AN AWFUL TRAGEDY VISITED HOME NEAR WELLINGTON

The Grim Reaper Comes in the Most Cruel Way and with a Suddeness that Appalls the Whole Community. Two Little Children are the Victims

There occured last Friday at the home of C. H. Gwinn nine miles south of Wellington, a tragedy which has no paralell in regard to its depth of awfulness in this country.

Harvey, age 9; and Earnest, age 6, the youngest children of the Gwinn family were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the smoke house and came near catching the home.

As to the cause of the fire nothing definite is known or can ever be known, beyond the fact that the boys were playing inside the building and in some manner ignited five gallons of coal oil and a small quantity of gasoline. The most plausable explanation is that they had previously been snapping matches in a toy pistol and doubtless carried it in the building with them. At the time of the accident there was no one at the house except the mother who has been in very poor health for several months and her sister who is here from Central Texas on a visit.

[illegible] was a sharp explosion and the scream of the children was heard. When the mother had reached the door of the smoke house which seems to have been latched from the inside and broke the fastenings, the interior was a seething mass of flames which were only aggravated by the air from the opened door. The mother came near sacrificing her life in an attempt to rescue her children. The father and another brother were working in a nearby field, upon seeing the fire, hurried home only to find the two little boys perished in the ruins of the fire and the mind of the mother paralized with grief.

The little bodies were in such a position as to be inacessable on account of the intense heat and could not be rescued for nearly an hour and when the corrugated metal sheeting which had been the roof of the building could be removed they were discovered laying side by side burned beyond recognition, nothing remained but a charred mass. The bodies were recovered and laying side by side in a single casket they were entered at the cemetery just north of the Arlie post office.

In every respect this tragedy was most awful. To the parents and especially to the mother who already prostrate in health was almost unable to withstand this cruel crushing grief. It recalls to mind that mother of the Bible, of whom it was said two thousand years ago, that there was in Rama lamentations, weeping, and great moaning, Rachael weeping for her children, mourning past Comfort.

The Jovial Old Boy Has Been Lassoed at Last and Will Join the Benedicts

The last bit of authentic evidence necessary to convince us that friend R. L. Scott hasn't been joshing us all along came to us yesterday through the mails in the form of a genuine wedding invitation. With this final proof at hand we can presume to throw some light upon Bob's unusual demeanor lately. It is one among the easiest things in the world now to account for some of his late activities.

Not to mention his unusual cavortings around the hardware store, its safe to say that Bob is out of alignment and we doubt whether or not he could sell nails correctly, or read the price mark on a neck-yoke. Moreover it is just as doudtful as to his knowing it was Woodrow Wilson or Booker T. Washington who landed the Democratic nomination. Will some one help us watch Bob 'till the first of August?

Plainview man to Ship Rabbits.

Plainview, Texas, July 11.—L. T. Mayhugh of Bunnyrun farm, states that he intends to go into the rabbit shipping business on an extensive scale, rabbits being a nuisance on account of rapidly increasing numbers since the coyotes, their natural enemies, have been killed out. Mr. Mayhugh says that he has put bells on two tame rabbits and trained them to lead other rabbits into a net-wire corrall, where they are easily captured.

He will ship them east in cages about a dozen to the cage.

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED

Hon. R. L. Templeton and Miss Cleo Small Are the High Contracting Parties

The marriage of Hon. R. L. Templeton of this city and Miss Cleo Small, daughter of Judge E. H. Small took place at the Judge's beautiful home in Shamrock at 10 o'clock last Monday morning. The wedding was a quiet one, there being but a few of the friends and relatives present. Rev. J. T. Bryant officiated. The bridal party arrived in Wellington at noon the same day, and are now at home in their cottage on the south side.

Both of the principles are well known young people. The bride's father was at one time county Judge of Collingsworth county. Mr. Templeton is a rising young attorney and one of the most widely known men in this part of the Panhandle. He is a graduate of the department of law of Texas University as well as having B. A degree from the Western Kentuckey Normal. He is Wellington's man in the race for Legislator from this district.

Showers over Part of County.

Some good heavy showers have fallen over part of this county during the week, which will be of great benefit to various crops, and with a good general rain in a few days a bountiful yield of all crops will likely be made. In fact the prospects were never better at this time of year.

