Bell Oil Compauy Restores Crude Price To 37 Cents And Asks Others To Join

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Charles I. Francis, speaking at a dinner honoring George W. Fairtrace, Wichita Falls first city manager who has been called to a bigger job at Fort Worth, meant no disparagement of Mr. Fairtrace and the city council, when he said they had but laid the groundwork for a better city. Among other problems he cited which must yet be solved was the more equitable distribution of the tax burden in Wichita Falls. He said Wichita Falls could not prosper as it ought if we continued to lay such heavy burdens upon the home owner and the owner of real estate, while many forms of personal property escaped taxation altogether.

Considerable progress has been made during the past three years in the equalization of assessed values of real estate, but so long as real estate and the utilities are called upon to pay 80 per cent of our taxes home owners will be handicapped and progress will be retarded.

As Mr. Francis said, while it might be unfair to ask owners of personal property to pay state taxes upon this property while owners of similar property in other parts of the state escape taxation, there is no good reason why such property should not pay it fair share of taxes for local purposes in Wichita Falls. As is now taxed, the man who perhaps owns only a small equity in a home pays all the taxes while the owner of the lien or mortgage contributes nothing. It is an inequality and injustice that must be corrected, and the sooner it is corrected the quicker Wichita Falls can go forward.

In times like these when there has been a recession of values everywhere and when incomes of all municipalities have been reduced, city government presents problems for the highest order of business ability and courage. Wichita Falls is no exception. Our city council and our new city manager are faced with a multitude of problems. With the cooperation of our citizenship we can expect continued progress.

As the burden of taxes becomes heavier not because of an actual increase in the amount of taxes but because of the difficulty of the taxpayer to provide the money to pay them we will find the people demanding those "sweeping reforms" in government which Mr. Francis told his hearers would

RECENT CUTS UNJUSTIFIED, SAYS OFFICIAL

Company to Accept All New Connections Up to Plant Capacity

OIL GOOD INVESTMENT

Finston Urges Other Buyers To Join in Effort To Restore Industry

Former prices of 37 cents a barrel for 40 gravity oil and above will be restored by the Bell Oil and Gas company Thursday on the ground that the cuts in prices last week by major companies "were not justified from the standpoint of supply and demand," according to a telegram received Sunday by The Record News from Mark Finston, vice president of the company.

Seeking Oil

The price schedule applies to North Texas and Southern Oklahoma where the Bell company is gathering oil. The company will "accept all new connections" up to the capacity of its refineries, the statement said, and "prabaly more, since oil for storage at these prices is a most attractive investment."

The telegram from Mr. Finston follows:

"We are certain crude cuts instigated by major companies last week were not justified from the standpoint of supply and demand, with the possible exception of East Texas, and certainly were not commensurate with market prices since the wholesale gasoline market has strengthened steadily for past three weeks. We are equally certain that these rediculously low prices spell certain ruination for producers of oil, both large and small.

"Therefore, effective at 7 a. m., July 16, the Bell Oil and Gas company is restoring its schedule of prices prevailing before last cuts, namely, 37 cents a barrel for 40 gravity crude and above, with one cent differential below. This applies to North Texas and Southern Oklahoma where Bell is gathering oil.

"We will accept all new connections up to capacity of our refineries and probably more, since oil for storage at these prices is a most attractive investment.

"The Bell sincerely hopes that other companies will follow its lead so that a start towards normalcy in the oil industry may be reached."

Purchased Pipe Line

The Bell company last week announced its purchase of the entire pipe line gathering system of the Tidal-Western Oil corporation in the Burkburnett area. This purchase included between 40 and 50 miles of pipe, several pump stations and tankage. The Bell company is transporting its oil to its refinery and cracking plant at Grandfield, Okla., which has been in operation for the last 12 years without a shutdown. The company recently started construction on a 10,000 barrel skimming plant and refinery at Longview, and also operates a refinery at Pampa.

Germany Grasps at Dictatorial Straws to Save Financial Ruin

Reichstag Studies Drastic Credit Restrictions as Crash Of Great Banking Institution Looms

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
(Copyright, 1931 by Universal Service, Inc.)

BERLIN, July 12.—With the realization that neither Britain nor the United States will make the first move to save Germany from the financial abyss, the German cabinet tonight deliberated a dictatorial measure to avert the crash.

Meeting with the reparations committee of the reichstag, the cabinet sessioned from 11:30 a. m. until 2 p. m. after a two hour recess the cabinet reconvened at 4 p. m., this time sitting without the reparations committee.

Drastic Measures

Credit restrictions and other drastic measures recalling the post-war inflation days and designed to check the outward flow of gold through the purchase of foreign exchange were outlined at last night's cabinet meeting and again at today's.

The deliberations are expected to result in the issuance of another emeregency decree designed to restrict credit and the purchase of foreign monies by those fearing a collapse of the mark.

Coincident with the afternoon cabinet session, a conference of prominent banking leaders was called in the reichstag.

Crash Threatened

It today developed that the many-houred session last night and this morning's meeting in the Wilhelmstrasse were taken up largely by the critical domestic financial situation, more especially with what is reported to be the impending crash of one of the three largest banks in Germany.

The bank, it is declared behind the scenes, will fail within the next few days, unless the institution, which has more than 50 branches in Berlin alone, can be given relief on a large scale.

It is feared a run on that bank will develop tomorrow morning. The cabinet and reparations committee, it is understood debated whether it might not be advisable to close the bank's doors tomorrow morning to prevent such a run, if no adequate relief measure were by then decided upon.

MANIAC KILLS TWO PATIENTS

Inmates of Insane Asylum Beaten to Death

EL PASO, Texas, July 12. (AP)—Two patients in the insanity ward of Liberty hospital, Juarez, were beaten to death with an iron pipe by another inmate today. The slayer died several hours later.

The dead are Martin Campuzano, 22, and Jose Cuellar, 23, and Eutimio Lovato, 22. They had been confined in cells which opened upon a patio, or court yard. None had been believed violently insane.

About 4 a. m. screams from the ward attracted the attention of hospital attendants. Rushing to the scene, the latter found Campuzano's body in the patio, the skull beaten to a pulp. In a cell they came upon Cuellar's body with the head likewise crushed and Lovato bending over it. Nearby was a one and one-half inch iron pipe.

When five attendants were unable to subdue Lovato, they called police, and Lovato was wounded in the leg before he could be overpowered. He was placed in a straight jacket and a padded cell while two physicians attended him.

CRASH AT CHICAGO

Bailes Held Speed Record And Medal for Heroism In Air Service

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—Two noted fliers—Chester R. Bailes, 32, of Wichita Falls and William R. Warren, 32, of San Antonio, Texas—were burned to death in a sensational airplane blaze here today which destroyed a giant Lockheed-Vega craft.

Fire flamed suddenly out of the wing gasoline tanks as 125 gallons of fuel blazed around the two men, strapped in their cockpits while near the Municipal airport.

AIRSHIP WRECKED

KANSAS CITY, July 12. (AP)—At least two persons, the pilot and co-pilot, were burned today when the Goodyear-Zeppelin airship Mayflower of Akron, Ohio, was destroyed after being blown by a wind and rain storm into high tension electric wires at the Kansas City airport.

Capt. C. E. Brannigan, 35, Akron, Ohio, the pilot, was dangerously burned and physicians said he might not live. R. H. Hobenfack, co-pilot, was less seriously burned.

Hobenfack, who was able to talk from his hospital bed, said the airship, moored at the port, weathered the first storm shortly after 6:30 o'clock but was blown into the wires by the second gust of wind and rain.

Plane Ordered Returned

The hand of fate saved the lives of two others, who would have been passengers but for a peculiar accident.

The new $20,000 vessel had been wheeled out of its hangar this morning for a return flight to Kansas City, where it had been borrowed by the Braniff Airways, Inc. from the Detroit Aircraft company, when an incoming Century Airlines plane clipped the big all-metal ship with its wing, damaging the body fabric, but causing no structural injury, apparently.

While the damage was being repaired, the executives of Braniff Airways, Inc. ordered Bailes, its pilot, to cancel the trip and take the plane back to Detroit.

The two passengers had to forego their journey.

Held Speed Record

On hearing of the change in plans, Warren, who flies the Chicago-Detroit-Toledo route for the Century Air Lines, asked Bailes for a ride to Detroit. His request proved fateful. When the plane took off at 1 o'clock this afternoon, it took a nose dive, and burst into flames immediately after the crash. By the time the fire was extinguished, the vessel was a mass of molten metal.

Bailes had set a speed record for passenger service between Kansas City and Chicago on May 18.

Warren was the hero of a forced landing in a snowstorm March 19, near South Bend, Ind., when his skill saved the lives of 10 passengers. Both bodies were charred in the fire.

Bailes and Warren met today for the first time in two years. They were fellow pilots for the old Universal lines in San Antonio, two years ago. Later, when Bailes was told to fly the plane back to Detroit, he picked up Warren for a passenger.

Men Pinned in Ship

The plane was a complete wreck. The force of the crash was so great that the motor was shoved behind the cockpit. Bailes' body was found astride the motor.

One witness, Frank S. Kimen, said he could see the two men pinioned in the ship after it crashed and caught fire.

G. W. Beam, a Century lines, pilot, who watched the plane take off and then crack up, said the "ship got into the air nicely," then, he heard the motor sputter and cough.

"I saw Bailes swing into an abrupt bank for a turn back to the airport. When 60 feet from the ground the nose dipped and

BAILES TRAINED AS PILOT HERE

Chester R. Bailes, 32, pilot for the Braniff Airways who was burned to death with William R. Warren, Century pilot, at Chicago Sunday when the plane he was flying crashed and burst into flames, was a former resident of Wichita Falls and was the son of Mrs. R. L. Sandeford, 1519 Twelfth street here.

Bailes learned to fly in Wichita Falls in 1926 and since that time had attained note as a pilot.

Resident Here 16 Years

He had been a resident of Wichita Falls for about 16 years, residing here during the entire time until his transfer to Kansas City in April, with the exception of short intervals. He was graduated from the high school here, later attended the University of Texas for two years, after which he became associated with the Texhoma Refining company here in 1922 in the engineering department. He remained with the company, later known as the Continental Oil company, until 1927.

