business Area

Remodeling of two of Wellington's 50-foot business buildings has turned a portion of the 900 block on West Avenue into one of the most modern of any town this size in the Panhandle.

ter houses the Stevenson Implement Co., dealer for Allis Chalmers farm machinery and GMC trucks. Thatsen Brothers of Childress were the contractors.

The buildings are designed to harmonize. Much of the frontage was torn out, and the new fronts are designed of stucco and glass brick, with large plate glass windows. Windows of the implement company building slope inward.

County Files Friendly Suit Over Farm Dike

A friendly suit will be filed by the Commissioners Court in District Court to determine whether a dike constructed by two farmers in the Rolla community may damage the road running north of the Rolla store by diverting water from fields onto it, County Judge R. L. Templeton said Tuesday, January 24.

At a special meeting of the Commissioners Court Saturday, Commissioners Pat O'Hair, Alfred Knoll and Cortez Barnett examined the road and dike, then asked County Attorney Jack Deahl to file the suit in district court. The suit will ask that the District Court appoint a disinterested road expert to go out and determine whether the county road should be, and determine what will happen if the road and dike are left as they are, Judge Templeton said.

The landowners who have constructed the dike are Lake Moody and D. W. Floyd, owners of land immediately north of that community center.

Judge Templeton stated that this suit is being filed for the best interest of all concerned. The two landowners have pointed out to the court that if the bar ditches of the road along their places had been kept clean, so that the water would drain properly, it would not have been necessary for them to build the dike in the first place, he said.

Annual Get-together

County-Wide Teacher Banquet on Monday

The county-wide teachers banquet which is scheduled for January 30, will be held in the Community Building, and will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Superintendent Charles Roberts has outlined the program as follows: T. E. Lennan, Dodson, who will act as master of ceremonies, will start the evening's activities, and will be followed by a community sing-song led by Rufus Johnson.

The banquet will then be served, and after that introductions of guests will be made. This will be followed by a game in which Noah Cunningham, Quail, will portray

"Dr. I. Q.," whose questions will be answered by the teachers.

Then there will be special music by a band conducted by Bennett Goodloe, and composed of various teachers in the county, followed by songs from a miscellaneous male quartet.

After that a business meeting will be held and then more community singing will end the evening.

An invitation to attend the banquet is extended to all county teachers, their wives and husbands, all school board members and their wives, Mr. Roberts said.

A short dike was built about two years ago and additions have been made until it is now around a mile long, the county judge said.

"We encourage farmers to build dikes to protect their land, and we don't want this suit to discourage any one of them, but we want them to come to see us before they do such work. We want the dike to stay along the Rolla road, but we want our road to stay, too," Judge Templeton stated.

The county believes that the dike, at certain points, extends out into the road.

No damages are being asked in the suit, the judge said.

All-Out Fund Raising Drive Opens For Collingsworth March of Dimes

Collingsworth County is going all-out in the March of Dimes drive to aid infantile paralysis victims. Between now and February 1, a series of fund-raising events are set that are due to make 1950 the banner year for a county that was made conscious of the disease by the number of children stricken in the area during the early fall months.

Briefly, the fund raising events now scheduled are: Benefit basketball games Saturday night, January 28, at the Wellington high school gym. Admission is to be what you want to contribute to the drive.

A game tournament sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night, January 31, at the large auditorium of the Community Building. Again admission is what you want to contribute to the drive.

Charles Roberts, county drive chairman, has had miniature iron lungs placed in a number of stores of the town to receive donations. He is asking that Wellington merchants join with those throughout the state in observing "Polio Hour" from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, January 31, by giving 10 per cent of the receipts for that hour to the March of Dimes drive.

Frank Schoonover, Prominent Farmer, Buried Friday

Frank Schoonover, prominent farmer living in the north part of the county, died in Shamrock hospital Monday, January 17. He had been hospitalized since the preceding Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Schoonover was 70 years of age.

Funeral services for Mr. Schoonover were held at the Church of Christ in Shamrock Friday afternoon with Minister Grady Cooper in charge. Burial was in the Shamrock cemetery.

Pall bearers were Frank Knoll, Herbert Knoll, Louis Knoll, Herman Green, Joe Parrish and Sterling Parrish of Shamrock. Flower bearers were Mesdames Glen Ladd, J. P. Moore, Buck Breeding, Joe Parrish, Sterling Parrish and Bill Cantrell. Honorary pall bearers were Frank Knoll, Earl Etter, Ernest Batgs, D. V. Brashear, W. H. Walker, Judge Lewis Goodrich, Virgil Agan, Bob Douglas, Tom Clay and Lige Isaacs.

Francis Marion Schoonover was born November 6, 1879, at Pleasanton.

He came to Collingsworth County as a young man, in 1902, and operated a blacksmith shop for four years, before moving to the north part of the county, where he farmed. He was still managing his farm at the time of his death.

On December 25, 1899, Mr. Schoonover was married to Matilda Shows at Yoakum. She preceded him in death in January, 1934.

He was married to Cordelia Farmer of Wellington in 1935. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Schoonover; three daughters and five sons, Mrs. Lewis Green of Wellington, Mrs. Irene Parrish of Shamrock, Mrs. Florence Blackwell of Amarillo, J. D. Schoonover, Marion Schoonover, Elmer Schoonover and Arvel Schoonover, all living in the north part of the county, and E. P. Schoonover of Brawley, California.

Also surviving are two stepchildren whom he helped to rear, Jake McCoy of Henderson and Gladys Parrish of Shamrock. Other (Continued on Page Eight)

Farmers Warned Jan. 31 Wheat Deadline

Farmers have until January 31 to take out loans and purchase agreements on their 1949 wheat crop, J. A. Coleman, chairman of the County Production and Marketing Administration Committee, said today. The price-support period for wheat has been extended a month in order to give farmers greater price protection and market stability.

Making wheat price-supports available through January also enables farmers to apply the proceeds of their 1949 crop price support and sales on 1950 income taxes, Mr. Coleman said, since most farmers are on an annual rather than an accrual income tax basis.

January 31 is also the closing date for 1949 price-support programs on oats, rye, barley, and grain sorghums.

Loans on 1949-crop wheat, oats, rye, barley mature April 30, 1950 or earlier on demand. Loans on grain sorghums mature March 31. Intention to deliver crops to the Commodity Credit Corporation under purchase agreements must be filed within the 30 days prior to the date of maturity.

Lora Martin Asks Treasurer's Office

Lora Martin has authorized the Wellington Leader to announce her candidacy for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

In announcing for the office, she has stated that she feels fully qualified to discharge the duties of the office because of her experience in handling county affairs which has been gained while working two years as a deputy County Clerk, in various law offices in Wellington, and other public positions.

She further states: "Since the duty devolves upon me to be the principal bread winner of the family, necessity demands that I make some salary. Knowing that I am well qualified to fill the office of County Treasurer, and having been solicited by many of my friends to seek the office, I respectfully solicit your vote in the coming Primary." Waddell Bailey Dies Friday at Colorado Springs

Waddell D. Bailey of Colorado Springs, Colo., who made Collingsworth County his home for about half a century, died there at 12:57 a. m. Friday, January 20.

While the immediate cause of his death was attributed to a heart attack, he had been in ill health for about three years, and more seriously ill for the last six months. In spite of this, however, he continued his work there until only a few days before his death.

Mr. Bailey, with his wife and youngest son, Joe Bailey, had lived in Colorado Springs since 1944, but they had returned a number of times to visit. They were here last just after Christmas. (Continued on Page Eight)

Youthful Victims Honored by School

Quail, the Community That Knows Polio Digs Down in it's Pocket During Drive

Quail is the community that knows infantile paralysis, and it is doubtful if any rural community in the Panhandle is supporting the March of Dimes drive this year as it is.

JOYCE KENEDY - MARCH OF DIMES QUEEN

By co-incidence, eight children who attend school there were stricken in August and September. Seven are recovering, but the disease was fatal to one, J. C. East. Part of these children lived in Collingsworth County, part in Donley.

