

Local Government Put Under 1-Man, 1-Vote Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today put local government under its one-man, one-vote rule.

The historic 5-3 decision extends the rule to an estimated 80,000 units of local government throughout the land.

One of the dissenters, John M. Harlan, said the decision was "both unjustifiable and ill-advised."

Justice Byron R. White gave the decision in a case from Midland County, Tex., where Mayor Hank Avery of Midland asked that the county governing body be apportioned on a population basis.

The landmark finding came in these words by White: "We hold that petitioner (Avery) as a resident of Midland County has the right to a vote for the Commissioners Court of substantial equal weight to the vote of every other resident."

The ruling extends a step taken by the court four years ago in interpreting the mandate of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

It is that in elections for Congress and for state legislatures districts must be drawn so that the vote of citizens is substantially equal in weight.

"The question now before us," said White, "is whether the 14th Amendment likewise forbids the election of local government officials from districts of disparate size. As has almost every court which has addressed itself to this question, we hold that it does."

Again, White wrote: "It is now beyond question that a state's political subdivisions must comply with the 14th Amendment. The actions of local government are the actions of the state."

"A city, town, or county may no more deny the equal protection of the laws than it may abridge freedom of speech, establish an official religion, arrest without probable cause or deny due process of the law."

The dissenters were Associate Justices Harlan Potter Stewart and Abe Fortas. Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the case.

A Texas court had ruled for Avery. Without any explicit reference to the 14th Amendment, it ordered the commissioners to adopt a new plan in which each precinct would have substantially the same number of people.

The Texas Court of Civil Appeals reversed the ruling, holding that neither federal nor state law required districting of county commissioners' courts according to population.

Next, the Texas Supreme Court reversed the Court of Civil Appeals. It found the districting scheme impermissible under the Texas and federal Constitutions. But it disagreed that precincts must have substantially equal populations and said no Texas court could restrict the commissioners' court.

Today's ruling reverses the state Supreme Court and requires that there be "no substantial variation from equal population in drawing districts."

Sales Tax Goes Up Here Today

Big Spring residents began paying an extra one per cent sales tax today—a total of three per cent. City voters last December voted the extra sales tax which became effective today.

The total sales tax—one per cent for the city and two per cent for the state—will be collected by the state. No tax returns or payments will be made by merchants collecting the tax, to the city.

At the end of the current tax quarter, July 1, merchants will receive tax reporting forms from the State Comptroller. These returns and tax liability should be returned to the comptroller by July 31. The city will receive its share of the sales tax after Oct. 1.

The extra tax effective today requires an adjustment in the sales charts used by many merchants in computing the tax owed on purchases. A tax will be collected on purchases beginning at 17 cents. The following chart indicates the amount of purchase and the tax due:

Amount of Purchase	Tax due	Amount of Purchase	Tax due
.17 to .49	.01	2.50 to 2.83	.08
.50 to .83	.02	2.84 to 3.16	.09

TIME IS SHORT

Three More Named For Youth Award

Names of three more students—all senior girls in Big Spring High School—have been received for nominations for the Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award.

Others are invited and the official form, which must be used (and accompanied, if desired, by a supplemental report on activities), appears in The Herald today on Page 6-A. Nominations will be open only for another week.

Any senior or junior in Howard County's three high schools, Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan, is eligible for nomination, and anyone can name them. Purpose of the Achievement Award is to pay honors to those young people who show responsibility of leadership and civic awareness, through good academic grades, through volunteer work in the school, church and community.

The winner is to be honored at a banquet in April, and will receive a trophy and an engraved watch. All nominees will receive certificates and gifts.

Latest to be named are Marianne Lipscomb, cited for good scholastic grades, for FHA and debate activities and volunteer service to her church; Janell Langford, high in scholastics, active in band and debate work, a church volunteer and worker in civic affairs; Lile Gale Williams, member of honor society, volleyball player, member of Future Teachers, organizer for her church, and active in religious affairs.

LBJ, Thieu To Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson said today he hopes to meet soon in the United States with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam to "strengthen and improve our plans" for restoring peace and stability in Southeast Asia.

Johnson made his disclosure in addressing the National Association of Broadcasters—his first public appearance since dramatically bowing out of 1968 politics.

Word that he expects to be host to Thieu "some time in the weeks ahead" was dropped into his prepared text as he spoke.

Peace Negotiators

President Lyndon B. Johnson said last night in his nationwide address that Averell Harriman, left, ambassador-at-large, and Llewellyn Thompson, right, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, would be ready to go to Geneva "or any other suitable place—just as soon as Hanoi agrees to a conference."

HARRIMAN

Assigned To Familiar Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, the sophisticated millionaire who held seven jobs under President Harry S. Truman and three under President John F. Kennedy, has been tapped for another presidential mission with a familiar goal: Peace.

Harriman is 76 years old and if North Vietnam's representatives show up at the negotiating table, as President Johnson expressed hope Sunday night they will, they are destined to deal with a U.S. diplomat of almost unparalleled experience.

Johnson said in his nationwide address that Harriman and Soviet Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be ready to go to Geneva "or any other suitable place—just as soon as Hanoi agrees to a conference."

Harriman currently is ambassador at large and has for some time been active in U.S. efforts to secure peace talks.

Harriman has journeyed around the world on similar missions since the Cold War began at the close of World War II.

The scion of one of America's great railroad families—he once ran the Union Pacific Railroad—Harriman first came to Washington when Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the White House, working in key domestic agencies.

But diplomacy seemed his real love and Roosevelt gave him some challenging posts—work on the Lend Lease program just before the war which often meant European flights through air combat zones, and ambassador to Moscow in 1943.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's order halting most bombing and naval shelling of North Vietnam clashes with the expressed convictions of key military leaders that it is vital to hit harder.

Johnson ordered Sunday night U.S. planes and warships "to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone." Presumably, the order was effective at once.

He permitted strikes only in a sector "where the continuing enemy build-up directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

The President's action exempts almost 90 per cent of North Vietnam's 17 million people and most of its territory—including Hanoi, the port of Haiphong and the rice-producing regions of food-short North Vietnam.

Military sources said they believe the bombing and shelling will be compressed into a section south of Dong Hoi, a major point on the supply lines, about 35 miles above the DMZ.

This section, they said, includes the Mu Gia pass, through which many of North Vietnam's trucks drive with their loads of war supplies and munitions for North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers in South Vietnam.

One member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff told a reporter privately within the past 10 days that he feels strongly the United States should broaden and intensify the air war against the North.

In view of the Communist winter offensive, this high-ranking officer said the United States should lift restrictions on bombing the Haiphong harbor and docks, across which flow much of the Soviet-supplied arms, petroleum products and food.

"I'm hitting anything that supports the enemy's war effort in the South," he said. He did not rule out striking the dike system to ruin North Vietnam's rice crop.

Other senior officers, contacted after the President's limit-the-bombing order, made it plain they oppose it.

Recalling that all the JCS members went on record last summer as strongly supporting the bombing, one officer said: "I don't know of any military men who have changed their minds."

Some uniformed professionals recalled that, during a four-day Lunar New Year bombing pause last year, American reconnaissance planes spotted trucks and barges flocking southward with an estimated 25,000 tons of war gear—many times the normal movement.

Callup To Involve About 60,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense officials disclosed today the administration is planning a three-phase callup of military reserve forces which would involve the mobilization of about 60,000 men in coming months.

Within the next three days the Defense Department will order up at least a few thousand troops to help meet the increase of about 13,500 for the Vietnam war, just authorized by President Johnson.

A second phase of reserve callup is expected later to replace a Marine unit which was dispatched to the war zone recently as an emergency measure following the Communists' Tet holiday offensive.

Defense officials said the replacement of the Marines would involve an unspecified number of Army reservists but gave no exact figure. As an example, however, they mentioned 7,000 to 8,000 men.

Then in coming weeks and months, officials said, the administration envisions an additional callup of reserve troops to replenish the nation's strategic reserve force, an active duty manpower pool which is maintained in the United States to meet unforeseen emergencies abroad.

Officials said this third stage callup will involve a number not expected to exceed 50,000 men. These would not go to Vietnam.

TO NAME 3 COMMISSIONERS

City Vote Set Tuesday

Decision on city government will be written Tuesday, when voters of Big Spring go to the polls to select three candidates to serve on the City Commission for the next two years.

They are to make a choice of three from a field of nine candidates.

Generally speaking, campaigning—in the tradition of City Commission elections—has been low-key. Those asking for office in the main have pointed to their own merits and purposes, although there has been one major attack on the present city administration. Advertising through the public print and by other media stepped up as election day neared. Some candidates have received backing of various groups, aligned differently in political philosophy and on some municipal policies.

Names on the tickets include the three incumbents: Arnold Marshall who has had three terms on the council and is now serving as mayor; Walter Stroup and Jimmy Morehead, each seeking a second term.

Others seeking a place on the Commission are Eddie Acri, M. M. (Blackie) Hines, W. A. Fitzgerald, E. A. Fivesash, A. A. Porter and Mrs. George T. Thomas.

Under city election rules, there is no "runoff." The top three candidates in the final tabulation will be elected.

Others seeking a place on the Commission are Eddie Acri, M. M. (Blackie) Hines, W. A. Fitzgerald, E. A. Fivesash, A. A. Porter and Mrs. George T. Thomas.

Reason, Responsibility

Plea Voiced By President

CHICAGO (AP)—In his first public appearance since bowing out of 1968 politics, President Johnson voiced a plea today that reason and responsibility prevail "amid all the frenzy and emotion" of an election year.

Johnson flew to Chicago with little advance notice to address the annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters. In his prepared text Johnson said this season is a time of debate and enlightenment, and "at its worst it is a period of frenzy."

The chief executive warned that "the basic hope of a democracy is that somehow — amid all the frenzy and the emotion — reason will prevail."

He called on his audience to exercise a great sense of responsibility during the campaign season — to be fair, impartial and honest.

"This is true," he said, "for broadcasters as well as for president — and seekers after the presidency."

Harking back to his stunning announcement of Sunday night, Johnson acknowledged that he has been a seeker of consensus.

"Yet along the way," he asserted, "I also learned that no leader can pursue public tranquility as his first goal. For a president to buy public popularity at the sacrifice of his best judgment is too dear a price. The nation cannot afford such a price or such a leader."

Johnson also alluded to his Sunday announcement of major

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says his bombshell announcement that "I shall not seek and I will not accept" nomination for another term is "completely irrevocable."

Johnson voiced his emotion-packed pronouncement in a television-radio address to the nation Sunday night. Then he met with newsmen in the White House living quarters and sought to dispel any suspicion that he might change his mind or succumb to a draft.

To do this, he used the phrase "completely irrevocable."

HIS CHOICE?

Left unanswered was the question of whether Johnson might try to influence the choice of his successor as Democratic standard-bearer. But his words, taken at face value, suggested a hands-off attitude.

Also up in the air were the plans of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who might join Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in the 1968 Democratic sweepstakes.

A man of many surprises, Johnson's announcement was his most stunning move in a 37-year career in politics. No president eligible to succeed himself has spurned a fight for the office since Harry S. Truman bowed out in 1952 during the controversial Korean War.

REASONS

Johnson attributed his decision—which aides said was a year in the making—to controversies rending the nation at this time, including the Vietnam war.

"There is division in the American house now," he said in solemn tones. "There is divisiveness among us all tonight."

Then, after appealing to all Americans "to guard against divisiveness and all its ugly consequences," he came to the key passages:

"... I have concluded that I should not permit the presidency to become involved in the partisan divisions that are developing in this political year."

"With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office—the Presidency of your country."

Johnson tacked the disclosure of his very personal decision onto a major Vietnam policy speech, in which he announced his broadest yet peace move: An immediate and indefinite halt in most air and sea bombardment of North Vietnam as "the first step to de-escalate the conflict."

OVERSHADOWED

This military decision, momentous as it was, quickly was overshadowed by the postscript to his speech, which was not included in the prepared text distributed to newsmen in advance.

Candidates, politicians of all stripes and ordinary citizens appeared alike in reacting to Johnson's announcement with astonishment.

Market Makes Record Surge

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market surged ahead early today on the highest first-hour trading volume in the history of the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's rally followed President Johnson's de-escalation of the Vietnam war and announcement that he will not seek re-election.

At 11:30 a.m., the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had spurred 17.17 points to 837.84.

Volume in the first hour soared to 6.06 million shares, exceeding the previous record of 5.19 million shares on March 10, 1967, the New York Stock Exchange said.

The exchange ticker tape fell 13 minutes behind in reporting the flood of floor transactions. Many large blocks of shares crossed the tape.

Brokers said the early bullish reaction was to be expected.

"Anything that moves us toward peace is decidedly bullish," said one. "The markets were thirsty for anything positive about the war," commented another.

TEXAS GOP LEADERS HAIL PRESIDENT'S MOVE

Connally, Other Demo Chieftains 'Stunned'

By The Associated Press
Gov. John Connally declared: "I'm stunned."

His reaction was an oft-repeated phrase by Texas political leaders of both parties in response to President Johnson's decision Sunday night not to seek re-election.

Connally, longtime friend and political associate of Johnson's, said, "I talked with the President and I don't think there is any doubt of his intention."

As soon as the surprise of the announcement wore off, Republican party leaders hailed the move as strengthening GOP chances of getting into the White House.

ODDS IMPROVE

"It increases our chances significantly," said Albert Fay of Houston, Republican national committeeman.

GOP state Chairman Peter O'Donnell said in Dallas "it appears Bobby Kennedy will be the Democratic candidate for president."

O'Donnell, who said the announcement was hard to believe, added that persons who are "concerned about the prospect of Bobby Kennedy for president should help the GOP now so we'll be able to stop Kennedy in November."

The governor got the word in a telephone call from White House aide Marvin Watson while attending a statewide conference on the arts in Austin.

Connally took the microphone at the gathering and announced the President's statement. Silence fell over the several thousand persons present.

The governor said later he talked with the President. "I told him that I am sorry for this nation, but that I rather sensed relief for him," Mrs. Johnson said for their family.

'GREAT LEADER'

Connally said, "I know it must have been a very difficult and very tortuous decision for them to make. I am sorry for the nation... the country will have lost a great president and a great leader. The nation will be the loser."

In Washington, presidential news secretary George Christian said that Connally was one of a few people whom Johnson had consulted in making his decision.

When asked whether this might make him a vice presidential candidate, Connally replied: "This doesn't make me anything but sad."

'FAVORITE SON'

Former Ambassador Eugene Locke of Dallas, a Democratic candidate for governor, immediately endorsed Connally as a favorite son for president at the party's national convention in Chicago next August.