He had been a licensed pilot for several years when, in 1927, he became manager of the municipal airport here during its operation by the late L. P. (Pink) Hammond. Shortly after the original line of the Braniff Airways was inaugurated through Wichita Falls and he became a pilot for that company. Later, when that line was discontinued he flew a passenger plane through here on the schedule of the Universal Airlines, which operated through Wichita Falls from the summer of 1929 to March, 1930.

For a brief period he then flew for the Southwest Air Fast Express on the Midland-Sweetwater branch. He became chief pilot for the Braniff Airways when that concern reorganized and inaugurated a Tulsa-Wichita Falls service last October. When that company discontinued the line through here in April and moved its planes to service the East, Bailes was transferred to Kansas City.

Heroism Award

He was awarded the Chicago Tribune heroism award in June, 1930, when he returned a party of injured oil men to a San Angelo hospital from a desolate spot near the Mexico line. Bailes took off from the San Angelo port and at great risk to himself and his plane succeeded in landing his ship at night, and after placing the injured men in his plane, took off in the dark, returning to the San Angelo hospital.

He again became prominent in aviation circles when, on May 18, he set a speed record for passenger service between Kansas City and Chicago.

He was married in 1921 to Miss Frances Hackbusch. In addition to his widow and his mother here, survivors are two small daughters, Patsy Sue and Marian Ruth, and two brothers, Fred Bailes of Dallas and Ernest J. Bailes of Cold Springs, Texas.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Sunday night, it was said here. Fred Bailes was en route to Kansas City Sunday, after receiving word of the accident, and from there will probably proceed to Chicago.

Motor Failure

The accident that took Bailes' life was caused apparently by a motor failure, airport attaches who saw the crash said, according to Associated Press dispatches. They said Bailes had got the ship up about 700 feet when the motor quit and that he tried to bank and return to the field, but had neither speed nor sufficient altitude. As the plane turned, the dispatches said, it slid off to the right and crashed at high speed to the ground. A terrific explosion followed, the plane burst into flames, making rescue impossible.

EARLIER COLLISION MAY HAVE CAUSED CRASH

KANSAS CITY, July 12. (AP)—Paul Braniff, head of the Braniff Airways here, said today reports of the crash of an airplane today in Chicago killing Chester Bailes, Braniff Airways' chief pilot and William Warren, indicated a previous minor accident might have led to the motor failure which is said to have caused the accident.

Braniff said Bailes called him over long distance telephone this morning, reporting the ship was damaged a short time previous when an airplane of the Century Air Lines taxied into it. Bailes told the company head that the cowling over the motor and one wing were damaged and was told by Braniff to fly the ship to Detroit for repairs if it could be repaired enough for that.

The passengers who were in the plane ready for the trip to Kansas City were not hurt when the Century plane hit it, Braniff said, and the flight was cancelled for the day because no other plane was available.

More than 3,000 hours of flying, beginning in 1925, were listed on Bailes' air log in company records here. He has been with the Braniff lines since 1928 and has been chief pilot since last November.

Germany Fights To Avert Ruin

note, received within the past few hours, replied to Germany's plea that Hoover intervene in an effort to reach a compromise on the "humiliating" political concessions demanded by France for participation in a huge international loan.

The denials of Washington dispatches to the contrary, it is still insisted here that "President Hoover's attention has been again emphatically called to the situation."

Such a loan, the German government believes, is its only hope.

Washington's note is being interrupted as America's advice to the Germans to make peace with France before American bankers will consider putting several hundred millions more of American money into Germany.

Germany Isolated

This interpretation is supported, even emphasized by private advices from Wall street through financial channels, urging an understanding with France as the only means of obtaining the enormous credits necessary to save the reich from collapse.

Germany now finds herself completely isolated. France's marvelous tactics, backed by her gold and military power, have won again.

The French not only have Germany on her knees, but they have out-maneuvered America and Britain no less. Willingly, or unwillingly, American and Britain have been maneuvered into a position alongside France, and will help Germany only if she accedes to the French political demands.

LONDON GLOOMY OVER PROSPECTS

LONDON, July 12. (US)—With Germany's zero hour less than three days distant and no word received here from France that she will follow Great Britain's led in not demanding the reparations payment due, the official feeling here today was that it might have been better had President Hoover never proposed the moratorium.

The mounting pessimistic belief is that France's acceptance of the moratorium "in principle" before next Wednesday will be construed as no acceptance whatsoever, and that France will demand what Premier Laval calls her "sacred reparations." France is expected to back this demand with the argument that her acceptance of the moratorium proposal does not become operative until the meeting of experts who are to "implement" the moratorium to her liking.

In the precious hours intervening, the Quai D'Orsay is holding this sphinx-like attitude as a club over Germany, both from Paris and Basle, in an effort to enforce her demands regarding the "vest pocket" cruiser and the Austro-German customs union.

The belief here is that, if France at the last minute grudgingly admits that the moratorium is actually in existence, it will only be because she has failed and to save her face.

There is a quiet satisfaction in official circles in the appointment of Hugh Gibson, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, as the American observer at Friday's gathering of experts because he knows the reparation question and the devious methods of French diplomacy.

Lawton Negress Dies Of Crash Injuries Here

Japan Woods, Lawton negress who was struck by an automobile driver here July 4, died at a hospital here early Sunday morning as a result of injuries sustained in the accident.

Will C. Barbe, Waurika, Okla., is under an indictment returned Thursday by the July grand jury on charges of failure to stop and render aid after an accident, in connection with the case. The negress was riding in an automobile with Mack Osborne, Wichita Falls negro, when the collision occurred with Barbe's machine at Fourteenth and Holliday streets.

Monroe Street Home Wrecked in Blaze

Damage estimated at $2,000 was caused by fire Sunday night to the home of D. Fisch, 1209 Monroe street, according to Grover Habern, assistant fire chief.

Origin of the blaze was undetermined, although indications were that the fire started in a rear bedroom. Several of the six rooms of the home were wrecked by the flames and water damage. More loss was sustained to furniture than to the structure, Mr. Habern said.

Members of the family were away at the time.

way more than 2,000 yards and made a perfect takeoff.

The plane, a Stinson make with a 425 horsepower Wasp motor, disappeared within a few minutes.

It carried 575 gallons of gasoline in five tanks, three in the fuselage and one in each wing, and 24 in small cans holding 2½ gallons each.

The pilots said they expected to reach Mexico City in 20 to 22 hours flying by way of Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans and then skirting the Gulf of Mexico to Tampica, Pass where they said they would climb to an altitude of 10,500 feet to get over the mountains before reaching the Mexican capital. They charted an air line course of about 2,300 miles to Mexico City where they expected to rest for 12 hours before starting on the return flight.

Maloney, who is 23, holds a transport license. Yerrington, who is 26 says he has been flying since 1924, but does not hold a transport license.

The plane painted black, carried no radio.

LAURA INGALLS HEADS FOR PARIS

BURBANK, Calif., July 12. (AP)—Laura Ingalls, diminutive but highly capable in the air, winged eastward from the United airport here at 5:25 a. m. today, envisioning herself as the first woman to make a solo flight over the great circle route from New York to Paris.

The takeoff, originally set for 3 a. m. was delayed by fog. She expected to land at Wichita, Kan., for refueling.

"I am seeking no transcontinental record," she said. "I will conserve myself and my plane on my flight to New York, with every thought centered in the transatlantic flight. I want to take off from Roosevelt field as soon as weather conditions permit."

Her Lockheed airplane was followed by a Gypsy Moth bearing the two mechanics who will condition her ship for the ocean flight. The Lockheed has a gasoline capacity of 671 gallons, but it left Burbank with but 300 gallons.

Miss Ingalls' plans were made after an accident halted the Paris solo flight attempt of Ruth Nichols, leaving Miss Ingalls the only woman flier with transatlantic intentions.

FRENCH AIRMEN HOP TO TOKYO

MOSCOW, July 12. (US)—Joseph Lebrix and Marcel Doret piloted their non-stop long distance record seeking plane, the Hyphen, over Moscow at 7:30 p. m. tonight (1:30 p. m. eastern daylight time).

The Hyphen was then 13 hours and 45 minutes en route on its 6,000 mile hop from Paris to Tokyo, which the airmen hope to make in 62 hours.

The weather was crystal clear as the Hyphen roared out of the west to disappear a few minutes later over the eastern horizon, headed toward Nijni-Novgorod and the Siberian wastelands beyond.

Oklahoma Mills Grind Whole Wheat Flour in Exchange for Grain

FREDERICK, Okla., July 12.—Because of the large yield of wheat in this locality and the low price an unusual amount will be stored for a higher price or used for feed for poultry, stock and family, Mrs. Susan B. Gray, home demonstration agent, urges that it be ground into whole wheat flour which is not only palatable but more healthful than white bread or white flour. Continuing she says:

"None of the roughage is lost in the bolting as in white flour and all of the vitamins and minerals are saved as the whole grain is ground and utilized.

"Men who have had enough experience to give them authority say it would be unwise to have a large quantity of wheat ground now, as flour kept through the summer often has weevils in it. However, small amounts can be ground for home use.

"The Altus Flour mill has an exchange where three bushels of wheat are exchanged for 100 pounds of flour and the cost of the sacks. If a barrel or 200 pounds is taken, a charge of 25 cents is made for the barrel. If a large quantity of wheat is taken to the mill a credit slip may be secured and only as much flour as needed may be had for the time being.

"Mr. Barry in the Spring Valley neighborhood, near Grandfield, has a mill and grounds whole wheat flour each Friday.

"The Northwestern Elevator in Frederick has agreed to grind whole wheat flour each Wednesday beginning July 15. A charge of 10 cents a hundred will be made for grinding and wheat will be on hand for sale at this place. This wheat is cleaned four times in a double cleaner and can be depended on as a sanitary food. It is run through a double hammer mill and screened.

"There are some small mills in the county owned by individuals that grind wheat."

Mrs. Gray has furnished recipes for whole wheat yeast bread, whole wheat biscuits, whole wheat muffins, sour milk muffins and wheat as a cereal.

Two Fire Companies Are Called to Squelch Blaze at Stand

A blazing peanut and popcorn cart in the 800 block on Indiana avenue resulted in a fast run of fire equipment from two companies to the heart of the business section shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday night.

Waste oil from the popcorn cart caused the blaze, according to fire officials. The flames were extinguished practically before any damage was caused.

