Stenholm says deficit most serious problem

By Ray Mayo
Editor

Cong. Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) told a large group here Tuesday that the federal deficit is "the most serious problem facing this country today."

Stenholm was speaking at a combined meeting of service clubs and stopped in Colorado City on a swing through the 17th district during his July 4th break.

The seven-year veteran of Washington politics said that the government continues its "inability to come to grips with spending" and suggested a freeze on everything and cuts "wher ever" possible along with raising additional revenue to eventually balance the budget.

One of the programs he suggests freezing is Social Security. He said he has great sympathy with the elderly which comprise about 30 percent of the 17th district, but said that a freeze now on benefits will help build up a reserve to meet the "challenges of the future."

Commenting on the deadlock over the pending budget, Stenholm said "May 15 came and went and we still don't have a budget."

The House and Senate each passed deficit budget packages, he said, but problems arose over entitlement programs in the House while the Senate doesn't want to go along with budget cuts in the Defense Department.

Stenholm said he doesn't think "it's too much to ask the Defense Department to tighten its belt" since the American public is being asked to tighten its belt.

Although it's an unpopular idea among most Americans, Stenholm suggested that taxes should be raised as fairly as possible to provide "these services that the American public demands."

Turning to the agriculture outlook, Stenholm said that America is no longer the most efficient producer of food and fiber, adding that competition is becoming stiffer.

Commenting that "how sweet it is to see a crop" in Mitchell County this year, Stenhom said that work on the farm bill is continuing.

He said the American farmer

It's cause for celebration, the day that marks a fight for freedom won and the birth of our American nation. Let's remember with pride the struggle that brought us to this great time, and know that the ideals and dreams set forth by our forefathers have enabled us to become a nation of strength and justice, one that still endures by the very principles established so long ago. This July Fourth, let us each express our patriotism as proudly and grandly as we display America's stars and stripes.

Skydivers to be featured during annual Fly-In

Bruce Herrington of Midland and Mark Smith of Odessa will be literally falling from the sky Thursday as part of the annual Colorado City Fly-In at the Northwest Jet Strip Airport.

Herrington and Smith are skydivers who will be "dropping" in on fly-in participants and visitors at 9 a.m., 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. Thursday.

The event gets under way at 7 a.m. with a free breakfast for those flying in. Others may eat for $3 each.

Other events on tap for the day include ultralights, airplane rides and a C-130 Hercules on display.

Herrington, 28, a computer operator, and Smith, 24, a butcher, are members of the Westex Sky Sports Club in Stanton whose members jump regularly each weekend.

This will be the fourth year for Herrington to participate in the local fly-in. He has been jumping for four years and has 208 jumps to credit. Smith has three years experience and 205 jumps to his credit.

Herrington and Smith will each be using the newer square-shaped parachutes. One of their jumps will be a new maneuver in which their canopies will be side by side and their legs hooked together.

They also plan a "barber-pole jump in which both will wear smoke flares. A three-foot piece of rope will connect them as they jump from J. O. Dockrey's plane together. As they spin toward the ground, it will look like a barber-pole to the spectators on the ground, Herrington explains.

Admission to the fly-in is free. The event will last until 4 p.m.

Fireworks violators being fined

Those bang-bangs Colorado City residents are hearing from the sound of fireworks are a no-no, according to Police Chief Bobby Sparks.

Sparks said there is a city ordinance which prohibits setting off fireworks in the city limits by individuals. He said violation of the ordinance is a Class C misdemeanor which is punishable up to a $200 fine.

"We're already writing tickets," said Sparks Monday, adding that one violator was brought before the city judge on Monday morning.

Sparks said there also is an ordinance which prohibits the sale of fireworks within the city limits.

A.W. Phillips Field to be dedicated

A legend in Colorado City baseball circles will become immortalized Thursday when Wolf Field, adjacent to Wolf Stadium, will become A. W. Phillips Field.

Dedication ceremonies are to begin at 6 p.m. at the field when two of Phillips' former players, Larry Currie and Randy Phillips (Phillips' son), pay tribute to the Colorado City resident many call the "Father of Organized Baseball in Colorado City."

