New School Budget Is $250,000 Higher

A preliminary budget analysis showing disbursement proposals totaling $1,695,563 was submitted to trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District last night. Proposed expenditures for the 1957-58 school year are more than a quarter of a million dollars higher than the current year. The outlays will require all of the year's revenues, estimated to be up by approximately $135,000. In addition, the budget will set up all but $49,847.41 of $175,280.22 in cash balances with which the school district expects to start the new year. Actually, the operating margin will be only about $7,000, according to the estimates, for the anticipated 1957-58 year-end balance of $49,847 will include about $42,000 in the interest and sinking fund. These funds cannot be used for current operations. Supt. Floyd Parsons said on submitting the analysis of the new budget that outlays already have been made as much as the administration considers advisable. About half of the $258,000 increase in expenditures will be covered by state funds. The state salary and operation allotment is expected to be about $100,000 higher and the state per capita apportionment is due to be some $25,000 higher. A $30,000 increase in local tax collections and the $125,000 dip into cash balances will provide most of the funds for remainder of the increase. Federal contributions, delinquent tax collections and other minor revenues are expected to decrease slightly. Parsons showed proposed disbursements in several categories. These, with the current year's figures in parentheses, include: Administration and Business $84,032 ($58,732), white instructional salaries $1,046,489 ($899,603), white instruction supplies $65,348 ($43,326), Negro instructional salaries $32,837 ($46,524), Negro instructional materials $4,515 ($1,963), other school services $76,515 ($45,028). Also, maintenance and operation of plant $164,500 ($139,676), fixed charges $12,000 ($23,527), community services $1,000 ($1,000), capital outlay $42,312 ($30,255) and debt service $146,014 ($150,691). Revenues are expected to include $480,108 per capita apportionment, $448,610 in current taxes, $400,731 from the state salary and operation fund, another $151,015 in tax collections for the interest and sinking fund, $50,000 from the U. S. government under Public Law 874, $8,630 from the state transportation fund, $7,500 in delinquent tax collections, $6,000 from the budgetary excess, $3,675 in state funds for vocational travel, $3,000 in penalty and interest on current tax levies, and $359 from the county available fund. Parsons pointed out that administration and business department costs are up due to addition of an assistant superintendent's salary to the department, increases in salaries for the superintendent, business manager and other administrative personnel and increased costs of supplies and outside services. Instructional cost increases are due to the state teacher salary increases, hike in principals' salaries and the addition of eight teachers to the faculty. Parsons said higher outlays for teaching materials are proposed because it is believed past appropriations have been insufficient. School services are to cost more because of addition of salaries of one visiting teacher, one cafeteria supervisor, increase of $9,500 in the local fund contribution to the athletic program, $4,500 for the luncheon operation, and $5,000 for operation of a school for exceptional children. The increase in plant operation and maintenance costs is due to gain in the number of custodians and maintenance workers, higher utility bills and increases in materials. The fixed charges (insurance) are down because of adoption of a plan for equal premiums each year. Capital outlay increase is due principally to purchase of a billing machine for the business office, purchase of 30 typewriters for junior high, purchase of a bus for the special education department and higher equipment and furniture requirements. Debt service requirements will decline about $4,600 because several payments were made in excess of requirements during the past year. Detailed budget figures will be given trustees later, and a public hearing will be scheduled on the proposed spending.

Back To Earth, Simons Sleeps Off Fatigue

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Maj. David G. Simons, back from a balloon flight to a region where the stars don't twinkle at night and the daytime sky is purple-black, today slept off his vigil with outer space. Simons, a nervy Pennsylvanian with a yen for the unknown, brought his huge plastic bag to earth in a flax field on the border between North and South Dakota yesterday after an unprecedented, 32-hour flight to the top of the atmosphere. Simons, a 34-year-old father of four, ascended to altitudes over 100,000 feet — 19 miles. Upon landing, Simons cut loose the gondola and the balloon billowed up again to an altitude of about 1,500 feet. It landed three miles to the west, where souvenir hunters later tore it to pieces. Radar trackers estimated the balloon carried Simons to a record-breaking 102,000-foot level. If confirmed by later calibration of instruments in the balloon, this would be 6,000 feet higher than Capt. Joseph Kittinger rose in June while testing equipment Simons used. Next step in the Air Force's projected conquest of space will be a four- or five-man balloon trip to similar altitudes in a large gondola. PROVED SAFE Simons' boss Col. John P. Stapp, of rocket sled fame, said he would present the idea to the Air Force soon. Stapp said Simons' flight proved it is safe for man to fly to outer space. Information gained, he said, will push forward future manned missile flights. Flown to the Air Force's makeshift headquarters at the airport here, Simons grabbed a pair of electric shavers, his tooth brush and a bar of soap and restored a little of the comfort he had missed since entering his tiny gondola Sunday night. He was then flown to Minneapolis for a long sleep. Munching a hamburger, Simons, a native of Lancaster, Pa., called his wife at her home at Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M., where he is chief of space biology. Ground and helicopter tracking crews watched Simons drift over thunderheads, then ordered him to stay up two hours longer than planned to find clear skies to descend. SETTLED GENTLY He dropped through a bank of clouds and, losing ballast from the gondola, settled gently to the edge of a small lake near Ellendale, N.D., about 120 miles southwest of Fargo. Of these specific out of the alumnus capsule and told Stapp, a doctor like himself, he saw some "very awesome and splendid sights." Awesome, he said, was the view of lightning flashing through thunderheads thousands of feet below him. "The most splendid sight I ever saw in my life," Simons said, was the sunrise breaking over the horizon in a fantastic array of color. The sun rose at 4:45 a.m. where he flew, but didn't cast a ray on the earth below him until 6:30 a.m. Simons, who flew higher than any man ever attempted in a balloon and stayed there longer, said "the most exciting part of the whole trip was a doubt, was landing." He was over 90,000 feet for 26 hours. He described the takeoff "like going up in an elevator," and said he was too busy with his maze of instruments to get lonely. The sky during the daytime, he said, was purple-black. At night, the stars shone steadily, with not a twinkle. Simons lived on sandwiches, candy, fruit juice and water during the long flight.

Ike Says Rights Bill Compromise Okay

Hoffa Takes Stand

James R. Hoffa takes the witness chair before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington, D.C. The Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union was called to answer charges that he dealt with hoodlums and terrorists to seize control over New York area Teamsters affairs.

Hoffa Denies Knowledge Of Racketeer's House Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa swore today he did not know that racketeer Paul (The Waiter) Ricca owned a Chicago mansion the Teamsters Union bought recently for $150,000. "I don't believe it," Hoffa said. He had been asked whether he knew that Ricca owned the property, and that Ricca was "a notorious hoodlum... an old Capone mobster." For the second day, the Midwest Teamsters Union boss was in the witness chair of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee. It is inquiring into his financial dealings and alleged associations with racketeers. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) contends that Hoffa brought New York racketeer Johnny Dio and other underworld figures into the Teamsters Union and used them in a scheme to enhance his own power. Ricca's name did not come into the hearings until Hoffa was asked by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy about the purchase of the Chicago mansion. Hoffa said Teamster Local No. 299, to which he belongs, and No. 337, both of Detroit, put up the $150,000 to acquire the building in Chicago's outskirts. He said it is to be used as a training school for union officials who handle pension and welfare funds. He said he knows the checks to buy the property were made out to a man named Paul DeLucia, and disputed a contention by Kennedy that "DeLucia and Ricca are one and the same person."

Wants Stronger Voting Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is willing to accept a compromise civil rights bill which includes effective enforcement of voting rights. Eisenhower also said he does not regard the Senate version of the bill as strong enough in its enforcement of voting rights. He said he would like to see a stronger version enacted. But he did not elaborate on this score. Eisenhower told his news conference he expects Republican House leaders to offer a compromise proposal today or tomorrow. Eisenhower did not spell out the terms of this proposal. But he said it would represent a position between the one he took originally and the Senate's version of the civil rights bill. The Senate stripped from a measure recommended by the administration and passed by the House a section under which the attorney general would have been empowered to seek federal court orders to enforce civil rights in general. In response to a question, Eisenhower said he is not now advocating that any portion of that section be put back into the bill. The bill has been stalemated in the House, with rival Republican and Democratic groups playing a waiting game. Both groups maintain they want some kind of civil rights legislation, but they disagree on what form it should take. MOVE PLANNED Eisenhower's comment indicated that some GOP move at ending the deadlock is planned shortly. The Senate adopted amendments confining the bill's enforcement powers primarily to the voting rights field. It also wrote in a requirement for jury trials in all federal court criminal contempt cases. Eisenhower, who previously has objected strenuously to the jury trial amendment, was not questioned about it today. House Democrats have been urging a compromise which would limit the jury trial requirement to criminal contempt cases involving voting rights. Eisenhower said he believes the compromise to be offered by the House Republicans will retain sufficient effectiveness to make the bill acceptable to everybody. He said it would quiet what he called justifiable alarm about some of the punishment provisions of the original bill passed by the House. POLITICAL ISSUE? A reporter suggested to Eisenhower that some congressmen might regard it as more beneficial politically to have no bill and carry the issue into next year's campaign. Eisenhower said he certainly hopes nothing like that happens. He added he can't conceive of anything worse than making the basic rights of Americans a political campaign issue. A reporter asked about the possibility of a special session of Congress if a civil rights bill is not passed now.

LATE BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — President Eisenhower today proposed a two-year suspension of nuclear tests, provided Russia agrees to an eventual permanent halt in production of atomic weapons materials.

Ike Sees Red Aim In Syria As Control Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the ultimate aim of the pro-Communist bid for power in Syria is Soviet control of the country. He told a news conference, however, the U.S. government actually does not know how far the process has gone. And he added this is not at present one of those cases which would justify any kind of action under his Middle East program adopted early this year. That program, spelled out in a congressional resolution, provides for U. S. economic aid and use of American armed force if needed and invited, to head off Red aggression in the Middle East. Eisenhower dealt also with these other matters: CONGRESS — Eisenhower said he is tremendously disappointed in the record to date of the Democratic-controlled 85th Congress. Asked whether he blames Democrats or Republicans for that situation, Eisenhower simply replied that to the extent members of Congress have voted against his program, they are to blame for what he considers its disappointing performance. AID — Eisenhower said anew he hopes the Senate will restore every cent of the $200-million-daily foreign aid cut voted by the House. RED CHINA — The American youths who went to Red China despite State Department objections were very badly advised and are doing the United States a disservice, Eisenhower said. ASWAN DAM — Eisenhower was asked for comment on a contention by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) that U. S. withdrawal of an offer to build the Aswan Dam in Egypt precipitated all kinds of troubles in the Middle East. Fulbright blamed Secretary of State Dulles. Eisenhower commented that the proposal to build the dam was made by Great Britain and the World Bank, as well as by the United States. He said that when the offer first was made Egypt came up with completely unacceptable conditions.

