Okinawa Tip Reached By U.S. Forces

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

American ground forces reached the northern tip of Okinawa Island, placing them exactly 325 miles from Japan, and swept up 35 miles of the Mindanao coastline in a second invasion of that major Philippine island, American commanders announced Thursday.

Their successes were matched by the British, who captured three towns in Central Burma and in Northern Central China by Chinese who recaptured Fancheng, nullifying the enemy's recent Hupeh Province offensive.

Fighters Over Tokyo

Fighter planes from Iwo Jima reportedly swept over Tokyo air field Thursday. Philippines-based bombers wrecked 95 Japanese ocean-going and river vessels and heavily pounded Northern Formosa air-dromes. Japanese, lacking air power for such strikes, sent reinforced infantry columns in a two-pronged drive to knock out the U. S. Chih-kiang air base in Central China.

American casualties in the month-long operation and sea operations centering around Okinawa mounted to 7,983, including 1,482 dead, 1,759 missing and 4,750 wounded. Naval personnel suffered the most. Japanese killed in land operations alone on Okinawa and a dozen lesser islands invaded were 9,108 as of last Saturday.

U. S. Navy losses were 4,700. The breakdown showed 989 Navy men killed, 1,491 missing and 2,200 wounded. Presumably most of these casualties were suffered on four destroyers sunk and an unannounced number damaged—the only ship losses recorded by the American Command in the Ryukyu Island operations.

Tokyo Claims High

Tokyo radio claimed the U. S. war fleet in the Ryukyu area has been "destroyed" with a total of 393 sunk.

In ground operations Marines of the Third Amphibious Corps reached the northern end of Okinawa, bringing most of the 40-mile-long island under American domination. The 24th U. S. Army Corps was still deadlocked on the southern, Japanese-held end of the island. The 77th Division made marked gains on nearby Ie Airbase island.

The latest amphibious operation in the Philippines was made Tuesday under the leadership of two Texans. Maj. Gen. R. B. Woodruff of San Antonio led his 24th Division ashore on Mindanao on the east coast of Moro Gulf, across from American-held Zamboanga.

SO&GC Will Drill 'Burger' Wildcat In North Winkler

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Stanford Oil & Gas Company has filed application to drill a 10,300-foot wildcat to test for pay in the Ellenburger, in North Winkler County, slightly over one mile southeast of nearest production in the Keystone-Ellenburger pool.

The project will be Stanford Oil 1-2 Mack Taylor, and is 690 feet from south and west lines of lease which is south quarter of section 8, block B-2, psl survey. Operations are to start by April 22.

One In Heiner Area

Union Oil Company of California No. 1-C R. G. Heiner, 1380 feet from south and east lines of section 589, G&S survey, in Central-North Pecos County, is 1,320 feet east of closest producer in the Heiner field, where production is from Ellenburger around 5,500 feet.

This project will drill under an application to go to 6,500 feet, unless it finds lower Ordovician oil, or granite at a lesser depth—and if granite does not show by 6,500 feet may be continued until that formation is encountered. Drilling will start within the week.

Two More For Garza

Locations have been reported for two new prospectors for the PHD area in Northwest Garza County.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Veach estate, 330 feet from south and east lines of southwest quarter of section 1255, block D-19, TT survey, is slated to drill to 5,000 feet, starting at once. It is northwest of the farthest northeast producer in the field.

Truman Evidently Will Make Change In Cabinet Setup

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(P)—Some members of the Roosevelt cabinet are on the way out, and soon.

Although the feeling has been general here that President Truman might delay any changes for a couple of months, close friends suggested Thursday that one or more new department heads may be named within days.

Most of them pointed to the Labor Department, which Secretary Perkins undoubtedly would like to leave as soon as the gracefully can. Most-mentioned as a possible successor is Senator Harley Kilgore (D-W. Va.).

Satisfactory To Unions

Kilgore is satisfactory to the CIO and also has worked with the AFL. Both organizations must be reasonably satisfied with the man chosen because he probably will head a revitalized department containing all labor agencies.

A change also will be made in the agriculture setup, with Secretary Wickard slated to step out in favor of a new man who may take over the duties of war food administrator as well.

Marvin Jones, who fills the latter post, told friends recently he would like to go back to the court of claims, from which he was borrowed by President Roosevelt.

J. B. Hutson, deputy in charge of agricultural conversion in the War Mobilization Office, might be Truman's choice for the enlarged agriculture portfolio.

James F. Byrnes went back to his Spartanburg, S. C., home for a few days, and it is understood he won't come back to Washington for any unofficial advisory position.

When he reappears in government service, it probably will be as Secretary of State, succeeding Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

By that time the San Francisco United Nations Conference will be in the way possibly clear for Stettinius to become the American representative in the proposed security organization.

Jerry Chesnutt Dies In San Angelo

Jerry Chesnutt, 55, division superintendent of the American Republics Corp., died early Thursday in a San Angelo hospital. He had been ill a week with pneumonia and suffered a heart attack Wednesday night.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Church of the Sacred Heart in San Angelo. Interment will be in Cavalry Cemetery there.

Survivors include his widow, who resides in San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Frank Cullinan, of Houston; a nephew, Jack Cullinan, of Houston; and a niece, Mrs. James P. Swift, of Houston.

Seelow And Wriezen Fall To Red Army As Battle Climax Nears

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON—(P)—The Russians have captured Seelow and Wriezen and advanced to within 18 miles of the eastern limits of Berlin, a Transocean broadcast announced Thursday.

Reporting a series of deep penetrations in the four-day-old Russian offensive by 2,500,000 Soviet soldiers, Berlin radio announcements said Forst, a Neisse River stronghold 65 miles Southeast of Berlin, also had fallen.

Transocean's correspondent, Karl Bluecher, broadcast that "the battle for Berlin in the east is approaching its climax."

He said the Russians were only four kilometers northeast of Muecheberg, or about 19 miles due east of Berlin's city limits, and were east of Buckow, also 18 miles east of Berlin.

"Deep but narrow" penetrations had been made from the Russian bridgeheads along the Neisse, he said, so that the Russians were now due south of Cottbus, Spree River stronghold 55 miles southeast of Berlin.

Reds Near Yank Forces

Other spearheads were due south of Spremberg, 13 mi. south of Cottbus and 69 miles southeast of Berlin, and east of Bautzen, 24 miles east of Dresden and only 40 miles from American positions north of Chemnitz.

Other Berlin broadcasts reported the Russians had established bridgeheads across the Spre, the wind-lake-linking waterway which forms the most important part of Berlin's southeastern defenses.

Among other Russian successes reported by Berlin was the entry of Bliesdorf, 24 miles northeast of the capital.

