

Kennedy Picks LBJ for Running Mate

'No Appeasement' Kennedy's Stand

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Some of the problems John F. Kennedy faces now are calculated to wipe off the famous grin.

His first post nomination statement is on how to deal with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. No appeasement, he says.

Almost daily from now until election Kennedy and — Richard M. Nixon too, of course — will be faced by new issues and new angles of old issues.

They cannot discuss them merely on the basis of which one is best fitted to handle them. They must discuss them from the standpoint of men who are potentially, laying down policies for the next four years of American leadership in the world.

Nixon has been keeping his own counsel about any major differences between him and the Eisenhower administration, because of his position in it. When they come out, the differences are expected to be slight.

Kennedy has announced his attitudes toward many of the more persistent problems.

Since American policy has evolved in response to a situation in which she has no initiative, it is not surprising that differences should be more a matter of procedure than of fundamentals, the goals being fixed.

Kennedy is more willing than Eisenhower to spend money for a complete military deterrent force, rather than try to determine which forces to emphasize at the expense of others.

He has some idea, which may prove important when fully developed, about trying to increase communications with Red China even if recognition cannot be granted.

Standing at the head of America's problems of today, however, is the matter of reestablishing communications with the Soviet Union, chopped off by Khrushchev's refusal to do business with Eisenhower.

Kennedy, writing for the Hearst Headline Service, says the next president must make it clear to Khrushchev there will be no appeasement. Not on Berlin, or any principle.

But sometime soon he and Nixon must say how they intend to reach Khrushchev. Whether there is to be rebuilding of communication from the ground up, or a new attempt at summitry.

Kennedy and Nixon have spoken in broad general terms of African policy. But what do you do in a specific case such as the Congo? Or a specific case such as Cuba?

Macmillan, Ike To Hash Over Flights

By LEWIS GULIK
WASHINGTON (AP) — British diplomats were quietly pressing today for tighter safeguards against possible incident-provoking flights by American military planes from English soil without Britain's knowledge.

The White House announced Thursday night that President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have agreed to talks now under way between British embassy and State Department officials.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty called the negotiations a review of the present working arrangements on American bases in Britain with a view to "any possible improvements in coordination."

Impetus for the talks comes from Macmillan, who has been under pressure at home to make sure U.S. planes do not run away on unusual flights from Britain without their hosts knowing about it.

The present U.S.-British understanding on bases was reached in 1951 between President Truman and Prime Minister Clement Attlee. A joint statement by Truman and Winston Churchill, Attlee's successor, confirmed the deal the following year.

Since then aircraft have advanced a long way and East-West tensions have reached a new stage. The Soviets swung into a new cold war offensive after downing an American U-2 spy plane deep inside their territory. On July 1 they claimed to have shot down a British-based American RB47 craft invading Soviet airspace. Washington said the plane was outside Soviet territory.

Guilty Pleas Heard In District Court

Three pleas of guilty were heard in district court this morning. Avisto Perez, Jr., 18, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary for "assault with a prohibited weapon" on the person of Alexander Garcia on June 19 on the Plainview road east of Snyder. Mrs. Ruby K. Green was given two years on four counts of forging and passing forged checks in Snyder.

District Judge Sterling Williams probated the two year sentence of Kenneth Taylor, 19, of Sweetwater. Taylor, a former resident of Snyder, pleaded guilty of forging and passing a check in March.

District Attorney Wayland Holm prosecuted with Robert Patterson as the court appointed defense attorney.

U2 Crashes, Burns In South Texas

DEL RIO (AP) — An Air Force U2, the same type of high altitude plane involved in the Russian "spy plane" incident, crashed and burned in rugged South Texas hill country Thursday.

The pilot parachuted to safety. Maj. Raleigh Myers of Aulander, N.C., ejected himself shortly before the broad-winged, slim craft fell about 80 miles northeast of this town on the Mexican border. The plane was demolished.

Myers suffered some shock and slight injuries.

The plane was the second U2 from Laughlin Air Force Base here, to crash. It fell about 45 minutes after taking off at 7:45 a.m. for a short training flight.

The plane is capable of flying at 70,000 feet, estimates placed it at under 20,000 feet when trouble developed.

The U2s have been based at Laughlin as part of a weather reconnaissance squadron for about two years.