Currie, now head coach of the Odessa Permian High School baseball team, and the younger Phillips, local insurance agent are just two of the many Colorado City youths Phillips helped coach and guide as part of the Teenage League Braves.

A sign is presently being constructed for the field and a plaque will be presented to Phillips Thursday. On hand for the occasion besides the younger Phillips will be Phillips' wife Louise, and daughter, Brenda Edwards of Alamogorado, N.M.

Phillips has been managing local baseball teams for the last 33 years, with a brief "retirement" in 1983.

Man jailed following mishap

A Colorado City man remained in Mitchell County Jail Monday after being charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle following an incident Friday in which the pickup he was driving struck two Colorado City women, sending one of them to Root Memorial Hospital.

Police Chief Bobby Sparks said that Ben Garcia was arrested following the 6:30 p.m. mishap that occurred near the intersection of Sixth and Vine streets.

Sparks said Garcia was driving west on Vine when he struck Mrs. Lori Lady and Mrs. Gladys Howard from behind as the two walked west on Vine.

Mrs. Lady was taken to the hospital with multiple injuries and she was listed in stable condition Monday. Mrs. Howard was struck in the arm, but was not seriously injured, said Sparks.

Garcia's bond has been set at $5,000. Additional charges are pending.

A 70-year-old Colorado City man was in stable condition Monday at Root Memorial Hospital following a Saturday mishap in which the car he was driving collided with a house.

Police Chief Bobby Sparks said Richard Perkin of 936 Rusk Street apparently lost control of his 1977 Chevrolet and the car struck the southeast corner of a house at 1537 Waco belonging to Marie Feaster.

The accident occurred Saturday at 5:40 p.m.

"FREE THE HOSTAGES" was the sign carried on this entry in the AJRA Rodeo parade Saturday. The pickup was filled with participants in the Wallace Center Summer Recreation Program.

must meet the challenge of too much productivity, but added that mandatory controls and raising price controls are not the answers.

He said the oil industry is also suffering from the foreign competition, noting that one third of all the refineries in the United States have gone out of business in the last three years and that more will follow suit in the years to come.

"OPEC is shipping in a refined product at a lower cost than American-made products," said Stenholm.

"We are good teachers in America to the rest of the world, but it's causing real challenges," he said.

"The trade deficit is hitting agriculture right through the eyes," he noted.

He related that there is no market for wheat any longer since too much surplus has already accumulated.

Stenholm began his remarks with the recent situation in the Middle East in which 31 Americans were held hostage.

"Our prayers were answered and the hostages returned on Sunday," he said, noting that the United States is having "difficulty coming to grips with terrorism."

He described the nation's capitol as "fortress America" with increased security the order of the day.

He said Americans seem to hold their own government in contempt at times, making "it easy for others too see the government as different than the American people."

He related where one hostage said his captors had nothing against the American people, just the American government.

"Our government is the people," he stressed, adding that if foreign countries preceive it differently, "then we're missing something somewhere."

"These are trying times and unfortunately they will be more trying," he told the crowd at the Civic Center.

Responding to questions from the noon audience, he said he agrees with tax simplication, adding that he intends to support the tax reform bill.

As far as a timetable on the farm bill is concerned, he said it will be lucky if the House is finished with its version by the August break.

Stenholm was introduced by Mayor Elmer Martin who described Stenholm as someone with first hand knowledge of the oil, agriculture and cattle industry.

Also on hand for the luncheon Tuesday were former Cong. George Mahon of Colorado City and Texas Rep. Dick Burnett.

Phillips

For 23 years, he has been head mentor of the Braves. Before that, he coached Little League, helping organize the sport here when his son reached playing age. His first team was called the Blue Sox,. the next team the White Sox and then he moved up to the 10-12 year-old division and coached Randy on the Giants.

Phillips combined his organization abilities with muscle as he helped construct the present Little League diamond in 1955 and Wolf Field in 1961 by welding the fences and bleachers for both diamonds.

It was in 1961 that Phillips started managing the Braves and since that time has recorded 18 league championships and eight district championships. In 1974 his squad finished third in the state.

Land applications accepted

AUSTIN–The Texas Department of Agriculture is now accepting applications for the 1985 Family Land Heritage Program honoring families who have kept their land in continuous agricultural production for at least a century.