Several grass fires resulted in alarms being turned in during the day, it was said.

UTILITY TO BUILD LINE

Power Provided for Lockett, Rayland and Thalia

Special to The Record News.

VERNON Texas, July 12.—Actual construction of a twenty-mile electric power line, carrying 13,000 volts, will be started within the next ten or fifteen days by the West Texas Utilities company, the line to extend from a point six miles south of Vernon, westward to Lockett in Wilbarger county and thence to Rayland and Thalia, in Foard county, according to R. M. Fielder, local manager of the West Texas Utilities company.

Surveying of the line has been in progress for several days. Completion of the whole project is expected within 30 or 40 days, Fielder said, and the cost is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000. Only local labor will be used.

The new line will serve many patrons of the rural territory through which it passes, besides providing service for Lockett, Rayland and Thalia, Mr. Fielder announced.

Nine Prisoners Escape Lubbock City Jail

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 12. (AP)—Nine prisoners, all charged with felony offenses, escaped from the city jail here last night by sawing out two window bars.

The wholesale delivery was not discovered until this afternoon when the mother of one of the inmates called at the jail to see him.

Eleven other prisoners refused to make the break. Those remaining said nine of the men affected their escape between 11 and 12 o'clock last night. They said Cecil P. Lebow, 20, under a two-year sentence from Hale county, and awaiting trial on theft charges here, engineered the delivery.

come. There are many aspects about the organization of our state government which appear "archaic, ridiculous and absurd and a farce and a travesty" as Mr. Francis said. If the people are complacent under this kind of government they will deserve the imposition.

Wichita Falls oil men in an advertisement in Sunday's Times ask the people of Northwest Texas to join in support of a conservation law that will help stabilize a declining industry. As has been pointed out heretofore, every school district and every citizen of Texas is affected by the stability of the oil industry. If it goes down then all of us will suffer whether we have a dime invested in the oil business or not.

A bumper crop of cantaloupes is in prospect on approximately 150 acres grown by the Witchita Valley Cantaloupe Growers association. The cantaloupes are expected to be ready for shipment in about 10 days. Arrangements have been made for their marketing in the mid-west.

The Wichita Valley Cantaloupe Growers association is a cooperative organization sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. One variety of cantaloupe is grown by the members of this association. The cantaloupes are graded and crated and shipped and marketed through one agency.

It has long been known that cantaloupes of superior quality and flavor could be grown in this section. A disastrous experience in marketing a number of years ago put a damper on extensive cantaloupe growing here but with better knowledge of market demands and the cooperation of growers through a single agency the association which has been in existence for several years has been making progress with a prospect of profitable operations this season.

by lawmakers arriving here Sunday for the legislature's special session Tuesday.

The Rosser-Collett group of independent oil producers reputedly helped by attorney's for major companies, have drafted the first oil conservation bill to be disclosed. Some of the members here Sunday had been shown its preliminary draft.

This bill rejects Governor Sterling's plan for a separate commission, transferring present oil and gas bureaus to the independent appointive agency.

It puts added power into oil and gas regulations, but it leaves the railroad commission in charge.

In that form, it follows closely the Howsley regular session bill offered after the separate commission plan had died.

Other groups of independent oil men including that headed by Tom Cranfill will be here Monday and were to be called into consultation, shown the new Rosser-Collett bill and invited to join in supporting it.

Carl Estes, Tyler, former leading opponent of proration reached Austin Sunday favoring a new conservation board.

Representative Joe P. Hatchitt, Wichita Falls, said the people of Wichita county want a conservation measure, and that he will approach proposed bills with open mind.

Senators Clint Small and Pink Parrish arrived from the Panhandle and Plains.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN THE ADVERTISING SECTION

WHEN A WOMAN is called "gifted" at cooking, you'll probably find that she owes a good deal to her reading of advertisements.

For it's through the advertisements that the clever housewife discovers the tested — and trusted — food products which assure the success of her dishes. And it's through the advertisements that she discovers the many convenient and dependable appliances which make her kitchen tasks so much more simple.

She has found that advertised products will never disappoint her. She can always count upon them for unvarying quality, no matter when or where she buys them.

In fact, the wise hostess is always willing to stake her reputation on the trade-marked advertised product. For a responsible manufacturer has staked his name upon that product first!

Read the advertisements. They are full of vital, dependable buying news.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas university (main institution Austin) ranks 14th among the major universities of the United States in attendance with an enrollment (1930) of 5,970, including the medical department at Galveston (386) and the School of Mines at El Paso (616).

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Wheat—of which Texas is making the biggest crop in its history with production estimates ranging from 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels—is so far being largely stored on the farms that produced it, and relatively little of it sold at prevailing prices. Of the 15,000,000 bushels thrashed at the time in the Panhandle section, it was estimated that 10,000,000 have been stored in farm granaries. Denton county, typical of the wheat-growing section of North Texas, where relatively small crops have been grown for several years, is thrashing around a million and a quarter bushels of wheat and more than 4,000,000 bushels of oats this year. No accurate production estimate of oats is yet available, but scattered reports indicate that this crop, too, will set a new Texas production record this year. In 1930 Texas made 28,270,000 bushels of wheat and 43,176,000 bushels of oats, and some observers believe the percentage of increase in wheat will be materially exceeded by that shown by the oat crop.

33 Towns Enroll In West Okla. C-C

Special to The Record News.

SAYRE, Okla., July 12.—Advice has been received that the Chamber of Commerce of Alva, in the extreme northern part, and Frederick, in the extreme southern part of Oklahoma, voted to take membership in the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce, bringing the number of organizations that have affiliated with the organization to 33. Announcements from other Chambers of Commerce that have called meetings to consider affiliation are expected early next week.

A number of towns in Western Oklahoma are availing themselves of the assistance of the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce in harmonizing conflicting road problems, and in almost every case, the difficulties between rival communities have been amicably adjusted.

Robbers Carry Off Ice Company's Steel Desk

QUANAH, Texas, July 12.—The uptown ice station of the West Texas Utilities company was broken into and a steel desk containing about $30 was carried away. The desk was later found in the southwest part of town, but the money was gone and officers have no trace of the thieves.

This ice station is located at the corner of Fourth and Mercer, opposite the courthouse and Quanah hospital. W. O. Wallace, district manager of West Texas Utilities company, stated the robbery was committed after 10 o'clock at night, as the station is kept open until about that time.

Wives of Aviators

LIEUTENANT JIMMY DOOLITTLE'S remark that "Mrs. Doolittle has made up our mind that the time has come to give up racing" calls attention to a figure that is too often overlooked—the wife of the aviation hero.

Her job, one imagines, is no sinecure. To stay on the ground and watch your husband risking his neck in the clouds, day after day, can hardly be conductive to contented sleep or an unworried disposition. To read in the newspapers of his narrow escapes from death can hardly be soothing. To wait anxiously while he tries to fly across the Atlantic or over the mountains of Alaska cannot be the easiest of assignments.

But that is just what the wives of famous aviators have to do; and the wonder is that more besides Mrs. Doolittle have not taken the same stand she took.

For the ordinary commercial pilot things are a bit different. His job is not as hazardous as the non-flying public imagines, and the risks that go with it are the kind that can be accepted with equanimity.

But the stunter—the ocean flyer, the racer, the endurance-flight expert—is in a different class. No one who saw Jimmy Doolittle at the national air races two years ago, when the wings came off his plane and he saved his life only by using his parachute, can doubt that such men do flirt with death frequently. And is it to be wondered at if wives now and then decide that that sort of thing has gone on long enough?

Mrs. Doolittle has pulled her famous husband out of the races. It is very probable that she has, thereby, lengthened his life. A whole nation of wives will understand her attitude and will commend her.

Personal Journalism

THE decline of "personal journalism" is a phenomenon that students of American newspapers have repeatedly commented on in recent years. In the old days a newspaper would jump into a political campaign with all four feet, calling its opponents all kinds of infamous scoundrels. Today it is usually much more urbane, ready to admit that the man it is opposing may have at least one or two redeeming qualities in private life.

But personal journalism is not entirely extinct. A prominent Mississippi daily recently proved it by carrying a front page editorial assailing a gubernatorial candidate as "a malicious liar" and declaring, in describing one of his political rallies, that "not even his ancient jokes or cheap witticisms could evoke a smile from his audience."

Judged by the standards of half a century ago, that is very mild; but it smacks of the old days, nevertheless, and in an era of powder-puff hitters it is somehow refreshing to read.

A Mistaken Move

CORPORAL punishment for convicts at the Colorado state penitentiary has been revived recently, according to a current United Press dispatch, because penitentiary officials "have become desperate due to the increasing spirit of rebellion among the convicts."

If this is the case, the prison officials seem to have lost their heads in their desperation. Trying to flog the spirit of rebellion out of a convict is an extremely risky proposition. You may succeed, if you flog hard enough; but if you fail, you have only added several gallons of oil to the flame you were trying to quench.

It might be remembered, too, that none of the prisons where riots have occurred in the last few years was ever noted as a place where trouble arose from an excess of humanity on the part of the officials. The iron hand was in force at every one of those places—and it didn't, somehow, prevent serious trouble.

Snake Bites and Whisky

EXPERTS assigned to the subject by the American Association for the Advancement of Science have reported, after due study, that whisky is not, after all, a cure for snake bite.

"The use of alcohol," they recently asserted, "is generally conceded to be useless if not actually harmful in cases of snake bite, especially if given in excessive quantities."

Thus another hoary tradition bites the dust. It is a question, however, just how much effect the pronouncement will have. The number of snake bites in America each year is extremely small; but the number of campers who insist on taking plenty of "remedy" along with them is large, and probably will remain so, no matter what science has to say about it.

Because, I suspect, he loves nice things . . . As who doesn't?