Locke, a close friend of Johnson's and Connally's, said in a telegram to the governor: "I am shocked and stunned at the President's decision. I hope he reconsiders. However, there was a note of finality in what the President said, and as a result I do not want to see a split develop in the Democratic party in Texas."

"The only way I can see for us to prevent a serious split in the party is to ask John Connally to be the party's favorite son for president of the United States."

State Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said, "I think I would be for John Connally for Texas favorite son for president now."

Van Vleet Named To All Star Cast In Drama Contest

Carl Van Vleet, who played the lead role in the Big Spring High School offering in the District 24A drama competition Saturday, was named to the "all star cast."

The local dramatists performed in an excerpt from the play "Liliom," from which the musical drama "Carousel" was adapted. The contest was held in San Angelo, and local residents were given a preview of the play two nights last week. Winning honorable mention for their work in the play were Terry Conner, Beth Hayworth and Don Crockett. The seven other schools in the district were included in the competition.

The Abilene offering placed first, followed by Odessa and San Angelo. Following the contest, members in the cast honored high school director Dan Shockey with a plaque, noting his many hours of work in helping them prepare for the contest.

Dear Abby

About Film 'Censorship'

DEAR ABBY: A while back someone wrote to you complaining because motion pictures were getting dirtier and dirtier. And you replied, "Now that Mr. Jack Valenti is president of the Motion Picture association, we can all sleep a little better."

I don't know about you, Abby, but I haven't been sleeping any better since Mr. Valenti took over. Could Mr. Valenti be the one who is sleeping? So far I haven't noticed any improvement. If anything, I think movies are dirtier than ever. Why doesn't your Mr. Valenti do something?

I don't expect to see this in print. You'll probably just toss it into the wastebasket, but I had to write anyway. Sincerely,
"SOLD OUT"

DEAR SOLD OUT: I didn't toss your letter into the wastebasket. Instead I tossed it into an envelope and sent it to Mr. Valenti. His reply:

"DEAR SOLD OUT: I wish I had all the power you credit me with. If I did, I would change things a mite. When it comes to passing judgment on a film, even the experts can't agree on what is "dirty." What the motion picture code attempts to do in this democratic society — where there is NO censorship — is to inform the public honestly about the content of the film, then let parents make the judgments. That is the only democratic way. The alternative is despotism, where a small group decides for all. If parents cannot control and guide their children, are we to deliver that responsibility to the state? And remember, Sold Out, the state is people, and thus a handful of mortals will be gathering unto themselves one enormous amount of power." Then who would watch the watchers? And who would guard the guardians? Sincerely, Jack Valenti."

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in a home for unwed mothers now. She has decided to give her baby up for adoption. I won't go into the reasons for her decision, but I think she's doing the right thing. She's only 15. She doesn't even want to see the baby. She says it will be easier to forget if she doesn't. Abby, even though it would be a lie, what harm would there be if I were to tell her that her baby died? I am not asking her doctor to tell the lie — I will take all the responsibility myself. I just want the doctor and the people at the home where she will deliver the baby to back me up on my story.

My daughter has suffered enough already, and I only want to make it easier for her by telling her that her baby died. She won't have to go through life wondering where her child is. I can see only good in this lie, but if you think I'm wrong, please tell me why, and I'll do as you say. Thank you.

HER MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: Your notions are "good" — but one cannot accomplish good with evil acts. I advise you to forget this scheme. It is morally wrong.

Street Sweeper Picks Up Man, Hauls Him Off

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Chicago man knocked into Bourbon Street in a scuffle early Saturday was sucked up by a street-sweeping machine and carried for three blocks before the device ejected him.

Police said Joseph Nathan Peters, 29, was taken to a hospital in undetermined condition. Peters reportedly suffered a broken leg.

Patrolman Peter Dale said three youths involved in the ruckus with Peters are being sought. During the fracas, the officer said, one of the trio knocked Peters to the pavement. The other two youths, said Dale, rolled Peters in front of a huge street-sweeping machine.

The machine, which sucks up trash like a vacuum cleaner, picked up Peters and carried him three blocks—apparently unknown to the driver—before it dropped him.

The first day of April brought cold air and rain, ending a week-long summer-like warmth that covered much of the eastern half of the nation.

Showers dotted areas from the lower Mississippi Valley to southern New England, dumping up to two-thirds of an inch in some areas.

Earlier Sunday, Indianapolis and Louisville received more than an inch of rain. A mass of cold air, moving eastward on the heels of the shower activity, brought near-freezing but clear conditions across much of the Midwest.

The cold front was expected to chill New England, which was unseasonably mild. In New York record highs were recorded Sunday at Rochester, 78, Syracuse and Albany, 77, and Buffalo, 75.

Concord, N.H., had a record of 68 Sunday. Except over the Midwest, generally cloudy skies prevailed.

VOTE FOR EDDIE ACRI FOR CITY COMMISSIONER ON TUESDAY, APRIL 2

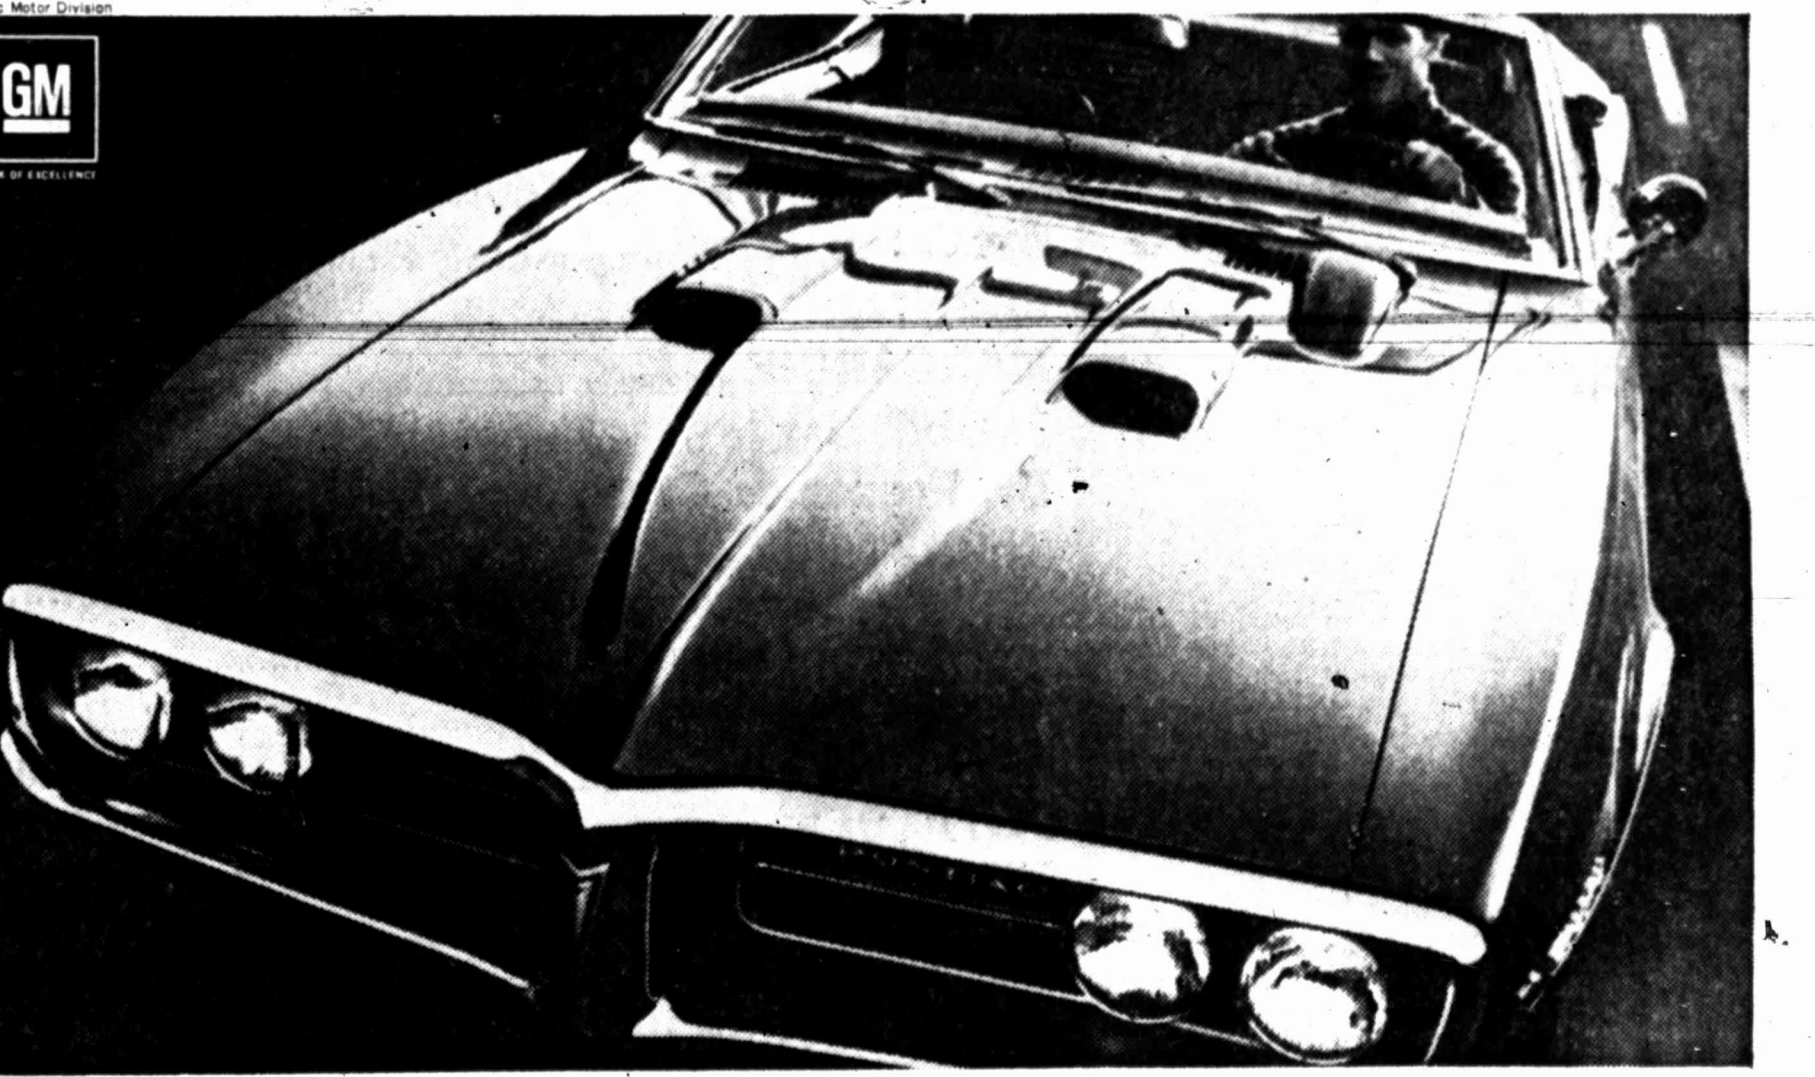

I want to serve all the citizens of Big Spring, that includes all City employees, policemen, firemen, clerks, sanitation department workers... and all other City personnel, personally... I favor better salaries for these municipal workers.

Your consideration for City Commissioner on Tuesday, April 2, will be appreciated. I have seen Big Spring grow in the past 17 years, and I see a need for even greater growth. We have so much that must be done for the people of Big Spring, better drainage, streets need to be paved, in all parts of our city, a municipal golf shop to go with the beautiful golf course, we have sidewalks that need to be added to our city, in the near future Big Spring will be ready for a coliseum, this will surely add to our city income. We need a teenage center for our teenage children. I have talked to many Big Spring citizens in the past weeks, and I feel as they do "get the most for your tax dollars." I pledge myself to work for all the people of Big Spring. A City Commissioner is a representative of all the people, Eddie Acri is not afraid of work and if elected I will be an active City Commissioner. You took the time to register, now take the time on Tuesday, April 2nd to VOTE.

THANK YOU.

Knew In Advance

Vice President Hubert Humphrey and his wife step from a plane at Mexico City before President Johnson announced his plan not to serve another term in the White House. Humphrey said he knew in advance of the President's decision and it came as no surprise. Humphrey will participate in the signing of a treaty banning nuclear weapons in Latin America in Mexico City today.

Fighting Men In Viet Voice Joy, Disbelief

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese officials, taken by surprise, kept silent today about President Johnson's bombing curtailment and his exit from the presidential race while GIs expressed joy, dismay, disbelief and even disinterest.

American military leaders and the South Vietnamese government have openly opposed any letup in the bombing of North Vietnam, but they refused to comment on any part of Johnson's speech.

GI comments on the bombing curtailment ranged from "they'll bury all of us" to "This means we'll go home sooner."

"I DON'T CARE" One said, "I don't care who is President so long as I get home."

A senior officer on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff, who refused to let his name be used, said few American soldiers cared whether Johnson ran for re-election or not.

"The average GI is much more concerned about his immediate situation than about who is sitting in the White House," he said.

Many did react, however. Some thought reporters were pulling an April Fool's joke and one lieutenant colonel said, "You never want to believe a politician when he makes an announcement like that."

NO COMMENT Westmoreland, who is to be relieved in July as commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, told a questioner: "Yes, I have a comment. It's no comment." Last year he said the bombing of North Vietnam was "essential and vital to our military strategy."

The top allied commanders in Vietnam apparently were notified Sunday of the President's bombing curtailment order, but both this and his political announcement came as a complete surprise to other military men and South Vietnamese officials listening to Johnson's speech on the U.S. Armed Forces Radio.

President Nguyen Van Thieu Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Nguyen Van Loc all declined to comment. There was a flurry of activity at Independence Palace as Thieu met with his chief advisers.

The GIs' responses to Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential race generally depended on political leanings. But some took the position of an Air Force pilot who said: "I don't believe anyone coming in cold will have the experience or knowledge of events or that a new man stepping into office will be as well prepared as Johnson is at this time."

'KICK IN THE HEAD' "I don't blame him," said an infantry sergeant on his second tour in Vietnam. "He did the best job he knew how. It has been rough on him and all he got for it was a kick in the head."

S. Sgt. John Archer of Malden, Mass., said: "Johnson is about the only one of the politicians who doesn't want to pull our troops out altogether. The Kennedys and the rest do. I think it's a great mistake that he's not seeking re-election."

A young Vietnamese lieutenant, however, said he felt a new man in the White House would help to end the war.

"Our people are tired of war," he said. "Everybody wants the war to end."