Fifth Army Cracks Bologna's Defenses

ROME —(P)—American Fifth Army troops, cracking the outer defenses of Bologna, drove to within eight miles of the great Italian industrial city Thursday after seizing the key heights of Monte Adone and Monte Rumici in a bitter 60-hour battle.

The advance appeared to have loosened German defenses before the Po Valley gateway city and gave the Americans a downhill road to Bologna with each mountain generally smaller than the last, a front dispatch said.

American troops also took the village of Badolo, just east of Highway 64 within eight miles of Bologna. For the first time in six months the Germans have been deprived of heights which enabled them to pour fire down on American positions.

To the northeast British Eighth Army troops, knifing through the toughest defenses on the road to Ferrara, stormed through the Argenta Gap and captured the Po Valley town of Boccaccone.

War Bulletins

LONDON—(AP)—Propaganda Minister Goebbels told Germans Thursday the nation was "balancing on the razor's edge" and called upon them to stand behind Hitler and "by a last all-out effort make sure that the Reich does not break apart."

SHAFF, PARIS —(AP)—Germany's complete roster of prisoners of war, including an itemization of all captives from every Allied country taken by the Germans since the outbreak of the war, has been seized by American Third Army troops.

LONDON—(AP)—After almost six years of war-enforced darkness, lights in almost all British homes and business buildings will blaze with pre-war brilliance Monday.

Allied Air Forces Concentrate On Southern Reich And Czechoslovakia

LONDON—(P)—German railway targets in the Southern Reich and in Czechoslovakia were attacked Thursday in the fourth successive day by 600 U. S. Eighth Air Force heavy bombers and 550 fighters, which also continued to search for remnants of German air power.

British and Russian bombers hammered Berlin in relays again Wednesday night.

A large transformer station at Pasing, just west of Munich, which serves electric railways leading to the Nazi hideout areas in the Bavarian mountains, was bombed Thursday afternoon by from 100 to 200 RAF Lancasters.

It was the second consecutive day that heavy bombers from England slammed bombs on the doorstep of Adolf Hitler's fortress headquarters near the Austrian border. Flying Fortresses Wednesday bombed railways within 15 miles of Berchtesgaden.

Lightnings from Italy also dive-bombed railways at Weilheim, 30 miles southwest of Munich on the line to Garmisch-Partenkirchen. Liberators and Fortresses from Italy attacked the Avion viaduct on the Brenner Line, the rail bridge at Rattenburg on the Innsbruck-Salzburg Line and railways at Klagenfurt in strikes at Austria and Southern Germany.

The question of forming a provisional government broadly representative of all factions of Poles will be No. 1 on the agenda when Secretary of State Stettinius, British Foreign Secretary Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov meet Friday or Saturday.

A tip-off of this country's attitude came in the House Wednesday when members applauded vigorously the statement by Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) that the United States ought to keep strategic islands to has taken away from the Japanese in the Pacific.

Stimson Says Yanks Will Well Be Able To Care For Adolf

WASHINGTON—(P)—War Secretary Stimson said Thursday that if American troops came upon Adolf Hitler he will be taken and held for action by higher authority "unless he resists."

The secretary was asked at a news conference if G. I.'s had been instructed on what to do if they discovered Hitler, that is "whether to take him or stick him."

Stimson, laughing, replied that "you may be sure American troops will do their full duty if such circumstances arise."

German POW Is Shot At Arkansas Camp

DALLAS—(P)—A German prisoner of war at the Demott, Ark., prisoner of war camp was shot and killed by a sentry April 11 when he was caught disobeying orders. Eighth Service Command headquarters said Wednesday.

The German, Second Lt. Werner Marganus, was discovered throwing a package over a fence to non-cooperative prisoners who had been segregated. He ignored the sentry's command to halt and was shot when it appeared his identity would be lost in the main compound among some 4,000 other German officers.

Last Organized Resistance In Ruhr Smashed

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS—(P)—Leipzig has fallen to First Army troops and other Americans Thursday had smashed the last organized resistance in the Ruhr, culminating perhaps the greatest single victory of the war.

The Third Army was driving into Czechoslovakia within gunshot of Asch, after bisecting German geographically, cutting routes into the Nazis' hideaway in the Bavarian Alps.

Other American fought hand-picked SS troops through the streets of the Bavarian Nazi center of Nurnberg, now virtually surrounded.

The British reached the Lower Elbe, last river before Berlin, and advanced to within 16 miles of Hamburg in a mighty effort to cut the North Sea ports from Berlin, beleaguered by Russian troops reported 17 miles east and Americans 45 miles west. The siege of Bremen was intensified.

All organized resistance in the Ruhr pocket has ceased and Allied forces have virtually completed mopping up the last enemy stragglers," Supreme Headquarters announced.

This meant that the great cities of Duesseldorf (539,000), Solingen (138,537), Remscheid (103,437), and Barmen (105,100) were in First and Ninth Army hands, along with the great Ruhr factories which produced 75 per cent of Hitler's war material as late as 1942.

Rhine Crossing Cost U. S. Army 47,023 Men

WASHINGTON—(P)—The battle for the Rhine and crossing of the river in March cost U. S. Army Ground Forces 47,023 casualties, Secretary of War Stimson reported Thursday.

While this total was larger than in February, when there were 34,461 losses, Stimson pointed out that it was smaller than for any month since October.

The March casualty figure included 6,214 killed, 35,448 wounded and 5,365 missing.

Since D-Day last June, Stimson disclosed, American ground casualties on the Western Front totaled 472,215 up to the end of March. Included are 72,795 killed, 334,919 wounded and 58,501 missing.

In All Theaters

At the same time, Stimson disclosed that Army casualties in all theaters reached 813,870 on the basis of names compiled in Washington through April 7. Added to the Navy's losses of 98,608, this put aggregate casualties since Pearl Harbor at 912,478, an increase of 13,038 since last week's report.

Since the landings in France last June, he added, Allied forces have taken well over 2,100,000 prisoners. A breakdown on Army casualties in all theaters and corresponding figures for the preceding week follows:

Killed, 152,505 and 159,267; wounded, 496,803 and 489,256; missing, 83,926 and 86,648; prisoners, 70,639 and 67,514. Of the wounded, 261,596 have returned to duty.

Similar figures of Navy losses: Killed, 38,055 and 37,402; wounded, 45,725 and 44,444; missing, 10,589 and 10,605; prisoners, 4,259 and 4,254.

Charlie Chaplin Has Expensive Loving

The 56-year-old actor-produce was directed also to pay Joan's lawyers $5,000 in addition to a like fee he paid her previous counsel.

Difficulties At Philadelphia

Nearly 30 years after the Constitution of the United States was written and submitted to the states, Thomas Jefferson wrote: "Some men look at constitutions with sanctimonious reverence, and deem them like the Ark of the Covenant—too sacred to be touched. They ascribe to the men of the preceding age a wisdom more than human..."