Noah Cunningham, superintendent of schools is March of Dimes chairman at Quail, for the disease struck where it hurt him—among boys and girls he loved.

To spark the March of Dimes campaign, the seven boys and girls who are recovering were honored at an impromptu assembly of the Quail School Monday, January 23. It was occasioned so the student body could tell Don Kennedy, one of a family of four stricken, that they were glad to see him back. He was visiting the school for about an hour and is still in a wheelchair. He hopes by March to be fitted for braces that will permit him to go about under his own power.

The students honored included Don, age 14; Norman, 13; Joyce, 11 and Johnny, 7, four children of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kennedy who were stricken between Sept. 17 and 21; Mary Lou East, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. East; Anna Joy Yandell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yandell; and Jack Aaron, son of Mrs. J. C. Emmert.

Mary Lou is still wearing braces, and was at school Monday with her parents as she re-entered the second grade. Teachers and students alike are happy to see her go about the corridors with such a happy expression on her face.

Perky little Anna Joy Yandell wears a brace on her left arm. Jack Aaron has recovered completely and has only a slight limp to tell that he has been a victim. Next are John and Norman Kennedy, who are sound as two new dollars after their seige. They sat by their brother and sister at the assembly program.

Joyce Kennedy, 11, will be the March of Dimes Queen at the benefit basketball games in Wellington Saturday night. She was stricken September 19 and remained at the Plainview Clinic for treatment until December 6. She returns regularly for treatment. She wears a brace and uses crutches, but has the brightest smile in the world. Her right leg, left arm, back and stomach are affected. A courageous, happy child, she wishes that no one could have polio, but doctors have been especially pleased at her co-operativeness with the treatment.

All of these children, it is pointed out, were strong, healthy youngsters when they were stricken.

Each place of business will merely use the amount of business transacted as a means of arriving at a contribution to make to the County March of Dimes because the funds are so desperately needed in this year of crisis in the fight against infantile paralysis," Mr. Roberts said.

Both Mr. Roberts, superintendent of the Wellington Schools, and Noah Cunningham, superintendent at Quail, have announced they are mailing out letters containing return envelopes for patrons to put contributions in and mail to the First National Bank where William W. McClaskey will take care of the contribution and give everyone credit.

They are giving school children cards that will hold up to 50 cents in dimes. These will be returned to the chairman at the schools.

Insurance Man Makes Offer - Jack Gibson, Wellington insurance man who has specialized in writing polio insurance policies, has announced that he will give 10 per cent of the premium of every polio policy he writes during the drive to the March of Dimes.

Basketball Games - Key fund raising event will be the basketball games Saturday night, beginning at 7:30, and held at the Wellington gymnasium.

This features the Quail Bobwhites vs. the Samnorwood Eaglettes in the first game in the series which will determine the county girls basketball championship.

The second game is between two independent men's teams, Fred Thompson Appliance Co. and Modern Market.

A highlight will be the coronation of Joyce Kennedy of Quail, a polio victim who is now recovering, as March of Dimes Queen.

Interest in the girls game is already keyed high. These girls are the traditional basketball rivals of the county, a friendly rivalry that goes back 15 years.

"They are two of the best girls teams in Texas, and everyone will enjoy seeing them play," Noah Cunningham, superintendent at Quail, declared.

These are the two teams that met in the finals for the championship of the Wellington All-Girls Tournament 10 days ago, and they play a brand of basketball that is thrilling to see.

The Bobwhites and Eaglettes have met several times already this season in non-conference play.

The Thompson-Modern Market teams are the only independent men's teams here this winter, and they feature some of the top basketball players of the county during the last 10 years. There are former Rocket, Quail and Eagle players, coaches of present teams, and others who have a keen interest in the game.

The Wellington Key Club is sponsoring this event, with Fred Thompson as adult supervisor.

Game Tournament - Closing event in the drive as now planned is the game tournament sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club at the community building Tuesday night, January 31.

Canasta, bridge and 42 will be played, and coffee and home made pie will be served.

The public is invited. The committee in charge of this entertainment is composed of Miss Priscilla Chase, Miss Dorothy Robertson and Mrs. Heber Brantley.

Judge W. G. Hite Asks Re-Election

Judge W. G. Hite this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for reelection to the office of Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1. In making his announcement, Judge Hite said:

"In the beginning of this election year I want to thank the people for the splendid co-operation and help they have given me. I appreciate it very much.

"I have tried to carry out the duties of this office in an efficient manner, according to the law, and in the way that the people of the precinct wish its business conducted." (Continued on Page Eight)

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

The Federal Expenses Can be Cut

Our government in the past twenty years has mushroomed into the most huge and complicated enterprise on earth. Methods and procedures adequate to its management two decades ago today are hopelessly obsolete.

Posterity may well record that one of the greatest events in American history occurred when Congress, in recognition of these facts, created, by unanimous acton the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government under the chairmanship of former President Hoover.

For if this distinguished commission's monumental Report is adopted, the disastrous course of bewildered spending by the Executive Branch, due to unwieldy structure and confused administration, can be arrested and an annual saving of upwards of $3 billions effected.

The Hoover Commission, as it is familiarly known, was composed of six Democrats and six Republicans. In Mr. Hoover's words, the members were "twelve tough-minded men of different political faiths and ideologies."

Their assignment was as tough. It was to explore the whole field of governmental activities and to recommend reforms that would make government as efficient and effective as humanly possible.

On the basis of the investigations of research task forces composed of experts in every phase of governmental activity, the Hoover Commission shaped its final Report which is an explicit blueprint for government reforms vital to the national economy.

The Hoover Commission has become an illustrious page of history. The Commissioners labored wisely and well. But the document that crowned their achievements, the magnificent Hoover Report, remains only a document, unless through the vigorous support of public opinion it can be written into laws by the action of Congress.

It was in recognition of this fact that the Citizens Committee for Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government was formed by leaders of all groups throughout the nation under the chairmanship of Dr. Robert L. Johnson, President of Temple University.

These public spirited men and women, representing agriculture, business, education, labor, veterans and women's groups, have joined with unprecedented unanimity in this great movement.

It is the plain duty of plain citizens everywhere, regardless of their affiliation with any group or organization, to support the work of the Citizens Committee in order that America may fulfill her obligation imposed by world leadership, that Americans may preserve their way of life and their liberties, and that they may perpetuate those ideals that they hold most dear in a precious heritage.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is having his annual troubles with his income tax report, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

Bein a farmer, at least bein classified as one by the United States government for taxin purposes only, I have a tremendous struggle on my hands every January tryin to get my income tax made out, and I don't mind sayin after a session with my bookkeeper in system there ought to be some simpler way of keepin the government goin, or of excusin a man who ain't got no knack for figures.

I have considered gettin a expert out here to figure mine, and even had one tell me I wasn't takin off enough depreciation, for example said I ought to depreciate eight bales of Johnson grass hay I've had on hand for five years, which I've kept mainly because they're comfortable to sit on when I have to move my readin room from the house to the barn, which occurs whenever the weather's pretty enough for my wife to put out a washin, but the way I figure it is after you reach a point in your tabulations where you don't owe no income tax, ain't no use goin any further, the government ain't advanced enough to pay you when you go in the hole.

But I have been workin on a simplified system, to eliminate fill-in out all those blank lines, which is a major undertakin when you're tryin to get your income figures off the wall paper in the kitchen and tryin to be honest also. I know I wrote down what I got for a Jersey steer some time last September, but my wife must have written a recipe over my figures, as I can't find em and I don't want to put down too little for it, and blamed sure ain't gonna put down too much.

Why can't the bank just look over its records and size up the situation and say, now there's so-and-so, he had a pretty good year, he could pay a little income tax, but there's so-and-so, he ain't made no money this year, his well's dried up, wound up in worse shape than he started, he ought to get off free this time.