KREMLIN SAYS BID IGNORES CONG'S DEMAND

Europeans Hail Peace Offer

LONDON (AP) — President Johnson's new overture for peace in Vietnam was welcomed across Europe and by some of America's Asian allies today. But the Soviet Union called it a maneuver which ignores North Vietnam's demand for an unconditional halt to bombing raids.

Diplomats in London expressed a belief Hanoi will reject Johnson's peace offer because of his companion announcement not to run for re-election. They said Johnson's decision may tempt the Vietnamese Communists—with Red Chinese encouragement — to battle on in the hopes a "peace candidate" will win the presidency and give them better terms.

'WIN THE WAR' But the emergence of a "win the war" candidate with a strong chance of being elected probably would convince Hanoi it should negotiate now, these informants said.

Some Southeast Asian leaders expressed anxiety that the President's action may increase the threat to their countries. The Soviet view came in a Tass dispatch.

President Johnson "did not mention any period for the curtailment in the attacks," Tass said in a Washington dispatch. "Refusing to stop fully the barbaric bombings of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam," Tass said, "the United States, as before, ignores the lawful demands of the DRV government and all the world public to stop fully and unconditionally the bombings and all acts of war against the Vietnamese people."

The British government welcomed the bombing curtailment, which it said "should offer a further opportunity of achieving a just and honorable peace."

The government said it was "examining urgently how best (it) can respond to President Johnson's invitation to exert (its) influence to end the conflict."

Presumably the British will renew their pressure for another Geneva conference on Vietnam. Britain and the Soviet Union were co-chairmen of the 1954 conference which ended the French war in Vietnam, but so far the Russians have refused to join in calling another such parley.

In Paris, two interpretations were put on the President's political move: that he was bowing to mounting pressure in the United States against his policies, and that he hoped to present the Democratic convention with a peace agreement which would result in the "grateful" convention drafting him for another term.

THAI FEARS Japanese officials, whose government reluctantly supported the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, welcomes the de-escalation move. The officials speculated that Johnson made his announcement after receiving some positive word that it would get favorable reaction from Hanoi.

that our common resolve is unshakable, and our common strength is invincible. The United States will never accept a fake solution to this long and arduous struggle and call it peace.

I cannot promise that the initiative I have announced tonight will be completely successful in achieving peace any more than the more than 30 others we have undertaken and agreed to in recent years.

Tonight I have offered the first in what I hope will be a series of mutual moves toward peace.

I pray that it will not be rejected by the leaders of North Vietnam. I pray that they will accept it as a means by which the sacrifices of their own people may be ended.

And I ask your help and your support, my fellow citizens, for this effort to reach across the battlefield toward an early peace.

Tonight we face the sharpest financial threat in the post war era—A threat to the dollar's role as the keystone of international trade and finance in the world.

One thing is unmistakably clear, however: our deficit just must be reduced. Failure to act could bring on conditions that would strike hardest at those people that all of us are trying so hard to help.

Highlights Of Johnson's Address To U.S. Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of President Johnson's address to the nation Sunday night.

With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office.

I shall not seek and will not accept the nomination of my party for another term as your President.

Tonight, in the hope that this action will lead to early talks, I am taking a first step to de-escalate the conflict. We are reducing—substantially—reducing the present level of hostilities. And we are doing so unilaterally, and at once.

FIRST STEP Tonight, I have ordered our aircraft and our naval vessels to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone where the continued enemy buildup directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat.

BOMBING BAN Even this very limited bombing of the north could come to an early end—if our restraint is matched by restraint in Hanoi.

But I cannot in good conscience stop all bombing so long as to do so would immediately and directly endanger the lives of our men and our allies.

DOLLAR THREAT Tonight, I call upon the United Kingdom and I call upon the Soviet Union—as co-chairmen of the Geneva Conference, and as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council—to do all they can to move from the unilateral act of de-escalation that I have just announced toward genuine peace in Southeast Asia.

I call upon President Ho Chi Minh to respond positively, and favorably, to this new step toward peace.

But if peace does not come now through negotiations, it will come when Hanoi understands Gold's Monetary Role Diminishing?

LONDON (AP) — London's gold market reopened today and with indications gold's monetary role may be diminishing, there was no major bonanza for speculators whose buying rush closed the market 17 days ago.

This weekend's agreement in Stockholm to create "paper gold"—a new form of international credits for world trade—

Lee Dam Lures Over 8,000

Although the weather was not favorable, over 8,000 persons toured and inspected the Robert Lee dam at a special open house Sunday afternoon.

O. H. Ivie, general manager for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said he was very pleased with the turnout. He said he felt those who toured the $8,713,000 project were interested in the facility, pointing out that many motorists got out of their cars to take a closer look at the work.

The dam is approximately 65 per cent completed and is 22,000 feet long. Clement Bros., general contractor, and Terry Bros., spillway subcontractor, hope to begin closure on the final section of the dam across the valley by autumn.

The lake should be ready to supply water by Jan. 1, 1970.

Brooms Sale Set

STANTON (SC) — The annual broom sale, sponsored by the Stanton Lions Club, will begin Tuesday at 8 a.m. at the post office.

dealt speculators their biggest blow in months.

In effect, the world's major non-Communist trading nations, excluding France, agreed to accept each other's paper promises to repay part of their trading debts without the security of gold. This could be the first step on a long road leading to the end of gold as money, meaning a decline in the demand for the metal and drop in its price.

The price in the London free market ranged in early trading from $37.50 to $38 an ounce, less than $3 above the price of $35 formerly guaranteed by the United States and six other nations.

In Paris gold prices dipped for the fourth straight trading session today, following the weekend monetary decisions.

The price was the equivalent of $38.08 an ounce, the lowest since March 20. Volume continued relatively high—$5,011,000.

To keep the price down in the face of a gold rush which indicated lack of confidence in paper money, the gold pool nations had to supply gold from their own stocks to meet the demand.

Cong. Burleson Announces Formally For Re-Election

Congressman Omar Burleson has formally announced his candidacy for re-election to Congress, subject to the Democratic Primary May 4 and in the General Election in November.

"The people of Howard County responded generously to my campaign two years ago when I had an opponent and when the area was new to the district," Burleson said in his opening statement. Howard County was placed in the 17th District by the State Legislature in 1966, and he began officially representing it at the beginning of 1967.

31 COUNTIES

The 17th Congressional District is now composed of 31 counties, covering approximately 30,000 square miles. Within this area live about 440,000 people.

"With this tremendous area, and the fact that the Congress is in session almost continuously, it is pretty difficult to see and know people as I think their representatives in the Congress should," Burleson said in his comments. "I believe it is incumbent upon a congressman to know people and that they know him, to have the best representation. This is fundamental to our system," he said.

"During my tenure of office I have followed two guiding principles: First, to know the views of my constituents and reflect their sentiments to the greatest degree possible in my actions in the Halls of Congress. Second, to inform and advise as closely as I can on those issues which affect our district, our state and our nation."

Burleson termed his approach to government as one of "common sense," gained through the years of public service. "I have tried to see that the people's tax money is spent as wisely and as judiciously as you would have spent it had you been in my place," he said.

MINORITY

"The record will show that a greater part of the time I have found myself in the minority in opposing the vast spending programs which have been put into effect in recent years. In every session of the Congress the record will show my votes for expenditures below that recommended by the executive department and far less than actually appropriated by the Congress, except in the field of National Defense," Burleson said. "Without meaning to appear boastful, if the Congress had followed those of us who have voted consistently over the years for fiscal responsibility, our financial affairs would not be in the shape they are today."

"In areas providing for the defense of our country, I have always supported those things to make and keep our nation stronger than any other in the world," he said.

"I have been discerning in separating those activities which the federal government was not designed to do, from those which are truly its responsibility," he said.

ENCROACHED

Burleson said that activities of state and local governments, in-accordance with the Constitution, should not be infringed and encroached upon by the federal government.

"The federal government does have specific missions," he said. He gave as examples the conservation of natural resources, the defense of the country, and its general welfare.

"At the same time," he said, "the federal government can and should not try to take care of everything from Washington, either foreign or domestic. It has grown to colossal proportions and centralized power in Washington has increased," Burleson pointed out. "To this I am opposed and my record is clear in this respect."

JONES COUNTY

Burleson is a former county attorney and county judge of Jones County. He was appointed an FBI agent, and served in a number of assignments over the U.S. He resigned from the FBI to join the Navy in World War II, and saw duty in both the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Burleson ended his formal announcement by saying, "Although not having opposition in this year's election, it is my hope to visit my constituency as opportunity affords. The Congress being in session at this time and expected to be long after the primary election, there will be little time to leave duties in Washington. I expect, however, to get back home at short intervals to do the best I can in seeing my friends and to make new ones."

Political Bombshells Tip Race Upside Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's stunning decision to leave the White House at the end of his term is the biggest thunderbolt to flash from the political skies in a stormy year of astounding surprises.

With the primary season barely begun and only a handful of convention delegates chosen, three major candidates have quit the battle and a fourth, who was not expected to run at all, now is campaigning hard for the Democratic nomination.

FACING DEFEAT

Michigan Gov. George Romney was the first to confound the experts when he withdrew from the Republican nomination fight Feb. 28, just 12 days before the New Hampshire primary.

Facing certain defeat in his contest with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Romney said he was getting out because it was clear his candidacy had not won the wide acceptance he had hoped for.

Romney's departure seemed to clear the way for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to take up the race against Nixon.

Even the New Yorker's closest supporters seemed stunned when he announced at a March 21 news conference that he wouldn't run.

On the Democratic side it was not a departure but an arrival that provided the biggest surprise before Johnson sent his shock wave through the world.

PROB PUZZLED

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who began the year promising to support Johnson for renomination—and as late as Jan. 30 said he would not run against him "under any foreseeable circumstances"—found the circumstances more to his liking after the strong New Hampshire primary showing of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Six days later, Kennedy plunged into the race, declaring the New Hampshire vote showed the party was deeply divided and looking for leadership.

Now, with Johnson's sudden withdrawal, Kennedy must rate as the leading contender. But with the kind of surprises that have been sprung so far this year, even the most optimistic political seers are likely to be cautious in future predictions.

Howard County Precinct Lines Could Be Changed

Howard County's population ratio in its four county commissioners precincts is not entirely in balance, but it is in a far more equitable condition than that faced by Midland County and by hundreds of other political subdivisions in this and other states.

What action will be taken in this county to make the supreme court's ruling on proper division of population in the areas served by commissioners will have to be worked out.

The decision of the high tribunal as briefly announced today, does not specify a time when redistricting would be done — or how it should be accomplished.

Based on the registration figures, which may be assumed to represent a fairly accurate division of the county's population, two of the county's commissioner precincts are very close to equal; one is considerably larger than any of the others and a fourth lacks 2,000 votes of being the size of the largest.

Some adjustment would have to be made in the boundaries of the precincts to equal the differentials in the relative populations.

Howard County has a total registration of voters for the current year of 14,122.

Numerically (as evaluated by registered voter strength) the commissioner precincts are: Commissioner Precinct No. 1, 2,742; Commissioner Precinct No. 2, 4,722; Commissioner Precinct No. 3, 5,339; Commissioner Precinct No. 4, 3,139.

Commissioner Precinct No. 1 involves the voters who are residents of six voting boxes of the county's 21. These boxes and their registered voting strength are: No. 1 (North Side Fire station) 1,163; No. 8 (Cedar Crest school) 1,207; No. 12, (Prairie View) 78; No. 13 (Knott) 132; No. 14 (Vealmore) 69; and No. 17 (Gerald Harris residence) 93. Total vote 2,742.

Commissioner Precinct No. 2 concerns voters who live in six boxes. These boxes are: No. 2 (Washington Place) 2,171; No. 9 (Cochran) 643; No. 10 (Ryman) 165; No. 15 (Rannels school) 977; No. 18, (Byron Nelson residence) 228; No. 21 (Sand Springs) 132. Total vote is 4,722. There are three voting boxes in Commissioner Precinct 3. They are: No. 3, (Mam and 13th Street Fire station) 1,957; No. 16 (Park Hill school) 1,105; No. 19 (Elbow) 457. Total voter strength is 3,519.

President's Decision Few Months In Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson eased his six-foot-three frame into a maroon chair and said: "I guess the turning point was probably last November."

For some time Johnson had been tossing around in his mind — and talking over with close friends and associates who could keep his secret — the possibility of renouncing the race for another presidential term.

He had even come close to making the stunning announcement that finally came Sunday night when he delivered his State of the Union message to Congress last Jan. 17.

MIXED EMOTIONS But with so many messages in particular phases of his program still on tap, he decided the timing was improper.

So it was not until the last day or two that the President made the final, definite decision against seeking or accepting nomination for a second full term.

His family knew his intention and had what Mrs. Johnson later described as mixed feelings about it. But not many other people did, particularly as to the timing.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had an inkling. So did Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, and Clifford's predecessor, Robert S. McNamara.

TURNING POINT The President said he talked with his vice president Sunday morning about what he was considering but didn't tell him he was going to announce a decision that night. He did call Humphrey, who by that time had flown to Mexico City, after the radio-television address from the presidential office.

What fixes November in Johnson's mind as the turning point was a visit from the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

"His visit didn't bring it about," Johnson explained at a news conference hurriedly arranged just before midnight in the yellow oval room of the White House living quarters.

"His visit coincided with when I turned the corner," Christian is one of those who had the President's confidence. He said of the blockbuster announcement:

COUNTING THE DAYS "I think he really has been giving it hard consideration for about the last year. I think he and Mrs. Johnson have just been counting the days on when they might get out."

Christian said, too, that he was working during the fall on a speech for Johnson which would have incorporated the Sunday announcement. He said Johnson had in his pocket in writing what would have been the announcement when he addressed Congress on Jan. 17.

George Thorburn, Democratic county chairman, said he felt Johnson "hated to fight the Vietnamese war problem."

"I think he hated to de-escalate and still be a candidate for the nomination," Thorburn said. "I believe he felt his supporters would think he would be 'backing down.'"

Thorburn said he was not endorsing any other candidate for the nomination at the moment, but he believed the Democratic Party still had the strongest chances of capturing the election in November.

Dr. Akin Simpson, county chairman of the Republican party, said he had felt "for some time that Johnson was probably considering such a move."

"Because of the turn of events, both on the domestic and foreign fields, Mr. Johnson was well aware he was in trouble on all fronts," Simpson said. "He is a very good student of public opinion . . . and he was well aware of a big split in the Democratic party, which may worsen as time goes on . . . and he is in trouble in the Wisconsin primary, which is to be held Tuesday."