'Fight Fire With Fire' Policy To Take Hold

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, under heavy Soviet pounding, has largely abandoned its postsummit policy of seeking businesslike negotiations with Moscow and is switching to a get-tough strategy of its own.

Evidence of this change is already becoming apparent. It will be fully developed at the United Nations next week when the United States and the Soviet Union join battle over charges and countercharges of threats to world peace.

President Eisenhower is described by officials here as fed up with Khrushchev's incessant campaign of accusations against the United States. He apparently feels that Khrushchev's hostile policy leaves no recourse except to strike back hard.

Two moves by the State Department Thursday reflected the developing new tough line. The department announced a note to Moscow calling off indefinitely negotiations scheduled for next Monday on an air transport agreement between the two countries.

This step was blamed on "recent Soviet actions and utterances" which, the department said, have poisoned the atmosphere for negotiation.

"At the same time the department issued a new warning to Khrushchev to keep his hands off Latin American countries, particularly Cuba. It denounced him for claiming that the 1957-year-old Monroe Doctrine of America for the Americas is out of date and for trying to scuttle the U.S.-Cuban treaty covering the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Khrushchev, the department asserted, is trying to establish a "Bolshevik doctrine" under which he would make use of "soviet military power in support of Communism."

Special Act Stirring Up Controversy

AUSTIN (AP) — The name of Lyndon Johnson will appear twice on the general election ballot in Texas next November because of a special act of the Legislature last year.

The law permits a candidate's name to be listed for U.S. president or vice president as well as for re-election to a state office.

The act, generally known as the "Johnson-for-president" bill, was hotly contested by a small minority.

Another law, passed by Johnson backers in anticipation of his possible nomination for president, advanced the Democratic Primary to get his renomination campaign out of the way before the national convention.

The senator easily won renomination. The Republicans, nominated John G. Tower, a college professor.

Thus if Johnson loses in the Democratic national election, he will be back in the Senate if he defeats his Republican opponent.

If Johnson wins the vice presidency and the Senate seat in the same election, he apparently will resign from the Senate.

The law provides that his U.S. Senate seat then would be filled by temporary appointment and a special election called within 19 days to fill the vacancy. An election must be held not less than 60 days or more than 90 days after the vacancy occurs.

ist movements anywhere in the world.

With the shelving of the prospective negotiations on a U.S. — Soviet air agreement, the question has arisen here whether "negotiations among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests will be continued at Geneva."

State Department officials said Washington has no intention of breaking off the nuclear test conference and they doubt that Moscow will do so. This three-power negotiation therefore stands as the only important exception to the general collapse of East-West diplomacy.

On the Allied side, the intensification of the cold war may call for greater efforts at coordination and tightening of Allied unity in the face of Khrushchev's mounting hostility.

One such move is the beginning of consultations here between the United States and Britain on possible modification of agreements involved in the use of U.S. air bases in Britain. Washington officials said the talks are concerned entirely with possible improvement in coordination of the use of the bases.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had referred to possible modifications when he was questioned in Commons earlier this week on the shooting down of an RB47 of the U.S. Air Force by a Soviet plane July 1. The RB47 was operating from a base in Britain.

Moscow claimed the plane was over Soviet territory when it was downed. Washington says it was over international waters.

The RB47 incident is the immediate issue upon which Moscow has gone to the U.N. Security Council with its charge of aggression by the United States. It claimed a threat to the peace. Eisenhower has replied that it is the Soviet Union which is threatening peace and that the United States is ready and willing to meet the Soviet challenge in the Security Council.

Eisenhower himself laid down the policy of trying to continue businesslike relations with the Soviet Union in the aftermath of the summit conference failure. This hope has proved vain.

The State Department officials say Khrushchev's postsummit purpose clearly is to undermine U.S. leadership in the free world, break down the U.S. foreign base system, and wreck NATO and other anti-Communist alliances.

Choice Made In Unexpected Move

By JACK BELL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy formally accepts the Democratic presidential nomination tonight, with party liberals bemoaning his endorsement of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate.

In a dramatic but highly traditional decision Thursday Kennedy compromised with the political realities of a threatened Southern bolt and wheeled in Johnson, the majority leader of the Senate, as his vice presidential nominee.

The Massachusetts senator took a practical step toward quieting a growing Dixie rebellion. But he repeated in return some protests from party liberals in a copyrighted story he wrote for his newspapers.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, described the report as "completely and absolutely untrue."

