Goldfine Papers Stolen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A batch of Bernard Goldfine's confidential papers was reported stolen from a hotel room today. A microphone was found planted to eavesdrop on conversations of his aides quartered in the same hotel.

The sensational developments swirled around a congressional investigation of relations between Goldfine, a Boston industrialist, and White House aide Sherman Adams. The probe suddenly was converted into an investigation by the committee of its own staff.

Washington police also were investigating, and the FBI was reported to be.

The committee's chief investigator, Baron I. Shacklette, was in a hotel room next door to the suite occupied by Goldfine aides when the microphone was found in the early morning hours. With him was Jack Anderson, a legman for columnist Drew Pearson.

The listening device was inside Shacklette's room but placed at the crack under a door leading to an adjoining suite. This suite was occupied by Jack Lotto, a public relations man and others helping Goldfine fight accusations of finagling with Adams to influence government agencies.

This sensation was still rumbling when Goldfine's secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, reported that bank records, correspondence and other Goldfine documents in her keeping had been stolen from he room.

The House subcommittee met in an emergency session.

After 1¼ hours of closed door huddling, Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told newsmen the congressmen would get to the bottom of the incidents.

One of the questions the committee discussed was whether to fire Shacklette. The only decision was to leave the matter open for the time being.

Harris said he had talked to Shacklette and the committee members would question Shacklette in a second closed session in the afternoon.

Some legal authorities who preferred not to be directly quoted expressed belief that the use of the microphone did not violate any federal statutes.

Lotto called a news conference to tell his story of a theft of Goldfine documents.

He said Miss Paperman had first notified Goldfine when she discovered the papers missing, that she was upset and Goldfine was extremely upset.

Lotto said "We feel this burglary is a continuation of the Gestapo tactics being employed against Mr. Goldfine and his associates."

Lotto said the missing papers were to have been used by Goldfine in his appearance Tuesday before the House committee investigating relations between the Boston industrialist and White House aide Sherman Adams.

Lotto said Goldfine and his assistants don't know how much is missing and consequently can't say whether it will interfere with Goldfine's testimony.

The discovery of the microphone had already plunged the Adams-Goldfine investigation into a roaring controversy.

At the other end of the microphone wires was Baron I. Shacklette, chief investigator for the House subcommittee looking into relations between Goldfine and Sherman Adams. And with Shacklette was Jack Anderson, a legman for columnist Drew Pearson.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) announced after a meeting of the subcommittee today that it will "get to the bottom" of bugging and burglary incidents in the Goldfine investigation. The committee reached no decision on whether to fire Shacklette.

From the Goldfine camp, attorney Roger Robb fired a demand for under-oath examination of anyone who might know whether confidential data has been secured through such tactics.

Lotto said Robb had also complained to the FBI about the microphone and that the FBI was investigating.

Lotto said he himself has filed a complaint with the U.S. district attorney and asked the attorney whether his privacy has been violated by the microphone.

Lotto was registered for the room at which the microphone had been placed.

Soviets Release Nine U. S. Airmen Held For 11 Days

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today released nine U. S. airmen whose military transport was forced down inside Soviet Armenia 11 days ago.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. said the men were turned over to U.S. authorities on the Soviet-Iranian border.

This left nine U.S. Army men in the hands of Communist East Germans. Their helicopter strayed into East Germany June 7.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported that the airmen released from Armenia were delivered to a U. S. Army representative at the border town of Astara. This is in the Azerbaijan region just west of the Caspain Sea.

It gave no further details.

The U.S.S.R. announced June 28 that the C118 had been caught by Soviet fighters inside the Soviet Armenian border and forced to land.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow had since been negotiating at high level for the return of the men.

The nine are:

Col. Dale D. Brannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brannon, Chardon, Ohio.

Maj. Luther W. Lyles; wife, Donna J. Lyles, overseas; mother: Carrie F. Lyles, Savoy, Tex.

Maj. Robert E. Crans; wife: Martha W. Crans, Macon, Ga.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crans, Macon.

Maj. Bennie A. Shupe; wife: Mrs. Majorie C. Shupe, Miami, Fla.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Shupe, Miami.

Capt. James T. Kane; two sisters, Rosemary McKenna, Farmingdale, N.Y., and Margaret Kane, Lindenhurst, N.Y.

Lt. James N. Luther, wife: Mrs. Joan Luther, overseas; parents: Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Luther, Waseca, Minn.

Sgt. James G. Holman; wife: Mary M. Holman, overseas; parents: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Holman, Vivian, La.

Airman Earl H. Reamer; parents: Mr. and Mrs. Byron von Reamer, St. Louis Park, Minn.

Airman Peter N. Sabo; parents: Mr. and Mrs. John Sabo, Chicago, Ill.

Their plane, a C118 transport, was forced to land by Soviet fighter craft. According to the Soviet announcement made the same day the plane burned on the ground—whether because of fighter action or because its crew wished to keep it out of Soviet hands was not made clear.

The U.S.S.R. officially protested the flight over Soviet territory as a frontier violation. The United States replied there had been no transport became lost in bad weather.

Cautious Driving In Late Hours Trims Holiday Toll

By The Associated Press

Traffic	364
Drownings	179
Miscellaneous	93
Total	636

Cautious driving by millions of home-bound motorists held the nation's July 4th weekend holiday traffic toll well below the pre-holiday estimate of 410.

Although late reports were expected to boost the total of dead somewhat, it appeared that the final count would be below the record toll forecast by the National Safety Council for a three-day holiday period.

Fatal highway mishaps got off to a fast start but tapered off commencing Saturday afternoon after early reports indicated the holiday would end with a new record of traffic dead.

The Safety Council attributed the lower death toll to energetic traffic enforcement and the shock of the skyrocketing death toll during the early hours of the holiday.

However, it appears the final count will be close to the number killed during the recent Memorial Day holiday period. The 371 traffic deaths for the three-day Memorial Day period set a new record for the holiday.

Thus, the traffic death toll for the first two long weekend holidays this year was more than 725. During the first five months this year traffic deaths averaged 88 per day.

The National Safety council had estimated the 410 traffic death toll for the 78-hour period starting at 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday and ending last midnight. The record high traffic toll for a three-day July 4 holiday period was 407 set in 1955 while the record low since World War II was 225 deaths in 1947.

The holiday was marred by several multiple traffic accident deaths. One of the biggest was near Junction City, Kan., Saturday in which six persons were killed in the collision of two cars.

Drownings took a heavy toll, surpassing by far the 132 reported during the Memorial Day period. Deaths from miscellaneous type accidents also were higher than the 88 during the Memorial Day holiday.

A fireworks plant blew up in Portland, Ore., killing one child and injuring at least 20 persons. However, no deaths in fireworks displays were reported.

An Associated Press survey during the nonholiday period covering 78 hours from June 19 to June 22, showed 339 traffic deaths, 118 drownings and 63 deaths in miscellaneous type accidents. The over-all total of 520 was more than 100 under the combined total during the July 4 weekend.

Texas Violence Claims 42 Lives

By The Associated Press.

The violent death toll for Texas' Fourth of July week end pushed steadily upward Monday as reports of before midnight fatalities continued.

At Sunday midnight, the grand total in the gruesome count that began Thursday at 6 p.m. had reached 42 dead, including the following:

Traffic fatalities: 21.
Drownings: 8.
Shootings: 8.
Stabbings: 3.
Miscellaneous: 2.

The Texas count varied slightly from the national tally kept by The Associated Press because the latter counted only deaths attributed directly to the national holiday.

The latest deaths reported included:

Geneva Lee Blackwell, 28, Jacksonville, Tex., died Sunday of injuries received Saturday in a headon, two-car collision 12 miles east of Tyler. Leonard R. Hamilton, 29, of Lake Jackson was killed in the accident.

Johnnie Mackey, 39, Austin, was killed in a two-car collision Sunday on U.S. Highway 183, three miles south of Austin.

Rosemary Thomas, 2, and Carolyn Thomas, 4, daughters of Mrs. Ella B. Thomas of Austin, were killed when fire of undetermined origin swept their apartment early Sunday.

Miss Erlinda Ortega, 18, of Big Spring, burned to death Sunday when trapped in the wreckage of an automobile following a two-car collision at Big Spring.

Jack F. Windham, 18, and Walter H. Adams, 18, both Airmen at Center, were killed when their car overturned near Center late Saturday.

Donald W. Ellis, 20, was killed in a highway accident 16 miles south of Jasper on a farm-to-market road Sunday.

M. C. Hays, 48-year-old Negro, was slabbed to death at Arlington Saturday.

Ezikel Leonard, 43-year-old Negro, died of shotgun wounds received in Houston Saturday.

Mrs. Jesse O. Brown, 41, was found shot to death at her home in Killeen Sunday. A pistol was found by the body.

Cubans Still Hold 36 U. S. Citizens

BULLETIN

HAVANA AP — Cuban rebels released three more of their kidnaped North American captives today.

By BOB CLARK

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's rebels still held 36 U.S. citizens and one Canadian today. Hope continued that the release would be speeded up.

There were strong indications, however, that the rebels were in no hurry because the presence of the Americans in the rebel camps has brought a halt to air attacks by the forces of President Fulgencio Batista.

Four American civilians and one Canadian were brought by U.S. Navy helicopter to the Guantanamo naval base yesterday. The rebels freed four Americans and a Canadian last Wednesday and three Americans Saturday night.

One of those released yesterday, John N. Schissler, Montgomery, Ala., said arrangements are being made to send trucks into the jungled mountains for the 30 U.S. sailors and Marines kidnaped from near the Navy base.

Park Wollam, U.S. consul in Santiago, continued his negotiations with rebel leader Raul Castro, Fidel's brother, who directed the kidnapings.

"Castro told us . . . there still were many more things to be discussed before all the captives could go," Schissler reported.

The motive for the kidnapings reportedly was to pressure the United States not to supply Batista's forces with fuel or ammunition. Schissler expressed belief that Wollam has convinced Raul Castro the United States is not aiding the government forces trying to put down the rebellion.

But Raul was quoted as saying, "The Cuban army won't drop any bombs while the Americans are here. They are very good 50mm. anticraft protection."

All five men released yesterday were employes of the American-owned Moa Bay Mining Co., which is preparing to develop nickel and cobalt deposits in northeast Cuba. The men were Schissler; Prof. E. P. Pfleider, head of the mining engineering department at the University of Minnesota; Edward H. Cordes, Fanwood, N.J.; Roman Cecilia, a Cuban-born naturalized American from New York City; and Harold G. Christianson, Geraldton, Man.

