insight

by Larry Swaim

"Dear Mr. Swaim, Ministers regularly speak of wives' duties to their husbands—how she is to be in subjection, a "helpmeet;" but doesn't the Christian husband have responsibilities also? These need to be talked about. My husband expects a great deal of me, but he never takes me anywhere and when I complain, he tells me that I've got it easy compared to a lot of people. What can I do?"

You are absolutely right, and many of the women who are complaining about husbands taking advantage of them have a just complaint.

Regarding a husband's relationship to his wife, the Bible teaches, "Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the church, and gave himself for it . . . so ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself" [Ephesians 5:25-28]. Husbands are also given the responsibility of providing for their household. This means more than material or monetary provisions. It means that husbands are to provide financially, spiritually, materially, socially, emotionally and physically. Too many husbands are unwilling to assume this responsibility. Thus, because they default, their wives must bear an unequal share of the burden.

Husbands who use the Bible as a leverage tool to require more of their wives than they should, or to escape responsibilities of their own, do not understand the thrust of the husband's responsibility as it is taught in the Bible. No one can deny it--many husbands are selfish, egotistical, and hide behind the admonition in the Bible for their wives to be in subjection. Most husbands feel they can go hunting, fishing, golfing, or anywhere else they want to, any time they want to, saying they need to get away from it all. But they don't realize that their wives have the same needs which very seldom are met. Husbands must love their wives, be concerned about them, and meet their needs, and not selfishly exploit them and treat them as property, as so many husbands do. They are individuals with worth and dignity, and they deserve respect, admiration, and a voice in the decision making process of the home.

For a further discussion of the marriage relationship, write Insight, P.O. Box 8336, Atlanta, Georgia 30306.

Sears National Beauty Advisor

Is your Crowning Glory all it should be? Treat yourself to a new cut..a new look..a new you! It can do wonders for your personality, and your hair.

An expert hair shaping not only removes unsightly split ends, it also makes hair more manageable. When you wash your hair, choose a shampoo that's especially made for your hair type (whether it's dry, normal, oily or color-treated) and be sure to use a conditioner once a month.

To keep your hair in top shape, follow these do's and don'ts: DO rinse chlorine and salt water out of hair after swimming, use end papers when setting hair and wear a hat or carry a pretty parasol in the sun. (There's an extra beauty advantage here: you'll also protect your complexion.) DON'T swim without a cap, overspray your hair or comb through color-treated hair when it's wet--this stretches it.

ELECT A

QUALIFIED MAN

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Because of my maturity and years of experience, education and training, I have gained stature in wisdom, understanding, and judgement to function effectively as county judge.

I can state our county needs at the local, state, and national level, both orally and in writing.

I have taken a stand on wasteful spending in government, on financial responsibility, a conservative but progressive government, and my intention to work and cooperate with other elected county officials. I will work with the Commissioners Court and will strive to maintain Castro County's high level that it now holds on the High Plains.

In my campaign for County Judge, I have given my background in education experience and training in an effort to give the voter an opportunity to evaluate me as a candidate for this important office.

I have been involved many years with civic, community and church activities, both in the past and present.

When you go to the polls Saturday, June 1, elect a man who is qualified to serve you as your County Judge.

I eagerly seek your support.

Irene Keating Writes

Now that school is out we're all busy with summer activities such as Bible School, camp and gardening. I hope each of you will be able to enjoy your summer. Remember to practice safety rules both in your activities and picnic meals.

In the mid-fall this year we will be conducting a unique program in Castro County - one of the 20 being conducted throughout the state, is expected to start in October with youth, ages 15 and over, participating. Part of a nationwide program, the local Teens Explore Parent Education (TEPE) program will "help teenagers prepare for efective parenthood by learing about child development and the roll of parents".

"Right now, we're looking for adult volunteer leaders to help us reach all the local youth groups who want to participate in TEPE", Mrs. Irene Keating, Castro County Extension agent and TEPE coordinator, said. Developed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a grant from the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, TEPE will focus on six learning experiences for youth.

"Youth will learn how to identify needs and look at the importance of the family unit. They'll take a major step toward self-understanding and discuss concerns and decisions of beginning families".

"Also, parental roles and responsibilities, along with fundamental needs and growth patterns of children will be two other areas of major focus - as well as helping children learn and develop," the agent said. "Since these subjects highlight the latest trends in family life education, we will provide volunteer leaders with special training".

TEPE leader training will be conducted by Extension family life education specialists who designed the project for Texas. It will include a three hour workshop and constant agent guidance throughout the project. Of potential volunteer leaders, the agent said that they should be adults with an interest in young people.

"We're recruiting adults willing to give guidance to youth discussions and help provide an atmosphere for informal learning", she said.

Persons interested in volunteer leadership may contact Mrs. Keating at 647-3455 or 647-5219. We need you!

After one hour, several very well behaved dogs were noted.

Leaders were Mr. and Mrs. J.V. Wescott, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Waggoner and Linda Dubach. Grace Waggoner acted as instructor.
