District Attorney Deems Examining Trial For Sheriff Inadvisable

By The Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 20.—Examining trial was today denied Sheriff Lee Whitaker, arrested last week by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer, on charges in connection with recent flogging of E. T. McDonald, and the officer must await the action of the grand jury, District Attorney Lloyd Fletcher announced this afternoon.

"Whitaker waived preliminary hearing when he was arrested Friday night," said Fletcher, "and in view of the fact that the grand jury meets next Monday we do not deem a hearing at this time advisable."

Rangers Still At Work

Texas rangers under the command of Ranger Captain Frank Hamer were in Amarillo tonight and are still at work on the flogging case, officials said. No additional arrests have been made, however, since Whitaker, the fifth in the case, was taken into custody.

Whitaker is at liberty on bond of $2,500 on each of two charges, one for conspiracy, and the other as being an accomplice in the abducting and flogging of McDonald.

Klan Makes Denial

Amarillo Klan No. 144, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, issued a statement tonight, following a called meeting, denying any participation in the recent flogging of E. T. McDonald, railroad laborer here.

Threat is made that any member that participates in a flogging, according to good evidence submitted to the organization, will be dropped from the roll.

West Overrules Motion To Stay Textbook Buying

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 20.—After a hearing here, Federal Judge Duval West, today overruled the motion of the American Book company to issue an order to stay further action on the part of S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, as to the purchase of textbooks pending the outcome of the appeal from Judge West's injunction decision, now before the United States circuit court of appeals.

Assistant Attorney General Wall, representing Marrs as state superintendent of public instruction and not as an individual, argued that any action which Marrs might take with regard to the purchase of textbooks, he would be acting in his official capacity and not in an individual capacity, and therefore would not be under the authority of the federal court.

Judge West stated: "I do not feel that this court is authorized to interfere with a state officer if he is acting in his official capacity."

25 Firemen Buried As Building Crashes In Early Morning Blaze

Wallace Predicts Farm Bankruptcy

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Thousands of American farmers will go bankrupt with wheat selling at considerably less than cost of production, Secretary Wallace declared today, while thousands of others will be able to hold on only by the most grinding economy. If the present plane of prices of commodities other than agricultural is to be maintained, he added, then, to have general prosperity, prices of farm products must be increased.

Eastern railroads could help by making substantial reductions in freight rates on agricultural products, especially if destined for export, Wallace asserted.

Exact Toll Unknown With Ambulances Rushed to Scene Of Groans of Injured.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—An unknown number of firemen were believed buried early today (Tuesday) when the roof and one of the walls of a three-story building housing the New Plaza dance hall in Brooklyn collapsed during the course of a fire. Between 25 and 50 firefighters and a number of civilians were crushed beneath the tons of brick and masonry.

Ambulances Rushed

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from Brooklyn and Manhattan, bringing doctors and a corps of nurses who assisted in the rescue work. Four alarms of fire brought additional firemen, who also assisted in the work of rescue.

The firemen had carried a line of hose into the structure and were fighting the fire under the glare of half a dozen powerful searchlights. Without warning, the entire roof and one of the walls crashed, burying all those in the building. A number of spectators close to the wall were believed to also have been victims.

Girders Pin Victims

Seven firemen were on the roof when the crash came. These were plunged into the flaming building. Between 25 and 50 firemen, fire officials estimated, were included in the group fighting the flames in the building at the time of the collapse.

The collapse of the roof carried three huge steel girders into the tumbled ruins, and these are believed to be pinning down many of the victims. Cries and groans of the injured spurred the rescue workers on to get near the injured ones. The rescue work was badly hampered by the heat and danger offered by the possibility of a collapse of the remaining walls.

The flames broke out afresh as the walls and roof collapsed and a fifth alarm brought additional fire apparatus.

Thousands Rush to Scene.

After ten minutes of desperate work rescuers brought out one body, that of a fireman, and five injured fire fighters, who were sent to hospitals.

The smouldering ruins built a sepulchre hundreds of feet high and covering half a block.

Firemen, policemen and volunteer citizens attacked the pile from every side in their efforts to get the victims out.

The roar of the crash, heard for many blocks around, brought thousands of men, women to the scene of the tragedy.

The horror of the situation drove women in hysteria and their cries were heard above the groans and screams of those buried in the ruins.

Police Hold Back Crowds.

Police lines hastily formed, held the crowds in check, and prevented many from throwing themselves upon the ruins, from which the mangled arms and legs of many dead and injured could be seen in the glare of the flames.

News of the holocaust caried on the winds and scores of wagons and motor cars of all descriptions soon crowded to the scene and were available in the work of rescue.

Those pinned inside the building under the fallen roof and its three heavy girders have small chance of rescue, as it is there that the flames are fiercest. The place was like a furnace and it was thought that none could be brought alive from the center of the ruins.

DEBTOR NATIONS ALLOWED TIME

Mellon Pessimistic About Settlements After Tour Of Europe

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The American government probably will make no immediate effort to hasten negotiations of debt funding agreements with its foreign war time debtors as a result of information brought back to the treasury today by Secretary Mellon.

Determination upon such a policy was practically assured when it became known that Mellon, who has just returned from a two-month tour of Europe, would remain in the cabinet. He conferred with President Coolidge during the day, the announcement being made later that he would continue as head of the treasury department.

Gloomy About Europe.

Mellon, who is chairman of the American debt commission, was declared to be pessimistic regarding completion in the near future of additional funding settlements. He was represented as believing, after his study of conditions abroad that the present was not a good time to attempt inquiries as to what the foreign governments contemplated in the way of repaying the American loans.

Taking a gloomy view of European affairs, politically and economically, the secretary was said to see no hope of an immediate settlement of the reparations tangle and to believe that until that question is disposed of there is little chance of improvement in Europe's economic situation. The connection between the involved reparations problem and the payment of debts to the United States, particularly by France, was declared to be regarded by Mellon as close.

The head of the treasury department told friends that he saw no way in which effective assistance could be given Europe by America.

Macon Officers Ready To Catch Flogging Ring

By The Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 20.—From information obtained from the three Hudson brothers, arrested last night in the act of flogging two negroes, the police were tonight peparing to round up an organized flogging band which has been terrorizing Macon for several weeks, according to the police.

During the last fortnight several men have been whipped and ordered to leave town within 48 hours, and at intervals during the last six months scores of men have been flogged. The climax in the disorders was reached early Saturday when the police engaged in a pistol fight with alleged floggers after they had kidnaped a man from in front of the railroad station. Governor Walker threatened to place the city under martial law.

The police also announced tonight that the Hudsons and other members of the flogging band were paid men, and that through the Hudsons they had learned they were being financed by an organization.

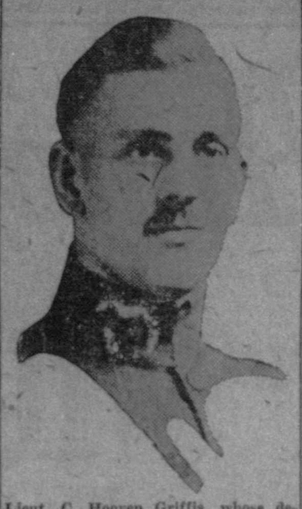

"We expect to make other arrests within 48 hours," said Sheriff J. R Hicks Jr.

MEXICAN AMITY PLAN PRESENTED AT WASHINGTON

Commissioners Present All Details Worked Out At Mexico City

WILL STUDY REPORT

Satisfactory Basis Reached By Commissions Must Get Nation's Approval

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—A plan designed as the ground work of a new structure of friendship and amity between the United States and Mexico was laid formally before the American government today upon the return to Washington of the two commissioners appointed by President Harding to negotiate a rapprochement with the government of General Obregon.

Feeling of Confidence

Details of the plan as worked out by Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne with their Mexican colleagues on the international commission will not be revealed for the present nor will responsible officials make any prediction as to the future course of the Washington administration until there has been a careful study of the entire project. Nevertheless, the steps already taken have aroused in official circles an apparent feeling of confidence that the long continued breach between the two republics of the North American continent may be closed at last.

Warren and Payne called on Secretary Hughes immediately after their arrival from Mexico City and left on his desk their report of the negotiations and of the agreement reached between the American and Mexican commissioners for setlement of the many international claims which have accumulated since relations between the two capitols were broken. Later in the day the two commissioners were represented by Hughes to President Coolidge. They will remain in Washington for the present to confer at the state department and the White House over details of the Mexico City agreement and to give their advice as to the acceptance of the settlement plan by the United States.

Two Weeks Required

It is the general expectation that this study of the report will require at least two weeks. The president, as well as Secretary Hughes and other officials of the statement department, are expected to examine the plan suggested with greatest care before there is any announcement as to whether it provides, in the opinion of Washington, a real basis for enduring friendship between the two countries.

"The two groups of commissioners," said Warren today, "have agreed on a basis that has been found agreeable to the Mexican government. We hope, of course, that it will be acceptable to our own."

Two claims conventions are proposed in the plan to provide machinery for settling finally and on an impartial basis all the questions remaining open on the resumption of full relations. One would deal with claims growing out of the revolution, and the other with mixed claims.

Creager Ambassador.

Before the death of President Harding it had been the general understanding in Washington that R. B. Creager of San Antonio would be named as ambassador when relations were resumed. Whether President Coolidge will follow out that plan has not been indicated in any authoritative quarter and apparently has not been given serious consideration by Coolidge himself. It was said recently at the White House that the question of selecting an ambassador naturally would be decided after the larger question of resuming relations had itself been disposed of.

