Evetts Haley of Austin and trustees of the Capitol Reservation Lands, over publication of Haley's book, "The XIT Ranch in Texas." Following his direct testimony Cousineau was subjected to a severe cross-questioning by George W. Dupree of the defense staff, but withstood the questioning fairly well.

Cousineau was followed on the stand by Rev. C. F. Carmack, Wellington minister and brother of Condy Carmack, mentioned frequently in the case as a friend of the Spikes brothers and Henry Hawkins. He told of having lived in the Tucumcari country following the death of the Spikes brothers.

Roy, former sheriff of Crosby county; A. A. Bratcher and W. C. Bryant, Lubbock and J. R. Pettit, Hockley county. The deposition of Mrs. W. C. Hunter was read. REPORT GIVEN ON SHOOTING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Consul Valdez at Oklahoma City reported to the Mexican embassy today that two Mexican students, Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of President Rubio, and Manuel Gomes were shot "without warning" by an Oklahoma deputy sheriff "fearing for his life."

TRIBUTE PAID CORTEGE

SAN ANTONIO, June 11 (AP)—More than 4,000 persons, mostly Mexicans, stood with bowed heads today while the train carrying the bodies of Emilio Cortez Rubio, cousin of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, and Manuel Garcia Gomes stopped briefly en route to Mexico. The caskets of the youths, slain by a deputy sheriff in Oklahoma Monday, were with floral offerings brought by Mexican women and by sympathizers.

eral at San Antonio to make an investigation, sent a copy of his detailed report to Mexico City.

His Report

It follows in part:

"From preliminary investigation it appears Rubio and Gomes after arriving at Ardmore stopped for refreshments, proceeding afterwards on their way along Highway No. 77 towards the south. Approximately five minutes afterward they stopped in a place not very populated and somewhat dark so that Salvador Cortes Rubio (who accompanied the two) could get out."

"To investigators it appears that the officials (Deputy Sheriff W. E. Guess and Cecil Crosby) were traveling behind the car. Salvador was admonished by Crosby, who, addressing afterwards Emilio and Manuel who were in the car, received as an answer that they were students and were going to Mexico.

Notices Pistol

"But noticing that Emilio had a pistol over his legs covered with his hands Crosby snatched the gun. When Guess approached the car on the right side he found Manuel standing outside the car covered with a blanket and holding a gun in his hand.

"Deputy Sheriff Guess, fearing for his life and without having tried to warn Gomez, fired his gun killing Gomez instantly.

"Then, approaching the car and seeing another person inside, without warning him, he fired on Emilio, who also died instantly."

Embassy officials said they had received messages of condolence from the mayor, city manager, board of commissioners and chamber of commerce of Ardmore.

No instructions have been received from the Mexican government, however, and the officials said they had received no protests of the shooting from individuals or groups either in Mexico or the United States.

MISSING MAN BELIEVED TO BE ALIVE

THE WEIRS, N. H., June 11.—Sheriff Frederick Elliott of Belknap county, with a posse of 150 men, began a search of Timber island, Lake Winnipesaukee, at daybreak today in the belief that Chelso Arrigoni, missing Connecticut state senator, was alive and on the island.

Arrigoni, who disappeared from a motorboat near Horse Island, a mile and a quarter from the scene of today's search, on the night of May 31, was believed to have been seen on Timber island yesterday.

An intensive search by divers of the bottom of the lake has failed to produce any trace of the missing man.

STERLING CONTINUES TO TRIM TOTALS ON APPROPRIATIONS

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 11—Governor Ross S. Sterling said today that he still had not cut the appropriation bills to a figure where he felt justified in signing them.

The governor indicated there was no hope for the college building program contained in the educational appropriations bill and that he was trimming the money proposals as much as feasible.

He promised to make a decision by the end of the week on whether a special session would be called.

The chief executive intimated he would sign or veto the eight or ten bills remaining on his desk by Friday midnight.

"If I call a special session I will submit very few subjects," Governor Sterling said.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION IS SOUGHT BY GROUP BEFORE GOVERNOR

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 11.—The campaign for the calling of a special session of the legislature to enact remedial oil legislation centered in Austin today when 45 oil men asked Governor Ross S. Sterling to convene the lawmakers soon in extra session.

Mayor Malcolm Grim of Kilgore stated that the last time he had been in the governor's office he had opposed granting additional proration powers to the railroad commission and added he thought the change in his views was representative of 90 per cent of the people in his area who had formerly sided with him.

In Heart of Area

Kilgore is in the heart of the new East Texas field, over-production from which has been blamed for the collapse of the oil price structure.

Governor Sterling did not say whether he would call an extra session but he promised the oil men to give their plea fair consideration. He said he might know in a day or two.

To Decide Soon

A short time ago I was against calling a special session because I did not believe the legislature would enact what you people desired," Governor Sterling said. "Since then I have noted a change of sentiment, particularly in East Texas. I am

FAT SAID TO BE CAUSE OF FORMS OF EYE TROUBLE; DIET AIDS IN CONTROL

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—A new role for fat, as the injurious agent in several forms of eye trouble, was explained at the American Medical society meeting today.

These troubles have no relations to overweight, but are due to alterations of the body fats, called lipids, which cause them to directly or indirectly to affect the eyes. Diet promises control sufficiently to be of preventive in many cases.

The work was presented by Parker Heath, M. D., of Detroit. He said it is "based upon a new understanding of broad biological and chemical processes and offers simplification in understanding many diseases."

Something Goes Wrong

These fat changes come about in connection with something going wrong in the army of disease fighters regularly maintained in the blood, the white cells, called phagocytes. Their job is to clean up infections, and their name means the "eaters." They change into trouble makers because of alterations in the body's metabolism, its processes of changing food into the substances needed for nourishment.

ALLERGY, NEW TYPE OF SUPERSENSITIVITY, DISCOVERED

TOUCH OF SILK, BUCKWHEAT CAKES, COTTONSEED OIL, CHOCOLATE, MILK, OATMEAL AND TOMATOES ARE BLAMED FOR SKIN DISEASES

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 11—Allergy, a type of supersensitivity which causes the touch of silk to produce skin disease on a school girl's face, has been described to the American Medical association.

In a strange repertoire of other unexpected things that caused allergic skin outbreaks were named also buckwheat cakes, cottonseed oil, oatmeal, tomatoes, milk and chocolate.

The origin of this allergy was blamed in numerous cases, on ringworm of the toes, in a paper by Cleveland White, M. D. and Samuel J. Taub, M. D., of Chicago.

They stated that numerous and widespread investigations are constantly bringing to light new phases of the "complicated condition called allergy." It is a sensitivity developed by the skin in other parts of the body than the toes. The paper suggested that the sensitivity might be transferred through the blood.

There is no known rhyme or reason in allergy's choice of a substance upon which to exercise its affinity. Citing some of the rarest of these, the report said that in a woman of 30 an outbreak on fingers, hands, wrists, neck and leg was traced to cottonseed oil in cake. The attack was cured when she stopped use of both cottonseed oil and olive oil. Previously she had

HIS LIST OF REASONS FOR APPLICATION FOR DIVORCE SEEM TO MAKE IT JUSTIFIABLE

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Ernest H. Sharp would like a divorce

Among the reasons listed by him in a bill filed in circuit court were that his wife, Vera, would not let him:

Smoke in the house, play the radio, or pay any attention to the family dog

In attention he quoted a written agreement with her whereby his use of the family car was limited to one day a week and to transportation to and from the railroad station at suburban Northbrook, where they live.

His monthly pay check was to be turned over to her in return for which she was to cease injuring him, such as attacking him with a pistol, striking him on the head with a golf club and biting his finger.

Sharp said she was "very jealous, without cause."

TANG SHAO-YI IS PRODUCT OF U. S. IDEALS; HE HAS BEEN PROMINENT IN GOVERNMENT WORK FOR MANY YEARS

The following sketch of Tang Shao-Yi, Chinese revolutionary leader was written by C. S. Smith, chief of the foreign service of the Associated Press, who knew him personally in China.

BY CHARLES S. SMITH
Chief of Foreign Service of The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 11—Tang Shao-Yi, the seventy-one-year-old Chinese statesman who has joined the committee creating the new Chinese republic at Canton and has turned broadsides against Chiang Kai-Shek and the Nanking government, is largely an American product.

He attended American schools, including Columbia and New York universities, for seven years. Under the Manchu regime he held many important offices and assisted Yuan Shi-Kai in suppressing the Boxer troubles in Shantung province. In 1912 he was made the first premier of the Chinese republic. Later he became high adviser to Yuan Shi-Kai, but broke with him when the latter developed aspirations to become emperor in 1915.

Sent To U. S.

Tang Shao-Yi was sent to the United States in 1908 as special envoy to thank the American government for waiving part of the Boxer indemnity, and always he has kept closely in touch with this country since his student days. One of his daughters was educated in the United States and became the first wife of Wellington Koo, for many years Chinese minister at Washington. She died twelve years ago.

For many years Tang Shao-Yi was identified with the management of Chinese railways and also served as an insurance official. His home in the foreign section of Shanhai was always open to Americans. He remained inactive in politics for years, declining various high offices, because he felt the affairs of the republic were not being handled in the interest of the Chinese people.

Joins New Government

But in 1918 he aligned himself with the southern government set up at Canton and in 1921 became minister of finance for the military government there. After the southern movement against Peking succeeded and established the capital at Nanking he became a high adviser to the government headed by Chiang-Kai-Shek in 1928. He held this office until recently, when he denounced the nepotism of Chiang Kai-Shek and cast his lot with the new movement in Canton.

