French Flier Sets Mark As He Captures Coveted Speed Trophy Labor Day

DASHING YOUNG MICHEL DETROYAT IS WINNER OF FEATURE RACE AT LOS ANGELES; CHARGE GOVERNMENT BUILT SHIP DRAWS DENIAL

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8. — The coveted Charles E. Thompson trophy, America's emblem of air speed supremacy, rested today in the possession of young Lieut. Michel Detroyat of France.

The dashing flier wrested the trophy from a crack field of American pilots yesterday at the National Air races.

Detroyat, flying a special-built Caudron-Renault racer, which Col. Roscoe Turner of America charged was developed and paid for by the French government, flashed over the 150-mile course of 15 ten-mile laps in record time of 264.261 miles an hour.

His speed broke the record of 252.686 miles an hour hung up in 1932 by America's Major James H. Doolittle.

Detroyat's smashing victory was the high spot of the show.

Only a 50-mile race for the $3,000 Shell cup trophy remained to be raced today.

Lieut. Detroyat captured $9,500 first prize money yesterday and $4,900 the day before in winning the Louis W. Greve trophy.

Earl Ortman, Los Angeles 248.042 m. p. h. won $4,375 for finishing second.

Col. Turner declared:

PEACE APPEAL MADE PUBLIC

HULL DECLARES THAT FABRIC OF PEACE IS WORN THIN

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—With a warning that "the fabric of peace has been worn perilously thin," a challenge went out from Secretary Hull to other nations today to avoid war.

Openly critical of other statesmen who, he charged, have failed to check present day "warlike tendencies," the secretary of state called last night for a redoubling of efforts toward the preservation of peace and an early return to "sane perspectives."

Alternative Pictured

As an alternative, he pictured the possibility of a new general war which "would set loose forces beyond control—forces which might easily bring about a virtual destruction of modern political thought, with all its achievements, and possibly a veritable shattering of civilization."

Hull chose the third world power conference, attended by representatives of all the principal nations, as the forum for what his aides called his most outspoken entreaty for peace.

ANSWER TO GERMANY'S PREPARATIONS GIVEN BY OLD ENEMY

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Sept. 8—France went into the war equipment market today to buy $910,000,000 worth of fighting planes, guns, tanks and armored cars.

Premier Leon Blum's cabinet approved the gigantic increase in regular army expenses to bolster the mighty French military machine in answer to Germany's increase in fighting personnel.

The money is to be used, the cabinet decided, to increase the army's efficiency. Of the first allotment, $78,000,000 was earmarked for the purchase of new planes and modern aviation equipment.

Part of the huge general army fund for the next four years was

MOTOR DRIVING TINY STEAM ENGINE WITH RAYS OF SUN AS FUEL SHOWN

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A "solar motor," driving a tiny steam engine with no fuel but the sun's rays, was hailed today by delegates to the third world power conference as the key to an almost unlimited treasure house of energy.

Demonstrated today for the first time, the sun machine was developed during a life-time research by Dr. C. G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian institution.

Dr. Abbot declared that if oil and coal supplies fail, sun motors might light the world's homes and drive its factories.

The basic design of the solar heater was relatively simple. Three curved metal mirrors focused the sun's rays on glass tubes containing a black liquid of special chemical composition.

Heated to 400 degrees Fahrenheit by the concentrated beams, the fluid passed through a boiler which generated enough steam to run the small engine.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8 — Cotton moved upward nearly three dollars a bale today when trading resumed after one of the most surprisingly bullish crop estimates in years.

Staging a major upset in cotton crop expectations, the government figure of 11,121,000 bales brought heavy buying into the New Orleans market.

FEDERAL FORECAST REVEALS DECLINE

U. S. Not Helpless If War Breaks Out

AMERICA HAS NOT OVERLOOKED DEFENSES IN TIME OF BATTLE; DEMONSTRATION PLANNED

(By The Associated Press)

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Sept. 8—The army let it be known today that the United States has not been made defenseless by the rapid development of military aviation in Europe.

Germany, England, Russia, Italy and Japan admittedly have built up powerful and efficient air forces—Russia even going as far as training women to act as pilots and observers — but the United States, army officers say, has not overlooked this important military branch.

This month a mythical army air force of more than 7,600 officers and enlisted men, with 402 airplanes, representing the strength of the third army in the air, will theoretically test defense of Uncle Sam's southern frontiers in command post exercises against a "black" foreign power which was assumed to have invaded our shores.

This defensive air force will be but one phase of the army concentration simulated in the exercises when Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the third army and the eighth corps area, sends his "paper army" of nearly 157,000 to the defense of the gulf coast. For purposes of the exercises, it was assumed that the mythical invader has a force of about 250,000.

Augmenting his land force, Gen. Parker will use the facilities of the air corps for observation, pursuit, attack, bombardment and transport.

(By The Associated Press)

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Sept. 8.—Fifteen-year-old Mildred McClure of Breckinridge, Tex., was in a serious condition in a Kingsport hospital today from gunshot wounds received last night in a shooting fray which cost the life of a young man.

Sheriff J. D. Newland said the man, Boyd Conner, 26-year-old uncle of the girl, shot himself to death after firing three bullets into his niece.

Condition Serious

Suffering from wounds in her wrist and abdomen, she was brought to community hospital here where her condition was considered serious.

Newland quoted Mrs. Bessie McCray, Conner's sister, as saying he came to her house about ten miles south of Kingsport and ordered her to leave the room where she and Miss McClure were talking.

She said she refused to leave. Conner repeated his demand, Newland said, and waved a pistol. The young girl grabbed at the gun, the officer related, and Conner shot her

The engine and eight of ten coaches crowded with over 200 passengers left the rails. Only the locomotive overturned. Railroad officials said a double road bed and steel coaches prevented a more serious mishap.

Crushed To Death

An unidentified white man described as a transient was crushed to death between two derailed coaches. The body could not be extricated until wreckers arrived.

Engineer J. H. Kenney and Fireman Jack Kelley, Little Rock, escaped being pinned in the wrecked locomotive by climbing onto the engine tender after the crash. Kenney had a bruised head. Kelley's feet were scalded.

BIG FIGHT ON IN GEORGIA TOMORROW

TALMADGE SEEKING TO REPLACE RUSSELL AS SOUTHERN SENATOR

(By The Associated Press)

Voters of five widely separated states balloted in primaries today, while national interest centered on the contest in Georgia tomorrow where Governor Eugene Talmadge, bitter critic of the New Deal, is trying to replace Richard B. Russell, jr., in the senate of the United States.

States holding primaries today included Washington, Arizona, Colorado and Vermont. In South Carolina, a second run-off was being held between two Greenville Democrats to choose a successor to the late John J. McSwain for the cotton mill district in congress.

Charges Are Hurled

Governor Talmadge charged Senator Russell with being "a rubber stamp" for the New Deal. The senator said he was "proud" to have favored New Deal legislation.

In Washington, seven Republicans and nine Democrats are contesting the seat of the late Marion A. Zioncheck. In the fifth district, Mrs. Rosalie Dill, divorced wife of former Senator C. C. Dill, sought the Democratic nomination for congress.

Governor Clarence D. Martin is opposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by John C.

Trial of the election contest suit brought a month ago by Jess C. Levens against L. C. Ellis, county Democratic chairman, and others will begin at 9 a. m. Thursday, Sept. 17, in 99th district court.

Setting of the case yesterday followed a hearing on its transfer before Judge E. L. Pitts and a later agreement between Judge Pitts and Judge Homer L. Pharr of the 72nd district court, where the original pleadings had been filed.

At the hearing, Charles C. Crenshaw appeared for Robert J. Allen, Democratic nominee for county attorney, and William H. Evans for Levens, defeated candidate. Levens and Allen were in the courtroom.

President, Mrs. Osa Wilbanks; vice-president, Mrs. L. M. Warren; third vice-president, Mrs. W. L. Adkins; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Pendley; reporter, Mrs. A. J. Campbell. Mrs. J. D. Welch and Mrs. A. R. Pendley were re-elected teacher and assistant teacher.

Mrs. Welch taught a lesson from St. Matthew: 15.

Twenty-three members and a visitor, Miss Alyne Fort, attended.

Mrs. Bonds Conducts Study Of Bible

Mrs. W. F. Bonds conducted a study from the book of Esther at a meeting of the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Walter presided for a business session. It was voted to change the hour of meeting to 3 o'clock instead of 4 o'clock. Eleven women attended.

County Agents To Meet In Plainview

Compliance of farmers with the new AAA program and measurement of acreages planted in soil conserving crops will be checked at a district 2 meeting of county agents in Plainview next Saturday, County Agent C. C. Jobson has announced.

Twenty agents and assistants, with the assistant engaged in soil conservation work, will meet with District Agent Leader O. G. Tumlinson, College Station. A. L. Smith, College station, head of the state allotment board and E. M. Regenbrecht, administrative assistant, are to speak. Meeting will be held in the Filton hotel.

Assistant Charles A. King and B. J. McGee, in charge of cotton administration, are to attend. As soon as plans are outlined, the work will begin, probably next week, Mr. Jobson said.