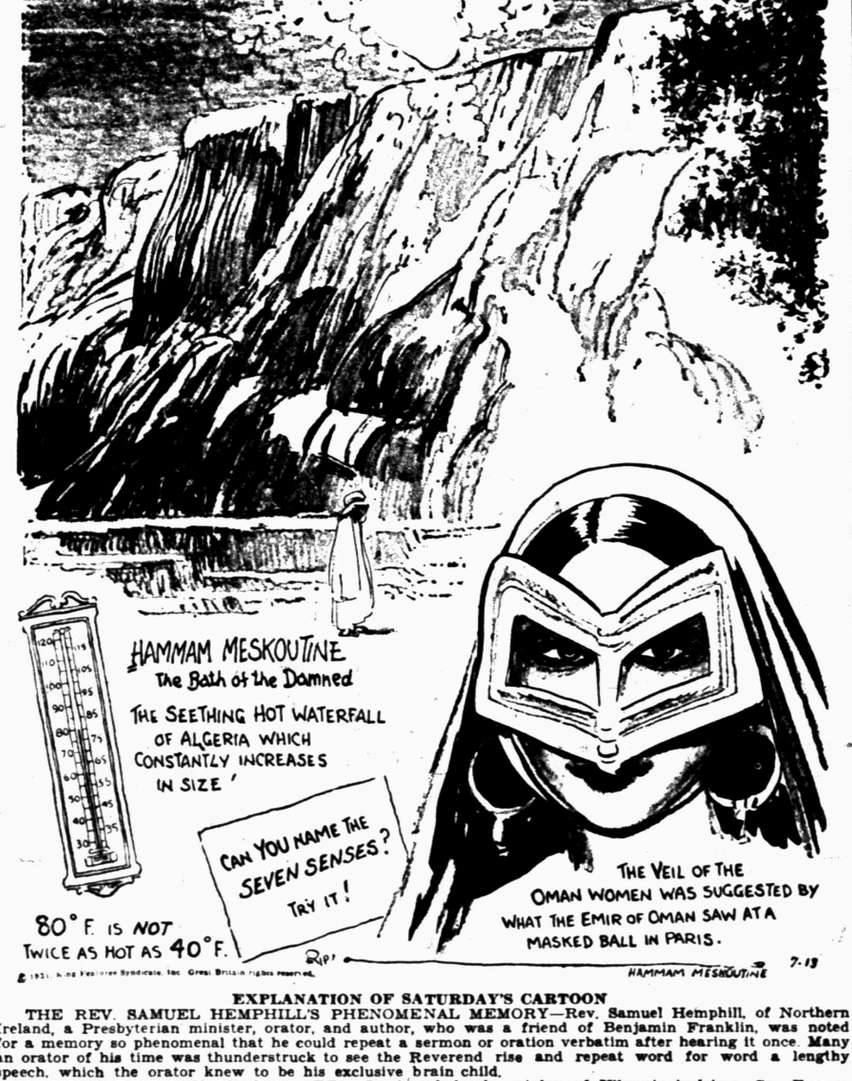

There is a kick in sitting along the sidelines—watching the tots with merit "come up" . . . That Rita White girl at the Calais, frixample . . . She's "hot" . . . Needs tuition, of course, and poise, but she excites you with her Louis-Armstrong delivery . . . Ed Wynn was asking me about her for his new show . . . Wonder if he went to look her over . . . I see Al Segal up there a lot . . . Maybe he will Ethel-Merman her—teach her the rhythm he got from Bee Palmer, his one-time mate on and all the stage . . . Merman was a stenographer a few years ago . . . Then an ordinary imitator of Libby Holman—until Mr. S. happened on the scene and taught her rhythm . . . Now looka! . . . Broadway certainly looked more like the Main Artery in Oskaloosa during the holiday week-end . . . I never dreamed the Playground of the World could be so lonely . . . I couldn't even run into a person I dislike! . . . The horror of it! . . . The numerous panhandlers helped break the spell a little . . . Even the sin-spots were closed . . . There wasn't a cop in sight to sass you for passing a light . . . Yes, indeedy—New York! . . . It must be worse, though, being a stranger . . . Gahd!—if I were a drinking man—I'd have gone out and got good and drunk—which is exactly what I did.

To hear Erskine Gosling, of the staff, who is a reporter with exceptional talent, explain it—the inside on the Farce At Reno is readable, but libelous . . . It appears that the husband has been trying to shelve the frau, anyhow . . . His kin, who give him an allowance of several thousands monthly, were strenuously opposed to her from the beginning . . . Their love-life has been unexciting—and the tiffing has curdled his nerves . . . The tribe had warned him that if his marital relations made the front pages of the newspapers again—he would be cut off . . . Therefore, in order to rid himself of his wife, and remain in good standing with his relatives, he chose the stand of the wronged husband . . . A good, red-blooded American musn't put up with a "faithless" squaw . . . Hence, the divorce action—and now the tribe cannot legitimately groan . . . Theodore Parker called a happy wedlock—a long falling in love . . . Goethe argued that marriage is the beginning and end of culture; that it makes the savage mild . . . And nearly everyone in town knows of the beautiful widow who was in such haste to marry again, she fanned her husband's grave to make it dry quickly.

I liked that piece by Ben De Casseres in the July Bookman . . . He Socko-analyzes some of the Yankee men of Letters, and summed up Heywood Broun with: ". . . he is altogether, then, a great American Public Servant, eternally sounding the slogan of Robert Benchley: Service, not Self!" . . . They were saying of him only the other night how a psychoanalyist studied him . . . The expert explained to Borun why he went in for Crusading so much . . . "You just can't stand seeing the little fellow get the worst of it," he was told . . . How true that is of Broun . . . There was the time a good friend abused a little chap at a party . . . The little guy was smacked about a bit, and Broun got very moody over the one-sided bout . . . He quarreled with his heavyweight friend, too, telling him he was yellow for striking a chap not his size . . . Then Broun went home, where he tossed in bed thinking about the outrage . . . Until he decided to get dressed again, and go and square things . . . So he dashed over to his bully friend and punched him in the nose, saying: "Now I feel better—although I know you can lick me" . . . The pal socked Broun, sending him away with a black eye . . . And the next day they made up . . . "I simply had to hit you for hitting the boy," Broun explained . . . Yes, indeedy—crusading—another form of suicide.

That shop-keeper in the 50's probably doesn't let his tiny son do it for the attraction it is . . . But it is a swelegent crowd-enticer . . . His little boy, about three years of age, plays in the shop-window—entirely peeled . . . And the crowds collect and titter . . . A better ad is the one the drug store at 55th Street and 6th Avenue features . . . To place is on the same block as Mr. Ziegfeld's House of All Nations—and the darlings, as they are mockingly called, patronize the spot between scenes in the "Follies," to quench their thirsts . . . They dash in and out of it in their rompers, pajamas, costumes or negligees—while sons and other women's husbands stand and gape . . . Ask for autographs, photographs, phone numbers and dates . . . Won't the collitch boys in New Haven love to know that . . . I see Guy Loomis, the last of the Better Spenders is back . . . After so many months in Havana . . . He is the florist's, the night club's and the jeweler's Ace In The Hole . . . You knew instinctively that he'd be back—now that the prettiest girls are . . . Balzac thought the beauty of a woman's shoulders is the last to leave her . . . And Georges Sand thought it not desirable that a young girl grow good looking too early . . . The only irritating thing about a beautiful girl is that, invariably, she knows she is.

EXPLANATION OF SATURDAY'S CARTOON

THE REV. SAMUEL HEMPHILL'S PHENOMENAL MEMORY—Rev. Samuel Hemphill, of Northern Ireland, a Presbyterian minister, orator, and author, who was a friend of Benjamin Franklin, was noted for a memory so phenomenal that he could repeat a sermon or oration verbatim after hearing it once. Many an orator of his time was thunderstruck to see the Reverend rise and repeat word for word a lengthy speech, which the orator knew to be his exclusive brain child.

HIGH COST OF REX BEGONIA SEED—In the wholesale catalog of Vilmorin-Andrieux Co., France, (1931) Rex Begonia seed, mixed, is listed at $28.50 per 1-32 of an ounce (54,000 seeds). At this rate one pound would cost $14,592.

Tomorrow: "The whistler that caused a runaway 3,500 miles away."

Sally Blair succeeds in her ambitious plan for her future when she wins the love of and becomes engaged to Harvey Davidson, though she is in love with Peter Douglas. She goes for one last ride with Peter before he marries Davidson's daughter, Linda. In a mad moment, Peter crashes the car and is taken to the hospital unconscious. The Davidsons go away for the holidays. Both weddings are postponed. Sally stays with Mrs. Douglas and tries to comfort her although it was her scheming that kept Peter and Sally from marrying and brought about his engagement to Linda. Dr. Randolph tells Sally that Peter does not seem to want to live. Sally gains the doctor's reluctant consent to see Peter.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER XLIV

The brown eyes looked at her blanky at first, then closed again wearily.

"Peter—" Sally whispered once more.

"Don't excite the patient, Miss Blair," the nurse warned. She was hovering very near the bed and watching Sally guardedly. "Perhaps you'd better leave."

Leave now?' Before Peter had recognized her? If he'd only open his eyes, speak to her, see her. Tears were trembling on her eyelashes, dropping down on the white hand on the bed.

Then the pale lips moved. Sally had to bend down to hear what they said.

"Is that you, Sally? It can't be—"

"Please don't excite Mr. Douglas," the nurse said a little louder than before.

"I'd like to speak—to Miss Blair alone," Peter speaking, weakly, difficultly. "If you'll leave—" He was looking at the nurse who was standing above him.

"I can't leave, Mr. Douglas. Doctor——"

The voice grew stronger. "I must speak to Miss Blair—alone."

The nurse glanced from Peter who lay again with his eyes shut to Sally who was smoothing his hand tenderly. "Well," she said hesitantly, "all right, but I'll be outside the door, and I want you to call me if—if Mr. Douglas needs me, Miss Blair."

Sally promised with a nod of her head, and the door closed silently after the nurse.

"You Must Get Well"

"Is she gone?" Peter asked slowly.

"Yes—" and she leaned over and kissed his lips, then his cheek.

"Why did you do that Sally?" The eyes turned toward her questioningly.

"Because—I wanted to."

"Where did you go that night—you know what I mean, Sally? I've racked my brains trying to think what happened to you—"

"As soon as help came, I hid—"

"I asked about you when I came to, and the nurse, Miss Glosser, thought I was still delirious. There was nobody in the car with me, she said. So I've worried and worried—Were you—hurt?"

"A little, not much. I'm fine now."

"I'm sorry, Sally, I was crazy that night. I might have prevented it . . ."