"Sen. Kennedy asked Sen. Johnson to run, and Sen. Johnson accepted," Salinger added.

In a statement issued later through his office, Kennedy himself described the story as "pure and absolute fabrication with no basis in fact. I visited Sen. Johnson at approximately 10:30 this morning. Thereafter, after consulting leaders of the Democratic party around the country, I asked him if he would accept the position of the vice presidency. The subject matter was brought up completely on my own initiative."

A spokesman for the Johnson said there was "absolutely nothing to the story."

Knight wrote that Johnson had passed the word to Sen. Kennedy's brother Robert that, having been defeated by Kennedy for the presidential nomination, he wanted second place and would fight for it on the floor of the convention if necessary.

Confronted with this, Knight said, the presidential nominee agreed to take Johnson. The latter has tossed off some nasty cracks about the Massachusetts senator's inactivity in the face of a demand for world leadership from the presidential office.

Johnson's friends, of course, didn't agree with this version. They frankly couldn't figure why the Senate leader would be willing to trade his position for the vice presidency which, even in its advanced status, is a job in which one man stands in preparedness for another's death.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who urged Johnson not to take second place, shook his head and sighed a little sadly at the outcome which was formally ratified by the Democratic convention Thursday night.

Rayburn's explanation was that Johnson had been offered the spot and replied in simple language that he couldn't reject any demand for service his party or his country laid upon him. Johnson himself offered no enlightening explanation.

Whatever his motives, by the introduction of Johnson's name on the ticket, Kennedy appeared to have suffered a movement to deny him the vote of several Southern states in the Electoral College.

Kennedy could deal with the complaining liberals of the party. They had no organizations to deny him the electoral vote of any state. He could pitch for their support by the liberal utterances made for service his party or his country laid upon him. Johnson's extravaganza.

Texans Now May Stick 'Together'

By DAVE CHEAVENS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lyndon Johnson's name on the national party ticket as the vice presidential nominee gives Texas Democrats leaders new hope for unity and success in November.

Tonight Sen. Johnson formally accepts the second spot to Sen. John Kennedy. He was nominated by acclamation amidst some signs of unhappiness by delegates or spectators who hoped for Hubert H. Humphrey.

But Johnson's aggressive victory speech calling on Democrats north, south, east and west to unite brought a roar of approval from the same crowd.

"We have the will to win and the people to do it," Johnson shouted.

The Texas delegates stood in their chairs and yelled as loud as their strained voices allowed. They demonstrated uproariously for Johnson Wednesday night when he was offered for the presidential nomination. Thursday night he repeated the performance in almost as full voice, and without protest.

All but a few top leaders of the Texas delegation were amazed when the word hit the convention floor late Thursday afternoon that Kennedy had asked Johnson to be his running mate and that Johnson accepted.

Among those who took part in the negotiations with the Kennedy camp were Gov. Price Daniel and House Speaker Sam Rayburn. Kennedy visited Johnson and Rayburn once each during the morning. This was followed by a string of calls on Johnson from top Democratic leaders from all over the nation to urge him to accept.

Texas leaders, after taking a deep breath and recovering from their surprise, said they believed Johnson would strengthen the ticket nationally and in Texas, and especially in the south.

They said they thought it would help the party make a unified effort to put Texas back into the Democratic column after departure to the GOP in 1952 and 1956.

Before Johnson's name was added, many of the state's leaders added the outlook for party harmony and victory in November were dim.

Daniel said Wednesday he would not work for the Kennedy ticket, although he would vote for it. Thursday night he said he would not stump for the Kennedy-Johnson combine, although he would not withdraw his opposition to the Democratic National Convention's civil rights plank.

"Senator Johnson will make the kind of vice president who will be a real leader in Congress like John Nance Garner," Daniel said.

Mrs. H. H. Weiner, Seguin, who will take office Saturday as the new national committeewoman from Texas, said Johnson would improve Kennedy's chances of carrying Texas in November.

National Committeewoman Byron Skelton, Temple, said the Johnson nomination will "add everything to the ticket."

"It will insure a Democratic victory in Texas and bring about the election of Kennedy and Johnson," Skelton said. "It nails it down in Texas and the south and it will help hold the party together in Texas."

State Executive Committee Chairman Ed Connally, Abilene, said the Kennedy-Johnson combination's broad appeal will add greatly to the Democratic strength.