That reverence which Jefferson noted has grown through the years. Today we are inclined to be forgetful of the Constitution's early history and of the amendments which we have seen fit to make in it. Because the Constitution is great and impregnable today, we sometimes talk as if it had been conceived in harmony and born triumphant strength and full-blown perfection.

So we should be vigilant against demanding the same impossible perfection of the document that will issue from the San Francisco Conference. And perhaps it will increase that vigilance if we review a little further some of the circumstances of the Constitution's birth.

The structure of free representative government explicit in its final form was the fruit of expediency as well as idealism. Smaller states, bucking control by New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia, the Big Three—and how modern that sounds—won such compromise victories as proportional representation in the House and the popular vote for presidential electors by threatening to walk out of the convention.

The Constitution was presented to the people with considerable fear. Some of the delegates went home before the job was done. Three who remained refused to sign the document. Others were reluctant. Elbridge Gerry thought that it would provoke a civil war. Jefferson, in Europe, was astonished that it contained no guarantee of basic human rights.

At first the Constitution found its support among the rich, and its opposition from the poor and a handful of rich "visionary" champions of democracy. The series of Federalist papers by Hamilton, Madison and Jay helped greatly in swinging popular opinion. But even so, Rhode Island, which had refused to send delegates to the convention, waited three years before ratifying the Constitution.

The point is that the Constitution has grown more democratic, stronger and more effective with the passing years. Today, thanks to the Bill of Rights and subsequent amendments, it stands before the world as a paragon of political right and wisdom, however short we may fall of fulfilling its letter and spirit.

The moral of this short refresher course is obvious. The San Francisco Conference, also sailing an uncharted course, is bound to produce an imperfect plan. By refusing it we should have nothing to take its place. By accepting and amending and improving it we can look with confidence toward a world in which men may live out their lives in peace.

Temporary Settlement Reached In Houston Phone Operator Strike

HOUSTON—(AP)—Long distance telephone service in Houston returned to normal Thursday following temporary settlement of a dispute between the local office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and toll operator members of the Southwestern Telephone Company union local regarding employment of out-of-town operators.

Between 200 and 300 toll operators failed to report to work Wednesday in protest to what they said was a company policy of paying partial expenses of out-of-town operators so that their wages exceeded by about $18.50 weekly those of the local employees.

A. L. Edmondson, division superintendent, said in a statement last night the company agreed in a conference with union officials that no additional out-of-town operators would be brought into Houston until the grievance could be handled in accordance with a bargaining agreement between the company and the union.

Germans were taken from the Ruhr pocket and that more remained to be counted. This compared with 330,000 Germans captured and killed at Stalingrad, the greatest previous German disaster. The Allies have not yet estimated the number of Germans slain and wounded in the Ruhr.

Temporary Pause

One phase of the German battle is finished and "it is necessary to pause temporarily before we go into the next," the general said. "Let the Germans guess as to what the next is going to be." His armies have captured 842,864 prisoners since crossing the Rhine less than a month ago.

The last strongholds in Leipzig, including its city hall, were cracked Thursday morning and infantrymen were ferreting out the last snipers. More than 20,000 prisoners and a thousand 88-millimeter guns have been captured in or near the city.

It was estimated that three-fourths of Leipzig, whose normal population was 701,605, was in ruins. Other cities also fell.

Leidigh Discusses Cotton Problems

Cotton problems of West Texas and the nation were discussed by A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture at Texas Tech College, in an address to Rotarians at their meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

The use of mechanical cotton pickers was praised by the dean who told of the reduction in cotton production costs in West Texas. He said costs must be lowered and the price of cotton decreased if American cotton is purchased in world markets following the war.

Buyers, manufacturers, jobbers, retailers and other handlers of cotton were urged to reduce their margins of profit and aid American cotton to regain world markets. He said cotton concerns the economy of all businessmen of the nation.

Estimates Value

He estimated the value of Midland County's cotton crop at from $150,000 to $200,000 a year depending on price and farming conditions, and the total agricultural income of the county from between $400,000 and $1,000,000 a year.

The dean predicted America may experience a cotton crisis when the war ends, and discussed production costs and tariffs.

Truman's Loyalty Was Outstanding Factor In His Political Life

By GEORGE K. WALLACE
Political Writer, Kansas City Star

INDEPENDENCE, MISSOURI—(AP)—"I am truly sorry. He was my friend," Harry Truman said when he attended the funeral of Boss Tom Pendergast in Kansas City a few days after he became vice-president.

Loyalty and industry always have marked the Truman character, and even in adversity Truman never deserted Pendergast who had given him his first political backing and helped him win the senatorship in 1934.

Truman never posed as a statesman and once observed that he just works at whatever he has to do. "A fellow doesn't have to be so big to be a senator, you just have to work at it," he said.

Lets Of Listening

When he went to the Senate he told Missouri friends he was going to do a lot of listening, and might little talking until he learned his duties. He did just that, and little was heard of Truman during his first term. He was loyal to President Roosevelt and stuck close to the administration's program.

Truman's political beginnings were not particularly auspicious. William Southern, publisher of the Independence Examiner, and a life-long friend, tried to talk him out of running for county judge (commissioner) in 1922, thinking he couldn't win.

Truman, however, knew he had a host of friends, a good Army record, was a Mason and a good churchman, and decided to make the race. First he sought and obtained the political backing of T. J. Pendergast, who was just reaching out into Jackson County for power. It is questionable if Pendergast's support was the dominating factor, though it was of material help in his victory.

Truman stood again in 1924 and lost. He dabbled in real estate and some work for the Kansas City Automobile Club, and in 1926 ran again, this time for presiding judge of the county court, equivalent to chairman of a board of county supervisors. He was reelected in 1930 for another four year term.

During those eight years Truman developed politically to a high degree. He supervised the spending of more than $25,000,000 for roads and public buildings, and there never was any breath of scandal about spending of this money. Truman applied to the program his belief that in government as in business there should be a dollar's worth of value for each dollar spent.

No Scandal

After the Pendergast scandals broke some years later, the district attorney said in a statement that the finger of suspicion never once pointed at Truman, although he had enjoyed Pendergast's support from the beginning. The two men were friends, but never were intimate. Pendergast was the city boss, and Truman always considered himself a country boy.

Truman never lost contact with World War friends, and once was called on in 1922, to explain a Republican vote he had cast, for a fellow townsman who had fought alongside him in France. Truman said it was the first Republican he ever voted for, and added: "I was closer to John Miles than a brother. I've seen him in places that would make hell look like a playground. A man who would not vote for his comrade under circumstances such as these would be untrue to himself and his country."