Simpson added that he believed Sen. Robert Kennedy, who has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination, will be in the news more and more because of Johnson's announcement.

"I think Johnson's decision not to run will increase the chances of the Republican nominee," Simpson said, "and at this time, I am endorsing Sen. John Tower of Texas as a favorite son."

Cecil Riordan, who is running unopposed for Democratic county chairman, said today from Mineral Wells, that in 37 years of "dedicated service to his country, I don't think Johnson ever stood as tall as he did last night . . . I truly believe he is intent on searching for peace in the world and unity in the nation."

Riordan added he would support any nominee of the Democratic convention.

Deadline for casting an absentee vote in the annual school trustee election Saturday is Tuesday at 5 p.m.

At mid-morning today, there had been a total of 19 votes cast in the office of Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, where balloting is taking place.

Jury Panel Ready In District Court

A jury panel was in 118th District Court at 11:30 a.m. today, ready to serve in the trial of any civil cases which may be announced.

Judge Ralph W. Caton had announced Friday that three possible matters have been slated for trial this week. General qualifications of the jurors was under way at noon.

Tag Crowd Fades Fast

Business continued brisk but not overwhelming at the offices of Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, Monday morning — the final day that 1968 license plates for motor vehicles can be obtained.

When the doors opened, a long line of early applicants was on hand but when these had been served the remainder of the morning was not marked by any heavy jam of belated tag seekers.

Mrs. LeFevre anticipated a considerable number of motorists will be on hand Tuesday. In order for these to be provided with plates, they must sign an affidavit they have not driven their car since midnight to night.

If they do drive on the roads and highways of the county with 1967 plates still on their vehicle, they can be arrested and fined.

No figures were available on Friday's record business but the tax assessor said that a heavy registration occurred.

Midland Youth Burns To Death Near Stanton

STANTON — A 20-year-old Midland youth, employed by a geophysical firm, was trapped under his pickup truck and burned to death a mile west of here early Sunday morning.

He was Perfecto Garcia Munoz, of 303 East Louisiana, Midland. He was unmarried.

Sheriff Dan Saunders said that Munoz was in a pickup goployed as a secretary at the US 80 over IS 20 he failed to make a curve which would have taken him back into the traffic lane.

The pickup flipped over five times. Munoz was thrown out and pinned under the wreckage. The pickup caught fire and Munoz was burned to death.

The body was removed to Midland where services are pending.

He was an employe of the Ray Geophysical Co., Midland, and had been visiting friends in Stanton on Saturday night.

President Johnson sits at his White House desk last night to make his nationally broadcast address with the surprise ending.

Party Leaders Here Assess Announcement

Three local party leaders, in assessing President Johnson's announcement Sunday night that he is not a candidate for re-election, said today they were "surprised" that the President made such a definite statement at this time.

"I think Johnson's decision not to run will increase the chances of the Republican nominee," Simpson said, "and at this time, I am endorsing Sen. John Tower of Texas as a favorite son."

Cecil Riordan, who is running unopposed for Democratic county chairman, said today from Mineral Wells, that in 37 years of "dedicated service to his country, I don't think Johnson ever stood as tall as he did last night . . . Bomb Runs Have Halted

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers and warships halted their attacks on North Vietnam today, one day after strikes close to Hanoi, Haiphong and the Chinese boarder.

The curback in the bombing ordered by President Johnson was the 10th curtailment in the air war against the Communist North since it began on Feb. 7, 1965.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters said the reduction in the bombing was in effect by the time the President began his television statement announcing it, at 10 a.m. Saigon time.

The U.S. Command said

American fighter-bombers confined their attacks on North Vietnam today to the area just above the demilitarized zone, hitting enemy storage complexes, truck convoys and gun positions.

Only a few hours before, the U.S. Command announced that American planes on Sunday attacked the Cat Bi airfield four miles southeast of the center of Haiphong, the radio communications station 10 miles south-southeast of Hanoi, a chemical plant 19 miles northeast of Haiphong, the Cam Pha coal area, 44 miles east-northeast of Haiphong, and the Lang Gai railway, 18 miles below the Chinese boarder.

Westmoreland's headquarters and the U.S. 7th Air Force refused to outline this area still subject to attack, but it probably extends north to the city of Vinh, about 130 miles above the demilitarized zone.

Most of the air strikes in this area have been against truck convoys believed headed southward with war materials for the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops who are believed menacing the U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh, Con Thien, Gio Linh, Dong Ha and other Allied posts just below the DMZ.

The area from the DMZ to Vinh was excluded from the last bombing pause, at the end of January for Tet, the lunar new year festival.

It was learned that U.S. planes also will continue reconnaissance and aerial photographic missions all over North Vietnam, including the Red River Valley area from Hanoi to the Chinese boarder.

The President made no reference to the bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, over which thousands of tons of war material and thousands of troops move into South Vietnam. Presumably, this air campaign will continue, with more warplanes available to strike the North Vietnamese supply routes and buildup areas in that country.

Seven Wrecks, No Injuries

Seven minor accidents were reported on Saturday and four on Sunday. There were no injuries as a result of traffic accidents.

Keith Carter, 1904 1/2 Scurry, was involved in an accident with a car that left the scene at 1604 E. 16th Saturday. Marvin Woolridge, 2803 Goliad, and Dorothy Love, 1508 Scurry, were in collision at Seventh and Main. There was a three-car accident at Eighteenth and Gregg involving Curtis Elton McCarty, 1503 Stadium, Sgt. Terrence W. Gagne, Webb AFB, and Jesus Dunez, Garden City.

Gregory Huffstickler, 2300 Merrill, was involved in an accident in front of his home with Wilson Pershing Kidd, Loraine Jemabeth Clinckscals, 705 W. 18th, and Terry Lynn Lound. Webb AFB, were in collision at the Student Union Building parking lot at Howard County Junior College.

David Abner Rhoton, 2801 Lawrence, and George Edwin Allison, Box 418, were in an accident at West Third and Douglas. At 2705 US 80 west, Aurora Marquez Davis, OK Trailer Court, and Ertis H. Basco, 215-A Hunter, were in collision. Emmett Ray Thompson, 2204 Main, and Yolanda Garcia, Luther, were involved in an accident at Northwest Ninth and Lamesa. By the Red Barn Lounge on Birdwell Lane, Bobby Wayne Sullivan, Sand Springs, and Fermin Glover Flores, 210 NE 10th, were in a collision.

George Mullins, 2210 Lynn Drive, and Ralph Emerson, 2208 Lynn, were in an accident in front of the Mullins residence. Vickie Lynn Hull, Route 2, collided with the parked vehicle of E. G. Patton, 1111 E. 14th.

DEATHS

B. E. Parmley, Rites Tuesday

MIDLAND — Bev Ervin Parmley, 82, father of J. W. Parmley, 1703 Purdue, Big Spring, died Sunday afternoon in a hospital here.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel, with burial in Westhaven Memorial Park.

He was born July 14, 1885, in Oklahoma territory and moved to Harold in 1917. He moved to Midland in 1942, where he worked as a maintenance man at the Tower Building, the Midland Air Terminal and the West Elementary School.

Others survivors include his wife, another son, six daughters, 20 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Volunteer Fire Meeting Called At Sand Springs

SAND SPRINGS — Bill Westbrook, chairman of the Sand Springs Volunteer Fire Department, said today that a community meeting has been called for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Midway school.

The new fire house for Sand Springs, he pointed out, is now nearly completed. Finishing touches to the roof, painting and cleaning up is all that remains to be done.

Ways and means to finish this job will be reviewed. The community will also be told of the functions of a volunteer fire department and provided other information on the program.

The fire truck is now being housed in the station even though some work remains before the building will be complete.

Activity As HemisFair Opening Nears

There's a rush of activity in and adjacent to HemisFair '68 as the official opening date of April 6 nears. Some exhibits are ready now and many are not, but officials say the San Antonio exposition will open on schedule. The U.S. Pavilion is at upper right. The Tower of the Americas, with its revolving top house is a fair attraction. New hotel, left center, is just outside HemisFair grounds.

HemisFair Will Feature Flying Indians, Oompah

SAN ANTONIO — Everything from computerized tic-tac-toe and musical automobile parts to flying Indians and German oompah bands will be available for visitors to the industrial section of HemisFair.

Seven of the nation's largest industries are among the 20 industrial and institutional pavilions at the six-month World's Fair, which opens its doors April 6.

The Bell Telephone System offers the futuristic game of tic-tac-toe in its 10,000 square foot exhibit along with picture telephones and computer age guessers. The musical auto parts—including such as trumpets made from axles—will be seen at the Ford Motor Co. pavilion.

The German band will be part of the atmosphere in the Falstaff pavilion in the restored Half homestead and the "Los Voladores de Papantla," the flying Indians of Mexico, will perform at the Frito-Lay - Pepsi-Cola exhibit.

"Autolite-Ford Parts Harmonic orchestra."

Frito-Lay - Pepsi-Cola — The Flying Indians of Mexico perform a 400-year-old ritual climaxed by a flight like giant birds around a 114-foot pole. The ceremonial originated with the Totonacan Indians who believed that climbing to the top of the pole brought them nearer to the God of the Heavens.

General Electric — A 5,000 square foot pavilion with a capacity of 22,500 persons per day features a 30 minute musical show written by the top Broadway song writing team of Fred Tobias and Stanley Lebowsky. The show features a combination of live and filmed techniques.

General Motors — Forty-five displays of travel and transit for the future are featured in the lake front pavilion. Highlights include a model system for urban rapid transit, a solution to urban parking and three experimental autos on a runabout, three-wheeled, four-passenger utility vehicle ideal for commuting and shopping. An impact sled to simulate accidents also is shown.

Gulf Insurance—Fair visitors will find rest and relaxation facilities at the pavilion, including a diaper-changing section and a lounge area. The 14,000 square foot structure is centered by a "two-story" fountain.

Gulf Oil Corp.—A miniature freeway system on which grownups and school age children can operate 30 cars is featured. The two-seater cars go seven miles per hour through tunnels, past elevations, service stations, and policemen.

The industrial exhibits will be free to the millions of visitors to the World's Fair, as will the pavilions of foreign governments from every country on the globe.

The pavilions blend both the old and new. Several exhibits are located in the 24 historic structures restored on the 92.6-acre grounds. Others are in new buildings erected for the international exposition.

The Baptist exhibit, for example, is housed in the Eagar home, which was part of a Spanish grant of 1810 and was a wedding present to Sarah Riddle Eagar, the first Anglo-American child born in San Antonio.

The Woman's Pavilion is located in a new 13,500 square foot structure designed by Cyrus Wagner of San Antonio. The $650,000 pavilion accommodates 1,500 visitors per hour to tell the story of "Woman's Changing Role in a Changing World." Included in the four level building is a modern theater-type presentation complete with displays of fact and entertainment.

The industrial and institutional exhibits include:

Coca-Cola — the world-famed marionettes of Marty and Sid Krofft will be featured in a 25-minute puppet show 12 times daily. The 30-inch wooden performers are worth $1,000 each. After each show the audience will be invited backstage to see how the Kroffts do it.

Eastman Kodak — The 5,000 square foot pavilion features suspended cubes projecting motion pictures and slides to other cubes made of a new, bright screen material. Color transparencies appear on a variety of three dimensional forms, and prints are shown on print trees.

Falstaff—The old Half house has been restored into the "House of Sir John Falstaff," boasting a German food restaurant on the first floor, an outdoor beer garden with an oompah band, and a second floor serving as headquarters for the HemisFair Press Club. Included in the restaurant are street scenes of early San Antonio, frontier gun collections and antique paintings.

Ford Motor Co. — The 10,500 square foot pavilion features a motion picture in the round using nine projectors on a screen 16 feet high and 146 feet long. Besides the film, Ford will display products from a replica of Henry Ford's original quadricycle to modern cars and trucks. Music appears to come from automobile parts in the 13-piece

Texas' Traffic Accidents Kill At Least 20 Persons

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents were the big killer as Texas recorded at least 29 violent deaths during the weekend. Twenty of the fatalities occurred in motor vehicle accidents.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and continued until midnight Sunday.

The toll:

A 15-year-old Houston boy was killed Sunday in an earth slide which covered a cave where he and several companions were playing. Killed was Joe D. Simmons.

An 18-month-old San Antonio girl was drowned Sunday night when she fell into a backyard fish pond. She was Kerry Chankin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chankin.

A man backed a car out of a residential driveway in Houston Sunday and ran over a child playing behind the car. Killed was Leticia Luna, 18 months the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Encarnacion Luna.

Butcher knife stab wounds proved fatal to Eddie Miles, 43 early Sunday. Houston police said. A man was arrested.

MAYOR'S DAUGHTER

LaRue Nation, 21, of Pampa, died early Sunday when her car hit a tree near Pampa. Officers said the vehicle was buffeted by 45-mile-an-hour winds before she lost control. She was the daughter of Pampa Mayor Jim Nation.

A 2-year-old boy, Scottie West, son of Mrs. Anna Dean West, was struck by a car and killed Saturday when he attempted to cross a street near his home in Abilene.

struck by a vehicle driven by a Fort Hood soldier, Joseph A. Warner.

Emergency open heart surgery failed to save the life Saturday night of Roudy Rodriguez, 39, of San Antonio. He was found shot on the floor of a San Antonio residence, after an apparent family argument involving some six persons, police said.

Head-Bashing Hurts Rights Bill Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — The windowsmashing, head-bashing violence in Memphis is worrying the men trying to line up House votes for the Senate passed civil rights bill.

Although the Memphis demonstrations are on behalf of striking garbage collectors, not civil rights, any clashes between Negroes and law enforcement officials are cited by congressional opponents of civil rights laws as proof of the futility of passing such legislation.

more vehicles in the streets of Memphis will help harden into opposition the views of the wavering few on whom the bill's passage now appears to depend.

"This thing is touch-and-go now," said a House leader scrounging for votes. "A good many members are just looking for an excuse to vote against open housing and this could be it."

OPPOSITION

"Every time I go home after one of these outbreaks," said a Northern House member who has been in the forefront of the fight for civil rights legislation, "People say, 'See! What good does it do?'"

Supporters of the present bill, which calls for banning discrimination in about 80 per cent of the nation's housing, express fear that photographs of looters, policemen clubbing Negro youths, and soldiers and ar-

Shivers Favors Longer Term

Former Gov. Allan Shivers, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was sensibly frank in arguing before the Constitutional Revision Commission for a four-year term for Texas governors.

Of course that would give the state a stronger chief executive. It is one, if the governor is to have any hope of coping with federal encroachment on state functions, Shivers said. And that is the prevailing view in the nation, as 37 states now have four-year gubernatorial terms while the 13 that retain two-year terms are steadily dwindling in number.