Tang Shao-Yi was the first of the American-Trained Chinese to hold high office in China and with other foreign-educated Chinese always has shared the prejudice of Chinese who have not had foreign experience against men who try to impose modern methods on Chinese institutions.

East And West Clash

The clash between the east and the west is well illustrated in the stormy career which Tang Shao-Yi has had. Like many other foreign-educated Chinese he always has resented the disposition of Chinese-trained officials to surround themselves with men who have been educated abroad merely for the purpose of giving the outside world the impression they are adopting western methods and ideals.

President Yuan Shi-Kia always believed it was a mistake to send young Chinese boys abroad to school. It was his opinion such students lost touch with China and Chinese thought in their impressionable years and were not happy upon their return. He believes modern colleges should train Chinese in China during their formative years and that such students might be sent later to get professional training in foreign countries.

PARKING LIMIT IS TALKED IN MEET

Shall the two-hour parking restriction be removed from that part of Lubbock east of Texas avenue, including streets fronting on the courthouse square?

City commission is expected to answer that question definitely today. Open session of the commission was scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock this afternoon at City hall.

Time restrictions were tentatively removed from the zone by the commission two weeks ago. A city employ was instructed to canvas, the district and see if the merchants desired the change.

Investigation revealed that 28 merchants wanted the two-hour restriction to remain in force. Twenty-two indicated they desired unlimited parking.

A petition, bearing 60 names, was presented to the commission several weeks ago asking that the time limit be removed.

Several of the signers of the petition told the city investigator that they had changed their minds since the paper had been circulated and now believe that the ordinance should not be repealed.

Argentina imported 4,508 American wheel tractors last year.

Judge Orders His Meals To Be Sent To Jail

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Most folks go to a doctor or dietician for a change in diet but not Mrs. Anna Fry. She went to court.

"We've had chicken for three days," she complained to Judge Alfred O. Erickson. "All the neighbors have had chicken for three days. Now we've got to have rabbit stew for three days. The neighbors don't like it so well. Neither do we and we want Joe put in jail."

Judge Erickson was astonished. He asked for particulars and was told she was complaining about Joe Pokower, her brother.

"But I can't put a man in jail for being a good provider," the judge pointed out.

"I know," said Mrs. Fry, "but Joe and I had an argument and he went out in the back yard and wrung the necks of my 30 chickens and 11 rabbits."

"I understand now," said the court. "In that case Joe will have his meals for the next week in the Bridewell jail."

Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes

Month after month some women still suffer needless pain, but those who know simply go to a drug store or soda fount, get a package or dose of "B-C" and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.

"B-C" is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

"B-C" stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows. (Adv).

Before Her Baby Came

"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I came to womanhood. I was so nervous that I couldn't rest at night. After I took your Compound I felt much better. Then before my baby was born I took the Compound again. I felt strong all through the period. I was never in bed a day. I could rest good at night too." — Mrs. H. L. Buell, Marietta, Ohio.

TAHOKA SHOOTING

three years, although neither of them was divorced.

Chase frequently threatened to kill her if she did not stop seeing her husband, Glen W. Redman, Pampa painting contractor, to whom she had been married for 13 years, Mrs. Redman is reported to have said in her confession. She last saw her husband two months ago in Pampa, she said.

Slept In Car

Her paramour went to see her Saturday night at her mother's home, the statement said. That night she and Chase slept in the automobile between Lubbock and Tahoka after visiting in Lubbock. Sunday morning they went to his father's house for breakfast, leaving there at 11 a. m. for Lubbock, sleeping in the automobile again that night near the elder Chase's home. They went to the Chase home early Monday morning, she continued.

Fred Chase spent Monday working in the fields for a neighbor and was preparing to take her back to her mother's home Monday night.

Argued Great Deal

"Chase and I argued a great deal while we were enroute to mother's home," Mrs. Redman told Nelson. "When we got within a short distance of the house he stopped the car, got out a gun and told me he was going to kill me if I got out of the car.

"I told him that I was going back to my husband if I could.

"He then turned the automobile around and we retraced our route back to the Gordon community, driving around for some time. We passed by the Chase home, then returned again, arguing all of the time. When we got to the cross roads where we should have turned to go to Chase's home, we turned to the opposite direction.

"Chase reached for the gun which was in the door pocket on my side of the car.

"I begged him not to kill me."

"During the scuffle I got hold of a .380 calibre automatic which was on the seat behind Chase.

"I shot him in the head," she said in her confession.

When the automobile stopped, she got out and started walking, wandering around from the time the shooting occurred, which she said was shortly before 12 o'clock Monday night, until 5:30 a. m. when she arrived at the home of J. D. Hancock, four miles southeast of Wilson, the statement said.

Mrs. Redman said she hired Hancock to take her to Mrs. Lloyd's home, paying him with a check drawn on her husband. She arrived at her home at 7 a. m.

The woman is being held in the county jail here.

Mrs. Redman said she was married to Redman 13 years ago, living with him until two years ago. She and her husband had lived together at short intervals during the past two years, the statement continued. Both she and her husband had lived in Lubbock several times. She last lived there in 1930, officers were told. Her children are living with Mr. Redman's relatives.

The woman said she and her husband owned a residence in Lubbock at one time. The building was sold and she was given $800 from the sale, she told officers.

The $800 was given to Chase and he used the money to buy an automobile in which he was slain, the article added.

"I repeatedly asked Chase for the $800, but he refused to give it to me."

Chase's body was found in the automobile Tuesday afternoon, 18 hours after he was killed, by a farmer, who was plowing in nearby field. The farmer said he noticed the automobile parked there when he went to work Tuesday but did not investigate until several hours later, thinking the machine belonged to some cotton choppers who were working in another field.

The slain man was the son of A. N. Chase, prominent farmer of the Gordon community.

Funeral services for Chase were conducted Wednesday at Southland.

The investigation of the shooting was conducted by County Attorney Nelson, Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, Sheriff B. L. Parker and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Bulman of Lynn county.

BOND OPPOSED FOR BARRETT

CASTRO OFFICIALS TO FIGHT EFFORTS TO RELEASE FARMER

J. Frank Barrett, 45, Castro county farmer who is charged with the murder of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nora Barrett, 20, will probably not attempt to make bond and if he does, his release will not be secured without a stiff fight, John H. Flanagin, sheriff of the county, said while in Lubbock yesterday. Mr. Flanagin was here as a witness in the Fred Spikes libel suit.

Barrett was arrested near House, N. M., about 70 or 75 miles west of the Texas line, the sheriff said. "I did not talk to him. The county attorney went in and talked to him after his arrest and he made his statement to Mr. Dean. I do not know what all he said."

Doesn't Have Lawyer

The sheriff said he signed the complaint. Up to when he left Dimmitt Wednesday morning, the accused had not made any attempt to secure his release. "Barrett did not have a lawyer and he had not tried to get one," the sheriff said.

"Our next term of court is to meet October 26. Judge Charlie Clements of Plainview is our district judge. If Barrett does try to get free on bond we will fight his release."

The officer explained that he and Barrett had had a difference and he felt that the man would talk more freely to the county attorney if the sheriff was not present during the conversation.

Barrett and his son and wife lived about half a mile apart. The accused is a married man and had lived in the county for five or six years.

65 PERMITS ISSUED

Approximately 100 permits were issued last week. Gregg county was first in the number of permits and Rusk second. Most of the wells will be started immediately.

SALES COURSE TO BE GIVEN

INSTITUTE WILL OPEN WITH FREE LECTURE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

A four night course in salesmanship and personal efficiency, which begins tomorrow night and continues through Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights of next week, will be offered in Lubbock under the direction of the Armold Sales Training Institute, of Los Angeles, Perry B. Armold, president, said today. Instruction will be in charge of Mr. Armold and his wife, Fay Meyer Arnold, he said.

Tomorrow night's session will be free to all interested persons and has been designed as "get acquainted night". No money will be accepted, Mr. Arnold said, but enrollment for the following three classes will be made. The first subject has been announced as "Creative Salesmanship and How to Develop and Sell Your Personality".

Lubbock 94th Stop

Lubbock is the 94th city in western states to receive the course, Mr. Armold declared. He and his wife have just finished a similar course in Amarillo and prior to that conducted a school in Borger for the Board of City Development. Travels of the Armolds have covered practically the entire west and their work has been given to more than 24,000 people, the director stated.

The course each class of which will be held in the auditorium of Draughon's Business college, Thirteenth and Texas avenue, is particularly for sales people of all types although business executives will likewise find interest in the lectures.

Mr. Armold was formerly connected with the Knox School of Salesmanship, in Chicago, and has headed his own institute since 1921. Mrs. Armold has likewise been active in the work over a number of years.

SUPERSTITIOUS

Schumann-Heink Won't Let Her Picture Be Made

LOS ANGELES, June 11 (AP)—Madame Schumann-Heink's superstition prevented Los Angeles newspapers from publishing her latest photograph Wednesday.

She and her son, Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, appeared together in superior court to testify in their two suits for $86,000 against Edwin Carewe, screen director and producer. They charged breach of contracts.

She sternly refused to pose for photographers and explained,

"I'll pose when the trial is under way," the noted singer said, "but I'm superstitious about posing for concerts, operas, and trials before they start."