"I know. But don't think of it now, Peter." White inside the room, and white outside, too, the snow falling faster and faster, clinging to the glass of the window, resting on the sill in a soft even mound.

"You'll believe I'm sorry?"

"Of course. And you must get well now, Peter. You must. If you'd only try!"

"What's the use? I've no one to live for—"

"There's your mother—"

"Mother will be provided for. I've some insurance—Why did you run away that night, Sally?"

"When I found you were hurt, I—I thought it would be better for you if I could get away. With the wedding and everything—"

"Kiss me again, dear—" Sally kissed him again and again and again.

"You do love me, don't you?"

Plans Are Made

"Yes, I always have." How quiet it was during the silences! Only the fall of the snow, a muffled indistinct sound. The room seemed so far away from the noises of the city.

"If I thought I could have you—that you'd marry me, I might try, Sally. I might want to get well! That was why that night I— Oh, I was so sick of it all. Linda, the whole crowd, knowing I had to marry her when I didn't want to. Mother was bound I'd marry her. I see now. And you—you didn't want me, either."

"I'll marry you, Peter, as soon as you get better."

There! She had told him. It was done.

"We'll be terribly poor—I hate to think of it. For I'll lose my job, and I'll be in debt up to my ears with all this sickness—you won't mind that, Sally?"

"I won't mind anything so long as you get well. That's all I want." In her purse was the ring Davidson had given her. She carried it around with her, because coming back and forth from her apartment to the Douglas place, she was afraid to leave it in its box at home. She thought of it now with a twinge of conscience.

"I'll have to start over again—it won't be easy," Peter was whispering. "I told you that night I didn't love Linda. I never loved her. I let myself be blindly led into it all, when I wanted you—"

Although neither Sally nor Peter noticed, the door had opened silently, and Miss Glosser was in the room, standing by the bed.

"I'm afraid you'll have to go, Miss Blair." Sally started, and flushed. How much had Miss Glosser heard?

"Kiss me again, before you go, and come tomorrow, will you?" Peter was saying. Sally kissed him, and then walked quietly to the door. Miss Glosser followed her, looking at her queerly, the girl thought.

"You've Worked Wonders"

In the hall, she sat down, and looked out of the window, seeing not the snow, but Peter lying in his bed. Peter's brown eyes, pain racked, Peter's hands, so thin and white.

"The phone, Miss Blair." A floor nurse was calling her. The call was from Mrs. Douglas, who said that Mr. Davidson and Linda had left by plane and would be in New York that night. How was Peter? Sally told her that Peter seemed better, but that she was going to stay on in the corridor.

When she was seated again, leaning back in the chair, every nerve in her body conscious that Peter was close by, Doctor Randolph came over to her.

"You worked wonders with the lad, Miss Blair. I just looked in. Miss Glosser was all upset because you had stayed so long. Douglas is much better. He seems to have a grip on himself now."

The doctor didn't seem such an automaton now. He was nearly human, and his eyes were twinkling as he patted her on the shoulder. They were blue eyes, and Sally was reminded of Ann. She always though of her when she saw blue eyes.

"We needn't have sent for Linda Davidson after all. But I thought Douglas," the doctor went on, "was blue and low because she had gone away."

Five o'clock, six, seven. At eight, the night nurse came from Peter's room, and told the girl that her patient was sleeping quietly. She seemed elated. At ten, Sally had to leave, because the lights in the corridor were turned low.

She was tired when she finally reached the Douglas apartment, and found Peter's mother waiting for her, a cup of steaming broth heating in the kitchen.

"I thought you'd be cold," Mrs. Douglas explained.

Sally Is Afraid

Sally thanked her. Would Mrs. Douglas be as thoughtful, as kind, if she told her that she had promised to marry Peter that afternoon? Would her eyes have lighted up when she came in as they had, if she knew? Would she say, as she had when Sally was sipping the broth, that she was such a comfort to her?

Wearily she put down the empty cup, and sat looking at the coal fire burning in the grate. A prim fire, because Mrs. Douglas didn't like logs. A fire that was blue at the heart, and glowing faintly red about the blue.

Linda was coming tonight—Somehow Linda would have to be told. But who was there to tell her that Peter was going to marry Sally, not her? Surely not Peter, because he was too ill. His mother? Sally wavered for a moment. Should she tell her now, while they were friendly? Companionable. No, she'd let it wait until morning.

This mother of Peter's—she'd have to live with her after all. Well, she had been very nice lately. Nicer than Sally had ever thought she could be. For more than a week they had been together constantly, with never a word of disagreement.

Into her thoughts of Peter's mother, crept the image of Harvey Davidson. Davidson as he had been that evening at his private flat, Davidson bending over her kissing her hair, lifting her fingers to his lips, gently, reverently. Davidson telling her he loved her, telling her so desperately that he wanted to be happy, and she could make him happy, if she wanted to. Davidson, the plaintive boy, not the successful business man. Davidson pouring out his soul to her.

How could she tell him? She had to. But how?

Linda Returns

More than ever, now, she wanted to blot out that night of her life, that hot June night, when she had decided on her career of office climbing. When she had told herself, and Ann, too, that she was going cold-bloodedly ahead to get the things she wanted. That nothing was going to interfere, love least of all, Ann had warned her, but she hadn't listened.

Ann had died for her love. And she, she had nearly lost hers through her blindness, through her ambition, through the stubbornness she had inherited from her Aunt Martha. Whatever happened now, she was going to have Peter.

After midnight when she was in Peter's room, which she used when she spent the night with Mrs. Douglas, the phone rang. Sally went to answer it because Mrs. Douglas was asleep. Always the fear when the phone rang that it was the hospital calling about Peter. That he was worse. . . . The bell sent a shiver of terror through her, and her fingers were unsteady as she picked up the receiver.

"Hello, who is this?"

"Sally Blair—" Already Sally had recognized the voice. It was Linda. "Linda Davidson speaking. Is Mrs. Douglas there?"

"She's asleep—" What did Linda want? She must have returned for her voice sounded very close.

"Never mind. Just wanted to tell her we'd come home. I called the hospital, and Peter is better. Grand, isn't it? Oh, yes, tell Mrs. Douglas in the morning that I've decided to marry Peter at noon tomorrow at the hospital—"

"What?"

"Yes." Linda continued quite calmly. "Tomorrow noon at the hospital. A quiet wedding—Doctor Randolph thinks he's well enough. I asked him. It's going to be a surprise on Peter. Dad is tending to the license and everything. I'll call again tomorrow morning."

The phone clicked on Linda's end, but Sally stood, rigid, for a long time holding the receiver. Linda was planning to marry Peter tomorrow noon at the hospital! Tomorrow noon . . .

Q.—Did the late Wallace Eddinger ever play in "Little Lord Fauntleroy?"—E. B.

A.—He was one of three children who originated the title role. At the time he was only seven years old.

Q.—Who invented the electric pipeless organ? How does it work?—T. H.

A.—Capt. Richard Ranger of transoceanic radiophotograph fame. It is both pipeless and reedless and responds to a series of electrical switches, tone generators, and amplifiers when its standard pipe organ keys are played by an organist. The sounds are generated in groups, each group consisting of a series of alternators in simple ratio, controlled by one motor. Each tone is amplified and transmitted to the speaker when the corresponding musical key is depressed.

Q.—Does the national bureau of standards issue a periodical or other publications describing its scientific work for free distribution?—A. M. R.

A.—The Commercial Standards Monthly is published by the bureau of standards but a regular subscription rate of $1 a year is charged. The magazine is devoted to reports of standardizing work, especially important to business, carried on by the bureau in cooperation with other branches of the government and with private interests. The bureau also publishes special reports on results of experiments which are available at nominal prices.

Q.—What is the name of the device used in testing the alcoholic content of beer?—O. T. P.

A.—It is the ebulliometer.

Q.—Who is the "waving girl of Tybee?"—K. M.

A.—The waving girl is Miss Florence Martus, for half a century known to coastwise mariners and travelers. Living on Elba Island at the mouth of the Tybee river, she invariably waved to every passing ship. Her brother, George W. Martus, has been keeper of the light since 1887 and she has lived with him since that time. There is a romantic legend built up around her faithfulness to the effect that, many years ago a sweetheart was lost at sea and that she has waved to every incoming ship since in the hope that the lost man might be aboard and expecting to see a signal from her. Mr. Martus, the keeper of the light, is retiring and moving to Savannah and she is about to abandon her long vigil.

Q.—Is John Lawson Stoddard, the lecturer, still living?—M. G.

A.—He died on June 5, 1931.

Q.—In electricity, what is the meaning of the letters KVA?—W. R. K.

A.—The letters KVA are an abbrevation for the electrical term kilo-volt-ampere.

Q.—What is the largest stamp in the world?—J. W.

A.—This distinction is generally accorded the newspaper stamp, issued by this country in 1865.

Q.—When did Governor Pinchot begin his work in forestry?—R. L. W.

A.—He began his first systematic forest work in the United States at Biltmore, N. C., in January, 1892.

The Record News Offers Preventive Measures for Ivy Poisoning

If you have come in contact with poison ivy, or any of the other plants that are commonly known under that name, the first preventive measure to be taken is a thorough washing, since the poison usually requires some time to penetrate into the tender layers of the skin. Until such penetration has taken place much or all of the poison can be removed. Ordinary alkaline kitchen soap is best for this purpose. A thick lather should be produced and the washing repeated several times, in running water if practicable.

This is but one of many important things about ivy or sumac poisoning now available to readers of the Record News. Use this coupon and enclose ten cents in coin or stamps.

Health and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Sun and Air Baths

An up-to-date laundry advertises that it treats the clothes with ultra-violet rays. The application of these rays would probably be effective in disinfecting the sheets and making them smell sweeter, although the ultra-violet rays would not directly do the person who sleeps between the sheets much good. It is a good plan to take the sunshine rays right on the skin rather than upon clothing or sheets.

The ultra-violet rays coming from the sunlight are chemical rays which have a distinctly beneficial effect upon the body. When these rays are given to children the latter grow and have stronger bones than when deprived of them. Ultra-violet rays are known to have a healthful effect on all humans and for this reason we hear much about the value of the sunbath. Our recent appreciation of the sun is only relearning, as the Greeks and Romans knew the value of sunlight long ago. It was Pliny, the elder, who said: "The sun is the greatest remedy." Not only is the health built up through the use of sunlight but it is helpful in the cure of many diseases, such as anemeia, skin disorders, tuberculosis, catarrh, sinus trouble, bronchitis, tuberculosis, rickets, asthma, nephritis, diabetes and colds.

