DO-X Lands On Brazilian Island To End First Lap Of South Atlantic Hop

MIGHTY CRAFT SETS RECORD FLIGHT PACE

Plane Speeds at 150-Mile Rate After Perfect Takeoff

WEATHER AUSPICIOUS

Favorable Conditions Faverobale Conditions From Start

FERNANDO, Noronha Island, Brazil, June 4. (AP)—The giant seaplane DO-X landed here tonight.

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 4. (AP)—Information received by the National Telegraph company tonight said the giant seaplane DO-X was making well over 150 miles an hour air speed and should arrive at Fernando Noranha at 11 p. m. Fernando Noronha time.

PORTO PRAIA, Cape Verde Islands, June 5 (Friday) (US)—The DO-X, now nearing Ferando Noronha on its flight across the South Atlantic, may alight on the ocean until dawn, a wireless mesage received from the giant German seaplane just after midnight stated.

The message said:

"The ship is flying better than we expected. In the event the sea continues calm we will descend to the surface until dawn in order to prove the ship's seaworthiness. In the event the sea is rough we will continue on to Fernando Noronha, which we expect to reach at 1 a. m. Greenwich mean time (9 p. m. Thursday, eastern daylight time)."

FIRST MESSAGE REPORTS "ALL WELL"

FERNANDO NORONHA, Brazil, June 4. (US)—The first radio message from the German seaplane DO-X, now flying down the Brazilian coast, was picked up by the island radio station here at 4 p. m. (3 p. m. eastern daylight time). It reported "all well aboard" but failed to give a position.

The DO-X is expected over St. Peter and Paul Rocks, Brazilian island, almost midway on its course from the Cape Verde Islands, at about 7 p. m. tonight.

The weather along the Brazilian coast is most favorable for the flight. Fernando Noronha is bathed in bright moonlight. The wireless station here is calling the DO-X and ships in its path every hour.

PORT PRAIA, Cape Verde Island, June 4. (AP)—The German seaplane DO-X was flying over the South Atlantic tonight on her way to Fernando Noronha, on her long-planned flight to Brazil.

She left here at 1 p. m. (8 a. m. E. S. T.) leaving the water in 30 seconds in a perfect takeoff.

A wireless message received late today from the ship said she was flying splendidly and that she expected to arrive at Fernando Noronha, off the coast of Brazil, at 1 a. m. (8 p. m. E. S. T.).

The ship gave her speed at that time as 125 miles an hour.

The takeoff here was without incident.

A short time after her departure consternation was caused by a wireless message from a passing steamer saying the ship was down on the ocean. The report proved without foundation, however, and it was thought it probably was due to the captain's mistaking the plane's low altitude for a forced descent.

Among occupants of the plane is Portuguese Admiral Gago Coutinho.

Silverton Hit By Tiny Tornado

SILVERTON, Texas, June 4. (AP)—A miniature tornado, striking here shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon, tore the roof from the building of a lumber company, wrecked a brick structure housing a motor company and wrought considerable damage to residences and small buildings throughout the town. No one was injured.

Light rain and hail accompanied the blow which lasted about 20 minutes.

Neither the wind nor the hail was believed to have caused appreciable damage to crops.

The wind, coming from the southwest, removed the roof from the lumber yard building. The back wall of the motor company was demolished.

Numbers of porches, garages and chicken houses were wrecked.

Amount of damage had not been estimated tonight.

FARM REBATE BILL KILLED

Sterling Vetoes West Texas Reimbursement

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today vetoed three bills, including the bill to appropriate $1,000,000 to reimburse farmers for pink boll worm eradication expenses and the counties for cattle tick eradication work.

The $1,000,000 appropriation bill apportioned $300,000 to pay the pink boll worm claims of West Texas farmers for 1929 and 1930; $200,000 to pink boll worm claims of North Texas farmers incurred in eradication work in 1923 and 1924 and $500,000 to reimburse counties for tick eradication.

In vetoing the bill, Governor Sterling stated: "The appropriation for the pink boll worm reimbursement fund probably is justified. However, I feel that there could be no justification for the $500,000 appropriation for refunding the money expended in tick eradication. I think it would be wrong to make any such refund.

"Inasmuch as these different appropriations are included in the same general bill, and in view of the fact I can not approve the last mentioned item, but am vetoing it, I must veto the bill itself."

As passed by the house, the bill carried only $300,000 to pay the West Texas claims and $200,000 to pay North Texas claims. It was amended in the senate by adding $500,000 for tick erdication expense reimbursement.

Governor Sterling vetoed two other bills, one to prevent the state highway commission from rerouting a designated highway so as to miss a town of 100 or more population without consent of the commissioners' court and the other to give independence school districts the right of eminent domain.

MARLOW, COX TO SPEAK AT MASS MEETING

Wichitans Gather Tonight To Demand Lower Gas Rates

FIREWORKS PROMISED

Speakers to Reveal Other Sources of Fuel Supply Here

J. B. Marlow and P. B. Cox will be the principal speakers at the mass meeting of Wichita Falls residents Friday night on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium to protest gas rates here and to discuss methods of securing a "reasonable reduction" in charges, it was announced Tsursday by F. W. Fischer, one of the leaders in the fight for lower rates.

Meet on Lawn

The meeting will open promptly at 8:30 o'clock and speeches will be "brief and to the point," Mr. Fischer said. "There likely will be an assortment of verbal fireworks, which I think would be justified by the attitude of the local gas company," he added.

A number of prominent Wichitans will have places on the speakers' stand, and several will be called on for talks. Those on the stand will include Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., T. F. Hunter, Chas. I. Francis, W. E. Fitzgerald, E. C. DeMontel, Leslie Humphrey, Ed Howard, and others. Loud speaking equipment will make the talks easily heard from any point on the lawn, it was pointed out. Mr. Fischer will preside at the meeting.

"This meeting is to support the city council in its fight for lower rates and to discuss methods of securing reasonable gas charges here, either from the present company or from some other source," Mr. Fischer said.

"Every Wichita Falls resident who wishes to secure lower rates should attend. We should let the gas company know that we are not going to meekly submit to a continuation of the present unreasonable charges, nor accept a high-handed increase in rates.

Other Sources of Gas

"Our city council made a fair, just, and temperate request for lower rates and gave the present distributing company opportunity to have first chance at supplying our needs. This company's answer was increase in rates to more than 92 per cent of our people and a small reduction to the remainder, which it said was to 'keep the good will of the people of Wichita Falls.'

"I do not believe the people of Wichita Falls will stand for such treatment and I do not believe they will have to if they assert their rights."

Mr. Fischer said speakers at the meeting tonight would tell where an ample supply of gas, from a major company fully capable of meeting the town's demands, could be secured at low rates.

British Leader Pleads For Peace Organization

LONDON, June 4. (US)—British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson today called upon the world to organize for peace if it wishes to avert a war in which non-combatants, rather than front line troops, will be the chief victims.

Delivering the Burge memorial lecture here today, Henderson said: "The world must organize for peace the same as it has organized for war, if the awful calamity of another world tragedy is to be averted.

Chances Three to One Wheat Price Will Rise, Farm Board Head Says

WASHINGTON, June 4. (US)—The chances are three to one that world wheat prices will rise and the American price and the world trade will eventually be the same, it was declared today by James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board. He said:

"Eventually the American price will reach the world level price since stabilization operations have ceased but the chances that the world level price will rise are three to one. I say this because I do not believe that people anywhere will continue to sell wheat at less than the cost of production."

Stone said that stabilization operations have given American farmers a benefit of 25 cents a bushel on all wheat they sold since last November.

The chairman declared that any trader who got caught in the market yesterday as a result of the board's withdrawal has no grounds for complaint, because the board had acted in line with its announced policy.

He denied rumors that the farm board had quit the market because of a lack of funds. He declined to reveal how much money the board has on hand or its paper losses in wheat, saying.

"The farm board is not going to lay all its cards in the lape of its enemies."

'Baering' Down On The News

With ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Can't tell yet whether that thing in Wall sttreet is a rally or just another bounce.

Still we're getting better if we can bounce higher.

Expert says the rise was three billion in paper profits. Indicating prosperity.

Gosh, do we have to go through that thing again?

Brokers are happy. Shaking each other's hands. Then counting their fingers.

Those broker boys are real philanthrophists. They can make two blades grow where but one was stuck in your back before.

But we wish them jolly times, happy days, big cars, yachts and all the by-products of success. All we ask is that they leave us out of the next batch of bread they bake.

As a life member of the American public, we hope our fellow members resist the lure of speculation, roll up those sleeves and bring back the good old salad days when there was a little dressing on the salad.

And let that ticker tape alone until we toss it around when Lindbergh flies the Pacific.

RIOT SUSPECT GETS 2 YEARS

Sherman Youth First Convicted for Lynching

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—J. B. McCasland, 19, defendant in the first of the Sherman riot trials, was convicted of arson in district court here today and assessed the minimum sentence, two years in the penitentiary.

Joe P. Cox, district attorney at Sherman, who aided in the prosecution, said this was the first conviction in Texas in a case growing out of mob violence against a negro attacker of a white woman. The jury was out only one hour and 22 minutes.

Carried Gasoline

McCasland was alleged to have carried to the Sherman courthouse the gasoline which speeded the burning of that building. On May 9, 1930, a mob, frustrated in its attempt to lynch a negro attacker, set the courthouse afire. The negro, who had been placed in a vault for safe keeping, died in the fire. His body was dragged through the negro section and he was hanged from a cottonwood tree. Several negro business houses were burned and the mob attacked state militiamen sent to the scene. Martial law was in effect for some time.

Seventy-one charges were filed against 14 men after the disturbances. The cases were first transferred to Dallas, Chales A. Pippen,

LINDBERGHS TO FLY ACROSS NORTH PACIFIC

Oriental Tour to Follow Short Oceanic Journey

ROUTE UNCERTAIN

Noted Pair to Clip Water Flight Down To Minimum

NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh tonight gave the Associated Press his first direct confirmation that he and Mrs. Lindbergh would fly across the North Pacific to the Orient. He said the flight would be made late this summer, explaining his plans were so indefinite that he could not prepare for it within 30 days.

At the Long Island Aviation Country club, Colonel Lindbergh outlined as much of his plans as have been perfected. He said he long had wanted to visit the Orient, particularly Japan and China, and that Mrs. Lindbergh shared the desire.

The trip is to be their summer vacation journey. They have not as yet determined, however, when they will start or how long they will remain.

Dodges Reporters

Colonel Lindbergh had been sought all day by newspaper men following a statement of the state department at Washington that he had authorized announcement of his intention. This afternoon he flew in his Lockheed plane to the Glenn Curtiss airport at North beach. He there ordered the Edo company to equip it with pontoons.