More building permits are being issued in Jamaica than a year ago.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

CHILDREN AND RELIGION

You, father and mother, who have held pretty firmly to the "good old faith," and have taught your children so, may be horribly shocked some day by that adolescent boy or girl of yours who has had the courage to express doubts and disbeliefs in some of those things you have cherished as most sacred and eternal.

Your first impulse will be to express surprise and then deep disappointment. You may shed tears in private over the matter, even before the child. No doubt you will attempt to argue and before you know it, the argument on both sides will degenerate into a heated battle of feelings and emotions. The more you lose your head the more your child will defend his point of view. He gradually will grow more extreme, stating by and by what he had not at all believed when the argument began, what, indeed, he does not really believe now.

In the first place, it is not a matter of what you believe or what you want your child to believe, but a matter of what he really does believe. However exacting you have been in regard to his conduct, be he ever so obedient; when it comes to what he thinks and believes, no form of coercion will control him. You might be able, of course, to drive him, through threats and cajolery, to "espouse" a certain kind of religious faith; but what goes on in his mind and feelings, they are entirely his.

All else equal, the more exacting you have been with him in general, and the fewer opportunities for freedom of choice, of expression, and conduct he has had, the less likely he will be to be won to your religious faith and belief once serious doubts have confronted him.

To act sanely when your adolescent child boldly declares his independence on matters of philosophy, when his expressed beliefs and disbeliefs run in conflict with yours, is not easy. But any one can see that there is no sense in getting all wrought up or in manifesting grief or disappointment. Least of all is there any use to argue. The best way is not to express surprise at all not to disagree in the least, but to act as if you did not hear what was said. Then, as soon as you can do so without offense, talk of something else entirely.

In his absence, pray for wisdom and understanding. Try harder to be worthy of his deepest affection and esteem. Critically examine your own religious faith and practice. Ask yourself whether it has been working in your home. Find ways of making it more useful and attractive. Try tactfully to bring your children in touch with strong, likable personalities who have found ways of making their religion practical and satisfying. Patiently wait. Trust in the child's regard for you and in your ability to adjust yourself. It is altogether possible that you will devise some of your own religious concepts in your efforts to make your religion more attractive and dynamic.

Even if your child should acquire strong beliefs widely different from yours, you are not going to be panicky about the matter, or to make him think you feel he has dishonored you. If you can win him to your beliefs, very well; but you are going to prove yourself large enough to acknowledge his right to believe as he likes. The chances are that the best elements in your religion he will find growing in him even though they appear in different clothes.

Methodist Delegation Attends Meadow District Meeting; Several On Program

Women delegates from First and Asbury Methodist churches left early this morning for Meadow where they are attending a district meeting of the Methodist Women's Missionary society during the day. SPYING ON SPORTS

Now let's get this straight. Along comes a man known to be a power in organized baseball. He says he holds the franchise for a professional ball club in Lubbock, and that he is sent here to manage a team. He is a former president of the East Texas League. He works here nearly a month trying to raise funds necessary for the beginning of the season. He apparently fails. He packs his bag and leaves—for Fort Worth? So he says. Three hours after his departure comes a message kindly but firmly branding us as a liar—that he is in Amarillo.

Who is he? What is he? We saw him approximately three minutes before he gave up the ghost and departed for Fort Worth, no, for Amarillo. At least he said he was quitting the game and going to Fort Worth. He told several people the same thing. We've been dizzy for the past month trying to keep up with him and the plans for the Panhandle Professional Baseball league, of which Lubbock was to be a unit.

We were under the impression that Amarillo, Clovis and Pampa were waiting on Lubbock business men to raise the funds before the season could go on. Associated Press reports and personal telegrams from three points say as much. Now comes the report that Clovis is not ready. Neither is Lubbock for that matter, and probably never will be. And so saying, unless something else turns up, we wave good bye to the Lubbock entry that was never entered. Selah!

There's a golf tournament coming up Sunday at the Lubbock Country club. It is called the annual "neck and gizzard" tournament, and if you do not know what that means you have nothing on us. It is supposed to be a sort of prelude to the city championship tournament which begins next Wednesday. Every golfer in town is eligible, whether he belongs to a club or not. Your entrance fee will take care of green fees, as in the city joust next week.

And if you do not play golf or care not to watch it, the Hubbers (we never intended to talk about baseball any more) will meet the Littlefield team at Merrill Park Sunday afternoon. Littlefield is said to have a good semi-pro ball club. It licked Slaton last Sunday and has won another game or two we understand.

Paul Carter, business manager of the Hubbers and circulation manager for the Avalanche-Journal has hinted that Merrill Park may be resplendent in artificial lights before long. With the collapse of the Panhandle League, so far as Lubbock was concerned, the Hubbers will continue to represent the town's baseball interest. They are not getting rich playing in day time, nor would anybody else, but if lights are installed they might prove popular. The idea, as we understand it, is to light the park as cheaply as possible and schedule games with teams in surrounding towns all of the games to be played at home. Maybe a good idea. At any rate, we'd like to see it tried. We would go to night games, and so would everybody else who ever heard of the game.

Berl Huffman, Lubbock High school's new assistant coach, is in Lubbock attending summer school at Texas Tech. We met him for the first time yesterday. He's a likeable chap, a husky man, and we are glad to welcome him to Lubbock's coaching fraternity. Jerry Malin up at Amarillo had nothing but high praise for Huffman, former coach at White Deer, when we talked with him last Sunday.

Willis Knight pitched another good ball game yesterday. He gave the Slaton Tigers anything but hits for eight good innings and nary a run. Then in the ninth inning, after pitching shut-out ball, the old arm gave way and of all the sharpshooting batsmen you ever saw the Tigers slapped in that ninth. Our staff photographer happened to be along and snapped the pictures below.

This was in the seventh inning when Knight was pitching hard and straight baseball caught a pop up and sent it to third for a double play. Oh, it was a pretty play. Then in the ninth he "blew up" as the bat boy said, and before a crowd of fans on their way out the photographer caught him again.

It is not usual for the same man to have his picture appear twice on a page, but maybe Willis' arm really did give way and he tossed them in the alley for one inning. Only nine more runs in that inning would have won the game for Slaton.

VETERAN'S BIG STICKS LENDS STRENGTH

HARVEY HENDRICK IS HITTING AT .386 CLIP AT PRESENT

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Harvey Hendrick, the 33-year-old veteran who wasn't good enough to play regularly with the Brooklyn Robins this spring, has become a ball of fire since his recent sale to the Cincinnati Reds. His batting average is topped only by that of Babe Ruth.

Inspired by the big first baseman's great .386 clip at the plate, Col. Dan Howley's cupils have won seven of their last eight games against the invaders from the east and are beginning to make threatening gestures from their cellar retreat. Hendrick's big bat has helped them win as many games in eight days as they won in the first six weeks before he joined them.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

CHARLIE ROOT, Cubs—Held the Phils to four hits and shut them out 3 to 0; RABBITT MARANVILLE, Braves—Hit a triple and three singles and scored five runs to help slaughter the Cardinals, 13 to 4; LARRY FRENCH, Pirates—Limited the Giants to three scattered hits, all singles, and was deprived of a shutout by an error; TONY CUCCINELLO, Reds—His triple, double and single drove in four runs against the Robins; HEINE MANUSH, Senators—Hit a homerun and two singles to help sink the Indians, 9 to 4.

Vets Aid Reds

Hendrick's former mates, the Robins, were the victims of the latest Cincinnati outbreak. While the veteran Eppa Rixey turned them back yesterday, his mates pounded Phelps and Moore for a 10 to 3 victory in the series opener.

The defeat knocked the Robins back into a tie with Pittsburgh for fifth place, ten games from the top, as the Pirates subdued the New York Giants, 5 to 1.

Giants Tie Cubs

The Giants, in turn, dropped into a tie for second place with the Cubs, who stopped the Phillies, 3 to 0. Charley Root allowed only four hits, scattered over as many innings, to record his sixth victory.

Rabbitt Maranville, veteran Braves shortstop, enjoyed a field day against the St. Louis Cardinals. He banged a triple and three singles and scored five runs as the leaders went down, 13 to 4.

Washington finally managed to gain ground on the Athletics. While rain prevented hostilities in three other American league cities, Walt Johnson's men took their opener from the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 4, cutting Philadelphia's lead to four and a half games.

Net Tournament Enters Third-Round

FORT WORTH, June 11 (AP)—Third-round matches in men's singles, start of men's doubles plus competition in girl's second round singles, doubles and play in the junior divisions were scheduled today in the third annual Texas District Lawn Tennis association tournament.

Wilmer Allison, third ranking player in the United States lawn tennis association, put himself in the quarter-final round with two wins. He defeated Johnny Maddox of Dallas in a second round match postponed from Tuesday, 6-0, 6-1. He then eliminated "Doc" Barr of Dallas in a third round match, 6-3, 6-2.

Out of the sixteen seeded players, twelve were left in the running at the conclusion of second round matches yesterday in Allison, Jimmy Quick, Dallas; Jake Hess, Fort Worth; Early Taylor, Austin; J. B. Adoue, Dallas; Louis Thalheimer, Chicago; Fed Royer, Dallas; John McDiarmid, Fort Worth; Charlie Sloan, Houston; Quinn Connelley, Fort Worth; Donald Longcope, Houston and Henry Holden, Houston.

