PGC Feedyards Set Opening Sunday

Producers Grain Corporation Feedyards, South Plains Division will observe open house Sunday, Jan. 18 from 1 to 5 p. m., Frank M. Phariss, executive vice-president and general manager of PGC announced this week.

In making the announcement, Phariss stated that this was a milestone for the cooperative farmers of the five state area served by Producers Grain Corporation.

There are a number of feed yards being built by local cooperatives but this yard located eight miles east of Olton and seven south, in the Mayfield community is the first to be constructed by a regional cooperative. It is another step in the complete integration of this farmer-owned organization, Phariss said.

Anyone with an interest in cattle feeding or who just wants to look at one of the most modern feed yards in existence is invited to visit the mill and yards during open house. Guided tours will be conducted throughout the afternoon.

Door prizes will be given away, with a western hat to be given every twenty minutes. Commissioner of Agriculture John White is scheduled to speak briefly at 3 p. m.

Brown-McKee Inc., of Lubbock, general contractors, began construction of the feed yard in March, 1969. The first cattle were received in August and the feed mill went on stream in October.

At the present time there are approximately 21,000 head of cattle in the yard. The yard features the latest developments in cattle feeding including continuous flow water systems, computerized ration formulation and computer book-keeping systems.

On the east side of the yard, a 3,800 foot north-south airstrip is located, for the convenience of those wishing to make use of it.

Manager of the PGC Feed Yards is Bill Winchell. Assistant manager is Dave Schott, Grover Phillips is office manager, Bunk Kitchens, yard foreman; and Don McMakin, mill superintendent. Ruby Massey of Hale Center serves as secretary. A total of 20 employees are on staff at the mill and yards. Sam Adrian of Olton serves as assistant mill superintendent.

Other staff members include Jim Steele of Olton, Larry Kitchens, Muleshoe; Jim Burnett, Hale Center; David Aigaki, Olton; Glen Williams, Steve Blunt and Mick Fairchild.

Moody Taylor, manager of the Feed yard division for PGC stated that the South Plains Division Feed Yard with its 30,000 head capacity, in addition to the West Plains Division Feed Yard 16 miles west of Amarillo, makes PGC a factor in the cattle feeding industry and as this dynamic industry grows in the High Plains, PGC will keep pace through expansion of the existing lots and by adding new lots to the system.

City Sales Tax Revenue Totals Nearly $5000

The City of Olton has received its first "dividends" of a one-cent city sales tax which was approved by city residents last March. The $4,702.53 was for the quarterly collection period for July, August and September.

Approved by a vote of 206 to 31, the sales tax election came too late for the second quarter of 1969 and consumers did not begin paying the one-cent levy until July.

According to the Texas Municipal League, per capita ratio for Lamb County is $9.38 and for the estimated population of 2000, Olton might collect a possible $4,690 per quarter. That projected amount turned out to be $12.53 less than the actual sum received.

Cub Scout Pack Meeting Slated Thursday

A Cub Scout Pack meeting for purposes of organizing is slated for Thursday, Jan. 22 at 7:30 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Gordon Gipson of Plainview will be the guest speaker.

Any boy, eight to 10 years of age, who is interested in becoming a Cub Scout is urged to attend the meeting. Parents must accompany boys.

Council Discusses Salaries, Makes Change In Pay Raises

A representative from H & N Electronics and two representatives from Tide Products, Inc. were on hand at the meeting of the city council when it convened Tuesday night.

The representative from N&N Electronics of Plainview asked to speak to the council on behalf of his company for a maintenance contract on all city and police radios.

Councilmen agreed that the service contract they now had with another company was satisfactory, but in the event that they became dissatisfied, they would notify the H&N Electronics.

Tide Products, Inc. representatives, Richard Franks of Hart and Bill Langston of Olton, petitioned the city to give them permission to secure a waiver from the state to install an anhydrous ammonia storage unit inside the city limits.

The tank would be located near the Farmers Gin. Council granted Franks and Langston permission to put the tanks there, provided it was state approved.

Charles Sullivan made a motion to rescind the motion that he made at the last meeting of the council which gave pay raises to city employees. Walter Struve seconded and it carried unanimously.