Cooperation Asked In Careful Driving

Every bottle of milk being distributed by the Texas Tech dairy, has a small "collar" calling attention of motorists to the fact that school days are here "again", and asking cooperation of drivers in a careful driving campaign.

The "collars" were given by the South Plains Automobile club. They are a part of a nation-wide safety campaign, designed to safeguard the lives of school children.

So prevalent has tobacco-smuggling become on the Franco-Belgian border that "dazzle guns" are being used to circumvent it. These guns throw, for a distance of four miles, a beam of light so powerful that it will temporarily blind anyone in its path.

Officers Inducted In Church Society

Officers who were installed in the First Baptist Women's Missionary society Monda, afternoon were given their commissions in the form of a Biblical reference to their duties. The ceremony was held at the church. Commissions were as follows:

President, Mrs. C. Fred Litton, Heb. 13:20-21; recording secretary, Mrs. Claude Key, Col. 3:17; corresponding secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Weiss, Heb. 6:10; circle chairmen, Mesdames Tom Campbell, J. A. Barton, A. M. Leftwich, jr., C. W. Moses, L. D. Casey, H. W. Cherry, J. I. Noah and W. L. Fry, and dismissal which consisted of the permanent watchword, "Laborers Together With God", and the year's watchword, "As the Father Hath Sent Me Even So Send I You", said in unison.

Cases Against Man May Be Up Today

Two cases against Chas. D. Walls, charged with violation of the medical practice act, may be tried in county court beginning at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon if agreement of defendant counsel in moving the case from Wednesday's docket is reached, County Attorney Jess C. Levens said this morning.

Three cases scheduled for today, against Gaston Cobb and Preston Carver for theft and against J. D. Mapp on a liquor law violation complaint, have been passed by action of County Judge J. J. Dillard.

Other settings this week of criminal cases not heard in the August term of county court were announced last night as follows:

The site of Nevada state prison is an excavation from a hill, in the form of a bowl. The fossil of a large elephant was uncovered during excavation, and further search brought astounding discoveries of prehistoric animals.

Mrs. H. W. Moore sang and Mrs. D. N. Leaverton conducted a "hidden answer" drill.

There were two full moons during March, 1934.

IN EACH TUB OF HOME WASHING RINSE WATER

THAT WAS THE STORY—that hundreds of bacterial test samples—taken from actual home washing suds and rinse waters—told when they were analyzed in the Bacteriological Laboratory.

Samples from the Last Rinse Waters in these homes were tested in the registered Bacteriological Laboratory, together with samples from the Last Rinse Waters of over 100 typical laundries in different sections of the country. The average number of bacteria in these final rinse waters, as found by the Laboratory tests were:

318,792 PER CC in Homes

51 PER CC in Laundries

Stomach, Kidneys Easily Regulated By The Gly-Cas

Mrs. Pennington Up Many Times At Night, Back And Sides Pained Dreadfully: Gly-Cas Wastes No Time Getting To The Source Of Her Health Troubles

"There are many medicines on the market today but none that can be compared with this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Lennis Pennington, 436 East 7th St., San Angelo, Tex., "For ten years my kidneys had been a constant source of distress with me. The action was entirely too frequent, caused me to get up four and five times each night, greatly disturbing my rest and my system was filled with poisons. Pains in my back and sides were terrible and at times they were so severe I would think I could not stand them another minute. To make my condition more miserable indigestion attacked me after each meal. Gas would form and I bloated until I could hardly get my breath at times. There were many foods I did not dare eat at all for the suffering they would cause me afterwards. Of course I had taken all kinds of medicines—doing my best to find relief—but none of them were able to help me in the least. All I had to look forward to was continued suffering and I did not know where to turn next until I finally began this new Gly-Cas—it went right to the source of my health troubles."

"By the time I had finished half the first box of Gly-Cas I was getting the very best of results," she continued. "Now my kidneys are functining normally again, all pain has gone, sleep good and enjoy a full nights rest. My stomach is no longer bothering me and I eat anything I wish. Those dreadful poisons have been eliminated, new strength and energy has been restored and I am feeling the best I have in years. Gly-Cas certainly gives the "health nature intended."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

SIMONE SHEDS HER TEMPERAMENT ON NEARING THE MOVIE HEIGHTS

Going 'round on a ferris wheel is Simone Simon's idea of fun. She indulges it on a prop wheel in her first American movie.

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8 (AP)—Simone Simon (See-monay See-moan) makes her first American movie appearance as the star of "Girls' Dormitory."

In the picture, she is supposed to be 19. She looked about 15. Actually, she's 22. At times she reminded previewers of the wistful Lillian Gish, and then of the more shadowy moments of Pola Negri.

Many in Hollywood thought at first that Simone was a phony. Some of us tried to talk to her on the set, when she was cast as "Cigarette" in "Under Two Flags." And about all she ever said was "I don't know," or "I don't understan'."

I saw her one morning and she looked all right. That afternoon, Simone announced she was too ill to work any more. The skeptics were convinced she felt the starring role (which was played by Claudette Colbert finally) was too much for her.

As a matter of fact, Simone was ill and spent the succeeding month in a hospital, fighting influenza.

A Difficult Starter

When 20th Century took over Fox, it inherited Simone along with the other assets. She had been brought here by the studio's former head, Winfield Sheehan, who had seen her in Paris. Darryl Zanuck and the new crowd likely never had heard of this French girl and it is probable the great shortage of talent was only reason Simone was kept on the payroll.

The few shots that had been taken of Simone for "Under Two Flags" must have convinced Zanuck that she had something. As soon as she was well, she was cast in the important part in "Girls' Dormitory."

The story Hollywood hears is that one of the first persons Simone met here was Marlene Dietrich, who advised the young newcomer to be "difficult."

Just A Home Girl

Result: Simone told the costumers how she should be gowned; the hairdressers how she should be coiffured; and the make-up man what color paint to use. She was unresponsive to interviewers. And "uppity," one hears, to fellow-workers. She had ideas about photographs, too.

"Well, well," said the studio. "Temperament, huh?" Whereupon they began treating Simone with such kindness she must have felt ashamed of herself. Lately, the studio folks say, she has become natural, willing to co-operate, easier to work with.

Simone stays home nights, mostly. Once, she went dancing in a night club with George Raft. She is often seen with a young fellow who is giving her tennis lessons. She has a five-year rental option on a home.

Her performance in her first picture proves she is not a phony. Maybe she will be here five years.

CLASSES STARTED IN SCHOOLS HERE

Enrollment at the end of opening day in Lubbock public schools totaled 4,431 students Monday afternoon, 142 more than were enrolled at the end of opening day last year.

The confusion of opening day over, students are meeting classes regularly today. Books have been issued to all students enrolled.

Enrollment Announced

Enrollment by schools, as announced by Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, superintendent, follows:

Senior High, 1,075; Junior High, 1,300; R. Carter, 424; Central Ward, 279; Dupre, 483; George M. Hunt, 363; Sanders, 186; Southeast Ward, 15; Northeast Ward, 14; Southwest Ward, 39; Guadalupe, 49; Dunbar, 205.

Enrollment in elementary schools was about the same as that at end of the opening day last year and enrollment at Junior and Senior High schools was larger, said Doctor Oberholtzer. Total on opening day last year was 4,289.

To Continue Enrollment

Enrollment was conducted at Junior and Senior High schools after school hours and will be continued this afternoon after 4 o'clock. Enrollment will be continued at all schools.

Elementary students were enrolled by grades as follows: first, 477; second, 409; third, 506; fourth, 434, fifth, 406; sixth, 392; seventh, 342.

Last year 1,158 students had been enrolled at Junior High school at the end of opening day, and 1,013 had been enrolled at Senior High school.

Long Hunt Ends; Wife Dead

A 2½-year world-wide search for his beautiful wife, the former Daye Dawn, once-famed chorus girl, and his son, Eugene, jr., pictured just before their disappearance, ended when Eugene W. Weiner, wealthy New York broker, found the boy, now 6, in the custody of a Los Angeles attorney. His wife, Weiner learned, had died last March, her true identity then unknown. The pair vanished in 1934 after a court order divided the boy's custody between his parents. The attorney revealed that Eugene, jr., had been placed with him by a former cafe owner, now in prison for mail fraud.

Work Starts Today Upon New Hospital

Work was started this morning on the Plains Hospital and Clinic at 2605 Nineteenth street, which is scheduled to be constructed by Dec. 15. Between 35 and 40 men will be employed on the project, W. G. McMillan, contractor, said last night.

Of reinforced concrete and steel structure with a brick exterior trimmed in stone, the two story building will be air conditioned throughout and will be the first hospital to be air-conditioned in West Texas. A one-story kitchen and dining unit with basement will adjoin the two-story structure.

Campbell Selected As Bar President

New president of the Lubbock county bar association is W. W. Campbell, vice-president is W. D. Benson, jr., and secretary-treasurer is A. V. Weaver, jr., elected at a meeting Monday in the courthouse.

A move to continue the summer custom of closing all law offices in the city each Saturday afternoon failed to pass. The association approved holding luncheons the first and third Saturdays of each month at Lubbock hotel.

South Carolina is the only state in the nation without a divorce law.