I don't think I ever saw more flies than I had around my premises on my farm. I did this sprinkling for three weeks and the flies were almost eliminated. If everyone will join in and do this sprinkling thoroughly, their entire lots, stables, manure heaps trash piles, slop barrels, and all such places. Co-oparation.

"More and more we are impressed with the importance of a closer co-operation between farmers and business men. Our business men are dependent upon products from our farms. Their success must continue to be proportional to the money derived from farm products. The food products raised on our farms will always govern the prosperity and tranquility of this country.

"On the other hand, our farmers need the assistance of our bankers, merchants, manufacturers and professional men. That this has not been given generally is responsible for our poor and wasteful system of marketing, inadequate financial assistance and some of our methods which are detrimental to the producer.

"The time has come when agriculture must be regarded in its proper light, namely, that it is the basic occupation of this country. If we as an industrial people, are to retain our position in civilization, we must not neglect those who produce the Nation's wealth. There is a higher more important duty than seeking self-advancement by a monopoly which injures; the laws under which we live and have our production should not be used to injure those who are less capacitated by education and business experience to organize for their own protection. Those who have superior intelligence and wealth should use their influence in co-operation to place our products upon the market without such great economic loss. Society expects this; our country desires it."—Farm and Ranch, May 25, 1912.

To The Voters.

I hear there is report in circulation to the effect that I should have patronized our home Insurance Company at Wellington instead of the Fort Worth people, and beg to say that, Mr. Coe the getter up of the enterprise, asked me to work for it among the farmers. I told him before he had the papers out I would, but after considering the matter thought I was not a suitable person, as I had made a contract and was under bond to the Fort Worth people, and I could not make a successful soliciter at best, and told him I thought it best not to work his insurance, so I went on with the Fort Worth Company. I told Mr. Coe that I thought it would be late now, at this time, to get up much interest as there had been quite a number of men already insured in these Co's, and that it would be hard on a few that might go into the new Co., but said, by another year to start in time and get the citizens all who would, to take insurance, it would be better. So I hope no one will think that I was trying to down the county Insurance Company.

So I hope to have a liberal support and have this to say. "I have been now at work helping my wife and chaps with the crop for four weeks, and had expected to have seen every man at his home or business, but I feel that my creditors shall need to be protected and that I cannot afford to lose out in my crop. I have opponents who are able and well able to get along without them and their families having to hit the grit like I have to. I see my opponents can all come later but feel like I shall hardly be able after four years more.

Ask Freeman Gilbreath, J. C. Claunch, Bill Wilson, O. K. [illegible] phee and my neighbors, if I don't hit the grit. These men referred to are men who have known me a long while.

Harmonious citizenship is the foundation rock on which prosperous towns are builded.

"Wellington, the city beautiful," don't that sound grand. Why not our citizens bend their energies to make it such.

God's given you the soil and climate in good old Collingsworth and if you have got the nerve and grit you can do the balance.

In behalf of Wellington we hereby extend to factories and industrial enterprises a cordial invitation to play in our back yard.

The road to success is paved with good advertisements. The Leader circulates among an intelligent and able to buy class of people.

Do all you can at all times for all good, and you've a creed that will send you to Heaven past the plodders who stop by the way to split theological hairs.

Be good anyhow, until after the election. It is only a little ways off. It might be you will find you could be good all the time.

Wellington has a better location and better natural advantages than any other place within a hundred miles. Will the citizens make it a city worthy the name.

When Horace Greeley advised the young men to go west and grow up with the country he had Collingsworth county in mind, which he believed should be good enough for anybody.

Collingsworth county is one of the most productive of all the 240 counties of Texas. It produces marvelously of all kinds of crops and only needs good farmers to reach its best capacity. Too many so-called farmers in a hap-hazard manner scratch the soil and expect it to produce.

Prospectors who are seeking homes, either from the old states or from other sections of Texas, are cordially invited to come to Collingsworth county. Here the climate is ideal, the soil rich and productive and the people the most hospitable on earth. What better conditions could you ask for a home?