After 10 years on the county court, Truman in 1934 found himself broke and he began eyeing the county collectorship, which paid $25,000 annually. He was thunderstruck when Pendergast denied his support for this race, but told Truman he would back him for the United States Senate.

Years before Truman had dreamed of a political career that might get him to the Senate. He wanted someday to run for the House, then come back and run for governor of Missouri, and eventually for the senatorship, but here was the chance dangle before his eyes.

Truman worked harder perhaps than any other campaigner ever worked in Missouri. He spoke in every county in the state, speaking steadily for more than two months. Truman won in a three cornered race.

There is something of Will Rogers in Truman, as shown by farewell speeches when he headed for Washington.

"I am just a farmer boy," he told the Elks Club. "There isn't going to be any splurge when I get to Washington. I am going to work as a servant of the taxpayers of Missouri, and I hope my mind will be broad enough to vote for the interests of Missouri and the United States at large, no matter who is trying to influence the legislation."

"I won't unfortunately be a James A. Thompson or Thomas Hart Benton, but I'll do my best and keep my feet on the ground. That's one of the hardest things to do for a senator, it seems. All this precedence and other hoopery accorded a senator isn't very good for a republic."

"I'll always be homesick for Jackson County. I never yet have seen a place that I thought as much of as Jackson County. Here the people are for you and they believe in you."

Next Great Break

Truman's next great break came in 1940 when he ran for reelection after the Pendergast scandal. Governor Lloyd C. Stark and Maurice M. Milligan, United States District Attorney who had successfully prosecuted Pendergast and others, both wanted the Senate job. Neither would step down, and neither Truman won.

tirely on national issues, and his loyalty to President Roosevelt, adherence to the New Deal and his record in office. He never answered the charge of bossism. His 1934 plurality of 294,000 votes was out of 7,000—the White House doors were far away that election night.

Truman's first big break politically was when Pendergast took him off the farm into county politics. His third big break was his nomination as a compromise candidate for vice-president at Chicago in July 1944. He said in a statement a week before that meeting that he didn't want the vice-presidency, that he was "busy and happy in the Senate, and wanted to remain there."

Truman went to Chicago with a nominating speech for James F. Byrnes in his pocket. He didn't get to use it because Byrnes withdrew.

Truman was acceptable to President Roosevelt, the Southern Democrats, the Labor elements and Anti-New Dealers, all as a compromise candidate. His ten years in the Senate had been well spent making friends, and he has fully utilized his time. "There isn't a day passes that Harry Truman doesn't make a new friend," a friend once said.

AUSTIN—(AP)—By a vote of 52 to 79 the House Thursday refused to kill a resolution which would permit the general session to adjourn.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The Midland County Commissioners Court began considering plans for postwar road building projects at a meeting held Thursday morning in the commissioners court room when R. E. Kilmer, district highway engineer, met with the commissioners to explain the State Highway Department's plans for building farm to market roads.

Congress has appropriated $3,000,000,000 to be spent in road building projects during a three year period following the end of the war. A part of the appropriation is to be used exclusively for farm to market roads.

The Thursday morning meeting was held so the county judge and commissioners can coordinate their plans for farm to market roads with the State Highway Department.

In a letter to F. W. Prescott of Fort Worth, district rent executive, Davis said a recent judgment by the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin in the case of Jack Hollins vs the State of Texas had prompted him to resign.

Buried Gold Of Sam Bass Never Has Been Found

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

Once upon a time in Texas there was a hard-riding, reckless bank and train robber named Sam Bass. Sixty thousand dollars in gold pieces had been badly minted in New Orleans, and the government was sending it to Denver for restamping.

Passing through Texas the train was robbed by Bass and his men. The loot was divided into three shares, and the share belonging to Bass was buried in the southwest central part of Dallas County.

Told By Dallasite
That's the story told by S. W. Barnes of Dallas. He said his father often related the tale.

Barnes also let it be known he's looking for the gold.

He says it is still buried here, and only one piece was ever recovered—a $20 gold piece Bass had given a negro woman for an iron kettle he used as a container for the coins.

In The Bag
Barnes says his present urge to hunt the Sam Bass gold is stimulated by a certain device he plans to use.

He calls it a new and sensitive radio-controlled metal finder that operates like mine-detecting machines now being used on battlefields.

Barnes says he hit the treasure jackpot once before. He said back in 1934 he uncovered $10,000 buried in Denton County.

With his radio metal finder, he believes, the Sam Bass buried treasure is practically in the bag.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst

One of the most unusual questions our column has encountered is submitted by a distinguished citizen who puts it like this:

"There are a lot of folk, including myself, who deeply regret that when this war is over there still will be Germans alive. However, there are others who chide us on this feeling. Will you please explain why we are wrong?"

The Germans who have been responsible for atrocities and for any other war guilt, including the launching of a war of aggression, must pay the penalty. That's one of the chief aims proclaimed by the Allies.

All Must Stand Responsible
Indeed, all Germans must stand responsible morally for the Hitlerian crimes, since the people as a whole at least have condoned his evil. However, the Allied governments, and particularly the Russians, have differentiated between the actual war criminals and the mass of the Germans who seemingly haven't been involved in war crimes.

It's only recently that, by way of explaining unconditional surrender, Allied airmen distributed pamphlets over the Reich, saying that "individual Germans who had nothing to do with crimes committed by the war criminals will not be taken to account for those crimes."

This was reaffirmed in substance a couple of days ago in Moscow by the Communist party's propaganda chief, Georgis Alanandrov.

Have Promised
So no matter how much my questioner may regret that many Germans will be left alive, the Allies are on record as promising that no harm will come to those who aren't concerned in war guilt. The people as a whole will get their punishment in unconditional surrender, in occupation of their country, in reparations, and in the huge German casualty list and the destruction which war has brought to the Reich.

I think we are entitled to hope that the German people may be reformed over a long period of intensive Allied tutelage. Anyway, it's an experiment the United Nations think worth trying.

Dizzy Trout's Strong Right Arm Is Still Big Factor In Determining Who Will Count At End Of Season

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dizzy Trout's strong right arm looms as important in the American league scheme of things Thursday as it did last year, when the talented Detroit right-hander won 27 games in a pennant bid that missed fire by one game.

Critics who feared Trout might have "burned out" his salary whip in 1944 by overwork, hurling 352 innings in 49 games, got the answer in Wednesday's seven-hit shut-out of the defending champion St. Louis Browns.

The Dizzy One never was in trouble in the 11-0 victory that ruined St. Louis hopes of breaking away from the field in another running start like their nine straight of a year ago.

Bengals Claw Brownies

Steve O'Neill's Bengals clawed five Brownie tossers, including loser Jack Kramer, for 21 blows, four by Jimmy Outlaw and three each by Skeeter Webb, Eddie Mayo and Doc Cramer, who batted home six.