"Johnson gives it the balance it needs. Johnson's presence will help allay the fears of some on the religious question."

Many of the Texas delegates have already gone home. Others passed up tonight's final convention show for vacation and sight-seeing trips. For most of them the convention was over and no formal activities were on tap today.

Slaphappy Mom Fined

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A $10 fine was levied against Mrs. Glynn Locker for slapping an 18-year-old boy who brought her daughter home late.

Mrs. Locker, a widow, said George R. Smith Jr. had brought Norma Locker, 14, home after midnight July 1. The boy attributed the late hour to a "double-feature" movie.

At a hearing before Judge Alfred Frazier Thursday the boy's father said his son "looked like he had run into a wildcat" after the run-in with Mrs. Locker. Defense attorney Joe Juncan argued that "more parents should become upset when their young daughters stay out late."

And If I Should Die Before I Take Office...

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Both major parties have set up the same procedure for selecting a presidential candidate should their nominee die before the election.

The new standard-bearer would be chosen by a majority vote of the party's national committee.

The national committees are made up of two members from each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone.

Writer Admits He May Have Goofed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Publisher John S. Knight said today that the sequence of events in his copyrighted story on the Democratic presidential campaign had been in error.

In the story, made available to The Associated Press last night, Knight described events leading to the nomination of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president.

Knight, publisher of a chain of newspapers, wrote that Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's brother, Robert, had called on Johnson Thursday morning.

At that time, the story continued, Johnson surprised Kennedy by informing him that Speaker Sam Rayburn and Johnson had decided that Johnson would be named the vice presidential candidate.

According to the story, Johnson said he intended to fight for the nomination on the convention floor if that was necessary.

Knight wrote that young Kennedy rushed the news to his brother, Robert.

But, early today, Knight said that Robert Kennedy had assured him he had not visited Johnson before Sen. Kennedy called on the Texas senator.

"Naturally, I accept his word that the sequence of events in the story may have been in error," Knight said in a statement.

"My information came from a highly dependable source. It was printed as news and with no desire to embarrass Sens. Kennedy and Johnson for whom I have the highest respect and admiration."

By WILLIAM M. KATZ. The United States already had offered such assistance, and President Eisenhower approved the airlift of 300 tons of American surplus food to the Congo from stocks in Europe.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev told reporters he had passed Hammarskjöld's request along to his government and hoped it would be considered sympathetically. The Soviet Union has refused to contribute to the support of the other U.N. military force keeping peace between the Egyptians and Israel, terming it an illegal organization.

Diplomatic sources said Hammarskjöld had asked Britain for the use of a big airlift at Kano, Nigeria, as the main staging area for the U.N. troops. They said the request was under consideration in London and in Lagos, the Nigerian capital.

Ghana and Tunisia already had agreed to provide troops for the international force. Guinea, Mali and Morocco were asked to fill out the force and were considered the request. Ghana reportedly offered to send two of its three British-trained army battalions.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche told a news conference in Leopoldville he expected four battalions—perhaps 2,500 soldiers—to be in the Congo early next week. The U.N. called for 17 French-speaking volunteers from its headquarters security force to go to Leopoldville to guard Bunche.

An American Negro. The first four volunteers included two Negroes from Trinidad.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld also asked the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, India and Italy to transport the troops and supply food to meet a shortage in Leopoldville.

UN Rushes Aid To Congo Area

By WILLIAM M. KATZ

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations hurried a 23-man advance guard to the Congo today and assembled an international African military force to help restore order in the chaotic new African republic.

Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn of Sweden, since 1958 head of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization in Palestine, leaves his Jerusalem headquarters by plane today to become commander of the new military force.

Going south with him were five radio technicians, five security guards, and 11 military observers to serve as advisers and instructors to the mutinous, 25,000-man Congolese army, now in revolt against its Belgian officers. Diplomats here said the observers were officers of the true organization from Canada, Denmark, New Zealand, Norway and Sweden.

Ghana and Tunisia already had agreed to provide troops for the international force. Guinea, Mali and Morocco were asked to fill out the force and were considered the request. Ghana reportedly offered to send two of its three British-trained army battalions.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche told a news conference in Leopoldville he expected four battalions—perhaps 2,500 soldiers—to be in the Congo early next week. The U.N. called for 17 French-speaking volunteers from its headquarters security force to go to Leopoldville to guard Bunche.