Catcher Is Obtained By Buffs On Option

NINTH - INNING RALLY FAILS FOR TIGERS

KNIGHT PITCHES SUPER BALL FOR 8 FRAMES AND THEN FALTERS

A ninth-inning rally during which they jumped on Willis Knight for five blows, three of them for extra bases, provided five runs for the Slaton Tigers yesterday afternoon but the best they could do was done in that inning and the Lubbock Hubbers won another game, 13 to 5.

Willis Knight pitched shut out baseball for eight innings, never letting a man get to third and once taking part in a double play to save one there, but four consecutive hits in the ninth scored a man who had doubled and another who was safe on an error and ruined the day.

Hits Are Bunched

The Hubbers were merciless in their attack of four Slaton hurlers, though they gained but ten safe blows off the opposing quartet. They bunched hits in the first, sixth and eighth innings to drive three hurlers from the field and collect eleven tallies. One in the third and another in the seventh finished out the thirteen. The locals were off to a four-run lead in the first, English, starting pitcher, lasting one third of an inning and Pittman faring little better.

Except for the let up in the ninth when base hits flew over the heads of Hubber outfielders with astounding rapidity and consistency, the Hubbers had the Tigers outclassed in nearly every department. Knight allowed ten hits during the game, and five were in the ninth inning. He kept the others separated and should have had a shut out.

The Hubbers meet the Littlefield team on the local field Sunday. Littlefield has been winning more games than it has been losing and the tilt Sunday is expected to contain plenty of baseball interest.

Cuban Fighter Is To Get Test Tonight

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Relampo Saguero, Cuba's latest pride of the ring gets another hard test tonight when he meets the rugged Tug Phillips of Pittsburgh in the main 10 round battle at Mills stadium. The Cuban welterweight champion, victor in 71 out of 75 bouts, was favored to win.

HOMER PEEL'S SINGLE INTO A TRIPLE PLAY SHOULD BECOME CLASSIC OF THE PASTIME; BUFFS ARE LEADING LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

The story how Homer Peel of the Houston Buffaloes hit into a triple play with a clean single to right field should by rights become a classic of the pastime.

Peel came to bat in the fifth inning of the Buffs 3-2 victory over Dallas. Nobody was out and a single, a Texas leaguer, and a beat-out bunt had loaded the bases. Peel lined out his single, Hock scoring from third. Rollings rounded third in his wake but paused to take stock of the situation. The Dallas right fielder threw home, the catcher flipped the ball to third, and Pinky Higgins tagged Rollings out. Selph, who had arrived in the vicinity of third, started back to second, where he found Peel in possession of the base. Peel started back to first. Both were run down between the bases.

Shreveport's 8-2 afternoon victory over Beaumont had given the Puffaloes their chance to regain the league lead. Even so, they have only half a game on the Exporters, who could easily be in the lead again by nightfall. Southpaw Thornton Lee of the Sports let Beaumont down with three hits.

At Galveston the Buccaneers took their customary dive, the Wichita Falls Spudders collecting 13 hits for an 8-1 victory. Carroll of the Buccaneers relieved Dumovich in the ninth with two on base and one out, retiring the next two men.

At San Antonio Fort Worth ran wild in the fourth, scoring seven runs off three pitchers. The final score was 9 to 5.

City League Game Ends In Deadlock

Darkness settled over Rainbow Park before the Legion-Lions and Advertiser City League baseball teams had settled their argument yesterday and after seven innings the clubs were in a 7-7 deadlock.

The game was featured by home runs by Adkinson and Fausett for the Advertisers, three baggers by Lemons, Adkinson and Rich, and two-base hits by Lemons and Rich. The home runs would have been enough to win the game out for four Advertiser fumbles.

The Texas Utilities and Legion-Lions, the loop leading teams, meet in the feature game today at Merrill Park. At the Rainbow field on Texas Avenue and 33rd Street, the Wholesalers and Rainbow teams will meet. Both games will begin at 6 o'clock.

DOUBLE PLAYS WORRYING THE CUBS

HORNSBY'S MEN HAVE HIT INTO EXACTLY 60 TWIN KILLINGS IN GAMES THIS SEASON

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 11—Double plays are irking Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cubs.

So far this season, the Cubs have been victimized just 60 times by double killings and Manager Hornsby doesn't like it.

"It's our one biggest weakness," Hornsby said. "Our hitting is good enough to lead the league and so is our fielding. Our pitching is good but those double plays are taking the steam out of our wallops."

Hack Wilson, who has been unable to drive out long ones this season, hit into the sixtieth double play yesterday, the Phillies turning the trick.

ARMY OF HIGH SCHOOL TRACK STARS AWAIT NATIONAL STARTER IN CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 11—An army of 520 high school stars from 24 states today headed for Chicago and the twenty-seventh National interscholastic track and field meet at the university of Chicago tomorrow and Saturday.

Although the entries this year were trimmed by the refusal of some state high school athletic associations to permit their prep stars from competing, the field looked as good as ever. Several meet records were expected to go by the boards.

Oak Park, winner of the Illinois title, Fort Collins, Colo., winner of three meets and runner-up in three others in recent years; Scott High of Toledo, always a strong contender, and Roosevelt High of Dayton, O., were regarded as the teams to beat for the team title. Other strong teams included Woodrow Wilson, Dallas, Texas; Huntington, W. Va; Du Pont Manual training, Louisville; West division, Milwaukee, Webster Grove, Mo; Senior high, Pittsburgh, Kas; Georgia Military academy College Park, Ga; Central High, Tulsa; Washington, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Augusta Tilghman Paducah, Ky.

PITTSBURGH, June 11. (AP)—Andy Bednar, young right handed pitcher, was sent to the Fort Worth club of the Texas league by the Pirates under a 24-hour notice optional agreement. Bednar left at once for Texas.