Threat to St. Louis from another quarter was seen in the New York Yankees' newly-found ability to stage big game-winning innings. The old Yank habit was sadly lacking last season but the 1945 version copied their opener from Boston with a seven-run frame and made it two in a row with a five-run third inning that kayaked Rookie Jim Wilson.

Hank Borow turned in the lowest hit performance of the day when he rationed Boston to five safeties and won 6-2. It was an afternoon dominated by fine pitching, with three shutouts and two other neat jobs in the six games.

Connie Mack's Happy
Russ Christopher's 1-0 verdict over Washington must have done Connie Mack's heart good. The tall side-armer injured a toe in spring training at Frederick, Md., and was believed out for a few weeks, but he turned in the masterpiece of the infant season by scattering seven Senators blows over 12 innings.

Ed Heusser of Cincinnati proved there should have been no eyebrow lifting when figures showed he had the lowest earned-run average in the National in '44. The 36-year-oldster goose-egged Pittsburgh, 6-0, with Frank McCormick driving in half the scores with a perfect three-for-three day.

Phillies Win 6-2
Kewpie Dick Barrett of the Phillies followed last year's pattern by earning his first decision at Brooklyn's expense, 6-2. Freddy Fitzsimmons' rookies belted Ben Chapman off the hill with a five-run fourth inning. Granville Hamner, 17-year-old younger half of the first-brother second base combination came through with a bases-loaded single to ruin Leo Durocher's strategy of passing Gus Mancuso to get at him.

Van (The New Mungo) had to get relief help from Ace Adams, who received credit for the New York Giants' 8-4 second straight victory over the Boston Braves. Four in the ninth broke a tie, defeating Nat Andrews. Ernie Lombardi's single accounted for two tallies in the sport.

The Chicago White Sox tilt at Cleveland was postponed by cold weather and Chicago and St. Louis in the National were not scheduled.

Military Is Searching For Two Dog-Bitten GIs

DALLAS—(AP)—It's a new version of the needle in the haystack—the Army's search for one soldier, name unknown, who was bitten by a mad dog at the replacement and school command, Birmingham, Ala.

Eighth Service Command headquarters said Wednesday night that all posts and camps in the service have been asked to help locate the soldier, probably a paratrooper, who is unaware that the dog which bit him had rabies.

The U. S. Marine Corps recruiting station at Houston also reported Wednesday that a search was on for a Marine bitten by a mad dog at the Birmingham, Ala., air field. The Marine was said to be unaware that he needed medical attention.

One-Leg Golfer Still Plays Tight Eighteen

CHICAGO—(AP)—Louis Holmes, whose loss of his left leg in World War I has been no handicap to his golfing game, has a regular membership in Westgate Valley golf club—as a salute to his determination and sportsmanship.

Tom Walsh, pro at Westgate, presented Holmes, who has been playing golf for 16 years, and Mrs. Holmes with a regular membership. Holmes, 46-year-old engineer, posted an 84 three years ago for his best score. He drops his crutches for all shots except putts.

AIR SAILOR PROMISING

MIAMI—(AP)—T. D. Bull's Air Sailor, 1944 Detroit juvenile champion, was clocked in 1:45 in a mile trial here in preparation for the Kentucky Derby. He was "well in hand" all the way, said trainer Lex Wilson.

Sporis Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Within the past week football has lost two colorful figures who helped to link the days of flying wedges and bushy haircuts to the modern open, speedy game. And when football finally establishes its hall of fame, the names of Yale's William (Pa) Corbin and Navy's Capt. Charles Macklin likely will be enshrined there. Capt. Macklin, who died Thursday, played on the first Navy grid team to oppose the Army in a game whose less "was the salvation of an athletic development which was just beginning to make itself felt at West Point." Corbin, who passed on a few days before, was a member of Yale's never-to-be-forgotten 1888 team, which won 13 games to the scoring tune of 698 to 0.

Cleaning The Cuff

Gov. Maurice Tobin of Massachusetts, who is only 39, was the object of appraisal by scouts when he warmed up on the sidelines before pitching the first ball for Tuesday's Boston opener. They may try to sign him up to form a Tobin trio with Jim of the Braves and Jack of the Red Sox. Ken Loefler, ex-Yale basketball coach, expects to be out of the Army soon and will go to Exeter Academy if Yale doesn't take him back. Look for Bernie Bierman to come up with a variation of the "T" formation at Minnesota next fall. Sixteen-year-old Janet Jacobs, who manages the basketball and baseball teams at Dwight Morrow High, Englewood, N. J., also is playing second base this season. She wears a regulation uniform, bright red lipstick and a shiny nose.

Midland Lagging In Clothing Drive

"Citizens of Midland are not responding as they should to the United National Clothing Collection campaign," Clint Dunagan, chairman, declared Wednesday.

At a meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday members were asked how many had contributed clothing and less than a third had responded, Dunagan said.

"I believe members of the Lions Club are representative of Midland, and that if less than a third of the Lions have contributed the same will hold true for Midland generally," he said.

Students Cooperate

Through the cooperation of the schools the way has been made easy for citizens to contribute bundles of old clothing for distribution among the destitute peoples of liberated countries. All a citizen has to do is to get in touch with a student, and he will see that the bundle is delivered.

"As matters now stand Midland has contributed less than 20 per cent of its quota, and the campaign is nearing an end," Dunagan pointed out.

"Is this to be the first time Midland fails in supporting a worthy cause?" the chairman asked.

Dublin entered the Army in July, 1942. He is a graduate of Midland High School. Before entering the service he worked for the Standard Oil Company of Texas.

Dunn et al, 440 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east of section 1420, block 1, EL survey, is to drill to about 3,500 feet.

This exploration is 1,100 feet due south of same operators' No. 1 Payton, discovery for Permian production in that area. It is at same spot where the joint owners made a location in October 1944, and later abandoned it.

Andrews Discovery Completed

Stanolind No. 1-P University, Devonian discovery in Central-West Andrews County, about four miles south of the Devonian producing area on south side of the Fullerton pool, reported official completion to the Railroad Commission.

In a full 24-hour potential test the well flowed 438.61 barrels of 44 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,109-1. The well is in section 44, block 13, University, and in northeast corner of the section.

The flow was through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. Flowing casing pressure was 590, and flowing tubing pressure was 440.

Top of pay was at 8,725 feet. Total depth reached was 8,855 feet, and that was plugged back to 8,789 feet. Oil came through 120 gun perforations in casing at 8,750-70 feet. Flow was natural. Reports during last week that the well had been treated with 500 gallons of acid, were not borne out by official completion record.

