MAKE MANIFESTO

All Leading Rebel Generals Said Are In On Matter

By The Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, April 8.—Revolutionist leaders at Merida, Yucatan, have decided to proclaim a republic, composed of the states of Yucatan, Campechea and Tabasco, according to advices received here today.

A manifesto is in course of preparation, the advices state, naming General Candido Aguilar, one of Adolfo de la Huerta's principal lieutenants, as president.

It is reported that General Guadalupe Sanchez and Enrique Estrada, De la Huerta commanders in the east and west respectively, are now at Merida.

CREAGER'S SIDE HEARD IN LAND FRAUD CASE

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The defense in the special senate committee's investigation into alleged land fraud in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas had a turn at bat today. What were described as voluntary affidavits from contented land purchasers in that section, editorials from Houston, Texas, newspapers and other documents were placed in the records by George A. Hill, Jr., counsel for R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas, named as implicated in the alleged frauds for the purpose of discrediting the allegations set up by the other side in the inquiry.

Senator Heflin, democrat, of Alabama, committee prosecutor, and his assistant in the inquiry, James R. Page, Kansas City attorney, both assailed the line of evidence put forward by Mr. Hill today as having no possible effect upon the truth of any fraud committed three years ago when the postoffice investigations were started. Rush D. Simmons, chief of the division of post office inspectors, who continued on the witness stand, agreed to this contention.

Coolidge Wins In Nebraska-Illinois

President Beats Hi Johnson in Both State Preferential Primaries.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Running ahead outside of Chicago approximately two to one and neck and neck within the metropolis, President Coolidge tonight on early returns from today's presidential preferential primary vote, was leading Senator Johnson of California by 2,200 votes in 777 precincts out of 5,008.

William G. McAdoo had no opposition in the preferential primary of the democratic ticket but Colonel A. A. Sprague and Norman L. Jones running for senatorial and gubernatorial nominations, respectively with the support of the regular democratic organization opposed to McAdoo, was leading approximately three to one over the Californian's candidate for these places

By The Associated Press.

OMAHA, Nebr., April 8.—Twelve precincts out of 1,936 in the state for presidential preference in today's presidential primary gave Coolidge 579; Johnson 462.

Six counties were represented by these figures.

CRANFILL WELL PUMPING 75

Pumping 75 barrels the first 12 hours Tuesday the Baylor county test at Cranfill Brothers' W. B. Mills No. 1, block 2416, Texas Emigration and Land company, survey gave every assurance that a new field had been opened up.

The well was brought in at a depth of 1,420 and was a rank wildcat. The fact that the test is already a producer insures a vast play to be made in that section.

RAIL CONDUCTORS ENDORSE M'ADOO

By The Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, April 8.—The Order of Railway Conductors of the state of Texas, one of the Big Four brotherhoods now in legislative session in Amarillo, adopted by unanimous standing vote a resolution endorsing William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency.

The four organizations, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Brotherhood of Railway Firemen and the Order of Railway Conductors of the state of Texas, were in separate closed sessions all day, appointing committees and doing preliminary routine work.

OFFICERS HURT IN PLANE FALL

By The Associated Press.

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mount Clemens, Mich., April 8.—Raymond B. Collins of Detroit and W. G. Zeigert of Chicago, both lieutenants in the officers reserve corps, were probably fatally injured when the Curtis in which they were riding crashed to the ground, a half mile north of the field late today.

MAMMOTH OIL CO. SUIT IS DISMISSED

By The Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 8.—Suit of Robert G. Taylor against the Mammoth Oil company, involving title to 160 acres of land in the Teapot Dome naval reserve was dismissed in federal court here today by stipulation and approximately $500,000 of impounded money held in the court registry pending outcome of the litigation was turned over to the Mammoth company.

AVIATOR KILLED.

By The Associated Press.

DAYTON, April 8.—Lieutenant Theo Vee Vechten, stationed at McCook field, was instantly killed here this afternoon when the machine he was flying went into nose dive and crashed to earth from a height of about 2,000 feet.

RHODE ISLAND DEMS FOR SMITH

Deplore Debauchery And Say G. O. P. For Klan

By The Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 8.—The democratic state convention today adopted a resolution "that it is the opinion, of this conention that the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president by the democratic national convention would insure success of our party in the approaching election." Fourteen delegates were named to the national convention.

The convention adopted a platform condemning the "saturnalia of official debauchery now being exposed in Washington."

Resolutions also were adopted declaring that the republican party was not sincere in its pretended opposition to the ku klux klan but was simply angling for the votes of certain people."

Newcastle Well Standing 1,500 Feet In Oil

Special to The Record News.

NEWCASTLE, April 8.—Oil excitement here reached a new stage Tuesday night when the Bashara No. 2, eight miles south of here was reported standing 1,500 feet in oil at a depth of 2,880 feet.

This well is less than a mile from the original Bashara test which some months ago was brought in for 100 barrels production that has stood up.

The well will be brought in today and speculation continues as to possible production.

IMMIGRATION PACT WITH JAPAN IS FAILURE, SHORTRIDGE

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The house held a night session tonight to wind general debate on the Johnson immigration bill. Tomorrow and Thursday the measure will be laid aside for other business but will be taken up again Friday with amendments in order.

For a time today, immigration also was under discussion in the senate. Advocating his amendment to the immigration bill pending in the senate for exclusion of Japanese on lines similar to the Johnson bill, Senator Shortbridge, republican, California, assailed the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan and declared it had failed to work to the best interests of the Pacific coast.

MERCHANT FLEET OPERATION PROBED

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Efforts to establish the feasibility of direct operation by the government of the merchant fleet or continuance under a modified form of the present managing operators' contract marked the second day's examination today of Chairman O'Connor by the special house committee inquiring into shipping board affairs.

Representative Davis, democrat, Tennessee, committee "prosecutor" tried to establish whether it was not a fact that the board continued operation of its vessels under the Mo-4 contract, under which operating agents are guaranteed a fixed percentage of gross shipping receipts because of opposition to direct government control on the part of private ship operators, newspapers and "some other people."

DELANO MAY BE APPOINTED HEAD

FREDERICK A. DELANO.

Well known in Wichita Falls as receiver for the Red River lands tied up in the Texas-Oklahoma boundary dispute may be appointed as financial controller of Hungary by the League of Nations, according to advices received here.

Mr. Delano is also a vice president of the federal reserve board. He has an excellent record as a financier behind him. The position as financial controller of the Hungarian government was at first offered to W. P. G. Harding who declined because of ill health.

The Day In Washington

The new tax bill was reported by the senate finance committee.

The senate and house debated at length their respective immigration bills.

The department of agriculture forecast a record sugar crop based on reports of production.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, renewed his attack on Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department.

A resolution for investigation of Northern Pacific railway land grants was approved by a house committee.

Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board underwent another day of questioning by a house investigating committee.

President Coolidge set machinery in motion to co-ordinate foreign service methods in advancing American interests.

The senate committee investigating alleged Texas land frauds continued its examination of Rush D. Simmons, chief postal inspector.

Secretary Weeks issued a long statement explaining war department procedure in adjusting claims in war time aircraft contracts

A threat to move for discharge of the senate agriculture committee from consideration of the Muscle Shoals questions developed in the senate.

Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, replied to the Portland speech of Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, and drew the senate into a political debate.

Witnesses before the senate Daugherty committee were questioned about prohibition enforcement in Illinois, a mail fraud case in Boston and the Old Hickory Power case.

Oil Fraud Cases of Pat Marr Begin

NEFF TO START SPEAKING TRIP

Will Plead For Uninstructed Delegation to Madison Square

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 8.—Advocating an uninstructed delegation from Texas to the national democratic convention, Governor Pat M. Neff will start next Monday night a two weeks' speaking campaign throughout the state. His first itinerary includes 13 cities. He expects to keep up the campaign until the precinct conventions of May 3.

The initial itinerary includes the following dates: Cleburne April 14; Glen Rose, Grandbury, Weatherford April 15; McKinney and Sherman, April 16; Waxahachie and Hillsboro, April 17; Mart, Groesbeck, and Marlin, April 18; Cameron and either Belton or Temple, April 19.

The governor said he would urge the progressive dry democrats of the state to attend the precinct convention so that those elected to the county conventions will be dry democrats as well as those named to the state convention which will select the forty delegates to the national convention

Lynch Davidson Asks Timber of Texas Be Saved

By The Associated Press.

EL PASO, Texas, April 8.—Declaring that the forests of Texas are being mown down like grass, Lynch Davidson, lumberman and candidate for governor, declared this afternoon at the Lumbermen's association of Texas 38th annual convention that there should be regulations that would require replanting or reforestation of cutover areas.

"The standardization of lumber is paramount in the minds of all who handle this commodity, from the tree to the builder," said President A. B. Mayhew.

Consideration of governmental uniform specification and grades for lumber will be one of the features of the convention.

Officers' reports were presented this afternoon and the lumbermen's annual ball was held tonight.

Five hundred lumbermen from Texas, Arizona and New Mexico are in attendance.

MISSOURI-PACIFIC RAIL LINE FORCE BEHIND I. AND G. N.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 8.—The Missouri Pacific railroad emerged today as the probable propelling force back of the proposed purchase of the International-Great Northern railroad by the Gulf Coast Lines.

Testifying at the hearing before the Texas railroad commission, Thomas J. Freeman, general counsel of the Texas and Pacific said that in his opinion the Missouri-Pacific desires the merger as it would leave only "one more step" for that road to take in gaining control of the four railroads. The Texas and Pacific soon will go into control of the Missouri-Pacific, Judge Freeman said, and should the proposed merger be allowed it would then be a logical move to consolidate the mergered systems into the Missouri-Pacific system.

MAN SHOT; DIES.

By The Associated Press.

ASPERMONT, Texas, April 8.—E. F. Gibson, 50, was shot and fatally wounded at the Mount Olive school house, 10 miles north of here, last night. He died shortly afterward. J. R. Bilberry surrendered to Sheriff Bingham. The cause of the shooting was not made known.

Sensational Operator Says He Alone to Blame But He Did Not Swindle Stockholders.

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark.-Tex., April 8.—Presentation of evidence in the trial of Pat Marr, El Dorado oil promoter whose operations are said to have involved millions of dollars, and seven co-defendants, was begun by government prosecutors in federal court for the western district of Arkansas late today. The defendants are charged with devising a scheme to defraud and using the mails to carry out the scheme in connection with operation of the various Marr oil companies.

The defendants being tried with Marr are George M. Ferrell, W. S. Eakin, J. H. Ingram, Henry Garland, George W. White, W. T. Earnest and the Mid-continent Brokerage company.

"Pat Marr is no swindler and the money which he received from his investors was properly invested," W. H. Martin, attorney for Marr, declared this afternoon.

"The Marr Oil corporation, which Marr organized and left with his investors after he was arrested, is solvent and worth approximately $4,000,000."

Mr. Martin said that there was some "sinister influence" which caused the government agents to "persecute" Marr. He also declared that Marr had directed him to inform the jury that if there was any criminal responsibility connected with the companies that he (Marr) alone was responsible and that his co-defendants were only clerks and employes of his, and were entirely innocent.

Marr met with unusual success in his operations in the Smackover field, Mr. Shaver said, and millions of gallons of oil were produced from his wells and "not one gallon of that oil was ever paid to an investor." Mr. Shaver said the government expected to prove that Marr sold the holdings of two of his stock companies to the Texas company for $1,500,000 and that out of this he returned to his investors only $432,000, the total stock sold in the two companies.

"That left more than $1,000,000 which Marr diverted to a company called the Pat Marr Oil company of which he was the sole owner, and the government will prove that," Mr. Shaver said.

HENRIETTA ATTORNEY ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, April 8.—The race for the judgship in the ninety-seventh judicial district, composed of Clay and Montague counties, was very much enlivened today by the announcement of Vincent Stine, at the present time county attorney, for that office. Mr. Stine is the son of the late Judge P. M. Stine, who was at one time judge of the old thirtieth judicial district, composed of Clay, Archer, Wichita and Young counties. Judge Stine's death a year ago left Vincent Stine as the sole member of the firm of Stine & Stine. He is regarded as a bright young lawyer and has a good record as county attorney.

He is opposed by Judge Paul Donald of Bowie, whose record upon the bench has been an enviable one and who made many friends in the district during the period of his incumbency in office. The third candidate in the field is Mayor J. W. Chancellor of Bowie, who at one time was at the head of the Odd Fellows in the state of Texas and who has been mayor of Bowie for a number of years, and who has a large number of friends over the entire district. The race promises to be a warm one.

THINK BANDITS CAUGHT

By The Associated Press.

ROME, April 8.—Two of the bandits who murdered Robert Lewis Coleman and George B. Delong, American citizens, in Albania, have been killed in a fight with a posse of gendarmes, says a Stefani agency dispatch from Tirana, Albania.

Convention To Mean Busy Day For New-Comers

Heavy Session Planned For Wednesday; First Day's Work Success

With over 1,200 delegates registered at midnight Monday and with one eventful day behind, the second period of the Baptist Organized Bible Classes convention of Texas will get under way this morning. The 1,500 mark, set by convention officials as the probable number of registrations, had not been reached last night but confidence still prevailed that the quota would be surpassed before the sessions end.

A day filled with inspiring addresses by noted Baptists from the entire state, interposed in which were numerous musical numbers, was unfolded Tuesday for the visitors. From the time the convention was officially opened at 9:30 in the morning until the last address had been given last night, something of importance was being enacted. The First Baptist church where all the convention sessions are being held was a hum of activity throughout the day.

The delegates were welcomed to Wichita Falls by Judge John C. Kay, speaking in behalf of Mayor Collier, and by Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church who represented the Baptists of the city. A mutual hope that the visitors, the church and the city would be benefited as a result of the convention was expressed by each of the speakers. The response to the welcoming talks was given by Dr. A. L. Aulick of Austin who warmly thanked Judge Kay and Dr. Powers for the warmth of the reception and the evident sincerity in the wishes expressed that the convention would meet with success.

Included in the speakers of the day were Dr. James T. McNew of Tyler; William P. Phillips, state secretary of the Baptist church; Arthur Flake of Nashville, Tenn., national secretary. All of the addresses concerned some special phase of Baptist Bible class work. More detailed accounts of these will be found elsewhere in this edition.