OIL FOR DAWSON COUNTY REPORTED

LAMESA, Sept. 8.—(Special)—Oil standing 2,500 feet deep in the Ray Albaugh No. 1 Robinson, NW 1-4 section 46, Block M. E. L. and R. R. survey, Dawson county, gave hopes today that a well had been struck about 13 miles northwest of here.

Following swabbing of the hole, 4,964 feet deep, Sunday when in two hours 45 barrels of live oil with some gas and no water was brought up, the test was shut down until Thursday. Further production tests will be conducted that day.

Albaugh began drilling back in 1930. He assembled an acreage of 15,000 or more, in the northwestern part of the county, just east of Cedar Lake, in Gaines county.

Bit by bit he has sold off his acreage, using the money to finance operations. He interested some of the major companies about two years ago and they financed the drilling of the hole with a Midland firm, Turner and Adams. They drilled to 4,900 feet, but were unable to get any showing. The drillers gave up their contract after having completed their depth.

Again Albaugh began his self-financing program. He interested his friends again, sold some more royalty and again got the major companies interested

Work was resumed a few months ago, after a long shutdown. Recently the drilling was resumed at about 4,940 feet. Former depth was 4,950 feet. Oil was logged at 4,940-45 feet.

The test is known as the Ray Albaugh No. 1 Robinson.

All-Time Record Is Set In August

An all-time record was set in August by pumpage of 109,734,000 gallons of water from city pumps, M. R. Smith, city engineer, reported Monday.

The August total exceeded the former record, set in July of this year, by 10,357,000 gallons.

Daily average in August was 3,539,800 gallons. Maximum daily pumpage was 3,858,300 gallons on Aug. 14, and minimum was 2,411,100 on Aug. 30.

The total for August exceeded that of August of 1935 by 29,240,000 gallons.

The record consumption during August probably could be attributed largely to the small amount of rainfall, Smith said.

Italy's first skyscraper apartment is now under construction in Rome. Owners of the building plan to sell rather than rent, the apartments.

BIGGEST LEAD NOW BOASTED BY GIANTS

TERRY'S TERRIERS OUT IN FRONT BY FIVE GAMES TODAY

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when it appeared the leading teams in the National league didn't know the meaning of "consistency," the New York Giants righted themselves and as a result today enjoyed the biggest lead they have yet held in the pennant race.

Over the week-end the combined efforts of the Giants, Cardinals and Cubs produced only one victory. Yesterday, however, Bill Terry's men rallied, swept a doubleheader with the Phillies and took five and six game leads, respectively, over the Cardinals and Cubs, who continued their backsliding by losing two games each.

Yanks Need One

While the Giants were whipping the Phils 6 to 2 and 14 to 11, the Yankees all but clinched the American league pennant as they turned back the Athletics, 4 to 3 and 8 to 3.

The Yanks need only one more victory.

Carl Hubbell hurled one of his masterpieces to give the Giants their first game and chalk up his 12th successive victory and his 22nd of the season.

The Cards, even with Dizzy Dean pitching the first game, were no match for the Pirates, losing 4 to 1 and 14 to 1. Dean was outpointed by Waite Hoyt, who hurled five-hit ball.

Champs Go Down

The Cubs and Reds featured another fistic no-decision combat between Gilly Campbell and Bill Jurges but the National league champions went down 6 to 2 and 8 to 4. In the other National league encounter, the Bees and Dodgers broke even. The Dodgers won the first in 11 innings, 2-1, but dropped the nightcap, 4-1, although Van Lingle Mungo fanned 14 Bostonians.

Battling for second place in the American, the Tigers and White Sox still found themselves all square. The world champions won the first 8 to 7 on the strength of Gerald Walker's home run but lost the second by the same score although Walker got another homer and Goose Goslin and Charlie Gehringer also put the ball over the fence.

Jimmy Deshong turned in his 16th victory as the Senators beat the Red Sox 6 to 4 in the opener only to have Tom Yawkey's "millionaires" take the nightcap 6-5. The Indians and Browns also split even, Cleveland taking the second 7-1 after losing the first, 6-4.

OLD TIMERS ARE BACK THIS WEEK

After considerable wandering around the country where he has maintained, if not progressed in, the technique of his chosen profession, another popular grappler returns to Sled Allen's ring to resume warfare with the middleweights this week.

Quite a number of the old timers are drifting back to the circuit as the fall season gets under way, and one of them is Joe Bauer, the earnest and honest but nevertheless comical son of old Milwaukee, the jittery German who makes the fans laugh without trying to put on a show.

Bauer's natural style is a serious matter with him, but a riot of fun for the spectators. He starts his new campaign here against Ace Abbott, the improved youngster originally from Abilene but for the past six months or so from Los Angeles.

Another old timer, re-introduced last week, is back, and again on the supporting card. He is Yaqui Joe, the wrestling Injun from Sonora. Joe came back to an admiring South Plains fandom last week and called or but little of his skill and strength to win a preliminary fall from Abbott. He will have harder sledding this time, for his opponent is Herb Parks, the clean but absorbent grappler from Vancouver.

Mask And Watkins

These boys will take the cheers while they're in there, but they can not hope to steal the show. The main event will do that, because it's a match long sought by Sled Allen's customers.

The Masked Marvel will attempt to preserve his anonymity and prestige in a two-out-of-three-falls-go with Sailor Tex Watkins, the Post ex-gob and rancher.

Tickets are on sale at Hotel Lubbock drug, and ringside: for this event are going fast. Another capacity house is expected, and fans are warned that there is no room for standing room.

Young Coast Star Now Pacing Field

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8. (AP) — Barbara Winslow, 16, of Hollywood, Calif., paced the field into the third round today of the 19th annual national girls' lawn tennis tournament.

Behind her in her drive toward the throne left undefended by another coast star, Patsy Henry, of Los Angeles, was a 6-3, 6-3 victory in the second round over Judith Lachenbruch, of Pleasantville, N. Y. A field of 60, described by officials as the largest ever to compete in the event, opened play yesterday at the Cricket club.

Collegians Steal Headlines To Drub Chicago Bears, 7 to 6

ELUSIVE ABE MICKAL AND MANTON SCORE FOR ALL-STARS

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—A daring band of Southwest conference football warriors who stole the nation's headlines last fall, temporarily teamed with a few choice "outsiders" today had wrecked the myth that college boys couldn't trim a professional eleven.

Banded together as the Centennial All-Stars, the heroes of 1935 collegiate battles outplayed and outscored the noted Chicago Bears, 7-6, in a mid-season thriller played in 90-degree heat before 25,000 at the exposition's Cotton bowl.

Two Coaches Nervous

Coaches Matty Bell and Leo (Dutch) Meyer, who led Southern Methodist and Texas Christian into the Rose and Sugar Bowls, respectively, New Year's day, last, fidgeted like schoolboys on the bench as their youngsters became the first college group to down a professional team.

Heads up playing and a wide-open offensive, typical of the section, sacked the victory for the collegians.

Jim Lee Howell, great University of Arkansas athlete and a rangy, six foot, four inch end, set off the winning spark. Deep in the third period he bagged a dangerous flat zone pass Gene Bonzani, Bruin halfback, tossed on his own 25-yard stripe and headed goalward. Bonzani caught him a foot from the pay line.

Abe Bounces Across

Stocky Abe Mickal, Louisiana State's triple-threat marvel, bounced across the goal line on the initial try. Husky Taldon Manton, Texas Christian fullback, planted his try for point squarely between the posts.

The Bears took but three minutes to score. A punt exchange left the collegians on their 12-yard line and George Musso, giant Bear tackle, charged in from there to block Mickal's attempted punt and recover on the two-yard stripe. Bronko Nagurski, king of professional backs, whirled across.

The crowd settled for the formality of Jack Manders, old Minnesota star, kicking the needed point. He had missed but three out of his last 150 attempts when he readied himself for the kick. Out of the line roared Bob Reynolds, giant Stanford tackle, to plant his huge frame directly in the line of the ball and send it bounding harmlessly away.

Any one of a half dozen all-stars could be named responsible for the victory. Howell for his pass interception; Manton for his perfect kick and great defensive play; Reynolds for spectacular line work; Darrell Lester, Texas Christian's great All-America selection of two years for raging work on the line; Mickal for a marvelous kicking exhibition that constantly kept the Bears in trouble and Stan Pincura, Ohio State's passer for hard tackling and bullet passing.

Mickal, "trouble shooter" of the team, planted beautiful kicks all over the field, twice laying sideline punts out of bounds inside the Bruin five yard line.

Nagurski, Beattie Feathers, John Sisk, Ray Nolting, Musso and Bill Hewitt worked like Trojans for the Bruins but bad breaks penalties and frequent pass interceptions by the alert collegians nullified their efforts.

The collegians, noted for aerial trickery, attempted 23 heaves and advanced 85 yards on nine completions. The Bears passed 17 times and completed five for 59 yards.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Babe Herman and Ernie Lombardi, Reds — Led attack on Cubs, former getting homer to drive in two runs in first game and latter connecting with triple and single to send three across in nightcap.

Sam West, Browns, and Bob Feller, Indians — West drove out three hits in opening game; Feller checked Browns with seven hits in second.

Gerald Walker, Tigers, and Luke Appling, White Sox — Walker got seven hits, including two homers, in two games. Appling led Sox attack with three hits and two runs in second contest.