Through the appointive power, a four-year term governor also would have somewhat better supervisory control over the state's sprawling executive branch. He needs that too if the state's programs of works and services are to have any coordination and coherent direction.

A four-year term governor also would be stronger in relation to the legislature. That too would be an improvement, Shivers suggested, as the Texas legislature is too much involved in executive and administrative functions now. The legislature could in turn strengthen itself through constitutional revision that would take out excessive restrictions on legislative discretion.

A four-year term governor could concentrate on his administration's program, rather than having to think about a re-election campaign so soon after inauguration. As to whether to limit a four-year term governor to two terms—some states do, others don't, with little demonstrable difference—Shivers would leave the limitation of public service to popular vote rather than write it into the constitution.

Where elections are free and there is a strong legislative, as well as judicial, check, it doesn't make much sense as in years past to keep Texas governors so hamstringed that they can't get their increasingly important job done well.

CIA Redeems Itself

The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) has been in the doghouse ever since its faulty planning and faulty appreciation of enemy capabilities in the Cuban invasion fiasco. But it has certainly redeemed itself in Vietnam.

There is, of course, no way of knowing the extent of CIA operations in Vietnam, but its network of informants and operatives is bound to be extensive.

The CIA has consistently produced figures on enemy strength, dispositions and intentions at marked variance with those coming out of military headquarters in Saigon. It warned well in advance of the Tet offensive that the enemy would attack. It placed available enemy strength for that attack at more than 100,000 more than the military did. Since the Tet offensive, it confirms that the enemy was hurt to some extent but counters that recruitment drives conducted while the enemy controlled the countryside have more than made up for the casualties suffered.

The dilemma of President Johnson is apparent. He was faced with two conflicting intelligence reports. The Cuban failure may have made him dubious about the CIA. The reports from the military were much more comfortable, and optimistic.

There is good reason to believe that President Johnson will view CIA reports from Saigon in the future as worthy of very careful consideration. At the very least, he may try to strike a balance between the military and the CIA estimates, rather than depend on one source.

Holmes Alexander A Call For Special Handling

WASHINGTON — Monarchies have traditionally surrounded the life and reputation of the heir apparent with the kind of solicitous protection that we should now offer to the whoever-it-may-be Republican nominee.

It behooves us not to rough up the front-running Richard Nixon, the draft-available Nelson Rockefeller, the still-possible Ronald Reagan. One of these could be the most important man in the world, the Republican replacement for Lyndon Johnson. One of these GOP leaders will have to save us, if we're to be saved, and he must come into power unblemished, unblemished and believable for the sacred trust.

FOR THESE REASONS, as was suggested to me by Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, we must not demand of Republican presidential figures that they strike ironclad, statuesque attitudes on deliverance from the Vietnam involvement. We have got to take a lot on faith. This year, for once, it is permissible for political challengers to be less than explicit on the big subject before us.

IN NEW HAMPSHIRE, Nixon tried out on a small audience and later sprung on larger ones, catchy lines. "End the war and win the peace." Nixon was at once urged to translate and elucidate. Why didn't he say "win" the war instead of "end" it? What the devil does it mean—"win the peace?" Under the heckling Nixon commenced to hem about what Gen. Eisenhower did in Korea, and to how about shoving the Russians around. Eisenhower's memoirs, "Waging Peace," tell how he got a ceasefire in Korea by threatening to go to nuclear weapons, and this suggests an obvious question to Nixon: "Dick, do you dare rattle the nukes?"

BUT LET US withhold the heckling and the point-of-no-return questioning. Ordinarily, it is good to nail politicians when they indulge in loose rhetoric and open-end promises. But it would be injurious to an heir apparent, and to the realm, if we needed Nixon to put up or shut up on how to "end the war."

It would ossify his diplomacy if a President-to-be were elected on a rigid pledge to use specific tactics in such a fluid situation as we have in Vietnam. It is enough if we demand of Nixon to make us believe in his competence as a man, his reliability as a leader, his ability to be an innovator of policy and, of course, his staunchness as a patriot.

ROCKEFELLER'S chosen role of a draftable non-candidate is not a courageous or attractive one, but we had better humor him in it. He is said to have some ideas about "accommodation" in Southeast Asia, again neither courageous nor attractive, but let us hear him out. Rockefeller is a vulnerable figure on a number of counts, political and personal, but the GOP and the U.S.A. would be harmed if he were to be trampled into a national nonentity. If Rocky has a Communist-containment formula of Asia-for-the-Asians, he should be encouraged to discuss it under the same protection that we afford Nixon. It may yet turn out by August that only the New York governor can assuredly defeat President Johnson and, if so, the country and the party deserve him to arrive intact. The same can be said for Gov. Reagan whose large following will not let him be counted out before the Miami Convention.

Billy Graham

Our preacher said that when you accepted Christ and the Biblical assumptions, that things that troubled you, trouble you no longer. Well, I have accepted them too, and the same things trouble me, and a lot of other things too. Why is this? I.S.

There is always a difference in the degree of acceptance of Truth. Some accept them with reservations, others accept them unquestionably and unequivocally. When a famous woman took the marriage vows last December, the phrase, "Love, honor and obey... until death do us part," was omitted. Our generation may be labeled "The generation of reservations." We find it difficult to make ultimate, irrevocable decisions because mentally and spiritually we have lost our center of gravity. We have such a mixture of doubts and fears, that it is difficult to appropriate a faith with finality. But the Bible predicted that in the last days "many would depart from the faith," and that day seems to be at hand. Jesus said that our decision to follow Him must include a clean break with the world of doubt and skepticism. "Let God be true," he said, and "every man a liar." We, as Christians, must make up our minds that man's puny, changeable judgments are not as trustworthy as the appraisals of an all-wise God. We, (if we are to experience something of the certainty of the first disciples,) do as they did: "Deny ourselves, take up our cross and follow Christ," with no "ifs," "ands" or "buts." As for me, I have never once doubted following Christ is the wisest thing a human being can do.

Napoleon Enjoyed Sweet Smell Of Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

It's a bad idea to let your pet pooch stray near neighborhood kids who have the mumps. Dogs can catch this disease from children.

FOOTBALLS are called pigskins, but actually they are made of cowhide. Originally, in this country, they were made of rubberized canvas. In Shakespeare's time games were played with inflated pig bladders, and before that English athletes enjoyed a sport in which they kicked human skulls around a field. The skulls generally belonged to extinct Danes.

VACATIONING is now a year-round thing for Americans. Of the people who spend a week away from home annually, one out of four now makes the trip between November and March, and 58 per cent of those who go abroad do so between October and June.

NAPOLEON Bonaparte enjoyed the sweet smell of success. He liked cologne so much he sometimes used 50 or more bottles a month incidentally, if you have an average nose, you should be able to smell 2,000 different scents. A trained nose can distinguish between twice that number of odors.

At what age do children grow the fastest? For boys, between 12 to 15 years; for girls, between 11 and 14 years.

Quotable notables: "To find a career to which you are adapted by nature, and then to work hard at it, is about as near to a formula for success and happiness as the world provides." — Mark Sullivan.

I SWEAR: Can you imagine the money the federal government could collect if it made profanity illegal and penalized it with heavy fines? Well, it has been tried. Such a law, called the "Profane Oaths Act," was passed in England in 1745. Violators were fined according to their station in life.

Feeling blue? Well, that's becoming one of the most common nervous impulses has been traced. It is apparent in what is called the A-V node, the tissues at the juncture of the atria, or upper chambers, and the ventricles, or lower chambers of the heart.

Then the impulse passes through the heart tissues—probably along nerve fibers. We know that some kinds of heart damage interfere with transmission of the impulses, slowing down the heart action or the flow of the impulse (heart block).

In cases of severe heart block a faint electric current can be introduced to the heart tissues, and at each pulse of electricity, the heart muscle contracts. This, indeed, is the explanation of the "pacemakers" which are used to regulate a faulty heart beat. These pacemakers have been made so small that the whole thing, including a tiny battery, can be implanted in the body.

This is ordinary electricity—except that it is very faint, and arranged to flow in brief, rhythmic surges. So far as we can tell, it follows all the accepted rules of electrical flow, and there is no apparent reason to doubt the electron theory of electricity.

Wasn't it Galvani who discovered that he would make the leg of a frog twitch by applying electricity?

There's also a connection between chemistry and electricity, but I wouldn't be so bold as to try to explain it. But still, a flashlight battery is just a mixture of chemicals.

This may explain why—as during open heart surgery—introduction of certain drugs into the bloodstream will make the heart stop beating; washing them out lets the heart beat again.

If you want a final puzzler, it has been found that if you remove the heart of a turtle and suspend it in a suitable solution, it will keep on beating for days. So where, in that case, does the impulse to beat come from?

Science has learned a lot, but what an overwhelming amount there is yet to learn!

Around The Rim Seafood Is Good For You

This and that: Eat seafood and develop a more healthy heart. So advises Bill Schwartz, who happens to be seafood marketing specialist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Schwartz is quoting Drs. F. J. Stare and Mary McCann of the Department of Nutrition at Harvard University, in saying that one of the major causes of heart attack is the high level of cholesterol and other fatty substances in the blood.

THESE SUBSTANCES coat the inner layer of blood vessels and restrict the natural flow of blood, requiring the heart to work faster to increase pressure in order to force blood through the vascular system.

Schwartz says that fish and shellfish do not contain the hard, saturated fats that comprise such a large part of American diets today and which contribute to high cholesterol levels.

"Unlike meat fats," Schwartz points out, "fish fats are soft, polyunsaturated, and if eaten several times a week, will actually neutralize the harmful effects of saturated fats from other foods in the diet."

ACCORDING TO THE World Almanac, two Texas cities — Dallas and Houston—each have 20 "notable tall buildings."

Only New York City (with 52), Chicago (43), San Francisco (28), Philadelphia (25) and Los Angeles (23) have more.

HOW MANY Americans have viewed the Taj Mahal in person or in pictures and wondered how it was built before there was such a thing as foreign aid?

REFLECT UPON the case of that prisoner in an eastern court a few years ago, who, after being sentenced to be flogged in public, broke into continuous laughter.

"What is so funny about being flogged?" he was asked by the judge.

"Nothing," replied the prisoner between convulsions of laughter, "except that the joke is on you. You have the wrong man."

I KNOW KIDS develop a measure of defiance and a sense of independence rather early in life, but did you hear about that boy who called out to his father, "I'm off to the party."

"Well, have a good time," replied the parent.

"Look," snarled the boy, coming to a dead halt, "don't tell me what to do." — TOMMY HART

John Cunniff Slim Chance Of Delaying Taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — Between 300,000 and 400,000 individuals are expected to apply for extensions beyond the April 15 deadline for filing federal income tax returns. More than 50 per cent of them might be successful.

Extensions are granted "for any legitimate reason," according to the Internal Revenue Service. But don't get your hopes up. That word "legitimate" is interpreted narrowly.

AN EARTHQUAKE such as occurred in Alaska four years ago, or floods, such as occur around filing time, are considered legitimate reasons. Serious illness or inability to obtain records may or may not be legitimate.

The majority of extensions are granted for acts of God, such as floods, although automatic 60-day extensions apply to citizens who are out of the country at filing time. In all extension cases interest must be paid.

COMBAT ZONE military and civilian personnel are in an entirely different category. They have six months in which to file after leaving the combat zone. And they pay no interest for their late filing. But this is a rare exception.

If you explain that your accountant is overloaded with work, which might be true around filing time, your chance of obtaining an extension is slim. If, however, your accountant is the only one in town and you can't find another, then you have a chance.

THE IRS PEOPLE, often portrayed as coldly dedicated acolytes serving a monster electronic computer that ruthlessly orders people around, are anything but that. They maintain, in their defense, that they must uphold the law.

Sheldon Cohen, Internal Revenue commissioner, says extensions are allowed when:

... the taxpayer has made timely and reasonable efforts to file his return on time but finds himself unable to do so because of circumstances beyond his control.

EXTENSION requests must be made before the filing deadline of midnight April 15. The letter should be addressed to the district director. In return the applicant may receive a Form 2688, which requires detailed explanations.

If the request is granted, the individual generally has 60 days from April 15 in which to file. For every day of this time he uses, however, he must pay interest on the amount due at the rate of 6 per cent a year.

IF THE request is denied, the applicant is told to file his return by April 15. If that date already has passed, the applicant is given 10 days from the date of the rejection.

There's another side to the picture, though. If the government can't get your refund back to you within 45 days it, too, must pay the same 6 per cent interest. Last year individuals received more than $33 million this way.

Political Outlook Kennedy Becomes Leading Contender

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., emerges as the leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination following President Johnson's world-resounding announcement that he will not seek re-nomination.

The mathematics of politics ordinarily would assure Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., the unerring challenger of the President's expected bid for a second elective term, top place among the contenders for the vacated prize.

BUT IN THE emotional year of 1968, the men, the money and the myth of Camelot are all on Kennedy's side.

McCarthy will get a satisfying boost by winning Wisconsin's presidential primary Tuesday after the President's default. But once the balloting is over, some Wisconsin leaders of the Johnson and McCarthy organizations may swing quickly to Kennedy.

The Minnesota senator is spending all that comes in on winning primaries while Kennedy's unlimited financial resources are pointed at the selection of delegates at state conventions, where the nomination demonstratedly is won or lost.

MCCARTHY and Kennedy will face their first countdown at the ballot box on May 7 in Indiana, where the voters are reputed to be considerably more conservative than either.

Both McCarthy and Kennedy have focused their campaign attacks on Johnson's Vietnam policies. Johnson's announcement that he is "substantially reducing" the current level of hostilities on a unilateral basis is exactly what both have called for.

THEY AND other doves who have opposed the President's policies vigorously in the Senate could only applaud the President's decision to eliminate 90 per cent of the air attacks on North Vietnam.

Yet in reversing the hard line he has taken, Johnson stuck to the proviso that the bombing lull must be matched by "restraint in Hanoi" if there are to be peace negotiations. But his observation that "the main burden of preserving their freedom must be carried out by the South Vietnamese themselves" fitted exactly the Kennedy-McCarthy precepts.

EVEN IN their wildest dreams, however, the dissenters did not expect Johnson to say: "I shall not seek — and will not accept the nomination of my party for another term as your president."

The reaction of Richard M. Nixon, the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, that

What Others Say

Gov. Hulett Smith thinks the press generally is suspicious of government and politics. The governor is right. The press is suspicious of government and politics. The governor thinks suspicion can be overcome. Again he is right. If the press is suspicious and nothing else, it is doing a poor job.