Sunbathing is now becoming fashionable. Many of our most famous movie stars take daily sunbaths. I am sure that any one who will take the time to get a daily sunbath during the summer months will find it worthwhile. Sunbaths will give you a smart tan, tone up the skin, soothe the nerves and effect a general well being.

It is well known that the sunlight helps to keep babies and children well and strong but the mother who puts the sunsuits on the children often neglects to get any sunning, herself. Of course, every one ought to get a good dose of sunlight, but for many people this is not possible except at week ends. However, the housewife is at home and can usually plan her work so that she can take a certain time each day and use it for the benefits of sunbathing. If it is not possible to take the sunlight in a bathing suit or in the nude, then simply roll up your sleeves, leave off your hose and get as much of the sun as possible this way.

When beginning to get into the sun, first expose the body only a short time. Gradually increase the time about five minutes a day until you have a nice tan and until you are able to stay in the sun without getting a headache. If you notice your heart beating too rapidly while in the sun it is time to return to the shade.

Protect yourself from too much of this valuable remedy. In the beginning it is well, if at the beach, to provide yourself with an umbrella or cover your skin with a rug or suit of pajamas part of the time.

I urge all of my readers as well as their children to avail themselves of the help of the sun this summer. Plenty of sunshine is a simple, easy-to-take prescription. If you will sun yourself gradually I am sure you will note an improvement in your resistance to cold and diseases and you will have better blood and quieter nerves.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reducing Blood Pressure

Question—J. R. asks: "What is the physiological and chemical reaction on the system when taking orange juice for the reduction of blood pressure? Two days after the commencement of a five-day fast a well marked reduction is noticeable."

Answer—The most effective means of restoring the blood pressure to normal is through fasting and dieting. The quantity of blood is decreased and its quality improved. Those with tense nerves relax more easily, and where calcification of the arteries exists, a marked change takes place in the loss of some of this calcium. This makes the arteries more elastic and in this way lessens the blood pressure.

Fruits

Question—M. R. D. writes: "I am very fond of all kinds of fruits, and eat a great deal. As I do not wish to put on weight, I would like to know which are fattening and which are not."

Answer—No fruits can be considered fattening except the dried fruits and bananas, avocados and olives. None of the acid fruits are fattening.

Itching Rash

Question—Mrs. V. J. writes: "I have a peculiar rash which is worse since the weather has become hot. Small red spots appear at intervals during the day. They spread into large patches which are very itchy, and last about an ohur."

Answer—There are so many different types of skin disorders characterized by red spots that it would be impossible to diagnose your case without first examining you. If the eruption is caused by internal toxins, a cleansing diet regimen should clear this up. Of course, it may be posisble that some small parasites are on the skin, causing the eruption, and this could only be determined by a careful examination.

SUFFERS HEAT STROKE

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., July 12.—George Arterbury, from north of Tipton, was overcome by the heat Tuesday afternoon after running about three miles to find a telephone so he could call a doctor for his 10-year-old daughter. The latter had cut her throat on a barbed wire fence, causing it to bleed profusely.

Arterbury had to visit four residences before finding a telephone when he called Dr. E. K. Collier of Tipton. Upon arriving at the Arterbury home Collier found the girl suffering painful injuries.

NIGHTCAP GOES EXTRA FRAME

Fred Vincent Loses Close Decision

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—After their long range guns had blasted them to victory in the opening game of a double-header, 8 to 0, the Spudders were held in check by Abe Miller in the night-cap and dropped the second game, 3 to 2. The Sports produced the extra base hits in the second game with Wade and Solters hitting home runs. Steengrafe was in fine form to blank the Sports in the opener, but his first opponent, Moore, was hit hard and had to be relieved by Moulton.

Extra Base Hits

After three scoreless innings in the first game the Spudders produced extra base hits in the fourth to start the scoring. The first base hit for Wichita Falls was a double by Stanton after Allday had rolled out in the fourth. Gullic fouled to Rowland. Bud Hungling scored Stanton with a single to left field. Fuss scored Hungling with a triple to center and Scharein followed with a three bagger to right field. Euller doubled to center and Steengrafe's skier to Radcliff ended the inning.

The Sports came back in their half with a single by Radcliff and double by Solters, after two were out but Winegarner watched the third strike go by to shut off the rally.

The scoring ended in the sixth, when Hungling opened the inning with a home run over the left field wall. After two were out, Euller singled and advanced to second on Solter's error and Steengrafe drew a walk. Garms then flied to left field.

Gullic Hits Homer

In the seventh the Spudders broke loose again. They started after Allday was called out on strikes. Stanton walked and Gullic scored him with a home run. Moore was getting "nothing" on the ball and trying to throw it past the batters. Hungling met one of his pitches for a two bagger to left field and Moulton relieved Moore. Fuss scored Hungling with a single to short center and Euller rolled into a double play, Winegarner to Geygan to Whelan.

The Spudders looked at their third pitcher in the ninth when Lee replaced Moulton after Wade had batted for the latter in the eighth. From the fifth only 16 batters faced Steengrafe. Rowland opened the eighth with a single but was the victim of a double play on Wade's roller. Whelan opened the ninth with a double and died on base.

Early Threats Ruined

Miller and Vincent were the pitching opponents in the second game and neither were scored upon during the first three innings, although Scharein singled and Euller doubled in the third before a batter had been retired. Miller was helped out in the third when Scharein was caught stealing and Euller was doubled off second by Radcliff after catching Vincent's short fly.

Wade, who was subbing for Perry in centerfield, put the Sports in the lead by hitting a homer over the left field wall in the fourth. The Spudders scored in the fifth when Gullic got on base with a pass to open the session. He was forced at second by Bradbury. Fuss dropped a single in left field and when Solters fell down while attempting to field the ball Bradbury went to third. Scharein scored Bradbury with a single to right field and when Fuss tried to reach home on the hit was thrown out at the plate by Radcliff.

Solters Hits Homer

The Sports went to the front again in the fifth when Solters hit a home run over the right field wall. The ball hit the light tower outside of the park and bounced back on the field again and Solters was sent home by Umpire Kane when he stopped at third base.

The Spudders tied it up in the sixth when Vincent and Garms hit singles and Allday moved them up with a sacrifice. Stanton was purposely walked and when Gullic forced Stanton at second Vincent scored. Bradbury was thrown out by Winegarner.

Only a tough break cut the Sports off in the seventh. Radcliff opened the inning with a single and went to second on Solters sacrifice. Garms made a running shoe-string catch of Winegarner's low fly to left field and Radcliff was doubled off second base, having already rounded third on the drive.

Laveque opened the eighth with a single to left field and Mueller made a neat sacrifice bunt. Miller rolled out to short. Whelan hit a hot liner down the left field foul line and Laveque scored.

Hagen Favored To Defeat Britisher

MISSISSAUGA COUNTRY CLUB Toronto, Ont., July 12. (AP)—Percy Alliss yet may break the 12-year monopoly the United States has held on the Canadian open golf championship.

The 32-year-old British pro at the Wannsee club in Berlin fought his way through a driving rain in the fourth round of the open yesterday to tie Walter Hagen, Detroit veteran, for the title at 282. They will play off the tie at 36 holes Tuesday.

Hagen, always known as a "money player" rules a slight favorite over Alliss, but few experts will forget the Briton's courageous stand on the last nine holes when he overcame a six stroke lead to deadlock Hagen for the crown. Alliss toured the last nine holes in 32 strokes, four under par for a 71 and holed an 18-foot putt on the home green for the birdie three that meant a tie.

Johnny Farrell, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., rimmed the cup at the home hole with a long putt that would have made it a triple tie had it gone down. As it was Johnny had to be content with third place with 283. Two fine rounds of 70 and 68 on the closing day earned fourth place for Mortie Dutra of Long Beach, Calif., at 284, two strokes ahead of the defending champion Tommy Armour.

Attendance Record Broken as 45,715 See Games

ST. LOUIS, July 12. (AP)—The Cardinals and Cubs divided two slugging matches here today, as the largest crowd ever to watch a ball game in St. Louis looked on. Chicago won the opener, 7 to 5, and the Cardinals the nightcap, 17 to 13. The paid attendance officially was announced as 45,715 compared with the previous record of 38,224 for a National league game set in 1928. A world series game last fall attracted 39,949 paid admissions, the previous high mark for a game here.

Ground rules were made necessary by the immense crowd and resulted in 32 doubles during the day. Scores:

Katy Railroaders Swamp Motors, 21-13

The Katy Railroaders swamped the Northwest Motors beneath a 21 to 13 score Sunday afternoon on Katy diamond in a Twilight league game. Holmes whiffed 12 of the Motor company batters. Caldwell led the scores with four tallies while Brandon and Potts led the hitters for Katy with three hits each.

SULLIVANS WIN OVER MOLINES

Grocers Overhaul Lead To Score 12-11 Victory

An early 7 to 0 Bailey-Moline lead wilted in the last three innings Sunday afternoon and Sullivans Grocery tied the I. O. Boosters for the City league leadership by nosing out a 12 to 11 victory at Katy park. For the second week in a row the fighting little Sullivans Grocery nine battled their way from behind to obtain a victory and seven of their 12 scores were shoved over the plate in the last three innings of the game.

The hectic ninth inning started after Mike Smith had made a nice running catch of Rob Jobe's drive to left. Hills weakened and walked Myers and Thorn in succession. Steve Franklin's hot grounder scored Myers, Thorn taking third. With the infield playing close, Franklin was given second base on a steal. Lois Anderson hit to the infield and McLarry's throw got away from O'Neal. Thorn scoring the tying run. O'Neal made an effort to get Anderson at second and Steve Franklin raced across the pan with the winning tally.