Released Saturday night were Alfred F. Smith, Laconia, N.H.; Harley F. Sparks, Frankfort, Ind. and Jesse G. Ford, Dillon, S.C. All were abducted from the United Fruit Co. sugar plantation at Guaro.

All those released have been in good shape and reported the rebels treated them well.

Solons Shoot For Finish On Aug. 9

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shooting for early August adjournment, a heavy work docket today as congressional leaders mapped out Congress returned from its last prolonged 1958 holiday.

Target date for adjournment is Aug. 9, and prospects are bright that it won't be missed far.

Senate leaders posted five bills for action this week. They deal with atomic energy construction, public works appropriations, housing, agriculture and minerals development.

The House faces an even more ambitious program, dealing with military construction, small business, marketing facilities, science scholarships, atomic energy construction, relief for depressed areas, construction of community facilities and small boat safety.

Chances are neither branch will clean up such a heavy in one week.

There still are some controversial measures in the offing.

The Senate hasn't acted on House-passed bills to provide for reorganization of the Defense Department, extension of the reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, and miscellaneous appropriations including financing of the foreign aid program. All must be considered before adjournment.

The list of "must" House bills includes measures to boost Social Security benefits, to provide pensions for former presidents, to regulate union pension and welfare funds, and to authorize and finance a big military construction program.

A Senate-passed bill for general labor law revision currently is not on the program for House action but may be put there in the closing days of the session.

Americans for Democratic Action renewed its call for a tax cut of at least eight billion dollars a year, and for more spending programs to provide a boost for the economy. But there appeared little likelihood either would be voted.

The ADA, which describes itself as a nonpartisan organization, issued a statement signed by a group of economists, educators and labor leaders. Without further government efforts, it said, production levels of 1957 will not be equaled again before 1960. It added that a "long period of underemployment and underproduction . . . lies ahead."

Boy Injured When Horse Hit By Car

Gary Headstream, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Headstream, was injured yesterday when a car struck the horse he was riding near his home on the Lubbock highway about three and one-half miles north of Snyder.

Driver of the 1956 Buick involved was Wilma Russell Marshall, 31, of Abilene. The accident occurred at about 6:15 p.m. yesterday.

The youth was taken to Snyder Clinic-Hospital by Bolger ambulance, where he was treated for injuries not believed serious. He had no broken bones, but a concussion was believed possible.

Arthur Dyson, highway patrolman, and Earl Abercrombie, sheriff, investigated the accident.

Dyson said Mrs. Marshall told him she was driving on U.S. Highway 84 and saw the youth on the horse. She said she thought the youth and horse were waiting for traffic but that the horse suddenly started across the road.

She attempted to veer to the left but struck the horse. The horse had cuts about the hip. The collision bent the right fender and hood of the car and knocked the windshield out. Mrs. Marshall was not injured.

The youth was thrown to the pavement and knocked unconscious.

Two Grass Fires Are Extinguished

Firemen here answered two calls this morning and both were routine grass fires.

Council Sets Busy Session Here Tonight

Final reading of an ordinance granting a closed circuit television franchise to a local firm will be considered tonight at the monthly meeting of the city council.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

A month ago the council passed first reading of the ordinance to grant the franchise to a firm which will be known as Snyder Community Antenna Television (SCAT) a company owned by N. R. Clements and the J. T. Hughes estate.

A resolution passed at a special meeting which called for a public hearing on urban renewal is to be rescinded and a new resolution passed at tonight's meeting. The legal notice concerning the hearing was not published at the proper time. Proposed new date for the hearing is Sept. 15, and proposed date for an election concerning urban renewal and public housing is Oct. 18.

The council will discuss extension of water and sewer service to the new junior high school to be built west of El Paso Avenue in the near future.

The council will consider taking bids on radio equipment for the police and fire department.

Also to be considered will be placing a bid on six inch class 150 transite water pipe which may be available within a few months.

Ballots For Absentees Are Ready

Absentee voting for the first Democratic primary opened today and two persons had already secured ballots by late this morning.

The primary will be held July 26. Between now and July 22, those who are ill and those who expect to be out of town on the day of the primary can secure absentee ballots.

The last day the ballots can be issued by the county clerk's office is July 22, but those still out can be mailed in to reach Dan Cotton, county clerk, by 1 p.m. July 26.

Absentee voters must fill out an application, available at the county clerk's office. Anyone can pick up an application for another person, but the actual ballot must either be mailed out to the voter or the voter must vote at the county clerk's office.

If the reason for absentee voting is illness, the voter must have a physician's signature on the application. The voter's poll tax receipt or exemption certificate must be attached to the application, or an affidavit that he has lost his receipt.

The county clerk's office will hold the receipts until 30 days after the primary.

12-Inch Deluges Hit Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Flood creating deluges—up to 12 inches—and violent and damaging winds struck Texas during the night. And the storm, breeding cool front stalled over the state Monday, threatening more damage.

Winds of tornadic force damaged homes in Tyler and Dallas. Fort Worth lost a church steeple to lightning.

Rain fell before dawn Monday at Houston, Palacios, Laredo, Alice and Tyler. The entire state was mostly cloudy with temperatures ranging from the low 60s in the Panhandle to the upper 70s along the coast.

An estimated 8 inches of rain that hit Devine in Medina County flooded the small town Sunday night. Several automobiles were submerged at an underpass there, the Department of Public Safety said, and added that several sections of the town were under four feet of water. Some homes were evacuated, but no casualties were reported and damage was unestimated.

The 12-inch rain struck Hannibal, about 17 miles north of Stephenville. It sent the Bosque Riven and Barton Creek surging out of their banks, flooded the Stephenville city park and damaged several stores.

A wholesale grocery firm's building was heavily damaged in Tyler, the DPS reported and estimated the damage at $15,000. Several homes also were damaged at Tyler, the department said.

Mack Harrison of Tyler said about $2,500 damage was done to his service station by tornadic force winds which also damaged some resident porches and roofs.

Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars when the Arcadia Park section (west) of Dallas was hit by what residents described as a small twister. Small outbuildings, car ports and TV antennas were damaged.

The Polytechnic Methodist Church on the campus of Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth was damaged about the same time when lightning knocked off one of its four concrete steeples. Lightning struck another Fort Worth church, but no damage was reported.

Lightning also hit the St. Mary's Cathedral in Austin, knocking stones from the 200-foot tower through a tile roof of the sanctuary.

South of Austin, the home of S. L. Mashburn was almost demolished Sunday night by high winds at Manchaca, about 8 miles south of the capital city. About a half dozen other homes there were seriously damaged.

Lightning struck the Austin police station but the only damage reported was the welding together of a small oil can and a vacuum container atop a metal cabinet in the dispatcher's office.

Falling trees damaged two homes at Houston as winds up to 60 miles an hour lashed the northwest part of Houston. Three large beams snapped and crashed to the concrete floor of the new James Delman high school stadium under construction. Lightning struck some power lines. One Houston resident said he saw a funnel tearing limbs off tall pine trees.

Other rainfall measurements, some of them unofficial, included Stephenville 6.66 inches, Hannibal 12 inches, Tyler 2.00, Dallas 1.50, San Antonio 2.64, Marlin 2.85, College Station 2.36, Wichita Falls 1.30, Amarillo 1.08, Childress 1.08, Del Rio 3.54, Roane, near Corsicana 5.10, Kerens 1.00, Corsicana 1.50, Barry 2.75, Austin 2.57, Taylor 3.00 and Kilgore .53.

Rodeo Boxes Put On Sale

Box seat sales for the 22nd annual Scurry County Rodeo were opened to the public this week, and a number of boxes are still available.

Mrs. J. N. Eicke, who is in charge of the box seat sales, said that up to now boxes were held for those who bought them in previous years.

The deadline has passed for their option, however, and the sale was opened to the public. So far, about 25 of the 100 boxes are sold.

Each box has six chairs and costs $20 for the four nights of the rodeo. Reservations can be made now, but the deadline for payment for the boxes is noon next Monday, Mrs. Eicke said.

The rodeo will be held July 16-19.

Mrs. Eicke said those desiring to reserve boxes may do so by calling her at HI 3-7833.

Three Survivors Of Crash Tell Of Battle With Sharks

HONOLULU (AP)—Three survivors of the C124 Air Force transport plane which went down early Friday in mid-Pacific returned here last night to tell of fighting off a school of sharks before they were rescued.

Nine were aboard the plane. One body was recovered and five others are missing and presumed drowned.

Returning here on the aircraft carrier Boxer, which picked up the three survivors 200 miles northeast of Johnston Island, Capt. Jonathan W. Brown, the plane's commander, told newsmen: "One of the sharks got a good hold on me and was shaking me.

"We were pounding the water and yelling and thrashing and kicking around. I was beating on the shark's head with my fist. He finally let go. There were several of them around and they swam away."

He said they apparently were put off somewhat by shark repellant from the men's lifejackets and by all the noise.

Returning with Brown were T. Sgt. James M. Phillips, Vacaville, Calif., and S. Sgt. James P. Vanderee, San Rafael, Calif. Both were navigators on the big craft, which was on a flight from Travis Air Force Base in California to Tokyo with a crew of seven plus two military coureirs picked up in Hawaii. Brown, who comes from Sioux City, Iowa, lives at Travis AFB, northeast of San Francisco.

Brown, Phillips and Vanderee all had minor cuts, gasoline burns and stains from shark repellant. Brown had a minor shark bite on his left shoulder.

They were taken to the Army's Tripler General Hospital for treatment.

Brown said the big Globemaster ditched 200 miles this side of Johnston Island after the No. 3 engine began backfiring and threw its propeller through the fuselage, cutting off all electric power and communications and crippling all controls except the rudder and elevator. He set her down at 120 knots but the right wing dipped and the plane broke up into sections.

"It went under immediately. I came up through a hole right above me," Brown said.

Vanderee said he had gone to the rear of the plane to help other crew members and the two couriers into their lifejackets when the ship hit the water. He said he tried three times to get out of his section but each time was washed back by the waves. His shoulder was dislocated.

Adenauer's Plan Favored By Voters

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

DUSSELDORF, Germany (AP)—An election victory for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats in West Germany's largest state, was seen today as an endorsement of his plans to provide the nation's new army with atomic weapons.

The Christian Democrats regained control of the Provincial Parliament of North Rhine-Westphalia yesterday in the first popular test of the nuclear armament program. It has become West Germany's hottest political issue since Adenauer's party won the national elections again almost 10 months ago.

Only the provincial administration of this big industrial and agricultural state was at stake, but the opposition Socialists keyed their campaign to Adenauer's plans to accept the Atlantic Allies' offer of nuclear arms.