Colonel Lindbergh said his plans were so indefinite he had not yet studied the route he would take, further than to decide to fly along the west coast of Canada and cross the Pacific at some northerly point.

50 Miles Over Water

He definitely has determined he will make no long water hops, having learned he can cross the Pacific near the Bering straits where the distance over water would be but 56 miles.

Colonel Lindbergh indicated, however, he considered it unnecessary to limit his water flight to that extent. He probably will cross the ocean at a point further south where the over-water hop will be somewhat greater. He will not, however, he emphasized, make an extended water flight.

Plans for the visit to Japan and China also are indefinite. Colonel Lindbergh said he and Mrs. Lindbergh had not decided where they would go, once they reached the Orient. Neither have they determined how long they will spend in the two countries or whether they will fly back to the United States or ship their plane and take passage on an ocean liner.

Colonel Lindbergh said positively he would not start in less than 30 days.

ROUTE CALLS FOR SHORT SEA FLIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Aviation's best known couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, plan to fly across the North Pacific within a month.

This done, they will spend several weeks touring the Orient by air.

She Bosses a Town's Police Force

Police Commissioner Cornelia Legett Woolley Hopkins

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 4.—Mrs. Cornelia Woolley Hopkins is just a pretty young society woman with a summer home and a lot of friends in Long Branch. She never pretended to know anything about law enforcement.

So when this town woke up the other morning to find that it had a woman police commissioner—and that woman Mrs. Hopkins—officials were considerably wrought up about it.

All the officials, that is, except Commissioner of Public Safety Charles E. Brown, who appointed her without the knowledge of Mayor J. William Jones and the other commissioners, and Police Judge Joseph M. Rosen, who administered the oath. They thought it entirely fitting and proper that a 33-year-old woman, even if she never had been inside a police station, should be the nominal head of the town's uniformed force.

And she certainly has all the social graces of Grover Whalen, who served New York City with such distinction.

GONZALES, Texas, June 4. (AP)—Killed last night when his automobile plunged off a highway near Lorena, Robert Lamar Robertson, 44, inspector general of the Texas national guard and former adjutant general of Texas, will be buried here at 4 p. m. Saturday with military honors.

Robertson was a native of Gonzales. The body was brought here from Waco today, accompanied by Adj. Gen. William W. Sterling and a military escort.

A passing motorist discovered Robertson dead in his automobile. It was believed he either fell asleep while driving from Austin to Waco, or that his machine skidded off an embankment while passing another car.

During the world war, Robertson was a captain of the 141st infantry and was decorated for bravery. He served in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. He was graduated from Texas A. & M. college. Thereafter he engaged in business with his father in Gonzales, re-

VICTIM SENT 'OVER RIVER' COURT TOLD

Trial of Burk Man On Charge of Killing War Vet Opens Here

CASHED U. S. CHECK

Woman and Man Testify Of Drinking Sprees With Riley

Barney Riley repeatedly declared to close associates last October that he had killed a man "who stole his shotgun," and had sent him "over the river," so that man "wouldn't take another shotgun from anyone," according to testimony given by Miss Mildred Wade and Francis Parker before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Thursday afternoon where Riley is on trial for the alleged murder of Tom Hardin, Oklahoma world war veteran who disappeared about Oct. 1, 1930.

Defense Questions Witnesses

Testimony given by Miss Wade and Mr. Parker, state witnesses, was conspicuous in the construction of the state's case. Statements of the two witnesses contained almost identical information. During the fall of 1930, they said, the two of them and the defendant were frequently together on drinking parties. Both Miss Wade and Parker testified that Riley was given to long periods of drunkenness, "lasting from a week to three weeks" and that it was while intoxicated that he frequently referred to having "killed a man who took his shotgun." Miss Wade declared that Riley boasted of having killed several men and "sent them over the river" relative to the alleged loss of the shotgun.

Under questioning of District Attorney Sam B. Spence, both witnesses declared that the defendant's references to such alleged killings were first made early in October of last year. Both were subjected to prolonged cross-examination by Defense Attorney Robert Cain, who sought persistently to show that their statements had been obtained by the state through alleged threats to prosecute in connection with Hardin's death if such statements were not given.

Lengthy testimony was given late Thursday afternoon by Dr. J. A. Heyman, physician and surgeon, when the skull claimed by the state to be that of Tom Hardin was submitted for examination. According to Dr. Heyman, a hole on the right side of the skull slightly above and in front of the ear, indicate that death was caused by a projectile which passed through the brain. Fractures said to exist in the upper jaw of the skull also indicate that a violent blow had been sustained by that portion of the head about the time death occurred, the witness said.

Youth Found Skeleton

Dr. Heyman's testimony, as adduced by Mr. Spence, was obviously designed to support the state's contention that Hardin was killed by a bullet wound. Cross examination by the defense endeavored to show a likelihood that the openings in the skull were made after death, or were made by some instrument other than a bullet.

Earlier in the day, Albert Byrom Cotton county farm youth, described his finding a partially clad skeleton on the farm upon which he lives near Red river. He recalled the presence of the skull, back, and other parts of the body, attired in pants, shoes and underwear. Mrs. Lily Byrom, the boy's mother, told of going with Albert to view the discovered remains, and of finding a shirt near the same spot. The skeleton was hidden from sight, about 75 or 100 yards from the house, she said, by a sand dune of considerable height.

Cecil Shaver of Randlett testified that on Oct. 1, he was picking cotton in a field about one and a quarter miles from the site on which the remains were found two months later. On that date, he said, he saw Barney Riley driving on an old sandy road toward the place where the bones later were found. Riley's car, according to the witness, stalled in the sand, and he (Shaver) went to assist the defendant in getting out.

Shaver said there was a man with Riley and that this man slumped forward in the seat and remained silent. The witness also declared that on the floor of the car he saw a number of .410 gauge shells and a shotgun of that caliber. He further testified that on the following day he saw Riley driving toward the same spot.

J. L. Dillow was the first witness called by the state. He told of having brought Hardin from Devol, Okla., to Burkburnett on Oct. 1, in the morning, and of leaving him at the Riley Filling station. Returning about 1 p. m., he said, he picked up Hardin again, the latter having at this time a 12-gauge shotgun with him. On the way home, Hardin insisted on getting out when they reached the Red river bridge, the witness said. Dillow kept the gun, he said, but Hardin left the car to start back to Burkburnett on foot.

Carl Thomas told of seeing Hardin at the Riley Filling station on Oct. 1, and of seeing him leave about 1 p. m. with Dillow, and carrying the shotgun. About an hour

LINDBERGHS TO FLY PACIFIC

Noted Pair Plan Tour Of Orient

Then they will turn homeward again to their year-old son. Whether the return will be by boat or plane is yet indefinite.

Announcement of the proposed flight was made today by Under Secretary Castle of the state department after a telephone conversation with the celebrated flier.

No Long Water Hops

Unlike the historic 1927 flight when he spanned the Atlantic between New York and Paris in 33½ hours, Lindbergh plans no long water hops. He will take a northern route where the vast expanses of the Pacific narrow to a slim barrier between the continents.

The exact date of departure and route to be followed were not known to state department officials, who are seeking permission through diplomatic channels for the Lindberghs to land in China and Japan.

600 Miles of Sea

The closest direct hop between American and Japanese territory would involve an ocean flight of 600 miles between Attu, most westerly of the Aleutian islands, off the Alaskan coast and Shumstui, most northern and eastern island of the Japanese empire. A shorter flight of between 300 and 400 miles could be made between Attu and the Soviet Kamchatka peninsula.

However, Lindbergh may take off from a far northern point of the United States instead of Alaska. He means to take every safety precaution and is having his Lockheed monoplane equipped with pontoons.

Return Undecided

The Oriental tour, the first extended foreign flight Lindbergh has taken with his wife since the air journey through Central and South America in September, 1929, is expected to last two or three weeks. Officials said Lindbergh has not determined whether to return by air or boat.

Officials of the Soviet information bureau said Lindbergh has not sought permission to fly over Russian territory, but predicted such a request would be granted readily.

Despite the comparatively short water jump, Lindbergh's experience in combatting adverse weather conditions may prove essential to success of his flight.

Officials Surprised

"Any man who made a flight across the Pacific and had to fly through less than two general disturbances could consider himself unusually lucky," Charles L. Mitchell, forecaster of the United States weather bureau, said.

June, July and August are the best flying months, Mitchell said, adding the northern Pacific route is considered "blind" by forecasters and for the 1,800 miles from Nemuro, Japan, and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, no information is available.

In addition Mitchell said the plane will nose into a virtual headwind over the water. He explained the prevailing summer wind is east by north.

Announcement of the proposed flight came as a distinct surprise to official circles which had expected to take another trip to visit friends in Central and South America.

Building Pontoons

Officials of a plant in Burbank, Calif., building pontoons specially fitted with gasoline tanks for the flight, expect them to go on the same Lockheed plane in which Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh spanned the continent last year in a one-stop flight of 14 hours and 23 minutes flying time.

With pontoons fitted and ship fully loaded, they estimated a speed of 180 miles an hour should be obtained.

The route he will follow may cross his path with that of Seiji Yoshihara, called "the Lindbergh of Japan." Yoshihara plans to resume on June 25 a flight following the great circle of shipping across the Pacific, making his major water hop from Kamchatka peninsula across the Berjng sea and the north ern Pacific to the Aleutian islands.

He then would follow the Alaskan and British Columbia coast to Seattle, exchanging land gear for pontoons before continuing.

Warren, Dallas, and Mrs. Louisa Frances Kelly, Hearne, Texas.

William Warren, husband of the dead woman and the third person wounded in Wednesday night's shooting, was released from the hospital at Burkburnett Thursday. His injuries were said to be slight.

According to information given Wichita county officers who investigated Wednesday night, the tragedy resulted from a minor disagreement within the family earlier in the day. Refusing to join others of the family at the evening meal, it was said, the elder Mr. Warren suddenly began shooting. Mrs. Warren was killed instantly, her husband escaped the house with a bullet wound in one leg, and just before the arrival of officers, their assailant fired a bullet into his own brain.

Investigating officers said the elder Mr. Warren had apparently became temporarily deranged shortly before the tragedy.

EUROPE AWAITS STIMSON TOUR

France Particularly Glad Of Decision

By GEORGE W. HINMAN JR.

PARIS, June 4. (US)—Hopes of involving the United States in new discussions of war debts and reparations on one hand and disarmament and security on the other soared high throughout Europe today as the old world read the tidings of Secretary of State Stimson's projected visit.

