

PROPOSED FIRST METHODIST CHURCH ON COMPLETION

This scale model shows Wellington's First Methodist Church of the future. It will be completed in three sections. Work on the first section, the central area of the model, becomes a reality with the opening of the fund drive in the immediate future. It will be immediately south of the present church, the Rev. Davis

Edens, pastor, said. The other units will follow, and a completion date of as much as 15 years is anticipated. The entire structure, along with a new home for the pastor, will cost approximately $275,000. The new church will be on the site where a Methodist Church has been located for nearly 65 years.

Methodists Appoint Campaign Fund Head

Donald Nunnally will head the building fund campaign for First Methodist Church, as the building committee moved its plans near to that point, the Rev. Davis Edens, pastor, announced Tuesday, Oct. 15.

The starting date for the fund drive is not set, but it will be in the immediate future, the pastor indicated. Proposed plans call for a completely new church building to be constructed in three units over a period of several years.

The first unit, a children's and youth class room building, to go up immediately south of the present church at an estimated cost of $79,000 is the immediate goal.

Next, a fellowship hall, kitchen and adult classroom area, joined to the first unit, will be added and the final section, on the site of the present church, will be the sanctuary, offices, choir room and more adult class rooms.

The new building will occupy the entire half block that is now the property of the church, fronting on Bowie Street between 9th and 10th Streets. The parsonage will be cleared and a new site for the pastor's home will be chosen.

Architects and engineers for the church are Pardue-Read and Dice of Wichita Falls. The completion date of this long-range building program is expected to be 10 to 15 years from now, according to mem-

Topographic Mapping Started in County

Topographic mapping of an area eight miles wide by approximately 24 miles in length across Collingsworth county was started last week by the Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior.

This is part of a two-year mapping program for Texas which will cover more than 6,000,000 acres.

Fred H. Koons, supervisory civil engineer with the Geological Survey, Denver, will do the work, and he and his family have established their home here.

The mapping in this county will take an estimated six months. Additional mapping work in the north part of the county will be done by engineers working in Wheeler and Gray counties, Koons said.

Some mapping was done in this county about two years ago.

The mapping is done in "squares," each about eight miles square. The three squares to be mapped in Collingsworth will be about four miles north and four south of Wellington, beginning at the Oklahoma state line and extending 24 miles westward.

"I shall appreciate the cooperation of landowners in letting us go onto their property in carrying out this work," Koons said.

Topographic mapping in Texas was made possible when Commissioner Otho Dent of the Texas Water Commission approved a two year cooperative contract with the U.S. Geological Survey for the mapping.

The contract continues the cooperative mapping work begun in 1958. The Water Commission and the Geological Survey each will provide $600,000 during the next two years for the mapping program, which is divided into 21 projects.

Besides Collingsworth, Gray and Wheeler counties, work will be done in Hemphill and Roberts counties.

Both aerial photography and ground work is used in the mapping, Koons said.

Topographic maps show man-made developments such as highways, cities, lakes, etc., as well as the land-surface elevation, which is shown by contour lines which connect points having the same elevation.

Topographic maps are necessary for both surface water and underground water studies. They are used extensively by cities, utility companies, soil conservation districts and many other groups.

The topographic mapping in Texas was requested by the Red River Authority, U.S. Geological Survey, Army Corps of Engineers, U. S. Study Commission, Texas Bureau of Economic Geology, Bureau of Reclamation, Soil Conservation, Texas Water Commission, Texas Highway Department and others.

Before coming here Koons worked at Ruidoso, N.M., and prior to that at Grants, N.M.

Showers to 3/4 Inch Fall in County

Scattered showers fell over the county Saturday night, Oct. 19 and in some sections again Tuesday.

Wellington received .66 inch Saturday night, according to official Weather Bureau reports.

Approximately one-half inch fell in the Samnorwood area Sunday, and an additional quarter inch on Tuesday afternoon.

The Marella community received .40 inch and the fall varied in the Quail community but generally was around a quarter of an inch. Approximately three quarters of an inch fell in showers Saturday and Tuesday at Dodson, but only light showers were received in the area around there.

In most communities, cotton that was open was dry enough for strippers and hand pullers to get in by Wednesday afternoon.

County Youths Win Honors at State Fair

In the judging of the Junior Market Steer show held in Dallas Thursday, Oct. 17, four local youths' calves received the superior or blue ribbon classification.

They were Teddy Martin, Jim Henard, Bill Henard and Sue Saunders.

Three other youngsters received the Excellent rating or a red ribbon. They were Ricky Nall, Alan Fires, and J. C. Saunders.

These calves were all sold in the auction held Friday for the Junior calves.

More Than 200 at Greenbelt Bankers Meet

"A bank is the accumulated success of our customers," said Briggs Todd, president of First State Bank, Abilene, as he talked shop to members of the Greenbelt Bankers Association at the fall banquet here Monday night, Oct. 21.

"Our success depends on that of our customers. An unsuccessful customer is the last thing a bank wants and the success of our customers should be our concern," he continued.