WHERE YOUR COUNTY MONEY GOES

Howard County Expenditures For Next Year At $855,000

(This is the first of a series of articles giving a detailed analysis of Howard County's budget for 1958. Public hearing on the budget is set for 10 a.m., August 26, in the Commissioner's room at the courthouse.) Howard County property valuation for tax purposes for 1958 is $47,272,000—an increase of $1,200,000 over the figure for the current year. The county budget as it now stands and as it will be presented to the commissioners for approval at a hearing on Aug. 26 calls for ad valorem tax levies to provide $443,594.20. Total expenditures for the county for the year ahead are estimated at $855,547.96. This represents an increase over the estimated expenditures for the current year of nearly $232,000. Tax levy for ad valorem purposes in 1958 will be $1.04—the same as in the current year. However, shifts have been made in the several levies. There is no tax levy in the 1958 budget for the jury fund whereas this fund has a 07 cent levy in 1957. Road and bridge fund has been allocated an extra 4 cents for the new year over the current 15 cent levy. The levy for road and bridge special fund remains at 15 cents. General fund is also unchanged at 40 cents. Permanent improvement levy for the current year is 8 cents. In 1958 the levy will be only 6 cents. The total of all levies, however, remains unchanged at $1.04. This has been the total levy for the past three years. Balance of the $1.04 is required for interest and sinking fund needs. Courthouse and jail bond demands call for 13 cents this year. Last year it was 14 cents. The 1954 road bond levy continues at 9 cents. A new levy of 6 cents has been added to finance retirement of the next installment of the new airport bonds. Funds for the operation of the county government are divided into several accounts. These include the jury fund, for which no ad valorem assessment is made this year but for which it is estimated $30,560 will be needed. The road and bridge fund for 1958 calls for expenditures of $344,128.30. This is a decrease of nearly $3,000 from the expenditures estimated for the fund this year. A 30-cent ad valorem levy is assessed to provide tax money for this fund. General fund calls for total expenditures of $126,489 for 1958—nearly $9,000 more than the estimated expenditures for the current year. Forty cents of the $1.04 ad valorem levy goes to provide for this fund. Officer salary fund is slated to require $189,340 next year compared with an estimate of $161,671 for this year. Permanent improvement fund has 6 cents as its share of the $1.04 ad valorem levy. Its budget calls for expenditure of $10,900 for 1958 which is some $11,900 less than estimated expenditures for the current year. Library fund derives bulk of its operating money from transfer from the permanent improvement fund. It will have $2,078 more to spend this coming year than it had this year. Total expenditures set up in the budget call for $18,072. The law library fund is small compared to others. It is maintained to operate the department in the county courthouse for benefit of attorneys who make use of its books in the preparation and presentation of cases. An extra $200 is earmarked for its use in 1958. Total expenditures are estimated at $2,200. Lateral road fund this year is unchanged from that set for 1958—$25,884.41. Courthouse and jail building fund is slated to spend $3,800 more in 1958 than this year. Expenditures for this fund are estimated in the new budget at $10,000. Courthouse and jail sinking fund requirements for 1958 will increase from $58,300 to $59,875 in 1958. The 1954 road bond sinking fund needs will also be slightly less this coming year than they were in 1957. This year the fund required $38,200. In 1958 it will need only $37,250. The 6 cents set aside this year for the airport bond sinking fund will produce $25,580 in 1958. To meet demand on this fund $25,921.25 will be needed—the difference to be met by a cash balance of $711.25 now on hand. The airport fund is slated to require $473,989.36 this coming year. This is based on the premise that the project will get going in the next 12 months. A transfer from the general fund of $10,000 augmenting the cash balance left of the $500,000 derived from the bonds will provide the funds. Of these specific funds, each is divided into many subdivisions as a general rule. Out of the moneys comes the means to carry on the departments of government. Tomorrow, the jury fund, road and bridge fund and the general fund will be discussed.

Hollywoodian Tells Of Selling Secrets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Another Hollywood figure has testified in the criminal libel trial of Confidential that she sold her alleged playmates' secrets to the scandal magazine. Gloria Wellman, 33, adopted daughter of movie director William Wellman, said yesterday that she was paid a total of $650 for three stories. She identified only one of the stories—a tale about a supposed party at the home of actor John Carroll in 1947. She testified she was one of six girls at the soiree. Others present, she said, included actor Forrest Tucker and the late bandleader Jimmy Dorsey. She said she and two other girls, whom she identified as models, went to an upstairs bedroom to meet Carroll. "Carroll was in the bed and a blonde was in it too," she testified. The Confidential story also told that the girl guests swam in the nude during the party. Was the magazine story true? She said it was. She said she was paid $200 for the Carroll story, $300 for another and $150 for a third. On cross-examination, she said her checks came from Hollywood Research, Inc., which the prosecution charges is the movieland front for Confidential and Whisper magazines. Hollywood Research and its operators, Fred and Marjorie Meade, are defendants along with the magazines. Miss Wellman appeared for the defense. Earlier the defense offered the testimony of a Hollywood madam, Ronnie Quillan, who said she sold information to Confidential. A great volume of novels, magazines and newspaper clippings was introduced in evidence yesterday by the defense while Confidential's attorney Daniel Ross was on the stand. These included the best-seller novel "Peyton Place" by Grace Metalious, "From Here to Eternity" by James Jones, "Something of Value" by Robert Ruark, "East of Eden" by John Steinbeck and four books by Mickey Spillane. The magazines included Hollywood Confidential, San Francisco Confidential and a number featuring women in nude poses. Some of the newspaper clippings dealt with the child custody fight in which actress Maureen O'Hara's ex-husband, New York television executive Will Price, accused her of consorting with Mexican businessman Enrico Parra. Price later withdrew the accusations and said they were untrue. Ross testified that he and Confidential publisher Robert Harrison examined and discussed the books, magazines and newspaper stories to determine what represents "the literary standards of the people of the United States" and gauged the contents of Confidential and Whisper magazines thereby.

Lyndon Confident On Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) voiced confidence today that the Senate will vote what he called a completely adequate amount of money for foreign aid. Johnson, the Democratic leader, said he will support some increase in the $2,574,700,000 in new funds voted by the House. President Eisenhower told his news conference he hopes the Senate will put back every cent of an $800-million-dollar cut made by the House. Beyond that he said he hopes the Senate gets the best deal it can in compromising with the House any increase it may make in House allowances. Eisenhower said his own attitude will be dictated by where cuts are made. He said it might be possible to reduce the amount of money for new military hardware and use some of the money voted by previous congresses and not yet spent. The Senate Appropriations Committee, now considering the foreign aid money bill, questioned administration witnesses in secret session today as to just how much money is available from previous years. The committee is trying to resolve a dispute on that point. Leaving the session, Johnson declined to speculate on how much the Senate might increase the House bill. Johnson indicated that the Senate committee will not begin drafting its version of the money bill until later in the week. "Senators cannot discharge their responsibility on the basis of unsupported assertions," he said. "The thing we must get is how the money is being spent and why more than the House provided." Johnson talked to newsmen after Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) said foreign aid supporters will try to win approval of at least three billion dollars in new funds from the committee. Johnson said he thinks the Senate will vote more than the House did. But he said the amount would be based "on the evidence, and not on the cry of wof." Johnson had said earlier that the committee had been told the total available for foreign aid would come to 12 billion dollars, counting in fresh appropriations by the House. Johnson included in his total more than six billions in funds from previous years which still are in the foreign aid pipeline. Supporters of the aid program have argued that most of these unspent funds already are committed to pay for items yet not delivered. He also mentioned as part of the 12-billion-dollar total about 1 1/2 billion dollars which he said is available in farm surplus disposal funds and more than a billion in counterpart funds. These are local currencies of countries which have been receiving aid. Counterpart funds generally can be spent only in the country involved. "There is no 12 billion available," replied Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California. He promised the committee "ample clarification of just how much money is available for all forms of overseas assistance."

Passport

Actress Maureen O'Hara, who has sued Confidential magazine for publishing a story saying she took part in a wedding incident some months ago in a Hollywood theater, displays a passport at a news conference in Los Angeles, which she says proves she was in Europe at the time of the alleged incident.

Princess Turns 27, Still No Husband

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret became 27 today with no prospective husband in sight but with plenty of advice that it's not too late to hope. Completely recovered from a cold, the pretty princess celebrated her birthday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. But here in London, advisers to the lover in the newspapers chorused feminine advice to the most eligible girl in the world that 27 is not too old to abandon hope. One lady writer pointed out that a former occupant of Princess Margaret's Clarence House home — Princess Patricia of Connaught — didn't ankle down the aisle until she was 33. Then it was with a commoner, a royal naval officer who became Sir Alexander Ramsay. There can be little doubt about Margaret's beauty and charm at 27. She has a pair of fluttery blue eyes, long lashes, a movie star's figure, talent, humor and a cheerful heart. Also, she's rich in her own right. However, the circle of eligible young men around the most eligible young woman is getting smaller and smaller. Each year one or more get married. But not to Margaret. Her prince charming, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, the man whose love she rejected for the sake of duty, is still unwed. And, as one of the lovelorn advisers wrote—Princess Pat waited 10 years before she married her commoner. Margaret turned down Townsend two years ago. At least 15 of the dashing—and some not so dashing—young men of the Princess Margaret set have married in the last 10 years. Remaining eligibles include Billy (Old Faithful) Wallace, Tom Egeron and Christopher Loyd. They are splendid dancing partners, good conversationalists and well-heeled, but Margaret's friends say none of them make her heart go pitter-pat. Up in the Highlands, the princess was celebrating her birthday more quietly (socially) than usual. There was plenty of noise, for after recovering from her sore throat and red nose, she went out with the guns to hunt the royal grouse over the royal moors. The shooters and the ladies who followed them planned a picnic if the fickle skies of Bonny Scotland don't bring rain. Departing from past Margaret birthdays, no big evening party has been scheduled for Balmoral Castle. Instead, a family dinner was ordered.

Policeman Wounded

Minneapolis police patrolman Ward Canfield, 35, yells in pain as he is unloaded from an ambulance to be carried into a hospital after he was wounded in a gun battle. After he was shot, Canfield was run over by the gunman's car. Another officer, Robert H. Fossum, 31, was killed in the fight.

Missing Coed's Mother Feels Sure Her Daughter Is Dead

FORT WORTH (AP)—"My daughter is dead. I've felt that from the beginning. But I've always tried not to let that feeling keep me from tracing down every possible lead."

In nine years the mother of Virginia Carpenter has traced more leads than she can remember—some promising, others fantastic, a few cruel.

The daughter, 21, disappeared from the TSCW campus in Denton June 1, 1948.

Speaking from Midland, where she now lives with the husband she married 13 months ago, Mrs. Charley Smith told the Star-Telegram:

"I hope and pray that the case will now be settled once and for all. I've experienced death in my family—my first husband dying, then my father, then my mother—but the suspense of not knowing how my daughter died is worse."

"Only faith has sustained me." That Virginia Carpenter is dead is a feeling that grows stronger in the mother as each year passes.

"My experience with my daughter was such that I know she would have gotten word to me had she still been alive," Mrs. Smith said.

Mrs. Smith believes that it was possible that Virginia, under duress or perhaps from the influence of drugs, was sold into white slavery.

"My daughter was not a strong girl. If she had been held by force or had been given drugs, she probably could have lived through it."

The Denton officers tried awfully hard to tell me that she ran away voluntarily. I never could see it. I've spent days and nights going back over our lives together to see if there was anything that could have made my daughter want to run away from me.

"I never could reason it out." The officers, she said, also tried the theory that Virginia was pregnant and that's why she disappeared.

"I don't believe that either. There were only two boys in her romantic life. One lived in Texarkana and she cared for him more than he seemed to care for her."

"The other boy lived in Dallas and was the one who first discovered that Virginia was missing. He is now living in Kansas and is married. The police checked him out all the way."

Bailiff's Smiles Cause Mistrials

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Roy J. (Rusty) Burrell, 31, a bailiff, will be known around the courthouse from now on as the man whose smiles cause mistrials.

Rusty won $2,091 in damages yesterday for injuries he and his wife Clara suffered in an auto accident last year. But not before Rusty's broad grin caused two mistrials.

Defense counsel called it "a knowing smile" when Rusty's face lit up during questioning of a prospective juror. So the jury was dismissed. Then when Rusty smiled friendly like at the judge, under whom he had served briefly as bailiff, defense counsel again protested. Jury again dismissed.

So the case was transferred to another judge. This time Rusty kept a straight face and won.

Ohio P-TA Raises Money For Grade School French

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—When the parents got together and offered to put up the money themselves for a trial course in French at an elementary school here, how could the school board say no?

The board did not turn them down, but there was considerable objection before the program was approved for Fairlawn school.

Board members objected at first because of the "general philosophy involved," as Robert Mohler put it.

Mohler said he "shuddered at the idea that education may be based on the ability of parents to pay."

Speakers for the Fairlawn PTA, which has promised to collect a minimum of $4,200—about $8 per family for the year—say it is not an attempt to bring "special privileges to any one school."

School officials have been asked to study the trial program and investigate the possibilities of introducing language studies in all elementary schools.