We trust that Judge Ramsey's answer as to what he would do in case of his election as governor of Texas when it came to providing for the payment of the deficiency warrants for rebuilding the structures that were destroyed by fire at the A. & M. College was so clear and plain that it was entirely satisfactory to the Ft. Worth Record and the Randall County News. We were not at all surprised at the attitude of the Record, nor that the Record was a consistent Colquitt supporter; but we were surprised that Editor Warwick of the News at Canyon City should align his sympathies with the Colquitt regime. We know the people of the Panhandle so well, and know that they regard the main issue between Ramsay and Colquitt as a moral issue, which it is, that we venture the prediction that the returns from the primary in Randall county will not be at all in keeping with the views of the editor of the News.

It is said that an acre planted in Spanish goober, which will grow anywhere in Texas, may be depended upon to fatten one thousand pounds of hog meat. There has been much talk of diversified agriculture in these columns of late, and this is another crop which may be added to the list. Sandy soil, it is said produces the best results. Work stock and milk stock thrives on goober when it is properly cured and harvested.

A newspaper published in Kansas quotes every dollar in a man's pocket as saying to him: "If you'll let me stay in this town, I'll circulate around and do lots of good. You buy beef steak with me and the butcher will buy groceries and the grocer will buy dry goods and the dry goods merchant will pay his doctor with me, the doctor will spend me with the farmer for oats for his horse and the farmer will pay his subscription to the local paper and the editor will pay for his last summer's trousers and buy a pair of socks. In the long run, you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you'd send me away forever.

Children as Teachers.

We have a good deal more to learn from children than they have to learn from us if we will only study the innocence of their hearts and the purity of their souls. Children are honest, they know no subterfuge and in their breast is no deceit or guile. God implants in the brain of every little child sweet perfection and the child comes into this life as pure as a dew-drop shimmering in a lilly's heart, and this purity becomes tarnished only when it is touched by the smudgy fingers of those who have become stained by the passing of time.

Let's take more time to learn from little children the beautiful lessons of faith and confidence that they impress upon all who study their ways and their motives. We need more contact with children, for they teach us to hope for better days and a life beyond the stars. Read and ponder the message in the souls of your precious darlings, and participate in the holy love that lingers there. Children are the hope of the world.—Cleburne Review.

Voters Notice.

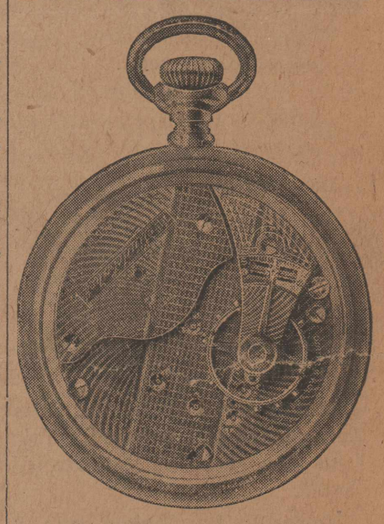

To the voters of Collingsworth county, I beg to say that I never have wrote a line except at commencement of my candidacy which the editor of your valuable paper announced at first. Will say since I made my speech at Wellington, I stated I was running for Tax Assessor, aiming to be elected and intending to do my best to get there. But said was running as though I might be beat. Don't think for a moment I am thinking of not being elected. I am pushing the matter, I aim to win and ask the good citizens to help land me. I stopped out four weeks to help cut a grain crop and work crop at home and hope the voters will not let this keep them from voting for me. I shall ever remember you and try to do what is right as an officer if elected. My opponents are all younger than I and can come later. I have ever tried to do the right thing between man and man, am in debt and try to pay out for our land and educate our children besides this I do desire to do and let them make men and women that will bless their neighbors wherever they may be thrown.

Respectfully,
51 1t. C. B. Ingram.

You Must Look to the Title.

The supreme court of the United says:

The purchaser must look to the title papers under which he buys and is charged with notice of all the facts appearing on their face, He has no right to shut his eyes or his ears to the inlet of information, and they say he is a bona fide purchaser without notice. 142 U. S. R. 417. The abstract of your title is the only key which will enable you to look to all the title papers of records, and R. H. Templeton can prepare you an abstract to show your title correctly.