The business session that followed the Abilene banker's talk saw William S. Smith Jr., vice president of the First National Bank at Quanah elected president of the Greenbelt Bankers Association, and H. D. Cordell Jr., cashier of the First State Bank at Childress, vice president.

The other two posts went to Jack Aaron, assistant cashier of the City State Bank was elected secretary, and Floyd Teutsch, president of the First State Bank, Dodson, treasurer. Quanah will be host to the spring meeting of the association.

Early in his talk, Todd called for strengthening of the moral fiber of the country, the "foundation on which we do business every day."

He reminded of the vital importance of profit.

"The most unpopular business in town is the one that loses money. Profit is a good, clean, American word. There is nothing smutty about it. Profit is necessary. Your standing depends on your ability to make money, yet not be greedy," he continued.

During his talk, Todd reminded that banks must insist on a sound fiscal policy. He also talked to his fellow bankers of customer relations and good will and told them if they didn't enjoy their work they should get in some other business. He urged that they let customers know of their interest and follow the doctor and give the customer a little bedside manner, too.

Presiding over the banquet and meeting was R. L. Roberts of Shamrock, president of the

Introduced Important Resolutions

Farm Bureau Meeting and Barbecue Saturday

The annual convention and barbecue of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau will be held Saturday, Oct. 26 at the Community Building in Wellington, according to Earl Patterson, president. Meeting time is 6:30 p.m.

"This will be the most important meeting of the entire year for the local organization," Patterson said. "Proposed resolutions on local, state and national matters will be voted on."

Adopted resolutions dealing with local issues will become the policies of the county Farm Bureau to guide it during the coming year. Approved resolutions dealing with state and national matters will be forwarded as recommendations to the voting delegates of the state convention to be held Nov. 10-13 in Fort Worth. There they will be acted upon and either accepted, rejected or amended. Those pertaining to state issues will become Texas Farm Bureau policies if adopted. Approved recommendations on national issues will be sent to the national convention in Chicago in December.

A public meeting was held here by the Resolutions Committee Saturday, Oct. 19, when resolutions to be presented at the county meeting were worked out.

Patterson said that among the resolutions to be introduced dealing with county affairs, one will request the Collingsworth county commissioners' court to investigate water pollution and take action on the matter; another will ask local merchants to refrain from buying imported meat; and a third will ask that the commissioners' court and the county road department work to eliminate blind corners on rural roads, and the city council to take action eliminating blind corners in town.

On the national level, cash on the barrelhead will be urged for any products sold a communist country and the federal government will be asked to stop sending technicians to communist countries to teach those people how to increase agricultural production.

The county Farm Bureau will seek to reintroduce one of last year's resolutions in the state convention. It asks that the state organization work toward a date, at least Jan. 1, 1965, when all counties must meet the regulations set up by brucellosis control and that the county agent be allowed to supervise the vaccination program and issue health certificates for shipment of cattle.

A new resolution to be proposed will request the state to allow landowners the right to hunt on any land they own anywhere in the county without a hunting license. At present, a landowner must buy a license to hunt on his own land if it is outside the county of his residence.

During the business session Saturday night, members will also elect officers and directors for the coming year.

Former Norwood Couple Die in Car Accident

A former Samnorwood couple, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parsons of Wolforth, were killed and four other persons were injured in a two-car collision north of Dickens Friday, Oct. 11.

Among the injured were their granddaughter, Mrs. Bertha Gambrell and her 6-months old daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons moved to Wolforth in 1949. He was a brother of Mrs. M. J. Holland Sr. and the couple frequently returned here to visit her. He was 82 and Mrs. Parsons 79.

According to investigating officers, the accident occurred when the car driven by Mrs. Gambrell was attempting a left turn off State Highway 70 to Afton and was struck from the back by a car driven by a Borge man.

Funeral services for the couple were held Saturday at the Wolforth Church of Christ, and burial was in Resthaven Memorial Park.

The couple lived at Samnorwood many years, where he farmed. Mr. Parsons developed art as a hobby and his first works were shown in the Samnorwood community fairs more than 25 years ago. After he retired from farming, he devoted his full time to painting and was a member of the South Plains Art Guild.

Surviving the couple are two daughters, Mrs. J. B. Gambrell of Lubbock, and Mrs. Lillian Conway of Wolforth; 5 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

He is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Holland, and a

First Home District Game

Tough Lefors Comes Here Friday Night

The Skyrockets will play their first district game at home Friday, Oct. 25 when the Lefors Pirates invade Powell Field.

"Lefors has nearly the same ball club they had last year," Rocket head coach Don Beck said.

Only three boys were graduated, a halfback, a fullback and quarterback.

"They have back their defensive line, and the backs who replaced the three graduating are much bigger and stronger boys, but not quite as fast," the coach continued.

In the backfield, Terry Bromberg, quarterback, weighs about 155 pounds. Wayne Coleman, left half, 185, and Fullback Don McCool, also 185, are the starters from last year, although they were not in the backfield.