"This is the 12th year for one of the most coveted honors of state government," said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. "Keeping the same land in continuous agricultural production for 100 consecutive years is no easy task, and these families certainly deserve the recognition and thanks. While we celebrate their achievements of the past, the Family Land Heritage Program also points out the importance these family-run farms and rnaches hold for the future. We need every one of these family farms and ranches in production for another 100 years."

Since the program began in 1974, a total of 1,821 Texas farms and ranches have been recognized and placed in the Family Land Heritage Registry. Last year alone, 92 properties were honored, including the 218-year-old Trevino Circle t Ranch near Zapata.

The oldest property ever recognized is the Noriecitas Ranch founded in 1740 by Simon De Hinojosa, under the authority of the King of Spain, near what is today Hebbronville. That property was recognized in 1976.

According to program coordinator Carolyn Baethge, qualifications for inclusion in the program are quite specific. "The land must have been in agricultural production since 1885. If the land has ever been leased to someone outside the family, it cannot qualify. The owners must reside in Texas and must actively manage and direct the everyday operations of the farm or ranch," Baethge said.

Applications for families who believe they qualify are now available from their county judge, County Historical Commission, the nearest TDA district office, or by writing to Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711. Registrations will be accepted through August 31.

"Funding for the Family Land Heritage Program has been reduced for the next operating year due to legislative budget cuts." Hightower said. "However, we are already working with the Texas Historical Commission, hoping to scure a grant from private sources to ensure that the 1985 Family Land Heritage Registry is as complete, detailed and historically significant as the previous 11 registries."

Softball group sets fund-raising events

Mitchell County's United Girls Softball Association will sponsor fund raising games and a cake auction to raise proceeds for the All-Star regional tournaments to be played in Kermit July 18-20. A Mother's game will be played Saturday, July 6 at 6:30 p.m. in Ruddick Park.

Grady Morris will auction cakes at 8 p.m., then a Father's game will follow at 8:30 p.m. Dad's will pay $1 for every homerun they hit. If you would like to donate a cake or money, call 728-2039, 728-8393 or 728-5933.

Declaration is important to all

By Lloyd Bentsen
United States Senator

After Pearl Harbor was attacked in December 1941, Fort Knox became the shelter for a fragile piece of yellowed parchment worth far more than the gleaming gold bars all around it.

This precious document was our Declaration of Independence. Padlocked in a bronze container within a strong box, it has been escorted by armed guards every step of the way to Kentucky.

In the fall of 1944, when military authorities ruled that there was no longer danger of enemy attack, it was returned to Washington, D.C., and remains on display at the National Archives.

On this Fourth of July, the 209th Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, we would do well to ponder its eloquent message.

When Thomas Jefferson took up his pen in 1776, he was determined to express simply and compellingly the justifications for Americans' desire to break their allegiance to the British Crown.

"...It was intended to be an expression of the American mind, and to give to that expression the proper tone and spirit called for by the occasion," Jefferson recalled later in his life.

He stated straightforwardly several truths: "that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness–that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

We should never find it a burden to work to fulfill the Declaration's pledge for all Americans. And we must be willing to defend our Declaration against all who are hostile to its principles.

The notions of equality, justice and rights simply do not exist for millions of people ruled by the doctrines of the Communist Manifesto. They are told that such "bourgeois" concepts as freedom, independence and individuality should be abolished.

The Manifesto also speaks of abolishing countries and nationality. It says that if people surpress their desire for freedom long enough, the state eventually will "wither away." In truth, we have only to look at Poland or Afghanistan to see how communist governments just grow more harsh and dominant in their rule.

The Declaration, by contrast, enables the rights to liberty and equality for all Americans now and in the future. Those who signed this guarantee felt strongly enough about those rights to "mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

They deliberately pledged their lives then their fortunes, historians say, to emphasize the abiding value they played on this revolutionary document.

While the price of gold and other wordly fortunes may fluctuate, the priceless gift of the Declaration of Independence–underwritten by the lives of those who signed it and generations of Americans who have followed–is undiminished.

State-owned minerals are needed

By Garry Mauro
Texas Land Commissioner

The land has always been this state's richest legacy to Texans. But like any inheritance, there have been a number of legal disputes about the best way to do what's best for all times for all Texans.