SPORTOGRAMS by OLLIER PARRIS

Football, as the name implies, is a game in which the players' feet are fundamentally predominant.

This gentle reminder was served up to a squad of professional gridsters from Chicago last night in the Dallas Cotton Bowl by a spirited gang of southern, southwestern and United States ex-collegians.

You can chalk up another victory for Southern and Southwest football, because the educated toes of ringleaders from these sections proved the difference last night.

The quick-kicking of Abe Mickal, Louisiana State's great star, and the goal-kicking of Taldon Manton, Texas Christian's lamented graduate, was the difference between professional and collegiate football. It must have been a fine game to watch.

The pro vs. All-Stars fever persists tonight, another group of ex-collegians meeting the New York Giants in the Big Town. It will be the third such game within a week. All-stars comprising the squad which met the Detroit Lions, pro champions, and played 'em a scoreless tie at Chicago last Wednesday night, divided after the game, half of them going to New York to join the eastern all-stars, the others coming to Dallas to play against the Bears last night.

Local and sectional grid fans have been interested in the previous games because of certain Southwest stars who played against the pros. Local fans will be interested in tonight's game because of a certain individual who plays with the professional Giants.

He is Gaines Davis, heavyweight guard of the 1933, '34 and '35 Texas Tech teams.

A letter from Gaines to Dutchy Smith, his line coach at Tech, informs that the former Abilene boy is running with the first string in early practice. The Giants have been in training at a swanky country club just out of the city, but Gaines hasn't much to say about that. He's too busy trying to make the ball club, and at the last writing, which was the middle of last week, he had nudged out two veteran guards and taken over a regular job.

Davis was still a bit worried. He explained that the club carried four guards, and that he was the fifth in line, from the standpoint of time.

But Gaines went up there with the idea of making the team, and thus far he has made it. He has a lot of what it takes to be a professional gridster, including weight and guts. He has an indomitable will, once he gets set, and he has hustle. They're four of the five requirements for pro ball, the fifth being national distinction and popularity. All that kept Gaines from being nationally popular was his affiliation with a club that is just beginning to reap its just rewards in the realm of publicity.

Gaines explains a fundamental difference between professional and college football that isn't generally known in these parts where pro ball is an exception.

"Emphasis is on power, not form, in pro ball," Davis writes. "We are told to do a certain job, and to heck with the form, so long as we do it."

Between the lines, however, you can see that form, as taught in colleges, has a lot to do with manufacturing of power. The pros take it for granted that one has form, or knows something about form, so the coaches lose no time teaching it, whereas in college football, coaches stress form above or equal to anything.

We'll be interested to see what Davis does tonight. He's almost sure to play, likely to start the game. We may have to subscribe for a New York paper to get the whole dope, but as soon as we get it, we'll pass it along.

CONGRATULATIONS TO another great guard from Texas Tech, running mate of Gaines Davis last year and the year before. Captain Walker Nichols, whom Tech coaches tried to run off the field when he reported for freshman football in 1932, weighing something less than 150.

He stayed on, and emerged as one of Tech's greatest, although never more than a middleweight, a light heavyweight at best. Few his size get along in college football, but Walker had the stuff.

So it's indeed pleasing to see "Little Nick" become a member of the Lubbock High school coaching staff.

Nick, as a coach, will give 'em just what he gave 'em as a player, which is everything. They don't come much straighter than Nichols, nor more courageous, nor finer. He'll do, anywhere, anytime, and he deserves every good thing that is coming to him.

Nick won't be coaching the Cowhands long. He'll either be shoving somebody aside on the Westerner staff, or he'll be coaching somewhere else before long, that is, if he wants to coach.

Lubbock High let a good man get away when Bennie McWilliams pulled stakes for a smaller school and a bigger salary. Hate to see him go, but glad to see him get along. But Bennie has a worthy successor in Ross Ayers, and Ayers, moving up to the Westerner staff, leaves his old job in safe hands with Walker Nichols.

BEAR WOLF IS FACING HARD ASSIGNMENT IN HIS NEW PLACE

BY ALDERMAN DUNCAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept 8. — The University of North Carolina will stake its hopes for the Southern conference football championship on another well-balanced team, although probably not as polished and versatile as the 1935 eleven which ranked eighth in the nation.

Carolina's new coach, Raymond (Bear) Wolf, has a grueling assignment in rebuilding a team that lost 11 letter men and boasts one of the most ambitious schedules ever attempted by a Tar Heel squad.

Team Looks Potent

On paper, however, Carolina looks potent.

The one-time Texas Christian university coach finds three quarters of the brilliant 1935 backfield and a generous slice of the line gone. But there is some of the ablest of last season's material remaining to silver the cloud's lining.

The nucleus of the 1936 team is composed of Jim Hutchins, 205-pound fullback and a clever passer; Duck Buck and Andy Bershak, two flashing flankmen; John Trimpey, 225-pound tackle; and Van Webb, a robust guard.

Has New System

Wolf, fresh from the fields of Texas where footballs fill the air in almost every game, is going to stress a strong passing attack. The new coach has installed the double wing back formation, an innovation at North Carolina.

The schedule:

Sept. 26, Wake Forest at Charlotte; Oct. 3, Tennessee; 10, Maryland; 17, New York university at New York; 24, Tulane at New Orleans; 31, North Carolina State; Nov. 7, Davidson at Davidson; 14, Duke; 21, South Carolina at Columbia; 26, Virginia at Charlottesville.

HELEN JACOBS FACING LOSS OF CROWN

CHAMPION'S THUMB IS DISLOCATED AFTER FALL MONDAY

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Obviously worried over a painful dislocation of her right thumb, Helen Jacobs faced today the serious possibility of losing her national tennis singles crown for the first time in four years.

As if this injury were not disquieting enough, the champion sat in the marquee yesterday and watched Kay Stammers, England's hope, beat Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Stammers showed remarkable tennis form. She played with shrewd judgment on defense and there was more spirit and drive in her attack than she has shown since coming to America.

Queen Helen injured the hand in a fall yesterday.

The champion said she would play today, however.

After his magic performance in beating Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-3, 6-0, England's Fred Perry dominated the men's tournament more completely than ever.

"He would have beaten anybody in the world today," said Ellsworth Vines, the professional star, after the match.

OKLAHOMA IN GOOD START

BIFF JONES IS BEING EXPECTED TO TURN OUT A WINNER

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 8 — Lawrence "Biff" Jones has moved up a notch to major in the United States army since last fall, but the belief of University of Oklahoma football followers that he may present them with a Big Six conference championship in his second year as coach has gone him one better, it is general.

Last year, handicapped by lack of time to acquaint his squad with the intricacies of his own variations of the Warner system, Jones nevertheless turned out a team which finished second to Nebraska in the Big Six race.

Has Galloping Start

This year, with 15 of the 1935 lettermen returning and with six weeks of spring practice behind him, Jones has a galloping start toward the championship goal.

The Oklahoma schedule calls for the five conference games to be played on consecutive Saturdays. In addition to the loop contests Tulsa, Colorado, Texas and Oklahoma A. & M. will be met.

The schedule:

Sept. 26—Tulsa at Norman.
Oct. 3—Colorado at Boulder.
Oct. 10—Texas at Dallas.
Oct. 17—Kansas at Lawrence.
Oct. 24—Nebraska at Norman.
Oct. 31—Iowa State at Ames.
Nov. 7—Kansas State at Norman.
Nov. 21—Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater.

ELMER LAYDEN BRINGS TEARS TO HIS LISTENERS' EYES WITH TALE OF WOE

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—Elmer Layden, one of the slickest touchdown manufacturers in the business when he roamed the football fields as one of Notre Dame's four horsemen, brought tears to his listeners' eyes today as he teed off with the first bear story of the 1936 gridiron campaign.

The outlook for a winning team on the campus of the Golden Dome, says Elmer with a head shake, is so hopeless that for a roll and a good cup of coffee he'd go right through South Bend and settle down in his old home town of Davenport, Ia., for the fall.

"Looks like we might just as well give the moth balls another year to play around in our football suits," sighed the thin faced master of the Irish as he helped whip the college all-stars of 1935 into shape for their engagement here tonight against the New York Giants.

"Oh, we don't mind so much that we lost 19 lettermen from last year's squad. We're used to that at Notre Dame. But from what we hear and read, all of our opponents are stronger, faster and more experienced than last fall. And you know last season wasn't exactly a sewing bee for us."

Unable to let Elmer's tale of woe grow any longer, we asked him for a bright, crisp football review. With a smile on his face again, Elmer told glowing tales of the opposition, building up his enemies for a fall some of them are sure to get when they collide with his hustling huskies.

NICHOLS CHOSEN ON LOCAL STAFF

A crack guard of the 1935 Texas Tech football team and captain of the squad that year, Walker Nichols has been named on the coaching staff of Lubbock High school.

Nichols, former star at San Angelo High school but who was almost refused a uniform at Tech when he reported for freshman football in 1932 because of his lack of weight and size, is to replace Ross Ayers, another ex-Tech captain and guard, as coach of the Cowhands, Lubbock High "B" squad. Assisting him will be Buster Honey, moved up from Junior High school.