Coleman is a fine athlete who last year set an all time record in pole vault in Class A with 12 feet, 9 inches. The right half, Neal Cates, was a starting half from last year, weighs 155 and has good speed.

Eight of these started last year on offense and defense.

The Pirates are the biggest team the Rockets have played this year, and they have been defeated only twice in 6 starts: by undefeated Stinnett and Stratford. Against the latter, the Pirates were without six of their starters, Beck was told.

Lefors runs a power offense on the ground and hits wide successfully. The team has averaged only four passes per game this season, but it is expected that they will do a little more throwing this week.

"They are a real tough ball club and they play a rough brand of football," Coach Beck summed up the Pirates.

Out of the game this week, and out for an indefinite period, is Rocket Chester McLain. While attempting a block Friday night, he missed his man, hit the ground and received a separated shoulder, according to the coach.

The little girl was hurt the preceding Monday when she slipped on a table while playing at Ellison Park.

Cub Scouts Open Year Monday Night

Wellington Cub Scouts will hold their first pack meeting Monday, Oct. 28 in the community building, beginning at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Harry McEwen announced this week.

A highly recommended film "Bobwhite Through the Year," will be shown.

All Cubs and all boys interested in becoming members are invited.

A new Webelos den has been formed, with Harry McEwen in charge, to meet each Saturday at Ellison Park. This is the last step for the Cubs before they become Scouts.

Coleman on FB State Group

Doug Coleman is on the 39-member Texas Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee which will convene in Fort Worth on Nov. 6 in preparation for the 30th annual TFB convention Nov. 10 to 13.

The committee will draft tentative resolutions, based on recommendations submitted by county Farm Bureaus following county conventions in all organized counties.

The resolutions will be voted on in a business session of the Texas Farm Bureau Nov. 12 and those approved dealing with state issues will be the official Texas Farm Bureau policies for 1964. Those dealing with national matters will be submitted to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in December.

Coleman is one of two representatives from Area 1, which covers 33 Panhandle and West Texas counties.

WHS Srs. to Hold Rummage Sale

Cal Farley Reviews Boys Ranch Growth

Cal Farley of Boys Ranch spoke before a joint meeting of Wellington Rotarians and Kiwanians Tuesday, Oct. 22 at a noon luncheon.

With the 25th anniversary of Boys Ranch coming up next year, Farley told the Wellington men something of the history of the ranch, from its beginning with five kids in the old Tascosa courthouse, to its present system with more than 300 boys and a story that is known around the nation.

With Farley was Ray Noblett, who retired from business and began work in behalf of Boys Ranch. Last year he collected more than a million pounds of grain to feed livestock at Boys Ranch, along with thousands of bushels of vegetables to feed the boys, and other commodities used in the ranch operation.

In speaking here Tuesday, Farley explained the Boys Ranch Foundation to which bequests and gifts may be made, with only the income spent and not the principal itself.

Farley told proudly of the boys from the ranch who exhibited 23 hogs, four dairy heifers and two beef calves at the State Fair. They returned home with 22 ribbons.

He quoted Tom Milligan, farm editor of The Dallas Morning News:

"Boys showing livestock from Boys Ranch are walking and talking examples of the work the staff at Boys Ranch is doing. It is apparent they are learning the dignity of hard work and showing a profit doing it."

Halloween Night

Church Youth to Trick or Treat for CROP

Young people from the churches in the Wellington Ministerial Alliance will "trick or treat" for CROP again this year, calling at homes throughout Wellington Halloween night, Thursday, Oct. 31.

They'll ask for dimes to dollars, not candy and apples and every cent they collect will go into the Christian Rural Overseas Program which provides overseas relief and rehabilitation through church overseas programs.

Churches whose young people will participate are First Methodist, Trinity Methodist, Church of the Nazarene, First Christian, Faith Baptist and First Baptist.

On Halloween evening, children of these churches will go in pairs or groups, and each will be identified by an arm-banded bearing the word CROP. Min. Hiram Cassel of First Christian Church said.

"We urge you to support this drive, which comes once each year, and which provides for overseas relief and rehabilitation through church overseas programs," Min. Cassel said.

CROP gifts are always put to use under church supervision and in cooperation with local social welfare groups, it was pointed out. Distribution is made strictly on the basis of need without question of religion, race or creed.

"Texas youth have come to identify CROP with Halloween and have made this a time of Christian sharing," pointed out the Rev. Davis Edens, president of the Ministerial Alliance.

Funds collected by the young people of Texas through the CROP program will be used to help meet the nutritional requirements of under-nourished people in many lands, for food as partial payment of wages for workers in self-help projects, and for agricultural resource improvement for people who yearn to stand on their own feet.

CROP is not connected with programs originating under UNESCO or United Nations auspices.

Rockets Win First Conference Game

By JACK FORD

The Wellington Skyrockets, winning their first district game also spoiled the Memphis Cyclone's homecoming, 32 to 0 at Memphis Oct. 18.