The Socialists claimed atomic armament would put West Germany so squarely in the Western camp that all hope of reuniting with Communist East Germany by negotiations would be lost. They raised the specter of atomic warfare, while the Christian Democrats played on fears of communism and hammered home their theme of postwar prosperity.

The Christian Democrats moved from a minority position of 89 seats in the 200-member Provincial Parliament to firm control with 104 seats. The Socialists advanced, but not as far, from 76 to 81 seats.

Adenauer's party actually lost 5 per cent of the popular vote from its high point in the state in last September's general elections. The Socialists gained almost 6 per cent from last year's low of 33.5 per cent. The Christian Democrats polled 50.5 per cent.

The principal loser was the Free Democrat party, which dropped from 27 seats to 15. The Free Democrats joined with the Christian Democrats in a coalition government in 1954 but suddenly switched two years ago and allowed the Socialists to take over.

Two splinter groups, the neo-Nazi German Reich party and the Catholic Center party, lost their seats entirely by polling less than 5 per cent of the popular vote. The Communists have been outlawed for two years.

This was the popular vote (with percentages of the vote in the 1954 state election in parentheses):

Christian Democrats 4,011,122 or 50.5 per cent (41.3 per cent in 1954); Socialists 3,115,934 or 39.2 per cent (34.5); Free Democrats 556,274 or 7.1 per cent (11.5). The Center party polled 83,733; the German party 125,044; the German Reich party 43,390; and the German Union 176.

room 842 at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

She said her room appeared to have been ransacked, and that she found an empty packet of cigarettes in the room. She doesn't smoke.

Lotto said she returned to her room about 10:30 p.m. Sunday night and went to bed.

At that time, she said, she closed a bolt in a door connecting with an adjoining room but thought nothing of it at the time. The adjoining room No. 844 had been occupied by a member of the Goldfine staff who was not there Sunday.

Miss Paperman said she discovered the loss of the papers this morning when she went to a closet.

Lotto said sealed letters marked "personal" had been broken open.

Lotto called reporters to a suite in the Statler Hotel to tell them his account of the missing papers.

Goldfine himself was reported by his aides to be still abed. They said he didn't get to bed until about 5 a.m. (EDT) because of the excitement over the microphone.

When reporters went with Lotto to interview Miss Paperman in her hotel room, she was being questioned by police.

Lotto said Miss Paperman left her room for Boston last Thursday at 7:30 p.m. and returned Sunday night at 10:30. He assumed the burglary took place some time during that period.

Lotto was asked to query attorney Robb as to why important papers were left unguarded in Miss Papermans room. Lotto said Robb's reply was that it was a locked room, and he assumed they were safe and nobody knew they were there.

Robb made public a letter to Harris saying these questions should be "answered in testimony under oath from all those having knowledge of the facts:"

1. Has Shacklette or other subcommittee investigators, picked up confidential information through listening in on Goldfine's suites?

2. Has confidential information been given to subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman in his quizzing of Goldfine, who resumes the witness stand tomorrow?

3. Has confidential material been given columnist Pearson who Robb said, publishes material critical of Goldfine?

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged further into new high ground for 1958 in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Leading stocks rose from fractions to about a point.

The market was generally higher at the start. Prices improved slightly as the session wore on.

Tobacco stocks were jolted at the start by advance publication over the weekend of a new health survey on cigarette smoking. Their losses were moderate, however. Lorillard bounced back strongly from its loss and showed a net gain of about two points. Other tobaccos were mixed.

Other news elements provided little stimulus. Most of today's rise was in the industrials. Motors, steels, most chemicals as well as some oils, aircrafts and electronics showed plus signs.

Among the better gainers were Caterpillar, Allied Chemical, United Air Lines, Paramount and Philco, all up about a point. Zenith gained a bit more than that.

Long-term U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Future King Gets Lesson In Economics

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Britain's future king has suffered an inglorious reverse in a big deal to straighten out his shaky finances at the school candy shop.

This financial crisis in the life of 9-year-old Prince Charles took place at Cheam, his boarding school in nearby Berkshire.

His mother, Queen Elizabeth II, allows the heir to the throne 20 shillings — $2.80 — spending money each three-month term. Like the other boys, the king-to-be keeps it at what is called the bank in the candy shop.

With three weeks left in the term, Charles discovered he had no money left in the bank. So he staged a sale of some of his belongings.

Aware that here was an excellent opportunity to buy royal souvenirs cheap, other schoolboys flocked to Charles' sale.

Delighted with the result, the bonny Chagles visited the candy shop once more dreaming, his friends said, of chocolate fudge and other delicacies.

But he wasn't allowed to make any purchases. Miss Margaret Cowlieshall, in charge of the shop, knew that he had exhausted his candy funds. So—no sale.

He had to return the money.

In sending Charles to school with other boys, the Queen and Prince Philip insisted that he be treated the same as any other student.

He was.

Governor, Senate Races Heating Up

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
The Associated Press

The campaigns for governor and U.S. senator promised Monday to take most of the attention of voters in the 18 days of politicking before the July 26 primaries.

Senator Ralph Yarborough, seeking his first full term, was ready to square off Monday night in his "formal opening" blast—a statewide television speech originating at San Antonio.

Yarborough's opponent, former interim Senator William Blakley of Dallas, campaigned meanwhile in El Paso with a television appearance scheduled in the far west city Monday night. Tuesday he heads for Houston and statewide T-V appearance set for Wednesday night.

These television appearances of the two antagonists, who already have exchanged some hot, bitter words are expected to start the fur flying in what probably will be the campaign's hottest race.

Gov. Price Daniel, who spoke Saturday at Jefferson and Waco reservoir celebrations, spoke Sunday at the Cass County All-Faith Revival, and continued to let his opponents do most of the talking.

State Senator Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio—making a surprisingly active campaign for Daniel's seat—toured Dallas and Grand Prairie Sunday and was to spend Monday and Tuesday in Houston. Gonzalez, the smiling Latin-American who fought hard against segregation bills in the last session of the Texas Legislature, punched hard at Daniel in a statement at Fort Worth Sunday.

Said Gonzalez of Price Daniel: He is a smugwump, a smug smugwump, a man who attempts to appear publicly smug about his chances at the polls but who actually is not sure enough of himself to even discuss the simplest of issues.

"Smugwumpism is the worst of the isms because it undermines the foundation of Americanism which demands honesty, superior ability and majority rule in high office. Texas cannot afford such evident mediocrity at this crucial stage in our history."

W. Lee O'Daniel, making a bid for the farm vote Monday, started the day early with a 7 a.m. broadcast from San Angelo and then went on to Pecos. Tuesday night, the former U.S. senator and twice governor of Texas, will make a television appearance at Big Spring.

O'Daniel, now a Dallas insurance executive, says he will unseat Price Daniel "because the people are tired of graft and corruption in state government." He made no direct statements against the incumbent.

Two other candidates making extensive campaigns were State Agriculture Commissioner John White and former State Senator George Nokes of Waco, who served in the Senate from Corsicana and now seeks to unseat Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey.

White toured the Panhandle area out of Amarillo Monday and made stops at Tulia, Plainview and on down into the South Plains to Lubbock. Tuesday he will be in Slaton, Post, Snyder, Sweetwater and Abilene. White is stressing loyalty to the Democratic Party in seeking reelection.

Nokes spoke Sunday night over a television show arranged in Dallas by the CIO United Auto Workers to which Ramsey also had been invited. Ramsey declined.

Yarborough's Monday night television appearance is scheduled over 21 Texas stations, most of them at 6:30 p.m. The list includes stations at Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Corpus Christi, Harlingen, Temple, Texarkana, Port Arthur, Big Spring, Midland, Laredo, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Lufkin, Tyler, Waco, Austin and Amarillo.

Navy Tells Of Work On New Robot

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced today the partial development of an electronic robot it says will be able to match some of the functions of the human brain.

It calls the robot a Perceptron. At least another year will be required to complete the first full pilot model, the Navy said, but its principle and concept already have been demonstrated successfully by using a large electronic computer.

When it is fully developed, the machine is expected to be able to perceive, recognize and identify its surroundings without any human training or control. It differs from the ordinary computer in that it does not have to be fed facts and figures in advance.

Among the potential uses to which such a robot eventually may be put, the announcement said, are these:

New-type automatic landing systems and automatic pilots for aircraft. . . automatic reading of the printed or written word. . . responding to verbal commands. . . automatic language translation, either in written or vocal form. . . automatic unearthing of scientific and other information buried in library books. . . and even rapid-fire recognition of musical compositions, with all the accuracy of a music critic.

The Navy says the new system closely parallels, by electronic means, the "selective recognition or 'similarity' functions of man's mind."

It would operate in much the same way that the human eye and certain brain areas work together to provide the human function of recognition.

Dr. Frank Rosenblatt, research psychologist at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., working under a contract with the Office of Naval Research, came up with the Perceptron concept.

Blackbird Ired By Man

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A blackbird — otherwise friendly and well behaved—makes like an infuriated eagle every time it spies Joseph Siniscalchi.

It doesn't bother his wife, Helen; their daughter, Donna, 10; or visitors.

But every time Siniscalchi puts his head out the door, the bird dives from a tree, screeching and chattering, and wheels over his head. When he comes home from work, the bird is waiting to attack.

It all started about two weeks ago while he was working in his garden. He thought he might have disturbed a nest. But he looked, and couldn't find any.

Summer Band Classes Here Begin Work

Summer band classes got underway today and will continue through Aug. 7, according to Melvin Montgomery, director of instrumental music for the Snyder schools.

Montgomery and Phil Cherry, assistant high school director, are conducting the classes, which are for brass, reed, and percussion students who will be in grades seven through 12 this fall.

So far, about 125 students have registered, Montgomery said. Other students can still register by going to the class they will be attending. Tuition is free.

Classes are held on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Montgomery said students can attend all or part of the summer band school.

The daily schedule:

8—8:50 a.m. — Brass II, eighth grade, Reed I, seventh grade.

9—9:50 a.m. — Brass III, ninth grade; Reed I, seventh grade.

10—10:50 a.m. — Brass IV, 10th through 12th grades; Reed II, eighth grade.

11—11:50 a.m. — Reed III, ninth grade; advanced mixed class which will be mostly first chair players in the high school band, all instruments.

1—1:50 p.m. — Percussion I, junior high; Reed IV, 10th through 12th grades.

2—2:50 p.m.—Percussion II, high school; Brass II, seventh grade.

Toy Sales Record Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the recession, toy and game sales this year should top the record $1,300,000,000 of 1957, industry leaders said today.

One reason is that Santa Claus is the last to be affected by hard times. This year's first half proves again that parents will spend on children long after they have cut down themselves.