An American Negro. The first four volunteers included two Negroes from Trinidad.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld also asked the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, India and Italy to transport the troops and supply food to meet a shortage in Leopoldville.

ART EXHIBITION—Scurry County Library will present a second art exhibition of paintings from the Fort Times Collection of American Art on Sunday afternoon, July 17, between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. Honorary hosts...

Public Invited To See Second Art Exhibition At Co. Library

Mr. Arthur T. Louge, Art Director, Publications, Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan, has this to say about the exhibit. "The Southland" is a picture-evoking term; but with many of us the pictures which are evoked are somewhat limited in scope and overworked in content. While certainly it is not possible to give a total picture of this area of our land in thirty paintings, nevertheless the paintings in this exhibition do reveal some of the variety of scene and activity to be found in fifteen of our southern states. Make Vacation-Time Creative

By DOROTHY VV. WHIPPLE, M.D. CHILDREN NEED something to do besides watch television and go to the movies during summer vacation. But they need adult help and enthusiasm to get something going.

Projects that catch on with the youngsters must be creative. The thing that fires a child is something in which he uses his imagination, and expresses his feelings. It must be productive of some results, also it must not be too difficult—children become discouraged when the job seems beyond their capacity.

Several children in a family or a group from the neighborhood can work together in a project, perhaps more successfully than a single child alone. "What to do? Arts or crafts are the time honored creative activities and they still hold much charm. But try to be a little different from the programs at school that do not have the flavor of "vacation."

How about planning an art show with all ordinary paintings barred? Use twigs, leaves, feathers, sponges, shells, stone to make a picture. Glue them onto pieces of wood, bark, or blotting paper. Color them with paint or get effects with their natural colors. Make some flat like an ordinary picture or use a three dimensional technique.

Block prints can be made in unusual ways. Interesting leaves can be inked and the impression pressed onto paper or wood. Cut a large white potato in half, carve interesting shapes on the moist white surface, let it dry and then ink the surface and make prints.

Collections are always a source of interest. Artificially arranged a collection of leaves, ferns, grasses or shells can be displayed in the art show. If you set really ambitious these collections can be worked into the basis of a tray or into a lampshade.

Getting projects of this sort going is not easy. It takes plenty of adult enthusiasm, interest and help. Set up a workshop on the porch or in the backyard. Get some equipment and try out new techniques yourself. (You might really enjoy it.) Above all express interest in accomplishments of the children. Planning to have the work exhibited is often a great spur. Make it a formal show, have even with tickets and certainly with lemonade and cookies. Invite in the neighbors, maybe a teacher, perhaps plan the show when grandma will come for a visit.

Cooking might be included in the children's creative accomplishments. A delicious batch of cookies, deliciously flavored punch is as much a work of art as a painting.

Planned Kitchen

Couples who love to cook and entertain find both can be done more easily if behind-the-scenes equipment is thoughtfully chosen and arranged. A range, for instance, can be depended on to do a variety of cooking jobs automatically if it bears the Gold Star Award symbol. Plates can be warmed and foods placed in serving dishes and held at serving temperature for hours before serving. Work and storage space at both sides of the range help to increase efficiency. Refrigerators that make and automatically eject ice cubes are another time and nuisance saver for modern households.

British statesman William Pitt said in a speech in 1777: "If I were an American, as I am an Englishman, while a foreign troop was landed in my country, I would never lay down my arms, —never! never! never!"

WASHDAY

Not long ago a whole day was set aside in the homemaker's week as "wash day." But the gas industry is keeping pace with the jet age by cutting laundry time from a day in the week to an hour of a single day. Automatic appliances such as water heaters, washing machines with clothes dryers and modern soap and water conditioning products have all contributed to the change.

Meat Thermometers

Meat thermometers that come with ranges should never be stored in the oven. After using the thermometer, do not immerse it in water or in an automatic dishwasher. Experts recommend that it be washed with sudsy water, then rinsed. If it is stained rub it lightly with fine steel wool or soapy scouring pad.

Miracle Sunshine

Natural gas has been called "miracle sunshine" because in a few short years it has become an important factor in the industrial growth of cities. In addition to being the fastest and cleanest fuel for household appliances, manufacturers are finding it helps them process thousands of products better for less money. Natural gas helps communities by attracting new industry and creating more jobs.