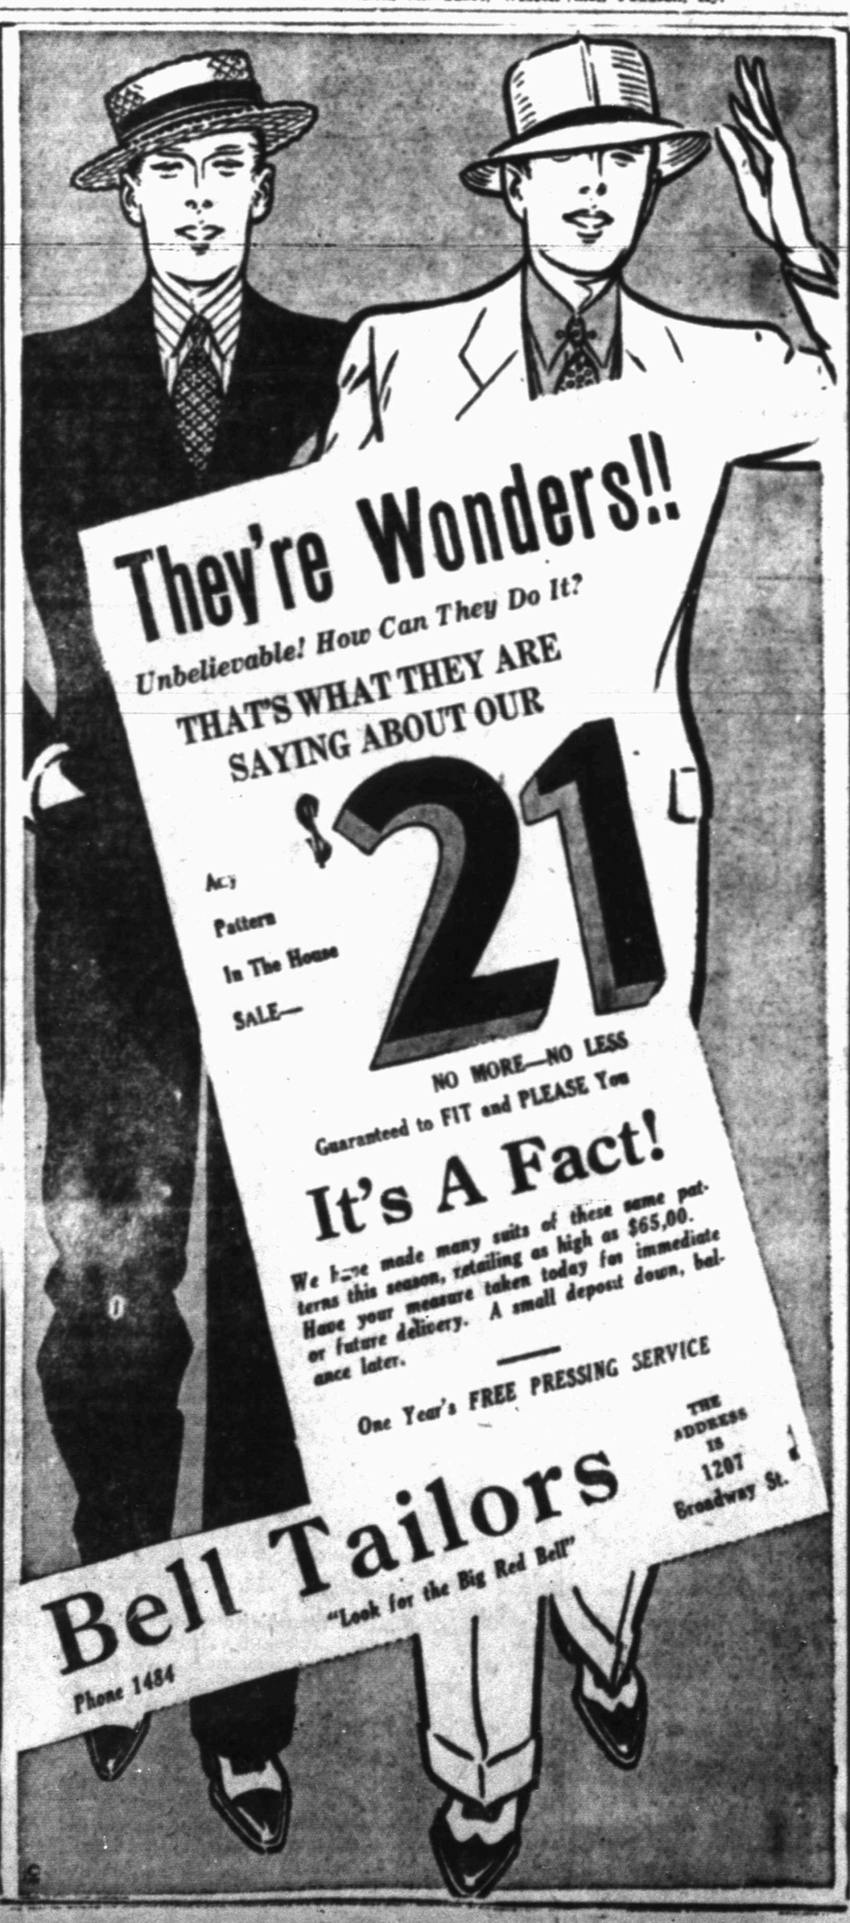

CAREY TO BE LAID UP

HOUSTON, June 11. (AP)—Tom Carey, stellar Houston Buff shortstop, will be on the bench at least two weeks and probably longer as the result of the ankle injury suffered here Tuesday night when he slid into second base, according to an announcement made by Dr. J. R. Bolt, Houston club physician.

Thought For Today

Let your conversation be without covetousness.—Hebrews 13:5.

He deservedly loses his own property who loses that of another.—Phaedrus.

Better Living

There was something rather appealing about the revelation, made the other day in the newspapers, that Adolph Lewisohn, wealthy New York philanthropist, began taking singing lessons at the age of 69 and is now, at 82, amusing himself by giving informal little song recitals for small groups of his friends.

Mr. Lewisohn explains that he always had wanted to sing, but that as a young man he had been too busy to take the time to learn. Now that age and wealth have brought leisure he is making up for lost time.

All of this is interesting because it is the sort of thing that so few Americans ever do. In youth we do as Mr. Lewisohn did; we keep so busy earning a living that we have no time to indulge the creative or artistic sides of our lives. Then, when we grow older and the pace of everyday affairs slackens a bit, we regretfully conclude that it is too late.

This man was a bit wiser than most. He wanted to sing, and he set out to learn how. To be sure, he will never make any money out of it, nor will it make him famous; but that, after all, is just the point. It is precisely the "useless" avocation of that kind that helps to make one's life rich and enjoyable.

Some people understand that. There are business men, and housewives, for instance, who go to the local art school and learn how to sketch or paint, and who get a tremendous lot of fun out of it. To be sure, the pictures they produce are not very good; but they are just good enough to bring a world of satisfaction to the men and women who create them.

Others try their hands at music. There exists literally thousands of amateur string quartets and diminutive orchestras which meet once a week or oftener to play for the musicians' own diversion. They never perform publicly and no one ever hears of them; but they mean a lot to the men and women who play in them.

It is the same way with literature. Every newspaper columnist can tell you of sober bankers and lawyers who write poetry "on the side." Some of this poetry, too, is surprisingly good; and it gets printed, usually under pen names, in newspaper columns. No one gets paid for it and no one gets famous; but the writers are enriched, just the same.

These are the "useless" diversions that more of us ought to cultivate. They have no utilitarian value—but they help immeasurably to make life more enjoyable.

A Woman Judge

IT used to be supposed that women law-breakers would get much more fair and lenient consideration if they were arraigned before judges of their own sex instead of before men. But now New York's famous Samuel Seabury, who has been inquiring into this and that on Manhattan island, has filed a report declaring Magistrate Jean Norris unfit and urging her removal.

Her unfitness, he avers, is shown by her severity, her unjudicial conduct and her callous disregard of the rights of defendants in the women's court."

Bearing in mind the fact that this is simply an accusation and that the truth or falsity of it has not yet been demonstrated, one is nevertheless moved to admit that the sex of an officeholder, by itself, is not very important, after all. To get a kindly, tolerant and capable judge one must give the job to a kindly, tolerant and capable person; whether it be a man or a woman makes little difference.

An Ohio addressee has just received a letter from a relative mailed 70 years ago. Of course, no bill ever took that long in the mails.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says boy friends are like promisory notes—you get tired of meeting them.

The Plainsman can only see one reason for being a vegetarian—that being because the butcher refuses credit.

DO you ever remember a year which has been so vividly marked by tragedy as the year 1931 thus far? The Plainsman doesn't. Every time you pick up a paper—and no matter what paper it may be—you find spread before you article after article dealing with violent death. Murder and suicide have ceased to be unusual. They are frequent from Maine to California, from Florida to Washington.

The Plainsman and Walter Posey, sitting side by side at luncheon a day or two ago, found that the conversation drifted into one of general conditions. The Plainsman asked the banker who, while not old in years is an oldtimer in this country, if he had ever seen the time before when so many regretable tragedies had occurred over the South Plains.

Mr. Posey thought a moment then answered in the negative. "People are tense", he said. And no doubt he is correct.

LIVING has become a much more complicated affair in the last fifteen years. Most of us are living too fast—and by 'too fast' is meant we are drawing too heavily upon our physical and mental machinery. We aren't resting enough; we aren't comfortable, even in our recreation, because we're hustling, bustling, fretting and worrying all the time. We are trying to exact from subnormal times the same successes brought to us in abnormal periods. And that, of course, is a tremendous task—it is next to impossible.

The time has come when we must take stock, accept the facts and readjust ourselves and our affairs to fit the times. By that is not meant we should all begin loafing, because hard work, without nerve strain, never hurt anyone physically strong. But we must face our problems calmly; adjust our wants and our needs. We must adopt a set, conservative plan of meeting obligations and carrying on business of the day. We must keep in mind the fact that time heals all wounds, regardless of what kind of wounds they may be. Life is man's most valuable possession. He must not permit frazzled nerves and fears to rob him of his own life, or to take the life of another.

That Man on Avenue Q says some people's idea of a bare necessity is a bathing beauty.

Silence may not be the best defense but it certainly is the most annoying.

TO borrow a phrase from Deutchland, "a sound like thunder, wakes the brave"—at least, the politically brave! It's hot weather, and although this is an off year for state and national elections, a lot of Texans just can't help getting politically minded when the sun beats down and the freckles begin to pop out. Over in Columns 7 and 8, on this page, you will find some poignent remarks by 'A Subscriber', concerning Mr. Hoover, Mr. Sterling and the coming elections. That proves in itself that the well known man in the street is preparing to assert himself like nobody's business—along about next summer.

An even the usually staid Editorial Digest is doing some ranting on its own hook—Hoovercrats being likewise the target. Despite the fact that the stand patters are likely to welcome the Hoovercrats of 1928 back into the fold when campaign time rolls around, the Digest has its say with Cone Johnson, a "political Rock of Ages", as the chief receiver. Read this if you doubt that Texas is again becoming 'politically minded':

* * *

"Cone Johnson, the well known highway commissioner, had a little hard luck last week. It appears he spoke out of turn—or at least insofar as some of the taxpayers viewed his rantings.

* * *

"Everybody knows that 'Cone has been a politician about as long as Thomas Jefferson has been a Democrat. And he's dry enough to be a tourist guide in the Sahara Desert.

"But Mr. Johnson played hookey at the last presidential election and went Hoovercrat. He wasn't by himself, of course but he was by himself when newspapermen interviewed him last week.

* * *

"He gave out an interview in which he said Hoover meant well but wasn't doing so good, and that if the Democrats would leave prohibition alone and make the economic issue paramount in the forthcoming controversy, he might even consider voting the ticket straight again.

* * *

"His remarks didn't go over so big, it would seem, if what Steve Pinckney, attorney and one of the few who stayed in line in '28, is any criterion.

"It is amusing to have the Hoovercrat now assume to tell the Democrats of the nation what they can and ought to do. Mr. Pinckney wrote the press of Houston.

* * *

"To all of which we agree, except that it is not unusual. That's one reason the Democrats are where they are today—they listen to any and everybody. Hoover and the Republicans tell 'em all they will have full dinner pails if the Republicans stay in office, and it's not like a Democrat to be missing anything so promising as that.

"'Mr. Johnson refers to Mr. Hoover as a good engineer, a good executive and clean and honest, but lacking the personality and ability for leadership such as we know in this country as statesmanship. Those things were known about Mr. Hoover three years ago by everybody who opposed his election', said Mr. Pinckney.

"Which would lead one to believe that Mr. Hoover is really nothing more than a Democrat gone astray.

* * *

"'We wonder what Mr. Johnson would do if in 1932 the Democrats courageously declared for a change that would drive the bootlegger and racketeer from the country', Mr. Pinckney concluded.

* * *

"There wouldn't be anything left to do but vote the Republican ticket, we suppose."