This system might make the bank a little unpopular with some people, but so does callin in a note or refusin to make one in the first place.

Also, an income tax ought to be based on a longer time than 12 months. A man might make a lot one year and lose twice as much the next five years in a row. A farmer can cash in on high prices one year and the government is around hollerin for a slice, forgettin all about the crop failures he's made. Just takin off reductions for losses in the last 12 months ain't enough. A man ought to be allowed to include all the losses he can think of in the past 20 years. This might not produce much revenue, but it sure would sharpen a man's memory.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Blessing of Christian Gospel Is for Everyone

If we could transport ourselves back through 20 centuries, and see just as it was the world and the environment in which Jesus and His little band of disciples laid the foundations of Christianity and the Christian church, we should understand something of the wonderment of that beginning, and the seeming miracle of how the church took root and grew.

We can hardly conceive how small, in an outward sense, was the beginning, in an environment little larger than the smallest American state, in a country itself almost insignificant in size, among the great and powerful empires of that ancient world.

The marvel and the explanation of the growth of Christianity are seen in the teaching and mission of the Master, and in the faith and vision that He inspired in His disciples. As if He might have been speaking from Rome, the center of world power, instead of from villages insignificant in the eyes of Rome. He announced His mission as worldwide. He commissioned His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel to all the world, even to its very ends, and he assured them that everywhere He would be with them.

But what was even more significant was the fact that this gospel was for every creature—that in a world in which class distinctions were strong, and the great mass of slavery or bondage. The universality and power of that gospel, also, was not long until there were saints in Caesar's household (Philippians 4:22), and almost from the beginning slaves found a new inward peace and freedom in their outward bondage. Master and slave, rich and poor, Jew and Gentile, all had their place in that fellowship in Christ, where there were no distinctions, but Christ was all and in all (Colossians 3:11).

OTHER EDITORS SAY:—

Banishing Poverty

President Truman's glowing picture of individual incomes in five figures for everybody within the next 50 years, along with a future in which poverty is non-existent, is a pretty one, but it is still just a picture. It has been promised before. Herbert Hoover, for example, promised two cars in every garage and chicken every day just before the bust of 1929. And it should be stressed that any such incomes is up to the earning capacity of the individual and cannot be brought about by any government policy which departs in any degree from our free enterprise system.

Any such arbitrary income for any future date doesn't mean a thing, from an economic standpoint. People in China earn a couple of million "dollars" a day—but it won't buy anything. Historians, on the contrary, say the most prosperous period Europe has ever known was the 13th Century, when the wages of a skilled worker were about 20 cents a day. But 20 cents a day then bought far more of the stuff of living than ten dollars a day buys in the United States now.

Another thing the politicians should bring out in their promises of high wages is that wages are "high" or "low" in relation to value given as well as received. A nation of $10,000 a year "feather-bedders" and chiselers would be a sad sight indeed! There are plenty and plenty of $10,000 a year jobs begging now, but they are begging for men who are worth $10,000 a year—not the half-informed twirps who think they're worth it.

However, a $10,000 a year economy is not at all out of the bounds of possibility, provided the politicians leave business alone, repeal the confiscatory taxes under which many industries are now laboring, and encourage, rather than penalize, development of the nation's human and physical resources. We cannot exist much longer as a free nation if they continue to tax the workers to provide free rides for the drones.

Nor can the national economy expand under a labor policy which fights, rather than cooperates, with management. Working people must be educated to the fact that their interests lie side by side with those of management, a conception which is apparently outside the mentality of present labor leaders, not to mention the ward-healers in public office.

It is possible if our educators begin teaching children to work and lay off the impression they are leaving that "educated people don't have to work." As L. J. Dunham, of the Mengel Company says: "In school, I was told that I would be able to run the Chicago Tribune. But the only job I was ever offered on a newspaper was writing obituaries at 20 cents a line."

Promises of Utopia around the corner should always be taken with the proverbial grain of salt. There is always, in the American economy, right where anyone is standing at any given time, the opportunity to serve and be amply, or even handsomely rewarded for the service. But first, one must be prepared to tackle the job and push it through to completion in full knowledge that the reward will be forthcoming in the natural order of things.

There'll Be Plenty To Eat on Texas Farms in 1950

COLLEGE STATION — A look at the possible food supplies for 1950 reveal that Americans are in for a good year so far as eating is concerned, says Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Total supplies of meat and fish in 1950 are expected to be larger than in 1949. There'll be more pork, more grain-fed beef, more fish but perhaps less lamb and mutton. Turkey should be plentiful throughout the year.

There should be plenty of orange juice for the breakfast tables of the nation, she says. Florida is expected to harvest a record and much of it may go into frozen concentrates. Lemons and grapefruit supplies are expected to be smaller because of the freeze damage last year in Texas, California and Arizona. Apples, pears, grapes and other fruits should be plentiful during the coming months.

LONG-WEARING HEEL

On behalf of the feminine "villains" of the movies Andrea King presents movie meanie Dan Durya with a gold-plated heel to symbolize his selection as the "Hollywood Heel of the Year." The award concerns his film roles only.

Milk production continues at a high rate and this means more dairy products.

Eggs will be more plentiful during the first half of the new year. Supplies later in the year may depend on how much the poultrymen get for their eggs during the first part of this year. Good supplies of fats and oils are predicted.

Indications now point to smaller quantities of fresh and canned vegetables but to near record quantities of frozen vegetables, she says.

The Ross Volunteers at Texas A. and M. College, crack military unit, was organized in 1887.

One week each year is designated as Religious Emphasis Week at Texas A. and M. College, in which the entire college cooperates in making it possible for outstanding religious leaders to address voluntary convocations of the students and for the denominations to sponsor intensive religious programs in their respective churches.

The Cushing Memorial building library at Texas A. and M. College was erected in 1930. It numbers more than 130,000 volumes.

Make every day in 1950 a safe day on your farm.

NOT ALL WORKERS COVERED BY UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

A great many workers have the idea that money is deducted from their checks or wages toward the Employment Insurance Program. Not so, says the Texas Employment Commission who administers the jobless benefits program.

The money to pay employment insurance to unemployed workers comes from a direct tax on an employer's payroll coming under the provisions of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. It is the purpose of this Act, and the Legislature has declared it to be the purpose of the State by this enactment, to provide an orderly system of contributions for the care of the justifiably unemployed during time of economic difficulty, thereby preserving and establishing self-respect, reliance and good citizenship to those persons who are unemployed through no fault of their own.

The Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance Program — social security — provides for a one per cent tax on the worker's salary or wages, which in turn is matched penny for penny by the employer if he comes under the provisions of the program. This is often confused with, but is not employment insurance.

Unemployment benefits are provided to help tide the qualified worker over between a period of unemployment and employment. Although the money he may receive will be below his former wages or salary when he was full-time employed, it will help him until he is able to find another job either through his own efforts or through the local offices of the Texas Employment Commission.

The Commission is interested in having all insured workers — usually workers who have worked for employers who employ 8 or more workers — fully informed on how the employment insurance program works, since many appeals are made on claims needlessly. For instance, the Commission points out some workers appeal negative claim decisions because, "I paid my money in and I want it," they say. As already pointed out, the claimant did not pay the money in, and the decisions are based on his own statement which appears on his first claim filed, together with any statements made by his former employers, and what the Law says.

The Law also specifies certain provisions which the claimant for employment insurance must meet in order to qualify and receive benefits. Here are some of those provisions: If the claimant left his LAST employment voluntarily without good cause CONNECTED with the employment, then he can be disqualified from receiving either part or all of his employment insurance. If the claimant is discharged for misconduct CONNECTED with his last employment; or if he refuses suitable work during his period of filing claims, he can lose part or all of claims, he can lose part or all of disqualifications call for a money reduction as well as limiting the time to receive employment insurance. Another disqualifying factor is provided if the claimant's unemployment is caused by a stoppage of work resulting from a labor dispute in which he is participating or financing. He cannot receive employment insurance for the period of time covered by the stoppage of work.