Then Sullivan made a motion to grant raises in the same amount as stated last month to all employees except those who haul trash.

His motion stated that they be paid by the hour and receive a 10¢ an hour wage increase over their regular salaries. Also included in the motion was a $25 raise for David Maxey, who serves as fire marshal and city building inspector.

The motion was seconded by Givens and was unanimously approved.

The old motion was done away with due to the fact that when the trash haulers were put on a monthly wage last month by the motion, it decreased their salaries rather than raised them.

Other items discussed briefly were the progress of the city park, budget and liability insurance.

Leon Noack, chairman of the Park Committee, asked the council who had final word on anything that was done for the park. He was told by City Attorney Andy Stroebel that the city was the owner and that the council would have the final word.

Liability insurance, in order to comply with a recent change in laws, for the city would have to be increased. Instructions were given by the council for this to be taken care of.

Councilmen, in final action, looked over a proposed budget for the upcoming year.

AREA WINNER IN P-A-G hybrid sorghum yield contest is Leonard Stamps, shown here with the plaque which he received. His winning yield of 5165 pounds per acre was an average from 135 acres, despite this year's adverse growing conditions.

Sue's Views

Ah-One-Ah-Two

BY SUE CANNON

I know my sister is just dying for me to write about going over to Earth to the Spa with her, so here goes!

New Year's Day, she calls and wants to know what I am going to do and I say, "Not much of anything."

So she says, "Good, you can go to the spa with me." So I say, "Okay, I'll go."

So she says, "What?" Ah hal Fooled her. (She had asked me before.)

So we take off about 9 o'clock and head for Earth.

Would you believe...the first thing I had to do --- YEP! WEIGH!

And there she stood right by me and had the gall to say she wished she had a camera!

So she could get a picture of what the scales read.

Well, I for one, didn't want that recorded!

But then the fun begins. Limber up. Toss this weight over your head and down to the floor ten times. Good. Now come over here and lie down on this board and another exercise with the weights.

Well this was nothing. Those three pound weights felt pretty light compared to a 50 or 60 pound bag of newspapers.

Then off that board and onto another one that had one end higher than the other. Raise up and touch your toes!

You gotta be kidding!

"I can't hook my toes under the edge of the divan and come up from the floor," I protest, "I can't do this."

But, surprise, it was easier than the old divan trick!

Well, by this time, I am thinking there is really nothing to this bit.

Then we go ride a bicycle for a mile without getting out of the building (neat trick, huh?)

Well, by now, I'm beginning to wonder.

Then I get harnessed up to some weights on my feet and have to start kicking like a mule ten times one way, then ten another, then still ten another. And this is with just one foot. Then the same thing with the other.

I'll have to admit, I'm getting a little pooped already. But I'm game for the rest.

There is this belt hooked up to a motor that absolutely shakes the liver out of you, but at the same time, I was getting to stand still and lean on it (a sneak rest period, I thought).

Then it was over to a rolling machine that makes you know just how pie dough must feel when being rolled out.

And another machine that had a weight on it that you pulled up with both feet.

And I don't need to tell you by this time, I felt muscles I forgot I had!

About the time I thought I was going to have to call it all off, they announce it's time for a shower and then a steam bath.

Whew!

Talk about being sweltering!

That steam cabinet is! And we had to sit there 15 minutes and at the end of the 15 minutes, I felt like an overdone 3-minute-egg!

But back to the shower! Good, I think, "I'll have a cold one."

BRRR....Too cold.

Then out of the shower and into the sauna.

Now... there is one more hot place! Only 180 degrees. We had a clock in there and it was so hot it nearly burned your fingers.

Lucky for me, Retta can't stand heat so well, so we didn't stay in there for our full 10 minutes. We chickened out after about eight.

Then back to the shower! (One thing about it, you sure get clean.)

Then, when we were fully dressed again and I thought we were on our way out, Retta announces that we have to get cooled off, so she jumps into that doggone belt thing-a-ma-jig so I follow suit and get in the pie dough roller again.

After a few minutes, she decides its okay to go out into the world again and we bid our instructor goodbye.