* * *

And all The Plainsman can say in rebuttal is, they'll be glad to get us Hoovercrats back in the fold—but they won't be much happier to get us back than we'll be to get there!

Is This The Way Roosevelt And Pinchot See It?

"Without-Or-With, Offense To Friends Or Foes, We Sketch Your World Exactly As It Goes"—Byron

Big Guns Will Boom Again In Tariff War In Next Session Of Congress, But There Won't Be Any Particular Move

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 11—There probably will be a swell tariff fight at the next session of Congress, but it will be only a fight without any particular result.

There will be a lot of noise in the air and the attack on the Hawley - Smoot act probably will be more ably directed than any similar assault in the past. The persistent squawks from many directions will be dinned into the ears of both houses. But even though there will be more Democrats and Progressive Republicans than regular Republicans, the setup is such that seekers after high tariffs seem to stand just as good a chance of success as those who would scale down the rates.

To most politicians the tariff fight in Congress will be so much drum-beating for next year's presidential campaign, in which it now appears that the Democrats will undertake to make the Hawley-Smoot law an important issue.

Administration Stands Pat

The administration party is definitely committed to standing by the tariff. It couldn't do much else, anyway, but lately its leaders have stepped out aggressively to tout the high rates as an effective bulwark through the depression period rather than an important contributory factor. The present rates, the Republican National Committee says in an official statement, are no more than adequate and in some casese perhaps not high enough. Senate Floor Leader Jim Watson contends that the tariff has maintained employment 50 per cent higher than in Europe, kept up the wage standard and given the farmers of America 20 to 30 per cent more for their products than those of other nations.

The general Democratic position is that the rates are too high and that they have resulted in cutting our important foreign trade in half. Democratic ranks, however, aren't any too firm on this tariff question. The administration Republicans, accepting the challenge to make it an issue, are able to keep demanding that members of the opposition party name specific rates they would reduce. And the Republicans can show that there was only one Democratic senator who had not voted either to raise or maintain some of the previous duties during the progress of the Hawley-Smoot measure. When Congressman Connery of Massachusetts come now with the boot and shoe interests to demand a 50 per cent increase on shoes and Democratic senators from the southwest keep shouting for an oil tariff, for instance, it doesn't make for party solidarity at all.

Democrats' Guns Backfire

It's nearly impossible to cut any tariff rate without hitting at some Democrat. Democrats have industries back in their states, just like Republicans, and their industries are likely to clamor just as loudly for protection. That's why it's so much easier for the party propagandists to argue that the whole Hawley-Smoot act was a mistake than to peck at this rate and that rate and demand general reduction. As long as the tariff remains in politics the only men who will steadfastly refuse to bow to pressure from their home industries will be men as brave as Senator Norris of Nebraska—and there are hardly any of those.

Nevertheless, recent months have seen a considerable growth in vocal resentment from financiers and industrialists, many of whom derive no direct tariff benefits and some of whom appear to have become increasingly skeptical about the indirect benefits. The agricultural, automobile and railroad industries are among those which the Republicans must convince.

The fight in Congress promises to produce some thrill—if there is ever anything thrilling about tariff debates—because there will be three fervent, sincere and well-equipped Democrats to lead the attack. The three are Senators Costigan of Colorado and Hull of Tennessee and Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland. Costigan and Lewis are newly elected to Congress; Hull has been elevated to the Senate, where he will be more effective than ever. Costigan and Lewis are former members of the Tariff Commission. What they don't know about the "iniquities" of high protective duties, Hull does.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining." "Feminine Hygiene." "Indigestion and Constipation." "The Care of the Hair and Skin." "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet." "List of Books for Mothers." "Bad Weetting." "Diet of the Expectant Mother." "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

CAUSES OF DEAFNESS

The most complete study of a large group of deaf children ever made has just been completed. The survey was made by Dr. G. E. Shambaugh and associates among the children of the public schools for the deaf of Chicago. In all 5,348 deaf children were examined.

Dr. Clendening

Sixty - two of the children had been born deaf. Half of the remainder became deaf before they had reached the age of three. Many of these were probably born deaf. the parents concealing the fact because they wished to escape the stigma of having given birth to a deaf child. Another reason for thinking that many of these were born deaf is that deafness does not begin to be evident until about the age of three.

Nearly all severe deafness in children appears before the age of ten. These figurs include acquired deafness. If a child has come to the age of ten with good hearing then the chances are strongly in favor of its continuing to have good hearing.

Of the cases of acquired deafness, meningitis caused 20 per cent, measles 8 per cent, scarlet fever and influenza each 7 per cent. The authors say that tonsils or adenoids can be responsible for severe deafness only when infection has gotten into the middle ear from the throat infection.

Treatment For "Athlete's Foot" Or Ringworm of the Foot

There are many treatments for this annoying condition. The last to come to notice is from a retired doctor in California. He says he would like to have his method made known and tried by others, as he has no way of using it as a treatment any more because of his retirement from practice.

He had his first personal experience with so-called athlete's foot last summer and the condition became progressively worse under treatment. "Finally realizing that gasoline is a most active fungicide, in desperation," he says, "I immersed my foot in ordinary commercial 'gas' with practically instantaneous relief. When I repeated this foot bath the next day, the irritation had in no way recurred, nor has it to date."

Questions From Readers

San Angelo, Tex.: "What is the cause of St. Vitus' dance?"

Answer: St. Vitus' dance is probably an infection. It is acute and occurs mostly in children. It has been thought that it is related to acute rheumatic fever. The outcome is favorable under proper care and treatment.

Branchport, N. Y.: "What is the effective part of the remedy for kinkly hair?"

Answer: One substance used in preparations to take the kink out of hair is gum tragacanth, which is applied to the hair as it is pulled out straight. The gum dries on the hair while it is straightened and prevents it from curling. It is not permanent in its action as it has to be renewed as the hair grows out.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, June 11.—Tin Pan Alley's latest "find" is a mere youngster from Louisiana.

Her name is Dana Suess, and she is just about 18 years old. Yet she already has to her credit three of the year's outstanding song hits, which is considerably more than most of the old-timers of the music industry can boast.

'Whistling in the Dark," for instance is among the four or five best sellers of the moment. And after that came "Ho-Hum," a summer number that arrived appropriately for the yawning season. A number of the most popular bands immediately snapped it up for radio and dance presentation. Prior to that, the youngest and newest of Tin Pan Alley's struggling army had stepped out with, "What Has Become of That Moon?" To say nothing of a dozen now reported ready for the music presses, and several more being considered by music show producers.

Like most of Manhattan's "discoveries," it all appears to have happened overnight. As a matter of fact, the usual long, slow discouraging climb had to be made.

She arrived in New York from Shreveport and way points as a "child prodigy" of the piano. With her mother, who was both a companion and manager, she settled down to crash the stubborn gates of the big city. Her first engagements were at women's clubs, dinners and private gatherings. This was four or five years ago. Already she had composed a dozen numbers of a classical nature, attracting first attention with "Syncopated Love Song," written for symphonic orchestration.

It has only been within the past year or so that the youngster turned her hand to the composing of more topical tunes.

SPEAKING of newcomers, the year's crop has been slightly under normal—but then, the number of new Broadway productions has been particularly slim.

The case of Lyda Roberti is one of those spectacular theatrical sensations not likely to occur more than once in a year. From a wandering circus performer in Europe, traveling with her father's troupe, she reached New York after a career in the "small time" circuits. She came to Brooklyn with one of the Fanchon and Marco groups made up in Hollywood for the film theater chains.

There she was discovered by Lou Holtz and given a comedy part in "You Said It." On the opening night she "stopped the show." Since then she has been officially adopted as one of Broadway's pets.

We haven't seen any clear explanation of the surplus of wool in the nation's warehouses this year, but after looking over some of those new 1931 bathing suits that the girls are wearing we have our guess.

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

Wherein Hoovercrats Are Taken For A Ride

Dear Plainsman: I read and like your column. It is unusually frank and fair. Sometimes when you do not intend to be, you are almost humorous.

But, as a "Republican" newspaper it strikes me that the Avalanche-Journal, is derelict in its duty in failing to carry full page editorials boosting Mr. Hoover for a second term. Why not say, "He was good enough for Woodrow Wilson, so he is good enough for me"? Did you hear that in 1928?

Personally, I was dumb enough to vote for Al Smith, a Democrat, but the intelligent people ruled me down. A great victory, indeed. If the Democrats had won we would have missed the bountiful years of "Hoover prosperity', homebrew and racketeering.

Mr. Smith is such a narrow Democrat and zealous Catholic that I can see now he would not have stood for us poor folk having all we wanted to drink (rot gut), as the lenient, broad-gauged millionaire engineer has done. Al would probably have been short-sighted enough to try to enforce prohibition. That would have cost money and with anyone but Mellon garnering the national shekels, we would just about be faced with a deficit right now (in these phooy times) instead of the handsome balance (?) Messrs. Hoover and Andy have piled up for us. They would. They did it in their private business, why not the nations? Did I hear that in '28 or am I dreaming?

State affairs: "It must be Sterling"—yeh? Well, it must be from the way he is approving (?) all the bills from West Texas. It shows how he appreciates the handsome majorities you (mostly Hooverites) gave him last year.

Don't you know all the pink boll-worm boys who voted for him are just tickled pink? Didn't you enjoy his statesmanlike speech at the WTCC convention here in Lubbock? I'll bet he comes out here again when he gets in a tight for some more sucker votes. Eh?