An estimated 2000 fans saw the offensive running of Bobby Hudson, Olin Moore and Kenneth Patterson, with the passing combination, Wayne Barton to Chester McLain keep the pressure on a good and aggressive Cyclone team most of the night.

Again the great defensive playing of linemen Bryan Hatch, Tim Bailey, Joe Rudy, Jennings Wells, Joe Henard, Billy Clubb, Ronnie Nix, Johnny Maxwell, Chester McLain and Ray Floyd, also the defensive backs Danny Martin, Wayne Barton, Kenneth Patterson, Glen Thomas and Bobby Hudson turn back good Cyclone drives a number of times.

Again the Rockets had to throw up a strong pass defense against the fine passing of Cyclone quarterback Jimmy Sturdivant, who completed 50% of the Cyclone passes.

Bobby Hudson and "old reliable" Kenneth Patterson, had a fine rushing yardage for the night. Bobby gained a total of 92 yards, while Kenneth gained 115 yards.

The Rockets won the toss and received, but they could not move the football and were forced to kick. Two plays later they got the ball back on a pass interception by Danny Martin on the Cyclone 43. Bobby Hudson picked up 8 to the Cyclone 35. The Rocket fans then witnessed a great job of running by Kenneth Patterson. Kenneth, following his blockers perfectly, started to the outside on his right, cut back towards the middle, again he cut to the outside and went all the way for the first Rocket touchdown. He also scored the 2 extra points.

The rest of the first half was a defensive game, but had lots of thrills. The Rocket fans were brought to their feet when Wayne Barton threw a 32-yard pass to his favorite receiver, Chester McLain. But the Cyclone defense rose to the occasion and stopped the Rockets on the Cyclone 11 yard line.

Early in the second quarter, Wayne Barton brought the fans up again, when he ran from the Cyclone 49 to the 10, but a clipping penalty moved the ball back to the Cyclone 36, and 4 plays later the Cyclone took over.

The Cyclone passing game then started clicking, and the Rocket defense had to go to work, and they stopped the Cyclone on the Rocket 2.

The second half saw the Rocket defense really start working. After a Cyclone pass was intercepted early in the quarter, the ball was put in play from scrimmage, "Mr. Old Reliable" Kenneth Patterson again doing his usual fine job of ball carrying and letting his blocks set up, moved the ball to the Cyclone 2, and Bobby Hudson moved it over for another touchdown for the Rockets. He also scored the 2 extra points.

About the middle of this quarter, runs by Martin, Patterson, Moore, Barton and Hudson moved the ball to the 11 yard line, from where Barton scored the third Rocket touchdown. Hudson scored for the 2 extra points.

The fourth quarter saw a repetition of the third. The Rocket defense stopped another Cyclone drive on the Rocket 7, where the Rockets took over.

A fine bit of running by Bobby Hudson for 31 yards and a fine pass by Barton and an equally fine catch by McLain moved the ball to the Cyclone 11. After Patterson moved the ball to the 9, Hudson carried it over for the last touchdown. Glen Thomas scored the extra 2 points.

The game ended 2 minutes later. Wellington 32, Memphis 0.

Lefors here next Friday; let's get out and cheer the Rockets on.

Rocket B Team Downs Irish 16 to 6 There

The Skyrocket B team downed the Shamrock Irish B 16 to 6 there, after they scored early in the game, then came alive to keep the Irish completely contained through the remainder of the contest.

"The kids were playing the best ball they have played all year, especially on defense," Coach James Stavenhagen said.

Shamrock received the ball on the opening kickoff and moved down the field to a touchdown. The try for extra points was no good.

The Rockets received the kickoff but failed to make the yardage for a first down and had to punt. Shamrock was held on defense and the Irish also had to punt.

On the second play in this series, Andy Bell completed a pass to West in the flat and Mike Smith threw a key block to break him loose for a 60-yard run and touchdown. Bell also ran over the extra points to make the score 8-6.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, October 24, 1963

From that point the Rockets came alive and were able to contain Shamrock for the remainder of the game, preventing the Irish from making any yardage at all.

During the third quarter the Rockets scored another touchdown on a reverse to the right side of the field by Jackie Needham. Danny White threw a block that enabled Needham to make his run of about 30 yards. The try for extra points was good.

Both teams buckled down and played a defensive game for the remainder of the hour. David Caison played his best defensive game of the year, making several good tackles, and causing Shamrock to fumble the ball several times.

"We feel real good about the game and all the kids are making a lot of improvement," Coach Stavenhagen commented.

Gus Drake of Austin, and Mrs. John Beauchamp of Dallas visited in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Drake last week, and attended the funeral of their grandfather, Charles Drake, in Memphis.

Mrs. Barton Groves

Marilyn Ritchhart, Barton Groves Marry at Joplin, Missouri, Saturday

Miss Marilyn Ritchhart and Claude Barton Groves, both of Dallas, were married in a ceremony performed at six o'clock Saturday evening, October 19, in the First Baptist Church at Joplin, Missouri.