Claimants who are not ABLE to work, or who are not AVAILABLE for suitable work cannot draw employment insurance so long as this condition exists. No money deductions are made, but benefits are withheld, according to the Commission.

Workers who become unemployed and file claims for employment insurance which are disapproved, penalized through disqualifications or ineligibilities, should seek full information on the provisions of the Law before appealing such decisions. This information is readily available through the local offices of the Texas Employment Commission.

Death Rate in Fires Increases

Although the death rates from disease and most accidental causes have decreased in the United States during the past 38 years, the conflagration death rate has increased, according to life insurance statistics.

Automobile accidents is the only other type of accident to show an increase.

Conflagration death rates were 50 percent higher during the period from 1946-1948 than they were during the 1911-1915 period. Automobile accident death rates were 268 per cent higher, reflecting the increased use of automobiles.

On the other hand, the burns and scalds death rate has dropped 80 per cent in the same periods. This may have been due to elimination of the old coal and wood stoves in favor of gas and electric ranges increasing use of electricity and increasing scope and effectiveness of safety education.

The great increase in the conflagration death rates occurred in the years 1941 to 1948. It was during those years that occurred such disasters as the Coconut Grove fire (491 dead), the Hartford Circus fire (144 dead), the LaSalle Hotel fire (61 dead), the Winecoff Hotel fire (119 dead), and the Texas City explosion (551 dead), the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out.

THE TOGGERY

We take the Woes and Worries out of Weather

ONE of the grandest things about your Buick is the way you can ignore the season—chew your way through gravel and dust alike, splash through the wet stretches, snug and secure even on slippery pavements.

But bear this one thought in mind . . .

Rough road conditions call for special attention to your lubricants. Tires should be checked for correct inflation—for deep, clean tread that bites on a slick surface. Brakes won't stop you with a sure and gentle touch if the master cylinder needs more fluid, or if an air-bubble has worked itself into the line. These things, and more, should be checked to keep your Buick at its best.

If that sounds like more than one thought to bear in mind—just drive into our shop and tell the man, "LUBRICARE, please."

Our winter Lubricare treatment covers all these points—with specially trained mechanics following factory specifications as they go over your car from end to end.

Drive in this week, why don't you? The price is surprisingly low. The peace of mind is priceless.

LINDANE WILL CONTROL MANGE IN HOGS, THOMAS REPORTS

Lower hog prices are a challenge to every pork producer. The cheapest, most practical and efficient methods of production must be used if the income from hogs is to be kept on a profitable basis for the producer. One of the most important considerations, according to J. W. Thomas, County Agent, is to keep the hogs healthy.

In the early spring, he says, a common cause for unthriftiness among hogs in Texas is mange. It spreads from animal to animal and most of the mange on pigs comes from their mothers. So, he says, if you keep your brood sows free from mange, you will have little trouble with mangy pigs.

For treatment at this time of the year, Thomas recommends a single spraying with lindane. There are several reasons for using lindane — the pure gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride — over using ordinary BHC. Lindane can be used right up to marketing time, and it does not have the undesirable musty odor of regular BHC.

A concentration of .125 or one-eighth percent gamma isomer is recommended. You can obtain this by mixing 4 pounds of 25 percent lindane wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. To make 10 gallons of the concentrate, you would need to use 6.4 ounces of the 25 percent wettable powder. Thomas says to use from 2 to 3 quarts of the mixture for each animal and warns that the spraying job must be thorough and this includes the inside of the ears and the underside of the body.

Thomas says in some areas of the state, it is easier to obtain 50 percent lindane wettable powder and if this is used, then only half as much should be used as in the case of the 25 percent powder. He says the concentration should be stirred frequently while it is being used.

Church Holds 5th Sunday Meet

The Friendship Missionary Baptist Church, 7 miles west of Wellington, will be host to the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Buck Creek Baptist Association during the coming week end.

Dinner will be served on the ground both days.

Everyone is welcome to come, the pastor said.

Rocket Boxers Meet Shamrock Irish Monday

Rocket boxers will not fight this week, but on Monday, January 30, they will meet the Shamrock Irishmen at Shamrock, in what will be one of the best fights of the entire season.

Coach John Bray is planning to take enough boys to match 18 bouts.

One of the strongest boxing teams in the district, the Irishmen squad is made up principally of experienced fighters, some of whom started training when they were grade school youngsters. A number of seniors are on the team, and not only does Shamrock have the strongest team it has had in several years, but it is considered to be probably the strongest for several more seasons.

Three Pennington brothers, who fight in the 112, 125 and 135 pound weights, are considered among the best, but two other brothers, the Campbells, are likewise good.

Another outstanding Irish fighter is Donnie Ray, a 112 pound boy who at 17 and in his senior year, has had 8 years experience behind him.

Two Wellington boys who have not been matched this year, and who will likely fight, are Roy Savage in the 110 pound class and Reginald Smith, 85 pounds.

The fights will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be held at the high school gymnasium. No advance tickets will be on sale here.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The March of Dimes to raise money for the polio fund is in full swing. If you have ever seen one of the victims of this disease, you will recognize the importance of raising our quota. Half of the money stays in this county for local purposes.

The Chamber of Commerce seems to have a sound idea in getting more directors from the rural area around Wellington.

Lumbermen and building contractors say that more building is scheduled for Wellington in 1950 than was completed in 1949. That will be a lot of building. Car dealers continue to sell new cars about as fast as they get them. All indications point to excellent business for the next six months for those who go after it aggressively.

Here is something remarkable it seems to me. At a district sales meeting of the Willys-Overland Corporation in Amarillo it was announced that Matt Johnson was in third place for the entire Panhandle-Plains area. Lubbock was first, Perryton was second and Wellington was third. When you consider that such other towns as Borger, Pampa, Hereford, Dumas, Littlefield and Levelland are in the district it makes a very impressive showing. Here is the tickler. Last fall they had a contest giving prizes for the man that made the most demonstrations. After each demonstration the dealer was supposed to send in a card. At the recent meeting one of the factory men ejaculated: "But you didn't send in a single card on the demonstrations, Matt." Matt said: "Heck, I didn't have time to fill out them cards — I was trying to sell Jeeps."

Bart Martindale says that Tommy Tate raised 200 bales of cotton on 190 acres. Who did make the highest per acre yield? The Leader would like to know since the past year was something that will not come again for years and years. Tell our rural correspondents or tell us.

There is the smell of dust storm after dust storm in the air.

The above is what I call an idle remark. Outside of the last three years the same thing would hold true of nine out of ten years since people started plowing up the grass.

Billy Jack Gibson was recently forbidden to go to a certain movie by his parents; for they wanted him to take his music lesson. "Well," he observed, "It is just like the teachers say — you parents won't give us any co-operation."

It seemed to me that ditchmen drivers were on the prowl in Wellington last Monday night. Perhaps this ought to be checked into. Not only do they endanger their own lives but the lives of those who are entirely innocent.

There is not much time left in which to pay your poll tax if you want to vote this year. There are going to be a bunch of races on which you will want to vote. It is also the last chance to pay your property taxes without penalty. The county, city and Wellington schools intend to turn all delinquent taxes over to a collector.

Group to Clark Rites at Bowie

A group of Wellington residents were called to Bowie early last week to the funeral of Mrs. Sterling Clark, who died of injuries received in a car wreck Saturday night, January 14. Her husband, who formerly lived at Wellington, is a brother of A. B. Clark and nephew of Mrs. J. A. Leach.

The accident occurred when a car driven by E. E. Manney of Fort Worth collided head-on with the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their three daughters, Flora Ann, Jane and Virginia Nell were riding. A few minutes later a third car crashed into the back of the Clark vehicle.

Six persons were injured in addition to Mrs. Clark.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clark, whose home was at Stoneburg, near Bowie, were held Tuesday. Going from here were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Leach, Mrs. Henry Sullivan and Earl Clark.