And all I gotta say is, "It sure was fun."

And if I had the time, I'd be joining her more often.

Word Origins

By Mrs. Blanton Martin

Human beings through the ages have evidently enjoyed creating new meanings for words and juggling old words so that they can bear the new meanings. Etymologists have done much speculation and investigation in tracing the changes in meaning of some of our common words.

Consider the word "tap". Immediately, we think of a verb, a noun, and an adjective--and several uses of the verb, the noun, and the adjective. For example, the verb may have the literal meaning, "to rap lightly or to draw out"; or it may have the figurative meaning of "to open up a productive area of a natural resource".

The Anglo-Saxon form of the noun meant "something cut out and used to stop a hole". This fits the description of the piece of metal in a bung hole, does it not? The corresponding verb form was "to draw forth liquid by means of a tap".

By Middle English times, "tap" could mean "to pound or to draw out", and it could mean also the names of these actions.

In the intervening years, things have really happened to the word. The kind of tap which is also a spigot started replacing other taps. Taps became faucets but are still referred to as taps by many people, and so we have the expression "tap water". Of course, these taps are not tapped, at all, in the sense of being rapped lightly or pounded; rather, they are screwed with a thread. Consequently, the instruments for cutting inside threads became known as "taps". We now have words like "hand taps", "machine taps", "tap reamers", and so on.

In England, the place where liquor is drawn is designated as a "taphouse" or a "taproom". A water main can be tapped to divide its flow. Lately, we have heard a lot about telephone wire tapping as a means of obtaining information. It was at Yale University that fellows were first tapped as a signal that they were being admitted to a particular society or fraternity. Now tapping for such an appointment is often done by long-distance telephone. Anything ready to be tapped may be referred to as being "on tap".

We could continue with the subject. We could talk about a "tapper tap", "taps" for a fallen soldier, etc. Perhaps we have made our point, however; changes in society demand new words, and we often get the new words by juggling the old ones.

Sorghum Producers Seek Nixon's Reconsideration

Grain Sorghum Producers Association asked President Nixon and the Budget Bureau this week to reconsider their stand on not making advance payments to farmers, who comply with the 1970 Feed Grain Program. It has been the practice in the past for farmers to receive one-half of their diversion payment at the time they signed up in the program.

In his letter to the President, Harp said, "The discontinuance of these payments and the tight money situation will prevent many of our banks from financing farmers for this crop year. This will force many of our farmers out of business."

Harp asked the President and the Budget Bureau, "to reconsider this issue, that is so important to many of our grain farmers, and afterwards to continue the advance payments for the 1970 Feed Grain Program."

It was common knowledge that the Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin, held out to continue the advance payments for 1970, but was vetoed by the Budget Bureau and the White House.

Copies of this letter were mailed to USDA officials and Congressmen.

Mobile Units Aid Coronaries

Coronary-units-on-wheels is the new concept in which the "hospital" is taken to the heart attack victim.

More than half the deaths from heart attacks occur within the first 24 hours, according to Dr. Paul N. Yu, professor of medicine and head of the Cardiology Unit at the University of Rochester School of Medicine. Half of these deaths are untended by medical personnel; transportation is the great difficulty.

The mobile coronary care units are one method of solving the problem.

"These are ambulances equipped with up-to-date facilities for diagnosis and management of an irregular heart beat which can cause death and for other complication," Dr. Yu says "the preliminary results have been encouraging and promising."

About 1,500 hospitals across the country now have the coronary units. Just two years ago there were 400 units. Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging, reports that units have increased the survival rate by about 30 per cent following heart attacks.

The most frequent cause of delay is the patient's indecision to go to the hospital or seek medical help, she adds.

Educational programs emphasizing early detection of heart attacks are greatly important.

A short interval between the time of heart attack and care reduces the high death rate from heart disabilities.

Accent on Health

Are the so-called "childhood diseases" limited only to children and do adults have an immunity to them?

Not so, says the Texas State Department of Health.

The childhood diseases are a myth. The fact is that these diseases are so contagious among children that most people have had them by adulthood and thereby have developed immunity. But adults can and do catch them, and when they do they are sometimes much sicker than children.