Asst. School Supt. Albert J. Dillehay said he made a survey recently of 134 Ohio elementary schools and that of 129 schools which responded only 11 offered "some, not much" instruction in foreign languages at the grade school level.

School officials believe Fairlawn will be the first elementary school in Ohio to offer a foreign language throughout the grades.

Tech Profs Drop Out Of U.N. Plan

LUBBOCK (AP)—Three Texas Tech faculty members have refused to serve on a local committee on United Nations Week, indicating that they feared the U.N. might be considered controversial by the college.

The Lubbock Journal said it was indicated in conversations that the recent action of the Tech board, which in effect fired three professors for their controversial activities, was the basis for their decision not to serve on the committee.

School May Solve Engineer Shortage

By HOWARD BENEDICT
NEW YORK (AP)—Sixty graduate engineers are hard at work in a new school that may be industry's answer to the nation's acute shortage of trained technical personnel.

The students, all employees of Western Electric Co., are divided among three classroom sites — New York, Chicago and Winston-Salem, N.C.

All are recent college graduates, but their school is designed to help them specialize in their field and aid practicing engineers in keeping abreast of rapidly changing developments.

Western Electric is pioneering its program to integrate its engineers more rapidly and to establish a program for practicing engineers that can keep up with the times.

The firm invested 1½ million dollars to get its idea started and expects to spend 2½ million dollars a year to keep it going. The number of students will increase gradually until mid-1958 when 540 will be attending classes.

There are three phases in the training program:

1. Introductory students in this nine-week phase are young engineers, fresh out of college, who have been with the company from three to six months. They are taught the relationship of engineering to industry so they can more readily make the transition from college life to practical industrial engineering. Courses also are aimed at discovering an individual's strengths and weaknesses in his field.

2. General development. After completing the introductory phase, the young engineers return to the company for six to eight months and then come back to school for this nine-week course. This phase teaches more advanced technical subjects and further strengthens a student's weak spots. An extensive human relations course is part of this phase.
3. Advanced development. This four-week training is open to new engineers who have completed Phases 1 and 2 and to all of Western Electric's 7,000 engineers. Courses are concerned with extremely technical subjects and with latest advances. Because technology is advancing so fast, an engineer may take this course as often as every two years to keep abreast of developments.

Students are selected on a basis of need and desire. They attend classes eight hours a day, five days a week at the center nearest their plant, with all expenses paid by the company. Instructors grade the students.

Cooperating universities are New York University, Cornell, Northwestern, Illinois Institute of Technology, Duke and North Carolina State.

Girard Hires, Fires And Then Re-Hires Master Jap Lawyer

By KAY TATEISHI
TOKYO (AP)—GI William S. Girard hired, fired and then rehired one of Japan's master courtroom strategists as chief defense attorney for his Japanese trial on charges of killing a woman scrap metal collector.

Itsuro Hayashi, a 64 a chubby, affable connoisseur of fine foods, is rated one of Japan's top trial lawyers. Hayashi himself is confident Girard could have picked no better attorney.

"I am the most capable criminal lawyer in Japan," he says with no trace of conceit. "My record speaks for itself."

Hayashi will mastermind the defense of the 21-year-old Illinois soldier charged with the death of Mrs. Naka Sakai on a lonely firing range last Jan. 30. The trial opens Monday in Maebashi District Court, about 80 miles north of here.

Girard fired Hayashi June 8 on orders from his older brother in Ottawa, Ill., at the height of an international controversy over whether Japan had jurisdiction over the controversial case. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in favor of Japan and Girard and his legal military adviser, Maj. Stanley Levin, reinstated Hayashi.

Hayashi—fond of sports, which he follows on television—was a swimmer, a marathon runner and a kendo fencer (Japanese fencing) during his youth. He is married and has an adopted daughter, now married.

Today he maintains a modest law office on the second floor of a big wine shop in the heart of Tokyo. His office is lined with books on Japanese jurisprudence. He himself has never written a book on law, but his prolific pen turns out endless travelogues and essays on food for magazines.

His brother-in-law Hentaro Taketsuchi says Hayashi regards the Girard case as the most important he has handled.

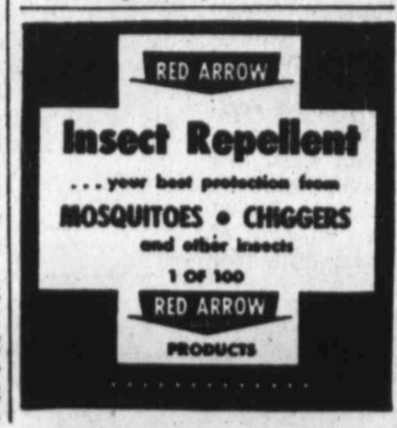

He does not speak English and has never been outside Japan. He confers with Girard through an interpreter.

Hayashi, who doesn't smoke but takes an occasional drink of sake, first gained prominence serving on a five-member trial counsel defending 12 young military cadet rebels who mutinied and murdered Prime Minister Ruyoshi Inukai and a guard May 12, 1932. All escaped with light prison terms.

Hayashi previously has defended four American soldiers, including a friend of Girard's. Hayashi believes this was the primary reason Girard selected him as his defense counsel.

"I will not let public opinion influence my work," Hayashi says. "I will seek a just and fair trial and will defend my client to the best of my ability."

Procter Still Wants Cage Before Some Grand Jury

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Atty. Les Procter said today it does not matter whether his Travis County grand jury or the Dallas grand jury hears elusive promoter Ben-Jack Cage first.

"It is immaterial when we talk to him," Procter said, "but we do want to talk to him soon."

Procter said he would let Dallas have the first crack at Cage if jurors there want it.

The Travis County grand jury had issued a subpoena for Cage to appear yesterday, but the promoter of the now-defunct ICT Insurance Co. of Dallas did not show. He is free on $10,000 bond and out of state.

Cage has been served with a subpoena to talk with the Dallas grand jury Sept. 3 about his connections with ICT.

Both the grand juries took up the investigations after legislative committees earlier this year probed the Cage-promoted company. A special House investigating committee organized last week and sent Texas Rangers after Cage to bring him in for questioning next Monday.

However, Cage's Dallas lawyer, M. B. Irion, said Cage is in Los Angeles visiting his sick mother, Mrs. Jack V. Cage. House Committee Chairman Reagan Huffman of Marshall confirmed Cage was not in Texas. Cage cannot be served with a subpoena if he is out of state.

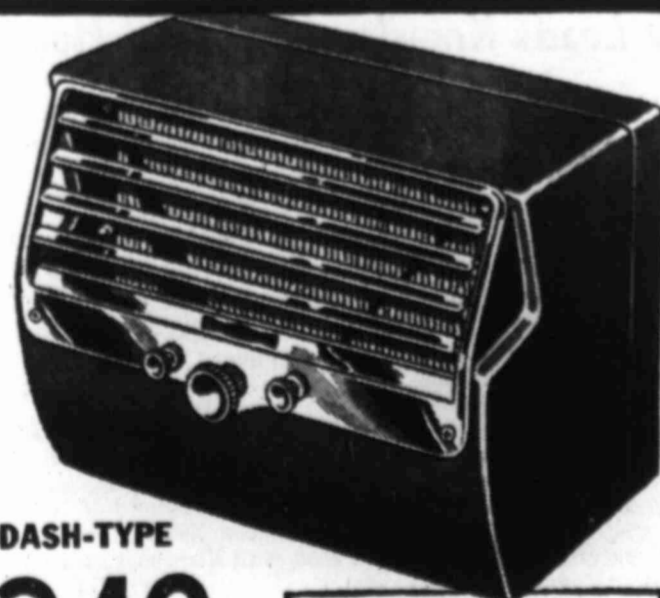

The Dallas grand jury has re-issued two indictments against Cage, charging him with embezzling more than $600,000 from the labor-backed insurance company. The Travis County grand jury has not taken any action other than questioning Cage's former business associates.

A Bible Thought For Today

And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not. (Jonah 3:10)

Two Hopeful Developments

The board of Texas Tech has, for its own purposes, closed the matter of the three professors whose contracts were not renewed. Flatty, the board declined public hearings. While the chairman coyly declined to give any reason, the vice chairman indicated that the reason for not renewing the contract was that at least two of the three had become controversial figures. In the board's opinion this was sufficient reason; and having made the decision the board and Tech will be obliged to live with it.

Whether this will have any far-reaching effects upon the accreditation of the school or upon the ability to the administration to get and hold competent instructors remains to be established by time. There is probably little likelihood of any substantial exodus of teaching personnel. The greater risk would be in attracting the calibre of minds demanded by a great school if doubts of independence of thought exist.

Tremendously Important Rain

Although it wasn't the sort of rain that starts at the Brazos and goes all the way to the Rio Grande and soaks from the Panhandle to the coastal plain, Sunday's showers were so timely that their value will be difficult to over-estimate. There is several hundred fields, the moisture coming at the time and in the amount that it did will be the difference between a fair to good crop and practically no crop.

ful developments. One is the ready embracing of the resolution requiring a majority vote of board members attending before an executive session can be held. The closed door session out of which came the failure to renew the three contracts likely caused the board more pain and did more to put it in a disadvantageous position than any other thing.

The other is the move to establish a more definite personnel and professional policy. Until now, the Tech board has been playing it more or less by ear. Perhaps the framework of policy which will spell out responsibility along with freedom of thought and inquiry will fix procedures under which future incidents can be evaluated and resolved.

What's been done has been done, and the results will in time prove whether it was the wisest course. Meantime, let us get on with the constructive business of building Tech into the great institution that West Texas must have.

ling good full stalks and heads. Cotton, with its tap roots buried deep of necessity, got a timely boost. Here again there was enough rain in some parts of the county to insure substantial to heavy fruiting. Some fields shortly will have half a bale to the acre on the plants, and some will best that by the first of September.

Ranges, already blistered for lack of followup moisture on the heels of copious spring rains, will get a start toward autumn recovery while there is yet a chance for grass and beneficial forage to make and mature before frost. That could be vastly important for cattlemen trying to carry herds through next winter.

Making Mr. McElroy As Pure As His Soap

WASHINGTON.—What was good for Procter & Gamble, the big soap company, is now to be good for the country and vice versa. For Neil McElroy, named to succeed Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense, is one of the ablest businessmen in the country.

But it is a curious commentary on the depths to which pseudo-morality has sunk nowadays that Mr. McElroy has been required, in effect, to prove himself even more pure than Ivory soap, which is only "99 and 44-100 per cent pure," as the famous slogan goes. He has been compelled to meet congressional solicitude on the subject of "conflict of interest," which, of course, is concerned with how much soap the government buys from his company. This happens to be very little in proportion to the money spent for other things, such as motors and cars and trucks and tanks, which an automotive company can manufacture. Procter & Gamble makes good soap, but will the award of a contract by any military procurement officer who buys the product to help wash the faces of our troops now be suspect?

Mr. McElroy had to dispose of whatever stock he held in other companies, but the Senate committee permitted him to retain his holdings in Procter & Gamble and also his pension and insurance benefits from that company. The same privilege was granted when the late Martin Durkin was confirmed as Secretary of Labor and took a "leave of absence" from his post in the petroleum union.

The "conflict of interest" phobia is one of the most transparently hypocritical things that has happened to American public life. Mr. Wilson had to sell his General Motors stock, which, since he has been in office, has risen tremendously in value. So Mr. Wilson had to sacrifice any such gain—and it is a sizable amount. Likewise, he gave up, as does Mr. McElroy, a salary running close to $300,000 a year—and all this just to get $22,500 a year from the government, plus all the headaches and the suspicions of crookedness which the "conflict of interest" doctrine awakens in the public mind.

The assumption is that, if a public official owns stock in a company which does business with the government, he will somehow shape governmental action so as to give more profit to his own company than it would otherwise earn if he were not in office.

The soundness of this artificial basis for insuring honesty in government becomes apparent when it is noted that, while both Charlie Wilson and Neil McElroy can sell their stocks and separate themselves from their previous businesses, they cannot take any action to convince Congress that they will separate themselves from the friendships of a life time.