Not since President Wilson has an American statesman of such high position deliberately set out to tread the bewildering paths of Europe's international politics. Naturally, Europe is determined to reap the greatest possible benefit.

When, during negotiations of the Briand-Kellogg pact to outlaw war, Europe generally and France in particular sought to lure the then secretary of state here for "personal discussions" into which such involved points as security and "aggressive war" were certain to be introduced, even that veteran international idealist resolutely declined to accept the bait. Now on his own initiative, Secretary Stimson enters where Secretaray Kellogg feared to take one step.

With the German government heads going to chequers and the growing clamor for further reductions by the United States of allied obligations, the announcement of Colonel Stimson's tour fits right into the plans of European statesmen.

When the secretary of state says he is giving especial attention to economics, he opens his ears wide to Europe's loudest wail—"Our economic misery is the result of America's insistence on collecting war debts."

When the secretary of state takes up disarmament, he will find himself again precipitating a discussion of France's demand for "security"—a demand which in London wrecked the hopes for a real five-power naval treaty, even though Colonel Stimson indicated his readiness to agree to a "consultative pact."

France still most rigidly adheres to this demand. Getting the American state secretary here alone, she can hope to accomplish what she failed to achieve in London, where the stand-offish attitude of the British dominions, rather than the American delegation, ruined the prospects of the co-called "consultative pact."

In all four capitals, London, Berlin, Rome and Paris, the governments were notified weeks ago of Colonel Stimson's itinerary and the carefullest programs were worked out for the American secretary of state's holiday crusade.

Testimony Heard In Riley Trial

later, Hardin returned on foot, without the gun, the witness said.

Sam Hardin, a brother of the deceased, took the stand to describe Tom Hardin's departure from Devol on the morning of Oct. 1. According to the witness the veteran had received and cashed that morning his monthly check from the United States Veterans' bureau at Dallas, in amount of about $26. With the receipt of that check each month, he continued, Tom Hardin was accustomed to begin drinking heavily and usually remained under the influence of liquor for several days. When he started for Burkburnett with Mr. Dillow that morning, Hardin was attired in clothing which corresponded to that described by other witnesses as having been found on and near the skeleton found on Dec. 11.

Sheriff Cleve Hooper and Justice of the Peace Charles McDonald of Walters told of having been called to the Byrom farm to take possession of the remains found there. The bones and clothing were placed in a sack, they said, together with a box of .410 gauge shotgun shells, some papers and $1.10 in cash found in the pants, and were taken to Burkburnett. Sam Hardin was called to that city, the witness said, and declared the remains those of his brother.

Stanley Moore, Grandfield, Okla., undertaker, told of having buried the remains in the cemetery there, and of having performed an exhumation in January of this year in order that the skull and shotgun shells might be turned over to the district attorney's office here. Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney who has been active in the investigation of the Hardin case, took the stand to identify the skull as that obtained from the grave in Grandfield.

It was indicated Thursday evening that the state will require about two hours Friday morning to complete its presentation of evidence. Selection of a jury was completed Thursday morning, with G. A. Kays, James H. Sullivan, W. E. Stevens, J. W. Hutchins, T. E. Lewis, B. O. Gilstrap, Roy Brackett, R. Frazier, N. W. Bowden, John H. Simmons, Roy Rhodes and E. G. Pease as its members.

The trial will be resumed Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

district judge there, was unable to get a jury which would agree to send a man to the penitentiary even though it should be convinced he was a member of the mob.

The McCasland case was confined strictly to the burning of the Grayson county court house, in so far as it concerned the defendant. Circumstances leading to the burning were not admitted by J. D. Moore, district judge. The jurors promised to convict McCasland if they were convinced he helped set fire to the courthouse.

In his final plea to the jury Henry Brooks, district attorney here, said a conviction would give notice to the United States that Texas juries did not approve destruction of property by a mob.

No date had been set for trial of the other cases. Judge Moore said none would be tried before June 29.

J. A. Carlisle, attorney for McCasland, filed a motion for a new trial of the arson case.

McCasland was a high school student at the time of the riot. The defense endeavored to prove an alibi.

Freshness is only one step in getting GOOD COFFEE

We've learned a lot about coffee in the last 72 years. And the most important thing is . . . that your best coffee is the coffee you like best . . . no matter what it costs or how it is packed.

"Of course you want your coffee fresh. That's as important as having a coffee that exactly suits your taste. So A & P has made natural freshness of newly-roasted coffee—the out-of-the-oven freshness that cannot be imitated—a prime essential of A & P Coffee Service. And we are able, as no other coffee merchant is able, to guarantee this natural freshness. You see, we sell more coffee by far than any other organization. The coffee sells so fast that there's no time for any of it to become stale.

lb. 21¢ Money cannot buy better coffees than these. Their low prices are possible only because A & P handles so large a quantity of coffee—far more than any other organization in the world, and controls every step from the growers to you.

But that's only one point to consider. We've found what people like in coffee—in its flavor, body, aroma and strength. And we found years ago that no one blend can please everyone. So we developed, as you know, three different blends, Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar. One of these three blends far outsells all other coffees in the world; another is the second largest seller. The third has already won fifth place in the few years it has been on the market.

lb. 25¢ Money cannot buy better coffees than these. Their low prices are possible only because A & P handles so large a quantity of coffee—far more than any other organization in the world, and controls every step from the growers to you.

Again, here's something else. Have you ever thought what perfect grinding means in making good coffee? Not ready-made, open-the-box grinding, but accurate, carefully adjusted grinding that guarantees your coffee in exactly the right condition to give you perfect results from your favorite method of coffee making. What a difference that makes! Understand, too, that we don't want simply to sell you coffee. We want you to enjoy it—to have perfect coffee in your cup. So we've studied the methods of coffee experts, and have gathered these methods together in the form of simple, accurate directions for making perfect coffee by any method. They're in our Coffee Booklet. You may have one any time.

When you add these points together, you get something you can find only in an A & P store . . . A & P Coffee Service.

Study coffee a little—and find a new pleasure and comfort in the grand old drink that has become America's best-loved beverage.

And again—remember that the coffee you like best is the best, no matter what it costs or how it is packed.

lb. 29¢ Money cannot buy better coffees than these. Their low prices are possible only because A & P handles so large a quantity of coffee—far more than any other organization in the world, and controls every step from the growers to you.

Coffee Satisfaction is assured by A & P Coffee Service:

• • The Coffee to suit your Taste . . . Freshly Roasted . . . Correctly Ground . . . and a Booklet containing suggestions on how to make good coffee taste better.

CITIZENS KILL BANK ROBBER

Second Bandit Shot At Mounds, Okla.

MOUNDS, Okla., June 4. (AP)—Answering a hasty call to arms during a bank robbery, citizens of this little Eastern Oklahoma town shot and killed one desperado and wounded his brother today.

Frank Carver, 34, farmer of near Sapulpa, Okla., was slain at the steering wheel of a motor car as he attempted to escape after taking $600 from the Bank of Mounds.

His brother, known as Roy or Tom Carver, 40, fell with bullets in his back and shoulder as he tried to run.

A few hours later, Lera Quitt, girl bookkeeper of the Security State bank of Comanche, in the southwestern part of the state, was robbed of $2,760 by a single holdup man, bringing to nearly a score the total of Oklahoma bank robberies since Jan. 1.

Lloyd Kelly, a clerk, saw the Mounds robbers enter the bank. He notified R. F. Crowder, town marshal. Quickly summoning other business men, Crowder stationed them, armed, at strategic points near the bank entrance.

So well were the possemen placed that when the robbers emerged, using Frank Crum, cashier, and H. C. Crews, his assistant, as a shield, the hail of bullets was directed accurately at the brothers and the bankers went unscratched.

Officers said Tom Carver, whose injuries were not critical, admitted the motor car was stolen in Sapulpa today and two robberies—the other at Jenks, Okla. — were planned. The Mounds bank was robbed of $700 a month ago.

Kidnaper Shot By Victim Succumbs

WABASH, Minn., June 4. (AP)—Roy Ashley, 38-year-old section worker of Beaver Dam, Wis., died early today in a hospital 24 hours after he was shot by Evelyn Brown, 15, whom he kidnaped from her Beaver Dam home.

Ashley killed the girl after she shot and fatally wounded him in the abdomen near Winona, Minn., yesterday when they stopped for Ashely to fill the automobile's radiator.

He was taken to the hospital here after the slaying and confessed he kidnaped the girl from her home Tuesday night. He said he had been infatuated with Miss Brown and had planned to flee to Montana with her.

Escaped Convicts' Car Found Near McAlester

M'ALESTER, Okla., June 4. (UP)—The automobile in which three convicts escaped from the state penitentiary was found 20 miles northwest of here today.

No trace of the fugitives was found.

Jimmie Overstreet, Bink Lewis, Earl Martindale, all serving long terms for robbery, climbed over a high wall and escaped in an auto belonging to Mrs. J. L. Brown, assistant matron of the woman's ward. The convicts were members of a detail painting the roof of the women's ward building.

Anglican Church Inquiry Demanded

LONDON, June 4. (INS)—A resolution demanding appointment of a committee to define the attitude of the Anglican church toward marriage and divorce was unanimously adopted today at a meeting of the Canterbury convocation in Westminister hall here.

The resolution proposes that the committee be appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and states that "the church can drift no longer; the time has come for a full inquiry."

The bishop of Salisbury, a bachelor, denounced the church's "collusion" in divorce, demanding a rule whereby the church would refuse to re-marry divorcees whose first husband was still living.

Don't Be Skinny

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

It seems almost unbelievable how fast new Ironized Yeast has added pounds of good firm flesh—on men and women, children and old people. Nervousness, tired feeling changed to new strength and pep; constipation, indigestion vanished.

People ask—what is the wonderful power in Ironized Yeast that has transformed sallow, lifeless, blemished complexions into fresh, smooth, lovely skin. No wonder thousands of women pour in letters praising the marvelous youthifying effects of Ironized Yeast.

Yet the answer is simple. Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's Yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. Contains no starches, flours or gas-forming fillers. That's why Ironized Yeast works so quickly. Pleasant little tablets—no nasty taste, no gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for everybody.

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast, and take the little tablets as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.—Adv.

Mrs. Summers had admitted paying most of the premiums on insurance policies held by Meyers, Summers, William Rieman and Thomas Lanagan, the roomers, whose deaths were found due to poisoning, as well as her brother Louis Meyers, the father of Thomas Meyers. SOCIETY and CHURCH NEWS

Garden Club Closes Season With Beautiful Luncheon

The Garden club of the Woman's Forum closed its activities of the year with a luncheon and program at the clubhouse Thursday at 11:30 o'clock when Kenneth Bebb was the principal speaker and talked on "The Pests of the Spring."