Another reason is the rise of summer toys to space out an industry that used to do 80 per cent of its business in the month or so before Christmas. Demand now is centered about backyard and patio play equipment, bathing pools and inflatable toys like beach balls, air mattresses and swimming tubes.

Robert B. M. Barton, president of Parker Bros., reported first-half business 10 per cent ahead of last year for his 75-year-old firm.

Popularity of TV westerns will enable the cap pistol industry to break the 55-million-dollar gross last year by a wide margin, according to Joseph M. Breneman, president of Hubley Manufacturing Co., biggest gun in the field.

Traffic congestion at the beaches is given as one big reason for spurting popularity of backyard pools by Leo Meringoff, president of Urb Products Corp., which makes plastic pools ranging in price from $3 to $375.

Holt Named To Bar Post

Wayland G. Holt, district attorney here, was elected to the board of directors of the Criminal Law Section of the State Bar of Texas late last week.

The section held its annual convention Wednesday through Saturday at San Antonio.

Holt and two other men were chosen to the board. The others were Fred Semaan of San Antonio and Woodrow Seals of Houston.

New chairman of the section is Joe Brown, district judge, of San Antonio, and vice-chairman is Harry Loftis, county judge of Smith County, Tyler, and former county and district attorney there.

Holt was already on the board of directors of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association.

Attending the convention from Snyder were Holt and Mark McLaughlin.

Completions Still Lagging

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said today 37 gas wells were brought in last week, lifting the year total to 1,220 compared to only 933 in 1957.

Oil wells for the week totaled 193. For the year there have been 6,751 completions, well behind the 8,149 a year ago.

Wildcatters drilled 9 oil and 1 gas well while striking 48 dry holes. There were 134 wells plugged during the week.

The commission said the daily oil allowable Saturday was 2,636,642 barrels compared to 2,509,677 barrels a week previous. The increase of 126,965 barrels for the week is attributable largely to the increase in the July production schedule.

Dispatcher Has A Shocking Experience

AUSTIN (AP)—Police dispatcher H. F. Moore had a shocking experience during a thunderstorm last night.

Lightning struck the radio aerial on top the police building. The charge came down a conduit with a bang, did a perfect weld on a vacuum bottle and oil can on top a metal cabinet in Moore's office.

Runaway Boys From Utah Picked Up Here

Two runaway youths from Ogden, Utah, were picked up here late Saturday by Sheriff Earl Abercrombie and are now awaiting transportation home.

The two 15-year-old boys were seen by Abercrombie on the Roby highway Saturday as they were attempting to hitch a ride.

Abercrombie questioned the youths, and he found they gave him fictitious names. Holding the youths, he finally reached the mother of one last night. The youth's families are sending for them.

They had left Ogden June 23.

HONORED YESTERDAY on their fortieth anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. King, Sr., at a luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. King, Jr. The Kings, longtime residents here, were married at San Antonio in 1918.

Mr. And Mrs. W. P. King Sr. Honored On 40th Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. King, Sr., 3008 Avenue U, were honored Sunday on their 40th anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. King, Jr., at their home at 3000 Thirty-seventh Street.

Sunday, in addition to being the King's anniversary, was also Mrs. King's birthday.

The couple was married in 1918 at San Antonio while he was in the Army, stationed at Fort Sam Houston.

Shortly afterward he went to France and she went to Post, where she taught school. She later taught at Ira and then Snyder.

Mrs. King's career as a school teacher has been a long one. She began teaching when she was 17 years old, taking some time out later to complete her college degree.

Most of Mrs. King's more than 30 years of teaching has been in the first grade, and she now teaches first graders at West Elementary School. There are few of the families who have lived in Snyder long who have not had at least one student under Mrs. King. Born in Palo Pinto County, she came to Snyder as a child.

Mr. King, also a resident of this area most of his life, had been a barber at Fluvanna prior to World War I. He was later employed by the business that he and Earl Brown later purchased, in 1921, and have operated for some 37 years as King & Brown. When they purchased the business it was a Dodge agency and service station. Later they added accessories, then refrigerators and furniture, the latter two which are among main lines of the store now.

The Kings have two children. Bill King, who with his wife hosted the surprise luncheon for the Kings yesterday, and Katherine, who is the wife of M-Sgt. Jim Sharp of Riverside, Cal. Mrs. Sharp was also here for the luncheon yesterday.

They have four grandchildren, Buck and Beth King and Mary Kay and Jimmy Sharp.

DRESS UP THE PORCH—Vinyl panels may be anchored to a porch railing with a plastic clothesline for an attractive effect at your summer cottage.

Colorful Touches Can Make Summer Cottage Life Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

It's the colorful touches that make a summer cottage a thing of fun.

A mobile on a screened — in porch at a seashore place can incorporate everything from starfish to seashells. Or take a sprig of a sunbaked tree branch or driftwood and attach little beach baubels to it.

Another idea adaptable to an old veranda or new home is the use of gay panels laced to porch railings. One designer showed a fun-in-sun house incorporating this idea, using waterproof, fade-proof vinyl that is also washable.

He used semaphore colors — red, yellow, blue and green for porch panels. If your porch has a railing, you have the frame. If not, rails or dowels may be set between the uprights.

Choose vinyl that has color on both sides rather than fabric-backed material. The weight is about like that normally used for upholstery seats.

Panels may be cut to whatever shape or size you desire. The material is available in 54-inch widths. Grommets, made by an upholsterer, awning maker, sail maker or auto seat upholsterer, are then inserted along doubled over edges of the vinyl. Then the panels may be laced to the porch rails with plastic clothesline. A good effect may be achieved by leaving three inches for the lacing around the panels.

If your porch is the screened in type, the vinyl panels may be placed outside it, and besides offering a pretty effect, it will be some protection against the elements. The panels may be laced behind screens also if you'd like to have color behind the screens.

Flower boxes of geraniums or petunias with variegated ivy are other ways to enhance your summer porch. Put lightweight boxes on porch rails or anchor individual pots in colorful containers to the porch uprights.

Viaduct Peels Off Top From Trailer

DETROIT (AP) — Marcel Guilbeault, 20, Belle River, Ont., was driving his tractor trailer peacefully through Detroit Sunday until he came to a viaduct.

The viaduct has a 12-foot clearance. Guilbeault's trailer was 12 feet 6 inches.

Guilbeault rolled forward and got stuck under the viaduct. He stepped on the gas and made it through but peeled off the top six inches of the trailer on the way. He returned to Windsor, Ont., for a new trailer.

Soviets Still Keep Original Letter

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Embassy so far has failed to turn over the original letter purporting to be from a U.S. pilot threatening to drop a nuclear bomb near the British Isles.

Receipt of the letter, regarded by U.S. and British officials as a hoax, was announced by the Soviet Embassy last Thursday.

A Foreign Office spokesman said today the Soviets showed the British the original but handed over only a photostatic copy.

William Stanley Whales, a former Royal Air Force bandsman, admitted Sunday he lied when he confessed that he wrote the letter.

Proper Care For Your Orlon Sweater

Before washing orlon sweaters, turn them inside out. Pretreat the soiled neckbands by wetting and sprinkling with a full sudsing detergent. Rub gently. If your automatic washer has a fine-fabrics cycle, use it. Otherwise allow 2 to 4 minutes washing time.

Do not wring or prolong agitation as that causes "pilling." Sweaters may be dried in the gas clothes dryer. Check the instruction manual for approximate time. Remove from the gas dryer while damp and shape the sweater on a flat surface to finish drying.

Fats, Oils Should Be Refrigerated

Fats and oils become rancid when they are exposed to light, air, moisture and heat. Home economists with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggest that bottles that have been opened should be kept tightly covered, under refrigeration. Some oils become cloudy when refrigerated, but a short time at room temperature will restore the original clearness. Olive oil will congeal when held for any length of time in a cold place. It becomes semi-solid, white and thick. This does not change its quality and after a short time at room temperature it will return to its clear fluid state, the home economists say.

All-Star Tickets Are Taken By Thief

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Catherine De Carlo said someone broke into her home during the weekend and stole $260 in cash, two revolvers and some appliances.

But worst of all, she said, the thieves also took two tickets to tomorrow's All-Star baseball game in Baltimore. You can't get those for love nor money. Police even declined to estimate their dollar value.

New List Of Captives Out

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Sami Solh today produced a new list of rebel captives which he claimed bolstered Lebanon's charges that President Nasser's United Arab Republic is helping the Lebanese rebels. He appealed to "the world's conscience" to pin the blame for the eight-week-old rebellion on U.A.R. intervention.

Solh issued a statement as an atmosphere of tension lay over Beirut, and security forces braced themselves for the possibility of a big battle inside the capital.

The Premier made public a list of 50 Syrians and Lebanese rebels he claimed were captured smuggling arms into the country. The government charged they were trained in neighboring Syria, now a U.A.R. province.

New York Girl Slain By Stray Bullet

NEW YORK (AP)—Police theorized today that the rifle bullet which fatally wounded a 9-year-old Queens girl was not aimed at her.

About 30 rifles collected in the neighborhood were examined by police Sunday, but ballistics tests proved none was the death weapon.

The girl, Grace Denezzo, died Saturday night. This was about 24 hours after she was shot in the head as she sat with her family in the driveway of their home in Queens.

An autopsy indicated the bullet traveled a long way before striking the child.

Location Can Save Steps

Laundry appliances located in the kitchen or bathroom eliminate step climbing and transporting heavy loads of clothes. However, home economists with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggest that if sorting and storage space in these areas are at a premium, the arrangement may not be practical from the standpoint of an efficient flow of work.

Lack of adequate space near the washer and gas clothes dryer means many extra steps for the homemaker. If you are planning to remodel the laundry, be sure to include storage space for soaps, detergents and other laundry supplies as well as counter space for folding and sorting clothes.

Untimely War Of Words

THE CORUUS CHRISTI CALLER:

A propaganda war to the death between the American Medical Association and the United Mine Workers now seems inevitable. The AMA at its San Francisco meeting instructed its staff to attack immediately the miner's medical care program.

The issue is not quite as clear cut as it appears. The UMW bases its position on an experience in Pennsylvania where it charged that physicians were performing unnecessary surgery and prescribing unnecessary hospitalization. The state medical society and the union set up a joint committee to study the problem. The union charged that the society failed to "discipline" offending members, while the society said that it found no basis for disciplining. There upon the union restricted the list of doctors and hospitals that could be used by its members.

The vote for fighting the UMW medical care program in the AMA House of Delegate was 110 to 74. The delegates rejected the plea of some moderates, as well as the warning from Dr. Frank J. Holroyd of West Virginia who said that in his opinion 3 percent of the doctors in the coal mining state were "gypping" the UMW fund.