Road in East Part Of Co. Complete

A county road constructed around the Mill Iron Ranch's Coon Creek Pasture, in the east part of the county, has been completed, County Judge R. L. Templeton has announced.

This road begins at a point four miles north of Shinnery and ends in the Needwood community.

Repair work is now under way on the road from the Shinnery Store to where the new road starts.

Judge Templeton pointed out that most of the cost of the road was borne by the Ranch itself.

Pete Cummings Has Heart Attack

Mr. Pete Cummings, who has lived near Quail for a number of years, suffered a heart attack yesterday as he started to climb from a trailer. Men who were working nearby saw Mr. Cummings and rushed to his aid.

He was taken to the home of his mother in Wellington, and though the attack was a severe one, it has been reported that he is feeling much better at this time.

Architects to Check Courthouse

Following the recent announcement by County Judge R. L. Templeton that the northwest corner of the county court house is sinking, the architectural firm of Berry and Hatch, Amarillo, requested the judge to take no action until they can send a representative to Wellington to examine the building.

This is the firm which constructed the courthouse. Judge Templeton said that since this would involve a long-time financing plan anyway, the court is planning to install in the court house rest rooms for the colored people, and the construction of a county barn to house the county's mechanical equipment is being discussed.

He pointed out that the county has many colored people who are substantial taxpayers, and that their taxes were raised along with those of the white people this year.

Concerning the barn, he said the county now pays $50 a month rent on a barn, and it is not adequate to the county's needs.

Boxers Enter Regional Fights

at Shamrock, and eligible to compete at Amarillo, is not participating in the regional event.

Public Should Know Truth About Cancer

ROUSTON — There are two "weak links" in our chain of cancer control in Texas, Dr. E. W. Bertner of Houston, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, told a group of Texas cancer control volunteers recently.

"These 'weak links' are our two major needs," he continued. "They are our missing cancer control facilities in this state."

Listing the first weakness, Dr. Bertner said, "We must find some way of telling the public the truth about this disease, what they should look for, what to expect, and what to do when they find it. Some way must be found to let people know that cancer is curable in many cases, but that speed is of utmost importance, and that the responsibility for delay usually must be laid at the door of the patient himself, since the doctor must wait until the patient seeks help. No doctor can compel a patient to consult him; the most skillful physician is helpless until the patient presents himself for care. "The second missing facility is some way to take care of people who are recovering from active cancer treatment or for whom effective treatment is no longer possible," the Cancer Society Leader added. "The care of those chronically sick either from advanced cancer or from any other long-drawn-out expensive illness is a social problem of great magnitude and one which will continue to grow in importance as we continue our present trend toward smaller families in smaller dwelling places and as the population continues to average a longer life with more and more people getting into the age when cancer and other infirmities spoken of as 'the degenerative diseases' become more prevalent."

The Graduate School of Texas A. and M. College was established in 1924. Prior to that time graduate work was administered by the general faculty, acting through a committee on graduate studies.

Systematic physical training for all able-bodied students is recognized as one of the major aspects of the student's education at Texas A. and M. College.

These checks, totaling $105,000, represented the last of $8 million originally invested by the government in PCA's in Texas, and made the Texas district the first in the United States to completely retire all its government capital.

West Texans Almost Supermen

LUBBOCK — West Texans aren't supermen, but they are above average when it comes to handling a monkey-wrench or tractor carburetor.

Dr. Albert Barnett, Texas Tech psychologist, has statistics to support his thesis that West Texans are "superior" in their mechanical ability. His article supporting the conclusion is carried in a recent issue of the Journal of Applied Psychology.

Tests of 371 freshmen men at Tech, most of them from West Texas, showed they had exceeded the standard grade in 70 per cent of the tests.

"As yet, there is no satisfactory explanation for this superiority," Dr. Barnett said.

He said mechanized farming in West Texas has brought most young men into contact with tractors and other machines since their boyhood and might possibly afford one reason for outstanding aptitude. On the other hand, he explained, the test is designed to be comparatively free of influence from prior mechanical experience. The test used was the Revised Minnesota Paper Form Board AA.

Samnorwood Boys Win Canadian Ball Tournament

The Samnorwood Eagles came out winners in the Canadian Invitation Tournament, held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 19 through 21, defeating four of the Panhandle's strongest teams to win the honors.

The Eaglettes, which only a week earlier won the Wellington tournament, were eased out by only three points by McLean, tournament winner.

Three players from Norwood won places on the all-star teams, Betty Price, guard, on the girls team, and the Coleman twins, Dudley and Douglas, on the boys team.

The Eagles played their first game against the West Texas State College high school team, winning by an easy 35 to 20.

Their second game was a closer 49 to 43 win over the Booker boys, while the Miami Warriors went down to the Eagles 34 to 24.

The Eaglettes met the Claude boys in the finals and left a wide gap in the final score, 42 to 22.

The Eaglettes won their first game over the Spearman girls 31 to 28 and by very same score lost to the McLean team in their second game.

Cagers Split Pair Tuesday With Clarendon

The Quail Bobwhites won first place in the Roaring Springs Invitation Basketball Tournament held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 19 through 21.

In addition, three of the Bobwhites won places on the all-tournament team.

"The girls played their regular brand of clever ball handling, with accurate shooting and close defense. They reported an enjoyable trip, and they place emphasis on the friendly attitude and prized compliments of the people they met as much as on bringing home the trophies. They stayed in the homes of local families, and were treated royally while in that community," Coach W. C. Risinger said.

Girls on the all-tournament team were Wanda Johnson, and Jo Helen White, forwards, and Ginger Blewins, guard. They received miniature gold basketballs.

Sweet Simplicity French-inspired, American-made is this Fuller cotton broadcloth dress, one of the Kate Greenaway juvenile fashions featured in the February Good Housekeeping. Its sturdy seams won't "give" in the laundry, and its simple design is a friend of the lady who dunks, starches, and irons. Available in desert coral with jade trim, or gray with red, the dress sells for about $5 in sizes 8 to 10, and a dollar more in sizes 7 to 14.

Pert Pique Waistcoat or "weskit" — no matter how you pronounce it — means one of the naggiest fashion favorites you can wear. Here it is in crisp, white Lonsdale pique, teamed with navy skirt of the same fabric, as one of the California styles featured in the February Good Housekeeping. The "weskit" can be worn under suits in winter, making it a versatile value at $8. And $12 buys the skirt which, like its team-mate, is made by Marjorie Montgomery.

One Thing Sure About Weather, Feeding Needed

No one can predict the weather very far ahead in the Cotton Belt, and there's an old saying that "only fools and strangers try to predict the weather."

One thing is sure, though, about January and February weather. This is the time when livestock producers can prevent costly losses and keep their animals in vigorous condition by following a good supplemental feeding program.

Death and weight losses are easily seen results of poor winter nutrition. Weak calves, poor milking and breeding troubles are equally costly results of improper feeding during winter months. Mature winter pastures lack the protein which is essential to keep cattle producing profitably. In many pastures, even the supply of mature grass is small and cold winter rains and winter storms increase the need for feed intake. Supplemental feeding should begin before winter weather sets in and continue until spring pasture growth is sufficient to satisfy the needs of the cows and calves.

Protein is the most commonly needed winter supplement. The concentrated protein in cottonseed meal, cake or pellet furnishes the protein requirements of the cattle and helps to make better use of the mature pasture forage. The cattle get from the pasture. The high phosphorus content of cottonseed cake, meal or pellets is an added value for winter feeding. The phosphorus content of range and farm grasses, like protein, decreases rapidly as they mature and are leached by winter rains.

Feed dry cows about 1 1/2 pounds of cottonseed cake, meal or pellets per head daily. Bred cows need 2 to 2 1/2 pounds for 60 days before calving. After cows have calved the daily allowance should be increased to 2 1/2 to 3 pounds per head daily, to promote good milk flow and keep the cows in good condition for prompt breeding.