Messrs J. I. Penrod, W. A. Hunter, L. H. Aikman and John L. Anderson, accompanied by their families, spent a couple of days first of the week outing on Horse Creek. They report a very nice time and plenty? or fish.

You would not want to die and leave a defective title to your home to give trouble to your wife and children. Have R. H. Templeton to prepare an abstract to your land whlle you are living. It will be worth the money to know that you are leaving them a perfect title to your real estate.

Dr. W. R. Orr our most efficient and popular dentist, announces that he will spend a week or two in vacation beginning next monday, and will, therefore not be in his office during that time. He will visit with relatives at Memphis most of the time,

No man knows that the title to his land is perfect without an abstract, and every owner of land should have an abstract to his land. R. H. Templeton can prepare your abstract on short notice at a small cost.

Strayed—One black mare mule branded R on left hip, one horse mule branded, both have long main. The mare mule is black, while the horse mule is dark brown. Strayed from R. D. Glenn's place, near Quail. Notify R. D. Glenn if you know of their whereabouts and be rewarded. 50-1t Pd

J. C. Worley was down Wednesday from his splendid home in the Saltfork community, and while here made this office a pleasant and appreciated visit. Mr. Worley who is one of our most successful farmers reports the crop outlook very flattering in his community.

D.D.McDowell returned Thursday from Amarillo where he had been called on account of the death of his Grandmother. He reports a good shower from Amarillo to Clarendon, and a big rain at Hedley and Giles along the Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntush of Memphis, were here first of the week on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Glenn. Mr. McIntush was one of the early settlers of Collingsworth, coming to this county more than twenty years ago. He was surprised and delighted to see that our town had grown and changed so much.

W. M. Havhurst returned Thursday from Jacksboro, where he had been to attend the funeral of his mother. We join his many friends in deep sympathy. He reports crops good all down the line.

Messrs C. P. Hamilton and C. M. Stone of Mangum, were over several days this week looking after their respective mercantile interests here. They were accompanied by Mr. L. A McCollister, a prominent insurance man of that city also. Mr. McCollister was for many years a popular Texas newspaper man, but reformed after going to the new state of Oklahoma, by going into the Insurance business. He made our sanctum a very pleasant call while here.

We received a personal letter from Hon. W. A. Palmer of Canadian, last week, asking our active support of his candidacy for representative. We must say he hasn't been reading his Wheeler Sun, or he would have known we could do nothing for him. A man who cannot defend himself in a joint discussion against a "two by four lawyer," as he terms his opponent, is not our ideal for representation.—Wheeler Sun.

J. H. White returned Thursday from Fannin and Collin counties. He having been called there by the death of his aged mother. We join a host of friends in extending to him deepest sympathy in the loss of one so near and dear. In speaking of conditions in that country, Mr. White said that the crops there were just simply fine, saying that in many instances the wheat had turned out as much as 40 bushels per acre.

Gin Being Replaced.

The Davis Gin Co., is building a new gin where their gin was burned during last ginning season. This means that they will operate two gins here this fall; the other one being formerly the Deavenport & Watkins gin which was bought by the Davis Co. soon after their stand burned out.

The new gin is to be a four stand, eighty saw type and will offer modern and up-to-date ginning facilities in every respect. In order to distinguish it from the other Davis gin it will be styled The Wellington Gin.

In Search of Fossil Horses.

Plainview, Tex., July 10.—The expedition from Yale University in search of fossil horses has arrived in the Plains Country and is now located in Briscoe county, about seven miles from Silverton. The expedition is under the charge of Prof. Richard S. Lull, a scientist and author of "The Evolution of the Horse" and many other books. This book shows that the early horse was about the size of a cat and that the equine family has been developing in stature every since; hence the enormous bones that are so frequently found in this section must be of some mastodon, and certainly not of the early horse.

A Serious Problem.