Two of these so-called childhood diseases -- mumps and German measles (rubella) -- have special dangers for the adult patient. Mumps can be damaging to both adult men and women. And German measles, when occurring in the early part of pregnancy, can result in damage to the unborn child. A new vaccine may eventually lead to the eradication of German measles, but there is a danger until all women in the child-bearing years have been immunized against it.

for only a short time.

In the case of whooping cough, a highly contagious disease that is especially dangerous and often fatal for small babies, there is evidence that immunity is only occasionally passed on.

Every parent, advises the State Health Department, should plan an immunization program beginning at six weeks of age against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Booster shots to maintain complete protection should follow at prescribed intervals throughout childhood and, in the case of certain diseases, well into adult life.

Cotton Classing Office Releases Final Report

The 1969 cotton crop showed much improvement in micronaire over the 1968 crop, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

Final figures of this season's harvest have not been completed, but estimates indicate approximately 1,300,000 samples will be classed. Just over 1,500,000 samples were classed by the cotton classing offices on the South Plains for the 1968 season.

Only 23 per cent of the South Plains cotton this season was classed in the White grades compared to 38 per cent for the 1968 season. Light Spotted grades accounted for 49 per cent of the 1969 crop as compared to 48 per cent in 1968. Spotted and Tinged grades made up 23 per cent of the 1969 crop and only 14 per cent of the 1968 harvest. Below grades for 1969 totaled 5 per cent compared to less than 1/2 per cent in 1968.

The average staple length for the South Plains for the 1969 crop was 31.41/32nds of an inch compared to 32.7/32nds of an inch for the 1968 crop.

Micronaire for the 1969 crop showed 65 per cent in the 3.5 and better ranges compared to 40 per cent in 1968.

Trading was brisk again in the Lubbock market this past week according to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. Prices were steady. Average prices paid were: Strict Low Middling 31/32 - 19.70; 1-inch - 20.25; 1-1/32 - 21.15. Average prices paid for Strict Low Middling Light Spotted were: 31/32 - 19.35; 1-inch - 19.60; 1-1/32 - 19.90. Low Middling average prices were: 31/32 - 18.40; 1-inch - 19.05; 1-1/32 - 19.15. Average prices paid for Low Middling Light Spotted were: 31/32 - 18.40; 1-inch - 18.60; and 1-1/32 - 18.60. Below grade cotton was bringing 12 to 14-1/2 cents per pound.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed was steady at $40.00 to $58.00 per ton. The average price was $47.00 per ton.

This is the final news release for the 1969 to 1970 cotton harvest season.

SOAP and ELECTRICITY Blackouts and Outages

99.44/100%

■ There's a difference between soap and electricity. There's a difference between blackouts and outages. The famous soap prides itself on being 99 and 44/100% pure. That's pretty close to perfect, isn't it. But does it surprise you when we tell you that electricity—the electricity we provide for you—that you use here has a reliability record of 99.997%... which is almost 100% pure. That's the difference between soap and the electricity you use. But, you say, what about blackouts? Well, it's this way. We define a blackout as a shortage of power. A situation when you, as a group of people, are using more electricity than the equipment that generates, transmits and distributes it can provide.

■ We don't have that here. We will not have that in 1970 here. Sure, there might be some isolated service interruptions which we call outages. Despite our 99.997% reliability record, there still may be some lightning strikes on a transformer, or a squirrel getting confused in a substation, or a careless driver knocking down some of our equipment, and, yes... we may have an equipment failure or a human failure... we're still not perfect... even though we try to be. In most cases we'll have your power back within the hour.

■ We're concerned with reliability and with the cost of our service. That's why we've averaged spending $20 million a year on new, modern and more efficient equipment. This year we'll invest another $25 million. We expect to give you all the electric power you need with more purity than the famous soap and at the lowest possible cost. That's our pledge for 1970.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MAZELLE TROTTER

Hear ye, hear ye.
I'm on my soap box this week.

Seriously, everyone of you who has "just not got around to it" and registered to vote -- stop what you're doing and get that tended to right now before you wake up and find it's Feb. 1 and your chance is gone.