The Rev. Dan D. Bryson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Ritchhart of 1818 Porter, Joplin, Missouri, while Mr. and Mrs. Claude Groves of Wellington are the bridegroom's parents.

Decorations at the altar were a pair of nine-branched candelabras and emerald palms on either side of a basket of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Earl Johnson and Miss Carol Brewer of Kansas City, Kansas.

Mr. Ritchhart gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown of beau de soie was designed along classic lines, with a molded bodice and semi-scoop neckline finished with a tiny bias cord. The fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands and an applique of imported re-embroidered Alencon lace circled the fitted midriff. Social Progress

We read somewhere the other day that some government official in Washington has expressed a great deal of concern over the lack of employment for teenagers.

He was worrying about what will happen if and when the millions of today's youths hit the labor market, largely untrained and without any job experience. Furthermore he was alarmed that the situation could lead to bloodshed.

All of which causes us to wonder what happened to the teenager of yesterday who grew up to be self-reliant and was not bashful about getting his hands dirty with a little honest toil.

We can remember when youths, out of school for the summer months, picked up pocket change working for the various businesses around town. We knew some who weren't even above digging ditches and working for the county on road crews. They did it gladly to be able to say they earned their money and most spent it wisely.

But we suppose that wasn't good. It was back in those days that we didn't have forty-hour work week and a minimum pay of $1.15 per hour. That was before the government had decreed that teenagers must have permission to work after school and then only under certain conditions. There was no social security, no income tax for teenagers to pay, no time-and-a-half overtime.

In short that was before the social revolution set in, before any social progress had been made.

And if we have made so much progress as they say we have, we wonder why the government has expressed alarm. We wonder why teenagers aren't willing to get out and make their own way equipping themselves for work.

Being in business, we can answer some of these ourselves. Hiring a teenager for work can get complicated if all the government rules for work are complied with. And it's expensive at $1.15 per hour. So most businesses stick to adult employees.

If we look close enough, we find that this social progress we've made in the last few years isn't so much progress after all. Not if progress has got teenagers out of work during the summer months and out of step with self-reliance.

We read that Russia is hard at work building an industrial and military machine to match our own. They have even promised to bury us with it. What we would like to know is whether the Russian youth of today is "benefitted" by our type of social progress.

The Annual Big Swap

By Janice Colson

Winning Patriotic Letter Reprinted

Janice Colson, Samnorwood eighth grade student, was one of the "flag"—first place—winners in the contest announced recently by Congressman Walter Rogers. The purpose of the contest, "I Say Yes to America," was to encourage thought on the meaning of America and to encourage expressions of patriotic conviction.

Janice's letter, along with those of the other winners, will be placed in the Congressional Record.

Here is the letter from the Samnorwood winner of the junior high school division:

Dear Mr. Rogers:

I, Janice Colson, Say Yes to America for many good reasons. The country of America is a land of freedom of rights, the people make the government, we have freedom of worship, which some countries do not, and we have protection by armies. I will discuss some of these things that I mention above.

To me freedom of rights means freedom of worship, freedom of press, freedom of speech, to be protected by armies, and we may ask the government to change laws if we believe they are wrong.

America has two important documents. They are the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. These documents make American people feel proud they are free.

America has many educational facilities, schools, colleges and universities. The people of America are getting educations which will help their future ahead of them.

They have been putting out gifts of CARE and many other things. They put this out to help the needy and the people who cannot afford anything. This keeps people from starving and helps clothe the people and gives them equipment to clear their land. I think this is a wonderful help to the needy people and I saw some pictures when they received these things and they were happy and full of joy.

Freedom of worship; in some countries, you cannot worship as you please. But in America you can go to any church you wish. This is a wonderful right.

I am a student going to school and I am happy that I am receiving an education. America is giving me this education.

The song "America!" expresses America as it is because it says that it is beautiful and it is a beautiful country even if I have to brag about Texas for it is the most beautiful State in the Union. I am proud of America.

America is gaining many new things which are helping. We have new weapons in case of war to protect "Our Stars and Stripes Forever."

I, Janice Colson, Say Yes to America, a wonderful free country which I want to remain as my American Home. I Say Yes to America!

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

You may have noticed there are citizens in the country who don't appreciate the crafty new development known as the Planned Deficit, and who want to stick to the old style Pot-luck Deficit.

Which is probably due to the little selfish streak that crops up in some people, so they don't think about how the Planned Deficit will be a great comfort to oncoming generations.

Our kids and grandkids are bound to find out we have been spending their money instead of our own for lots of stuff, and if they know that we planned it that way, then they can hate us with a clean conscience.

I see where our Congressmen have got a bill in the U. S. law foundry which will give them a nice 55 per cent raise in wages.

My bargainous neighbor says the boys are worth this much more pay, because during the last 30 years or so they have shrewdly managed it so as to get us governed for about $300,000,000,000 below cost.