The seeming increase in murder is a serious problem, for it tends to show that there is something wrong in our systems of punishments, for they fail to deter people from committing crime. There is a remedy of some kind badly needed. The automatic pistol continues to do deadly work, and crimson blood flows in our streets. If the punishment that we have devised and have used for many years do not lessen crime, but shows an increase, don't you believe that there should be a change made? Men and women have got to be taught that there is a better way of living, and there are many executions, but the crime goes steadily on, and human life pays the forfeit of human passion. There is too great a prevalence of the invasion of the home, and "family trouble" seems to be the cause of most of the grim tragedies. There is a sentiment, and a righteous one, that protects the man who slays the fiend who enters the sacred portal of his home and from his fireside steals the mother of his children. There is something wrong with our moral standards or men would not be so prone to thus invade the homes of others and women would not yield. We must seek the cause and then maybe we can find the remedy. Groping in the dark, by imprisonment and by execution we can not diminish these crimes, for they are produced by conditions that we have not been able to determine. It does no good to kill the snake after it has bitten a person, so far as the cure of that person is concerned. The thing to do is to try to prevent the reptile from sinking its deadly fangs into the soft flesh of our loved ones. We have a serious problem. Prisons, penetentiaries and electric chairs will not solve it. The cause is deep down in the human heart and cannot be rooted out unless people are taught to control their passions and understand right living. The fact that the violation of laws and the infringement of social regulations are not diminished by the inflection of punishment either by the law or by the wronged indiuiduals shows that the poison has sunk deep into the very vitals of our nation.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Printype OLIVER Typewriter

The Only Writing Machine in the World That Successfully TYPEWRITES PRINT

—17 Cents a Day!

The Printope Oliver Typewriter which has crowned ten years of typewriter progress into the space of months is now offered to the public for 17 Cents a Day

—Offered at the same price as an ordinary typewriter—payable in penpies !

The commanding importance of Printype is everywhere conceded.

For who does not see what it means to make the world's vast volume of typewritten matter as readable as book or mahazines. The Printype Oliver Typewriter is equipped with beautiful Book Type, such as is used on the world's printing presses.

Printype is distuinguished by marvelous clearness and beauty. It does away with all strain on epesight which the old outline type imposed. Printyp puts life and style and character into typewritten correspondence. It makes every letter, every numeral, every character as "plain as print."

The complete stsry of Printype has never been told. Here it is:

The Real Story of Printype

The idea from which "Printype" sprung resulted from the success of type experts in equipping a typewriter used in our offices to write "The Oliver Typewriter" in our famous trapemark type just as the name appears on the outside of the machines and in all Oliver publicity.

The beautiful awpearance and the marvelous clearness of the reproduction of our "ebony" trade-make type disclosed the possibilities of equipping the Oliver Typewriter to write the entire English language in shaded letters !

We worked for years on the plan and finally succeeded in producing, for exclusive use on the Oliver Typewriter; the wonderful shaded letters and numerals known to the world as "Printype."

The Public's Verdict

That the public is ovrwhelmingly in favor of Printype is impressively shown by this fact:

Already over 75 per cent of our entire output of Oliver Typewriters are "Printypes."

The public is demanding Printype in preference to the old-style type.

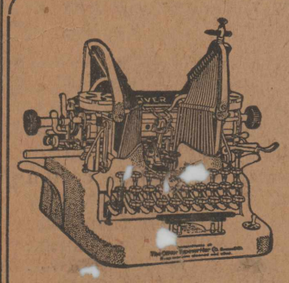

Within a year at the present rate 90 per cent of our total sales will be "Printypes."

Thus the Oliver Typewriter which first successfully introduced visible writing, is again to the fore with another revolutionary improvement----Printype, the type that prints print !

To Corporations

The Oliver Typewriter is used extensively by great concerns in all sections of the world. Our "17-Cents-a-Day" Plan is designed to help that large class of typewriter buyers who want the same typewriter that serves the great corporations, but prefer the easy system of purchase.

The masses want the Oliver Type writer because it stands the test of the largest corporations.

Meet 'Printype' You'll Like its Looks

Ask for the specemen letter and 17-Cents-a-Day Plan. Make the acquaintance of Printype, the reigning favorite of typewriterdom. Ask for a letter written on The Printype Oliver Typewriter, which will introduce you to this beautiful new type.

We will also be pleased to forward the "17-Cents-a-Day" Plan on request.