Even if there were no other elections save dog-catcher -- your should be eligible to vote. After all, "they" might elect someone who didn't like the same "dog" as you.

Don't say, "My vote wouldn't matter, anyway." Read this little "goodie" I had in my "collection."

ONE!
One mischievous boy will break up a school.
One false alarm will cause a panic.
One match will cause a conflagration.
One false step will cost a life or ruin a character.
One broken wheel will ditch a train.

One quarrelsome worker will create a strike of ten thousand men.

One undiplomatic word will provoke a war involving thousands of lives and destruction of millions of property.

One hasty act of legislation will entail untold hardships.
One wayward daughter will break a mother's heart.
One lie will destroy a person's character.

One false witness will send an innocent man to jail.
One demagogue will turn factories into soup-houses.
One muckracker will bankrupt many a big business.
One vote will decide an election. Let the people think! - Copied.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

My Lai Incident Raises Question

The My Lai incident has put the Viet Nam war into a different perspective for many people.

Some have felt a collective guilt, as if they and all Americans were personally responsible for the killing of innocent civilians.

Others have felt that the "massacre" pointed up the essential character of all war — killing, wounding, mutilating, destroying.

A New York reader of this column wrote recently, "How do you as a Christian justify the dichotomy of teaching a child, 'Thou shalt not kill' for 18 years and then at the age of 18, through an act of the prevailing government, insist 'Thou shalt kill'?"

This is a problem which has bothered many people for many years.

Is All Killing Murder?

The root of the matter seems to be a misunderstanding of the meaning of the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," which was quoted by Jesus as "Thou shalt do no murder."

In fact, the commandment as recorded in the book of Exodus is translated in the Revised Version, "Thou shalt do no murder."

That this is the meaning is clear from the fact that the Mosaic law, of which the Ten Commandments are a part, specified that, "He that smiteth a man so that he die shall be surely put to death." Again, in another place, "The murderer shall surely be put to death."

Clearly, murder is forbidden. Just as clearly, execution is commanded.

So there are differences in killing, based on the circumstances.

That the killing of an enemy soldier in battle is quite different from murder is clear to all who are not blinded by their prejudices.

David, when he killed Goliath, was not considered to have disobeyed God's law. Rather, he was praised for a daring, courageous, heroic act.

The accusation in the My Lai incident is that the American soldiers who were involved killed civilians, knowing them to be civilians and presumably innocent of any wrong-doing. This — if it was done — was murder.

If some of our soldiers are guilty of knowingly killing innocent people, they should be tried, convicted, and punished according to the law.

Withdraw Protection?