But some Congressmen are reluctant to vote for this bill, because it is said that higher wages would attract better qualified people to run for these jobs, and they are afraid to risk it.

I see where the Washington world wardens are plumb flabbergasted on account of the Russians are getting troublesome around Berlin again.

It seems that on account of not having much experience in business, our boys kind of thought our agreeing to sell some wheat to the Reds would make them our buddies.

But my storekeeping neighbor says it's a Law of Nature that a customer is not always a friend, nor vice versa, and in fact he finds that friends often make poor customers, due to their feeling like you ought to give them a discount.

The news has got all the way down here that a Commission has been studying the Status of Women and reports they are still different from men.

My pro-difference neighbor says it is going to be a rough and rugged road to travel over before mankind gets to all-out equality for the enders.

He says women-folks just won't have time to be equal until they revolute against hair slavery and take up the men's 10-10 type of hair-do — 10 minutes in the barber shop every 10 days.

Mrs. C. A. Dysart of Mobec-tie, visited one day last week with Mrs. Oran Starkey and Walter Culp.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

By the time you read this Louise and I will be in Memphis, Tennessee—not Texas—attending the annual convention of the National Editorial Association. It is the city where my father attended a business college, his only formal education outside of a rural school in Mississippi. I have been through Memphis on the way to Mississippi more than once, but I have never been in the city; but I do have one vivid memory of that historic town.

In 1924 my Mother and I went to Virginia to spend the summer visiting relatives at Norfolk, Charlottesville, Richmond and Lexington and I made a side trip to Boston, New York and Washington before returning to Virginia. We took a nice Pullman train from Sharmrock to Memphis—they now run only a chair car even from Oklahoma City—but we were on a plush train, diner and all.

Our Rock Island train was behind schedule and upon arriving at the terminal I rushed down to the track to see if our train had departed for there was no time to check in the central office. The train was about to leave and the gates at the track clanged shut before I could return to my mother. The attendant told me he could not open them for the time had passed. I said "Oh yes you can, my mother is on the other side of that railing and we must get on this train." He took one look at my earnest young face and opened the gates and I raced back to where Mamma was standing as serenely and confident as if she had just sent me down to open the wooden gate to the horse lot. We made the train, but I am of the opinion that some kind railway men held the train for a minute or two.

You can still get such personalized super-service on the crack Santa Fe trains going to California or Chicago; but not on many lines. Their economic throats have been cut by too much union feather-bedding and too much regulation by a government that is subsidizing their competitors, the airlines, the shipping lines of the oceans and waterways and the truckers on the expressways. Anyway it was a lovely way to travel for those who knew it in its best years.

Incidentally my mother observed her 96th birthday on October 10 and then took off for the weekend to visit her daughter and grandchildren in Iowa Park. She is back home now.

Louise Taylor of 510 East Main, Brownfield, Texas has sent the following clipping headed Think. It has been bouncing around over editors' tables for some time and I republish it for her benefit without any political comments on Goat Hopper, Bernice Welch or anybody else.

Here is the clipping she sent:

"On a cold blustery morning in January, a young man took the oath of office as Chief Executive of his Nation. He was 43 years of age. Standing at his side his predecessor, a highly respected General of the Armies who just 15 years before had been in command of his country's forces when the Germans were defeated. The new Executive celebrated his ascension to office by sponsoring a party that lasted until 3 a.m. This Chief Executive owed his position to a small minority.

"As soon as he took office this Chief Executive began to harass the big business firms of his nation by threats. Later, ignoring the Legislative bodies of his country, he sought to regulate all activities by executive order.

"Constitutional Government was being replaced by executive decree.

"In order to satisfy the demands of his minority the Chief Executive condoned mob violence and endorsed street demonstrations which inevitably resulted in mass arrests. The Government courts invariably ruled in favor of the mobs and their leaders, who were released for further use in later unlawful activities.

"Encouraged by his successes this Chief Executive introduced Legislation favoring his minority group. Each piece of Legislation was introduced with a background of mob violence and the threat of vast street demonstrations accompanied by singing and civil disobedience.

"This Chief Executive established a direct communication with the Russian Dictatorship and actively supported a non-aggression pact with his nation's enemies to the East—the Russian Reds.

"Who was this man? ... Think."

The answer to the query, "Who was this man?" will be found farther down in the column.

I had a delightful visit with Cal Farley, that versatile and famous man who founded Boys Ranch, here in Wellington Tuesday. He asked me if I remembered the time he wrestled a man named Renner in the early twenties. I told him I was there. Renner was a semi-professional wrestler and outwitted Farley by about 30 pounds. Polly O'Neil, a baseball teammate of Cal's on the Amarillo club who also knew that Cal had been the A.E.F. lightweight wrestling champion, arranged the match, but Polly did not construct his ring quite strongly enough.

