AIRMAN TAKES OFF SECRETLY IN BIG PLANE

IDENTITY OF HIS ONE PASSENGER IS NOT GIVEN OUT

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Mar. 13.—Off on a daring attempt to conquer the Atlantic, Captain Walter Hinchliffe, one of England's brilliant airmen, sped from Cranwell air-drome at 8:40 o'clock this morning in his American built plane "The Adventure."
The mystery that attached to the take-off which was made with the utmost secrecy, was further complicated by the presence of a mysterious passenger that may possibly have been the Honorable Elsie MacKay, daughter of Lord Incheape.
Although first reports said that Captain Gordon Sinclair, a reserve pilot, was in the plane, there was no positive confirmation of his presence.

The message filed in London at 8:45 this morning, read:
"For purpose advising you our friend left 8:45 details later."
It was signed Lloyd Radmayson, a name unfamiliar to Gillespie. Gillespie said he had arranged with Captain Hinchliffe that when the Captain took off from this country he should have a friend cable the information in the form of the message received today.

(By The Associated Press)

Captain Sorenson was reported missing after the flames had been extinguished, and coast guards immediately dragged the harbor in the vicinity of the tug, recovering his body.
The oil exploded at the rear of the tugboat, shattering the vessel's Propeller. In the fire that followed, I. Rubin and John Bolderson were burned. Both were taken to the hospital where attendants said Rubin's burns were severe.

INFANT'S BODY TRIPLE SLAYER DISCOVERED IN BACK OF BARS SHOE-BOX HERE IN SAN ANGELO

Members of the police department made known the discovery this morning following a call from a resident of that section of the city. Going to the spot, the police found the box and immediately started an investigation of the case.
Car Seen Near Spot
According to the man who found the box, a Ford coupe was seen driving near the canyon late yesterday afternoon. The box was wrapped in a newspaper also and had apparently been thrown from the car.
A local physician, called to the scene, stated that the infant was prematurely born and approximately four months from conception. There were no indications that the baby had been killed, he said, and it had undoubtedly not been born more than 36 hours prior to its being found.
The box which contained the body was purchased from a local store while the newspaper was published in Fort Worth.

BUTLER, HAYS, MELLON EACH GO ON STAND

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—The efforts of a Republican National chairman to dispose of bonds turned in by the party treasury by Harry F. Sinclair was traced through another graphic chapter today by the senate sub-committee.
Two outstanding Republican leaders, Andrew W. Mellon and Wm. M. Butler, told the senators they will have had sought unsuccessfully to "arrest out consignments of bonds to them in 1923, while Hays was Republican national chairman. In exchange for "contributions" to the party war chest.
Hays himself corroborated this testimony, but again denied that he had done any wrong. He said he had not disclosed the information in his previous testimony before the sub-committee because he felt it was irrelevant.

RAY JURY NOT IN YET; CHUMS SENT TO JAIL

(By Associated Press)
ROBY, Mar. 12.—While one jury deliberated today as to the punishment to be assessed Aubrey Ray, who pleaded guilty to a charge of robbing the bank at McCaulley, Texas on March 1, two men said to have been pals of Ray's were sentenced to terms of 99 years to 5 years for robbery by another jury.
Robert C. Peck pleaded guilty to charges of robbery with firearms of the McCaulley bank and the First National bank at Sylvester on Jan. 10, and was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary in each case. Sentence was deferred until Peck's wife arrives from Ponca City, Okla., to bid him goodbye.
Youth Given Clemency
A few minutes later, the same jury sentenced Burnie Burnett, 22, who pleaded guilty to robbery of the McCaulley bank to a minimum term of five years imprisonment. District Attorney Clem Calhoun, testifying, declared that Burnett was not "the first youth to be led astray by Aubrey Ray." Calhoun read a statement Burnett had made admitting the robbery and recommending clemency. Burnett was not connected with the Sylvester robbery.
The Ray jury had not reported at noon. It retired at 7 o'clock last night after Aubrey Ray had pleaded guilty to robbery of the McCaulley bank.

Second Reprieve Is Granted Pete Banks

AUSTIN, Mar. 13 (AP)—Governor Moody today granted a second reprieve of 30 days to Pete Banks, La Grange negro, who was to have been electrocuted Friday for the killing of C. J. Jones, a prominent citizen, in alleged complicity with Mrs. Ella Jones, the latter's wife, whose 99 year sentence in that connection was reduced to five years by former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.
The governor said he had not had sufficient time to study Banks' application for commutation to life imprisonment. Mrs. Jones declared recently that Banks was not guilty.

NANCY ANN MILLER, AMERICAN GIRL, QUILTS CHRISTIANITY FOR HINDUISM TO BECOME THIRD WIFE OF EX-KING

(By Associated Press)
NASIK, India, Mar. 13.—In this ancient holy city, an American girl today was converted from Christianity to Hinduism so that she might wed a former native ruler.
Miss Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle Wash., went through the conversion ceremony this morning. Saturday she will become the third wife of Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore.
Appearing very sad as though the strange ceremonies imposed a considerable strain upon her, the American girl played the central part in Hindu religious rites performed in semi-privacy on the banks of the sacred river, Godavary.
The Hindu priest who officiated placed a Puja, or Hindu worship, before a sacred fire of coals known Godavary waters.
The American Girl was dressed in Indian attire and wore a richly embroidered sari, or loose flowing robe.