The scoring end of the Sullivan lineup came in the lower part, with Myers, Thorn and Franklin scoring nine of the runs between them. The two pitchers, Franklin and Nichols, led the batting attack of the day with three hits each. Franklin getting a triple and double while Nichols hit one for two bases. Malcolm Mauldin, Sullivan third sacker, featured the game in the field, handling 10 chances at third base without a bobble, two of his putouts on pop flies were sensational. McLarry and Griffith turned in sensational catches on short flies over the infield in succession in the fifth inning. Manager Franklin weathered the storm in spite of the fact he was well hit and was wild, leaving 12 Hardwaremen stranded on the bases. The catching of "Pepperbox" Thorn was another feature of the Sullivan defense. Score:

Bill Tilden Wins Pro Championship

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 12. (AP)—William Tatem Tilden, 2nd, several times amateur tennis champion of the United States, today added the professional crown to his collection. He defeated the former title holder, Vincent Richards, in clearcut and decisive fashion on the turf of Forest Hills stadium in the finals of the fifth annual American professional tournament.

It required only three sets and 59 minutes of play for the tall man of American tennis to win from his one-time amateur rival of the court 7-5, 6-2, 6-1.

The match, in brief, was a contest between a master of the volley—Richards—and a master of all the strokes of tennis—Tilden.

Richards got a measure of revenge in the doubles, pairing with Howard Kinsey of California, to defeat Tilden and his Davis cup and Wimbledon partner, Francis T. Hunter, in the finals of the doubles, 7-9, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

New Burk Bible Class Shows Rapid Increase

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, July 12.—A neighborhood children's Sunday school calss organized in the west part of town by Mrs. Sam Davis in March now has 56 members, and upon only one Sunday since its organization has new members for the class failed to appear.

The class, sponsored by the Methodist church of Burkburnett meets every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in an old store building west of town. Children with no other Sunday school to attend come to the class and are enthusiastic in their Bible work.

The class is called the Home Builders' Bible class, and every member is highly interested in memorizing Bible verses and chapters from the Bible. Recently a picnic was held for the class in the park.

Mrs. Sam Davis, who has charge of the class, takes much interest in missionary work and the interest of the group of children attending the class in her care is proof of the wonderful work that has been done by their teacher.

Strongest Argument for Christian Religion Is Living Christian Life

Martin Tells Men's Bible Class of Modern Application Of Peter's Healing of Cripple

"One of the greatest lessons that can be drawn by us from the Scripture of today's lesson is that the most convincing preaching and the most successful evangelism is in the simple witnessing for the Master," Judge P. A. Martin told members of the Men's Bible class of the Floral Heights Methodist church in his address to them Sunday morning.

"The greatness of the work performed by the Apostles and its best results came from the telling of the simple story of the things they personally knew. The strongest argument any man can make of the truth of the Christian religion is in the living of the Christian life," the speaker said.

"The lesson today is one of several lessons in the New Testament which contains enough of Scripture and enough of doctrine to save the world. Any number of interesting gospel sermons could be preached from texts to be found here and any number of gospel teachings can be found.

"A man, paralyzed from his birth, had been found by the Apostles, Peter and John, at the beautiful gate of the temple begging alms. He begged a gift from the two apostles. They gave him no money; they had none to give; but Peter, looking steadfastly on him, said, 'Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, give I unto thee.' And he gave him something far better than silver and gold; something silver and gold will not buy; he gave him freedom from his lifetime slavery to his malady and he entered the temple with the apostles, walking and leaping and praising God.

Hour of Prayer

"It was a wonderful hour of prayer; that ninth hour of the Jewish day when all true followers of Jehovah in the Holy City went to the temple to pray. They had all seen this lame man at the gate; they all knew him as a regular mendicant, begging all whom came by for a pittance. And now they all saw him wonderfully cured and as the cured man held the apostles the multitude gathered around them and Peter preached the crucified Christ to them and many of them believed. They had to believe for they saw before them the wonderful power of the risen Christ of whom Peter spake. It is said that about 5,000 people heard this sermon and many of them doubtless went away with hearts full of faith and love.

"But while the apostle spoke the priests, captain of the temple and some of the Sadduces came upon them and arrested them and put them in jail until next day when they were brought before the Sanhedrim of the Jews.

"And here is recorded the first persecution of the Church of Christ. And it, as persecutions usually do, ended in a complete victory for the persecuted apostles. It gave Peter the golden opportunity of his life to preach the gospel to this learned body of men. And he preached it with telling effect. He referred to the Christ as 'the stone which you builders rejected,' telling them that it was through His name that the lame man was made whole and that 'there is none other name given under heaven and among men whereby we must be saved.'

"These rulers of Israel would fain have done violence to the Apostles, but they did not dare do so for fear of the people who heard and saw all that was done. There stood the former cripple, now made whole by divine power; an argument no man could controvert. So they tried to get the Apostles to refrain from preaching in this name but without success and the first persecution ended in a dismal failure.

Things They Personally Knew

"I think one of the greatest lessons to be drawn by us from this Scripture is that the most convincing preaching and the most successful evangelism is in the simple witnessing for the Master. The greatness of the work performed by the Apostles and its best results came from the telling of the simple story of the things they personally knew. The strongest argument any man can make of the truth of the Christian religion is in the living of the Christian life.

"The power of God unto salvation is better shown in the salvation of the lost than it is ever expressed in any pulpit. There were hundreds of eloquent preachers in the metropolis of America in the days of Jerry McCauley, but none of them could tell the story of the saving grace of God as well as the changed life of the former Bowery bum, saved by divine grace. Like the lame man at the beautiful gate, made whole, the simple story of his conversion brought thousands to follow his example and Jerry McCauley's mission became a sort of mecca for all who made a study of evangelism in the whole country.

"There are hundreds, yes, thousands of splendid ministers of the Gospel today telling the story of the Christ to an unbelieving world, and yet the most convincing preaching that is being done or ever has been done is in the simple story of the Christian life, as it is lived by the humble followers of the meek and lowly Nazarene. The Christian life is the absolutely unanswerable argument in favor of the divine origin of our religion.

"This being true, it our duty to live the life so that the whole world may see and know of a truth that there is reality in religion. The cripple at the beautiful gate showed forth his miraculous cure by walking, leaping and praising God before the world. He did not hide his splendid blessing under a bushel and his example converted thousands of others.

"Perhaps, in the Apostolic sense, the day of miracles has passed. No longer can the helpless paralytic be relieved by the word of the preacher, but in a larger and more universal sense, miracles of healing are being performed in the hospitals of the land and these hospitals are the direct result of the teachings of Christianity in the world. No longer do men have the gift of tongues in the sense that the Apostles had it on the day of Pentecost, yet the general diffusion of education has enabled men to preach the gospel in every known language and education is another contribution of Christianity to the world.

"As never before in human history the world needs the gospel today. One of the greatest nations in the world, rising out of ages of slavery, has thrown off the yoke of authority and has gone to the extreme of seeking to even abolish God Himself. They are seeking to convert the world to their mistaken ideas of government and of God. Nothing but the Christian religion can successfully combat the forward advance of this dangerous thing and the men of America, the land that first gave meaning to the world "liberty" must stand firm and true to the Christ in whose name the cripple of the beautiful gate was made to walk and leap and praise God."

MEMPHIS ASKS TELEPHONE CUT

Petitions Ask Company To Reduce Rates

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 12.—Petitions are being circulated this week calling upon the Southwestern Associated Telephone company, formerly known as the State Telephone company, for a reduction in the rates. The reduction asked for will apply only to telephones in residences and in the amount of $1 per month. The regular residence phone charge is from $2.25 to $2.75 per month. If the reduction asked for is not affected by Aug. 1, those signing the petition request that their telephones be disconnected. It is understood that petitions are being circulated in all four wards of the city.

R. B. Farley, general manager of the Southwestern Associated Telephone company, with headquarters at Lubbock, was in the city this week and made the following statement: "We have been indirectly informed that certain petitions are being circulated among the patrons of the telephone company in which specific demands for a substantial reduction of exchange rates are made.

"We have not yet received the petitions and are withholding any statement until they are formally presented and we have time and opportunity to study the merits of the request and the effects it will have on our operation."

Wichitans Honored On 40th Wedding Anniversary Eve

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hollis, 703 Polk street, entertained Saturday evening in honor of the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. The living room and dining room were beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns and a large white wedding bell hung in the double doors between the rooms with streamers of blue and white, the 40th anniversary colors, running from it to the chandeliers in each room.

The evening was spent in a series of delightful old fashioned games. In a beauty contest, the prize to be given to the best looking couple, the honorees were winners, Messrs. C. B. Haynie and H. W. Kessell acting as judges. A prettily decorated blue and white hamper of handsome gifts was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hollis.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to a number of close friends including Messrs. and Mesdames R. B. Dixon, C. B. Haynie, S. E. Middleton and children, W. D. Talley, H. W. Kessell, S. E. Middleton and children, Charlime and J. B., and Loftin Coleman.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We've a habit of getting lost in the country. All our life, we have been able to go almost anywhere in a city or town; something gives us our bearings. But in the country, we only remember far landmarks for which we look with anxious eyes until we come to them.

Twice now we have become lost en route from the city of Nocona to Wichita Falls. The first time, it was a clear choice of a wide road by the driver. We said in a mild voice that it was the wrong road, but the driver knew better. He was a person who always insisted he was right until there was absolute proof he was wrong. We are peaceably inclined and would not argue.

We laugh in our sleeve when we think of that trip. It was less than a year ago and we have wondered if he ever had any qualms about the road. At any rate, a concrete argument proved he was wrong for directly before us loomed the bridge going across the Red river to Oklahoma. If ever a grown boy had a sheepish look, he wore it. Without a word, he turned and drove back.

We were quite determined on this trip from Nocona not to lose the way at Ringgold, but we anticipated no danger until we reached that town. We are still wondering where we got switched off the road. All at once we had an uneasy feeling that it was not the same road we had traveled two nights before. It was narrow and it lacked the beds of sand.

It was a homey road in daylight. But it was narrow and there were little gullies at the sides and grass grew down the center. "Who ever heard of a highway with grass grown down the center?" we asked the driver, who refused to turn back. We insisted on asking at one of the homes if this could be the right road, but the homes were too far from the road. We saw a car coming and stopped to ask information from the man driving, but taking one look at us, he speeded up and flashed by.

There were oaks on the hillsides and it seemed for a mile or two as if one had escaped the Texas plains and reached a shadier land where perhaps long ago pioneers had built their homes. Then through a break in the trees, we saw a little town far on another hill and we knew we were at least going somewhere.