Farley toyed with the larger man for some time and it had all of the appearance of a youthful David barely managing to escape from a Goliath. Renner finally got Farley down and it looked like the plucky little fellow was a goner; but he managed to scoot out from under and evidently he thought the showmanship had gone on long enough. (You never see such lightning fast action in a wrestling ring these days.) Before anyone could realize what was happening Farley had Renner on his shoulders in a twirl and dumped him on the floor head down and hard and it shattered the flooring under the wrestling mat. They had to have time out while new timber was placed under the wrestling mat. When the contest was finally resumed Farley won in two falls in short order.

Friday night is the Big Night for the Wellington Skyrockets for they will face the Lefors Pirates on Powell Field and it may be the game that will decide the district championship. At the beginning of the season Lefors, McLean, Wellington and Memphis were rated about even for the leadership with Clarendon and Canadian close behind. The Rockets can best the Pirates if their defensive play measures up to the outstanding work done in the Memphis game. If it had not been for three tremendous goal line stands the game might well have been 28 to 21 instead of 28 to 0 in favor of the Rockets.

Quail Meets Tough McAdoo for 4 Games

Although the Quail Quails lost their first two games, they made more than a creditable showing against the defending Class B champions, McAdoo.

The double headers were played at McAdoo Tuesday, Oct. 15 and at Quail Friday, Oct. 18.

The Bobwhites lost the game Tuesday 34 to 22, and after a game that was nip and tuck much of the way, they were two points behind when the final whistle blew for the Friday game.

The Quails lost 94 to 72 on Tuesday and 103 to 71 Friday. McAdoo boys are the defending Class B state champions.

Bobwhites-McAdoo Girls

High scorer for the Bobwhites Tuesday night was Lonetta Neeley with 11 points, while Judy Campbell scored 7 and Shirley Horton 4, according to Coach Don Lacy.

Martha Moore was high for McAdoo with 21.

McAdoo got ahead in the first quarter by about 10 points and the Bobwhites were never able to catch them, although they got within 3 points just before the half. Later they fell behind. Missing from this game was Bobwhite forward Sue Saunders.

Coach Lacy felt his girls had come a long way by Friday night, when the loss was by a 2-point margin. The Quails led 4 points at the half, then fell behind in the third.

High scorers were Lonetta Neeley, 24 points, Sue Saunders, 19, Shirley Horton, 8 and Judy Campbell, 2.

Natalie Neff with 25 points was high scorer for McAdoo. Starting for Quail were Neeley, Horton and Campbell, forwards, and Patricia Kimbro, Diane Moseley and Mary Ann Lindsey, guards.

McAdoo's starting lineup was Martha Moore, Natalie Neff, and Gay Lemley, forwards, and Clea Griffin, Sherry Belaska and Linda Howard, guards.

Quail-McAdoo Boys

Despite the score, Coach Lacy said he was real pleased with the Quails' performance.

"I think every boy on our team knows now how tough basketball can be," he remarked.

Dale Morris was high scorer for Quail with 25 points in the first game, which ended 94 to 72, and Robert Russell added 18 points. Larry Morris, McAdoo's all-state forward, made 20 points for his team. The Quails trailed all the way, and at the half the score was 56 to 27.

The boys game Friday night was much better than the 103 to 71 score indicated, and Coach Lacy reminded that such scores are unusual in a high school game. Six McAdoo boys scored in double figures, and this also is unusual.

Dale Morris, with 23 points, and Robert Russell with 22 were the top men.

Starting lineups for the teams were:

Quail: Dale Morris, Joe Harris, Robert Russell, Carroll Kennedy and Bruce Ward.

McAdoo: Morris, McWilliams, Powers, Johnson and Van Meter.

"I feel if our boys can score over 70 points a game we'll win most of those we play," the coach said.

The Quails play in district 9-B along with Samnorwood, Dodson, Quail, Claude, Hedley, and Groom.

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites will meet the Briscoe teams here Tuesday.

Both boys and girls teams have an open date Friday, Oct. 25, then the girls will meet Draughton's Business College girls team at Quail Tuesday, Oct. 29.

This should be one of the better games of the season, and Draughton's have as one team member a former Bobwhite standout, Virginia Kennedy, who was graduated this spring.

From General Orrick

National Guard Change to Artillery Wins Praise

"From what I found, this unit is changing from infantry to artillery real well. Their training looked good and the facilities are good," Brigadier General Luther Orrick, assistant division commander of the 49th Armored Division, said after a division command inspection of Battery A, 2nd Battalion, 131 Artillery, here on Sunday, Oct. 12.

Accompanying General Orrick here were seven other division officers. This was his first visit to the Wellington battery since this unit was transferred from the 36th to the 49th Division.

First Lt. Leonard L. King, Jr., of Childress, is the commanding officer.

The purpose of this command inspection, Gen. Orrick explained, was to prepare the unit for the Federal GI inspection later this year.

Gen. Orrick is director of audio-visual education for the Wichita Falls public schools.

He praised the work schools throughout the state are doing in preparing young men for military as well as civilian life.

"We like clean young men, who have a respect for authority. If the schools can develop young men with the proper attitudes, we can train them," he said.