If they were the kind of men who would forget their oath of office—which requires them to be faithful to the government they are pledged to serve—they wouldn't need to be former stockholders in any company to throw things its way.

Perhaps the most plausible explanation for these waves of suspicion came in the final report made a few days ago by a committee of the House of Representatives which had investigated the case of Robert Tripp Ross, who recently resigned as an assistant secretary of defense after charges had been made that his family had "multimillions" of contracts with the Defense Department.

The defense facts were that Mr. Ross occupied a post in the Department of Defense that had nothing to do with the awarding of contracts. He divested himself of his business connections but could not, of course, compel his wife to do so, as she was an active partner in the business which her family has established long before she married him. But as some contracts for uniforms continued to go to the firm, just as they had before Mr. Ross joined the Defense Department, an agitation ensued—perhaps initiated by his competitors. The investigating committee says that Mr. Ross did nothing wrong himself and was faithful to his oath but the "fact that he occupied a high and influential post in the Department of Defense would not be lost upon military procurement officers." This, of course, would be an exaggerated view. The principle gets back to the fact that the integrity of men who sacrifice to take public posts must be given a degree of acceptance.

What Others Say

Of more than passing interest to the oil industry was the announcement that the U. S. Air Force has ordered mass production of a super jet fuel based on common borax. The implications are tremendous, both economically and defensively.

It certainly is too early to guess what effect the new fuel will have on the oil industry, if any, but the prospect of American-based bombers going around the world without refueling is on the horizon.

A pilot plant has been producing this new fuel which is said to increase the efficiency of jet planes by 50 per cent. Now, quantity production has been ordered in a $36 million plant to be built by the Air Force. The new fuel is said to be clear and oily, a far cry from the powdery borax that troubled American prospectors in our western deserts.

The new jet fuel has been identified as HEF-2. It may not be the ultimate fuel because rocketeers are looking for an efficient solid fuel for their intercontinental missiles and space ships, but the imagination is stirred by the thought that the powder used to clean the kitchen sink could be chemically treated to power, a plane around the world.

Secretary of State Dulles came pretty close to the brink of incomprehension with a phrase he dropped into a recent statement on disarmament.

The new product of the most prolific phrase-maker in public life today is "theoretical optimum desideratum." All that means is "the thing most wanted."

If Mr. Dulles were disarmed of all his 10-back words and show-off phraseology we know we'd understand him better. Probably so would the foreign diplomats and interpreters he deals with.

Around The Rim

Apathy Sets The Stage

Anyone can have a Duval if conditions and attitudes are right. It just so happened that South Texas was made to order, but certainly it has no monopoly on George Parrs.

These were some of the conclusions to be drawn from listening to Caro Brown, who backed into newspapering and a Pulitzer prize through her remarkable work in the chain of events surrounding the crumbling of the Parr empire.

Mrs. Brown is a friendly, modest lady of slight stature which houses a great, quiet courage. She is not a fluent speaker, but she compels attention. She does not have a soap box or a thirst for vengeance, but she has a simple message and sense of right.

When she took a job on a newspaper in Alice, Mrs. Brown was woman's editor. Getting personals and club meetings were the greatest of her worries, and conflicting forces which would center the attention of Texas (and for a time the nation) on that area were totally unknown to her. It was when she became a courthouse reporter that she was catapulted into an unbelievable world. It was uncomprehending but terribly real to her that a dictator could exist and flourish with apparent impunity in a free country.

Caro didn't intentionally take sides. In all her reporting she tried to be totally objective, reporting just the facts. But, as she recalled, if you report the truth in Duval you automatically take a side. To visiting newsmen who said they wanted total neutrality, she referred only to the courtroom occupied by the Parristas on one side and the anti-Parrs on the other. There weren't any seats for the neutrals.

And that was the way it was with Caro in a way, for she figured that right was right. Of all the frustrations she met, the greatest was the feeling that it was a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other.

To that she could only say: "Let's clear up what's wrong with the six, and then let's turn and correct what's wrong with the half dozen."

Listening to her story, you get some definite conclusions about Duvalism. In the South Texas case it grew out of the patron system where ranchers took care of the poor, ignorant peons. The late Sen. Archie Parr, father of George, was the man who stepped into the inevitable role of organizer of this potential source of political and personal power. The parallel with patronizing big city machines founded upon favors for the immigrants and poor is not lost.

Of course the super-patron, as in the case of George Parr, is generous. He can help see some young people through college; he can pay for doctor bills and funerals; he can finance new businesses. He can be generous, because he is being generous with money he steals from the people.

A patronizing generosity, however, is not enough to perpetuate a dictatorship or paralyzing political grip. The czar rules by fear. In Parr's case it was the pistol-arms—possibly 200 or more so-called armed deputies and special officers. No wonder none of the Freedom Party (anti-Parr) meetings were ever held in Duval County. No wonder no one (other than Parr supporters) ever said how he would vote or whom he would support. No wonder no one dared to take action openly, to ask questions, to howl about his constitutional right.

Another characteristic pointed out by Caro Brown is apathy...not just apathy which spanned the big boss, but, worse, the apathy which dulls the conscience of civic righteousness elsewhere. Not until the public's attention and indignation were aroused out of a realization that one man was in a position to control close state elections was the might of Texas arrayed against this fester. Once outside apathy returns, so will Parrism under another name.

Soft Spot In Mid-East Program

WASHINGTON — The soft spot in President Eisenhower's Middle East program shows up now in Syria, where pro-Soviet officers have grabbed control of the army.

That Eisenhower program was intended to stop the spread of communism into the Middle East. Eisenhower proposed it in a special message to Congress Jan. 5 Congress approved it March 7 in the form of a resolution which would let him:

Give economic aid and arms to Middle East countries and use American armed forces there to stop Communist aggression if an attacked country asked for such help.

Confronted with this, Communists were not likely to take a chance on direct attack in the Middle East. But they still had an alternative: to try to take over from within by subversion or even military means.

And Eisenhower's program had no direct answer for the question: What does the United States do if the Communists in any one country—or in one country after another—seized power by subversion?

Now the United States and its allies seem puzzled what to do about Syria. It still isn't clear

Red Tape Cutter

OKLAHOMA CITY — An Army helicopter pilot lost patience with red tape and got his craft fixed in a hurry. He walked to a hardware store for a part and paid for it with his own money.

CWO John Gray, from Ft. Sill, Okla., made an emergency landing here. He notified the Army he needed a small plug to fix a leaky gas line, and one was flown from Ft. Sill, 100 miles away.

Gray got the part, valued at about 60 cents, but found he needed another small part to finish.

Under Army regulations, the plane would have to return to Ft. Sill and fly back the part.

Gary got impatient, walked to a store, and purchased the part—for 40 cents.

whether the pro-Soviet officers' control of the army has made Syria a Russian satellite.

Yesterday the new Syrian army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry, deriding American leadership although speaking kindly of Eisenhower, accused this country of directing an assassination plot against members of the Syrian government.

Bizry was asked at a news conference in Syria if he was a Communist or pro-Soviet. He avoided a direct answer, but said: "It is forbidden for a person to carry thoughts?"

Venezuela Puts Finish On Huge Irrigation Project

CALABOZO, Venezuela — Down here in Guarico State—190 miles south of Caracas and in the heart of the big plains of Venezuela—workers are putting the finishing touches on one of South America's biggest flood control dams and irrigation projects.

The dam itself, constructed of earth, clay and rock and described as the biggest of its type on this continent, is now in operation after nearly two years of day and night work. It is nine miles long and 100 feet high in its highest point. Its base varies in width from 560 to 660 feet. It creates an artificial lake of some 94 square miles and stores up to 1,800,000,000 cubic meters of water.

The cost of the big project, pushed by the Venezuela ministries of agriculture and public works, tops 50 million dollars. It is designed to irrigate 470 square miles of rich land during the dry season and give a tremendous boost to the raising of beef cattle.

Venezuelan workers are building modern homes, corrals, outbuildings, water and sanitary installations, and 200 miles of canals that will distribute the dam's water over 300,000 acres of land.

All of this work is to be completed by Dec. 2—the target date annually for all of the big public works projects undertaken by the Venezuelan government and involving an expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Eighty per cent of the vast lands to be irrigated by the dam will be used exclusively for the grazing of cattle. The aim is to produce more and better beef and thereby put a further dent in this nation's imports, most of which come from the United States. Ten per cent of all Venezuelan imports at present are foodstuffs.

The rest of the watered plains area is for crops of rice, corn, beans and other vegetables. Venezuelans settling here will have farms of 400 to 500 acres each.

The government predicts farm and cattle production in Guarico State will increase 540 per cent once the project is in full operation.

Raymond Massey, The Lincoln Image

NEW YORK — A strange thing has happened to Raymond Massey.

Massey, a former tractor salesman who served as a soldier in two wars, also has achieved recognition as one of the world's leading actors.

He has appeared in 60 motion pictures and 150 plays. All his life he has clung to one thesis about his profession — that an actor should never identify himself personally or emotionally with a role he plays, for if he does his performance will be poorer.

So what happens? When awestruck strangers meet Massey for the first time, they all expect his first words of greetings will be, "Four score and seven years ago."

For to millions, Massey is the man who took Abraham Lincoln off the penny and made him a living image again. To them he is Lincoln.

"When people ask me if I don't get tired of portraying Lincoln, I get a definite homicidal urge," remarked Massey, pointing out that it is nearly 18 years since he opened on Broadway in Robert Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illi-nois."

"Since then I have played him only a few times in radio and television."

But next month he will portray the Great Emancipator again during a 72-city road tour of Norman Corwin's "The Rivalry," the story of the famed Lincoln-Douglas debates.

(The Massey troupe is scheduled for a performance in Big Spring under the sponsorship of The Big Spring Concert Association).

Massey is happy to return to his most famous role, but for his own reasons.

"Actually, I'd kill any one with my bare hands who tried to get the part away from me," he said, cheerfully knotting his big fists.

"But not because of a missionary urge, or because it suits my politics — although I am so Republican it makes my skin crack. It's simply because the role itself is so overwhelming. I'd be glad to play the devil — if he gets enough good lines."

The Gallup Poll

Kennedy Leads Knowland In 'Trial Heat'

PRINCETON, N. J.—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts runs ahead of Sen. William F. Knowland of California in a "trial heat" race designed to measure their relative popularity at the present time.

When a representative group of voters located in all sections of the country were asked by Institute interviewers how they would vote if Kennedy and Knowland were the opposing presidential candidates, their answers divided in this manner:

KENNEDY VS. KNOWLAND

	Per Cent
Kennedy	51
Knowland	37
Undecided	12

Analysis of the survey results indicates that Kennedy's edge over Knowland comes largely from his greater appeal to Independent voters.

This group, which is made up of voters who claim no allegiance to either party and which holds the balance of power in U. S. elections, votes as follows on the question asked in the survey:

INDEPENDENTS ONLY

	Per Cent
Kennedy	49
Knowland	34
Undecided	17

Two out of every three persons who classify themselves as Republicans prefer Knowland to Kennedy, as the following table shows:

REPUBLICANS ONLY

	Per Cent
Knowland	66
Kennedy	22
Undecided	12

Sen. Kennedy gets the support of eight out of every 10 persons who classify themselves as Democrats:

DEMOCRATS ONLY

	Per Cent
Kennedy	80
Knowland	12
Undecided	8

Of interest is the fact that Kennedy runs ahead of Knowland in all sections of the country, except one. Knowland leads in the West, which includes his native state of California. Kennedy runs strongest in the South and East.

This "trial heat" represents a race between two possible contenders for the nomination who are among the favorites of the rank-and-file in their own parties.

The Institute's first candidate popularity showed Sen. Estes Kefauver named as their first choice today by 29 per cent of Democrats interviewed, with Kennedy receiving 23 per cent.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon topped the Republican list of favorites with 48 per cent, with Knowland next with 12 per cent.

Obviously the course of events between now and 1960 will have an important bearing on the popularity of each man and his "availability" for the nomination at that time.