From its earliest beginnings as a Republic, Texas has been torn between two worlds, torn between the English legal tradition and the Spanish, over the best way to manage its land and its minerals. Under the English tradition, land and minerals were treated as one; under Spain, a tradition of dual ownership existed that said all minerals belonged to the state but the surface of the land could belong to another.

Texans drifted between these two systems of law until 1895 when the Texas Legislature made it clear it would follow the Spanish tradition: that is, it set aside the state's mineral wealth by dedicating it to the Permanent School Fund, but allowed the surface of the land to be sold to individual landowners. As a result, Texas Land Commissioners were allowed to sell surface rights to landowners, but kept the minerals for the state.

As a result of this 19th Century decision, there are about 7 million acres scattered throughout Texas on which the state owns the minerals and a private landowner owns the surface.

Income from these 7 million acres makes up part of the $4.5 billion in revenue that has been deposited into the Permanent School Fund for the education of Texas schoolchildren.

In addition to oil and gas reserves that remain untapped, the state owns almost $1 billion worth of hard minerals on these 7 million acres which it shares with surface owners.

But this future legacy for the schoolchildren of Texas has been put in jeopardy by a recent Texas Supreme Court ruling, which forces the state to turn over mineral ownership of coal and lignite within 200 feet of the surface in Webb County.

The danger this case presents to the Permanent School Fund is that it opens the door to challenges of state ownership of all hard minerals, such as iron, silver, talc, mercury, limestone, gypsum and others, that lie beneath the surface of nearly 7 million acres.

If Texas is forced to turn over all these hard minerals located within 200 feet of the surface, it could cost at least $918 million in revenues.

That's why I've asked the Attorney General to file a motion for rehearing of this case. With the help of the Attorney General, I am confident the Supreme Court will see the justice of our position in this important matter and restore this mineral ownership to the future schoolchildren of the state.

Since the turn of the century, Texas land commissioners have very carefully reserved the state's minerals as an endowment for the Permanent School Fund. When the surface of this land was first sold in 1907, for example, even the deed reserved the minerals for the schoolchildren of Texas.

It's disappointing and surprising that the Texas Supreme Court has decided to give away the Permanent School Fund's mineral rights to surface owners who never even paid for it. If this ruling is allowed to stand, our schoolchildren will be the poorer for it.

Munoz returns from Israel trip

Irene Munoz standing beside the Good Fence.

Irene Munoz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Munoz of Loraine, returned recently from her second trip to Israel.

Miss Munoz has been a resident of Abilene for the past seven years. She is employed by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission and is a member of the 490th Civil Affairs Army Reserve Unit in Abilene.

The two-week tour to Israel was with High Adventure Tours, an outreach of High Adventure Ministries of Van Nuys, Calif. with George Otis, president. The ministry sponsors the Christian radio station "Voice of Hope" in Southern Lebanon. Due to current conditions in Lebanon, the tour group was not able to visit the "Voice of Hope" although previous groups have done so in the past.

Miss Munoz reports the four-day stay in Jerusalem as the highlight of the trip, although another highlight was staying at the Arazim Hotel in Metulla which borders Southern Lebanon and Israel. There, the group met some of the Lebanese staff of the radio station and heard first-hand reports of the conditions in Lebanon. The group also visited the Good Fence, this being the only spot in the Middle East where Israelis and Arabs set an example to the world that enemies can become friends, and where first aid and hospital services are set up by Israel to assist the people of Lebanon.

Other cities and sites visited were Caesarea, Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee, Acre, Cana, Nazareth, Bethlehem, Meaiddo, Capernaum, Tel Aviv, Jaffa, Jericho, Bethany, and the Jordan River. In Jerusalem, sites visited included the Dome of the Rock, the Garden Tomb, the Wailing (Western) Wall, Via Dolorosa, Mount of Olives, Mount Zion and Garden of Gethsemane as well as the Shrine of the Book where the Dead Sea scroll collection is exhibited. Included also was a visit to the fortress of Masada and Yad Vashem (the Holocaust museum), memorial to the six million Jews killed during World War II.