In his discussion Mr. Bebb named the chewing insect, the sucking insect and the fungus growth or the mildew as the chief enemies of plant life.

Mildew, according to the speaker, is only a low form of plant growth and may best be corrected by applying an even mixture of hydrated lime and sulphur. To obtain the best results the mixture should be dusted on rather than used as a spray, Mr. Bebb pointed out, because the dust does not leave a discoloration of the flower.

"The chewing insect is next in importance in this vicinity, according to the amount of damage done," Mr. Bebb said. "While there are several kinds of worms that have to be coped with in plant cultivation, the cut worm, the corn ear worm and the pill bug are the worst pests that we have to deal with in Wichita Falls. Most of these pests are easily controlled if they are noticed in time. The best remedy is lead arsenate which is mixed with 15 parts of lead arsenate and 85 parts of lime. This mixture is mixed by weight instead of measure. The solution may also be used for poisoning grasshoppers."

An example of the sucking insect was the louse which is best killed with any form of tobacco. This pest cannot be poisoned as it breathes through pores on the side of its body. The tobacco spray paralyzes the nerves that control the gills and thus kills the pest, Mr. Bebb explained.

The luncheon tables were very beautifully arranged with bowls and vases of home grown flowers. Mrs. C. E. McCutchen brought a huge vase of pink, purple and coral double poppies which were declared to be among the most beautiful grown in this city this season, while Mrs. W. W. Cook contributed a large bowl of lovely nasturtiums. A vase of purple larkspur with pink poppies was given by Mrs. Bert Bean while Mrs. C. E. Bailey brought sweet peas combined with snapdragons. Mrs. O. E. Maer's vase of pink poppies combined with dainty Queen Anne's lace added a dainty touch to the decorations.

The invocation was given by Mrs. S. S. McKenney after which Mrs. Bert Bean, president, presided over a business session. Mrs. Orville Bullington, secretary of the club, read the minutes of the previous meeting and reports were heard from Mesdames O. T. Gorsline, W. W. Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes

Month after month some women still suffer needless pain, but those who know simply go to a drug store or soda fount, get a package or dose of "B-C" and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.

"B-C" is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under one to three hours.

"B-C" stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows.—Adv.

Bobby Jones Says Farewell to Movies

HOLLYWOOD, June 4. (US)—It was goodbye and not au revoir to the movies, a fond farewell but a farewell none the less, that Bobby Jones said when he ended a three-months' sojourn in Hollywood, boarded a train today, and set out for his old home town, Atlanta, to resume a career in the law and in business.

"It has been a great experience," said Bobby. "In some ways the greatest of my life."

To the somewhat persistent rumor that he would return to the great movie game in another picture, or in other pictures, Bobby smiled and said no.

"I'm as definitely out of the movies as I am out of competitive golf," he declared.

While Bobby is definitely and permanently out of all competitive golf he is intensely interested in its major events and plans to attend at least three of them in the present season. He goes direct to Atlanta from Hollywood, passes a week with his family, and then goes to New York on a business trip.

From there he will go to Columbus, to attend the Ryder cup professional team match between the United States and Great Britain June 21 and 27. Then he plays a charity exhibition match at Columbus, and the next day another one at Cleveland, after which he goes to Toledo, where he will watch the national open championship at the Inverness club.

DUNCAN PLANS SCHOOL BONDS

New Building Proposed To Meet Demands

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., June 4.—Arrangements for calling an election to vote on a bond issue for a new high school building some time in October will be completed during the summer, members of the Duncan board of education have announced.

Decision to take speedy action on the building proposal was made after the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges notified local authorities that Duncan's accredited rating would be withdrawn next March unless adequate building facilities were arranged before then. Loss of the accredited rating would force Duncan graduates to take examinations before entering any accredited college or university.

Details of the bond issue proposal have not been worked out. One proposal studied by the board is to ask the school district to vote a $130,000 bond issue for a new school building and to ask the city to vote a $50,000 issue for a municipal auditorium, the two buildings to be constructed as one unit.

The five school board members were unanimous in deciding to call the election and all believe the bond issue will be approved.

Amarillo Officers to Arrive Sunday In Attempt to Identify 'Cherokee Joe'

Officers from Amarillo will arrive in Wichita Falls Sunday to take into custody a man now held in the Wichita county jail and believed to be "Cherokee Joe" Taylor, member of the Davis brothers' gang, according to Sheriff Perry Browning.

Arrested by officers at Olney Tuesday, and brought here Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff E. L. Kincaid, the prisoner was partially identified Thursday morning by Sheriff Cleve Hooper of Cotton county, Oklahoma, who declared that he holds a photograph of the man wanted in Amarillo.

According to Associated Press dispatches received Thursday from Amarillo, "Cherokee Joe," half-breed Indian youth, faces charges of robbery with firearms in Potter county district court, and was for a short time associated with D. I. and Colquitt Davis last December.

The dispatch states that Taylor was annexed by the Davis brothers immediately after their shooting of Con Kiersey and Vernon Cason at Wirt, Okla., on Dec. 10, and is charged with participating in Amarillo holdups on Dec. 11. The information given indicates that the Indian accompanied D. I. Davis to a doctor's office in Wichita, Kan., a few days later to obtain treatment of Davis' wounds, and took part in the subsequent street fight with officers summoned by the physician.

"Cherokee Joe" was said to have escaped at Wichita by leaping aboard the car driven by Colquitt Davis, deserting D. I. Davis, who died under the officers' fire. Colquitt was arrested three days later at Hereford, Texas, and is now under death sentence in Oklahoma. The identity and whereabouts of the Indian youth has remained a mystery since that time, it was reported.

Investigations carried on by Deputy Sheriff Kincaid resulted in the prisoner's apprehension at Olney.

Disabled Veteran's Plan Organization

About 50 veterans of the world war gathered in the 78th district courtroom Thursday night to hear a discussion of disability compensation by Capt. W. L. Shaddix, national deputy chief of staff of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and at its conclusion laid plans for organizing a chapter of that group here during the present week.

Captain Shaddix declared that inadequate reports and inaccurate data account for the failure of many disabled veterans to obtain the hospitalization and financial aid to which they are entitled. His talk Thursday night stressed the importance of filling out applications exactly as required. During his stay of one week in this area, he said, most of his time will be given to investigation of individual cases here, and the preparation of claims for government aid.

Approximately 11 names were obtained Thursday night to an application for a charter from the national organization which Captain Shaddix represents. It was said that 25 names will be sought as a minimum for a Wichita Falls chapter.

Consultations with veterans on individual cases will be held at the courthouse Friday beginning at 11 o'clock, it was announced.

At 8 o'clock Friday night a second general meeting of all disabled veterans, and any others who wish to attend will be held.

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., June 4.—Sheriff E. R. Young left here late today for Ardmore where he will take into custody a young man arrested as a suspect in the robbery of a bank at Comanche today. Lera Quitt, 18-year-old girl bookkeeper of the bank; accompanied the sheriff and will attempt to identify the suspect.

The Security State bank of Comanche was robbed of $2,123.64 shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon by a lone unmasked bandit. When the robber entered the lobby Miss Quitt was alone in the place.

The man presented a check for payment and when the girl told him the check was valueless, he covered her with a pistol and admonished her to act as his friend if any one else came in the bank. He took all money on the counter and forced the girl to procure other funds from the vault.

The bandit then forced Miss Quitt to accompany him out the back door and down an alley to his automobile. He then commanded her to return to her office.

M'ADOO URGES INDUSTRY PLAN

'Peace Board' Suggested For American Trade

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4. (AP)—Creation of a "peace industries board" or "national economic council" to stabilize conditions in industry and agriculture and to prevent waste and unemployment was suggested by William Gibbs McAdoo in an address here tonight.

The former secretary of the treasury said the idea grew out of the work of the war industries board which temporarily supervised industry during the world war. The suggested body would act under sanction of the government, he explained, and in an advisory and cooperative capacity.

"Such a board or council," said Mr. McAdoo, "could render service of incalculable value in stabilizing conditions in industry and agriculture and in preventing waste and unemployment. It could also contribute to the prevention of overproduction by determining in advance the amount of national consumption and suggesting plans for balancing production and consumption.

"It should have no legislative authority but it should have power to investigate any industry or any concern or any phase of the nation's economic life and to take testimony and summon witnesses. It should be required to make all its findings public and it should have adequate appropriation to carry on its work. The council should be composed of manufacturers, merchants, agriculturists, labor and representatives of the mining and transportation industries."

Reviewing the growth of American industry, commerce and agriculture, which he said had evolved without any social plan and was wasteful, Mr. McAdoo said there was need for a "new formula for human affairs" in which industry would be "devoted, primarily, to supply human needs and, secondarily, to profits."

"Throughout the world the sun is setting on the theory of the acquisitive society, in which profits are the chief end of all enterprise," continued Mr. McAdoo. "We have gone far enough along the road of civilization to have learned that the acquisitive society—although it develops a high degree of talent—is wasteful, extravagant, inefficient and exceedingly costly."

The occasion for Mr. McAdoo's address was a dinner sponsored by the economic conservation committee of America. The purpose was to discuss a proposed plan to conserve California's surplus crops for the needy.

"ATHLETE'S FOOT" INFECTION STOPPED BY NEW DISCOVERY

Have you noticed an annoying itch between your toes? Has the skin become thick, white and moist, or red and inclined to peel? Or has it developed a scaly dryness?

Any of these symptoms may indicate the mysterious new infection called "Athlete's Foot," which has preyed upon at least ten million people throughout America.

You need not be an athlete to contract this annoying trouble. You can pick it up anywhere—in public places—even in your own bathroom. Sometimes called ringworm of the toes, and many other names, it is caused by a tiny germ, tinea trichophyton.

And now, after exhaustive tests, a famous New York laboratory finds that ABSORBINE JR., the mild, soothing, yet powerful, antiseptic, is especially deadly to the tinea trichophyton germs.

So if you have any of the symptoms, don't take chances on serious complications—douse ABSORBINE JR. freely on your feet, twice a day. It is safest to use this germ-destroyer after every foot exposure to wet surfaces, as specialists advise. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas, for the first time in its history, has no unorganized county. Loving county, last of the unorganized, became a county unit unto itself in May, 1931, with 195 population occupying its 753 square miles. Texas with 254 has more counties than any other state in the union. That it isn't a matter governed wholly by size is indicated by the fact that Georgia, with about one-fifth the area of Texas, ranks second with 161, while California, nearly thrice as large as Georgia and considerably more than half as large as Texas, has only 58. Delaware with three counties ranks last. Areas of Texas counties range all the way from Rockwall's 149 square miles to Brewster's 5,935, or almost six times the area of Rhode Island.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Texas is still building highways. Gray county is planning the expenditure of the proceeds of $2,256,000 road bonds recently voted. Grayson county has $474,000 available for new road work. Lubbock county has started work to be paid for out of $300,000 worth of bonds it recently sold. . . .