State To Be Offered Dollar A Year Rangers In Oil Investigation

Independent Operator Loses Out Against Larger Companies, Claims Legislator.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 20.—Services of one or more Texas rangers at "dollar a year" salaries, will be tendered the state railroad commission to assist in gathering data on alleged manipulations by large oil refiners and producers and discrimination by them against the independent interests, it was stated late today by Representative W. C. Morgan of Liberty county. Morgan today filed petition asking the commision to gather this data and later hold general hearings as basis for revision of the rules and report to the legislature on necessary additional laws to regulae the oil industry.

Petition Up Today.

Offers of services will be made to the railroad commission when it takes up the Morgan petition Tuesday afternoon, to determine whether the charges will be investigated and to fix date for hearing if the probe is stated, Morgan said.

Morgan's petition recited that "without criticism" it appears the railroad commission oil and gas bureau has given more attention to enforcement of conservation rules than to exercise of its more general power aimed primarily to prevent manipulations or discriminations against independent producers or refiners.

Pipe Line Rates Attacked.

Excessive transportation rates in common carrier oil pipe lines owned by the large companies was charged. Other charges made included control of production by large companies limiting amount of oil to be purchased from small concerns; control of market by necessity of independent selling to large companies whose pipe lines serves his production; priority discriminations in oil shipments and general inadequacy of anti-discrimination activites of the railroad commission.

TULSA FLOGGING CHARGE FILED

Security of Three Years Ripped Away By Tulsa Investigators

By The Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 20.—The security from punishment, which the passing of three years gave to a band of Tulsa county floggers, was ripped away tonight when the state filed charges against one alleged member of the party that applied the lash to Leonard Bagby near Broken Bow on the night of July 14, 1920.

Marshall Moore, a special deputy sheriff, and son of a prominent dairyman living near Broken Bow, was charged with participation in the Bagby whipping, making the second such offense with which his name has been connected since military authorities have been delving in mob violence in this vicinity.

Victim Signs Charge.

Moore was formally charged last Saturday with implication with the flogging of J. S. Lawhorn, a merchant at Jenks, June 4, 1922. Lawhorn was said to have been taken out and subjected to a severe beating because of his refusal to withdraw a suit against the Jenks school board which prevented the payment of teachers' salaries.

The information against Moore in the Bagby case was signed by the victim, who it is understood, identified Moore as one of his abductors.

Rowland C. Ragle, employe of a local oil refinery, was still held by the military authorities tonight but no charges had been filed against him. Ragle, who was arrested last Saturday at Fort Scott, Kans., is understood to be detained in connection with the flogging of Nathan Hantaman, the incident which caused Governor J. C. Walton to invoke martial law here.

Developments at the city council meeting last night indicated that there is a desire on at least a part of the council to investigate the charge for electric light service in Wichita Falls.

Mayor Frank Collier said he had been reliably informed that Greenville had a rate of six and one-half cents per kilowatt from the light company serving that city. Greenville, he said, had approximately 3,000 light meters. Burton Stayton, city public utilities commissioner, said he believed the rate here too high. The mayor and Commissioners Clifford and Patton agreed. The rate per kilowatt here, commissioners said, was in the neighborhood of 13 cents.

It is not expected any investigation will be made until the suit against the municipal gas companies, in which many north Texas cities have joined has been disposed of.

MARKET FLOODED

Small Producing Wells Are Compared to Gushers Of California

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20.—Wastage of Oklahoma's oil wealth by having it thrown at a loss upon a market temporarily flooded from other sources will not be permitted by the state government, Governor J. C. Walton declared in a statement tonight.

State to Take Hand

"The influence and authority of the state will be exercised to force conservation of its petroleum supplies, and neither individual producers or purchasing companies will be permitted to encourage, engage in or abet wasteful and uneconomic methods of production of oil, or the marketing of its products," the governor said.

"I notice the governors of many states in the middle west have been demanding lower prices for gasoline for their consumers, approximately 75 per cent of which gasoline comes from crude oil produced in Oklahoma," said the executive's statement.

"Reports are current that crude oil prices will be reduced further to meet the demand for lower priced gasoline.

60,000 Wells in Oklahoma

"It is understood in Oklahoma that crude oil, gasoline and many other petroleum products from our state are selling below the actual cost of finding, producing and marketing."

Governor Walton explained that there are 60,000 oil wells in Oklahoma, averaging less than 10 barrels each daily, thousands of which "are pumping less than one barrel a day from each well," while in the new fields of California one pool alone, by natural flow, yields temporarily 1,800 barrels a day from each well, which oil is available by water transportation to gulf and Atlantic seaboard refineries.

DICKEY RESIGNS HENRIETTA POST

Opposition to Good Roads Flayed in Giving Up C-C Presidency

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Aug. 20.—The resignation of Judge J. S. Dickey Friday night as president of the Henrietta chamber of commerce has been refused by the board of directors and the general membership.

Dickey's resignation came as a thunderbolt to the members at the regular Friday night session when he asked Brad Stagg, vice-president to take the chair. He then tendered his resignation.

Dickey said he was retiring because he felt like he could do more good as a layman in the organization than in an executive capacity. Dickey recited the fights and struggles the chamber of commerce had undergone since the first of the year.

Will Keep Up Fight.

"My resignation comes at a time when the chamber of commerce here is at full tide and not on the decline. Had I resigned at any othr period of my administration it might have appeared that I was running or trying to chick the fight. I want to say here that as an humble member of this organization, I shall continue to fight for more good roads and to see that the well earned road victory of four-fifths of the people in district No. 2 who voted for 34 miles of concrete roads in Clay county are not denied this road. As in the past and as one of the leaders in the good road movement, I refuse to be thwarted by the offers of one set of the opposition or the threats of another faction," Dickey said in tendering his resignation.

The membership refused to accept the resignation and voted to await Dickey's re-consideration of the matter. On Saturday a petition signed by practically every business man in Henrietta was presented to Dickey. This petition expressed confidence in the retiring president and his policies and asked that re reconsider his resignation.

"Resignation Final."

Monday it was rumored here that eight of the 12 members of the chamber of commerce directorate would tender their resignations if Dickey did not resume the presidency. Dickey in a statement Monday said he was still of the opinion that he could do better work for Henrietta and Clay county if he were not burdened with the presidency of the chamber of commerce.

"My resignation is final and irrevocable. The first thing I propose to do in connection with the road is one here is to begin a survey of proper valuations in road district No. 2 and on highway 5 which runs through the county. It has been brought to my attention that tax renditions of property have been very fluctuating. Where a farm is rendered for $15 per acre, land right across the fence is rendered at $8 an acre. If this is true the matter should be remedied and an equalization made, so that every land owner should pay the same amount of taxes on lands of the same value," Dickey said.

New Concrete Road Hinted.

Since the re-organization here last January 1, of the chamber of commerce with Dickey at its head, this city and county has enjoyed phenomenal prosperity. The installation of street lights in the residence and business sections and the voting of bonds for 34 miles of concrete highway the length of the county have been the two outstanding features of his administration.

The next movement hinted here by the chamber of commerce is to call an election and vote bonds for a concrete road from Henrietta to Ringgold. It is believed here that such an election would carry with possibly an even greater majority than the last road election which was nearly unanimous or a vote of four to one in favor of good roads.

Kiwanians Show Pep Galore For Convention Trip

Wichita Kiwanians with a 50 piece band will probably be 50 strong at the district Kiwanis convention to be held at Mineral Wells next Sept. 3, according to the report of Chairman Bobo of the transportation committee at the weekly luncheon of the club Monday noon.

Grover Ballington and Bob McCullough are arranging Wichita's part of the stunt program to be held at the convention and promise a red hot exhibition. The club will probably have a booth at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, it was announced.

The matter of paving the downtown area with something beside wooden blocks was discussed and a committee appointed to confer with a committee from the chamber of commerce.

Entertainment features were vocal selections by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hackabee.

COUNTY PLANS SUIT ON CHICO QUARRY

A law suit to recover 2,600 carloads of rock or its monetary value from the owners of the Chico stone quarry will be instituted by the county and T. A. Boone was appointed by the county commissioners Monday to conduct the suit.

The suit comes from a contract entered into by the county with the quarry owners to advance $10,000 for machinery and the company to furnish Wichita county stone for its highways. The county claims the Chico company did not follow the letter of the contract.

WAITE HOYT OUSTED FOR FIGHTING UMP

CHICAGO, Aug. 20——Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the New York Yankees today was indefinitely suspended by President Johnson of the league following his attempted attack upon Umpire "Brick" Owens yesterday. Bill Barrett of the Chicago club was called safe on a close play at the plate in yesterday's game when he scored the winning run in the eighth inning. Hoyt protested the arbiters decision and made vain efforts to strike Owens. Other players restrained him from doing so and he was led off the field.

Tariff Congress Meets In Denver Early In October

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 20.—A western tariff congress, called for the purpose of taking the tariff out of partisan politics and securing the adoption of a permanent tariff policy suited to the needs of the west, has been called to meet here early in October, the exact date to be announced later.

The call is signed by practically all producing organizations, chambers of commerce, banking associations and other organizations representing all lines of agricultural, commercial and industrial activity in the west. Joining with the producers in issuing the call are the governors of western states including Governor Sweet of Colorado and other state officials are expected to join in the call within the next few days.

The movement is declared to be strictly non-partisan and in addition to its primary purpose of taking the tariff out of partisan politics, will create a medium for the discussion of the tariff and other economic issues which affect the economic welfare of western producers and will undertake to maintain the present tariff duties upon western products.