RESIGNATION OF HOOVER DEMAND OF CONGRESSMAN

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13 (AP)—The long expected Willis-Hoover debate broke in the House today with one of the participants, Representative Charles Brand of Ohio, a Republican, demanding the resignation of Secretary Hoover from the cabinet in the "interest of economy and in the interests of fair play in politics."
He also charged Mr. Hoover with financing his Presidential campaign to a very large extent out of the federal treasury.
Taking the floor for a 30-minute arraignment of Hoover, Brand said that he was informed from reliable sources that Hoover's department "is today honeycombed with politicians" and that the government business is not 75 per cent efficient.

Seepage Cause Of Dam's Collapse

NEW HALL, Calif., March 13 (AP)—A preliminary survey at dawn indicated, according to Los Angeles city officials, that water seeping through a hill supporting the west wing of the St. Francis dam had caused the disaster which early today is believed to have cost hundreds of lives when the dam collapsed. Previous reports were that the dam gave way as the result of an earthquake.
The seepage is believed to have caused a portion of the hill flanking the western end of the dam to give way. The water then poured through the breach and under the pressure, the eastern wing collapsed next. The center section of the 185 foot dam wall was reported to be still standing for a distance of 150 feet.

SLEEPING FAMILIES IN CALIFORNIA PLUNGED TO DEATHS AS FLOOD FROM RESERVOIR NEAR LOS ANGELES ROARS ITS WAY OVER COUNTRY

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY UNCOUNTED BUT IS TO BE LARGE

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13.—An accident today turned the famous Los Angeles aqueduct into a giant of destruction, leaving a death toll estimated at 200 to 500 persons, an uncounted property damage when it broke the St. Francis dam in San Francisco canyon, 45 mile north of here, and sent a wall of water down upon a sleeping community.
The dam, a part of the aqueduct system which carries water 200 miles through the desert to Los Angeles, gave way without warning, releasing 62,000 acre feet of water—1,244,000 gallons—upon an unsuspecting mountain residence and ranching community. An unknown number of persons, probably somewhere between 200 and 500; apparently were trapped between the canyon walls. They included about 25 families who made their homes below the dam, a working camp of about 75 employees of the Southern California Edison company and a group of employes at a power sub-station in the path of the deluge. Sheriff's offices said there was no chance of escape for the vast majority of these.
Storage Body 5 Miles Long
The dam, a structure 185 feet high, impounded the waters of San Francisco creek, forming a storage body five miles long and the full width of the canyon.
Only five persons in the canyon were known to have been rescued when officers arrived at the scene. No one could be found who had seen the water wall bearing down upon them and had lived to tell about it.
The break, which occurred about 1 a. m., unleashed the flood at high speed and in three hours it was more than 20 miles down the valley. Three bodies, all unidentified, were found soon.
Red Cross Workers Rushed
Red Cross workers were rushed to the scene but their efforts were regarded by the sheriffs as useless. William Bright, in charge of the sheriff's rescue squad, declared there would be little use for relief work as he felt that practically all the inhabitants of the valley.
Bright recruited between 500 and 600 men and deputized them to preserve order and search for bodies in the stricken area.

150 REPORTED DEAD

NEW HALL, Calif., Mar. 13 (AP)—Los Angeles Water and Power bureau office here received a report that 150 men, employees of the bureau in camp at Kemp, had all perished except one man.
SIXTEEN ADDED TO TOLL
MOORE PARK, Calif., Mar. 13 (AP)—Sixteen bodies of those that perished in the St. Francis dam break flood had been brought to this inland town at 11 o'clock today. Five more were enroute from a ranch between here and Williams where they washed up on a bank.

100 BODIES RECOVERED

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13 (AP)—Eugene Biscailuz, under-sheriff of Los Angeles county and in charge of rescue work in the St. Francis dam break, wired his office here at 9:45 a. m. that 100 bodies had been discovered at the point where the flood waters of the breaking St. Francis dam had entered the Santa Paula and Santa Clara rivers.

EARLY REPORT GIVEN

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13 (AP)—At 10 o'clock this morning a recapitulation of loss of life in the St. Francis dam break disaster, based on word flashed here by official rescue chiefs, indicated that at least 110 persons died in the great flood which crashed through the broken dam just after midnight today.
The Times' estimate of dead was based on the number of power company workers and power sub-station employes, and early reports which accounted for only five persons rescued.

Death List May Reach 500

NEW HALL, Calif., Mar. 13 (AP)—William Bright, in charge of the sheriff's squad assigned to police and rescue work in the St. Francis dam disaster estimated today that between 200 and 500 persons lost their lives when the dam went out. Bright, after a hurried survey of the situation, declared his belief that few, if any of the ranchers, power workmen and power sub-station employes in San Francisco canyon, the site of the dam, had escaped. The total number of persons living in the upper canyon he placed at 500.
Three Bodies Found
At 5:30 a. m. three bodies, all unidentified, had been recovered.
Red Cross workers were on the scene early, sent from Los Angeles. They prepared blankets and other comforts for refugees but Bright told them he believed there would be little use for these as he felt certain that practically all inhabitants of San Francisco canyon had perished.