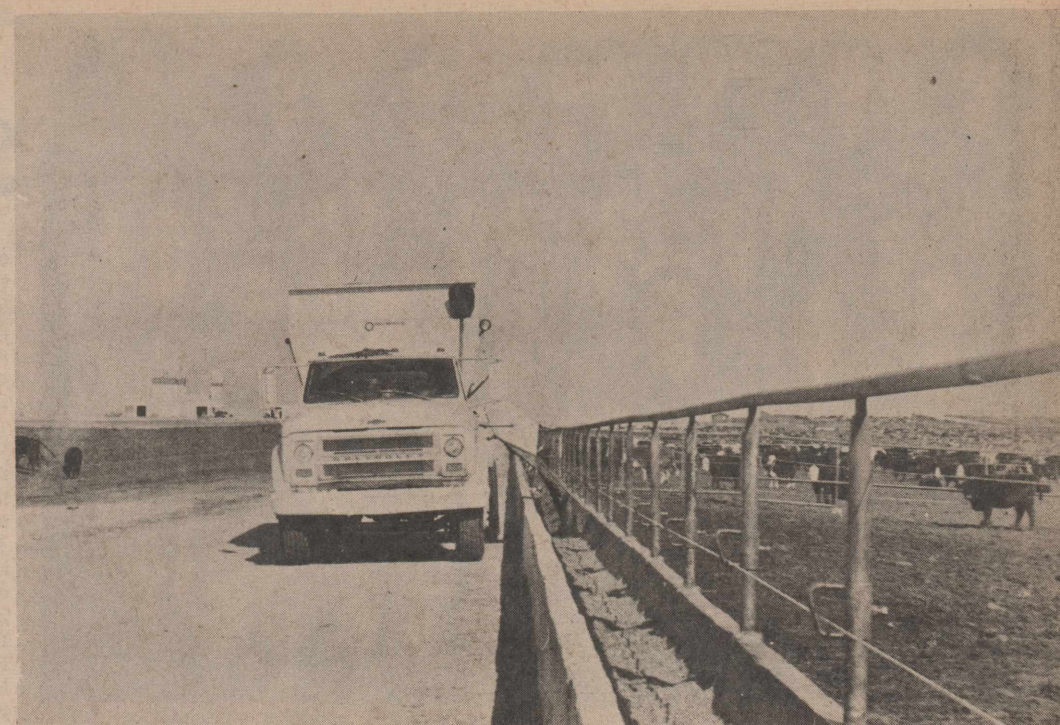

But for us to take the attitude that, since murder is wrong, we will not protect others from being murdered is totally incomprehensible to me.

In fact, the apparent callous disregard of bloodshed on the part of those who are clamoring for us to abandon our allies in Viet Nam "immediately" is astounding.

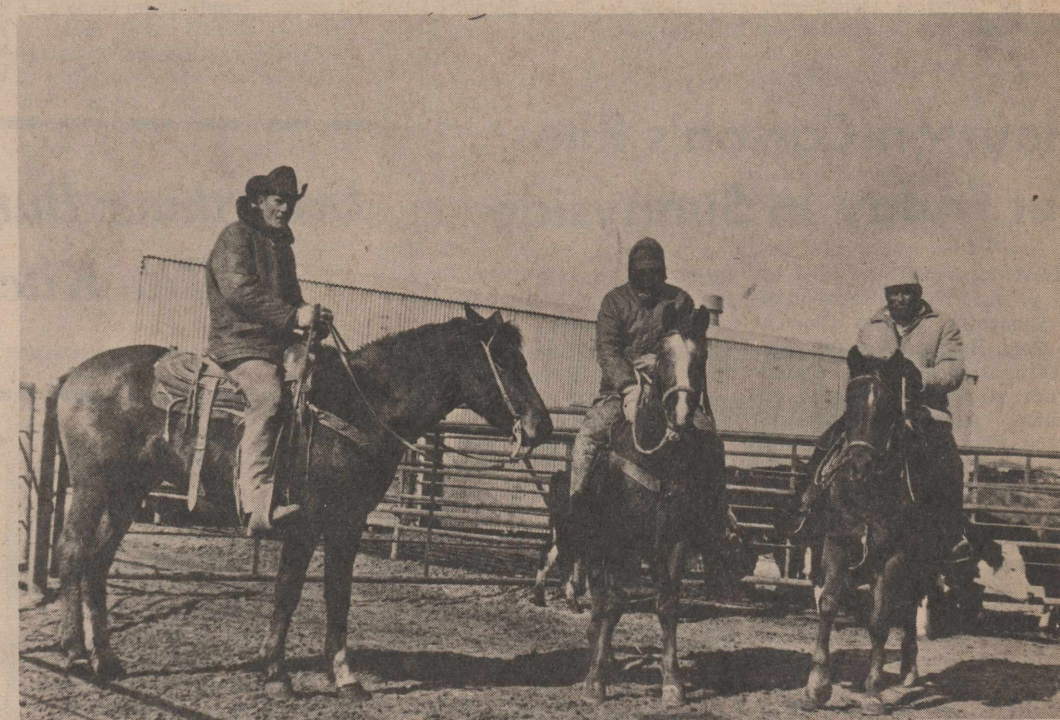

It is a matter of record that at Hue the Communists murdered at least 2,300 civilians — and, if all of the bodies could be found, the number might exceed 3,000.

We know that this kind of killing is Communist policy. It was done in Cuba when Castro took over. It was done in China when Mao Tse-Tung seized power there. Red purges in Russia are well known.