Temple, Temple district, Bell county will spend $1,750,000 on highway improvement. Widening and retopping of the famous so-called "railway" highway (with brick tracks on which vehicles were supposed to run) between Temple and Belton is one of the projects included.

Additional contracts let under the $1,450,000 bond issue in Crockett county are providing jobs for a good many workers. Straightening of the meandering No. 67 between Dallas and Cleburne is one of the plans of the towns the highway serves. Fort Bend county expects to have $1,000,000 available from district bond issues and state and federal aid. Childress county is building No. 5 from Childress to the east county line.

The list might be continued indefinitely, for the millions in contracts let by the state highway commission provide for work in probably a majority of the counties of the state, and road districts and counties are still issuing or planning to issue bonds for road construction.

Officers Resume Probe Of Texas Bank Holdup

TEXARKANA, Texas, June 4. (AP)—Bowie county officers today reopened their investigation of the attempted holdup of the Guaranty Bond State bank at Redwater Feb. 24, after they learned that an ex-convict and another man appeared at the village of Red Bluff, Ark., 14 miles east of Redwater, shortly after the robbery attempt.

Chester Willoughby, held in the Little River, Ark., jail on a grand larceny charge, was returned to Redwater several weeks ago for questioning but Miss Eura Langston, bank teller who frustrated the robbery, and R. W. Hanks, cashier, failed to identify him as one of the robbers.

Several Bowie county officials went to Arkansas last night and returned today, going to Redwater.

The Brighter Side

THE uses of adversity, according to the old adage, are sweet, even if they don't seem so at the time. In the same way, the extremely unpleasant business depression of the present moment is doing the country a good deal of good, although the man who hasn't had a job for six months may doubt it.

After looking into the troubles arising from industrial stagnation, the Twentieth Century fund, of New York, has concluded that philanthropic organizations can no longer satisfy themselves with meeting needs as they arise; instead, they must realize that their first obligation is to reduce the need for philanthropy, and that they must do what they can to help adjust our business and industrial organization accordingly.

In its annual report, just issued, the association remarks:

"Insofar as the philanthropy of today can assist in the solution of our economic problems, it can contribute more fundamentally than ever before to the material and spiritual welfare of the individual—which has always been the object of intelligent giving. Only by such basic improvement, in fact, can the need for charity ultimately be reduced."

Now this may be nothing more or less than plain common sense, but it is a new way for a philanthropic organization to talk, and it is indicative of the changed public attitude that has developed since the depression began.

People are beginning to realize that something fundamental must be wrong with our economic order if a depression like the present one can engulf it, and people are beginning to insist that the defect be set right. The nation is not going to be satisfied much longer with a process of muddling through.

If we have an economic system that produces periods of distress every few years, we shall insist that the system be changed, instead of being content to devise relief measures after the damage has been done. We shall continue to be philanthropic, but—as the report of the Twentieth Century fund points out—we shall face the fact that philanthropy, by itself, is not enough.

This changed attitude, which is becoming more evident day by day, is important. The self-satisfaction of the past half dozen years has done us a great deal of harm. It is time that we got into a different frame of mind.

A Federal Deficit

SECRETARY MELLON'S insistence that the government must continue to meet its sinking fund requirements as in the past in spite of the pending deficit in the federal treasury is eminently sensible. So, too, is his remark that the federal tax structure is "out of balance"—a remark that probably paves the way for an increase in the income tax.

The administration now is planning economies for next year that will, it is hoped, total approximately $125,000,000. If it can put this program through, and can thereby avoid a tax increase, well and good; if not, no fear of political consequences should delay an increase in taxes if that becomes necessary to avoid a deficit.

Meanwhile, it is worth bearing in mind that economists generally agree that income tax rates in the higher brackets could be increased materially without working any hardship on anyone. It is the taxpayer in the lower brackets who has suffered the most from the depression; if an increase is in order, his taxes should be the last to be raised.

A Little Bit Silly

NOT long ago Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the U. S. department of labor, went to Europe. She planned to listen in on a conference at Geneva, held under the auspices of the League of Nations, at which the possibilities for an international agreement on night work for women were to be discussed.

Now, however, official Washington has decided that our government cannot possibly have any such official relations with the League of Nations; and Miss Anderson, accordingly, has been instructed by cable to let the conference severely alone.

Apparently we have been saved from making a dreadful and costly mistake. Heaven knows what might happen if we had an official representative at a league conference. But doesn't the whole thing look a trifle silly?

THE STORY SO FAR

Sally Blair is temporary secretary for John Warner, sales manager of the Davidson Insurance company. Although she refuses his persistent demand for dates, she must be nice to him, as through him she hopes to advance in business, until she can afford the luxuries she wants. She is in love with Peter Douglas, but has given him up, because his mother disapproves of her. On the way home one night, Sally sees Peter with the girl named "Linda," of whom his mother approves. She wonders if Peter has forgotten so soon.

CHAPTER XIV

"Here, take these upstairs to Mr. Roper, will you, Sally?" John Warner said Saturday morning. He handed her a sheaf of papers. "Reports he wanted this morning."

Sally took the papers as nonchalantly as she could, but her heart was pounding as she left the room quickly. Instead of going directly to the 23rd floor, she went into the dressing room, and, taking off her frock, recombed her hair. When it was finished the dark natural waves of it glistened softly over her head, and the small knot at the back was tidy, not a hair out of place. She was glad she had let it grow.

Then some fresh powder dusted on her face. Her gray eyes were very clear and bright as they smiled back at her from the glass, and her skin was creamy white. She looked well, she knew, as she shook out the dress carefully, and put it back on once more, adjusting the collar until it was the way she wanted it.

A glance at her hands—she had manicured them the night before—assured her they were fine, the nails pink and shiny, the skin as smooth and white as her face. Sally's hands were lovely, and graceful, long tapering fingers which she had always cared for diligently. Lately she had been even more painstaking about them. Every evening she gave them a quick manicure, packed the cuticle with cream, and repaired the polish.

The Campaign Progresses

Her job at the present time was to be as attractive as possible, and she was letting nothing slip by.

This errand this morning. She had been waiting all week for it, hoping for it, knowing she had to be ready when it came. For it was bound to come. Sooner or later Warner would send her upstairs to Kent Roper, the general manager, with a message or with reports. And now she was on her way.

Picking up the papers, she left the dressing room for the elevator.

The first time in the six months she had worked for the Davidson company that she had been in the executive offices. Now that she was finally in them, she was hoping to make the most of her opportunity.

"Kent Roper," thin gold lettering on a frosted door. She had never seen Mr. Roper so she didn't know what to expect. There was the hope in her, when she opened the door, that he wouldn't be like Warner.

Sally Meets Mr. Roper

The room she found herself in, Roper's secretary's office, was pretentious, even luxurious. Her own little office next to Warner's was nothing in comparison, with its simple desk and chair and filing cabinets behind.

A middle-aged woman was phoning. Sally knew she was the general manager's confidential secretary. She had seen her occasionally in the halls and in the lobby. Neatly dressed, almost too severely in fact, thin, with hair turning gray at the temples, Alice Crowder finished the call, and then turned to the girl.

"Yes?"

"Reports from Mr. Warner, Mr. Roper asked for them." Sally hoped against hope she wouldn't have to leave them with Miss Crowder. But luck was with her. Hardly had she said the words when the paneled walnut door behind Miss Crowder opened, and the man stepped out.

She was left standing there, weak, shaken, her nerve gone.

"Mr. Warner's peoria, Mr. Roper," the middle-aged woman announced quietly.

Mr. Roper's Office

"Oh, yes, come in—" He stepped aside so Sally could pass into his private office. She was alone for a few minutes, and looked around the large beautifully furnished room with interest. It was more like a library than an office. Deep red leather chairs, a couch also upholstered in the same morocco, crimson drapes at the long leaded glass windows that reached from the high ceiling to the floor. A stone fireplace with a settee in front, and books in cases at the sides. Soft oriental rugs flung over the thick taupe carpet.

She moved nearer the great walnut carved desk, trembling a little as she approached it. It's surface was surprisingly neat, a few papers at one side, and some pictures in tooled leather frames near the French telephone.

A woman, pretty with wavy light hair, and dark eyes, occupied one of them. The other contained two children, their heads close together. The boy, about 12, resembled Kent Roper, the same steady clear eyes, the same stubborn chin, and strong cleft; the girl looked like the woman, even to the wavy hair, and slightly turned up nose.

Mr. Roper's family, Sally thought, as she studied the group more intently. His wife and his two children. Then he was married . . .

Mr. Roper interrupted her reflections. He bustled in, and taking the papers from her sat down in the swivel chair before his desk.

"Sit down, please. I want to look these over before you go back."

Sally took one of the leather chairs and leaned back in it luxuriously, her eyes never leaving Mr. Roper's face. An interesting face, the forehead broad and high, the features delicate, except for the chin. A pair of dark horn rimmed glasses covered his gray eyes. Mr. Roper was younger than Warner, only 40, and he didn't look over 35.

"You aren't Mr. Warner's regular secretary," Kent Roper remarked briefly as he lifted his eyes from the reports.

"No, I'm taking Miss Haller's place while she is on her vacation." It meant so much to her that he had noticed her.

"Like it?"

"Very much," she was lying, of course. She didn't like it.

Roper glanced at her again. She

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington is the world's greatest storehouse of all kinds of knowledge. You can draw on it free of charge through our bureau there. Any question of fact you may ask will be answered promptly in a personal letter to you. Be careful to write clearly, give your full name and address, and enclose two-cent stamp for reply postage. Send your inquiry to the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Is it true that each star in our flag stands for an individual state?—N. D.

A.—This is not a fact. The stars collectively represent the 48 states of the union.

Q.—What kind of stone is used for the steps leading to the main east entrance of the capitol in Washington, D. C.?—G. T.

A.—The steps are granite, which was taken from the quarries at Stone Mountain, Georgia.

Q.—Of what disease did John Jones die?—F. H.

A.—When his body was brought to this country for reinterment a few years ago, it was found to be in such good condition that it was possible to take microscopic slides of various parts and to determine that he had died of Bright's disease.

Q.—What makes foods spoil in canning?—F. B.