Deputies at Scene

Bright recruited between 500 and 600 deputy sheriffs who were rushed into the district early to preserve order and aid in rescue work.
Advices from Saugus, in the vicinity of the break said that a 12-

Fear Felt For Two California Towns

OXNARD, Calif., Mar. 13 (AP)—Grave fears were expressed by officials of Oxnard for two towns, Piru and Fillmore, which were directly in the path of the flood pouring out of San Francisco canyon today and which it has been impossible to establish communication.

While thousands of officers from Los Angeles city and county augmented by additional thousands of volunteer ranchers and farmers from the Newhall and Saugus are slushed through the wastes searching for bodies, officials of the city water system surveyed the broken dam. The theory most credited a few hours after dawn was that seepage through an abutting hill had caused one of the supporting ends of the dam to crumble under its tremendous load.
With only the flash of a short circuited high power line to serve as a warning to the hundreds who lived in cabins and ranch homes the length of the valley, a great unshackled wave estimated to have been 75 feet high rushed furiously toward the sea. Nothing stood before it. Mountain cabins, ranch homes, a city power plant and, it is believed, a tented city inhabited by 75 or more Southern California Edison company workmen, were carried away.
Ten bodies lay in an improvised morgue at Saugus. These, dead however, represented in the opinion of William Bright, chief of the county sheriff rescue squad, only a small percentage of the loss of life.
So great was the volume of water that poured through the wide break in the dam that, despite the 35,000 acre feet of supply in the big reservoir, the flood spent itself in a few hours.
When dawn broke over the devastated area, only a small stream was left.

Los Angeles Sends Police To Scene

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (AP)—Chief of Police James E. Davis left here for the scene of the St. Francis dam disaster today with 1,000 Los Angeles policemen who will assist in the rescue.
The 160th regiment, California National Guard, stationed here was ordered to stand ready to go into the stricken area.

OFFICIALS FEAR TOLL WILL REACH INTO HIGH FIGURES

(By The Associated Press)
NEW HALL, Cal., Mar. 12.—Ten persons are known to have been killed and official fears were heard that as many as 400 more may have perished in the overwhelming avalanche of water which swept through San Francisco canyon north of here with the breaking of St. Francis dam shortly after midnight today.
What caused the retaining parapet of the great reservoir of the Los Angeles city system to give way suddenly was almost as much of a mystery at 9 o'clock today as the number of dead that lay buried beneath the deep covering of yellow sand which now carpets the pretty little valley.
Theories Are Heard

WILL CLAYTON RAPS PROBERS

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—A double fire of cross examination with witnesses turning the tables at times on the examiner, marked the resumption today of the Senate sub-committee inquiry into the cause market slump last fall.
William L. Clayton, Houston cotton merchant and head of the firm, said to be the "leader" of spot cotton dealings was again before the committee with Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, dominating most of the examining. Clayton proved himself no novice at cross questioning and frequently interrogated the house member as to the basis of his charges of market manipulation against the Houston cotton firm.
Another departure from the usual rule was announced when the committee decided to call Arthur B. March, former president of the New York cotton exchange, who originally had charges of market manipulation against the Clayton and other firms, and permit accuser and accused to cross examine each other directly or through counsel. That phase probably will be reached tomorrow or Thursday.

Where Health And Bodily Beauty Begin

"Don't be too heroic" when you start on the road to health and beauty, says Marjorie Dork, who prescribes these two simple exercises as a beginning: the squat (left) and the inhale-exhale.

EDITOR'S NOTE In this second of a series of articles appearing exclusively in the Journal, Marjorie Dork, health and beauty expert, tells how to begin the diet and exercise which brings health and perfection of form.

BY MARJORIE DORK
Health and Beauty Expert
For NEA Service

It seems logical that we should eat all we need for strength and energy but not manufacture strength and energy in advance. And if we know how to eat, we can do this, and be just the size we really should be.

So if you have a tendency to take on flesh it is just as well to realize that you will probably have to fight it the rest of your life. Do not get your body all toned up, with the toxic poisons all eliminated and your physical machinery in perfect order, and then slip back into your old, unhealthy ways.

I advise you not to start until you have convinced yourself you are serious, until you are willing to cut down your food and your weight, gradually so the change will not be so likely to affect your good health.

Don't be too heroic at the start. If you have been accustomed to large amounts of starch, sugar, and fat, you cannot immediately be satisfied with simply cooked vegetables and fresh fruits.

Begin by eliminating butter from your diet the first week. That will teach you moderation by degrees, and you won't want so much bread if you can't have butter. I am sure you will reduce a pound or so just this way.

Then make a measurement chart: take the measurements of your neck, upper arm, lower arm, bust, waistline, hips, thigh, ankle and calf. Keep them recorded on a piece of paper which has spaces for many more entries. When you have exercised and dieted as I shall suggest in the following articles, take the measurements again.