Feeding 1 to 2 pounds of cottonseed meal or cake to steers being wintered on grass will keep them gaining economically during the winter and maintain good health for fast growth when spring grass is available.

During extended snowstorms or when grazing is very short it is often necessary to feed some dry roughage such as cottonseed hulls or hay. This dry roughage replaces the forage which the cattle are unable to obtain from the pasture but does not decrease the need for protein supplement. Often, on the range, it is more practical to increase the daily allowance of the highly concentrated cottonseed cake or pellets because feeding is easier and less transportation is required.

Mixtures of cottonseed hulls and meal are ideal for feeding farm beef herds when pastures are short during winter months. Many cottonseed crushing mills prepare and sell mixtures of 20 per cent cottonseed meal and 80 per cent cottonseed hulls. Cows on short pasture should receive 8 to 10 pounds of the mixture, per head daily, while cows not on pasture need 15 to 20 pounds of this mixture.

He says the Bureau of Animal Industry of the USDA has conducted tests that show the "musty" flavor that sometimes results in fruits and vegetables from the use of the chemical are not taken up by either the eggs laid immediately after delousing nor the meat of the birds that are protected by a BHC treatment.

Deer says that on the basis of the tests made by the Bureau there is no longer any reason why poultrymen should not use BHC to rid their poultry flocks of the troublesome parasite — the chicken louse.

Hexachloride Kills Lice on Chickens

COLLEGE STATION — Poultrymen who use benzene hexachloride to protect their chickens from lice will find the chemical highly effective, says James A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College.

Three groups of heavily infested chickens were freed from all trouble with lice by the simple, easy and inexpensive painting of their roosts with a suspension containing 1 percent of the gamma isomer of BHC. The treatment, says Deer, was liberal but not wasteful. Four gallons was ample to treat the roosts of more than 1,000 birds. The immediate effect was as a fumigant. Not a live louse

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Beam, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bettis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Reed were in Fort Worth Saturday Sunday and Monday where they attended a Frigidaire convention.

Tech Loyalty Fund Needs Loyalty

LUBBOCK — An urgent plea for contributions has been sent out to Texas Tech alumni by D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Tech Ex-Students Association. McElroy says that unless Tech Exes offer more support for the alumni organization a "serious financial crisis" faces the group.

The association was formed after World War II to promote goodwill for Tech and direct alumni activities. McElroy said a "One Hundred Club" made up of 100 alumni who pledged $100 a year has been the main support of the organization. The pledges are due to expire this month.

"The results of our alumni Loyalty fund campaign have been very disappointing," McElroy added. E. A. McCullough, Midland, president of the association, has written an open letter to Exes in which he states that unless support increases the Ex-students aid program for Tech "will be seriously impaired."

GOVERNOR SHIVERS EXPLAINS STATE HOSPITAL SITUATION

By ALLAN SHIVERS
Governor of Texas

Next Tuesday, January 31, the Texas Legislature will meet in special session to make appropriations for our state hospitals. The bill for food, clothing, medical care and badly needed buildings and repairs will run at least $25,000,000 for the year beginning next September 1.

That is a lot of money — especially when the State doesn't have it, as it does not at the present time.

Letters coming to the Governor's Office from over the State indicate that a good many citizens do not fully understand the present situation. The Governor is often called upon to answer such questions as these:

1. Why is it necessary to have a special session of the Legislature?

2. Why wasn't the state hospital program properly financed at the regular session a year ago?

3. Why do we say that the State has no money for the hospitals, when the Treasurer's Report shows we have around $50,000,000 in the General Revenue Fund and about $120,000,000 in other state funds?

4. What went with that $100,000,000 surplus we were supposed to have had a year ago?

5. Why can't the appropriations for other things be reduced so as to provide funds for the elementary institutions without raising taxes?

These are perfectly logical questions, and they deserve logical answers. To inform the people about this problem, which is theirs just as it is the Legislature's and the Governor's, I will try to set down the pertinent facts of the situation.

To begin with, our State hospitals are badly run down. Little has been done in a number of years to improve, add to or even maintain the buildings at Austin, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Rusk, Terrell, San Antonio and other long-established hospitals for mental cases and epileptics. The tuberculosis hospitals at Tyler and Mission are old army camps; the Mexico hospital for seniles and mentally deficient children is a former German prisoner of war camp.

Some places are worse than others, but in general we find the hospitals badly overcrowded and many buildings unsafe. The Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools, which has charge of these institutions, estimates that it would take more than $40,000,000 just to eliminate the firetraps and add enough buildings to care in an adequate way for the unfortunate people who are in these institutions today. I have personally inspected nearly all of these hospitals.

This is not a problem that developed overnight, but one that has been building up over a long period of years. The Legislature tried in 1941 and again in 1943 to do something about the building needs. One appropriation was vetoed by the then Governor; then the war came along and the building program was shelved for the duration.

The late Governor Jester recognized the crying needs of the state hospitals for more buildings, more doctors, more nurses and better facilities for treatment. He advocated a large appropriation for buildings, as well as a larger operating budget. The Legislature last year was sympathetic with his ideas, but heavy appropriations for other purposes used up most of the available revenues. On top of that, a sharp cut in Texas oil production caused an estimated $22,000,000 drop in tax receipts.

Announcing he was not satisfied to see the job only halfway done, Governor Jester vetoed the state hospital appropriations for the second year of the biennium (the year September 1, 1950, to August 31,

DISAPPEARING ACT

Visitors to the California Academy of Science in San Francisco spend a lot of time in front of this tank of Turkey Fish. 1951). At the same time he promised he would call the Legislature together in January 1950 to provide for the state hospital operation and building needs.

A few days after that promise was made, Texans received the shocking news that Governor Jester was dead. His promise, however, must be kept. Otherwise, when another fiscal year begins next September 1, there will be no funds for food, clothing and care for the more than 23,000 people who are now in our insane asylums, tuberculosis hospitals, epileptic hospital and the special schools for the blind, deaf and otherwise physically handicapped.

I think these facts will suffice to answer the first two questions: Why is a special session of the Legislature necessary, and why hasn't the Legislature already provided the necessary funds? Actually, as has been shown, these two questions are one and the same. The thing that matters most now is that the funds have NOT been

PHONE 526 FOR APPOINTMENT

While the wide scope of Chiropractic is amazing to the uninformed, we do NOT recommend Chiropractic as a CURE-ALL. Chiropractic is effective in those cases only where the cause is found to be defective in organic energization due to spinal misalignment (subluxation). Most all of our cases are those that had previously resisted ordinary methods of healing. Our examination is designed to eliminate those we cannot help.

Case histories published here are from the files of Dr. Leonard in Austin. They are displayed here to show the extent of Chiropractic.

PROOF!

Dr. J. H. Radley, a physician listed in "Who's Who in American Medicine," wrote as follows:

"In literature reaching the hands of the recognized medical profession, there is such a scarcity as to amount to almost a complete absence, of matter dealing with spinal subluxations: and of that which comes to their notice, practically all of it is so misinforming and misleading as fully to account for the almost universal denial, by physicians, of the possible existence of such a condition. These facts furnish the excuse for this paper. . . . That spinal subluxations are of frequent occurrence: that they attend, if they do not proceed and cause, disease in remote tissue; and that correction of these lesions normal condition and function is followed by restoration to of such remote tissue (at least subjectively to the patient, as evidenced by the disappearance of symptoms, are all matters of repeatedly demonstrated fact." "Medical Record" 86:203 Aug. 1914.

FEMALE TROUBLE

CASE NO. 1216: Lady, 39, complained of irregular periods, right side pains, bad cramps for several days each month, severe headaches before and after periods, dizzy spells low back pains, bladder pains, neuritis in shoulder and sinus inflammation. She went to a Chiropractor for headaches because a friend had recommended Chiropractor for that condition. Spinal analysis and X-rays indicated defective energization of the Pelvic area and a subluxated (misaligned) vertebra in the neck, causing spinal cord interference. After a few months she was amazed to discover her female trouble and other symptoms had vanished with her headaches. An operation had been recommended. It is not necessary now for she feels fine, thanks to Chiropractic.