Richburg descendents meet

The Saturday evening meal was a sandwich supper and a time of visiting. Sunday, was a full day of visiting and enjoying a bounteous meal. This reunion has been held annually since 1957, and the present plans are to meet in Loraine in 1986.

John and Mollie Richburg came to Loraine in 1906 with five children and lived here until their deaths. Eleven children were born to them later, and fourteen of their children are still living. The following children were present for the 1985 gathering.

Baptist Women meet

Loraine Baptist Women met for their monthly business and program at 9:30 a.m. Monday, July 1st.

Jeannine Rundell presided and announced the program topic "South of the Border." She gave the introduction stating that to most of us Mexico is a cruise to Acapulco and dirty border towns, but Mexico is also a land of contrast, lush green mountains and dry sandy deserts. The cities are modern, but small adobe villages dot the large country. It has a population of over 75 million and continues to increase more than 2.5 a year. It is the largest Spanish speaking country in the world.

Throughout the land, Southern Baptist missionaries along with faithful Mexican christians earnestly work to win people to Christ and establish new churches.

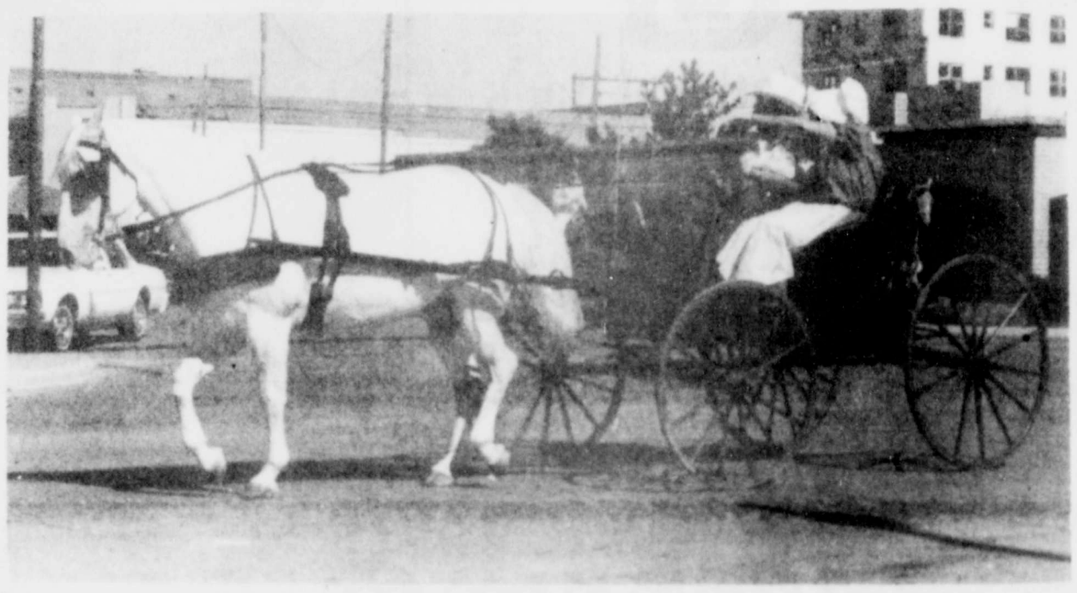

Work of Southern Baptist in Chihuahua, Monterrey, San Luis Potost and Mexico City were discussed by Bernice Hallmark, Stella Harris, Frances Porter, Pauline Smiley and Ida Baird. Ms. Rundell gave a prayer to close this part of the program.

During the business, Ms. Rundell reported that window curtains and matching sheets had been purchased for a room at the parsonage and members will meet to hang the curtains.

Mrs. Butler read the prayer calendar and gave names of missionaries whose birthday was on this day and Mrs. Porter gave the prayer for them.

Mrs. Butler read minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Harris gave the treasurer's report.

Eight members were present.

IT LOOKED A SCENE from the Old West Saturday as this horse and buggy made its way through downtown during the annual AJRA Rodeo parade. A variety of entries made up the parade including local riders as well as riding clubs from Scurry County and San Angelo.

Pratts enjoy weekend

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Pratt and Howard and Marilyn Tartt had a very enjoyable weekend at Lakeway Resort, returning home Sunday afternoon.

They were guests of the Pratt's son, Willard Pratt when he entertained for the 10th consecutive year 90 sales people and their families in his district of Equitable Life Insurance Agency.