You may not lose any weight when you get on the scales, but the measurements will be less. If you are faithful you will see it is possible, with very little hardship, to lose inches, and then pounds. And getting down your score will be a game with you.

A Good Beginning

For your first exercises begin with these two, night and morning, and practice them daily, no matter what other specific ones you do.

Stand absolutely erect, with your back straight as you can make it and your knees together. Stretch your arms straight out ahead of you and as you take in a full, deep breath of air, extend them as far as you can to the sides, then as you bring them back to the front, let the air come out from your lungs. Inhale and exhale. Do this at least six times, night and morning. It spreads your lungs and is the greatest of all exercises for longevity.

The other one is the squat—it will keep your body limber and fit. With hands on hips, lower your body to a sitting posture until your hips rest on your heels. Do this five times, night and morning at first and then increase the number as your muscles limber. Steady yourself by holding onto the back of a chair if you find it hard to balance with hands on hips.

Mrs. Dork prescribes remedies of diet and exercise for the large abdomen in her next article.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters
BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dear Marye:

What do I think? Marye Mercuth, are you out of your head?
You must think you're a middle-aged woman calling young men who make love to you fere kids.

And certainly you're to blame.
If you weren't so sure that you please and flatter all the old-fashioned conventions you would know that such a thing as a boy falling in love with a married woman does happen.

It's because you want to eat your cake and have it too that you think you can turn around with other men, whether they're boys or not, and expect them to love young women. I don't care what new-fangled ideas you try to harness onto the world, you can't get away from the fact that men and women too, still continue to fall in love.

If you had paid attention to what I said you'd have known that this young man meant something when he played up to that story you told the police officer.
But it's my opinion that a lot of your fun would be spoiled if you didn't fool yourself with these modern ideas. Such little familiarities as that don't mean a thing to you—because you don't want them to.

Well, my dear, you ate your cake when you got married and that ought to satisfy you. Hereafter let the single girls go to lunch and tea with such nice boys as Norman and "Billy." It didn't take you long to call him by his first name, did it?
You're sure for him may be as bad as the one you gave Norman.
Ever since he's been home he's been drinking, I hear, and everyone says it's because he saw you in the city and they're all wondering what you did to him. His aunt wrote to his sister about your going out with him and she spread it all over town. I do wish you'd be more careful, Marye.

The best way to help a man forget you is to give him a chance.
He can't do that if he sees you. I know you don't do anything to make yourself unattractive. And if your young friend is jealous of your husband don't you think it would be more cruel to bring him into your home than just to drop him?

With all my love,
MOM.

MARLAND ASKS AID OF COURT

WOULD HAVE SUIT FOR LEASE CANCELLATION IN PECOS DROPPED

(By The Associated Press)
EL PASO, March 13.—The Marland Employers Royalty company Monday petitioned federal district court here to remove from the district court at Pecos, a suit brought against the company and others by W. H. Colquitt, receiver for Mrs. M. A. Munroe-Smith, of Pecos, involving leases and royalty contracts on 21,601 acres of land in the Pecos oil field.

In his suit, Mr. Colquitt asked the Pecos court to cancel the leases and contracts on the ground that Mrs. Munroe-Smith lacked legal capacity because of body and mental infirmities at the time the transactions were made. The removal is asked on the ground that the suit is between the citizens of different states, the Marland company being a Delaware corporation.

Mr. Colquitt's suit against the Marland company is one of 85 he has filed in the Pecos court, according to attorneys here. In all the receivers is asking for the cancellation of leases on 224,000 acres of land which is now producing according to reports, 250,000 barrels of oil daily. Petitions for the removal of 38 of the 85 suits will be filed, it is reported.

New Trinket

NEW YORK—The newspapers give a firm of jewelers as authority for the statement that Peggy Hopkins Joyce has bought a 127 carat diamond for which she paid by a check for $300,000. It is described as the largest blue diamond in the world, more than an inch square, and is set in a necklace of platinum links encrusted with small diamonds.

Curiosity

WILDWOOD, N. J.—A coast guard officer was mighty curious as to a heliograph message flashed over the sea waves, "Give you daddy dear." Suspecting it might be rum runners' code, he questioned Mrs. Arthur Blevins, who was out in a little boat busy with her vanity bag mirror and the sun-rays. She explained that she was the bride of an engineer on a lightship in the offing; that regulations prevented women going aboard.

No Takers

NEW YORK—No takers are expected. The American master Hair Dressers association offers $5,000 to the American girl who proves that she is surpassingly beautiful and got that way without cosmetics or other aids.

CALLES TALKS TO PUBLISHER

MORROW GIVEN PRAISE BY PRESIDENT OF MEXICO

(By Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, March 13.—President Calles received William T. Dewart, publisher of the New York Sun who is visiting Mexico City as a guest of Dwight W. Morrow, the American ambassador in audience yesterday. The President repeated in effect what he recently told a visiting group of midwest editors, that a new era of better relations between Mexico and the United States is resulting from Ambassador Morrow's work.

"Morrow is doing a man's job, doing it most capably and is precisely the man for that job," President Calles said.

No Complaint Offered
The President declared he has no complaint at newspapers for criticizing and pointing out faults in Mexico; that he only wants them to tell all the truth—the good as well as he had about Mexico.