Officials of the congress are former Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado, chairman, Frank J. Hagenbarth of Salt Lake City, chairman organization committee, and J. A. Arnold of Fort Worth, Texas, manager.

Temporary headquarters of the congress are located in the Engineers building here and plans for making the congress one of the largest gatherings ever held in the west are under way.

THE OTHER SIDE OF PREMIER'S NATURE

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—Premier Poincare's essentially legal mind, his high pitched metallic voice and his disposition to keep his own counsel have given him the reputation of being cold, aloof and unemotional, but his visit recently to his native village of Sampigny, in the devastated Meuse department, brought out hidden tenderness and his charming gentleness with children.

He spoke at the distribution of prizes to the children at the end of the school year. It was the first time prizes were given in the shell-torn village in the memory of the pupils, for they all were infants when war interrupted classes.

The premier told his "dear little friends" a thousand year history of their once embattled homes, and spoke of the war deeds with tear-glistening eyes and a voice that trembled despite its vibrant ring.

"Never forget, my children, it was your fathers who did these great things," he said. "Let those among them who did not come back remain always living in your hearts; let those who are among you forever be the objects of your love, your veneration."

Two weeks ago, M. Poincare took a few days' vacation, for the first time since the war began, in his old home villa on the side of a hill overlooking the village and in sight of St. Mihiel. He went there alone and listened over a secret telephone wire to an official of the foreign affairs department of Paris who read the recent British note on reparations and the Ruhr occupation.

Price Reduction Is Announced By Willys-Overland

Immediate price reductions and improvements in the Willys-Overland automobile models has been announced, according to ward received by Mr. Frank Quiesser, manager of The Fritz Motor Co., 1100 Eighth street, Willys-Overland dealer.

In speaking of the reduction Mr. Quisser said:

"This action, which embraces a drop in price on the Willys-Knight touring car and roadster models from $1,235 to $1,175, F. O. B. factory, and on the Willys-Knight coupe-sedan from $1,595 to $1,550, came as a distinct surprise to the automobile industry and motoring public in view of the advance in price made by not a few manufacturers in announcing their 1924 models.

"The new values in Willys-Knight and Overland cars are the direct result of the wonderful sales and production records made by the Willys-Overland company this year, eclipsing any previous period in its history, which determined the officials of the company to share with the public the appreciable saving in costs made possible by an enormous increase in business.

"Mr. Willys added that in every detail all the advantages of the Willys-Knight car have been retained, while improvements have been added, making this car, powered with the famous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor, a bigger value than ever before.

"This announcement has great significance because it marks a new valuation record for automotive products in the face of a generally rising market in raw materials."

Here And There In The World Of Daily Interest To Women

Today's Poem

ATONEMENT

When a storm comes up at night
and the wind is crying,
When the trees are moaning like
masts on laboring ships,
I wake in fear and put out my hand
to find you
With your name on my lips.

No pain that the heart can hold is like to this one—
To call, forgetting, into aching space,
To reach out confident hands and find
beside you
Only an empty place.

This should atone for the hours when
I forgot you.
Take then my offering, clean and sharp and sweet.
An agony brighter than years of dull remembrance.
I lay it at your feet.

THE WOMAN WHO IS SOMEONE

In reading the life of Sarah Bernhardt, I ran across a passage that might be well to pass on.

From great women, like Bernhardt, we learn great truths about human nature and love.

In speaking of women she said: "It has often been said that women love to be followed. Perhaps the second-hand sort of women—the plain, unimaginative, every-day sort of women—does.

"But a woman who is someone prefers the game of her own catching, and the harder it is to corner, the more tightened her clutch.

"It compares to the other circumstances as does the hare which one has shot one's self to the hare that is purchased for five francs in the market."

She found sport in the game of love, and had the true sportsman's idea of how to play it.

TODAYS RECIPES

Veal Stew—Veal is a good hot weather meat, not having the hearty heat producing qualities of beef and pork. Stewed according to this recipe it is a tasty dish served hot, is nice sliced and served cold, and can be jellied, made into a pressed veal loaf or peppers may be stuffed with left-overs seasoned with leftover gravy, so the family does not tire of it if quite a large piece is purchased. Almost any cut of veal is good for this dish. Brown in bacon fat, then place in stewing pan and add some hot water and simmer gently. Take a good sized green pepper and onion, run them through the food chopper (coarsest knife) and add to the stew and continue cooking gently until tender. Season with salt. The gravy is then thickened after the removal of the meat and served with boiled potatoes, which can also be cooked with the meat if desired.

Devil's Food Cake—Devil's food cake is one of the most popular chocolate cakes. It differs from ordinary cake in that it calls for brown sugar, and often requires sour milk. Even if the sour milk was not used, you might find it wise to use a small amount of soda. Brown sugar contains an acid. There is an acid in chocolate also. The amount of acid is small, and for that reason you will add an extremely small amount of soda, unless you are using sour milk. Baking powder could be used, with a little soda to neutralize acid in chocolate and sugar.

When chocolate is added to a cake, you are going to have flecks of unmelted chocolate, unless you have melted the chocolate first. The heat of the interior of the loaf of cake is not sufficient to melt the chocolate. That explains the reason for cooking part of the ingredients together. Not all recipes call for that procedure, but many do.

Chocolate is rich in fat, and there is a certain amount of starch in the preparation. That means that in proportion as you add the chocolate it will be necessary to modify the amounts of fat and of liquid and flour.

This is the first part: One cup brown sugar, one-half cup butter, three egg yolks, one-half cup sour milk, two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt.

Here is the second part: One-half cup brown sugar, one-half cup milk, one-half cup butter chocolate or three tablespoons cocoa, vanilla.

The last three ingredients are heated together, but not boiled. When cooled, they are added to the first mixture. That is put together by creaming the butter, adding the sugar, the egg yolks mixed with the milk. Then the soda mixed with the sifted flour is added.

FALL COMES - AND WOMEN'S CLOTHES AGAIN!

Cold Weather Models Range from Average to "Different"

As Labor day nears the feminine mind turns to thoughts of clothes. The shops are filled with cold weather apparel. Some of the garments are of the sort which will appeal to the average woman while others are of the "different" variety. The suit at the left is plainly of the latter class. The coat is a rather close-fitting blouse affair with a surplice effect. The sleeves are tight until they reach the elbow—then they flare out in a gorgeous manner until they gain huge proportions at the wrist. Gray fur trims the cuffs and surplice collar. Another unusual feature is the tiny collar edged with fur. The skirt with its three tiers reminds one of the fashions which were in vogue several years ago.

In the center is a frock that will look well on both the youthful and more mature figure. It is made of desert gray pleated crepe de chine with a panel of soft gray lace. A wide band of unpleated crepe de chine makes an attractive neck. The same material is used for the crushed sash which ties in a bow at the left side.

Pressed satin transforms the plain black gown at the right. The pressed is used for the blouse, bands on the three-quarter sleeves, and bow. The skirt is plain with just a slight fullness in the front. The plain satin is also used for the wide belt at the hips.

These three models are smart looking and practical. With the exception of the suit they are garments that would look well on almost any woman. Extremes have been avoided both in length and cut.

AUGUST AFTERNOON

LUCILE

Lucile is four and a half. At three she was taken from a home pronounced unfit to be a home, and was placed in a state institution for dependent children. Six months later she was sent to a hospital for cleft-palate treatment. From there she was adopted by two who now, nearly a year later, adore her.

And some of the qualities for whih they adore her are, curiously, qualities which she may have derived from those strange years before they had her.

When she came to them she was afraid of men. When a man, even a man who was not a stranger, entered the room, she would instantly retreat to a far corner and climb into a chair. She would never turn for refuge to the new mother, or to anyone else—but always there would be that solitary retreat of a lonely corner, and here she would sit gravely until the man had left the room.

Everyone concluded that the reason for this was, that to her, virtually all men were doctors who would almost certainly insist on examining her mouth and then on painfully treating her palate!

But then, as she grew older, there came a day when a neighbor, watching her run barefoot on the grass, noticed that her foot had been bleeding. She called her, found a serious cut, and inquired what had happened; and Lucile, by now able to talk intelligibly—threw herself into the recital: The sidewalk, it appeared, was at fault. The foot, she explained, "bleed and bleed, and I cried hard."

Questioned as to the place where this had occurred, she offered to conduct her neighbor to the spot. On the way they encountered the mother and father, and the neighbor explained: "We're on our way to the scene of the tragedy."

The mother and father looked blank, and the neighbor repeated the account she had just listened to. "That's the first we've heard of it," said the mother. "She didn't bring her troubles into the house."

They discussed it. Was not this solitary bearing of accident and pain a result of the days when there had been no one to comfort Lucile? Then, might not that lonely retreating to a chair when she was afraid also be a result of the early experiences in making her own refuges, finding her own solaces, since she had learned so well that neither refuge nor solace was waiting anywhere for her?

"We have a friend," said the mother, "whose little boy, if he falls down, shouts and sobs before he knows whether he's hurt. And his whole loving family picks him up and comforts him, hurt or whole."

"What's the answer?" said the father. "Is a whole loving family bad for a child? Are there better traits to be gained from an institution?"

A hundred years from now they may be discussing such a matter more intelligibly—than we do. They may have found that some of the best traits of families can be borrowed from institutions, and the worst family influences eliminated. They may have found that some of the best qualities of institutions can be utilized by families. But will they not certainly have found that constantly we take exquisite children and deliberately develop in them dependence and grievance and resentment and sentimentality—when without us the grave self-contained little things might, in some crisis, just possibly know better than we precisely how to behave?