When the medical profession approves a new remedy, it is made public so that everybody may benefit from it. Polio-myelitis vaccine is a good example. Should you read or hear about a "secret remedy" for the cure of some serious disease, be on guard. Shun it by all means, because its use could be disastrous. Consult your physician. Ask his views on "mystery remedies." He will give you a candid evaluation. There is nothing hush-hush about medical and its discoveries. Medicine is an open book—for all the world to see.

Some Of That Ruckus Was For The Dodgers

By INEZ ROBB
LOS ANGELES. — And now as I wave a delighted farewell to Southern California, I remember well the sage advice of my mother, which I ignored in coming here for the Democratic convention.

"No lady ever ventures South of Camel-By-The-Sea," said Mama, who was born north of San Francisco in Lake County. She was past seventy and beyond corruption by the dubious atmosphere of Southern California when I finally persuaded her to meet me in Los Angeles some years ago.

But she looked down her nose, even in her sleep, every minute she was here.

Perhaps it is the five-day wasle-and-hassle of a political convention that makes me view this region through a glass darkly. But if I never see another freeway and go to my reward without again visiting the Sports Arena, I shall feel that I have still lived a rich, full life.

As I throw my other dress in the suitcase, I feel spiritually akin to the fabled Oskie who, by the end of the 'Forties, had gotten together enough gas and bailing wire to take his car back home. He headed for the Osage country with a big sign on his rambling wreck: "Goodbye California and your blankie-blank six foot geraniums."

It is my earnest conviction, as I depart, that the endorsement of the Democratic party by Frank Sinatra is not an unmixing blessing or any assurance of certain victory in November.

It has also been apparent throughout the Democratic travail that the natives of Los Angeles thought the added crowds in town were here to see the Dodgers perform. As far as any member of the press could figure out, no resident of Los Angeles was aware of the convention in his preoccupation and jubilation over the Dodgers' winning streak.

The Democrats may not win the pennant in the autumn, but if the Dodgers do, no one out here will be the wiser. That's what they think all the shouting has been about in the days just past—the Dodgers.

I would like to reassure Dodger adherents in New York, including my husband, who feared that the Dodgers were indigenous to the fast and balmy breezes blowing from the Gowanus Canal. And would wither elsewhere.

But they don't grow dafter or balmy breezes anywhere, even in Greenport, than those that come down from the hills around Los Angeles. The fans out here are as rabid, and doubtless as dangerous in the hite, as those who used to flock to Ebbets Field.

The Dodgers have found a perfect home away from home. Let there be no moaning at the bars of Red Hook that Them Bums is wandering in the wilderness. Los Angeles and the Dodgers were made for each other.

And finally, as I husband my strength for the Republican convention in Chicago as of July 25, I am certain that the G.O.P. conclave will be the last one at which working newspapermen, as divided from radio and teevee reporters, will ever be permitted to function.

Ever since 1940, when television was scarcely hungry gleam in a vain candidate's eye, the accommodations for newspapermen have gotten smaller and smaller and worse and worse as the television cameras and their tons of equipment have taken over.

The working newspaperman was barely tolerated at the Democratic convention. I expect the same conditions to prevail in Chicago. Four times as much space was allotted to the teevee networks as to all the working press of the U.S.A. at the Democratic convention, and then the teevee cameras, to add insult to injury, often obscured the view in the wretched quarters writing newsmen shared.

But if the owners, publishers and editors of America's powerful press will not fight for the rights of the press, I am through protesting. In 1964, when teevee shall have taken over completely, I shall simply sit home in comfort and watch the conventions on the squawk box.

This is no bitter cry. I think the teevee chains have done a wonderful job on the convention. And if my profession wants to give them a monopoly by abdication, why should I butt my head against the typewriter?

Veep Choice Baffling In First Analysis

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Democratic ticket of Sen. John F. Kennedy for president and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president tries a couple of kinds of fish, political and personal.

For years Johnson, 51, has shown signs of aching for the presidential nomination. Therefore, seeing it go this week to Kennedy, eight years his junior, must have been a shattering blow.

The fact that Johnson, at Kennedy's request, would accept the No. 2 spot on the ticket looks bewildering at first glance. It makes sense when you lift the lid on this strange political pot and look inside.