Another busy day is scheduled for Wednesday with Dr. T. L. Holcomb of Dallas, Dr. H. W. Virgin of Amarillo, Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, Waco; Mrs. Charles R. Moore of Dallas and Dr. Jno. L. Hill of Nashville, Tenn., as the principal speakers in the morning hours. William P. Phillips and Arthur Flake will speak again in the afternoon.

More musical numbers will be provided by Prof. I. E. Reynolds of Fort Worth and H. Virgil Reynolds, pianist, whose song service direction and solo numbers proved a tremendous hit Tuesday.

PROHI ENFORCEMENT PROBE IS MADE

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Condition surrounding the enforcement of prohibition in Illinois, department of justice action in relation to war contracts of the Old Hickory Power company of Tennessee and a mail fraud case in Boston were discussed by witness who appeared today before the senate Daugherty committee.

Details of the Old Hickory case and mention of the mail frauds were given the committee by George W. Storck now an accountant for the department of justice, who told of recommendations that the return of $15,000,000 be sought from the Du Pont interests, as owners of the Old Hickory plant.

"LITTLE GREEN HOUSE" IDEA IS SCOFFED

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Howard D. Mannington was served with a subpoena to appear before the Daugherty investigating committee in Washington on his arrival tonight on board the French liner, Chicago.

In an hour's talk with newspaper men coming up the bay, Mr. Mannington declared all the talk about the "little green house" in K street, Washington, during his residence there, was "ridiculous." He denied that President Harding or former Attorney General had visited him there, although he admitted that William A. Orr had been his guest.

CHARGED ON TWO COUNTS WITH TAKING BRIBES

Junior Solon From Montana In Toils Of Law

OIL MEN NAMED

Claim He Took Money From Oil Operators Before Office

By The Associated Press.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 8.—United States Senator B. K. Wheeler, prosecutor of the senate Daugherty investigating committee, was indicted here today by a federal grand jury on a charge of unlawfully receiving money as a retainer fee to influence the issuance of an and gas prospecting permits by the secretary of the interior and commissioner of the general land office.

With Senator Wheeler were indicted Gordon Campbell, oil geologist and operator, and L. O. Stephenson, oil promoter and principal owner of an oil refinery. Campbell and Stevenson were the discoverers of the Sunburst-Kevin oil field in Montana. Other oil men of lesser prominence also were indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud.

The grand jury charges that on two occasions Senator Wheeler accepted money improperly after he had been elected United States senator, but before he had qualified for office, and on a second occasion agreed to accept money.

The Montana junior senator is accused in the indictment of having taken money from Gordon Campbell and others to secure for them oil and gas prospecting leases giving them the exclusive right to develop oil on government lands for a period of two years.

E. J. Dailey, who was among those who were charged with unlawful use of the mails, was caught in the recent oil cases in Texas hich led to the conviction of Dr. Cook.

Dailey himself was convicted and at present is serving a prison sentence of a year.

John L. Slattery, United States district attorney, who presented the cases to the grand jury, said that a warrant for Senator Wheeler's arrest would be telegraphed to Washington. The technical charge is violation of section 113 of the United States penal codes.

The first sum of money which the jury finds Senator Wheeler accepts was in a sum unknown. This was alleged to have been paid him January 8, 1923, at a place unknown. The second sum of money is alleged to have been $2,000 paid to him at Butte, Mont., January 10, 1923. The third sum $2,000, is alleged to have been paid him February 16, 1923, at Butte.

WHEELER DENIES

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Senator Wheeler in a statement late tonight declared that the indictment returned against him in Great Falls, Mont., was brought "solely for the purpose" of interfering with the senate investigation of the department of justice.

It was convincing evidence, he asserted, that the investigation of the department should go on, and he declared that it would go on because the action in Montana "shows that even with Daugherty out of office his malign influence still moves his old pawns."

The indictment the statement added "was evidently brought at the instigation of the republican national committee officials in connivance with the late attorney general, and in the hope that it will be tried before a judge who was a recent selection of Daugherty."

Former Attorney General Daugherty at the same time authorized the statement that the evidence presented to the grand jury at Great Falls was uncovered by the postoffice department and that the department of justice "had nothing whatever to do" with it.

FLAKE PRAISES BIG CONVENTION

Lauds Big Attendance And Work Done By Local Committees

The Organized Class convention of the Baptists of Texas exceeds in numbers and interest any like convention ever held in the Southern Baptist conference," stated Secretary Arthur Flake of Nashville, Tenn., who was acknowledged by Wm. L. Phillips, convention secretary, to be one of the greatest authorities in the country on the work of organized classes. Mr. Flake addressed the afternoon session of the convention Tuesday on "Building a Great Organized Bible Class."

"The large attendance at this convention is to a great extent the work of Wm. P. Phillips, state Sunday school secretary, who has worked unceasingly to inspire interest among the Baptists of Texas in the conference for this year.

Mr. Flake spoke very highly of the organization of the classes in the local First Baptist church. "Any Sunday school that has a large number of men and women organized into vigorous and enthusiastic classes is bound to have a splendid school from every standpoint, for if the older people are interested and will come, the young people and the children are bound to follow. This is the condition I find existing in Wichita Falls. Entire families here are at work in the various departments.

"The work is growing rapidly all over the Southern Baptist conference. Five years ago there were not a dozen Baptist Sunday schools in Texas with an enrollment of over 1,000 members.

"Today more than 200 Baptist Sunday schools have an enrollment of over a thousand and some run into the four and five thousand class. The organized class is responsible for this increase and organization is progressing each year.

BURK DEATHS

Mildred Rutherford, about one year of age and little foster-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Fred Rutherford, died at an early hour Monday with measles.

The burial took place that afternoon in the Burkburnett cemetery under the direction of A. G. Dunn following the services at the home conducted by Dr. E. L. Finney of the First Baptist church.

A peculiar sadness comes with this bereavement, when it is recalled that these unusual parents adopted this little child from the Texas Children's Aid society when a few months old and while he was in a slow, pitiful condition of development. But by their care, love and attention, she had developed into a beautiful normal baby and was the joy of their older child also adopted from this institution, several years ago.

The sympathy of the many friends of the family go out to them in their sorrow.

Willis Gray Moore, age one year, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore on Holley street early Sunday morning and the remains were shipped overland by A. G. Dunn to Temple, Okla., for burial. The little one died from pneumonia following measles.

DEATHS.

Funeral services for Herbert Simms, 3, who died at the home of his parents on Bridge street Monday night, were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence. Burial was made in Riverside cemetery.

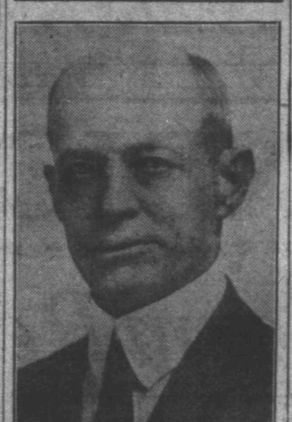

Industrial Accidents Costly.

More than a billion dollars a year is the cost of industrial accidents, which includes enforced idleness, medical treatment and insurance only. The National Industrial conference board has compiled the figures showing the rise from a quarter of a billion dollars a few years ago to the present amount. There were 2,453,418 accidents in 1923, resulting in 21,232 deaths and in the permanent disability of 1,728 persons and 105,629 partially disabled. The total working days lost were 227,269,970.

Meat Bill Mostly For Meat.

Out of every dollar he receives for his product, the American meat packer pays out about 88 cents for his raw material, the livestock as it comes from the farm and range. Out of the margin of 12 cents the packer pays wages, taxes, operating costs and gets his profit. These figures are compiled by the U. S. department of agriculture.

REVENUE BILL ON TO SENATE

Hint Compromise Pending On Mellon Plan

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8. — A movement within the ranks of senate republican regulars for a compromise on the Mellon income tax plan developed today as the revenue bill, carrying the rates in this plan, was ordered sent to the senate by the finance committee.

Senator McCormick of Illinois, a republican member of the finance committee, announced he soon would call a conference of some republican leaders particularly those of the farm bloc, with a view to working out a substitute schedule for the Mellon rates. Proponents of the Mellon plan have admitted, Senator McCormick said, that it cannot be adopted in the senate.

The fight on the bill will center on the income tax rates, as in the house where the Mellon plan was rejected in favor of the Longworth compromise.

The only other contest of consequence looked for now by leaders of both parties will be on the miscellaneous and excise rates, some of which were restored to the bill by the finance committee, after their repeal had been voted by the house.

A bitter contest is anticipated on the income schedule, however, and Chairman Smoot of the finance committee predicted today that a minimum of three weeks would be required for a disposition of the bill by the senate.

BISHOP BOAZ PREACHES TODAY

Speaks At Noon Service And Tonight

Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of the Southern Methodist university, last night made an appeal to Methodists of Wichita Falls to get together and have a fair representation of their church membership out today noon to hear Bishop Boaz of Dallas in his opening midday address here. The service will be at the Palace theatre as yesterday.

Yesterday's service was not as well attended as it might have been and must be to insure the success of the noonday meetings.

Dr. Selecman and Bishop Boaz will alternate in preaching at these meetings, Bishop Boaz being scheduled to preach today.

Bishop Boaz was unable to fill the pulpit at the First Methodist church last night as planned, business of an unusual nature calling him back to Dallas. He returned to Wichita Falls, however, at six o'clock this morning and will preach both at noon at the Palace theatre and this evening at the First Methodist church. Dr. Selecman will preach this evening at the Floral Heights Methodist church.

Presiding Elder F. M. Richardson had charge of the services at the First Methodist church last night during the bishop's absence. They were well attended, despite the concert at the junior college.

These revival services are attracting a great deal of attention in the city and there is every indication that record crowds will hear these two prominent Methodists speak before they leave here on April 30.

BAPTISTS HOLD NIGHT SESSION

Biggest Crowd Of Convention At Evening Program

The full numerical strength of the Tenth Annual Convention of Organized Baptist Bible classes was mustered at the evening session of the convention at the First Baptist church last night when a crowd that filled every nook and corner of the huge auditorium turned out to participate in the arranged program and hear the addresses of Dr. John T. Hill of Nashville, Tennessee, and of Dr. I. E. Gates, pastor of the First Baptist church at San Antonio. Cars that stood parked for blocks around the church told only half the tale of the number participating in Wichita Fall's largest convention, a crowd that was estimated by some to approximate twenty-two hundred.

The meeting was marked by an enthusiasm and an aspect of goodwill that set it apart from the usual congregation of such size. Delegates with hat bands denoting the Rio Grande Valley shook hands with those whose lapel badges testified propinquity to Arkansas. Visitors smiled at visitors and all seemed to understand that the entire resources of Wichita Falls were theirs for the price of asking.

The musical program preceding the addresses was entered into with zest and zeal, the two thousand or more voices seeming to rise as one. The concert band of the Tyler church set an example for the singing and the results were such as have seldom been heard in the churches here.

Following the first part of the musical program Dr. T. L. Holcombe of Sherman spoke briefly on the power and good of prayer. His talk was followed by the presentation of a quartet of young men from Rusk college whose singing was characterized by an unusual earnestness.

Dr. John L. Hill of Nashville then spoke on "The Pedagogy of Christ."

"The Sunday school is the greatest educational institution in the land," he said. "Over twenty million people attend its classes every Sunday. They study from the same textbook, a textbook that points the way to correct living and satisfies a universal need."

He scored those who seek to substitute the so-called scientific theories for the teachings of the Bible.

"There has never been any science without it being founded on the Bible. Science and the Bible are supplementary. It is foolish to endeavor to separate them. Either is needed to complete the other.

"My chief worry is not that Christianity will fall," he declared, "but that these teachings may give Christians a cheap opinion of the human race. If we hold the belief that man sprang from monkeys I cannot see how we can have a very high conception of either ourselves or our brothers."

I.R. HILL

Dr. Hill made mention of the scandal at Washington, declaring that the corrupt practices now in vogue were but the result of one thing, a corruption of heart.

Dr. Hill is the book editorial secretary of the Baptist Sunday school board, Southern Baptist convention, and has his headquarters at Nashville, Tennessee.

Dr. I. E. Gates, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Antonio, followed Dr. Hill on the program. It was under him that the meeting was roused to its greatest enthusiasm, his superb craftsmanship allowing him to inspire at one laughter, tears, and the deepest attention. Following a humorous commentary on the convention and convention folk this self-styled "broncho-buster of the pan-handle" swept his audience down the pathway of the "ol' time religion" and in an inspiring address told them that the only sure way to happiness was through consecration.

"Find a happy man who is not consecrated to service to others if you can," was his challenge. "The man who lives for self has no joys, no hope, nothing to look forward to in this life and still less in the next. I never knew a covetous man to be happy; they are the most miserable of all men.

But the man who lives for others —there is the happy man. The music of Jehovah is in his heart. Consecrate yourselves to service. Believe me, that is the only sure path to happiness."

Giddings-Hendrix Engagement Announcement.

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her sister, Ruth, to Grady Hendrix, the wedding to take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Miss Winnie Giddings entertained at bridge Monday afternoon.

The house was attractively decorated in baskets of violets tied with green maline bows for the occasion and tables were arranged for bridge and "42."

In the games, Miss Thelma Williams was fortunate in bridge and Miss Macie McClure in "42." Miss Gertrude Taylor scored low in bridge while Mrs. W. N. White was consoled in "42." All received pretty favors.

The approaching wedding announcement was made in an attractive and unique manner when guests received as favors, small hat boxes tied with green maline bows inside of which they found an easter egg on which was written the interesting news. The hat boxes were decorated with small bouquets of violets.

Ice cream moulded in the form of Easter lilies and angel food cake was served to the honoree and Mesdames G. D. Anderson, W. E. Fitzgerald, J. R. Young, W. N. White, Sidney Waghorn, M. C. Morris and Misses Evelyn Burks, Macie McClure, Irma Schnelle, Gertrude Taylor, Thelma Williams, Rubye Lannon, Lois Fitzgerald and Bess Doke.

Floral Heights Methodist Circles Meet Monday.

Circles of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Floral Heights Baptist church met in an all day session at the church Monday when the program was opened with a song followed with prayer and Bible study led by Mrs. Felix White. Mrs. J. B. Beggs was in charge of the personal service period and Mrs. J. W. Loving gave a prayer for the internation integrity of the Americans.