Calles said he has concluded that tourist travel from the United States to Mexico is one of the best ways of improving relations between the two countries, giving many United States visitors a real understanding of Mexico. Therefore, he said the Mexican government has decided to make special efforts to stimulate tourist travel to Mexico as much as possible.

HICKMAN MAY BE SENT TO DEATH ROW SELL IN PEN TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13.—Within short time—possibly tonight—William Edward Hickman will leave for San Quentin penitentiary and the place in the prison death row against which he has waged a strenuous battle since January 25.

Hunt Left Alone

The second was leveled when Hickman, originally due to come in to court today for formal sentence to life imprisonment for the holdup murder of Druggist C. Ivy Tom, was taken before Judge Elliot Craig yesterday and the sentence recommended by the jury was imposed.

The early appearance of Hickman for the sentence on the Tom murder was at the request of his chief counsel, Jerome Walsh of Kansas City, who said he was due to appear in cases in the midwest city next week.

The sheriff's office announced that it probably would smuggle Hickman out of the county jail today and place him aboard a north-bound train at some small station outside Los Angeles.

Hickman's attorneys have already started an appeal of the death sentence to the superior court and an anticipating that they lose in the court have announced they would carry the test of the new California law governing insanity defenses to the United States Supreme court.

DAM DISASTER

Two old girls and a baby, members of the Holschau family, living in the canyon, had been swept away to death.

Immediately below the dam was a camp of the Southern California Edison company headquarters for 75 workmen and their families.

Scattered along the upper canyon in the path of the water were approximately 25 families. The sheriff's office at Newhall believed that some or all of these might have been caught in their sleep by the flood and carried away.

The first report of the disaster, which came from linemen of the Southern California Telephone Co., working below the San Francisco canyon, attributed the dam break to an earthquake.

However, no tremors were reported from any localities and the belief was expressed in several quarters that the dam had given away under the pressure of approximately 344,000,000 gallons of water behind it.

Aside from the loss of life, the collapse of the St. Francis dam ripped an important link in the Los Angeles water system and released a large unit of stored water accumulated through the winter for summer use.

One power house dependent on the dam went out of commission, and along the scenic ridge route through southern California was a large unit of stored water accumulated through the winter for summer use.

At 4 p. m. the water had passed Fillmore and was rapidly nearing the town of Santa Paula, headquarters of a big lemon belt.

The flood however, was keeping to the bed of the Santa Paula river. Continuing farther down, it was feared that the released water from the dam would travel what is known

Jailed

Mrs. Powers Haggood, formerly Mary Donnan, secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee in Boston, who was locked up with her husband at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., charged with "aiding to riot."

Their arrest was the result of alleged defiance of police orders forbidding mass meetings until hostility between mine union factions abated.

First reports said only five persons had been rescued out of a possible total of 500 living in the upper path of the flood where the danger was greatest.

These were a rancher, E. W. Hunick, his father, Charles a rancher named Holschau and his wife and father.

The Holschaus lived a mile and one half above Saugus and all were asleep in their home when the wall of water came roaring down the canyon.

They found hands and floated to Frank but here the human chain was broken and a 12-year old daughter and baby were said to have been swept away.

Hunick reported that his uncle and sister whose names were not given were missing.

Advice from Oxnard declared that the residents of that section, hearing of the breach in the dam were moving out of their homes and taking to high ground.

San Francisco reservoir was completed little more than a year ago and was the second largest of the reservoirs owned by the city.

A mass of water 75 feet high poured down the Canyon from the dam to Carey's ranch five miles below the dam, literally gouging out a path before it.

Within this area lived 100 persons. Sheriff's deputies who first surveyed the scene asserted that not one of these had a chance for life.

The dam itself was 185 feet high and had backed up behind it a body of water five miles in length.

Deputy sheriffs declared that the property damage between here and the sea at Ventura, a distance of approximately 30 miles, will be tremendous.

Mystery Surrounds Reported 'Quake'

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 13.—The lives of somewhere between 100 and 200 persons were believed to be in great peril today as a wall of water, released when an earthquake broke down St. Francis dam 45 miles north of here, rushed southward to the sea.

Just beneath the dam, which held 32,000 acre feet of water in San Francisco canyon, 75 employees of the Southern California Edison company were camping.

Twenty-five families living along the narrow stretches of the canyon also may have been in the direct path of the flood.

Water 19 Feet High

Although first reports did not disclose the size of the break or the amount of water released, telephone advices to Los Angeles were that a ten foot wall of water was sweeping down the canyon toward Newhall Saugus, El Rio, and other little cities north of here.

There was considerable mystery about the earthquake report. It was not felt in Los Angeles nor in Newhall, 20 miles from the dam.

ASK NAME FOR YOUNG SCHOOL

LITTLEFIELD COLLEGE OFFERS PRIZE FOR BEST NAME

A free scholarship will be given to the young man or woman who suggests the best name for the new college at Littlefield, Jess Mitchell, Mayor of Littlefield, announced today on a visit to Lubbock enroute from Austin where he had been attending to business of the new school.