Chicago, Ill. — "I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it, it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVCIK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

ANOTHER CERTAIN VALUE.

Considerable has been said and written of the value of the Wichita Falls irrigation project, from the standpoint of development of the farming country of this region and of Wichita Falls and other communities which will be benefited by it. Aside from the actual value to the vast acreage it will affect, there is another feature which should not be passed idly by—the favorable publicity that Wichita Falls and adjacent territory will get because of the accomplishment of this monumental engineering feat.

The most recent issue of "West Texas Today," the official publication of the West Texas chamber of commerce, devotes an entire page to the Wichita irrigation project. The article is ably written and is by Hubert M. Harrison, the well known general manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce. The proposition is explained in detail and figures given which impress on one the magnitude of this great enterprise. The article is accompanied by nine photographic views of the project.

The mere statement that Lake Kemp, the storage reservoir, has ten times the capacity of Lake Worth, near Fort Worth, is enough to make anyone sit up and take notice, and gives one a faint idea of the possibilities ahead for this territory.

The spreading of this sort of information broadcast throughout the country, is bound to attract persons from everywhere. It is a great advertisement for Wichita Falls, and a tribute to the spirit of the men who have had foresight enough to make a dream come true. There is no way to estimate the untold worth of the irrigation project.

STRIKE FAST FOR TEXAS.

The conclusion of a treaty of commerce and friendship with Mexico Wednesday is almost a certain curtain raiser for full recognition of Mexico by Uncle Sam.

Secretary Hughes is perhaps the strongest secretary of state the United States has had in a generation. He combines a first class legal mind with an instinct for common sense business procedure. Most treaties nowadays are based upon international business considerations. The trouble in Mexico dates back to the days of Diaz. It was the Diaz plan to exploit Mexico as a broker. Diaz was the autocrat. He needed vast sums to maintain a personal military machine. He got the money by making deals with French, Germans and Americans under which cash was paid for "concessions."

After Diaz was overthrown, succeeding Mexican administrations repudiated Diaz agreements. In the meantime millions of American capital had been invested in Mexico based upon Diaz contracts. These contracts were some times repudiated directly and some times were repudiated through special laws and special taxation. Of course, American capital protested to Washington. There resulted over a decade of wrangling, the Villa raid and the Vera Cruz excitement being the high spots.

Hughes apparently has cleared up the muddle and has saved much for American capital. The result soon to come—recognition—means that Washington feels that it can stand behind the immense movement of American capital into Mexico which has only been waiting recognition as a signal.

Texas is the gateway to Mexico. Of course, New England, New York and the Philadelphia district will send much trade into Mexico by way of Vera Cruz and Tampico. The law of business, however, is that a man who can satisfy a want can best maintain his trade the closer he is to the client. Texas has wonderful seaport, the best of which are Port Arthur and Orange. Supply houses of Austin, Waco, San Antonio and Dallas are already trading with Mexico. Recognition will redouble the efforts of these pioneers. History will make recognition day as the date of greatest moment in the growth of Texas jobbing and manufacture.

STEEL

If steel is the American business barometer, then the skies are clear. Steel is increasing its bookings of new tonnage, more tonnage was booked in July than in the previous month and so far in August new business has exceeded that of July. There is another building boom on in the east, another scarcity of skilled labor. Another sensational era of activity in eastern real estate circles and Wall Street is said to be satisfied with the government outlook. If the wheat farmer has his all the American world would be happy.

SHE STEPPED ON

Eighteen years ago a Vermont school teacher paid her first visit to Washington and paused to examine a gold grand piano in the east room of the white house. A white house policeman ordered her to "step on" and she stepped on.

She was Miss Grace Goodhue, eighteen years ago. Now she is Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, the first lady of the land. All will agree she stepped on.

Now she is the mistress of the white house, now she is the mistress of the gold grand piano and now she is the one who gives orders to the police guards at the white house. Truth is stranger than fiction.

President Coolidge wished to send a real hero to Marion as a representative of the soldiers who fought in France to attend the Harding funeral. He selected Michael A. Donaldson of New York, a congressional medal of honor man. Hero Michael had to hustle to find the train fare from New York to Marion but he succeeded and he was the unknown soldier at the grave of his dead commander in chief. President Coolidge didn't visit a thistle patch when he wished to gather roses.

All the world on wheels? Yes, 318,000 autos were built in America in July and the August output promises to be very heavy. Why should the refiners shivver?

Strange! No One Seems to Be Urging a Special Session of Congress to Maintain the Price of Gasoline Above Cost.

The Letter Of The Contract

MAGGIE, as she is called, is the girl—or rather woman, as she appears on Edith's closer inspection—was dependent on Chipman, before his marriage, he tells his wife, and now again needs his help.

"In your own way, yes. Where another woman would make a fuss, you're unnaturally frozen; but it comes to the same thing. I know that your heart—"

"Is breaking. Oh, I don't deny that. But I'd rather it broke here than indoors. I don't know why, but I can stand it here, with people going by; whereas in there—"

"Oh, cut it, Edith, for God's sake! Can't you see that my heart's breaking, too?"

She looked him in the face, shaking her head sadly. "No, Chip, I CAN'T see that! If there had been any danger of it you wouldn't have—"

"But I couldn't help it. That's what you don't seem to understand."

"No; I'm afraid I don't."

"Would you try to understand—if I were to tell you?"

"I think I know already most of what you'd have to say. She's a woman whom you knew long before you knew me—and from whom you've never been able—"

"She was the daughter of a Swedish Lutheran minister—dead now—established in New Jersey. In some way she drifted to the stage. Her name was Margarethe Kastenskjod. When she went on the stage she made it Maggie Clare. She had about as much talent for the theater as a paper doll. When I first knew her she was still getting odd jobs in third and fourth rate companies. Since then she hasn't played at all."

"I understand. There's been no need of it. She's quite well dressed."

"Let me go on, will you, Edith? I was about two or three and twenty then. She may have been a year or two older. That time Billy Cummings was in love with her. And somehow it happened—after Billy died—and she was stranded—"

She made an appealing gesture. "Please! I know how those things come about—or I can easily imagine. In your case—I'd—I'd rather not try." She got the words out somehow without breaking down.

Chapter VII.—"You Can't Make One Law for Both."

"If she hadn't been a refined, educated sort of girl, entirely at sea in her surroundings, and stranded—stranded for money," Chipman tried to explain, "next door to going to starve—and no chance of getting a job, because she couldn't act a little bit—if it hadn't been for all that—"

"Oh, I know how you'd be generous!"

"Yes; but you don't know how I came to be a fool."

"Is there any reason why I should know—now that the fact is there?"

"Edith! What are you made of?"

She returned his look. "I think—of stone. Up till today I've been a woman of flesh and blood; but I'm not sure that I am any longer. You can't kill the heart in a woman's body—and still expect her to FEEL."

"But, Edith—Edith, darling—there's no reason why I SHOULD have killed the heart in your body when I never dreamed of doing you a wrong—that is, an intentional wrong," he corrected.

"You knew you were doing SOME woman a wrong—some future woman, the woman you'd marry—as far back as when you took up what Billy Cummings dropped from his dead hands—"

"Oh, THAT! That, dear, is nothing but talk. Men are men, and women are women. You can't make one law for them both."

"I wasn't thinking of men in general; I was thinking only of you."

"But I could hardly be expected to take it for granted—whatever men may be, or may have the right to be—that the man who asked me to marry him was already involved with another—"

He moved impatiently. "But, I tell you, I couldn't get rid of her. I couldn't shake her off—or pay her off—or do any of the usual things. It was agreed between us before I married you—LONG before I married you—that everything was at an end. But, poor soul, she doesn't know what an agreement is. There's something lacking in her. She's always been like a child, and of late years she's been more so. At any rate, she has no right to haunt like a shadow the man who's befriended her—"

"But, I presume she's befriended HIM. And—and continues to 'befriend' him—since that's the word."

He avoided her eyes, and whistled tunelessly beneath his breath.

"I said—CONTINUES to befriend him," she repeated.

The tuneless whistling went on.

She allowed him time to get the full effect of her meaning. As far as she could see her way, her line of action depended on his response. When he dodged the question she knew what she would do.

"Look here, Edith," he said, at last, "the long and short of it is this. She's on my hands—and I can't abandon her. I must see that she's provided for, at the very least. Hang it all, she's—she's attached to me: has been attached to me fore more than ten years. I can't ignore that; now, can I?"

"No; I dare say not."

"But I'll undertake never to SEE her again—of my own free will."

She shook her head. "Oh, I'm not asking for that."

"Then what do you ask for? Just tell me, and whatever it is—"

"It's that, since you can't abandon her, you abandon me."

Chapter VIII.—The Break.

"WHAT?"

She repeated the words more firmly.

"NEVER!"

"Then I'm afraid it will be for me to abandon you." She gave him a little nod. "Good-bye."

She had turned and taken a step or two along the pavement before his astonishment allowed him to overtake her.

"Edith, for God's sake, what do you mean? You're not crazy, are you?"

"Quite possibly I am; I can't tell yet. Or perhaps I CAN tell. It's like this," she went on, after an instant's thinking. "I half-hour ago, while I was talking to that—that poor creature—before you came up—I was just aware of being like a woman with a dose of syanide of potassium in her hand, and doubting whether or not to take it. Well, I took it. I took it and I—died. That is, the Edith who was your wife—died. What survives of her personality is something else."

"Oh, don't!" he groaned. "Don't talk that way. Come in. You can't stay out here."