A.—There are two causes of food spoilage in canning: First, there are present in all fresh fruits and vegetables substances called enzymes. These enzymes bring about the normal ripening of fruits and vegetables and, unless checked, the final decay of the product. Since heating is an essential step in canning and these enzymes are easily destroyed by heat, it is only necessary to avoid the changes they may bring about in the food between the time it is gathered and the time it is cooked. The second and more important cause of food spoilage is the action of minute plants which are present in the air, soil, water, and, in fact, on everything. There are three groups of these plants—bacteria, yeasts, and molds. Commercial canning is scientifically done and these dangers eliminated.

Q.—What is the standard width of newspaper columns?—A. W.

A.—The standard width of newspaper columns is 13 ems. Twelve and one-half ems is a narrow column. However, some papers use columns one and one-half to one and three-quarters times the standard width. There is no set rule for this.

Q.—Can the age of a rattlesnake be told from the number of its rattles?—M. N.

A.—Not accurately. A new rattle develops each time a rattlesnake sheds which, during the first year or so of its life, amounts to four or five times. When a rattlesnake is old it often breaks off its rattles when crawling over rough undergrowth.

Q.—What is the purpose of the Citizens' Alliance of Washington, D. C.?—G. A.

A.—It is a group of Washingtonians organized to promote the cause of national representation for the District of Columbia.

Q.—Of what are sea shells composed?—A. L.

A.—The bureau of standards says that shells are made up of alternate layers of a horny material and calcium carbonate containing a little organic matter.

Q.—What flowers grow wild in California?—V. M.

Q.—Why is some hair curly and some straight?—C. E. D.

A.—The contour of the hair is circular, oval, or flattened. Whether a hair is to be curly or straight is largely dependent upon its contour; the more oval or flattened it is the more it will be curled. The degree of curliness is influenced also by the conditions of the atmosphere; naturally curled hair becomes more curled when the hair is surcharged with moisture, and less so in dry weather.

U. S. BOND ISSUE OVER-BOUGHT

Government Securities Are Still Popular

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Popularity of government bond issues through which the United States raised money for the world war was evidenced again today when Secretary Mellon said an $800,000,000 issue announced Monday had been oversubscribed seven and one-half times in three days.

In a statement Mellon said $6,000,000,000 had been subscribed for the 18-year, 3¼ per cent bonds to be issued June 15. The allotments will be announced later, probably tomorrow night.

While treasury officials expected the issue would be oversubscribed the eagerness with which it was sought was received with surprise and credited to a desire by investors to put their idle money to work in safe investments.

It also was pointed out that government bonds could easily be converted into cash. The bonds will be tax exempt except for inheritance, estate tax and surtaxes.

Treasury experts agreed that some of the oversupscription was due to padding by investors who, wishing a certain amount of bonds and knowing the issue would be oversubscribed, submitted proposals asking for three or four times the amount they actually wanted. By doing this they hoped that when the allotments were announced they would receive the amount they wished.

The issue is the first move by the treasury to reduce the size of its outstanding short term paper through which funds have been raised to operate the government in face of declining revenues and increasing expenditures.

Short term paper outstanding totals $3,400,000,000. Of the $800,000,000 raised through sale of bonds, $589,900,000 will be devoted to retiring maturing certificates of indebtedness and the remainder to other needs of the government.

The reception given the issue increased belief that the treasury would announce another bond issue either when the September financing is done next fall or in December. From July 1 to Dec. 1 approximately $1,600,000,000 in short term paper will mature.

Banker's Attorneys Seek Lower Sentence

MIAMI, Okla., June 4. (UP)—Attorneys for George O. Shepherd, former president of the Farmers State bank at Afton, drafted an appeal today to the criminal court of appeals seeking reduction of Shepherd's sentence.

Reno Reaches Level of Newport And Other Elite Gathering Places

RENO, Nev., June 4. (UP)—The six weeks divorce, Nevada's solution for unhappy marriages, has established Reno on a level with Newport, Palm Beach and Nice as a gathering place for prominent figures of the social and business worlds.

When it took three months to get a divorce, Reno held little attraction for those with busy lives, but now that the time has ben cut in half, the possibilities for a pleasant sojourn in the desert, coupled with frontier diversions such as "sky limit" gambling and a complete lack of dry laws, has filled the city to overflowing.

Social registerites, members of European nobility and prominent business and professional men and women are here, many of them under assumed names to escape publicity. A United Press survey revealed some 125 names well known to the newspaper reading public.

June Inverclyde, comely auburn haired queen of London musical comedy, is here to seek a divorce from Baron Inverclyde, grandson of the founder of the Cunard steamship lines. She occupies a suite at a hotel here as "Mrs. John Alan Burns," the family name.

Charles H. Sabin Jr., whose father is a New England financial leader and whose mother is Pauline Morton Sabin, president of the Women's National Republican convention in 1921, has established residence here purportedly for a divorce.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, and Peter Arno, painter of "one line" humerous pictures, are others in the colony, along with Mrs. Martha Nichols Doubleday, wife of Nelson Doubleday, book publisher; Mrs. Katherine Dupoint, who is suing Francis V. Dupoint, son of the late Senator Coleman Dupoint of Delaware, and Mrs. Frazier Harrison, wealthy Philadelphian.

Capitol Funds Must Pay For Remodeling

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4.(UP)—Atty. Gen. J. Berry King, in an opinion handed down today, held that the funds used for remodeling the statehouse must be taken from the state capitol funds and cannot be taken from the Oklahoma tax commission appropriation.

King held, however, that such furnishings as were necessary, could be taken from the tax commission appropriation.

End Piles Quick

No Salves — No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Allison's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—Adv.

HOW TWO FAR-SEEING PARENTS WILL HELP THEIR SONS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT THE PRACTICAL THINGS OF LIFE

ON a bright clear morning this month, two boys will step eagerly into a Ford roadster and start on a motor trip that will last the whole summer through.

Theirs will be a trip never to be forgotten . . . long to be remembered.

Regular school will have closed for them, but their practical education will be but beginning. They will learn many things not found in books. Two far-seeing parents have attended to that.

Pressed by the boys to give them an automobile as reward for passing with high grades, the parents consented on one condition . . . that the trip must serve a useful purpose. So this plan was decided on.

Each day the boys will arise at seven o'clock and follow a carefully arranged route and schedule. This calls for their visiting principal points of interest in this country and spending time in leading industrial plants. They will get back to the sources of raw materials—see how things are mined and grown—and follow them through the various stages of manufacture. They will see how they are used by millions of people.

Bustling factories will teach of the work of men and machines. The village farms and wide, rolling prairies will reveal the magic of nature and the treasures that lie beneath the soil. Everywhere—through first-hand contact—they will learn more about the great country in which they live.

Thrown a great deal on their own resources—yet not too much—they will develop a poise and self-reliance they could get in no other way. The theory of books will become the actuality of fact.

Each night they will sit down and write a letter telling what they have seen and what they have done in that particular day. And two proud parents at home will read and envy and prepare perhaps to set forth on a similar adventure.

It seems altogether natural and logical that the Ford was selected for an extended trip of this kind. Always it has been associated with dependable, economical, useful transportation. For more than a quarter of a century it has been both pioneer and leader.

Years ago it was the first automobile ever seen in many of the sections the boys will visit. Today it is a part of the lives and activities of millions of men and women. So universal is its service that people everywhere look upon it not only as an automobile but a national institution. It is the symbol and the expression of high value at low price, unique manufacturing methods, and higher wages for American workmen.

Many thousands of miles of use will confirm your first impression of quality and give you a feeling of pride and satisfaction in the performance of the Ford. You will come back from the long trip convinced that it is "a great car."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reddish Gums

Question—M. C. writes: "Please explain the cause of dark reddish colored gums just below the teeth. Can lupus be cured?"

Answer—The dark red gums may be caused from an acid mouth and made worse by the infection of the germs associated with pryorrhea or trench mouth. Lupus can be cured if treatment is started in time.

Watercress

Question: Mrs. V. asks: "Do you consider watercress a good salad vegetables?"

Answer—Watercress is a spicy non-starchy vegetable which should be used in combination with other vegetables and should never compose the entire salad. It may also be used in cooked form if added to such leafy vegetables as spinach, beet tops, etc., but is hardlly palatable if used by itself.

Buerger's Disease

Question—Mrs. H. G. writes: "My husband has Buerger's disease, and has already lost the two great toes. He has been to various hospitals and they can do nothing for him except amputate as the toes turn black. I am very anxious for your opinion."

Answer—Buerger's disease, also known as thrombo-angiitis obliterans, is a form of gangrene of the extremities, usually affecting the toes and fingers, caused by an inflammation and obstruction of the veins and arteries of the limbs. The disease is very difficult to cure, but some benefit may be derived from following my cleansing diet course which would help reduce the inflammation of the arteries. It would probably be necessary to repeat the fact about once a month for a while until there is an improvement. It would also be a good plan to use baths, massage and exercises outlined in my article on Raynaud's disease, which will be sent upon request.

BRADBURY'S HOMER GIVES SPUDS THIRD OVER SHREVEPORT

SPORTS DROP FINAL, 5 TO 3

Bob Cooney Holds Atz' Team in Check

SHREVEPORT, La., June 4—The Spudders made a clean sweep of the three-game series with the Sports when they bunched hits off Abe Miller while Bob Cooney was holding the Sports in check. The score was 5-3. The margin of victory was the result of Bradbury's homer in the fourth inning with a runner on base. The Sports never seriously threatened until the eighth inning.

A single by Allday and doubles by Gullic and Euller gave the Spudders two runs in the first.

A single by Scharein in the second and a double by Garms in the third were wasted but Bradbury made up for lost time in the fourth by hitting a home run over the left field wall after Fuss had walked.

Bases on balls to Whelan and Solters and a single to right by Wade after two were out gave the Sports a run in the fourth.

In the fifth Fuss led off with a single and Scharein singled but Bradbury hit a pop fly to first base, Cooney rolled into a double play.

Whelan missed Garms' high bounder and Garms moved up on Allday's sacrifice. He went to third on Stanton's single to left and when Solters caught Gullic's long foul fly Garms scored.

On a couple of errors by Allday, a couple of walks by Cooney and a single by Vorhoff, a pinch hitter for Miller, the Sports scored twice in the eighth. Mueller drew a walk and Vorhoff singled to deep short field. Whelan drew a pass, filling the bases. Geygan rolled to third and Allday missed Euller's throw and all runners were safe, Mueller scoring. Solters fanned. Radcliff rolled to Allday who threw wild to second and Vorhoff scored as all other runners went safe. Wade hit to short and a double play followed.