This was located 17 miles northwest of Austin, and provides a wide variety of entertainment. Take your choice–there are three golf courses, tennis courts, swimming, skiing, boating, etc.

There were many eating places, but they ate hamburgers at Lakeway Marina on Friday night and at Rosie's Place Saturday evening. Rosie's Place is a tradition there–her Mexican food and service is the best, and her place and reputation has grown with the place.

There are hundreds of condo's, 40 of them reserved for this group. All of this is in a lush setting of mountains, lakes, trees and green lawns.

They report a great weekend.

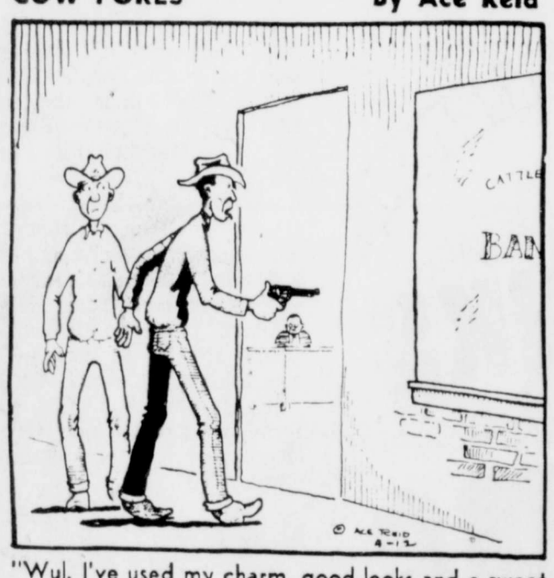

Lees return from trip to Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Lee returned home Tuesday after spending the weekend in Swink, Colorado visiting relatives and attending the 50th wedding anniversary reception for her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Phillips on Sunday, June 23rd.

The Lee's report the crops pretty between here and Colorado. A beet crop was around Hereford, Texas, as well as sunflower farms and corn.

White Sox continue ways

The defending district champion White Sox, who have already clinched the Texas Junior Teenage League baseball championship with their 9-0 record, continued to overwhelm the opposition in games played Monday night while the Colts moved into second place.

The White Sox beat the Braves 13-1 with Joe David Rodriquez pitching and Eddie Benitez relieving for one inning.

The Sox Benitez and Mark Russell scored in the first inning for a 2-0 lead. A triple by Rodriquez in the second scored Benitez, Russell and David Garcia.

Rodriquez singled and Russell doubled in the third to help score Benitez and Russell for the Sox sixth and seventh runs then the defending state qualifiers blew it open with six fifth inning scores helped by six bases on balls.

Losing pitcher Beau Rees scored the Braves lone run in the second inning after being hit by a pitch.

Benitez and Russell finished four for four at the plate with four runs scored while J. D. and Greg Rodriquez went three for four.

The Colts defeated the Lions 7-5 in the other game. Both teams entered the game in second with 3-5 records and the victory left the Colts at 4-5 and the Lions dropped to 3-6.

Ismael Silva pitched five innings to take the Colts victory and got one inning's relief from Ken Woods.

Losing pitcher was Mark Molina.

The Lions led 1-0 until the bottom of the third when errors gave the lead to the Colts. Four runs scored by the Lions in their last bat were too little too late.

Pesticide drift problems challenged

AUSTIN–The Texas Department of Agriculture will have its inspectors out in force across a number of Panhandle counties during the first few weeks of June, helping farmers and ranchers avoid the pesticide drift problems that have troubled this area of the state for the past couple of years.

Cliff Todd of TDA's Field Operations says 12 agency inspectors will be highly visible in Parmer, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Collingsworth and Castro counties.

Last summer, drift problems resulted in TDA seeking more than $24,000 in fines from 38 pesticide applicators and dealers for damage to cotton crops in Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro counties. TDA inspected more than 21,000 acres of cotton after receiving 117 separate complaints. A private action lawsuit has also been field by area cotton farmers, seeking more than $5 million in damages.

Library to show children's films

The Mitchell County Public Library will show the following films on Saturday, July 2 at 2 p.m.:

–"Goldilocks and the Three Bears"–a 10-minute color animated film of the classic story, told brightly and faithfully. The droll repetitions and individualized characters will amuse young audiences.