There is some division of opinion on the subject of health and medical care programs within the AMA, of course. The June issue of the Texas State Journal of Medicine, for instance, has an editorial by Dr. William Klingensmith of Amarillo which argued:

"The Texas Medical Association needs a positive approach on social legislation pertaining to health matters. Prepaid health plans controlled by the government are going to increase. . .To admit this fact should brand one not as a socialist but as a realist. Organized medicine at first opposed voluntary prepaid insurance as socialistic. It opposed local care of veterans with payment to family physicians, and the present gigantic, expensive hospital system of the Veterans Administration was the result.

"If medicine is to be completely socialized, which it may, it will be hastened by several factors, one of which will be the loss of confidence in organized medicine by the general public. . ."

Freedom of choice in a physician is one of the blessings of our way of life. This freedom as much as any other factor produces the favorable physician-patient relationship so conducive to good treatment. It is unfortunate, therefore, to witness the beginning of a war of words between doctors and unions on the subject of medical care. Neither doctors nor patients can win this war. Both will lose.

Yarborough Sees Change

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
Associated Press Staff

Ralph Yarborough—who battled his way from political obscurity over the rocky road of five state-wide Texas campaigns—is finding some pleasant surprises in his sixth race.

"I used to have to arrange my own appearances and talk to anyone who would listen," he said. "But last week I was invited to address three state conventions in the same day—that never happened to be me before."

There are other differences, too. There are standing ovations in banquet halls where there used to be occasional catcalls on the courthouse squares. And for the first time, an independent poll shows that Yarborough isn't the underdog.

He is finding there is a difference between being Ralph Yarborough, the perennial candidate for governor, and Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

"I had been made well aware of the fact that the incumbent has an advantage," he said, "but this is the first time I have been able to enjoy it."

Yarborough's supporters believe that being the incumbent is only part of the change. They say Texans before knew him only as candidate, that they now know him as a public official who has had an opportunity to demonstrate his ability and qualifications.

Actually, that bounce, enthusiasm, and dogged determination that has carried him to the Sen ate, carried Ralph Yarborough a long way before he threw his hat into the state political ring.

Born at Chandler in East Texas, he was the seventh of the 11 children of Charles Yarborough and Nanny Jane Yarborough.

The Yarboroughs were a pioneer East Texas family—the senator's grandfather, Capt. Harvey Yarborough, led the first company of infantry from Smith County to join the Confederate forces.

Charles Yarborough was justice of peace in Chandler and a student of Texas history. All of his sons became lawyers.

Graduating from Tyler High School at 16, Ralph Yarborough spent a year as a West Point cadet, then returned to Texas to teach country school and attend Sam Houston College at Huntsville.

Yarborough wanted to see something of the world and decided to study in Europe. He worked his way to France on a cattleboat, got turned down by the Sorbonne, and went on to Berlin. There he landed a job with the American Chamber of Commerce which enabled him to attend Standahl Academy for a year. The knowledge of the German language which he acquired was to stand him in good stead when he fought with the 97th Division across Germany during World War II.

Back in Texas, Yarborough worked as a harvest hand, an oilfield construction helper, and waited tables in a boarding house to put himself through the University of Texas Law School and graduate with highest honors.

After several years with an El Paso law firm, he was named an assistant attorney general of Texas. He wrote the opinion advising the land commissioner to assert the state's title to tidelands oil and gas by issuing leases on the tidelands, an action that pioneered Texas' successful fight for retaining these resources.

Returning to private practice, Yarborough also became active in civic affairs. He was a member of the original board of directors of the Lower Colorado River Authority, a lecturer at the University of Texas Law school, chairman of the Austin Community Chest, president of the Travis County Bar, a member of the editorial board of the Texas Law Review, a member of the Texas State Board of Law Examiners, and a director of the Texas State Bar. He also found time to teach Sunday School at Austin's First Baptist Church, of which he was a trustee.

In 1936 Yarborough was appointed judge of the 53rd District Court. He won re-elections with ease and held the post for five years.

Although he was not subject to the draft, Yarborough lost no time getting into service when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. He was a captain with the 97th Division in Europe.

After V-E Day, his division was sent to the Pacific. By that time he was Lt. Col. Yarborough and, as military government officer of the division, was placed in charge of Central Honshu Province, controlling one-seventh of the area and population of Japan.

Back home after the war, Yarborough resumed his law practice. But the war had left him deeply concerned about government. Good government, he says, became a subject that was almost an obsession with him and he saw a lot in Austin about Texas governmen that he didn't like.

Although he had made an unsuccessful state-wide race for attorney general in 1938, Yarborough was a virtual unknown when he announced for governor in 1952. He lost the race but piled up a respectable 488,345 votes.

Yarborough ran again in 1954, polled 683,132 votes but lost. In 1956 he lost the run-off in the governor's race by a scant 3,000 votes. Then in April of last year he won the special election for the Senate by leading a field of 23 candidates. There was no run-off.

Yarborough has been a political enigma. Defying most axioms, he shuns the use of professional publicity firms, has a loose organization of volunteer campaign workers, and is usually running an hour behind schedule because he stops too often to shake too many hands.

His refusal to accept defeat puzzled even some of his supporters.

"I just don't consider those races as defeats. The political climate in Texas today is a lot better because we kept hammering away at corruption in state government," he says. If he has any political grudges, he doesn't show them.

The senator, 55, is a happy campaigner. He has an infectious smile and dark brown eyes that one observer described as "lighting up whenever he smiles." He has lots of energy and bounce but at the same time appears unperturbed and relaxed.

Mail Produces Its Usual Revelations

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That for 28 per cent of the country's estimated 39 million married couples, both husband and wife have jobs outside the home. The tired business woman may soon outnumber the tired business man.

That this is the century of the common dog as well as the common man. America's pooch population has leaped 44 per cent in the last decade.

That the Romans were the first people to use silver widely as money.

That U. S. insect pests nullify the labor of at least one million workers a year.

That music is really getting specialized. The owner of the Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., has hired Dr. Sigmund Spaeth to make selections of "music to be listened to in a cave."

That a survey showed 15 million American women are overweight. The rest just think they are.

That no ship is launched on Friday because of a sailor superstition to do so would bring bad luck.

That this is the newest definition of a witch: "A flying sorceress."

That a New York hotel has been forced to abandon its experiment of having the waitresses wear sack dress uniforms. . . . Both the waitresses and the patrons complained.

That Dr. Carlton Fredericks, the nutritionist, says licorice is an excellent natural substitute for tranquilizer pills.

That a new fad has cropped up in the college set—eating lighted cigarettes. Well, anyway they're cheaper than goldfish.

That a recent study showed the average Harvard freshman is half an inch taller than the average Yale freshman. But then Yale has never been the same since it lost Frank Merriwell.

That bandleader Sammy Kaye during his career has given away 250,000 souvenir batons. So-o-o-o, wouldn't you know, he is being honored by the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn.

That, according to the Fisherman's Magazine, a fish has such a poorly developed nervous system it feels no great pain when hooked.

That some 40 million American women today are said to make all or part of their clothing. If this is so, where are they hiding?

That Mamie Eisenhower, a good hand at canasta, now prefers a faster-playing version of the game called Bolivia.

That an elephant is happier when traveling by air if a hen is perched on its head. But the average man would rather have a chick on his arm.

ALL-STAR TEAM TO BE ANNOUNCED

Pony Season Ends Tonight

The regular season ends tonight in the Snyder Pony League, while two more weeks of play remains in the Little Leagues and 2½ more weeks in the Graduate Pony League.

The Pony League All-Star team will be announced following the second game of tonight's doubleheader.

Managers of the league teams have selected the all-star team but are withholding the results of the selections until after tonight's season finals.

The All-Star team will represent Snyder in the post-season tournament play.

The Lions Club Phillies have already clinched the Pony League championship so tonight's final games won't have any bearing on the title race. However, all other places in the Pony Loop are unsettled.

The other three teams in the league the Scurry Butane Dodgers, the Von Roeder Red Sox and the Courthouse Tigers, are tied for second place in the standings, each with 6-10 records.

The Phillies and Dodgers clash tonight in the first game to be followed by the Tigers and Red Sox in the second game. The winner of the Tiger-Red Sox game will gain at least a tie for second. If the Phils subdue the Dodgers in the first game tonight, then the second game will determine the No. 2 spot.

If the Dodgers defeat the Phils, through, the winner of the second game will tie the Dodgers for second.

Titles in the other three kid leagues are still up for grabs. The National Little League race is the closest with the Quarterback Giants leading by one game over the Lions Cubs.

The Trinity Methodist White Sox are only one game away from clinching the American Little League crown. The White Sox lead the second place Legion Yankees by three games with four games to play.

The Optimist Cats hold a four game lead in the Graduate Pony League with six to play. The Cats are the only undefeated kid baseball team with a 9-0 record.

BEATS YANKS SUNDAY

Red Sox's Delock Owns 7-0 Record

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

In spring training, Ivan (Ike) Delock was just another name on the Boston Red Sox roster. Manager Mike Higgins had plans for him, but only in relief roles. No. 2 behind Lefty Leo Kiely.

Today, as Higgins takes inventory during the season's half-way turn, he shudders to think where his second place Sox would be without Delock. Ike not only has blossomed into a starting pitcher but he has become the team's biggest winner and the ace of the staff.

The 28-year-old right-hander won his seventh game without defeat Sunday as the Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 10-4. It was Boston's first victory over the American League leaders since April 16 and only the second in eight decisions this season.

The Yankees remained 11 games in front of Boston and Kansas City, tied for second. The A's were beaten by Cleveland 8-5. Detroit nipped Chicago 2-1 and Washington came from behind to shade Baltimore 4-3.

In the National League, Milwaukee retained its first place margin of one game over San Francisco with a 2-0 shutout of Pittsburgh. The Giants made it two in a row over St. Louis, 5-4. Chicago whipped Los Angeles 6-2 and Philadelphia and Cincinnati split a doubleheader. The Phillies won their seventh straight with a 7-1 opening victory and the Redlegs took the nightcap 11-4.

After limiting the Yankees to four hits through seven innings, Delock was clipped for three more hits in the eighth, including Mickey Mantel's 21st home run.

Ike received credit for snapping the Yankees' five-game winning streak, however, when Kiely replaced him with two runners on base and one out and retired the next five batters.

Delock, counting his last four decisions in 1957, now owns a string of 11 seccessive victories.

Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen paced the Red Sox's 13-hit attack against loser Don Larsen and five relievers. Each collected three hits. Williams rapped his 14th home run and Jensen drove in three runs to raise his league leading RBI total to 68. Jackie has hit safely in his last 15 games.

Jim Bunning racked up his fifth straight victory with a six-hit performance for the Tigers against the White Sox. The loser was Dick Donovan, his 10th in 13 decisions.

Cleveland rookie Gary Bell hurled a seven-hitter for his third victory in his first complete game in the majors. Ned Garver, who had beaten the Indians three times was the KC lower.

Relief pitcher Dick Hyde assured Washington of its first home victory against Baltimore since May 27, 1957, by retiring three straight Orioles in the ninth. Russ Kemmerer was the winner.

11th Hour Rallies Keep Giants Hot On Heels Of Milwaukee 9

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Giants are still pulling off ninth inning heroics, one of the reasons San Francisco continues to hound Milwaukee, hanging on only one game behind the league leading Braves today.

For the third straight day, the Giants won a game in the ninth inning yesterday scoring the winning run in that frame. With the bases full, two out and the score tied in the last of the ninth, Cardinal relief pitcher Larry Jackson plunked Jimmy Davenport with a pitch, forcing over the winning run.

It was Jackson's second straight loss. He got in a jam by walking pitcher Red Worthington with one out. Whitey Lockman singled, Willie Kirkland forced Lockman and Willie Mays drew an intentional pass, filling the bases. Jackson's first pitch to Davenport hit him in the back.

Philadelphia's Phillies extended their winning streak to seven by defeating Cincinnati 7-1, but the Redlegs won the second game of the doubleheader 11-4. The Braves broke their five-game losing streak as Joey Jay hurled a 2-0 shutout against Pittsburgh. Chicago's Cubs, behind the one-hit pitching of Dick Drott and Don Elston, defeated Los Angeles 6-2.

The New York Yankees' first place lead in the American League remained 11 games despite their 10-4 defeat by Boston. Kansas City, tied with the Red Sox in the runner-up spot, dropped an 8-5 decision to Cleveland. Detroit nipped Chicago 2-1 and Washington snapped a tie in the eighth to defeat Baltimore 4-3.

Jay, the Braves' 22-year-old bonus righthander, throttled the Pirates with only four hits for his second victory in five decisions. Wes Covington batted in both Milwaukee runs with a single in the fifth and a home run in the seventh, both against Crt Raydon.

In the Cubs' second straight triumph at Los Angeles, Drott won his fourth in ten decisions. He had a no-hitter until Jim Gilliam got the lone Dodger hit, a single with one out in the seventh.

Drott, however, had to be replaced after he forced in a run in the seventh with his eighth pass.

Gus Bell rapped four hits and drove in four runs to pace Cincinnati's 15-hit attack in the second game victory after the Phillies had equalled the National League's longest winning streak of the season in the opener. Rookie pitcher Ray Semproch limited the Redlegs to five hits for his 10th triumph as the Phils made it seven in a row in the first game.

AT BALTIMORE TOMORROW

Americans 13-10 All-Star Choice

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the first time in recent years, the managers of the All-Star baseball teams will have a stable of well-rested starting pitchers.

None of the 15 pitchers (eight in the National and seven in the American) slated for tomorrow's silver anniversary game started Sunday games. A few years back, it seemed everybody on the roster worked on the final day of regular play.

Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, perennial boss of the Americans, sounded off last year at St. Louis when he learned pitchers he wanted to use weren't available.

Old Case picked three men off his own Yankee staff this year. He was able to see to it that Bob Turley, top man in the majors with a 12-3 record, didn't pitch since beating Washington Friday with a three-hitter.

Manager Fred Heney of the Milwaukee Braves, who heads the Nationals, also has been close mouthed about his pitching selections. However, he learned toward Bob Friend of Pittsburgh. Friend beat Milwaukee Saturday for his 10th victory.

The preponderance of right-handed hitters in the starting lineups, selected by the players' votes, makes it desirable to start a right-handed pitcher on each side.

Stengel, whose Americans are favored 13-10, has Early Wynn of Chicago, Ray Narleski of Cleveland and his own relief man, Ryne Duren, as other right-handers. For left-handed hitters, he has southpaw Whitey Ford of the Yanks, Billy Pierce of Chicago and Billy O'Dell of Baltimore.

Haney has right-handers Bob Purkey of Cincinnati, who was used briefly in relief yesterday, Larry Jackson of St. Louis, Don McMahon of Milwaukee and Dick Farrell of Philadelphia, in addition to Friend.

Jackson started early in the year but has been used only on relief lately. MacMahon and Farrell are relief pitchers. His left-handers are his own Warren Spahn, Johnny Podres of Los Angeles and Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco.

Stan Musial of St. Louis, playing his 15th All-Star Game, and Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh are the only left-handed batters in the National's starting lineup. Nelson Fox of Chicago and switch-hitting Mickey Mantle of the Yanks are the American lefties against right-handers.

The American League holds a 14-10 edge in the series.

Carter Eyes Title Shot

By The Associated Press

Harold Carter hopes to make another move toward an eventual meeting with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson by hurdling over Cuban Nino Valdes in a Wednesday fight at Spokane, Wash.

The methodical Carter whipped Willie Besmanoff June 13 in his first scrap after 18 months in the Army. He is rated No. 5 contender by the National Boxing Association and No. 9 by Ring.

Valdes, 33, is almost 10 years older than Carter. After losing a split decision to Alex Miteff in February, the big fellow from Havana has won three straight from Wayne Bethea, Mike DeJohn and Johnny Summerlin.

The 10-round match will be carried on ABC-television from the Spokane Coliseum.

Mickey Crawford and Gaspar Ortega, two welters with an idea of mixing with Virgil Akins, the new champion, fight Friday at Madison Square Garden in a match that could revise the 147-pound ratings.

Ortega lost to Ralph Dupas and beat Bob Torrance in his two 1958 No. 2 but the NBA listed him No. 7.

Crawford who has won 22 of 24 pro fights is unbeaten this year with victories over Andy Figaro, Gil Turner, Tex Gonzales and Chico Vejar. Crawford is No. 4 with the NBA, No. 9, with Ring.

The Garden fight will be carried on NBC radio-TV.

The first president to attend an opening day major league game was Howard Taft. He saw Washington beat Philadelphia in 1910 by 3-0. Walter Johnson pitched a one-hitter that day.

Wall Wins In Playoff

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A good memory helped 34-year-old Art Wall Jr. to his first golf tournament victory in 16 months.

The 6-footer from Pocono Manor, Pa., tangled with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., in a sudden death playoff yesterday after they had tied in the $22,000 Rubber City Open with scores of 269—or 15 under par—for the 72-hole test.

Wall won the playoff with a birdie on the second extra hole of the par-71 Firestone Country Club course.

Wall said: "On the final round my two playing partners, Mike Souchak and Jack Fleck, had putts on that second hole just like the one I had against Dow. I didn't expect to be back that way for a year or so, but I noticed that both Mike and Jack missed their putts about an inch to the left. So I just hit mine straight at the middle of the hole, ignoring what looked like a bend in the green, and the ball went in for the birdie that wrapped it up."

Odessa Set For Pro-Am

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Hotshots of the tournament trail will begin arriving Monday for the $10,000 Odessa pro-amateur, a 72-hole affair that gets under way Thursday.

The field is expected to approach 100 teams, with the featured attraction to be Tommy Bolt, the National Open champion. Bolt said he would come in Wednesday and fire a practice round.

There was only practice Monday with a special pro-amateur scheduled Tuesday.

Last year there were a record 101 teams and that number may be equalled this time although tournament officials had rather not have so many teams since it makes the tournament unwieldy.

The par 35-37—72 Odessa Country Club course that stretches 6,760 yards was tested by one team over the weekend as Peewee and Jimmy Parvino of Longview posted 65 and 66 best-ball scores. The record is 251 for 72 holes—37 under par. It was set in 1952 by Bo Wininger and Billy Maxwell, when the latter was still an amateur.

Four or five teams are being eyed as favorites with the combination of Ernie Vossler and Rex Baxter, which lost in a playoff last year and won it the year before, rated highly. The defending champions, Jerry Robinson and Miller Barber of Texarkana, are back. Maxwell and Bill Roden and Winninger and Bobby French are the other well-regarded entries.

First money for the winning professional is $2,000.

Lopez Mateos At Helm In Mexico

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Handsome, 48-year-old Adolfo Lopez Mateos, the brilliant labor minister in the last government, was elected president of Mexico yesterday in probably the quietest vote in the nation's history.

The dominant government Party of Revolutionary Institution (PRI) claimed Lopez Mateos had won by a landslide—somewhere between 70 and 85 per cent of the votes.

No big totals were announced, however.

Lopez Mateos' victory over textile manufacturer Luis Hector Alvarez had never been in doubt. The PRI and its predecessors have never lost an election since the parent party was launched in 1928.

Mexico also elected a full new Congress of 60 senators and 162 deputies. The PRI claimed that it had retained control by an overwhelming majority.

There were prospects, however, the new Congress may contain more than the nine opposition deputies it now holds.

Only one serious incident was reported, during an argument over a local election in Ciudad Obregon, on the west coast. A voter was killed and a soldier injured during a fight.

Women voted for the first time in a presidential election.

Opposition parties began filing protests of alleged election fraud before the polls closed. But generally the election seemed to have been conducted on democratic lines. The PRI had invited foreign observers from the United States and South America to come see for themselves.

Official returns will not be known for a week. Unofficial returns may be made known tomorrow or later.

Lopez Mateos will succeed President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines for a six-year term beginning next Dec. 1. He is considered a bit more liberal than his predessor, but is expected to continue most programs of the current administration, which selected him as its successor.

He is married, has a 15-year-old daughter, and made a brilliant reputation as labor minister, averting all major strikes during his 5½-year term.

Soviet Twists Puzzle West

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of our troubles is that we can't see through Premier Khrushchev's head. He extends a friendly hand one minute, a fist the next. But we don't know what he has up his sleeve.

A great many Americans have tried to analyze the meaning of the recent on-again-off-again Soviet tactics. But this writer hasn't seen or heard of one explanation yet that looks foolproof.

It's possible the Soviets's sudden reversals in recent months—from nice to nasty to nice—are the product of simple bumbling and stumbling in foreign policy or of internal Communisty party conflicts hidden from sight.

It's also possible the Soviets don't care much what they do or say from month to month so long as they keep a couple of balls in the air, make propaganda, and keep stalling on disarmament or finding ways to prevent surprise attacks.

What Khrushchev has in mind for 3, or 5, or 10 years from now for the United States is something we can only guess at. And in this contest guessing carries a chilly feeling.