STEERS WHIP M'CABE, 4-3

DALLAS, June 4. (AP)—Big Lou Garland, young speed merchant of the Dallas Steers, let the Fort Worth Panthers down with five hits to pitch Dallas to a 4-3 victory before 7,624 fans here tonight and drop the Cowtown entry to third position in the club standings.

The Steers hit Dick McCabe, veteran Fort Worth right-hander, hard in the late stanzas. He entered the game with eight victories and the distinction of being the only full time regular hurler in the circuit undefeated but he came out a soundly beaten pitcher. Ernie Holman hit a home run for Dallas. The Steers clicked off three double plays.

Manager Morse was banished in the first inning by Umpire Tullos for disputing a decision when he thought Higgins' drive into the left field bleachers, ruled foul by the arbiter, was a homer. Score:

Malone's Tie for Top By Defeating Dixons

The Malones Beauty Shop baseball team went into a tie for first place Thursday afternoon with the Texas Electric Service company team by defeating Dixon Sign company, 8 to 3, on Harrison field. A wild first inning gave Malones their five-run lead which was never threatened by the Dixon club. Three errors in the field paved the way for the five runs. Sisk with two doubles and Ralph Walker with a double and single led the Malone attack. Pete Dixon led the Dixon attack with two singles and a walk.

Jewel Sisk's catch in deep left of Red Belcher's long drive was the feature play of the day. Sisk leaped high into the air while still backing up to spear the drive just before he fell down. A nice throw in on the catch completed a double play. Chatterton, Dixon Sign infielder star, leaped high into the air in the second inning to pull down a hot smash off Nicholson's bat with two men on for a timely double play. Score:

BEAUMONT, June 4. (AP)—The Baker boys played smart ball defensively and offensively today to take the series final from San Antonio, 4 to 2. George Malicky won his fifth game and four of them have been at the expense of the club which released him last year. Tony Boroja led the attack with three hits. JURADO AND COTTON LEAD

Both Shoot 147 on First and Second Rounds

By T. C. WATSON

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 4. (US)—The last long scramble to ascend the pinnacle of golfdom, symbolized by the British open championship, begins tomorrow when 66 rugged amateurs and professionals, seven of them Americans, tee off for the 36-hole final over Carnoustie's layout of braes and burns.

Jose Jurado, diminutive Argentine pro, and Henry Cotton, temperamental British master, locked arms as leaders tonight at a total of 147 strokes for the first and second 18-hole rounds, but they were only a stroke ahead of Tommy Armour, Detroit wizard, who but for tough luck should have carried 144 to outdistance the field.

Farrell Comes Next

Close on the heels of the Detroit iron king is Johnny Farrell, former U. S. open champ and best dressed professional in America, whose 149 flitters brightly despite the fierce wind and rain that have so far marred the championship. Carnoustie is hard enough, without having nature add more hazards.

Gene Sarazen, himself a former U. S. open ruler, and Joe Kirkwood, another American entry, finished the day with 150, and Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, took 151. MacDonald Smith, who burned up the course in the qualifying round, has dropped back, as usual, and is listed at 152. Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., had a hard day and finished the first 36 with 156, three strokes under the qualifying figure.

Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero of Westchester county, N. Y., were two who felt the bitter sting of the wind which blew them out of the tourney. Turnesa's 83 today gave him a total of 160, just one too many, while Manero's 80 gave him 162, far beyond the fold of the favored.

Jurado Equals Record

Jurado's pace-setting and record-equalling 71, one under par, added to his 76 of yesterday, gave him a total equaled only by Cotton, who was tied with John Farrell for the lead yesterday. Jurado took only two 5s, one 2 and one 3, and foured the other 14 holes. He was steady as a tree on the way out, but eased up on the final holes. His card:

Out .....444 444 424—34
In .....444 354 445—37—71—147

Cotton had a 36 to the turn despite two 5s, but a 6 and three 5s coming home spoiled his chances to shake off the Argentine. He three-putted the 14th and missed two short putts on the 17th and 18th to give him a 75 for the round. His card:

Out .....445 445 424—36
In .....445 364 355—39—147

Armour Is Steady

Tommy Armour began his tour by bagging five consecutive 4s. His first nine was perfect, but he had six 5s on the way in. His ragged putting caused him trouble, for up to the green he was master all the way. His card:

Out .....444 443 425—36
In .....555 254 355—39—75—148

Farrell's 77 was gained by dint of a good homecoming nine, after he struggled along with 5s and a 7 to get to the turn. Johnny had a day of heart-breaking lipped putts and brilliant recoveries. On the 12th, he roughed his drive, was short with his second, but dropped his chip two yards from the pin, holing for a par. On the 16th, his tee shot was trapped. He recovered to within inches of the cup to get his par 3. Card:

Out .....454 447 534—40
In .....444 355 345—37—149

Gene Sarazen played steadily through without brilliance. Misjudging of iron and mashie-niblic distances and faulty putting cost him his fight with par, and he was four over. His card:

Out .....444 455 335—37
In .....535 455 336—39—76—150

Kirkwood had just as much trouble as Farrell on the way out, but was home sprinkled with 3's and 4's. He took 40-35—75 for a two-day card of 150.

Bill Twine, the Britisher who astounded every one yesterday by keeping up with Cotton and Farrell, took a 78 today for his 150. Abe Mitchell, the veteran, carded 150, too.

NEW STAR SHINES IN TEXAS TOURNEY

BROOK HOLLOW COUNTRY Club, Dallas, June 4. (AP)—Texas golfdom offered a new star tonight following two rounds of match play today in annual Texas Golf association state tournament at Brook Hollow.

Bernard A. Schriever, who has just graduated from Texas A. & M. college and is registered from the Bryan Country club, arrived among the big names today when he gave the tournament a couple of surprising upsets in eliminating Lanham Connor, Dallas, and 1919 runner-up in the morning round, one up, 19 holes; and in the afternoon defeating Ossie Carlton, veteran Houston ace and 1923-1926 state champion, 3 and 2.

Schriever is a San Antonio youth.

Neal Smith, Dallas and co-medalist with Gus Moreland, fell out in his morning match one down to L. R. Robertson, Dallas. After beating Smith Robertson faded out in the afternoon by losing to Reynolds Smith, Dallas, and recent winner of the Lakewood Country club invitation, 5 and 4.

Willie Cutter Hunt won two matches today in defense of his championship. Hunt beat J. B. Giles, Austin, to win 3 and 2. In his afternoon match, he defeated Jimmy McGonagill, Dallas, 3 and 2.

Louis Jacoby, Dallas, defeated Joe Bailey 2 and 1. Jacoby defeated Frank Lewis Jr., San Antonio, 2 and 1, in the afternoon.

The day's big thrill for gallerites occurred in the Dr. S. H. Hill and Leland Hamman match. Hamman, Paris star, stroked a 50-foot putt into the cup for a birdie three at the 18th green to win 1 up. Hill, who was on in two and 12 feet from the cup, missed his putt.

Afternoon matches included:

Leland Hamman, Paris, beat Dr. S. M. Hill, Dallas, 1 up.

Bud McKinney, Del Rio, beat Eugene Pittman, Dallas, 3 and 2.

B. A. Schriever, Bryan, beat Ossie Carlton, Houston, 3 and 2.

Electrics-Banks Game To Be Played Today

The Texas Electric Service company-Banks game scheduled for Thursday on Debus field will be played off this afternoon on the same field. The battle likely will draw Dewey Pigg or Earl Keith to the hill for the Frigidaires with Big Boy Ridling on the firing line for the Bankers.

The Thursday game was postponed on account of the death of the infant child of Everett Blue, ace of the Frigidaire pitching staff.

This game will complete the first half schedule for the Frigidaires who are now tied for top with Malones Beauty Shop. Noble-Little and Presbyterians play on Harrison field this afternoon for the Hardwaremen's last game of the first half.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—Cotton today was dominated to a large extent by the stock market and developed a strong upward tendency and closed within a few points of the best of the day with the general list steady, at 18@21 points net higher.

Weather conditions were again highly favorable to the growing crop although here and there some complaints were received of the need of additional moisture.

July closed at 8.73 and October closed at 9.11.

Sentiment in the market seemed more friendly than for some time and while it was admitted that basic conditions in the cotton situation were not materially changed, the opinion was expressed that inasmuch as values had declined largely in sympathy with stocks, it was entirely logical that they should advance when the stock market rallied.

Liverpool cabled that the market there advanced on covering, general buying and on the firmness in Alexandria as well as owing to a cessation of selling pressure.

Liverpool came in 2@4 penny points better than due and private cables stated that shorts covered and a general buying movement ensued. The Egyptian market was firm. Manchester cabled that there were moderate cloth sales to the home trade and to Argentina.

Stock Market Continues Upward With Whole List Displaying Bulge

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 4. (US)—The stock market continued upward today and additional substantial net advances were recorded throughout the list.

From the bottom prices of Wednesday's session, the two-day recovery represented the largest gain for any similar period since the initial recovery from the panic lows of November, 1929.

In point of percentage gain, allowing for the materially lower general price levels now prevailing, the improvement has been even more substantial. Among the leading stocks the recovery has averaged over 10 per cent from this week's bottom prices.

As on the previous day, internal conditions provided the chief influence for the market's sustained betterment, although helped slightly by announcement that brokers, following the bank action the previous day, are now reducing their margin requirements on customers' accounts.

Helped along presumably by the stock market's sudden strength, commodities generally were higher, cotton gaining a point a pound at one stage of the trading and wheat rallying also, although the latter may have been properly accepted as a natural rebound from the vicious decline suffered in that market on Wednesday.

Wheat recovered in the face of the grain board statement that "world prices" are expected to prevail now in the grain markets, free from U. S. government interference.

With the entire market participating virtually as a single unit in the continued upturn, it became more obvious that technical considerations were paramount in the recovery, although aggressive bull sponsorship suddenly developed for the marekt after its early demonstration Wednesday that selling pressure had been, temporarily at least, overcome.

The outstanding bull leader currently is the same Boston individual who, up to a month or so ago, had been among the most aggressive bears. It was his buying which caused the sharp advance today in Case Threshing Machine. The latter stock has been continually hammered by the stock exchange member recognized as one of the outstanding leaders of the bear forces.

Case harbors an enormous short interest and this undoubtedly helped the reformed bear in his contest against his former colleague and the entire market took heart from the advance in the stock.

Westinghouse was another issue reflecting the contest between big bulls and bears, as was also American Can, one of the favorites of the Bostoner and his associates.

Stocks with extensive short accounts enjoyed the most substantial appreciation. Steel Common added 3⅝ points to its previous advance, while American Telephone was up more than four points and North American 3½. Advances among the railroad stocks were larger. Atchison was up 5⅛, Union Pacific 7, while New York Central gained 2 points and Pennsylvania 3. St. Louis San Francisco Common sold up to 18, a gain of 4 points for the day, and double the lowest price of this week. A factor of considerable influence on sentiment was the disclosure that the Frisco's financial requirements will be taken care of by bankers.

