The Culverhouse family, 1995. Bill and Becky, and children, Emily and Robert in front. Bill says his narrow escape during the 1985 train derailment caused him to appreciate more than ever what a family means.

Testimony From The Man Who Survived It Up Close

By Viola Payne

"I guarantee you that it changed me," says Bill Culverhouse, speaking of the train derailment in Eastland May 24, 1985. "It made me appreciate my family more. I feel blessed that I was not killed."

As Culverhouse recalls the disaster he can look out the front door of his business - Express Photo - and see the place on North Seaman where it all happened.

It is tranquil now—just a typical rail crossing with signal lights. The life and death drama of wrecked tank cars with explosive chemicals seems remote.

But not to Bill. And this is the first time that Culverhouse, business, church and civic leader, has talked about his experience for publication. For one thing—right after the 1985 incident he wasn't able to do much talking.

"Heat, radiating all the way to the courthouse"

That day of May 24 was already hot, even in the morning, Culverhouse recalls. School had just turned out for the summer and he was taking a vacation from teaching biology and chemistry at Eastland High.

That morning his wife, Becky, was at work at the TU Electric office on North Seaman near the old Morgan Building site. The Culverhouse children, 3 1/2 year old Emily and 1 1/2 month old Robert, were in day care.

Bill was working on his yard. He had just had curbs poured for flower beds, but a little before 10 a.m. decided to take a break and run out to where Becky worked.

He hopped in his Chevy pickup and drove down West Main to Seaman, N.E. of the courthouse. It was 10 a.m.

As he turned on North Seaman he fell behind a truck also heading north on Seaman. He looked ahead and saw that the railroad signal lights were flashing.

"The earth seemed to go into motion"

These words hit his brain: "That truck is not going to stop!"

"I was scared to death," he recalls. "I slowed down. I couldn't see the train coming from the west - there were buildings in the way."

"The next I knew, the truck was demolished into the train! My first thought was about the driver."

Time seemed suspended as Culverhouse stopped his pickup, threw open a door, and raced to the center of North Seaman Street. He was clutching a handkerchief in his hand with the instinct that the truck driver might be bleeding and he could try to stop it.

But Culverhouse hadn't reckoned on one thing - that the train had tank cars, and they had energy in motion. As they piled together east of the crossing, one of them exploded.

Culverhouse says he remembers seeing the explosion. Then he turned away in a kind of reflex, facing the west. There were tremendous waves of fiery heat, radiating all the way to the courthouse. He could see them moving through the air.

The earth seemed to go into motion. "I think it moved at least two feet," Culverhouse declares.

"Chunks of tank cars were falling"

Shrapnel and chunks of tank car were falling around him. Trees were beginning to burn.

He doesn't know whether it was the heat or motion of the earth that knocked him down. All he knows is that he landed face down in the middle of

Memorial Weekend Crash of '85 Strengthened, Proved The Mettle Of Volunteers, Citizens, Area

North Seaman Street minutes after the Crash May 24, 1985

Locally the Wednesday before Memorial Day Weekend has become a day of special remembrance.

Wednesday, May 24, this year, is the 10th anniversary of that fateful day in 1985 when a truck and a hazardous material-laden freight train once again proved that the two can not peacefully co-exist in the same space at the same time at a rail crossing.

The horror-bringing experience happened almost downtown in Eastland, some two blocks north of the courthouse square.

The resounding collision, the boilding smoke and fire and flying debris injured a number, destroyed and damaged a lot of property near and far and sent citizens into a frenzy of shock for days.

Had it not been for the cool, expert and highly qualified performances of the local emergency personnel, it could very easily have been a tragic panic situation.

Fortunately there were no deaths.

It was the baptism by fire as training for those already dedicated, who today, ten years later, are considered among the experts in handling hazardous material accidents.

The 1985 crash was but the first of what would eventually earn this county the dubious title for the greatest number of serious hazardous waste accidents in this decade. The ultra-serious train derailment virtually on the Eastland-Callahan County line later proved to be the next major learning experience for the local volunteers, mainly because they responded quickly and with experience.

Then last year, the equally-if-not-greater derailment just west of Eastland, north of Highway 80, proved to be O.J.T. Lesson No. Three for those who, by now have a national reputation for handling such emergency situations.