And the preachers—bless their hearts—should be praising him from the housetops! He signed the Sunday movies bill to cut down traffic congestion in their churches. They like that because they voted for him.

Maryland Woman Happy Now—

Loses 55 Lbs.

Edith J. Marriott of Baltimore, Md. writes: "Last winter I weighed 200 lbs. and was very much ashamed. I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salts which gave such wonderful results I bought more. After 4 bottles I weigh 145 lbs. and all my friends say, 'How slender you've gotten—now did you do it?' I say only 4 words—thanks to Kruschen Salts."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Bowen's Drug, Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy, City Drug Store, the Lubbock Drug Co., Mark Halsey Drug or any drugstore in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat.

Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. Adv.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE shoes the friendly Jap girl wore, you'd think would make her wee feet sore. They had two blocks that stuck out far, just underneath the feet. The Tinies, though, saw that she could walk o'er the farm land very good In fact, the way she handled them made them appear quite neat."

Her costume, too, was strange to see, but still as pretty as could be. 'Twas very loose and handy for her work upon the farm. And then, she had hair puffed high. Wee Clowny whispered, "Me, oh my, I really think that head of hair adds to her lovely charm."

She told the Tinies that she worked real hard all day and never shirked. "We raise a lot of food," said she, "and all must do our share. I do not mind my work at all. I'm at it from the spring till fall, and find it very healthful, right out in the open air."

The Travel Man then said, "Let's skip 'cause we are going to take a trip across the land and 'cross the sea, to Yokohama town. You see, it's rather far away and I would like to start today. We'll hurry now and board a train before the sun goes down."

And so by train and boat they went to Yokohama. Hours were spent in watching pretty scenery. The trip was simply grand. And when the bunch walked up and down to eye the sights of this new town, wee Scouty said, "This surely is a very wondrous land."

All of a sudden Clowny cried, "Hey, Tinymites! See what I've spied!" The bunch gazed at some lanterns queer, made out of puffer fish. Said Scouty, "When they swim they're flat. At least they're not puffed up like that. I'd rather have my seafood cooked real well, upon a dish."

(The Tinymites watch a clam digger in the next story.)

MUSSOLINI WORKS WITH HIS BOOTS ON; HE'S RECOGNIZED AS DICTATOR OF ITALY; EACH DAY FULL OF WORK

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of the series of personality sketches of persons prominent in the news.

BY ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Correspondent, Copyright, 1931.

ROME, June 11 (AP)—Some men die with their boots on, but Benito Mussolini, premier of Italy and supreme head of fascismo, works in his.

This dynamic man who has aroused the interest of the whole world comes down to his office in the Venice palace every morning in the high boots of a cavalryman.

Wears Them All Day

He keeps them on until after luncheon at home and sometimes when he is especially busy he wears them all day long.

He has too many things to do to take time out for changing his footwear and a regular fixture of his daily schedule is a horseback ride in the grounds of his home, the Villa Torlonia. From his horse he goes to the office and the boots go with him. Not long ago they were part of the incongruous costume he wore for a review of sailors from a Japanese battle squadron.

American tourists often ask whether Mussolini does all the thinking for his ministers of state and even his less important lieutenants.

Gives Assistants Free Hand

One of his aides revealed recently that Il Duce gives his assistants a free hand, within certain limits, and encourages them to think for themselves requiring nevertheless a detailed report of their conclusions.

He is a fond father and since the marriage of his daughter, Edda, last year he has devoted much time and attention to the two boys.

Millions of Italians have "seen" him speak. When Mussolini makes a speech seeing him is as important as hearing him.

As he shouts his words so that they may be heard even to the fringes of his audience, he weaves from side to side almost like a dancer and the peculiar motion has an uncanny effect, fascinating his listeners. His dramatic gestures—the swing of an arm, the blow of a fist upon his palm—are familiar characteristics.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Stocks were steady to firm in a small turnover today.

Gains were mostly of a moderate size and the market was unable to get far on the advance after a rise at the opening but shorts proceeded cautiously in view of the resistance to recent selling.

Strong spots included Fox Film and Union Pacific railroad, up 3 points each. Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Reading and New York Central sold a point or so higher at their best prices and there were gains of equal size in American Telephone, Allied Chemical, American Can, Woolworth, National Biscuit and Du Pont. Some profit taking was encountered on the rise. U. S. Steel, Westinghouse and Alaska Juneau were heavy, losing about a point.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Grains went lower early today, influenced by additional moisture in Canadian drouth regions, especially southern Saskatchewan and by prediction of more. There also were Liverpool reports of increased offerings of Argentine and Australian wheat. Opening 1-4 to 1c lower, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started 1-8 to 1-4 off and subsequently showed but little rallying power.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-4 to 7-8 cents lower, corn unchanged to 3-8 off, oats 1-4 to 3-8 down, and provisions at 15 to 30 cents advance.

QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Wheat: No. 1 hard 79-80.

Cotton Market

NEW YOR KREPORT

NEW YORK June 11 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 3 points higher, which was rather better than due on the showing of Liverpool and held steady during the early trading.

Business was comparatively quiet but some liquidation or reselling by traders buying and covering. July liquidation continued but was absorbed by spot house buying at the prevailing differences between months and was partly in the way of exchanges. There was no criticism of weather conditions, but reports of a fairly steady tone in the stock market probably helped cotton at the start. July sold up to 8.40 and December to 9.01 with the market showing net advances of about 3 to 5 points at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said that continental liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling and covering in that market and that the British home trade in cotton goods was rather better.

The market held generally steady later in the morning. The bulges brought in some realizing or liquidation but offerings wer quite readily absorbed by continued trade buying and covering Houses with Liverpool connections were reported fair buyers here during the earlier trading while later there appeared to be some demand from the continent and prices worked up to 8.45 for July and 9.07 for December or about 9 to 10 points net higher on the mare active positions.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW OSLEANS, June 11 (AP) —Cotton had a fairly steady opening today, although Liverpool cables were considerably worse than due. While July opened seven points down, the new crop months showed losses of only one to four points, while prices eased off slightly after the start, they soon rallied, July trading up to 8.41, October to 8.77, and December to 8.99, or 2 to 7 points up from the initial lows and even with yesterday's close.

At the end of the first hour the market was quiet but steady and only two points down from the previous close

The market rules quiet but steady all morning. Prices gradually rallied owing to expectations of bullish weekly statistics tomorrow which encouraged some scalping and also shorts covering. Ring traders also were looking for a rather bullish forecast of May domestic consumption. July advanced to 8.48, October to 8.85, and December to 9.08, or 11 points up from the early lows and 7 to 9 points above yesterday's close.

At mid-session the market was steady and near the highs.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, June 11 (AP) —Cotton futures opened steady today: July 8.34; Oct. 8.73; Dec. 8.98; Jan. 9.09-asked; March 9.31-asked; May 9.47-asked.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK June 11 (AP) —Cotton futures opened steady today: Jan. 8.36; Oct. 8.74; Dec. 8.97; Jan. 9.08; March 9.28; May 9.48.

FAT IS BLAMED

In this metabolism upset the fats may also undergo changes.

The result is an increase in the white blood cells, which appear in the form of very large cells called macro-phages, ingest the fat in the blood, and start injuring or destroying body tissues. Dr. Heath has identified various eye troubles as due to this kind of attack, either directly or in after effects.

Among these eye troubles are some degenerative diseases and case of arterio-schleriosis. Changes in diet, Dr. Heath said, may control and correct the metabolism alterations in facts and so prevent the eye diseases, but are unlikely to effect cures if begun after the optical troubles.

LIBEL SUIT

of Hunter's mother several weeks before the killing and the other only a day or so.

G. E. Lockhart, chief counsel for the plaintiff, led Mr. Cousineau through his direct testimony. He said he was 10 or 11 years old when he went to Crosby county in 1890 and his family, four brothers and four sisters and parents, settled in the "Z-Bar-L" pasture. Later the family moved to Amarillo, then to Oklahoma territory, then to Canyon and he left home in the spring of 1901 and went to the Tucumcari country of the New Mexico territory looking for work. He was 20 years old and worked first for Bud Lee and with Frank Bond and lived on Mesa Radonda. Later his brothers-in-law came there and he worked for them.

Met Them In New Mexico

"I don't think in Crosby county I became acquainted with the Spikes boys—I heard their names," he stated. Soon after he went to New Mexico he met John, Dick, Ernest and Sam who were there; later met Fred and Jeff, in August of 1901. Cousineau told of the locations of the houses of the brothers on the Mesa and said he "did not" see any evidences of theft of cattle around the homes of the brothers. He learned of their general reputation in the community—it was "good," he testified.

The day before the killing of the brothers Cousineau said he went to Frank Bond's place "to do a little work." The day of the killing he learned of it when Henry Carter, Mrs. Spikes father walked over to Bond's place to ask for aid. It was three miles and Mr. Carter was about 60 years old. The two men saddled their horses and went to the John Spikes home. It took them 30 or 40 minutes to get their horses saddled.

Arranged Details

"Mrs. Spikes and the children, two boys and a baby girl" were at the house he testified. Mr. Bond and himself rode to the place of the shooting and put the bodies in a wagon they had dragged there and went to the house. The location of the bodies, the wounds location of horses, etc., was told. He said he saw "three or four dozen" shells near the bank. Next day he went to Tucumcari and arranged for coffins and some clothes for the dead men.