She looked over at their house. He thought she shuddered. "I can't stay out here: but I don't have to go in—THERE."

"What do you mean? Where are you going?"

"I'm going to Aunt Emily's."

"And do you think you'll be able to bear our being separated when you KNOW I adore you? Why, you'll break down within an hour."

"That's just it. That's why I must hurry. I shall break down within half an hour. You don't suppose I can go on like this? I'm almost breaking down now. I must get to Aunt Emily's before—"

She was interrupted by a cry; "Hello, papa!"

Up the pathway two little white-suited men came prancing and screaming. The governess marched primly and sedately behind them.

"You see?" Edith said, quickly. "I must go. I can't see them tonight—or speak to them—or kiss them—or hear them say their prayers—or anything. You wouldn't understand; but—but I couldn't bear it. You must tell them I've gone to spend a few nights with Aunt Emily, as I did when she was ill. You must say that to the servants, too. Tell Jenny SHE needn't send me anything—yet. I have some things there—that I left the last time—"

"You are risking your happiness and mine."

She shot him a reproachful glance. Do YOU say that?"

"Yes, Edith, I do say it. If I've broken the letter of the contract, you may be transgressing its spirit. Don't forget that. Take care. What I did, I did because I couldn't help it. You CAN help it—"

The children caught their father round the knees. Stooping, he put his arms about them, urging them toward their mother. They were to plead for him—to be his advocates.

But, when he raised himself, Edith was already walking swiftly up the avenue.

Chapter IX.—The Wife's poor privilege.

It was a strange sensation to be free. It was still more strange that it was not a sensation. I was a kind of numbness. She could only feel that she didn't feel. In spite of her repeated silent assertions, "I'm free! I'm free!" any consciousness of change eluded her.

It was true that there had been a moment like a descent into hell, from which she thought she must come up another woman.

Aunt Emily and the lawyer had whirled her somewhere in a motor. Veiled as heavily as was consistent with articulation, she had told a tale that seemed abominable, though it was no more than a narrative of the facts.

So Goes It

By B. H.

See a newspaper headline which reads: "Ford Knocks Down a Woman" we hasten to assure those who are interested in Ford's prospects of becoming a candidate for the presidency of the United States, that it wasn't Henry. It was just one of those cars he manufacturers in the hands of a reckless driver.

We see among the fashion notes that men's headgear this season is to be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. "Frolicking pearl grays and tans," etc., etc. All of which means nothing to us. We will wear the same old roof which adorned our bean last winter. Our only worry now is whether our straw hat will make it through the summer.

It is bad enough for poor old Milwaukee to have to drink water. But to be compelled to boil it—Ugh!

Bobbed-hair teachers have been barred by many Iowa school boards. There is the possibility, of course, that the Iowa teachers have made themselves so attractive that the scholars, especially in the higher grades, can't keep their minds on their studies.

Senator Brookhart says Russia is our best friend. We have several of the same kind—the kind that regulate the amount of their friendship by the amount of money they can borrow.

A resident of Oklahoma, 83 years of age, walked 200 miles in the broiling August sun, without injury to himself. The feat is explained by the fact that he was born in Texas.

Soup Sandwiches

One Mother Says:

Any meat broth is made more appetising in summer by serving it jellied. Reduce the broth by long boiling, season, strain, and put in a cup to harden. The children will be interested immediately if they are asked if they "want to cut the soup," or they may be beguiled by the mention of "soup sandwiches," made by putting slices of the jellied soup between slices of whole wheat bread and lettuce.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE

LEO

The Moon enters Capricorn, a movable, earthly, feminine sign ruled by Saturn. Governs knees. Although two adverse aspects operate of minor importance, the good signs of the day are not affected. You can safely transact business, entertain socially and carry on afairs of the heart.

A child born today will be impressionable and melancholy with a fine talent for singing.

Yours is a remarkable personality in more ways than one if today is your birthday, and one that will be a constant source of merriment to others if not to yourself. You are not inherently illogical nor unreasonable, but your actions sometimes appear so, especially when you are doing one thing and thinking of another, which, to say the least, is not frequent.

One side of your nature, the spiritual side, is strong and active, but the material side is occasionally left to its own resources. When your attention is focussed on an abstract problem, your body is left to shift for itself, while work and all the minor details of life such as meals, appointments and rest are simply postponed until such time as you give them your attention.

You are in need of intimate association with personalities unlike yourself—cold, hardheaded thinkers—who will keep your mind on earth. You should devote as much of your time as possible to introspection and the analysis of your own motives, for your impulses are not to be trusted, and if you follow them the result may be disastrous.

You are rather passionate in temperament, and you expect a responsiveness which you will not find in others whose emotions may be just as intense, but less lavishly demonstrated than your own. You are also fickle, because no human being could sustain your pitch of emotion, and, once cooled, no power on earth could make you continue the friendship. For this reason you will probably remain single for you do not see enough of a person to really form any kind of attachment.

Successful people born on your birthday are:

HOPE

There's a town they call Tomorrow
Up along the road somewhere,
Where there isn't any sorrow,
Any heart-break of despair.
Its' a place where little labor
Is rewarded with success,
Where the tuneful pipe and tabor
Lead the march to happiness.

I can see the towers shining,
When the morning sun glows red,
I can see the silver lining
Of the clouds that float o'erhead.
Bright-hued birds are ever winging
Through the branches all day long
And melodious bells are ringing
In a glad and golden song.

So, forgetful of the worry
And the care that form my lead,
With an eager step I hurry
Round each turn along the road,
And the towers ever clearer
Pierce the limpid light of day,
Looming nearer, still and nearer,
As I journey on my way.

* * * * *

Still my patient way I'm wending
Through the valley, o'er the hill,
Though the road seems quite unending,
And my load is heavier still
I am weary now and jaded,
And the sun is far past noon,
But I always am persuaded
That I'll reach it pretty soon.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Wichita Falls Record News:

I am delighted to see the article on the wooden paving block decision of the council to repave the eight blocks on Ohio and Indiana from 6th to 10th street.

Wood block paving is a nuisance unless it is given sufficient asphalt to make it waterproof. When properly laid they will last three times as long as any other paving.

The cross streets are in good shape although the repairs after an excavation are deplorable the blocks are replaced with a little sand in the joints. Asphalt has not been used at all, when a rain comes and they float out the hole fills up with water, works itself under the surrounding blocks and the damage is twice as bad as the first. The blocks are again placed back with the usual sand, no asphalt and the next rain creates a larger rupture.

I urge the public to stroll over Sixth street, Seventh street and the block between the depot and Ohio and Tenth and Indiana and see if I have made an exaggerated statement.

If our 14 blocks were all put in the same shape as on Eighth and Ninth street they will be in good condition when most of us will be under the sod. Always providing the repairs as made as good as the original, when these blocks are completed will have 14 blocks as fine and durable streets as any in the world.

When completed one man can easily patrol the block daily, if he notices that even a single block is showing an ugly temper, get his little can of asphalt and choke off his desire to bother his neighbour. The job will be about the easiest in this city.

The first action to take is to take up two feet of the paving from the end of the street car ties, replace it with good rich cement on the concrete foundation of the street three inches thick and two feet wide which will be on the level of the block.

The distance from Sixth to Tenth on Ohio and Indiana is 1000 feet both which makes 2300 feet, multiply this by four (the width of the two shoulders) will give 12,000 square feet. The blocks are length eight inches, width four inches, depth three inches, it takes four and one-half blocks to a square foot, 3200 feet multiplied by 4 equals to 12,800 square feet. Figure the blocks at 4 1-2 to the square foot it figures out 12,800 multiplied by 4 1-2 and equals to 57,600 blocks.

It appears to me that after reducing the size of the eight blocks 12,000 square feet. I believe there will be sufficient available ones to finish the job. In starting the work on Sixth street and of Ohio and Indiana I would suggest that not more than four or five feet of the old paving be taken up at a time, this will enable the man who takes the blocks up to hand them to the man who relays them. I would have a pick on the place, rather I would use a strong iron or steel bar fixed with nose of the best steel, size about 7x4 inches, have a good heal to act as a fulcrum, should the block be too tight to move a little instrument fixed for the cleaning of the joints to loosen it. If the block is cracked you could use the little instrument to clean the joints to half way down use sufficient wire to encircle the block and twist with a plier and hand it to be relayed in good shape.

The concrete for the shoulders will be about 150 cubic yards, so that a few carloads of asphalt and a few expert men will be all the expense necessary.

SAFETY

I built my house on the mountain
Side where the hazards are.
There among the avalanches
And the floods, where the storms
Rage and the volcano
Rumbles—I gathered from
The struggle to be true to myself
The strength of ten men.

O! deluded ones, know that
In seeking the plains
Of apparent safety, you are
In reality, only decreasing
Your potential possibilities
Of growth and development.
There is no such Thing as Safety.
No one has the assurance
That his health or wealth
Of today may not
Vanish over night.

The fuller the Life
The sturdier grows its
Twin-brother—Danger.
As immorality is a lesser
Thing than morality, so also
Is its clinging shadow
A lesser one.
The soul even of a great sinner,
With love in it, is not lost
To the meaning of Creation.
But the shadow of morality
Is the danger of a hardened
Heart toward erring
Fellow-men and the possible
Loss of a capacity
To love them, which is
Our point of contact with God.

IRRIGATION

By A. M. McPHERSON
Consulting Engineer
Kahn Bldg. Eighth and Indiana

Into What Sized Farms Should the Surplus Lands On the Irrigation Project Be Divided?