PSYCHONEUROSIS

CASE NO. 1484: Case discharged from Army with diagnosis of Psychoneurosis and arthritis came to the Chiropractic Clinic complaining of constant pain in all his joints, and especially his spine and neck; nervous shaky spells, absent minded, blank spells of forgetfulness, dizziness blurred vision at times, terrible headaches lasting several days, and a feeling that everything was wrong, that something was wrong with his mind. Neurocalometer spinal analysis revealed defective energization and X-rays exposed vertebral subluxation causing the nerve interference and defective energization. After a few months of corrective adjustments the alignment was restored to normal, nerve interference removed, and the case reported feeling well and completely at ease and full of pep and vigor. He said the past was like a bad dream.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM

CASE NO. 2392: A man age 55, came to the clinic complaining of a pain in left leg, gas on stomach, a drowsy, dizzy-headed feeling, dull headaches, backache nervous shaking in left side and low blood pressure. A spinal analysis and X-rays revealed a nerve interference. Adjustments were begun and in time he reported the symptoms gone and that he was feeling fine.

PARALYSIS

CASE NO. 1505: A man, 72 years of age, started to work; noticed his left arm felt heavy and became useless and that his mouth felt heavy on one side. Went to bed and after thinking it over, got up and came to the Chiropractic Clinic where spinal analysis and X-rays disclosed nerve interference at the base of the skull. Corrective adjustments were begun. This man returned to work at the end of the month with no visible sign of paralysis remaining.

Warning: Not all cases are as quickly disposed of as this one.

SORE THROAT

CASE NO. 1349: A girl, age 9 suffering for past year from fever, aching legs sore throat, frequent colds, earache, constipation, and delicate health generally, was brought to the Chiropractic Clinic for spinal analysis and X-ray examination although family friends laughed at the idea. Rough play had caused a spinal injury which had been overlooked. Corrective adjustments brought rapid return to vigorous health which caused her entire family to become patients also. She remained well by visiting the clinic after any hard falls.

County Saving Bond Buyers Invest $139,433 in 1949

The people of Collingsworth County invested $130,433.50 in U. S. Savings Bonds during 1949, according to the annual sales report received today by J. T. Forbis, county Savings Bonds chairman, from Nathan Adams of Dallas, state chairman. This compares with sales of $139,687.25 for 1948.

Of the 1949 total, Series E, the so-called "people's bond" accounted for $97,133.50, as compared with $96,515.25 E bond sales in 1948. Series F and G sales were $33,300.00 as compared with $43,172.00 in 1948.

Total sales for the entire state were $191,499,089, as compared with $196,448,280 in 1948, Mr. Adams' report said. This is a decline of 2.5 per cent. However, Mr. Adams declared that sales last year were highly satisfactory in view of economic trends and because of a 3.9 per cent increase in the sale of E bonds, from $139,591,216 in 1948 to $145,114,738 in 1949. Series F and G bonds accounted for

1950 Chicken of Tomorrow Program For Texas Given

COLLEGE STATION — The rules and regulations governing the 1950 Chicken-Of-Tomorrow program have been announced by the State Committee that supervises the program in Texas. F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College is chairman of the committee.

He says there will again be two divisions. One for the juniors and one for the seniors or adults. All entries for 1950 must be post-marked before February 27 and should be sent to Beanblossom at College Station. The official entry for each participant in the program must be composed of 100 straight run chicks and no individual can enter more than one exhibit for each breed or cross-breed used.

The chicks, he says must be hatched between the dates of March 5 to 11 inclusive and those hatched before or after these dates are not eligible for entry. The chicks will be 12 weeks old when the 1950 program closes and each participant will send to a designated processing plant his entry or entries for the final judging. Birds will be judged as live birds and classified into three classes. Those birds given a blue ribbon rating will be processed for the final placings and from this group will come the champion entry. Beanblossom says suitable awards will be made in each division.

Since the rules and regulations for the senior division are more complicated than for the juniors, Beanblossom suggests that poultrymen who are interested in continuing in the program contact their local county agent for more information or write him direct for copies of the rules.

The winning entries one to five depending upon their worthiness, will be sent to a regional exhibit and the winning regional exhibits will then be entered in the national finals.

Beanblossom points out that this is not a new program for it has been operating in Texas for several years and he feels that it has done much to improve the meat type chicken in Texas. He will be glad to furnish additional information to those that may be interested in the program.

Original Film Story Written For "Irma"

One of the funniest pictures ever made — the film version of "My Friend Irma," popular radio program — is due Wednesday, February 1 at the Ritz Theatre with Marie Wilson, star of the air show, also playing Irma. Marie is co-starred in the picture which Hal Wallis produced for Paramount with John Lund, Diana Lynn, Don DeFore and that new sensational song-and-laugh team of night club and radio fame, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, who make their screen debut in the comedy.

"My Friend Irma" is an original story written especially for the screen, the only similarity between the radio and picture versions being in the characters, with the exception of the zany team of Martin and Lewis, who were written into the script. Lund will be seen as Irma's boy friend, Al, Miss Lynn as her friend and room-mate, the ambitious Jane. DeFore plays the millionaire, Richard Rhineland, for whom Jane sets her cap.

The story concerns the efforts of Irma and Jane, two working girls who room together, to get what they want out of life. Irma wants to marry her perennially unemployed boy friend, Al, and she prays for a crack at the giveaway prizes offered on her favorite radio quiz program. Jane wants to marry a millionaire. She lands a job as secretary to one and is getting along famously when Al introduces complications by discovering a singer, Steve (Dean Martin) and his partner, crazy Seymour (Jerry Lewis). Jane and Steve fall in love but she won't admit it and Irma decides to take matters into her hands.

The confusion that results from Irma's stupid bungling is reported to make "My Friend Irma" a riot of fun and laughs. In addition,

Dean Martin sings three of the sentimental love ballad; "Here's to Love" and "Just for Fun," with Jerry Lewis joining him in two riotously funny routines.

Teddy Joe James, student of McMurry College, Abilene, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill James.

Research May Increase Uses Of Texas Cotton

LUBBOCK — Better understanding of the physical properties of Texas cotton as an aid in the utilization and merchandising of the State's cotton is the goal of research now in progress at Texas Technological college and the University of Texas. The work is being done under the sponsorship of the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, John F. Leahy, director.

Studies of physical properties of the cotton fiber as they relate to problems of merchandising and utilization are being made on cotton from approximately fifty communities throughout the State. After the cotton from each community has been typed as to physical properties, it is spun into nine different yarn counts using various twists and drafts to find out what combination gives the best results for each kind of yarn. The measurements of physical properties and spinning research are being conducted by the Cotton Research located at Texas Technological college, Lubbock.

The date secured from the measurement of physical properties and spinning tests being made at Texas Technological college are being analyzed by members of the Cotton Merchandising Research located at the University of Texas, Austin. The analysis of the data on physical properties and spinning tests will supply information that will result in more effective merchandising and utilization of Texas cotton. Thus the use of instruments which measure strength, length, length uniformity, fineness, and maturity are making it possible to acquire clearer insight into merchandising problems associated with specific mill uses for cotton. Because of the highly competitive conditions that exist in so far as cotton and synthetics are concerned, it is important that information on fiber properties and spinnability be made available to the mills and merchants of Texas if present markets are to be retained. Knowledge of fiber properties of Texas Cotton and how they translate in the mill provides the edge needed by our merchants to meet the competition from foreign cottons which they encounter in their efforts to sell Texas cotton to the mills of Europe and the Orient.

Historically, some 96 per cent of the cotton grown in Texas has been used in mills located in foreign lands.

It has been scientifically proved through extensive research conducted by the medical school of a distinguished university that you'll "do better" if you eat an adequate breakfast.