But in a hard choice (too little or too much suspicion) better too much than too little. Better that the press and the government view each other on opposite sides of an unbridgeable chasm, in an atmosphere of mutual distrust and wariness, than that they join hands and blend their voices in hymns of mutual praise and admiration.

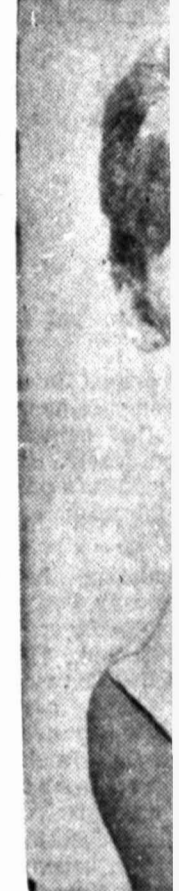

In both there is a great deal to praise and admire. Government isn't all bad, and although all politicians are human, all politicians are not corrupt. The press isn't all good, and any pretensions in this respect should be discounted sharply. Both press and government draw their recruits from exactly the same pool in humankind, which is to say that the percentage of frailty, selfishness and downright stupidity is approximately the same in each. And it is for precisely this reason that in the institutional societies established for them in an open society, they should confront each other across a moat, the one to propose, to perform and to take charge, the other to suspect, to challenge and to ask what-in-the-sam-hill is going on.

It is no accident that the Pulitzer prizes in journalism are never awarded for some editorial ode in praise of politicians. For such praise as they merit, they can look to other quarters. And it is no loss to the commonwealth that the press labors under the burden of resentment. If it sets much store in gratitude, it is in the wrong business. Government and press function best when they meet each other as friendly enemies and more as enemies than as friends.

Good Taste Decreases Pearls In Springtime

It's time for tiptoeing through the tulips. And of course, you want to look your best for such a gay pastime. Not to be outdone by the spectacular bloom that's so much in evidence—on everything—the Jewelry Industry Council suggests a way to outshine Spring. Pick pearls! You'll want to gather them like posies when you see how gloriously they "grow" for Spring. Softly hued from creamy white to delicate pink; or boldly colored in blue, grey and black, these are the cultured pearls that were meant for picking. Not for the faint-hearted are the irresistible combinations of pearls with jade, coral or turquoise, with enamel brighteners, with the classic simplicity of diamonds—all enchantingly put together in necklaces, earrings, pins, bracelets and rings.

Gilding The Lily

The glow of Spring shades the pearl. At home on her new spring fashions is the golden swirl pin, gleaming with the lustre of one perfect pearl. For her finger, a ring that's a bed for twin pearls, and on her wrist, the magnificence of a double strand of uniform pearls.

There's the magic of springtime in strands of perfectly matched cultured pearls lovingly clasped with precious and semi-precious stones. These clasps are designed to be worn full-front for everyone to see and admire. Often they are really pins in disguise, a double delight linking beauty with genius. For the daring and inventive lass, the long rope of pearls to be twined round her new Spring look is a worthy challenge to her fashion aplomb. So are the charmingly tiny seed pearls, twisted and woven into necklaces and bracelets of intricate grace.

More captivating to the lady with a yearning for something different in cultured pearls are the fantasy shapes and shadings found in baroque pearls. Pins, earrings, rings enjoy the attraction between baroque pearls and gold in all its grande textures. Indeed, gold is the sunny metal that's perfect for showing off Spring in all its pearly glory.

Martin 4-H Food Show Winners

STANTON (SC) — Suzanna Brown and Cynde Mullins were winners Saturday in the junior division at the Martin County 4-H Food Show.

Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brown, and Miss Mullins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mullins of Flower Grove.

Miss Brown won in the fruit and vegetable division, and Miss Mullins won in the milk division.

Senior division winners were Willie Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wells, who prepared a dish in the milk division; and Deberah Hazlewood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hazlewood Jr., whose dish was in the meat division.

The winners will compete in the District Six 4-H Food Show to be held April 20 at Stanton High School.

Tile Will Protect Sills From Water

Bringing the beauty of the flower garden into the home can present problems because of the constant danger of spilling dirt and water from vases.

A good way to solve this is to surface window sills, tables or anywhere you set flowers with a waterproof and stainproof material such as ceramic tile.

The many colors of ceramic tile available today make it possible to choose a shade that will complement the colors of your favorite flowers.

A LOVELIER YOU Early Beauty Care Aids Radiant Bride

By MARY SUE MILLER What girl does not dream of her young life of looking perfect on her wedding day? When the day comes, the reality surpasses the dream if, as a bride-to-be, she follows a wide-awake beauty program. Like this one:

Weeks before your wedding step up your skin-care routine. Cleanse your face several times daily with a good complexion soap and gentle complexion brush; each night apply night-care cream or lotion suited to your skin type. During daily baths scrub with a firm body brush and follow up with body lotion massages.

Hair beauty comes from brushing night and morning; from shampooing before there's need; from shampoo suds that cater to conditioning and sparkling.

Remembering the ring ceremony, prepare your hands by keeping the cuticles oiled, by doubling up on manicures and lotion massages. Diligence in these procedures — never putting off or skipping one — brings loveliness.

Three weeks before Your Day decide on a hairstyle, one that complements your face and your wedding headress. Then have your tresses shaped accordingly, and permanently waved if necessary. A fresh styling needs several weeks to settle down.

At the two-week mark, "rehearse" your cosmetics with your gown. This gives you a chance to make any necessary changes. Ideally, your cosmetics should achieve the look of natural radiance. The day before, have your wedding manicure and set. That way you avoid hurry and flurry. 'Tis a vision you'll be!

LOVELIER HANDS Do you have a hand problem. Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Zesty Beans Stir Appetites

Dear Heloise: What do you do with leftover beans? I usually cook a big pot of navy beans, or red beans, because I figure as long as the gas is being used, why not cook a big potful? But the next day my large family will not eat 'em because they are tired of beans. I would appreciate a little suggestion along this line. Mother of Five stirring frequently. These are called "boot-leggers" beans. If you really want to make a MEAL out of this dish, open a can of Vienna sausage, cut them in half and about 20 minutes before you are ready to serve the beans, push the sausages about halfway down into them. Cooked beans may be kept in your refrigerator for a few days without spoiling, or in the freezer almost indefinitely. Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a stenographer and you know how highly waxed some office floors are? In the space of one record (tape), my dictaphone pedal would have scooted so far out in front of my desk that everything had to stop while I fished for it, brought it back and began again. Gluing a piece of foam from an old ironing board pad to the bottom of the pedal solved it. Now I am 10 degrees cooler (temper-wise) and 10 per cent less tired at the end of the day—maybe 50 per cent. Frances J. Ryan

Dear Heloise: For those hard to dust places, like chair rungs, use an old woolen sock. Just slip it on your hand, with the top side on your palm, and you can dust all those tricky little places that are so hard to do with a cloth in your fist. Kathy Yemma

Dear Heloise: I keep a pan half filled with water on the stove for baby bottle warming. To prevent a hard-water ring from forming in the pan, I add a little vinegar every time I replenish the water. That pan was some mess before I started adding vinegar to the water. Joan Blankenmeier (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Collegians Come Home

WESTBROOK (SC) — Clay Strange, a junior at Austin College, Sherman, is home for the spring holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gwan Strange.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Oglesby and Mrs. Frank Oglesby were Sunday guests of the R. E. McGowns in Hobbs, N.M.

Mrs. I. L. Smith of Lubbock is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scroggins. They were in Abilene Saturday.

Visiting in the L. B. Edwards home Monday were the A. V. Brittons of Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. (Pent) Himes returned home Friday from Norman, Okla. They had been with their daughter and family, the L. F. Tiemanns, for the past two months while Mrs. Himes received medical treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Henderson visited in Houston and in Angleton, where they were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Crabtree.

Sandra Bryant of Hardin-Simmons University and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bryana, also of Abilene, recently visited their parents, the Ralph Bryans.

Larry Bell of Sam Houston College, Huntsville, and Carole Bell of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, spent the weekend with their parents, the W. A. Bells.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd were in Monahan Saturday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Candler. They attended the L. A. C. meet in which their grandson, Steve Candler, participated.

The JOY Sunday school class met recently in fellowship hall at the First Baptist Church, with Mrs. N. J. McMahan serving as hostess. Mrs. W. C. Hutchins, teacher, worded the opening prayer and gave the devotion. Mrs. Keith Williamson presided, and refreshments were served.

Odessa Choir Opens Tour Here Friday

The 36-voice Odessa College cappella choir will present the first concert of its annual spring tour in the Big Spring High School auditorium Friday at 8 p.m.

The choir is being sponsored by the Big Spring High School choir department, according to Kenny Sheppard, director.

The spring tour of the choir will take it from West Texas to the Gulf Coast with a concluding performance at the HemisFair in San Antonio.

Small ensembles with the choir are the Girls' Trio and the Madrigal Singers.

The choir is under the direction of Maurice Alfred, a new member of the faculty at Odessa College. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, where he was a student of Dr. Euell Porter, and he did graduate work at Texas Technological College.

While a member of the U.S. Air Force, he directed the male choruses and chapel choirs. He previously was choral director at Stark Senior High School, Orange, and came to Odessa College from Odessa Senior High School where his choirs for 11 years toured the Southwest and were consistent sweepstakes winners in University Interscholastic League competition.

The public is invited, and there is no admission charge, Sheppard said.

Daughter Of Post's Founder Honored

POST, Tex. (AP)—A Texas State Historical Marker honors Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post of Washington, D.C., daughter of this town's founder. The marker has been erected on the Garza County Courthouse lawn near a statue of her father, C. W. Post, which she unveiled in 1958.

Bobby Wants To Meet With LBJ

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said today he has asked President Johnson for a meeting soon in the light of the chief executive's withdrawal from the presidential race.

In his first comment since Sunday night's announcement by Johnson, Kennedy said he had praised the President for "subordinating self to country." Kennedy told a crowded news conference that "I feverently hope" Johnson's new move for peace in Vietnam will succeed. The junior senator from New York said he had dispatched his telegram asking for a meeting with the President shortly after Johnson's withdrawal announcement Sunday night.

Red River Spans Work Under Way

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Equipment has been moved into place for construction of an additional two lanes of bridges over Red River at the US 271 crossing north of Paris. Austin Bridge Co. of Dallas has the contract, which will provide a four-lane Texas link with the new Indian Nation Turnpike in Oklahoma.

Kennedy, propelled into the forefront of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination less than three weeks after his entry, returned Sunday night from an extended campaign trip in the west.

"Wherever I went," he said, "I found Americans of all ages, of all colors and political beliefs, deeply desirous of peace in Vietnam and desirous of reconciliation at home."

Kennedy continued: "Despite all the discord and dispirit... there remains in the country an enormous reservoir of good spirit and hope. I want to make the country more liveable for all Americans. I want peace in Vietnam not by surrender but by negotiated settlement that takes into account all the needs of all Vietnamese to determine the future of their country."

Mrs. Leo Turner, chairman of the crusade, said that 30 volunteers would be working.

Big Springer Takes Fed Job

E. W. (Ed) Hickson, son of Mrs. Ethel Hickson, 107 E. 17th, has joined the Government Project Development Office as manager - finance business administration, Titusville.

Hickson, a native of Big Spring, had worked for Trans World Airlines since March 30, 1964, after nine years with Ling-Temco-Vought. Previously he had worked with the State of Texas as a state auditor and had been chief accountant and assistant manager for the Midwest Cooperative Oil Mill.

A graduate of the University of Texas, Hickson and his wife, Vaughn, have three children. His brother, R. E. (Bob) Hickson, lives at 2708 Crestline.

Longview Claims Jaycee Record

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Longview now claims the attendance record for a convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Texas.

A total of 921 Jaycees attended a three-day convention in March. Jaycee officials said the record was 200 more than the total turnout at the district convention in Tyler last year.

Wisconsin Primary Loses Feature Race, Importance

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—President Johnson has suddenly stripped Wisconsin's presidential primary of its feature contest, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy vowed today an all-out effort in campaigns ahead—with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy the rival.

Wisconsin votes Tuesday. But with Johnson out of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, McCarthy said the voters of other states must register "a different choice" now.

Indiana, Nebraska, Oregon and California will be the testing grounds, the Minnesota senator said. In those states, McCarthy and Kennedy, a powerful contender with parallel views on Vietnam, meet head-on in primaries.

McCarthy said he will wage those campaigns "as thoroughly and as hard and as effectively as I can."

Johnson's startling announcement that he would neither seek nor accept renomination left McCarthy with only a withdrawn opponent to test his White House prospects in the Wisconsin race.

Out of the contest for the nomination, Johnson is still on the ballot. And his supporters said they would continue an effort to turn out votes for him.

McCarthy, who blazed the trail of opposition to the President in New Hampshire's lead-off primary, said he will forge ahead with his campaign and plans no major changes.

He has already mapped a tentative schedule which will have him campaigning for 15 of the first 22 days in April, devoting much of his attention to the states in which he and Kennedy will contest primaries.

The first of those races is May 7, in Indiana.

"I have not been seeking a knock-down, drag-out battle with him up to this point," McCarthy said.

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—President Johnson's decisions not to run for re-election sent Texas Democratic party planners back to the drawing board.

Every political strategy for 1968—precinct and state convention control, state party organization, support of national nominees and even the governor's race—will be affected by Johnson's one-sentence resignation as party leader.

State Democratic Chairman Will Davis quickly called a Tuesday meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee to ponder the situation.

In their first stunned reactions, Democratic party heads turned first to Gov. John Con-

Carthy said. "On the other hand, I have not been seeking an accommodation. So we will proceed between those two dangers."

And he said it is too soon to assess the impact of Johnson's announcement on the Democratic scene or on the Republican situation. McCarthy did say he thinks it will improve Democratic prospects for retaining the White House next November.

Connally's decision not to run.

Many believe President Johnson caused Yarborough to make his final decision that he was needed most in the Senate. His ability to support Johnson's program was one of the main reasons Yarborough gave.

Day-after speculation had some politicians already worrying if the Johnson-Yarborough feud would be resumed. The Texas senator and the then vice president fussed mightily over party power, particularly over federal appointments in Texas, until just hours before President Kennedy was assassinated.

Shortly after Johnson became president, Yarborough became a swimming companion in the White House pool and since then has appeared a political buddy of the President—until a couple of weeks ago.

After Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., announced his intentions toward presidential nomination, Yarborough's office said he recently was increasingly disenchanted over Johnson's Vietnam policies. Yarborough was quoted as saying he thought Johnson, Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., should settle their differences.