Buchanan To Core

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Buchanan, East Midland County exploration in Baldrige survey No. 32-692, ten miles southeast of Midland, was bottomed at 10,857 feet in broken lime and shale.

Humble No. 1 Parrott, section 3, EL survey, in East-Central Upton County, was on total depth of 10,741 feet in chert, trying to regain lost circulation.

Humble No. 1 Gresham, section 2, block Y, Indianola survey, one mile west of same operator's No. 1 Parrott, was coring from 7,585 feet in sand and shale. A core at 7,553-71 feet recovered five feet of sand and shale with a slight show of gas.

Settle's Backed-Up

Continental Oil Company No. 1-D Settles, section 133, block 29, W&NW survey, in South Howard County, plugged-back from total depth of 10,123 feet in Ellenburger, where water had been developed, to 9,910 feet and was waiting for cement to set before starting tests of possible producing zones above that level.

Richfield Oil Corporation No. 1 Bean, section 13, block UV, GC&SP survey, in Northeast Crockett County, was making hole below 8,284 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. A drillstem test was slated when the hole reached 8,320 feet.

No Shows In DST

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, in northwest corner of section 21, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, West Ector County wildcat, which has shown for production from the Silurian, was drilling ahead below 8,655 feet, after running a drillstem test at 8,534-8,542 feet.

Tool was open 45 minutes. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud with no shows. The test is in the upper Ordovician.

Stanolind No. 1 Jones, section 19-19s-39c, East Lea County Ellenburger exploration, was drilling under 3,369 feet in a lime thought by most observers to be Devonian.

A drillstem test was taken at 8,283-8,369 feet. Tool was open one hour. Recovery was 1,290 feet of black sulphur water, with the top pay cut with drilling mud.

No Recent Test

The Texas Company No. 1-B Fraser, section 31, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, possible Silurian discovery, West Ector County, was making new hole past 9,316 feet in lime and chert. No tests have been taken below 9,300 feet, where considerable oil and gas cut drilling mud and a small amount of free oil was recovered.

Handy But How Was Sugar Arranged??

The still, empty but showing evidence of recent use, was built under a brick housing and camouflaged with a covering of coal.

Do You Feel "WASHED UP" at 40-60 or More?

Why feel old at 40, 60 or more—why be the victim of the older years? If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple, inexpensive method that may change your whole outlook on life. Why not try and regain the pleasures of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged—why not regain the verve and zest of a much younger man?

Just ask your druggist for Casella Tablets, either 48 tablets or 200. (The 200 size bottle costs much less per dose.) There is nothing harmful in these tablets. Take as long as you feel that you need them. Women, too, find Casella beneficial.

If the very first bottle of 48 tablets does not completely satisfy you that Casella is just what you need, return the empty bottle and get your money back. Ask for and get genuine CASELLA.

Death's BRIGHT DIAMONDS

by Lionel Mosher

A FORTUNE IN DIAMONDS

XXVIII

WHEN I turned in at the cemetery gate for the second time at day it was almost dark and there was no sun to help me find my way. The rain had turned to snow.

I parked my car under a great big tree and shut off the motor. The wind had risen and I heard keening mournfully in the ranches overhead. I walked slowly away from my car, feeling the ground with my feet and luring against that curtain of light and snow.

Suddenly I saw the monument head of me, dimly white in the utter darkness.

Then I felt the ground, soft and oozy under my feet. I looked down. I was standing on the fresh-turned earth of Phineas Hudson's grave. Quickly I stepped off and turned toward the monument again when something caught my eye. I turned back and poked more closely.

The grave looked odd. It seemed curiously untidy. As a matter of fact, it was not completely filled in.

There was a little mound of dirt beside the grave. I stared at that mound and I began to think about it. A couple of swings of the shovel would have spread the dirt evenly, if loosely, over the grave.

I leaned down, moved my hand across the dirt, and felt a hollow in the soil. A hollow, scooped-out, unnatural and unmistakable. At first, I merely looked at it curiously. But the more I looked at it, the odder I felt. Then I had a horrible conviction. It swept over me like the cold wind of a sea-tern. The sweat broke out on my forehead. I stood up and looked around. And all the while that horrid question kept hammering in my brain. Who had been digging in Phineas Hudson's new-made grave?

I SHOULD have liked the courage to run. Instead I went up to the monument, with the ivory elephant in my hand.

A monstrosity, I thought, as I looked at the polished granite sphere supported by four granite pillars. Within must be the recess where I was to place the elephant. I put my hand over the edge. The cold, wet snow brushed my flesh. I put the elephant in and moved him about indecisively.

My fingers closed on a small solidity. And I was at once horrified and exalted. I drew it out—a small leather bag—and loosened the draw-string with numb fingers. I put in my hand, and even with all my ignorance of precious stones I knew I held one of the Ostermann diamonds! And in the other hand four million and some hundreds of thousands of dollars.

My fingers began to tremble. It's quite a common thing with diamonds. They do things to you. But this was more than that. This was sin, heartache, and death. I had to hurry. Panic seized me. I spread the maw of the little leather bag. And I dropped the diamond. But not in the bag. It slid crazily past the opening and I felt it strike my ankle and bounce off.

Carefully I got down on my hands and knees, and I began to move my palms swiftly, but lightly over the earth. I picked up three pebbles. My trousers got soggy and my hands ached with cold. And I was still looking when I saw the lights of a car turning in at the cemetery gate. It stopped, then came swiftly along the curving drive. I debated withdrawing behind the monument. But an irrational sense of thrift kept me there on my knees rooting in the soft, oozy earth for that diamond.

I had an interesting letter from Dr. J. S. Mitchener of Raleigh, N. C., and in it he sent me today's hand. He said it was played in a seven-table duplicate. At all tables, the opening bid was one heart. Six times West overcalled with one spade.

Now the question is, what should North do. Of course, if North doubles the spade, he is actually saying, "Partner, I do not think we can make a game and if West had not bid a spade, that is what I would have bid. Now of course

"Pat called me. She was worried about you. I thought—" Her voice trailed off. She leaned down and stared close into my face. "Did you say a diamond, son?"

"As big as a robin's egg," I said. "Great day," she said. "So you've found them."

She leaned down, picked up something, and held it close for inspection.

"Is this what you're looking for?"

It was.

"Give me that," I said.

"I'm sentimental about these things," she said. "Let me hold it a moment."

I grabbed her wrist. She fended off my hand with cool amusement.

"Nick! Don't be precipitate."

"Big words for a little girl. Look!"

I pointed at Phineas Hudson's grave—at a little mound of loose soil. Her fine brows drew down in concentration. She emitted a soft whistle. She smiled up at me, passed back the stone, and took my arm.

"It's a bit early for planting."

"It all depends upon what you're planting," I replied.