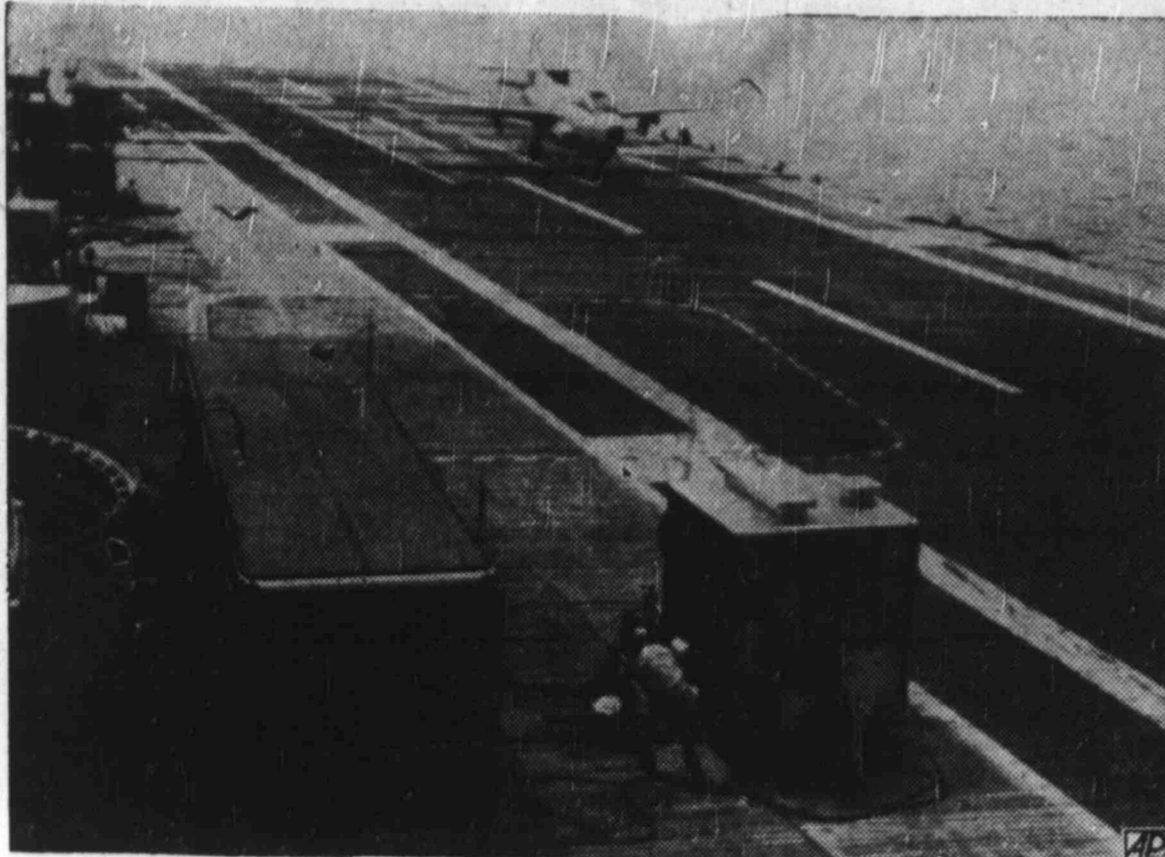

Sen. Knowland has announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate next year. He has not yet given a definitive answer to questions as to whether he will run for governor of California next year or seek the GOP nomination for President in 1960.

Trial heat surveys are conducted in much the same manner as the regular election surveys undertaken by the Gallup Poll and the record of these "election rehearsals" as barometers of future trends is remarkable.

For example, in its first trial heat survey between President Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson in April, 1954, two and a half years before the 1956 election—the Institute reported the vote dividing 55 per cent for Eisenhower, 45 per cent for Stevenson.

In April, 1956, when a GOP ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon was matched in a trial heat against a Democratic ticket of Stevenson and Kefauver, sentiment divided 57 per cent for Eisenhower-Nixon, 43 per cent for Stevenson-Kefauver.

In the election, the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket polled 57.8 per cent of the majority vote to 42.2 per cent for Stevenson-Kefauver.

Automatic Carrier Landing

A twin-jet F3D Sky Knight lands on the USS Antietam without the pilot touching his controls. Under the system, the pilot approaches within three miles of the carrier, pushes a button and sits back while his craft is brought home. The electronic system is housed in the control van on the carrier's deck, foreground. The push-button landing on the carrier was held in the Gulf of Mexico and was publicly demonstrated.

Administration On Cutting Spree, Aimed At Lower Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is whacking away at the federal payroll and at far-flung government programs in an economy drive aimed at making a tax cut possible next year.

Government agencies are under orders not to fill any job vacancies caused by death, retirement or resignation without specific and prior approval.

They have been told too to cut spending by as much as a billion dollars below the $71,800,000,000 proposed for this year by President Eisenhower in his budget message to Congress. And the aim is to hold next year's spending at or below the level of this year.

A top administration adviser said today, "We've had these things before. But this time we really mean business. There is far too much fat, everywhere in the government. We're going to cut, cut, cut."

This jibed with an opinion expressed yesterday by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), long-time economy advocate who was sharply critical in January when Eisenhower proposed a record peacetime spending budget.

SEES SIGNS

Byrd said he sees signs that the administration is making an earnest effort to cut federal spending, and he added: "If this trend continues, I believe we can look forward to a reduced budget next year instead of the increased spending that the administration previously planned."

The administration adviser said a determined effort is being made to whittle down the federal payroll, which has climbed by 3,319 in the last eight months to a total of 2,285,211. The civilian monthly payroll is now running at close to a billion dollars.

Government agencies also have been given specific instructions on other steps expected of them.

The Defense Department is under orders to try to cut its spending by at least half a billion dollars this year. The Pentagon has ordered ships to be laid up, aircraft production slowed down and civilian and uniformed payrolls reduced.

The Commerce Department has been told to take a hard look at its maritime program, and come up with some savings. The entire question of a heavily subsidized merchant marine is under review.

All agencies have been told that if their essential programs are going to cost more next year than they are now costing, other programs within their jurisdictions will have to be cut to absorb the increases.

Barring some unforeseen developments, no agency will get more next year than it is getting this fiscal year, which began July 1.

FIGURES NOT CERTAIN

Just what those figures will be isn't certain. The House reduced Eisenhower's requests by more than five billion dollars in passing 15 regular money bills. The Senate, on 13 bills, cut those requests by more than three billion. Some of this may be restored later in supplemental appropriations.

Byrd said he expects Congress to make a cut of about six billion dollars in Eisenhower's request for $73,300,000,000 in new appropriations. That figure is larger than the spending total Eisenhower proposed, since some of the new money sought from Congress would not be spent until subsequent years.

Thus far the economy drive, while not really a secret, isn't being ballyhooed from the house-tops either. That's primarily because no one is quite sure just what can be done about a tax cut in 1958.

Furthermore, even a slight slackening in the nation's booming prosperity could lower tax revenues and wipe out any planned surplus.

However, assuming continued prosperity and success in holding down federal spending, a tax cut next year is almost as certain as taxes themselves.

Lutherans May Be Forced To Change Pattern

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Communist oppression may force the Lutheran Church to change its structures to survive in countries behind the Iron Curtain, an East German bishop said today.

This change, he said, could be from the semistate-church form common in Germany to "new forms of free and active congregations ready to witness and if need be to battle."

In an address prepared for the Lutheran World Federation's third assembly, Bishop Friedrich Wilhelm Krummacker of Pomerania insisted "We are never fighting for a lost cause even if our present church forms should be discontinued."

"We who live in countries ruled by communism and are aware of the radical changes in our social conditions, have the duty as well as the freedom soberly to examine the question whether or not the traditional parochial system of the folk-church should be superseded by new forms," he said.

His talk was one of the frankest outlines of Christianity's role behind the Iron Curtain yet presented at the assembly.

"Pain, suffering and persecution are some of the means by which the Lord unites His church," the bishop said. "The church will experience anew that seasons of tribulation, oppression and even bloody persecution may be especially blessed and profitable."

A persecuted church, he said, at all costs must avoid "three forms of hopelessness." He listed these as defeatism, compromise "for the sake of a foul peace," and purely negative political resistance.

Uncle Ray: Interesting Facts Remain In Memory

By RAMON COFFMAN

We may divide memories in two main kinds—personal and general.

A man may remember his first ride in an automobile or railway train. That is a "personal" memory. The facts which he remembers may differ widely from those of a friend who also has a story to tell about his early rides in those vehicles.

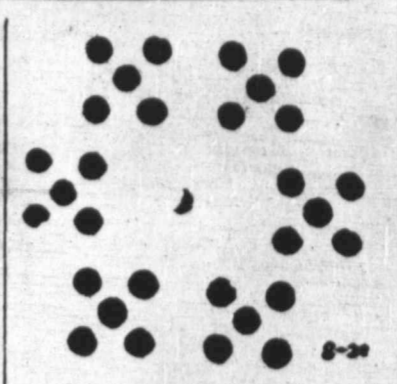

A general memory, on the other hand, is likely to be similar to what others remember. For example, all members of a group may recall that George Stephenson, a British engineer, was an important pioneer in building railway locomotives.

Also we may have general memories of the Battle of Hastings, and may be able to tell that it took place 891 years ago, that King Harold lost the battle to William the Conqueror.

In the same way we have general memories about science. We may, or may not, remember the number of moons which go around the planet Jupiter, or which circle Saturn.

It is possible to have personal memories of how we learned facts about science. I recall, for example, how I located the heart of a crayfish back in my high school days. A pretty girl (with brown eyes which I remember with special pleasure) showed me the heart in a crayfish which had been dissected in part. I had been looking for something red, but the heart which was pointed out to me had a buff shade.

Speaking of school reminds me

A quick test of memory can be made by looking at the spots above for two or three seconds, then turning away and telling how many spots you saw. You can check yourself by counting.

For many a student has been heard to say, "I did know, but I forgot." When we keep forgetting, our memories hardly deserve any compliments!

A good memory is of high value. When we can call on facts as we need them, life goes along more smoothly.

If we read something because it holds interest for us, we are likely to remember the fact.

U.S. Seeks To Find If Spies Renounced Citizenship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wants to find out whether Martha Dodd Stern and her husband — both named as Russian spies — have renounced their American citizenship.

The couple recently obtained Paraguayan passports. They are now in Prague, capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, with their 12-year-old son.

A State Department spokesman was asked yesterday about reports the couple relinquished U.S. citizenship before leaving Mexico. "We have no information on that," the spokesman said. "We are looking into it."

Mrs. Stern is the daughter of the late William E. Dodd, U.S. ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1938. Her husband is Alfred K. Stern, a former New York investment broker.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities said last Saturday the two were named as Soviet agents in testimony by Boris Morros, a counterspy for the FBI.

Before leaving Mexico, the Sterns had faced possible extradition to New York to testify at a federal grand jury investigation into espionage.

Yesterday, a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy at Prague said the Sterns arrived there July 21, and that Stern said they were tourists not fugitives. The embassy spokesman said Stern described the spy charges as fantastic.

The State Department says the couple applied for, but did not receive, U.S. passports in Moscow last year. Officials said the Sterns did not respond to a request to sign a non-Communist affidavit.

Little Stole

Norwegian blue fox in soft moon-light tones makes this beautiful stole; flattering and budget-priced.

Matched Pair

This sophisticated black cocktail hat and giant matching muff, both trimmed with velvet, are made of Southwest African Persian lamb, a new fur favorite.

Little Furs Top Want List

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
The current feminine fashions take to fur accents like a small boy to a lollipop.
Fur hats, fur muffs, fur stoles, fur belts and bags are the newest notes in the era of elegance. In many cases they are preferred to fur coats.
Many a woman this year chooses a plain black fabric coat, cut on simple lines, and adds the luxury touch of a fur hat and matching muff — and the fur may be anything from mink to American broad-tail, depending on her tastes and her budget. If she doesn't want a muff she may substitute a king-size fur handbag, or a fur collar or ascot, which may be worn with suits as well.