Ayers replaces Bennie Williams as assistant line coach of the Westerners. He has coached the Cowhands for two seasons. McWilliams resigned recently to accept the line coaching job at Denison High school.

TEXAS LEAGUE RACE GETS TIGHTER

CHIEF INTEREST NOW CENTERED ON TWO TRAILING TEAMS

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas league headed down the home stretch today with chief interest centered on the fight among the teams that still have a chance for the title play-off against Dallas and Houston.

The Oklahoma City Indians and the Tulsa Oilers were tied for third place. Three and a half games back, the Fort Worth Cats maintained a mathematical chance of reaching a top division berth.

The Cats did their part last night toward gaining a notch when they took both ends of a twin bill from the league-leading Dallas Steers, 3 to 1, and 1 to 0 but the victory gained them nothing. The Indians kept their distance by swatting the Oilers twice, 6 to 5, and 1 to 0.

Jackie Reed and Jim Moore combined talents to hand Fred Marberry his third defeat of the year in the first Cat-Steer game. Al Shealy was the hero of the afterpiece. In addition to scattering four hits he doubled and scored the only run.

The San Antonio Missions took both ends of a double header from the Galveston Buccaneers, 12 to 2, and 3 to 0. An eight-run splurge in the fifth put the first game on ice and a walk and timely hitting accounted for the second.

The Beaumont-Houston game was postponed on account of rain.

ALL-STARS PLAY GIANTS TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—The 1936 edition of the College All-Stars goes into the Polo grounds tonight to face its second game of the season against powerful professional opposition.

The All-Stars, pick of last year's senior gridiron heroes, encounter the New York Giants, eastern champions of the National league before an expected crowd of 50,000.

The collegians battled to a 7-7 tie with the Detroit Lions at Chicago's Soldier field last Wednesday. Tonight's game will mark the first eastern appearance of the team picke dby the newspaper ballots of thousands of fans throughout the nation.

Rubin smoked them out once but the hornets came right back again.

Detecting

CLEVELAND—It looked like ordinary clothesline to passers-by, but the detectives said it was a sash cord and arrested three men living nearby charging them with burglary.

The officers, Clarence Kiefer and Edward Kartisek, explained that sash cord was part of the loot in a lumber yard theft a month ago.

For Sale—Cheap

SHELBINO, Mo.—Billie Foster, a farmer, has a three-year-old lion and the trouble is he doesn't want a lion.

He bought a trailer the other day from Charley Moores, found the lion in it, and couldn't persuade Moores to remove the hungry beast. Moores got it from a circus. Foster said he couldn't go on much longer feeding it 15 pounds of meat every day.

Dachshunds?

CLEVELAND—The concessionaries of the Great Lakes exposition are waging a "hot dog" lengthening war.

"Every day they get an inch longer," said the operator of one stand, "if this keeps up, we're going to have to lengthen our counters by Labor day."

The standard five-inch "dog" has grown to 15 inches, and sells for 15 cents.

Glutton

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—Roy Herbert, 36, a waiter, was being treated at a hospital for a smoke inhaled at a fire.

"Can I have a cigarette?" he asked.

Smoking was against the rules, so Herbert donned his clothes, walked outside, and lighted up.

Service

NEW YORK—John Woods got prompt service when his automobile caught fire.

The car collided with another, caromed into a fire box with an impact that sounded the alarm before the flames broke out.

Pair Of Pears

DOVER, O.—Tom Miller munched a pear as he drove his ice truck along the road. There were other pears on the seat beside him. He liked pears.

Two men pulled alongside. One of them waved a pistol. The other shouted "put up your hands."

Miller heaved the pear. It hit the gunman in the eye. Another pear smacked his companion on the nose. They fled.

Baker-general was once a regular rank in the American army. The only man ever to hold the title was Christopher Ludwick, Philadelphia gingerbread baker and confectioner, who was commissioned baker-general to the Continental army.

LEVINE'S MAIN FLOOR! LEVINE'S MAIN FLOOR!

Was Jeremiah speaking to you?

Out of the mists of the past flashes the warning: "O foolish people, that have eyes and see not." More than twenty-five centuries have rolled by since Jeremiah, on a hillside in Judes, uttered this searching phrase. Its meaning was, of course, a spiritual one; yet may we not apply these words to a condition which exists today? What could better describe the unconscious victims of our own Age of Eyestrain—with its fine-print books, glaring artificial lights and flickering motion pictures.

WHO?

Who are they, today, these people "that have eyes and see not?" Millions! At least one American in every five doesn't see well, doesn't see with all the clearness or effortless ease of normal vision.

The child who is pitied as "backward," the woman whose headaches and "nerves" are a life-long burden, the man who failes to go forward in life because he actually cannot see his work clearly and easily—these are the people to whom the prophet's words apply. And you, too, in spite of the fact that you think you see clearly, or without hurtful effort, may be of their number.

SOMEONE ELSE MUST DETECT IT FOR YOU

You may be one—unless your eyes have been examined within the last two years and the expert has assured you that your vision does not need correction. Bad eyesight is like color blindness, because you have no standards by which you can make comparisons. Someone else must detect it for you.

That someone else is the oculist (eye physician) who is equipped with precise examining instruments and endowed with years of medical training and scientific research. But Science's power to help you is wasted unless you yourself take the first step.

Consult your oculist without delay.

That Girl on Broadway says two kinds of people are always in trouble: those who did it but never thought, and those who thought but never did it.

A crank is a fellow who insists upon convincing you, instead of letting you convince him!

* * *

LUBBOCK's public schools swing into regular program action today after using part of yesterday to care for details in connection with pupil-teacher affairs. The same is true in many other South Plains localities—and those schools which haven't yet opened will be open in the next few days.

It is time, therefore, to sound the warning of safety.

While school is in session, the motorist must exercise more care, not only in the vicinity of each school building but everywhere in every city during the hours when children are going to and from homes and classes.

With children on the streets several times daily, it is likewise time for parents to counsel their young ones on the dangers of the street and to insist that the children take cognizance of those dangers.

Motorists and parents working together can help curb the annual death and accident toll enveloping school children.

Parents will do well to realize that upon them and the children rests the greater responsibility.

More often than not it is the child who thoughtlessly darts into the street who is to blame for an accident. In that kind of mishaps, the driver is generally right.

If mothers and fathers will take just five minutes a day for a few days to impress on the kids what they are facing—and repeat the operation every week or two—they will be doing their share in the matter.

If they think they are too busy and if they fall into the rut of leaving the entire responsibility upon the motorist they can expect anything to happen to Johnnie or Mary, any time.

That Man on Avenue Q says it's a good idea to pray for what you want but when you get off your knees—hustle!

The newspapers made a great-to-do over the fact that Mrs. Beryl Markham, the Englishwoman who recently spanned the Atlantic by plane, is both wife and mother.

We can't help but wonder who looks after her husband and kid while she's running around in an airship.

SOMETHING like two or three months ago, The Plainsman suggested that one of Lubbock's prime needs is a sanitary, well kept, public comfort station.

We suggested at that time that the city and county commissions look into the possibility of going in together on the proposition, maybe getting some financial help from the various government "gimme" organizations and construct the station at some central point, perhaps on the west side of the courthouse lawn.

We also pointed out that having a public station of that kind is the least thing we can do for the thousands of out-of-town persons who weekly come here to trade.

Considerable comment was aroused at the time and shortly thereafter the county commission announced that women's rest room facilities in the courthouse would be kept open until midnight.

But recently, The Plainsman has been approached by a number of business men asking "Why not say something more about that comfort station plan? It can be put over."

We are today happy to report that immediately after details of the Panhandle-South Plains fair are worked out, the fair is over and the local chamber of commerce staff has time to breathe, that organization will set a committee to work on the comfort station proposal. The committee first will investigate the need of such a thing, then the cost, then the ways and means of getting it if we need it.

That, we think, is fair enough.

IT is not surprising that results of recent public tests of the Rust brothers mechanical cotton picker have caused a lot of talk and speculation in Lubbock and over the Plains.

It appears that the Rust machine is really workable.

From all indications it will develop into that long discussed—and in some quarters, feared—mechanical picker which eventually will take human beings out of the cotton picking business.

Everyone knows that if the Rust machine is practicable anywhere, it will be practicable in this level

Romance Dividends High In Hollywood; Courtship Pays Its Way At Box Office As Fans Follow Love Interest

BY PAUL HARRISON
ournal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—Romance in talkietown is like those self-liquidating projects the New Deal is always talking about. It pays its own way.

Courtship for the average young fellow is likely to be, at worst, a severe strain on the purse. But when a man star begins beauing a lady star around the gay spots, and showering her with emerald and star-sapphire trinkets, the result is money in the box offices and nice bonuses for the principals, whose popularity is heightened.

The astute Mr. Charles Chaplin has had it all figured out for a good many years — since the time, in fact, when his rumored romance with Pola Negri boomed the value of the pictures of both.

The Claire Windsor romance didn't do a bit of harm, either. And now of course, there's Paulette Goddard.

Unquestionably, the fans are more interested in Chaplin and Miss Goddard while the pair's private relationship remains a mystery than they would be if they knew that the comedian and his leading lady were married.