"Come."

We stepped carefully around the dirt. Brenda shuddered a bit and said:

"How horribly fascinating! Who do you think did it?"

I didn't answer that question. I never even had time to ponder it. Brenda had turned for a last curious look at the disturbed grave. I heard her gasp sharply and I turned. And I had my answer. (To Be Continued)

Science Suggests Homes Built Of Paper To Solve Emergency Housing

Science has perfected a process for building sturdy, inexpensive houses made entirely of paper. This experimental structure is small, but tests show that larger buildings could withstand ravages of weather.

By NEA Service

APPLETON, WIS.—The wolf who couldn't blow down the brick house built by the three little pigs would have an equally frustrating time if he tried to huff and puff until he blew the paper house down. Scientists have built a house in this Wisconsin town, using nothing but paper for walls, roof, decorations, window shades and even carpeting.

Based on an experimental basis, to show that paper can be used for emergency housing, the house has so far shown itself rugged enough to withstand strong winds, heavy rain and snowfall, as well as protracted hot and damp weather. For less than $60, the cost of construction, that is quite a house.

Scientists point out that the scarcity of paper is due to circumstances of war, and not because there is any shortage of wood, from which most paper is made. Forests today are being grown under sound principles of scientific management, that assure a continuous supply of wood for pulp, paper and kindred products when war demands are relaxed.

Easily Assembled

The paper house, covering an area about 8 feet by 16 feet, is not a large structure, but results indicate that additional units could be added to provide any space desired.

Latin Americans Also Have Red Tape

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA—(AP)—A former tax collector here finally got his pension ($45 a month) from the Colombia government for the leprosy he picked up while on the job—but it took 13 documents to do it. He attached to his claim:

A certificate he is not now receiving a pension; certificate he doesn't owe any income tax; certificate he didn't have leprosy when he took the job; certificate he has leprosy now; appointment as tax collector and transfer to leprosy district; medical certificate it was a leprosy district; certificate he had to deal with lepers when he was there; and various certificates proving his government service and salary.

This one-story house was built of 21 prefabricated panels, including four floor panels which were placed in immediate contact with the ground. The paper used is chip-board, which is made on paper-board machines from waste paper only, and is reinforced with a material that is exceedingly cheap and relatively non-critical. A minimum of wood and metal connectors was used.

A few days after the experimental house was erected, a terrific wind and rain storm struck Appleton and vicinity. Wind velocities up to 56 m.p.h. were recorded as the storm damaged buildings and felled trees in its ferocity. Inspection of the house showed that no damage had been done, that it had not even shifted on its sills, although anchorages had not yet been provided.

A red salmon, marked by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries in Alaskan waters in May, was caught 44 days later in a Siberian stream, after having traveled 1300 miles.

"We have come from Vernon to Midland and plan to make this our future home," E. R. Broom, operator of the Phillips 66 Service at Wall and Marienfield streets, declared. Broom began operation of the station in October, 1944. Since arriving here, he has started construction of a home.

"I am anxious to meet as many of the citizens of Midland as possible," Broom said as he extended an invitation for automobile and truck owners of Midland County to visit his station at its convenient location.

Broom promised he always would try his best to give the same prompt, cheerful, courteous service which prevailed before the war. Rest rooms at the station are kept immaculately clean at all times. Oil is not allowed to accumulate on the drive so customers will get it on their shoes when they step out of their cars.

Petosky's Minute Inn Has Become Popular Eating Place Of Midland

In the three years since Jack Petosky began operation of the Minute Inn at 600 West Wall Street, the restaurant has continued to register a gain in popularity from month to month until it is now one of the most popular dining places in Midland.

The clean, white exterior of the building presents an inviting appearance, and when a customer steps inside the structure the attractiveness of the place is immediately apparent.

Petosky has been in the cafe business 15 years, and this experience is one of the reasons appetizing, well-balanced meals always are served at the Minute Inn, despite the many restraints placed on menus because of rationing.

USVA Reports Many War Veterans Are Drawing Compensation

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(P)—About 27,000 war veterans monthly are drawing unemployment pay from Uncle Sam.

The total number of civilians—exclusive of the 27,000 veterans—drawing unemployment pay in the nation is only about 100,000.

The number of men discharged back into civilian life by the Army and Navy combined is about 65,000 a month.

So, 27,000 getting unemployment pay monthly is almost half those discharged.

Doesn't Know Why
The U. S. Veterans Administration (USVA) headquarters here says it doesn't know why so many veterans can't find work to suit them. Apparently the USVA isn't trying to learn why. When I asked for the answer, I got this:

"We don't know why. We get notice from the state unemployment offices that so many veterans qualified for unemployment pay. And we foot the bill."

By special act of Congress, a veteran unable to find suitable work applies for unemployment pay at his local unemployment insurance office.

Different With Civilians
Under the Social Security Act a civilian, covered by unemployment insurance but unable to find suitable work for which he is available, gets paid by his local unemployment office.

This system for civilians has federal backing but is not connected with USVA.

An unemployed veteran gets $20 a week. The maximum unemployment pay that can be drawn is for 52 weeks. But not all veterans can get that long drawing on Uncle Sam. This is why.

For each of his first three months of service, he is allowed 8 weeks' unemployment, or a total of 24

Poultry is an excellent warm weather food, R. A. Doran of the Doran Produce Company said. Poultry meat does not have the "heavy" body of some types of meat, therefore is not as likely to cause one to become too warm when the sun's rays are hottest, Doran explained.

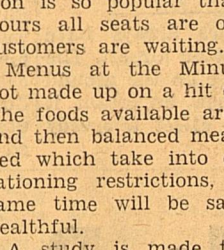

Since rationing restrictions have increased, poultry has become an increasingly popular food, as it requires no ration points.

General Bradley Likes Peanut Butter By Ton

By HAL BOYLE

TWELFTH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS—(P)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley has only one vice — peanut butter.

This has been the source of a long-standing difference between the general and his mess sergeant, who is unable to see how Bradley can enjoy such a dish as pea soup containing peanut butter.

The General's insistence on always having peanut butter on the table at every meal unspeakably pains Master Sgt. Richard M. Dudley, former New York printing firm owner who likes to be known as "Director of the General's Cuisine."

"Once down in Tunisia there was a mixup in rations and instead of a balanced shipment we expected, we got 28 tons of peanut butter and one case of pineapples at headquarters," said Hansen. "And the general was the only one happy about it."

Bradley has a way of holding men to him by personal loyalty. Dudley has been with him for years and so have his driver, Master Sgt. Alex Sout, Opelousas, La., a farmer, and his orderly, Staff Sgt. Frank J. Cekada, Calumet, Mich. So also have his aides—Maj. Chet Hansen and Maj. Lewis Bridge.