Small, close-fitting stoles also are important in the fur lineup, with fluffy Norwegian fox a new favorite. This handsome and luxurious fur comes at budget prices, and looks like a million.
The wise buyer will find an unlimited assortment of fur accessories in the shops this year, in all price ranges. A trifle such as a fur belt and matching ascot, for instance, would delight any fashion-wise woman. A fur beret would make a young girl do nips-ups in joy. For the woman who likes dramatic fashions, a huge fur muff would be just the ticket.

Davis-Yarbrough Vows Exchanged In Lamesa

LAMESA — Wedding vows exchanged Friday evening united in marriage Virginia Nell Davis and Donald Campbell Yarbrough. The ceremony was held in the First Methodist Church in Panhandle at 7:30 p.m.
Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Davis and Mrs. O. C. Yarbrough of Weslaco.

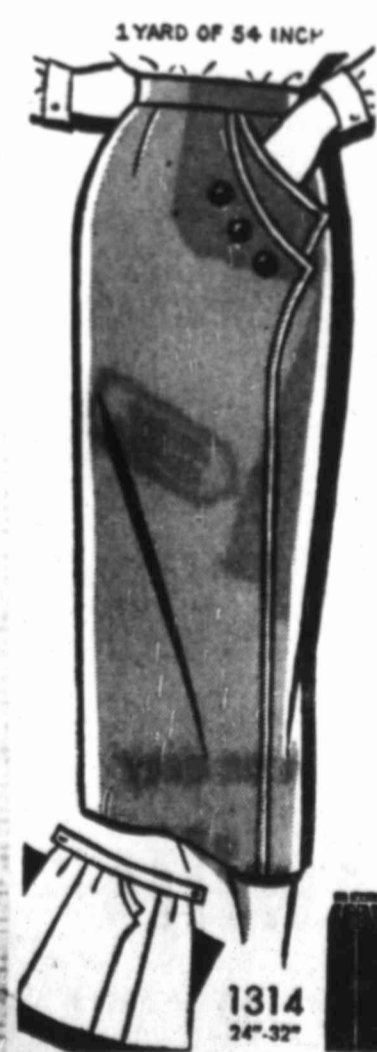

The double ring ceremony was read by the bride's brother, the Rev. John Leslie Davis of Midland.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white bridal satin fashioned with a boat neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a floor length skirt which fell from a softly fitted torso and extended to a cathedral train in back. She carried a bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible.

Family Reunion Is Held In Lamesa

LAMESA — Members of the Kennedy, Witt and Snelson families held a reunion Saturday and Sunday at the Labor Camp. The reunion has been held each year on August 17-18 for the past 57 years.
Eleven of the seventeen charter family members were present for the reunion. Over 150 attended or called during the two day reunion.

Baptist Temple WMU Has Royal Service

The recreation hall of the Baptist Temple Church was set as an outdoor garden Tuesday when the WMU presented the Royal Service program. In charge of the program was the Fisher circle.
Lawn chairs and a tea table, surrounded by varied garden flowers, helped to establish the scene. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and china appointments were used to serve the various women portraying women of different WMU organizations.
Staged as a Baptist Woman's conference the informal gathering at the tea first heard from Mrs. Josef Nordening, wife of the seminary president, portrayed by Mrs. Monroe Gafford.
Mrs. A. R. Posey played Mrs. Ruth Pepper, the president of the European Baptist WMU. The part of the Spanish WMU president, Mrs. Naomi Bonet, was played by Mrs. Robert Hill. Acting as the Italian WMU president, Mrs. Elvira Sacco, was Mrs. B. F. Mabe with Mrs. Kenneth Huff playing the former missionary to Yugoslavia, Mrs. John Allen Moore.
Others participating on the program were Mrs. Gariand Sanders, Mrs. S. J. Kamm and Mrs. D. D. Johnston.
The program was opened with a song, "Fairer Lord Jesus," directed by Mrs. Hill with Mrs. Posey at the piano. Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Gafford offered prayers.
During the business meeting the group voted to meet Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at the church to finish the quilts which will be given to the Indians of New Mexico. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon Tuesday.
Mrs. Tom Buckner reminded members of the Waco houseparty which will run three days beginning Aug. 25.
Mrs. Hill read a thank you card from Mrs. Jack Haptonstall, past president of the WMU.
Mrs. Hill also reported on the picnic given recently for the Sunbeam band of the church. She told the group that 26 youngsters had attended the swimming and picnic party. Eight WMU women helped with the picnic.
Members of the Horace Buddin Circle, with Mrs. Victor Crowell as chairman, served refreshments.

2 Midland Girls Die In Icebox

MIDLAND, Tex. (U)—Two young girls were found dead in an abandoned icebox last night, hours after they disappeared while playing. The victims were Marie Grissmore, 4, and Rose Mary Edwards, 3. The bodies were found huddled side-by-side in the old icebox, a type which locks from the outside.

Crowd Pushed Back

State police carrying long riot sticks push back Levittown, Pa., residents near the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Myers, first Negro family to move into this planned community of previously all-white residents. One man was arrested in what police say was a rock-throwing in which a state trooper was struck.

Cop's Injury Brings On Ban Against Crowds In Levittown

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (U)—State police today banned gatherings of more than three persons in the neighborhood of Levittown's first Negro home owner after an officer was injured by a stone hurled from the midst of a crowd of demonstrators.

Some 400 persons congregated in the quiet suburban streets near the home of William Myers, 34, and his family last night for the second evening in a row. Jeers and cat-calls greeted officers who kept the crowd in check.

Suddenly, a stone hurled from the milling throng struck Sgt. Tom Stewart of the Bristol Township police. Stewart, bleeding from one ear, fell to the ground. Some 20 state and local police quickly broke up the crowd, taking three persons into custody.

Stewart was sent to Lower Bucks County Hospital, where doctors said he had a possible brain concussion. He was held at the hospital for observation.

Immediately after the stoning incident, Maj. William Ruch of the state police said he would permit no further gatherings of more than three persons in the neighborhood.

Crowds of varying size have been protesting the arrival of the Myers family ever since it became known they had bought the $12,150 ranch-type home in this planned community of 60,000 in southeastern Pennsylvania. Some twelve persons have been arrested on minor charges.

Police last night arrested Clayton Gould, 37, Levittown, and William Duff, 18, of nearby Fairless Hills. Both were fined $10 plus $5 in costs on charges of disorderly conduct. Paul Sullivan, 15, Levittown, was arrested on an open charge and released in the custody of his parents.

ucated refrigeration technician, his wife Daisy and their youngest child, 2-year-old Linda, moved into their new home Monday. Their other two children, boys aged 4 and 3 are visiting relatives in York, Pa.

Cotton Pests Stage Major 'Invasion'

Just when cotton farmers were enjoying the improved prospects of a good crop that the recent valuable rains provided, they are finding themselves confronted with another major invasion of their legendary enemy, the cotton leaf worm and the cotton boll worm.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that the second (in some fields it's the third) crop of the leaf worms is now very much in evidence.

"There's the largest crop of eggs I have seen in a long time," said Taylor. "You find as high as 10 eggs on a single leaf in many fields—and that's a record number in any year."

The eggs are hatching out rapidly and thousands upon thousands of tiny worms have begun their devastation of cotton plants, he said.

Boll worms, too, are becoming dangerously abundant, Taylor said.

The second crop of the leaf worms at this time was expected since the life cycle of the pest is well known, Taylor pointed out. He had anticipated their reappearance at this season and the farmers were well aware that their old foes would make a new attack.

The only distressing factor, Taylor observed, is the heavy infestation indicated by the egg crop and by the hatchout of so many worms.

Farmers are already back in the fields with their poison and Taylor said that prompt action will forestall the assault of the worms. The rains came on the heels of the last poisoning applied by the growers and nullified, to a degree, the full effectiveness of that attack.

Now the job is to be done over and already Taylor reports the growers are hard at the task.

The rains, he said, were highly beneficial. They appear to have been general all over the county although in some sections, not enough was received to do the job as it should be.

As a whole, however, the recent rain was just what the doctor ordered. Most cotton growers are highly optimistic. They feel tolerably certain, Taylor said, that they can lick the worm and bug problem and that the moisture the rains provided will almost certainly guarantee a crop.

Cotton, as might be expected, is at all stages of growth. Some crops, which were planted early and which survived the initial assault of sand storms, are far advanced. Others, planted later, are still further down the development stage.

In general the cotton prospects over the county look the best they have in several years, Taylor reported.

The rains were highly helpful to the grain crops which were suffering badly.

Airliner Makes Emergency Landing

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (U)—A German airliner with 80 Americans aboard ran into engine trouble over the Atlantic today and turned back to make a safe emergency landing here. The Lufthansa Super G Constellation was 700 miles off the Irish coast—almost halfway across the Atlantic—in a flight from Hamburg to New York when an engine failed. Airline spokesmen said the big airliner was in no serious danger but took no chances and flew back to Shannon on three engines.

Drag Races Set Sunday At WAFB

The Big Spring Timing Association will stage its sixth Drag Event on the track at Webb AFB Sunday afternoon.

The races will come just one week prior to the big National Drag races to be held at Oklahoma City, and Howard DeShazo, one of the local leaders, said some of the leading cars in the Southwest are expected here for final check runs.

Gates to the track on the western edge of the air base open at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. However, guests may arrive as late as 2 p.m. without missing any of the program.

A special show, pitting a Ford against a Chevrolet, will be held at 2 o'clock. Loser of the race will push the winner down the drag strip in a wheel barrow while passing out prizes to owners of the car that wins, DeShazo said.

Several other special events will be held, said DeShazo. He announced also that Sir Reginald Van Davidson, professional starter, will again be on hand to help conduct the meet.

Admission charge will be $1 per person and all proceeds will go into the timing association's fund for a Big Spring Teen-Age Park.

The Big Spring Timing Association has timing equipment of the exact type to be used in the national races at Colorado City. DeShazo said the local group had considered calling off the Sunday races here because the event comes so close to the National Races.

However, numerous contestants requested that the meet be held at Webb AFB. The timing equipment of the precision timing equipment for last-minute check runs.

DeShazo reported that competition among local youths is growing. Sunday will see a surprise entry in the altered car class.

The car has been built since the last meet, July 22, and more than 500 hours of work has gone into its construction.

Heavies Rest For Title Bout On Thursday

SEATTLE (AP)—While the boxing world fumed over tomorrow's world heavyweight title fight between pro champ Floyd Patterson and amateur champ Pete Rademacher, the two principals were "unconcerned."

Their training ended, both made this a day of rest.

Patterson loafed at the quiet resort on Star Lake, 20 miles south of Seattle, where he has been quartered during his get-ready program.

Rademacher lolled around the house at North Bend, Wash., where he has lived for the last two weeks.

Pete yesterday boxed two fast rounds with his spar mates. Asked by surprised writers why he had continued heavy work so long, Pete replied easily, "I always have."

Patterson worked lightly, with no sparring. The champion will stay at Star Lake until Thursday morning, driving to Seattle for the noon weigh-in. Rademacher plans to move into the city tonight.

Cas D'Amato, Patterson's manager, said his titleholder probably will be at his heaviest for this fight. The former middleweight weighed 183½ when he met Tommy Jackson last month and D'Amato expects him to be a few pounds heavier for Rademacher.

Patterson was expected to weigh 210. He was 205 when he earned his crown at Melbourne but he has been as heavy as 214 in some of his 79 amateur bouts.

He feels the use of eight-ounce gloves, as ruled by the Washington State Athletic Commission, is in his favor. Patterson's camp would have preferred mitts with two ounces less padding.

Rademacher said he felt no excitement or tenseness.

"This is not like a tournament where you have two or three fights a day and have to keep fighting to stay in the running. I'm ready; I have been ready for a week. I feel I have nothing to lose, everything to gain."

Cas D'Amato, Patterson's manager, said "three or four" of the California boys arrived with colds and the coaches and managers decided on the postponement to give them a chance to play in the series.

Buff's Gain Half Game On Dallas

By The Associated Press

Houston gained half a game on Dallas Tuesday as the Texas League race pitched.