Proper Canning Methods

By U. S. Demonstrator

For the benefit of the girls and ladies who did not get to visit the canning demonstration, Mrs. Jackson asks us to publish the following:

Peaches—Select nice ripe fruit pare and fill your jars full, if extra large fruit cut in quartes, if medium cut in half. For fancy eating make a syrup by dissolving sugar in cold water, using only enough to dissolve all the sugar. Pour syrup in jars to 1-8 inch of top put on caps lightly, turn only as tight as can be done with your thumb and little finger, place your jars in canner or boiler, fill with water to within 1 inch of bottom of cap, bring to boil and let boil 15 minutes if quarts, and 20 minutes if half gallons. For ordinary peaches use water instead of syrup to fill cans.

Okra—Select only nice tender okra only, boil until tender, fill jars with okra, pour in water to 1-8 inch of top, put a teaspoonfull of salt to quart jar. Put on caps as above, put in boiler and boil 35 minutes if quarts, 45 if half gallons.

Cornfield peas—Fill cans same as okra and boil 45 minutes if in qt. jars.

Beans—Use only tender stringless varieties, cook 15 or 20 minutes, fill cans same as for okra boil 1 hour if qt., 1 1-2 hour if half gallons. Seal tight set back and next day put in boiler, loose caps bring to boil and boil 1 hour. Screw caps tight and set away in cool dark place.

Corn is very hard to keep and should never be canned in half gallon jars. We can them that way and keep them but it requires so much boiling that I do not recomend their use at all. The smaller the can the easier it is to sterilize. Use only tender corn, hard corn will not keep. Fill cans full of corn put teaspoonfull of salt to qt. jar, fill with water, put in boiler and boil 6 hours or boil 3 hours first day, 1 hour second, 1 hour third day. Seal tight set in cool dark place where it will not have to be moved often. If you like corn and tomatoes, fill cans half full of corn then fill up with tomatoes or tomato juice and boil one hr. and 10 minutes, the acid in the tomato's helps preserve the corn.

Beets—Boil until they will peal easily, cut up and pack in cans and boil 1 hr., in qt. jars, 1 1-2 hour in half gallons.

Sweet potatoes—Cook until tender cut up in small squares pack closely, pour light syrup made of sugar and cold water over them, and boil 1 hr. and 15 minutes in qt jars. I want to impress upon all the girls and ladies as well that the important feature in canning any product is bringing it to the boiling point and keeping it there long enough to destroy to spore or germ that causes it to decay, and then seal in such a manner that other germs or spores cannot enter the jar. Use your large jars for fruits, berries, tomatoes, etc., and your small ones for corn, peas, beans etc. It loooks like economy to use large jars in which can our products, but the difference in time of cooking and fuel used more than offsets this, and the loss of a few large jars by spoiling brings us out on the wrong side of the ledger. I am very glad that I met so many of the girls and ladies of Wellington and vicinity and want to thank them for coming out at this busy season, and for the interest shown in my work and hope to be able to visit them again later when I will have time to show them how the commercial cannery is done so that they can can their surplus products and let their home merchants sell them to their less fortunate customers. Unless providentialy hindered I will have a complete display of home grown and canned products, at our county fair at Mangum and also State Fair at Oklahoma City, and extend a cordial invitation to one and all of you to visit us there. I would be very proud if the girls club here would get up a nice display and send to your State Fair at Dallas.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Lula T. Jackson.

Every man owes it to his family to have a perfect title to his land, and the only way to know that you have a perfect title, is to have R. H. Templeton prepare you an abstract of your title.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Health, Michigan Bar, Cal., had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. "I commence using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once," His example is worth following. Joe Hardy Drug Co.

N. J. Gorman, Cashier Bank of Woodville, Woodville, Ga., had a very severe attack of kidney trouble and the pains in his kidneys and back were terrible. Tax Levy Reduced.

Austin, July 15.—The 1912-13 state ad valorem tax rate will be 10 cents on the $100 property value. The school tax rate will stand at 16 2-3 cents.