Mrs. J. T. Dyke talked on "Seeing South America"; Mrs. W. L. Proctor, on "A Circular Tour"; "Do We Need South America," Mrs. Robert Farmer; "Does America Need Us," Mrs. O. O. Adicks; "Protestant Missions in South America," Mrs. J. W. Loving; "Brazil," Mrs. Tom Wynne; "Argentina," Mrs. E. H. Temple and "Chili," Mrs. F. L. Franks.

The program was concluded with prayer by Mrs. E. H. Temple, after which luncheon was served by members of circle one.

The afternoon session was opened with devotionals led by Dr. J. W. Loving after which a business session was held and a personal service report for the month given as follows: Daily readings and prayers, 497; Christian service, 99; meals, 17; good literature, 1,915; phone calls for the good of the church, 100; kind deeds, 103; garments for the poor, 41; religious talks, 14 and visits to sick and strangers, 15.

There were 26 present.

Altar Society Meets Monday Afternoon.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Doctor R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weaknesses of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all scription as a regulator for the ills peculiar to women.

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

Embroidery Package Goods

One Mother Says:

For several years I have taken advantage of seasonal sales of embroidery-package goods in children's wear. Usually I do not embroider the garments, but remove the transfer marks by laundering. These things, many of them ready-made, are invariably of finer materials than like articles which could be bought otherwise at similar prices.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job | Dorothy Dix | Lays Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

If You Must Have Family Spats, Don't Embarrass Your Friends by Staging the Bout in Public—Quarrel's Place Is in Home.

This is a sad world, mates, with too little sunshine in it, so far be it from me to abridge, abate or curtail any innocent pleasure. But it does seem to me that there are certain diversions that should be indulged in only in the privacy of home.

One of these is the family spat. Apparently a large number of men and women get married for the sole purpose of providing themselves with a sparring partner with whom they can put on the gloves at a moment's notice with, or without, the slightest provocation: Life has no dull moments for them, because they are always saying something that draws blood, or framing a retort that will cut to the quick, and the excitement of a battle to the death is perpetually thrilling their nerves.

Without doubt it is a merry and adventurous existence for the doughty domestic warriors who enjoy that kind of thing! I would not be cruel enough to deny them the cheery pastime of going to the mat over every trivial difference of opinion. But I do contend that conjugal quarrels are an indoor sport that should be pursued only when the participants have sought the seclusion of the cabin grants, as they used to say in "Pinafore," and when all the shades have been pulled down and the keyholes stuffed with cotton.

Possibly the lack of an audience might take off a little of the edge of the bout for the battling husband and spouse; but, oh, how immeasurably it would add to the comfort and happiness of those of us who are innocent bystanders and who are forced to look on, sick with horror, at these encounters!

In all good truth I know of no other situation so miserable and so embarrassing as to be called upon to referee a fight between a married couple. Their quarrel is, to begin with, a matter with which we have no concern; one in which we do not desire to meddle; one in which we ardently wish to take neither side. It makes us feel like cowards to keep silent while a man hurls deadly insults at his wife, and we writhe in vicarious shame while a woman vituperates her husband.

We have the sense of having assisted in an indecent orgy when a husband and wife strip every rag of reserve away from their relationship and fling open the doors of their skeleton closets, and rattle their bones in public. Nor are we consoled by the knowledge that the people who make public exhibitions of their tempers must enjoy doing so or else they would not do it.

Yet we all number among our friends husbands and wives, otherwise estimable and charming individuals, who always stage their fights in the most conspicuous place they can find, and who seem to prefer an audience to privacy.

When you meet them for an evening's diversion they are having a preliminary set-to. Perhaps the husband has come home late from the office, or has forgotten to mail a letter, or possibly the wife has kept her husband waiting while she did her hair over a second time. During the selection of the dinner they get warmed up to the work and put in some punches with real steam behind them. They clinch, and bite, and gouge over the selection of a play, and they reach for each other's vital spots and get in dirty jabs at the supper dance that follows the play.

Doubtless the fighters are enjoying themselves, but a pleasant time is not being had by all. The abashed onlookers know not what to do. They do not know whether to rush in and make it a free-for-all fight or to try to meditate between the warring couple, or whether to pretend to have been suddenly stricken deaf, dumb and blind. And they wind up by feeling outraged that they should have been placed in such a mortifying position, and wishing heartily that husbands and wives would keep their quarrels for home consumption and not inflict them on their friends.

The same structures apply to the woman who henpecks her husband. That also should be one of the quiet home joys that should be strictly confined to the domestic circle.

I raise no voice of protest against the woman who has wit and strength and determination enough to oust her husband out of his position as head of the house and assume it herself. It is a matter between husband and wife, and if he hasn't enough spunk to fight for his rights he deserves to lose them.

But why cannot the bossy women be content with exercising their tyranny quietly and unobtrusively? Why do they insist upon rattling the chains by which they lead their husbands until they call public attention to them?

Think of the women you know who always say "MY house." "MY car." "MY children." Who always walk ahead of their husbands and point out a seat and say, "John, sit there," and who always tell John where to get on and where to go off! And thing how all the rest of us are embarrassed for poor John!

Believe me, dirty linen should be washed at home, and family quarrels staged there. That is one of the main things for which homes are designed.

BIG MONTH FOR COOLIDGE.

Senator Hiram Johnson will lead a forlorn hope at Cleveland. He has to his credit the delegation from South Dakota and all reports go to show that the Californian will not wage a serious contest in the primaries of any state outside of California where his republican enemies are very numerous, very aggressive and led by Governor Friend Richardson, are doing their best to place the voluminous Hi in the grave yard of dead political hopes.

Maine has pledged a solid delegation to President Coolidge and his lieutenants are counting the delegations from Michigan, Illinois, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Ohio without a break. Both factions of the republican party of Georgia landed in the Coolidge band wagon.

Coolidge did not have a lookin in Wisconsin where Senator LaFollette won by a huge majority. There the expected happened. LaFollette always wins in Wisconsin. He is as complete a boss at home as it is possible for a political boss to be. Unless all the signs are misleading, unless a political cyclone as disasterous to politicians as the Japanese earthquake was disasterous to life and property, should happen between now and the merry month of June, Calvin Coolidge will have eighty-five per cent of the delegates to the Cleveland convention and will be easily nominated on the first ballot.

It is all over but the applause, so far as the republican presidential nomination is concerned but there will be a general election in the coming month of November and then the people will name the next president of the United States. On the democratic side conditions are chaotic. There are twenty-eight favorite sons whose names will be submitted to the convention.

It requires two-thirds of all the delegates to name the democratic standard bearer. State after state has declared for uninstructed delegates. Somewhere there is a dark horse in a stable who will walk away with the prize, unless the veteran political leaders and veteran political correspondents of America are false prophets who are unable to read the political signs of the times.

OFFERED A CROWN.

An unknown United States senator addressed a letter to John W. Davis of West Virginia and New York in which he advised that distinguished democrat to give up his legal practice with the House of Morgan, return to West Virginia, get himself elected to the United States senate and in 1928 step from the senate to the presidential chair.

John W. Davis refused to accept the crown proffered in his reply to the unknown senator he declared that he had never violated the ethics of his profession, that he practiced law for pleasure and for profit, that he had many clients in his time of high and low degree and that no client he ever had was vain enough or brave enough to attempt to control his political convictions or shape his philosophy as to life and living. He had no apologies to make for his official career or his private practice, and if the democrats wanted him for a standard bearer they would have to take him on the record that he had made for a third of a century.

John W. Davis of West Virginia and New York is not going to surrender his lucrative law practice; he is not going to return to Clarksville West Virginia to eke out a precarious existence; he is not going to announce as a candidate for United States senator from West Virginia but over in Tennessee a large number of leading democrats are appealing to the rank and file of the party to send an uninstructed delegation to the Madison Square Garden convention ready to work for the nomination of Davis when the hour is ripe for a dead lock to be broken.

There is at least one democrat who has held high office who isn't ashamed of his profession, the fees that his ability has brought him or the clients whom he has served.

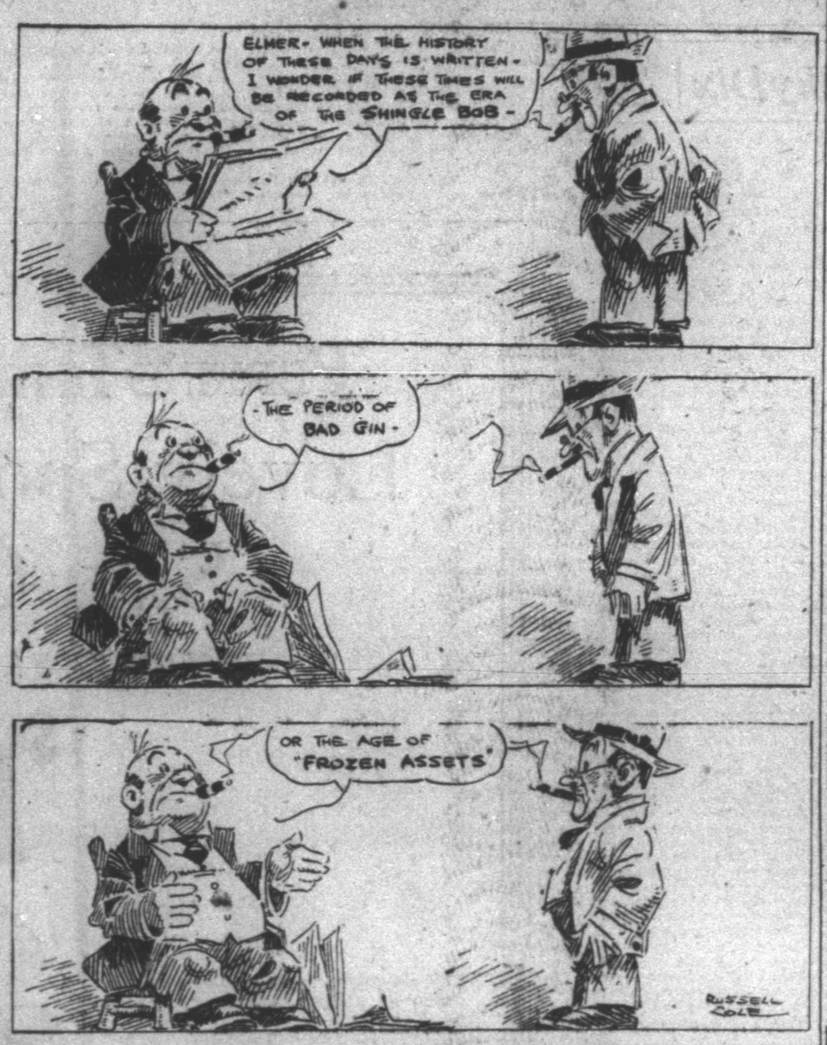

PREPOSTEROUS!

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover's committee finds the census report of August last 429,576 bales too large. This was its estimate of the supply of cotton of the United States for the cotton year which closed July 31, 1923. South Carolina has a dirt farmer, Senator Smith, who is a grower of cotton and who discovered the error. Then it is possible to make figures lie.

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

A SUBJECT FOR THE SCRIBES

The Persistent Lovers

"No you!" said Dick. "No walks, no theatres—nothing of you but letters! What on earth's the good of sea and country if you're not there? Besides, it's all very fine to talk about profit-sharing. Are there any profits in farming in England?"

"How could he offer them if there weren't?" said Audrey.

"Besides," said Joyce, backing her up keenly, "if you live on the farm, think of all the money you can save. No rent and no food to pay for—nothing to spend your money on except tobacco and stamps. You'll have nearly all your hundred at the end of the year."

Dick was not convinced.

"Who is this man Anthony Waring? Suppose we don't hit it off?"

"But you will," insisted Audrey. "I met him once at Mrs. Winkley's. He's an awfully nice man—been out to America and West Africa and India— done all sorts of things—got fever somewhere and settled in Devonshire."

"That's all very well," said Dick; "but we want to make money, lots of it and the only place to do that is the centre of civilization, which is London."

"Blow London!" said Audrey. "I hate it. I'm tired of it, bored stiff with it. I shan't allow you to live in London when we're married!"

"Yes, I see that," said Dick. "But what's going to happen to you when you go home? Your father—"

"Don't you see," broke in Audrey. "If dad loses his temper and insists on my acknowledging that engagement, I can really run away, and you can find me a cottage down the lane—there must be a lane—and I'll—" She broke off and clapped her hands. "Oh, Dick! What an idea! How perfectly gorgeous. Will you accept it? Look here, if you were in another office, and London became unendurable to me, where could I go? You won't marry me."

Dick laughed.

"Of course, I'll take the job," he said. "It's absolutely heaven-sent. "I'll telegraph at once to accept. I only wanted to look at the thing from all sides."

* * *

A thin, dark-eyed man eyed the train as it drew to a standstill.

"Ardley-Manners?" he said.

"Yes," answered Dick.

Anthony Waring held out a thin, brown hand on whose little finger was a gold ring deeply carved with the signs of the zodiac. He was in riding-breeches, thick brown boots, a tweed coat and a cap. His hair was very black, and his face and neck were tanned imperishably. His grip told of muscle, and he looked the picture of lean health. His profile was Grecian, with a fine nose a small mouth, and a clean-curving chin. His age was anything from 30 to 35.

Dick thought he was one of the best-looking men he had ever clapped eyes on.

"Mighty glad to see you.", said Waring.

They went down the train, and found a high gig tied to the railing.

Waring climbed up and took the reins. Dick got up beside him.

Dick and Audrey had traveled up to London together. Together, and rather silently, they had driven across to the station. For 10 minutes they had fidgeted and bought magazines and dropped awkward monosyllables. Finally there was a brief craning from the window for a last glimpse and Dick found himself alone in an empty carriage, an empty world, a desolation unspeakable. Heart-sick, he sat hour after hour, leaving Audrey farther and farther behind. If by strength of her love she could have annihilated time and space, then, he would have thrown pride to the winds and married her penniless.

"Can you drive?" asked Waring.

Dick started. He was still in the depths of misery.

"Yes," he answered. Waring looked sideways at him.

"Anything wrong?"

"Everything!" answered Dick looking frankly into his eyes.

"Girl?"