As recent as last week, Eastland Fire Chief Phillip Arther was asked by a Union Pacific Railway Co. officials again to borrow video footage and other materials archived here from earlier emergencies to be used in up-coming emergency training sessions that will be held around the nation.

"Through hard experience," Chief Arther says, "we've learned what can be done, and what can't. In fact, we've discovered that some of the previously-held theories are no longer true and to some extent, our people have been helping re-write the books (on handling such emergencies)."

The Chief credits the Good Lord, a lot of luck, plus the dedication of all the local emergency workers and their thorough preparation and constant diligence for knowing what to do and to be able to cope with situations as they arise.

Testimony From The Man Who Survived It Up Close

North Seaman Street, with a yellow stripe staring him in the face.

Culverhouse was badly burned, but somehow got to his feet. He ran to an oilfield company building across the street, only to meet everyone in the building running out. He heard people saying something about other tank cars that might go up anytime, and it was time to leave.

Culverhouse was in such deep shock that he really didn't feel any pain. "I was still on my feet," he says. "A man helped me over to Lamar Street and I sat down on a porch. The lady who lived there, her son and others hurried out and hauled me to Eastland Memorial Hospital."

"The back of it was burned off"

Culverhouse was among the first of several burned and injured people who were rushed to the hospital.

The late Dr. Bulgerin was the first to reach Bill Culverhouse and begin to treat him. Dr. Alexander soon came to assist.

"A nurse asked me to take my shirt off," Culverhouse recalls. "As I tried to move, I found that the whole back of it was burned off. At that time, I fainted."

It was found that Culverhouse had second and third degree burns on his back and the back of both arms. As the shock wore off, the pain became indescribable. The doctors gave shots to manage it.

Culverhouse was about half knocked out soon, but he did recognize his wife when she arrived.

At the office Becky had learned of the disaster, and somehow learned that Bill was injured. But there was no easy way for her to get directly into Eastland, for North Seaman was blocked with fire and rescue vehicles, law enforcement officers and other personnel.

"She nearly had to go to Cisco to cross the tracks," Culverhouse says.

Soon he had other visitors - Ernie Christie, minister of Church of Christ, other church friends and school personnel.

He heard some details of the damage from the explosion, the evacuation of portions of Eastland and the welding of another ruptured tank car.

"We were real fortunate," Culverhouse declares. "Twenty cars derailed - only one went off."

He also considers the survival of Gaylon Nelms, the truck driver, a fantastic thing.

Even Culverhouse's old Chevy pickup survived. He didn't believe that, at first, until Fireman Bill Dolen brought it around to the hospital to show it to him. There were some metal dents and a little other damage, but the thing still ran!

"In the hospital 51 days"

Bill Culverhouse was in the hospital 51 days in all. During that time Dr. Bulgerin and Dr. Alexander did some excellent skin grafts on his arms — which turned out to be burned even worse than his back. Now he has nothing to show for the grafts but some barely noticeable scars above one elbow.

"While I was in that hospital I really had time to do some thinking," he says. "I realized how much a good hospital means to a community. Until I got burned, I had never spent one night in a hospital."

"But after that — I was willing to run for a place on the Hospital Board - and I am still serving on it."

"I also had time to think about this community, and what it means. I have the highest regard for those law enforcement officers, firemen, and the others who risked their lives to take care of that derailment."

"And I want to say a good word here about my wife!" he declares. "When I went home from the hospital, she had a 3 1/2 year old, a tiny baby and me to take care of. Quite a job! But with the help of our family and friends — we got through it."

Culverhouse went back to teaching school in September, but says he really didn't feel back to normal until December of that year.

A few years later, in 1989, he left teaching and began something he had always wanted to do — a photography business.

In addition to his successful photography work, Culverhouse has served as President of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. He is a deacon with the Church of Christ, and works with the Kiwanis Club.

Part of his desire for community service, he says, comes from the new perspective the 1985 disaster brought him. He realized what was really important in life

County Commissioners: Approval To Set Up Mutual Aid Fire Channel

Eastland County Commissioners Monday agreed to execute necessary papers for the County Fire Association to set up a Mutual Aid Fire Channel.

Volunteer Firemen Mark Pipkin and Collin Campbell made the request, saying that each fire department in the county now uses separate radio frequencies.