KINDS OF GRAPES

There are two general types of grapes, known as the European and American types. There are a large number of varieties of each.

The Concord and Catawba are varieties of the American type, while the Malaga and Fiame Tokay are representative of the European type.

It is generally thought that the American type of grapes have been developed from the wild grapes indigenous to this continent.

European grapes have been cultivated by man for many centuries. Grape seeds have been found in prehistoric ruins in Spain and France and in the temples of Egypt which dated back to 4000 B. C.

Grapes grow here. The only ones that have been tried so far as we have been able to learn are the American type.

Grapes grow here under irrigation. Mr. John Hirshi has a vineyard on his home place on the Iowa Park road that is 30 years old which he has irrigated from a well pumped by a windmill.

The American or domestic type of grape is of but little commercial value since prohibition, and even before that time they did not compare in money making possibilities with the European varieties.

Tomorrow we will discuss grape growing further.

Buy It In Wichita Falls

It behooves every man and woman in Wichita Falls to spend their money where their homes are; where they pay taxes. The merchants of larger cities do not pay taxes in Wichita Falls, nor contribute to the growth of this community.

If you spend a dollar here you know that money will benefit someone else and will, in turn benefit you.

Cast your money on the waters of trading at home and they will come back to you many fold.

December 1, 1917, T. C. Campbell and W. W. Anderson, of Abilene, Texas, with stores in Abilene, Seymour and Eastland, bought P. H. Pennington's store, in Wichita Falls, one of the pioneer stores in this section of Texas, and established the firm of Campbell-Anderson Co., and at a later date opened an additional store at Burkburnett, Texas.

Mr. Anderson purchased Mr. Campbell's interest in the Wichita Falls and Burkburnett stores January 1, 1919, and changed the firm names to "Andersons'."

The growth of this firm has kept step with the growth of Wichita Falls, as in 1917 the firm used about 5,000 feet of floor space, with a fifty thousand dollar stock of merchandise, and had ten employees. Their present store consists of 20,000 square feet of floor space and the building has been rebuilt into a two-story modern department store building. A two hundred thousand dollar stock is carried and fifty men employed.

The men's clothing and furnishings are located on the first floor, and Anderson's have the exclusive agency in Wichita Falls for the nationally known line of KUPPENHEIMER'S GOOD CLOTHES for men, as well as complete stocks of NoFade Shirts, Merode Underwear, Stetson and Mallory Hats and a complete Boys' Department. The Shoe Department offers exclusive styles in Utz & Dunn Footwear for ladies, Reynolds shoes for men and Buster Brown shoes for boys and girls.

One of the most complete as well as beautiful departments is located on this floor and that is the Millinery Department, where Gage and Regina pattern hats are shown.

This firm has always used the advertising slogan "ANDERSON'S, WICHITA FALLS' STYLE AND QUALITY STORE," as they have built their business by offering newer styles of better quality, believing the citizenship of a city like Wichita Falls appreciate style and quality in their wearing apparel.

Since the opening of this store in Wichita Falls, W. W. Anderson, who is president and general manager of the firm, has made his home in this city and has been actively interested in the civic and commercial interests of the city.

Under the management of Mr. Andeson this firm is enjoying a splendid business and customers from all over this section of Texas, as well as western Oklahoma, trade at Anderson's, as well as sending in their orders by mail. Steers Take Slugfest From Spudders, 10-8

DYER AND KUNZ BUMPED HARD WHILE SPUDDERS ALSO CHASE PAIR OF WALTER MORRIS' BEST

Steers Score Five Runs in Early Innings; Kunz Is Hit Hard But Redeems Self With Homer; "Red" Williams Has Big Day At Bat; Grigsby Ousted By Weir.

DALLAS, Aug. 20.—By hitting both Dyer and Kunz hard, the Steers took the first game of the series from the Spudders here today, 10 to 8. The game was marked by free hitting on the part of both teams. The Steers used three pitchers to stop Wichita Falls, the last one, Mitchell, getting credit for winning the game.

Eddie Dyer was bumped hard in the first three innings, while Kunz, who took up the pitching burden in the seventh, was touched equally as freely.

Ryan and Love Chased.

The Spudders chased Ryan in the seventh and continued the assault on Slim Love. Mitchell relieved Love in the hectic seventh and managed to keep the Spudder total down to eight for the game.

Kunz did his best to even things up with Dallas in the eighth by cracking out a home run on the first ball pitched off Mitchell over the right field fence.

Red Williams, the new Spudder gardener, lead the visitors with the bat, getting four hits in five times up. One of Williams' blows was a double, while the others were singles. Bischoff, Berger and Tanner got a pair of hits each.

Wano, Vache and Segrist led the hitting for Dallas, with three hits each. Two of Wano's blows went for two bases. Segrist also got a two-bagger, while Vache ran his stolen base total to 35.

The only times that Wichita Falls held the lead was in the first half of the second and the first half of the seventh, but on each occasion the Steers would come back and pass the mark set by the Spudders. After the third inning Dyer settled down and pitched three innings of good baseball, but weakened terribly in the seventh.

Williams opened the game with a single to left, and went to second when Grigsby walked. Both advanced a notch on Tanner's sacrifice. Cotter struck out and Weiss flied to left to end the inning.

Dallas got off to a two run lead in their half of the first. After Hamilton had fanned, Wano singled to center and advanced to second on Donohue's infield out. Vache got an infield hit, placing Wano on third and both scored on Connolly's single to center.

Spuds Score in Second.

After two men had been retired in the second, Bischoff doubled by third and scored on Dyers single to center. Williams beat out an infield hit, putting Dyer on second. Dyer scored on Grigsby's single to right and Williams scored when the throw to the plate got by Adams.

The Steers added two more in their half of the second, when Segrist opened with a double to center. Adams singled to left putting Segrist on third. Segrist scored on Ryan's single and Adams went to third and scored on Hamilton's fly to Grigsby.

From the second to the seventh Ryan held the Spudders well in hand, allowing only two hits. One of these came in the fourth by Berger, a double, and the other a single by Bischoff in the sixth.

Dallas added one more to their total in the third on a hit and an error by Tanner. With two men out, Griffin reached second when Tanner threw his grounder wild to first. Griffin scored on Segrist's single to center. From here on till the seventh Dyer had little trouble with the Steers.

To start the seventh Williams beat out a hit to short. With the count two and three on Grigsby Love went in for Ryan. Grigsby walked. Tanner singled to center, scoring Williams and putting Grigsby on third. Tanner getting second on the throw in. Bob Bescher went in to bat for Weiss after Cotter had been retired and singled to center, scoring Grigsby and Tanner. That blow chased Love and put Mitchell in the game. Barrett and Berger walked, filling the bases, but Bischoff hit into a double play.

Kunz Homer.

Kunz' home run in the eighth accounted for a run, and one was added in the ninth on Barrett's walk, Berger's infield hit and Williams' double.

Denver Grigsby was put out of the game for protesting called strikes by Umpire Weir. Carlson was sent to right field.

Wano's double, Donohue's sacrifice, a walk to Vache and a single by Snipe Conley, scored a run for Dallas and chased Dyer from the game in the seventh. Kunz relieved Dyer and was greeted with a double by Griffin. Segrist's double, Adams' single and an infield out added three more runs. Dallas put over their final tally in the eighth on Wano's double and Vache's single.

DANFORTH RUCKUS BIGGEST IN MAJOR LOOP

Dave's Stuff Makes 'Em Look Sick—and There's the Rub

The clever pitching of Dave Danforth of the St. Louis Browns has thrown the American league into a hubbub. It bids fair to cause more than a passing stink.

A year ago Danforth was sent back to the minors because, it was said, he refused to quit doctoring the ball, which he had made so elusive that the batters were wrenching their bats in vain efforts to soak it. The move evoked passing comment. That was about all.

This year Dave returned to the Browns—and promised to be good, it was said.

This story does not indict Danforth. Here is the situation.

Lee Fohl was canned by the Brown bosses recently and, according to information from St. Louis, the break came because Fohl refused to join the players in protesting against any action to exile Danforth for alleged doctoring of the ball. Fohl denies this.

Take your choice.

As to the doctoring. Ban Johnson has called Danforth's delivery illegal. He backed up the umpires who ordered Danforth from a game some time ago after he had hurled a ball which they believed was doctored.

But he wouldn't sanction the throwing out of a game that Danforth pitched later against the Athletics and which Connie Mack protested.

While Johnson takes this stand the St. Louis players, many opposing batters and one or two managers of rival teams assert that Dave is hurling a legitimate shoot and must be given credit for putting the stuff on it that he does.

Some of the umpires, also, say that Danforth doesn't need to doctor the ball, cut it with his nails or use any foreign substance on it to get by. He's making the batters look sick without any "cheating," they assert. The umpires are in the position to detect first any illegal methods in any pitcher's delivery or any doctoring of the ball.

No one to date has presented publicly proof that Danforth is "chafing" the ball, doctoring it or doing anything else to it besides making it hop past the batters with great regularity. Lee Fohl stands as the goat. He fired Danforth for alleged doctoring of the ball. Stands now as fired because he wouldn't fall in line with those who believed Danforth was pitching within his rights," and that's that.

Then end is not yet.

It's a pretty kettle of fish—about the worst mess the league has had for four years.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20. — Umpire Evans ordered all of the St. Louis Americans out of the dugout, except the playing regulars and three substitutes, in the fifth inning of today's game with Washington. KEN WILLIAMS' BAT PROTESTED!