Honest Romance

The studios themselves serve as matchmakers for prominent young players, and are quick to take advantage of romances that spring up voluntarily.

Jean Harlow and William Powell might have been teamed in "Libeled Lady" even if they were not so much interested in each other off the screen. But with the situation as it is, the picture is expected to have double appeal for the fans.

Take Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck! There's a perfectly honest romance which was promptly capitalized by casting the two in "His Brother's Wife."

And Clark Gable and Carole Lombard! There's no question about their mutual enchantment being of spontaneous origin, because they're under contract to different studios.

The strategists of each movie company exercise every precaution to promote and nurture romances between stars of their own constellations so that they can be put together in pictures and that publicity may not be shared with rival concerns.

"Lovers' Quarrel"

But Miss Lombard and Mr. Gable took affairs into their own hands, so the studios are making the best of the situation by casting them together anyway. Universal hired both for "My Man Godfrey." Paramount, which has Miss Lombard, is trying to borrow Gable. M-G-M, which owns Gable, is considering a deal for borrowing Miss Lombard.

Alice Faye and Michael Whalen were engaged (or were they?) when they were cast for the romantic leads in "Sing Baby Sing." Their engagement was broken by the time production started, but press agents and rumor-carpenters immediately got busy to repair the damage.

It was a mere lovers' quarrel, we were assured. Miss Faye and Whalen were really eating their hearts out for each other. A reconciliation was imminent.

Always Danger

There are dozens more romances in various stages of success, dissolution, and stagnation. The studios also have made capital from withered loves by casting divorced people together in films.

Margaret Sullavan and Henry Fonda and William Powell and Carole Lombard were two such examples.

You may expect to hear any minute that Bruce Cabot and Adriene Ames are to be asked to make a picture. For they're already receiving a great build-up on a reported revival of their original romance.

Hollywood matchmakers play Cupid — but with cupidity. For once a romance is begun, there's always the danger that it may actually result in an elopement. And no studio wants its attractive young stars to check their eligibility at the altar.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

"CITIES DO NOT HAPPEN—THEY ARE BUILT"

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development has a slogan. "Cities do not happen—they are built".

You don't hear so much about that slogan now as you did 10 years ago, in the dear, dead days of "hip-hip-hooray" community activities, but it's still a good slogan.

How many people in Lubbock ever stop to think about those who did the first, important building here?

Every citizen inherits much from the past of his home town. He did not build all these homes and business structures, nor lay out its streets and walks, nor build its school houses, nor create other advantages. Most of these were provided him at great cost and labor, by those who went before. We owe something to them for all this effort.

We can not pay that debt to those who went on before in Lubbock. They would say to us that the way to pay them, is to do something to still further develop the community they gave us, to improve it so that our children and successors shall get the benefit. It seems rather small to receive all the benefits the past has given us, and not to pass on anything of our own to the future.

The fact that "Cities do not happen—they are built" still leaves us an opportunity to do our part in our day.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The political impact of the death of Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota has been felt across the country.

Militant eastern labor leaders share with liberal and radical politicians in the northwestern states the belief that a hard blow has been dealt to their movement for a new third party in 1940.

That movement will not slow however. One clear effect of Olson's death is to put Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Wisconsin right out in the forefront as a likely candidate of the third party group.

Democratic and Republican leaders in New York, Chicago and Washington peer to discover the effect on disposition of Minnesota's 11 electoral votes this year and, as often happens, disagree.

Outside of Minnesota, it appears, Olson's death will have little effect on the Roosevelt-Landon contest.

Olson, a pro-labor, hard-headed master of politics, who once announced "I am as radical as hell," and who surprised the country by using militia to protect the rights of strikers instead of to shoot them, declared vigorously for Roosevelt's election a few days before his death.

That declaration and the fact that Roosevelt was willing to play with Olson rather than with Minnesota's Democratic factions comprise an important factor in the situation now—resembling in retrospect the alliance between Roosevelt and the LaFollettes in Wisconsin.

Lundeen Replaces Olson

Olson will not be there now to throw his power behind Roosevelt. Lesser men presumably will take over the job. And that's a handicap in a very doubtful state—unless Farmer-Laborites throw themselves vigorously into a sentimental crusade to effect the wishes of their lost leader.

Bill Lemke, probably stronger in Minnesota now than in any other state except his own of North Dakota, may gain considerably as a result of Olson's passing. Yet, it seems to be conceded by most politicians that Lemke will pull away at least as many votes from Landon as from Roosevelt and perhaps more in Minnesota.

The Minnesota Farmer-Laobr party has chosen Congressman Ernest Lundeen to replace Olson on the ticket. Until recently, at least, Lundeen had little use for Roosevelt and was friendly to Lemke. His party's state committee, however, is understood to have insisted that he support Roosevelt in the campaign.

It is not improbable that the Democratic senatorial candidate, Patrick Delaney, will withdraw in favor of Lundeen if the dominant Democratic faction in the state receives assurances that Lundeen will support Roosevelt vigorously.

See Profit For Roosevelt

Nomination of Lundeen preserves the radical character of the Farmer-Labor ticket. He is author of the advanced social security bill which has been espoused by the Communist party and various other radical groups.

What some of the shrewdest Democratic strategists are staking at least some of their money on is the theory that Roosevelt has a chance to profit from the situation.

"Now he can talk to Minnesota Democrats," say some of the hard-boiled boys at national headquarters. "Before this he was always in a quandary between Olson and the Democrats. Olson demanded everything, including nearly all the patronage, as the price of his support."

There are two Democratic factions in Minnesota. One, headed by ex-National Committeeman Joe Wolff, has been friendly with Olson. The other, the so-called Ryan-Moonan group, is regarded by New Dealers and others as a "pro-Al Smith" faction, inimical to Roosevelt.

The two factions sent contesting delegations to the Philadelphia convention and each was seated, on a half-a-vote-per-delegate basis.

The Wolff group was triumphant in Democratic primaries when it achieved the nomination of Delaney over the Ryan-Moonan candidate.

Helps Christianson's Cause

Former Gov. Theodore Christianson of Minneapolis is the Republican nominee for senator. A distillation of all the dope indicates he is likely to win, now that Olson is gone.

The reactionary old guard G. O. P. of Minnesota previously was all set to vote for Olson, it is said, knowing that Olson was suffering from an incurable disease which he could not long survive. It had been a common belief in Minnesota—and in Washington, Chicago, and New York—that Martin Nelson, Republican nominee for governor, would be elected over Olson.

With Olson dead, Nelson—if elected—would have had the appointment of his successor.

This dispatch has dwelt heavily on Minnesota. It may give the ordinary voter a somewhat better idea as to how politics sometimes works.

But there are many eyes on Minnesota. For this is one of the key states in the development of plans of "radicals" for a third party in 1940.

Regardless of whether Landon or Roosevelt wins the presidential election, this writer predicts that the movement for that party will begin to coagulate publicly soon after election day.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

On her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM hears her fiance, BOB HASKELL, telling one of the bridesmaids, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

Marcia, hurt and bewildered, sails alone on the trip that was to have been a honeymoon. On the ship she meets PHILLIP KIRKBY, engineer. Phil is going to Paris to ask CAMILLA HOWE, to whom he has been devoted for years, to marry him.

In Paris Marcia meets Camilla. Bob arrives and the four go about together frequently.

COUNT VON WORMSTERT asks Camilla to marry him, making it apparent that he is bargaining his title against her wealth. Camilla says "No."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

Riding back to the city alone, Camilla, who had surprised herself by her unpremeditated championship of Bob, tried to regain her customary composure. It was idiotic . . . this silly reaction . . and she was not in the habit of doing foolish things. She usually looked clearly into any situation, accepted or rejected it, with self-interest paramount. If the cost were too high, the risk too great, she didn't play. She and Bob had met for a fleeting week at a gay crossroads of the world. They had danced together a few times, talked, laughed — that was all.

At home, wrapped in a creamy negligee, slim feet in matching velvet mules, she relaxed on a chaise lounge. She was half asleep when the telephone gave a faint tinkle.

"Yes?" she asked, prepared to be nice, stern, cross to half a dozen people—not prepared to be anything at all to Bob. But it was Bob. She had not heard his voice on the telephone before, but she recognized it instantly.

"Camilla? I'm mighty sorry to disturb you, but I'm hunting Marcia. Is she with you by any chance? Or have you seen her? Or Jimmy?"

Camilla laughed. "She's not with Jimmy, Bob. I haven't seen her since breakfast, though. As for Jimmy, he's gone off in a huff." She was afraid he would hear the tremble in her voice — she hoped she imagined it only.

"Any idea where I can reach Jimmy and his brass buttons?"

"He might be at the Embassy. More likely, though, at a sidewalk cafe."

"If he comes or calls will you ask him to get in touch with me? It's important."

"Of course, but don't count on hearing. He left without saying goodby. He's gone."

"Gone? From Paris? Good grief!"

"No, gone from me. I didn't buy the title."

"Oh!" Camilla caught the relief. It was due to the fact that Jimmy was still around, of course, she told herself. Still—

"I'll ring up the Embassy," Bob was saying.

"After that, why don't you come up and have tea with me?" Camilla asked. "I'm alone and I'm lonesome."