For, through all the shifting gears of the Kremlin one gruesome thought persists: Is Khrushchev stalling until he feels strong enough to wipe us out with a surprise attack? That's possibe too.

It's almost certain neither side is going to talk seriously about disarmament, and for various reasons. One is enough: so long as both are heavily armed each has a measure of safety from attack by the other.

But how much safety from surprise attack each has is something only the top men on both sides know. It would seem to behoove this country to keep its defenses A-1 for years to come.

An individual in this country who tried to make perfect sense out of all the Soviet twists, following them down the dark alleys of the mind, could wind up in a loony bin. An example is given near the end of this story.

This year, after spending months building up propaganda for a summit meeting, or appearing to do so, Khrushchev all but knocked the idea of a summit conference out the window.

The same with the Geneva talks, where American and Communist scientists are now discussing ways to prevent cheating if there is agreement against further nuclear testing. At the last minute the Soviets seemed to be scuttling the meeting. Then they sent their scientists to Geneva.

And Khrushchev this past week, after practically torpedoing a summit conference, proposed to President Eisenhower technical talks on how to prevent surprise attacks. He failed to acknowledge that Eisenhower himself had proposed this last January.

Khrushchev knows what this country wants to prevent surprise attack: a good inspection system. But Sunday Pravda, right on the heels of Khrushchev's proposal, made a joke of any inspection system.

The Communist party newspaper suggested American inspection teams, in flying over the Soviet Union, might gather intelligence information for an American surprise attack.

If there's to be no inspection system, what's the solution? Just trust, Pravda said. That's some answer. Since there's no trust at all, both sides will remain heavily armed and capable of attack.

Which brings up a question: Why did Khrushchev mention it at all? Maybe just to keep talking.

Ships Built In Germany

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — West Germany is moving to reestablish Germany's prewar luxury passenger fleet.

The 29,500-ton Hanseatic, biggest passenger ship since the war to fly the German colors, will leave July 21 on her maiden voyage to New York.

In less than a year, the Hanseatic will be moved to second place by the 30,500-ton Bremen, now also being reconditioned.

The Hanseatic is the former Empress of Scotland, bought by the Hamburg-Atlantic Line from the Canadian Pacific Steamship Co.

The Bremen, due to make her debut next June, is the former Pasteur, bought from France by the North German Lloyd.

Boys Start Costly Fire

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP)—Police say three brothers—aged 7, 8 and 9—were responsible for a million-dollar fire here over the weekend.

The fire burned out the block-long Comfort Coal and Lumber Co. yard, destroyed or damaged eight cafes and blistered four houses and a gas station Saturday night.

The boys were picked up yesterday and released in the custody of their parents after questioning.

Police Lt. Owen Toolen of the Youth Division said the brothers admitted setting the fire.

He quoted the boys as saying they were on their way to a store with some empty soda bottles when they found a partially filled book of matches.

The 8-year-old ignited a piece of paper. His 7-year-old brother told Toolen he thought he had stamped the small fire out, so the youngsters left the paper and proceeded to the store.

They saw the fire on their way home.

Man Drowns In Second Rescue Try

LONG BEACH, N.C. (AP) — A father and daughter bade each other goodby upon realizing they were drowning in the Atlantic yesterday.

However, he was rescued by another man who himself drowned in a vain effort to rescue the daughter.

The other man, Ernest McCracken of Southport, previously had rescued another daughter, Ines Joyner, 10, who had been swept off her feet by a current on Long Beach Inlet.

Shirley Joyner, 14, of Nashville, N.C., drowned along with McCracken.

Inez first ventured into deep water and was knocked down by a current. Shirley tried to help her, and also was gripped by the current. Their screams attracted Joyner and McCracken.

McCracken towed Inez in, and Joyner went to Shirley.

"We went under several times," Joyner related. "We knew we were going to drown. We said goodby to each other."

After McCracken rescued Joyner, he reached Shirley far out in the water. Witnesses said they appeared to struggle, and then disappeared beneath the waves of this beach near Southport and Wilmington.

Late Researcher's Theory Recognized

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

LONDON (AP) — Viruses, the scientist used to say in his soft, almost musical voice, viruses seem to be the basic cause of cancer.

And in a lifetime of research Dr. Francisco Duran-Reynals produced point after point of evidence that viruses could indeed be the culprit or at least the most important culprit.

He theorized viruses might sleep harmlessly in the body for years until something—age, injury or a change in the body's chemistry—suddenly awoke them to change the living cells and start cancers.

The Spanish-born American scientist was to have spoken to the seventh International Cancer Congress, which opened here today attended by nearly 2,000 scientists from 64 countries.

But Duran-Reynals died a few months ago, a victim of the very disease he fought.

A brief abstract printed today in the congress' proceedings details the latest work he had done at Yale University with virus experiments on mice.

The abstract is partly his last tribute. But a bigger tribute comes from the fact that more and more scientists are swinging to the virus theory of cancer, a theory largely ignored during Duran-Reynals' lifetime.

Recent evidence in several countries is adding to the picture that viruses could be involved in at least some kinds of human cancers. If they are, perhaps vaccines or other controls against them can be devised.

Another main attack is aimed at producing anticancer drugs based on discoveries of the tiny but significant differences between cancer and healthy cells. The idea is to get the drugs to jam the machinery of the cancer cells.

This approach has led to drugs which have had some successes against a few kinds of cancer.

Houston Now Second City In Territory

HOUSTON (AP) — Bustling Houston, now the nation's second largest city in land area, sized up today its growing pains which came with the U.S. Supreme Court approved annexation of 187 square miles.

Several weeks ago the high court ruled in favor of Houston in a suit brought by a citizens committee fighting expansion by the city. Deadline for an appeal on the ruling passed Saturday at midnight.

The annexation gave Houston real estate holdings of 351 sqaure miles, second only to Los Angeles' 450. New York is third with 315 square miles.

Maylr Lewis Cutrer called in his department heads today to talk over extension of city services.

Houston will assume maintenance of about 800 miles of streets previously handled by Harris County. It also got control of 27 water districts.

But available for spending now will be some $3,700,000 in taxes collected from the annexed area. It had been held in escrow pending outcome of the court fight.

The chamber of commerce estimated the annexation gave Houston a population of 910,000 compared with the 1950 census of 596,164. Houston ranked as the nation's 14th largest city in population in 1950.

About half of the increase since 1950 is credited to the annexation.

CRMWD Delivery Shows Increase

For the first time this year, the Colorado River Municipal Water District in June showed an increase in water deliveries over the same month a year ago.

Total for the month was 981,093,000 gallons reported Owen H. Ivie, production engineer. This was up substantially over the 937,276,000 for June of 1957, thanks to the far greater draw by the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder. The three cities drew 171,000,000 more gallons than for the previous June, more than offsetting a 127,000,000 drop in demands by the oil companies in their repressuring operations.

The first few days in July portended another heavy month of consumption by member cities. Odessa was averaging 19 million gallons per day, Big Spring 8.8 million and Snyder 2.8 million, said Ivie.

During June Odessa required 502,880,000 gallons, an increase of 117,000,000 gallons over June a year ago; Big Spring took 236,658,000 gallons, an increase of 34,000,000; Snyder 70,034,000, a gain of 20,000,00. Odessa's draw was a new record for one month there, exceeding the previous peak in July of 1957 by 31,00,000 gallons.

Oil company demands for June showed SACROC 121,272,000 Sharon Ridge 25,751,000, Lion Oil 20,750,000, Texas Gulf Producing 3,747,000.

The 981,093,000 gallons in June fell considerably short of July 1957 when the district delivered 1,097,000,000 gallons and all-time peak in August when the total was 1,112,000,000 gallons.

Villagers Have Reunion In Cemetery

WHAT WAS ONCE GARNETTSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—"I guess it is a little unique to have a reunion in a cemetery," H. D. Higbee said.

"But it's about the only time we ever get to see each other."

Higbee, a 51-year-old iron shop worker at Louisville, and about 150 other folks who once lived in the small village of Garnettsville got together yesterday at the burial grounds for their annual reunion.

The government bought their land in 1940 and made it part of the Ft. Knox military reservation. The 10-acre cemetery is the only land they retained.

What do people talk about in a cemetery?

Old friends, old times, those who have passed on and the future generation, says Higbee.

Like some of the others present, he said he thought back to his boyhood days.

He also shared the surprise of meeting a family which hadn't been heard from since Garnettsville disappeared.

Just recently the family read about the reunion in a newspaper and decided to attend.

Some of the reunion is taken up by business. There's the matter of a fund to keep the cemetery in shape.

Everyone contributes as the need arises.

There's also the matter of reading the list of people who purchase new lots every year — the people who want to be buried in their family lots.

"Some of the older ones are dying off each year," Higbee says.

But he's quick to add the oldtimers hope their children will want to carry on the custom of getting together to talk about what used to be.

Chicago Man Buys Up Land

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said Sunday a Chicago real estate man had completed a land deal giving him control of an area in Texas nearly three-fourths the size of Chicago.

Arthur Rubloff bought 100,000 acres of land east of El Paso because he believes the city will expand to become an air-age crossroads between California, Mexico and East Texas, according to the newspapers.

El Paso, which has had a 45 per cent population increase in the past 15 years, must expand toward his land, the Sun-Times quoted Rubloff as saying.

Rubloff hid his operations under the name of the Adelman Cattle Co., according to the Sun-Times, although he owned no cattle. He is quoted as saying, "We don't own a cow and we wouldn't know what to do with one, if the Adelman Cattle Co. did own one."

Lee To Run In Utah As An Independent

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — J. Bracken Lee, former Republican governor of Utah, says he'll run as an independent in an effort to unseat Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) in this year's elections.

"I have no use for the present leadership of the Republican party," he said in announcing last night he'll run on a platform that includes a move to repeal the federal income tax.

Swimming Pool Thief Is Sought

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph Steinmetz Jr., 4, and his brother Gary, 3, and two other youngsters were filling up a plastic swimming pool in the Steinmetz back yard so they could cool off.

A man in a pickup truck was driving down the alley and saw the children. He stopped his truck, jumped over a fence, grabbed the pool, threw it in his truck and took off. Police are searching for the man.

Reds Stirring In Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP)—Guatemalans are being warned that Communists are again trying to bore from within.

Four years ago Col. Carlos Castillo Armas and a ragtag liberation army threw out this hemisphere's only Red-dominated government. Hundreds of Guatemalans followed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman into exile.

A palace guard shot President Castillo Armas to death last July. Now President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes charges that the exiles he let return in recent months are active again, agitating "in the street, among workers and even in Congress."