Senators Find Plug in Business End

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—Kenneth Williams, home run slugger of the St. Louis Americans, uses a bat with a wooden plug in the business end of it, and Umpire George Hildebrand today asserted he would make a complete report of the matter to Ban Johnson, president of the American league.

Hildebrand's announcement followed a statement by Manager Bush of Washington that he would protest against all games the Browns won from the Senators in which the bat was used by Williams. Bush asserts the bat is illegal because it is made out of more than one piece of wood.

Williams explained he had the bat made especially for his own use and after receiving it, he found it a bit too heavy so he had a hole bored into the middle of it and had the hole plugged up at the end.

Bush's knowledge of the plugged bat was obtained recently when the Washington club accidentally came into possession of the bludgeon. Williams later regained the war club from the Senators.

Williams used his alleged illegal bat in this afternoon's game with Washington. Manager Jimmy Austin of the Browns said Williams would be allowed to continue using the bat until Johnson ruled on the legality of the bludgeon.

Take It Or Leave It

By BILLIE SMITH

Spudders and Steers again today at Dallas. Two games will probably be played, as President Harding's funeral caused the postponement of a game on the Spudders' last trip to Dallas. These games will mark the last appearance of Spudders in Dallas this season, and the final games between the two teams.

Eddie Dyer's southpaw hooks seem to be just to the liking of the Steers. Eddie has been beaten three times by Dallas. The second game Eddie started against the Steers he lost but one-third of one inning, but credit for the loss.

Red Williams took advantage of the easy pickings of Ryan and Love. He secured four hits in five official times at bat. One of his blows was a double and scored two runs before him. He also scored a couple of runs himself.

Heine" Meine will probably start the first game today against the Steers. If not Meine young Osborne or Kunz. Rip Wheeler will probably be saved for the first game at San Antonio.

The Following is the Spudder schedule while on the road after leaving Dallas:

Aug. 22-23-24 at San Antonio.
Aug. 25-26-27 at Beaumont.
Aug. 28-29-30 at Galveston (one double header.)
Aug. 31-Sept. 1-2 at Houston.
Sept. 3 at Fort Worth (two games.)

The Associated Press lead of the Cub-Dodger game yesterday stated that George Stueland, who had been farmed out to Wichita Falls had returned to Chicago. George may be a good pitcher, but he will have to show more with the Cubs than he did with the Spudders if he expects to stay on Bill Wrigley's payroll very long.

Down in the Southern league the New Orleans Pelicans are leading the league with only two players hitting over the .300 mark. Manager Larry Gilbert is batting .308 and Ollie Tucker at .327. In fact the Pelicans are next to last in team batting, but in team fielding they are leading the league. It all speaks well for Larry Gilbert, who is leading the Pelicans for his first time.

Larry Gilbert has three pitchers who top or who are around the top of the Southern league pitching list. "Buzzer Bill" Whittaker who played a long while with the Fort Worth Cats, is heading the list with 19 games won and six lost. Joe Martina, another former Texas league pitcher, has 17 wins and eight losses.

Rip Wheeler got in caught in an automobile accident Sunday night and didn't make the trip to Dallas with the rest of the team. Rip came out with only a few minor scratches. He left yesterday afternoon for Dallas and may get into one of the games today against the Steers.

President Harvey stated last night that he was after several rookie players. He would not state who they were, but said they would probably report by the time the Spudders returned from off the road journy.

9TH FRAME RALLY BEATS CRABS, 4-3

By The Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 20.—Beaumont rallied in the ninth today, driving Mack from the mound and pounding Connally for three runs to win 4-3. But 26 hitters faced Mack through the first eight innings. Kitchens hitting for Eberhard in the ninth, singled to center to start the rally. A pass and another single filled the bases and Mack was derricked. Don Brown had a perfect day at the plate, getting five singles in as many trips to the plate.

WASHINGTON ON WINNING SPREE

Rookie Mitchell Beats St. Louisians As Austin Is Banished

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—Taking a lead in the second that the locals could not overcome, Washington made it three in a row from the Browns by winning today 7 to 2.

In the fourth inning Manager Austin was banished by Umpire Evans for objecting to balls and strike decisions, and in the next inning Evans ordered all the team except the playing regulars and three substitutes out of the dugout for "booing" because of the action taken against Austin. Score:

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

CORN ADVANCE TRADE FEATURE

Sharp Upturn in September Quotations With Wheat Slightly Higher

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The sharp upturn in September corn, which closed at 82⅝c, or 3¼ to 3⅝c higher than Saturday's finish, was the outstanding feature of the grain trade today. Other deliveries ruled from 7-8@1c to 1 1-2cup. Wheat finished ⅛c to ½c higher, with December $1.03 to $1.04⅛, and May $1.09¼ to $1.09⅝. Oats were unchanged to 1-4c up and provisions ranged from 17c off to 5c gain.

Oats were in good demand from commission houses, and while best prices were not held to the last, the close was at fair gains for the day.

Provisions, although firm with grains and an advance in hogs at the start, failed to hold and eased in the later session, trade being small.

RAIN REPORTS CONFUSE COTTON

Early Declines Followed By Rallies But Drops In Late Market

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Between reports of showers in the southwest and increasing new crop receipts, the cotton market was rather unsettled today but declines were followed by rallies which carried December contracts up from 23.85 to 24.22, or 34 points net higher. This advance was not fully maintained as it met considerable realizing and December closed at 24.14 with the general list closing barely steady at a net advance of 15 to 24 points.

Drouth Stiffens Market.

The market opened steady at an advance of 15 points to a decline of 16 points, most of the more active positions being higher and fairly steady on the showing of Liverpool and reports of an improving demand for cotton goods. The market turned easier right after the call on private reports of showers in the southwest. The trade was uncertain as to whether there would be sufficient to help the crop outlook, and after selling off to 23.98 for October and 23.47 for January, or about three to 10 points net lower, the market stiffened up on covering and trade buying. The demand became more active after the publication of the western belt forecast pointing to a renewal of dry weather, and the early afternoon market reflected a growing belief that there had been no adequate relief from the Texas drouth with some claiming that the showers would do more harm than good.

Fluctuations were more or less irregular owing to the talk of increasing Texas receipts and reports of lower temperatures in Oklahoma, but the rally carried prices up to 24.34 for October and 23.81 for January, or about 25 to 33 points net higher.

Reaction Shown Later.

People who had sold on the early weather news appeared to be covering on this rally, but the demand tapered off somewhat during the middle of the afternoon, with prices showing reactions of some 8 to 10 points from the best.

Port receipts today 9,565. United States port stocks 163,933. Exports today 5,960, making 118,558 so far this season.

TRADERS HALT STOCK ADVANCE

Upward Movement of Five Days Stops in Test Of Market's Strength

Features.

Total stock sales 576,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 91.71; net loss .61; high 1923, 105.38; low 86.91.

Twenty railroads averaged 79.53; net loss .13; high 1923, 90.63; low 79.78.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The upward movement of stock prices which had been in progress five days, was temporarily checked today by profit taking on the part of professional traders, who had bought stocks for a turn a week or ten days ago, and by the offerings of short interests, who desired to test the absorbing power of the market.

Pivotal Stocks Drop

Offering were generally well absorbed, losses of 1 to 2 points being recovered in a rally late in the day under the leadership of the independent steel and leather shares. The so-called pivotal stocks, U. S. Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, American woolen and American can, all closed at net losss of a point or less.

Another cut of 25 cents a barrel in the price of gulf coast crude oil with reports that it would be followed by another reduction in the mid-continent price and lower raw and refined sugar prices had a somewhat pessimistic effect.

The foreign exchange market was featured by another collapse in German marks, which sent them down to 12 cents a million, while France francs rallied five points, but sterling broke sharply to $4.54 5-8, a net low for the year.

Chemical Shares Attacked.

Gulf States Steel and Great Northern Ore lead the late rally, each closing at a net gain of approximately three points. National Biscuit established a new high for the year at 46 1-4.

Chemical shares were again attacked today, Allied Chemical losing 2 1-4 points on the day, and Davison closing slightly lower after having sold as low as 29 7-8.

Call money opened at 4 3-4, advanced to 5 and thence to 5 1-2 and then dropped back to 5 again. The time money and commercial paper markets were rather quiet with 5 1-4 per cent the ruling rate. Brokers loans are estimated to have decreased $500,000,000 during the last month, the present total being about $1,450,000,000, as compared with the high point of $2,000,000,000 last February.

Fort Worth Livestock
By The Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Aug. 20.—Including around 1,100 head that were on through billing, cattle receipts Monday amounted to 6,500 head, in addition were 2,000 calves. The market was called generally steady on all kinds. Good cows in carlots sold around $4.00@4.35 for high range. Fair to good cows were taken at a spread of $3.00@3.75. Cutters brought $2.25@2.85. Canners were selling around $1.75 to $2.00. A few cars of good yearlings brought $6.50. Bulls went at a spread of $3.00 to $3.50 for a high range.

Light calves of good quality sold with freedom at $6.50, and a few odd drafts brought $6.75; medium to good carlots brought $5.50 to $6.00. Local and outside buyers were in strong competition from the outset and the yards were given an unusually early and thorough clearance.

Stocker receipts were moderate, the good kinds selling at satisfactory prices, while other kinds were neglected. Trashy cattle are not finding any better outlet than at the recent low time, but the market on the desirable grades has shown an upward trend.

Only 1,500 head of hogs were here, and there were almost as many bidders as there were carlots. Packers were bidding around steady with last week's close, but shippers and order buyers had important orders to fill and the trade worked to an unevenly higher basis, best hogs gained around 25c, and on mixed grades there was an advance of 25c. Two cars sold at $8.50. Most of the run went at a spread of $8.00 to $8.35. Pigs also ruled unevenly higher, the average gain being around 50c. Fat pigs did not share in the advance. Stockers sold up to $5.25 to $5.35. Good fat pigs brought $5.50.