When firemen respond to calls to assist another town, it is difficult to communicate, the firemen said. There is also a lot of traffic on the various other frequencies.

Several years ago the Fire Departments in the county formed an association for mutual aid, the firemen explained.

They said the Texas Forest Service will give a grant up to $5,000 to help say the cost of setting up a new radio channel. The County Association will make up the difference in cost.

A repeater system, using one frequency, is expected to be placed on Eastland's Park Hill. Permission will need to be granted by the Federal Communications Commission.

On another matter, the Commissioners approved a request from Treasurer Ruth Hart to set up an investment committee to advise on the investment of County reserve funds. It was decided to have three people on this committee: the County Treasurer, the County Auditor, and a member of the Commissioners Court.

County Judge Scott Bailey, Treasurer Ruth Hart and County Auditor Ken Parker will serve. The committee will meet once a quarter. It will have no authority except to bring recommendations to the County Court.

Permission was given to Precinct 2 Commissioner Calvin Ainsworth to advertise for bids on at least five new air conditioners for the courthouse. The total cost is expected to be between $2,500 and $3,000.

Permission was also granted to Precinct 4 Commissioner Reggie Pittman to move an employee from part-time to full-time position. Auditor Ken Parker said that in his type of status change the Commissioners does not have to advertise before doing this.

Commissioner Reggie Pittman had some more good news on the jail population. It was reported that the total count was 18 prisoners, still away under the population of several months ago.

There were 10 awaiting trial, but Pittman said these would probably be moved out soon.

A tremendous effort is being made to clear the docket of the 91st District Court. Steve Herod, a new appointee as Judge of the Court, will be sworn in this week.

On other law enforcement matters, Sheriff Ronnie White discussed replacing a 1990 Ford that had been badly damaged in an accident on a county road. Estimates to repair the car are more than $3,000. The Sheriff said that the car has more than 100,000 miles on it.

Commissioners indicated it might be better to total the car and start over, especially if the frame of the vehicle is bent. They said to get the carrier to look into insurance options. Sheriff White and County Auditor will also decide if enough is left over in the Sheriff's budget for a car replacement.

During the Court session there was an informal discussion between a citizen and some of the Commissioners concerning a dog that made an attack on her as she was walking near her home in the south part of Eastland last week.

When she moved aside the dog attacked a small dog she had on a leash, injuring her dog badly. She was concerned about what might happen to someone else if the big dog ever ran loose again.

The Commissioners agreed that the new laws on vicious dogs needed to be enforced in all cases.

FISHING OUTDOORS

By Terry Wilson

$25,000.00 For One Fish!

The KEAN Big Bass Bonanza was another success for the area business in Breckenridge. An estimated 1200 entrants converged on Hubbard Creek Lake in the cast for cash event.

Our good friend Tad Box of Midland took the top spot on Saturday and chewed nails till the final weigh in Sunday at 3:00 p.m. Tads 8.07 largemouth reportedly fell prey to a Berkley pumpkinseed power worm 7" early Saturday. We tried phoning Tad Sunday night but was unable to reach him. Perhaps the $25,000 1st place money allowed Tad an extra day away from work.

The final top ten spots were Luther Hurst, Emory 8.04, $3,000.00; Sy Mitchell, Stephenville, 7.22, $2,000; Randy White, Abilene, 6.65, $1,500; Mike Woodyard, Abilene, 6.52, $1,250; Bill Shipley, Abilene, 6.10, $1,000; Boy Sharp, Lampassas, 5.79, $900; Jamie Whitley, Breckenridge, 5.75, $750; Dewayne Council, Cisco, 5.71, $550.

Other local anglers drawing a check included Harlod Skiles, of Cisco, 22nd, 4.65, $270; Bud Wood of Cisco, Sunday hourly 3rd Big Bass, 11-12 p.m., 3.19, $100.

With only a guess as to how many out of town anglers were on hand one can only speculate the dollars brought in by this event. If they were 1200 entrants it is safe to say only 200 were local residents. If each person spent only $100.00 over the weekend, well you can get the point "Big Bucks in Breckenridge."

Lake Leon's black bass seem to have shut down Saturday around lunch. Saturday morning some nice fish in the 4 to 7 pound range were caught on buzz baits. With the water level just now reaching normal pool level from our recent rains, the lack of current is a major factor. Leon's catfishermen are reporting another upswing on trotlines using live perch.