These figures were fixed by the state automatic tax board at its regular annual meeting today The tax for general revenue presents a decrease of 2 1-2 cents from that of last year, the 1911-12 rate being 12 1-2 cents. The board acted on the theory that the taxable property valuations for the ensuing twelve months will total $2,448,000,000. This was the estimate submitted by Comptroller Lane and was based on reports filed by all but fifty-six of the county tax assessors, and the last year's valuations for the missing counties. Last years valuations aggregated $2,515,922,745, and Governor Colquitt expressed the opinion following the meeting of the board that when the reports are all in the totals will tally with those of the preceding year. He thought that the increase in property valuations in some of the missing counties would more than offset the apparent decrease of $67,500,000. The reports from some of the biggest counties of the state are missing, notably those of Travis and Tarrant.

Today's meeting of the board was brief, lasting only about fifteen minutes. Sam H. Carter chief clerk of the treasury department, represented Treasurer Edwards.

Governor Colquitt and Comptroller Lane, the other two members of the board, were present.

Cotton Future Gambling Outlawed

Washington, July 16.—Heavy penalties for gambling in cotton "futures are provided in the Beall bill, passed by the house today by a vote of 95 to 25. The bill has yet to run the gantlet of the senate.

Efforts were made to amend the bill to include provisions prohibiting gambling in grains, but failed. Supporters of the bill asserted that the efficiency of the measure would be impaired by adding complicated administrative features. They pointed out that a measure now awaiting action in the house is directed against gambling in grain.

The bill would prohibit all dealing in cotton futures and fix heavy penalties for the purchase or sale of cotton not actually in existance. Heavy fines would be imposed for the use of the mails or telegraph for the dissemination of cotton speculative information.

Representative Fitzgerald (Dem.) of New York led the opposition declaring the bill was unconstitutional and would handicap the cotton producer and consumer.

It just requires six to twelve minutes to wash a tub of clothes after you get the water hot, on the Perfection Steam Sanitary Washer, and my, its so easy. You get them from Tollson & Jones at the Keep-U-Neat.

Clean Groceries

The all absorbant topic discussed over the world today is sanitation—more attention to be given to cleanliness. It is being vigorously urged in every home, and especially in the stores where food for the homes is being sold. More human lives are being saved daily from the strict attention given to sanitation. This store is going to score "perfect" in that line, if possible.

HOWELL & ADAMS

Make it a special point to keep their store in a most "cranky" sanitary condition. No dirt is allowed to collect—no meterial that will contract flies is allowed. Such perishable goods as butter is kept in a sanitary glass refrigerator—dust proof. Pickles are kept in sanitary jars especially made for the purpose. Fancy cakes are housed in dust proof cans.

Phone No. 6

For prompt and quick delivery of groceries, clean and fresh all the time. Why? Because we do a business sufficiently large to enable us to turn our entire stock every few weeks, enabling us to keep on hand at all times a fresh stock.

Bandanna Sign of Aristocracy

The last political use made of the bandanna was when Allen G. Thurman ran for Vice President on the ticket with Cleveland during the latters second campaign, but that was not to lure the "plain people," but in compliment to the "Old Roman" who always carried one of these survivals of a previous generation and used it with sonorous effect. It added much not only to his own relief, but to the gayety of the Senate. When Roscoe Conklin was making one of the efforts of his life and had just reached the dizziest height in his peroration, Senator Thurman found it necessary to blow his nose. Never had the old bandana been applied with more startling effect. There was a bugle call whos echose rang almost to the dome of the Capitol. The Senate burst into a roar, and the New York statesmen dropped from his Empoream with a dull sickening thud.

The genuine bandanna was of silk and at least half the size of an average luncheon cloth. It belonged particularly to the old blue swallowtail coat with brass buttons, carried in the rear pocket, with a corner protruding, though it was a sign of substance, whatever the costume that it helped to equip. It is rarely seen in the market today, and if anywhere kept in stock, it will be found to cost more than a dozen white handkerchiefs of the purest linen.

And this is the emblem that is chosen to give eclat to the birth of a new party. A Roosevelt organ says it is to be "a party of young men." We should say they were very young, not to understand the significance of the bandanna and its aristocratic associations. Of course, there are imitations of it, just as there are imitations of everything that is worn or carried by the wealthy and the great. There is cotton cloth dyed red or blue that, fifty feet away, when fresh from the loom, may look like a bandanna, only it isn't.—Boston Transcript.