A name contest is being conducted by the officials of the school and those submitting names for the school will receive a picture of the proposed campus and building at Saugus, near the confluence of the creek and the river, was put out of commission by the onrushing water and the concern's power lines running into Santa Barbara also were swept away.

Has Wide Channel

After leaving the canyon the creek runs through a gently rolling country dotted with ranches and finally flows into the Santa Clara river. It was believed the country below the canyon opening was not in danger of great damage.

As the water would spread over a wider area as it moved southward. Once in the Santa Clara river it would have a free channel to ocean.

Under ordinary circumstances it takes eight hours to empty the dam.

The Edison company's sub-station at Saugus, near the confluence of the creek and the river, was put out of commission by the onrushing water and the concern's power lines running into Santa Barbara also were swept away.

Through railway tickets between western Europe and Asia by way of Riga or Warsaw are to be issued.

Thought For Today

Neither cast ye your pearls before swine.—Matt. 7:6

Man always worships something; always he sees the infinite shadowed forth in something finite.—Carlyle

The Wild West

A FEW days ago the railroad police in a middle-western city plucked from the brake-beams of a west-bound box car a 16-year old boy, who wore a revolver strapped to his hip and said he was on his way to a life of adventure in the wild west.

The police promptly sent the lad back to his home in Buffalo, where his father is commander of a national guard unit. The young man was undismayed, however.

"I'll go west sometime," he said. He added that he knew all about the west and its wildness, for he was a constant reader of cowboy stories.

Somehow, it's impossible to keep from hoping, for his own sake, that this lad will never get west of New York state. He would be so dreadfully disappointed. He would find his stockade, which he had dreamed from his dad's tales, a useless ornament; he would discover that Cheyenne and Salt Lake City and Denver are as law-abiding as his own Buffalo; he would learn that the limitless sagebrush plains, while arid and semi-arid, are not as lawless as the "Nimrod" river front, where rum runners often shoot it out with customers.

Therefore, we repeat, he'll be lucky if he can stay in the east. If he does the wild west will all capacity in you can find wonder in the most unlikely places—in your own street at dusk, for instance, when twilight transforms familiar houses into inviolable sanctuaries of strange mystery, or in a plain country meadow made a field of the immortal by a misty dawn. And if you lack it you could die of boredom in Paperette or Mandalay.

Good Old Days

COMPARISONS of present-day youth with the youth of an earlier generation, do not cease. There are still plenty of people who believe that young people today are a sorry figure when contrasted with their fathers and mothers at the same age.

But listen now to President James Rowland Angell of Yale, who has been studying young men for a good many years. Comparing present-day students with those of preceding years, President Angell said this to the alumni:

"I have yet to hear any competent observer whose experience goes back to an appreciably earlier day, fall to agree that, with due allowance for obvious exceptions, the students of our time seem, on the average, distinctly superior to those of his own in breadth of outlook, sincerity, range and vividness of intellectual interest and essential stability of character."

That is rather a broad statement. Yet it seems fair to assume that President Angell knows what he is talking about.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says that in this day of poisoned hooters, a girl needs a life preserver to stay in the social swim.

A Kansas City judge fined a mother $100 the other day for spanking her sixteen year old daughter. If the girl was anything like some of the sixteen-year-olds The Plainsman occasionally sees, the mother should have been given a $100 reward and a loving cup by the citizens of Kansas City.

It is the opinion of this writer that there are not enough spankings being handed out to girls—or boys either, for that matter—in this day and age. If more were being administered it is likely that we would have fewer boy and girl bandits and slayers.

The Plainsman has always considered—using his own youth as a benchmark—that to spank a son or daughter was not only the right but the duty of every parent. It's all well to say "lead them with love" but there are times in every kid's life where the old family razor strap will accomplish wonders where nothing else will help at all.

And regardless of the law—we have too many laws that aren't worth a cigar—the judge who fined that mother for spanking her daughter should have tempered his justice with common sense. If the thinking fathers and mothers in Kansas City really think about this matter it is likely that that more or less eminent jurist will find himself on the outside looking in the next time the ballots are counted.

Our courts have more serious problems to deal with than a mother's spanking of a daughter. Let the judges of the country turn their talents and energies toward the really big problems which confront them officially and we won't have time to fiddle away minutes and money with monkey-business.

That Man on Avenue Q says you can judge fairly well how near a man is right by the intensity with which he insists that everyone else is wrong.

Supporting the contention of The Plainsman that the Texas Bankers' association reward for dead bankers is not only basically wrong but also dangerous, Captain Tom Tamer, of the Texas Rangers, is out with a statement that an organized gang of murderers has opened an office in Texas hoping to profit by the blood money offer so staunchly supported by William Maasie and associate among the money changers.

Captain Hamer, who certainly does not bear the reputation of a man who will shoot off his opinions without having facts with which to back them, says he intends to produce a written statement proving his words. He further states that he will show that at least one award for "dead bank robbers" has been paid in a case which was nothing more or less than a frame-up. If such is a fact—and The Plainsman can easily see where it could be—it is to be hoped that Captain Hamer spares no guilty party in clearing up the matter publicly.