With the end of school upon us we all need to help watch the youngsters out to enjoy water sports. Not only in boats, make sure everyone wears a life vest, water bikes, attach that kill switch. Also, help watch the young swimmers as you make your way around the lake. Let's make 1995 a safe and happy summer.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Texas Education Code is being revised by the Texas legislature. A conference committee has sychronized House and Senate versions. The compromise bill returns a few items to "home rule," meaning local school districts, but it takes big chunks of power away from you.

How? Two ways:

1. The heart of the "Parental Rights" section was removed. This would have allowed parents to temporarily remove their child from class when class instruction violated their moral or religious beliefs.

2. Authority is stripped from representatives you elect. It's handed to individuals and bureaucrats appointed by the governor or legislature.

Up to now, you elected the State Board of Education (SBOE), which acted like a school board for all Texas - - choosing text books, overseeing teacher certification, nominating the Commissioner of Education, and directing the Texas Education Agency (TEA). But now,

• Instead of the SBOE nominating the Commissioner of Education as before, the Commissioner would be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate.

• Instead of the SBOE directing TEA spending, the Governor-appointed Commissioner would approve TEA's vast budget.

• Instead of the SBOE controlling teacher certification, a new autonomous board controlled by teachers would. Board members would be appointed (presumably by the Governor).

• Instead of the SBOE filling vacancies on the board until the next election, the Governor would appoint and the Senate confirm replacement board members.

What to Do

1. Call Governor Bush TODAY at 1-800-252-9600. Tell him you supported his campaign promise to "abolish the regulatory authority" of the TEA. You don't want to give it more power at the expense of the SBOE. Ask him to veto the Education Code if it still has these measures. Let him know you want the "Parental Rights" section reinstated.

2. Call Senator David Sibley (District 22) at 512-463-0122 and Representative John Cook (District 60) at 512-463-0656. (Sibley was on the Conference Committee). Tell them this bill shows a trend at the state level of taking power away from voter-elected officials (State Board of Education) and giving it to appointed individuals and agencies (Commissioner of Education and Texas Education Agency). Point out that this diminishes your control as a voter over educational policy. Also tell them you want the "Parental Rights" main section reinstated.

• You may be told, "Oh, no, authority is being returned to local school districts." While that's true, at the state level your power to control education policy is being cut. Be ready to give specific examples from the above list.

Urge them to vote against the Education Code if it contains these measures.

3. Share this information with others. This issue affects all Texas voters, parents and children.

This bill is expected to be on the floor of the House and Senate next week. The sooner your call is made, the greater its impact. Call today!

Sincerely,
Ruth York

Your Retirement Shouldn't Be A Balancing Act

But the cost of long term care could trip you up.

Four out of ten Americans over 65 will eventually enter a nursing home.[1] At a cost of $40,000 a year[2] (the average cost of nursing home care) your financial security could be in jeopardy.

Half of all married couples entering nursing homes are impoverished within a year.[3]

Medicare doesn't pay for custodial care – the kind most people require. And as for Medicaid, it's a government welfare program; it will help only after you've depleted your assets virtually to the poverty level.

But there is an alternative. AMEX Life (an American Express company) has helped hundreds of thousands of seniors handle the staggering expense of long term care. Our representative can work with you to design a plan that meets your needs and fits your budget.

Pharmacy Topics

Arteries, not age, may be the key to mental acuity, a Netherlands study suggests. Clogged arteries in the brain affect mental performance. Doctors recommend exercise, careful diet, regular checkups - even aspirin - to keep arteries clear.

***

Treatment with bright, full-spectrum light seems to be effective against PMS-associated depression. Researchers at San Diego State University suggest that light therapy helps restore normal circadian rhythms.

***

No-needle dental anesthesia uses TENS (transcutaneous electronic nerve stimulation) to block pain signals to the brain. It's said to work for 80 to 90 percent of patients, especially for minor procedures.

CHIROPRACTOR
MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC
The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors.
The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment. Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work.
At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back pain but treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

If there's one thing we need, it's a Counselor more than human; and His name is the Lord.

He knows our traits. He's acquainted with our capabilities and our circumstances, and He's interested in every detail of our lives.