The embryo state organizations for Kennedy and McCarthy in Texas, supported to a great extent by college age voters, can be expected to make some sort of bid in the precinct convention fight.

The governor's race is directly involved because of statewide reports, and no details, that Eugene Locke was backed in the race by both Johnson and Connally. Locke's immediate reaction to Johnson's announcement was to recommend that Connally be made a favorite son candidate at the national convention next August.

AF Pilots Disapprove Of Bombing Halt Move

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP)—U.S. Air Force pilots expressed surprise and disapproval today of President Johnson's decision to halt the bombing of most of North Vietnam.

"If he means what I think he means, I'm violently ill," said a lieutenant colonel who has flown 50 missions over the North. "Instead of restricting the strikes, we should be hitting the targets that are off limits now."

Johnson ordered a halt to bombing raids over most of North Vietnam, but said U.S. warplanes will continue to strike in the southern panhandle just north of the demilitarized zone.

Most of the sorties flown by Air Force and Marine pilots out of Da Nang and Chu Lai, 50 miles to the south, have been in the panhandle area. Air Force planes from Thailand and carrier-based Navy planes mount most of the missions farther north, including those around Hanoi and Halphong.

The lieutenant colonel said that although he did not agree with any bombing limitations, "This won't make a great deal of difference. We're not hitting the targets we should be any way. But if they put all our planes along the DMZ corridor, we'll be so stacked up we'll turn the sky black. There just isn't enough room there for all of the planes we can muster."

An Air Force major said the President "may be trying to coax the Communists to the bargaining table, but this is the wrong way. We've got to keep the pressure on them. As long as there is no reciprocal move by North Vietnam, this is foolish."

Celts And 76ers Playoff Leaders

By The Associated Press
The depleted Philadelphia 76ers have managed to hang onto their five starters, but they had to replace their sparkplug to get moving against the New York Knicks.

Johnny Green, 34 years old and without a playoff game in his National Basketball Association career until nine days ago, provided the spark Sunday as the 76ers ran over the Knicks 123-105 in Philadelphia.

Blocked Shot

Keith Erickson (left) of the Chicago Bulls blocks a shot by the Los Angeles Lakers' Elgin Baylor in NBA playoff game at the Forum Sunday night. The Lakers won 122-99 to eliminate the Bulls in the playoffs.

Filling in for hot-shot sixth man Billy Cunningham, who is out with a broken wrist, Green finished a third quarter rally with five points and six rebounds for a 92-80 lead, and the 76ers never looked back.

The victory put the injury-riddled world champion 76ers up 3-2 in this best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series with a chance to wrap it up tonight in New York.

"We're in the driver's seat now," said 76er Coach Alex Hannum.

Boston, expected to meet Philadelphia in the division final playoff after finishing second to the 76ers in regular season play, stood by its old standbys for a similar decisive third quarter that downed Detroit 110-96 in Boston.

The Celtics, also taking a 3-2 lead, can clinch their series in Detroit tonight.

The St. Louis Hawks, their backs against the wall at the Washington University Field House in St. Louis, rebounded to a 129-103 rout over San Francisco and sent that Western Division semifinal back to San Francisco Tuesday night.

The Warriors, who finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, still hold a 3-2 lead.

Favored Los Angeles did not let Chicago off the hook and won their set, 4-1, by crushing the Bulls 122-99 Sunday night in Los Angeles.

SERIES EVEN
In the American Basketball Association, Denver evened its best-of-5 semifinal series at 2-2 by beating New Orleans 108-100.

Green, who has bounced around the NBA for nine years and came to the 76ers from San Diego in January, got nine points to help Philadelphia to a 56-all halftime tie. Playing with an injury — a dislocated finger — like four of the 76er starters, he finished with 16 points and 11 rebounds.

"I realize I have to make some contribution like Billy has been making," he said, calling Sunday's contribution his greatest thrill.

HUGHES OUT AS CC PRO

Buddy Hughes, golf pro at the Big Spring Country Club the past year, submitted his resignation effective yesterday.

Hughes said he would probably remain in Big Spring until the end of school but had not made any plans about the future. He added he hoped to remain in golf in some capacity.

No successor has been named.

Angels Seek Four Players Plus Power

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels, an American League novelty when they challenged for the pennant only one year after being created by expansion, have settled down to being just a good team trying to improve.

The Angels, now eight years old, were fifth last year, 7½ games back, and helped knock Minnesota and Detroit out of the race.

The Angels are looking for regulars at four positions and had not hit a home run in 18 exhibition games.

In addition, pitcher Sammy Ellis, obtained from Cincinnati, was unpredictable.

Ellis, a 22-game winner in 1965, was hit hard as the exhibition season progressed.

While Ellis was having his troubles, the Angels were encouraged by the improvement of Fred Newman, whose arm ailments limited him to only five wins over the last two seasons. Newman was a mainstay of the pitching staff in 1964-65, with 13-10 and 14-16 records.

The Angels are hoping that one of them can join the starting rotation of George Brunet, 11-19 last year, Ricky Clark, 12-11 and Jim McGlothlin, 12-8.

Best of the young pitching candidates are Ken Tatum, 12-6 at San Jose, Calif., and Marty Pattin, 12-11 at Seattle.

Jack Hamilton, 2-0 for the New York Mets and 9-6 for the Angels, and Minnie Rojas, 12-9, head the bullpen corps.

The Angels began the spring with only four certain regulars — Don Mincher, 273 with 25 homers at first; Bobby Egoon, 245, at second; Jim Fregoso, 290, at short; and Rick Richardson, 265 with 17 homers, in left.

Catchers Bob Rodgers, 219, and Tom Satriano, 224, were challenged by Bob Taylor, Tom Egan and Orlando McFarlane.

Lubbock Dunbar Track Winner

ARILENE — Lubbock Dunbar won the Abilene Invitational Track and Field meet here Saturday, scoring 61 points to 57 for runner-up Abilene and 56 for Odessa Permian.

Dunbar swept all four relay events. San Angelo was fourth with 40 points.

Jack Muldrow of Cooper ran the state's fastest 330-yard intermediate hurdles of the year when he negotiated the distance in a blistering 38.1.

Abilene High won only two first places in the meet — the high jump and the 220.

Jacklin Eyes Bright Future After Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Not since Ted Ray took the U.S. Open in 1929 had an English golfer won a major American tournament.

Then along came Tony Jacklin, quietly happy Tony Jacklin. A golfer with ice water in the veins—the kind that wins and wins and becomes great.

At the age of 23, Jacklin is a winner with every promise of joining the ranks of the great—which he thinks of as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Ben Hogan, but no idea of patterning himself after any one of them.

He said he was nervous, but he never showed it as he faced down Palmer in the final round of the greater Jacksonville Open Sunday. He admitted he utilized "Arnie's army" as his own battery-charger to a 15-under-par 273 and the $20,000 first money.

It was the first time a golfer from England had ever won on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

Even before Jacklin hit the jackpot, Player was calling him potentially the greatest English golfer since Henry Cotton and the man most likely to be his nation's next sports hero.

Palmer had dropped out of contention early after starting the day one stroke back of Jacklin. Doug Sanders, who couldn't match his golf strokes to his fire-engine-red wardrobe, faded after holding at least a share of the lead through three rounds.

Sanders' 73, with the help of a 40-foot finishing putt, tied him for second at 275 with Don January, Gardner Dickinson, Chi Chi Rodriguez and DeWitt Weaver Jr. Each collected $6,520.

Palmer was at 276 and Jack Nicklaus, never a contender throughout the 72-hole event, finished 23rd at 280.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Money-winner and final results of the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament: Tony Jacklin, $20,000; Gardner Dickinson, $6,520; Don January, $6,520; Chi Chi Rodriguez, $6,520; Doug Sanders, $6,520; DeWitt Weaver Jr., $6,520; Bob Charles, $3,260; Arnold Palmer, $3,260; Willie Porter, $3,260; Rex Beard, $3,260; Billy Barber, $3,260; Hugh Royer, $3,260; Bud Balling, $3,260; Willie Burdick, $3,260; Frank Beard, $3,260; Sandy Glover, $3,260; Ken Still, $3,260; George Bernier, $3,260; Al Geilberger, $3,260; John Lutz, $3,260; Jack McQueen, $3,260; R.H. Sikes, $3,260.

"I don't know if I can break it, but I've got a real good start," said Yarbrough, who averaged 125 miles an hour in winning the 500-mile Atlanta race worth $20,050. It was his second straight Atlanta title.

Yarbrough won a duel with another 1968 Mercury driver, Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C. They also finished 1-2 at the Daytona 500 a month ago.

Lee Roy won $25 in the race, with Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., pocketing $5,365 for third. Charlie Gutzbach of Georgetown, Ind., was fourth and Darel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., was fifth.

Atlanta Winner Overcame Urge To Depart Racing

ATLANTA (AP) — Cale Yarbrough is on top of the racing world right now with two big victories and $70,000 in winnings this year.

But the one time soapbox Derby kid says his fight to get to the top hasn't been easy.

"Lots of times I felt it wasn't worth it and decided to quit," the 29-year-old racing veteran from Timmonsville, S.C., said after winning the Atlanta 500 Sunday.

"But then I'd sleep on it and decide I was just as good as those other guys, and go back to it."

Yarbrough's perseverance has paid off and the hard-driving blond is in position to become the biggest money-winner ever in one year. He needs about $60,000 to break the record set by Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C.

"I don't know if I can break it, but I've got a real good start," said Yarbrough, who averaged 125 miles an hour in winning the 500-mile Atlanta race worth $20,050. It was his second straight Atlanta title.

Stage Is Set For Dragsters Next Weekend

ODESSA — The stage is set for the Big Go at Odessa Raceway Park, Saturday and Sunday. The 1968 Grand Opener will mark the first event ORP has operated under the new sanctioning body, the National Hot Rod Association (NHRA).

Featuring the Texas Professional Fuel Dragster Circuit, the management has indicated a more colorful, as well as, bigger and better racing event. The TPFC is new, but has gained so much publicity in the past month, it has to be the best thing that has happened to drag racing since it's first beginning ten years ago.

The elite group of cars in drag racing are AA Fuel Dragsters. Only these cars are allowed to compete in the TPFC events which total fifteen dates at three big Texas tracks. Amarillo, Odessa and Austin Raceways make up the circuit sites. A season total purse of $51,000 has been posted for the TPFC events.

Forty owners and drivers have pre-entered each event in the new circuit. Of the forty cars, one is a world champion and five are past division champs. Bennie Osborne, Sand Springs, Okla., is the current world champion. The Carroll Brothers, Creitz & Greer, John Weibe, the Anderson Brothers and Fred Rowsey are past division champs. Rowsey is currently the division four champion, which he won last season.

Also, the opener at ORP will mark the first date for the new Texas Super Stock Circuit (TSSC). Super Stocks have gained such a tremendous following in the past year, they are a must in any drag event. These cars are high performance units that are built by American manufacturers such as Ford, Dodge, Plymouth, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Rambler. They mostly are compacts with big mills for power plants. These cars are the only ones known to get factory assistance in drag racing.

Eight cars will be paid a total of $700 at the event and will be allowed to run on the handicap starter, the Christmas Tree.

Those interested in trying out for the club have an open invitation to attend, Arista said. The Tigers, oldest sandlot team west of Fort Worth and perhaps in the state, usually play their games on Sunday.

Stanton Buffaloes Gain 3rd Place At Cee City

COLORADO CITY — Stanton scored 66 points for a third place finish in the Lone Wolf Relays here Saturday while Coahoma wound up with 7½ points.

Sweetwater won the meet with 135 points while runner-up Colorado City counted 126.

David Jones of Stanton set a new record in the broad jump by clearing 21-6½. His teammate, David Avery, was third in the same event.

Avery was also third in the high jump with a 5-8 effort. Williams of Coahoma tied for fifth in the high jump by clearing 5-5.

Coahoma finished fifth in the sprint relay while Ronnie Leppard of the Bulldogs was sixth in the 880, at which time he was clocked in 2:12.5.

Avery added to a big day by finishing fifth in the high hurdles to add to Stanton's aggregate. His teammate, Dean, was sixth in the same event.

Stanton's Jones was third in the 440 in the time of 51.3. Avery's biggest event was the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, which he won in the record time of 40.9.

Stanton's Stallings won the mile in the record time of 4:34.8.

In the mile relay, Stanton's team wound up fifth.

Conroe Bowler In Torrid Run

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ronnie Fisher of Conroe placed in all divisions of the Texas men's bowling tournament over the weekend.

He was in team, doubles, singles and all events, with his highest placing being second in Class C singles where he rolled 591.

The big change came in Class A doubles where Boyd Clark and Lurry Mullen of Corpus Christi rolled 1256 — the highest in the event thus far.

Boots Daughtery of Austin did 684 to take over the lead in Class B singles. This equaled the score in Class A.

Hubert Nebeben and Robert Lundeen of Fredericksburg rolled 1245 to zoom into first place in Class B doubles.

Arthur Sloane and Julius Jarak of Victoria had 1111 to take over first place in Class D doubles.

It was the third weekend of the tournament which ends June 3.

Tigers To Open Baseball Drills

Manager Tom Arista has announced he will start 1968 Big Spring Tiger baseball workouts at 5:30 o'clock this evening on a diamond at West Fifth and San Antonio streets.

Those interested in trying out for the club have an open invitation to attend, Arista said. The Tigers, oldest sandlot team west of Fort Worth and perhaps in the state, usually play their games on Sunday.

Lamesa-Owned Iron Card Is Winner At Sunland

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Iron Card, owned by F. C. McDougal of Lamesa, Tex., rallied out of third position to make shambles of eight foes in Sunday's featured $2,500 Governor's Handicap at Sunland Park.

Carrying top weight of 122 pounds, and backed down to the 4-to-5 choice, the Florida-bred son of Petare hit the wire 5½ lengths ahead of Jack the Ruler, Roman Devil, who duelled with Longshot La Villita Lady earlier, was third.

Iron Card has proved to be a meal ticket for jockey Jim Bannowsky. It marked the colt's fifth win in the season. Bannowsky has been aboard Iron Card every time, picking up five of his 12 saddle triumphs.

Roman Devil, with Larry Byers up, had a short lead over La Villita Lady with apprentice Arturo Romero in the early going. Those in the crowd of 2,935 who had backed Iron Card watched as Bannowsky moved with his mount going into the turn in the 6½ furlong event. Jack the Ruler, last down the backstretch, made up a world of ground in the final yards and was up for second by a head over Roman Devil. There was a dead heat for fourth between Meather Ship and Maw Nipper.