Bradley has always believed in the principle of having a "happy staff" around him — believing the team is always more important than any individual.

At 52 he has the stride, energy and bearing of a well-built farm-boy. He weighs about 176 pounds—only four more than when he played baseball at West Point. He doesn't worry after he once makes a decision on a pending military operation, and that helps to keep him young. He does his worrying in advance—figuring how he can win objectives with the least cost in lives and material.

If there is one thing he doesn't like about his job it is the fact that it has removed him too much from the old comradeship at the battlefield which he enjoys most, the kinship of common danger that knits men closer.

Rocket Fighter Planes Send Scared Nazi Troops Scurrying Into Forests

Dive-bombing and strafing are specialties of AAF rocket fighter planes, whose heavy fire power is dreaded by German ground forces. Pilots co-ordinate rockets and machine guns in devastating attacks.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

FOSTER FIELD, TEXAS—Rocket firing fighter planes of the Army Air Forces are the weapons most dreaded by German ground troops. The swift, deadly rocket planes have the fire power of a broadside from a light cruiser.

"Jabo" is the German word for fighter attacks on ground troops.

Baton Twirler Wants Another Whirl At Parades

SALT LAKE CITY—(P)—Harry O. Beston of Ashland, Neb., is 71 years old, but he wants to twirl his baton at the head of any parade which Salt Lake City arranges to celebrate on July 24, 1947, the centennial of the Mormon pioneers' arrival in Utah.

And his baton twirling, he said in a letter to the Desert News, "is something different from what any of you have ever seen."

"The baton I use," he wrote, "is four feet eight inches long with a United States flag 14 inches by 22 inches on each end. I can march in a parade and twirl the baton for two hours and never drop it."

"I love to be in a parade. It always makes me feel younger."

Sherman Tanker Qualifies For Ack Ack Gunner

By HAL BOYLE

WITH THE NINTH ARMORED DIVISION IN GERMANY —(P)—One Sherman tankman who knocked down a German plane with one blast from his high velocity 76 millimeter gun figures he can qualify as an ack ack gunner.

The Germans were trying to evacuate their planes from an air field on the way to Kassel when a company of 14th Tank Battalion tanks rolled into view.

Cpl. Odus C. Todd, Eubank, Ky., bow gunner, took a long range shot at one twin-engined plane which had just left the ground and struck it in the tail assembly. It plunged to earth.

Secret Weapon

Searching the pockets of a seedy looking German in a prisoner of war camp, Pvt. James R. McKinstry of Portland, Ore., reached in the Nazi's overcoat pocket and shouted: "Look, men, I've found a new secret weapon!"

McKinstry held up a boy's sling-shot. The German blushed as other prisoners burst into laughter.

April Fool

It was the night of April 1 and Cpl. Leo Macner of Utica, N. Y., stepped out of a barn door clad only in his winter "longjohns" and field jacket.

Hearing someone move in the darkness he shouted "halt."

He found the visitor was a German with a bazooka. The German saw a long object in Macner's hand pointed at his heart. He promptly gave up.

The prisoner looked again and saw he had surrendered to an ordinary G. I. flashlight.

"April Fool," said Macner.

Descending planes always have the right of way at an airport. The theory is that those on the ground can never know how important it is for a plane to effect a speedy landing.

Captured German documents contain reports testifying to the tremendous destructive power of the fighters. German officers taken as prisoners admit they have been forced to order their men to abandon daylight retreats entirely. Instead they take refuge in forests to keep away from the dreaded "Jabo."

Amazing efficiency of rockets fired from planes is revealed from the tabulated results of 323 test sorties. Using 1117 rockets, fighters destroyed 35 locomotives, 85 tanks, 164 motor transports, 19 gun positions, 9 hangars and 2 factories, and did great damage to an equal number of targets.

Attrition against enemy aircraft is freeing more fighter planes for use against enemy ground troops. Because of their lightning, death-dealing blows and accurate hitting power, fighter planes are now an integral part of offensive tactics.

Increasing use of the rocket is giving fighter planes the punch of a heavyweight. Key to the success of this weapon is its superior penetrating ability. A five-inch rocket will drive three feet into heavily reinforced concrete and four feet into concrete with average reinforcement. With this penetration the explosion does much more damage to the target.

Vital At Normandy

The fighter plane was a vital factor in the Normandy invasion. One captured Nazi officer described the excellent morale of his troops when ordered into Normandy the day of the landing. They believed the attack would result in another Dieppe and were eager to reach the combat zones.

Suddenly, without warning, American fighters swooped down and strafed their column from one end to the other, leaving vehicles and equipment in charred ruins. In a few seconds, hundreds of men lay dead and wounded while the rest fled into the woods and ditches in utter confusion.

SULPHUR FOR LAMB COCCIDIOSIS

Coccidiosis in lambs may be successfully prevented by the addition of ground crude sulphur to their feed in proportions ranging from 1/4% to 1 1/2% of the ration, claims the Idaho Wool Growers Bulletin. Effectiveness of this sulphur treatment has been demonstrated by the U.S.D.A. working in cooperation with large lamb feeders, the report states.

No Runts among these grunts

A LOT of credit goes to our Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations where men spend their lives working out improved methods of breeding and feeding. For example, E. F. Ferrin, head of the swine division of the University of Minnesota, recently ran a feeding test with seven lots of pigs. He found that too small an amount of protein in the ration produces more runts, slower gains and less profit.

All pigs in the test started at an average weight of 50 pounds and were self-fed without pasture for 14 weeks. All seven lots received the same kind of protein supplement which was tankage and soybean meal in equal parts with 10% alfalfa meal to supply adequate amounts of B vitamins. Some lots got a high-protein ration (18% of the total feed); others were cut down to 15% and 12% protein. As pigs get heavier, they need less protein, so in some lots the amount of protein was reduced as they gained in weight.

The best results came from an 18% protein ration until the pigs reached 100 pounds, and 15% protein after that weight. The hogs on low-protein rations made smaller gains and were more uneven in individual weights when the test ended. By just such careful experiments, the "know-how" of hog raising has reached its present efficiency.

Keep Your Cream Checks Up!

If you've noticed that the cream content of your milk goes down at this time of year, it may indicate that your dairy cows are not getting all the feed they need for heavy production. Those first blades of grass aren't as good as they look, for they won't give the cows all the proteins they require. So don't turn your dairy cattle out to graze and expect them to take care of all their feed requirements with early pasture.

Supplement their spring ration of grass with grain and protein supplement mixture, and hay . . . grain and protein supplement for milk production, hay for necessary roughage. This tonic is sure to put new spring in the step of an undernourished cow.

The best indication of contentment in the dairy herd is the butterfat test of your milk!