He knows our tomorrows. He can give the guidance today that will safeguard tomorrow.

REAL-ESTATER YOUVONNE McMillan, a positive influence herself, tells us that the public support for the Volunteer program to pretty-fy Cisco, is nothing short of miraculous. "People stop by when we're painting murals and give us checks and words of praise. It sure gives us encouragement." Needless to say, the pretty adornments being seen all over Cisco, are certainly encouraging to locals and visitors, too.

Small business alert: be advised that AT&Gouge, the phoney co., is sending statements presumable to all, long distance customer or not, announcing and assessing a $5. minimum monthy charge, plus taxes. We'd also welcome concise remembrances from that era from readers throughout this area. Just send 'em to this paper.

RE-NEWED INTEREST in the infamous Santa Claus bank robbery is evident in the recent visits by film studio representatives who are collecting data on the event with a view to possibly producing a movie. Cisco folks are offering information to the Chamber of Commerce there, and this will be passed along to those who are thinking about making the picture. In Eastland, Dr. Thomas Goodman, pastor First Baptist Church and a historian in his own right, is tremendously interested in this part of Eastland County's rich history. He's already collected a lot of material and talked to many including A. C. Greene, Dr. Duane Hale and others. We're all encouraging him to volunteer to help write the screenplay because his concern about the motivation of the principals would seem to be the story that should be told. To all: please get it down on paper before it's gone forever.

JUST WHEN we need it most: comes a call from Reader Jane Swift to tell us that she appreciates the paper in general and the graduation issue and the recent feature on Fabric & Friends in particular.

"De Lawd Sperit de libe een mean gee me powa. Cause e done pick me fa tell de good nyews to de people" --from the American Bible Society's first complete book of the Bible published in Gullah.

The May 16 meeting of the Eastland Lions Club was in honor of Homer Smith, a 53 year member of the Club. Pictured are Lions Club President Jayne Jones (L) with Homer and his wife, Beaulah. Homer received a plaque and Beulah roses in recognition of their many contributions to the Club and community.

Homer Smith Day: Honors For Solid Citizens

Homer Smith, a 53-yr. member of the Eastland Lions Club, and his wife Beulah Beth were honored at the Lions Club Luncheon in Grandma's Kitchen May 16.

A large crowd attended the event, and gave the Smith's a standing ovation. Lions Club President Jayne Jones declared it "Homer Smith Day."

She presented Homer a plaque and Beulah Beth a bouquet of red roses in recognition of their contributions to the Club and community.

Homer is literally a "walking history" of Eastland County, and has vivid recollections of many major events.

The Smiths are moving from Eastland this summer to a retirement center in Tyler. They will be near their son Don, who is a Doctor in that city.

Another son, Juan Jay, is an engineer with the Chrysler Corporation in Detroit. The Smiths also have six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Homer was the sixth of thirteen children born to Robert Walker Smith and Nettie Johonson Smith. His career started as Deputy Tax Collector after he graduated from Eastland High School.

He met Beulah Beth Williams in Randolph Junior College (now Cisco Junior College), and they were married in 1930.

The Smiths are both graduates of McMurry College and Beulah Beth has a Master's degree in Education from Hardin Simmons University. They began their married life as schoolteachers.

In 1938 Homer became Principal of Rising Star Ward School and the family moved there. They enjoyed Club work, and work in the Methodist Church. Homer sang in the Church Choir, and continued to be interested in music.

In 1942 he was elected Superintendent of Eastland County Schools, and they moved to Eastland that fall.

Homer taught science and coached football at Eastland High School preparatory to taking the County Superintendent's office Jan. 1, 1943. This was a critical time in history - World War II - and it took special skills to work around shortages and keep schools open. There were a number of country schools still in operation.

Homer was reelected to his second four-year term as Superintendent of Schools, but resigned to become Clerk of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

He served that three-judge court before retiring Jan. 1, 1976. Beulah Beth spent the last part of her career teaching first grade in the Ranger, Morton Valley and Eastland schools.

Mr. Smith joined the Lions Club right after moving to Eastland in 1942, and is presently the "oldest" member. He has also been a very dedicated member, working with many activities that have benefited the town and area.