In the mutuels, the Florida-bred winner paid $4.00, $3.60, and $2.60 to show. Jack the Ruler, ridden by Bobby Harmon, returned $7.00 and $4.60. Roman Devil paid $3.80.

Veteran Wendell Leeling was the riding star of the afternoon, winning three races. Leeling was up on both winners of the Big Q as Chearozza took the sixth and Blue Colle the seventh. The Big Q paid $754.20. Wendell's third win came in the finale as he rallied Skeets Echo from last in a field of ten for $8.00.

Harmon had two winners. He was up on Cee Bar Deck in the El Paso Times purse, beating favored Brad Len by half a length in the 400-yard time of 20.52. Both Cee Bar Deck and Brad Len will come back in the next week's "Open to the World" winner-take-all race.

Lady Magna won the first race under Manny Lopez at $10.40. Prosperous Miss took the second under Bill Rock at $36.80 and the daily double paid $232.00.

Sunday's 12-race attendance was 2,935.

Results:

Infant Suffocates Near Moss Lake

William W. Weatherford Jr., of the pickup, and the man on age four months, was pronounced dead on arrival due to suffocation by doctors at Hall-Bennett Hospital at approximately 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

The infant was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weatherford of Odessa who were camped at Moss Creek Lake with their two daughters and an unidentified man. The parents were sleeping in the pickup, the girls in a car, the baby in the cab of the pickup, and the man on a cot.

Mrs. Weatherford awoke around 3 a.m. to check the baby and could find no sign of life. The family notified the lake attendant of the baby's condition and started into town. Police escorted the family to the hospital from the edge of town. Services are pending at the Chapel of Roses, Odessa, and local arrangements are being handled by the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Big Spring Overpass Construction Urged

A Big Spring and Howard County delegation today asked the Texas Highway Commission to consider a new overpass for the eastern end of Big Spring.

The group, composed of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee, the Big Spring City commission, and members of the Howard County Commissioners Court, appeared at the commission's hearing in San Angelo.

This was the second time that the commission had met away from Austin, and it was done in honor of Hal Woodward, chairman of the commission. Woodward was reared in Big Spring where he graduated from high school.

Speaking for the delegation, Joe Pickle, chairman of the highway commission, pointed out that the Benton Street overpass was constructed in 1931 when the size of vehicles was much smaller and the traffic volume was only a fraction of the approximately 5,000 vehicles per day at the overpass point. The commission was told, too, that this carries traffic to Snyder and Gail, numerous businesses, including the GAMCO plant, the CRMWD pump station, and the Howard County airport. The importance of pinning down the project as a means of tying into a city master plan for thoroughfares was also called to the commission's attention.

The local delegation also supported a request by Crockett and Val Verde counties for improvement of State Highway 163 between Odessa and Comstock. Woodward said the commission would take the requests under advisement.

Others attending from here were County Judge Lee Porter, County Commissioners Ray Nichols and Bill Tume; Mayor Arnold Marshall, City Commissioners Garner McAdams, George Zachariah, Walter Stroup and Jimmy Morehead; City Manager Larry Crow; R. H. Weaver and Jack Alexander, members of the highway committee; Jimmy W. Bailey, who has a business in the overpass area.

Connally Says 'Wait And See'

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally hedged today on questions about his availability as a presidential nominee but said he "had no thoughts whatever about the vice presidency."

Connally also told a news conference that he thought "our chances to elect a Democratic candidate (for president) have not been improved by the announcement that President Johnson will not seek re-election."

Connally said he was not ready at this time to say who he might support for the Democratic presidential nomination, and called attention to the fact that an emergency meeting of the State Democratic Committee had been called for Tuesday.

When asked if he would support Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., if Kennedy got the nomination, Connally evaded the question. He said he would give much the same answer that Kennedy gave on national television recently.

"Basically he (Kennedy) said he would wait and see," Connally said. Kennedy and Connally have long been political foes.

Connally said he had talked at least three times with President Johnson about the President seeking re-nomination and about Connally seeking a fourth term, which Connally decided against last November. Connally also said White House press secretary George Christian, formerly Connally's press aide, called Sunday afternoon and asked if Connally had any new thoughts on the subject.

UNDERSTOOD

The governor disclosed that generally Johnson had said he wished Connally would seek re-nomination for party and governmental purposes, but that Johnson could understand the personal angles that might take Connally out of the race.

"I took pretty much the same position," Connally said. "I told him that I thought he could be re-nominated and re-elected but understand his personal feelings about another four years in such a job."

Connally said he did not think President Johnson would change his mind unless there was "a dramatic demonstration that his action would not be in the best interests of the nation."

Texas Faces Burglary Raps

Leonard Leroy Moore, 48, Fort Worth has been charged with burglary of the Settles Hotel Drug Store Saturday and is being held in lieu of $2,500 bond set by Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter.

At 7:30 p.m., officers allegedly found the man in the store. Officers found drawers ransacked and a cabinet that had been forced open. Nothing was reported missing.

The Odessa Police Department also has issued a warrant for Moore, charging him with burglary.

Smoke Damages Shine Parlor

A fire at a shoe shine parlor at 501 NW 4th, owned by Juan Garcia, at 3:50 a.m. today caused heavy smoke damage to the building. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze but cause of the fire was not known.

Three fires Sunday kept firemen busy. At 2:51 p.m. firemen snuffed out a grass fire on Drexel Street; at 3:30 p.m., they extinguished a trash fire at College Heights School; and at 7:47 p.m., firemen put out a trash can blaze at the Southland Apartments.

Knife Suspect Posts $500 Bail

Joe Trevino, 808 West 5th, was released on $500 bond set by Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter Sunday after being charged with carrying prohibited weapon.

Officers arrested Trevino at 7:55 p.m. Saturday after investigating a disturbance at the home of Mrs. Rosa Ramirez, 610 1/2 NW 3rd, where he was alleged to have made threats with a knife.

Forsan Cancer Drive Tuesday

FORSAN — Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, chairman of the Forsan area workers of the Howard County Cancer Society crusade which is slated for Tuesday, reminded residents to have their checks or donations ready for the volunteers who will be calling.

Assisting her in the crusade are Mrs. Clara Mae Fletcher, Mrs. Doyle Whetsel, Mrs. Don Murphy, Mrs. Tommy Albertson, Mrs. Dub Day, Mrs. T. J. Wall and Mrs. Elbert Strickland. Heading the volunteers at Chalk is Mrs. Ozro Allison.

Circuit Assembly Draws Big Crowd

Over 800 persons attended the semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses Friday through Sunday at Fort Stockton, according to Frank Davis, local congregation head.

The main address was given by L. M. Dugan, district supervisor, on "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?"

LBJ's Decision Caught TV Scribes Flatfooted

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing seen or heard on television in years came close to the drama and surprise of President Johnson's announcement at the conclusion of his speech on Vietnam Sunday.

The President, looking intensely serious and a bit drawn, announced he would not seek or accept the Democratic nomination for another term.

It caught all the network correspondents, including the White House reporters, flatfooted. While there were plenty of words tossed around to fill out the mid evening hour pre-empted by the President, the newsmen seemed reluctant to do much more than ask but not answer the questions in the mind of the average viewer.

NEWS SPECIALS
What does the President's withdrawal mean to the other presidential hopefuls? Who will benefit? Who will be hurt? Will the enemy respond to his plan for de-escalation?

The speculation will start on the assorted news shows tonight, and there will be undoubtedly, a rash of news specials.

"The Lucy Show" now repeating programs shown earlier this season, will not return to CBS. Lucille Ball will be back, starring in a comedy series in the same Monday night half hour, but some drastic changes will occur over the summer.

When Miss Ball returns next September, it will no longer be as Lucy Carmichael. She will be her own—Lucie, 17, and Desi Arnaz Jr., 15. Gale Gordon will no longer be Mr. Mooney, the banker, but Uncle Charlie, and Lucy will still be working for him although no longer in a bank.

NAME CHANGE
The change, Miss Ball explained, comes partly because certain rights to the old property have expired, but mostly because she thought it would be good for the show to change things around a bit. And she also wanted to get her two teenagers into the act.

Houston Principals Face Censure Action
HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Elementary Principals Association has been disaffiliated from the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association because it practices segregation, the president of the state group said Sunday.

Kenneth Fields of Fort Stockton, head of the state organization, made the announcement as about 60 persons picketed the national convention of the Department of Elementary School Principals for the second straight day.

Fred Cuny, chairman of the education committee of the Houston Council on Human Relations, said the convention was being picketed because one of the official hosts is Raymond C. Roebuck, president of the Houston association.

The South Suburban Schools Council, composed of urban principals, said that it will offer a resolution at the convention that also censures the Houston association's non-white status. The Texas State Teachers Association has disaffiliated the local group, Fields said.

Roebuck said the Houston Elementary Principals Association will vote on May 16 to integrate its organization. A similar proposal was defeated last year, he said.

The disaffiliation of the Houston association makes it possible for a new integrated principals organization to be formed that could affiliate with the state group, Fields said.

Wins Deeds Award

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dr. Law Sone, president of Texas Wesleyan College, was named winner of the Fort Worth Exchange Club's 1967 Golden Deeds Award. He is credited with guiding the college from the brink of bankruptcy to financial stability.

Dr. Sone came to Fort Worth in 1932 as dean of Texas Wesleyan College, the forerunner of Texas Wesleyan. Three years later, he was named president and the school had become co-educational.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A753 ♥J10833 ♦Q1064 ♣K

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♦ Dble. 1♥ 1♠
Pass 1NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Partner has shown the equivalent of an opening no trump bid. Your nine points plus the two tens give you enough to take further pressure off him.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ63 ♥952 ♦A6 ♣6542

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1♣ Pass 1♠
Pass 1NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Another bid by you can only serve to land your side in a game contract which will have very dubious prospects. Ten point holdings are border line hands where a second constructive bid should be taken only when a good fit as present or partner has not yet marked himself with a minimum opening.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ84 ♥A73 ♦97543 ♠5

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 1♥ East
1♠ Pass 2♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. A bid of two no trump would be grossly improper in this situation. Partner has bid two suits requesting a preference and you have a clear cut choice in favor of hearts. If no trump is the correct contract, partner will be in position to make the suggestion himself.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ5 ♥K8 ♦109542 ♣K83

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1♠ 1♠
1NT Pass 2♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. Partner appears to have slim aspirations in spite of our modest bidding. However, too much of our values are concentrated in spades and a serious duplication of values appears to be present. Therefore, another mild call is indicated to slow partner down.

A.—Three spades. The fact that partner was willing to try again after you rebid just two clubs should induce you to carry on despite his previous negative activity. A rebid of your excellent spade holding may now enable partner to offer a raise with a doubton honor or three small.

'Wonderful' Says One; 'Tragic' Says Another

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans, some shocked into disbelief, reacted to President Johnson's announcement that he would not run again with comments ranging from "pretty wonderful" to "tragic."

"He made that announcement?" asked Joseph Kelley of Boston, when asked for his reaction to the President's surprise statement Sunday night.

"I don't believe you," Kelley said. "And if he did, I don't believe him. I'm skeptical about everything that man does."

Donald J. Cohen, an attorney from Manhattan, called Johnson's statement "very moving and tragic."

In San Francisco however, Don Cote, said "I was pleased... I think he believed he couldn't win if he did run..."

Irving Goldstein, also of San Francisco, disagreed, saying he was "shocked and sorry" that Johnson was not going to run.

"It appears that his experience necessitates his continuing in office. I do not think any of the other candidates are qualified."

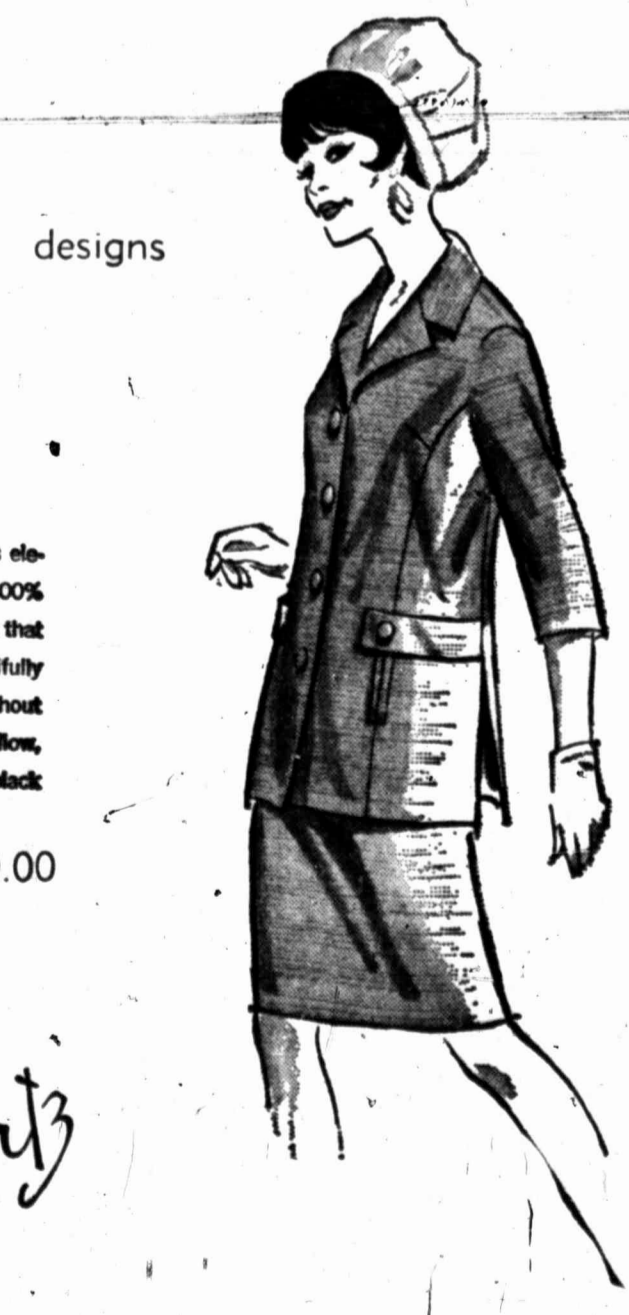

A high school teacher from Denver, Tom Radford, said "It was the closest thing he could do to ending the war. He made the offer at a time when criticism had come to a head in the Democratic party and from the citizenry. It will place the Democrats in a helter-skelter race."

Lack of public support was cited by other persons as a possible reason for Johnson's withdrawal. "As long as the people are not behind him," said Steve Slekovac of St. Petersburg, Fla., "he might as well give up and give somebody else a chance."