–"Tepozton"–an 11-minute color film dealing with the Mexican legend of the mischievous boy who is half Aztec god and half human.

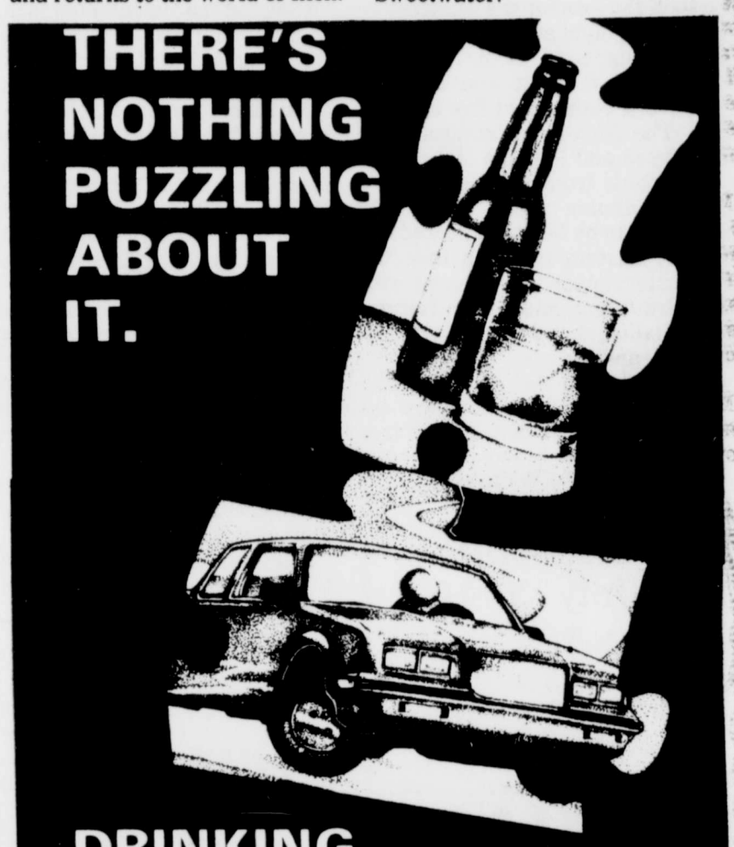

–"Faeries"–this 25-minute color animated film, based on the book, recounts the story of a young hunter, Oisin, who is taken to the king of faeries by Princess Niamh. The king asks for his help in overcoming the evil spectral monster. With the aid of friendly forest spirits, Oisin defeats the king's enemies and returns to the world of men.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Outstanding Perennials For Texas Landscapes

When most people think of perennials, they automatically envision daffodils, tulips and chrysanthemums, which is understandable since those are among the most common perennials. There are many more perennials, though, that often are overlooked. Here are 10 lesser known varieties that will do well in most parts of Texas.

•Oxalis: This plant has small bright green leaflets that look like a clump of clover and the flowers range in color from hot pink to white, red and yellow. Oxalis grows in shady or partly shady areas and will stay under 10 inches tall.

•Crinums: Members of the lily family, crinums have long, strap-shaped leaves that are dark green in color. In the spring, large white flowers will open out.

•Purple Coneflower: This beautiful flower bears large, light purple blooms on strong 15- to 24-inch plants in late spring. It should be planted in sun or part shade.

•Gloriosa Daisy: A relative of the native Black-eyed Susan, this daisy establishes into nice clumps of summer-blooming plants. Most are buttery-yellow with brown centers, though several types come in shades of rust and copper. They will grow to 1 to 3 feet in height and will do well in sun or part shade.

•Stachys: Grown only for its foliage, stachys has a pleasing, soft texture. The leaves are gray-green and as soft as velvet. They will grow up to 10 inches tall in sunny or shady areas.

•Mallows: A hardy hibiscus, the mallow displays dozens of dinner-plate sized flowers each summer and comes in red, pink and white. They die back at first frost but will come back the next spring.

•Belladonna Lily: This amaryllis blooms in the late summer and has trumpet-shaped blossoms in a soft pink shade. It will thrive for many years.