Dick could make no answer and they drove in silence the rest of the way. Had the youth not been so miserable he might have seen a look of envy in Waring's eyes, mixed with a hint of pain, as if some long-buried memory had been for an instant revived.

After tea, when Dick went to his room, he was surprised to see his evening clothes laid out. Evening clothes in Daw's Coombe! How utterly incongruous, he thought. After dinner he and Waring conversed freely.

"Now that you've got me here—and I suppose I'm the man to talk to—you're content," Dick said. "I'm not. I don't think you've got your money's worth in me, because I'm going to marry just as soon as I've got an income to marry on. How about it? We may as well get down to facts at once."

"Right!" said Waring. "Facts by all means! Six went. Since then I have been doing the work alone. months ago, I found my foreman was dishonest. He It is too big a job for one man, so I decided that I would try to get a friend to join me I wrote to several, but they, for various domestic reasons, were disinclined. Then suddenly I got Mrs. Winkley Smith's letter about you. She didn't tell me that you wanted to get married, but she said some very nice things about you, and I decided that you might be the sort of man whom I could get on with." He paused and looked up at Dick. "You are. May I ask if the opinion is mutual?"

"Yes," said Dick. "Distinctly."

"I am glad," said Waring. "Having settled that most important point, we can now get down to facts, as you say. I'm no philanthropist, Ardley-Manners, and it's only worth my while to offer you a percentage of profits because it will make you work harder, and consequently I shall make more money. Incidentally, so will you. If the girl you purpose to marry isn't dance-mad, like the rest of them, there is no reason why, as you put it just now, I haven't got my money's worth in you. I don't see why you should not do well here. I hope that you'll decide to work with me."

"That's very kind of you," said Dick.

"If your future wife has an eye for nature, she will never find a more beautiful spot than Daw's Coombe."

"Really?"

Waring looked into the fire with a tiny smile.

"There is only one other point," he said.

"What's that?" said Dick.

"Do you think she would invite me to dinner from time to time?"

CHAPTER XVI.

"Why Doesn't She Write?"

A minute after Dick's head touched the pillow, so it seemed, John knocked on his door and told him that it was half-past five. He raised the blinds and saw that there was a drizzle of rain falling.

He went downstairs, where John gave him a cup of coffee and two slices of bread and butter. Breakfast was not till 8 o'clock.

Waring led him through miles of dripping orchards, through hothouses and finally through the dairies and saw more men working, and where were girls working with weird machines which Waring called separators.

Dick was very wet. His mind was a blur of which emerged one great thought—breakfast. On that he wreaked a terrible vengeance.

But all the while, at the back of his brain he felt that something was wrong, and for the life of him he couldn't think what it was.

It was not until he was out in the rain once more that he found out. There had been no letter from Audrey!

When the day dragged through, and there had been no letter by the second and last post, he sought out John.

"Look here," he said, "is there a postoffice in the village?"

"Yes, sir," said John, "but it's closed now. They shut at 6 o'clock."

"Closed? But I want to send a wire. I've got to send a telegram. It's desperately urgent."

John looked sympathetic, but shook his old head.

"The only thing I can suggest is that you should give me the telegram, sir, and I will see that it is sent off first thing in the morning."

So Dick wrote out a long telegram and John took it, promising to be on the door-step of the postoffice as soon as it was opened in the morning.

But a fortnight went by and no word came from her in spite of more telegrams and letters sent by Dick. What could be happening to keep her from writing? Or answering his telegrams? Perhaps the duke had intercepted his messages—was planning to trick her into marrying the atrocious Ivo.

But a girl couldn't be tricked like that nowadays—not such a girl as Audrey, anyhow. Then what was the matter?

CHAPTER

"Nothing Else Mattered."

Waring missed nothing of the emotions which stirred Dick in those blank days. He saw that the younger man was undergoing a severe mental struggle, but he knew that he would reach the crisis without any questions from him. So Dick went through it alone until one night he could bear it no longer.

Waring was playing his violin in the library and the youth opened the door and stepped in.

"I beg your pardon," he said as the elder man stopped playing.

"What is it?" asked Waring.

"I'm going to London tomorrow," the boy announced.

"What for?"

Dick hesitated and Waring laid down the violin.

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

The average man who enjoys the particular work in which he is engaged, and is therefore proud of his effort, is inclined to boast about it. Knowing this the kolume tries to avoid being boastful of its limited accomplishments.

But we have a few things to our credit. Chief among these is the fact that we do not attempt to write Spring Poetry. We are proud of that. For almost everyone does try.

Not that we can not write "what come folks call poetry if we feel so inclined, f'instance:

Spring is here,
Have no fear;
Next is summer
And all indications point to the fact that
She'll be a hummer.

So you see there isn't anything so very difficult about it. It is not necessary, according to the most approved methods, to pay any attention to metre or rhyme, or any of those obnoxious details.

That, at any rate, is the sort of stuff that the editor gets in his mail. And the editor appreciates the fact that everyone is an embryo poet; that the spring air, and the buddling flowers and the trees and shrubs, putting forth their green shoots (where have we heard that before?) demand that every mother's son of us become poet.

As for us, we admit that we can't make the grade, and submit the above bit of "blank verse" as proof thereof. It would be very satisfying and pleasing to the editor if everybody had the same understanding of themselves that he has. But they haven't and he is glad of that, too.

For after all, it isn't so much that you can do a thing, as it is that you think you can, and if you think you can't you are inclined to be afraid of yourself. Which is fatal.

But, please don't get peeved when the lowly editor, who has the job of satisfying all the people all of the time, turns your stuff back with a kindly word. He isn't a poet and he knows it, and he has all the sympathy in the word for other folks that are in his class.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

No doubt the birds sank in the trees,
No doubt the bees were humming,
No doubt the soft and balmy breeze
Proclaimed that June was coming.
No doubt the frogs were piping—but—
My conscience works acutely—
I know I missed a four-inch putt—
I know that, absolutely!

The grass, I'm told, was tender green,
An early thrush was calling,
When I teeds off at seventeen,
The apple blooms were falling.
They say the fairway was aglow,
Where limpid sunshine was aglow,
But all I positively know
Is that I flubbed—and missed it.

Perhaps, as I have heard it said,
Of one warm April gloaming,
Across a background, burning red,
The dark wild geese were homing.
Perhaps the valley and the moor
Were lit with golden splashes,
But I can say that I am sure
I missed two easy mashies.

I think that every misty morn,
When silver-trimmed the course is,
The grass appears like lances borne
By marching fairy forces.
Upon this I shall not insist,
Lest truth may haply suffer,
But I will swear that in a mist
I flub 'em like a duffer.

HAS ANYONE NOTICED IT?

How easily we seem to be getting along without any vice president.

The Fragility of Civilization

By DR. FRANK CRANE

As civilization grows it becomes more fragile.

The existence of life and all the products of life are more precarious today than in any preceding generation.

Any day a madman may assassinate a ruler, throw a bomb into a crowd, or wreck one of our great human beehives full of people.

The other day some one splattered ink on John S. Sargent's "The Synagogue" in the Boston public library. Some lunatic is likely to do the same sort of thing to any of the priceless works of art in the museums of the world to which the public has free access.

All the police and detectives on earth cannot adequately protect. The only protection is the development of the moral control of the people.

And that means the whole people.

Civilization is at the mercy of its weakest and wickedest.

The day is past, if it ever existed, when it sufficed for a few leaders to have intelligence, morals and a sense of responsibility, and the mob could be held in check by force.

The knowledge of fearful poisons, high explosives and dangerous weapons has spread to the commons. And this knowledge has spread faster than the power of restraint over it.

If civilization wishes to save herself it is not sufficient to save a few brands from the burning. It must put out the fire.

The only kind of education that will be an effective insurance policy for society is an education not of the few but of the swarming millions.

This is the reason why civilization is a race between education and disaster.

The motive of former days, that we should try to make people moral and conscientious so that they might get to heaven, is hardly sufficient now. We need to realize that unless we prosecute some vigorous form of evangelism that will increase the moral inhibitions of the people, we are traveling toward destruction.

The schools, Sunday schools and public schools and private schools, are all too few, and the instruction given in them is entirely too faulty.

To save civilization there must be more attention paid to education and what we call education must be deeper and more thorough.

Irrigation

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS
Drains as Ventilators

For a long time waterlogging of the soil was the bain of irrigation projects, and it is still a very serious matter, but not to the degree that it was ten or fifteen years ago. The problem of the drainage of water logged lands has been worked out to a degree that makes reclamation of such land almost a routine matter in the hands of a competent engineer.

Drained, irrigated, farm lands are the best and safest farm lands known.

On such lands the farmer has complete control of his water both on to, and off of the land. This enables him to eliminate many of the elements of chance that must be contended with by the farmer in sections that are dependent upon rainfall.

Not the least of the benefits that accrue through drainage is soil ventilation.

Underground tile drains not only remove surplus water but allow the passage of air into the soil at depths below the root systems of most farm plants.

Drainage will have to come on this irrigation project the same as on most others but it is not a matter that need to cause any alarm.

As good an illustration as can be had of the passage of air through a well ventilated soil can be witnessed at the outlet of an underground farm drain. We have seen currents of air flowing in or out of such drain pipes so strong that a lighted match would be instantly extinguished if held in the draft.

Millions Spent in Cosmetics

The American woman, collectively speaking, spends about $150,000,000 a year in hair nets; $145,000,000 for scented soaps and $63,000,000 for miscellaneous cosmetics. These are the three essential items, but the grand total for all kinds of toilet preparations is $750,000,000.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE.

ARIES.

Today cannot be called an auspicious day out, in spite of conflicting influences, a great deal of useful work may be performed, if self control is maintained. It is well to avoid any risky financial matters, although conserving a consistent optimism.

A child born today will be quite delicate in early years, and as much outdoor life as possible should be prescribed for it. It will be cheerful and bright, and, when strength comes to it in later years, will radiate happiness.

If today is your birthday, you are very satisfied with yourself and your work. You have no reason to be otherwise, as your character is a good one, and you have achieved a fair measure of success. If, however, you would allow others to sound your praises, rather than do so yourself, your position would be much more secure amongst your friends. When one sounds his own trumpet all the time, the music becomes monotonous and disagreeable to what, under other conditions and circumstances might be an appreciative audience.

Your good qualities are so patent; your ability is so self evident, your actions are so correct; that nothing is gained by advertising them yourself to one and all.

Your hard work and steady perseverance have secured success for you in business; your friends, however, become tired of listening to your own recital of your commercial acumen.

In your home life, your family appreciates all you do, and what you accomplish, but is not moved to fervor by your continual reminder of your virtues and ability.

Your relations with the other sex would be happier, if you did not always pay so little attention to the merits of the object of your affection, and lay so much stress on your own.

Real worth and intrinsic merit does not need the encomium of words; it is evident and palpable, and self-laudation detracts rather than attracts.

Successful people born on this date are: John Overton, pioneer and jurist; Andrew Garrett, conchologist; Maria S. Cummins, author; Samuel Fleet Speir, physician; Samuel W. Pennypacker, jurist; Olin Levi Warner, sculptor.

OIL NEWS

GREER COUNTY WELL ATTRACTS OIL OPERATORS

Drilling Is Active In County And Tests Encounter Oil and Gas

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, April 8.—An oil sand found in what is known in this territory as the Haystack well, northwestern Greer county, was found not to produce in paying quantities and the Western Gas company of Tulsa, which recently took over the well, is drilling below the sand at about 2,140 feet.

Another well attracting attention in Greer county is the No. 2 of Kadane brothers in the Willow-Moro district which was drilled through the oil and gas sand there at about 1,060 feet and into another oil sand at 1,460 feet. Fourteen feet of this sand has been penetrated and casing is being set at the top of it for a test.

It is estimated conservatively that the No. 1 Kadane well has a capacity of 9,000,000 cubic feet. This well is producing a small quantity of oil that is said to have a gravity of 42 1-2. Other wells drilling in that area are Kouri Nos. 1 and 2, White and others, Norton and Neal and the Willow Oil and Gas company.

Pawhuska Area Has Good Sand

Special to The Record News.

PAWHUSKA, April 8. — The Pacific Oil and Refining company's well No. 2, which was completed on January 25, just two months ago, on Monday, March 31, made 2,100 barrels of oil, which is close to the average for two months.

The staying qualities of the Atlantic well are giving everyone confidence in the new pool, and it is felt that the new Wilcox sand well will be followed by many others.

The Marland No. 1 struck a big flow of gas at 2,050 feet, estimated at close to 10,000,000 feet, which was mudded off and the wells are both drilling at present at close to 2,200 feet. These are the deepest tests in the field and will be the first of the eight drilling to be brought in.

The Marland company is drilling four wells, the Atlantic No. 2, the Mid-Kansas No. 1 and the Delmar No. 1, at the present time near the discovery well of the Atlantic company.

ARCHER COUNTY LOCATION MADE BY KNIGHT-HINES

Knight and Hines are hauling out rig for test to be drilled in northwest corner of east 80 acres of north 120 acres R. Newman survey No. 10, Archer county. The test will be drilled with rotary to 1,800 feet.

KNIGHT AND HINES DRILLING 1450 FEET

The Knight and Hines' Abercrombie and Wolf No. 1, S. P. R. R. company survey, abstract 415 Archer county, about two miles southwest of the Greene and Flower Brothers' discovery well, block 45 Harris subdivision of the Club ranch, is drilling at reported depth of 1,450 feet.

INTERSTATE MAKES ARCHER LOCATION

The Interstate Refiners, Inc. of Kansas City, are hauling out derrick timbers to location made in northwest quarter of northeast quarter of section 30, American Tribune New Colony Lands survey, Archer county. The corporation has several hundred acres under lease in Archer county.

MAGNOLIA OFFSETS GREENE-FLOWERS

The Magnolia Petroleum company's W. Coffield No. 1, A. J. Richardson survey, Archer county, has derrick erected and is rigging up. The test will be an offset to the south of the Greene and Flowers producer.

INTEREST IN NEW TEST.

Much interest is being displayed in the locality of the Mitchell land, Patience survey, Wichita county, as J. S. Owens announces a 2,000-foot test well in that district, drilling to begin at once, according to leases on and near this territory.

Rigging Up

By SUMMERS

Paying of premiums has been discontinued in several fields of the Mid-Continent district, however there is no indication of a slackening of the general demand for crude petroleum.