"Thanks, I'd like it, I'm at loose ends."

When he came, 10 minutes later, Camilla had replaced the negligee with gay silk crepe-printed pajamas and bright red mules that matched the poppies in her print. She was wandering aimlessly about the living room, biting into bonbons, throwing them into ridiculous wastepaper baskets, arranging and re-arranging flowers. When the maid admitted Bob, though, she was standing, quiet and composed, near a tall window. She was aware that there was a strange electrical tension in the air when he neared her and scolded herself for being an imaginative simpleton.

She murmured, under her breath, "He loves Marcia, Marcia loves him, and one and one make a wedding!"

So she was a gracious hostess, no more. When the telephone rang and a contrite Jimmy began to apologize, she interrupted him: "Never mind, Jimmy. Let's skip it. Bob's here and he wants to talk to you."

She did not listen to the conversation. Instead she went into the bedroom, powdered her nose with a ridiculous scrap of cotton fluff, put some perfume, bought the preceding day at a shop in the Champ Elysees, on her dark gold hair and outlined her lips a brighter red.

She came back to the sitting-room in time to hear Bob say: "Tuesday night, wasn't it? Good! Why in the name of seven sins did Rosita try such a stunt?"

When he had hung up he turned to Camilla and shook his head.

"You're a woman, a darned intelligent one. Maybe you can throw some light on this. It's the most infernal complication." He told her about Rosita's unexpected appearance at the little park in Montmartre, and her statement that she had been there with Bob.

Camilla shook her head. An intelligent woman, she was thinking! Now, if she taught calculus or Greek literature, that might be a compliment. But for a girl who majored in the lighter, gayer arts — aloud she said: "Maybe it's your charm, Robert. I've felt it at times — a strange warmth, you know." Then she changed her bantering tone. "Rosita's temperamental as a firecracker and if she wants you, mon cheri — well, she wants you."

"Rosita isn't important." He dismissed the dancer casually. "But you are. And so is Marcia. I wonder where she is?"

"Shopping or having tea with friends or any one of a hundred things." Camilla's voice was a little impatient. After all, when you are fond of a man who is fond of another girl — "Have another sandwich," she urged.

He did. Two of them. While he ate them he mentioned the fact that he was returning to New York in a week or two.

"I'm staying on for a while—going to the lakes in northern Italy," Camilla explained, wondering why she was going to the lakes, anyway. "Why don't you come? You and Marcia and Phil? I have a villa there and we would all have fun!" She was slim and lovely, and her hair was bright, and her eyes deep and quiet, in the lamp-lighted room. "Why don't you?" A sudden splash of rain against the window interrupted her mood. "There's a storm coming! Let's watch it."

So they stood, side by side, watching the outline of the Eiffel Tower as the lightning brought it into silvered relief — letting the thunder sweep by — feeling the import of the rain as it came, faster and faster, against the protecting glass.

When Bob put his arms around her and kissed her, Camilla was almost sorry. It was part of an act to him, of course—an act that he had performed with many girls—an act which had nothing to do with that singular devotion he must bear for Marcia whom he wished to marry.

"Oh, don't!" she said, and withdrew, gently but firmly. "I'm sorry it happened, Bob."

At dinner that evening, which Camilla shared with Bob and Phil in the dining room, she was strangely quiet, unusually gay, in turn. Silver net, entwined with turquoise, slipped from her smooth white shoulders without falling too far, and her hair was honey-colored, wrapped in a band around her head. Marcia had not appeared. Continued ringing of the telephone had brought no answer.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 4 to 10 higher in response to steady Liverpool cables and pre-bureau covering and trade buying. Oct. 11.63; Dec. 11.60; Jan. 11.64; March 11.64; May 11.68; July 11.65.

The market eased slightly just before trading was suspended to receive the government crop report with Dec. selling off to 11.48 and March to 11.58 or a point or two below Saturday's closing quotations.

The government report placing the indicated yield at only 11,121,000 bales was far below the average expectation and nearly 600,000 bales lower than the average of recent private reports. It compared with 12,481,000 bales, the government's indication as of August 1st. There was excited general buying when business was resumed after the publication of the figures with Oct. selling up from 11.50 to 11.99 or nearly half a cent from the low levels of the morning.

The condition of the crop was placed at 59.1 compared with 72.3 last month and the indicated acreage for harvest at 29,720,000 compared with 29,924,000 last month.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—The government took the cotton trade by surprise with its crop estimate of 11,121,000 bales and bullish interests ran rampant.

When the market reopened after the estimate was announced it showed gains of nearly $3 a bale. All options on the board were at or above the 12-cent level.

The market immediately encountered profit taking but it was absorbed easily and prices pushed upward.

At the halfway mark in trading Oct. was 68 points higher at 12.19, Dec. was up 71 points at 12.21 and March was 69 points higher at 12.26.

Orders poured in from the interior and abroad. Traders, taken by surprise by the government figures, attempted to even up accounts.

The highlight of the government's survey, in the opinion of the trade, was the startling decline in the indicated yield for the western part of the belt.

Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas lost 1,400,000 bales from the government's estimate of a month ago. Other cotton states showed but nominal changes.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—With vigor renewed by the Labor day rest, stock market leaders forged ahead today for gains of fractions to 3 or more points.

Steels were in the forefront of the advance, but virtually all departments participated in the forward thrust. A number of new highs for the past 5 years or so were recorded. The activity was the best in several sessions and profit taking was without any material effect. Quotations were around the top neas the fourth hour.

Prominent in the upward move were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, Sharon Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Packard, Sears Roebuck, Spiegel-May-Stern, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, Standard Gas, International Nickel, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Pure Oil, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Paramount, Loew's, Collins & Aikman, Bucyrus-Erie, Westinghouse Air Brake and Timken-Detroit.

U. S. government securities eased, but corporation bonds pointed higher. Commodities were mixed. Foreign currencies were irregular. Sterling was strong while the French franc was backward.

CONFERENCE CALLED

AUSTIN, Sept. 8 (AP)—The attorney general's department today called a conference for tomorrow between that department and the railroad commission to discuss "hot oil" confiscation and disposal of oil penalty cases.

NEW SCHOOL

FWA application to be approved. Mr. Griggs and others here got in touch with Senator Connally, state PWA headquarters, the state department of education and other sources.

The project was included in a list from Texas, along with the proposed Cooper No. 1 district at Woodrow. Bonds were voted there and a loan also asked.

Members of the board of trustees of Frenship had planned to work out their building program this fall, in the event the PWA application was again turned down.

It is expected the board will go ahead now with its plans for a new structure. They will probably meet with the architect and work out a program, asking for bids within a short time. The structure should be completed in time for the 1937-38 scholastic year.

Both Lieut. Detroyat and his manager, Rene Racover, emphatically denied the subsidy charge.

Racover said "the French air ministry spent not one dollar on this plane."

Condition Of Man Reported Serious

Condition of William O. (Otto) Flynn, 25, who underwent amputation of the thumb and index finger of his left hand and surgery of his left bicept Monday night, will remain serious a few days, a physician at Lubbock sanitarium said this morning. Flynn, of 1406 Avenue J, was injured by an accidental discharge of a shotgun.

His chances of escaping infection were deemed good, considering the amount of blood lost, the ragged condition of the wounds and the amount of foreign matter blown into the wounds.

Blood, tendon and nerve supplies had been shot away and there was a deep wound in the inner side of the upper part of the arm, in the bicepts region. From that wound wadding from the shell was removed. Several nerves and large blood vessels were injured.

Flynn, mechanic of the Civilian Conservation corps at Lubbock, was about to unload his pump gun when the accident happened. With Tom Ansley of 2138 Nineteenth street, he had returned from hunting birds. The two had dinner at Flynn's home.

Flynn caught the gun by the barrel, the end of which was covered by his left hand. Standing it upright with the butt of the stock against the floor, he pressed down on the barrel to eject shells which had not been discharged. The gun went off.

Aged Resident Of Abilene Is Taken

ABILENE, Sept. 8 (AP) — T. W. (Uncle Tom) Clark, 81, who joined the Texas rangers as a lad of 17, succumbed to a lingering illness at his home here last night. He was a member of Maltby's company.

Mr. Clark came to Abilene in 1894 and had served as a peace officer in this city. He was the only surviving charter member of the local Masonic lodge.

Six daughters and two sons survive.

Hobbs Child Dies In Hospital Here

Body of Jackie Foster Kays, 4-year-old Hobbs, N. M., child who died here Monday morning about 10:30 o'clock, will be sent to Tulsa this afternoon, Sanders Funeral home reported. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kays, jr., died as result of a foreign body in the bronchus.

Funeral services will be conducted in Bixby, where the family formerly lived.

The child was brought here shortly before he died and had not been registered as a patient at the hospital in which he died. He had been ill about three days. Mr. and Mrs. Kays have one other child, a daughter.

The tense situation, meanwhile, which arose as a result of communist demands for French aid to the Spanish socialist government eased off after a brief strike of metal workers in the Paris district.

TRAIN WRECK

wrapped around the front of the locomotive, was owned by H. H. Boyd of near Little Rock.