When we drove into that little town where all the men of the neighborhood were lined up on the porches, the driver began to giggle. The population stared at us (it was entirely male), and still she giggled. At last she gasped, "Why this is the road we took to Nocona—straight ahead." And it dawned on us it was true. At the same spot we had called for a cold drink Friday evening.

We called one of the gentlemen to our assistance. "That is the road to Wichita Falls," he said, pointing; "there are two roads to Nocona, the one you have just come in and the one straight ahead; one is the county road and one the state; we call them the north and south roads."

So there you are. A good 1931 moral to draw would be that one should not travel by landmark; choose the roads with the highway markings. But for all that, deep in our heart we like the little shaded county roads. The roads where couples wander out from old houses and where quiet grave yards are far apart from home or town.

Weekly Swimming Parties Will Be Held by Juniors

With the formal season of the Junior Forum closed until autumn, many informal social events are planned to keep the group together. Among these, one of the most pleasant is the weekly Thursday evening 5 to 6 o'clock swimming hour when, through courtesy of Otto R. Lazenby, manager of Westmoreland swimming pool, members of the Junior Forum have special arrangements made for their entertainment. They will be allowed the privileges of the pool for a 20-cent charge and may invite their friends to accompany them. Miss Mary Tancred, acting social chairman, made the announcement at the last luncheon.

The increase in new members in the Junior Forum has already been unusual and new ideas that are being used in developing interest, seem to point to a banner year for the group. No other juniors at least in the state are surpassing them so far as has been reported.

Each member of the Junior Forum this year has been asked to write after her signature for the yearbook, the form of art, literature or study in which she is most interested. The programs will be made up from these known interests and each member appearing on the program will take part in drama, music, art or literature, as her taste has designated.

Miss Mary Virginia Barron is president for the coming year and Mrs. P. P. Langford is sponsor.

Following this a special table was arranged and a delightful dinner served at Cameron's cafe.

Hall County Expects Bumper Cotton Crop

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 12.—Hall county has the best prospects for a bumper cotton crop this fall that it has had in several years. Although part of the county's crops are late due to the flood, these crops are progressing and growing fine. Light showers over the county last week assured enough moisture to keep things growing and prevent heat damages from mounting.

The acreage this year is 387,963 acres. The land is in better condition than it has ever been, and the prospects are brighter than they have been in many years. Even with seven-cent cotton farmers see the end of the depression soon with crops as promising as they are.

DANIEL TALKS ON HEALING

Christ's Power to Help Still Available, He Says

Roy J. Daniel, teacher of the Kay Bible class of the First Methodist church Sunday morning in his address to the class discussed the healing of the lame man by Peter and John at the entrance of the Gate Beautiful. In his discussion Mr. Daniel pointed out that "we have the same opportunity to take advantage of Christ's power to help us" as did the lame man that was healed by His power.

Mr. Daniel's address follows:

"It has been said that the true test of an address is whether or not it inspires us to be better men and do better. An address may be hours long and pages in length yet a failure if it fails to inspire us to try to be better men and women. And on the other hand an address may be very short and yet highly successful because it does inspire. Daniel Webster would never make an address without requiring time for adequate preparation and the result was that every address he ever made was inspirational and a success. Whenever Webster boarded a train he instructed the conductor to permit no one to talk to him or interrupt him or approach him because he wanted to think about some address. A man complimented Webster on his reply to Hayne in the famous Hayne-Webster debate, and Webster answered: 'It ought to have been excellent because I spent 20 years in its preparation.' Webster still holds his place as the greatest orator American has produced.

Crippled Man

"One day Peter and John were going into the Temple at Jerusalem. At the entrance called Beautiful they saw begging alms a crippled man who had been crippled since birth—born a cripple. The poor fellow held up his hands and begged a gift. Peter, looking him in the eye, said, 'Gold and silver have I none but such as I have I will give you freely. In the name of Jesus of Nazareth rise up and walk.' The lame man received strength into his crippled limbs and twisted deformed body, and became a well man, able to walk and run. He showed his joy and delight by running around all over the place. It was a miracle. The people there who witnessed the miracle had known the poor lame creature from his birth, and they could hardly believe what they saw. I can imagine the tumult and noise that arose. Some man probably exclaimed, 'Who are those two men? Are they magicians?' Another would reply, 'Why they are two men who knew well the Carpenter of Nazareth and walked with Him.' Another would say, 'Why I never dreamed that poor fellow would ever walk. I have known him all his life but here he is just as happy and well as the rest of us.'

"Such a tumult arose that the high priest himself came out of the temple to see what was going on. I can hear the high priest exclaim, 'Say, what's the matter here? What's going on? Don't you know that you are making so much noise that you are disturbing public worship inside of the temple?' Some one in the crowd answers, 'Those two men there, those two country looking, unkempt men have just performed a great miracle. They have made it possible for that old beggar, who has been here for forty years, to walk and have control of his limbs and muscles.' The high priest probably inquired, 'By what power did they perform that miracle?' Somebody replies: 'They claim to have performed it by the power of Jesus of Nazareth whom they say you unjustly condemned to death.' The high priest called the captain of the guard and ordered the arrest of Peter and John. He further ordered that they be placed in jail over night and tried the next morning before the rulers.

"Morning came and they made ready for the trial. The high priest, Annas acted as prosecutor. Peter pleaded his own defense. There before the rulers, Annas asked them by what power they had restored the lame beggar. Without hesitation Peter made answer: 'By the power of Jesus of Nazareth. He was the One whom you rejected for your building but He has now become the cornerstone. You had Him put to death but He arose from the dead the third day and ascended into Heaven. The only way to find salvation is through Him. Only by accepting Him can you be saved. We ought to obey God rather than men.'

"The man who had been restored was there as a witness. He was 40 years old and was personally known to thousands of the people. He was a living witness and they had to accept the fact that he was no longer lame but was able to walk and run as well as the next one. His testimony convinced the crowd of people there and thousands accepted Christ and the Gospel as preached to them by Peter that day. The high priest and his cohorts about the temple realized that the lame man had been restored but they hated to see the apostles exercise the power over the people they did exercise through the grace of Jesus Christ.

Same Power At Call

"Peter and John were ordered to cease their work but they paid no attention to the order of the high priest and the Sanhedrin, and the people marvelled at the boldness of the two apostles. Peter and John were not educated men. They were men who had traveled but little. Yet they were unafraid, and held their own before the rulers in a contest with the high priest, Annas. They realized that Peter and John had walked with Jesus. From that unseen source they had received their power—greater than any earthly power, greater than the power of the high priest, greater than the power of the Roman rulers.

"How much farther we would get in life if only we would realize that we have the same power at our beck and call this very morning. 'Come until Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I'll give you rest.' 'Take upon you my yoke—the burden is light.' 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His Righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you.' His is the power to make whiter than snow that which is scarlet. His is the power to take the unhappy life, the sinful life and make it useful to God and man. His is the power that took the Pharisee Saul and made the Christian Paul. As it has been said of opportunity so it can be said of Christ:

"They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in.
Each morn I stand just outside your door
And bid you wake, rise, fight and win.

"Weep not for precious chances passed away,
Wail not for golden ages on the wane,
At night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born again.

"Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To the past be blind and deaf and dumb.
I seal the dead past with its dead
And never bind a moment yet to come.

"Though deep in mire wring not your hands and weep,
I lend my arm to all who say I can;
No down-faced outcast ever sank so deep
But that he can rise again and be a man.

"Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost thou reel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from the blotted archives of the past,
And view the future's pages white as snow.

"Art thou a mourner? Then rouse thee from thy spell;
Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven.
Each morn I give thee wings to flee from hell.
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven."

UTILITY SUIT SET JULY 18

Allred's Court Plea Draws Wide Interest

AUSTIN, July 12.—Atty. Gen. James V. Allred has been notified hearing will be heard in 53rd Travis county district court July 18 on his plea for temporary injunction, pending trial, to stop the San Antonio Public Service company from engaging in the sale of electrical and gas appliances. He has filed quo warranto proceedings to dissolve the company and to oust its Chicago holding-company affiliates because of its encroachment upon the retail merchandising field in what he charged to be violations of the law.

Mr. Allred said his suit, against one of the state's largest local public utilities, is a new form of legal procedure in Texas. He conceded its effects will be far-reaching.

Several telegrams reached his office the day after filing the suit, in which he was congratulated on his course. Attorneys for other utility companies telegraphed and telephoned for knowledge of his plans as to the other similar suits he said he would file.

His plea to prohibit the foreign corporations owning stock in the San Antonio company, Mr. Allred said, was directed at them because of the apparent violation of the law, and not because it was foreign ownership. This was a means to reach the foreign owners in court proceedings which had to be different from the action against the Texas corporation.

Mr. Allred's suit served notice he will act to compel corporations to stay within their legal corporate powers.

White Man Held For Attack on Negro Boy

Charged with aggravated assault on a 14-year-old negro boy early Sunday morning, a Wichita Falls man was being held in the county jail here on his failure to make $10,000 bond set in a hearing Sunday before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace.

Charges against the man were filed by James A. McDonald, juvenile officer, after he had been arrested in company with the negro boy by E. L. Kincaid and Ben Smith, deputy sheriffs, at a point on Holliday creek.

Eldorado Man Held On Indictment Here

Efforts were being made Sunday to secure the custody of a man held at Eldorado, Ark., and wanted here on a grand jury indictment in connection with charges of forgery, according to Sheriff Perry Browning.

The man is alleged to have passed several forged checks here recently on counterfeit cashier's check paper of a San Antonio bank. An indictment was returned against him by the July grand jury last week.

The prisoner will be returned here within the next few days in the event he waives extradition, Sheriff Browning said.

Electra-Burk Firemen Stage Water Fight

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 12.—Two fire companies, two fire hose, and plenty of water brought thrills to a crowd of several hundred people here last night when the fire squads of Burkburnett and Electra staged a water fight. The fun took place on Main street between Avenues C and D.

Five "rounds" were "fought." The first two rounds were won by the Burkburnett squad, the third and fourth rounds by the boys from Electra and the fifth by Burkburnett again. The crowd, laughing and cheering, was often greeted with showers of spray. The cool water, however, was not unwelcome.

The contests are put on between the two towns about twice a month although during the past year this was not possible due to an inadequate water supply here. The installation of Burkburnett's new water supply, however, has made them again possible.