There is little distress gasoline in the east this year. One year ago service stations in the eastern states were being offered various inducements to handle products of certain refiners.

During the week new schedules were posted in the Gulf coast and Louisiana districts. It is believed the advance was made because of general demand for crude for all purposes.

Most of the wildcat tests in western Kansas are shut down because of snow that covers that part of the state. Rice and Russell counties are receiving attention from major companies.

The Union Oil company of California is reported opening up a new Pacific coast field at Rosecrans. Water trouble is delaying completion of the company's discovery well.

El Paso financiers are planning a gas line from the border city to the gas fields at Artesia, N. M. Engineers are said to be surveying for the proposed carrier.

A six-inch line extending from the northwest extension of the Burbank field to the Empire company's refinery at Ponca City has been planned. The line will be approximately 23 miles long.

The Skelly Oil company has extended the Graham, Oklahoma, field one mile northwest and 50 new locations have been made in the area during the past week.

Mexican Field Has 20,000 Bbl. Flowing Well

SAN ANTONIO, April 8.—The "Tierra Blanca" oil well No. 23, belonging to the Tuxpan Petroleum company, and situated in the Hacienda of Tierra Blanca, Temapache, Tuxpan, Vera Cruz, came in at a depth of 629 meters with an initial production of approximately 3,180 cubic meters or 20,000 barrels, according to a report given out at the ministry of industry, commerce and labor.

This well is the biggest which has been brought in and its production is expected to multiply considerably when the valve is opened completely. Drilling activities continue at Tierra Blanca, it being said that the region is rich in oil deposits.

Announcement is also made of the coming in of well V-16, belonging to The Tampico Banking Co., situated on lot 31 of the hacienda "El Caracol," Panuco, Ozuluama, Ver. The oil began to flow with 160 barrels daily and is expected to increase.

WINDING UP ON TAX RENDITIONS

With less than three weeks remaining in which to get all city property on the rendered rolls, assessors from the city tax office are making their last sweep for the purpose of bringing in as many renditions as possible. This work was started two weeks ago and is now in the final stages.

All taxable property in the city not now on a rendered roll and which is not turned into the assessor will go on the unrendered rolls and hence be subject to assessment and taxation in the discretion of the tax assessor and collector.

HENRIETTA SCHOOL BOARD CHOSEN

HENRIETTA, April 8.—The newly elected members of the board of education qualified today by taking the oath of office and assuming their duties. They are R. J. Brown, Mrs. E. C. Carter, A. V. Slagle and Jim Alcorn. The new board elected Carl Olsen, the oldest member in point of service on the board, and one of the most popular men in Henrietta, as president of the board. A. V. Slagle was elected secretary. The public schools in Henrietta are regarded as among the best in the state compared with other cities of the same size.

LULING FIELD HAS BIG WELL

Marines Company Brings In Extension to Guadalupe District

By International News Service.

LULING, April 8.—Another fine well in the Guadalupe county extension to the Luling oil field is the Marines No. 11 of the United North & South Oil company, Inc., just completed for a production of 4,000 barrels of pipe line oil per day. Right behind it came the Marines 12 estimated as good for 2,000 per day and Leopold Marines, the Mexican on whose land the discovery well in Guadalupe county was brought in, is taking his place among the big royalty owners of the oil field district.

The No. 1 Marines (first called Lopez through an error) was a very small well and there was some water with the oil, but as the locations were made higher up on the structure and the drillers learned more about where to set their casing the wells were made better and better, and with one 10,000 barrel well flowing and two others that are rated above 4,000 each the field is rapidly taking on a big money aspect and more rigs are being rushed out for drilling there as all of the companies fight to get the flush production.

Drilling in started Friday on the Allen No 9, located next to the No. 8 on the same lease which is the big well of the entire Luling field, and as the No. 9 gave trouble with gas and oil before the casing was set, it is confidently expected to be as big or bigger than the No. 8.

The old No. 2 Allen clear across the road from the other two, which was the wild well of the field for several days, is still uncontrolled, heavy gas pressure and heads of oil keeping the drillers from making any progress with their work there and many who have kept up with the progress of the efforts there do not believe that it will be possible to bring it under control and get the casing set.

The production from this well during the six days that it ran wild was estimated at from 5,000 barrels up, and pickup station men below the well have reaped a rich harvest from the oil wasted in efforts to bring it in.

Visitors' Viewpoints

"Wichita Falls has developed into quite a city," T. E. Grates of Gilmer, Texas, who is attending the Baptist convention, said Tuesday after his arrival with the delegation from east Texas.

"This city will always be alive and prosperous," he prophesied, "because it has two things to depend on—its oil and its agricultural lands. Should there be a failure in one, the other will keep the country prosperous."

$25 FINE FOR STREET MASHER

A fine of $25 was assessed Tuesday morning in corporation court against the man, who, it was alleged, had insulted another man's wife last Sunday night and thus converted himself into a highly mobile target for the irate hubby. The masher entered a plea of guilty to charges of disturbing the peace and drew the $25 penalty. The shooting which was followed by his arrest took place at Tenth and Scott late Sunday night.

Other matters called for the attention of the court included only a few vag, dunk and traffic violation cases.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN MACHINE SHOP

Fire starting from an overheated furnace in the Wichita Foundry and Machine Shops, 310 Barwise, caused approximately $15 damage at 6:30 Tuesday morning. The flames, which broke out in the roof, were extinguished by firemen from the Central station before they had had an opportunity to spread.

No other alarms were turned into the fire stations during the day.

Local Refiner To Join Ranks Of McCorkle Co.

Ira E. Wells, refinery superintendent, Panhandle Refining company, and formerly with the Evans-Thwing interests, Kansas City, is to join the McCorkle Pipe Line company, April 15, and take charge of 20,000-barrel daily capacity skimming plant at Aransas Pass, according to plans of the McCorkle Pipe Line company officials.

The Texas purchasing department of the McCorkle corporation will be located in the Burkburnett building Fort Worth.

Mabel Strickland Will Feature Burnett Rodeo

Mabel Strickland, America's greatest cowgirl, winner of the Hotel McAlpin trophy at the Cheyenne, Wyoming, Frontier Days, star of the New York rodeos and for several years a big favorite with rodeo fans of this section, will be one of the contestants at the Triangle Ranch rodeo which will be staged on Tom L. Burnett's ranch April 24-27, it was announced Tuesday.

Mabel is said to be the world's greatest cowgirl trick rider besides being one of the most fearless cowgirl bronc riders in the country, and holding the title of world's champion cowgirl relay race rider, she is a horsewoman who is always in form and whose clever work never fails to win tremendous applause.

The accomplishments of Mabel Strickland in the rodeo arenas of America in the past few years have been such as to give her almost an international reputation and with her other former accomplishments she is also said to be the greatest lady steer roper living and holds a record of 22 seconds for roping and tieing a long horn which is just five seconds slower than the world's fastest record for men ropers.

Work on the big special arena on the Triangle ranch, midway between Iowa Park and Electra, is well under way and will be completed next week while the venders of pink lemonade, hot dogs and hamburgers are staking out their claims and getting ready for the rush.

Tom L. Burnett, the producer, has stated that he will leave no stone unturned in order to make the second annual Triangle Ranch rodeo one of the biggest cowboy sports contests ever staged in the southwest.

$1,000 JUDGMENT AWARDED PLAINTIFFS

A judgment of $1,000 was awarded the plaintiffs Tuesday in the case of James Brothers vs. Smith, on trial in the 30th district court and in which payment of notes was sought. The verdict was returned Tuesday afternoon.

It was alleged by the defendant that an automobile he had purchased from the plaintiffs was not as represented and that hence he was not obligated to make the payments. The jury held, however, that the car was as represented and that the payment should be made.

Complete Evidence Today in 78th Trial

Evidence will be completed today in the case of J. C. Parker vs. M. J. Bashara, et al, on trial before Judge E. W. Napier and a jury in the 78th district court, in which the plaintiff seeks collection of approximately $2,500 alleged to be due him as commission on a sale of some oil properties.

The case was opened Tuesday morning and indications were last night that it will be concluded Wednesday morning.

BRALLEY RECOVERS STOLEN PROPERTY

Two large cans of lard and a quantity of canned goods, stolen within the last two weeks from box cars on sidings at the Goodner Wholesale Grocery warehouses were returned to the owner Tuesday by Juvenile Officer W. G. Bralley. A 16-year-old boy from whom a confession of the theft has been obtained, is now held in jail awaiting transfer to the boys training school at Gatesville.

A week ago Sunday a car was broken open and the canned goods taken. Last Sunday another car was opened and the lard removed. Mr. Bralley was notified of the losses and immediately set to work on clues which resulted in the capture Tuesday.

The boy was found in his home in north Wichita.

Christ's Power Is Selecman Theme

"I would despair for humanity if I did not believe that Christ had brought into the world that miraculous, transforming power that is lifting humanity out of the commonplace things of life and pointing the way toward true standards of Christianity," declared Dr. C. C. Selecman at the Floral Heights Methodist church Tuesday night in the second of his revival sermons.

A crowd that filled the church auditorium was on hand to hear Dr. Selecman's address.

Taking for his text the second chapter of St. John, which is the account of the wedding feast at Coun of Galilee, Dr. Selecman said in part as follows:

"Jesus by his presence at the wedding feast manifested a wholesome interest in human affairs. It is a mistake to undertake to confine Jesus and his work to ecclesiastical life or to imprison him within the four walls of the sanctuary. His mission is as broad as human life and as deep as human hunger. Today we see him at a wedding feast. Next we see him at the seaside, or in the market place. the seaside, or in the market place or in the open field where a man is sowing grain.

"Jesus always improves human affairs, always turning water into wine. This wedding feast had been a failure had Jesus not been there. But he wrought a miracle to save it from a very humiliating condition.

"Many are inclined to think of Jesus as one who spoils the feast, but that is false. He always serves, blesses, multiplies and improves. By Him homes are made safe, pure and happy; society is made bright and wholesome; business honest and progressive, and all life is raised to new levels of joy and power.

"Jesus reverses the order of human affairs, ever reserving the best till the last. This was the surprise of the guests of Cona, it is the perenial surprise of the ages. Saints have ever rejoiced in the upward progress of the kingdom. The song they sing is, it is better further on. The best is yet to be. Today is better than yesterday and tomorrow will be better than today. The world is rolling toward the rising sun. It is daybreak everywhere.

"Finally Jesus reverses the order of human affairs by the introduction of a miraculous element. He is the wonder worker of today, transforming human character and abolishing sin, weakness and death."

Cow Helps Boy to College.

Harry A. Knight of Forest City, Ark., is going to college on the proceeds of a cow he bought when a boy of 14 for $100. By the sale of her calves, her milk and butter he increased his bank account so that he could buy other cows and his herd is now valued at $2,500 on the hoof, and his income per month from the herd is $150, or more than enough to maintain him in college. He has never accepted aid from his bank or friends since starting his herd.

Cowe Found "Highly Idealistic."

Emile Coue, world famous for his "day by day in every way" movement, on his most recent trip to the United States underwent a psychology test at Birmingham, Ala. He was found to be highly idealistic, only a fair mathematician and scientist, of tremendous imagination, being adequate in the time of music, but "off" in tone, and his being very sincere.

CITY, CHURCH GREET CROWDS

Official Welcomes Given At Morning Sessions By Kay and Powers

The tenth annual session of the Baptist Organized Bible class convention began Tuesday morning with J. C. Hale of Tyler, president of the Organized Bible classes of Texas presiding. The meeting opened with the assembly led in singing by Prof. I. E. Reynolds of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, with H. Virgil Reynolds of Nixon at the piano.

The delegates to the convention were welcomed by Judge John C. Kay in the absence of the mayor. "It is a pleasure to greet you on behalf of the city of Wichita Falls. You can see our material prosperity. You can see the things we have done in a commercial and material way, but the unseen things are more," Judge Kay said, and, continuing:

"We greet you for we know what you are and for what you stand, all that is righteous and best, and that you are trying to aid us and that we are trying to aid you. I hope you have a good time here. The city will be open to you. This is a broadminded, liberal, and generous people, and we are glad to have you and we hope you will gain profit and pleasure. It is our hope that when you leave, you will go away with a kindly feeling for Wichita Falls and a loyalty to Jesus Christ."

"The pastor and members of the First Baptist church of Wichita Falls extend a cordial welcome to the officers and members of the Organized Bible classes of Texas meeting with them April 8, 9, and 10," Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, said in welcoming the visitors to the city. "In the name of this church, I welcome you. Our hearts and our homes are open and we give you the keys. We want you to have the very best home possible while you are among us, and will do everything in our power to see that you do."

"We are proud of our church," Dr. Powers said, "and it is only through its noble, generous hearted members that we have this structure costing $450,000.

"At this time when I look at this assembly, two well-known passages of scripture come into my mind. Teaching them to observe all things, and the 'Truth shall make you free.'

"The conception of humanity must come from you. Baptists think and I realize that teaching will uphold the responsibilities that have been placed on you. What we do in foreign fields, in the south, anywhere, depends on you, the delegates and teachers of the Organized Bible classes."

Dr. A. L. Aulick of Austin, pastor of the University Baptist church, gave the response. "We, the representatives of Texas, come from a thousand villages, cities, ranches, farms and mining camps, from every class in this great state, come this morning to accept your greetings. We come that we may get inspiration and we refuse to be disappointed. We are here that in the multitude of counsel there is wisdom. As Socrates said, 'Let us put our heads together.' It is the Biblical interpretation that is the only solution of our problems today. Every nation is built on its conception of God and man, and no nation rises above its ideals and idealism.

"On beha of the delegates gathered here from all Texas we accept your welcome and the warmth of it with our hearts and our hands, and may the life of the town be bettered by our visit."

Mrs. W. L. Day, delegate from the First Baptist church of Paris, delighted the assembly by singing a spirational solo. Congregational ing was again led by Professor nolds.

Mr. Hale, president, announced committee on the awarding of banne including: Edgar Williamson, Fo Worth, chariman; Miss Mary Vi ginia Lee, Nashville, Tenn.; Marshal Barrett, Dallas; Mrs. J. R. Homer of Hillsboro; and Mrs. J. F. Cuero of Gainesville.