Ever since the reward was offered the editorialists of Texas—Mr. Maasie says there are only about a dozen of them—who have opposed the plan on the grounds that it is unfair as well as dangerous. It was no surprise to this writer when three Mexicans were "planted" and shot down in front of one Texas bank, and unless the world is the Utopian than it appears on the surface the same thing will be attempted again and again as long as the easy money is dangled before the noses of the unscrupulous.

If Frank Hamer—or anyone else—produces facts to cause the offer to be revoked, The Plainsman believes he will be doing Texas a great public favor.

And it is only logical to believe that the righteous Mr. Maasie might change his mind along this subject were he mistaken for a bank robber in the dead of night and given the offer to have suffered as a result of his organization's arrogant ultimatum.

Lubbock has a pretty efficient street transportation system in the bus lines which are operating in the city. That the service is as good as it can be in ratio with the demand is probably axiomatic. But The Plainsman believes that at least one in a while the heavy buses which are operating in the city reach a speed which makes them a menace rather than a convenience.

It is only natural that the patrons of the buses desire punctual service and it is no more than human that the operators of the buses want to give it to them. But on the other hand, The Plainsman

Showdown Is Due In Battle Of Wealth And Experience In Diplomatic Corps, Rodney Dutcher Finds In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—It comes to the ears of your correspondent that there is more dissension than ever in the Department of State and that a showdown is likely in the long and aerial war between the diplomats and the consuls.

Attempts to confirm the story at the department's official information bureau are unsuccessful, but the non-diplomats in Mr. Kellogg's incubator are all of a twitter at discovery of an alleged plan to deliver all instead of nearly all the nicer jobs in the department and in the Foreign Service to young men of wealth and social position in preference to men of lesser means and more experience.

A sub-committee of the Senate foreign relations committee has been investigating, secretly, the administration of the Rogers Foreign Service Act which was supposed to put the consular and diplomatic branches on an even basis. You will have to ask someone else why the secrecy which prevents the public from learning what's wrong with its State Department.

The consular officers in the department, along with other non-diplomatic officers, are frothing at a scheme concocted by diplomats, which they say is designed to get all consuls into the field where a fight back enable the diplomatic crowd to rule the roost without a contest and permit rich young cookie pushers to be pushed rapidly ahead.

A new civil service classification has been arranged for the department, offering jobs as "Junior State Department Officers" at $1800 a year. It is explained at the Civil Service Commission that this is to provide the department with young men of "proper background." A college education is required.

THE plan is the brain child of a young man of college education who won't work for $1800 a year unless he has private means and is assured of promotion. A young man dependent on what he earns is barred—it is said that 90 per cent of Foreign Service men have independent means. The dominant diplomatic clique, as usual, talks about "social background."

The consuls understand that the new junior officers will take over their jobs and that the rich and socially ambitious young men among them will be able to step into pleasant diplomatic jobs without passing through long, tedious years in the lower grades of the service.

Some malcontents even claim the consuls are fighting for their lives. Once the whole show is managed by a small clique of millionaire diplomats here, the consuls will be left away and unable to take their briefs to Congress, and none of them will be in sight when appointments of ministers, bureau chiefs and assistant secretaries are made.

The average diplomat's experience is only 60 per cent as long as the average consuls, and the good jobs are supposed to be open to both, but it is alleged that the gravy goes to a small favored group.

The venom of the consuls is directed at Kirk and one of the assistant secretaries of state. They say they don't believe Secretary Kellogg knows what it's all about. Following their squawks last spring the consuls are now being promoted in proportion almost equally with the diplomats. Nevertheless they say that, misdeeds of favoritism continue, and point to one wealthy diplomat who is receiving his third promotion in three and a half years, during which period many deserving and experienced consuls have remained in their tracks.

IT ISN'T THE NEWSPAPERS, IT'S THE COMMUNITY

So far as the local newspapers are not matter, from the public's viewpoint, what happens to them. If one of two or three fail, there are always others, so that nobody need be without the news.

But when you consider the welfare of the community that is another matter. If it is an economic community, as a chamber of commerce, then it is necessary that the business be accorded sufficient trade to make its continuance possible.

Why should a growing community have a local newspaper? Is it to give the news? No, any newspaper in the surrounding territory can give that. Is it desirable to call the attention of the people to the special sales infrequently held? No—that could be done in other ways if no paper existed.

A live newspaper is desired in every community because it is necessary to the advancement of the community as a whole. It is necessary, as the schools, the churches, or any other public welfare institution. It is needed to keep before the people the fact that the local community is the center of their daily life. It is there to cement the interests of all in the town and neighborhood, to reflect among all the people who might otherwise find nothing in common, it is there to give inspiration for greater growth. It is there to help boost the good things and inform the people regarding why they should favor or oppose different problems a city faces every day of its life.

Because the local newspaper is more than a mere purveyor of news, because the citizens of the community look forward to its appearance with a feeling akin to pride and with the knowledge that here they may find the very lines of their neighbors reflected, the local newspaper offers much in the way of opportunity for the business people to put before the public their announcements.

Show us a merchant who will not advertise in his home newspaper and we will show you a merchant who is merely a storekeeper, one who is lacking in his conception of real merchandising and community building.