Houston cut the margin between first and second to eight games. Tommy Bowers tossed a three-hitter in sending Dallas to a 2-0 victory over Shreveport. It was his 17th decision and made him the winningest hurler in the circuit.

Dallas used only six hits. Houston took a double-header from Fort Worth 5-2 and 3-1 with Horvath Nunn pitching a three-hitter in the second game. Ray Dabek's three-run homer produced the first Austin beat Tulsa 3-3 in the first Houston triumph.

Monterey Plays Connecticut Team

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—The schedule for the three-day 11th annual Little League baseball world series was revised today because of colds suffered by several members of one team.

Managers and coaches of the "three or four" of the California boys arrived with colds and the coaches and managers decided on the postponement to give them a chance to play in the series.

The revision leaves the second semifinal between Monterey, Mexico and Bridgeport, Conn., the only game on today's schedule.

A Little League spokesman said "three or four" of the California boys arrived with colds and the coaches and managers decided on the postponement to give them a chance to play in the series.

Rush Slow In Developing For Season Grid Tickets

The rush for season tickets for the Steers' home games is rather slow, claims Don Crockett, special services director of the school system.

Through two days of sales, 122 season books have been sold, Crockett said today. This low number is attributed, however, to the fact that 1956 ticket holders have two weeks to pick up their tickets before they are thrown open to the general public. A book sells for $7.50.

The season ticket holders from last year have first option on the current season. Crockett said he looked for a rush on the tickets near the end of the two weeks.

Season ticket holders have until Aug. 30 to get their tickets before they go up for grabs.

Persons who did not buy a season book last year will get a chance to purchase them starting Sept. 3, Crockett said. All seats will be reserved this year, with all Big Spring fans to be on the west side. This includes all school students. The entire east side will be given to visiting fans and schools.

The season ticket covers the five home games for the Steers, with the first contest against Andrews here Sept. 13. Other home games are with Levelland, Kermit, Odessa and San Angelo.

Big State League May Fold Monday

ABILENE (AP)—The Big State League tottered today with Temple quitting to drop the membership to four and Corpus Christi likely to follow.

President Hal Sayles said that if Corpus Christi folds—and a decision will be made Monday—the Class B circuit, organized in 1947, would fold.

Soc Vratiss, Temple owner, notified Sayles yesterday he was returning the franchise to the league.

Whether Corpus Christi remains so the season can be completed Sept. 11 hinges on a request for help from the major league fund by Bob Hamrick, general manager of the Corpus Christi club.

"Both Hamrick and I have contacted William DeWitt, coordinator of the professional baseball leagues' fund committee, for emergency help which would enable the club to finish the season," Sayles said.

"We're hopeful that we get this aid. If not, the league probably would have to fold."

Hamrick was given until next Monday to decide whether to opt himself for the rest of the campaign. The Clippers' board of trustees set the deadline after they resigned Monday.

Sayles said the league expected to get information on the request for aid within three days.

Tom Betzell, Temple business manager, said the main reason the team folded was because only six of the 19 remaining games are home affairs. Out of this revenue, he said, the club would have to meet two payrolls.

Announces Move

Baseball Caught In Business Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—Big baseball like big business is changing with the times.

New markets have opened up since the war—for baseball as well as for business—and old ones shriveled.

Each of the moves of the Giants from New York to San Francisco are such forces as inflation, the high cost of living, the high cost of doing business, major advances in transportation, the impact of new industries, like television, competing for the consumer dollar.

Changing habits of the consumers, including the family car and the new cult of togetherness, play a big part. Participation sports, like boating, bring increasing sales to many industries—but less attendance for spectator sports.

Inflation is in the picture because the costs of running a big league baseball team have gone up. Gate receipts have followed a different path. The rising cost of living may play a part in that. After settling all the family bills there may be little left over for a trip to the ball park—especially if the wife remarks coldly that you could get the same result by switching on the TV set.

So the Giants are seeking fresh fields with less jaded fans. And the Brooklyn Dodgers may shortly follow them to the West Coast.

The Giants took in about 2¼ million dollars last year. Home game admissions brought the Dodgers around two million dollars, TV $750,000, and the World Series $295,000.

Estimates of the total income of the 16 big league clubs run under 40 million dollars. Operating expenses and taxes bring profits down to about four million dollars.

The West Coast is sure it can supply the fans to fill the big new stadiums it plans. There is also talk of trying closed circuit TV at a much higher return than radio and TV now bring the ball clubs.

But the National League or the Giants may have to pay one million dollars in damages to the Pacific Coast League for invading the West Coast. And the Giants have a four-year lease on the Polo Grounds here involving $525,017 in rental and taxes.

Dodgers May Get Request To Stay At Ebbets Field

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP)—City engineers have been quietly surveying Ebbets Field and the surrounding area for the past two weeks, an official of the Brooklyn Dodgers revealed today.

"It's possible that the city will offer to renovate the ball park and provide the parking facilities we have been lacking," said the official, who asked not to be named.

Brooklyn President Walter O'Malley has said that the main reason he is contemplating switching his club to Los Angeles are:

1. Inadequate parking.
2. Antiquated ball park.

O'Malley already has sold Ebbets Field, but he still has a year to go on a three-year lease with an option for two more years. He probably would have no trouble rebuying the park if he was so inclined.

City officials, scheduled a meeting with O'Malley for the purpose of persuading him to remain in Brooklyn. It is expected that the meeting will take place some time next week, probably Monday.

The Dodger boss said he had no idea what sort of presentation the city officials had in mind. He is prepared to confront them with the offer San Francisco made to lure the Giants to that city. He intends to compare this offer with the one he made to the city as a requisite for keeping the Dodgers in Brooklyn.

A highly informed baseball source said that, should the Dodgers move to Los Angeles, the Cincinnati Redlegs may switch their franchise to New York in 1959.

Nod Goes To Duke On Atlantic Coast

By KEN ALYTA

The Associated Press

Come Labor Day, 487 young men will assemble at the eight campuses of the Atlantic Coast Conference and begin three weeks of preparation for the football season.

Observers believe that the 67 candidates corralled by Duke Coach Bill Murray will form the most potent squad and go on to the championship and a Jan. 1 Orange Bowl berth. Twenty lettermen are in the group.

Last season saw the three-year Duke-Maryland domination of the ACC snapped by Clemson. But the Tigers must rely on a pair of rookie quarterbacks this year to lead them in defense of the title and Joel Wells, their big ground gainer, has been graduated.

Duke, primarily a running team, lost some important men for varying reasons in the off-season, but still has such strong runners as fullback Hal McElhenny and halfback Wray Carlton, Roy Hord, 225-pound guard, is a hot choice for conference honors.

South Carolina, 7-3 last year including an upset of Duke, may be the most dangerous obstacle to the Blue Devils' title hopes.

Clemson has a good enough line,

Robinson Says Basilio Fight Is Called Off

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Ray Robinson made history when he proved that sometimes the old champions do come back and win. Now he has the fight world wondering whether he will make history of another kind by tossing away half a million dollars.

That is about what it will cost him if he sticks to his decision calling off his Sept. 23 title defense against welterweight ruler Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium. Ray says the fight is off. The International Boxing Club insists it is still on.

The feeling on Broadway is that Sugar Ray won't let that 500 grand get away from him.

Robinson tossed his big blockbuster into the million dollar fight Tuesday. He called the Associated Press and said his fight with Basilio was off because of a disagreement with President James D. Norris of the IBC over what company should handle the telecast. Furthermore Robinson said he was going to sue the IBC "for plenty" for breach of contract.

The champ demanded that Teleprompter handle the closed circuit telecast because he claims he can get a better deal. Ray brought that company into the picture in a stony session with Norris yesterday. The IBC boss said he has signed with Theater Network Television, Inc. and has no intention of changing.

Basilio, the man in the middle, said, "If this is another of Robinson's prepared runouts, then I think he must be a stiff. He was petrified when this fight was first signed and has been behaving that way since. I'm still training hard here at Alexandria Bay and I won't let any of his spouting off interrupt my training sessions."

Norris said he was flabbergasted by Robinson's action.

"I can't understand that man," said Norris. "I've bent over backwards to make this fight. He stands to make a half million dollars conservatively and we've arranged it legally for him to spread the money over a three-year period to lighten his tax load. As far as we're concerned the fight is still on until the New York Athletic Commission notifies us that it isn't. Robinson signed his commission contracts on July 31 and those contracts give us the exclusive right to handle the television deal. And believe me, the deal we have with TNT is better all around than what he brought up."

Musial Leads Cardinals To 2 Wins Over Giants

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Stan Musial, who at 36 calls himself "just a struggling old man," is showing the kids how it's done as he goes for a seventh batting crown while keeping the St. Louis Cardinals alive in the National League race.

The Man, who last won the title in 1963 for a three-run year at the top, was 5-for-7, including a pair of home runs, as the Cards swept a two-night pair at New York with 4-3 and 3-2 victories.

That burst added six points to Musial's average and put him at .339 while his pursuers sagged. The Giants' Willie Mays was 2-for-4 for .327. Pittsburgh's Dick Groat was 0-for-4 for .327.

The Milwaukee Braves scored twice in the ninth and beat Pittsburgh 3-1. That left Milwaukee six games ahead of St. Louis.

Third-place Brooklyn, seven games back, took two from the Cincinnati Redlegs, winning 11-5 and 6-5, in 12 innings. The Chicago Cubs split a pair at Philadelphia, winning 5-2 after a 2-1, 10-inning defeat.

In the American, Bob Keegan became the first Chicago pitcher to gain a no-hitter in 20 years, beating Washington 6-0 after the Senators had taken the first game of the two-night 5-4.

The New York Yankees were shut out only the second time this season, 1-0 at Kansas City despite Bob Turley's two-hitter.

The AL bat race saw the leaders go hitless. Boston's Ted Williams stands at .390 after going 0-for-2 in a 5-4 Cleveland victory. Yankee Mickey Mantle, 0-for-4, is at .381.

Detroit defeated Baltimore 5-1 in the other AL games. The Chicago Cubs split a pair at Philadelphia, winning 5-2 after a 2-1, 10-inning defeat.

while facing only 28 men. It was the first no-hitter of the year in the majors.

The Sox, who blew a 4-1 lead in the opener as Ed Fitz Gerald homered off reliever Jack Harshman to nail it for the Nats in the eighth, backed Keegan with five runs in the third inning, with Larry Doby's one-on homer capping the spurt.

Ex-Yankee Ralph Terry won his fourth while blanking New York on a six-hitter for the A's. Turley, 10-4, lost it in the fifth on a double by Woody Held, another former Yank, and a single by Tim Thompson.

Don Mossi won his 10th for the Indians, rolling with a four-hitter until the Red Sox scored three in the ninth that brought on Early Wynn. Gene Woodling drove in two runs with four hits, one a homer, as Tom Brewer lost it for a 14-10 record. Jim Piersall homered for Boston.

Jim Bunning won his 15th. Ray Boone drove in three runs and a triple with a home run and a triple.

Stan Lopata's home run won the opener for the Phils as Curt Simmons and relief winner Dick Farrell stopped the Cubs on three hits. Home runs by Ernie Banks and Jerry Kindall won the nightcap as Robin Roberts lost his 17th.

FIRST OF SEASON Keegan Hurls No-Hit Shutout

CHICAGO (AP)—Everything seems to come late for Bob Keegan, 36-year-old Chicago White Sox pitcher who last night twirled a 6-0 no-hit victory over the Washington Senators.

Keegan, who didn't break into the majors until he was 31, doesn't "mind waiting."

"You just have to hang in there and the breaks will come your way," said Bob after pitching his masterpiece against the Senators, who had beaten the Sox 5-4 in the first game of a two-night double-header.

Unlike most pitchers who deny knowledge of working on no-hitters, Keegan said after the game: "I knew I had a no-hitter going from the first inning on—the only trouble was pitching it."

The big right-hander from Rochester, N.Y., first donned a major league uniform with the Sox in 1953 and fashioned a 7-5 record. He had a 16-9 mark in 1954 but slumped into comparative mediocrity until his no-hitter.