Announcement was made that the banner on attendance be awarded this year not to the class having the most attendance, but to the church.

The first address of the morning session was made by Dr. T. L. Holcomb of Sherman. Other speakers included Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, and Dr. James T. McNew, pastor of First Baptist church, Tyler.

Ignorance Excuses No One.

If you haven't learned about Black and White Ointment which is doing such almost miraculous things for people who had tried many things in desperation trying to get rid of pimples, blotches, bumps, eczema, "breaking out," etc., your friends, and people who see you, won't excuse you for still having these ugly things all over your face, neck, arms or hands. Nearly two million packages of Black and White Ointment are being used a year, which just proves its wide use and tremendous popularity with the people whose skin it has cleared up.

Any dealer can supply you. So there is no excuse to keep being bothered with your skin troubles. The 50 size contains three times as much as the 25c size.—adv.

KOPP, WOBIDO, FAULCONER FOLLOW ED CROZIER; WRIGHT AND OSBORN TO PITCH TODAY

The Minneapolis Millers are booked to open their three-game series this afternoon at Athletic Park, game to be called at 3 o'clock. Minneapolis will play through Friday, and give place to St. Joseph for games on Saturday and Sunday. This will end the exhibition season at Wichita Falls.

John "Lefty" Wright and Bob Osborn will go on the mound for the Spudders today, announced Buddy Tanner, Tuesday. The southpaw will start the first fracas, and Osborn will be sent in to finish.

The Millers will be the only class AA team to make appearance here this year. St. Jo will be another of the Western loop, with which the majority of games here have been played.

...as League Prexy Visits

President J. Doak Roberts of the Texas league was a visitor to Wichita Falls, Tuesday. The league prexy was just up from Dallas and Fort Worth, at which latter place he saw part of a ball game, Monday.

President Roberts is making his rounds of the league towns before official opening. His is the name to be seen on the Opening Day Trophy, on display at Tipton's Drug, and he wants to see everything start off right great style.

Recently in south Texas, he found that teams there have great respect for the Spudders. These towns believe Wichita Falls must be beat, before they get anywhere, he said.

In his own opinion, Tanner's club is looking good. Through the warm afternoon yesterday he sat in the stand and watched with interest the regular yannigans game, and the practice thereafter.

Opening day will probably find him at Dallas, and the following day at Fort Worth, to see the games between the Cats and Steers, he stated. Later, he is promised to be in Galveston their first day at home.

YANNIGANS EVEN WITH REGULARS

The most ideal conditions yet encountered by the Spudders candidates was billed out for them yesterday. And they hopped on it, might and main, in preparation for Minneapolis today.

A practice game of the short innings variety was engaged in in the afternoon, in which the yannigans evened the series by the score of 11 to 6. This despite the fact that Tanner's regulars slammed out three circuit clouts.

"Big Chief" Virgil Chevres was on the mound for the regulars, and although putting more into his work than at any other time since his arrival, the books were fixed against him. A long series of singles, walks, etc., started the rookies off on a spree, from which the regulars never recovered.

Dick Morgan threw for the irregulars, and although touched shrewdly, stayed with the job enough to win the game. His one bad inning was not so disstrous as that similar one of his contemporary.

Manager Tanner got his home run for the day. It was a solid crack, the sphere sailing with room to spare over left field fence. The pilot also got a two-bagger, a hot one to left center field.

Pete Turgeon and Howard Fitzgerald were the other two home run hitters. Turgeon's flew over left field fence, while Fitzgerald's was stretched into four bases inside the park center field. Howard took advantage of a bad throw to third and made his way safely to home.

The hot sun streamed down on the busiest scene staged here in many long days. Those not yet in correct condition were rolling off their extra averdupois, while those few already at the fit mark were out of luck. The skipper maintains that only a few more days like these and there will be a new bunch of men at Athletic park.

Officials as well as the manager are well pleased with the way things are showing up. All those on the injured and sick list but Schwab are now out and going. Kleks are coming out of the old suppers and batting eyes grow daily more numerous and better.

"Give the boys a few more looks at a curve ball and their batting will be better and better," says Buddy Tanner.

Schwab is out taking his workout giving the grand rub to his teammates and looking over the improvement of the club. Meanwhile, his position is hard to fill, although Fitzgerald and Locker have been doing nicely.

Fitzgerald may start today at the initial sack, for he is being given plenty of chance to show what kind of first baseman he is.

TEXAS TRACKERS WORK FOR MISS.

Crack Southern Team Doped To Give Longhorns Trouble

AUSTIN, Texas, April 8.—Coach Clyde Littlefield's track team will start practice Monday for their big intersectional meet of the year. The Longhorns are scheduled to meet Mississippi A. & M. in Austin, Saturday, April 12. The Mississippi team won the distinction of being southern champions last year and were winners of second place in the national meet held in Chicago last June.

This nationally famous Mississippi team has many noted performers. Their greatest star is Cochran, a 440-yard runner, who won first place at the national meet in 1923 and who has been the southern champion for the past two seasons.

Cathell, a discus thrower, won first place in the southern meet and took second place in the Chicago national meet. Priester, another of the best-known stars, throws the javelin 190 feet. The Mississippi team has two mile runners who finished at meet, their best record being four minutes and thirty two seconds. Bronson has proven a winner in the high and low hurdles and in the high jump.

The Longhorns will be at a disadvantage against such a galaxy of stars. Frequent baseball games and student celebrations on Cark Field have deprived the track team of many practice sessions. Coach Littlefield intends to work the squad overtime in preparation for the intersectional meet.

Kenneth Hackler, star Longhorn dash man, who has been on the injured list for two weeks, may not be in good condition for the Mississippi meet. His absence would greatly weaken the strength of the Longhorns.

"Upon the showing of the squad in the Mississippi contest Saturday will depend the probable success of the Longhorns in the Kansas meet in Lawrence April 19," according to Coach Littlefield.

Wichita, Harrold And Iowa Park In Track Meet Today

A three-cornered track meet between Wichita Falls, Iowa Park and Harrold high school teams will be held at Iowa Park this afternoon, it was announced Tuesday. First events are scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock.

The track and field tournament will have no bearing upon the interscholastic race or the district meet to be held at Iowa Park next week. Coaches however, will have a good chance to see how their teams compare with competitors, as well as how the individual men may be counted on.

Wichita Belated.

Iowa Park and Harrold have already taken honors in meets this spring, while the Coyote thinly clads are yet in embryo as concerns a team. Iowa Park won the class B honors at the recent Wichita county meet held at Burkburnett, while Harrold made high showing at the Wilbarger county tilts.

Wichita Falls, counted a county unit in the state interscholastic league, has had no preliminary efforts to attend. Further, bad weather has kept the cinder-path candidates under cover when they should have been hard at work. The last few days of sunshine Coaches McCallum and Hall have been using to best advantage.

Coyotes.

Some of the men to be tried out this afternoon for Wichita Falls are: Baldwin, last year high point man at the state meet; Smith, West, Presson, Beaty, Neal. A score of hopefuls, most of them new in the lists here, are doped to produce new names in the Wichita Falls track roll.

At Iowa Park, Davis, Hill and Van Horn are probably the best bets.

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.

The Spudder camp is getting smaller, but louder.

It has got so now you may now and then pick out an individual and remember who, what, etc., about him.

Prexy Roberts of the Texas league was a visitor Tu. day. He sat in the stand and took lots of interest in the hopefuls. He also stated that he considered the Spudders a good club.

Furthermore, President Roberts brought word that south Texas towns have great respect for Wichita Falls this season. They have made up their minds that the Spudders have got to be beat, he reported.

There are lots of Baptists in the city, along with the usual crowds these days. Roberts inquired if the town wasn't over fifty thousand population, being informed that it is—over. He said he wouldn't forget this is now a big city and would make reservations before coming in again. Looked like he would have to sleep with a bunch of these Baptists last night, after riding up on the train with a crowd of them, he added.

Chief Virgil Cheeves took hold on the local situation yesterday and pitched baseball for all he could. The chief was noticeably one of the hardest workin, men on the lot. It does good for the boss of 'em all to drop around, if that was it.

Cheeves had a wicked delivery, and should have come off better than he did.

The batting eye has arrived, a whole, entire, new shipment. Had the weather man talked better, and earlier, there would have been played more games, and more fun.

Skipper Tanner was all joyed up again about his club, yesterday. Remarking on the good credit given the club at other places, he finished it by saying the Cats will not get off any too light.

Look out, Jakie, we are here.

Buddy Tanner will be accorded the silver baseball if he turns the Cats back, no foolin'. And as for having the materal and the club to do it—somebody would be surprised.

Pete Jargeon is still hammering all kinds of blows to all corners. The new shortstop is also giving the fielding job fits.

Martin Callaghan is one more new man doing lots of nice things. The outfielder will bear watching, being a n tural ball hawk.

TO MEET TRAMMEL

RAY MAYWOOD.

Ray Maywood, Detroit, with his manager, Edwin Fitzgerald, have arrived in town to look over the local situation. The two report many juicy stories about the socking Duke Trammel, but state that Duke will be hit on the jaw before it ends.

Maywood is to fight Trammel the final ten rounder on the Legion boxing card, Thursday night.

Manager Fitzgerald is particularly proud of the fact his fighter has a decision over John Drummie, who once beat Bennie Leonard. Also, it is no secret that Maywood has won twice over Chick Brown, the southpaw. First of these two was fought in New Haven, when the Detroit boy landed a k-o the second round. Number two was a decision for Maywood, at Boston. At Memphis, Tenn., Maywood won a decision and a draw in two bouts with Kid Dugan. Another commendable fight for Ray was at Akron, when he was given the decision over Billy McCann, the boy who was never knocked out.

Afternoons at three o'clock, the Detroit welter and challenger to all Duke Trammel's laurels, works out at the Legion hall. He looks to be a good boy with the gloves, which he will need to be.

"Make Your Stand on Bible" Is Dr. Brooks' Plea to Convention

"If a man is in trouble with his government, he makes his last stand with the constitution. If he is in trouble with his state he turns to the state constitution, so we as Christians should make our last stand in the Holy Bible. We could not make ourselves Sunday school teachers unless that book was a source of our teachings," Dr. S. P. Brooks said in an address Tuesday morning at the convention of Baptist Organized Bible Classes, when he gave a message to Bible teachers.

"Nothing ever happens," Dr. Brooks said, "but that there is a cause for it all. The Bible, the book that is fundamental to us has in it, "In the beginning, God." My mind is at rest, and teachers may be at rest on that great truth. The infinite mind can do what the finite mind cannot. God made this world in his own way, and I am not bothered about it. How God could make something out of nothing, I cannot explain, but I accept it. I submit that if God can create a world, he can create a man out of the dust. I speak it reverently, he made the first man, and he has made men since them, and he is still making them. It is as great a miracle to say that a baby is born as a man is created.

"I would not let the students in the Sunday school classes be bothered about these things, but have them learn the fundamental thing—God. I ask your teachers to explain these things to your students by turning them to the Bible. I try to keep my classes reverential toward God.

"In the last few years, I have come to a realization of what God is, a conception not had in my youth. God is a spirit, everywhere, all the time. You never will get your students to think God an animal or a mighty man. He is a spirit.

"It is important that the teachers keep the nearness of God close in his heart. Each of us is a personality, for God is a personality, and we are made in his image, and let me remind you that teachers lead men to Christ. Remember that nothing ever happens, it all goes back to God.

"If you study the Bible, and if your heart goes with what your brain suggests, we will win the world for God."

Modern Portia Triumphs.

When Charles Eyles, charged with fraud, was arraigned in Old Bailey in London, he was asked to select a barrister for his defense. Looking over the small crowd of barristers present, he pointed to one and said "that young man," who turned out to be Mrs. Helena Normanton. He was found not guilty. Judge Atherley-Jones at the conclusion of the trial commended the young woman for her skill and urbanity.

Much Flax Seed Is Imported.

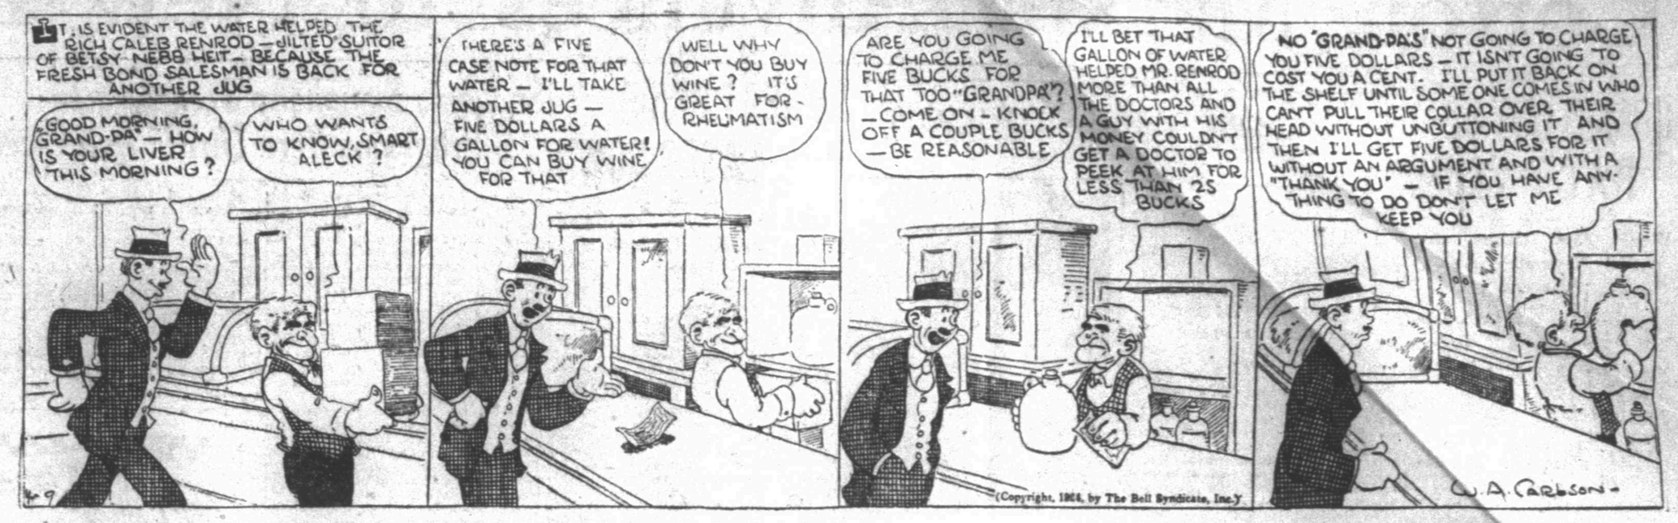

Scarcely more than 50 per cent, of the flax seed required for America is raised on her own soil. For years the American farmer has been deficient in this respect. He receives from $2.21 to $2.61 a bushel for his product and the duty on the imported article is more than 40 cents a bushel, with prospect of an increase. This duty is represented in the increased cost of a gallon of linseed oil to the extent of about 12 cents.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Yesterday's reactions not only were recovered, but the cotton market advanced into new high ground for the movement on old crop months today. May sold up to 31.25, an advance of 180 points from Monday's closing quotation and 187 points from the low level of the morning. May closed at 31.10 with the general market barely steady at net advances of 75 to 165 points.