Tried To Flag Train

H. C. Strayer, who lives near the scene of the wreck, said he saw the train coming and tried to help Boyd pull the car off the track.

"I ran down the track about 60 yards," he said, "and tried to flag the train with my hat."

Reeser reported Engineer Kenney saw Strayer but that the train was too close to avoid striking the automobile.

Most of the passengers, many returning from the Texas Centennial, had retired. All were shaken considerably. They were transported to Little Rock by bus.

The U. S. Government Printing Office was established in 1861.

Dead Climber's Feat Proved

This willow trail marker, found atop Mount Rainier, Washington, belonged to Delmar Padden, who lost his life in an adventurous attempt to scale the peak last winter. Marion Marts (left) and Granville Jensen say it proves he was the first to conquer the peak in mid-winter. (Associated Press Photo)

Just four years ago banks and business houses were crashing, crops were rotting in the fields and breadlines were lengthening, he said, while now bank failures have stopped, values of farm property have increased $3,000,000,000 and foreign trade has risen 47 per cent.

Simply A Fair Deal

"Everyone knows the New Deal was simply a fair deal," he said, "a deal from a deck that was not stacked in favor of the predatory and plundering little group that now seeks to resume power.

"Be not deceived. This group that bought and owned the sordid administration of Coolidge and the spineless administration of Hoover is the self-same gang that now seeks to give us an administration by that gentleman from Pennsylvania and Kansas, Mr. Landon.

"It is only fair to ask why the old spoil-stained crowd is spending for him if he has not said that he is ready to listen to his master's voice."

Promise Fulfilled

Governor Allred, he said, had fulfilled his promise to conduct an economical government, fought powerful lobbyists to make natural resources bear a just share of tax, reduced the state deficit, and appointed capable men and women to office.

"With liberal appropriations for schools, roads, salaries, and all other worthy needs," he said, "the tax rate has been cut from 77 to 62 cents. This despite the fact that land values, our chief source of revenue, were crashing."

He also praised the governor for his volunteer parole board system, the setting up of the safety department, his activities in advertising the Centennial celebrations, "a sane and fair policy in the payment of the old age pensions, and his influence in stabilization of the oil and gas industry by reducing waste."

country.

No wonder folks out here are interested.

The September number of the magazine "Textile World" has quite an article on the subject by Mildred G. Barnwell, executive assistant of the Southern Combed Yarn Spinners association. Mrs. Barnwell was on hand, on the Mississippi delta near Memphis, when the Rust machine was demonstrated.

In her article in the "Textile World", Mrs. Barnwell, among other things, expresses the belief that if and when the pickers go into general use they will not cause any violent social upheaval. Also, she declares that the cotton farmer cannot afford to shy off mechanization. She points out that no industry has ever sacrificed modern and efficient equipment for hand labor—which, of course, is true as Gospel.

OF particular interest to cotton country folks like us, is this statement from Mrs. Barnwell's article:

"Figuring the actual savings in dollars and cents (the mechanical picker does the job for half the money) the cotton producer can no more afford to refuse to use labor-saving devices in the handling of his crop than the cotton mill executive can afford to overlook new textile machinery developments.

"Actual farm labor—share-croppers and tenants—will not be displaced. The sufferers will be the seasonal help, hired by the day, as supplementary labor. These laborers have jobs during the rest of the year. They will make them year-around.

"We shall produce more cotton at less cost than any other nation; we shall maintain high living standards on the farm; cotton will still be king."

Not so optimistic as Mrs. Barnwell, The Plainsman is nevertheless of the opinion that the army of cotton pickers, after some difficulties due to economic readjustment, will pass through the era of the mechanical picker's entry.

The lady is eminently correct in visualizing that mechanical picking, if proved efficient, will be here to stay when it definitely arrives.

What the cotton belt must do is work out a plan to take care of pickers the machine throws out of work. That is a bigger problem than whether or not the picker is a success.

and the maid reported she had not come in.

"After all, she doesn't have to report to anyone," Bob commented to the others, when someone had made a remark, for the nineth time, that it was strange Marcia had left no message.

"She should have left her destination at the office. It's a little frightening, taxicabs and slippery streets, Phil volunteered. "Anyway, heiresses shouldn't run around alone after dark."

Then his eyes met the amused dark eyes across the table. "Sorry, darling. You seem able to take care of yourself. That's your drawback. I wonder why?"

"Yes, I do, too," Bob agreed.

The two men studied her. She was slim and lovely, not very tall, very beautiful. But she seemed to stand alone. Not aloof, but without any leaning or straining, either toward or away from others.

* * *

No plans had been made for the evening. There was all Paris in which to play. There was a new show opening at the Folies Bergere. Josephine Baker was singing that night, and Mistinquette was dancing. No one in the group had seen the puppets at the Grand Guignol.

One after another, suggestions were made and refused.

"How about wandering out to the Dome?" Bob asked at last. "We might precede it with a movie."

"Not tonight," Camilla answered. "I think I would like to ride through Paris in the rain."

"Serious?" Phil asked, a pleased expression on his face. "I had the same idea. What about it, Bob?"

Bob shook his head. "Paris, in the rain, is enchantment for two, not three. You run along and I'll see a movie and turn in early. Leaving? We can go out together."

Paris, in the rain, is enchanting for two — Camilla held her head higher as she passed Bob on her way to the dining room exit.

At the desk they paused, two tall young men in the conventional black and white, a girl in a turquoise-velvet evening wrap. The man with the wind-burned face was wondering why, when he had traveled an ocean to reach the girl he loved, moments of happiness were so far between and so fleeting. The man with the dark, thin face was wishing this new, disturbing woman had not come along, just when there must be no unsettling of his affections. It was Marcia he wanted, he reminded himself. It would be a good marriage, she would be a charming wife, and as for the kind of a husband he would be—well, she need not worry now. He would be as stable as she wished.

The girl, standing between the two men, despised herself because she was going riding with one man when she wanted to drive in the rain with the other. Because she had a sense of guilt, she slipped her hand through Phil's arm, an external payment for her internal confusion. He smiled, and for a second she felt kind and gentle and patted the coat sleeve. Perhaps . . .

"Will you leave word for us if Miss Cunningham returns before we do?" Bob was asking the elderly desk clerk.

"Certainly, monsieur."

"Do you recall seeing her go out?" Phil added.

"There was a—a lady waiting for her when she came in and they went away together," the clerk answered.

"An old lady?" Bob ventured.

"No, a young lady. A dancer or some such person, I should say, monsieur."

"Rosita!" Camilla said suddenly.

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE... SMOKE CAMELS

AT HARVEY'S famous restaurant in Washington, D. C., you enjoy the same dishes that delighted Mark Twain, Emerson, Booth, Taft, and other famous men. What cigarette is preferred here? Most emphatically, Camels. Julius Lulley, host at Harvey's, says: "Our diners agree on Camels. Those who prefer quality food appreciate Camel's costlier tobaccos."

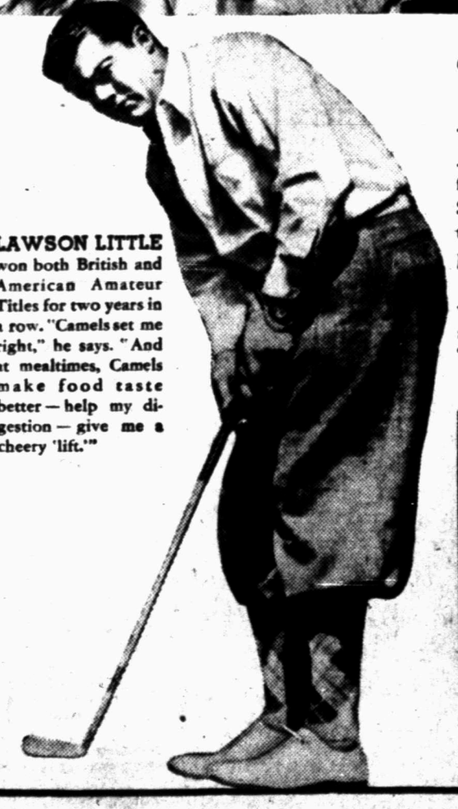

TROUBLE SHOOTER. John A. Fury, telephone linesman, says: "I'm a hearty eater—like my food and like it to agree with me. Camels help digestion, and sure make for a sense of well-being after meals. Camels set me right!"

A CASHIER has to be alert—accurate—pleasant. Miss T. Lander, shown at the ticket window of a New York movie, says: "Camels help my digestion—cheer me up. They have a marvelous taste."

"I'M FOR CAMELS," says Al Mingalone, Paramount News newsreel cameraman. "My experience proves that Camels are a big aid to digestion."

LAWSON LITTLE won both British and American Amateur Titles for two years in a row. "Camels set me right," he says. "And at mealtimes, Camels make food taste better—help my digestion—give me a cheery 'lift.'"

Camels add zest to meals—aid digestion—increase alkalinity

RUSH and mental strain impede digestion by slowing down the flow of the digestive fluids so necessary to proper, smooth digestion. Smoking Camels assists digestion by increasing the flow of the alkaline digestive fluids in a pleasant and natural way.

It is thus that Science explains the sense of well-being that you experience after you dine and smoke Camels. Make Camel your cigarette. They set you right.