Landowners Can Get Seedling Trees at Cost

COLLEGE STATION — Sixteen and one-half million forest tree seedlings were grown this year by the Texas Forest Service in their Indian Mound Nursery near Alto. These seedlings, says Don Young, head of the management department of the Service, are sold to landowners at cost and they are to be used for re-forestation and windbreak purposes. They cannot be used or sold for ornamental plantings.

Young reports that the supply now available is limited to six tree species and these species are slash pine, bois d'arc, catalpa, Russian mulberry and green ash. He says the bois d'arc and catalpa produce excellent fence posts when grown in the counties of East Central Texas. The wood of these trees is resistant to decay. Slash pine is well adapted to the same area.

The planting season extends from December to March, but past records, he points out, indicate that many of those who wait until January to place orders for planting stock may be disappointed because the supplies now are limited. Orders will not be accepted after February 1.

Young says that the Production and Marketing Administration will pay farmers a stipulated per acre rate for areas successfully planted in trees. This payment will help cover the cost of the seedlings and the labor for planting them, he says. Your local County PMA Committee can give you the details of this program and they should be contacted before the planting is done.

Individuals desiring more information should contact their local county extension agents or write Texas Forest Service, College Station.

Benzene hexachloride, BHC, used as a roost paint is highly effective for controlling the chicken louse. Use a suspension containing 1 per cent of the gamma isomer of BHC. It kills as a fumigant and is effective for about 48 hours after it is applied.

Balance Crops And Livestock For More Profit

COLLEGE STATION — Acreage reductions in 1950 of cash crops will probably result in larger plantings of soil-building legumes, small grains and forage crops. In many cases, it may mean the seeding of hay meadows and permanent pastures. The relatively favorable prices expected for livestock and livestock products should help to "cushion" this shift, provided farm operators plan wisely, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

On many family-sized farms livestock can be used to help balance the production program for the farm. Bates points out that farm operators should plan to utilize all of their labor and machinery as well as the land previously planted to cash crops. The extra grain and forage production that is expected to result from the acreage reduction program, believes Bates, should be used on the farm where it is produced.

He says even without favorable livestock prices over cash grain prices, farm profits can be increased when the extra grain and forage are sold in the form of meat, milk, and eggs. Feeding this extra production to farm livestock is sound business and he says farmers should not forget the extra dividend that they can derive from the manure when it is returned to the land.

He has his suggestions on planning for profitable farm livestock production in 1950 and in the future. Plan to grow into the business as feed and pasture production are developed; select the phase of livestock production suited to the farm family and to the farm; produce quality products and provide fences, buildings and equipment needed to save labor and feed. He points out that electric fences can be economically used for enclosing temporary pastures but says where permanent type fences are needed, it is better to build the sturdy, long-lived ones. It is cheaper in the long run to build or purchase the best equipment and materials available, and Bates suggests that you check with your local county agent for plans and suggestions that might prove helpful in getting your livestock program underway.

More Corn Hybrids On the Way

COLLEGE STATION — The use of corn hybrids in Texas for the past eight years has enabled farmers to produce more corn per acre than was ever possible with the common varieties previously planted. The results from the 1949 corn tests conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at 17 widely scattered locations show that farmers may expect even greater increases in yield from some of the newly developed hybrids, says J. S. Rogers who is in charge of corn investigations for the Station.

The yellow hybrids showing the greatest promise, continues Rogers, are Texas 24, 26 and 28. Texas 11W is recommended for those farmers who prefer to plant white corn. All of these hybrids show a wide range of adaptability, and will give good results in any area where the older hybrids are now grown successfully. The tests this year show that Texas 24, 26 and 28 may generally be expected to produce from five to 10 percent more corn than the hybrid now available.

Texas 26 and 28 are particularly recommended for the Blackland Prairie and the western corn-growing regions of the state, says Rogers. These two hybrids are quite drought resistant, and will outyield the other hybrids under conditions of limited moisture. Texas 28 and 20 produced the highest yields in East Texas this year and are recommended for that area.

Texas 28 appears to be the most widely adapted of the new hybrids. It has produced outstanding yields wherever tested. Texas 26 is the earliest of the new hybrids and produces a large yellow-dent grain that resembles Texas 18. Texas 24 is superior to all of the Texas hybrids in standing ability and is recommended wherever lodging is a serious problem. Texas 24 is also more resistant to earworms and ear rots than the other hybrids and should be planted where damage may result from such injury.

In making a choice of hybrids in 1950, Rogers suggests that farmers try these new Texas hybrids. He says over 2,000 acres of these hybrids were produced by seed growers in 1949 and that farmers should be able to secure seed if they will place their orders early. He adds that these hybrids should be planted on good land and recommended fertilizer practices followed. Experimental results have clearly shown that hybrids will give a maximum return per acre when high yields are obtained.

New Uses For Linters Sought

AUSTIN — A new use for cotton linters may be found if a process developed by University of Texas scientists can be made economically feasible.

The plan, worked out under Dr. K. A. Kobe's direction by Graduate Researcher Ralph Burdyski, New York, provides for the cleaning and de-waxing of cotton linters, and their transformation into alpha cellulose, with cotton wax as an important by-product. Dr. Kobe is associated director of the Industrial Chemistry Bureau.

"Alpha" is the designation for the best grade of cellulose which, in one form, is found in nature as cotton fibers and linters. "Our process is not practical from an industrial standpoint yet," Dr. Kobe said. "We are still in the talking and testing stage."

The bureau director has conferred with officials at the Hercules

Evan L. Sitter and wife, Leona E. Sitter, to Dorothy Sitter Foster — all of section 42, block 22.

Janie Atkinson to J. L. Langley — all of the west half of section 84, block 21.

COLLEGE STATION — The installation of a pressure water system is the first step that needs to be taken toward installing a complete modern bathroom in the home.

Many farm homes have water systems now and no doubt plans are being made to complete the job. W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A. & M. College, says there are a number of things that should be considered in these plans regardless of whether you plan a new home, expect to add a room to the present home or just remodel.

He says that you should remember that the cost of bathroom fixtures, like most articles, vary with the size, style, fittings and material used. Average size fixtures are usually satisfactory. The smallest size may be inconvenient and the largest, especially the tub, may take too much water. Fixtures are made of vitreous china, enameled iron or enameled steel. Vitreous china fixtures are the most expensive type but do not stain easily and are very resistant to both acids and alkalis. Water closet bowls are all made of this material and it is especially desirable for lavatories that receive heavy use. Enameled iron or steel fixtures may have an acid resistant finish. The enameled steel fixtures are cheaper than enameled iron.

Allen says you will want to consider whether the fixtures are easy to clean, safe to use and will they give years of trouble-free service. A water closet with a one piece tank and bowl is easier to clean and is neater than the two piece type with exposed pipes. Seats of plastic or plastic finish wear longer than those made of painted wood. Consider the safety angle before you buy a bath tub. There is less danger of slipping in a flat bottomed tub.

The space available for placing the bathroom fixtures is important. A room five feet square is about the smallest space that will take an average size tub. A room five by eight feet will give you space to put the fixtures along one wall and this is an economical arrangement, says Allen. If you are remodeling and have a larger room, it can be reduced to an economical size by using the extra space for closets and storage cabinets.

Plan the plumbing so that pipes can be put under the floor or inside the walls. Do not cut joists or sills to run the pipes through them. Place the pipes around them, but in case cutting is absolutely necessary, be sure to put an extra brace on the joist or sill that was cut. Plumbing fixtures are heavy and Allen says be sure that the supports under the bathroom are strong enough to support them. You'll want to place the pipes so they'll have the maximum amount of protection from cold winds. If you live in the colder sections of the state, you may want to put insulation around the pipes. Then don't forget to properly vent your fixtures and install the necessary traps. Both are necessary if you expect to have properly functioning fixtures. Allen suggests that you visit your county agent or home demonstration agent and ask them for information and copies of bulletins dealing with planning the bathroom and farm plumbing. They will be glad to help you.