Johnson, as Senate leader of the Democrats, for years has had one of the most important and powerful jobs in the country. What he wanted was the most powerful job of all, the presidency.

Compared with either one of them, the vice presidency is a shadowy situation.

A vice president traditionally simply presides over the Senate, votes only to break tie votes on the floor, and runs errands for the president.

Johnson whose Senate term is up this year, without question could be re-elected by Texas and retain his Senate leadership. He still is expected to run for the Senate as well as the vice presidency.

But this happens to be a touchy year in the national political scene.

The South, as it showed at the Democratic convention, was restive and balky over the very liberal civil rights platform plan shoved down its throat by the rest of the convention delegates.

There was a good chance the South in next November's elections would be a lot less than wholehearted in its support of the Democratic ticket headed by Kennedy.

By getting Johnson to run with him, Kennedy went a long way toward pacifying the South, which is where Johnson had his main backing in his unsuccessful bid for the presidential nomination.

So from a political standpoint makes sense to put Johnson on the ticket as Kennedy's running mate.

But there's a personal element in this.

Washington newsmen who have dealt with Johnson for years know he has a gigantic ego. This is precisely why Kennedy's victory over him must have cut the Texan deeply.

It would hardly seem sensible for a man, dressed in the tremendous robes of power worn by a Senate leader, to give up that job for the comparatively less influential post of vice president.

But Johnson, who has talked with newsmen at great length about the nice things said of him over the years, could feel particularly honored if the voters chose him for the job just one heartbeat away from the presidency.

There is more, Johnson, a tremendous manipulator of men, could use the vice presidency in a way not attempted by others who have held that job. He could try to hold the reins of power in the Senate even though someone else succeeded to his present title as Democratic leader.

Athletics, Yanks Post Easy Wins

The Farm League White Sox perched at the pinnacle of the league, were temporarily stymied in their move toward the bunting as the rival Athletics rose up to put to rest the slumps under which an 11-1 drubbing here last night.

Mark Gilstrap was the starting hurler for the A's but stepped down in favor of Randy Owens in the third frame, with Owens going on to finish the contest and gain credit for the victory. They allowed the vaunted Sox only three hits during the game. Two of those base knocks were triples—one in the second and one in the fourth—as landed by first sacker Stanley Cole.

For the Pale Hose, Sammie Dorman, Toby Green, and Larry Tatum trudged to the hill alternately in an attempt to quell the Athletics' stick power, and allowed a total of nine safeties.

Catcher Tommy Browning doubled and singled to lead his team at the plate. Lonnie Gilstrap and Terrell Austin each singled twice, also.

Green absorbed the loss from the Sox, the fourth defeat for that nine as stacked up against 13 victories.

The Yankees held a firm grip on second place in the loop lineup by pelting the Indians in the other contest of the evening.

The win brought their season record to 9-2.

Winning chunker Tommy Hollis went five innings before turning over his duties to Mike Todd. They gave up seven hits, including doubles by Joe Coleman and Dale Blythe and a fourth frame three-bagger off the bat of third baseman Ronnie St. John.

The Yanks, dormant and shut out until the fifth frame, suddenly started to rip and snort at that point to make a runaway of the game. Kenny Sehested, Coplen, and Larry Wadzeck each tried their hands at pitching for the losing nine. Coplen being tagged with the defeat.

Donnie Thompson connected for the only extra-base hit as garnering double in the fifth. Todd and Hollis also aided their pitching efforts with a pair of singles each.

The line scores:

White Sox	000 10-1

of course it is, but it brings with it a staggering challenge... the individual responsibility of helping save civilization. The terrible "dark days" following the fall of the Roman Empire would be termed "good days" compared to the period of destruction that would follow the loosing of our hydrogen weapons. We must face it. In a manner we must be our own saviour. Then let us kids not quibble.

We must cheerfully accept the task. If we keep our eyes fixed on God and our ears tuned-in to His direction center, we can be the deterring force He needs to save the world from destruction. For He said, "Him that lacketh wisdom, let him ask of God." The varied programs of the church offer opportunity to gain this wisdom and understanding of God and His plan of salvation for the world. You have a part to play. Get inside His field of service... attend church regularly. For, "The wise in heart will receive Commandments."

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Ministers of all faiths and the community-minded firms below persuade you to read this Spiritual Values page and make it a part of your life... it is your heritage.