Ydigoras Fuentes said his government will deal with the Communists as their activities might require.

John Mulhearn, a Wells Fargo messenger, recently tripped over a bag of money he was delivering to a New York City bank. He fractured his left wrist, dislocated an elbowl No money was lost.

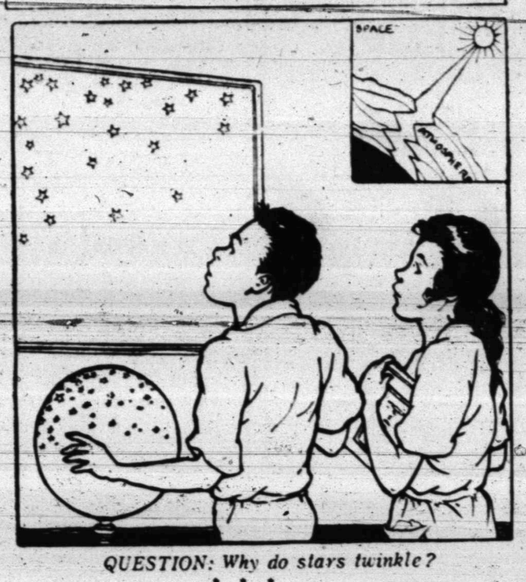
Junior Editors Quiz on STARS



QUESTION: Why do stars twinkle?

• • •

ANSWER: When you look at the sky on a clear night, the stars appear as thousands of many-pointed twinkling dots in the heavens. Actually they don't have points, and they don't twinkle. They are round and some are far larger than the sun, which is far larger than the earth. Stars appear much smaller than the sun because they are much farther away from the earth.

When you gaze at the stars you are looking through atmosphere which is made up of many moving layers of air. The light shooting out from the stars — some of them even brighter than the sun — comes straight toward the earth until it reaches the atmosphere. As it filters through the layers of air, it is broken up and scattered about as shown in the small drawing at the top of this picture. Thus, we get the impression that the stars are twinkling and that they have points.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Here's a quiz you can try on your friends. Ask them how many stars there are, and you'll probably get many different answers. Astronomers estimate there are about 30 billion stars, but only 10,000 are bright enough to be seen from the earth without a telescope.

McFarland To Face A Split Board

HOUSTON (AP)—Amarillo educator Dr. John McFarland, who takes over here as a school superintendent Aug. 1, Monday night faces a divided school board which hired him last month on a split vote.

McFarland arrived here Sunday for a 2-day visit before returning to Amarillo to finish up his term as school superintendent there. He was scheduled to meet with W. Bryan Shaver, acting superintendent, earlier Monday for a round of talks with school officials.

Mrs. Frank Dyer, school board president, said Monday night's session with McFarland would not be open to the public. The board hired him on a a 4 to 3 vote.

"I'll follow the policy as set by the school board," McFarland said. "I hope the controversy won't last very long."

"I believe in emphasizing fundamental learning—efficient reading, written composition, geography, history, mathematics and science," he told newsmen. "I don't like to be characterized as a liberal or a conservative."

He said he was not thoroughly acquainted with the Houston curriculum but "I think it's sound."

Dallas Jail Bride Faces New Charge

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The bride 23, and the groom were just married the other day — in the Dallas County jail.

Newspapers carried their wedding picture and story of a touching jailhouse romance. The bride was radiant in her wedding gown.

Today, police said, they'll file another bad check charge against Frankie Koepp.

A dress shop employe, seeing the picture, recognized the wedding gown as one for which she was paid with a rubber check.

SEARS SERVICE CENTER, 1008 Twenty-fifth Street, handles repairs and installation of all types of Sears products and has two specialists on hand. The center makes installation on the popular Allstate auto air conditioners, which can be purchased for 10 per cent down with 18 months to pay.

Auto Air Conditioner Is Easily Acquired At Sears

Auto air conditioners are still new enough that most people don't have them, but Sears, Roebuck & Co. has made it easy for most to have them in their cars.

Sears sells and installs Allstate auto air conditioners, which are experiencing a boost in popularity this year.

It's easy enough for a motorist to get one. He can buy one for $199.95 or $259.95, plus freight and $30 installation, for 10 per cent down and 18 months to pay the balance.

The air conditioners are installed here, too. Sears has its own service center at 1008 Twenty-fifth Street with specialists in handling installation and repair of Sears products.

The air conditioners can be bought through the Sears order office at 608 East Highway. The $199.95 model and $259.95 model are both dash-mounted, the more expensive one being the deluxe model which has three speeds instead of two and takes up much less room in the car.

Air conditioners are available at Sears to fit most cars, and rapid installation can be made at the service center.

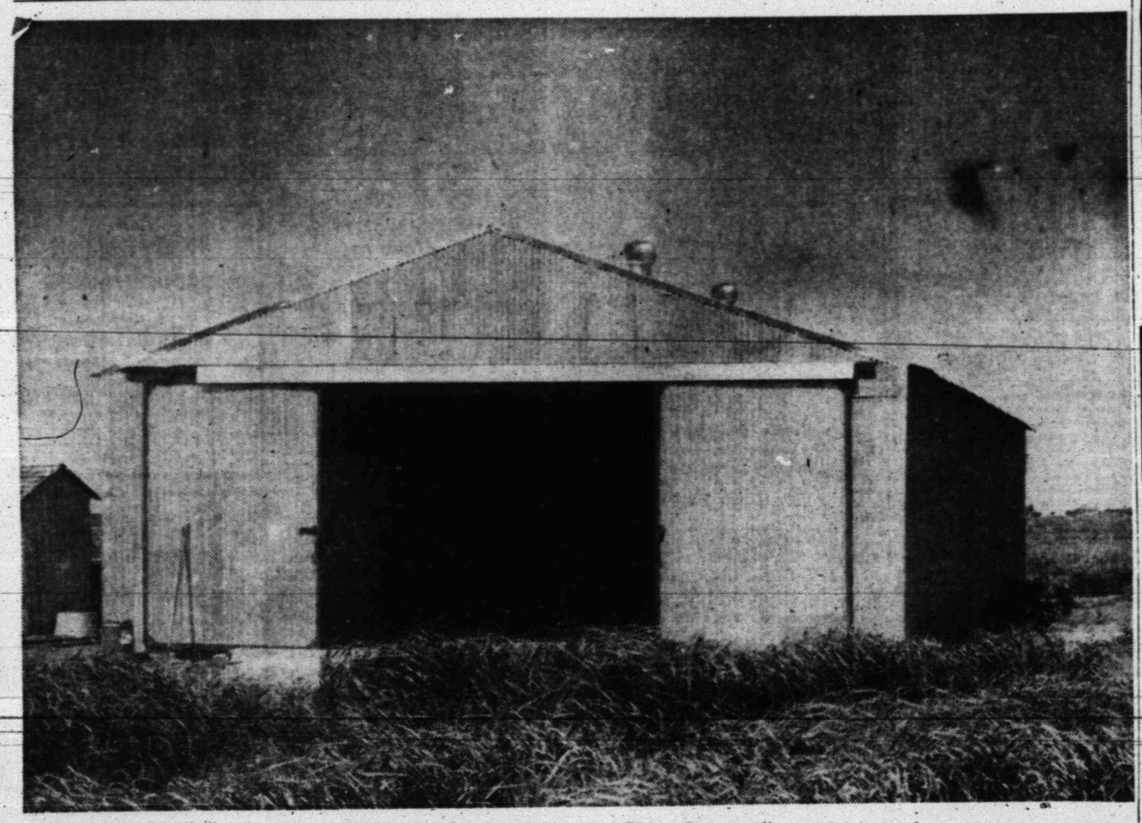
Shelby Graham and Wilbur Eaton operate the service center, and installation of air conditioners is only one of an endless list of tasks they perform.

Graham is television and radio repair specialist, Eaton appliance specialist.

Both make service calls outside the service center or work on appliances at the center, which is open six days weekly. The shop's weekday hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The two specialists invite Snyder residents to call them when they need any repairs of TV's, radios, washers, or other home appliances, including lawn mower motors, scooters, refrigerators, and many others.

The center stocks parts for all types of Sears products and catalog parts for anything Sears sells, including power tools.



AMONG RECENT buildings installed in the Snyder area by Burchett Iron Works, Lubbock highway, was this steel barn on the Weldon Perry farm east of Snyder. Weldon and Eldon Perry will use the barn for grain storage and for use in seed cleaning.

Burchett, Sioux Buildings Ideal For Storage Of Grain

Farmers in the Snyder area will be storing thousands of tons of grain sorghum during August and September, either in their own facilities or commercially.

They must do so if they put their grain sorghum under the federal loan.

Storage space is critically short this year, pointing to the fact that a good investment for the farmer would be his own storage facilities on the farm.

Burchett Iron Works, Lubbock highway, has just what the farmer needs for storage of grain or for numerous other farm uses in steel buildings.

The firm is exclusive West Texas dealer for Sioux Steel Buildings, as well as having its own line of steel structures.

Both the Sioux and Burchett buildings come in the oval, or quonset, type or the pole type with straight walls. Burchett Iron Works also handles the Sioux steel bins, round structures which will hold from 500 to 3,300 bushels.

Any of these structures can be bought by the farmer, installed on the farm complete with concrete floor, and financed at 20 per cent down and up to five years to pay.

The buildings can be used for grain storage, hay storage, dairy barns, feed mixing rooms, farm or commercial shop buildings, garages, stock barns, and many other things, according to Gilbert Burchett, owner of the firm.

The Soux buildings in the straight wall type are 32 to 44 feet wide and can be of any length in multiples of 12 feet. The oval type buildings are 32 to 44 feet wide, and they also are built in lengths in multiples of 12 feet.

The Burchett buildings, fabricated in Snyder, are 20 to 36 feet wide and can be in any length in multiples of 10 feet, either in the straight wall or oval type.

A 30 by 60-foot Burchett pole type building will hold up to 400 tons of grain. Price depends on design and extras, but the base price is about $3,200 installed. If such a building were filled with grain sorghum for three years it would pay for tiself in storage alone. The 32 by 60 oval type building will hold about 450 tons.

Burchett Iron works fabricates any kind of steel trusses or joists, installs roof deck, builds carports, and does any other kind of iron and steel work.

Barns and other buildings can be installed within two weeks after order.

The firm furnishes as a service at no cost to the customer planning service by an architectural engineer. All site work and concrete work for the buildings is included in installation.

Burchett invites any resident who desires a steel building or any kind of steel or iron work to stop by or call the firm, or write a letter to the firm at Box 487.

The players got five-minute breaks every two hours until 1 p.m. Saturday, then 10-minute breaks.