The opening was unchanged to 21 points lower, under continuation of yesterday's realizing or selling for a reaction. This was encouraged by a favorable weather map and rather an easier futures market in Liverpool, but as soon as the initial offerings had been absorbed prices turned upward on bullish spot advances and reports that there had been further sales of about six thousand bales for export out of the local stock. Covering by near month shorts became more urgent and excited as prices worked upward without meeting an increased supply of contracts, and July sold at 29.99 or 170 points net higher. Active new crop months sold 81 to 101 points net higher and the close was about 10 to 20 points off from the best under realizing.

Exports today 9,912, making 4,731,880 so far this season. Port receipts 11,042. U. S. port stocks 597,454.

A. and M. Food Specialist In City Saturday

Miss Berniece Claytor, food specialist of A. and M. college of Texas will arrive in the city Saturday for a few days and will assist Miss Georgia Lansford, county home demonstration agent, in the work of establishing hot lunches in rural schools.

The members of the Home Demonstration club of County Line will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. O. A. Wittenbach to learn under Miss Lansford's direction, the best methods of making hot breads.

The Bowie Home Demonstration club will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Bowden, Miss Lansford in charge to study hot breads also. The two clubs are preparing for the biscuit contest to be held between the Home Demonstration clubs of Wichita county in July.

In Wichita county during the month of March, three new Home Demonstration clubs were organized by Miss Lansford, one at Barwise rural school with an enrollment of 19, another in the Fairview district near Burkburnett numbering 15 members, and one composed of 17 members of the Lakeview and Allandale districts which is called the "Lakedale" club.

The 15 clubs in Wichita county under Miss Lansford's direction, have done splendid work during the winter. Nine of the organizations are boys and girls clubs and six are composed of women. Since November first, the women of the county have canned 16 beeves with a total of 3,240 cans. They have studied costume design and have constructed six dress forms for their use in sewing.

During the conducting of a successful school of millinery by Miss Lansford, the women made 53 hats, none costing over $3.00, the finished products being beautiful and well made.

Wild Driver Ford Damages Car; Is Being Held Now

A Ford coupe was nearly demolished and a Ford tool pusher badly damaged when the latter machine, after a speedy flight out Tenth street, crashed into the former as it stood parked at a curb near Kemp boulevard late Tuesday night. The driver of the tool pusher is now held in the city jail, charged with intoxication and also facing charges of possession of liquor. It was stated that several bottles were found in his machine.

The chase started at Tenth and Van Buren when Motorcycle Officers Griffin and Bentley glimpsed the car racing out Tenth. They ran along beside, but the driver paid no attention to their commands to halt. The car was wide open, officers said, when it was brought to an abrupt halt.

Police failed to get the name of the owner of the demolished coupe.

Stage and Screen

By JOSEPHINE FISK

STRAND—Anita Stewart in "The Great White Way."
OLYMPIC—Corrine Griffeth in "Lilies of the Field."
MISSION—Chas. Jones in Hell's Hole."
GEM—Herbert Rawlinson in "Stolen Secrets."
GARDEN—"Shifting Sands."

Lilies of the Field.

It is seldom that we see a photoplay so near perfection as "Lilies of the Field," a First National picture which began a four-day engagement at the Olympic Sunday. In many cases the story is flawless, but the acting mediocre; in other instances superb acting is marred by a weak story or haphazard direction. But in this production every element entering into the making of the picture is cameo-like in its brilliancy.

In the first place Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle are co-starred Those who have seen this talented pair together in "Black Oxen" will need no further explanation. Suffice it to say that in our opinion the screen can boast of no happier combination of "lovers" than these two. And they have been blessed with ideal roles.

Then there is the story, which is based on the successful stage play by William Hurlburt. Breathing a theme that will strike home to everybody, it has been welded into a living thing that will cause you to remember it for years. It is a closely knit love story, now evoking a tender smile, now bringing a tear through the sheer power of its pathos. In short, it is ideal motion picture entertainment. And Director John Francis Dillon, the creator of "Flaming Youth," has interpreted it with lifelike fidelity.

The supporting cast is a rare assemblage of popular players. In it are such well known screen favorites as Sylvia Breamer, Myrtle Stedman, Craufurd Kent, Alma Bennett, Charles Murray, Phyllis Haver, Cissy Fitzgerald, Edith Ransom, Charles Gerrard and Dorothy Brock.

"Lilies of the Field" is a First National picture, which is another guarantee of excellence.

Walter Hiers, the Serious Comedian.

A fat man actor.

There is one fat man in dramatic work, and he does comedy, but it's not slap-stick. He puts the comedy in comedy-drama. He has furnished the comedy relief in many dramatic productions—who is he?

Walter Hiers, the man whose motto is, "laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone"—Walter Hiers, star of the Paramount pictures, "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime" and "Sixty Cents an Hour" and featured in George Melford's "Flaming Barriers," is the man of whom we speak—Walter of the generous girth, who comes to the Olympic tomorrow in his latest starring picture for Paramount, "Fair Week."

Hiers is practically the only fat man in dramatic work—not that he plays dramatic roles—not by a long shot. His part is to put the laughs into a picture. "Fair Week" is a comedy-drama, with the accent on the comedy. It's the funniest thing Hiers has ever done, but there's drama, too, don't fool yourself about that—if rescuing a little girl, while hanging by your knees from the trapeze of a swaying balloon over a thousand feet in the air, means anything.

Constance Wilson, sister of Lois, and who also played in "The Covered Wagon," is Mr. Hier's leading woman. Others in the cast are J. Ferrell MacDonald, Carmen Phillips and Mary Jane Irving.

Rob Wagner directed the production.

Sleeps 12 Hours.

So rigid were the physical demands made upon Charles Jones during the production of "Hell's Hole" the William Fox super special, which comes to the Mission theatre today that the Fox star found it necessary to sleep twelve hours each night.

"And that's no exaggeration nor any fun, either," said the robust hero of melodrama. "For four months during the making of the picture, I had time for but two things—work and sleep—and let me say, that dividing one's day into just two periods, one for rest and other for restlessness, is an ordeal.

"People may accuse movie stars of an easy life, but had they seen the labor we put into 'Hell's Hole,' they would think otherwise. Never in my life was sleep so welcome as it was after a day's work on location, and twelve hours wasn't always sufficient."

"The Great White Way" New Big Broadway Film.

"The Great White Way," Cosmopolitan's "surprise" picture woven in and around life on Broadway, will have its premiere in this city today at the Strand theatre. The new film, picturized from H. C. Witwer's popular story, "Cain and Mabel," is the first motion picture ever presented which accurately draws a graphic illustration of the world's most famous thoroughfare and those persons who bask in its artificial light.

In bringing to the screen this pulsating story of a phase of New York life, the Cosmopolitan corporation has assembled a brilliant all-star cast to impersonate the characters created by Witwer. The cast includes Anita Stewart, as Mabel Vandergrift, the dancing star and toast of Broadway; Oscar Shaw in the role of Joe Cain, world's welterweight champion; T. Roy Barnes as the breezy press agent, and Tom Lewis, Dore Davidson, Harry Watson, Olin Howland, Hal Forde, Stanley Forde and Billy Gould.

Scores of New York celebrities whose fame in sports, theatricals, arts, literature and other lines of endeavor has become worldwide also appear in the cast of "The Great White Way." Included among these are Arthur Brisbane, Tex Rickard, famous fight promoter; Irvin S. Cobb, H. C. Witwer, author of Cain and Mabel" and numerous other stories; Arthur "Bugs" Baer, humorist; Damon Runyon, celebrated sports writer; Nell Brinkley, George McManus, and Fay King, Winsor McCay, Hal Coffman, J. W. McGurk, artists and cartoonists; Harry Hershfield, creator of "Abie, the Agent"; Billy De Beck, creator of "Spark Plug;" Earle Sande, world's leading jockey; Johnny Gallagher, referee of the Dempsey-Firpo fight; Joe Humphreys, famous announcer; the irrepressible "Kid" Broad, Ned Wayburn, and the entire Ziegfeld "Follies" chorus.

"The Great White Way" is a fast moving picture with its action carrying swiftly from the offices of Tex Rickard in Madison Square Garden, through the midnight gleam of Broadway to Futurity day at Belmont park, and a world's championship fight at which 75,000 persons appear. This fight in which Oscar Shaw and Pete Hartley, contender for the title held by Benny Leonard, are the principals is said to be the most realistic that has ever been staged for a film. The picture also includes a regular musical comedy production with the famous Ziegfeld "Follies" beauties as a background, and the most thrilling fire that has ever been shown on the screen.

E. Mason Hopper directed "The Great White Way" from the scenario by Luther Reed. Joseph Urban designed the settings.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, April 8.—Due to meagre receipts, the cattle market was not put to a test today. The supply included 1,000 head of cattle and 500 calves. Prices generally were steady. Carlots of cows brought 3.50 to 5.00 and calves 7.00.

Conditions in the hog division were unsatisfactory. Packers were bidding unevenly 15 to 25 cents lower. Shippers and order buyers obtained the bulk of the receipts at rates that were 10 to 15 cents lower. The top was 7.35 to shippers on carlots and 7.40 to packers for hogs in the truck division.

Most of the run cleared at 7.15 to 7.40. Receipts amounted to 1,400 head. Pigs were strong to 25 cents higher, the top being 6.25.

Sheep receipts sold on a slow but generally steady market. Around 900 head were on offer.

LEAVE FOR FEDERAL PRISONS TUESDAY

U. S. Deputy Marshal John Saye and Mrs. Saye left Tuesday afternoon for Leavenworth, Kan., and Caldwell, N. J., to deliver prisoners to the federal penitentiaries there. Four men and two women were included in the contingent removed.

All four men, who have been sentenced to terms of various length in the Kansas prison, were either convicted or plead guilty to charges during the present term of federal court. Both the women plead guilty to possessing narcotics and are to be imprisoned in the women's penitentiary at Caldwell.

Lumber Being Used Too Fast

Lumber is being used about four times faster than it is being grown, according to United States senators who were studying the situation with a view to corrective legislation. Some timber authorities say that consumption really is five times faster than production.

WHEAT PRICE EASES DOWN

Favorable Seed And Growth Outlook Help

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Owing largely to favorable conditions both for seeding and growth, wheat today eased down in price. The market closed unsettled at 1-8 to 3-8 net decline. May 1.02 1-8 to 1.02 1-4, and July 1.03 5-8 to 1.03 3-4. Corn finished 3-8 to 3-4 cents off, with oats showing 1-4 to 3-8 cent loss, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a like advance.

Predictions of larger receipts of corn after sowing of oats is completed resulted in a downward trend.

Oats were depressed by advices that seeding was likely to be finished at some Illinois points within a few days.

Provisions averaged a little lower, reflecting weakness of hog values and of grain.

Baptist Women Today Entertain Women Delegates

Members of the Dorcas, Clusby Gleaners, T. E. L. and Alathean classes of the First Baptist church will entertain with a tea Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. SCHOOLS TO HAVE $85,000 INCOME

Figures showing that the city schools of Wichita Falls are to have an income this year of approximately $85,000 from taxes assessed on real estate of the city have just been compiled by City Tax Assessor and Collector Hyer. These are regarded as assets that will be collected at some time since the property against which the assessments are made cannot be removed.

The tax records show that the real estate assessments amount to $69,715.96 and that this amount will easily be swelled to $85,000 by penalties accruing from delinquent fees.

St. Louis Symphony Orchestra In 2 Programs Here Thrills Audiences

The St. Louis Symphony orchestra, Rudolph Ganz conducting, received an ovation at the Wichita Falls junior college Tuesday evening in an artistic program that marked the formal opening of the college and the first public concert given in the magnificent new building.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Musicians club which is donating the concert grand Steinway piano to the college.

The program opened with the overture, "In Bohemia" by Hadley. Other numbers included the Symphony in E Minor in four parts, the overture to "Tannhauser" and the aria, "Dich Teure Halle," from Tannhauser, concluding the arranged program with "March Slav," the large audience manifesting its delight in prolonged applause. Following the playing of the march, the orchestra answered the call of the audience by playing "Barcarolle, Tales of Hoffman," "Shepherd's Hey" by Grainger and the "St. Louis Symphony March" by Ganz.

Miss Helen Traubel, soprano, sang an aria with the orchestra playing. She came back in answer to the applause of the enthusiastic audience and sang "Weep, Weep Mine Eyes." Her singing was liked so well that after continued applause she graciously consented to sing another number, "What Is Love," with Mr. Ganz playing her accompaniment on the new Steinway concert grand piano, the gift of the Musicians club. She met with such success with this delightful number that she sang another song to please the insistent audience. Her voice is full and agretable, with greater production than most soprano voices, and she sang with sympathetic tone and intelligent appreciation of her texts, particularly in the French numbers.

In connection with all the numbers this delightful and musical group of players disclosed great delicacy and grace, a glowing contrast, delicate gradations and finely balanced rhythm. The large audience was thoroughly appreciative of the entire program.

During the intermission Peyton Irving of the state department of education at Austin was introduced by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools. Mr. Irving stated that the Wichita Falls junior college was rated as a standard junior college. He praised the city of Wichita Falls on its success in building the college, rating as one of the best in Texas, surpassed only by Rice institute in equipment.

Children's Matinee.