Sheephouse receipts amounted to 1,900 head, around 900 head being on through billing. Stockers made up most of the run. The trade was quotably unchanged.

Cottonseed Oil
By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Cottonseed oil advanced 8 to 25 points on buying by local houses with southern connection, but a desire for profits and pressure from refiners brought about a sharp setback after mid-day. Closing bids were five points higher to one net lower. Sales 23,000 barrels. Prime crude nominal. Prime summer yellow spot 10.25; September 10.35; December 9.23; March 9.45; all bid.

Germany Gets Russian Grain
By The Associated Press.

HAMBURG, Aug. 20.—Russia has exported 600,000 tons of grain so far this year, according to statistics compiled here, whereof Germany has taken over two-thirds.

Before the war Russia exported about 8,000,000 tons of grain. The entire exports for this year are estimated between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 tons.

Germans Seek Hartz Coal.
By The Associated Press.

EISLEBEN, Saxony, Aug. 20.—Coal mines in the Hartz mountains, neglected for 25 years, again are being operated as a result of the French occupation of the Ruhr. The Hartz coal field is 20 miles long, and it is estimated that one mine alone is capable of yielding 15,000,000 tons of coal.

"I won't be long dear—it just takes a minute to buy all we need at the PIGGLY WIGGLY"

Marketing at PIGGLY WIGGLY is not a guessing contest. You know what you are buying and know that you will have what you bought when you get home, instead of guessing what you will get when you order by telephone.

You know that all the prices will be low at PIGGLY WIGGLY instead of just a few "specials" used by some stores to attract you, leaving you to guess how much you are overcharged on the balance of your purchases.

You will enjoy selecting your own at PIGGLY WIGGLY, as did thousands of other Wichita Falls and Burkburnett people last week.

KANSAS MURDER SUSPECT CAUGHT

Belcher's Work May Solve Killing Resulting In Nation-Wide Search

The murder of Turner Tucker, taxi driver, near Augusta, Kan., more than a year ago, for which a man is serving a life sentence and a woman a four-year sentence, local officers believe may be completely solved through the diligence of W. W. Belcher, member of the sheriff's office, in the arrest of George Fred here. Fred was taken back to El Dorado, Kan., Monday by Sheriff Newt Purcell to answer a charge of murder as the third member in the case.

Killed Over a Year Ago.

The arrest and capture by Belcher of the man for whom an almost nation-wide search has been conducted for more than a year, makes one of the most important pieces of work accomplished by peace officers in this section. Kansas officials since the night of June 15, 1922, when Turner Tucker, a Wichita, Kan., service car driver was murdered near Augusta, and his body hauled four miles and thrown in a creek, have been seeking for a member of the murdering gang who made his escape.

Six persons were arrested at Slick, Okla., immediately after the crime and charged with the offense. Four of these proved an alibi. Carl Crisp, one of the six arrested, who confessed to striking the first blow that rendered the taxi driver unconscious, was given a life sentence. Jewell Baird, another member of the party, was convicted of manslaughter and given four years in the penitentiary. Both of these implicated a man who they said beat the service car driver to death with a link pin.

Pictures Identified.

Following the two convictions Kansas officials began a search for the third member of the party, who was charged with the actual killing of the jitney man. Clew after clew was run down and many trails followed but the man the officers wanted could not be located. The Kansas officers had obtained a picture of the man who his companions knew only by the name of "Fred." The man and woman convicted gave descriptions of their companion in the crime and these were broadcast all over the country.

About two weeks ago Deputy Sheriff Belcher saw one of the pictures and descriptions of the man at the Burkburnett post office. The officer recalled that the likeness on the arrest notice at Burkburnett resembled a prisoner at the Wichita county jail, who was serving a term for vagrancy. Belcher began an immediate investigation and took some pictures of the prisoner. These were forwarded to the Kansas officers. The officers in turn showed the pictures to Carl Crisp, serving in the penitentiary for the crime.

Was At Fort Sill.

Crisp identified the man at once as his companion in the murder of the jitney driver. Kansas officers wired Sheriff Murphy to hold the man. Monday Sheriff Purcell, of El Dorado, arrived at the county jail and saw the prisoner. After talking with him the Kansas sheriff said he had no doubt the man wanted for the crime had finally been run down. The man protested his innocence but finally signed a waiver of extradition to go back to Kansas. At the mention of returning to Kansas the prisoner always showed nervousness and protested his innocence.

The man said he had served in the army a short while and was stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., when it was learned he was not a citizen of the United States and he was discharged. He is an Italian and came to this country after he reached his majority, according to his story.

Sheriff Confident.

At the union station Monday afternoon Sheriff Purcell was seen by a Record News reporter enroute with his prisoner to Kansas. "I feel confident that we have finally captured the man we have been looking for so long. The man fits our description precisely except there is a slight difference in the height of this man and our descripiton we have been sending out," the sheriff said.

Deputy Sheriff Belcher will receive a reward of $300 from the state of Kansas if the man arrested proves to be the one wanted.

Steel and other equipment was being unloaded yesterday for the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition's $30,000 grandstand. The stand will accommodate 6,000 people and will be one of the largest grandstands in North Texas.

There will be 123 boxes holding six persons each. The capacity of the reserved section will be 1,880 persons. The rest of the stand will be made up of general admission seats.

COUNCIL RAPS TWO UTILITIES

Want Traction and Phone Companies to Keep Up Street Repairs

That the traction and telephone companies who tear up the city streets to make repairs on their own property should replace the paving in as good condition as before was the sentiment of the city council Monday night.

Street Commissioner Clifford said if there was not an ordinance to require these companies to do this, he wanted one passed. City Attorney W. E. George said he would look into the matter and draw up such an ordinance if one did not exist already.

It was pointed out that the bad condition of the street at Eleventh and Lamar where a number of accidents have occurred this summer was due to the traction company not repairing the street at that intersection.

FILLING STATION ALLOWED

Permission for the erection of a filling station at 2515 Grant street was granted by the city council Monday night. The council also voted to allow the removal of filling station at 611 Ohio street.

HIER'S BOND APPROVED

Approval of the bond of $30,000 for City Tax Collector Hier was granted Monday night by the city council. The bond for $1,000 for Day Desk Sergeant McConnell was also approved.

TAX RATE FORMALLY PASSED

The city tax rate ordinance fixing the rate for 1923 at $1.50 on the $100 was passed on its third and final reading by the city council Monday night.

PAVING HEARING SET

A hearing for the property owners between Van Buren and Denver streets for paving on Eighth street was set for Sept. 3. A hearing for those interested in the paving project on Tenth and Grandfield streets was set for next Monday night.

Contrac for the paving of Lamar between Ninth and Tenth was let to the L. E. Whitman company.

WHO'S PAYING FOR THE TEETH?

County Guest Buys Set of False Ones

The county commissioners have a set of false teeth on their hands.

Now, hands are not the place for teeth but the county dads have this particular set of false molars in that position because a prisoner in the county jail was ambitious.

Some time ago the prisoner kept complaining about his teeth and was in great pain. He was finally told to go to a dentist and get something done. The man probably thought the county was not giving him anything extra and he took the commissioners at their word.

The prisoner ordered a set of false teeth and had a number extracted. The bill from the dentist came before the commissioners Monday. After discussion the commissioners decided to pay for the work but not for the false teeth.

The question is, where does the dentist come in? The prisoner has his teeth, even if they are false; the county commissioners have their minds made up at that. The dentist has a bill which the prisoner can't pay and the commissioners say they don't owe.

WATER SUPPLY ON SCHEDULE

Half of High Line From Dundee to Dam Now Finished

Work on the city water project to bring water from Lake Kemp to Lake Wichita for city consumption is progressing according to schedule, according to Burton Stayton, public utilities commissioner, in a report to the city council Monday night.

Stayton said half of the five mile high line from Dundee to the diversion dam had been completed and workmen were erecting the line at the rate of a half mile a day. The new five million gallon pump ordered for use at the water plant is in transit somewhere between here and St. Louis, he said.

Dundee Man Ships Pair Of Karakul Sheep to Canada

Alex Allbright of Dundee, shipped two Karakul sheep yesterday to H. W. White of Goodwood, Ontario, Canada. The sheep sold for $100 each in Wichita Falls. Dr. L. I. Lucey, examined the animals before they were started on the journey.

Allbright has a flock of show animals now being exhibited in Canada at fairs and expositions. He is probably the largest breeder of Karakul sheep in the United States. Four of the animals will be shipped to Argentina next week.

Cantwell Back in Town

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools, returned yesterday from Boulder, Colo., where he has spent several weeks. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cantwell, Jr., The younger Cantwell is head of the United States Veterans' bureau district at Dallas, and departed last night for that city. MONROE LAGOON CONTRACT LET

Street of Cement Lowered Will Relieve Flooding Of Yards

Actual work to relieve the Monroe street "lagoon" situation will commence at once with the letting of a contract last night by the city council to L. E. Whitham and company to perform the work.

The bid was between $4,000 and $5,000 and the work will be of cement instead of brick the council decided. It was argued that brick paving probably would not stand up as a water causeway as well as cement. Monroe street will be lowered between for about two blocks and the water utrned in the streets as an exit. This is hoped to relieve the flooding of the yards of property owners in the vicinity of Avenue G and on Monroe.