Public Utility stocks as a group enjoyed smaller net advances than either the Rails or Industrials. General Motors gained only ⅝, while International Nickel was off ⅛. Standard of New Jersey was up more than a point, but Standard of New York slipped off a fraction although the rest of the oil list seemed to express continued satisfaction over the government's decision not to appeal the New York-Vacuum merger.

News of the day included lower May retail business sales reported by leading merchandisers, and disclosure that commodity prices have now dropped to the lowest levels since June of 1914. Eastman Kodak rallied sharply upon announcement by its chief executive that the dividend was safe.

Brokers' loans dropped an additional $35,000,000 during the past week to a new low total.

The market's recovery has extended to such proportions that it is reasonable to assume that unless concrete evidence appears of business betterment the advance must be characterized as another of those rallies which are invariably witnessed at the darkest stages of declines in an extended bear market.

The railroad situation holds out possibility of sudden improvement but to date there have been only vague reports of underground action.

Lacking definite cheer from business, the market undoubtedly will be subjected to heavy profit-taking and renewed bear pressure.

Several important bears who had withdrawn temporarily from the market pending a sizeable rally were showing increased interest as prices continued their improvement.

DRY GOODS MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—Cotton goods were quiet today with prices for gray cloths slightly firmer, following a higher cotton market. Reports stated that retail trade is stimulating trade in cotton goods. Low grade rayon yarns were offered at irregular prices. Wool goods were in moderate request. Silk goods continued under price pressure. Burlaps were easier.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 4. (AP)—Intensified drouth complaints from Canada furnished stimulus for decidedly higher grain prices today. The major portion of the Canadian wheat crop was reported deteriorating fast. An authoritative unofficial wheat crop summary to be issued at Winnipeg Saturday was expected to make the poorest showing ever known at this time of year.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top figures, ¼@2c higher, corn ⅛@1¼c advanced, oats ⅛@⅝c up, and provisions at 15@27c gain.

Strength which developed in stocks and cotton also aided the wheat market upturns.

Corn and oats followed wheat upward, but lagged owing to spread trading and as a result of fine weather for the new corn crop. Shippers appeared unwilling to buy corn until they first had sold it.

Provisions declined on account of foreign selling of lard, but later advanced with grain and hogs.

Closing Indemnities—Wheat, July, 57⅝c, 60¼@60⅝c; Sept. 58¼c, 60½@60⅝c; Dec. 61⅝c, 64⅛c.

Corn—July, 56⅝c, 58⅝c; Sept. 53, 54⅝c; Dec. 46⅞@47c, 48⅝c.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 4. GASSER WILD IN GRAYSON

F. H. E. Company's Test Out of Control

SHERMAN, Texas, June 4. (AP)—The F. H. E. Oil company's No. 1 Potts gasser, 20 miles north of Sherman, was running wild today for the third time, after bursting out of control yesterday as workmen were attempting to insert eight-inch casing inside a 10-inch casing already in the hole.

Strict precautions were being taken to prevent spectators from approaching nearer than one mile from the well as a preventive measure against fire. The well was spouting salt water more than 100 feet into the air and the volume of gas was estimated at several million cubic feet daily.

The well went wild last Friday and caught fire, seriously burning four workmen but was extinguished Saturday. The men are recovering.

The gasser is 100 yards south of the Red river and two miles from the nearest production, in Marshall county, Oklahoma.

Baptists Advocate Workers' Insurance

KANSAS CITY, June 4. (AP)—Advocacy of unemployment insurance discouraging lowering of wages, and substitution of generous giving for "luxury and display in personal living," are among suggestions for unemployment relief approved by the Northern Baptist convention for guidance of its 8,000 churches.

The suggested temporary relief program, devised by the social service committee, includes:

Employment committees in every church.

Use of church parlors and club rooms for emergency housing.

Care of older women out of work by women's organizations.

Similar care of older men by the church men's groups.

Giving to unemployed of free health aid through church nurses.

Arrangements with Y. M. C. A. and similar institutions for tickets for beds to be distributed to unemployed.

As permanent relief measures, the convention suggests:

Holding of conferences to analyze the situation with a view to forestalling recurrence of such a period of depression.

Urging the government to publish adequate unemployment statistics.

Relate local, state and national employment agencies.

Encourage public works expansion.

Curtis Back Home 'Looking 'Em Over'

TOPEKA, Kan., June 4. (UP)—Vice President Charles Curtis came home today to face a complex political situation, and to decide whether he again will seek the second highest executive office of the nation or try to regain his old seat in the senate.

For a month Curtis is expected to spend the greater part of his time in conferences with political advisers and in touring the state to "look things over." At the end of that time it is believed he will have made his decision for 1932, and will also have decided whether to follow the judgment of his advisers or to take the course he is generally understood to favor.

Republican leaders insist it is imperative that he announce his plans soon. Curtis, on the other hand, is said to believe that it would be more expedient for him to announce his decision late next fall.

Financiers Plan to Pay Frisco Railway Bonds

Methods under discussion included short term financing and issuance of a high coupon bond with an early maturity.

The railroad's managment, it was reported today, hopes for gross earnings of approximately $68,000,000 this year, compared with $74,208,000 last year. From such earnings in 1931, there might be a balance for interest of $17,700,000 compared with $18,405,000 last year.

was so cool, so fresh, so aloof sitting there in the chair, her hair and dress dark against the red of the leather. Nice hands, too. Roper liked pretty hands. Warner had showed good taste with this girl. The last he had had—Miss Haller—with her red hair, and too fussy clothes, Mr. Roper definitely had not liked. He didn't like dyed hair, and he didn't like fussy clothes.

"Tell Mr. Warner these are all right, what I wanted," Roper pushed a buzzer at the edge of his desk. "What's your name?"

"Sally Blair," and Sally smiled as she arose to go.

Roper smiled back. Pretty teeth she had, too. So even and white, and gleaming. "Did anyone ever tell you you were too pretty to be working in an office, Miss Blair?" he asked still smiling.

"Only you, Mr. Roper," Sally said quickly, as she opened the door, and slipped out. She heard Roper's chuckles as the door closed.

The Errand Succeeds

The errand had been highly successful, she decided, as she nodded to Miss Crowder, and went into the corridor. She had definitely impressed Mr. Roper, and that was what she had intended to do. He would remember her when he saw her again, she was sure. That chuckle had told her that. And he would see her soon, she determined. Next week she'd manage to take more reports to him from Warner.

Her campaign was going very well. A whole week it had taken her to see Roper, but the week was worth it.

Things were going well on the whole. She had nothing to complain about, except Peter . . . She had been humming until she thought of him, then she stopped and her face grew grave, and the gray eyes clouded with pain. At the 20th floor she stepped listlessly out of the elevator and walked slowly to the door of the sales office. Her fingers were on the knob when it turned under her hand, and Peter Douglas stepped past her into the hall. He mumbled something, she couldn't tell what it was, and hurried away. She was left standing there, weak, shaken, her nerve gone. He had been so close. His sleeve had brushed her dress. All the old love had come back, all the yearning she was trying to forget.

It was a few seconds before she could go into the office. Seconds while she stood swaying in front of the door, dizzily, touching the arms that had felt his.

The Old Love Returns

How long would it be this way? How long would it be until she could see Peter, talk to him without remembering what had been? Without thinking of his kisses on her lips, his face pressed against hers?

Was she foolish? Was it only pride?

When she thought of Mrs. Douglas, she knew it wasn't pride. She was doing the only thing she could. In time she'd forget Peter, and his impossible mother. In time . . .

All the joy, the triumph she had felt on leaving Kent Roper's office was gone. Her meeting with Peter had taken it away.

When she got to her desk she found a package on it. Opening it quickly, she slipped the expensive black bottle of Nuit de Noel perfume it contained in the top drawer of her desk.

Warner, of course. And she was worried. Their score wasn't even after all. Warner had adjusted that. Maybe Ann was right after all. Maybe she was playing with fire.

Will Sally achieve this business success which she expects to make up for a loveless life?

Court Opens Way To Imprison Fall

WASHINGTON, June 4. (INS)—The courts proceeded today to have Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior during the Harding administration, to start serving his sentence of one year in jail and pay a $100,000 fine following his conviction of accepting $100,000 from E. L. Doheny, west coast oil operator, as bribe to favor Doheny's company with a lease on the navy's Elk Hills oil lands.

The U. S. supreme court sent to the District of Columbia supreme court, in which Fall was convicted, a mandate directing its sentence upon Fall be started. Last Monday the high court refused to review Fall's case.

Frank J. Hogan, Fall's attorney, and District Attorney Leo A. Rover will decide upon a date for Fall to come here and start sentence.

Meanwhile Hogan might appeal to the lower court to waive the jail sentence because of Fall's declining health and age. He is 69.

ROTARY HEARS SCHOOL HEAD

Fillers Talks on "Symbolism of City"

Rotarians assembled at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon for the weekly luncheon meeting of their organization heard an inspirational address by H. D. Fillers, new superintendent of public schools, on the subject, "The Symbolism of a City."

Mr. Fillers likened the important elements in the life of a city people to the four walls inside of which ancient cities used to be built. The north wall was described as that of economic life, kept up by people of maturity, and standing "between the city and the cold north winds."

Pioneers are honored by the west wall, he said, which reveals the adventurer with his covered wagon, the laborer with his trowel. At the south wall, he continued, are the gates of the church, education and recreation, while the east wall supports the vital gate of faith, through which will come the dreams by which the city will grow.

"I have come to live with you and to be a worker at the south wall," the speaker said, "but I hope to see the other three walls rearing themselves skyward."

Mr. Fillers was introduced by W. W. Brown, secretary of the school board. He and Mrs. Fillers arrived here Wednesday for a short visit, and will establish their residence here about July 1.

The program included two vocal solos by Miss Joan Fox, accompanied by Miss Laurette Erwin, pianist.

Two Negroes Jailed On Murder Charges

Tom Peck and Robert Burns, negroes, charged recently with murder in connection with the death about three weeks ago of Louis Nash, also a negro, were placed in the Wichita county jail Thursday afternoon after having been brought by Deputy Sheriff Ben Smith from Clarksville.

Complaints against the pair were filed during the past few days after a report had been received from the state chemist at Austin last Sunday indicating that strychnine had been found in the viscera of the dead man. Nash died suddenly at his home here.

Two negro women, also charged with murder in the same case, have been held in the jail here since Monday.