"The finest attention the orchestra has ever had from a children's audience was given by the children of Wichita Falls in the concert this afternoon," said Mr. Ganz, the director of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, "and some of the most intensive interest was given from the tiniest listeners."

The afternoon concert was presented for school children of the city to a crowded house, the lower floors being filled with grammar grade students, while high school, junior high and junior college students occupied the balcony.

Mrs. Harwood Stacy of this city played a piano selection preceding the symphony program which was of especial interest to the children because of the intensive training they have received along musical lines in preparation for the annual music memory contest, and because of one feature of the program which held especial charm: the demonstration of instruments.

Each instrument was explained in detail, its position in the orchestra demonstrated, the kind of tone each made and the type of music which it played. To make the demonstration further fascinating to the children, the instruments were mentioned in "families" in story form, and merry little tunes illustrated the voice and pitch.

The matinee program is as follows:
Soloist, Michel Dusikoff, violinist.
"Rokoczy March" from "Damnation of Faust" (Berlioz).
Overture to "William Tell" (Rossini).
Demonstration of instruments.
Second movement "Andante Commoto" from Symphony No. 5 (Beethoven).
Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso for violin and orchestra (Santi-Saens)
Waltz "Blue Danube" (Strauss).
"Southern Fantasy" (Hosmer).

A NEW DISCOVERY
Overcomes the biggest difficulties in chick raising.
The medical profession prescribe cod liver oil to cure and prevent rickets which in chicks is leg weakness. The poultry husbandry departments of some of the agricultural colleges including Wisconsin and Illinois have demonstrated that the use of cod liver oil is a preventative of leg weakness in chicks. By including it in Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter by a process which keeps the feed sweet, dry and granular we are placing a complete feed at the service of every poultryman. Leg weakness which so frequently causes disaster to early hatched chicks is practically eliminated where Ful-O-Pep Chick Strater is fed and the birds are properly housed and cared for. Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter solves the greatest problem which the poultryman has. It will grow his chicks more rapidly, with greater safety and economy, bringing out the best that is in them. Sold exclusively by Morgan Seed & Feed Co., 1100 Ohio Avenue, phone 2528.

BIGGEST TASK HERE AT HOME, FLAKE ASSERTS

Speaks to Afternoon Session Of Baptist Convention

"Our first task is right here, in our own surroundings in this great work of Organized classes in the Sunday school," declared Secretary Arthur Flake of Nashville, Tenn., speaking Tuesday before the largest afternoon crowd in the history of the Texas convention of Organized Bible classes.

A concert by the 20-piece Tyler band under the direction of J. F. Witt opened the session, followed by two marimbaphone selections by H. Virgil Reynolds, pianist, for the convention, who also played xylophone obligatos for the congregational singing.

"One of the important things to stress in this organized class work," said Mr. Flake, "is the distinction between merely getting folks for class work, and that of doing for people what they nted after they are in the class."

"It takes a competent teacher and a capable class president to run a class as it should go. It is essential that this important team be strong and that it work in harmony.

"There are four tests for the efficiency and success of a class. First: Does your class reach people?; second: does your class have a real teacher?; third: does your class win souls?; and last: does your class utilize the service and talent of all its members.

"The proper application of these principles transform little struggling classes into great powerful institutions.

In speaking of organized effort, Mr. Flake used the parable of the loaves and fishes to illustrate organization, stating that the incident was the most perfect example of organization in history.

Mr. Flake urged the organization of more classes with competent leaders to build them, stressing the importance of the proper personality in a teacher or leader, and the necessity for a study of class building.

Largest Crowd in History.

W. L. Phillips, convention secretary in a short comment, stated that over 800 delegates had registered up to that time, making the largest first day crowd of any convention of Organized Bible classes ever held in Texas. He commented on the splendid management of affairs by LeRoy Moore, local convention chairman.

Resolutions Committee.

The resolutions committee for the convention was announced as follows: John A. Held, Bryan; R. W. Simpson, Tyler; Miss Stella Milburn, Greenville; Dr. Forrest Smith, Fort Worth; and A. Reilly Copeland of Waco.

Time and Place.

The members of the time and place committee were announced as follows: J. Earle Meade, Beaumont; E. D. Morgan, Paducah; W. A. Chisolm, Dallas; Edgar Pevote, Sherman; and Mrs. W. L. Day of Paris.

Class Conferences.

Six Organized class conferences were then held in various parts of the building under the following leadership: Young Men's classes, J. Earl Mead of Beaumont; Young Women's classes, Margia Childs of Jacksonville; College classes, Mrs. Edgar Godbold of Brownwood; Married Women's classes, Mrs. Wesley Morris, Dallas; Business Men's classes, Joe F. Etter, Sherman; Intermediate department and classes, Mary Virginia Lee of Nashville.

Following the adjournment of the sessions, delegates were taken for an auto ride over the city, and to visit the new Junior college building.

Old Home Town Stuff

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

L. G. Hawkins of Vernon, potentate of Maskat Temple, was in Wichita Falls Tuesday, returning to Vernon following a meeting held in the office of the recorder, Al Ellis.

Hubert M. Harrison is in Greenville, where he delivered an address to the Greenville chamber of commerce Tuesday night. He is expected to return to Wichita Falls this afternoon.

F. S. Groner of Dallas will arrive in this city today to address the Baptist Organized Class convention in session here.

A. W. Jackson of Chillicothe, Texas, returned home Tuesday following a short visit in Wichita Falls.

Dr. O. W. Wilson has gone to New York to study for six weeks at New York Post Graduate school.

C. T. Beckham of Trent, Texas, is in the city visiting his son, Winslow J. Beckham and other relatives, and attending the Baptist Organized class convention.

C. H. Reeves and family have gone to Tulsa for a few weeks' visit with C. H. Jones and family of that city.

Jack Williamson of Dallas is in the city on business.

J. H. Welton is quite ill at his home.

A Baptist convention visitor standing on the Kemp hotel corner, was overheard to remark yesterday upon his arrival, "Faith has certainly been doing some building around this neck of the woods since I was here seven years ago, if this is 'The City That Faith Built.' That phrase in the Bible about 'faith so as to remove mountains' hasn't a thing on the people in this town. It begins to sound reasonable to me." All of which made us strut when we thought of what he would tell the gang back home about Wichita Falls.

The installation of full length plate glas windows at Frecar's furniture store will add greatly to the show possibilities beside making that corner resemble an intersection in a modern metropolis. The spring weather is certainly inspiring Wichita Falls merchants to re-model, re-build, and re-paint these days. Maybe the conventions have something to do with it too.

Dr. Jas. T. McNew of Tyler, who delivered the opening address of the Baptist Organized class convention Tuesday morning has gone to Cleburne.

The concert to be given by the pupils of the Washington school at the new Junior college Friday, April 11, announced by the Junior College Citizens' club for the benefit of the auditorium furnishings, has been postponed, according to Mrs. H. B. Patterson president of the club.

J. L. T. Fulton was elected trustee for the Cooper Independent school district in the elections held Saturday, according to reports turned in Tuesday to County Superintendent of Schools Burl Bryant.

Only two marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk's office Tuesday.

A fine of $25 was assessed Tuesday in the county court at law against Eli Thorpe when he entered a plea of guilty to charges of wife desertion.

HOLCOMB GIVES INITIAL TALK

Need of Spiritual Life Is Theme of Sherman Pastor Tuesday

"Deepening of the Spiritual Life" was the subject of an address given by Dr. T. L. Holcomb of Sherman at the first session of the Baptist Organized Bible Class convention, Tuesday morning. Taking a scripture passage from the ninth chapter of Matthew, Dr. Holcomb emphasized the vast importance of the convention. "There are representatives here from every county in Texas, but it has taken us a long time to organize and to see the possibilities that come from organization. Jesus is your Savior and mine, and it has taken us years to begin organized work for God.

"We see great crowds coming from office buildings and factories, but Jesus saw more than that. He saw them in relation to God. When you see multitudes, do not think of them for service only in trade, but think of them in relation to God. Do they belong to a Bible class? Do they attend a Sunday school My prayer is that the organized classes will see to those in the shops, office buildings and factories and enlist them for God.

"May we send this thought out. Have we not yet learned to pray? Get the blessing to equip and prepare us for the task which is ours. Christ has organized his classes and sent them forward. The organized class that reaches out has in it the greatest possibilities of modern church life. If we go back better prepared to enlist the unenlisted from all standpoints, then we have gained something."

Dr. Holcomb pointed out the value of enlistment in church work, utilizing the multitudes of Baptists in the state. "If we do, then God will work for us."

Dr. Forrest Smith, pastor of the Broadway Baptist church of Fort Worth, asked a prayer, asking success for the convention.

Baptist Convention Brings in Big Variety of Splendid Music Numbers

Splendid music seems to be an outstanding feature of the Organized Bible Class convention which opened in the First Baptist church Tuesday morning.

H. Virgil Reynolds of Nixon, Texas, who is pianist for the conference singing, is an artist of distinctive ability and an evangelistic musician by profession. Beside his remarkable piano work, which fairly sweeps the huge audience into song, Mr. Reynolds is a noted marimbist, and played several solos at the convention sessions yesterday.

Prof. I. H. Reynolds, dean of music at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, is director of the congregational singing, and has converted the convention audience into a great chorus which he sways at his will. His control over the singers reflects his ability as a musical director, and bears out his statement that the convention of Organized Bible classes, more than any other Baptist convention, was noted for its excellent singing.

The Tyler band of 20 pieces was in Wichita Falls Tuesday, playing at the afternoon and evening sessions of the conference beside the parade concert in the morning, and a concert during the day at the Kemp hotel.

The local choir of the First Baptist church will present a musical concert at the evening session today, and Wm. Young, of the local church was featured in solos last night.

I. H. Reynolds, who states that there is a splendid field of talent in the out of town delegates requests that although he will call on musicians in the convention body with whom he is familiar, that representatives from the various towns should register their musical talent where it will be available for use. Several soloists, duets, trios, and quartettes besides instrumental combinations will be called upon during the coming sessions for special numbers, Mr. Reynolds stated.

er in the days of the French and Spanish conquests.

He spoke of the work of the old Spanish priests and friars in civilizing the Indians and educating the early settlers, and told of early Indian battles and massacres, mentionjng in particular the instance of the capture of a mystic stone worshipped by the tribes in this section of the country which now lies in the archives at Austin.

"We have a great deal of history that is thrilling without the least need for elaboration, if we will but search for it," the speaker stated.

Dr. G. W. Black of Graham, an old settler and missionary worker in Young county in the early days was introduced to the club by Judge Aynesworth. Mr. Black told of some of his experiences in 1876 when the state was young, ending his talk with the statement that, "I am a Texan because Texas is the greatest state in the Union."

Miss Ella Merle Mathis read for the club, and Miss Josephine Fisk sang, accompanying herself on the guitar.

President C. A. Rogers announced that an effort was being made to secure Dr. F. M. Bralley, president of C. I. A. at Denton to lecture several times in the near future to the members of the University club, the Mother's clubs, the high school and the junior college student bodies, and various other clubs of the city.

Eclipse to Favor Niagara Falls.

When the total eclipse of the sun occurs January 24, 1925, Niagara Falls will me the choicest place from which to view it, as the path of totality will be centered over the Falls, and the complete shadow will last two minutes, longer than in any other pace. William F. A. Ellison, writing in English Mechanics, says that the Falls in winter, plus a total eclipse of the sun, will be a sight of a millenium, the combination not being likely to occur again in many millions of years.

Continue Evidence in Waggoner vs. Baylor Suit; First Objection In Case Offered Late Tuesday

Descriptions of the 190,000 acres of land involved in the suit of the W. T. Waggoner estate vs. the county commissioners court of Baylor county, now on trial before Judge William H. Atwell in United States district court, were presented all day Tuesday. It was the second day of the trial, which promised Tuesday evening to run through at least another day.

The plaintiffs allege in their petition that the lands of the Waggoner estate in Baylor county were valued at an unduely excessive figure by the Baylor county tax assessor and that discrimination was shown by the county commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization, in holding the assessments against the Waggoner properties at a higher rate than that placed against other Baylor county land.

R. L. Moore of Vernon, business manager of the Waggoner properties, took the witness stand late Tuesday afternoon and gave a large amount of evidence supporting his contention that the lands were valued too high. It was brought out that he had rendered the majority of the property at $5 an acre and that the court later sough to raise this to $10 an acre. A reduction was made still later, however, whereby the assessments were cut to $7 per acre.

T. S. Wade, one of the three assessors who surveyed and appraised the Waggoner lands, was on the stand all day Monday and part of Tuesday.

One feature of the case that elicited comment from court attaches Tuesday was the manner in which opposing attorneys handled witnesses and conducted the hearing. Not a single objection was made by either side until after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the defense interposed a question as to whether or not some evidence offered was material or not. The objection was over-ruled and no exception taken. Judge Atwell commented that the case was one of the most remarkable he had ever observed in this respect. He complimented the attorneys for having handled the affairs without "asking a single useless question."

DECLARES BIBLE CLASSES TO BE BEST IN TEXAS

"I believe that in 10 years, the organized convention of Bible classes will be by far the largest religious gathering of Texas and of the world," Dr. James T. McNew, pastor of the First Baptist church at Tyler, in a short address at the morning session of the convention of Baptist Organized Bible Classes Tuesday.

In the address Dr. McNew said that the chief end of man was to glorify God, and that failures were caused by many instances through disobedience to God's will. "We must study the blunders and mistakes of others, and by vigilance and constant watchfulness guard against those things which have caused failures. It's a trite matter that those who are failures have no plan to work out, living with no definite or well defined purpose."

He showed that many failures were caused by seeking those things of self, material, perishable worldly things. "They failed because they refused to accept the responsibilities God placed on them, and took the way of least resistance. There is a peril in leaving God out of it all. There must be the stamp of divine approval to reckon with Him."

Boost History of County, Is Speaker's Plea

"Let us put Wichita Falls and north Texas where they belong in the historical annals of the nation by digging out and translating vast stores of early history pertaining to this immediate section of the country," said Judge Joseph H. Aynesworth in a talk before the University club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Judge Aynesworth, who is an acknowledged authority on early Texas history because of the great amount of research and translation work he has done, told the club members interesting tales of historical happenings near Wichita Falls and along the Red riv-