The Lions told Homer how much he would be missed. He said he, too, would miss the Lions Club and Eastland - but that he and Beulah Beth were looking forward to being near some of their family.

All gave the Smiths their very best wishes.

Ranger Lions Club Roars On

The first eager members begin to gather for the weekly meeting at the Ranger Community Clubhouse, a few minutes early. As they walk through the door, they are greeted warmly by other early arrivers, as they quickly clamp on their collars or shirt pockets a personalized name badge retrieved from a just-opened cabinet.

While lunch is hurriedly placed on the serving table, the song leader is thumbing through the Lions song book for the days selection. The Lion Tamer, with a barrage of "Excuse me's", is busily setting up the club banner and head table. From the back of the growing crowd, an impatient attendee shouts, ""What's the hold-up. The Tail Twister's eyes are peeled to the door, to see who will receive fines, one the bell has rung at twelve, for being late.

The calendar shows that it Thursday, the sign outside says that the clubhouse is now the Liuons den, as Ranger's best begin the weekly meeting with a rousing, "Hail, Hail, the Lions are here, don't you hear them roaring, don't you hear them roaring. Hail, Hail, the Lions are here, don't you hear them roaring now." As the hearty anthem fills the room, the songleader grimaces at the abundant sour notes.

A patriotic, "My Country Tis of Thee:", the Pledge of Allegience, and a prayer by a "Lion Preacher", rounds out the preliminaries. Guests are always invited to the front of the serving table, as staring regular members quickly follow behind.

After a delicious hot meal, and a brief time devoted to carrying on the business of the club, in which a unanimous vote approves the purchase of a pair of eyeglasses for a youth of Ranger, the program director, introduces the special guest speaker.

Todays guest are the trio of Swedish school teacher, last meeting was an instructor from Ranger College, also addressing the club recently has been a Hollywood stunt man and olympian, a politician, a musician, a World War II P.O.W., a district govenor. "there is really no telling, who is likely to be the program or the guest speaker at ant weekly meeting", says club president Ken Colegrove who serves as pastor of a local church, "we always try to have an interesting and informative program.

Upon hearing the final bell, the Lions meeting is adjourned, and members head to the door, having enjoyed the friendship, food, and comaraderie of another meeting.

These Ranger Lions of course, are no novices, being one of the oldest active service clubs in the area. "thirty-two members were present in May of 1922 when the very first Lions Club meeting was chartered. For seventy-three years, there has been no interuption of activity of the Ranger Lions Club. Since 1922 there has been a weekly meeting of the Ranger Lions It presently boasts of a robust membership of fifty-two, with energetic plans for expansion in it's membership.

Over the course of seventy-three years, hundreds of eye glasses have been purchased, especially for school children of the Ranger ISD.Tens of thousands of dollars have been sent to the Lions "Crippled Children Camp" in Kerrville. Funds have regulary been contributed from the Lions coffers to help in civic and educational endeavors, as well as other prevalant needs that arise. The motto, "We Serve" is prominately displayed on the international logo.

Over one million and a half Lions can be counted from industrial nations to third world countrie s worldwide. The chief ambitions of Lions Internaational through the "Sight First" campaign, is to eradicate blindness.

The Ranger Lions club holds several fund-raisers through the course of the year. There is an annual Broom and Mop sale, a "lions Benefit Bowl", which involves all area clubs. Of course, the "Cowboy Breakfast" on "Roaring Ranger Days", is always a big hit. Several cheerful, good-natured Lions are always willing to be of service to the club and to the community during these functions.

For seventy-three years, the Ranger Lions Club has been roaring along, and they certainly show no signs of letting up soon.

Ranger Lions Plan Improvements For City Park

Beginning this Saturday, May 20, the Lions Club of Ranger kicks off an energetic and much needed program to bring drastic improvements to the Ranger City Park beside the swimming pool.

Existing equipment will receive needed refurbishment and a fresh coat of paint. "Anyone who would like to help us is more than welcome", says president Ken Colegrove. "We plan on getting started at about 9 am", he adds.

Further development and improvements are also in the works in the future. Such as a new component playground, new benches, tables and new landscaping.

Fund-raisers are in the plans very shortly to help off-set the costs of this beautification plan. Anyone who would like to make a contribution earmarked for the "Park Improvement Plan" is welcome to do so.