And if the local newspaper is not properly supported, interest in the community grows less and less, people begin to trade away in larger centers more and more, the business life of the community ceases to grow, and turns inward on itself, petty differences of opinion grow into feuds, and life rushes past, leaving the community on the side track, to sleep and to quarrel undisturbed while other sections grow space.

So, in refusing to maintain business relations with the local newspaper the merchant must remember his own cause, and far from gaining anything from the satisfaction of refusing to give the newspaper an ad, he loses infinitely more—he helps hurt his own community. Think it over!—Quanah Tribune.

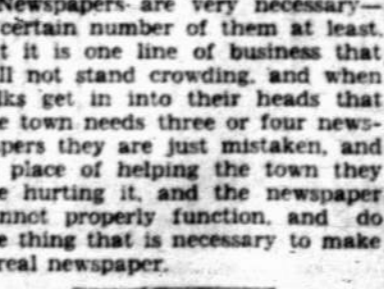

The newspaper in a town reflects the progress of the people that comprise it. Live, progressive people will have nothing but a live, progressive newspaper. They govern that by the support that it gives them. We do not mean that a newspaper wants people to subscribe or donate anything to its support. No newspaper that is worth a flip of a coin would do that, but they do want enough business to pay a reasonable profit on the investment and operating expenses.

Newspapers are very necessary—a certain number of them at least, but it is one line of business that will not stand crowding, and when folks get into their heads that the town needs three or four newspapers they are just mistaken, and in place of helping the town they are hurting it, and the newspaper cannot properly function, and do the thing that is necessary to make a real newspaper.

UNDERPASS IS PLANNED HERE

SUBWAY ON HIGHWAY 9 NORTH OF CITY IS ALMOST SURE

Construction on an underpass under the Santa Fe tracks north of the city on highway number 9 is to get under way in a short time as the result of a meeting of the county commissioners yesterday afternoon in which they voted to accept the proposal of the Santa Fe to build the underpass with the provision that the cost would be borne in equal portion by the railroad, the county and the state highway department.

The underpass is to be under the second railroad intersection outside of the city limits not the first one in the city limits, members of the commission wanted it made known.

Cost About $12,700

The estimated cost of the project has been placed at $12,700, according to the agreement submitted by the railroad and accepted by the commissioners. The pass will be built by the railroad at cost plus ten per cent. It will be fifteen feet from the road to the trees and the width will be 24 feet allowing four cars to pass at one time. Motors approaching the pass will get an unobstructed view of 150 yards in each direction.

The location of the pass changes the highway so that it will go northward from Avenue H to the railroad.

Various other matters were passed by the commissioners including a proposal to improve the highway to the Lubbock cemetery, sponsoring the educational campaign for the Lubbock County Poultry Growers association and the employing of Thomas Y. Pickett, auditing firm of Dallas, to audit the county's books from January 1, 1927 to February 1, 1928.

Oil And Gas Sent To New Test Well

Drilling is ready to start on the Marland oil and gas test near Lehman, Cochran county and a truck load of oil and gasoline for the engines leaves Lubbock today for the location. E. F. Howard, local agent of the company, said yesterday.

The test is the first of a series planned by the company for this section and will be sunk to a depth of 4,000 feet.

STOCK JUDGES OF TECH WIN

MATADORS GRAB OFF HONORS AT COWTOWN FAT STOCK SHOW

In their second year of competition, Texas Tech's livestock judging team won first in the contests of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth yesterday, a telegram to Dean A. H. Leidigh announced last night. Their win was counted over teams containing the cream of judges from Texas and Oklahoma A. and M. colleges.

Not only did the local collegians win first place in the contests but three of the four highest men in the events were under the colors of the scarlet and black. Ronald C. Tom of Lubbock was high man of the day with a score of 772 points out of a possible 859 while Curtis Grimes of Acapulco placed second with a score of 769 points.

Tech Sweeps Field

The team's total score was 3,583 points as compared to 3,553 for Texas A. and M. and 3,423 for Oklahoma A. and M. Tech was high in the judging of hogs, sheep and cattle while Texas A. and M. was high in horses.

Members of the Tech team in addition to Tom and Grimes were Vaughn Corley, John Burroughs, Lubbock, Claude Hope, Sweetwater, Paul Mart, Stephenville, and Ray C. Mowery, coach.

The victory safely established the Tech as a leading agriculture school of the southwest. The team took second place last season and scored high man, increasing their win this year. All members of the team are juniors and with the exception of one started in the Tech as freshmen.

FILLING STATION WILL BE ERECTED AT BROADWAY-O

Falling before the march of progress, the old Barclay home, Broadway and Avenue O, a familiar landmark in the city, has been sold for $17,000 to the Continental Oil company, it was announced here yesterday.

The company will erect a modern filling station on the site. A. E. Herling, local manager, said yesterday, work to start on it in the near future. It will be of terra cotta with grounds beautified with shrubbery, flowers and trees. The station will be a duplicate of headquarters stations in Denver and Wichita Falls, was said.

Guy U. Davis was owner of the site and plans to move the house in a short time. The deal called only for the bare lots.