His own horse, which he had recently purchased, he said, bore a fresh brand, about two months old. "I went to work for Mrs. Spikes after the funeral and looked after the cattle and affairs generally," he stated. He worked until late in November, 1902. He testified he "never found" any evidences of burned brands on Spikes cattle and no evidences of stolen cattle.

Cousineau said he visited the "Cave" about two weeks after the killing and identified pictures of the place. He said he saw Hawkins at a roundup; did not know George Cook, Will Neel or George Massages; never saw Hawkins at the Mesa Redonda; never knew where Condy Carmack, McAdams or Jim Greggs lived.

Witness said on cross-examination he "never worked" for any of the Spikes boys. He spent about two months in the summer at the home of Frank Bond when he first wen there; helped Bond build a tank for Bud Lee. He himself did not own any cattle but his employer did, he said.

Cousineau said the Hunter brothers, W. C. and Sam, were good friends of the Spikes brothers. His brothers-in-law were Jack Otero and Albert Adam, they lived a mile and a half or two miles east of Mesa Redonda.

Had Two Brands

John Spikes had two brands, a new one and an old one, Cousineau said in describing the brands. His "old cattle" had the "J-J" brand and they were about three or four years old. He visited Fred Spikes at his home three miles from John's home "about two weeks" before the killing and did not know if Fred had moved away. Jeff had gone back to Crosby county, Texas, he said.

Once, witness stated, he saw Mrs. Rosa Hawkins with her brother Robert Greear on the road between the Spikes place and Tucumcari. He was never at the Greear home and did not see Hawkins or the Spikes boys there. Hawkins was "just a cowpuncher."

Cousineau said he "first saw" George Cook when he and Fred Spikes went to Hot Springs, N. M. to see him. Rather, Fred went to see Cook and he "went along to see the country." He testified that he never "heard of Witt Neel," until "I read it in the book of the XIT." He saw a wood cutter named Potter, working for the Spikes boys several months after he arrived in the territory. He knew Potter was the man who killed a boy in the Fort Sumner postoffice holdup. On his visit to the cave on the Mesa he "saw grain—corn if I remember." He "did not see a cook stove or any kind of a stove" there, he stated. He did not see any buttons or buckles.

Never Heard of Rustling

Witness stated he never heard of any cattle rustling by the Spikes boys or of any rustling except by the "Andrews brothers" and a boy, he was not sure if it was Lee Rasberry or not; never heard of the boys being involved in a saloon holdup, or of a store robbery or of the Otero beans being found at the Spikes' place; never heard of Otero's mattresses being found there and never heard of merchandise being found near the Fred Spikes home.

When he worked for the Spikes family after the deaths, there were about 1,200 head, including all of the boys' cattle. John had 400 or 500 heard, he thought. He never counted them. Frank Bond he had seen at the Spikes place and he never heard his honesty or truthfulness questioned.

Cousineau said he had lived in Lubbock about three years, was now living at 1106 Avenue N and had made three trips with Fred. He went to see his sister, Mrs. Annie Allen but was not present at the questioning by Fred Spikes. He "did not see Jack Otero about the case." One trip was to "old Mexico" and he went along "to see the country. He also went to Arizona. In seeing George Cook, at Hot Springs, he left Fred and the attorney do the talking. He did not remember talking to any one about testimony.

On his trips he went along "just for company," he stated, adding he "wanted to see people I used to know." He had not received any money, did not expect any money from Fred Spikes.

Lockhart led the witness through redirect testimony and witness was not clear about statements George Cook was purported to have made. On the trip, he said on cross-questioning, "Fred never mentioned George Cook to me." There was considerable discussion between attorneys over the ex-convict status of Cook.

ROBBERY CASE BEGUN TODAY

FIRST OF THREE MEN UP FOR TRIAL IN PLAINVIEW

PLAINVIEW, June 11—(Special)—Trial of Mickey Flynn on charges of assault to murder and robbery with firearms is set for 10 a. m. today in sixty-fourth district court before Judge Charles Clements here.

Flynn and W. W. ("Buck") Raulie face charges of robbing Louie Longshore with fire arms, and of assault to murder on Irvin Byars. In connection with the same case, B. S. Cawthon is charged with robbery by firearms of H. R. Shipman.

Raulie Free On Bond

Raulie, free in bail of $9,000, also faces counts alleging he was an accessory in both robberies, and an accessory to the assault on Byars. Raulie is accused of concealing Flynn and helping him evade arrest.

Flynn is in the Hale county jail in lieu of bond. Cawthon is free on a $3,000 bond.

Three men were wounded by pistol bullets in a house here the night of February 14. Byars' spinal column almost was severed. Longshore and Lawrence Denny were reported hurt less seriously. Eight men were alleged to have been in the house when a masked man entered with drawn revolver. Byars' attempt to dive through a doorway precipitated the shooting.

Delegates characterized the situation in the oil industry as "extremely critical" and said they believed the legislature would enact needed laws by the two-thirds majority required to put them into immediate effect.

Ed Landreth of Fort Worth, secretary of the group, which is known as the Texas Oil emergency committee, read a letter which he said he had received from Representative A. M. Howsley of Albany, in which Howsley said he had polled members of the house and found them overwhelmingly in favor of additional legislation.

Howsley said he polled 117 of the 150 members. Of these he said 87 expressed themselves as favoring enactment of additional legislation, 14 others said they were for proration, five said they did not know the conditions and 11 said they were against proration.

Curing babies of ricketts in New York by giving them milk from cows fed a ration of yeast was reported by Alfred F. Hess, M. D., of New York. The babies received vitamin D by this route One hundred of them were fed on this milk throughout a winter.

"The results exceeded our expectations," said Dr. Hess, "this milk not only prevented ricketts but was able to effect a cure in every case tried, although the number tried was small. Although ricketts has decreased in incidence and severity, it its still true that more than 50 per cent of infants suffer from it to a greater or less degree."

TWO OLD-TIME COWBOYS OF PLAINS AREA RECALL EARLIER DAYS; MEET OLD FRIENDS HERE DURING HEARING

Two early day cowboys of the South Plains and this section of West Texas, who were here as witnesses in the libel suit brought by Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley, and the owners of the old XIT ranch were on the stand Wednesday. They were Tom Harrison, now of Dickens county and Lum Collett of Roaring Springs.

Collett came to Duck creek in Kent county, as a boy of 15, in 1878. He "rode the line" for the "Half Circle 10" as the ranch was known then' .Henry Randolph, one ofe the old timers here and known to all the cowpunchers, was my first wagon boss," Lum said.

Recalls Killing Buffalo

"I killed my first buffalo at the dam where the city of Abilene now stands," he went on. "The Indians used to come up to our camp then."

Lum worked for the outfit for which Clay Mann was wagon boss in Garza county for many years. Later he went to Crosby county and worked as "outside man" for the "Two Buckle" ranch. After spending ten years there he went to Motley county to work for the Matadors. Now he is living at Roaring Springs.

For 40 years Tom Harrison, known as T. J. worked for the Spur and Matador ranches, two of the pioneer ranches of this section. He first went to the old O. S. ranch in Garza county .

Won Fame As Roper

T. J. won fame as a roper and was said to be one of the most famous ropers of his day, being able to rope either from in front or behind with equal ease. He added much to the records of his ranches in the way of roping.

When Crosby county was formed in the late 80's, young Harrison was asked by Felix Cranklin, the first sheriff of that county, to be his first deputy. He did this and was held in high esteem by ranchers and cowpunchers.

As "outside man" for the Matador ranch, Harrison visited most of the ranges in this section in the years before fences became common. He attended roundups where his skill with the lariat was often demonstrated for the benefit of the younger boys among the riders.

While here the two men met a number of old timers of this area who recalled meeting them in the 80's and 90's.

Jail Sentence Is Given Lubbock Man

Pleading guilty to a charge of concealing mortgaged property, G. W. Ray of Lubbock was sentenced to a day in jail and costs when he appeared before Judge E. L. Pitts in county court Wednesday.

In the complaint, drawn by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, Ray was alleged to have refused to divulge the whereabouts of a cooking stove which had been mortgaged to a local furniture company. The furniture company was endeavoring to repossess the article, Wilson said.

Farm operators' earnings per mule in South Carolina were $405 as compared with $143 in 1914.

Kellogg's PEP BRAN FLAKES

Of course I've switched to CAMELS

You don't have to look beyond your own intimate circle to realize what has happened.

Everywhere you see evidence of a great country-wide switch to Camels.

That is because the new Humidor Pack performs a real new service for the smoker.

Throughout the nation, literally millions of people have found by actual test that the new air-sealed, sanitary package of moisture-proof Cellophane not only keeps out dust and germs, but also keeps in the rich, mild flavor of the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

To show their real appreciation of the Humidor Pack Camel smokers from all parts of the country write letters telling the advantages of this scientific new wrapping.

Women tell us they carry Camels in the Humidor Pack in their handbags without having them absorb powder and perfume odors. Workingmen say this moisture-proof wrapping protects their cigarettes from perspiration and pocket dust. Sailors are enthusiastic because the damp salt air does not reach Humidor-packed Camels.

All real benefits of course, but the chief fact that is causing this great nation-wide swing to Camels is the protection which this air-sealed wrapping gives to the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camel cigarettes are blended.

No peppery dust to irritate the membrane; no dried-out tobacco to burn the tongue or scar the throat. Just the fresh, cool mildness of perfectly conditioned tobacco.

Switch to Camels for one day, then quit them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday