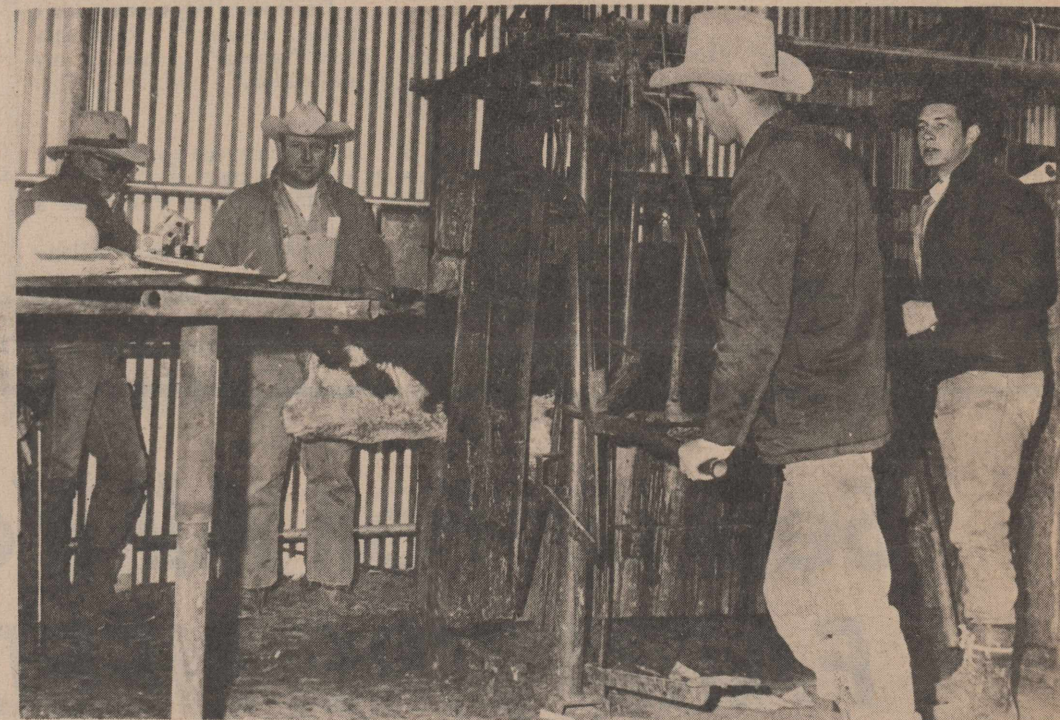

How then can those who say that they are against killing want us to withdraw our forces and let the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Reds kill without restraint?

FEEDER TRUCKS automatically dispense feed into concrete bunks five times a day. Feeding begins at 6 a. m. and continues until 10 p. m.

Love is understanding
It is trust, truth, and beauty
It is forgiveness
It is a precious and cherished treasure
Love is a heavenly happiness.
It is a flower,
And a shining star.
Love is respect,
And self-discipline.
It is courage.
It is gentle, but unyielding.
Love is the most powerful force in the world.
It is patience and strength
It is tears and heartache,
It is laughter and a smile.
Love is life,
Love is GOD.

World, I Am Youth

World, I am Youth, unsettled and searching,
Exploring the heights and the plain.
I wander your deserts, thirsty and pale,
I weep in the beating rain.
Ascent I the mountains with eagerness,
Hungry, and seeking my goal,
Then into bars of stinging thorns
I fall with deluded soul.
In your shadows of dusk I tremble
I fear death and even life,
Tomorrow I laugh, and confidence
Pervades my daily strife
World, I am Youth, the hope of your day,
I'm bewildered and young in this land,
I'm searching your paths for a vision called truth
Give me your hand.

Walter Crandall Severely Burned

An apparent gas leak triggered an explosion and fire early Saturday morning sending Walter Crandall to Olton Community Hospital with second degree burns on his face, forearms and legs.

Crandall, a 77-year-old farmer, was reported to be in satisfactory condition Wednesday. He is expected to be hospitalized for two or three weeks.

The explosion occurred at approximately 7 a. m. when Crandall tried to light an open flame heater.

The house was declared a total loss by the time the Volunteer Firemen arrived at the scene. A neighbor, Clifford Carlisle, took Crandall to the hospital.

Easy-To-Follow Instructions Says Texas HD

The Texas Highway Department is sporting a red face. In recent news releases announcing the new computerized motor vehicle registration system, Department information specialists wrote:

"Easy - to - follow instructions are printed on the three-part form."

That must be a mistake -- because a lot of motorists haven't been following instructions. And mistakes generate confusion.

This is the first year that the Department has gone to the new system, which includes an order-by-mail program for obtaining 1970 motor vehicle license plates.

But just to make sure that motorists do understand the "easy-to-follow instructions", they are:

1. Each motorist whose vehicle was registered last year has or will receive in the mail a long, narrow envelope with a printed message on the front reading: "Important -- This is Your License Plate Renewal Application."

2. The envelope will contain a three-part form. DO NOT SEPARATE THE THREE PARTS.

3. You may renew your motor vehicle license registration during January and February by mailing the three-part form (intact) and your check to your county tax collector. Add $1 for postage and handling charges for each vehicle. License plates will be mailed February 1 and thereafter.

4. You may renew your motor vehicle license registration during February and March by taking the three-part form (intact) and your check to the tax collector's office or substation.

That's it! Now see if you are one of the seven million-plus Texas motorists who can follow those "easy-to-follow instructions."

Message From The Director

J. Edgar Hoover

It was Patrick Henry who said, "Bad men cannot make good citizens. It is impossible," he added, "that a nation of infidels or idolaters should be a nation of free men... A vitiated state of morals, a corrupted public conscience, is incompatible with freedom."

I suggest there is a pertinent message for present-day Americans in Patrick Henry's warning. As we move into a new decade, I feel we are being pressured by some behavioral excesses which are incompatible with our continued freedom. Certainly, a free society is not free from difficulties, but it must be relatively free from weaknesses such as moral decadence and disrespect for law if it is to survive.

Moral decadence and disrespect for law thrive when self-discipline is weak. In a society of free men, there must be an abundance of personal integrity and discipline. We need only to look back at the 1960's to see what has been happening to our moral standards.

For the past several years our citizens have been barraged with unbridled vulgarity, obscenity, blasphemy, perversion and public desecration of our cherished ideals and symbols. Although strong protests have been made from portions of our concerned citizenry, for the most part these degrading and debasing activities are in increasing. Immorality is becoming more of the rule than the exception.

In the face of these perplexing conditions, many citizens are practically moral cowards. Afraid of being labeled puritanical or "square," they tolerate and condone acts and habits which they know are morally wrong but which they do not have the courage to denounce and oppose.

fortunate, because they fail themselves, their children, and their country.

Where morality and decency are concerned, Americans must not let rationalization and doubletalk confuse them. There is nothing enlightening, enduring, or progressive about degeneracy. No great nations or stable societies have ever been built on false morality. If we value our country and our system of self-government under the rule of law, then we must not stand by and let our moral standards be compromised.

Respect for law is also a moral obligation. Much of our trouble today is caused by a growing number of persons who feel no obligation to respect the law and no legal responsibility to obey it. Belonging to divers groups and movements, these persons are clairvoyant and prolific on matters of liberty, freedom, and individual rights, but impatient and taciturn on the issues of responsibilities and established democratic processes. Their emotions override their judgment and reasoning. Edmund Burke put it this way: "The freedom of some is the freedom of the herd of swine that ran violently down a steep place into the sea and were drowned. The only liberty that is valuable, is a liberty connected with order; that not only exists with order and virtue, but which cannot exist at all without them."

To my mind, a big question for every American as we enter the 1970's is whether he wants to support and defend our free society or let it be overrun and destroyed by visionary agitators, whether he wants to promote the cause of justice and order or give in to crime and chaos, and whether he wants to hold the line on decency and morality or let depravity and degeneracy corrupt our populace.

Let us make no mistake about it. Human dignity, individual values, civil rights, and freedom for all citizens cannot exist without order and self-discipline. We need discipline to life us above the baseness of indulgence, discipline to stand for right over wrong, discipline to uphold and preserve our ideals and principles of democracy, and discipline to respect and obey the law.

Let those whose actions are incompatible with the freedoms of our society know that their rights and privileges end where the rights and privileges of others begin.