He faced only 28 batters, walked 2 and struck out 1 in pitching the only no-hitter of the major league season until he walked Lou Berberet after an 8-2 count.

"I guess I was too cautious," he said. "Believe me, I wanted the no-hitter badly. My big trou-

Falbert, Shea Defeat Pupils In Net Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Bill Talbert, Mrs. Midge Buck and Gardner Mulloy are proving there is no substitute for experience in the National Doubles Tennis tournament.

Keegan issued another walk in the seventh but that was wiped out by a double play launched by the pitcher himself.

Talbert, non-playing captain of the U. S. Davis Cup team, joined forces with Gil Shea and trimmed two of his youthful prize pupils—Sammy Giammalva and Barry MacKay—9-7, 4-6, 4-6, 9-7.

Giammalva and MacKay were the seventh seeded men while Talbert and Shea just came along for the ride.

On the same second round program at Longwood yesterday, Mrs. Buck, 48, National Women's Senior singles champion, and Mrs. Jack McKean, 43, upset England's third seeded combine of Shirley Bloomer, 22, and Sheila Armstrong, 18.

Victoria Holds Seven-Game Lead

By The Associated Press

If the Big State League does fold Monday Victoria will be second half champion anyway.

The Rosebuds are seven games to the good and can't play more than two games by the anticipated closing time.

Tuesday they maintained their seven-game bulge by beating Abilene 6-3 while second place Beaumont whipped Corpus Christi 6-1.

Chris Nicolosi, the league's winningest pitcher, made it 19 victories as he set Abilene down on eight well scattered hits.

Quarterback Club Barbecue Date Set

Officials of the Quarterback Club set Sept. 6 as a tentative date for the traditional pre-season barbecue honoring the high school football team.

R. E. McKinney, co-captain, said that plans would be developed and committees named at the regular meeting of the club next Tuesday evening.

At the barbecue, to be given in the City Park, Coach Al Milch and his staff, together with the squadmen, will be introduced.

Legendary British Naval Hero Is Dead

OSLO (AP)—Lord Mountevans, legendary British naval hero, died yesterday at his mountain cottage at Golaa in central Norway. He was 76.
Born Edward Ratcliffe Garth Russell Evans, he was best known as "Evans of the Broke." The Broke was a British warship in World War I whose crew—led by Evans—figured in a hand-to-hand fight with German raiders.
Lord Mountevans, whose life was packed with high adventure and heroism, ran away from home at the age of 8 with a bold boyish plan to sail the Spanish Main in a Thames River barge. He was caught—and spanked. But his love of the sea persisted.
Sent to train for the merchant navy, he won Queen Victoria's cadetship and went into the royal navy. He soon saw action—in the Boxer rebellion.

In 1909, having had experience in antarctic adventures, he joined Capt. Robert Scott as second in command of the ill-fated trip to try to reach the South Pole.
Evans and two companions were sent back to the ship Terra Nova when Scott's supplies ran short. Evans and the sailors trudged 900 miles through blizzards and sub-zero temperatures. After long suffering and a near death they reached the ship. With Scott dead, Evans took the ship back to England.
For his heroism with Scott he was jumped two ranks and made a commander.

In 1917, while commanding the destroyer Broke in the Battle of Jutland, he engaged six German destroyers. Evans sank two of them and then came the order seldom heard in modern naval warfare:
"Boarders on the 'o'st'le."

"Boarders on the 'o'st'le." Evans was promoted to captain the next day.
During World War II he directed the organization of London's air raid shelters.

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's 69-year-old education minister made an exhibition swim today before a crowd of 5,000 at a school pool. Toh Matsunaga, lawyer-turned-Cabinet member, swam 80 feet in a column with officials of the Japan Swimming Assn. in commemoration of "Everybody Swims Week."

Syrian Claims U.S. Assassination Plot

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria's new army chief of staff says "gangsters made in America" plotted to kill him and other Syrian military leaders.
The alleged mass assassination plan, Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry told Western newsmen yesterday, was part of a plot Syria has charged the United States directed against the Syrian government.
"They were to send gangsters to our houses to kill us," Bizry declared. "They were gangsters made in America."
The military chief leveled the charge shortly after Syria instructed its U.N. delegation to inform the Security Council that the United States had conspired to overthrow President Shukri Kuwaty's regime.
The U.S. State Department has labeled the Syrian plot charge a complete fabrication.
Kuwaty, who flew to Egypt after the Syrian army shakeup last week, is in an Alexandria hospital for the announced purpose of getting a medical checkup. A Foreign Ministry source said he is expected to return within a week.
Bizry charged that Howard E. Stone, the U.S. Embassy's second secretary for political affairs, was the mastermind behind the alleged plot. Stone was one of three American diplomats expelled from Syria last week.
Marked for death besides himself, Bizry said, were Brig. Amin Nufoury, new deputy chief of staff, and Col. Abdul Hamid Sarraj, the army's intelligence chief.
"The prime purpose was to kill staff officers who opposed American policy," Bizry said. "They wanted the head of every honest man. We have the evidence."
"Democracy, according to Stone, was to put an end to the honest people of this country. . . . He wanted to make my two children orphans."
Asked whether he was a Communist, Bizry replied: "Generally people of a nation are forbidden to interfere in the internal affairs of another nation. This has been defined in the U.N. Charter. . . . The situation, as I see it, has

Kennedy Asks Restrictions On Aid To Poland Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) today proposed legislation to wipe out current restrictions against United States aid to Poland and other Eastern European satellites where such aid may help promote U. S. interests.
He said the agreement last June for $8 million dollars in American aid to Communist Poland "can unfortunately be summed up in only five words—too little and too late."
A Polish economic mission came here last February seeking 300 million dollars in aid. It came after President Eisenhower offered last October to help any nation, such as Poland, seeking greater independence from Moscow.
After more than three months of negotiations, there was agreement on a 95-million-dollar aid program. The Poles agreed to take half at that time and half when Congress passed a billion-dollar measure permitting surplus farm goods sales for local currencies abroad. Eisenhower signed that bill Aug. 13.
To deny further help to the Poles "because they have not

Now you can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.
For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.
Find out how quickly this sure-acting medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for Doan's, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Bill Would Admit Thousands Of Anti-Communist Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands of refugees from communism could be admitted to the United States under provisions of an immigration bill approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.
The measure would amend the McCarran - Walter Immigration Act, and would permit broader use of 18,565 visas left over from the 1953 Refugee Relief Act which expired last Dec. 31.
This would open the way for admission of persons fleeing communism, or persecution in the Middle East.
Except for that refugee provision, the Senate bill approved yesterday closely resembles a measure approved last week by the House Judiciary Committee.
Neither bill would grant permanent residence to Hungarian refugees admitted on an emergency basis last fall. By this, the committee ignored a major administration request, along with other key immigration recommendations made by President Eisenhower.

Lie Test Sought In Denton Mystery, Attempted Rape

DALLAS (AP)—Edgar Zachary, 49, will be asked to take a lie detector test in connection with an attempted rape charge filed against him and he faces questioning in connection with a nine-year-old mystery.
Sheriff Bill Decker said yesterday he will ask Zachary to take a lie detector test to support his claim he only met and talked with a woman, 25, last Thursday.
The woman charged Zachary tried to rape her and bound her and beat her with a pistol.
Ranger Lewis Rigger said he wanted to question Zachary about the mysterious disappearance of a pretty coed nine years ago.
Zachary, then a Denton taxi driver, was the last person known to have seen Virginia Carpenter, 21, a Texarkana coed who disappeared in June, 1948, from the campus of Texas Woman's University at Denton.
Zachary said he drove the girl to the campus from the train station and left her.
He took a lie detector test that year about the case, and passed it.
"There was only one machine and one operator in Texas when Zachary took the test. Those machines are not infallible and I'd like to question him again," Rigger said.

Teachers Needed For Vital Posts

Big Spring City Schools move into the 1957-58 school year plagued as usual by the problem of filling several important vacancies in their faculty.

However, Floyd Parsons, city school superintendent, said that the number of unfilled posts is no larger than normal and that hope is held out the jobs will be filled by the date school actually begins.

It requires a small army of teachers for a school system such as is maintained in this city. A total of 200 instructors will be on the payroll. All but 10 of these are white.

One hundred and 20 of the 200 are employed in the secondary schools and 80 in the junior and senior high schools.

In all, a staff of 245 certificated Negro and white teachers are required to carry on the school activities here.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent, said that as the middle of August neared and the date for school opening loomed close at hand, he was still hunting for three teachers to round out his junior and senior high school staffs.

Particularly urgent at this time is a teacher to handle the physics and chemistry classes. Parsons said that the teacher expected to fill this important post will be unable to take the job.

Three teachers are also needed to fill important sixth grade classroom vacancies. Contacts were being maintained with all sources by which instructors can be reached and Parsons and the school officials were highly hopeful that qualified persons would be found to round out the faculty to full strength.

This year, Parsons said, there will be 30 new teachers on the rolls.

This is not an unusually heavy number of replacements, it was said.

The new teachers will meet their colleagues on Aug. 26 when initial session of the annual pre-school general faculty workshop will open. The entire first day of the week-long planning session will be devoted to the presentation of the new teachers and to their orientation into the Big Spring school system.

Oklahoma, Kansas Hike Oil Average

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil increased 45,125 barrels to 6,835,925 the week ended Aug. 17, most of it in Oklahoma and Kansas, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma rose 25,000 barrels to 562,600 barrels and Kansas was up 15,950 barrels to 331,900.

The Journal estimated 1957 production at 1,691,565,925 barrels compared to 1,646,380,839 a year ago.

Other advances were in New Mexico, 300 to 249,700, and Arkansas, 50 to 85,200.

Louisiana was down 400 to 795,600.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,813,700 barrels.

Handyman Can Build Nifty Study-Sleep-Play Center

Her's a simple recipe for a combination study-sleep-play center that can be built all at once, or can grow with a youngster from early grammar school through high school. And it can be constructed with home tools.

In the daytime the bed and bookcase portion serves as a sofa with convenient bookshelves that can also be used for toys and trophies. This can be constructed first and a matching desk added later when the older student requires more extensive provisions for study and when expanding interests and hobbies make storage space a necessity. Both can, of course, be built at the same time if you have a teen-ager in the family who needs them at once.

Requirements for the sofa unit are simple: a standard 39-inch studio bed on casters, a few lengths of standard western pine lumber obtainable at every lumber yard, some screws and the material for finishing. It is easy to take two boards — one 7 feet long and 10 inches wide and one slightly shorter — and to screw them together with upright boards that are 41 inches long and 10 inches wide, forming a bookcase that will enclose a portion of the bed by day.

The 7-foot length should be attached at the top of the unit, forming the top shelf. A second board that is shorter by the combined thickness of the two end pieces is then attached inside the uprights, supported by cleats screwed in at each end. You may find enough short length trimmings to panel the back of the unit, then the distance between the shelves is optional. However, it is simpler to purchase an extra 7-foot board of nominal 12-inch width and screw it to the upper back side of the frame. In this case the position of the lower shelf will be determined by the added strength and eye appeal a divider should be placed in the center of the shelves.

The desk unit at the right of the diagram can also be made by an amateur craftsman. It, too, is built of western pine lumber because it is easy to work and is easy to maintain against the punishment of student activities. Regular lumber is used throughout except for the inner surface of the drop leaf, which is of plywood. Tongue and groove paneling of nominal 8-inch width is used for the outer side of the leaf, panels are cut to length and glued together, then the tongue of the panel on one edge is planed off and the groove on the panel at the opposite edge is removed to reduce the overall width of the drop leaf to 2 feet 6½ inches. A quarter-inch piece of plywood is cut to fit the desk top and is glued to the inner surface.

To achieve greatest possible economy, board lengths as stated have been carefully planned, and before taking saw in hand you must lay out the pieces to be used for each part of the project. For example, from your two 8-foot lengths of tongue and groove paneling you must obtain four 25¼-