Gen. Orrick had a word for boys who may be thinking of dropping out of school.

"A dropout has the same restrictions in the military as in civilian life. He might make advancement, but his plateau of achievement is already set."

"This unit still has openings for young men," the general continued, as he asked all young men with their military obligation facing them to consider the National Guard program.

He praised the interest in the guard he found in Wellington and urged continuation of this interest.

"There is not a lot the people can do except to be interested," he said.

Norwood Teams Meet McAdoo There Friday

A caravan of Samnorwood basketball supporters will drive the 150 miles to McAdoo Friday night, Oct. 25 to boost the Eagles and Eaglettes in their games with that school. Approximately ten cars are expected to go and game time is 7 p.m., Coach Loyd Stephens said.

Following this, Samnorwood will open home play against the Quitaque Panthers and Pantherettes Friday, Nov. 1, and on the following Friday, Nov. 8, McAdoo will come for a return engagement.

At McAdoo the Eagles will play the defending Class B state champions. This championship team is back almost intact, including one of the all-state forwards.

In the first two games played this season, McAdoo boys ran up 197 points against their opponents.

In the home opener, Samnorwood fans will show their new coach how they support basketball with a spirit that for years has been the envy of schools throughout the area.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson and daughters attended the Texas Tech-Baylor football game in Lubbock Saturday.

BATTERY A GUIDON BEARER

Symbol of his unit is the guidon bearer who carries the battery flag, silhouetted here during the command inspect recently. This is Cpl. Bill Estes member of Battery A, 2nd Battalion, 131 Artillery of the 49th Division.

Classed at Memphis

Gotton Continues Good Quality

Cotton classed during the week through Friday, Oct. 18, continued to be of good quality, says K. E. Voelkel of the USDA cotton classing office in Memphis.

For the week, white grades increased to 47% compared with 44% the previous week. About 51% of the cotton graded was Light Spotted and less than 2% fell in the Spotted category. The predominant grade for the week was Strict Middling White with 23%.

About 3% of the samples classed were reduced in grade because of Bark. The good quality of cotton classed thus far may be attributed to good harvesting practices as well as good ginning. It is a known fact but sometimes not practiced, that the grade of the cotton is only as good as the quality of harvested cotton delivered to the gin.

The staple length of the cotton classed during the week was slightly shorter than last week, with 94% stapling less than an inch compared with 90% last week. About 6% staples 1 inch and longer against 10% the previous week.

The predominant staple length was 15/16 inch with 54%. Less than 1% of the cotton classed was designated as Wasty.

Micronaire readings showed very little change from the previous week, and continued good. Less than 3% read below 3.5, the reading from which discounts are figured. About 97% of the cotton read 3.5 and better, with 48% in the 4.5 - 4.9 grouping.

As reported last week, fiber strength of the cotton classed was high. It is significant to note that the Pressley strength of the cotton is even higher this week.

According to the latest report, the figures showed the cotton in the 12-county Memphis classing office territory to rank higher than any other areas in Texas.

The fiber strength groupings for the week were as follows: 80,000 to 84,000 (average), 22%; 85,000 to 89,000 (strong), 34%; 90,000 to 94,000 (strong) 22%; and 95,000 and above (very strong) 22%. A strength of less than 65,000 pounds per square inch is considered weak.

The cotton market was a little more active this week, with Light Spotted grades, uncomressed, mixed lots in warehouses, sold from 5 to 50 points above, while White grades sold from 10 to 60

Norwood Splits Opener with

Quitaque Friday

The Samnorwood Eaglettes won over the Quitaque girls but the Eagles lost a tight game as they opened their season's schedule on the Quitaque court Friday night, Oct. 18.

The Eaglettes took the game by a 64 to 57 score. Samnorwood's top scorer was Kay Purkey with 29 points and Jo Nell Breeding made 28. Quitaque's high scorer made 36. Joyce Alexander was outstanding as an Eaglette guard.

Samnorwood fell behind at the opening of the game and at one time trailed by eleven points. The girls began to narrow the margin in the second quarter and in the third went ahead by 15 points.

"They came up awfully fast once they got started," Coach

Loyd Stephens declared. Both sides fouled heavily, as is characteristic of early season play.

Eaglette starters were Jo Nell, Kay and Susie Bentley, forwards; Eunice Stice, Judy Martindale and Joyce, guards. Only Jo Nell and Joyce were on last year's first string.

The Eagles trailed 48 to 52 as the final whistle blew, after a game that was close all the way. Norwood scored first, then Quitaque went ahead and maintained the lead.

Jimmy Martindale was high pointer for Norwood with 17, and Wayne Lindley got 16. The high point man for Quitaque scored 18.

This was a game decided on defense and rebounds. Coach Stephens said. Quitaque used a full court press the entire way and stole lots of passes.

Starters for Norwood were Martindale, Lindley, David Kendrick, Danny Knoll and Billy Wischkaemper. Only Knoll is new to the starting lineup this season.
